For Fifty-one Years a Builder in Collingsworth County

Volume LI | Wellington, Collingsworth County, Texas, Thursday, September 15, 1960 | Number 8

Court Approves Deputy for Dodson Area

The commissioners' court Monday, Sept. 12, approved a deputy sheriff for Dodson during the three cotton harvest months after a delegation from that town had appeared before the court.

It had been pointed out that considerable lawlessness results from the influx of transient workers, and because of the nearness to the state line, violators are usually safe in Oklahoma by the time law enforcement officers can get there.

The court agreed to the deputy with the city of Dodson paying $75 per month and the county $600 for the three months.

Sheriff John Rainey pointed out to the court and later told The Wellington Leader that the problem will be to find a competent deputy for that short period.

He said it was understood the deputy will live in Dodson.

Dodson area residents last year requested a deputy sheriff and the grand jury recommended it.

Roads came up for study and commissioners, saying in the minutes that 120 more miles of surfaced roads are needed, authorized that a map be drawn and copies sent to Congressman Walter Rogers, Representative Grainger McIlhany, and Palmer Massey, district highway engineer.

Immediately afterward they voted "to cooperate with any group trying to get state highways through the county."

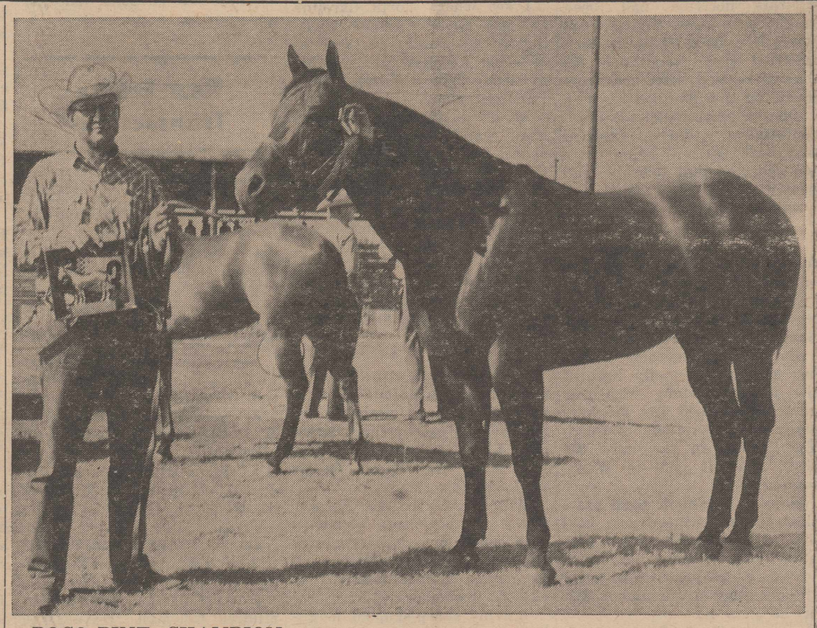

Routine steps were taken toward getting the lateral road money due the county from the state, derived from the gasoline tax.

The court went on record as voting that all elected officials must have prior approval for travel if expenses are to be paid by the county.

They then granted themselves permission to go to the County Judges and Commissioners Conference in Houston, and approved Mrs. Ruth Aaron's attending the state meeting of county treasurers if she wishes to.

The county will pay the dues of the commissioners court, $50, to the County Judges and Commissioners association.

In other action, taxes were reallocated; extra help was approved for Miss Louise Fulcher, assessor-collector, for another month; the sheriff's communications system was approved for another year; the current budget amended and claims approved.

Grand Champion Stallion of the Collingsworth County Quarter Horse Show was Poco Pine, shown with his owner, Paul Curtner of Jacksboro. He was but one of the many fine horses entered in the show, which seasoned observers say was equal to any in this part of the Southwest. Horace Small was show superintendent.

Mrs. E. N. Lewis Church and Civic Leader Dies

Mrs. E. N. Lewis, a leader in church, club and charitable organizations of Wellington during the 42 years she lived here, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday, Sept. 8, at 12:30 a.m. She had become critically ill a week earlier.

Her activities throughout the period were directed toward helping in the growth or development of some part of the town's life, and in that time there were few who did not feel her strengthening influence.

Mrs. Lewis was a member of Our Mother of Mercy Catholic Church, and her family gave the lots on which the church and rectory are built, Before that time, Mass was often held in her home. She was a member of the Altar Society and a charter member of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary.

Interested in study clubs, she was a member and former officer of the Domestic Science Club and was a member of the Book Club. A talented pianist, she also was organist for the church many years, and she was active in Wellington's early Music Club.

Mrs. Lewis gave unselfishly of her time to the Red Cross, and during World War II, she directed the knitting done by local women.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Lewis was Agnes Josephine Langmack, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langmack. She was born at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Dec. 5, 1887. She grew up in Kansas, although she lived for a time in New York City. Later her home was in Oklahoma and she was married to E. N. Lewis Oct. 8, 1908, in Pond Creek,

The couple moved to Blair, where Mr. Lewis operated a general mercantile store, and lived there until 1918 when they came to Wellington where he entered the lumber business.

Rosary services for Mrs. Lewis were conducted Thursday evening at Kelso Chapel, and the Requeim mass was conducted at Our Mother of Mercy Church Friday evening at 10 o'clock by the Rev. Kevin Hand.

Pall bearers were Jones Singley, Paul Brewer, J. B. Stevenson, Henard Gray, Morris Wells and M. L. James.

Insects Threaten Cotton With Crop Opening

FARM BUREAU QUEEN
Betty Moseley, a brunett beauty, was chosen Collingsworth County Farm Bureau Queen in the annual contest Saturday night, September 10. She will represent the county in the district contest at Amarillo Saturday, September 17.

Collingsworth county's cotton crop still promises to be the best of the decade, although both growers and ginners are keeping close watch on the insect situation, which could worsen if stepped up spraying operations are not continued.

The first county-grown cotton was ginned in Wellington Wednesday, Sept. 7 when Louis Allred brought a bale to the Farmers Co-op Gin.

With 1980 pounds of seed cotton, he got a 515 pound bale and 800 pounds of seed, Dick Sweat, manager, reported.

