Thrills, Fun And Tasty Treats Found At Lakeside Park

—Photos for The Record News by Harold Story, S. & S. Commercial Studio.

Early arrivals at Lakeside park, Wichita's new $250,000 resort, were snapped by The Record News photographer late Wednesday just before the formal opening ceremonies got under way. The pictures:

Eddie Pratt, at the left top, superintendent of the roller-coaster, directs workmen in putting the final touches on the big device. Mr. Pratt didn't need his sign Wednesday night as the best efforts of his crew failed to complete final tests on the coaster. It will be running Thursday night.

The "dodg 'em" top center, proved popular with old and young, and furnished thrills and laughs missed on the roller-coaster.

W. W. Peltier, general manager of Lakeside park, top right, shows that he's a "working man" at times. In the above picture he is throwing a switch for the roller-coaster tests. An hour later, clad in immaculate white duck, he was officially greeting arrivals at the park.

Frozen Custard? The young lady at the left, below, sold many of them Wednesday night. Next in line, Bill Newell, hamburger king of the park, tests out one of his own vintage.

The Lakeside swimming pool, center below, drew a great crowd on opening day. A section of the roller coaster is shown in the background. L. L. Taylor and R. E. Lewis show what the well-dressed outboard motorist should wear. Mr. Taylor is at the motor and Mr. Lewis is standing in the speedy little craft that was "doing forty" across the lake early in the night. The life guards at the Lakeside pool may be kept busy by fair swimmers later in the season. Left to right, they are Al Slayton and Rollin Dixon.

12,000 JAM LAKESIDE PARK FOR OPENING NIGHT

ARMY BAND GIVES CONCERT

Mayor Dedicates Resort To "Pleasure of People"

A crowd of approximately 12,000 persons clicked through the turnstiles of new Lakeside park at its formal opening Wednesday night, despite the threatening clouds which blew up early in the evening.

Automobiles by the hundreds crowded and jammed the highway, making mile-long streams of honking, slow-moving traffic. Cars were parked in every available space within a radius of two miles from the entrance. Long lines of pleasure seekers waited at the ticket offices. Lights and noises and eager throngs brought visions of another Coney Island, as the crowds moved from one concession to another, trying first this game and then that in celebration of the opening of Wichita's new $250,000 park.

Shouts of hawkers mingled with the delighted laughs of the crowds at the hits or misses of those throwing balls at ten-pins or shooting corks at packages of cigarets. Carnival sounds of merry-go-rounds and bands blended into one grand discord, and gleeful cries issued from the depths of the "crazy house" as waiting mothers and fathers stood at the exit watching for the appearance of excited children.

3,000 at Coliseum

At the coliseum, a crowd of about 3,000 filled the benches and stood in a semi-circle around the stage to hear the speeches of welcome from Mayor J. W. Akin and Walter Nelson Jr., president of the Junior chamber of commerce. The program included a band concert by the First Field Artillery band from Fort Sill, under the direction of Major Phillip Hays, executive officer of the fort. R. E. Shepherd, manager of station KGKO, presented several songs and led the gathering in a singsong.

The program, under the direction of Frank Haley and A. D. Lightsey, also included songs by Pat O'Byrne and novelty numbers by a group of Kiowa and Comanche Indians from the Fort Sill Indian school, under the direction of H. A.

Many Wichita Bequests In Will Of Zundelowitz

Lester Jones Named One of Executors of $469,000 Estate Of Philanthropist; Day Nursery Given $3,000

Special to The Record News.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 12—A $3,000 bequest to the Day Nursery of Wichita Falls and several personal legacies to residents of Wichita Falls are included in the provisions of the will of A. Zundelowitz, philanthropist and pioneer Wichita Falls merchant, whose death on June 4 left a fortune estimated at $469,000.

The will has been filed for probate in Los Angeles, Calif., in the county which has been Mr. Zundelowitz' home during the past several years. Lester Jones, vice president and cashier of the Wichita State bank, is named among the executors to serve without bond. The others are: Mrs. Harry (Winnie) Cowen, Herman Michels, bank president, and Arthur C. Verga, all of Santa Monica, and Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin of Los Angeles. The estate includes $100,000 in Los Angles banks, $50,000 in banks outside California, real estate in Wichita Falls, stocks and bonds said to produce a monthly income of $2,000 and valued at $150,000, and a $69,000 legacy from the estate of Mrs. Zundelowitz, who died in August, 1924.

$117,000 to Charity

Bequests aggregating $117,000 are left to institutions of charity all over the United States by the terms of the philanthropist's will. The largest of these gifts is a $44,000 legacy to the Zionist organization of America for the relief of poor Jews in Palestine. The Jewish Consumptive Relief association of Duarte, Calif., will receive a $25,000 bequest for the erection of an Albert Zundelowitz Memorial hospital wing. These two major bequests direct the ultimate disposition of the $69,000 legacy left by Mrs. Zundelowitz to provide a $200 monthly income to H. A. Lewis of Detroit, which is to revert to the Zundelowitz estate upon the death of Mr. Lewis.

The will includes a clause ordering that any beneficiary who shall contest or attempt to contest its terms shall be cut off with $1. The following specific bequests are made:

ALL READY IN ROBISON CASE

Impeachment Charges Are Slated in House Today

AUSTIN, June 12. (UP)—Both sides are expected to announce ready at 11 a. m. tomorrow when the Texas house of representatives convenes to hear impeachment charges presented against State Land Commissioner J. T. Robison.

Defense counsel, headed by Dayton Moses of Fort Worth, announced today that the defense has been ready to go ahead from the start. He so announced to the house last Monday when the hearing was originally to have been held.

R. B. Allen, of Dallas and O. T. Freeman, of Sherman, employed by the investigating committee to present the charges, said today they had not decided what charges would be presented first. They were allowed several day's time in which to acquaint themselves with the 1,000-page report of the joint legislative committee which investigated land office affairs last winter.

The impeachment resolution voted by the house against Robison has to do with alleged "high crimes and misdemeanors" in office. Chief among the charges is that the land commissioner failed to account faithfully for the disposition of the proceeds from the "cent-an-acre" tax assessed on owners of West Texas land which was to be revaluated.

High state officials will be called as witnesses by the prosecution. Gov. Dan Moody and former Gov. James E. Ferguson will be among the witnesses asked for by Allen and Freeman, as well as Attorney General Claude Pollard, Assistant Attorney Generals Paul Page and C. W. Truehsart, and university regents L. R. Batts of Austin and Robert Holliday of El Paso.

Republican Bickerings Halt Congress' Efforts

Hoover's Special Session Program on Farm Relief, Tariff, Census and Immigration Marks Time

WASHINGTON, June 12. (AP)—President Hoover's extra session program marked time today as the Republican rebellion in the senate spread from farm relief to the tariff and the house and senate became deadlocked on recess plans.

The farm relief, tariff, census-reapportionment and immigration measures recommended by the president went by the boards as the Republicans quarreled in the senate and the house party leaders sought frantically to round up their forces for a decision on the agricultural controversy tomorrow.

Hoover Campaigners Hot

Senators Borah of Idaho and Brookhart of Iowa, two of the champion campaigners for Herbert Hoover last fall, led the fresh outbreak in the senate on the administration program.

Borah called for an immediate adjournment of congress after being informed by Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, that the party would not confine the tariff revision strictly to the farm schedules and would favor perhaps as general revision as is proposed in the house bill.

Senator Brookhart revived the assault on the Hoover farm relief program today and went so far as to advocate the organization of a Progressive party and the selection of a "Progressive candidate for president" unless the export debenture provision opposed by Mr. Hoover become a part of either the farm relief or tariff measures.

Bweteen such outbursts, Senator Watson and his assistant leader, Senator Jones of Washington, indulged in an open controversy over a recess. Jones assailed the Watson plan for a vacation while the senate finance committee prepares the house tariff measure for the senate.

With Watson on his feet, the Democrats peppered him with questions on tariff until the Indiana senator lost the floor.

The Democrats interrogated the

OIL MEET ENDS WITHOUT PACT

Requa Says Definite Results Accomplished

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 12. (UP)—President Hoover's billion-dollar oil conference ended its labors this afternoon without making any declaration of principles in favor of an interstate compact for the conservation of the nation's oil supplies. The conference was called by the president in the hope that a compact could be made.

After spending two days in a talkfest in which the view of the big companies in the oil industry, the western public land states, and the independent operators were aired and half of a third day in a smaller meeting, the conference adopted a resolution introduced by the great oil producing states of Texas, Oklahoma and California that the conference take a recess "subject to the reassembling upon call of the president of the United States."

The governors of the oil producing states were "requested to be present upon such reconvening of the conference" and that each bring or send to the conference, three official delegates.

Mark L. Requa, who had stood with his back to the wall on the last day of the meeting, fighting for some expression from the conference that might give hope that ultimately a compact might be made, issued a statement after the meeting saying the conference "accomplished some very definite results" and that it "undoubtedly will be followed by another meeting and at that time some of the delegates of the various states will no doubt be prepared to suggest a very definite plan of procedure."

How soon such a conference could be called was problematical, he told newspaper men. Several months probably would elapse.

FORMER JURIST ASKS TRANSFER OF DEATH CASE

BIG VENIRE CALLED

Fiction Like College Love Affair to Be Brought Out in Detail

AMARILLO, Texas, June 12. (UP)—The story of a college love affair clouded by parental objections which ended in a secret marriage and the subsequent shooting of the young husband, will be related to all its luridness during the next few days in the murder trial of Judge R. H. Hamilton which opens in district court here tomorrow.

Judge Hamilton, prominent in the law and the church of the Southwest, is charged with the fatal shooting of his son-in-law, Tom Walton Jr., who is said to have gone to the jurist's office to effect a reconciliation after marrying the latter's 17-year-old daughter, Theresa.

State Is Ready

Confident of a conviction, state's attorneys will announce ready for trial when the case is called at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, District Attorney Edward W. Thomerson declared tonight.

First action expected when the trial opens is a motion for a change of venue which defense counsel have hinted they will seek on the ground that it is impossible to obtain an impartial jury in or near Amarillo because of prejudice against the defendant.

Defense attorneys point to the fund for special prosecution which was subscribed by Amarillo citizens as one of the strong points in their contention that the city is prejudiced. If granted, the proposed venue change will result in a delay of at least two weeks.

300 Special Veniremen

More than 200 of the 300 special veniremen have been summoned and will appear for jury service tomorrow, Sheriff W. N. Thompson said today. If the venue motion is entered, these same men may be called as witnesses in the hearing, according to the district attorney.

Approximately 150 witnesses have been summoned by the defense.

Evidence brought out in recent habeas corpus proceedings indicates that defense counsel will probably attempt to prove first that Hamilton did not know Young Walton was married to his daughter when he shot him, and second, that Hamilton may have shot in self defense.

Theresa Hamilton Walton, the young widow, will be a witness for defense of her father instead of state's witness as was formerly thought. Her testimony is expected to furnish one of the many dramatic situations of the trial, the story of which rivals the plot of a Hollywood movie scenario.

Boys' Mother Witness

Another important witness will be Mrs. Tom Walton Sr., mother of the slain boy. She it was who urged her son to go to the judge and explain the marriage to him. And she it was who, blaming herself for having sent her son to his death, was prostrated with grief after the shooting and was ill for some weeks.

Workers in the building where Hamilton had his office will also furnish important testimony. The stenographer who admitted the youth to the office where he met his death, and who heard the fatal shots; the elevator girl who took the young man to the fifth floor; the law partner, H. G. Hendricks, who sold Hamilton the gun with which he shot young Walton; the jurist himself—all will furnish testimony in the murder drama which has kept the entire Southwest stirred up for months.

HULL EXPLAINS TARIFF FLAWS

Tennesseee Solon Flays New Schedules

By CORDELL HULL
(Representative in Congress From Tennessee)
(Written expressly for Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The increase of rates under the pending tariff revision will cost the American people at least $600,000,000 to $800,000,000 in increased tariff prices.

Near 90 per cent of agriculture, more than 75 per cent of labor, more than 50 per cent of manufacturing production itself, and the great consuming public of the country are unquestionably victims rather than beneficiaries of the proposed extreme high tariff revision.

Unless the general public bestirs itself and insists that senators and congressmen resolutely resist the proposed raid of inordinate tariff and greed, they soon will experience a rude awakening.

The country is witnessing the spectacle of what hypocritically pretends to be decent, honest, equitable tariff revision, conducted, however, by the chief tariff beneficiaries and those in congress who do their will.

The two outstanding features of this so-called revision are its inequalities and its general upward nature.

The sham and pretense of this sort of "revision' are concealed behind the wholly false slogan of "farm relief." And yet agriculture as a whole will not only derive no net benefits, but enormous injuries under this proposal.

The producer of corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, cotton, hay and tobacco on the farm, aggregating $6,848,000,000 from the cultivation of 334,000,000 of a total of 360,000,000 acres planted to all crops, gets not a whiff of net tariff benefits.

Substantial surpluses arise in each instance which prevent the effectiveness of tariffs. In striking contrast we find embargo rates provided especially on all finished manufactures, where they did not already exist, with the view to prohibiting not only direct foreign competition, but that which is indirect and remote as well.

Window glass has been raised to near 10 per cent; plate glass increased 26½ per cent, instead of being reduced 2½ per cent, according to the true facts as to competitive conditions.

Cordage, cable, rope, etc., in the flax, hemp and jute schedule, has been increased 300 to 400 per cent; cloth and numerous other articles of common use in the cotton schedule have received either high or substantial increases, although the present schedule is prohibitive as to most competitive products.

The rate on woolen cloth has been jacked up to as high as 115½ per cent. This means woolen tariff prices above a reasonable price level of around $200,000,000 to the American public. Similar citations might be made as to each of the 14 schedules.

River Conference Seems Deadlocked

WASHINGTON, June 12. (INS)—The tri-state conference on Boulder dam apparently was as hopelessly deadlocked today as it was when it began its first session here 10 days ago.

Following a breakfast given by Col. William J. Donovan, the government's referee, the commissioners of the three states involved—California, Arizona and Nevada, together with their engineers—held a three-hour discussion of the problems involved.

"We discussed various formulas for the division of water in the lower basin of the Colorado river until we got blue in the face, but we got nowhere," said John M. Ross of the Arizona commission. "We seem to be as far apart as we ever were."

Modern Pastor Hobbled in Fight Against Sin, Declares M. F. Ham

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 12. (UP)—"The average modern pastor is horse-tied and hobbled and a weakling by necessity in his fight against sin," declared the Rev. M. F. Ham, militant Baptist minister of Oklahoma City, in announcing his resignation today to enter into evangelistic work.

Ham will return to Jackson, Tenn., to open a schedule of evangelistic meetings there July 1.

"The usefulness of the pastor in bringing God's message to the world is passing. He soon will be merely a superintendent of the church—a paid employe to carry out the will of the church he represents," declared the minister who was a leader in the fight against Alfred E. Smith in the recent presidential campaign.

"Evangelists soon will govern the militant Christian movement throughout the world. This is because the best pastors find themselves trampled under the momentum of a vast eccelesiastical machine that causes war when opinion runs counter to its dictates.

"I have always been a prophet," declared Ham. "I can go into a city, call the religious leaders together and do more good in a week than a pastor can do in a year.

"The modern Christian leader fights three great sins: Political, religious and social corruption which are embodied in politics, dancing and card playing indulged in by church members."

