

Mailman's Creek Plunge

Loraine law officer, Jack Brewer, with his daughter, Teresa, checks damage to C. H. Martin's car after the vehicle slid in rain soaked dirt onto a bridge and off into North Champion Creek south of Bernard's Tourist Center. Martin, rural mail carrier at Loraine, escaped injury in the accident.

Damages Light Rainstorm Hurts Crops

Rains in early hours of Monday were pretty general in Mitchell County.

And for the most part the one to three inch downpour was welcomed by farmers and ranchers all over the area.

Even though several farmers reported crop loss, none were pessimistic about the turn in weather because of needed moisture.

High wind and washing rain were cause for most crop damage although hail reportedly was the cause for some crop destruction in Fairview Community.

Mitchell County lakes also profited from the rains with Lake Colorado City registering a rise of 1.50 feet and Champion, 4 as of Wednesday.

At least one accident was attributed to rain slick roads.

C. H. (Corky) Martin, rural mail carrier for Loraine Post Office, escaped serious injury when his car slid on soft dirt as he started to cross a small bridge on a county road two miles south of Bernard's Tourist Center on Interstate 20.

Martin's vehicle veered into the bridge railing and off the bridge finally stopping on opposite side of North Champion Creek which was running almost tank full at the time, according to highway patrolman Jim Maslin, investigating officer.

Martin crawled out of the car on the passenger side and later went back into the vehicle to get his mail and continue on his route.

A mail carrier at Lake Champion turned after apparently being struck by lightning during the storm.

Area rainfall reports to Record are as follows:

North of Loraine - Raymond Wheeler got 3 inches of rain, a little hail and some crop damage, mostly from wind and rain.

Fairview Community - Arthur Carter reported 2 1/2 inches of rain with little hail. High winds blew a fruit tree down at the Carter home two and a half miles southwest of Colorado City.

Fairview Community - J. L. Spain reported 1.8 inches rain and small hail. Some crop damage on large 15 miles northwest of city.

Lowe Community - Troy Wicks had one inch rain and no damage at his home 15 miles southwest of city.

Spade Community - A 2-inch rain was reported at home of Robert Bolin 42 miles south on Sterling City Highway. Strong winds broke tree limbs.

China Grove - Leo Reddel reported 1.3 inches rain and a little hail. Rain washed soil over cotton to damage crop.

Ruford Community - Romaine Hammond, northwest of Buford, reported 2.6 rain and little hail. Murrell Blassingame, northeast of Buford, reported 1.8 inches rain and no damage.

Cuthbert Community - Some crop damage from wind was reported by Lloyd Smith, operator of Brennand Ranch. Rain measured 2.7 inches.

Payne Community - Rain gauge at Tommy Fuller home registered 1.6 inches. No crop damage was reported.

Decisions For 2 Races

Light Voting Expected For Saturday

Light voting is expected Saturday when Mitchell County voters return to the ballot box for the Democratic Primary Second Primary Election.

Only 2,464 persons--far short of the 3,720 registered to vote in Mitchell County--cast ballots May 2 in the first primary. An abbreviated ballot Saturday is expected to increase voter apathy.

Two contests--one county and one district race--are on the Mitchell ballot. All other Democratic Party nominations, from Washington to the precincts, were decided in the first primary.

Mrs. Mildred Mann Boyd, who led a three-candidate race in the May voting, opposes incumbent Mrs. Mary T. Hart for the office of Mitchell County treasurer.

In a contest for State Representative, also narrowed from a three-candidate field by the first primary, Ralph L. Mahoney and Dee Jon Davis seek the nomination for the representative's post now held by Temple Dickson of Sweetwater.

Forty-four absentee votes had been cast Wednesday, according to County Clerk Gilbert Leach. Six more ballots are "out" to prospective voters but have not yet been returned.

Savings Bond Sales Up To 31 Per Cent

April sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares amounting to $7,287 in Mitchell County have been reported by Wayne Shawn, county chairman.

The county, ranking fourth in District IV in saving bonds sales, now has 31 per cent of its 1970 goal of $150,000.

Cumulative sales for the county totals $46,791, Shawn said.