The cotton, of the Gregg variety, graded middling 15/16 on government card, and the Farmers Co-op bought the bale at 36 cents a pound, a substantial premium over the market price. The cotton was ginned free.

Gregg is an early maturing stormproof variety, and Allred's was planted April 1. He picked over about 5 acres to get the bale.

The first bale grown in the county and ginned at Dodson was reported by Marvin Wynn, of Davis Gin, on Tuesday, Sept. 13. This was owned by C. E. Hightower who had 1700 pounds of cotton and got a 425 pound bale with 780 pounds of seed.

With cotton already opening, insect damage continues. Boll weevils, boll worms and leaf worms are all working, Sweat reported.

Revival Opens Sunday at First Christian Church

Revival services will open at First Christian Church Sunday, Sept. 18, and continue through Sunday, Sept. 25, Gilbert Forrest, the new minister, has announced.

He will be in charge of preaching and members of the church will direct singing.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m. with the exception of Saturday.

"We will have good gospel music and Bible sermons," Forrest said.

The nursery will be open for those who have small children.

The public is invited to attend the revival, the first special event in Forrest's ministry here.

Memphis Here

Rocket B Team to Hold Grid Spotlight

The Skyrocket B team will hold the grid spotlight in Wellington this week, meeting the Memphis Bronco B team at Powell Field Thursday, Sept. 15, at 7:30 p.m.

There will be no junior high game at that time.

Coach E. W. Clement explained that this year the B team does not operate separately from the A squad, but for the games, the B team will be made up of the younger and less experienced boys out for football, coming for the most part from the freshman and sophomore classes.

"We haven't any report on the Memphis B team and I have no idea what they will be like until they get here," Clement commented.

This is the first B team game.

Also for the first time, there will be a B team pep squad, with six freshman girls as the cheer leaders: Koni Underwood, Sammie Thompson, Ann Orr, Linda Holton, Gail Henard and Janet West. Mrs. Jim Underwood is their sponsor.

Coach Clement announced the B team schedule for the remainder of the season, with all games played on Thursday.

Sept. 22—Childress, here.
Sept. 29—Canadian, there.

Upon returning they will report on these activities to local groups.

School Board Adopts $272,463 Budget Monday

Members of the Wellington school board, meeting Monday night, Sept. 12, accepted the final adoption of the school budget for the 1960-61 year, Supt. Bennett Goodloe announced.

The amount of the budget is $272,463.

Although the budget hearing was announced, no one appeared at the meeting to discuss the budget with the board, the superintendent said.

Enrollment in the Wellington schools as the second week of classwork began, is approximately 880, Supt. Goodloe reported. Of this number, approximately 730 are in the three white schools and 150 in Washington school.

This is a slight drop in the three white schools, which last year had an enrollment of 766.

Supt. Goodloe also announced the hiring of an English and science teacher for Washington school, Mary Alice Houston of Tyler, who was graduated with a BS degree from Texas College, Tyler, this spring.

Washington school, opened in mid-August, will be dismissed for cotton picking when the crop opens.

WINNING BEEF CALF
Granvel Killian here exhibits his champion beef calf, a Hereford that also had won first place in his division. Killian's closest competitor was his young brother, Gary. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Killian of Fresno community.

On Opponent's Field

Rockets at Memphis for Friday Night Game

Wellington Skyrockets travel to Memphis Friday night, Sept. 16, to meet the Cyclone in a game starting at 8 p.m.

The Cyclone has played two games, losing to the Tulia Hornets in the first and winning over Class B Estelline last week by a comfortable score.

"The Cyclone is about like it was last year, as nearly as we can learn," Coach Frank Lindsey said.

He named ability to hit off tackle as probably that team's strongest point. The Cyclone has a good running attack, but possibly is weaker on passes than last year.

As far as offense is concerned, the team runs off a wing-T formation similar to the Rockets.

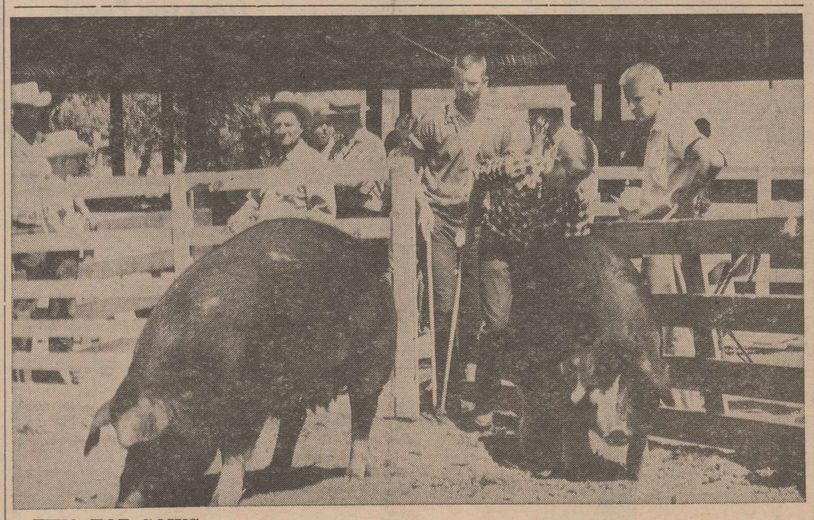

Injuries have started early in the Rocket ranks.

"A lot of little stuff; nothing big, nothing serious, but it hampers us in workouts," Coach Lindsey said.

Leo Russell has an injured back but may see action; Granvel Killian sprained his ankle in the Hollis game and Burl Lowe got a lip cut in practice Tuesday that required three stitches to close.

Herman Childress has a slight leg injury and Gary Holliman a shoulder injury that has not kept him out of practice but may before the Memphis game. Weldon Cleveland has been in bed with a cold.

Head coach of the Cyclone this year is Don Lambert, while Bob Martin and Don Gilstrap are assistants.

TWO TOP SOWS
These two sows were judged the grand champion at right, and reserve champion sows of the livestock division of the Collingsworth Co. Free Fair. Both are owned by J. C. Saunders, in checked shirt, who is a member of the 4-H Club and the Quail Future Farmers. Dean Johnson, also of Quail, is entering the ring to help Saunders show the two winners.