Ham said he had been asked to become associated with the Rev. John Roach Straton, New York fundamentalist leader, and with the Rev. Frank Norris, Fort Worth Baptist. He said he refused these offers because he thought he could fight sin alone better.

GIRL TRIED ON MURDER COUNT

Wagon Spoke Killing Case Gets Under Way

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 12. (UP)—A jury was completed in circuit court here today to try Eva Coffer, Georgeton, Tenn., girl charged with beating Lee Atchley, village storekeeper, on the head with a wagon spoke and killing him because he allegedly insulted her.

The defendant is a plain girl of the Tennessee hill country. She appeared unperturbed by the seriousness of the charges against her, and drew comfort from the story of Atchley's widow that he tried to hug her when the girl came to the store.

Mrs. Atchley considered the incident a joke, but one hour after the hugging, the girl came back to the store, armed with a wagon spoke, and severely beat the man. Defense counsel, however, claimed death was not due to the blows, but rather to Atchley's alleged drunken condition.

The prosecution introduced testimony to show Atchley's skull was fractured.

OLD TIMERS TO PLAY AND REMINISCE AT PLAINS REUNION

IGO RANCH HOST TO PIONEERS

Three-Day Gathering Calls For Big Program

By L. A. WILSON
Special Correspondent

SLATON, Texas, June 12.—The old-timers of West Texas will gather to recount their experiences of pioneer western life when an Old Settlers' reunion is held, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 18, 19 and 20, at the old Igo ranch, consisting of 5,300 acres, located in Yellowhouse canyon, five miles north of Slaton.

Announcement of plans for the reunion was made here by H. L. (Bud) Johnston, former Lubbock county sheriff, who, with his brother, J. C. Johnston, and their mother, Mrs. S. I. Johnston, are the owners of the ranch.

Ranch Is Playground

The Igo ranch, as it has been known far and wide for more than a quarter of a century, is a natural playground, rich in scenic beauty and deeply interesting because of its romantic history. Improvements and additions to the natural recreational facilities found on the ranch are now being made by the Johnston brothers. By the time the reunion is held, several thousands of dollars will have been expended on these improvements.

Included in the work now in progress and that contemplated, are: Construction of a large swimming pool 15 feet deep, to be supplied with fresh water from the springs of the canyon's hillsides; a 10-mile scenic drive around the canyon's rim is being prepared; and provisions are being made for fishing, boating, golf, tennis, baseball, and many other forms of diversion and recreation.

Entertainment features of the Old Settlers' reunion will include a rodeo, with exhibitions of bulldogging, roping and other stunts; buffalo riding; chariot racing; a terrapin derby, pony races, band concerts, public speaking and a variety of other attractions. Day and night performances will be held. Free camp grounds with plenty of shade, fuel and water, will be furnished, Mr. Johnston has announced.

Chuck Wagon Dinners

Several free attractions will be staged at the reunion. Old-fashioned chuck wagon dinners will be served in true old western ranch life style.

The Old Settlers' reunion is to be held annually hereafter, according to the Johnstons, and they plan to make additional improvements on the recreational feature of the ranch each year. It is intended to make the ranch the most famous playground in West Texas, thus supplying a long-felt need for such facilities on the plains. In summer the ranch will appeal to all classes of pleasure seekers and in winter the place will be an attractive hunting ground. Summer picnic parties will find tables under beautiful, shady trees, with the cool waters of the canyon's numerous springs flowing nearby. Many camp houses will be constructed, the cold spring water piped into them.

Thousands of West Texas people are expected to attend the first annual reunion, the Johnstons say, and detailed plans and preparations are being made to insure the greatest possible pleasure and comfort of the visitors during the three days.

History of Ranch

The old Igo ranch was homesteaded in 1890 by Jim Curley, who later sold it to Green Igo, from whom the ranch took its name, although the original name was the IOA ranch. R. C. Burns, now of Lubbock, was manager of the ranch while it was known as the IOA.

Green Igo sold the ranch in 1901 to the Kokernot ranching interests. The sale involved 110,000 acres of ranch lands around Slaton, in which the present Igo ranch was included. The Kokernots paid $1.28 per acre for these lands, owning at that time 140,000 acres here, besides holding leases on many other thousands of acres.

S. I. Johnston, father of the Johnston brothers now in charge of the ranch, bought the historic place in 1914, after serving as its manager from 1901. He had moved to Lubbock county on Nov. 26, 1901, from Alpine, Texas, coming here with his family in a covered wagon. That was 10 years before the city of Slaton was established. Mr. Johnston died in 1918.

Land Values Gain

The 5,300 acres now in the ranch is all that is left from the original 110,000 acres, agricultural lands having been developed from the remainder. Land for which the Kokernots paid $1.28 per acre now sells for $40 to $80 and higher, depending upon extent of farm improvements it has. The Igo ranch of today is all situated on the Yellowhouse canyon, being unsuited to farming, but is ideal ranch land, and holds a wealth of rugged beauties of nature.

Among the army of old-timers whom the Johnstons expect here for the reunion, July 18, 19 and 20, are: George Boles, R. C. Burns, J. A. (Andy) Wilson, Easten Wolfarth, Walter Adams, George C. (Tiddie) Wolffarth, Fred Snyder, W. K. Dickinson, O. L. Slaton, Charlie Middleton, Sam Arnett, Liff Earhart and Lynn McClellan, all of Lubbock; J. Frank Norfleet and Bob Norfleet, Hale Center; John McDermott and Bruce Mitchell, Crosbyton; Bill Nevills, Henry Reed and Oscar Summers, Tahoka; George Shumate, O'Donnell; S. S. Rush, Idalou; Oscar B. Kelly, Post; Luther Jones, Spur; George Ternan, Brownfield; Gus Robertson, John Simmons, J. H. Teague Sr., P. O. Williams, J. S. Edwards, H. W. Ragsdale, R. H. Tudor, J. H. Brewer, W. F. Florence, A. A. Baldwin, Paul P. Murray, Clyde Shaw, J. E. Eckert, E. P. Nix, C. V. Young and W. E. Olive, all of Slaton; and hundreds of others from all parts of the West.

GANNON TELLS SOUTH'S RULES

Bishop Explains Beliefs of District

BUCKHILL FALLS, Pa., June 12. (UP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr., Washington, D. C., today told the Institute of Religion here conditions under which he believed the South would consider unification of the Christian church.

He doubted that the South could accept any plan of union which did not embody the teaching of a judgment to come.

"Catholicism is becoming somewhat persistent and aggressive in the cities of the South," Bishop Cannon said, describing religious faiths of this section.

He told the institute that in personal belief he was a fundamentalist and the South was fundamentalist.

"For instance, I believe in the virgin birth," he said.

"Yet I am not narrow or bigoted and if the other fellow can get along without those beliefs, it's all right with me."

He emphasized that in the South there still is preached a doctrine of punishment in hell.

There is a rum shortage at Kingstown, St. Vincent, West Indies, and liquor dealers there have petitioned the government for a reduction in duty.

FORT WORTH, June 12. (INS)—Lieut. Cols. Reg. L. Collins and Jim Kelly, who achieved fame and honor as the pilots of the world-record endurance plane, the Fort Worth, will soon begin a series of trips over the country, according to an announcement made today by D. The banquet will officially mark the inauguration of "prosperity month."

Following this affair, the fliers will go to Memphis, Tenn., to assist in the opening of an airport there. A number of other trips are arranged to follow this one, including a trip to Indianapolis, Ind., and another to Evansville, Ind.

On June 22, Robbins will fly alone to Los Angeles to attend the opening ceremonies of airports at several cities and towns in California to which he has been invited.

G. O. P. WRANGLE CHOKES SENATE

Intra-Party Battle Slows Extra Session

Republican leader as to the relation of his views for general tarrif revision and the recommendation of President Hoover for "limited" tariff revision. Watson finally replied to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the minority leader, that he did not understand the president to mean the tariff changes should be confined solely to agricultural schedules.

Recess Opposed

Meanwhile, word came over from the house Republican leaders that they would consent to no recess this summer except for three day periods unless the senate first fixed a definite time to vote on the tariff bill.

Senate Democrats have declined to agree to definite time for a vote on the tariff, although assuring cooperation in speedy disposition. Tonight the harrassed Republican leaders of the senate were seeking to work out an arrangement with the house permitting a vacation until August if the census-reapportionment and farm relief bills are first enacted and a vote taken on the Hoover recommendation for suspension of the national origins immigration quota basis.

Despite the gloomy outlook, some Republican leaders were sanguine enough to hold to plans for a recess beginning next week and carrying through for about six weeks. They believed the house would reject the export debenture proposal and that the senate would approve the compromise farm bill by the end of the week.

Administration Wabbles

The Borah-Watson discussion revealed definitely the opposition of the Republican independents to the house tariff measure and threw a new fear into the administration hearts in the senate. Twice the Democrats and Republican Independents have shown their power. Twice they have overridden President Hoover on the debenture plan in the farm bill.

Senator Borah went so far today as to propose that the senate confine the tariff bill solely to agricultural rates. He recalled that the session was called for farm relief.

Replying to the demand of Senator Jones for a continuous session of the senate, Watson declared that a recess was proposed in the hope of speeding up the senate finance committee's consideration of the tariff bill.

During the general wrangle, Senator Nye, Republican North Dakota sought an agreement on his resolution for suspension of the national origins immigration provision but this was blocked by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, until assurance could be given of ample time for discussion.

Leaders were hopeful tonight that tomorrow might bring votes on both the immigration resolution and on the conference report on the census reapportionment bill, already approved by the house.

Many Produce Growers Accept Times Offer to List Commodities

Numerous growers of vegetable produce and fruit in this community have already taken advantage of the offer of free space in The Times on Sunday, June 16, for listing descriptions and prices of commodities which they have for sale.

The plan announced in The Times last Monday has for its object assistance to truck farmers near this city in disposing of heavy crops which are now coming on the market rapidly. It is believed that many local residents would be glad to purchase the supplies available at the point of production if they were advised of the locations of the growers.

Truck raisers wishing to use the proffered space for telling what they have and where it may be bought are requested to furnish this information in writing to the Farm Page Editor of The Times by Friday noon. There will be no charge for such service.

LAKESIDE PARK DRAWS THRONG

12,000 Attend Opening Of Lake Resort

Stroud, manager of the chamber of commerce of Lawton, Okla. Baldwin Parker, son of the famous Chief Quanah Parker, was introduced and presented his two small sons in an Indian dance.

Ralph Pitman, master of ceremonies, introduced Mayor J. W. Akin, who welcomed the visitors in the name of the city of Wichita Falls.

This park has been built here for the amusement and recreation of all people in Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma," Mayor Akin said.

"The people of America are too serious minded. They would be better off physically, mentally and spiritually if they gave more time to play and less to worry. The trouble is that they spend too much time chasing the almighty dollar. The money here has been spent in a good cause, and I hope that all of you will enjoy the park to the fullest extent, taking advantage of all it offers."

Walter Nelson Jr., welcoming the visitors in the name of the Junior chamber of commerce which sponsored the formal opening of the park, declared:

"The recreational part of our lives has been neglected in the last few years. All of us have had the desire to enjoy the pleasures of a Coney Island, and with the completion of Lakeside park, we are given an opportunity to satisfy that desire. Entertainment is a vital thing in the lives of us all, and the Junior chamber of commerce is glad to be able to sponsor the opening of a place which can supply this entertainment."

Other Concessions Opened

Following the program at the coliseum, the Fort Sill band was taken to the pavilion where music for the dancing was played until midnight. Pleasure-seekers filled every corner of the park, strolled down the board walk, out on the piers, around the pavilion, or gathered around the concessions to play the games or laugh at the others.

At the swimming pool, lights played upon the divers as they jumped from the high diving boards.

Streams of cars continued to fill the highway until late in the night as party after party entered the gates. With the Coney Island spirit instilled in the minds of all visitors, Lakeside park found difficulty in closing its gates even at midnight.

Despite the efforts of workmen on day and night shifts during the last few days, the scenic railway and many other concessions were not ready for use Wednesday night. Interested crowds moved about the entrance to the "roller coaster" in the vain hope of having it opened for use. The railway will be ready for use Thursday night when final tests have been completed. The remainder of the concessions will be opened Thursday night and it had been promised that by Saturday the park will be entirely completed with all amusement devices open to the public.

Tonight's Program

The program at the coliseum Thursday night will include acts by the Irish baritone, Pat O'Byrne, Thompson's Hawaiians, and Maxene Crowson, who will present a novelty act.

Preceding the opening of the park, the Fort Sill band, headed by a car bearing the officials of the Junior chamber of commerce, paraded through the business section of the city. The 40-piece band proved itself worthy of all advance recommendations, and with its snap and precision gave ample proof that America's favorite musical entertainment is that of a military band.

GOOD BUSINESS REPORT HEARD

Federal Reserve Bankers In Session at Dallas

DALLAS, June 12. (AP)—Reports of generally favorable crop and business conditions throughout Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico were made by members of the Dallas Federal Reserve bank directorate here today.

Col. C. C. Walsh, chairman of the board and federal reserve agent, and Lynn P. Talley, governor of the Dallas district, made reports showing unusual soundness of the bank's condition.

The meeting today preceded the annual meeting of the Stockholders association of the 11th federal reserve bank district, which will open a two-day session here tomorrow. A majority of the board members also are members of the Stockholders association.

A strong protest against the tendency to maintain the same rediscount rate in all federal reserve districts was expected to be made at the stockholders' meeting.

New Orleans On Diet of Water

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 12. (UP)—Potential seafaring rum runners and inland bootleggers drew warning today from O. D. Jackson, prohibition administrator for the 10th district that consistent enforcement is spoiling their trade in his sector.

The proof of this is that within the past four months no rum runners have successfully landed a cargo, and that one in the past month, in attempting to dispose of its cargo, was caught.

Jackson further stated that, though home made liquor can be secured in small quantities, it is not so easily obtainable as it was 18 months ago.

Salient proof of this, he said, is shown by the fact that within the past month 73 distilleries, 1,075 gallons of spirits, 600 gallons of liquor, 515 gallons of wine were seized. During this period 177 arrests were made and 82 per cent convicted.

The administrator said the success was due to cooperation he has received from the courts and the United States attorney rather than to any special drives.

TWENTY YEARS OF TROUBLES YIELDED UNDER NEW SARGON

"I was in poor health for twenty years and during that entire time have never found any medicine that helped me so much as Sargon. I want other sufferers to know about this wonderful treatment.

MRS. MAMIE ROBERTSON

"Twelve years ago I had an operation and had my gall bladder removed. I thought I would enjoy good health again after that, but I didn't. I couldn't enjoy my meals for I knew just as sure as I ate anything I was going to have awful pains from my food fermenting, and from gas. I tried dieting and that did no good.

"I became weak and nervous and didn't feel like doing my housework, or even coming to town. I suffered from chronic constipation and had such severe headaches it seemed like my head would split sometimes. I had bad dizzy spells too.

"I have improved every day since I began taking Sargon. I can enjoy my meals now, and never have indigestion or gas pains. I have been so wonderfully strengthened that my housework don't tire me in the least. Sargon Soft Mass Pills have overcome my constipation and I do not have headaches and bilious spells now. It's a wonderful treatment."