Mitchell trails Dawson County with 43 per cent, Howard, 37 per cent, and Martin, 32 per cent of yearly goal. At 31 per cent also was Scurry County.

See BONDS Page 7

Saturday voters will cast ballots at four voting boxes, with polls opening at 8 a.m. and closing at 7 p.m. These voting places, three less than in the first primary, will be:

Box A - Courthouse. This will include Voting Precinct No. 1 (Courthouse), No. 5 previously at Buford and No. 7 at Oak Street Baptist Church.

Box B - Westbrook. This includes Voting Precinct No. 2 at Westbrook and No. 6 at Cuthbert.

Box C - Civic House, all of Commissioner Precinct 3.

Box D - Loraine, all of Commissioner Precinct 4.

Mrs. Hart, who is seeking her third term as County Treasurer, trailed Mrs. Boyd 893 to 1,026 in the May primary. A third-candidate, Mrs. Pearl Rhodes, received 496 votes, sending the race into Saturday's runoff.

If the May voting is an indication, the Mahoney-Davis contest Saturday in Mitchell County should be a close one.

Mahoney, who was reared in Mitchell County and now lives in Big Spring, had a 10-vote margin over Davis, Big Spring attorney, for the 63rd District post for Mitchell, Howard and Nolan counties.

However, Davis, led in the three-county total. Mahoney must obtain a big portion of the vote cast for a third Big Spring candidate, Roy Ford, if he defeats Davis.

Campaigning in the race has been relatively low-key. However, in the final campaign days Davis has emphasized he led in his own Mahoney's home voting boxes in Big Spring.

However, Mahoney, who has spelled out a specific platform for voters, has countered Davis's claim by describing the two voter boxes as "pre-eminently Republican areas which voted 4 to 1 for Barry Goldwater for president."

Pipe Thieves Hit Oil Field Area

Pipe thieves have hit the Westbrook oil field area for a second major haul this year.

Two truck loads of second-hand tubing were reported missing from Standard Oil Butler Camp north of Westbrook by W. A. (Smoot) Swafford.

One truck load of the stolen pipe has been located by sheriff's department but officers would not identify the location. Charges are expected to be filed in the case in the next few days, they said.

Texas Ranger Gene Graves has been active in the investigation with local authorities.

An earlier major pipe theft occurred last January at American Petrofina pipe yard four miles north of Westbrook.

At that time two truck loads of pipe were taken by a trio of thieves. One truck load was recovered in Oklahoma. Two principals in the operation were indicted by a Mitchell County grand jury. A third man, charged in justice of Peace Court in connection with the theft, has not been apprehended.

Another recent theft in the Westbrook Community netted thieves $387 at the home of Richard Contreras, a Westbrook school teacher.

Contreras reported the money (10 and 20 dollar bills and less than a dollar in coins) stolen

May 22 between 7 p.m. and 11 p.m.

Contreras had the money in a brown bank envelope to be used for a teachers training school.

Wondrous, Yes Except For Spelling

She knew how to spell wondrous.

In fact, it was an easy word for the Colorado Junior High School seventh grader who spells such words as acrimonious, conchology and agglomeration with ease.

But a bad case of nerves was credited for Elaine Ruffin's miss in the first round of National Spelling Bee Wednesday morning in Washington, D. C.

Elaine, winner of Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's regional spelling competition, was one of several of the 73 national contestants to miss her word in the first round, according to her mother, Mrs. Eldon Ruffin, who telephoned the news to Colorado City grandparents.

Elaine was accompanied to Washington by her mother, sister, Debra; brother, Otis, and Mrs. Ruby Osborn, representative of Avalanche-Journal.

They left Abilene Sunday and Monday began a round of sight-seeing in the nation's capital city. She met U.S. Rep. George Mahon in his office and got to sit in the Speaker of the House's chair.

Other highlights of the tour will be Capitol Hill, Supreme Court, Library of Congress, Lincoln Memorial, Kennedy grave sites and Tomb of Unknowns.

Friday's agenda will include an early bird tour of the White House and the evening awards banquet.

The 13-year-old Mitchell County student won the right to participate in national contest for spelling contestants from 20 other counties in a 49-round bee in Lubbock last April.

