Actress Begs for Clemency After Suitor Is Found Guilty

NEW YORK, March 15—(AP) William C. The trouble arose over a police dog which May had given the actress. He wanted to take the dog back to Marion, Miss Lloyd objected.

BLACK-LEG HITS COUNTY CATTLE

Mild Epidemic Is Found In Beaver Creek Section

A mild, epidemic of black-leg that, according to reports, has killed some 20 to 30 head of cattle in the Beaver Creek section of Wichita county is in store for that section of the county for the next few weeks, according to Guy R. Jones, county demonstration agent Monday night. An intensive vaccination campaign for all cattle in the district not yet affected by the disease has been instituted by the farmers there, however, and it is doubtful, Mr. Jones states, that there will be many more casualties than have already been reported.

Fear Caused Here.

Some consternation was caused in Wichita Falls Monday with reports that a malady feared to be the dreaded hoof and mouth disease of south Texas had made its appearance and had killed approximately 30 head of cattle. Mr. Jones visited Beaver Creek Monday, however, and returned with information that as far as he was able to learn, the reports of the deaths had been somewhat exaggerated.

Vaccination Required.

Vaccination is practically the only way known to veterinary science to procure immunity against the disease. It is expected to forestall any headway the epidemic may have already gained in southwest Wichita county. Blackleg, it is explained, is a highly contagious disease, causing the death of the animal soon after it contracts it. Immediately after death when the muscle tissues are cut open they are found to have a blackened, blood shot appearance.

The automobile is a wonderful invention but it hasn't horse sense. With our high speed competition we must have clear, sober heads to get there. We must either support prohibition or go back to buggies. Liquor has been discarded together with the old six shooter."

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONERS WILL HOLD JOBS

Moseley and Cage Deny Their Resignations Are Imminent; Engineer Out

ENGINEER REMOVED

Acting Chief Forced to Give Way to Permanent Appointee

AUSTIN, March 15.—(AP)—Rumors that resignations were imminent in the state highway commission were dispelled tonight when Hal Moseley, chairman, and John Cage, member, told The Associated Press that neither had even thought of resigning. They declared they were going to "fight the thing out" even though they admitted being a highway commissioner is no easy job.

Both Moseley and Cage charged that the rumors circulated here that they were going to resign are false. They made the charge immediately after coming from a conference at the governor's office, with former Governor James E. Ferguson. They said what seemed to be a mountain, now appears only a hill.

Moseley refused to say whether contracts on 416 miles of resurfacing work on highways in sections one, two and three would be let Tuesday. He said the conference on the letting will open at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Contracts Under Fire

Considerable agitation over the proposed letting of the contracts has been encountered by the cimmission. Contractors bidding on bituminous asphalt, amiesite and rock asphalt have filled at the highway department and at hotels, each bringing every friendly influence available in attempting to show the commission that his bid is the best. Before the bids were even opened, Attorney General Moody in a letter warned the commission against letting a bituminous asphalt contract, charging that it was unsatisfactory and only temporary on Texas roads.

Along with this is the replacement of W. P. Kemper, acting state highway engineer by A. C. Love of Beaumont, who takes charge Tuesday.

Good Engineer

Kemper will be given the usual two weeks' salary, but Commissioner Moseley said that Kemper would not remain in the department.

Eugene Smith, secretary of the commission said that Kemper was regarded as a good engineer.

Kemper was appointed acting highway engineer effective January 15 to succeed R. J. Hank, also dismissed by the new commission. He said that he was satisfied with being assistant engineer but that he was faced by the problem of accepting the position as acting highway engineer or stepping out. He explained, when notified that Love had been appointed, that he would be returned to assistant engineer in event a state highway engineer was appointed. But in the meantime the work was so heavy, he said, that at the recommendation of the commission promoted an engineer to assistant engineer, filling his original job.

The records did not include the payments made on the last day of the filing and initial payment period, however practically all returns for the district had been filed before Monday.

Countess' 'Ashes' Is Disappointment To London Auditors

LONDON, March 15.—(AP)—The Countess of Cathcart's play "Ashes," produced at the Prince of Wales theatre tonight proved a disappointment to the crowd which evidently expected something of a more sensational nature than was put on the stage.

The censorship and the finance of the countess, Ralph Neale, who is said to have written the play, had converted it into a harmless and interesting drama, which was so unconvincing that the restless audience frequently laughed at scenes supposed to be serious.

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, March 15.—Two men were arrested in Burkburnett and brought to Vernon Monday afternoon by Sheriff W. Frank Edmonson in connection with an attack made Sunday night on Barney Lasater on the Kingola road, three and one-half miles east of Vernon. The men are alleged to have crowded Lasater, an employee of King's hospital of this city, off the road with their car, clubbed him with a revolver, and fired five shots into the radiator of his machine.

Lasater was first crowded off the Colorado-Gulf pavement about three miles east of Vernon by a big roadster containing four men and three women, according to officers, three of the men are said to have left the roadster and ordered Lasater to get out of his car and fight them, accusing him of running into them. When Lasater refused to leave his car, one of the men produced a gun and ordered Lasater to turn around and drive his car back to Vernon, it is alleged.

Lasater turned his car and started down the Kingola road and two of the men and one woman gave chase in the roadster, according to witnesses. They overtook Lasater and crowded him off the road. As Lasater left his car two men rushed at him, each carrying a gun, he told officers. One is alleged to have struck him over the head with a gun. He escaped from his assailants and caught a ride to Vernon.

ROTTEN MESS, PASTORS AVER IN RESOLUTION

San Antonio Minister Condems Action of Governor In Freeing South Texan

PROSECUTOR PEEVED

District Attorney Attempts To Have Clemency Act Set Aside

SAN ANTONIO, March 15.—(AP) Energetic efforts were initiated today by District Attorney C. M. Chambers to have Governor Ferguson revoke the pardon she issued Saturday to C. G. (Cowboy) Meyers, after he had served a month of a five-year sentence imposed on him after he pleaded guilty to assault with firearms in the 94th district court.

Chambers said he will inform the governor that Meyers is charged with violation of the national prohibition laws in federal district court. An information field by United States District Attorney John Hartman alleges Meyers on or about August 4, 1925, had in his possession 12 gallons of distilled spirits and 350 pints of beer.

The information also charges Meyers with possession of equipment used in the manufacture of distilled spirits.

Chambers said he considered it unfortunate that so many county and city officials signed the application for pardon which Sam Newman, investigator for the county attorney, transmitted to the governor through Eugene Smith, secretary of the highway commission. He said a number of officers, including Mayor Tobin, had stated they signed the petition in regular routine, not cognizant of its full import.

A number of the more than 40 signers to the petition were silent today concerning the pardon. "It's not important enough to create all this stir," Sheriff James Stevens said.

"This whole mess is as rotten as hell," a resolution adopted today by the Baptist ministers conference said.

Animals Prove Heroic In Pet Store Blaze

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP)—Tales of animal heroism were brought from a smouldering building in Cortlandt street today by firemen who fought flames that caused the deaths of 5,000 canaries, 150 parrots, 40 monkeys and several cats and dogs.

Several boa constrictors lashed about, terror-stricken, in their cages, monkeys chattered and parrots shrieked, creating a bedlam of noises such as a jungle explorer might hear in a nightmare. The jungle law of the survival of the fittest prevailed and the weaker of the imprisoned creatures perished. So frightened were the boa constrictors and two wild cats that they were rescued without attempting to attack the firemen.

The outstanding hero of the fire as reported by firemen, was a baboon which took his inseparable companion, a kitten, in his arms, broke open the door of his cage and escaped to safety with his charge. In another cage firemen said they found a monkey crouched in her cage, choked by the smoke and her hair singed by the flames. When they removed her they found she was lying on four of her young protecting them with her own body. The mother later was revived.

A loss of more than $25,000 was caused by the fire. Most of this was caused by the deaths of the animals and birds. The animal store is patronized by circus men. Three ant eaters, a South American vulture and many chicks and rabbits, intended for the Easter season, were among the casualties.

Representatives of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals rendered first aid to the animals which it was thought would recover. Those most seriously injured were killed.

Dashing Swash Buckler Of Skies Sneaks Away

CHICAGO, March 15.—(AP)—The most dashing of the celestial swash bucklers, Ensor's comet, failed to appear for an American debut tonight.

First seen from South Africa last December on later sighted from Poland the comet was apparently on its way for an appearance here. It was supposed to have been in this part of the sky since Feb. 15, and was tonight to be visible to the naked eye.

Disappearance of the astronomical nomad was confirmed from the Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago. Two long exposure photographs made today with the 24-inch reflecting telescope revealed nothing that could be identified as the missing body. The lenses detect objects five thousand times more faint than can be seen by the unaided eye.

The phenomen may be due to the comet approaching too close to the sun according to Professor E. B. Frost, observatory director. Such an occurrence he said, would result in the fiery head shrinking and the comet's becoming so diffused and translucent as to become virtually invisible.

When last seen the comet was 30,000,000 miles from the sun and sixty million from the earth.

There was a similar phenomenon in 1913 when a comet known as West Phail's did not appear, according to schedule.

After the usual songs ad prayers, the scouts passed the collection plates then Rev. E. V. Cole turned the services over to Scoutmaster Taylor Cash, who explained the meaning of "Scouting", with the aim and purpose being explained, the usual routine of business. Dale Austin then went to the platform and explained the scout signs and gave demonstrations. Clarence McSpadden told of the duties of the scouts with the forms and customs with respect to the flag. Grady Andrews built a fire using flint rock and steel.

The principal part of the program was the "Tenderfoot Investiture Ceremony." Three large red candles were lighted and by lighting each the three oaths of the Scouts were explained by the Scoutmaster. "HER MAN"

--By Beatrice Burton--

READ THIS FIRST:

SYLVIA STARR has been engaged to marry RANDALL PHELPS for nearly a year when he suddenly asks her to break their engagement. He tells her with brutal frankness that he has fallen in love with her best friend, FAY SHIRLEY.

Sylvia, who had never dreamed of this new attachment, gives him up, much to the satisfaction of her AUNT AGONY, who has raised her from her orphaned babyhood. Aunt Agony thinks Ranny a lazy good-for-nothing, anyway, and urges Sylvia to marry PETER WILK, a sober-minded bachelor. But Sylvia knows she never will care for anyone but Ranny Phelps.

As the time for his marriage to Fay draws near, Fay confesses to Sylvia that she and Ranny don't love each other half so much as they thought they did. And Sylvia discovers that she is seeing a great deal of her old beau, EDDIE CARTER.

On a moonlit May night, Peter gives a picnic supper in the woods in honor of Sylvia's twenty-second birthday. Fay and Ranny arrive late, and Ranny tells Sylvia that he and Fay have been having a couple of little drinks of gin to celebrate the end of their love affair! He says he really has never cared for anyone but Sylvia, and she recklessly suggests that they elope that very night! And they do.

Toward the end of their honeymoon, which they spend at a quiet little country inn, Ranny receives a letter from Fay and refuses to show it to Sylvia. He begins to be restless and unhappy, and at the end of the first week, suggests that they go back to town. Hurt because he has so soon tired of her, Sylvia packs up their belongings. She finds Fay's letter in one of Ranny's coat pockets, and, almost without thinking what she is doing, puts it into her handbag.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

The long drive to town from the little hushed world of their honeymoon was a silent one.

Ranny's roadster sang along the hot sunny road with a sleepy sound like the buzzing of some enormous fly, and Sylvia, lulled by the smooth, steady motion, lay back in the corner of her seat with half-shut eyes.

Now and then they showed their violet glint for an instant when she took a sharp sidewise glance at this man she had married—this man she had known ever since she had been knee-high to a grasshopper—this husband of hers who was a total stranger to her, somehow or other.

What did she really know about him, she wondered. Nothing. For instance, she had never dreamed that he was tiring of her and of being alone with her, until this very morning, when he had made it so plain. There had been no lack of tenderness and passion in the last kiss he had given her, when they had wakened in the quiet, gray dawn only a few hours ago.

She looked at him again. His hat was off and the swift-rushing wind ruffled his thick blond hair. She had a sudden wild longing to smooth it down with her two hands, and kiss him just there, under the clean curve of his jaw.

But that was the very thing she mustn't do. He had shown her, hadn't he, that he was tired of love-making—sick and tired of it!

She tried to think of something to say—something bright and careless and peppy—the sort of thing that Fay could toss off by the reel, a funny story or a bit of spicy gossip, or a song.

