Allies Agree To Quick Withdrawal From Suez

A Losing Battle

Four-year-old Andrea Meucci fondly admires her baby doll in a hospital in Erie, Pa., hoping Santa Claus will bring her some more, but doctors say Andrea may not live to see Christmas. She's suffering from cancer and can't eat or drink and must be fed intravenously. Tragedy has filled Andrea's life since birth. She was born paralyzed from the hips down and three operations failed to correct that condition. Andrea is one of six children of Mr. and Mrs. George Meucci of Erie.

Two Girls Are Hospitalized By Auto Collision

Two young girls were injured in a two-car collision here this morning.

The accident occurred at Washington Boulevard and Virginia.

Injured were Linda Spurgeon, 200 Dixie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Spurgeon; and Doris Prevo, 307 Park.

The Spurgeon girl, 6, was rushed to Malone-Hogan Hospital by a River ambulance, and Miss Prevo, 14, was taken to Cowper Hospital by the police department.

Linda was riding in a car driven by Jo Ann Hughes, 1407 Settles, at the time. Mrs. Hughes was traveling east on Washington.

The other car was a 1953 Chevrolet and was driven by Miss Prevo. She was driving south on Virginia.

Condition of the two girls was not reported by the hospitals.

Saturday, B. J. Burns, Santa Barbara, Calif., and Nettie C. Sparks, Lafayette, Ala., were in collision at Third and Runnels. At Third and Nolan, Raymond Wright of Odessa, and Gene Lloyd Combs were involved in an accident. Virginia Jelinek, 1008 E. 20th, hit a parked car belonging to Billie Joe Morris, Midland at 711 E. 18th.

Sunday, Clarence Grimes, 1108 Douglas, and Garland Johns, 709 E. 12th, were in collision. William Drake, 611 Holbert, and Jessie Click, 904 Rosemont, were driving cars that collided at 15th and Settles also Sunday.

Hungary Red Regime OK's Visit By Dag

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (AP)—The Hungarian government today accepted the offer of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to visit Budapest but specified that the visit should be "at a later date appropriate for both parties."

At the same time, the puppet Communist regime again rejected the demands of the General Assembly for the entry of U.N. observers into Hungary to investigate the situation there.

The position of the government was set forth in a telegram from the acting foreign minister, Istvan Sebes, to Hammarskjold.

The communication was circulated to delegates as the 79-nation Assembly met to consider a resolution, sponsored by the United States and 13 other countries, pressing once more for the entry of U.N. observers. The resolution noted with deep concern the failure of the Soviet Union to withdraw its troops from Hungary and to cease deporting Hungarian citizens.

The new proposal asked the governments of Hungary and the Soviet Union to communicate with Hammarskjold by Dec. 7 their consent to receive U.N. observers.

In the communication to the secretary general, Sebes said "The Hungarian government is, as before, of the opinion that the permission for United Nations observers to enter the territory of Hungary would violate the sovereignty of Hungary and would be contrary to the principles of the United Nations Charter."

Then, referring to Hammarskjold's offer to go to Budapest personally to look the situation over and to arrange for U.N. relief machinery, the acting foreign minister said:

"In order to make it possible for your excellency to conduct direct negotiations with the Hungarian government, the revolutionary workers and peasants government of the Hungarian people's republic is ready to welcome your excellency in Budapest at a later date appropriate for both parties."

The Assembly has approved four resolutions on Hungary since Nov. 4 but the Soviet-installed regime in Budapest has ignored them all. The resolutions included Assembly calls for admission of U.N. observers, withdrawal of Soviet troops and establishment of a U.N. relief organization in Hungary.

Some leading Western delegates at the Assembly already are showing their anger privately at the persistent refusal of the Red Hungarians, backed by their Soviet allies, to permit U. N. representatives to cross their border.

These delegates assert privately that the Hungarians and the Russians must be holding up their replies to Hammarskjold in the hope that, before outsiders get in, they can clean up evidence of the rebellion and the drastic measures used to crush it.

Weather Outlook

The weather outlook for the next 30 days is shown on these maps based on forecasts furnished by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Israel Advised To Evacuate Gaza Strip

LONDON (AP) — Britain and France bowed today to the will of the United Nations and agreed to pull their troops out of the Suez Canal area without delay.

Further, the British told Israel it should get out of the captured Gaza Strip as well as Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and permit the strip to be made a responsibility of the U.N.

In New York, U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold expressed hope the British and French forces will be out and the emergency U.N. police force will have taken command in Port Said by mid-December.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd notified the House of Commons Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, commander of the British-French invasion forces, has been instructed to meet with U.N. officials to work out a time table for the withdrawal.

"Given good faith on all sides, it can be carried out in a short time," Lloyd said.

In Paris, Foreign Minister Christian Pineau delivered a similar statement to the French National Assembly.

Lloyd's announcement made clear that the invasion failed to achieve what many members of Britain's ruling Conservative party had considered a prime objective: To restore the Suez Canal to international control.

He said Hammarskjold would soon promote negotiations on the canal's control among representatives of Britain, France and Egypt.

Lloyd told a tense session of the House of Commons the two governments "have instructed the Allied commander in chief, Gen. (Sir Charles) Keightley, to seek agreement with the United Nations commander, Gen. E. L. M. Burns, on a timetable for the complete withdrawal, taking account of the military and practical problems involved."

"The French and British governments have come to the conclusion that withdrawal of their forces in the Port Said area can now be carried out without delay."

Lloyd declared, amid opposition Laborite jeers: "Given good faith on all sides it can be carried out in a short time."

Lloyd declared U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold will promote negotiations as quickly as possible on three matters:

1. The six requirements set out in the U.N. Security Council resolution of Oct. 13 which would keep the Suez Canal out of national and international politics.

2. Talks in New York between Hammarskjold, Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi. Lloyd did not elaborate.

3. Hammarskjold's proposed basis for negotiating a new regime for the Suez Canal, based on the six requirements of the Oct. 13, resolution.

Lloyd added:

"I believe we shall reach an agreement providing adequate guarantees that the six requirements will be met. Her majesty's government of course adhere to their view as expressed in the

Hungarian Rebels Strike From Hills

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Budapest seethed with reports today of new fighting between Hungarian rebels and the Russian army in the countryside.

The reports were spread mouth to mouth and were heard by Western diplomats. Sizable bands of guerrilla freedom fighters were said to be battling from forests and hills both in northern and southern Hungary.

Pecs, a center of Hungary's coal and uranium mines, was named as one of the chief redoubts of the rebel holdouts. Communications between Pecs and Budapest were broken.

Some rumors in the capital said shooting heard here yesterday was artillery fire on Hungarian attackers. Another rumor said Russians and Hungarians were fighting in the Buda section of the capital this morning.

The government controlled Budapest radio explained that the firing was an artillery salute at a burial ceremony for Russian soldiers killed in the rebellion.)

None of these reports could be confirmed. Some of them apparently sprang from lack of confidence in the government controlled radio and newspaper.

Budapest people displayed their disgust with the Communist party newspaper, Nepszabadsag, when they burned stacks of the paper in the streets yesterday.

But many people still buy the paper because it is the only one to give information on the Olympics games. The Hungarians remain ardent sports fans despite their manifold troubles.

The Budapest population appeared not to have needed calls to new strikes which were made through leaflets last week. Western correspondents visited the Csepel iron and steel works this morning and found chimneys smoking and production going on in haphazard fashion.

"We have to live and we can earn money by merely showing up at the plants," seemed to be the concensus of opinion.

More street cars and buses were running.

But the population's enmity toward the Soviet-imposed government of Communist Premier Janos Kadar was evidenced in many ways.

Reliable reports reaching Vienna, in Austria, said guerrillas in the Mecsek Mountains and around Lake Balaton were attacking Soviet units nightly. The Russians were said to have sent one of their most energetic commanders to the region to track down the insurgents.

In snow-flecked Budapest, thousands of Hungarians plodded wearily through the cemeteries, trying to identify their dead among the unclaimed bodies from the Soviet-crushed revolt. Hundreds of simple black wooden coffins, their lids open for identification purposes, were scattered about the graveyards.

There has been no official disclosure of the number killed in the revolt. Estimates range from 20,000 to 50,000.

Budapest radio, controlled by Premier Janos Kadar's Soviet-supported government, acknowledged that "almost 100,000 Hungarians have left the country for Austria." The number who have fled to Austria since Oct. 28 actually totals nearly 110,000.

The radio tried to paint a grim picture of the refugees in Austria, describing them as living in piteable conditions in concentration camps surrounded by barbed wire.

Victim Of Shooting Is Recovering

A man shot in the stomach on the northside early Sunday morning is not in serious condition at a local hospital today.