A Poor Inventory

We're still trying to fathom the minds of people who make dumps out of the sides of our highways.

Just for fun we stopped in front of the attractive white church in Randolph, atop Gorham Hill on Route 2, and began counting. In a stretch no longer than 75 feet we found:

46 beer bottles, 4 vodka bottles, 1 whiskey bottle, 12 beer cans, 5 oil cans, 1 tomato juice can, 11 paper cups and 7 cartons of various types.

Not more than 50 feet away stands a nice, big black and white sign that says "$100 fine for throwing trash on highways."

Technically, perhaps these bottles, cans, cups and cartons weren't on the highway, but we doubt if that made much difference in the minds of those who tossed the junk in front of a church.

Things are little better along the memorial birches in Shelburne — in an area dedicated to men who died in the service of their country.

Or in any other place not only along main highways but beside city and town streets and in parking lots.

Tossing trash beside roads is not only unsightly and unhealthy, but it can be darn expensive. The state figures it costs about $200,000 a year to pick up the junk. Last winter Shelburne had to pay out $150 to replace town truck tires slashed by broken bottles. Berlin and other communities spend many dollars each year trying to keep ahead of the piling up bottles and papers.

The law against tossing trash along the highways is a tough one to enforce. State Trooper Einar Laurhammer pointed out you have to catch someone in the act. Usually the junk throwers take a look around before they do their tossing.

There's no simple answer except an appeal to people's sense of decency. But we suppose the decent ones aren't the ones who do things like that and the others don't give a hang.

When one is caught, perhaps our local judges can follow the example of the California magistrate who ordered a bottle-tosser out to clean up a mile of highway. If we could have a few of these, with each one wearing a big sign on his back to let the world know why he's there, it might help.

Meanwhile, we'll just pray that none of these highway desecrators get flying licenses. If they do, we'll have to wear safety hats when the bottles start dropping. —The Berlin (N. H.) Reporter

Come and Get It

Someone has figured out that in order for all the people in the world to sit down at one table to eat at the same time, the table would need to be long enough to extend nearly 21 times around the world at the equator. And, since the population is growing steadily, the table would have to be lengthened at the rate of about 9,470 miles a year — about 26 miles every day.

Who can fathom the amount of food necessary to stock these miles of tables? And who can say they shouldn't be stocked as bounteously as the farm science team can stock them?

—St. Louis (Mo.) Daily Livestock Reporter

Why so many things besides medicine?

■ One customer laughingly tells us we stock more items than an old-fashioned general store. That's because our customers, thank goodness, are pretty healthy and don't need enough prescriptions to keep us busy. Prescriptions are really the heart of our business. Because of them, we're open for the greater part of the day. Despite the fact that many pharmacists sell everything from books to bobby pins, we're still professional men . . . always ready when medication is needed.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the life adjustment sect is still powerful in school circles and much educational purpose is aimed at teaching kids to cooperate with their environment.

My anti-as is neighbor says if this doctrine had been taught back when Tom Edison was a boy, he might have been satisfied with conditions as they were and refrained from inventing the juke box.

On the other hand, too much conformism likely explains why beds are still being made too short so that tolerably tall people have to sleep all wrinkled up.

* * *

It has been noted by some folks that the Internal Revenuers are real diligent about seeing that no dollar which is legally snatchable by Uncle Sam fails to get in the pot.

But my quibblesome neighbor says this is only half of the job, and along with this gang of obsessed Tax Pluckers we need a task force of tough Tax Protectors to guard the stuff after it gets to Washington.

Says it just don't seem practical to jail citizens who hold out on Uncle, and then give away pay raises and better jobs to people who throw away the old gentleman's money after he gets it.

* * *

I see where some recommended reading lists for young people these days include current obscenic classics.

My reading neighbor says he guesses bookworms nowadays have stronger stomachs, since the Lady Chatterly-type heroines have replaced Pollyanna, and Mickey Spillane has taken over the hero business from the Mercer boys.

Says this trend will help young folks to complete their education earlier, as they can now get information in the library that formerly was available only on washroom walls.

* * *

I see where North Carolina has got another Indian uprising on its hands, on account of some Redskins are wishing to send their children to a Paleface school.

My TV-tutored neighbor says after watching the Western shows he can see why the N. C. white folks don't want Early American-type kids going to their schools.

On account of in most places there is plenty of hostility at PTA meetings already, without taking the chance that some under-subdued member might turn out to have a tomahawk complex.

* * *

I see where Senator Douglas was shopping around here a while back and noticed the hardware stores selling wrenches for $3.98 which are just like some the Army buyers paid $29 for.

Which looks to the Senator like a terrible waste of money that could have been used for some worthwhile project, such as paying higher pensions to castoff lawmakers.

But my sharp-shopper neighbor says he doubts that Sen. Douglas is a wrench expert, and most likely he can't tell the difference between a $1.98 ladies hat and a $65 model, either.

I see where a report on business conditions says there is developing a strange new customer preference for lower-priced items.

My puckered-budget neighbor says this would be easy to explain to anybody except government economists who haven't yet heart about exhaustible money.

Says buying lower-priced articles lets a citizen buy two instead of one before his money runs out, and what he is now looking for is some cheaper government.

Sales in Texas for July were $12,204,662, which was 6% greater than the same period in 1959.

State Fair to Honor Pioneer Texas Residents

The 1960 State Fair of Texas will pay honor to senior citizens of the state on Monday, October 10, in keeping with the Fair's celebration of its 75th anniversary year.

The day has been designated as Jubilee Day and Golden Age Day at the Diamond Jubilee Exposition.

Jubilee Day will especially honor those individuals who attended one of the first five fairs, 1886 to 1890.

"Jubilee Day has been designated as a special day to mark the State Fair's 75th anniversary year," said James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager. "We feel that it is appropriate on this day, which we are also designating as Golden Age Day to pay tribute to our senior citizens in general, and in particular to honor those people who attended one of the great early-day fairs during the first five years of the State Fair's existence, 1886-1890.