But her mind refused to budge. It remained on Ranny and on the letter that Fay had written him, and that he had refused to let her see—the letter that was tucked into her bag this minute among her powder puffs and lip stick and perfume flacon.

Ranny's roadster had swung into the dust clouds of Curzon street, on its way across town, before Sylvia found the courage to take that letter out from its hiding place and hold it up for Ranny to see!

She had known all along that she wouldn't read it on the sly. Even after she had put it into her bag she was sure that she couldn't do a sneaking thing like that, no matter how great her curiosity was.

"I found this in the pocket of your khaki coat this morning, Ran," she said to him, and watched with a sinking of the heart his face slowly redden with anger as he took the thing from her.

Holding the wheel tight with his forearms, he ripped the envelope savagely into two parts. Then instead of throwing them out of the speeding car, he suddenly flung them down into Sylvia's lap.

"Go ahead and read it, Pandora!" he said, and gave a short laugh. "You win!—I know darned well that from this point in, I'm never going to have anything to myself—" He reached out with his right hand and took both of hers in it, and squeezed it hard.

"You bad, adorable little sneak-thief!" he said, and Sylvia bent her head and covered his hand with kisses before she threw the torn letter away.

"I don't want to read it now!" she cried, flushed and bright-eyed. "Oh, Ranny, you will forgive me for being so jealous, won't you? I can't help it, I love you so! I wish you would go around with binders on, like a horse, so you couldn't even see any other girls but me—"

With their arms around each other's shoulder, they drove into the big shady yard that surrounded Jamison Phelps' house on Winthrop street.

Sylvia was suddenly overcome with shyness and didn't want to get out of the car. She had met Ranny's mother ad father only twice before, and she had never met his sister, Lolita—"Lolly," as Ranny called her.

"Oh, Ran, let me go home to Aunt Agony's and get into some other clothes!" she begged, at the last minute. "All the things I bought ages ago, for our honeymoon, are there! I want to put on the very spiffiest thing I have, to meet your family in—"

But Ranny had jumped out and was opening the door of the car.

"Oh, you! You should worry about the clothes you have on! You don't need dolling up any more than a mermaid needs rubber heels!" he comforted her. "You're the prettiest thing in seven states. Cen on!"

And Sylvia's last feeling of unhappiness melted away in the glow of warm joy that ran through her, at the sound of his voice and the tenderness in his eyes—ah, what if he had been off-hand with her that morning? Surely he loved her now.

But she did not feel like the prettiest thing in seven states two minutes later when Ranny's handsome white-haired mother rustled crisply down the stairs of the big house to greet her new daughter-in-law.

She felt very rumpled and ruffled and dusty in the blue taffeta dress that she had bought th some tiny town, on their honeymoon trip.

And when Lolly Phelps came running in from a neighbors' house to welcome the bride and groom, she felt still more uncimfortable. She, too, would have liked to be fresh and cool and lovely in rippling white, as she felt Lolly's dark, discontented eyes taking her in from head to foot—as Aunt Agony said, "First impressions are everything!"

"We're awfully glad its you that Ranny finally married," Lolly said, and gave Sylvia a cool little kiss from her painted mouth. "For a while we thought it was going to be that Fay What's-Her-Name that he was going to bring home to us—"

"Hush! The Naked Bear will get thee!" growled Ranny, and Sylvia laughed aloud.

The words brought back to her the memory of a long-ago afternoon when she had read "Hiawatha" to the children in the library. Ranny had come in just as she was reading the line "Hush, the Naked Bear will get thee!" and had been much amused by it. And he had told the children a story, himself, that rainy afternoon.

"We'll have a lot of jolly little kids, ourselves, when we're married and have a house of our own, won't we?" he had said to her on their way home that night.

And it was of a house of their own that Sylvia was thinking when she and Ranny sat down to eat lunch with Mother Phelps and Lolly, today.

Not such a house as this one of Ranny's parents, but a cute little house, just big enough for two—a little house with a fireplace for wood, with white muslin curtains, and big, cozy chairs and sofas covered with bright colored cretonne.

There would be a nice little blue-and-white kitchen where she would cook the kind of meals that Ranny liked, and where the old crowd would gather to help get Sunday night suppers, sometimes, when they felt like having company.

Sylvia blinked at Ranny with both of her lovely, flirtatious eyes, as if the future was as dazzling as sudden sunlight. And he looked back at her across his mother's table with the crooked smile that she loved better than anything else about him.

That night she talked to him about the little house.

They were sitting out on the front steps, after dinner, watching the dusq deepen into starry darkness. Ranny's arm was around Sylvia's waist and her head was on his shoulder.

"Dearest," she said to him, "I'm sure you must have seen some darling little houses that could be picked up for nothing while you've been around town selling real estate for your father."

Ranny knocked the ashes out of the bowl of his pipe before he answered. "Oh, Dad doesn't deal in that sort of real estate," he said then, carelessly, "down town property's more our line, you know."

"Well, then, I'll get busy and hunt up a place," Sylvia murmured lazily and happily, as she stroked his arm. "Sweet old arm! Sweet old sleeve! My old Ranny!" In the darkness she pressed her cheek close to his arm and kissed it through the madras shirt he wore.

Ranny drew away from her. "People passing might see us," he said, shortly. He got up, after a while, and went into the house.

The subject of the house came up again the next morning at breakfast.

"Father," Sylvia said, seriously, to Jamison Phelps, who sat next to her at the table, "how much do you think Ranny and I would have to pay for a six-room house?"

Her father-in-law looked across at her with the steady blue eyes that were the color of Ranny's own—but had none of their careless, devil-may-care charm.

"Well, I should say," he began, in his deep voice, when Ranny broke in.

"We aren't going to buy a house," he said with decision. "I'm not going to put my nose to the grindstone until there's some need of it. And paying for a house is no joke, if you want to have any money to spend for anything else, believe me! A four-room flat is about our speed just now, Sylvy! And I'd rather live in a hotel myself, or stay here with the folks."

Sylvia gave a little gasp. "Oh, no," she cried, "we've got to have a home, Ranny, a home of our own!"

And with haste that had panic in it, she went out that morning to hunt up four-room flats.

Lolly, cool and pretty in the loveliest green dress, went with her.

"You just make Ranny get a home of his own!" she said, with a nod of her dark head where the hair rippled like tiny waves. "He's always been the laziest thing—and you want to let him know, right from the start that he's got to hustle for you! Don't let him ever lie down on the job or he'll never take care of you the way he should!"

It was a week afterward that they had their first real quarrel—Sylvia and Ranny.

They had spent the afternoon house-hunting and had finally decided on a little apartment in Wing street, only a mile away from Aunt Agony and Bleak street. And they had stopped in for a bite to eat at the Pig and Whistle restaurant.

It was early and there was only one other person in the dining room.

This was a woman who sat near them, slowly sipping a cup of tea.

She was a pretty woman, with hair as red as Fay Shirleys hair, and long gray eyes that she knew how to use.

Sylvia noticed, after a few minutes, that she was using them on Ranny. She was looking at him in the mirror that hung beside them on the wall.

"How bold she is!" Sylvia thought to herself, "to flirt with a man she never laid eyes on before! I can't understand a woman like that for the life of me—"

Then all thought seemed to stop in her brain for a instant.

She looked up from her plate and saw the tail-end of a smile that Ranny had been smiling—at the woman in the mirror!

He flushed when he found his wife's honest eyes fixed on him, with surprise written in them—surprise, and a sort of disgust, too.

"Whats the matter, darling?" he asked.

Sylvia smiled faintly. She took her little silver pencil from her handbag and passed it across the table to him.

"Here's this—if you want to ask that woman for her address," she said clearly. "I saw you smiling at her in the mirror, and I thought you might want to know her better!"

She forced back the tears that were rising in her throat and in her eyes.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

In the next installment Sylvia and Ranny are settled in their own little home. What is it that makes a home after all, the furnishings, or the people who l.ve in it? And can one person keep happiness alive without the help of the other? Sylvia and Ranny do not start their new life on a fifty-fifty basis.

Residence Destroyed By Fire As Seven Flee

WACO, March 15.—(AP)—W. H. McKinney and family, living just beyond the Waco city limits, had a narrow escape today when their seven-room residence was consumed by fire. The family was forced to flee in night clothes.

Members of the family were awakened from their sleep by the smell of smoke and the crackling of flames.

Modern Day Boys And Girls Praised By El Paso Cleric

EL PASO, March 15.—(AP)—Youth and the age of jazz have a defender here. Dr. Frank Hampton Fox, Congregational minister criticized parents who talk about how good, studious, decorous and sober were the young when they were young. Such statements, he said, are untrue.

"You know that in some of the great universities of this country, after a night of revelry, drunken students lay stretched out on the floors of college halls, scores of them," he asserted. "Boys and girls were expelled from colleges in squads, for immoral conduct.

"The young people of today are more, not less religious than the youth of the past, only their religion is practical and aggressive rather than theoretic and static. Their eyes are keen to see through subterfuge and shams. For the sake of this splendid army of youth, stop lying to them."

Stubborn Coughs Quickly Stopped This New Way

It is often surprising how the most persistent, hacking cough that not only robs you of strength and sleep, but often leads to more serious trouble, yields quickly to a simple but wonderfully effective treatment.

This treatment is based on the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful at bed time and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of night coughing. So with the cause removed, coughing stops quickly, your sleep undisturbed, and the entire cough condition soon disappears.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children as well as grown-ups—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Danger Signals of Indigestion

The Disease That Strikes Like Lightning.

Beware of indigestion—the disease that kills more people and kills them quicker than any other. This warning, by physicians, is particularly applicable this season of the year, when your system needs all of its healthful vigor to withstand cold, flu and other winter ills.

What are the warnings that nature gives you of the approach of indigestion? The medical book tells us: 1. Gas, which means that your food is fermenting instead of digesting. 2. A feeling of fullness or oppression in the region of the stomach after eating. This means that the gas has ballooned your stomach and is pressing up against your heart and lungs. 3. A dull lazy feeling, which means that you are not getting nourishment from what you are eating. 4. Restlessness, unrefreshing sleep, which means that the poisons of indigestion are disturbing your brain and nerves. 5. sometimes pain and fluttering around the heart, though this symptom may come later.

Don't take chances with indigestion—you are too apt to lose. If you have had any of the symptoms mentioned above, get your digestive organs to work at once with Ferraline, Nature's great stomach treatment that has given relief to thousands. Ferraline immediately aids and assists every one of your digestive organs, including your stomach, liver and bowels. Ferraline makes your digestion "perfect and complete." You feel its helpful effect from the very first dose. Get a bottle of Ferraline today at any drug store. Ferraline is so much superior to any other remedy for indigestion that the owners have instructed every druggist to refund the purchase price, One Dollar, if you do not get relief, so it costs you nothing if you are not delighted with results. Delay might be dangerous. Get Feraline today from your druggist.—Adv.

TWO HOMES MADE HAPPY

By Women Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I ever tried," is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of May View, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

Mrs. J. Storms of 29 Lane Street, Paterson, N. J., writes: "I can not speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."

These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound. Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. When women are suffering from lack of strength and from weakness, their own life and that of their family is affected. When they feel well and strong and are able to do their housework easily, happy homes are the result.

Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health?

THE GREATEST DESPOT

ASSYRIA, Babylon, Egypt, Greece, Rome—all of them once were great empires, and centers of great civilizations. Where are they now?

A people, a nation, it appears from history, may be progressive, great, for a certain length of time, and then stop.

When does it stop?

When as a result of custom, tradition, "Authority" having taken hold of things, individuality begins to wear out; when free speech and the liberty of action of its citizens begin to be strangled by laws.

The despotism of custom always has been the standing hindrance to human advancement, being in unceasing antagonism to that disposition to aim at something better than customary, which is called, according to circumstances, the spirit of liberty, or that of progress or improvement.

The spirit of improvement is not always the same as the spirit of liberty, or even in sympathy with it, for it may aim at forcing improvements on an unwilling people.

But the only unfailing and permanent source of improvement is liberty, since by it there are as many possible independent centers of improvement as there are individuals.

Naturally, the progressive principle, in either shape, whether as the love of liberty or of improvement, is antagonistic to the sway of custom, and the story of the struggle of the two constitutes nearly the whole of the history of mankind.

The greatest part of the world has, propertly speaking, no history, because the despotism of custom is complete.

This is the case over the whole East.

In China 500,000,000 people are shackled to the graves of their ancestors.