The man, James Puga, Lomax, sustained a bullet wound, but officials at Cowper Hospital said this morning he was in no danger and was able to sit on the edge of his bed.

Police officials are investigating the case and this morning questioned Puga's companion at the time of the shooting.

Puga was shot as he got out of a car at 207 Trades on the northside about 1:30 a.m. Sunday. The address is that of Lydia Flores Lopez, who was with Puga at the time.

Puga said he, the woman, and four other persons, Manuel Marquez, Abraham Lopez, Elfina Leyes, and Stephen Gomez, left Joe Torres' Place on the northside when it closed at 1 a.m.

They then went to the Trades Street address and were leaving the car when a pickup drove up. Puga was in the yard, and occupants of the pickup fired at him. Puga told officers. Three of the group were still in the car at the time.

Miss Lopez said she thought she recognized one of the men in the pickup as a resident of Snyder who had been at the dance earlier. The man was a former friend of Miss Lopez.

No one else was injured in the shooting.

Desert Kidnap Trial To Begin

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Survival of a wealthy grandmother alone on the desert under 110-degree heat without food, water or clothing figures in the trial of two women starting today.

They are charged with kidnaping Mrs. Ruth E. Latham, 52, last Sept. 12 from her expensive San Diego home and attempting to bury her alive in Imperial County desert country east of here.

The defendants are Mrs. Beatrice Victoria Winn, 57, and Mrs. Lucille M. Whisenand, 36.

Mrs. Latham, associated in investment and real estate business with her husband George, said she pushed aside rocks which had been piled upon her in the shallow grave.

She had been beaten and stripped naked.

She staggered and crawled five miles across the desert, shielding her body from the blazing sun with tumbleweed and other sparse growth, she said. It took her 24 hours.

A motorist discovered her crouching beside Highway 80 Sept. 14, about 20 miles west of El Centro.

Mrs. Winn is involved in a civil suit with the Lathams over control of a building supply concern of which she was formerly manager.

Elderly Suitor Hangs Self In Cell

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Teen-age Molly Kidwell's elderly suitor, charged with murder in the poison death of her father and two young brothers, hanged himself early today in his jail cell.

State trooper J. E. Durst said the body of William S. Knighten, 72, of nearby Bolivar, was found hanging from the cell bars, a sheet knotted about his neck.

Knighten was arrested Sunday night on a warrant charging him with the arsenic deaths of William S. Kidwell, 42, and his sons, Thomas 1, and Charles 2.

De-Stalinization Even Into Grave?

MOSCOW (AP) — The Lenin-Stalin tomb in Moscow's Red Square was closed today without immediate official explanation. A guard at the gate of the mausoleum said it had been closed for renovations, the standard Soviet explanation for such an action.

Rites Set For Traffic Victim

Funeral services for Juanita Rios, 15, Howard County's 25th traffic victim of 1956, will be conducted at 8 a.m. Tuesday in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Father A. Metzger will officiate and interment, under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, will be in the Catholic Cemetery.

Miss Rios was killed Saturday night when the car she was driving struck a utility pole at the side of the Andrews Highway in northwest Big Spring. Clarence Yanez, Big Spring, was seriously injured in the crash. He was reported in a satisfactory condition at the Cowper Hospital this morning.

Death of Miss Rios established a record for traffic fatalities in the county in one year. Worst previous year was 1951 when 24 persons were killed.

Juanita was born Sept. 22, 1941, in New Gulf, Texas. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Margarita Renteria; six brothers, Mike, Telesforo, Gilberto, Manuel, Pedro and Jose Rios; and two sisters, Rosa and Margurita Rios. All reside in Big Spring.

Jubilant Troops Ready To Pull Out

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—U. N. police troops took over occupation of a quarter of Port Said today and like wildfire the British-French garrison buzzed with "out of the trenches in 14 days—home by Christmas."

The mood of British and French troops was jubilant. They anticipated definite orders sometime today to begin packing for the trip home.

The British navy, meanwhile, reported that surprisingly fast progress was being made reopening the northern end of the clogged Suez Canal. Navy men said they hoped to open the northern bottleneck of scuttled ships in two weeks and that intelligence reports indicated the damage in the Egyptian-held southern sector is not so great as first believed.

The U. N. Command poured more troops around the canal's Mediterranean entrance to take over from the British and French.

With the cease-fire line 24 miles south of the city occupied by a wedge of Indian troops, there did not seem much point in staying on in the eyes of British and French soldiers.

On the east bank of the waterway, Israel announced it had cleared a 30-mile-wide area of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula for the U.N. troops to occupy. A spokesman said Israel was awaiting word from the U.N. commander on when the police troops would arrive.

Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the United Nations Emergency Force, seemed intent on filling the posts held by the British and French with U.N. troops before turning his attention to the Israeli section.

A company of 120 blue-helmeted Indians, arriving by train from the Egyptian lines, took over 1,000-yard no man's land between British - French and Egyptian forces.

A 163-man Danish contingent held the buffer zone for two days to discourage violations of the U. N. - ordered cease - fire. They pulled out yesterday to reinforce the U.N. garrison in Port Said.

The combined Danish-Norwegian U. N. battalion already assembled in Port Said, started policing a quarter of the city, replacing British soldiers.

U. S. Aid Asked In Race Tussle

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—The Anderson County School Board asked the federal government today for help in enforcing racial integration at Clinton High School.

Otherwise, the board said, "it might become necessary to close" the school.

Ten Negro pupils remaining of the dozen admitted under federal court orders this year have stayed away from school since last Tuesday. They demanded the board give them assurance of their personal safety.

They left school after rock and egg throwing incidents last Monday and Tuesday climaxed a series of acts of harassment by white pupils which had developed in recent weeks.

The admission of the Negroes among 800 white pupils Aug. 27 was followed by a week of increasing crowds and disorders.

Couple's Third Child Dies, Services Conducted Today

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martinez made the trek to the cemetery with one of their children for the third time of the year this morning.

Services for little Riley Martinez, 3½, were conducted at 9 a.m. in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church and the frail remains were laid to rest in the Catholic Cemetery. Father A. Metzger officiated.

The child died Sunday morning in a local hospital. He had been stricken with a form of meningitis.

Two other Martinez children have died this year. One passed away soon after birth here, and the other died after drinking kerosene.

Riley was born May 10, 1953, in Sinton. He fell victim to the fatal illness several weeks ago. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home was in charge of funeral arrangements.

The boy is survived by his parents, a brother, Fred Martinez Jr.; and two sisters, Yolanda and Juanita Martinez, all of Big Spring.

CHEER FUND IS STILL IN NEED

Another $25 was added to the Christmas Cheer Fund on Monday. This put the total at $262, which, while rising steadily, is far below what will be needed.

Proceeds are applied by city firemen to provide for Christmas Cheer to the needy, particularly needy children, and to help finance supplies for toy repair. If you want to spread some real cheer for the Yuletide, mail a check to or leave a contribution at the Herald. All gifts will be acknowledged.

Here is the latest report:

Previously acknowl'd	$237.00
Mr. & Mrs. Henry Derrick	5.00
Mrs. J. W. Cook	5.00
Mrs. W. B. Morris	10.00

Gunman Nabbed After Mistake Shooting Of His Half-Brother

SHAMROCK, Tex. (AP) — A gunfight which started in Oklahoma, killed a teen-age member of a posse and wounded two officers ended in the Texas Panhandle yesterday with the capture of a gunman dozing beside his dead half-brother.

James William Whiteard, 21, of Phoenix, Ariz., told officers he shot Junior Bard Myers, 32, to death in the dark, thinking Myers was part of the posse which surrounded them.

Victor Lee Stephens, 19, was killed in a gunfight Saturday at dusk while hunting for the pair on his father's ranch.

Texas Ranger Jim Paulk said Whiteard signed a statement saying he shot Myers when he blasted with a sawed-off shotgun at a figure in the brush.

Officers said Myers had numerous aliases and a long arrest record in the Southwest and on the West Coast. They said Whiteard apparently had no record, but also went under the name of James Hunter.

The men were trapped near here Saturday night in a 1,200-acre area of scrubby brush on the ranch of J. B. Stephens, the slain youth's father.

Officers surrounded the area while planes dropped flares. Bloodhounds were flown in. At sunrise they led mounted officers to the pair.

Whiteard was sitting up dozing, an empty whisky bottle nearby. He did not resist.

Myers was lying about 30 yards away, his half-frozen body torn with shotgun slugs and his left arm broken.

A loaded shotgun and a high-powered rifle lay nearby.

The chase started Saturday at Texola, Okla., after the men's auto hit another car and sped from the scene.

Deputy Sheriff Marvin Skinner of Texola chased the car. They fired and nicked Skinner's chin. He radioed to Texas officers.

