C-C Committees Slate Work For Remainder of '56

Three Chamber of Commerce committees were named late last week by D. E. Scott, president.

On the Christmas committee are O. C. McMinn, chairman, Billy Hatch, Henry Sullivan, Sandy Parsons Jr. and Buster Hughes; the Nominating committee: Sullivan, Dr. Carter Holcomb, Parsons, Fred Squyres and J. W. Wells; Land Bank committee: Cal Sugg, chairman, Dr. Chas. B. Jones and George Henry.

McMinn announced that the Christmas committee already has plans under way for the holiday season. The help of the Ministerial Alliance will be asked in decorating vacant business houses around the square for the Christmas season, using preferably religious themes.

The traditional street lights will be used. The Christmas tree is already up.

Merchants will be asked to decorate both their display windows and the interior of their buildings, and residents will be requested to decorate their homes.

Prizes will be awarded for the best decorated homes and businesses.

The Land Bank board was created at the request of farmers who hope to keep open the Wellington office of the National Farm Loan Association, N. M. Higdon, C-C manager explained.

The merger of this office with that for Wheeler county has been proposed, he continued, and many farmers, especially stockholders in the association, wish to keep it here, Higdon continued. The committee named by the chamber of commerce will pursue this further.

The nominating committee will nominate officers for 1957, to succeed Scott as president; George Shadid, vice-president; Charles Allen, secretary-treasurer; and Lewis Morris, Buster Hughes and Fred Squyres, directors.

A full program of visiting and local talent is scheduled for the Collingsworth County Opry Thursday night, November 1, Dr. Chas. B. Jones, master of ceremonies, has announced.

A western-swing band made up of high school students will be featured as the home town talent.

"There'll be a fine program, about two and a half hours' long, filled with fun for every member of the family," Dr. Jones declared.

"We hope you'll be here when Opry funtime begins at 8 p. m."

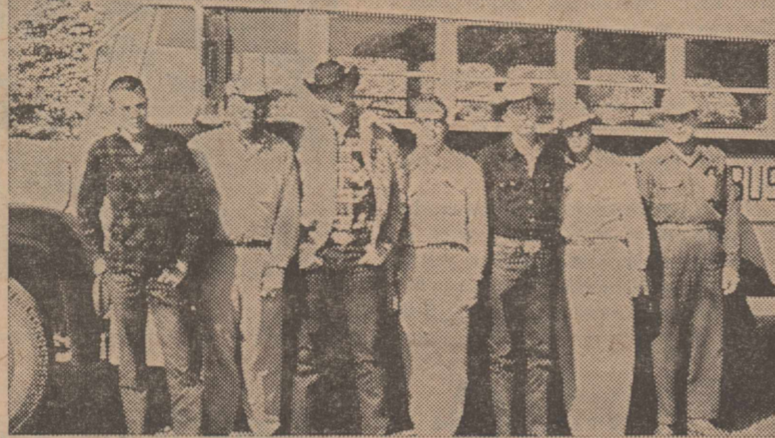

Sorghum Alum Wins Blue Ribbon

Sorghum Alum, grown by Andy Bell of Wellington, won first place and a blue ribbon in the recent Texas-Oklahoma Fair at Iowa Park.

Mr. Bell, one of the first men in the county to buy sorghum alum seed from John Colman, who introduced it, has several patches, including one at his home at the northwest corner of town and another which he planted in sod land along Salt Fork River.

The Fair exhibit included a club that showed both the stalk and heads.

This is the first blue ribbon sorghum alum has won since it was introduced from New Zealand.

IN THE FLATHEAD VALLEY

Here is the group from Collingsworth and some of what they saw in the Flathead Valley in Montana, when they visited the outstanding Kalispell FFA farm project. The top picture shows wheat stubble on the Chapter farm. This dryland field was planted in 21 inch rows, seeded at the rate of 33 pounds per acre which produced 57 bushels per acre. This is an experiment, since wheat in that area is generally drilled in. Below are the group of Future Farmers, Ag teachers and SCS personnel who made the trip: Neil White of Quail, M. L. Burks and Mike Glenn of Wellington, Frank Claborn and Rudy Tate of Samnorwood; Frank Kennedy of Quail, Fred Squyres of Wellington.

Play in Perryton Championship at Stake In Rocket-Ranger Tilt

The Perryton Rangers, who will meet the Skyrockets in Perryton Friday night for the District 3-AA championship, are long on size and experience, short on speed. They have posted a record thus far of five wins and two losses, with victories over Canadian, Clarendon, Dalhart, Quanah and Childress.

They have lost to Canyon and Phillips, the latter by a 20-12 score when Phillips made a touchdown in the final 30 seconds of the game. Coach Pete Peterson fields a team of lettermen, with eight regulars returning from the 1955 team that lost but two games. The line averages 175 pounds and the backfield 165. In their first seven games, the Rangers have been tough on defense, with most of the scores coming against the reserves.

Leading scorer of the team is halfback Dan Pearson, who has made 12 touchdowns this season, but the workhorse of the Ranger attack is big fullback Dempsey Gyger, who has averaged 6.7 yards per carry in the first seven games. The other halfback is Wayman Epp, co-captain who is third in scoring.

The Rangers use three quarterbacks, Tommy Johnson, Kent Apple and Dely Ray Mounds. Apple and Mounds are the most effective throwers, while Johnson handles the kicking chores.

Rockets Work Hard for Ranger Game Friday

With a week of rest behind them the Rockets go to the northernmost end of District 3AA to meet the Perryton Rangers Friday night, November 2.

This is the first time the teams have met since 1952, when the Rockets came off with the better part of the score.

But the lively Rockets, who have rolled up 160 points this season to their opponents 79, are taking a second look at the Rangers.

In games so far there are three teams that both the Rangers and

Letters Penetrate Iron Curtain to Keep City Man in Touch with Aunt

Word from behind the Iron Curtain in East Germany comes fairly frequently to one Wellington home, but there is not a breath of political affairs, just news of family happenings of an elderly German woman to her nephew.

Emil Kersten, co-owner of East Side Welding Shop, told this week how contact was re-established with his aunt, Frau Frida Cunert, after a lapse of more than 30 years.

Dr. R. T. Boucher Dies Unexpectedly Thursday Night

Dr. R. T. Boucher, who was a doctor here 31 years, and who at the age of 80 was still practicing medicine, died at his home Thursday night, October 25. He lived alone.

His death was discovered Friday morning by T. H. Franklin, General Telephone Company employee, who frequently checked to see if the aged doctor was all right. Judge Raymond Horton, justice of the peace, said that following an inquest he would rule death by natural causes.

Medicine was his whole life to Dr. Boucher, and only those who were closest to him were aware of how much he had done for the needy. Friends said as far as they knew he never mailed a statement for services rendered.

Funeral services were held at First Baptist Church Sunday at 2 p. m. Pall bearers were Jimmy Cochran, T. H. Franklin, M. C. Pigg, Sandy Parsons Jr., Fleet Pruden and John Puryear. His body was taken to Vernon for burial in Eastview Cemetery. Kelso Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Dr. Boucher was born September 28, 1876, in Shelby County. He received his degree in medicine from the University of Tennessee in 1902, and not long afterwards he began his practice in Chillicothe. He lived there until moving to Wellington.

Surviving Dr. Boucher are a son and four daughters, Randal Boucher of Chillicothe; Mrs. E.W. Gardiner, Mrs. R. D. Pettitt and Mrs. Bert M. Davis of Houston, and Mrs. William J. Fowler of Wichita Falls; four grandchildren and two brothers and four sisters: R. E. Boucher of Gorman, D. C. Boucher, Mrs. T. M. Hall, Mrs. Carrie Raspberry, Mrs. Cora Robinson and Mrs. Ella Moseley of Tyler.

Voters Face Complicated Ballot on Tuesday Nov. 6

Voters of Collingsworth County will go to the polls next Tuesday to vote on a complicated ballot and one that will be different in some respects from any they have confronted in recent elections.