The above statement was made by Mrs. Mamie Robertson, a resident of Dallas for thirteen years, and a woman of education and refinement. She lives at 1002 South St. Paul street.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra from Lough's Drug store; and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

Former Dallas Auto Dealer Found Guilty in $600,000 Bankruptcy Case

DALLAS, June 12. (UP)—Fred E. McLarty, former head of the defunct Nash-McLarty Motor company here, was found guilty of concealing assets in bankruptcy by a jury in federal court here late today.

The verdict was returned to Judge William Atwell, before whom the case has been on trial for two days. Sentense will probably be passed on McLarty Saturday. The penalty for violation of the national bankruptcy act is from 2 to 10 years.

Losses from the failure of the automobile concern, run by McLarty and his brother, D. D. McLarty, were estimated at between $600,000 and $800,000.

McLarty is also under four state charges of forgery. He was apprehended several weeks ago in Seattle, where he had fled after failure of the Nash concern almost two years ago. He had been hunted by authorities since that time and was found living under an assumed name. His brother was recently apprehended in Canada and is awaiting extradition.

Battle for Ninth Honors in Beauty Review Rages After Pageant Closes

GALVESTON, Texas, June 12. (AP)—A contest in the selection of a winner in the international pageant of pulchritude here loomed today when Mrs. M. Q. Hall of Houston made an affidavit that Theda Delrey (Miss Tulsa) was "Miss Houston" in 1927. Under pageant rules, a former contestant is ineligible to compete a second time.

Miss Delrey last night was awarded ninth position, which entitles her to a $100 prize.

Reports that "Miss Tulsa" was "Miss Houston" in 1927 had been prevalent since the pageant started, but the Tulsa representative consistently denied them and made an affidavit that she was not the girl who represented Houston two years ago.

The director of the pageant has requested the manager of a Houston theater who helped select "Miss Houston" of 1927 and her school principal to come to Galveston to help settle the contest before prizes are awarded tonight.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Tuesday afternoon a decrepit mule walked down Seventh street, blocking traffic, and crossed on the red light, turning into Indiana and through the red light into Eighth, down Eighth to Ohio where again it calmly went through the red light. And not one single traffic cop took notice. Sometimes we wish we were a mule.

No matter how people laugh at times over those writers who have their own work printed, it remains a fact that Poe paid for the printing of his first volume; Whitman paid for his first and tried with little luck to sell the books for $2, when one of them sold last year for over $1,000; Thomas Hardy paid for his first book and Kipling's father paid for the printing of Rudyard's, a copy of which sold recently for over $3,000. The moral seems you can't know what you are until you get into book form.

We can't say anything about lark-spur any longer. It has entered upon its old age and we respect its gray hairs. But Wichita doesn't lack for lovely flowers. There are gladioli and Shasta daisies and roses and nasturtium, then the zinnias, that seem to us to have usurped the early summer in their beauty. We look toward zinnias when it is too hot for anything else. But it is almost too hot for anything else now.

Family Relief Board Hears Reports of Work

A meeting of the board of directors of the Family Relief association was held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the council room in the Memorial auditorium. About 16 were present at the meeting.

A financial report for the month of May was presented, according to Mrs. Effie McHam, executive secretary of the association. The report indicated a total of $919.54 spent during May in giving relief to 1,319 persons in the 319 families registered in the list of relief cases. The actual amount per family was $7.30, Mrs. McHam stated. Overhead expenses for the month totaled $273.05, indicating that 77 per cent of the funds had been spent in relief work.

Social workers from several churches in the city were visitors at the meeting. M. A. Bundy, commissioner of the county court from this district, gave a talk on the charity dispensed by the county. Mrs. C. R. Hartsook, president of the association, read a letter from the Social Service institute in Dallas, held during March, April and May this year, complimenting the work of Miss Martha Temple, who attended the institute and who has been working as a family visitor for the local association.

DIX OPPOSES WEARING CREPE

Sage Explains Faults Of Practice

Dorothy Dix Explains Why She Is Opposed to the Custom of Wearing Mourning—Why Do Some Mothers Warn Their Daughters Against Marriage?

Dear Miss Dix—Will you please give me your opinion of wearing mourning? I have recently lost my husband, whom I adored, and I am so depressed that it seems to me I will go mad if I am compelled to wear black. Why can't I wear white instead? Nothing that I could put on my back would make me grieve more for my husband than I do, and I cannot feel, if he knows, that he would consider it any lack of respect to his memory for me to wear a white dress instead of a black one—JUST A FRIEND.

Answer—There is no reason at all why you shouldn't wear your white dress, and even the most captious would have no right to criticize you, because white is the badge of mourning in several Oriental countries and is often worn in place of black even in this country.

Besides, the war changed the convention of wearing mourning During the war, when the angel of death knocked at the door of almost every house, it was felt that for millions of women to put on black would plunge the whole world in gloom and break down the general morale, because it would keep ever before us the danger of those we loved and the fear that we might be the next one to hear that the husband or son or brother who was the very center of life for us had gone West. So the women who had lost their loved ones hid their grief in their own hearts and put on no outward badge of mourning to sadden others.

And the brave custom has persisted. Many women still wear black in memory of their dead, but you rarely see the yards and yards of funeral black crepe that used to float from every widow's bonnet and the swathing folds of black in which it was considered proper for her to drape herself.

Personally, I have always been very much opposed to the wearing of mourning. I am opposed to it because of the mental effect it has upon the wearer and upon all beholders. It is foolish to deny the psychological effect that our clothes have upon us. We all know, and especially every woman knows, that the way she is dressed strikes the keynote of her mood and that when she is tired and cross nothing will rest her and calm her like changing her frock, and that when she has the blues nothing cheers her up like putting on a pretty, gay dress.

Now God knows when our very souls are drenched in tears and the sun has gone black for us because the one who made the brightness of life for us is gone, we are sunk low enough in sorrow and we need something to dispel our gloom, not heighten it. We need to wear cheerful colors, not black that will still further depress us. Doctors will tell you that if women are at all delicate or nervous they almost invariably run down in health during their period of wearing mourning.

Nor is the depressing effect of wearing mourning confined to the individual. It spreads to every one about her. Every time we pass a black-robed woman in the street or get a black-bordered letter it opens an old wound and makes it bleed afresh.

I am also opposed to mourning on economic grounds. For the rich, of course, the cost does not matter, but for poor people and people in moderate circumstances who must count every penny, the convention that forces them to cast aside a whole wardrobe of wearable clothes and buy expensive new ones works a great hardship. I have known many families who were almost bankrupted by it and who had to go so deeply in debt for their mourning that it took years of pinching economies and privations of things they really needed to pay for it.

And, after all, what is the good of it? If we are really bereaved; if we are really bowed down in sorrow by the death of a member of our family, we need no gloomy black dress as a symbol of our grief. And if in our hearts we do not mourn for the one who has died, what a mockery to disguise our relief, perhaps our joy, under the habiliments of woe!

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Why do some mothers try to show the bad side of married life to their daughters? My mother is always warning me against marriage, yet my father has been a wonderful husband to her, generous, kind and faithful, but she seems always to want something. She is never satisfied. She doesn't want to be bothered with keeping the house clean and cooking for the family, much less making the home cheerful. The truth is she is the only shadow that keeps the sunshine out of the house by her continuous complaining and her eternal nagging.

In spite of my mother's gloomy picture of marriage, I am going to try it with a splendid young fellow I love and I expect to be a better wife than she has been because of the fact that I have her example before me and intend to avoid the mistakes she has made. What do you think of it?

—A CONSTANT READER.

Answer—Sometimes, when mothers warn their daughters against marriage, it is because they have had such a bitter experience themselves that they are trying to save their little girls from the danger of a similar fate, but generally when a mother speaks in a pessimistic tone of marriage to her daughters and bids them beware of it, she is merely making a bid for sympathy and appreciation.

The only way many women know of getting the spotlight turned on them is by posing as martyrs, and because they want their children to make much of them and regard them as heroines they are forever calling attention to how hard they have to work and to how many sacrifices they have to make. These are the women who are always telling their children how they suffered in childbirth and how they used to walk the colic when their babies were young and who flavor every meal with recounting how many hours they have stood over the cookstove preparing it and who are always sighing and saying that nobody knows the sufferings and sorrows that a wife and mother goes through.

But they don't mean any of it. They are really as jolly as sand boys and all they want is just to be flattered and told that they are the greatest ever and that their families couldn't get along without them.

So don't take your mother's diatribes on matrimony too seriously. Of course, not all marriages are successes, but if you waited to engage in any enterprise until you found something that was a surefire hit, you would spend your life on the sidelines doing nothing. Some people fail at everything. Others make a success of anything, and matrimony is like that.

It is up to every individual couple to make what they will of their marriage. You will take out of it just what you put into it. And if you put into it love and common sense and patience and forbearance and humor and fair play, you will take out of it happiness.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—You say that the real proof that a man loves a girl is when he asks her to marry him. I agree. But how is a girl going to stay out of love with a fine fellow while he is making up his mind whether he loves her or not?

—MINA.

Answer—It can't be done. In olden times it was supposed that a modest maiden never thought of such a thing as falling in love with a man until he popped the question. Then she suddenly discovered that she had loved him all the time. We are too honest to stand for such hokum now. We know that girls have no such control over their emotions and that many a one loves a man before he loves her and, alas, many a one loves a man who never loves her at all.

The point I was trying to make was that girls shouldn't deceive themselves and kid themselves into thinking that a man loves them because they want him to do so, and I was warning them to put no faith in a man's languishing looks or his attentions or even his love-making until he up and proposed.

So you will just have to wait with what patience you can until your young man comes to the point.

—DOROTHY DIX.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

Work for Work's Sake

"Dear Miss Brainerd—My father is one of those old-fashioned men who have the idea that it is a reflection on them if their daughters are 'working girls.' He is the best father in the world in every way and we get along on every subject but this one.

"When I say anything about getting a job, he shuts up like a clam and looks hurt, or else he tries to convince me that my wanting to work is just a fad and that he could never hold up his head again if people said his daughter had to work because he couldn't or would not support her. He asks if I don't have enough spending money, though I've told him it isn't just money I want. He asks if I'm not satisfied with my home and says if it's occupation I'm after I could get it by helping with the housework and the marketing.

"He simply doesn't understand that a girl as well as a man may want to have some sort of career and not just putter around all her life.

"He says woman's career is marriage; but all women don't marry—and even if I should, I think I'd have a better chance of happiness if I didn't just sit waiting for some man to ask me and probably out of boredom take the first offer. Is there any way I can bring him around to agree with me? I'd love to have him reconciled before I do anything definite."

It is a strange fact that in this modern age many men think as your father. Their male ego has survived progress, social evolution. In this age of modernism and machinery they go about with the attitude of medieval knights errant wherever a woman is concerned.

Whether they can ever be argued or reasoned out of their habit of mind depends upon how long and how zealously they have persisted in it.

Remind your father of the fate of the untrained middle-aged woman who suddenly finds it necessary to earn her living.

Remind him that necessity is always a bad bargainer and therefore it is better to train yourself for some sort of wage-earning while it is not imperative for you to win your own bread from the world.

Useless to say that the need will never arise. No one can see with certainty into the future and tragically often it is the unexpected catastrophe which occurs. The wisest and most loving parent not only wants to cherish and shield his children but to train them to the possible time when they must stand squarely upon their own feet and battle for existence.

If your father can be reached by none of these appeals, then I think you have the right, respectfully but firmly, to follow your star and work out your independent salvation.

Betty Brainerd will be glad to help her readers with their problems. Send a self addressed stamped envelope to her in care of this paper.

Morning Bridge and Luncheon Honor Mrs. St. Clair's Guest

Honoring Mrs. Walter J. Garner of Dallas, who is her house guest, Mrs. R. E. St. Clair entertained Wednesday with a lovely bridge luncheon at her home in the Beverly apartments.

Green, white and gold were the colors carried out in decorations, refreshments and favors. The apartment was beautiful with masses of Shasta daisies.

Bridge was played before luncheon and table covers matched the heart of the Shasta daisies. High score prize went to Mrs. Raymond G. Stanford and low score to Mrs. R. L. Yates.

For luncheon the tables were laid with Italian cut work and madeira cloths with napery to match. The entire service was of green crystal. A delicious luncheon was served, and boutonnieres of Shasta daisies used as favors.

The guest list included Mesdames James P. Bowen, Homer F. Bennit, B. F. Caldwell, Walter J. Garner, S. C. McIntosh, Chic Nolen, Raymond C. Stanford and R. L. Yates.

SCOUT TOUR OPEN TO BOYS

Creighton Explains Plans For Carlsbad Trip

All Boy Scout honor campers will be eligible this summer for a trip to Carlsbad caverns, near Carlsbad, N. M., according to Frank B. Creighton, Boy Scout executive. The trip will require 10 days and will cost each boy $12.50.

VARIED DIET IS MOST IMPORTANT

Eat Different, Balanced Foods, Sweetened to Your Taste

The reason why many people do not eat enough, or do not eat the right kind of food, is that they have allowed their daily diets to become too monotonous. Scientific authorities on diet state that too many people in this country are sacrificing both health and enjoyment by trying to eat unappetizing food.

The intelligent use of sugar as a flavoring or seasoning agent can largely solve this problem. It has been scientifically established that sugar is an energy food in the diet, and in addition to this, it makes other healthful foods more inviting to the appetite. It is the ideal flavoring for fruits, vegetables, cereals and beverages.

The sensible way to health is to eat varied foods which contain the different elements necessary to well-being. It is almost impossible to eat these foods unless they are appealing to our appetites. Almost all of them are made more delicious by the addition of nature's great flavor—sugar. Remember the many ways in which sugar combines with health-giving foods—with raw or cooked fruit, in vegetables, desserts, cakes, milk-shakes and cereals. For weariness—eat sugar. PROHI SLEUTHS TO KEEP GUNS

No Drastic Action Planned By Treasury

WASHINGTON, June 12. (US)—The treasury will neither disarm its prohibition agents nor make more drastic its existing regulations dealing with use of firearms by dry enforcement officers as a means of curtailing the mounting toll of prohibition killings, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman announced today.

Aroused by the recent gunplay by border patrolmen at Detroit and International Falls, Minn., members of congress had voiced a strong demand that liquor agents turn in their firearms.

Lowman said such a course would be "unwise" because it would practically be impossible to obtain agents with such a rule in effect. Violators of the dry law, especially smugglers, are "desperate characters" and rely on their own weapons as means of evading arrest, he declared.

The treasury liquor chief did declare, however, that the two border patrolmen involved in this week's shootings will be held personally responsible if the investigation now in progress disclose weapons were used except in self-defense or to prevent the commission of a felony.

The whole situation with reference to the recent wholesale killings by liquor enforcement agents has aroused official Washington to such a high pitch that the Washington Star in its leading editorial complained that the majority of the victims are motorists and urged the government to put its liquor agents in uniform.

In his discussion of the situation today Mr. Lowman agreed with the argument of senators and representatives that more care should be used in the employment of firearms.

"We are doing everything possible in that direction," he said.

He said that the treasury again will call its agents attention to the firearms order issued a year ago which set forth:

"The promiscuous flourishing of firearms is prohibited. A weapon should never be drawn on a person except in self-defense or to prevent the commission of a felony."

Treasury officials think that this order is sufficient to take care of the problem.