Deputy Sheriff Luke Nenley and Patrolman N. M. Nix of Shamrock sighted the car on a dirt farm road and gave chase.

The two men leaped from their car and started firing with a rifle and pistol. The officers left their car and fired back with shotguns.

The fugitives fled into the brushy pasture.

Nix was slightly wounded in the arm. Henley's coat was torn by bullets but he wasn't hit.

Help was summoned and officers started into the brush. Young Stephens asked if he could come along. "I have a good rifle," he said.

"We were going up to a hedgerow with the Stephens boy out in front," Collingsworth County Sheriff John Rainey said. "I spotted one of the men hunched over hiding and told him to rise with his hands up . . . The other gunman who was up front cut the boy down with a rifle. . .

"Then both men opened fire. . .

"Shooting continued from both sides until total darkness fell."

Nearly 100 officers from Texas and Oklahoma surrounded the area during the night.

Officers said Myers was wanted for questioning about bank robberies at Dover, Ark., and Hearne, Tex., and for assault to murder.

No charges were filed immediately against Whiteard.

AF Plans Weapons System For Atom-Powered Bomber

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, apparently confident of success in building an atom-powered bomber, has started organizing a complete weapons system for the operation of such aircraft.

It's still cloaked in secrecy, but available information indicates that the Air Force already has let contracts for development of some of the equipment.

In charge of this phase of the atomic aircraft program is a "director of nuclear systems," an office of the Air Research and Development Command. The identity of the system is concealed behind a code designation of three numerals and a letter combination.

The aircraft nuclear engine program itself includes two separate reactor development projects, one under contract by the General Electric Co. at an Ohio plant and the other by Pratt and Whitney at Hartford, Conn.

The Atomic Energy Commission recently, included a runway as well as static test equipment, at its national reactor test station in Idaho.

There are a number of other little-known projects related to the atomic aircraft engine project, including several referred to only under such code names as "Pluto" and "Pied Piper" programs under direction of the AEC's San Francisco office and another identified only as "Project Rover."

In an obvious reference to atomic-powered aircraft, Secretary of the Air Force Quarles said during an ABC-TV interview yesterday that "we have the development of such a plane in the research and development" stage, but that it is several years away from realization.

His reply was to a question whether the Air Force is working on a plane which could make a flight to Russia and return without aerial refueling.

Quarles said the U. S. Air Force has "substantially greater striking power" than that of Russia and predicted that despite development of guided missiles "the manned aircraft will still be our mainstay."

Quarles said also that the Air Force goal of 137 wings by next June 30 "will undoubtedly be modified" somewhat but its strength will not be cut. He said the force now has 131 combat wings.

Ike, Dulles See Hope For Peace In Middle East

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles believe prospects for peace in the trouble-ridden Middle East "are now reasonably good."

Dulles, returning to the job after a month's convalescence from intestinal surgery, put it that way at the conclusion of a two-hour review of the general international picture with the President here yesterday.

"Certainly I think anybody must be indeed far gone in pessimism if he thinks the danger of the war in the (Mideast) area today is as great as it was a month ago," Dulles told a news conference.

But both Dulles and the President believe steps are necessary to bolster the North Atlantic Alliance, which they agreed has been strained as a result of differences between the United States on the one hand and Great Britain and France on the other in the Middle East crisis.

They also agreed that need for "unity and strength" of that alliance, fashioned to check the threat of Communist aggression has been "tragically demonstrated by Soviet action in Eastern Europe, particularly in Hungary."

That was a reference to Russian terrorism which crushed a revolt in Hungary and sent more than 100,000 residents fleeing into Austria.

"The President," said Dulles in a statement Eisenhower approved "is particularly concerned with the strains and dangers that flow from persistent disregard by international communism of the principles and pleas of the United Nations."

One case in that category is Russia's disregard of the U.N. denunciation of Soviet ruthlessness in Hungary.

"Nations in both Asia and Europe," Dulles went on, "remain forcibly divided; many peoples are subject to a ruthless external rule which they deeply resent, and many live in fear, under the shadow of a similar fear."

Proposing persistent U.N. prodding, Dulles then said the people of such nations "should be allowed their own free choice of government with no servitude to any other," and he added:

"The President and I feel that this situation ought increasingly to engage the attention of the United Nations in discharge of its charter mission to promote peace with justice."

Countries adhering to the U.N. Charter, Dulles said, have a particular responsibility in this field because of having pledged themselves to the principle of self-government for those who have been forcibly deprived of it . . ."

Dulles flew here from Key West, Fla., where he had been recuperating the last two weeks from intestinal surgery which disclosed a cancerous condition. However, his physicians said they removed all trace of the malignancy.

"I feel fine," the smiling Cabinet member told newsmen after he had conferred with Eisenhower and was leaving to return to his State Department desk. And he looked good—tanned and in a jovial mood.

The secretary and his wife attended church services with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower, then went to the Augusta National Golf Club, where the Chief Executive has been combining work with relaxation the past week.

Dulles and the President, who may stay here another week, talked over the turbulent world picture at the club.

A good part of their discussion dealt with the NATO Ministerial Council meeting which Dulles will attend in Paris starting Dec. 11.

Referring to the Middle East differences which put the United States in one camp and Britain and France in another over the Franco-British venture into Egypt, Dulles said in his prepared statement:

"Recent events have created some strain as between members of the North Atlantic Alliance. However, there have been constructive measures to overcome such differences as have existed, and the coming (NATO) council meeting affords an opportunity to rebuild a unity and strength."

It was at that point Dulles said a need for rebuilding has been "tragically demonstrated" by Soviet action in Eastern Europe. And he added:

"There is compelling reason to make the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, within the area of its particular concern, a stronger and more effective body."

Asked to list "constructive measures" which have helped to resolve differences between the United States and the two other principal NATO nations, Britain and France, Dulles cited the cease-fire in Egypt, creation of the U. N. police force, and withdrawal of some British and French troops from Egypt.

Flimsy Gag

With news pictures at a premium in Washington these days, actress Roxanne Arlen popped up at the Capitol with nothing much more than a donkey by the name of "Sneaky." It was near freezing but Miss Arlen didn't seem to mind as she twirled her transparent cape and posed with "Sneaky." Miss Arlen, by the way, is opening in a new play in Washington.

Violent Deaths Take 26 Texas Lives Over Weekend

By The Associated Press

Weekend violence in Texas killed at least 26 persons.

Fourteen died in traffic, seven were shot to death, two died in fires, one was fatally stabbed and one strangled on a hastily eaten sandwich.

Two men were killed in a Panhandle manhunt.

They were Junior Myers, 32, of Greeley, Colo., and Victor Stephens, 19, of near Shamrock. Myers was found shot to death and his half brother, James Whiteard, 21, was captured by officers Sunday. Stephens was shot down while accompanying a posse searching for the brothers Saturday. Whiteard said he killed Myers by accident that night.

Elroy Phillips, 32, of Pilot Point and Bailey Eugene Redfern, 21, of Aubry were killed Sunday when struck by a car near Tioga, in Grayson County.

Gaylen Leicht, 37, of Pasadena was killed Sunday after his car crashed into a bridge railing over Sims Bayou and was struck by another car.

Irma Canul, 5, of Brownsville was killed by a car Saturday as she played at the edge of the street near her home.

At Amarillo, Noel Day, 40, was suffocated by a fire in his home early Sunday.

Lloyd Bennett, 30, of San Antonio was shot to death Saturday night in a San Antonio tavern.

Lt. F. B. Thompson, 27, of Camp Hill, Pa., was found shot to death Saturday about five miles from Dripping Springs.

Two Fort Hood soldiers were killed when a car overturned six miles south of Johnson City Saturday.

Killed were Sgt. Rayford Stotts, 38, believed to be from Hot Springs, Ark., and Sgt. Joseph Adukinas of Trenton, N.J.

Four persons were killed in an auto collision in Galveston County Saturday night. Killed were Fred Nielson, 41; Hans Nielson, 46, and Mrs. Juanita Nielson, 40, all of Houston, and Mrs. Jessie Brown, 40, of Texas City.

An autopsy showed Leon Orr, 69, of Houston strangled on food in his windpipe. Waitresses at a cafe said he was gulping sandwiches Sunday when he started to choke.

Mrs. Ruby Taylor, 47, was stabbed to death in a Houston bar Sunday.

2 American Turncoats Hope To Be Home By Christmas

HONG KONG (AP) — Two more American turncoats from the Korean War, who decided they didn't want to live in Red China after all, hope to get back to their families by Christmas.

Arley Pate, 26, of Carbondale, Ill., and Aaron Wilson, 24, of Urania, La., reached this British crown colony yesterday after spending three years with the Chinese Communists.

"I went to China because I wanted peace," Pate told newsmen. "I didn't find it there, and will now go back to lead a peaceful life with my family."