There will be a program in the Hall of State auditorium on the morning of Oct. 10 at which State Fair President and Dallas Mayor R. L. Thornton Sr. and several other prominent senior citizens will speak. Mayor Thornton recently celebrated his 80th birthday. The program will pay special tribute to the visitors to the first five state fairs.

On Golden Age Day, all persons 65 years of age or older will be guests of the Fair and will be admitted free to the fairgrounds.

A special entertainment program featuring a number of Golden Age groups will be presented that afternoon.

The Cotton Bowl will be the scene of a big free show that night, starring Nelson Eddy and Gale Sherwood. Eddy will be remembered as the handsome, blonde singing star in numerous movies such as "New Moon," "Naughty Marietta," and "Sweethearts", and others in which he played opposite Jeannette MacDonald. The entertainment part of the program will be followed by fireworks.

The State Fair has requested that the names and addresses of persons who attended one of the first five Fairs 1886-1890 be sent to the Fair so that invitations for Jubilee Day can be extended.

Joy Riley, Former HD Agent Here, Chosen for NHDAA Service Award

COLLEGE STATION.—Miss Joy Riley, Wilbarger county home demonstration agent, is one of four Texans selected to receive the 1960 Distinguished Service Award of the National Home Demonstration Agents' Association. Presentation of the awards will be made November 9 at the Sheraton Towers Hotel in Chicago, climaxing activities of the association's annual meeting.

Jewell Ballew of Washington county; Adele Hale, Hopkins county; and Mrs. Dyora Jones of Moore county are the other Texans to be honored this year.

Ability to develop leadership and effective programs in home demonstration and 4-H club work are major factors considered by state and national committees in making these awards, according to Clara Pratt of Lubbock, president of the Texas Association. Tenure of service is also considered. Agents must have rendered outstanding service for a period of at least ten years.

Miss Riley started her career in the Agricultural Extension Service in 1946 as home demonstration agent in Collingsworth county. In 1949 she accepted her present assignment.

Before joining the Extension Service, she taught school in Forrest, N.M., and in Oklahome City, Okla.

Her record shows outstanding work in the areas of family economics, home management, clothing, and foods and nutrition.

As a former 4-H Club girl, she has shown special skill and understanding in working with 4-H members, leaders and interested parents and co-workers in developing the 4-H Club program. More than 3,500 4-H club girls have had training in various subject-matter fields relating to the 4-H Club program under her supervision.

Many homes in the county reflect the results of landscaping and home improvement work done by families and 4-H Club members.

She meets a complexity of problems daily. Many deal with questions on basic daily needs of families in foods and nutrition, home improvement and management, family life and clothing. Some answers she gives via telephone, newspaper or radio. Others she gives at leader training meetings or through special demonstrations and workshops.

Along with this, she somehow finds time to help with church activities, county and community civic programs and on-the-job training for professional improvement.

People, travel and fishing are listed as her chief hobbies. She hopes to attend the national meeting in Chicago in November along with the three other Texas home demonstration agents who are to be honored there.

Reds Controlled Students

Whatever you may have read about the "student riots" against the House Un-American Activities Committee in San Francisco last May 12-14, here is the official report issued by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, after a thorough investigation:

"The Communist attack on the HCUA in San Francisco was in line with a long standing Party aim to destroy (the Committee and its work) . . . The first objective of the Party was to fill the scene of the hearings with demonstrators. The second was to incite them to action through the use of mob psychology.

"The first stage of the Party's plan of action began to unfold after word was received on April 26, 1960, by Party officials that subpenas had been issued for local Communists to appear for the hearings. One of the recipients of a subpena was Douglas Wachter, an 18-year-old sophomore at the University of California. Wachter had attended the 17th national convention of the Communist party in December as an official delegate.

Careful Planning

"Party officials decided to build a major part of their plan of attack around Wachter. Immediately after receiving a subpena, Wachter proceeded to the University of California campus to organize student demonstrators . . . " (The report tells how other Communists contacted student groups at Santa Rosa Junior College, San Francisco State College, and others) . . .

"The Party line on the hearings and the general plan of attack were outlined and distributed early in May to all Party members in the area. . . rank and file Party members quickly responded. Members of the San Jose Club of the Santa Clara County Communist Party circulated petitions and arranged for the publishing of a protest advertisement in the local San Jose newspapers. The Oakland Communist Party members arranged for radio broadcasts and publications of protest ads. Fund drives were initiated in the various clubs to provide financial support for the attack.

Students Lined Up

"Mickey Lima, chairman of the Northern California District of the Communist Party (stated to fellow Reds) that activities on the campus of the University of California and the other campuses had begun to pay dividends—students were beginning to call for demonstrations and picket lines to greet the HCUA. . . . A telephone campaign was conducted by Party members to solidify opposition to the HCUA and designed specifically to reach 1,000 people.

"As the scheduled time for hearings neared, Communists stepped up their efforts to assure a big turnout. Communist leaders in Berkeley arranged transportation from Berkeley to San Francisco for youths . . meetings were held; leaflets appeared on campuses; and telephone calls were made with increasing urgency . . . Placards and posters were also prepared . . . nothing was overlooked, even to arrangements . . . to have the demonstrators join a Party-sponsored 'Peace March' . . . at the conclusion of the hearings.

A Red Triumph

"When the day arrived for the hearings to begin, the Party was set (for) its second objective of inciting the mob. A few key Party members were to play major roles as agitators," (to incite violence inside and outside the courtroom).

As planned, the Communists threw the hearings into near panic. Policemen were attacked; the mobs of Communist-led students outside stormed the hearing room doors. Fire hoses had to be brought into play, and finally police clubs. For three days the Communist-controlled mobs ran amuck making a shambles of the hearings. Finally, the danger to the Committee itself became so acute that members and staff had to be taken out rear doors by police and whisked away under guard. The hearings were called off.

Riot charges were lodged against 62 persons. But Judge Albert A. Axelrod dismissed the charges declaring that most of the defendants were "clean-cut American college students" merely incited by agitators. Yet 58 of the 62 "clean-cut American college students thereupon signed a statement of defiance: "Nobody incited us," it said. "Nobody misguided us. We were led by our own convictions."