U. S. Senate Hears Utah Member In Scathing Denunciation of Nicotine

Smoot Rises in Wrath Against "Insidious" Advertising to Snare Women and Children to Habit

WASHINGTON, June 12. (US)—Charging an "insidious" campaign of tobacco manufacturers to induce young girls and boys into the army of cigaret smokers, Senator Smoot Republican of Utah, has offered a resolution in the senate to put tobacco products under the pure food and drug act.

The drastic measure offered by Smoot would subject tobacco advertisements to the same restrictions as medicines and impose the same penalties as those placed on quack remedies.

The sudden attack of Smoot on the vast newspaper and radio advertising campaigns came as a shock to a dozen senators, who have publicly indorsed certain brands of cigarets and cigars.

The Utah senator was by turns deadly earnest in this assault upon the cigaret manufacturers, specifically naming the American Tobacco company, and ironical and contemptuous with those who signed "tainted testimonials."

"Not since the days when public opinion rose up and smote the dangerous drug traffic," shouted Smoot, "not since the days when the vendor of harmful nostrums was swept from our streets, has this country witnessed such an orgy of buncombe, quackery, and downright falsehood and fraud as now marks the current campaign promoted by certain cigaret manufacturers to create a vast woman and child market for the use of their products."

Declaring that the evil "promises to be greater than alcohol" Smoot denounced the "unconscionable, heartless and destructive attempts to exploit the women and youth of our country in the interest of a few powerful tobacco organizations whose rapacity knows no bounds." He said cigarets were being advertised as the discovery of a new "nerve tonic" and added that their use is being encouraged as a means of attaining the "flapper" figure for women.

Quoting from various medical authorities, Smoot read an appalling list of diseases and disorders which arise from nicotine poisoning. He also cited the advertising campaign of insurance companies urging wholesome diet to combat the cigaret ads.

"The American Tobacco company dares to flaunt on the billboards of the nation, posters showing an adolescent girl smoking cigarets," shouted Smoot, as he condemned the broadcasting of testimonials by athletes "urging cigarets as an aid to physical prowess."

"What quackery!" he continued. "Overnight, the old 'coffin nail' becomes the sovereign god. Are you suffering with a sore throat? Gargle with cigarets—there isn't a cough in them. Would you be slender and charming? Substitute cigarets for wholesome foods. Would you gain laurels on the football field? Cigarets will give you vim and vigor. Would you be a great general? Forget that an army marches on its stomach—it marches on cigaret stubs. Would you be a popular sea hero? Throw the life preserver overboard—and place your trust in a package of cigarets."

CLEAN AS A HOUND'S TOOTH

Daily Editorial

THE MOST useful man on earth is having a party.

The brain children of Grandfather Edison, and their various industrial families, are celebrating the birth of the electric light, and making sure that posterity won't forget the humble manger in which was born, or the background, of its creator.

The tu'penny experiment of a mode-made laboratory has matured into a universal system engaging billions of capital and millions of employes and all within the life-span of its parent.

Statistics aren't even dimly aware of the copper mines it has spun into wires—of the timber tracts it has felled for poles—of the silicia and lead it has blown to bulbs—of the brick and stone and steel it has built into manufacturing plants and transmission stations—not to mention the tons of porcelai, rubber, platinum and tungsten, O. G. cable, silk, cotton, and shade fabrics consumed since the Wizard of Menlo Park challenged the powers of darkness to a finish fight—and began to furnish synthetic stars in push buttons.

The totaled investment of public service corporations founded upon his patents, together with the moneys engaged in providing equipment and sundries, exceeds the wealth working in any other department of commerce. And the men responsible for this amazing demonstration of possibility never had a full primary schooling, an hour of technical training, early access to university records or the use of an endowment penny.

Maechenas cannot claim a leaf of his laurels.

Philanthropy may not patronizingly boast the discovery of his genius. His only partners have been confidence, determination and native wit.

He took the four-flush hand that poverty dealt him and filled it from his head. The necessary aces are always there if one has the patience and doggedness to draw for them.

◆ ◆ ◆

CIRCUMSTANCES thrust a train-butcher's basket upon him, but it wasn't big enough to hold his imagination, so he swapped it for a telegraph key, and promptly proceeded to quadruplex its power.

In odd moments, he perfected the stock ticker, and with the profits of that venture invaded new kingdoms, emerging with the phonograph, motion photograph, poured cement construction, the storage battery and so many other things that nobody ever before thought of that an entire newspaper page can't list 'em.

But, the unique quality of Thomas A. Edison's performance is not the originality of his ideas, nor yet the pertinacity which distinguishes his method.

His distinguishing characteristic is an impeccable honesty—his name has never been tainted with plagiarism—his business record is clean as a hound's tooth.

There is not a dirty rung in the ladder up which he climbed, nor a bruised shoulder behind his success.

He has made his way and his dollars without tresspassing upon an individual right or a federal statute.

He has marched in mid-road and in the open—for eighty-odd years, a loyal citizen of the republic and an obedient servant of its conscience and its laws.

Cowboys and Airplanes

THIS modern age has a most perplexing way of scrambling things.

Out on the great range lands of Montana roam thousands of wild horses. Each summer the cowboys go out to round them up. In the open plains the task is relatively easy; but as the hunt progresses the wily horses retreat into the broken bad lands, where ancient upheavals of earth have left long gullies, deep canyons, tumbled hills and high buttes. In such country the task of finding them is almost impossible.

And here is where things are getting scrambled.

The round-up of wild horses is a relic of the old west. It is done just as it was done half a century ago. The cowboys are riders of the old, almost legendary breed. But this year—

This year they are going to use airplanes!

The airplanes can do a lot of things that the cowboys cannot. They can soar high over the bad lands and spy out the hiding places of the untamed, roaming herds. They can easily balk the cunning of the wild fugitives. This year's round-up, accordingly, will be more successful than any that have gone before.

Most of us have had time to get reconciled to the fact that the old west is gone. We are aware that few cowboys carry six-shooters any more, and we know perfectly well that the picturesque, lawless old ways have slipped over the last frontier, gone forever. Yet this business of airplanes is a bit of a shock. What have airplanes to do with Montana round-ups?

The fact is that two eras are dove-tailing in this business, each bringing its own special type of romance.

The romance of the old days—of the old west, and of the whole of the old America—was the romance of the individual. The cowboy was only one form it took. In other sections there were other guises; frontiersmen, prospectors, trappers, river pilots, and so on. All were pre-eminently individualists—men who played a lone hand, stood on their own feet, made their mark by dint of their own sturdy, uncompromising self-reliance.

The romance of today is the romance of machines, and the airplane fills the topmost niche. No longer is it the individual man who is glorified; it is the mechanical contraption that he uses. Individualism is passing; even the pilot, serene and alone in the empty sky, is up there as the representative, so to speak, of the scores of men who put his machine together.

It may be that this new era will be quite as satisfying and heart-warming as the old, once we get used to it. But there is no use denying that, with the passing of the old, we have lost something valuable. An epoch in human history is closing. No longer can a man go to distant frontiers and stand or fall on his own unaided efforts. He cannot escape from the machines.

Looking Into the Abyss

DRAB and ugly, without one relieving flash of lightness, is the Chicago murder story in which Mrs. Catherine Cassler has the central part.

A year ago Mrs. Cassler was in jail, sentenced to hang for the murder of a boarder, whom she was accused of having killed for his insurance.

Some twist of the legal machinery canceled the sentence and she was freed. She went home to her husband, and found a young and pretty girl boarding at his home.

Mrs. Cassler is in middle age and is stout. Perhaps she saw, in this charming boarder, an obstacle to the resumption of the happiness she once had known. At any rate, the girl's lifeless body was found beside a roadway a few days later, and Mrs. Cassler was re-arrested on a new charge of murder.

There is a queer, dull blackness to this story, somehow. Mrs. Cassler is not getting a great deal of public sympathy. That, usually, is reserved for defendants who are young and pretty. She is neither; just squat, stolid and hopelessly middle-aged, a woman to whom life had denied many things.

Yet her story—a sordid tale of passion, hatred, discouragement and grasping desire—is one of those things you cannot ignore.

It has no "redeeming features," as a feature writer might say. It is all black and ugly. It is a slice of life, worth studying because it reveals the depths to which human misery and human passions can descend.

This world is a queer place, not to be understood by any of us. It has shining heights and squalid depths, horrible in their darkness. Neither can be explained. All we can do is recognize the fact that they are there.

There are strangely beautiful and heart-warming things in life, sometimes. Every man, at one time or another, meets some experience, sees some act of heroism or kindness or nobility that persuades him that the race is, after all, but little lower than the angels.

Then, on the other hand, there are moments when the dreadful abysses that life holds stand fully revealed; moments when we realize that if this earth can be very like heaven, at times, it can also be very like hell.

This miserable story from Chicago brings that kind of realization.

What can we do about it? Nothing at all. We cannot harmonize it. We cannot explain it. And, if we are sensitive, we cannot ignore it.

All we can do is recognize the fact that horrible, black things do happen; that side by side with exaltation and achievement there exist dark despair and hopeless, violent passion.

This, perhaps, will not give us optimism, but may give us something better—tolerance and sympathy. At the very least it will keep us from being deluded about life. And that is something.

Quotations Worth Noting

"There is no more reason why the power trust should own newspapers than why men engaged in the manufacture of shoes or sewing machines should own newspapers in their business."—Senator Norris of Nebraska.

"Beyond a doubt the time is not far distant when every one may fly. We shall be able to buy a seat and fly anywhere. But I doubt that we shall ever see the airplane rival the automobile as a privately operated vehicle."—Igor Sikorsky, airplane designer.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Problem of Life-Boat Equipment

The recent discharge of four of the President Harding's crew following the discovery of a big cache of liquors hidden in a life-boat opens the question of whether or not ales, wines, whiskies and cigars should be part of every life-boat's equipment. The seagoing public seems hopelessly divided on the issue. Some think rye, scotch and gin should be kept out of life-boats, but that no passengers should ever be lowered into a life-boat without plenty of light wines and beers.

Others take the extreme view that life-boats should never be put over without a complete line of liquors and a competent steward. A third class holds that every ocean liner should equip its life-boats with glasses, strainers, shakers, oranges, olives, cherries and bitters (with possibly some sliced bologna and cube cheese) but that the passengers should carry their own hard stuff.

Still another coterie clings to the view that in case of disaster at sea the entire matter should be left in charge of the ship's doctor who, if reasonably sober, should be allowed to make out prescriptions for passengers who need a stimulant when miles from land in an open boat. Women and children should be given prescriptions first, of course, and any man striking a woman in an attempt to get her prescription away from her should be severely dealt with.

The prescriptions having been issued, the passengers would then go to the ship's bar and await attention. Of course, under such conditions, it would be necessary to delay the sinking a little longer than usual. This would require perfect cooperation and impose a strain upon the captain, it is true. Passengers would be somewhat impatient at the delay in taking to the small boats, perhaps, but the end would justify the means.

Personally the writer thinks that it should be settled on the Canadian plan. Give all ship passengers a permit good for a specific number of shipwrecks within a given time. When a man feels a ship is listing too sharply let him go at once to the bath steward and present his permit. (Every bath steward has plenty of liquor). All the passenger would be asked to do by law would be to estimate the number of days he expected to be in an open boat and not to fool the government.

Storing liquor as it was done aboard the Harding is folly. There was no system to it. Suppose there had been a shipwreck and all the passengers had happened to get in the one boat carrying the liquor? Picture them huddled together in a raging sea, cold, frightened and desolate! Then, quite suddenly, the discovery is made that there are 200 bottles of liquor aboard. Hopes are raised high, but only for a moment for, obviously, at such a time nobody would have an opener!

Clearly the question of liquor in life-boats demands careful study. Write your congressman now.

TOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, June 12.—The best gauge, I find, of determining what actors are doing the most for the Broadway theater, is the annual election of officers by the Actors' Equity association. The association, I'm assured, suffers comparatively little from politics.

Aside from the "working" officers of the association—men and women who give their time to its administration-details—there appears the name of Ethel Barrymore, elected first vice president, and among the council members are George Arless, Eddie Cantor, Katherine Cornell, Jane Cowl, Grant Mitchell, Eugene Powers, Josephine Hull, Elizabeth Risdon and Henry Travers.

These individuals were not placed on the list of officers because of their "names" but because of their sincerity and endeavor in furthering the cause of the actor. There are many actors who, lured by the screen, have forgotten Broadway for a time. I recall once seeing, on the bulletin board of a prominent and exclusive actors' club in the town the name of a famous member of a famous family of actors—posted for failure to pay dues.

Your Money Back—If

For the benefit of out-of-town baseball fans who may want to see a game in the big league parks in New York, an important matter was cleared up for me, at least, the other day. It seems there was a controversy on as to whether a baseball club should refund money or rain checks to out-of-town patrons.

Ordinarily the practice has been to refuse payment on rain checks, the fan being given the privilege of using the check for some subsequent game. But this proved unfair and a hardship to out-of-town visitors. An evening newspaper took the matter up and the opinion of its readers was 50-50, one side contending that when a person buys a ticket to a ball game he buys it "for better or for worse," and should not expect repayment.

Mr. Ed Barrow, the genial, sometimes, business manager of the New York Yankees, now comes forth with the assurance that he always refunds money on rain checks to out-of-town patrons—when they make request. Usually, I'm afraid to add, the out-of-town patrons are too reticent or too much in a hurry to make the request and get their money back.

Statistics While You Wait

Do you know—for that matter, do you care—that Irvin Cobb chews gumdrops when he writes? That Christy Mathewson's son doesn't know one ball team from another? That Jack Dempsey's brother, John, always whipped him when they fought as boys together?

Reversed

Not so long ago the New York newspapers used to print a special list of "All-Talking Pictures" in town. Nowadays they are so common that one New York paper lists every week "The All-Silent Pictures."

Playwrights Enter Picture Field

Practically all the talking pictures in town are nothing more than last season's stage plays.

As yet, the movies have not gone far in originating their own talking pictures. Though it is likely that very soon they will have captured our leading playwright. In both New York and Hollywood studios, the old-line scenarists, "gag-men," title writers and continuity men are given way to the plain ordinary dramatists from Broadway.

Little Theater Tournament

Various cities of the country were represented in the "Little Theater tournament" here recently. The tournament proved that all actors that glitter are not professional stage people. The visitors were amateurs interested in the stage only as an art, not as a matter of living.

Crowds Watch as Bodies Exhumed

MOORESTOWN, N. J., June 12. (INS)—Crowds of curious onlookers kept watch today on the grave of Ruth Mowdray Wilson at the Colestown cemetery near here and the lot of Horace "Red" Roberts Jr., at the Friends' burial ground here, in the expectation of seeing the bodies exhumed.

Arrangements for the inquest were completed today with the selection of six jurors and the calling of 35 witnesses.

The inquest will get under way at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. The coroner has been asked to definitely determine how the young couple came to their death and at whose hands. Police and Burlington county authorities have contended young Roberts shot the girl to death then committed suicide because Miss Wilson broke off their engagement.

ORGANIZER OF SCOUTS DIES

W. D. Boyce, Editor and Traveler, Passes Away

CHICAGO, June 12. (UP)—The death of W. D. Boyce, whose life was spent in search of adventure in the far corners of the world, has ended the career of the founder of the Boy Scouts of America, which opened new experiences to 4,000,000 American boys.

The veteran publisher, globe trotter and big game hunter died last night in his bungalow atop his own 12-story Boyce building, overlooking Lake Michigan and the busy loop.