This year the voters will cast their ballots directly for either

Stevenson and Kefauver or Eisenhower and Nixon instead of a set of electors although the electoral system will be used again this year. All 24 of the electoral votes of Texas will be cast as a block.

The cumbersome ballot will be full in the Democratic column for state offices. It will not be entirely full in the Republican column for state offices and is practically vacant for district and county offices. The title of the office is listed in each column; but in many instances there are no names of nominees.

A sample ballot is on display at the office of the county clerk at the court house in Wellington and may be inspected by any voter at any time.

Another oddity concerns the listing of the candidates for the office of county clerk, which was made vacant by the resignation of David Robinson. He resigned after the Democratic primary had been held. Four candidates qualified to get their names on the ballot by securing the required number of signers on a petition. All four of them are Democrats. Their names will appear far down the list in the Independent column.

On the official ballot the names of the candidates for county clerk are listed as follows: Cliffla Jean (Langford) Tow; Conrad (Pete) Melton; Mrs. Dora Ryan, Mrs. J. P. Cummings.

There is no name listed in any column for the office of county attorney. Denzil Beyers resigned after the Democratic primaries had been held. The executive committee of the Democratic party of Collingsworth could have named a single nominee under such circumstances. They declined to do so and left it up to the voters to make a choice by a write in ballot on November 6.

This will be a write in ballot. For most offices a voter may write in the name of any person and that person may serve if he or she is legally qualified. Only four persons are legally qualified to serve as county attorney, since a county attorney must be a licensed lawyer. The attorneys who have legal residence in Collingsworth County are: L. E. Gribble, R. L. Templeton, C. C. Bishop and Paul Spillman.

Judge R. L. Templeton said last week that he preferred to remain as county judge, Judge L. E. Gribble told The Leader this week that he did not want his name considered since he is serving as district judge. This leaves Paul Spillman and C. C. Bishop as the only two attorneys who are eligible.

Mr. Spillman is the only attorney who has publicly announced that he would welcome the chance to serve as county attorney. Mr. Bishop has not made any public statement as to whether he wanted the office or not.

The voter is confronted with a more detailed and confusing problem when he or she gets to the end of the ballot. This is where they mark their choice on 8 constitutional amendments, and in addition to that they will be asked to vote on a ninth constitutional amendment on the week following.

Bridge Damaged Near Swearingen

A bridge across a dry draw a mile west and one north of Swearingen was caved in by some heavy vehicle, Pat O'Hair, commissioner of Precinct 3, reported Thursday afternoon, October 25.

The bridge is approximately 50 feet in length and the west half is caved in. The structure was braced with 2 x 18 stringers.

Sheriff John Rainey is attempting to locate the driver or owner of the vehicle that broke the bridge but he reported that so far he has been unable to get any information on it.

The initial estimate of damage was between $600 and $800.

★ REPORT

Dear Editor:
I see where a city haberdashery is advertising for sale some men's shirts which have got two rows of lace down the front, port and starboard of the buttons.
My taciturn neighbor says that he don't really care so much about lace privileges on his shirts, but thinks maybe this is a good opening move in a new fight for equal rights for men.
Says if we can get away with wearing frilly clothes like the women folks, maybe we can some day enjoy other feminine advantages, such as the benefits of influencing juries by showing our legs, etc.

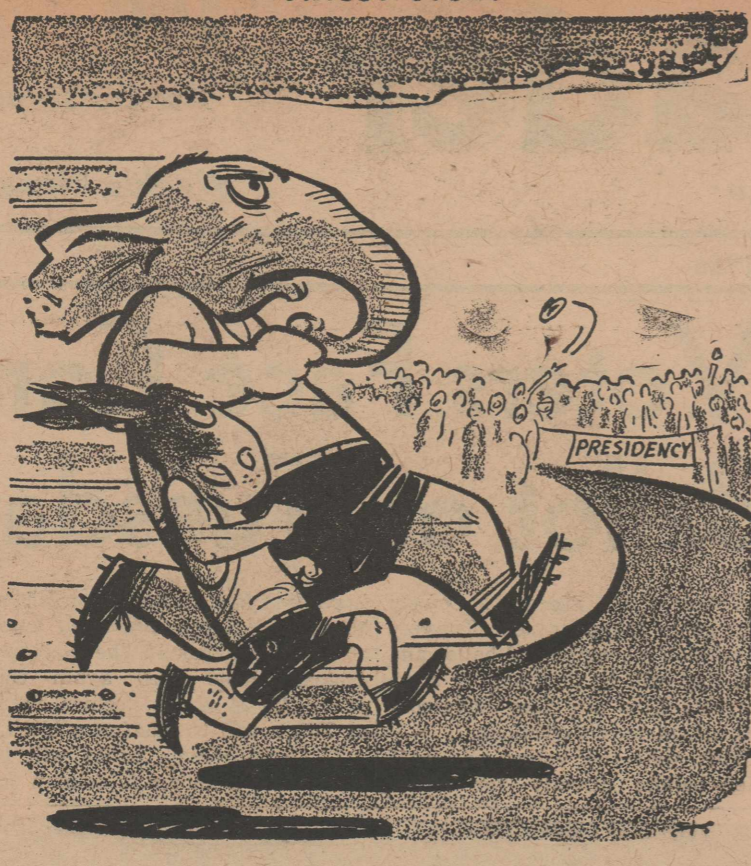

I see where the preachers are bragging somewhat about us being in the middle of a religious boom, with more and more folks joining the churches every year.

But it seems like these new members are a whole lot like the older ones—mostly their zeal for salvation runs a little ahead of their fervor for the collection plate.

My ministerial neighbor says you can tell where the country is going all right, just by looking at the record which shows how U.S. people are putting $2 billion a year into churches, and $3 billion a year into dog food.

I see where Mr. Christian Dior, the French dressmaker, who tells the women folks where they had ought to poach out and how much, is now figuring on designing a new look for men.

But my out-of-style neighbor says it will take more than just different clothes to give him a new look, after he has looked old for so long.

He says if feminine new-looks, groceries and taxes keep on going up in price, his old face is going to be so long after a while that nobody can tell from the front whether he is wearing clothes anyhow.

I see where Candidate Kefauver got dog-bit here the other day at one of his campaign gatherings.

Seems that he had been shaking hands with so many voters he just automatically stuck out his hand when he saw a dog, and the animal bit him. Didn't even wait to see what he might have been fixing to promise in the way of meatier dog food, looser garbage-can lids, etc.

But I don't guess Mr. Kefauver feels too bad about the incident.

on account of the dog probably wasn't a registered voter anyhow.

I see where a scientific shark says that the human body wouldn't age so fast if there was more oxygen put into the air we breathe.

Seems reasonable, all right. As the candle gets shorter, it might take more oxygen to keep the flame of youth lit up.

But my dreaming neighbor says what would be more apt to keep down wear and tear on him is not more oxygen but less taxes.

I see where there is an old fellow down in Florida who turned in his drivers license here the other day on account of he figured he was getting to old to drive.

It's easy to see why this tale got on the wires as news. It would sure be news around here if any citizen gave up his drivers license just because he couldn't drive.

But it would be at least a better looking world if more of our older characters would match our doing to what we have got left to do with. And, say, quit boyishly going around with our shirt tails out, and girlishly wearing these new calorie-strutting pants.

De Soto Introduces New Firesweep Series

Detroit — DeSoto today introduced an all-new, lower-priced Firesweep, a third model that makes the company's 15-car line the largest ever offered in the division's 28-year history.

The new model, is described as "the greatest value ever offered in the medium price field."

The new car features many automotive advances, including a revolutionary new suspension system, a newly designed V-8 engine, a triple-range push-button transmission, and an all-weather new air conditioning system.

The Firesweep, with its sister cars, the Firelite and Firedome, now gives De Soto a price coverage in 91 per cent of today's car market, excepting the very low-priced field.