Mr. Hoover said in his report: "Particularly unfortunate is the fact that many youth and student groups in our nation today are totally unaware of the extent to which they can be victimized and exploited by Communists."

Cotton Market News Available to Farmers

Four cotton market news reports of interest to farmers and the cotton trade are available from the Agricultural Marketing Service, according to John L. McCollum, manager, Southwest Area, Cotton Division, Dallas.

These reports are designed to keep all interests abreast of cotton and cottonseed developments during the marketing season. They include, The Cottonseed Review, The Cotton Quality Report, The Cotton Classing Report, and the Weekly Cotton Market Review.

The Cottonseed Review, released weekly during the active ginning season, covers the movement of cottonseed, changes in price and quality, and harvesting conditions. Information in this report is limited to areas where cottonseed is officially graded.

The Cotton Quality Report, a monthly release, shows the percentage distribution by districts of the grades and staples of cotton ginned during the month, cumulative for the season and year ago comparisons.

The Cotton Classing Report, released each Monday during the harvesting season, shows the grade, grade index, staple length and the number of samples classed under the Smith-Doxey Act by various classing offices.

The Weekly Cotton Market Review, the only report issued throughout the year, reports market conditions with respect to demand, prices, inquiries, offerings, domestic and export sales, crop developments and harvesting conditions, and other pertinent or seasonal market information.

These reports are mailed free upon request. Farmers and others in Texas and Oklahoma should address inquiries to: Cotton Division, AMS, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 404, 708 Jackson St., Dallas, Texas.

Maize, Cotton and Fertilizer

On the Farm Demonstrations Inspected by Farmers Thursday

Forty-two farmers, stockmen and businessmen went on the field day tour of the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration Program held last Thursday. Demonstrations visited by the group included a cotton variety demonstration on the Heber Brantley farm north of town, a fertilizer demonstration on the Jack Aaron farm near Rolla, a sorghum variety demonstration on the Cecil Shanks farm south of Wellington, and a Johnson grass control demonstration on the Marvin Clubb farm at Fresno.

On the Brantley farm the men on the tour, which was in charge of Bob Lynch, inspected the nine varieties of cotton being tested this year. These included some of the old and tested varieties and some that are comparatively new. New varieties were Lockett 88A, Lockett 4789 and Gregg, which is fairly new, as well as Blightmaster. Old varieties seen were Lankard 57, Acala 1517c, Lockett 88, Northern Star No. 5 and Western Storm Proof.

Due to heavy rains this test plot was planted on June 16 and was not far enough advanced for any conclusive opinions to be formed about the productivity of the various varieties under dry land conditions.

Men on the tour did find some evidence of both boll weevil and boll worm infestation, although it was not extensive. The results of the demonstration will be evaluated after the crop is harvested.

This will also be the case with the sorghum tests on the Cecil Shanks farm, which was planted July 14. However the maize was sufficiently advanced that a number of farmers believed that the two new varieties of DeKalb and the three Texas varieties—611, 610 and 608 were superior at this time to the other three in the test plot.

At the second stop, at Rolla, the tour group saw the result of fertilizers on sandy dry land. The recommendation had been for 20-20-20 depending on subsoil moisture in the spring. There was a definite difference in the cotton that had been fertilized and four rows that had no fertilizer whatever. It may have been due to the unusual rainfall this year, but the cotton fertilized with 20-25-0 and 39-48-0 was larger in size than the 18-18-18 which latter formula came the nearest to being that of the 20-20-20. The 18-18-18 was well fruited for dry land cotton at this time of the year, but it did not have the plant size of the 20-25-0 and especially the 39-48-0 which gave promise of a better top crop provided there is a late frost. The actual results of this will also be published in the early part of 1961.

At the stop on the Cecil Shanks farm, short talks were made by Harvey Walker, agronomist of the Texas Agricultural Station at Lubbock. Walker, who formerly lived in Collingsworth on Elm Creek told of experiments in fertilization on both irrigated and dry land farms.

Norris Daniels, entomologist of the Southwestern Great Plains Field Station at Bushland, referred to himself as a bug man. He explained that he knew little about the insects and pests that damage cotton since his station was primarily concerned with insects that damage small grains and sorghums. He got a laugh when he said that the Brantley farm was the first place he had ever seen a live boll weevil in a field. He excited quite a lot of interest among a number of farmers when he told of the results of an experiment and demonstration the Bushland Station had made on the Bourland Ranch near Quail on eight varieties of alfalfa.

The interest in Mr. Daniels' talk on alfalfa mounted to a high pitch when he stated flatly that two of the varieties tested on the Bourland ranch were both aphid resistant and resistant to winter kill by sub zero temperatures which often occur below the caprock. These two varieties are Cody and Lahontan. Mr. Daniels said that the other six varieties were either killed by winter frost or were not aphid resistant.

Thomas E. Haddox Jr., agronomist of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock made the lecture on the grain sorghum experiment at the Cecil Shanks farm. He also told of the efforts of the station at Lubbock to develop a strain of maize that would have more yellow sperm and rival the effectiveness of corn in feeding livestock.

Dwain Scott, in charge of the demonstrations here, illustrated the use of a simple device used in Johnson grass control at the Marvin Clubb farm. It was a tank a foot wide, a foot and a half high and perhaps two feet in depth strapped on the back like a knapsack. A hose runs from the square tank and at the end is a hand nozzle which squirts the chemical on the Johnson grass with a slight touch. Paul Starr, who was on the tour, saw a tall clump of Johnson grass and asked Mr. Scott: "How many times would you have to spray that clump to kill it. Scott's reply was that it could be sprayed from now until frost and it would not die. It has already had too much time to store plant food in the roots. Chemicals are effective when used on seedlings and they must be used two or three times, he explained to Mr. Starr.

The cost of the chemical treatment ranges from $3.19 an acre to $5.25 an acre as compared to $6.00 an acre for hoeing twice. Those on the tour felt that the chemical treatment had done more to control the Johnson grass than the two hoeings, the results of which were visible only a few hundred yards away.

Visiting in the home of Mrs. R. S. Fisher last week were Mrs. J. A. Dukeminier, Mrs. C. E. Meredith and daughter, Margo, of Plainview; and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Davis of Sapulpa, Okla.