Winner of the Colorado City spelling bee for the past four years, she won the regional crown by out spelling David Watson of Muleshoe in the final phase of the Lubbock contest.

Elaine is a member of the National Junior Honor Society; was secretary of the school's Jamborees and an active member of Intermediate department of Calvary Baptist Church.

She is granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Schafer, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Ruffin.

Writers 1 Champ Short

Name Devorce All-State, Shun Bracy

If there were a "bonehead of the year" award, surely it would go to Texas Sportswriters Association.

This association of reporters and editors mostly from the Texas' esteemed daily news paper, have named the 1970 All-State Track and Field Team.

Naturally so, the all-state team includes Carl Devorce, Colorado High's big junior who heaved the shot put 62 feet 2 3/4 inches for the Texas AAA championship.

Missing from the sportswriters' team, however, was Stan Bracy, Big Carl's teammate, who won the State AAA 220-yard dash and missed only a whisker in the State AAA 100.

That's enough to earn the association a "bonehead" citation of blue ribbon variety.

But the sportswriters didn't stop there. They magnified the boo-boo by heaping all-state honor upon Estacado's Jesse Lethridge.

All that Bracy did to Lethridge was beat him every time they ran against each other--except in regional--from invitational meets to district to state.

Lethridge was listed all-state in the 220 with Joe Pouncey of Dallas Lincoln, Jesse Locke of Denison and Mike Holt of Midland.

In Austin at the AAA state meet, Lethridge trailed the 220 champ, Bracy, and a gang of others--M. L. Best of Fallurrias, 21.9; Dennis Rowland of Del Rio and J. P. Hollins of McKinney, 22.0; and J. T. Hollins of McKinney, 22.4.

Back there in sixth with a time of 22.5 was Lethridge. Up front, Bracy's winning time was 21.7.

Hollins gained all-state status with the sportswriters in the 100 with Gene Pouncey of Dallas Lincoln, Sammy Dierschke of Sealy and Rowland of Del Rio.

It is a fact that Hollins barely beat Bracy in the state AAA 100. So close was the finish both were timed at 9.6 seconds officially.

It also is a fact that Bracy was second and Rowland, who some how also gained all-state blessing from the sportswriters association, was third behind Bracy with 9.7. Behind the leaders came Best and Lethridge with 9.8 and M. L. Jones of Ennis.

The Colorado City speedster not only was outstanding in the state meet. He also had the lowest 220 time recorded for any Texas high school athlete during the 1970 season--21.0 seconds flat.

But somehow, that was another oversight by the all-state selectors.

Both Devorce and Bracy have another year of schoolboy competition--their senior year. Maybe their performance will be enough to convince the sportswriters C-City has two all-staters, not just one.

Ruth COFFEY's

CONVERSATION CORNER

PEOPLE who are very young are always trying to see into their own future. . . like an impatient reader who looks at the last chapter of a mystery story first.

People who are very old sometimes want to re-live the first chapter, exclusively, reminding themselves of how things used to be before they got the way they are.

In-between are the sensible people who have learned, perhaps the hard way, to live one day at a time. . . just going from one thing to the next thing the best they know how.

YESTERDAY is usually called experience. Tomorrow is called hope. Today is NOW. And today is the important thing.

Wouldn't it be a better world if everybody, everywhere, lived today as if it were the last day they'd ever have?

There would likely be no harsh words, no anger in haste, no idle talk, no time wasted downgrading.

But even if this were to be the last day on earth people would still take time to talk about the weather. That's as sure as sure.

GREAT MINDS, so we have been often told, talk about ideas and ideals.

Average or normal minds talk about events, what's going on in the world.

Small minds talk only of other people. . . what they've been up to now. . . how much money they owe, and so on. What people say about other people is the best index to how small-minded they themselves are.

But great minds, average minds all have at least one thing in common.

They all like to talk about the weather. . . the rain, the wind, the thunder storm, the heat, the cold, and what the weather predictions say is in store for tomorrow.

Wasn't it Mark Twain who said something like "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody ever does anything about it?" Or was it Will Rogers?