A highlight feature of the new DeSoto Firesweep is a 122-inch wheelbase incorporating a number of revolutionary suspension advances. This results in the smoothest, most comfortable ride possible and is termed Torsion-Aire Ride.

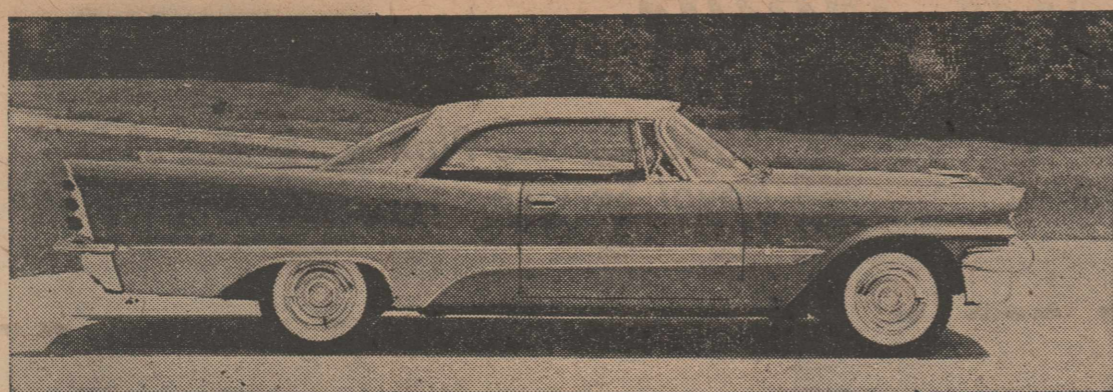

Mechanical torsion bars replace conventional front springs, save space and reduce weight by 30 percent.

Rear-end stability is increased by mounting rear springs outboard of the frame.

All suspension components are isolated from the heavily reinforced frame by rubber bushings. This greatly reduces road shock, provides quieter operation and minimizes lubrication point from 23 to only eight.

The completely new De Soto Firesweep engine is a V-8 power-plant rated at a highly-competitive 245 hp, with a 325 cubic inch displacement, 8.5 to 1 compression ratio and a new "high-intensity" camshaft. Its polyspheric combustion chambers give higher thermal efficiency and prove economical operation with "regular" gasoline.

The Firesweep offers four transmissions, including De Soto's new Torque-Flite, which combines a high-performance torque converter with a 3-speed planetary gear box. It retains the push-button type control which won wide favor in '56, but adds a fifth button to control a new third forward speed that affords greater acceleration at low-speeds, increased flexibility in city traffic and better fuel economy. A standard transmission, standard transmission with over-drive, and Power-Flite are also offered.

The queen of the fleet is De Soto's 1957 Firelite. Pictured here is the 2-door hardtop model with the new 14 inch wheels and the exciting new low silhouette depicting the real ground-hugging lowness of a car that stands only four feet, seven inches high. This brilliantly inspired design continues to show De Soto's new look of motion.

Winters Joins Bendix Corp.

Walt Winters, a partner in Castleberry Motor Company since May 1952, has joined the engineering staff of Bendix Aviation Corporation in Fort Worth, he announced late last week.

Mr. John Forbis, County Savings Bonds Chairman, reported today that Series "E" Bonds sales in Texas for September had increased 9 per cent above sales of September '55. But sales in Texas must be increased if we are to make our quota, Mr. Forbis continued.

The Series "E" sales for September were $2,853,819; Series "H" sales were $1,817,000. These figures compare with Series "E" sales of $1,716,088 and Series "H" sales of $2,378,000 for September 1955.

Sales in Collingsworth County for September were $7,976. Sales in Collingsworth County for the nine months were $85,180. This represents 47.3 percent of the $180,000 quota for the county. Mr. Forbis stressed the importance of the Savings Bonds Program to the individual, the community and the nation. He stated that 2 million Texans have $2 billion dollars invested in Savings Bonds. That much stored up buying power is reassuring for the future of our economy, he concluded.

"The ad I ran about peaches for sale, well, take it out, I sold them."

Noub Johnson sent this word in to The Wellington Leader this week when he asked that his classified ad be taken out.

"I'm glad to sell them, but if the ad runs again people will be driving away out here and I don't have any more peaches," his message continued.

Wellington Invited To Have "Day" At Fat Stock Show

Wellington has been given an invitation to have a special day at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show. A letter to the Chamber of Commerce from W. R. Watt, president-manager of the Fort Worth exposition, Jan. 25 - Feb. 3, states:

"The 'days' of the cities add color and contribute much to the success of the Stock Show and we are grateful for your participation in the past.

We would like for your band to give a concert; for your riding club to take part in the rodeo and grand entry; for your Cowgirl Sweetheart to receive an introduction to the rodeo audience; and for as many of your citizens as possible to attend. A block of tickets, if you wish, will be sent to you for advance sale so that your delegation can all sit together.

Your cooperation enables the Stock Show to render a greater contribution to the development of our great livestock industry and especially to give recognition to the farm and ranch youth through the Junior Livestock Show.

Everyone is working hard to try to make the '57 show the finest yet. We are looking forward to your acceptance and will give your plans as widespread publicity as possible and all of us will do everything in our power to make your visit enjoyable.

Perryton—

Other stalwarts in the line are center Danny Myers, tackle Mike Wright and end Bob Beck.

Perryton is blessed with more depth than in many years, with 75 boys on the squad. They play three schedules — the A team, B team and C team and boys are moved from team to team as their performance warrants.

There are no major injuries on the Ranger squad this week, with all hands having come through the 52-6 romp at Childress in fine style.

Friday night will be Dads night at Ranger Field in honor of the big game with the Skyrockets. There will be a half time ceremony and fathers of the Rangers will wear their sons' numbers as they sit on the sideline.

Perryton is way behind in the Wellington-Perryton rivalry, with the last game being a 20-0 victory at Wellington in 1952. All of the Perryton - Wellington games have been close ones, and this one is expected to be the same kind of bell ringer that has marked the long and friendly rivalry between the two teams.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grigsby of Amherst were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Nunnelley, the past weekend.

Escape Clause Proposed For Greenbelt Dam

The main obstacle to actual organization of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority as a governing body, from Wellington's standpoint, will be removed if an escape clause proposed in a meeting of the Authority Tuesday, October 23, is approved by the next session of the Legislature.

Wellington was one of the seven towns represented in the meeting that had as principal speaker, R.M. Dixon, chairman of the State Water Board. Cal Young of Abilene, president of West Texas Utilities Co., also met with the group.

Dixon told the men water that would be impounded by the proposed dam across Salt Fork River is the last, largest body of "free" water left in Texas, explaining that by "free" he meant water on which there are no prior claims.

He pointed out that water tables are dropping from 4 to 10 feet a year in this area, and that if the proposed dam is not built, Oklahoma will ask for the water, and once the water rights are granted to Oklahoma, the Greenbelt Authority no longer would be able to build a dam.

Representing Wellington at the meeting were George Shadid, newly appointed member of the board of directors as it now exists and Trusten Thomas, member; N. M. Higdon, chamber of commerce manager; County Judge R. L. Templeton; County Commissioner Pat O'Hair; and Paul Spillman, city attorney.

Spillman explained that the main objection has been that once a city was in, it couldn't get out.

"Previously, any city which confirmed the authority lost its identity and became subject to the vote of the entire authority on the issuance of tax bonds and water contracts. If we were in, and a question of bonds came up, and Wellington voted against it but the rest voted for, we would be stuck.

"Under the proposed new regulation, which will be presented as a bill before the next session of legislature, even though the City of Wellington confirms the authority, we incur no liability for bonds or water contracts, and before we do become obligated we will again have to vote on those obligations, separately. The reason for the urgency in getting this corrective legislation and confirmation of the authority is that by this action we can hold our water rights and will have a board to explore all avenues of financing and construction and to gather facts upon which we can determine just what our obligations will be should we decide to vote the bonds and water contract in the future."