Motor Vehicle Inspections Open September First

The Texas Public Safety Commission has designated Sept. 1 as the beginning of the 1961 Motor Vehicle Inspection period in Texas. The period ends April 15, 1961.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said that 4,700 inspection stations will be ready to attach the new 1961 inspection stickers to the windshields of more than four and one-half million vehicles coming under the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Act. All such vehicles must display the new sticker on April 16, 1961.

Garrison said, "We feel that the vehicle inspection program in Texas has proved a deterrent to vehicle accidents on our streets and highways." He urged all motorists to get their vehicles inspected before the bad weather of winter begins.

"It takes just a few minutes to have a vehicle safety checked," Garrison said. "Yet those few minutes thus spent today could mean the saving of someone's life tomorrow."

Garrison noted that the per cent of accidents in which vehicle defects were causative factors has been cut approximately in half since the program was started in Texas.

The fee for each inspection is $1.00 plus any repair or adjustment necessary. The average cost for inspection in 1960, including the $1.00 fee, was $2.00 per vehicle.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby McCutchen and Denis of Liberal, Kan., visited here over the week end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Scott. They returned their son, Desmond, home with them. Also visiting this week in the Scott home is their son, Reggie, and Miss Barbara Blaskovich, both of Minneapolis.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Frank Johnson were in Amarillo Sunday visiting their son, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson and Drew. Drew came home with them for a few days' visit.

Mrs. Lena Surgart of Altus is visiting here this week with her sister, M.rs J. C. Scott.

Mrs. E. J. Owen returned to her home in Paris Monday after visiting here two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Alvin Horton. They spent several days last week visiting Alvin Horton at LaVeta, Colo. He has been in Colorado for several weeks seeing after their tourist courts at LaVeta.

Rockets Lose 16-0 to Husky Hollis Team

Hollis' hefty Tigers were held scoreless in the first half by a hard-hitting band of Skyrockets on Powell field Friday, but the Oklahomans used their superior weight and experience to push over touchdowns in both the third and fourth periods. The Tigers, who are rated as one of the two teams most likely to win the Oklahoma championship in their class, earned their 16 to 0 victory the hard way, grinding out 3, 4 and 5 yard gains with Obie Neal doing most of the ball carrying.

Neal was given a rough time on his attempts to sweep the ends, by Killian and Cleveland and such linebackers as Estes and Hollman, but there simply was not enough muscle and bone on the Rocket side to keep the powerful 208-pound fullback from making short gains when he hit the middle. Valiant work by Russell, Ford and Bawcom kept Neal, who is also fast, from breaking through.

Wellington's main offensive drives in the first half when the team was still fresh were halted not by the Tigers but by three 15-yard penalties, two of which were for clipping.

Early in the first quarter the Rockets returned a punt from their own 40 to the Hollis 40 only to have it called back and the penalty put it back on the Rockets' own 25.

Hard running by West, Holliman and Estes made over 10 yards but it was not enough to get the 25 yards needed.

The Rockets look great on defense but on offense the ball handling and the clocking lacked the precision that comes in later season games.

The Tigers' touchdown in the third quarter followed a steady 60 yard march with Neal occasionally spelled by Snyder and Estall going for short but sure yardage. Snyder plunged over from the one foot line and passed to Neal for the extra two points. The second touchdown came after the Rockets gambled on a fourth-down try and lost the ball on their own 30 yard line.

Glen Lacy turned in two effective defensive plays by intercepting two passes that could have gone for long gains. The Tigers passed only 6 times and completed two of these. The Rockets looked strong enough to give their next four opponents plenty of trouble.

Next week the Rockets meet Memphis there and it will be Sept. 30 before they have another home game.

Square Dance Gives Fair Colorful End

By Eli Wolf

With the lights glaring, the music blaring and the largest crowd in Collingsworth County history in attendance, Virginia and Eli Wolf led the grand march down the east side of the square, with 120 square dance couples behind them. According to old timers, this kicked off one of the greatest street dances in the history of the town and was the final event of the two-day county fair.

Wellington and Collingsworth county can be justly proud of its people, proving to one and all that a little concerted effort can make it known from one end of the Golden Spread to the other.

The small fry — seven and eight year olds — perhaps attracted the most attention. Twice, during the adult intermission, under the direction of Frankie Duncan and Helen Fires, they went through their square dance routine in an almost professional manner much to the delight and amazement of the big crowd which almost engulfed them in an effort to see them perform.

Efforts will be made to properly present these youngsters in recognition of their accomplishments.

Some of the towns represented were Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Fritch, Shamrock, Childress, Quanah, Lakeview, Panhandle, Dumas, Paducah and Mangum, Okla.

The highly popular callers for the dances were Richard Mann of Amarillo, and Milton Beasley of Lakeview. For grace rhythm and clarity, these callers have no equal in the Panhandle. With their wives and children and their natural love for good, clean square dancing they are constantly in demand throughout the area, although they are not professional callers. Richard Mann is one of Amarillo's finest draftsmen. Milton Beasley is a popular and successful farmer at Lakeview. Both of them are highly regarded in Collingsworth county, calling for dances at the American Legion Hall twice a month.

Also included in the square dancing was the teen age group. Under the direction of Corky Bowen, they dance each week with the adult club, and have performed before several civic clubs in the past months.

There will be a new square dance class started in January and it is expected to be the largest ever initiated here. After the ten weeks of instructions, the new class will automatically become members of the present club, as well as the Panhandle Association of Square Dancers.

Rural Carriers Begin Crop Acreage Survey

Postmaster Charles Allen announced today that rural mail carriers will begin distributing 1960 Acreage Survey cards to patrons on their routes about September 14.

The post office and U. S. agriculture departments cooperatively make this survey each year. These reports, directly from farmers, are the basis for official estimates for Texas acreage of all crops harvested in 1960.

To be sure this community is well represented in the survey, Postmaster Allen urges each patron receiving a card to fill it out and return it to his mail box.

Rural mail carriers working on this project are R. T. Savage, route one; Claude Savage, route two; Rufus Sweat, star route six; and Mrs. Earl Harrison, star route five.