WHAT people in West Texas do about the weather is watch it. Old-timers always have. Have known quite a few people who spent half a childhood sitting in the storm cellar.

Weather bulletins via radio and TV have not improved the situation much, though to be perfectly fair about the matter they have probably helped to save any number of lives.

Trouble with weather-watchers is that they usually marry non-weather-watchers in the long run.

Know at least one husband who would sleep straight through the worst storm ever predicted. He would just blow away with it because he had rather sleep than watch. Thunder is to sleep to. That's his philosophy. And it has worked out all right. . . so far!

THINGS do have a way of working out, you know. Now-ways the way you would have them work out, of course. But they do work out.

That's the one assurance I would will to everybody young and troubled if it were so people could pass on experience.

Trouble with experience is that it has to become purely personal before it really sticks to you.

Trouble with experience is that, like the weather, there's not much you can do about it. It just sorta happens. All you can do is watch it.

What happens to other people, of course, is usually all their own fault.

Anyway, you can live one day at a time so that no matter what happens it couldn't have happened to a nicer person.

This much is true. If it thunders all night the sun is pretty sure to show in the morning.

SEEN LATELY this time included Aldred and Seton Pickens just back from Arlington where they attended University of Texas at Arlington graduation exercises. Their son Russell (Rusty) received his Business Administration degree with honors.

Rusty is soon to wed his pretty little blond sweetheart from Valley Mills and will work for an accounting firm while his bride completes work toward her degree at Arlington.

Saw Inez (Mrs. Graydon) Howell. . . Rochelle (Mrs. Arnel B.) Smith on the downtown scene wearing a stylish slack suit. . . Gladys Howard and Mrs. Paul Stewart coffee-breaking together. . . Betty Howell (Mrs. Hubert) and Annie Dixon. . . Betty Tomb, wife of Dwight. . . Lily Bennett of Lorraine. . . Amarie (Mrs. Price) Hall.

HAD THE PLEASURE of seeing for the first time the little six-month-old doll named Misty who belongs to Ross and Barbara Strain. Barbara and Misty were with Barbara's sister Janie (Mrs. Robert) Henderson and their mother Mrs. J. M. Hamrick at the Latham Studio recital. Janie's daughter Kathy was one of the stars, Sunday afternoon.

Saw, too, Mrs. R. C. Noel of Marshall St., her daughter Ginger. . . Mrs. Bill Helm with daughters Jessica, Cornelia, Julianna, and Priscilla. A pretty quintet they were, sitting in a row.

Other familiar faces belonged to Lucille Trulock and Lela Price. . . Mike and Erna Lou Burt with talented daughter Jane Ann. . . Mrs. W. S. Edge and daughter Dixie. . . Mrs. Kirk Taylor of Lorraine. . . Virginia Fuller (Mrs. Raymond) with daughter Judy.

Kathy Ratliff's guests were her parents Bob and Peggy, her brother Mike, grandmother Isabel Ratliff, and maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bodine.

The J. R. Erwins were there to hear son Russell play the piano. . . Doris Mann, son Jim and his friend Carl Gueker, to hear Betsy Mann perform.

MAIL CALL brought a note from Ramelle (Mrs. Herman) Parsons of Snyder, former teacher here and wife of a former Westbrook school superintendent.

Parsons daughter Melanie was one of fine Snyder music pupils awarded the coveted "Superior Plus" in recent piano auditions, in which she attained the Top Critics Circle. Melanie is treasurer of the Vivace Music Club and earned the highest academic rating in her seventh grade class in Lamar Junior High at Snyder.

PLEASED to hear news of Mrs. Parson's brother Colonel Leecroy Clifton, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Clifton of Abilene.

Vividly remember when Leecroy Clifton's plane was shot down behind enemy lines during the battles in Italy, World War II. . . and how the Italian underground hid him until they could transport him via carts full of hay--and Leecroy--back to an American post, long weeks after he had been listed as "Missing in Action". He parachuted to safety and was "under the hay-stack", but not last asleep.

Colonel Clifton is now stationed at Las Vegas, Nevada, after returning last August from three years of service in Germany. He, his wife, son, and daughter expect to spend the week of June 7 with his parents the Cliftons who used to live near Westbrook.