The escape clause in the new bill will read:

"If the proposition for the issuance of bonds of the District payable wholly or partially from taxes shall fail to receive a majority vote in any city constituting a part of the district, or if a proposition for authorizing any city contained in the District to enter into a water supply contract with the District shall fail to receive a majority vote, such city shall thereby be automatically excluded from the District, and after canvassing the returns and declaring the election, the district shall be comprised of the remaining territory thereof. This provision shall not apply at any time after bonds of the district have been issued, sold and delivered.

Si Freese of Freese and Nichols, Fort Worth engineering firm, told the group that he will ask the State Water Board in its behalf for an extension of time of the claim of the Authority. The present water rights are due to expire November 9.

The Board can grant an extension of two years.

Mr. Young told the group that his company would cooperate in every way, including the purchase of water.

ed president of the Authority, quoted from a letter from R. Wright Armstrong, vice-president of the Fort Worth and Denver Railway, which offered full cooperation of his organization.

It was pointed out in the meeting that the Authority is taking daily water samples at the dam-site, north of Hedley, and checking the water flow.

It will probably be another six months before these tests are finished.

Two Local Dealers Showing 57 Plymouth

DETROIT—The 1957 Plymouth will be displayed by dealers throughout the nation beginning Tuesday, October 30.

Lower, wider and more powerful, the new model represents a complete change in styling, body structure and chassis.

"The car we are about to introduce has the style and features of the car we had thought, only a few years ago, as possible for about 1960," said Plymouth president Mansfield. "We have moved faster than we have hoped. The public has shown an eagerness to accept dramatic changes."

1957 Plymouth models are as much as five inches lower than corresponding 1956 models. The wheelbase has been lengthened from 115 inches for all models in 1956 to 118 inches for standard models and 122 inches for Suburban station wagons in the 1957 line.

The new car has the appearance of greater length which comes from functional styling. A broad hood, soaring tail fins and forward thrusting headlight brow all contribute to the impression of length.

In chassis design, Plymouth has accomplished its most significant change since the introduction of independent front wheel suspensions with coil springs in 1934. The feature is called Torsion-Aire.

In the overall re-design of the front suspension, coil springs have disappeared. They are replaced by torsion bars which together with other equally basic improvements

New Plymouth Hardtop

The 1957 Plymouth Sport Coupe (hardtop) has a low silhouette, long wheelbase, more powerful Fury 301 engine and revolutionary new Torsion-Aire ride—said to be the most important advancement in automotive design since the introduction of independent front suspensions. Car pictured here is the Belvedere with Sportone trim.

in both front and rear, produce a new kind of ride and new "handling."

The completely new front suspension and steering system creates a remarkable degree of stability under forces of acceleration, braking, and cornering. At the same time, according to Plymouth en-neers, the vehicle is more softly sprung than ever before.

All of the 1957 Plymouths have more powerful engines than 1956 models. The standard V-8 for all models except the Plaza in the new Fury 301, the number signifying displacement. The Plaza V-8 retains a displacement of 277 cubic inches but, like the Fury 301, has a new camshaft, new carburetion, and other innovations to achieve increased performance and economy.

The compression ratio of the Fury 301 is 8.5 to 1. Plaza V-8 compression remains at 8 to 1. The compression ratio of the Power-Flow Six is increased from 7.6 to 1 in 1956 to 8 to 1 in 1957.

Other innovations in the 1957 line include:

New 14-inch wheels and low pressure, large section tires.

New 11-inch brakes, of Chrysler Corporation's Total-Contact design.

A new integral all-weather air-conditioning system which combines heating, cooling, dehumidifying and ventilating in one underhood unit, available on all V-8 models.

Padded instrument panel and sun visors available as optional equipment.

New safety recessed center steering wheel.

New full-view windshields with 45 per cent greater glass area in sedans and Suburbans and 43 per cent greater in hardtops.

... our personal prosperity is still largely in our own hands

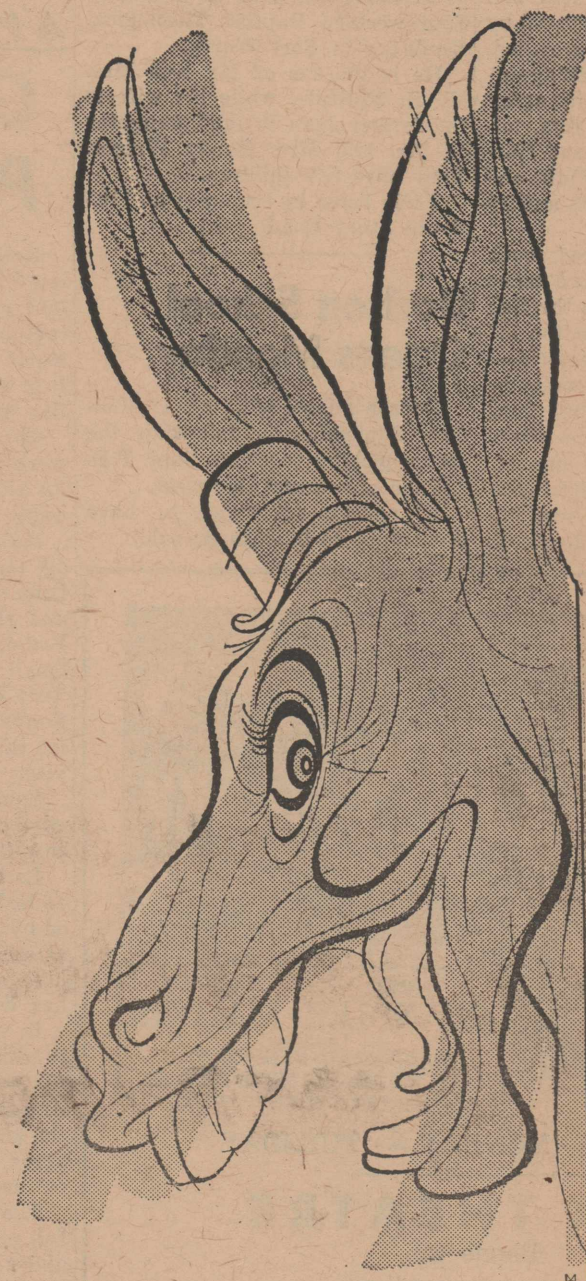

When the tumult has died down next week, and a President and a Congress have been elected -- whether Republicans or Democrats are in the saddle -- our lives will go on pretty much the same.

People will continue to work, and eat, and sleep, and have fun and troubles. Dogs and taxpayers will continue to howl, and communities will keep on living and growing -- or dying.

It will still take money to buy groceries and clothing, and it will still take production of goods, and service to each other, to keep money coming in about as fast as it goes out.

Our personal prosperity will continue to depend on how well our immediate neighbors are getting along, and how much they help us by trading with us, hiring us to serve them, taking on their shoulders part of the support of all community facilities.

How much they help US in these ways is going to continue to depend on how much WE help THEM in the same ways. Trading at home, and making it profitable for our neighbors to trade at home, means more prosperity for all of us --- whether we like the new Administration or not.

Lelia Lake and Dodson Games Slated

Norwood Takes Three of Four Games Last Week

Samnorwood's Girls won their third straight game of the young season while Norwood's boys were splitting a pair.

Tuesday night Norwood boys downed Briscoe 46-33 behind the 20 point spree of Harvey Pat Bradley. John Alexander was next with seven. Helton for Briscoe took scoring honors for the night with 22.

The Samnorwood Eaglettes downed Briscoe 53-51 in a tight ball game in which the lead changed hands several times. Lois Amerson led all scoring with 34 points while Meek from Briscoe had 29.

Friday night Norwood journeyed to Kelton for a return match with the girls winning 63-53 and the boys losing 52-47. The girls game was close all the way until the final 5 minutes when Norwood pulled away to win by 10 points.