Born in Allegheny, Pa., 69 years ago, he became a Chicagoan in 1881, but after rising to success as a publisher, spent many years in foreign lands.

It was on one of these excursions into little-known places that a chance happening led him to organize the scouts.

While passing through London in 1909, he became lost in a crooked maze of streets. A boy in khaki uniform saw his predicament, saluted and offered his services.

Boyce was guided safely to his destination, but was amazed when a proffered shilling was refused by the boy with the explanation:

"A Boy Scout does not accept money for his daily good turn."

Death Car Drivers Hunted by Police

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 12. (UP)—Police arrested 29 persons last night and today in the war on "death car drivers." The police move follows several recent accidents, some fatal, resulting from intoxicated persons driving.

Alvin Fields was recovering from serious injuries received last night when he was struck by a car driven by A. W. Anderson of Wewoka. Anderson was held in jail today on charges of driving a car while drunk.

Women Neighbors Use Pigeon for Messages

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo.—June 12. (UP)—Two women, living on adjoining farms near here, have established a mail service of their own. Mrs. C. F. Harmon owns a homing pigeon which lives about half the time at the home of Mrs. Kelly Fralick. The pigeon has been trained to carry messages back and forth.

Florence Vidor's Hubby To Enter the Talkies

LONDON, June 12. (INS)—Jascha Heifetz, the Russian violin-playing husband of Florence Vidor, has announced he will probably enter the "talkie movies."

Arriving here from an European tour, the famous violinist said he had been approached by one of the Hollywood companies to provide the music in a film in which his wife will star.

PARIS SUGGESTS STRAW COSTUME

Whims in Fancy Dress Delight the Smart

PARIS, June 12 (US)—The smart world of Paris is in a whirl at the moment about fancy costumes. The guests at the Beaumont ball tomorrow night are to represent characters from the opera. At Vicomtesse de Noailles' ball on the seventeenth the invitations ask that the materials usually not employed for clothes be worn. The hostess suggests such things as paper, wood and straw.

One of the most interesting of other large dances will be given by Princess de Polignac for Mademoiselle de Broglie, daughter of Mrs. Reginald Fellowes. Her dress is being especially designed by Augusta Bernard and is to be of sea greene tulle.

French girls usually slip demurely into society, but this young lady is to have an American coming out.

There are some distinct novelties in the mode. Mrs. George Dixon wears an ensemble from Worth on informal occasions in Paris. It is a green plaid crepe dress, a green wool cardigan of plaid and a crepe scarf. The materials are used alternately. It is accompanied by a simple green felt hat. So the "sports" costume is certainly an innovation for town.

Mrs. Gurnee Munn is waiting the arrival next week of a dream of a coat from Yvonne Caretta. It is entirely of the softest white leather on tailored lines, and lined with crepe. It is supple as tweed.

Accessories are more and more beguiling. The Maison Irande has for the beach carpets and cushions of towelling, matching bathing suit and coat and jersey. For women not anxious to swim she makes fantastically lovely pyjamas such as white satin trousers with gay brocaded coat, the design on a white ground. The latter is a Bianchiani material, supposedly waterproof.

Another adorable pyjame is a white silk shirt and white flannel oxford bags with a high waisted effect, and a white linen, flaring three-quarter length coat trimmed with light blue.

Mrs. Parmely Herrick has from this house five tea gowns of a striped material made up the length of the material. The upper part has angel sleeves, the skirt falling in a double train.

An accessory now an effective part of the whole costume is the handkerchief, which must match, harmonize or form a contrasting note.

Comtesse Potocca carried in the country last Sunday a three toned beige handkerchief with a simple beige crepe dress, an open work beige wool sweater, and amatching Reboux hat. It is lese majesty to mention this lovely royal lady just because of the handkerchief.

Baroness de Rothchild's large handkerchief of chiffon and finest net lace matched her evening gown. These are from Lady Abdy's shop. Lady Abdy this winter designed a handbag over a foot long, firmly made with shell trimming which is the furore now with the smartest women either in plain leather or alligator for traveling.

How I Bleach My Skin White

"The camera is a merciless eye," says Miss Genevieve Barr, noted New York model, "and we girls who have to face it have a method of our own for keeping our skins white and flawless.

"We buy no ready-made preparations, but get three ounces of Orchard White at the drug store and add to this the juice of two lemons. This makes several weeks' supply of a very fine skin bleach which softens, refines and whitens the skin without any harm or irritation. And because you use it while it is still fresh, it is twice as effective as any ready-to-use preparation. I find it a dandy bleach for tan and freckles, too. Every girl who takes up posing in New York, sooner or later learns this studio secret. The bleach costs only a few cents to make."—Adv.

Oklahoma Prepares For Wheat Harvest

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 12 (UP)—Mobilization of Oklahoma's men and machinery for the wheat harvest has begun while agricultural observers are checking the costs to the grain of floods and the army worm.

The harvest already is under way in scattered Northwest counties. Heaviest flood delay was in the Eastern and Central portions of the state where the Caney, Verdigris and Grand rivers had overflown during the rainy growing season.

State agriculturalists said the army worm invasion would not prove serious. Greatest hardship from the pests was experienced in Southwestern counties.

The harvest generally was expected to begin within a week or 10 days. As an answer to the surplus problem, storage facilities in the Northwestern area had been increased. At Enid a new 1,000,000 bushel elevator recently was completed, adding to the 7,000,000 bushel capacity of elevators already there. Reports here were that railroads had amply supplied rolling stock to move the grain.

Jury Disagrees In $5,300 Damage Suit

Judge W. W. Cook late Wednesday afternoon declared a mistrial in the $5,300 damage suit brought by John Craig against J. M. Childers after the jury reported a deadlock on every issue included in the charge. The hopeless disagreement was reported and the jury discharged after deliberations which began Tuesday afternoon. The foreman of the jury reported to the court that the jurors were stuck fast on the first issue and unable to proceed.

Mr. Craig sought the collection of damages following an automobile collision at Fourteenth and Broad on Nov. 28, 1928. The defendants were represented by the firm of Anderson and McDonald, attorneys. Davenport and Crain were counsel for the plaintiff.

Hall Returns From Revival at Clayton

Dr. Gaines B. Hall, pastor of the First Southern Presbyterian church, returned Wednesday noon from Clayton, N. M., where he conducted a 10-days' revival service at the First Presbyterian church.

Other churches in Clayton participated in the revival on a cooperative plan, Dr. Hall said. Additions to the Presbyterian church during the revival represented a 24 per cent increase in the membership.

World's Riches Not "Worth One Soul," Evangelist Says

Four conversions and baptisms marked the conclusion of Wednesday's services at the First Church of Christ, where G. A. Dunn Sr., of Dallas, veteran evangelist, is conducting a two-weeks' revival, assisted by Tillett Tedlie of Belton, song leader, and Rev. S. L. White, local pastor.

The value of the human soul, and the indispensability of Christ as the sole medium of salvation for man, was Reverend Duhn's subject Wednesday night. He spoke from Matt. iv:: 11-12, "There is no salvation in any name save that of Jesus Christ."

"We place an almost inconceivable value upon this world in which we live; its gold and silver, and other manifold riches. We dream of equally great riches abounding in other planets. Yet all of these material things together are not worth as much as one soul, for man, at death, would give them all to obtain the guarantee of eternal salvation. Such a bargain can not be driven; only the sacrifice of the Master avails.

"Life in its fullest sense is in Christ. All spiritual blessings come through him. People sometimes are bothered a good deal about which organization they shall join. The burden of our purposes should be to bring ourselves 'within Christ!' This is the major consideration."

Continued large attendance marked both the noon and evening meetings Wednesday.

RAMSEY BEGINS TERM TODAY

Prison Agent Takes Man To Huntsville

E. G. Ramsey, 52, former Sunday school superintendent, will be taken from the Wichita county jail to Huntsville Thursday to begin serving prison sentences aggregating seven years. A five year suspended sentence, imposed here for swindling, was revoked last week after a second two year term had been assessed in Abilene on forgery charges.

The former Sunday school leader appealed for an early parole and for work suited to a weakened physical condition when he was resentenced here last week. In a statement made a few days before his last appearance in the court room, he declared that until last fall he had led a blameless life and that domestic troubles, leading to drinking, had caused his downfall.

On the same occasion the prisoner re-asserted his faith in his religion and declared that he depended upon it and the devotion of his former wife to see him through his troubles. The former Mrs. Ramsey appeared with the defendant in both his trials. She visited him daily in his cell in the Abilene jail, he told friends here, bringing him especially prepared dishes for his meals.

Ramsey is to be taken to Huntsville by Bud Russell, penitentiary agent. Russell will also take Raymond Cannady, escaped prisoner recaptured by members of the sheriff's department two weeks ago, from the county jail here.

JURY RETURNS $3,000 VERDICT

Denton Couple Given Damages in Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Willis of Denton were awarded a $3,000 verdict against J. W. Simmons in connection with an automobile accident here in 1927, at the end of the third trial of the suit in the 89th district court Wednesday afternoon. Leslie Brothers, Inc., co-defendants in the suit, were found without responsibility in the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis were asking for $15,000 for alleged injuries suffered by Mrs. Willis in a three-sided accident at the corner of Seventh and Indiana streets in 1927. Evidence offered during the trial showed that the Willis car, struck first by an automobile owned by Mr. Simmons, swerved across the road, and was then hit by a machine belonging to Leslie Brothers.

The original trial, completed last year, resulted in a hung jury. A $1,200 verdict against both defendants, returned in the second trial, was set aside by Judge Martin upon evidence of the misconduct of the jury.

There Are Three Parties to Every Telephone Call

The party calling and the party called must do their part as well as the Telephone Company if good telephone service is to be had.

We are constantly striving to live up to our responsibility in rendering you the best service possible. We believe that telephone patrons are willing to do what they can to "give themselves better service." Therefore the few suggestions below are passed on to you in the interest of better telephone service.

The Party Calling

The preson calling has the responsibility of using the correct telephone number. Obtaining the correct number from the telephone directory will help materially in getting the call started correctly. Then—give the party you are calling ample time to answer after you first hear the bell ringing at the other end of the line. A half minute is not long to wait, but in that time the bell has rung five times. However, a full minute would result in more answered calls.

The Company

Your Telephone Company realizes that service of the best order is based on the reliability, accuracy and promptness of that service. Constant attention to every phase of telephone activity is necessary to maintain the high standard of service we have set for ourselves.

Science enters into the selection of materials, skill into the building and placement of telephone mechanism and a great deal of money is spent annually in the training and development of efficient personnel. We endeavor to discharge these duties fully.

The Party Called

The party called has the responsibility of answering the telephone promptly. Prompt answering not only conserves the time of the calling party, but frees both telephones more quickly that they may be available for other calls. One of the necessary aids to prompt answering is extension telephones, located conveniently so that a telephone is quickly accessible. Promptly answering is an important requisite of good telephone service.

The fulfillment of their obligations by all parties is necessary to assure good telephone service

C-C MANAGER TOURS AREA

Contractor Pours Concrete On Archer City Road

Pronounced activity in the construction of paved highways connecting Wichita Falls with trade territory to the south and west of this city was reported Wednesday by Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, following a trade extension trip through that territory.

Structural and drainage work is now under way on a road leading from Throckmorton to Olney, a new route which will shorten the mileage between Throckmorton and Wichita Falls to about 70 miles. The present trip is approximately 88 miles.

Contractor Julian C. Field began pouring concrete at Archer City Monday afternoon at 2 p. m. on the highway leading to Wichita Falls, and stated that he expects to complete the stretch connecting with Wichita county pavement at the Lake Wichita spillway in four and a half months. On the basis of these developments, Mr. Harrison stated, it appears now that the first paved highway to Abilene will be by way of Archer City, Olney, and Throckmorton.

At Haskell preparations were being made to create a road district, and bonds are being voted to pave highway No. 30 in that county, which is the last gap remaining between Wichita Falls and Abilene for which pavement has not been provided, it was said.

Mr. Field, contractor on the Wichita-Archer City highway, will start a crew pouring concrete next Monday, he said, on the Dundee road, which runs across the northwest corner of Archer county from the Baylor county line toward Wichita Falls.

The trip just completed by Mr. Harrison included visits to Seymour, Gorse, Munday, Haskell, Throckmorton, Newcastle, Olney, and Archer City. The crop outlook is much improved throughout the entire section by virtue of the recent rains, it was reported, effecting a material degree of encouragement for residents of those districts.

A friendly feeling toward Wichita Falls prevails in the area visited, Mr. Harrison said, with this city regarded as the out-of-town trading center as far south as Munday. Beginning with Haskell, competition with Abilene for mercantile trade increases. Considerable interest in the Kraft cheese factory here was shown by the residents of Throckmorton county.

Charles won the honor for Oklahoma out of a group of eight contestants examined today. Sidney Schmoyr, 17, of El Reno was selected as alternate.

Judge Favors Spanking Instead of Alimony

"But," Judge John J. Gregory told the girl, "what you really need most of all is an old fashioned spanking. You are too young to be married."

City Operating Expense Is Reduced at Austin

AUSTIN, June 12. (AP)—Austin city fathers clamped the lid on the city strong box last year, and as a result operating expenses cost taxpayers $1.54 less per pesos than the previous year, statistics received from the department of commerce disclose.

Payments for maintenance and operation of the general city government departments in 1928 were $1,105,870, or $24.75 per capita. The previous year the per capita cost was $26.11.

MISSING GIRL FEARED KILLED

Parallel to Dierdorf Mystery Is Seen

ROCKVILLE, Ind., June 12. (INS)—Pretty 15-year-old May Frances Whelan of Fort Launderdaye, Fla., who has been visiting relatives here, has disappeared from the streets here as mysteriously as did 10-year-old Edith May Dierdorf of West Terre Haute, last January. Sheriff Claude E. Robinson of Parde county announced here today in requesting volunteers to join in a flung search for the missing girl.

The Dierdorf girl disappeared on Jan. 27. Her mutilated body was found in Busseron creek near Sullivan, Ind., only about 50 miles south of here on April 7. The slayer was not apprehended.

Ancient Firearms Found in Mexico

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 12. (AP)—A cache of ancient firearms, probably used by the French troops of Maximilan, has been uncovered on the Rancho Viejo, 10 miles south of Matamoros, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande from Brownsville. The rusted mass was found by a surveyor.

An aged musket from the cache, being exhibited in the Cameron county courthouse here, shows the wear and tear of many seasons. All woodwork has rotted away and the metal is now little more than a large clod of rust. The weapon is of the first rock type and is equipped with a bayonet.

Efforts were being made to establish definitely the identity of the owners, who, it is believed, hid the weapons after they had run out of ammunition.

HOOVER PROVES GOOD DRUMMER

Latin America Trade Gains Since Tour

WASHINGTON, June 12. (US)—Trade between the United States and Latin America has increased at a rate of more than $1,000,000 a day, since President Hoover made his good will tour of Central and South America last winter.

The United States increased its sale to Latin America by $81,750,663 during the first four months of 1929, as compared with the corresponding period of 1928, statistics of the department of commerce disclosed today.

At the same time purchases from Latin America by the United States were increased by $43,547,074.

As a result of the increase of export sales over imports, the United states reduced the favorable trade balance enjoyed by Latin America by $38,212,040, bringing it down from $112,260,453 to $74,058,804 for the four months' period.