MRS. H. L. JAMISON of East 7th St. had had a happy house recently. Her son-in-law Chief Senior Master Sergeant E. H. Sewell, just back from Vietnam, was here with his wife Phyllis (Jamison) and their son Tommy Dan.

Sgt. Sewell, veteran of 26 years with the Air Force, will be stationed now at Great Falls, Montana. The family left C-City Tuesday morning for Great Falls. Their son Jim Sewell, University of Houston student, met them there for a visit.

Other guests in the Jamison home were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jamison, their children Rex, Lynn, and Carla, of Kernit.

ALICE COLES, wife of Roy Davis Coles, is and always has been a strong believer in flowers for the living.

She dashed by with two perfect gardenia (cape jessamine) blossoms on the same lush stem. So the house on East 9th St. is not only happy, it smells absolutely lovely. Alice "grew them" at her house on East 13th St.

CAMPUS TESTIMONY

If you've been worrying about our college students, then you might as well stop now. Especially where Colorado City and Mitchell County students are concerned.

Reports of outstanding scholarship and achievement have been arriving from the college campuses with every awards ceremony.

Among those we've read about are Cathy Anderson, outstanding senior award for superior academic and clinical work in speech and speech therapy at University of Texas, Austin, Mrs. Lynn (Mary Louise Jones) Rich, mother of four and still graduating magna cum laude at Sul Ross University, Russell Pickens, graduating with honors at University of Texas, Arlington, Carole Ann Bell, graduating with honors at Howard Payne College, Carlene Hammack, junior recipient of the Minter Medal, highest student at Hardin-Simmons University, Christy Stubblefield, graduating with honors from Dallas Fashion Merchandising College.

Sure, there probably are more who have outstanding achievements. But these come to mind quickly as testimonial to the fine youth of our community... their parents... and our school system.

Any other community will have a difficult chore attempting to claim better.

Miss Birdwell, Lt. Marshall Marry in Big Spring Church

St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Big Spring was setting Sunday morning for the wedding of Miss Cynthia Ann Birdwell and Lt. John Harris Marshall.

The bride is daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harland B. Birdwell, former residents of Colorado City. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Kathryn H. Marshall, 1510 Michigan Ave., Salt Lake City, Utah, and Dr. John Stuart Marshall, 1576 Harrison Ave., Salt Lake City.

The nuptial eucharist was held during the regular Sunday morning service with the couple taking communion with congregation and guests. The celebrant was the father of the bride, and the betrothal was performed by the Rev. James Bethell of Odessa. The sermon was by the Rev. Hugh Magers of Dalhart, and nuptial blessing by Bishop George Quarterman of Amarillo.

The altar was adorned with white anthurium.

Mrs. Carl Baker, organist played "Praise to the Lord" and "I Bind Myself to Thee," also accompanying Larry Stanley and Don Shockey in a duet, "Come Holy Ghost" and Stanley in a solo, "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring."

The bride wore an ivory gown of silk organza over peau de soie with full bishop sleeves enhancing the sculptured bodice. Rows of Venice lace, interlaced with narrow ribbon and tiny velvet bows, trimmed the front of the creation. A voluminous chapel train flowed from the slender silhouette, sashed with a wide streamer topped by a Dior bow. Her bouquet was of cymbidium orchids.

Party Fetes CHS Pair

Honored recently in a going-away party were Vicki Boles and Dana Gray by Cindy Parker and Margo Tomb in the Tomb home.

Guests present were Dorothy Feaster, Sharon Bearden, Susan McMath, Cheryl Johnson, Lanette Sloan, Sherita Pace and Jimmy Montgomery.

Miss Boles is moving to Sweetwater. Miss Gray is now living in Fort Myers, Fla.

Maid of Honor and bridesmaids were identically attired in sleeveless mint gowns fashioned with silver jeweled collar and belted with silver roping. Their headbands were of white daisies, and they carried white prayer books.

Maid of Honor was Miss Lynda Lloyd, and bridesmaids were Miss Joann Allen and Miss Mary McMath of Colorado City.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Stuart Marshall and Alan Marshall, brothers of bridegroom.