Wilson nodded agreement.

They were among 21 American war prisoners who decided to live in China after the Korean conflict ended in 1953. Four others returned ahead of Wilson and Pate, and one died in China.

The two latest arrivals said they knew of none among the 14 remaining with the Communists who might ask to leave.

Pate said he had "never informed on an attempted escape, never got better food while a prisoner, and never heard of the Suez Canal crisis or of uprisings in Hungary."

Both said they were only workers in China and heard no lectures on communism. Of communism, Pate said, "If people want it, they can have it."

They said three of those still in China had married Chinese girls in Tsinan: Albert C. Belhomme, Ashland, Pa.; Lowell D. Skinner, Akron, Ohio; and Howard G. Adams, Corsicana, Tex.

Pate said after his daily work in a Tsinan paper factory, "at night I ran around and went to dances and movies, having a good time."

American and British Red Cross officials said Pate and Wilson would be sent to the United States by the first available means. The Army gave all the turncoats dishonorable discharges in 1954, and the U. S. Supreme Court has ruled the Army no longer has jurisdiction over them.

Scrap Of Evidence

MANITOWOC, Wis. (AP) — Police officers decided to investigate a parked car which was weighted down so heavily its rearbumper almost touched the ground.

Inside the car they found an estimated 1,000 pounds of scrap iron and two men who admitted stealing the scrap from a junkyard.

The junk company estimated the value of the heavy loot at $20.

Sweeping Duties

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Dust pans and brooms have become standard equipment for Tucson police cars so that officers may sweep up glass at scenes of traffic accidents.

British Gas Ration Hurts Fire Eater

LONDON (AP) —The Ministry of Fuel and Power was presented today with a burning problem, name of Miss Priscilla Birt, 18. She only wants a gasoline ration book, but her need is gastronomic not vehicular.

Because of that unpleasantness along the Suez Canal, which has cut off oil supplies from the Middle East, Britain is about to start doling out motor fuel in small squirts, commencing Dec. 17.

Pretty Miss Birt tripped into the Chelsea post office last week to file her request for a book of coupons which would enable her to get a share.

The clerk asked her what kind of motor-driven vehicle she owns, and whether it is operated for business or pleasure.

Miss Birt replied that she does not own a vehicle, motor-driven or otherwise.

"Why, then, do you require a petrol ration?" demanded the clerk.

"I want to eat it," replied Miss Birt.

Pulling herself together, the clerk asked Miss Birt if she would care to amplify her explanation.

"Well," she said, "I am known professionally as Zahrat the Fire Eater and I am billed with Duffy's Circus as the youngest fire eater in the business.

"The raw material for the act is about a tumblerful of petrol for each performance. Without petrol my whole career will, so to speak, go up in smoke.

"I only need the cheaper commercial grade," she added reassuringly. "The high test stuff tastes too much of lead. About three gallons a month would do."

The post office clerk went into a huddle with her superiors but it was plain that the Ministry of Fuel and Power had goofed. Nowhere in the petrol rationing plan was there any specific provision for fire eaters.

The post office people passed the buck to the district fuel office with the observation, off the record, that while Miss Birt was well endowed in the chassis department it did not appear that she could qualify as a vehicle within the meaning of the regulations. No engine.

The district fuel officer got out from under by having Miss Birt fill in her application with "carriage or motor vehicle" crossed out and "fire eater" written in. Then he mailed it to the Ministry of Fuel and Power.

Could any offstage laughter be coming from Miss Birt's press agent?

Banker Gets City Backing

ELLENVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Two hundred community leaders in this Catskill resort say they have "overwhelming confidence and faith" in bachelor banker Bill Rose.

FBI agents seized William Rose Friday night and accused him of juggling $580,000 while he was president of the Home National Bank. They quoted him as saying the money went to two local business firms needing help. He said he made no personal gain.

Rose resigned as bank president the next day.

Last night leaders in Ellenville's civic, political, veterans, fraternal and business groups held a rally to show that Rose is still esteemed.

Everyone present signed a letter to "Bill." The letter expressed "overwhelming confidence and faith" in him and reaffirmed the signers' "unique affection and regard" for him.

In addition, the leaders decided to set up a booth today in Liberty Square in the heart of this town of 5,000. Residents will be asked to sign a petition confirming "faith in the integrity" of Rose.

Rose, 51-year-old former Methodist Church treasurer and naval officer, was charged with violating the Federal Reserve Act by allegedly manipulating $580,000 in bank funds.

He is free on $25,000 bail.

Bomb Blast Injures 6

NEW YORK (AP) — A homemade bomb exploded with a burst of flame and smoke in a crowded Brooklyn movie theater last night during a showing of "War and Peace." Six persons were injured.

Police said the bomb appeared to be the handiwork of the same "mad bomber" who has planted more than 25 other explosives in New York public places since 1940.

Last night's bomb was crudely fashioned of metal pipe, black powder, a small battery, watch parts and wiring. It exploded under a seat near the rear of the orchestra in the Paramount Theater.

About 1,500 patrons were viewing the battle-punctured film version of the Tolstoy novel at the time.

Metal fragments ripped across several rows of seats and cut persons. Three others suffered shock.

The picture resumed after a few minutes.

Hens Or Roosters

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — What'll you have, hens or roosters?

By a new egg dipping process, a poultry research expert says, science can control the sex of a chick before it is born.

George Blackburn of a Vineland, N.J., poultry research firm, says details of the process are still secret. But poultrymen at Michigan State University believe it involves forcing hormones under pressure through the porous eggshell.

Hunter Mauled By Wounded Cougar

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Deer hunter Kirby Allen escaped with a scratched neck, torn coat and damaged gun stock when a wounded cougar jumped him.

Allen said he shot and wounded the big cat while hunting deer in the Wasatch Mountains.

He stalked the cat for a short distance when it turned and tore into him, then fled.

"It was all over before I had a chance to get scared," said Allen.

A game warden advised him to leave wounded cougars alone.

Alarmist Bitten

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP) — A man with an excited voice told the switchboard operator at Bluefield Sanitarium, "I've been bitten by a snake!"

He said his head ached and his was swelling. Serum was rushed to the hospital. A surgeon stood by.

Then the man walked in. Doctors found he had been stung by a bee.

Missing Bridegroom

Prince Samuel Crowingburg-Amalu, who failed to show up at his wedding in Denver, Colo., to Mrs. Jane Tomberlin, 44, reads a copy of a cablegram sent to him at Dallas by his family requesting him to postpone his marriage. The 37-year-old prince, who described himself as a member of the traditional ruling family of the Hawaiian Islands, married Mrs. Homberlin anyway.

Texas May Benefit From Suez Crisis

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (AP)— Will the Suez oil crisis give the 55th Legislature a financial shot in the arm and rub out prospects of a fight over raising new revenue for present or expanded state services?

The oil production tax is the state's biggest single source of income for its all-purpose general revenue fund. If the United States' pledge to furnish more oil for Europe results in a substantial boost in Texas production, the state treasury would be one of the chief beneficiaries.

When most legislators replied to The Associated Press request for comments on principal issues facing the session starting in January, the Middle Eastern - European oil situation had not yet jelled. The position of the federal government has only recently been made clear. Nevertheless, several members expressed hope that an increase in oil revenue from such boosted production would be a big help.

Railroad Commission Chairman William Murray said last week he believed Texas could produce an additional million barrels of oil daily if necessary. Whether or when this would come about had not been clarified when he made the statement.

Most members replying to The Associated Press poll agreed that taxation and spending were among the five chief legislative issues. Many listed it as the main one.

Texas is now spending 800 million dollars or so a year from all sources of revenue including the general revenue fund that would benefit from any increased oil production.

State departments have indicated they will want more than one billion dollars a year for the next fiscal biennium starting Sept. 1.

The Legislature's job will be to bring spending and taxing into balance, because Texas has a pay-as-you-go constitutional provision designed to bar deficit operations. It takes a two-thirds majority of both houses to make any appropriation in excess of revenue in hand or in sight.

While the Legislature does not directly appropriate revenues from such fat outside sources as federal aid, it does exercise budgetary control over them and other such reservoirs as fees that go to state agencies.

Gov. Shivers had predicted the state will end the two-year fiscal period with a 50 million dollar surplus. Outgoing Speaker Jim Lindsey has said it would be unfair to the new Legislature "to create the impression" that the Middle East crisis would increase Texas oil production. He said it would be more realistic to talk in terms of a deficit problem rather than a "windfall surplus."

While the oil revenue outlook has not yet become firm, many legislators agreed that one of the state's great needs is for a general overhauling of its basic tax structure. That has been recommended many times before. Very little has been done.

Many members said the Legislature needs to help cities, struggling to find new sources of income.