Custom is in the Orient, in all things, the final appeal; justice and right mean conformity to custom; the argument of power no one, unless it be some tyrant intoxicated with power, thinks of resisting.

And we see the result. Those nations were once the most powerful, and the most learned, in the world. What are they now? The subjects or dependents of tribes whose forefathers wandered in the forests when theirs had magnificent palaces and gorgeous temples, but over whom custom exercised only a divided rule with liberty and progress.

NOTHING TO DO WITH VOLSTEAD

THE CRUCIAL QUESTION

Evidently the railroads believe that it is a case of merge or submerge.

NOW IT IS FOREIGN BRICK

NOW the American brick makers, the manufacturers of common brick, are demanding additional tariff legislation. More than 60,000,000 brick were landed on these shores from Holland and Belgium in the year 1925. German brick came in considerable quantities. Special agents came from Belgium to develop a market for brick in Florida.

French manufacturers have their agents in New York City, creating a market for French common brick. Common brick is also coming into this country from England, Canada and Mexico. Now the argument of the American common brick manufacturers is if it is legitimate to shut out foreign labor, then it should be legitimate to shut out foreign brick, and they ask that brick shall be shut out by the enactment of a prohibition tariff.

A RICH MAN FROM ILLINOY

NOW a man from Illinoy, a newspaper publisher, has invaded the border line of Arkansas and Texas and gathered in three daily newspapers. He will consolidate the three, make his home in Texas after May 1, and conduct his Illinoy publication by mail. There is an invading tide of investors and home seekers. They are going to swell the population of Texas to 10,000,000 million souls before the coming of 1940. This is a safe prediction. It is so written in the big book of destiny.

UNRUFFLED

At last reports evolution was going on just the same despite the fact that it has been outlawed by the sovereign state of Mississippi.

THE ARCHITECTURE OF HUMAN LIFE

THE steelworker or the mason or the carpenter employed in erecting a building may be quite ignorant of its general design; or at any rate, he may not keep it constantly in mind. So it is with man in working through the days of his life, he takes little thought of its character as a whole.

If there is any importance attaching to a man's career, if he lays himself out carefully for some special work, it should be apparent that it is all the more necessary for him to turn his attention now and then to its plan, its general outlines.

Of course, to do that, he must have made some progress in the art of understanding himself.

He must know what is his real, chief and foremost object in life—what it is that he most wants in order to be happy.

He must find out what his vocation really is—the part he has to play, his general relation to the world.

It has been observed before that if a man maps out important work for himself on great lines, a glance at this miniature plan of his life will more than anything else stimulate and rouse him, urge him on to action and keep him from false paths.

We all need a goal.

It was observed by Schopenhauer that just as the traveler, on reaching a height get a connected view of the road he has taken, with its many turns and windings; so it is only when we have completed a period in our life, or approach the end of it altogether, that we recognize the true connection between all our actions—what it is we have achieved, what work we have done.

The same truth may be more broadly expressed by saying that the first forty years of life furnish the text, while the remaining thirty or forty supply the commentary we are unable to understand aright the true sense of the text.

It is only when we are at the summit of life that we see the precise chain of cause and effect, the exact value of all our efforts.

For it is an old truth that as long as we are actually engaged in the work of life, we always act in accordance with the nature of our character, under the influence of motive and within the limits of our capacity—in a word, from beginning to end, under a law of necessity.

TOO LATE

"Mrs. Warren's Profession" has been freed from the ban imposed eleven years ago. But it is so tame now that nobody will take much interest in it.

PUBLICITY IS THE THING

GENERAL SMEDLEY M. BUTLER, the devil dog of the Marines, rejoined the marines when he lost his job in the city of Philadelphia, where he fought rum and vice until the cohorts of rum and vice overwhelmed him. When the political bosses threw him out of his Philadelphia job, he admitted very frankly that he had been beaten. Then he was sent to the San Diego marine base as chief commander.

A big reception was given in his honor by the officers of the marines. There were cocktails served, loaded cocktails, which made some of the diners noisy. General Butler would not stand for it. He preferred charges against the officer who was responsible for the cocktails, and the allegations are that the aforesaid officer was guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. Now the unfortunate marine will lose his official head. He will be dismissed from the service of his country. General Butler will have another scalp dangling from his belt.

Publicity is the thing. General Butler fairly eats it up. He fed upon it daily for two years in the Quacker city. Now he has a fine spread before him in the California city. Of course, the general ran true to form. He quit drinking when he became the police vice and rum smasher of Philadelphia. He landed on the water wagon and did not take a drink for two years. It was thus that he acquired the total abstinence habit. He carried the habit with him to San Diego, and now he has made an example of an office of his own command who had the nerve to place a cocktail under the very nose of the erstwhile rum smasher and vice destroyer.

Of course, the accused marine is guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. He should have been gathered in by the fool killer long before General Smedley rejoined the marines and was assigned to duty at San Diego. He should be an expert mind reader. He should be able to tell in the blinking of an eye those who will and those who won't.

WHO'S WHO

NEWTON D. BAKER

Former secretary of war, Newton D. Baker is now engaged in gathering and analyzing figures and factors relating to educational, industrial and social influences upon crime in his capacity as chairman of the education committee of the national crime commission.

NEWTON D. BAKER.

Newton Diehl Baker has had a varied career. Born in Martinsburg, W. Va., in 1871, he was graduated from Johns Hopkins university in 1892 and received his bachelor of laws degree two years later at Washington and Lee university. For a year he acted as private secretary to Postmaster General Wilson, then began to practice law in his home town. He moved to Cleveland, Ohio, where he became city solicitor in 1902. He retained that position until he was elected mayor in 1912.

Near the close of his second term the late President Wilson called him to Washington to accept a cabinet position, the war portfolio.

In 1918 he visited the European trenches and personally studied conditions affecting U. S. soldiers abroad.

At the close of Wilson's administration, Baker returned to Cleveland and resumed his law practice as a member of the firm of Baker, Hostetler and Sidlo. He frequently represents railroad interests before the interstate commerce commission at Washington.

DINNER STORIES

Swiftly he entered the crowded room, pulled a bundle of notes from his pocket and began to address the assembly.

"Gentlemen," said he scowling, "A serious condition confronts us."

The chairman made several attempts to interrupt the speaker, but he refused to be even slowed up. His oration lasted for half an hour, ending with the abruptness with which it had commenced.

"Have you quite finished, sir?" asked the chairman.

"Yes—quite. But I defy you to deny the accuracy of my statements," retorted the orator.

"I have no wish to," answered the chairman. "But I should like to point out that this is the Boosters' Club. The Undertakers' Convention you intended to address is holding its meeting in the room across the hall."

A young American artist who has just returned from a six months' job of driving a British ambulance on the war front in Belgium brings this back straight from the trenches: "One cold morning a sign was pushed up above the German trench facing ours, only about 50 yards away, which bore in large letters the words: "Gott mit Uns!" One of our cockney lads, more of a patriot than a linguist, looked at this for a moment then lampblacked a big sign of his own, which he raised on a stick. It read: "We got mittuns, too!"

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE NEIGHBOR

How old and wet the lowlands lie
Beneath the cloaked and wooded sky!
How softly beats the welcome rain
Against the plashy window-pane!

There is no sail upon the bay:
We cannot go abroad today,
But, darlings, come and take my hand,
And hear a tale of fairyland.

The baby's little head shall rest
In quiet on father's breast,
And mother, if he chances to stir,
Shall sing him songs once sung to her.

Ah, little ones, ye do not fret
Because the garden grass is wet:
Ye love the rains, when er'er they come
That all day keep your father home.

No fish today the net shall yield;
The happy oxen graze afield,
The thirsty corn will drink its fill,
And louder sing the mountain rill.

Then, darling nestle round the hearth;
Ye are the sunshine of the earth.
Your tender eyes so fondly shine,
They bring a welcome rain to mine.

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

The Disheartened Husband Whose Poor-Sport Wife Blames Him for Business Reverses. How to Treat a Fault-Finding Sister-in-Law. Shall She Marry for Love or Luxury?

Dear Miss Dix—I am a married man with a wife and four children. I have been fairly successful in a business way, but recently I have had reverses which necessitated selling our home and which have forced me to deprive my wife of some of the luxuries to which she has been accustomed. My wife is furious over the situation. She nags at me all the time, reproaches me for bad management and criticizes me even to the children. This has got me into such a nervous state that I have about lost all confidence in myself, and I am so miserable that I have not the heart for the struggle I should make.

Do you think she is giving me a fair deal, particularly as I am devoted to her and the children and have no thought but for their welfare?

A FRIEND.

Answer:

I think that your wife is giving you a rotten deal and that she is the poorest sort of sport. Any woman is a shirker and a quitter who doesn't stand by her husband in his misfortune and share his ill-luck with as good a grace as she did his prosperity.

Also, she shows that she not only has lack of heart but lack of sense, because by her conduct she is doing everything possible to kill the goose that lays the golden egg and keep you from ever getting on your feet again. For she is breaking down your morale, and when that is gone everything is lost.

To have a business venture go awry, to lose money, even to have to give up your home, is bad, of course, but it is only a passing misfortune to those who take it in the right spirit. Often it is a blessing in disguise, because we learn wisdom from our failures and when we find ourselves blocked in one direction we turn in another.

Many a man's bankruptcy has been the foundation of his fortune. Many a man's failure in an occupation for which he had no aptitude has forced him into the thing for which he had a genius.

But it is only the man who does not get discouraged who can profit by his losses. He must keep his heart high. He must have faith in himself, and it is very difficult to do this if he has a melancholy wife at home who whines over her misfortunes and wet-blankets every plan and saps his courage by her prophecies of disaster.

The woman who wants her husband to succeed must hold up his hands. She must breathe fresh courage and hope into him. She must make him feel that she has faith in him. For that kind of a wife a man can go out and fight the world and conquer.

But the woman who sends her husband to the battle with his ears full of her lamentations over his failure and his heart bitter with the sense of her disloyalty has no fight left in him. He is beaten before he fires a shot. Fair-weather wives are no better than fair-weather friends.

A good wife is a good comrade who fights the battle shoulder to shoulder with her husband and who, when misfortune comes and he asks, "Are we downhearted?" smiles back at him and shouts "No! I know you will win out!"

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have a darling baby 3 years old and a good husband. But I have an old maid sister-in-law who makes life miserable for me. She tells me that I don't know how to bring up my child. If we dance, she calls us sports. If we play a jazz record, we are low-minded. If I say I'm tired, I am lazy. When I have been up three nights and three days with my sick baby, she tells me how old and haggard I look. Everything I do and don't do she criticizes. My husband tells me to pay no attention to her, yet how can I help it when she comes to my house and irritates me so? What shall I do?

PERPLEXED WIFE.

Answer:

Take your husband's advice. Pay no attention to her. The fault finding of such a woman is no more to be seriously considered than the yapping of a little dog at your heels.

Jealousy and envy are at the criticism. Jealousy and envy of your youth, of your joy in life, of your husband's love for you and your love for him, of the little arms around your neck. Surely, when you think of that, you can find it in your heart to be sorry for her in her loneliness—growing old with no one to care for her, with the certainty that no little head will ever be upon her breast.

As long as you live, my dear, there will always be disagreeable people with whom you have to have contact; people who do things that get upon your nerves; people who criticize you and say unpleasant things to you; and it depends upon yourself whether you let these people make you miserable or not.

You can learn to pay no attention to them; to attach no importance to what they say; to literally let it go in one ear and out of the other, so that it means absolutely nothing to you. Or else you can brood over it and magnify it and make such a mountain out of your molehill that it will shut all of the sunlight out of your house.

Don't do that. Don't fret yourself over what your sister-in-law says or does, and don't worry your husband by repeating her acid remarks to him. Forget what she says. Don't argue with her. Don't try to defend yourself. Any phonograph will run down if not wound up. And remember that there is no such buffer for sarcasm as good nature. It glances harmlessly off those who laugh at it.

Cultivate a funny bone in dealing with your disagreeable sister-in-law. You will really enjoy her after you come to see how ridiculous it is that she could ever worry you.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am deeply in love with a young man who is just a poor, hard-working boy, while I am a girl who has had every indulgence. Would you advise me to marry this young man, or would it be best for me to marry a man who can give me the things that I now have?

PEGGY.

Answer:

It depends altogether on what sort of girl you are, Peggy. If you are one of the soft, luxury-loving kind to whom fine clothes and a good car and living on the right street are matters of supreme importance, then I should certainly urge you not to marry a poor man.