Here between the summer and fall semesters of their schools were Mr. and Mrs. Logan Wayne Lacy of Texas A&M College, College Station, and Miss Annell Lacy, student in Texas Women's University at Denton. They visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lacy.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Crawford and two sons, Robert and Dennis, of Dumas, are here this week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Adkins, Estelle and Elizabeth. They also are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Crawford of Mangum.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Tibbetts of McLean visited recently in the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rankin.

Miss Molly Ann Denley left Monday for Denton where she will begin her senior year at North Texas State. Accompanying her was a sorority sister, Miss Carol Marie Griffis of Spearman.

1961 Plans Begun

Kid Baseball Ends Year with Profit

A financial report of the Little League baseball program was made this week by Mrs. John Coleman, finance chairman for the Wellington baseball commission.

Mrs. Coleman reported the year ended with $300 which will go on the 1961 program. This is after all bills were paid.

The biggest financial boost came from the Mothers Club, which netted $514 from old newspaper collections. This was all profit, as local truckers hauled the papers to market, after they were collected by mothers and young ball players.

An additional $122 came from the benefit game played between Rotary-Kiwanis members and former semi-pro baseball players living in the county.

The Wellington State Bank bought uniforms for one team and many individuals made contributions. In addition, the concession stand at the games showed a profit.

Mrs. Coleman said that with the financial start on the 1961 program, it is hoped that a paid director can be hired next season.

Also plans are under way to build newspaper collection boxes, where both town and rural residents may deposit old newspapers they wish to give to the program.

Newspaper pickups will continue through the winter, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Leach, with the next newspaper pickup day being Friday, Sept. 23.

Former Quail Residents Visit

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Johnson, former Quail and Wellington residents who left here 11 years ago, have been here from Chow Chilla, Calif., visiting in the home of his cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Johnson at Quail.

After spending several days visiting here they left for Little Rock and Conway, Ark., to visit his brother, Hamp Johnson and wife, and other relatives. They also plan to visit another brother in Kansas City, Mo., before returning to California.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Duncan, B. W. Beaird and Bruce Crosby visited John Duncan at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., over the Labor Day week end. They also visited Eddie Riley, Don Langford, Mike Rainey and Benson Long.

Miss Diane Owens returned to Amarillo Saturday to enter Amarillo College after visiting the past twe weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Owens. She attended summer school there and is also enrolled at St. Anthony's School of Nursing.

Deck's DIDACTICS

The Wellington area has almost abandoned the alfalfa growing business in the last six or seven years, but it is coming back. Some alfalfa was planted last fall and did well. The favorable moisture this year has caused many farmers to start drilling in alfalfa and the acreage is unprecedented for recent years. The varieties are mainly Texas Common and Buffalo. Texas makes the most hay and Buffalo makes the most seed, and both are resistant to winter kill.

On the farm tour last Thursday, Norris Daniels, entomologist of the Southwestern Great Plains Field Station at Bushland told of an experiment in alfalfa conducted on the Bourland ranch. Two aphid resistant varieties—Cody and Lahontan—survived subzero weather and did well. Seed of these two varieties are not available in commercial quantities at this time.

If you want to see this area at its loveliest, go driving next Sunday afternoon and for beauty's sake get off the paved roads for at least half of the trip. Took my mother riding last Sunday in the Loco, Arlie, Dodson country, and the abundance of life in the fields and pastures was breath taking. First we stopped by the Fred Cox and John Sherman farms to see their irrigated cotton. Fred has some 2½ to 3 bale per acre cotton if he ever gets it to the gin, but he also has a $35 per acre poison bill invested in the crop—he has poisoned 14 times this year. We came back by Fresno. Jim Wood has some dryland maize that looks like it might have been irrigated.

It is worth taking such a trip to see the quail and the hundreds of doves. We encountered several coveys sedately walking down or across the road and some of them seemed to have as many as forty birds. Farmers and ranchers say it is not unusual to find a covey made up of nearly grown birds and the other part not half grown. Hunters won't have any picnic next fall due to the heavy vegetation. The Texas Game Department urges hunters to make every effort to find all birds that go down.

This has also been our finest year for the production of fruit and the housewives of the county have put up an astonishing amount of fruit and vegetables. Mrs. Frank Fourmentin made some elderberry jelly and brought some to the people at the newspaper office. The color is somewhere between purple and black and the tangy taste is somewhere between that of grape and blackberry.

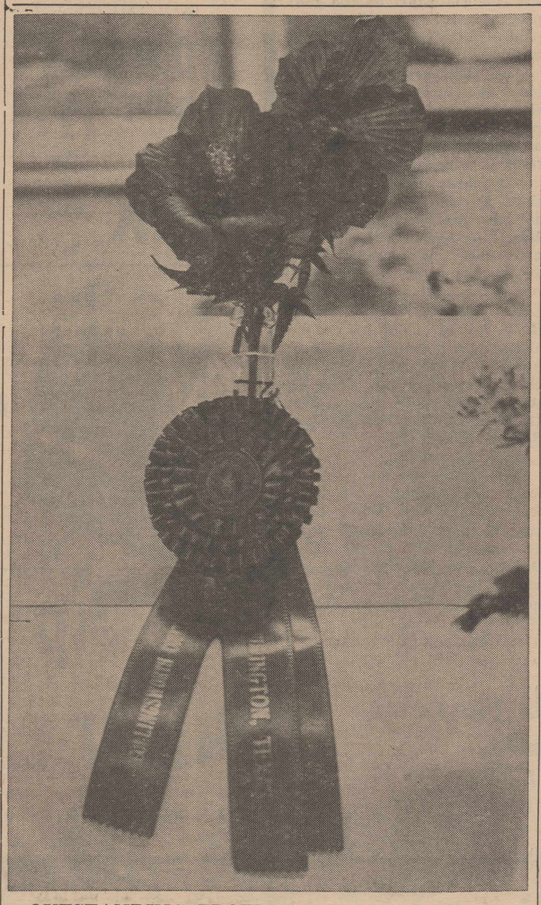

The Skyrockets lost their first game to a strong Hollis club last week, but you can put it in your book that they most likely will win the next four and some more after that. The Rockets have a well balanced club and are as spirited and hard hitting a bunch of players as have ever been seen on Powell Field. We are going to see many stirring games this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Saied and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lynn Bartlett are vacationing in Colorado this week.