Opinion was about evenly divided on whether there should be more taxes, or whether spending should be held to present levels. Or at least to levels within certainly-anticipated income.

Arizona Youths Take Salk Shots

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Operation Teen-ager — aimed at cutting down the high incidence of polio among Arizona's youngsters — starts tomorrow with the first of a series of citywide mass vaccinations. It is the first such program in the nation.

Dr. Clarence G. Salsbury, state health commissioner, said some 5,000 students at Phoenix Union High School will be the first to receive the free shots. Later, some 15,000 youngsters at 23 schools in Phoenix and Maricopa County will be eligible to participate.

Free shots will be given to anyone from 6 months to 19 years, but the main objective is teenagers.

More than 40 per cent of Arizona's polio cases last year were among teen-agers and young adults. A recent survey showed 75 per cent of the county's teenagers had not received inoculations.

Cooperating in the program with the State Health Department and the Maricopa County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are city and county health departments, parent - teacher associations and private physicians.

"We've been working on this program for a long time," Salsbury said, "and we have enough vaccine for about a half-million inoculations."

Pitifully Small Audience Sees Spirited Gypsy Performance

Big Springers missed a good show by the hundreds Sunday night. But approximately 100 local citizens went away with a taste of culture that comes to this part of the country perhaps once in a lifetime.

The pitifully small audience was enthusiastic in its reception of the Carmen Amaya Spanish dance troupe in City Auditorium. Their eyes and ears were assaulted with a kind of color, motion, rhythm and music almost completely alien to Big Spring culture.

It was the flamenco in all its various forms, a cultural form that had its origins deep in ancient times, coming from such diverse places as Egypt, Greece, Araby, Persia and India. You can't speak of flamenco solely as a dance form, as a kind of music or song; flamenco is a wide variety of cultural forms, all interwoven and interdependent. It is a dance which expresses itself in a clapping of the hands and stamping of the feet, in a swirling of the body and motion of the arms; it is a music that depends on the rhythm of the dance played against melodies of the East; it is a type of song that is plaintive and sad, but bursting forth at intervals into frenzied life.

Miss Amaya and her flamenco dancers gave full expression to their art despite their disappointment at the small turnout, and despite the fact that Miss Amaya was ill Sunday morning. There were three pretty Spanish girls and three swarthy, handsome men in the dance team. Their presentation ranged from the gentle to the frenzied. Miss Amaya was a swirling, stamping expression of the wild gypsy dance.

Sabicas, noted Spanish guitarist, had the audience in the palm of his hand as his fingers flew over the strings. He could even play with one hand.

Most of the numbers were accompanied by the troupe's pianist, some by Sabicas. Perhaps the better half of the show came after the intermission when the entire troupe took part, all adding their clapping hands and stamping feet to the overall rhythm.

Ed Mandel, the show manager, registered his entire company's disappointment at the small reception, and suggested a remedy. I am inclined to agree with him. Mandel suggested that City Auditorium be closed to outside-sponsored entertainment on Sundays.

"There should be an ordinance," he said, "that under no circumstances would the city allow an outside sponsor to perform on a Sunday. This is not a Blue Law, it is designed to protect entertainers and insure that a city will always have a chance to be exposed to a good, clean cultural show."

Mandel blamed the small turnout on the fact it was held on a Sunday, when most people would be in church, and that there were no local sponsors. He had to cancel the afternoon show because of the small audience. He also noted that other cities, such as Midland, have ordinances prohibiting outside-sponsored entertainment on Sundays, a law Mandel said was designed to protect outside entertainers "from the kind of humiliating situation we had tonight."

Our personal opinion is that much of the lack of interest was due to ignorance of the nature of flamenco. Most Big Springers apparently confused the Spanish gypsy forms with the Latin American. Those two are about as similar as Anglo-Saxon folk songs and Tin Pan Alley.

It will be a long time before the Carmen Amaya troupe brings its spirited gypsy culture back to Big Spring. And I for one don't blame them.

Wrong Pedal Is Way To Wreck Car

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) —A Los Angeles woman has been doing so well with her driving lessons that recently she and her husband bought a new car.

Yesterday, Nico Uding took his wife Nina out for another lesson.

The car hit a dip in the road, climbed the hood of a parked auto and bounced onto the rear deck of another parked car.

No one was hurt. The Udings' shiny 1957 sedan, with only 1,012 miles on the speedometer, was wrecked.

Mrs. Uding, weeping, said she'd got her foot on the accelerator instead of the brake pedal.

No Burning In Hell Without Approval

HELL, Calif. (AP)—Things are getting tough all over, it seems.

Witness this ruling by the Riverside County air pollution control district: There will be no burning in Hell without prior approval.

Hell is not much of a place . . . not even listed in the U. S. postal guide. But this desert community does have a service station and cafe and during a hearing on the matter of burning, the applicants disclosed their telephone number is Hell 1.

WAC Chief Short Strider

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The 8,250 members of the Women's Army Corps might like to know that their new director, Lieutenant Col. Mary L. Milligan, has trouble keeping step in parades.

Her problem is matching stride with tall male officers when she is called on to review the troops.

"I know music well enough to be aware when I'm out of step—but my legs won't stretch that far," explains the 5-foot, 2-inch tall lady colonel.

At 45, suntanned, blue-eyed, gray-haired personable Mary Milligan of Edgewood, Pa., a former school administrator, was named this week for a four-year stint in the top WAC post, with an automatic jump to the rank of full colonel.

She got the job over some 50 other regular Army lieutenant colonels of the corps who were qualified for consideration as replacement for outgoing director, Irene Galloway, who leaves Jan. 3 after completing the regular four-year term of duty.

Col. Milligan is the fifth WAC director. The first was Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, now president and editor of the Houston Post.

Like most women, Col. Milligan had to make a choice of career or marriage and she notes with her attractive smile: "I'm single."

She's found in the Army a life "far from routine . . . never boring . . . certainly satisfactory" and the sort of kinship of "a large family."

Col. Milligan has no immediate plans for the WAC. She herself is just "getting up to date" and wants "to do the job as well" as Col. Galloway whose new post has not yet been announced.

But there's one thing, she says, overseeing the WAC "can't be done sitting behind a desk."

Higher Ethics Of Open Decisions

There is a widespread demand and an obvious need for effective action at the Texas Legislature's next session to curb the activity of lobbyists and to define ethical boundaries to their relations with legislators and others in government.

A special legislative committee, headed by Senator George Moffett of Chilothe and made up of five senators and ten representatives, was named to weigh these and other matters and has been busy on this chore. It has discussed in particular an ethical code for members and lobbyists, annual sessions and higher pay for legislators.

The Dallas News declares this committee has set a policy of barring newspaper reporters from its sessions, quoting Chairman Moffett as saying the study committee considers its discussions to be private until a conclusion is reached. Its report will be submitted to the 17-member Texas Legislative Council meeting in Austin December 14-15. It will be the duty of the council to prepare recommendations to the Legislature.

Considering what the public has at stake in these matters, it bodes no good for the prospect for effective legislation when all the preliminary steps are taken in secret.

The barring of reporters, who represent the people, isn't a happy omen. Some eight million Texans are interested in what the Legislature proposes to do about cleaning out the "mess" in Austin. If the public has no advanced thinking of what the Legislature proposes to do to raise the level of ethics in state government, especially lobbying with and among members, it will be buying a pig in a poke.

A good way for the Legislature to prove that higher pay and annual sessions would result in a higher type of legislative service would be for such committees as this special one to throw open their doors to reporters and ask the public for suggestions and comment.

It is quite possible the ordinary Texas voter and taxpayer might have a few ideas worth considering.

The notion that what the public doesn't know won't hurt it has been rather widely held by our lawmakers down through the years. A policy of close relations with the public could conceivably make any additional anti-lobbying legislation unnecessary, and certainly if the members would be more frank with their constituents, and more open in what they are up to, the ethical standards of the Legislature would automatically rise.

Warning Had Some Effect

Oblique as it was, cautious as it was, Washington's warning to all and sundry that any threat to the territory or political independence of the four Middle East nations in the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact would be viewed "with the utmost gravity" seems to have got results of a sort.

The warning was in connection with Syria's reported warlike build-up for a possible whack at Iraq. That build-up was taking place with Russian arms, with the ill-concealed blessing of the Kremlin, operating through its "representatives" in Syria. Iraq had asked the U.S. for arms aid in this emergency, and Washington's warning, though verbal and not material, was in answer thereto.

The other three members of the Baghdad Pact besides Iraq are Turkey, Iran and Paskistan. All are Moslem countries, but Iraq is also Arabic.

Washington pointed out that it had always supported the Baghdad Pact countries since the pact was signed in 1955 with advice and encouragement, and has "demonstrated its readiness to assist in measures to strengthen the security" of its member nations.