No love or tenderness or fineness of character in a man can make up to that type of woman for physical luxuries. She will be miserable without them and make the man miserable who cannot give them to her.

But if you are one of the women who think more of a man than you do of a pocketbook; if you would rather be crowned with a good man's love than the latest things in French hats; if you would rather walk with the man you love than ride in a limousine with one for whom you care nothing, then marry your poor man.

But don't do it unless you are a good sport and are going to be able to make sacrifices without whining and work without considering yourself a martyr.

DOROTHY DIX.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

The Good of Life.

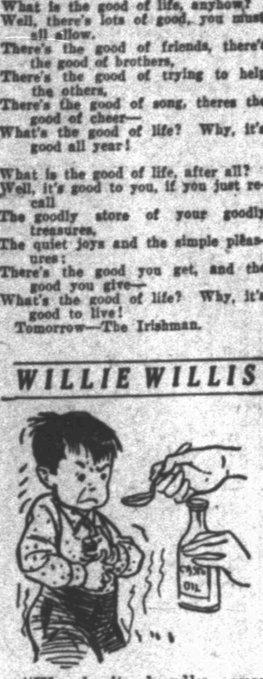

What is the good of life, anyway?
Well, there's lots of good, I am glad to say!
There's the good of love, there's the good of laughter,
There's the good of rain, for the good comes after.
There's the good of work, of a task to do—
What's the good of life? Why, it's good all through!

What is the good of life, anyhow?
Well, there's lots of good, you must allow.
There's the good of friends, there's the good of brothers,
There's the good of trying to help the others,
There's the good of song, theres the good of cheer—
What's the good of life? Why, it's good all year!

What is the good of life, after all?
Well, it's good to you, if you just recall
The goodly store of your goodly treasures,
The quiet joys and the simple pleasures;
There's the good you get, and the good you give—
What's the good of life? Why, it's good to live!

Tomorrow—The Irishman.

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. What is the largest lake in the world?
2. What large lake stands at the highest altitude?
3. Are the bottoms of the Great Lakes below sea-level?
5. What very large and famous lake in America contained no fish when first discovered?
6. What country besides America has a water system called the Great Lakes?

(Answers to the questions in tomorrows Record News.)

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

A favorite sport of old Professor Salisbury, the famous geologist, was to ask his freshman class what a lake was. The student would begin, "A lake is a small body of water—" "Do you call Lake Superior small," Salisbury would ask. "It's as large as the Black sea." The studen twould be gin again, "A lake is a large or small body of fresh water." "Great Salt Lake is not fresh," the professor would correct. The nettled student would try once more. "A lake is a large or small body of fresh or salt water surrounded by land." But he didn't get away with that either. "The Caspian sea is surrounded by land but yet it isn't a lake," the wicked old man would say. He seemed to enjoy keeping the question up by the hour. But one day someone answered the question correctly and put end to the professor's sport. "What's a lake?" Salisbury fired at the young woman. "A' lake is undefinable," she replied. And she was right.

Now what do you know about that?

HIS ERROR.
(Discovered By Edwin Martens)

It was three o'clock in the morning and the party had been a very pleasant one. Eddie Clarke and Jimmy Browne staggered out of the club entrance, supporting their friend, Bill, who was too far gone to stagger for himself.

"Thish is a great note," said Jimmy, scratching his head. "We ought to take him home, hadn't we, Ed?"

"Thash a darn good idea," approved Eddie, after a long period of though. "You call a taxi, Jimmy. His wife's awful—gotta terrible temper!"

"Ya know where he lives?"

"Thash all right, thash all right," Eddie explained. "I know jush where he lives! It's a good thing I'm sober or we'd be in a devilofa fix."

With some difficulty they carried their friend to a taxi and managed to pull him safely inside.

"Drive to 214 Humbolt," Eddie directed. "We're goin' along an' see that he gets in th' house awright. I'm sober, driver, and Jimmy here—he's sober, but Bill ain't sober—see? Thash why we're takin' him home."

"Thash is the housh," Eddie cried triumphantly, as the taxi stopped at the curb. "Thash a light burnin'—we'll take him in, but we gotta be careful. His wife's got a terrible temper—a'awful!"

Somehow, Bill was half-carried and half-dragged up the steps and through the front door. Suddenly Eddie stiffened, and his face paled while his eyes grew large with astonishment. A stern-faced woman was standing before them, thin-lipped and forbidding.

"Edward Clarke!" she asked coldly, "just what do you mean by bringing this strange man here?"

Guardians Training Class Spend Overnight

In spite of the cold, cloudy weather Saturday, members of Camp Fire guardian's training class went on the overnight party at Camp Noble. The group met at headquarters and went out in a body.

Plans for sleeping and cooking out of doors had to be altered and real beds and a wood stove used indoors due to extreme cold weather.

In the afternoon Miss Mary McIlhearn gave the tests for building three kinds of fire, and each candidate succeeded in building all three fires with use of only one match to each fire.

An appetizing meal of baked potatoes, round steak and gravy, lettuce salad, baked apples, cocoa and rolls was prepared by several members of the group. Cooking on a wood stove was a new experience to some members who are old timers in outdoor cooking over campfire. After dishes were washed the tests for poncho rolling were given.

The pretty fire with large logs burning on old-fashioned and irons furnished inspiration for songs, games, and pantomines which were enjoyed as part of the evening program. Making of pop corn balls proved great fun and good eating.

Those attending were Misses Alice and Elizabeth Downing, Margie and Muriel Jones, Thelma Bridges, Beatrice Morgan, Phyllis Creighton, Pauline Newman, Mrs. Frank D. Jones and Miss McIlhearn.

FARMERS RELIEF BILL IS NEARER MATERILIZATION

Measure Providing for Government Control of Surplus Crops Is Drafted

WASHINGTON, March 15—(AP) Draft of a bill to set up federal machinery to handle surplus crops was completed today by a farm relief delegation from eleven middle-western states and it probably will be submitted to the house agriculture committee tomorrow.

The measure would establish a federal farm board with authority to contract for the sale of any surplus at a just and reasonable price.

To pay for any losses incurred by guaranteeing such a price, an equalization fee would be paid by the producer of each of the four products designated as basic agricultural commodities—wheat, cotton, cattle and hogs.

The twelve members of the board, one from each federal land bank district, would be appointed by the president from a list of eligibles presented by a farm advisory council, elected by farmers' organizations. As far as practicable, crops would be marketed by the co-operative associations.

To meet the corn situation an embargo against its importation would be put into effect for one year. There would be no equalization fee on corn, but it would share in the benefits of the other commodities.

The principles of an export board and an equalization fee were endorsed at the recent Des Moines agricultural conference which sent the delegation here. The general scheme is embodied in the Dickinson bill, pending before the agriculture committee but that bill has no tariff or embargo provisions.

More Truth Than Poetry

WORTH TAKING A CHANCE

Time was when I envied the people who fled
To the lands of perpetual sun,
As soon as the leaves of the forest turned red,
And the summer was over and done.
"How lucky they are!" I would often complain,
"To follow the birds in their flight
To the glorious southland, while I must remain
Where the snow drifts lie dreary and white,
And the blizzards that blow in this blustery clime
May well cut me down in my prime."

But now a distinguished physician has found
That all of my notions were wrong;
One must stick around home all the whole year around
To be healthy and hearty and strong.
The people who follow the birds on the wing
And journey each year to and fro
In order to dwell where it always is Spring
Rarely live beyond sixty or so.
The home keeping birds like the crow and the hen
Outlast both the robin and wren.

And so, though I cannot pack up and depart
As soon as the weather grows cold,
No changes of weather will weaken my heart,
And I'll probably grow very old.
While the folks who go flitting all over the map
On the quest of perpetual May
May, so we are told by this medical chap,
Be dropped in their tracks any day.
They are risking their lives by pursuing the Spring,
And I wish I could do the same thing!

MATSUDA SENDS LETTER FANNING DUTCH MANTELL

We didn't realize the other day in Dallas we had pontooned such a broad gap as existed when we wired Matty Matsuda, the welterweight wrestling champion, to effect Wichita Falls fans want him to come here and BEAT Al (Dutch) Mantell, the primeval Columbus grappler. Matchmaker Ross had telegraphed Matsuda four times about the match and had received no answer. At Ross' behest and out of curiosity ourself at this sudden apparently studied and careful rudeness of Matsuda's in refusing to talk up we wired him.

* * *

Matty accepted the match by telegram. Yesterday we received a penned missive from the Nipponese written in true Japanese style explaining the situation. The letter is very interesting from more angles than one, but we'll let you be the judge:

* * *

DUTCH JUST ROUGHNECK

"My dear friend Bland:

"Received your wire and made up my mind to come and wrestle Mantell. I no want to come and tell Ross all the time why I no want to. I think it hurt Ross and the game maybe. Wichita Falls people good sports and want to see good clean sports. Mantell not wrestler just roughneck.

* * *

"The fans in El Paso does not want see men like him wrestle. The promoter here Mr. McIntosh not put him on for anything as he does not want to hurt game.

* * *

"I tell Ross not put Mantell on at all maybe and he go and put him on with good clean boy like Waters. I know if he beat Waters he put awful holler up for to wrestle me and now he done I got to come.

* * *

Keep Game Clean for Ladies.

"People in Wichita Falls know I not afraid of Mantell, but I want you to tell them that I want to keep game clean and make it good sport so man can take his Lady to wrestling match same as Theatre.

* * *

"I like people of Wichita Falls, everybody nice to me and come all time to see me wrestle, so do my best and come and beat him. I hope it no hurt game in Wichita Falls, cause I can no wrestle clean maybe with dirty guy like Mantell.

* * *

"Me no want to speak mean of other wrestler, but Mantell he no good guy.

* * *

"Ross he offer me $500.00 dollar guarantee, me make more money in other town like El Paso or Amarillo to wrestle Mantell but that all Ross can give in Wichita Falls. Hope Ross make enough money to pay expences after pay me, maybe. Ross good fellow me not want to see lose money. You think it make more than that, Bland, me hope so.

"Now Bland see you next Wednesday. Hope you health and best wishes. Best regards all my good friends in Wichita Falls.

"Your good friend,
MATTY MATSUDA.

* * *

JAP SQUARE

And Matty will stay right in there and pitch his best in order to back up every word of it. There's one point a certainty, we've found the Jap to be a square shooter from start to finish.

* * *

During my many associations with Matsuda the above letter carries the first uncomplimentary words that ever emanated from him. He never knocks anybody. If he doesn't like 'em he clams right up and hasn't anything to say. Never heard him utter anything against another wrestler before. But as Wichita Falls mat enthusiasts learned first hand last Thursday night at the Mantell-Waters debacle, the Dutchman certainly rates the worst Matty could chirp against him.

* * *

Jack Gorman was irked when Waters was matched with Mantell instead of himself. He elevated his eyebrows a bit at Dutch's treatment of Teddy, but still seemed a bit miffed when fans called for Matsuda to beat the Columbus wildman. Jack apparently doesn't realize how well off he is.

* * *

Gorman will have his hands full Thursday in that time limit bout carded with Waters preliminary to the Matsuda-Mantell affair.

Exhibitions in Quick Order at Santone

ST. LOUIS, March 15.—(AP)—Six exhibition games in a row there will be little time for workouts for the San Antonio Bears this week. Beginning tomorrow the Bruins will be engaged in a game every day of the week, including Sunday.

The Bears hook up with the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow and Wednesday.

Upon return of the Minneapolis Millers from New Braunfels, where they play the Des Moines Western league champions St. Patrick Day, the Bears will engage the Millers on the local lot Thursday and Friday.

Saturday and Sunday the Cardinals and Bears will play again while the Millers go to New Braunfels to play the Demons Saturday.

Another player was added to the Bear list today with the arrival of Outfielder Joe Klein, who comes from the Michigan-Ontario league with a batting mark around .350. With Klein and Joe Rabbitt as well as Faustino Gallegos, Johnny Phipps, Manor Puckett and Joe Rose, manager Mitze has some good material for outfield selection. George Bliss, who had been figured on for the outfield, has been transferred to the Lincoln club of the Western circuit.

RIGHTO! SISTER!

EL PASO, March 15.—(AP)—Hair pulling "crab sisters" on girls' basketball teams were denounced here today by Miss Eva Sly, secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

"Until girls learn to take defeat and accept the decisions of umpires, athletics for women will be broken up with feuds and jealousies. Girl leagues can never be put on a firm, permanent basis until the hair pullers are routed."