Ushers were Richard Atkins, Doug Daniel, Dr. Pete Rhymes and Dr. Jack Burnett. Acolytes were Scott Birdwell, brother of the bride, Smith Swords IV, Bob Dyer and Steve Burnett.

The couple was honored at a reception in parish hall where guests were registered by Miss Melinda Brooke. Members of the Women of St. Mary's Epsiscopal Church served in house party.

The bride's table was covered with a silk organza cloth and centered with spring flowers. The tiered cake was topped with marizan doves. Served from the bridegroom's table, which was accented with fresh fruit was chocolate cake, topped with marizan fruit.

Suspended from ceiling was a white bird cage holding two white doves and entwined with ivy.

A band played for dancing at reception.

The bride attended Howard County Junior College and was a member of Phi Theta Kappa.

Lt. Marshall is a graduate of Westminster College in Salt Lake City and is stationed at Little Rock Air Force Base in Arkansas. After completion of training in Arkansas and North Carolina he will be stationed in Taiwan.

MRS. JOHN HARRIS MARSHALL
nee Cynthia Birdwell

For traveling the bride wore an ecru Polyester pantsuit with a cordian pleated top with which she wore gold accessories.

"Tell It Like It Is" Set For Repeat Performance

"Tell It Like It Is", a folk musical about God will be presented again by the music department of the First United Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Friday night.

"The musical was presented recently but many were turned away because of limited seating," Rev. Billy Wilkinson, church pastor, said in announcing the repeat performance. "It is presented again for those who did not get to hear the program and others who want to hear it."

The 8 p.m. program will be presented by a combined choir of local musicians and guest instrumentalists.

Program is presented with a folk-rock-country sound and written for today's young people in their style of music and lyrics.

The music creates feelings of comedy, gaiety, seriousness, sadness, confusion, searching and self-examination.

Miss Gladys Miller will be director for choral readings. Lt. Bill McClure of Webb Air Force Base is choir director.

Bill Crockett and Steve Kennedy will present speaking parts.

Instrumentalists are Jim Bob Long and Mark McKee of Sweetwater, Mrs. James Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Tomb.

"As we begin a new administration let us borrow Biblical language and express the hope that forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth into those things which are before, you may press forward toward your goal," she added.

To the president Mrs. Watson explained, "You must be tactful, dignified, courteous, conscientious, loyal to your office and members, and ever steadfast in your devotion to the aims and purposes for which the club and Federation were organized."

She continued, "The circle has no beginning and no end. All parts are fused together to form one perfect and harmonious whole, the unity in diversity, which is our motto."

Mrs. Watson asked for wholehearted support for president and her assistants in all their undertakings as leaders of the club.

Church Visitor

Visitor at Central Baptist Church takes a break from his protesting. The Devil Saturday protested the church, what it stood for and what it is doing. The character was devised to advertise the church and youth day at the church Sunday.

Protestor At Central Baptist

A new kind of protestor marched in front of Central Baptist Church Saturday.

It was the Devil or at least one improvised by youths to advertise the church.

The Devil protested the church, what it stood for and what it is doing.

No protestor could ever be without a sign and this one carried one saying "I hate Central Baptist Church because it preaches Christ and loves missions."

Taking turns in impersonating the Devil were Rev. Frank Spann, Robert Fugate, Junior Erwin and Marvin Smith, both of Fort Worth and students of Bible Baptist Seminary.

Mr. Erwin preached Sunday to highest attendance since Easter after Devil's performance Saturday.

Young people were in charge of entire morning services.

Leading youth choir and making morning announcements were Jimmy Ross and Ronnie Claxton.

Singing for youth day services were the Central Crusaders Trio and another group of singers. Crusaders are Petra Straub, Charlene Dean, and Roberta Turnbull.

Ushers were Jerry Lelek, Mike McClure, Larry McClure, and Robert Fugate.

Youth Day was in honor of Jimmy Ross, Darvin Cox, Linda and Brenda Proctor, graduating seniors of Colorado High School.

Climaxing the three day program was a church-wide skating party at Big Spring Monday night. Forty-five members of the Central Baptist Church attended.