However Washington might seem to back and fill regarding the Anglo-French adventure in the Suez Canal area, however it might be embarrassed by finding itself allied with Nasser of Egypt and the Soviet bloc in U. N. maneuvers, the direct challenge to Western solidarity posed by the Communist infiltration of Syria was a gray horse of another color, and Washington could not ignore it.

That it was on the right track at last with its strong warning to Syria—in reality aimed at Russia—Washington had almost immediate proof. Russia burst out with a renewal of its cold war propaganda, aimed at the West in general and the United States in particular.

There is nothing new in Russia's effort to take over Syria and use that country as a stalkinghorse to conquer the Middle East. Russian domination of the Middle East has been a Kremlin dream for generations, under the czars and under the Communists. The West could no longer wash its hands of the direct threat posed by the Syrian action.

Marquis Childs

Western Alliance Falling Apart

PARIS — The Western alliance is rapidly fraying apart. There should be no doubts on that score. If this is calculated policy, then it is succeeding beyond the most hopeful expectations of those in Washington who determined that if this was not in itself a direct objective then it was a risk which could be blithely undertaken.

Two recent developments — one in the United Nations and one in Cairo — have greatly accentuated the growing hostility that lies close to the surface in Western Europe.

The first was the action of the United States in joining once again in the U. N. with Russia and Egypt to demand the immediate withdrawal of French-British troops in the Suez Canal Zone.

The second, and in the European view a directly related step, was President Gamal Abdel Nasser's order expelling 25,000 members of the French-British community in Egypt, compelling them to leave behind their property to be confiscated by the Egyptian government. They can take out of the country less than $60 in cash, regardless of their assets in Egypt.

According to reports here, Washington has sent word that every effort will be made to persuade Nasser to revoke this order which the Swiss legation in Cairo, looking after British interests, has called "barbarous" and "a veritable catastrophe." But the possibility that Nasser can be talked into abandoning this measure of reprisal is considered here to be slight.

Because America is consistently backing him, Nasser, in the European view, is becoming more and more bold. He considers himself, in short, to be the victor and he means, with apparently full assurance of American support, to punish the French-British invaders with increasing severity.

If the expulsion order cannot be revoked or modified, the economic problem of caring for some 25,000 penniless refugees, many of whom have spent their entire lives in Egypt and have only nominal French or British citizenship, will be serious, particularly when it is piled on top of the cost of compensating for the oil supply lost when the canal was blocked and the Syrian pipeline blown up.

This last is the basic reason for the fear and the hostility that are growing here. It is the view in Europe that American policy is providing Nasser with a golden opportunity to keep the canal closed indefinitely or, at the very least, to insure his continued control exercised in a capricious and an arbitrary way he would never have dared a month ago.

Behind Nasser is Soviet Russia, and in the European view the Communists will also now be more and more emboldened, and their demands, backed by the United States and the African-Asian bloc in the U.N., will put a greater and greater penalty on Western Europe.

The situation would seem to be pure fantasy if it were not for the grim realities that cannot forever be ignored. One of them is the rising current of anti-Americanism in Britain and France. In Britain, this is finding an increasingly vocal expression.

The political consequences of the growing cleavage are bound to make it more difficult, if not in fact impossible, to repair the breach and start the urgent work of reparation.

Those who are most anti-American are also the most nationalistic supporters of the misadventure in Egypt. They are hardening in their backing of the Eden government in London and the Mollet government here. This means that a necessary change in these governments to facilitate a resumption of the working relationship with Washington is becoming more and more difficult.

In London, the right wing of the Conservative party is so inflamed against the United States that there might well be a revolt if and when the Prime Minister bows out with the excuse of continuing ill health. The right-wing Tories would resent what they would consider to have been American influence in forcing a change by reason of Washington's persistent refusal to open the door, even a crack, for Eden.

Likewise in France, the support of the right is hardening around the Socialist government of Guy Mollet. This will make it more difficult to carry out such changes as, for example, finding a substitute for Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, who on his recent visit to Washington was given the deep-freeze treatment. Long before the Egyptian crisis Americans had found it hard to work with Pineau.

If positions on both sides of the Atlantic grow more rigid, with the hope of face-saving compromise excluded, the task of patching up the alliance may well become impossible. That the United States can build an alternative policy on the Arab-Asian axis, and particularly by winning Nasser back to grace, no one here believes.

Myth Of The Mad Scientist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do you think there's something wicked about scientists?

No? Well, some of our kids do. More than one high school kid out of 10, in fact.

Do you think scientists would throw you to the wolves if it was in their own self-interest?

More than one out of four high schools students seems to think so.

And then we wonder why Russia turns out more scientists each year than we do.

This is a problem that has been getting attention from the top levels of government lately. Since, according to the best available figures:

The Soviet Union produced 120,000 scientific workers and engineers from its universities this year. The United States turned out 70,000.

All told, Russia has some 890,000 specialists in this field today. This country has 760,000 more or less.

Who's winning the long-term race? Just look at the figures.

And you might recall that this is the age when wars, if there have to be wars, are won on drafting boards rather than on battlefields.

So: The Russians coax or club their kids into knowing how to design new weapons.

A trade organization called the Aircraft Industries of America soon will make public a survey suggesting — if you will permit a note of grim humor — that our young'uns are growing up with more interest in the slide trombone than in the slide rules.

This survey, conducted by Purdue University, covered 15,000 high schoolers. Its main conclusions:

"Forty-five per cent believe their school background is too poor to permit them to choose science as a career.

"Thirty-five per cent believe that it is necessary to be a genius to become a good scientist.

"Thirty per cent believe that one cannot raise a normal family and be a scientist at the same time.

"Twenty-eight per cent do not believe scientists have time to enjoy life.

"Twenty-seven per cent think that scientists are willing to sacrifice the welfare of others to further their own interests.

"Twenty-five per cent think scientists as a group are more than a little 'odd.'

"Fourteen per cent think there is something 'evil' about scientists.

"Nine per cent believe that you cannot be a scientist and be honest."

Makes you wonder, almost, whether we haven't slid back into the dark ages.

Why Men Are Overweight

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That the average man may be worn down more by his clothes than his woes. His winter clothing —counting contents of pockets — weighs about nine pounds, that of the average woman only 2½ pounds.

That jaywalking moose are a railroad problem in Alaska. About 300 a year are killed by trains.

That President William Henry Harrison was the only occupant of the White House who kept his own milk cow.

That cats have been known to eat socks out of a sheer boredom, which also may explain a lot of odd human eating habits.

That after childbirth in some South American Indian tribes it's the father who goes to bed and, feigning exhaustion, lies there while his wife arises and waits on him and the baby hand and foot. This custom may sound primitive—but they rarely lose a father.

That 6 of every 100 babies born in this country are now delivered by Caesarean operation.

That an Australian physician says one of every five men who dies has some cancer of the prostate gland, although this is seldom the actual cause of death.

That the new 41,000-mile national highway system, although it will represent only 1.2 per cent of America's road mileage, is expected to carry 20 per cent of the traffic.

That the Duchess of Windsor likes to raid the icebox at midnight—and her favorite snack is frankfurters.

That about 209,000 automobiles will be stolen this year, and in 6 of 10 cases where arrests are made the thief will be a youth under 18.

That tobacco manufacturers are considering putting a filter tip cigar on the market.

That the average American eats 15.8 quarts of ice cream a year . . . and one out of three drinks four or more cups of coffee a day.

That is was the late Oliver Herford who observed, "A woman's mind is cleaner than a man's; she changes it more often."

Pressure Areas Found Cause Of Hurricanes

WEST PALM BEACH (AP)—The stage is set for the growth of a major hurricane when a small tropical storm blunders in between two strategically located high pressure areas and below a low pressure area, a weather researcher said today.

Banner Miller, research forecaster for the Miami Hurricane Warning Center, said that five great storms of 1954 and 1955 all encountered that set of weather conditions before they roared forth as destroyers.

The problem of the well-behaved storm that for no apparent reason intensifies has long baffled men. Little research previously has been done in this field.

The hurricane warning center hopes to develop Miller's findings to the point that forecasters can predict hurricane growth beginning next fall.

Miller told the Hurricane Research Symposium those conditions seem necessary before a small tropical storm can become a big one:

A high pressure area to the east of the storm center, another to the southwest, and a low, northwest. This combination blocks off winds that would slow down the circular storm winds while permitting the escape of heated air from the storm. The hot air mulls into the low pressure area, Miller said.

The five storms he studied were Hazel and Edna of 1954 and Connie, Ione and Janet of 1955. Several other storms which did not find these conditions failed to grow to major force, Miller said.

Congressman Gets 50 Hours Free Phoning

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressman can talk 3,000 minutes—that's 50 hours—a year over the telephone and the government will pay the tolls.