The game, which took 1 hour and 35 minutes to play was featured by the fact that 78 fouls was called, 36 against Norwood and 42 against Kelton. Lois Amerson again led all scoring with 32 points, followed by Shirley Seago's and Harriett Lowery's 15 apiece. Hunt and Shaffer led Kelton with 23 and 19 points.

Samnorwood boys showed much improvement in playing the taller Kelton boys on even terms through out most of the game. Kelton led 12 to 10 at the first quarter and 17-16 at half-time. Norwood came back to lead 36-34 at the third quarter mark. Kelton out-scored Norwood 18-11 the final quarter to get the win. John Stevenson led all scoring with 23 points, followed by Harvey Pat Bradley's 14.

Larry Anderson and Carl Burrell led Kelton's balanced attack with 13 points apiece.

Samnorwood plays host to Lelia Lake Tuesday night and goes to Dodson for their first conference game of the season Friday night.

A Pattern for Collingsworth

Group Finds Workable Program in Montana

Kalispell, Montana's outstanding FFA farm project was studied last week by a group from Wellington, representing the Collingsworth County Vocational Agriculture Board, to determine if a similar project can be set up here.

The consensus was it would work in Collingsworth County, for its three vocational agriculture units.

Making the trip were the three ag teachers and an FFA officer from each chapter: Melvin Burks, and Mike Glenn of Wellington; Frank Kennedy and Neal White of Quail; Frank Claborn and Rudy Tate of Samnorwood; and Fred Squires, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

Squires and Burks have outlined the program as the local group saw it.

Located in the Flathead Valley at Kalispell, the program is directed by Henry E. Robinson, vocational agriculture teacher of Kalispell high school, who with his chapter has won national recognition.

In the Flathead Valley, 80 acres is considered the necessary size for a family farm unit, where a diversified program including cattle and poultry is followed: 200 acres is needed for a strictly agriculture program.

The valley has 15 inches of rainfall annually. The soil is shallow and apparently of volcanic ash that has been built up with organic matter. This is one of the big problems, and in irrigation, not much soil can be moved or hardpan will be hit.

Sawdust is being used to build the soil, the equivalent of cotton burrs here. In both instances the supply is somewhat limited.

"Farmers in the Flathead Valley who have diversified, raising cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens, etc., are those gentlemen who are doing all right. The boys who are strictly wheat or apple farmers—they're in the same shape a lot of us are in," Squires said.

"The thing that impressed us," he continued, "was that the boys Robinson teaches are going back to farming, apparently for the reason they can make as good a living on the farm as a man can in town. They've learned how to make a living on the farm."

Proof is in some of their yields this year—100 bushels of barley per acre, and an outstanding example of wheat, planted in 21-inch rows, seeded at the rate of 33 pounds per acre, yielding 57 bushels per acre. This was dryland wheat.

The Kalispell FFA farm project includes 93 acres on which the county hospital is located. The county retained grazing rights at the rate of $3 per head per month.

The FFA project program was set up this way:

Memberships were sold at the rate of $10 per member to ag students. If a boy couldn't afford a membership, Robinson went to a Kalispell business man and asked him to put up the money until the boy could pay it back. This way, the chapter secured $2,100 and secured a bank loan of $7,600, with which equipment was bought. It is now paid out.

Two boys live on the farm each year. They are paid for their work at the rate of $1.10 per hour, and also receive 5 to 10 per cent of the net profit. Each student when he signs up for vocational ag, agrees to spend 100 hours before his senior year working on the farm, plus 10 hours of class period time on the farm.

The chapter has received help from agricultural agencies at their various problems. The SCS helped design the irrigation program, the 17th system laid out in the Flathead Valley.

From the meager beginning largely on borrowed money, the agriculture department of Kalispell high school now has buildings and shops valued at around $230,000 and shop equipment at another $69,000, and farm machinery at still another $21,000, Burks explained.

Robinson, ag teacher at Kalispell 19 years, now has an assistant. The two alternate working with the boys on the farm. The high school has an enrollment of around 1200 students, and an effort is made to keep the ag department down to around 100.

In addition to visiting the program, the Collingsworth group talked with townspeople, the Soil Conservation Service and other groups, all of whom heartily endorsed the program.

Rockets—

Rockets have played. While the Rockets went down 46-0 before the mighty Phillips Blackhawks, the Rangers lost but held Phillips to a 20 to 12 score, and the Hawks had to score in the last minutes of the game to do that.

Wellington defeated Clarendon 25 to 13, but Perryton won 48 to 7. Childress went down before the Rockets 26-0 two weeks ago, but they bowed to the Rangers 52 to 6 last Friday. Wellington has five wins, one tie and one loss. Perryton, with six victories and the single defeat edged past the Rockets this week to rank second in Panhandle Class AA football, while the Rockets, who had held that position two weeks, dropped to third.

"Anyway, it's going to be nip and tuck, but we've got the spirit," Coach John Hurley declared.

Doubleheader Against Briscoe

Quail Teams Open Home Schedule Friday Night

The Quail Quails and Bobwhites open their home schedule against the Briscoe teams Friday night, Coach George W. Stephens announced this week.

The first game was played Tuesday night against Hedley.

Game time is 7:30 p. m., when the Bobwhites and Briscoe girls take the court. The boys game will follow at 8:30.

Four lettermen return to this year's Quail team, Dee Blasingam, Raymond Minatrea, Gano Wilson and Joe Young, all mainstays in last year's playing. Other boys on the squad include Glen Harris, Neal White, Jimmy Lindsey, Jerry DeBord, Dale Ratliff and Billy Moseley.

The girls also have five letter players to form the nucleus of the squad. These include Martha Johnson, one of the district's stars, Geneva White, Sherri Graham, Edna Ellen Wright and Rita Boen. Backing them up are the other squad members, Doris Blasingame, Sharon Phipps, Patricia DeBord and Mary Jo Boen.

Coach Stephens is working on the season's schedule which he said will be announced soon.

R. W. Warren, the Rockets big tackle, is definitely on the injured list, Coach Hurley reported. The badly sprained ankle he received in the Childress game has not responded as well as was hoped for, and his playing will be limited as far as participation in the Perryton game. Two other lesser injuries have come up. Charley Welch got an injured knee and Carroll Nunnelley hurt his shoulder in Friday scrimmage, but both are expected to be ready to go Friday.

Emil Kersten added an interesting sidelight: two other brothers, who looked very much like Paul Kersten, also wished to come to the United States, but it was difficult for young men to get out of the country. They came by the expedient of using their brother's passport.

Emil Kersten is to inherit the family's estate in Germany, but with it in Russian hands, he does not know if he'll ever get any benefit from it.

"I'd like to go see it anyway," he remarked.

Besides the letters from his aunt, Kersten has had only one bit of information from the German side of his family since World War II. This was a news story with pictures that appeared in the Wichita Falls Record News Christmas Day 1946, telling how the present owner of the forge at Berlin-Kehlen-dorf, Wilhelm Kersten, was converting empty cases of anti-aircraft ammunition, scraps of the Nazi war machine, to peace time items, such as stove pipes to keep Berlin homes warm.

This forge has been in the Kersten family since 1769.

Vance Swinborne of Tulia, former superintendent of the Dodson school, was a business visitor in Wellington recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Brock of Amarillo visited Saturday night, in the home of his mother, Mrs. N. A. Brock.

Money which Kersten sends his aunt cannot go into the East Zone, or he cables it to a friend of Mrs. Cunert in West Berlin. By some means, he doesn't know how, it makes its way into Mrs. Cunert's hands. It goes to buy necessities, she has written.

Kersten had hoped that he might bring his aunt to America, or that he might visit her. He even made plans to visit her in early October before it was learned this could not be carried out. Both still hope something can be worked out.

Mrs. Cunert last saw the late Paul Kersten when she was but three years old — 76 years ago.