Total exports of that area were $354,723,626 as compared with $272,963,965 last year. The import total was $428,780,432, as against $365,-238,413 in 1928.

Total trade exchanged between the United States and Latin America amounted to $783,504,060, as compared with $638,207,383 last year, a gain of $125,296,677.

This is a gain of more than $30,-000,000 a month—better than $1,000,-000 a day. These figures emphasize the importance of Latin America in the commercial and industrial life of the United States.

Here is a tangible record of a million dollars a day increase in commercial interchange immediately on the heels of the good will tour. Mr. Hoover returns to the United States from this two months' trip early in January. These figures are for the four months immediately following his tour, January to April, inclusive.

And despite the substantial advance made by the United States in the Latin American export field, the trade balance still favors Latin America. The advantage has not been all for the United States.

Horticultural Inspector Named for South Texas

LAREDO, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Evidence that the federal government is taking every opportunity to protect South Texas orchards against possible introduction of the Mediterranean fruit fly by citrus from Florida is shown in the appointment of J. L. Summers, district horticultural inspector for the state department, as federal horticultural inspector here. He will inspect all shipments of oranges and other citrus.

Summers' territory is to extend north to Cotulla, including the Laredo and Hebbronville sections.

OCEAN FLIGHT HALTED AGAIN

Swedish Aviators Meet Fourth Setback

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, June 12. (US)—The three Swedish Stockholm to New York Flyers today suffered their fourth take-off setback within two days when they were forced to return to the harbor here after hopping off at 3:41 a. m.

Trouble in the fuel line and petrol tanks necessitated the landing.

Their 900-mile flight to Ivigut, Greenland, on the third leg of their journey, will probably be delayed until tomorrow while the three men, Captain Albin Ahrenberg, Lieut. Axel Floden and Radioman Robert Ljunglund examine their fuel tanks and pumping mechanism.

The airmen were forced back once yesterday by a cracked propeller and again by a leakage in the gasoline. Both flights were short, neither lasting two hours. On their first attempt to hop in the morning, the heavily loaded single-motored Junkers low-wing monoplane failed to clear the waters of the harbor.

The first delay to the flight occurred Sunday, when low fuel supplies forced the Sevrige down near Skaptaron, on the southeast coast of Iceland. They were then towed to a Danish tanker and refueled for their short flight to Reykjavik.

Despite adverse weather reports, the flyers intend to continue their flight to Ivigut tomorrow.

Of the 7,482 "podesta," or Italian local governors acting as mayors, only 683 draw pay. The honor is sufficient for the others.

POPE ASKED TO REFORM DRESS

Petition Begs Dogma On Feminine Fashion

ROME, June 12. (UP)—The national committee for reform of feminine fashions made known today that world wide appeal would be launched for signatures to a petition to Pope Pius XI, asking proclamation of a new dogma of "the corporeal presence of the Virgin Mary in Heaven."

The committee said it had been assured that the pope was ready to proclaim the new dogma which has been discussed a great length. The last proclamation of dogma was in 1870, when Pius IX proclaimed the famous dogma of infallibility of the pope.

The time for a new proclamation is opportune, it was pointed out, since the ecumenical council will meet next year.

A message sent throughout Italy by members of the committee also furthered the committee dress reform crusade. It said:

"A new era of peace and rejoicing opens to suffering humanity under the August signs of the queen of love, namely Mary. The new star brightens her crown in Heaven. It is 75 years since the Holy Pontiff denied the dogma of immaculate conception offering the people of the world her peace.

"Today our virgin mother awaits another homage from us. Let us hasten the hour of definition of this doctrine of her sublime corporeal triumph helping to remove every obstacle for the perfect development of an anti-fashion crusade."

The feat which corresponds to the dogma occurs Aug. 15 and is known as the "assumption of our lady." The doctrine that Mary ascended to Heaven in full corporeal state always has been held in the popular mind but her presence in Heaven never has been formulated in dogma.

If the dogma is proclaimed it will be required as an article of faith by the Catholic church.

Four Youths Held In Slaying of Policeman

CHICAGO, June 12. (UP)—Four girls and four young men were held for questioning in the slaying of Motorcycle Policeman Earl Leonard and a search was made today for Patrick Joyce, West Side hoodlum. Police are convinced Joyce killed the officer when he chased an automobile which had been driven through a stop light.

New Anesthetic Is Injected Into Veins

CHICAGO, June 12. (UP)—Sodium isoamylethyl barbiturate, an anesthetic injected in the veins which eliminates nausea and post operative lung involvement, has been perfected and used successfully in two major operations, physicians at Cook County hospital announced today. It was developed by two doctors at the Indianapolis, Ind., City hospital.

AMARILLO BANK CLAIMS GIVEN

Reserve Branch Assured for Panhandle

DALLAS, June 12. (AP)—Claims of Amarillo for a branch of the Dallas federal reserve bank were placed before directors of the institution here today by 32 citizens of Amarillo representing more than $500,000,000. The delegation came on a special train.

There is no doubt that a branch bank will be opened in Amarillo as soon as details can be worked out, W. H. Fuqua, multimillionaire banker, land owner and oil man, declared after the meeting.

Should the delegation's request be granted, the Amarillo institution would become the fourth such branch. The present branches are at Houston, San Antonio and El Paso.

Before the bank can be established the Dallas bank directors will have to recommend the action to the federal reserve board at Washington, which would authorize the Amarillo institution.

Three students working their way through Parsons college at Faurfield, Iowa—Lucille Schwilck, Alice Bell and Earl Heisel — were the only students to receive all "A" grades for the first semester.

MEXICO DROPS SCHOOL PLAN

University Autonomous By New Law

MEXICO CITY, June 12. (US)—An act of the second special session of congress authorizes the president of the republic to convert the national university of Mexico from an institution subject to the control of the federal department of public education into an autonomous establishment. Congress will continue to make appropriations for the university, but these are to have the nature of a subsidy. The university will be expected to find some means of its own in the future.

The president of the republic will continue to name the rector of the university, the other governing elements of which will be the faculty board of directors, which will consist of the senior professor of each department, or head of school, and the council of the university, composed of the rector, faculty board and representatives of the teachers and students. The president of the republic, Dr. Portes Gil, is charged with working out the further details of the new plan under which the university will operate.

This was the last special session of congress this season. At its first special session congress acted upon the case of the deputies and senators who had made common cause with the rebels in Sonora, 81 deputies and four senators being deprived of all parliamentary function and privileges.

Too Many Go to College, Sandefer Tells Students

CANYON, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Too many people are going to college, President J. D. Sandefer of Simmons university, Abilene, told 110 graduates of West Texas State Teachers college in his commencement address to them here.

"Only those who find and develop themselves in college should be there," Dr. Sandefer said. "College is no place for persons seeking only social position and a life of ease. Education, in the true sense, never brings ease—rather it brings harder work and greater problems, burdens and responsibilities."

Three students, none seniors, were awarded scholarships by the president. Inez Allen, Waco, junior, won the regents, $100 scholarship and prize; Eurith Compton, Portales, N. M., was awarded the Harley Sadle scholarship for outstanding work in public speaking; Pearl Davis, Silverton, won an award for the most consistent work on "Prairie," student weekly.

Picnic Lunches

Short mountain or beach camping trips are pleasant diversions, but those who are trying to live on a correct diet are often puzzled about the kind of lunch to take. The ordinary picnic lunches consist of weiners, pickles, potato chips and baked beans, etc., do not seem to fit in with a dietary regime.

Usually, the breakfast and dinner can be eaten at home, and the principal problem is with the lunches which must be prepared in the morning to be kept in good condition for lunch.

Wholesome sandwiches can be prepared from wholewheat bread with the addition of lettuce leaves, cabbage leaves or chopped celery, and some filling such as sliced meat, cheese, eggs, fish, olives, chicken, pork, ham or peanut butter. It is better to avoid using tomatoes and other acid fruits at the same time because of the starch contained in the bread.

The thermos bottle is a valuable asset to the short mountain or beach trips. There are two principal kinds, one for liquids with a narrow mouth, and one for solid foods with a wide opening at the top. Some campers prefer to use a fireless cooker in place of the thermos bottle. Various foods can be placed in the cooker while very hot and they will be cooked and still warm by lunchtime. If neither the thermos bottle or fireless cooker is available, one may obtain a similar effect by wrapping hot pots with close-fitting lids in many thicknesses of newspaper. The newspaper acts as an insulator and prevents the rapid escape of heat from the vessel.

There are three types of food combinations which can be used to advantage on picnic trips. The following are some good combinations which provide delicious luncheons and are at the same time highly nutritious.

No. 1—Two or three sandwiches of wholewheat bread. Slice the bread before packing the lunch and wrap it in oil paper so the slices will not become too dry. Take along a small jar of fresh butter and also some of the fillings as mentioned in the first part of the article. Also take along a plentiful supply of lettuce leaves and if desirable, some raw carrots and celery or a raw vegetable salad which can be made at home and packed in a jar.

No. 2—One pint of raw certified milk sipped slowly while eating any one kind of the following fruits: Oranges, apples, peaches, berries, plums or cherries. Do not be afraid to use this combination, as the fruit and milk mix perfectly if no other food is used at the same time. Or, if you desire, you could take along a pint of certified milk and mix this with orange juice and shake vigorously. This is an easily digested combination. Bread or meat should not be used at the same time with this luncheon.

No. 3—Cold broiled or roasted chicken or other meat, some cooked non-starchy vegetables, such as string beans and a salad of lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers. The non-starchy vegetables may be cooked at breakfast time and immediately put into thermos bottles which will keep them hot until noon. The lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers are best taken whole, wrapped in a moist cloth, and the salad prepared fresh when ready to use.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Well Water

Question—S. O. writes: "The water from our well looks like it had brick dust in it, and we use this rusty-looking water for drinking, cooking, etc. Kindly let me know if it is harmful."

Answer—I believe the best plan would be for you to distil the water before using it for cooking or drinking. The brick color may not be an indication of any poisonous material, but it is not advisable to use water for drinking or cooking which contains too much inorganic mineral substance.

Dandelions

Question—G. M. R. asks: "Will you please give me the food value of dandelions?"

Answer—Dandelions are especially rich in potassium, sodium, calcium, magnesium and silicon, but do not have much calorie or heating value. They are a form of "greens" valuable in the diet, and should be used whenever obtainable.

Aching in Hips

Question—J. M. G. writes: "I notice when I go to bed, if I lie on either side for an hour or so my hip bones ache, but as soon as I turn on my back this passes off. What would cause my sides to bother me this way? They seem all right during the daytime."

Answer—It might be caused by a slight inflammation of the nerves which aching is made more pronounced by pressure, but I would suggest that you have a careful examination made of the lower spine by a good osteopath or chiropractor to determine if there is any nerve pressure present.

SPUDDERS ONE GAME BEHIND SPORTS AFTER WINNING 8 IN ROW

GOFF PITCHES 7 TO 3 VICTORY

Lapan, Bennett Hit Homers To Aid Exporter Defeat

Special to The Record News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 12.—They can't stop the Spudders. Even the Beaumont Exporters, nemesis of the Wichita Falls club, bowed to Jim Galloway's fast-stepping athletes today, as the Spudders won the opening game of the series, 7 to 3.

It was the eighth consecutive victory for the Spudders, and with the defeat of Shreveport by San Antonio today, the Wichita Falls clan now trails the second-place Sports by only one game. They still are four games behind the leading Dallas Steers.

The Spudders made 11 hits count today, driving Fred Stiely, their old teammate, and Denny Burns off the hill. Newman finished as the home pitcher.

Pete's 3rd Homer in 3 Days

Pete Lapan smote his third home run in as many games and Fred Bennett also clouted a circuit smash. Lapan's homer came with a runner on base. Bennett was Spudder batting leader with a pair of singles in addition to his homer. Turgeon and Sullivan got two hits each.

Bill Goff pitched effectively and received sterling support. Most of the Exporters' 12 hits were made after one or two were out and they did not score until the last three innings, when they tallied a run in each frame. Goff was very steady with runners on bases.

Paul Easterling led the Beaumont attack with three hits, including two doubles.

Bennett's Hit Scores 2

Wichita Falls tallied two runs in the first inning. Benton led off with a double. Turgeon walked. Fitzgerald sacrificed. Bennett spanked a single to left, scoring Benton and Turgeon.

Sullivan singled and scored ahead of Lapan on Pete's home run over the left field wall in the second. After Goff singled Burns replaced Stiely.

Bennett went to second when Easterling dropped his fly, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Stapleton's hit in the third.

Bennett hit his home run over the left field barrier in the fifth and the Spudders scored their last run in the sixth when Sullivan singled, went to third on Akers' error and Lapan's grounder and spiked the plate while Swanson was throwing out Goff.

Exports Tally in 7th

The Exporters tallied their first marker in the seventh. Akers and Swanson singled after two were out and Akers scored on Lamb's hit.

Huber walked and Easterling singled in the eighth. Petrie forced Easterling, Turgeon to Benton, but Rabbit threw wild trying to make a double play and Huber tallied.

Akers strolled to start the home ninth, advanced to second on Swanson's infield out, to third on a passed ball and scored on Kelly's hit.

George Payne probably will be Jim's hurler tomorrow.

Baer Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

NEW YORK, June 12.—Captain Dykes of Wildwood, New Jersey, states that bathing beauties are hampered by too much clothing.

Captain Dykes is not a snob. But nobody san swim if they first wrap themselves in all the blankets in the army.

Captain Dykes says it is not healthy to wear baggy bathing dresses and raccoon coats on the beach.

The captain believes that daughter should hang her clothes on a hickory limb.

He also believes the woodman should spare that tree.

And that America should conserve its forests.

He advocates the one-piece bathing trousseaus of the backless type.

That's the kind they wore down at Palm Beach last winter. We got our eyes sunburned.

The backless swimming jersey is not a jersey because it hasn't got a back.

We cannot describe it. Fortunately, it is one of those things that you will have to see for yourself.

Anyway, you are walking down the beach when you see the back of a perfect stranger. It is a real back with the shoulder blades akimbo.

The first thing you do is to count your money to make sure that you are awake. But, sure enough, it is a back of the human type.

Then you look at the ocean and the sun to make certain that you are not in the wrong bathroom.

If a girl wore a uniform like that in 1900, the police would have removed her freckles by taking the owner of the freckles to jail.

One back is astonishing. When you see thousands of backs sparkling in the sunlight then you know that girls arent wearing dresses these days.

All that they are wearing are the patterns.

We predict that Wildwood will enjoy its most popular season this summer.

And that when a bathing beauty turns her back on us we will not object to being snubbed.

Gertdude Ederle is to blame for all this. When Gerty swam the English channel she left her clothes on the bank and then swam outside of banking hours.

Texas championship tennis matches, under the auspices of the Texas Amateur Athletic federation, will be played in Wichita Falls this year on August 16 and 17, it was announced Wednesday by C. C. Bunnenberg, park superintendent.

The matches will be played on the new courts now under construction on the Junior college grounds. Elimination matches for Wichita Falls entrants will be begun about the latter part of July, it was said.

Between 10 and 12 Texas cities will send representatives to the championship meet, in which there will be about 100 contestants for the state title.

The meet has been held in Waco during the last several years, and plans were being made last year to hold them at Waco again. Through the efforts of William B. Ward, city purchasing agent, and C. C. Bunnenberg, park superintendent, it was decided to hold the 1929 matches in Wichita Falls. Ample provision for the meet is being made at the new courts on the Junior college grounds, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

"What a satisfaction it is to put a Cremo to your lips," says Alfred W. McCann—'You know a Cremo is safe.'