He can send 20,000 words by telegram, and that's paid for, too.

He gets $1,200 a year for stationery.

He can send all his official mail free and also get an extra $200 a year for air mail and special delivery stamps. But his franked signature on the envelope, which gives him the privilege of free mail, can't be more than three inches long.

These household tips for congressional living are contained in a booklet entitled: "Information for Representatives-elect to the 85th Congress."

Old timers presumably know of these and the other extras which go with their office. The booklet says:

A member of Congress gets $22,500 a year and for income tax purposes may deduct up to $3,000 a year for the expense of maintaining two residences—back home and in the capital.

Around The Rim

Making The Male More Colorful

I see where a cosmetician has predicted that inside of 50 years members of the male sex will be wearing rouge, lipstick and powder on their faces in the current tones women use today.

He thinks the barber shop will give away to the beauty shop for males, where you can watch baseball on TV and drink a can of schnapps while your toupee is being waved.

If you thank that's ridiculous, think back, neighbor. Multi-colored sport blouses, berets, blue-suede shoes, flat-top hats and ruffled shirts—not to mention girdles (for men), leopard-skin vests and lace handkerchiefs—have been added to the proud male's wardrobe in our lifetime. Yes, and that cologne with the 'horsey smell., too.

Man is too much a slave to convention to resist any popular fad for long. If your friend down the way gets a foreign-looking car which makes it seem that he's sitting on the floor with his knees as high as his shoulders, chances are you want one, too.

The fashion industry decided it wanted every self-respecting male to start wearing pink a couple of years ago. Newspapers and magazines hinting the change were burned in protest but what did the male animal do? He started wearing pink and convinced himself he looked good in it.

When you hear a guy like this authority on cosmetics speak, you have to let him have his say. He insists that all make-up will be semi-permanent, that wearers of rouge, lipstick and powder will be able to wash their faces and sleep without trace of the makeup coming off.

If, however, you find a color scheme you find objectionable, or one of your catty friends insists it doesn't look good on you—what do you do then? Why then, the expert maintains, there will be a special preparation in use to whisk makeup off faster than any soap or cream does today.

It'll reach the point, our authority claims, where a woman can, if she wishes, be the same color from head to toe. That includes hair, face, dress and finger and toenail polish.

In striving to clinch his argument, the cosmetics expert says man will turn to the use of makeup to keep from getting an inferiority complex around the dolls.

"Man," says he, "is the only creature in the animal kingdom where the male is drab and the female colorful."

Methinks there are some things that shouldn't be changed. I don't mind being out-dazzled by a party who has the chassis and the face for it in the first place.

So New Yorkers Aren't Friendly?

Nine out of every 10 visitors who come to New York City carry away the unhappy and not altogether true conviction that we who dwell in this vast metropolis are not always neighborly or friendly, polite or courteous toward one another.

An English newspaper columnist recently here on business for the London Daily Express wrote his paper implying that a New Yorker could drop dead on the sidewalk and even his next of kin would simply step over the body and go on about his business.

Anyway you slice it, this is harsh criticism, implying lack of heart and humanity on the part of all of us. But so the indictments go, with no one ever rising to say a few words in behalf of the defendant.

But I have a brace of stories for consumption today that will prove how hot is the milk of kindness that races through our veins and how superbly our politesse and humanitarianism rise to the exigencies of city life.

Let us take first the case of Liza, 5, and her vitamins.

Liza and her family live in a large, new apartment house. The residents of this cliff dwelling have long known that the water riser connecting the bathrooms acts as a perfect sounding board, and that any conversation in any bathroom is instantly broadcast throughout the building.

Now the tenant in the apartment above Liza and her parents is a charming gentleman of the old New York school, meaning that he minds his business and expects the neighbors to mind theirs.

However, a few days ago, Liza, for whom the doctor had prescribed vitamins, and her mother were in the bathroom, in the process of getting the first vitamin tablet down Liza.

This was a real tough job, as Liza is a modern, highly articulate child. She was determined not to take the pill and said so loudly and repeatedly the more her mother pleaded and threatened.

At the end of 10 noisy minutes, Liza still hadn't taken the pill. Then suddenly a disembodied voice, vibrant with power and authority, filled the bathroom. In measured, awesome tones it said, "Liza, this is God. Take that pill!"

Liza looked at her mother, who nodded solemn affirmation. Liza took the pill without another word.

When Liza's mother wrote a letter of appreciation to the old gentleman, she received, in turn, a note that simply said, "I am always happy to be of service in emergencies."

My second story concerns an incident in the subway, whose riders are supposed to be boorish, sullen troglodytes. But when a friend pushed her way into a crowded car, a Galahad offered her a seat. She protested politely, even as she was settling herself in the seat, that she did not want to force a tired man to stand up at the end of a long hard day.

"That's all right, lady," said this latter-day Lord Chesterfield as my friend leaned back comfortably, "that guy next to you on the right has a snake in his pocket and it was driving me nuts."

The Gallup Poll

Most Britons Now Back Eden

PRINCETON, N. J. — Majority opinion in Great Britain has now moved to support Sir Anthony Eden's policy in Egypt and his personal position as Prime Minister has been greatly strengthened, the British Gallup Poll finds.

For the first time since October of last year, Eden's Conservative party has gained a political lead in Britain.

Initial reaction of the British public to the action of England and France in Egypt, reported early in November, found the weight of opinion opposed to Eden's handling of the Middle East situation.

Today the majority of Britons say Eden was right.

Greatest disagreement comes from members of the opposition Labor party, 63 per cent of whom express disagreement with the Prime Minister's policy in Egypt.

Interviewing in the survey was completed just before Eden's health failed and he had to give up the helm temporarily to Mr. Richard A. Butler, Lord Privy Seal and Conservative party leader of the House of Commons. Eden is now in Jamaica for a complete rest from overstrain.

Interviewers for the affiliated British Gallup Poll asked the following series of questions of a cross-section of adults throughout Great Britain:

1. "Speaking generally, do you agree or disagree with the way Sir Anthony Eden has handled the Middle East situation?"

The vote nationwide and by party affiliation:

	All	Cons.	Lab'r Per Cent	Lib'l Per Cent
Agree	53	89	20	46
Disagree	32	4	63	33
Undecided	15	7	17	21

The early November figures showed 46 per cent in disagreement with Eden's policy, 40 per cent in agreement and 14 per cent undecided.

2. "Are you satisfied or dissatisfied with Sir Anthony Eden as Prime Minister?"

	All	Cons.	Lab'r Per Cent	Lib'l Per Cent
Satisified	57	94	19	57
Dissatisfied	35	3	72	29
Undecided	8	3	9	14

The comparable figures in the earlier survey showed 47 per cent expressing satisfaction with Eden, 41 per cent dissatisfaction and 12 per cent undecided.

3. "Do you think that Eden will eventually have to resign over the Suez question or will he stay as Prime Minister?"

	All	Cons.	Lab's Per Cent	Lib'l Per Cent
Will resign	16	4	33	13
Will stay	64	87	40	68
Don't know	20	9	27	19

4. "If there were a General Election tomorrow, how would you vote?"

The vote today and the trend since October, 1955:

	To-Day	Early Nov.	Apr. '56	Jan. '56	Oct. '55
	Per Cent
Conservative	46	42½	43	45½	46½
Labor	45	48	48	46½	44½
Liberal	8	8½	9	7½	8
Other	1	1	1	½	1

Some members of Eden's own Conservative party in Parliament have objected to what they regard as Britain's "abject surrender" in Egypt to withdraw its forces.

These Conservative leaders have opposed withdrawal of British forces from the Suez unless Britain receives airtight guarantees that the canal will be cleared swiftly and unless operation of the canal is removed from Egyptian President Nasser's domination and put under international control.

Cherished License

DES MOINES (AP) — Police Lt. Arvene Nelson, on routine patrol duty, asked to see a man's driver's license.

The man produced a license for the years 1932-33 and when Nelson queried him about it he replied: "Oh, I'm not like some of you fellows. When they give me something I don't lose it. I never lost my license so I never had to get another one."

In Iowa, drivers' licenses are supposed to be renewed every two years.

Out Of Lock

GRANDFIELD, Okla. (AP)—Emery Hagy pushed his car into Jack Jones' garage complaining the ignition switch wouldn't work.

Jones tried Hagy's key, and sure enough it wouldn't turn. He spent 30 minutes getting out the lock and trying to trace down the trouble.

Then Hagy stuck his hands in his pocket — and sheepishly pulled out a key. It was the key to his car. The one that "wouldn't work" was to his pickup truck.

Imitation Joint

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Jimmy Nabors, a young Tennessee television entertainer, limped off the stage after doing an imitation of Elvis Presley.