Veteran Hurlers Stage Trojan Performance In Frosh-Varsity Encounter

Metzler May Depose Bodie—Fresno Youth Improves Considerably—Morgan Down With Flu

By BLONDY CROSS.

Althought a crisp, quite coolish spring breeze vied sufficiently with a good old summer Sol yesterday afternoon at the Brainard plant to send the noble athletes hoofing it about rather spryly in order to keep the blood corpuscles rollicking through their veins at a regulation gait, the well-ventilated refrigerator aspect of the situation apparently boded no hindrance to the functioning of two veteran chunkers' well lubricated soupers.

Ripper Wheeler, starboard prima donna of Skip Fred's hurling forces, and Jess Winters, the abilene cowboy right-hand heaver, went to the knob in a Varsity-Frosh encounter and indulged in a bit of high and fancy flinging through the better, or maybe it was for worse, part of six frames.

Freshman Manager Ping Bodie played first base on his team and Rip inherited the throwing chores. Bodie's mates fell down afield, booted theg ame away, so Jess with a more or less altitudinous side-arm delivery returned the Varsity victors by a 6 to 4 enumeration.

Base knocks came not with regularity, but more or less with frequency. Neither pitcher took exceptional pains to thwart Mr. Brainard's batsmen, but the fact remains their tenure on the promontory lasted the full six innings through which they toiled deliberately, with precision and no indication of letting up.

Sec. J. Will Gary parked an overflow multitude of railbirds ajacent the right field foul line. These lads seemed to enjoy themselves immensely, particularly in watching the antics of the inexorable Ping around first, snappy fielding feats of Pete Furgeon at the keystone and the work of young Alex Metzler in the outer regions and at the plate.

About Mr. Metzler.

The more we see of this Metzler, the more inclination we have to rush up and glad-hand the California youth as a savior a Godsend to the Spudder interests of J. Alvin Gardner. Outfield prospects were dimmed somewhat over the hot stove months. The acquisition of Lyman Lamb settled one point. Then Saturday, the sudden and explosive announcement that Howard Fitzgerald is returning to the fold, indeed, gave the outlook a more roseate aspect. But there are THREE pastures to patrol in the regulation outfield. Lamb and Fitz can take care of only two of them.

All through the winter as we watched the great Officer Bodie on duty at his traffic corner we wondered something like this: Can he come back? He's getting mighty old, and his belt line's broadening! His legs were bothering him the tail-end of last summer. Will he really get into condition? Can he do it and stay that way? And will he HUSTLE?

That's a mighty tough assignment for a fellow of Ping's summers and winters, and for a fellow of his type, an athlete who likes to play baseball all right, all right, but an athlete who likes to have a good time on the side, too.

Metzler is looking better every hour. He can field! He can run! He can HIT! May not pole 'er at a .347 clip, like Ping did last year, but he'll crack the agate well within the charmed circle. And last of all, Alex is young, ambitious, full of fire, and is a GO-GETTER!

If Ping doesn't come through, looks like Alex will fill the bill. And there's always the chance he'll do it anyhow.

This Jack Holloway's another sweet appearing outfield prospect. Jack mauls that appie. He got hold of one yesterday afternoon that should have gone for a sure safety in any man's ball game, but Ping went up after the blazing meteor, slowed it down, scooped her up and made the play a split second too late. Umpire Carl Williams uttered the larceny verdict, yelping: "Yer Ou-u-o-ot!"

Williams On Hand.

We overlooked one there. Carl's come to camp. Was on deck in a monkey suit at both workouts yesterday. He's the last of the regulars with exception of Fitzgerald to show up. Fred Dorman, the reserve infielder, hasn't answered roll call. Carlos' advent rounds out Brainard's pitching squad.

But Knox and Brainard were the outstanding performers with the willow when the Varsity registered the Frosh licking. Both the old man and the young 'un caught on for several solid swats.

Lamb histed a dirty single to port, one of the kind that starts somewhere then changes its mind and caroms off the breezes in another direction.

The two rookie Bobs, Wiley and Turner, each erupted with a snappy tap.

Query jerked a short kink in his throwing whip on a heave to second, and Mule Washburn tossed the ball only gently throughout as if either worrying along with an agitated wing or merely playing safe with the heaving tendons.

Outfield and infield practice closed the session. Brainard started at third with DeFate and Distel on short, Turge at second and Mule on first. Midway, Skipper went to the keystone, sent DeFate and Turgeon to third and Bodie relieved Wash at first base. Knox was on the catching end.

We hear that Dick Morgan has gone down before attack of the same thing that put the writer under the other day, Old Man Flu. Awfully bad news. Copious sympathy extended.

Coyote Trackmen Work Out Lightly

Coach Bud McCallum's track hopefuls took a light workout Monday, but will get down to business in a few days. Sprints, hurdles and field events were worked over by the boys to limber up over the Saturday and Sunday idleness.

Dempsey Moore and Bill Miller displayed plenty of promise in the sprints, while Frank Rugeley and Bob West were skimming the hurdles nicely.

Roy Porter cleared the pole in the vaulting at nine feet Monday afternoon, and is a very promising man at this work after a little more practice and improvement.

REDS'LL BE IN PENNANT FIGHT DECLARES BOSS

Cincy Better Than Ever, Is Way Hendricks Looks At Situation

ORLANDO, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—"The Cincinnati Reds surely will be in the pennant fight this year," in the opinion of Manager Jack Hendricks.

Hendricks, in an outline of his prospects for the Associated Press stresses the addition of several stay youngsters to his pitching corps, already regarded as one of the strongest in either major league, besides pointing to infield and outfield shifts which promise to bolster previous weak spots.

"They are saying that our only new strength comes from the addition of Wally Pipp at first base," he said, "but I have seen enough already in the Orlando workouts to convince me that we have a lot of new strength besides that. In Hudgings, the young first baseman, who played with us a few days last fall we have a man who is ready right now for a big league berth.

"The return to form of Carl Mays means more to us than any other one pitches in a pennant game after that capped Carl last year is already in great shape. This means we will have four great pitchers to start the season with—Mays, Luque, Donohue and Rixey. Of course we will not be sure of Luque until he actually factor. That sore arm that handi-operation, but Jakie May promises to become a regular this season. Then we have Clyde Day, a promising right hander drafted from Syracuse. Springer, another rookie pitcher, has been the sensation of our training camp season thus far.

"In Christensen, the outfielder secured from St. Paul, we have a fast, keen player, a fine lend off man and a .325 hitter against American Association pitching. He will surely make the team and so will Emmer, the Seattle short stop, whose work has been most promising. Emmer ought to make a star short stop.

"Of the older players, Pete Donohue reported in better condition than ever and ten pounds heavier. Pete needs this weight. Walker, Pinelli and Bolne are in fine shape. I am going to keep Red Lucas, former Boston utility man and use him as a pitcher. We ought to get a good start this year and that is something we have not had for several seasons."

Shrevep't Presents New Battle Front

SHREVEPORT, La., March 15.—(AP) The Shreveport Sports presented a new battle front Monday morning when they opened their third week of training as the result of Buddy Lennox, shortstop, trying to mix a diet of sweet milk and shrimps. Lenbox went on the hospital list and as a result Taylor Phipps was shifted from third base to the short field and Chick Benton went to the hot corner. Benton was shortstop for the Sports last year and was putting in his first workout this season. Phelps was rated the second best shortstop in the East Texas League in 1925, and so well did he handle himself at that position Monday that Skipper Tarleton is contemplating listing him as rival for Lenbox for that berth. The Sports Tuesday afternoon will play a seven inning game with the Centenary college nine and Wednesday afternoon they will meet the Chicago White Sox in the second game of the series.

Benton, Bonowitz and Hoffman who did not play in the first game against the Sox are booked for battle Wednesday. Bonowitz reported Monday morning and put in his first workout.

Real Battle on For Positions at Dallas

DALLAS, March 15.—(AP)—The real battle for positions in the Steer corral was on today with 26 men of the squad on hand. Three more are expected in during the week. Each department is well represented.

The only addition to the herd today was Tom Jeffries, youthful infielder, Rhino Williams, outfielder, and Rusty Pence, hurler, are expected most any time. Jim Riley, left-handed first baseman, came over from Shreveport where he is training and played Sunday. He returned to the Louisiana city where he will spend the week before joining the Steers for the season.

Infielders who are not encountering stiff opposition are Paddy Bauman at second and Turkey Gross at short. These two veterans have struck their stride. Swede Lind is working well at first but realizes that he has a genuine battle on with Jim Riley, who is a well known quantity in class A baseball.

Bud Hungling seems a cinch at back-stopping. Josh Billings has been sick with influenza but was reported better today.

The pitching problem looms the biggest one, but it seems likely that Rusty Pence, Slim Love and Dick Shuman will furnish the needed steam for this post.

More than half the Steer victories of 1925 were won by this trio.

Do Pirates Look Like They're Ready to Repeat?

Central Press Photos.

Sports writers at Pittsburgh Pirate camp, Paso Robles, Calif., figure the Bucs have exceptionally bright chance of repeating in National this year. Photos from camp show how standbys of team look. Lee Meadows, "Whiz" Kramer and Vic Aldridge, hurling aces, are seen straightening out kinks in salary wings; "Pie" Traynor, star third baseman, is shown laying down one; Hal Ryne, infielder deluxe, at left, and Paul Waner, outfielder extraordinary, are depicted doing a brother act. Dreyfus knocked a reputation for stinginess cold by laying out $100,000 for the latter pair. They're both from San Francisco.

With the BROWN'S SOUTH

BY NORMAN E. BROWN
Central Press Sports Editor

SARASOTA, Fla., March 14.—I doubt if there are more than half a dozen of the baseball fans who wander out to the Giants park who appreciate the fact that the absence of Hughie Jennings, McGraw's aide, from the ranks of the big league field generals this spring leaves the Giant boss the last one of the famous old "Big Four" of the Orioles still on deck.

In addition to McGraw and Jennings this "Big Four" included Willie Keeler and Joe Kelley. What a combination! Without a doubt the brainiest combination ever on a ball club. And how they could hit!

Records of the famous old Baltimore team show that these men hogged the limelight in batting for five years.

Keeler, the only "Wee Willie," won the batting championship in 1897 and 1898 with averages of .432 and .379. He finished third in 1895 with an average of (get this one) .394.

Jennings ranked second in hitting in 1896 with an average of .397. Joe Kelley ranked third in 1897 with an average of .398 and in 1899 McGraw turned in an average of .390, good enough to give him third place.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

However, of the four only McGraw and Jennings remained long in active participation after their playing days. Keeler never essayed to be a manager. Joe Kelley was intrepid enough to try to manage the Cinci Reds, but gave it up after a year.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Jennings' work with the Detroit Tigers is well known—how he led the club to three flags in a row in 1907-08-09, only to be defeated in every one of the world's series.

Then he carried on for years as pilot of the team in the hope of building another pennant winner. Thanks to Jennings' wisdom in allowing Ty Cobb free rein in his play the Georgia Peach became the superman of baseball.

If Jennings is unable to resume baseball work after his illness his departure will be a sad blow to the game. Jennings, a student and a scholar, carried a better idea of the general relative value of things in baseball than any man in the game, I believe.

DELANEY SLAPS KAYO TO MIKE

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP)—Jack Delaney, light heavyweight of Bridgeport, Conn., scored a technical knockout over Mike McTigue, former world's light heavyweight champion, in the fourth round of a 12-round match at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Referee Patsy Haley stopped the fight after two minutes, 59 seconds of the fourth round when it was apparent that McTigue was unable to defend himself.

Americans Hook With Coyote Nine

The American Refinery ball nine, 1926 model, swings into action Wednesday afternoon on the refinery diamond with Wichita Falls' Coyotes, said American Manager Medford last night.

SPEEDY BEATS JACK

Speedy Sparks, Lawton light heavyweight, southpawed his way to a clean cut victory last night in ten rounds over Jack Matlock, Los Angeles veteran. The bout was fast throughout with Speedy beating Jack to the punch practically all the way. Matlock won the first round, the fifth and eighth were fairly even, and Speedy had the rest.

Sam Riley, the Altus middle, fought Young Pendian of Lawton, to a fast draw in six rounds.

Draw verdict also was awarded the special eventers, Johnny Stopper of Denver and Fred Whittington of Wellington who fought a fair six-round fight.

Another draw decision was given in a four-round prelim staged by Ace Cain and Bigboy Smith, heavyweights.