"Every tobacco leaf entering the Cremo factory is scientifically sterilized by U. S. Government approved methods. And every sanitary precaution known to science is taken to safeguard this purity along every step of the way.

"Each Cremo is folded, wrapped and tipped by amazing inventions! In factories that are models of cleanliness . . . air-flooded, sun-bathed, scientifically clean!

How often have you been disgusted with the filthy, germ-breeding places where some cigars are made . . . dark, stuffy factories . . . warm, dingy shops and windows . . . where cigars are rolled by careless, dirty lips and fingers and spit on the ends! What a far cry this is from the modern, certified "Cremo-method" of manufacture!

Cremo's superiority starts with the choicest and tenderest leaves, ripe and mellow, and continues in goodness through a slow, expensive maturing and mellowing process . . . topped off with the finest imported Sumatra wrapper! Cremo contains no scrap—no floor sweepings—all long filler—all fresh, tender leaves. Over $7,000,000 was spent in perfecting the certified "Cremo-method" of manufacture that insures uniformly fine, sanitary cigars. Foxhall and Lebus to Meet Today For Green Belt Golf Championship

Frank Defeats Roy Farrell, 4 and 2, and Roy Eliminates L. S. Walker, 4 and 3, in Semi-Finals

By AL PARKER
Staff Correspondent

VERNON, Texas, June 12.—Experience and youth split even today in the semi-finals of the fourth annual Green Belt Golf association championship, and Frank Foxhall of Memphis and Roy Lebus of Electra will battle tomorrow over a 36-hole route for the crown worn the last year by Raynes V. West of Memphis. Experience was on the winning side today when Foxhall defeated Roy Farrell, Vernon's young star, 4 up and 2 to play and youth's victory was scored when LeBus beat L. S. "City" Walker of Quanah, 4 up and 3 to play.

These two will battle 18 holes tomorrow morning and 18 in the afternoon over the Hill Crest Country club course here for the 1929 championship.

Young LeBus, 18 years old, has been the sensation of the tournament, and to him goes the credit for eliminating both former champions. He won his opening round match from the defending champion, Raynes West, 1 up in 22 holes, and came through the quarter-finals this morning by nosing out Whitney Anderson of Vernon in another thriller, 1 up, 19 holes. Those who expected him to crack in the long match against the champion yesterday were waiting when he ended his semi-finals victory over Walker on the 12th green.

LeBus-Walker Battle

The LeBus-Walker match was a see-saw battle until the late stages. LeBus went one up with a par at the first and two up with another par at the fourth. Walker won the fifth, LeBus the sixth and when the latter dropped the last two of the first round to even the match, it seemed he had broken sure enough. He had missed a four-footer on the ninth to allow Walker to square it, but he again took the advantage at the first hole of the second round and was never headed. He won five successive holes with four pars and a birdie and never gave his opponents a breathing spell, the match ending when the 18th was halved in par figures. Cards:

Out—
LeBus	445	354	554	39
Walker	545	445	445	38
In—
LeBus	444	334
Walker	555	554

Foxhall was down only once in his victory over Farrell. Both were off to great starts and the first three holes were halved with two pars and a birdie. Farrell won the fourth with a par three and both misplayed the fifth to the extent of fives. Then Foxhall ripped off three pars and a birdie on the last four holes and won them all. Farrell's game suffering its first lapse since the start of the tourney and Foxhall taking advantage of it to the fullest extent. The Memphis star was 3 up at the turn and picked up another at the 10th by holding out for a birdie 3 a few feet off the green for a birdie 2.

Farrell Keeps Fighting

That might have been enough to finish off one less sturdy than the Vernon youngster, but Farrell kept right on fighting and was rewarded when his par 5 won No. 12. Foxhall went back to 4 up by winning the next with a par 3. Each took a birdie 3 on the 13th, Foxhall driving the 252-yard green and Farrell sinking a long putt to stay in the match. Farrell won the 14th, but failed to equal Foxhall's par four at the 15th, ending the match. Cards:

Foxhall	444	434	443	36
Farrell	446	365	535	39
In—
Foxhall	346	335	4
Farrell	445	434	5

Foxhall will start the final tomorrow a favorite to win the title. Twice he has been a medalist and once a semi-finalist in previous tourneys and has played excellent golf throughout the qualifying round and three matches in this event. But the underdog role will not be a new one for LeBus, for he has been just that in each of his previous matches, in which he has defeated the two former champions and one of the local club's favorites.

Farrell went into this afternoon's semi-finals by defeating Levi Lynch of Paducah, the medalist and an early favorite, 4 and 2. Walker won his second round match from George Hazell of Electra, 1 up, to enter the semi-finals. Foxhall's quarter-finals victory was a 3 and 2 conquest over John Sherwood of Shamrock.

The second match produced a corking match, when James Parr, 14-year-old Electran, won from Billy Holmes of Shamrock, 1 up in 20 holes. Parr had a medal score of 79 for the 18 holes and 80 for the 36. Parr meets W. K. Long of Vernon in the final. Long defeated R. R. Gibson of Vernon, 5 and 4, in the semi-finals.

In the third flight M. B. Creed of Altus and W. W. Anderson meet in the final. Creed defeated J. S. Gilliland of Quanah, 5 and 3, and Anderson beat C. P. Sanders of Childress, 4 and 3.

R. C. Holt of Altus and S. C. Harrison of Memphis tangle in the fourth flight finals. Holt beat R. C. Holt of Altus, 1 up, and Harrison won from Grady Shipp of Vernon, 1 up, 19 holes.

Jack Parr and Jack LeBus, both of Electra, meet for the first flight consolation title. Parr went into the final on a default and LeBus defeated Charles Staggs of Shamrock 6 and 4.

Long Trips and Climate Changes

A few years ago there was a great hullabaloo about the big handicap of long trips for the invading team and the disadvantage of tackling a new and different climate.

The invader was supposed to be up against almost hopeless odds. While following an international golf match with Lord Northcliffe a few years ago he remarked that the invading team or player was under such a large disadvantage that he doubted the desirability of holding such contests.

But this early belief has been completely wrecked by the events of the last few years. United States golfers have gone to Great Britain and have won most of the British opens for the last seven or eight years.

Hagen and Bobby Jones alone have accounted for six.

The Stanford track team has traveled more than 3,000 miles to win the last three intercollegiate games at Cambridge or Franklin field.

The Pacific coast universities have won eight out of the last nine track and field events held in the East.

French tennis players came over here and took away the Davis cup and two Pacific coast football teams came East last fall to crush the Army and N. Y. U.

The California crew won all the way from the Pacific ocean to Europe, picking up eleven consecutive victories, and most of them were from 3,500 to 7,000 miles away from home water.

The Notre Dame football team plays most of its games away from home, ranging from one ocean to another, and Notre Dame's winning percentage is close to .900. Which is fair enough for a long stretch.

When you figure out the details the invader in the last few years seems to have had all the better of the argument. At least his average is high enough to show that it doesn't make a lot of difference where the game is played.

Michigan and Stanford

Fielding H. Yost has always maintained that trips and climate changes made no great difference.

In 1901 he took his all-star Michigan team to the coast to play Stanford. Michigan trained in the snow and left in a snow storm. The game was played a few days later with the temperature around 90. Michigan won, 49 to 0, using only eleven men, while Stanford had to call on most of her substitutes.

Those were the days of Heston, Neil, Snow, Weekes, Sweeley, Gregory, Hornstein, Redden, Hammond and other stars who helped to make Michigan one of the great all-time teams.

Alabama and Georgia Tech have traveled to the Pacific coast for three years without losing a game.

Two European fighters have clubbed their way into the semi-final round of the heavyweight championship, having displaced most of the home talent that happened to stroll in the way.

A good team or a real champion doesn't have to bother a lot about a long trip or about strange conditions. This made a good alibi once, but it doesn't work any more.

The crew favored at Poughkeepsie today for one of the greatest of all rowing championships is California, and the Pacific ocean is a long way from the Hudson.

And Norton Smith was a long way from Joplin or Springfield, Mo., when he romped around St. Cloud, outside of Paris, in a pair of 66s. There are many times when the advantage is with the home defender, but the point is that it is not always a heavy advantage or a killing one.

Half-Strides

An alibi is always the other fellow's excuse, not your own sound reason for failure.

One trouble is that few golfers know enough rules to know the ones they are breaking.

We have had Gorilla Jones, the Brown Panther, the Lion of the Pyrannees. Not to mention the large number of boa constrictors and pythons who have exchanged interlocking grips.

The point as to whether a university should be penalized for the operations of the old grads is a tough one. It is rough on the undergraduates who have nothing to do with the subsidizing. But what about the undergraduates of other universities who have to meet the old grads' hired men?

When young Jimmy Foxx, of the Athletics, grows up he is going to be quite a help to some big league team.

Something is bound to bend if not to crack before this National league is over, what with four ball clubs about as evenly matched as any race has seen for years. It is only a question of time until the detonation of pulses will be heard in more than one large city.

Ability to take it on the chin always seems an admirable quality until you examine the ultimate result at close range.

The tough breaks are the only details that give the good breaks any value.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 12. (AP)—Large domestic consumption figured for the month of May and reiterated reports of heavy boll weevil infestation seemed to outweigh more favorable weather and crop advices in the cotton market today. After selling off to 18.58 during the early trading, the new October contract closed at 18.75, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 9 to 15 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 to 4 points in response to favorable weather map and relatively easy early cables from Liverpool. The figures were evidently much above expectations and combined with the talk of heavy boll weevil infestation promoted enough buying to absorb the early offerings.

The weekly report of the weather bureau was considered quite as favorable as expected, but appeared to have been discounted, and its failure to bring in more active selling was a disappointment from the bearish standpoint. This probably accounted for some of the buying which followed. July sold up to 18.59 and December to 18.92 and the market closed within a point or two of the top.

Private cables said there had been selling in Liverpool on favorable crop reports and the senate rejection of the farm relief bill, but the English market rallied after the local opening.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 12. (AP)—Cotton was quiet today and the price trend was slightly upward. After an early decline of 8 to 9 points the market rallied on buying induced by bullish weevil and consumption reports and was on the upgrade for practically the rest of the session. October advanced from 18.50 to 18.67 and closed at 18.65, or 5 points net higher. The general market closed steady at net advances of 5 to 7 points.

The highs of the day were made in late trading when July traded at 18.70, October 18.67 and December 18.81, or 13 to 19 points above the early lows. Final prices were within a point or two of the best.

An easier tendency has been apparent in ourlaps with large June shipments anticipated and with buyers hesitant to go far forward. Spot raw silks were unchanged to firm and quiet. Some silk tweed prints have been of interest.

General Electric Leads Generally Quiet but Firm Stock Session

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 12. (US)—General Electric with advance of nine points featured another quiet but firm stock market today. It moved higher in the lead of a generaly strong Utility and Power group in which Standard Gas gained 4⅞, Commonwealth Power five and Public Service of New Jersey 2⅜. Steel moved up fractionally while other Standard Industrials held to very narrow price range. United States Industrial Alcohol jumped six points, while Auburn Auto skyrocketed 23 points further.

Oil shares were quiet but steady waiting on definite development at the Colorado Springs meeting. Rails remained dull and lost a little on the average. The call money rate held at eight per cent throughout while the turnover was unchanged at the 2,000,000 share level.

While money was a little easier there was not much hope of any material lowering of the rate for the next several weeks. In fact it was thought that a higher rate would prevail over the week-end. Better sentiment was created by the expectation that the federal reserve statements tomorrow would have a bullish influence. Most brokers thought that the brokers' loans would show a decline as they maintained there had been quite a little liquidation during the past several days. Whatever change is shown, however, is likely to be small.

In the banking world it was thought that the statements would reflect further operations to maintain a better money market by the local reserve bank. It was reported that the institution had added to its holdings of both government bonds and bills during the week.

Strength of the Alcohol shares was due to a report of increasing earnings and expectations that important merger development was planned. U. S. Industrial Alcohol interests, it was claimed, had been negotiating with those in control of American Commercial Alcohol. National Dairy Products' ability to register a new high reflected the belief that any important consolidation of good companies will have to include this organization. It is the outstanding company of its kind in the East and the management has expansion plans that should add further to earnings. Allis Chalmers' strength reflects the belief expressed here that it will show continued improvement in earning power over the next several months.

Electric Auto Lite was helped by renewed operations of those who have been out of the market almost entirely for several weeks. They are only feeling their way at present but once convinced that the reserve authorities are really satisfied with conditions and will cease their obstructive tactics, the group will take a much more aggressive attitude; it is claimed that Auto Lite will show even larger earnings this year than has been estimated. It has business ahead in volume that will keep it busy for many months.

Underlying strength of the Oils is witnessed coincident with report in banking circles that at least two important merger deals will be announced over the next two months. Pan American, Sinclair, Texas and Skelly reputedly are interested in negotiations now carried on.

Those who listened to brokerage advice of profit taking in Utility and Power did not get much satisfaction therefrom. The real buying of the shares has been influenced by knowledge of mergers and closer affiliations of managements that will weave the leading organizations into a network that will defy solution. One of the next developments is expected to cohern the Buffalo, Niagara & Eastern, the "A" shares of which were the sensation of the curb today. The local companies also have plans for effecting more economies of management and concentration of control which will prove of benefit to stockholders. Standard Gas and Electric is mentioned in merger reports.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, June 12. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Hog trade around the 11-market circuit was fairly active at 10@25c higher prices. The day's extreme top of $11.40 was scored in Chicago on light and medium weight butchers. Total offerings were around 81,400, a decrease of 17,000 from a week ago and 23,000 short of the corresponding day last year.

The sheep supply approximated 45,500 against 51,229 last Wednesday and 51,821 a year ago. Fat lamb trade was slow at weak to unevenly lower prices, several points reporting losses of 25 to 50c. Fed yearlings were also under pressure with values generally weak to 25c lower. No material change was registered on aged stock. A few choice native lambs in Chicago brought $16.00@16.25, while Idaho's cleared at $15.75.

Continued light receipts of cattle served to broaden the outlet for fed steers and yearlings. Trade was fairly active at firm to 25c higher, weighty steers generally showing the most gain. Buyers all week have centered their attention on matured steers. All killing classes were on a steady to strong basis. Chicago scored $15.40 on a choice load of 1,200 pound averages. Weighty steers in Omaha reached $15.20, and a 3-car shipment of 1,229 pound steers at Kansas City brought $15.00. Total arrivals were estimated at 30,700, a shortage of 7,700 from a week ago and 10,000 less than a year ago.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 12. (AP)—In a storm of selling that temporarily overwhelmed the grain markets today, wheat went down almost 5c a bushel and corn more than 3c. The depreciation of values followed senate disapproval of the farm relief bill, but the effects afterward were largely overcome through a renewal of buying which was associated with reports that delay to farm relief would prove short.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 1¼@1⅝c below yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅜@2c down, oats unchanged to ⅛@⅜c off, and provisions varying from 2@5c decline to a rise of 10c.

Biggest breaks in wheat came soon after business began and while the market was staggering under an overnight piling up of orders from all directions to get rid of ownership in a hurry.