Mr. Kersten, his son has revealed, was trained for the profession of law in Germany, but he also knew the family's long-time trade as blacksmith and mechanic. Seventy-six years ago, the McCormick Machinery Company (now International Harvester) went through Germany hunting men with this skill, and Kersten was with the first group that came to the United States. Because of difficulty with the language, he never returned to law.

Included in addition to the convention will be the Brotherhood and WMU Conventions.

Bishops Attend Uncle's Funeral

Judge and Mrs. C. C. Bishop were called to Big Spring by the death of his uncle, Walter Bishop, 78, who passed away Thursday, October 18.

He was regarded as an outstanding developer of the West Texas area, and especially that section around Borden County. He was for some years agent for the U. S. and Mexican Trust Company, which opened that area for farming and ranching, and attracted many people to become permanent residents there.

He was an active layman of the Baptist Church and helped to start the school at Vincent, where he lived, and was on the first school board.

In 1922, he moved his family to Abilene, so that his children might have the advantages of schools there.

In 1935, they moved to Big Spring and in 1938 he began work for Cosden Oil Company, remaining with them until his health failed three years ago.

Funeral services were held Saturday, October 20, at Big Spring. His wife and two daughters are among the survivors.

I Will Appreciate Your Vote On November 6

I have tried to see as many of you as possible during the past few weeks, but if I have missed you, I use this means of asking your support and your vote in the General Election November 6.

I am asking for the office on one basis: my ability to perform the duties accurately, conscientiously and efficiently, always aware of the duty of a public official to all people of the county. The office of county clerk is one of the most important in the entire county set-up, and I feel that my experience of nearly ten years as a business man among you will help me fulfill the duties.

The support and encouragement you have given me in this campaign is deeply appreciated.

SEVEN SOLID REASONS WHY TEXANS SHOULD SUPPORT EISENHOWER

New Dodge Is Longer, Lower, Wider

DETROIT, Oct. 22 — Lower, longer, and wider with far-reaching advances for smoother, quieter performance, the 1957 Swept-Wing passenger cars make their first appearance in dealer showrooms on Tuesday, October 30.

M. C. Patterson, Dodge president, said dynamic new principles of auto design and manufacture, with exciting new applications of materials, have been combined to produce an advanced design 1957 Dodge with "entirely new riding characteristics, virtually free of vibration, noise and road shock."

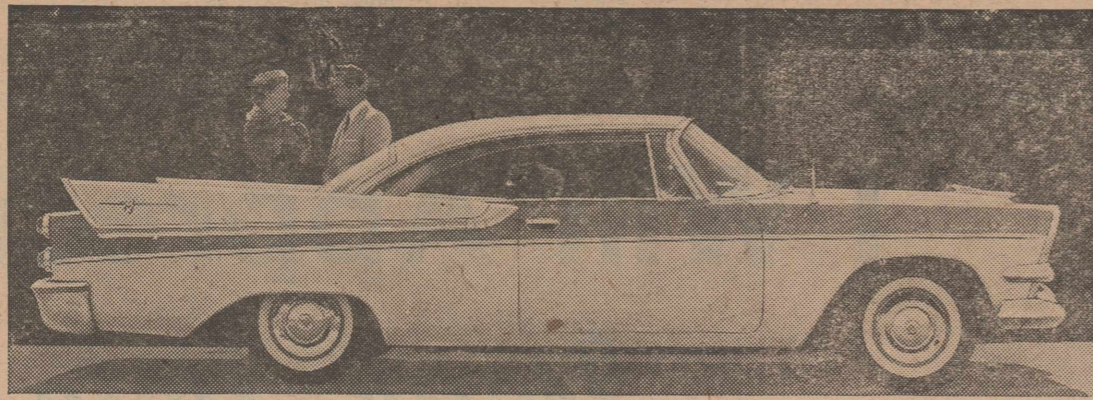

An all-new suspension system and newly designed frame give the 1957 Dodge a much lower center of gravity, providing road-hugging qualities formerly found only in high priced sports cars.

The new Lancer hardtop stands less than 55 inches high. The 1957 Dodge features swept-wing rear fenders comparable to the rudders of airplanes or racing boats.

The old vertical coil front springs are gone from the 1957 Dodge, which presents a new type front suspension, Torsion-Aire.

Horizontal steel torsion bars have replaced the upright coil type springs, and the new springing is achieved by slightly twisting these sturdy, straight bars. The torsion bars give a smoother softer ride, last longer, require less maintenance and occupy less space—a major factor in lowering the car's overall height.

1957 Dodge Lancer Hardtop Five Inches Lower

THE 1957 SWEPT-WING DODGE, lower and longer, has the most exclusive styling and engineering improvements in history. Height of the two-door Lancer hardtop models like the Custom Royal Lancer shown above, has been reduced by five full inches so that the new Dodge stands barely four and a half feet high. Rear fenders sweep upward and backward to keynote the car's swept-wing styling, accenting a sport car appearance that is also a mark of the jet aircraft age.

Rear leaf springs are mounted outside the frame rather than inside, substantially increasing the car's stability and reducing sway on turns.

Dodge's new Torque-Flite push-button transmission gives livelier response in both acceleration and engine braking, and the smoothest kind of getaway performance.

Five selector buttons for Torque-Flite are located conveniently on the left side of the instrument panel, with "first," "second" and "drive" forward ranges, plus neutral and reverse.

Power-Flite, the original push-button automatic transmission with four selector buttons, is available for the 1957 Dodge Coronet models only.

Roof lines are thinner to accent the swept-wing look at the 1957 Dodge, but the roofs are stronger, yielding substantial improvement in driver visibility through use of 53 per cent more windshield glass.

The larger windshields wrap around at the bottom as well as the top, and on 1957 Dodge convertibles they also curve into the roof itself.

The low, wide hood of the 1957

Dodge improves forward visibility, and the rear-view mirror has been moved to the base of the windshield. A full width back window wraps entirely around to slender, sloping corner posts, eliminating old blind spots and affording the driver a good view of both rear fenders. For winter, a rear window defroster is available.

Fourteen-inch tubless tires are standard on the new Dodge. The larger tires, mounted on smaller but wider safety-rim wheels, provide a double tread on the road surface for greater safety.

New floating-shoe Total-Contact brakes are safer to operate, easier to use and more economical to maintain. The new brakes give 30 per cent longer life and require one-fourth less pedal effort.

Dodge offers a new line of engines for 1957. Displacement of the Red Ram V-8 has been increased to 325 cubic inches and the compression ratio to 8.5 to 1. The Super Red Ram engine (power pack) for Custom Royal models is equipped with four-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts and extensions, special distributor, special air cleaner and four-barrel intake manifold. A special D-500 engine, featuring a redesigned intake manifold and a four-barrel carburetor, also is available.

The trunk compartment of the new Dodge is more than six feet wide and provides substantially increased usable storage space.

Locate Stolen Pickup in Okla.

Sheriff John Rainey reported Saturday that a pickup stolen from Clyde Milam of Memphis had been located west of Muskogee, Oklahoma.

He added that he was informed the motor apparently was burned out and the transmission locked down.

Jessie Jackson, who is accused of taking the pickup, was arrested last week at Oxford, Miss., on a charge of stealing another vehicle. Sheriff Rainey said he has learned Jackson is AWOL from the Marines. He added that the man probably will be turned over to the Marine Corps or turned over to federal authorities for violation of the Mann Act.

The pickup was taken from Milam's farm in the southwest part of Collingsworth County.

... FIGHTS ALL COLDS SYMPTOMS AT ONE TIME... IN LESS TIME! IT'S THE PROVEN COLDS MEDICINE

To the Voters of Collingsworth County:

First of all I want to express my appreciation to my friends for their encouragement in my race for the office of County Clerk. I am grateful for every consideration shown me.

I realize this is a responsible place and I am ready to accept the responsibility. I feel that I can serve the people of Collingsworth County courteously and efficiently at all times.