Leo Voss and Soldier Burns, flyweights in the best fight on the card, stepped furiously through four rounds with Voss grabbing the verdict.

There was a kid four-round curtain raiser.

The card was staged in the 812½ gym.

"Gleason cracks whip as Mackmen drill," writes Philadelphia scribe from camp. But can he make them jump through the pennant hoop?

Homer Peel Signs Buff Agreement

HOUSTON, March 1.—(AP)—Homer Peel, the Port Sullivan slugger who was a Buff star last season, signed an agreement with the Houston club today, and will be in uniform tomorrow. Peel was recently turned back to the Buffs by the St. Louis Cardinals, who bought his contract last fall, but the outfielder did immediately agree to terms.

Although the Buffs were beaten three times by the Cards last weekend, local observers of the opinion that Houston has an unusually good pitching staff, a capable outfield and a reliable catching crew. Gainer, who is due to report here within the next few days, and Johnny Kane are the two infielders regarded of Class A merit, and it is believed that the Buffs will need two other inner guardians.

The sale of Bill Hollohan, utility man, by the Buffs to Omaha of the Western league was announced today.

Race Riot Fear Real Barrier to Staging Dempsey-Wills Battle

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP) Fear of race rioting is the obstacle which apparently has eliminated any prospect of Harry Wills, negro heavyweight contended, gaining his long-sought title match with Jack Dempsey, according to an article in this week's Liberty.

"The worst thing that could happen to the negroes of America would be to arrange a fight between Harry Wills and Jack Dempsey," the magazine quotes Tex Rickard as saying. "It would mean rioting all over the country and a race war approaching civil war in some cities and some sections of the country."

The promoter adds that he is convinced of this "from bitter experiences," pointing out that he staged three bouts in which world's championships were won by negroes—George Dixon, Jack Johnson and Tiger Flowers.

"One of these fights resulted in the killing of 12 negroes," Rickard went on, "and another resulted in seven killings within a few days after the fight."

WOLFF HEADS KIWANIS FIGHT BENEFIT BOARD

Kiwanis Prove Better Ring Promoters Than City's Professionals

H. D. Wolff was chosen chairman of the Kiwanis athletic committee yesterday which is to be in charge of promotion of a boxing match carded for April 16 tentatively, all proceeds over expenses of which are to be placed in the day nursery fund, project sponsored by the club.

Bill Newell, Dave Paul and Dave Fletcher are to serve with Wolff.

Jack Ecranbrack is to do the matchmaking.

It is planned to bring Tommy White, Texas City welter, and Cyde Hull, St. Paul whirlwind, together in a 12 or 15-round main event, said Ecranbrack.

Hull, it will be remembered beat every fighter at his weight in the southwest here a year ago. White was in Mexico, but came to Wichita Falls a few months later and proceeded to duplicate Hull's feat by licking all the welters over again.

Wichita Falls fans yelled for a Hull-White match. Fandom on the whole was desirous of seeing the two tangle up. It was believed the battle would prove the most pleasing and the biggest drawing card ever put on by a Wichita Falls boxing promoter.

But for some reason, White and Hull were never matched. Promotorial ears were deaf to the call of the fans. Little effort, if any, was taken to get the pair into the same ring.

Recently Jack Ecranbrack put it up to Frank Quelsser. The police commissioner, although no matchmaker nor fight promoter, immediately saw the advantages of such a bout and displayed on the face of it far more promotorial acumen than Wichita Falls' professional promoters seemed to boast. The matter was put to the Kiwanis straightaway for the purpose of staging a nursery benefit program.

Pack vs. Pups This Afternoon

The high school baseball team will scrimmage the Junior high school team this afternoon on the high school diamond. The club had a light scrimmage Monday afternoon.

Coach Henderson is trying to get games matched with Stamford, Hamlin and Gainesville, all of which have strong teams and would give the Coyotes plenty of competition.

During the practice the wrok for Peachy Bland at third base was the feature of the playing. Bland scooped the balls up with ease and was throwing to first well. Bland's only trouble thus far in the practice has been his hitting, but this is somewhat improving.

Tank Horton, peppy little maskman, has been the outstanding man on the squad, both at the bat and in the field. Horton is sure of his post behind the bat this year.

Indians Will Get Those Sweaters

One-hundred-dollar gifts have been made by W. B. Hamilton and the Rotary club toward the purchase of football sweaters for Junior college athletes, it was announced yesterday.

The Indians failed to make money during the grid season, and were about to go unrewarded with the sweaters.

Spuds Due To Be Cats' Hardest Competition This Summer, Declares Jake

BY BLONDY CROSS

"I look for Wichita Falls to give us the competition this year! Surest thing! Of course, the rest of the league isn't going to be soft, but it's those Spudders I believe are going to give us the hardest fight!"

That, gentleman, was none other than our old friendly enemy, John Jacob Atz, Cowtown's baseball board of strategy, speaking as he stood, a smile on his face, but something steelier to a glint in his eye, watching "Them Bebbies" of his step through their breakfast dessert exercises yester morn down in the stockyards sector.

"I've been watching you fellows up there awfully close, checking up on you, and I know you've got a whale of a hard-hitting club," continued the master tactician who has brought six Texas league pennants to Fort Worth.

"You have a dangerous bunch of sluggers both on the infield and in the outfield, every one of 'em a threat.

"Of course, I can't say about your pitching yet. We can't tell, you known, this early. But Brainard has the making's of a mighty fine staff. Some of those boys like Wheeler and there's Roberts and Fussell and Morgan and those fellows, if they get to going right will cause us lots of trouble.

Fred Smart Ball Man

"Yeah, and I know this Brainard. Mighty fine boy, Fred, yes sir, a mighty fine boy. And he's a wonderful baseball man. He's got the right kind of a head on his shoulders. I know he knows baseball. He's the kind of a man, Fred is, who'll get over up there. He has the kind of a disposition—you know him, easy going sort of a likeable kind of a fellow, a good disposition, but a lot of fire, too, if it ever gets necessary for that, and he's got a baseball HEAD!" And then Jake was interrupted by Possum Moore fouling a nasty one right at his feet.

"Say, how you like our new park over there?" he chortled, after wagging his finger at Pos and admonishing the big fellow to "stop sending those things over this a-way."

"Fine," I answered, "great plant." And it is.

Then seeing the McGraw of the minors appeared just a little bit too busy for such early morning callers, we moved on with a "S'long, don't forget to come up to Wichita Falls some time this summer."

Eased over a little closer, although it certainly wasn't necessary, and took another look at Possum Moore. The freckled beauty from Arkansas is bigger right now than two oil tanks, and getting bigger, Jake tells us.

"Why, he weighs 210 now and it won't be long until he's hitting right around 230—230 pounds, I hope not in batting statistics," Jake laughed.

Looked across the diamond into the outer gardens and saw another monster, or something. Got to scrutinizing the object closely and finally recognized it as being Stump Edington, who's wider than, as Pop Boone puts it, a Yellow Cab, looking at it from the rear, with both doors open.

Outfield Worries Jake?

Dock Smith and Moore stack up as the catching department again this year. Can't see any rookies who'll dethrone anybody.

Jake says he's up a tree about his outfield. Has Sears, Vache, Calvo, Meyer and Edington to worry about picking from. "And they all look alike to me right now as far as deciding who has to go and who doesn't," said Atz.

When pressed for something more definite, he declared, "No, I can't say anything. I just naturally don't know who it'll be. Its a tough job settling on that."

Experts have been picking that Cat infield to pieces all spring. Say Deebie Foss will be at third and Ezzell on short. Maybe so, but Windle looks easily 100 per cent better than he did last year. Jake admits as much himself.

Koney, of course, is a fixture at first base. Palmer seems sure to hold down second again. And, take your choice, Windle at short and Ezzell on third. Or stick Deebie in there somewhere.

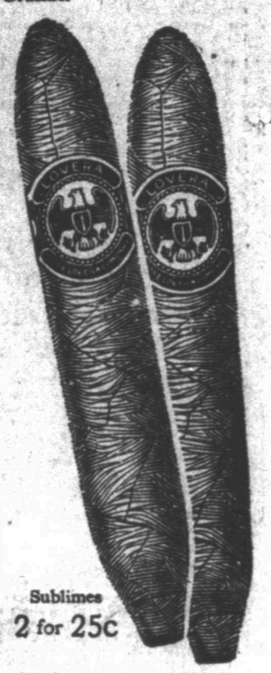

Big left-handed youngster, E. C. (Hoggy) Hogsett, has been setting 'em on fire and may make 'em forget that tale of woe about the Cats' dependable portsiders all gone since departure of Johns and Pate. We said maybe.

IS THAT RIGHT?

"To Raise Ivory in Florida," says news story about importation of elephants. Old stuff. Dozen major league managers are doing it there now.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 15.—(AP)—The cotton market was rather a quiet affair today and was dominated mainly by the weather although lower Liverpool cables than due caused an early drop of 11 to 13 points. The English market was influenced by hedge selling and local and continental liquidation. Prices gradually rallied from the early decline and reached the high points of the day in the late trading showing gains of 13 to 17 points from the lows which represented the recovery of all the early loss and a trifle more on some months. The close was a little off from the best, showing prices net unchanged to three points down for the day.

Reports of snow from many points in the eastern belt were received during the day and this fact was largely responsible for covering by shorts as it was recognized that the snow will further delay the already late preparations for the new crop.

At the start prices showed losses of nine to 13 points owing to unfavorable cables and prices continued to ease off until March traded down to 18.20, May to 17.85, July to 17.49 and October to 16.78, or 11 to 18 points below Saturday's close.

These prices proved to be the lows of the day.

The rally which started about the middle of the morning persisted into the afternoon and new highs were made right near the end with March at 18.35, May at 18.02, July at 17.62 and October at 16.91, or 13 to 17 points up from the lows for one point down to four up compared with Saturday's close.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP)— The cotton market was quiet today and fluctuations comparatively narrow. After selling off to 18.13 at the start, July contracts rallied to 18.27 and closed at 18.25 compared with 18.28 at the close Saturday. The general market closed steady, net six points lower to six points higher.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of four to 11 points. Active months showed net losses of about eight to 16 points in the early trading. Selling developed on relatively easy Liverpool cables and bearish sentiment was encouraged by an impression that the covering movement of late last week had left the technical position easier. Houses with foreign trade connections brought new crop months at the decline, however, while there was some trade buying of old crop positions to fix prices, which, combined with further covering, soon steadied the market. After selling off to 18.56 for May and 17.46 for October, prices rallied to 18.74 for May and 17.58 for October in late trading. The close was within two or three points of the best.

Comment on the political news from abroad was unsettling and bearish sentiment was promoted by reiterated reports that some of the southern yarn spinners were curtailing their production. On the other hand, reports of unseasonably low temperatures in the belt tended to emphasize the uncertainties before the start of the coming crop and with offerings light, it did not require much buying to lift the market.

Private cables attributed the decline in Liverpool to hedge selling, local and continental liquidation.

Port receipts today 34,057; U. S. port stocks 1,297,234. Exports 22,222 making 6,217,827 so far this season.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, March 15.—(AP)—Notwithstanding late rallies today in the wheat market here, prices ruled lower, chiefly as a result of unexpected weakness of values at Liverpool and nervousness over tension in the league of nations council. Chicago closing prices for wheat are unsettled at ⅝c to 2c net decline, May (new) 1.65¼ to 1.65½ and July 1.42⅝ to 1.42⅝, corn ⅝c to ⅝c off, oats a shade to ⅛@¼c down, and provisions unchanged to 12c lower.

Corn and oats lost ground, affected mainly by the depression of wheat and by a further enlargement of the corn visible supply total.

Provisions had a downward slant, in line with hog values and with grain.

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP)— Stock prices bounded upward in the last few minutes of trading today after an early period of irregularity which was featured by the weakness of the Southern railroad shares. Trading, which was rather dull early in the session quickened on the rebound, total sales aggregating 1,471,300 shares.

Oil and motor shares led the recovery. General Petroleum was in the vanguard of the petroleum group, climbing over four points to a new high record at 65 on reports that it would be absorbed by the Standard Oil company of New York through an exchange of stock on a two for one basis. Substantial gains were reported by California Petroleum, General Asphalt and Pan-American B.

Mack Trucks, selling ex-dividend, rallied from 120¼ to 124½ for a net gain of three points on the day. General Motors, Hudson, Fisher Body and Stewart Warner closed one to nearly three points higher.