Wheat soon showed an extreme smash of 4⅝c, with stimultaneous transactions differing fully a cent a bushel in various parts of the srtuggling mass of brokers in the trading pit. Values fluctuated fast thereafter until accumulated orders to sell or buy had been fairly well cleared up. Then a general but incomplete recovery set in.

Apparently as a direct result of misgivings relative to farm relief, country holders let go of "to arrive" shipments of corn today on the largest scale in many weeks. Oats were easy owing to weakness of corn and wheat.

Provisions at first were influenced by the action of cereals, but recovered later, helped by upturns in hogs.

SECOND SALE OF COWS HELD

Baylor, Knox and Young Farmers Here

Farmers and dairymen from Baylor, Knox, Young and other counties in Northwest Texas, and from Southern Oklahoma, were among the buyers present at the Bullington dairy, near Call Field, Wednesday when about 40 head of registered Jersey cattle were sold.

Wednesday's sale was the second held within the last six months for the disposition of surplus stock resulting from natural increase, and comprises further evidence of the quality of milk cows which the Bullington herd is known to contain.

The animals sold Wednesday were cows and heifers. The efforts being made throughout this section of the country toward the development of a large dairying industry are indicated by the frequent sales of high grade dairy stock at this point.

CHARLES WEEKS SMALL FARMS MEETING EARLY SUCCESS HERE

90 PLOTS SOLD BY COLONIZER

Model Farm Makes High Yields on Crops

Basing his estimate upon the rapid development thus far registered and numerous plans already drawn for building during the remainder of this year, James Yeths, superintendent of the Charles Weeks small farm community near Call field, predicted Wednesday that between 60 and 70 families will be established on small tracts in the district by Jan. 1, 1930.

More than 90 plots, averaging about two-thirds of an acre each, have been sold by the Weeks offices to date, it was said. More than a dozen properties are now in process of construction, and seven of the small farms already have been stocked with chickens, totalling more than 5,000 birds from the M. Johnson poultry ranch.

Abundant water for irrigating purposes is supplied throughout the area, Mr. Yeths said, and on the model one-acre farm, on which development first began, a heavy yield of a great variety of vegetables has been harvested during the last few weeks. Eighty varieties of fruit trees, bushes, etc., are now growing on the model tract, it was said, being trained upon the steel fences as a measure of space economy.

Opposite the model acre, on which Mr. Yeths lives, a two-story stucco house, which will cost approximately $10,000, is being raised by S. Bacon of Childress on a one-acre plot, it was stated. Mr. Bacon plans to add more ground to his property later, and to maintain a flock of at least 3,000 chickens, Mr. Yeths said.

Mr. Weeks is now in California, but is expected to return to Wichita Falls by Sunday.

Beaumont Man Purchases Famous Austrian Panels

CHICAGO, June 12. (UP) — Twenty satin embroidered panels made for the music room of Neue Hofberg, a castle belonging to the Empress Elizabeth of Austria, have been sold to J. H. Phelan, wealthy Beaumont, Texas, oil executive and wholesale grocer.

The valued relics never were hung in the castle because the empress was stabbed to death with a shoemaker's awl before the structure was finished. They were on display here.

"IT CERTAINLY HAS PROVEN A BLESSING"

Wichita Falls Housewife Gives Orgatone High Praise—"I'm Now in Perfect Health," She Says

Among the many Wichita Falls people who have recently expressed their hearty and sincere approval of Orgatone, after putting the medicine through a practical test and deriving convincing results from it, none are more genuinely enthusiastic than Mrs. E. T. McPherson, of 204 Second street, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"I certainly do give Orgatone credit for my great improvement," said Mrs. McPherson, "for it has helped me over a nervous, rundown condition that has honestly been with me, for the last four years, and the last two years I have been going from bad to worse until I simply felt like I had no life left in me.

"My kidneys just seemed to go back on me entirely, for I would have sharp shooting pains in my back and sides and have a weak, miserable feeling that sometimes I felt like I couldn't stand it an hour longer. I had sick dizzy headaches which I am sure was caused by biliousness and I would get so nervous when these attacks came along that they would frighten me and make me so weak that I could hardly stand it..

"I couldn't sleep at all well at night and became so badly rundown I was simply not equal to anything and for a long time I felt like it was going to be necessary for me to give up trying to do my housework. If I hadn't heard about this Orgatone and give it a trial, I don't know what would have become of me.

"I have taken four bottles of this splendid medicine and I can say positively and candidly that I have never felt better or stronger in all my life. I have gained in weight and my kidney troubles have left me as completely as if I had never suffered with them a day in my life.

"My food agrees with me perfectly now and I am not bothered with gas or nervousness in the least. I sleep just fine and if there's any reason to believe I'm not in perfect health I don't know what it is. I want to recommend Orgatone to my friends, for it surely has proven a blessing to me."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific bile preparation and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by the Allison's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

Iowa Park Editor Gives Intimate Glimpses of Visiting Newspapermen

Inimitable "Main Ditch" Sage Lists Personal Traits of Many Notable Texas Editors

By C. C. HUDSON
Editor Iowa Park Herald

The pencil pushers of Texas' newspapers—the noble and ignoble editors, the jovial and the grouchy, the radical and the conservative, the constructive and destructive—the chroniclers of the truth, varnished and unvarnished, neglected and negligible—the makers and shapers of opinion, original, borrowed and guessed at—they'll all be here for the greatest session in 50 years.

Its the golden jubilee meeting. Gen. Sam E. Miller, a veteran wielder of a trenchant goosequill, who recently vacated the editorial chair on the Mineral Wells Index, is the president. Sam is a capable and resourceful president at any time, but how appropriate that an editor of the old school, familiar with the "hell box" thin spaces and bastard quads of yesterday—the "handset" days and crude ways of journalistic pioneering in Texas, should open the golden jubilee convention.

Sam P. Harben of Richardson is the secretary, and has been since we first read about the Alamo, though Secretary Sam is not as old as President Sam, neither as good looking nor as "taking" with the ladies. Joe Taylor of State Press is about the only man who can hold the president a light in that last virtue.

Speaking about the Sams, there'll be a lot more of them on deck when the gong sounds. There are so many Sams in our conventions that editors can hardly grow poetic in speaking of each other without bordering on the profane—so few words rhyme well with Sam. Sam Braswell, who sings like a heavenly choir, all by himself, will be there. Sam has other divine characteristics, in that his dome speaks eloquently of "no parting there." Sam is from up in the Panhandle country — Clarendon — where the wind blows and editors don't have to.

Sam Fore to Be There

Sam Fore, the heavyweight from Floresville, down in the tamale section—he'll be there with his collar wilted before the welcome address is half finished, but a press convention in Texas without Sam Fore would be like puiting cracked ice and bruised mint in a glass of buttermilk. Sam Holloway of Deport will be there with his notebook and press gallery manners. He doesn't miss anything between the train he comes in on and the departing minute.

The editor was at the Kemp hotel in Wichita Falls the other night making inquiry about the advance reservations, and it looks like a reunion as well as a big convention.

J. H. Lowry from Honey Grove, widely known as "Buttermilk Jim," has a cool room reserved. Jim is the old Demosthenes of the press gang. The old war horse has been afflicted with everything from sore eyes to "bridged" teeth in recent years, and his voice has cracked a little, but eloquence lingereth still, and dumb be, or damned be the audience that his words fail to stir.

Harry Schwenker, from Brady, down in the Turkey Trot section of the heart o' Texas, is almost on his way up here at the time this is being written. Harry is going to succeed to the presidency, according to all signs and custom, and you could pick all over Halifax and half of Georgia and wouldn't find a better one for the job. He is keen, knows how to read, write, make signs and play golf.

Fred Massengil is coming up from Terrell with the same old smile, the same wife, but a new lot of jokes. Fred is the custodian of the association's bear, presented as a cub to the editors at Davis mountain two years ago, but the cub is now so large and devilish that it and Fred both would make too much devilment at one meeting, and no reservation has been made for the bear. Doc Graham might persuade the scribes to let his Lions club custode for the bear out at the zoo.

Beeman Fisher of Dallas will be a headliner at the convention. He probably won't make any long speeches or vote on every question that comes up, but he'll be voted one of the best fellows that ever smoked a John Ruskin.

Shanghaied Bill

Bill Edwards, Big Bill, who came so near, and ought to have been Texas' lieutenant governor, will be on hand after a brief kidnaping experience with the Hearst millionaires. Bill was shanghaied off to Washington and Atlanta by William Randolph et al., with fricaseed eats and congressional salary, but he was never satisfied, and neither were the sorrowing editors, till Bill came back. It will be home-coming, golden jubilee and reunion all for Big Bill.

Ed Carlock is a past president but Ed hasn't passed anything else that had any money making qualities, he'll be there from Paducah. If any grouches grow in the Panhandle, one never got on Ed.

And now listen to this—"Monty" Montgomery—there isn't but one in the world, and he's an irrigated product from the Rio Grande valley. P. E. Montgomery from McAllen has written us a letter saying he'd be there. "Monty" doesn't need any bells on; everybody will know he's in town. "Monty" and his magazine collaborate with a newspaper across the border, and he has an internacional associacion de prensas all his own. He gets more conventions for the valley than Ty Cobb got base hits.

Pink Gresham will be up here from Temple. He never misses, and it looks like if Pink could come every time, nobody else should ever miss, because he has to bring so much when he comes. We are not talking about Mrs. Gresham and the children, but Pink has more than 300 pounds of himself—and whoever saw a grouchy fat man. He runs a Pythian magazine and even the Pythian Sisters love him.

Arthur LeFevre of Houston is another of the faithfuls who answers roll call from a front seat. He can talk politics as well as the newspaper language and is never languishing around by himself at a press meeting.

Ben Harigel of LaGrange is one of the biggest hearted men that ever dotted an i or crossed a t. He's a home run hitter in the game of eloquence. Mr. Harigels' health has been poor the past year. Hope he comes—and he will if able—and enjoys the golden jubilee and Wichita Falls ozone.

San Saba Editor

Billy Smith, the very precise editor of the San Saba News will be here. Billy is another one of the faithful, a past president, ex-judge of his county, a cedar thinker, profound speaker and capable newspaper man. Mr. Smith doesn't play golf as strong as Ray Nichols of Vernon and Ralph Shuffler of Olney, but he'll sit up all night and listen to newspaper reminiscenses.

Bob Baldridge has signed up for a reservation. He's another ex-president, and a cog in the annual meetings whose absence would gag the choke-flue or strip the gears in the carburetor. Mr. Baldridge's name appears at the mast-head of Clifton's modern weekly.

John E. Cook left home two weeks ago to recuperate his strength to grapple with the task of shaking hands with 600 editors at Wichita Falls. John knows them all. He edits a good paper and it comes so natural with him that he counts it a small task. He is one of the pioneers.

E. G. Senter will be there the first day, and the last day too. He is the "Rifle Shooter" from Dallas, and chairman of the press association's count reform committee. Judge Senter will have a resolution to present for his committee, and he always has gotten the association's endorsement of his stand. He is a veteran newspaper man and ex-state senator.

The flower of the flock will journey up from Bryan and her voice and presence are welcome factors in every meeting of Texas newspaper makers. Mrs. Lee J. Rountree occupies a place in the forefront of not only state but southern journalism. She adds life, dignity and thought to the annual meetings.

We could write reams about Texas editors and be no nearer 'round than the chalkless guy hugging the fat woman, but Jim Lowry will have an official biography, accompanied by the mug of each Texas editor who could be lassoed in kodaking range, in the form of a golden jubilee souvenir, published by Secretary Sam Harben. These books will be free to editors. For fear of making some of the sketches of "Buttermilk," the black land sage, appear as a duplication, further eulogy of the captains of the approaching hosts will not be indulged.

Of course such he-horses from North Texas and the Panhandle as Bob Edwards from Denton, and Deskin Wells of Wellington will be on hand as a sort of welcoming unit. Roy Nichols from Vernon and O. C. Harrison of Seymour, are on the executive committee and they'll be badged out in the front line trenches, portraying this brand of hospitality.

Dick McCarty will bring greetings from Albany. Harry Koch from Quanah, and half a hundred of the pilots of the press from this immediate section will be present to assist in making the Golden Jubilee convention the greatest in all the half century of the newspapermen's organization.

$10,000 SUIT GOES TO TRIAL

Boys' Death Blamed On Collision With Truck

Testimony for the plaintiff in the $10,000 damage suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Shanafelt against J. R. Kolp in connection with the death of their 14-year-old son in November, 1927, began in the 89th district court Wednesday.

According to testimony introduced during the afternoon, Shirley Shanafelt was killed when the automobile in which he was driving struck a tank protruding from a truck parked along the Vernon highway six miles west of Electra. The boy was a member of a Boy Scout troop which had started on a hiking trip, the evidence showed. The truck, driven by an employee of Mr. Kolp, had been parked for the repair of a tire, witnesses said. The driver of the car in which young Shanafelt was riding testified that his machine struck the tank rather than the truck and that the boy was jerked from the car and almost instantly killed.

Mr. and Mrs. Shanafelt are represented by the firm of Allred and Allred, attorneys. Dawson and Holliday are counsel for the defense.

Cupid Must Wait Three Days Now

New Marriage Law in Effect Today

In obedience to the new marriage license law which goes into effect Thursday, Wichita county, with all the other counties in the state, must decline to issue any marriage license during the coming three days.

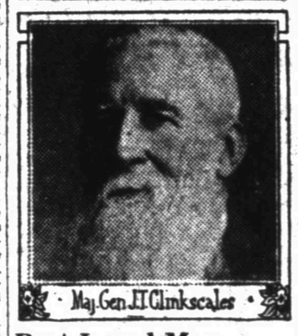

Beginning Thursday morning, applicants at the license desk in the office of Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk, will leave their names and $2 and receive a health certificate. The candidates must then wait three days before returning the certificate, signed by a reputable physician, and receiving in return their license papers. Licenses already issued when the books were finally closed late Wednesday may be used at any later date, Miss Hall explained, but no new papers can be issued until the provisions of the new law have been met. Two affidavits, swearing that the would-be bride and groom are both of age, must accompany the certificate, the county clerk added.

A noticeable increase in applicants over the week-end settled down on Tuesday and Wednesday to only a slightly inflated market which might be inspired by the month of June alone, Miss Hall declared. Only half a dozen couples obtained licenses Wednesday before the old system gave place to the new.

Bank Helps Bakery In Recent Houston Floods

HOUSTON, June 12. (AP)—Houston's flood enabled the Second National bank to enter a new loan field.

When the water was cut off from business establishments, because of the flooding of the main pumping station, the Fehr Baking company had a big batch of dough under way and not enough water to finish it. The bank came to the rescue with two tanks of water from its private wells.

Best Loved Man in All the South

It is doubtful if you could find a man who has more friends than Major General J. F. Clinkscales, Commander of Forrest's Cavalry, Western Division, and commander of the second division of Confederate Veterans in Texas. In telling how he keeps so active at his age, Gen. Clinkscales quickly launched into his favorite subject when seen at his home in San Antonio at 3000 So. New Braunfels Ave. "Nature's Remedy does it. When we disobey the laws of nature we must suffer. Nobody is immune. I am no different than anyone else, except that I know the minute anything goes wrong in my stomach or bowels, I take Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets)."

Any druggist will tell you that the little 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is what you need when your stomach becomes sour, bowels tight and you suffer from indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches. More than 3 million are used a day.—Adv.