It is necessary that I earn my own living, as I am a widow and alone, and I can devote my full time and all my energy to the office.

There has been some confusion, because there are several families in this area and the edge of Oklahoma with the same name, so let me tell you a little about myself:

My husband was the late Pete Cummings. He lived in the Salt Fork Community over 50 years and I have lived in the county more than 45 years. I have for more than 25 years had experience in meeting the public, for I have been a music teacher, a bookkeeper, and have done practical nursing.

Some of you remember me from singings over the county, from Home Demonstration Club Work, as a sponsor of Epworth League or in church work.

I realize at all times that the job of county clerk is a public trust, given by you the voters, and if you see fit to elect me, I will remember this at all times.

I will try to see all of you before election, but if I fail to see anyone, I will appreciate your considering this as my request for your vote and support.

More Aid to State Supported Colleges Universities, Asked

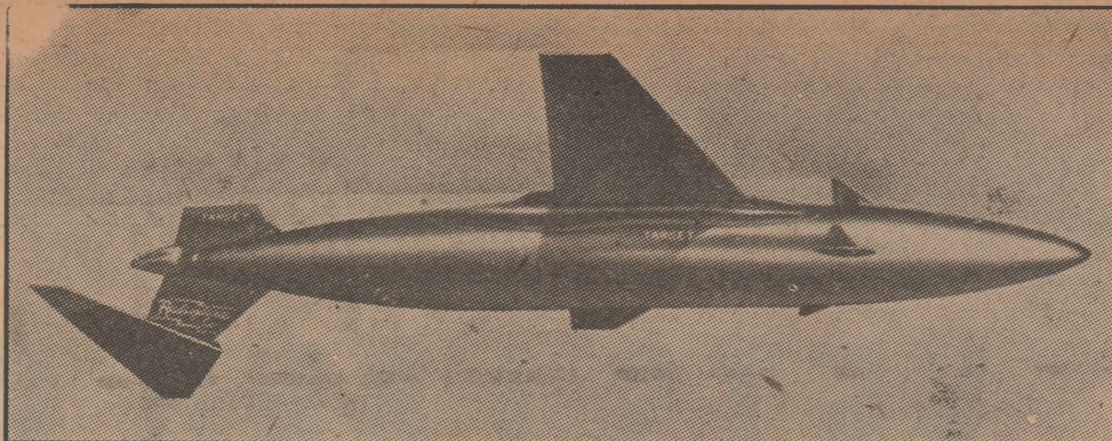

The parents and taxpayers of Texas will make a decision November 6 that will affect Texas youth for generations to come.

Many of our state-supported colleges and universities have reached a saturation point in their physical facilities in relation to their present enrollments. With the oncoming tidal wave of students now in primary and secondary schools, we are faced with the possibility of turning away qualified boys and girls because of lack of space, or of the alternative, initiating a building program designed to take care of our future citizens whose opportunity for college training is their Texas heritage.

The program specified in Amendment 3 will make available to all state supported colleges and universities sufficient building funds for the next 20 years. The program will be carried out without the levying of additional taxes, and also without the necessity of any legislative appropriations for the next 20 years.

Amendment 3 not only resolves the Texas higher scholastic building problems, but it will further support the need for facilities in our vital service and research projects now being carried on in the fields of agriculture, medicine, engineering and national defense.

If every Texas citizen will take time to acquaint himself with the benefits to higher education in Amendment 3, and with its stern safeguards to the endowment fund, we sincerely believe the amendment will receive the approval of the Texas electorate. The amendment was passed by an overwhelming majority in the State Legislature, and is being actively supported by every governing board of every BUSY DRONE—Designed for weapon evaluation and training, this steel and plastic radio-controlled, rocket-powered drone, above, is the latest in target aircraft. Plastic wings and tail surfaces are in fixed position, and control of the RP-70 is accomplished through the small fin-shaped vanes just forward of the wing. Powered by a solid rocket fuel, the RP-70 has a flight endurance of eight to 10 minutes and a ceiling of 50,000 feet. With a top speed of approximately 980 miles per hour, the nine-foot-long, 300-pound rocket will be used to test U.S. defense missile systems.

Gibbs Snares Pass to Win For Rocket B Team

The Wellington B Rockets downed Childress Bobcat's B team 21 to 14 in a game that was won in the last five seconds of play.

Coach Harvey Millsap's boys scored first on a spot pass from Crosby to Wauer at left end, who took it in midfield and galloped about 50 yards for a score. Crosby scored the extra point on a quarterback sneak wide around right end.

The next touchdown was a long pass, again from Crosby to Wauer, who ran about 30 yards for pay dirt. Halfback Gibbs made the extra point on a hand-off play.

Both Childress' touchdowns were on wide end runs.

The game lacked but five seconds of being over, with the score tied 14-14. Fans were already leaving, thinking they had a tied ball game, and Childress had possession of the ball.

The Bobcats drew back and threw a long pass, taking one last, desperate chance to win the game. Clint Gibbs intercepted the pass and then ran 40 yards through the Childress team, evading the many would-be tacklers and reached the goal line still on his feet.

Kent Peoples ran the extra point over as the game ended.

Donavan Bounds and Harold Wayne Moore, who are attending school at Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla., visited over the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Bounds, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moore.

Arnett Wins Fall Baseball Pennant

Arnett high school's Indians captured the state class C autumn baseball championship in Oklahoma City Saturday by defeating Sequoyah 5-3 in an 11 inning final thriller.

It was a repeat performance for the Arnett youngsters, who won the state's spring championship crown a few months ago.

Gilbert, husky moundsman, who opened on the hill for Arnett and later moved to third base when Von McDaniel took over, paced the Arnett hitting parade with two triples and a double.

Arnett scored three in the top of the 11th to break a 2-2 deadlock.

Other November events are the Round Table November 20, to be held here; a leadership training course for Cub, Scout and Explorer leaders; and a District Court of Honor. Dates of the latter two will be set.

and Sequoyah fell short with an unearned run in the bottom of the frame. Gilbert delivered one of his triples in the big 11th after two mates had been issued walks, then Dwayne Stratton came through with a single to score Gilbert. McDaniel, toiling the last five innings, struck out 10 of his foes.

Arnett moved into the final round by defeating Plainview of Ardmore Friday, 6-2, while Sequoyah topped Richmond 5-3 in the other bracket.

The Harmon county youngsters have a victory string of 15 games without a defeat.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Melton had as guests in their home during the weekend all of their children and families. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Melton Jr. and Stevie and Julie of McLean; Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Ham and Alicia and Clint of Beville; Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Elliot, Judy and John Freeman of Littlefield; and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Melton, Joe Lynn and Kevin.

Bible Comment:

Synoptic Gospels Show Real Glory in Life of Christ

THE Synoptic Gospels are the first three, namely, Matthew, Mark and Luke. They are so called because they give a synopsis of events and incidents in the life of Jesus, as distinguished from the Gospel of John. This fourth Gospel is not so much a running detailed story of events as an interpretation of the life and teachings.

While Matthew, Mark and Luke have a common framework and are in substantial agreement, each Gospel is of distinctive character, and each fills in some details that the others may lack.

But the real truth, the real beauty and the real glory of all that pertains to Christ and the New Testament have come down to us in a framework of historical obscurity. It ought to warn us against attaching too much importance to the frame, as many Christians have tended to do, to the loss of inadequate appreciation of the truth, the beauty and the glory that have persisted and that are available for us all.

How little we know concerning the life of Jesus in terms of what might be called "modern biography"! And yet, how vividly and splendidly the New Testament gives us all that is essential! Could the picture of Jesus stand out more clearly if, instead of these simple Gospels, we had an enormous biography, such as is written about almost every famous man of today?

Could all that Jesus came to do and to give the world have been made to stand out so boldly and so challengingly if the story of His life had been loaded down with all manner of unimportant details? The marvelous thing is that these Gospels have been written with such restraint and with such care, where so much could easily have been filled in by the authors to exploit their own literary skill.

pected, was attributed to a heart attack which followed asthma.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church at Alanreed with the Rev. R. M. Cole officiating. Burial was in the Lakeview Cemetery.