Weakness of several of the Southern rail shares were attributed to the widespread circulation of rumors that the Florida land boom had reached its peak, that some of the real estate developments had met with a reversal of fortune and that the winter season had been shorter than usual. Atlantic Coast Line broke 13¼ points to 208, but snapped back to 215. Seaboard Air Line common fell 5¼ to 53¾ and then rallied to 36 and the preferred dropped 2¼ to 37¾, closing at the bottom. The minimum prices of all three were new low records for the year. Southern railway sold off over two points to 111¾ but closed a point above the low.

Other rails were mixed. Delaware and Hudson was run up 2¾ points to 171, closing near the top and Canadian Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, Ferre Marquette and Texas and Pacific showed net gains of about one to two points. On the other hand, the St. Paul issues, Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago and Alton preferred, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, St. Louis Southwestern and Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred showed net declines of one to three points.

The announcement that the "Katy" preferred dividend had been raised from $6 to $6 annually was made after the market closed. The stock closed at 91, up ¾ on the day.

The late rally was accompanied by predictions of easier money rates, now that the first federal income tax payments are out of the way. General Electric rallied over seven points to 325½, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe jumped six points to 178 and Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, American Can, Loewes, Texas Gulf Sulphur and Union Carbide showed net gains of two points or more.

There were several soft spots among the specialties.

Ward Baking B collapsed 7½ points to 53, a new low for the year, and then rallied to 54¾ and Foundation company dropped from an early high of 107½ to 99½ also a new low, and then snapped back to 103, off 2¾ on the day.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent and remained at that rate all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

An extreme break of nearly 50 points in Belgian francs, part of which was later recovered, featured the reactionary foreign exchange market. Selling of Belgian bills presumably was inspired by reports that the proposed revaluation plan would involve the stabilization of the currency around the four cent level. The other active European currencies showed moderate recessions on selling which may have been influenced by developments at Geneva. Demand sterling ruled 1-16 of a cent lower at $4.85 11-16 and French francs were again quoted below $3.60 cents a week-end loss of about three points.

GIANT GASSER IN SOUTH TEXAS

Snyder Well Near Devine Reported Running Wild

SAN ANTONIO, March 15.—(AP) The Snyder well on the Jay Adams ranch 10 miles west of Devine, and about one and one-half miles southeast of the Ina oil wells in the Hondo field, blew in a tremendous gasser Sunday and at last reports was running wild.

This has created a sensation in oil circles here as this is the first "big gasser" in the Hondo field and indicates a southeasterly trend of the oil fields.

The gas was encountered in a sand beneath a caprock at the oil depth of approximately 900 feet. It cleaned the hole and was shooting high into the air. The noise of the escaping gas was plainly audible in Yancey, six miles distant.

W. H. Snyder, contractor in charge for Henderson and Holden of Tulsa, owners of the lease on the Adams ranch, is making every effort to save the well and bring the gas under control. Mud is being pumped in the hole in an effort to smother the gas sufficiently to permit the setting of casing.

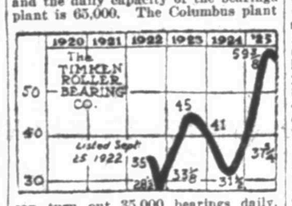

There is great excitement in Devine and at Hondo. Despite a drizzling rain, hundreds of motor cars are en route to the field, necessitating precautions against fire at the well.

The well blew in unexpectedly. Oil men say this unquestionably means gusher oil. The gas is said to be petroleum in origin and the pressure is terrific. No estimate is possible as the gas has not been gauged.

STOCK-A-DAY

The Timken Roller Bearing company has a control of a large percentage of the production of tapered roller bearings. Its three plants are located at Canton and Columbus, O., and Walkerville, Ont. The Canton plant has an annual capacity of electric steel available for sale to the electric steel trade of 10,000 tons and the daily capacity of the bearings plant is 65,000. The Columbus plant can turn out 35,000 bearings daily. The Walkerville plant is essentially a finishing plant.

Foreign requirements are supplied by the British Timken company, a subsidiary of ickers Ltd. and by the Societe de Merchanique de Gennevilliers of Paris. The Timken company has no stock interest in these European companies deriving its revenue from royalties.

Capital stock consists of 1,200,332 shares outstanding of no par common stock. There is no funded debt. The high record for earnings of the company was set in 1923 when $6.75 a share was earned. In 1924 the earnings were $4.84 a share. For the first 6 months of 1925 net income was equal to $3.32 a share. On Jan. 1, 1925, current assets were $15,342,209 and current liabilities $1,599,455 with no bank loans.

Dividends were regularly paid on preferred shares from issuance to retirement in August 1922. Dividends have been paid on the common at varying rates from 1904 to date. The present rate is $3 a share with extra payments of 25 cents each which totaled 75 cents in 1925.

The company has made long experiments on the use of roller bearings for railroad cars although officials said these experiments might continue for some years before they were ready to offer the results for commercial consumption.

Tenor Singer An Added Feature At Strand This Week

Hampstead Bentley, "Southland's Sweetest Tenor," one of the late featured tenor soloists with the Al. G. Fields minstrels, made his initial bow yesterday at the Strand when he opened a week's engagement at that play house. Mr. Bentley is well known here having appeared in various local theatres for the past 10 years, and his appearance was met with instant approval by a large house that turned out to hear him.

His ability to handle a song programme that ranges from some of the standard numbers to the "Jazziest of Jazz," places his work in a class alone. He has a beautiful tenor voice and his manner of illustrating his songs in motion pictures is a positive treat. He and his very capable pianist offer about the cleverest 15 minutes of clean entertainment heard here in many moons.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., March 15.—Colonel John C. Coolidge was better today. The president's aged father, who had been failing gradually since last Thursday when he suffered a sinking spell, surprised his physician and neighbors today by an unexpected rally. He was able to greet his pastor, the Rev. John White, of Sherbourne and was brighter and more cheerful than fore days.

Coincidentally with the better news from the sick room, it became known that Major J. F. Coupal, personal physician to the president, might be summoned here for consultation. It was said that Dr. Albert M. Cram of Bridgewater, the family physician, planned to telephone Major Coupal tomorrow to come to Plymouth.

An early morning report from the Coolidge farm house said that the colonel had rested comfortably during the night and was brighter than usual.

JEWISH DRIVES MEET SUCCESS

$10,000 Mark Is Passed, Phillips Announces Monday

The campaign for the two drives, United Jewish campaign and United Palestine Appeal, which is being conducted by the Jewish congregations of the city has reached the $10,000 mark and is expected to end this week, according to Rabbi Phillips of Temple Israel Monday afternoon. Joe Art is chairman of the drive.

"It has been successful in every way, and Jews of Wichita Falls, Burkburnett and Electra have responded gladly to the call of the suffering in the European countries and to the appeal of the upbuilding of a permanent home for the oppressed Jews of Europe and their ancestral home, Palestine," Rabbi Phillips said.

"The hope is that the prophecy of Isaiah, 'From Zion shall go forth the law and the word of God from Jerusalem,' will be fulfilled as Palestine will become a center of learning, culture and knowledge," he said.

The rabbi has written an article for "The Monitor," in which he counsels other Jews to follow the example of the Wichita Falls community in having one combined drive in place of two for these causes. He commended the Wichita Falls committee also for the faithful work they have done.

6 PAVING PROJECTS ORDERED

Opposition Develops to Only One At Council Meeting.

Open hearings on six proposed paving projects in various parts of the city were closed and the ordinances authorizing the paving passed on their first reading by the city council Monday night. Of seven hearings held before the council only one developed opposition sufficient to stop the paving, this coming on the delayed hearing on Avenue E. Monroe to Taylor. The city was the instigator in attempting the paving here, it being desired to remedy certain bad drainage conditions there, but the property owners in the section vetoed the proposition.

Hearings closed and on which ordinances were passed on their first reading are as follows: Avenue O, Sherman to Wenonah; Wenonah to Garfield; Avenue M, Wenonah to Garfield; Wilson Holiday to Grace; Elizabeth, lot 4B, 25, to Grace; Twenty-first street, Broad to Holliday.

AVIS HOME ROBBED

No developments had been reported Monday night in the theft of some $800 worth of jewelry from the home of J. D. Avis, 1218 Tenth street, sometime early Sunday morning. Some $80 in cash was also taken. The burglar or burglars entered the house by way of the front door, escaping with a diamond ring, brooch, wrist watch, and two strings of pearls.

Police are working on the case.

FILLING STATION AUTHORIZED

A petition approving the station signed by various property owners of the district was presented the council.

The application of John Yates to construct and operate a hamburger stand at 1900 Holliday street was approved by the city council at its Monday night meetings and the stand allowed. A petition bearing a number of property owner's names of the district was presented by the applicant.

Ask Extension Of Railway Track

A petition signed by property owners between Scott and Indiana between Thirteenth and Eleventh streets requesting the extension of a railroad spur track which already extends across Thirteenth street to what is known as the W. J. Nolen property on Eleventh between Scott and Indiana was presented the city council at its meeting Monday night by C. H. Cannon and George W. Gutsman. The petition was accepted and the city clerk authorized to advertise for an open hearing at the end of 30 days.

The petition was signed by various property owners of the section, including besides Gutsman and Cannon, J. A. Kemp and Hanks and Hanks. In presenting the petition, Mr. Cannon and Mr. Gutsman stated that it was their intention to build a large fireproof building at the terminus of the spur if the extension was approved.

Aged ME Minister Visiting in City

Hale and hearty, Dr. William A. Edwards, 91-year-old superannuate Methodist minister of Dallas who is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Wilson on Elizabeth street, preached two sermons Sunday. The morning service was at the First Methodist church, Iowa Park, and the evening service at the North Side community house.

He has been in the ministry for 65 years and was superannuated at his own request several years ago when he asked to be relieved in order to take care of his wife who died several years ago.

Dr. Edwards was a soldier in the Confederate army and was a captain in the 15th Alabama regiment. He went through the war and fought in a number of major engagements. He is chaplain of the trans-Mississippi division of Ex-Confederate soldiers, and will go to Birmingham, Ala., in May to attend the annual reunion. He is in good health, and is able to walk with ease, reads and enjoys living as much as he did sixty years ago.

Regular election of officers of the Parent-Teacher association of Carrigan school will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, according to announcement from the principal, J. T. Rundell, Monday. Mrs. Homer McGregor will be one of the speakers for the occasion.

CITY URGED TO SEEK AIR LINE

Dallas Lieutenant Says It Will be Backward If Aviation Ignored

Commercial aviation is following in the footsteps of the merchant marine and all countries that are developing and expect to continue to grow will establish aviation lines, Lieutenant W. C. Morris of Love Field, Dallas, told the Kiwanis club at the luncheon meeting Monday at the Kemp when he discussed the possibilities of commercial flying.

To keep pace with other cities in the country Wichita Falls must follow with an aviation line the speaker said. He believed that a line from Chicago to Los Angeles would be a regular trunk line, through the southern route, including Wichita, Kas., Oklahoma City, Dallas, Wichita Falls and El Paso.

Lieut. Morris was introduced by Kiwanian Bud Cahoon, former president of the Dallas Flying club. Other speakers at the luncheon included Mayor R. E. Shepherd, who discussed the launching of the drive for the $100,000 to finance the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association.

Music was furnished by Leonard J. Otis, known as "Tin Can Joe."

Lieutenant Morris expressed the belief that a direct air line from Chicago to Los Angeles will be established and that it will be routed as nearly as possible through the plains country to avoid the mountains. That would probably establish the line on the southern route, through Dallas and Wichita Falls, should the proper effort be made to bring the commercial airway through this section.

Community Dinner At Temple Israel

On Monday evening, March 29, at 8 o'clock, a community dinner will be held at Temple Israel, the public Seder, in celebration of the Feast of the Passover. All those who wish to go are asked to make reservations for the occasion with Mrs. Louis Pink or Mrs. J. Cohen. The service will be conducted by Rabbi Samuel Phillips.