Betty Moseley Chosen Farm Bureau Queen

Betty Moseley, petite, dark-haired Quail high school junior, was chosen Collingsworth County Farm Bureau Queen in the annual contest Saturday night, Sept. 10.

Second place went to Linda Kay Elbert of Wellington and third to Linda Jenkins of Quail.

Miss Moseley, 16 years old, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Moseley.

She will represent the county in the district Farm Bureau Queen Contest in Amarillo, Sept. 17. The winner of that event will be the Panhandle's contestant at the State Farm Bureau meeting later this year.

Royce Bottiford of Amarillo was master of ceremonies.

Following the queen contest, a short Farm Bureau business meeting was held with State Senator Andy Rogers as the guest speaker.

This included a discussion of possible sources of state revenue through taxation by Rogers, followed by a round table discussion.

Farmers Warned of Lights on Cotton Trailers

Highway patrolmen today warned local farmers of the light requirements on trailers, as set out by Texas law.

A trailer must have one red reflector on each side of the rear and one burning red light on the side next to traffic, bright enough to be visible at least 500 feet.

The law also prohibits more than one trailer being pulled at a time.

There have been violations of the light and dual trailer laws in the past, and last year a number of warnings were given.

This year, the laws will be strictly enforced and tickets will be issued to violators.

Six Deaths From Sports Accidents in Texas in 1959

During 1959 there were six documented deaths attributed to sports in Texas. Two deaths occurred from boxing injuries—the remaining four were caused by football, according to State Health Department figures.

Both boxing fatalities were in organized boxing. The two deaths were to persons 21 and 19 years of age.

In football, two deaths occurred among high school players in scrimmage contests. One death occurred to a 13-year-old in junior high school during football practice.

The fourth fatality was from injuries to a youth of 11, while playing football at home with friends.

Scholastic regulations demand stringent physical examination before students are allowed to participate in organized athletics within Texas' schools. Fatalities are usually the result of freak accidents or an unknown physical condition.

Organized athletics deaths are far below figures from other accidental causes—such as drowning. Each year thousands of Texas students engage in competitive athletics, indicating a small percentage of deaths resulting from athletic activity.

GOD'S WORD

Nurture Your Children: And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath; but nurture them in the chastening and admonition of the Lord. (Eph. 6:4). The juvenile delinquency rate is climbing to a frightening point. Many efforts are being made to change its course. Parks are being planned, ball games are being sponsored, play grounds improved but yet it climbs. This undoubtedly is not the answer. The Wiseman Solomon had and yet has the only solution: "Train up a child in the way he should go". Bring your child to Bible School next Sunday.

Polio Cases Down in Texas for Half-Year

At the end of June—July 2—there were only 19 cases of paralytic polio in Texas compared to 92 cases during the same period last year, State Health Department figures show.

Only two cases were registered in the week ending July 2. The five year median for the corresponding week has been 19 cases of paralytic polio.

Nonparalytic polio also shows a significant drop with a total of 14 cases compared to 39 cases last year at this time.

Despite the encouraging figures, polio continues to strike hard and too often—most often at children below four years of age.

The series of three Salk anti-polio shots have proven overwhelmingly successful. Parents are urged to have their children of pre-school age polio protected.

A fourth "booster" shot is recommended for added protection.

Seek to Save Mosquito Fish

AUSTIN.—A University of Texas zoologist, Dr. Clark Hubbs, is trying to save the Big Bend mosquito fish that is in danger of becoming extinct.

The mosquito fish or gambusia, a small minnow valued as an exterminator of mosquito larvae, is native to the Big Bend area. An "invader" fish, a more efficient breeder, has almost killed off all the Big Bend gambusia.

Dr. Hubbs located the fish in Big Bend National Park last April. No other fish of that species is known to exist elsewhere.

Dr. Hubbs started for the University with 13 of the rare fish. Two died in transit. With the 11 survivors, Dr. Hubbs started to rebuild the species. He now has 60 fish. This week he is taking 20 of the fish back to the Big Bend Park where he will place them in a new breeding pond.

Just in case the fish do not survive, Dr. Hubbs will keep 30 others at the University. He also has placed 10 in the University of Michigan's Museum of Zoology.

CONTROL PLANT DISEASE

The prevention and control of plant diseases are important in livestock production because profits depend on maximum yields from pastures and crops. Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, suggests a visit with the local county agent for information on the subject.

Friday Wheat King Deadline

All Collingsworth county boys planning to enter the 4-H Wheat King contest at the Tri-State Fair should bring their samples to County Agent Bob Lynch's office not later than 5 p. m. Friday, September 15.

Each entry is 5 pounds of cleaned wheat, and the name of the boy and the variety of wheat must accompany the sample.

Major Crime up During First Six Months

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported today that major crimes in Texas increased 10.8% during the first six months of 1960 as compared with the same period last year.

The most pronounced increase, according to reports reaching the department from Jan. 1 through June 30, was a 19.2% hike in the number of burglaries. However, the report showed a 15.1% decrease in murders and homicides.

It is estimated that for the first six months of 1960 there were 96,681 major crimes committed in Texas, compared with 87,679 for a similar period in 1959. Projecting the six-months crime experience over a period of one full year, a crime rate of 2,096.4 crimes per 100,000 population is indicated, compared with 1,091.2 for 1959.

The department gave the following breakdown of the comparative totals of the seven major crimes tabulated: murder and homicide, 479 in 1960 through June, 54 in 1959; rape, 561 this year against 548 in 1959; robbery, 1,458 against 1,412 last year; burglary, 27,048 against 22,696 last year; aggravated assault, 5,851 against 5,818; theft, 53,789 against 48,996; and auto theft, 7,495 against 7,645.

An overall percentage increase in major crimes in Texas of 12.5% was reported for the urban areas including all cities of 2,500 population or larger. This was offset only slightly by a decrease of less than one per cent in the rural areas of the state.