Mrs. Gibson, who will be remembered here as Inez Messer, was born March 17, 1912, at Arkadelphia, Ark. She was graduated from Lakeview high school and lived in the Rolla community for a time after the family moved here.

Surviving are her husband, five children; her parents; and two brothers and two sisters: Miss Edna Messer and Ralph Messer of Wellington; CWO Myron Messer of Weisbaden, Germany; and Mrs. S. S. Wright of Hope, Ark.

VETS LAND BILL ENDORSED

STUDY SHOWS PROFITABLE OPERATION OF PROGRAM

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, The American Legion, the DAV and other groups met recently in Austin and made a complete study of the operations of the Veterans Land Program and the merits of Amendment No. 5.

As a result all have endorsed the Amendment and recommend its passage. The study revealed that a continuation of the program to buy land would not cost voters any additional money. The study further showed that up to August 31, 1956 the program had made a profit of $2,307,872.

This amendment will increase to $200,000,000.00 money providing for the issuance of bonds or obligations for land. It will be administered by a Land Board composed of the land commissioner and two members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

We urge you to make a study of the merits of this Amendment and then ----

Kutch Does Ag Practice Teaching

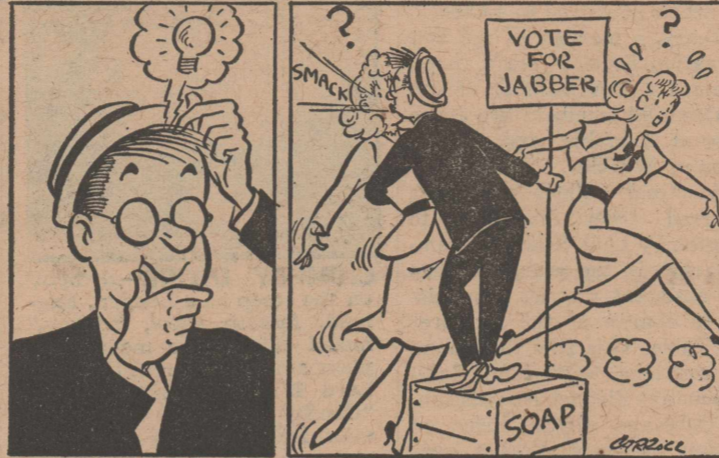

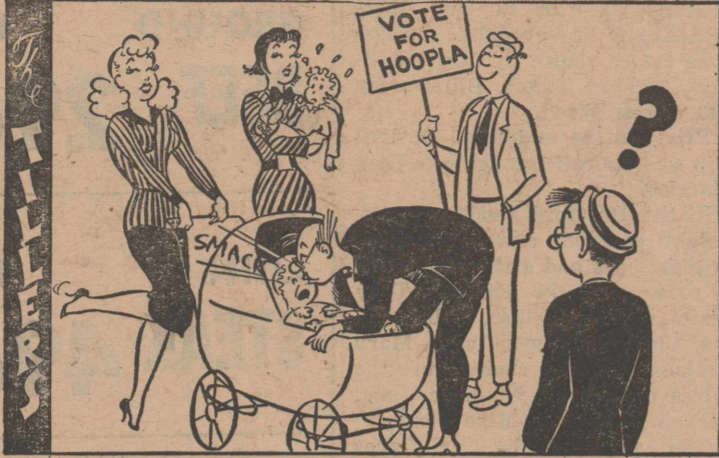

COLLEGE STATION — Actual classroom experience is one of the best possible training programs for future teachers.

That is why 67 students will be absent from the Texas A & M College campus October 15-26. They are future vocational agriculture teachers, and will be teaching in high school vocational agriculture classrooms scattered throughout the state. Among this group is one Wellington student, Thomas Kutch who is teaching at Weatherford.

E. V. Watson, head of the Department of Agricultural Education, said outstanding schools have been chosen, where these future teachers will work directly under supervision of experienced teachers at those schools.

Tex Says He's No Expert But He Believes Ike Is

The other night a bunch of us were sitting around in the drug store after the football game, drinking coffee and talking. You know how it is after a game in a small town, especially after the home team loses. Nearly every man in the crowd had a theory as to why we didn't win the game. Most of them, of course, blamed the coach. I couldn't help remembering that before we consolidated the county schools we didn't even have enough boys to make up a football team. And these same football experts who were saying what Rockne or Bud Wilkinson would have done, up until a few years ago they didn't know a football from a watermelon.

But that's the way it is in a small town (and in big ones, too, I understand). I guess there's no real harm done, although sometimes it's pretty rough on the coach.

I guess we have a right, in this free country, to be self-appointed experts in any line we want to pick out. It seems to me that most people choose either football or politics.

Take this presidential election coming up next Tuesday: During the last few weeks I have heard so many different political experts that I nearly get confused sometimes. I have to stop and think that the fellow who is talking probably doesn't know any more about it than I do, and that helps me keep straightened out.

In fact, I guess I have had my mind made up all along. To make no bones about it, I like Ike. He's a man you can always look up to and respect—the kind of man you'd be proud to point out to any person, from any country on the face of the globe, and say: "That's our President!"

About Adlai, now, I'm not so sure. Of course, if he was elected, he would be my President, too, and I would hope he'd do a lot better than most people around here seem to think he would. This is something I don't think we need to worry about, because from all I can hear and read, Ike is going to win it again.

It seems to me that if Adlai ever had a chance around here, he threw it away when he came out with that H-bomb business. Now, the folks in our town don't know much about H-bombs, except that they don't want any personal dealings with them. Our scientific knowledge of H-bombs is about on a par with our football knowledge, I reckon. But we do know one thing: We don't want some misguided, inexperienced fellow fooling around with our national defense. When it comes to trusting what Bulganin says or what Eisenhower says, I'll take Ike. So will the rest of the country, if I don't miss my guess.

Just before we broke up the other night Doc Brown came into the drug store, and somebody asked him: "Hey, Doc, how's Ike doin'?" (Doc's a big Eisenhower man.) Doc said: "Well, it's a busy campaign for the medical profession. Last week Ike went and got his heart examined; and I understand that this week Adlai is going to get his head examined."

Yours truly,
Tex

DISTRICT CAMPOREE

The Comanche District of the Adobe Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America, had its Fall Camporee this past weekend, October 26 and 27. The Camporee was under the direction of H. E. Craig of Memphis, Camping and Activities Chairman of the Comanche District. Assisting Mr. Craig were Clyde Price Jr., of Clarendon and O. C. McMinn of Wellington.

The Camporee was very well attended and some 84 Scouts and Explorers from 10 different troops and Post. Some 270 Cub Scouts, parents and leaders participated Saturday evening.

The Scouts engaged in six different fields of competition. They were First Aid, Morse Code Signaling, Rope Rescue, (Blindfolded) Compass Course, Trailing by use of Trail Signs, and Map Making. Instead of receiving points in the competition each patrol was paid off in paper script according to their proficiency in the event. This script was saved by the patrol and they "bought" their awards. The top place award sold for 1,000 dollars, the second place award sold for 700 dollars and the third place award sold for 500 dollars. Every patrol bought a second place or higher award.

The Cub Scouts, parents and leaders came in about 5:00 p. m. on Saturday evening and enjoyed a wiener roast and the evening campfire. The highlight of the Camporee was the performance of the Tejas Indian Dancers of Borger. These young men, all Scouts and Explorers, under the direction of J. D. Ross, District Scout Executive of Borger, put on a very nice show of authentic Indian dances. These boys are among the best in the nation in Indian dancing.

"In all the Camporee was a huge success and both men and boys are awaiting the next camping experience," Bill Eller, Scout executive said.

The six fields of competition were worked into a "Hunt for Geronimo" for the boys. Beginning their "search" the