Fair Committees Get Busy Monday On Drive For Additional $100,000

Speaker Outlines Why And Wherefore of Keeping Fair

Fifteen committees of two men each have begun a canvass of the city in efforts to raise the $100,000 stock sale for the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association, according to plans made at a meeting Monday at noon at the Kemp hotel when 40 leading citizens met to discuss ways and means of raising the money. The committeemen and their districts are:

1, East of Austin-Wholesale section, P. A. Rogers, Wiley Brown; 2, Ohio street, W. M. Moore, Harry Cravens; 3, Indiana avenue, W. D. Cline, G. E. Monroe; 4, Scott avenue, J. F. Tarry, Lloyd Brown; 5, Perkins-Snider building and Ninth street, Al Biedenharn, George Keith; 6, First National Bank building, J. M. Baber, R. E. Penick; 7, Seventh street and Tenth street, Jack Barnard, J. B. Fletcher; 8, Eighth street, A. M. Miller, Horrace Robbins; 9, wholesale section—Austin street and West, E. E. Schoolfield, J. E. H. Bailey; 10, Harvey-Snider building, J. A. Kemp, W. B. Hamilton; 11, Wagoner building, Kenneth Bebb, L. Fair; 12, Staley building, Second to Sixth floors, Ira L. Cain, Walter Nelson; 13, Staley building, Seventh to Eleventh floors, C. E. Naylor, G. C. Wood; 14, City National Bank building, Second to Seventh floors, L. Stringer, J. C. Mytinger; 15, City National Bank building, Eighth to Twelfth floors, Harry Gray, Julian Bobo.

More than $28,000 of the fixed amount had been subscribed before the noon meeting Monday, and the report to be given today is expected to raise the amount. Several withheld their subscriptions until later in the week, and these, too, will aid greatly in reaching the goal.

The drive Monday afternoon followed a round table discussion of what the fair means. F. M. Barnes, vice president of the World Amusement association was the principal speaker at the luncheon; others included W. D. Cline, J. A. Kemp, Judge W. M. Moore, Fred Weeks, Reece Allen and Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce.

Never Known to Fail

"Wichita Falls has never been known to fall down and my prediction is that she will not fall down now," Mr. Cline said in speaking of the opportunity of having a fair here. "We have come to be known as a city of 100 percent efficiency. That reputation hinges in a measure on the success of this campaign."

How the fair could be made an educational feature to the people of this section, acquainting them with the opportunities here was brought out by Mr. Kemp.

Fred Weeks predicted that in a few years with the building of a bigger fair and the free bridge across Red river, Wichita Falls would have a free fair. "When it comes to that," he said, "thousands and thousands of people will visit our city annually and greater good will be accomplished."

W. B. Hamilton, general chairman in charge of the campaign presided at the luncheon and opened the meeting with a review of th success of the fair and express hope that the campaign for the sale of stock would be concluded earlier than anticipated.

Somerville Asks Second Term As County Attorney

Wayne Somerville, who was elected to the office of county attorney with an overwhelming majority in 1924, seeks re-election to that office for a second term, subject to the democratic primaries of 1926, he announced Monday. In announcing his candidacy he stated that he respectfully directed the attention of the public to his platform of two years ago and the results obtained in bringing into execution the promises made. His announcement follows:

"It is only fair that the public receive the benefit of campaign pledges and that platforms be made to work on as well as to run on. Before the last election, I promised the people that if they would honor me with the office of county attorney, I would give my personal attention to the duties of the office; collect delinquent taxes without contract or aid from the commissioner's court; do all in my power to aid the commissioner's court to reduce the tax rate; extend all possible aid and co-operation to the local officers of each city and community throughout the county and to fairly and impartially enforce the criminal laws of the state.

"In pursuance of the above pledges, I have maintained my office at the court house and given my entire time to the performance of the duties of the office; I have established a small tax office on the second floor of the court house for the handling of tax suits only, perfected an organization for the handling of tax matters and during the year collected over $117,000 in delinquent taxes, some due since 1896 and 1898.

"I have collected these taxes without aid or financial assistance from the commissioner's court, paying all expenses out of the fees of office and returned $5,600 in excess fees to the county treasury, after all expenses of operating the office and collecting taxes were paid. Particularly through my efforts in collecting taxes, the commissioner's court was enabled to cut the tax rate from 75 to 70 cents on $100.

"Regardless of whether matters in question were in or out of my jurisdiction, county, city and precinct, officers have at all times found me ready and willing to lend them all assistance in my power in the performance of their duties, either in day time or at night, and someone from the county attorney's office attends the justice courts at Burkburnett, Electra and Iowa Park, at least once per week to take complaints and assist the local officers if needed, thus relieving citizens as much as possible of the necessity of coming to the court house to file complaints and report law violations.

"In criminal matters I have at all times co-operated with the officers in prosecuting every person arrested by them against whom the facts showed a violation of the law. This was done regardless of the person arrested or the offense charged. I have taken all bona fide complaints and have refused those sought to be filed to satisfy grudges."

"With full intentions and promises made herewith, that should I be favored with a second term to office, I will follow and pursue the same program of work with the same diligence and conscientious effort and do my best to clear completely the delinquent tax rolls of all state and county taxes, delinquent from 1896 to 1923, I respectfully ask the voters to return me to office."

WANT NEW PAVING

The petition of 70 percent of the property owners of North Sixth street between Brook and Vermont, a stretch four blocks long, asking for asphalt pavement on that street, was accepted at the city council meeting Monday night and the city clerk authorized to advertise an open hearing a month from now on the project.

Gutzon Borglum, One of World's Great Sculptors, Also Turns Out To Be a Scientist and a Farmer

Aviation Also a Hobby of Which He Has More Than Passing Knowledge; Is Fixing up Model Broken on Trip up Here

Some interesting side lights on the character of Gutzon Borglum, sculptor and artist who will lecture at the Junior college Wednesday and Thursday nights have come to light since he arrived in the city Sunday afternoon. The artist who brought with him one of the models of the Old Trail Drivers' memorial spent most of Monday at the college building superintending the assembling of the model which was broken in shipping from Fort Worth where it was exhibited at the Fat Stock show.

Agricultural Expert.

Besides being an artist and a sculptor, he is something more. He has been especially devoted to the study of agriculture and plant life. He told members of the University club which sponsored his coming to Wichita Falls that if the wild waters of the streams of this section could be conserved, the possibilities of the state in agriculture would increase the wealth of the state more than the oil industry.

The development of agriculture by conserving waters of the state for use in agricultural and horticultural purposes will greatly increase the economic and commercial advantages of Texas and bring it the fine agricultural population she deserves, he believes.

Then, he is a historian. He has studied the histories and the traditions of those persons and countries in which he has worked as an artist, a historian as he is studying this vicinity during his visit here; as he studied that part of the history of Texas around San Antonio where the memorial is being made. He is an aeronautic dynamic expert. He is an intimate friend of Langley who invented the first plane, and a friend to the Wright brothers.

Timed First Flight.

Mr. Borglum was the first official time keeper at the first flight which took place at Fort Myers. He has made several inventions toward aero dynamics.

During the world war, President Wilson invested him with extraordinary authority to investigate the aerial craft department which, after this country had been in the war nine month, had failed to turn out any production. His expert knowledge and thorough investigation enabled him to look into the enormous investment which had brought no return and caused him to make a report that shocked the world.

His lectures will begin Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Junior college. He will bring some interesting narrations in his stories concerning the Stone Mountain Memorial near Atlanta, Ga., the original design of which he made.

CULVER TALKS TO MEN'S CLUB

"Supremacy of Character" Is His Topic at F. H. M. E. Meeting

"Supremacy of Character" was the subject on which Dr. Frank P. Culver of Waco spoke in the monthly meeting of the Methodist Men's club at Floral Heights Methodist church Monday night. He stressed the idea that the only thing of life was the growth and development of character, the one thing that makes the man in this life and in the life to come.

Silk Gives Address

W. W. Silk made an inspiring address on "Friendship," and brought a message from the club of the First Methodist church of which he is a member. He reminisced on the building of Floral Heights Methodist church which was an outgrowth of the first church, called a "split" at the time. He told how he believed it was the wrong thing at the time, but had since come to believe that it was best, and he continued his talk on friends and friendship.

Jones a Magician

A humorous talk was given by Don Haynes; Lester Jones did a series of magician's tricks; musical numbers were furnished by the high school Epworth league orchestra and Mrs. Geo. Thorburn sang two solos.

H. M. Long, presided as toastmaster. A singson was led by Milton Johnson after which was the introduction of guests; the invocation was said by Dr. Walter J. Johnson, pastor of the First church and dinner was served by the members of the Missionary society of which Mrs. T. R. Boone is president.

Cats Bit Sore, But Step About Lively

FORT WORTH, March 15.—(AP) Sore leg muscles as a result of turning the diamond into a race track against the Minneapolis Millers yesterday were about the only bad effects shown today by the Panthers following the first game of the season. But they hustled as they limbered up.

There was a reason for hustling in the person of Red Snapp, "King" of the Class D managers, who looked 'em over with Manager Jake Atz today. "Can't let that bogie man get us," seemed to be the watchword of the Cats.

Fort Worth has three games this week-end with the Chicago White Sox, and Atz makes no secret of the fact that he hopes to win them. Wachtel is expected to try his slick pill on Eddie Collin's men, which Jake thinks is more than enough to insure victory, even though the Cat manager once played with the Sox.

Sore arms developed in practice today for Paul Obst, youngster, from St. Louis, and MacSevern, who used to hurl for A. & M.

Jacinto Del Calvo was slated to leave Havana today, arriving a week later.

A number of Wichita Falls persons are expected to make the trip with the players.

To Hold Exams For Petrolia Postmaster

The United States civil service commission has announced an examination to be held at Wichita Falls, receipt of application for which will close April 14, to fill the position of rural carrier at Petrolia, and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from that post office. The date of examination will be stated on admission cards mailed to applicants after the close of receipt of applications. The salary of a rural carrier on a standard daily wagon route of 24 miles is $1,800 per annum, with an additional $30 per mile per annum for each miles or major fraction thereof in excess of 24 miles. The salary on motor routes ranges from $2,450 to $2,600 per annum, according to length. Separate examinations for motor routes and wagon routes are no longer held. Appointments to both positions will be made from the same register. The examination will be open only to citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of the post office where the vacancy exists and who meet the other requirements set forth. Both men and women, if qualified, may enter this examination, but appointing officers have the legal right to specify the sex desired in requesting certification of eligibles. Women will not be considered for rural carrier appointment unless they are the widows of U. S. soldiers, sailors, or marines, or the wives of U. S. soldiers, sailors, or marines who are physically disqualified for examination by reason of injuries received in the line of military duty.

Cook Serves His First As Judge

Judge W. W. Cook of the 78th district court served for the first time in that capacity Monday with the trial of the suit of Oilmens Reciprocal association verses M. C. Stowe for the setting aside of an award.

Judge Cook formally assumed the duties of his new office shortly after nine o'clock Monday morning following a short talk by Guy Rogers, past judge, in which Judge Rogers expressed his thanks to members of the bar of the county for their past support, and stated that he was glad now, after seven years of service on the bench to rejoin their ranks.

NEW BUILDING STARTS WELL

Permits for Monday go To $53,775 With 14 Issued

Building permits for the current week got off to a good start Monday when fourteen items totaling $53,775 were issued. The amount was only a few thousand dollars below the total for the past week. Monday's permits included one for a garage to be built by M. D. Walker at 702 Scott street to cost in the neighborhood of $10,000, and a residence by C. P. Burton in the Country Club estate listed at $17,000.

Actual excavation work on the new Medical Arts building to be located on the northwest corner of Lamar and Eighth street was begun Monday morning. The little wooden building formerly occupying the site is being moved back to make room for the new million dollar structure, construction of which, it is stated, should proceed without interruption now.

The contract for the expansion and improvements to the banking rooms of the First National bank will be April 1, it is stated by officers of the bank. The improvement program contemplates an expenditure of some let sometime between March 20 and $125,000, and when completed will give the bank the largest floor area of any similar institution in the city.

Forms have been laid and everything is in readiness for the pouring of concrete on the west end of the Holliday-Park-Lake paving just north of the asylum grounds at Lake Wichita. An exceptionallyy broad pavement at the juncture of the two roads has been provided for, the new road leading out directly under the Wichita Falls and Southern tracks through the new underpass to the Municipal Golf club grounds.

Commissioners Pass Up Bridge Matter

Expected discussion of the Red river bridge matter failed to materalize at Monday's session of the county commissioners court. Judge B. D. Martin declined to comment on the situation further than his statement of Sunday night, that "everything is alright; no further hitch is expected. "Another meeting of the commissioners later in the week, possibly Wednesday or Thursday is expected to go further into the matter, although it is not known what phase of the subpect will be treated at such a time.

The contract between the Burgess Brothers of Iowa Park and the county for the construction of certain graveled road in the Fairview section of the county was signed as authorized following opening of bids at last week's commissioners court meeting. Other matters coming before the court were of a routine nature, and involved only paying of bills and the like.