Physicians said Nabors threw his knee out of joint while performing the exaggerated gyrations.

Water For Oil

FAIRFAX, Okla. (AP) — It was so dry in this north Oklahoma town that when the municipal swimming pool was drained the city sold the water to an oil drilling rig firm.

Soft Candlelight, Red, Gold And Silver

Red carnations, a golden cloth and centerpiece and silver candelabra marked the Christmas party given Saturday evening at Big Spring Country Club by three couples. From left to right, Mr. and Mrs. William Heflin, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Kountz and Mr. and Mrs. Friend Talbott display the table from which refreshments were served during the occasion.

Three Couples Entertain With Yule Party Saturday Evening

Helping the holiday fun to get into full swing was the Christmas party given Saturday evening at the Big Spring Country Club. Host couples were Mr. and Mrs. William Heflin, Mr. and Mrs. Friend Talbott and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Kountz.

Guests entering the foyer, found a white Christmas tree trimmed in red in the ballroom. Large arrangements of red carnations in urns were prominently placed.

Continuing the theme of red gold and silver was the table, where a variety of sandwiches, dips and confections was placed. Punch and coffee were served from small tables, each flanking the large table. This was laid in a gold satin cloth with overlay of gold lamé and net.

At the center of attraction, a golden sleigh of red carnations was pulled by the little reindeer, Rudolph, splendid in gold glitter and sequins. Golden tapers burned in silver candelabra, each wound with red carnations and greenery.

Local and out-of-town guests chatted and visited as Christmas carols were played throughout the evening.

Included in the list of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Piner, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strom, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Tidwell, Dr. and Mrs. Roy Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Boatler, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Soldan, Carol Belton, Bill Inkman, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Grafa, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Worthy, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Beale, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Thurman, Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Robb, The Rev. and Mrs. Gage Lloyd.

Also, the Rev. and Mrs. William Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Townsend, Capt. and Mrs. Grady Turner, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Jewell, Mrs. B. L. LeFever, and Mr. and Mrs. William Talbott.

Out-of-town house party members were, from Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McDaniel and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Farnsworth, from Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Aker, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Muldrow and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Teague; from Sweetwater, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dulaney; from Monahans, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thrasher; from Fort Worth, Mrs. George Mercer and Mrs. C. A. Urice; and from Venezuela, Mrs. William Thornhill.

P-TA Council Meet

The meeting of the City Council of the Parent-Teachers Association, set for Tuesday, will be held at 9:30 a.m., slightly earlier than previously announced. The session will be held in the school administrative offices on the junior high campus. Reports from the various delegates to the state convention will be heard.

Guests in the home of Mrs. J. B. Nall have been Mr. and Mrs. Todd Crain and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lee Williams, Mike and Sherry of San Angelo.

Baptist Junior Union Presents Play Sunday

KNOTT — The Junior Union of the First Baptist Church presented a playlet for the general assembly of the Training Union at the church Sunday evening. Mrs. Haskell Beck directed the play.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Caffey and Mr. and Mrs. Woody Caffey have returned from Stamford, where they attended funeral services for W. M. Smith, for the brother of Mrs. H. R. Caffey.

About 35 attended the family night supper of the Rebekah Lodge recently. A singsong was held with Mrs. Oliver Nichols Jr. as pianist.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGregor are in Aztec, N. M., to attend funeral services for her father, N. Goode, who was a former resident of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burchell and Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Gaskins have returned from a trip to El Paso.

D. Norman Beck and Isaiah Brown, students at Baylor University, have been guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Haskell Beck, parents of Norman. Brown was a guest speaker at the morning service of the First Baptist Church.

Speaker for the evening service at the Baptist Church was Mrs. Ernest Geer of Safford, Ariz., a former member of the Mormon Church.

Jrs. J. A. Peugh is reported to be in a Big Spring hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nichols and Bobby Jack were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Nichols.

Party Given For Lamesa Baptists

LAMESA — Members of the Young People II Department of the First Baptist Church were entertained with a Thanksgiving party Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Beckham. Special guests of the department were the college young people who were home for the weekend.

Featured on the program was Riley Parker, who showed movies of Switzerland, Italy and Germany. A vocal solo was given by Pat Beckham; a reading, Rose Williams; a trumpet solo, Richard Crawley. Games were directed by the department superintendent, Sparky Beckham. Teachers in the department are Mrs. Gene Campbell and Crawley.

Following the entertainment, refreshments were served from a table laid with white linen with a centerpiece of red roses. Mrs. Crawley and Mrs. Campbell presided over the serving table. About 30 young people attended.

VA Hospital Staff Given Holiday Tea

Veterans Hospital staff members and their wives or husbands were guests Sunday afternoon at an open house in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jackson H. Friedlander.

A Christmas motif set the theme of the party, at which guests were greeted by the host couple with assistance from staff members.

Serving in the house party were Bee Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton L. Carr, and Mrs. Jack Margolis. Others assisting were Mrs. Ara Cunningham, Mrs. Leroy B. Bible, Mrs. Norman Furlong, Mrs. George Zachariah, Mrs. J. S. Rittenour, Mrs. P. B. Gibson, Mrs. Ray Boren, Mrs. T. H. Durham and Mrs. Clara McLean. They alternated in serving refreshments.

The tea table was laid with an embroidered and cutwork linen cloth with insets of lace. Silvered eucalyptus leaves and red carnations, held in a silver bowl, made the center arrangement.

This was flanked by red tapers in silver candlesticks. About 75 attended the tea.

Christmas Stressed By Window Decor

The movement to maintain and increase the religious significance of Christmas is being given impetus by an art panel through an advertisement that the greeting card manufacturer placed this month in a current magazine.

The transparency, when placed in the window, permits light from the room to shine through, and the Nativity scene glows in deep rich tones of four colors, proclaiming the sacredness of Christmas.

It was reproduced from a stained glass window, which was designed especially for the art company. The window will be donated — as a gift from the company — to a representative church in the United States immediately following the Christmas season.

Visitor In Knott

Rosetta Williams, student in Sul Ross College, was a holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams, Knott. Miss Williams, who was on the honor roll for the first nine-week period of college work, is a junior, with a major in home economics.

Ada Belle Dement Club Observes Eighth Anniversary With Party

The eighth anniversary of the founding of their organization was observed Sunday afternoon by members of the Ada Belle Dement Civic and Arts Club.

The affair was a tea given in the home of Mrs. Charlie Merritt. Members of the club alternated in greeting guests at the door and in serving as hostesses.

At the register was Mrs. George Abernathy. Serving refreshments were Mrs. Oliver Reed, Mrs. Hubert Miller, Mrs. Tom Traylor and Mrs. Clinton Muse. Silver serving pieces were used.

The tea table was covered with a cloth of ecru nylon, with appliques of poinsettias in metallic thread. Centering the table was an arrangement of chrysanthemums in a wine shade. An arrangement of pink rosebuds, gift of Mrs. M. T. Kuykendall, was used in the entertaining rooms.

Guests were present from Colorado City and Loraine, with special guests, Mrs. Norman Read, Mrs. John Knox and Mrs. Cliff Wiley, attending. About 75 registered.

The club, which has a membership of 24, was organized in December, 1948, by Mrs. G. H. Penny, a faculty member at Lakeview School. About 10 charter members remain on the roster.

The name of the club was chosen in honor of the late Mrs. Ada Belle Dement of Mineral Wells, who was president of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs.

Cuban Revolt

Government forces speedily crushed a civilian uprising against the regime of President Fulgencio Batista in Santiago de Cuba. General Martin Diaz Tamayo, military chief of Oriente province (center) points out some of the armament seized from the rebels which attacked police headquarters.

Rebels Establish Beachhead; Cuban Federal Units Move In

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Cuban army said rebel troops landed on Cuba's south coast and government forces were advancing on them early today.

It said army planes had strafed an "enemy" band and scattered it, and that the navy had intercepted a yacht off the coast and found baggage believed to belong to Fidel Castro Ruz, a Cuban student leader who has been in exile in Mexico.

A small-scale rebellion began Friday at Santiago de Cuba.

Rumors spread through Cuba that Castro had been killed. But the army said it could not confirm that the 30-year-old former Havana student was even in the country. Frequently accused of plotting against the Batista government, he has been living in Mexico City. Mexican officials said Saturday he was still there and under police observation.

(A dispatch to the Miami Herald said government planes bombed and strafed a band of 40 commandos in a sugar field between Manzanillo and Nicaro on the south coast, killing Castro.)

Earlier today Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Avila, army general adjutant, said the rebel band landed in Oriente province, north of Santiago de Cuba, under the command of Castro. He did not give the rebel band's strength.

The army statement denying knowledge of Castro's whereabouts came later.

The official statement said a Mexican - registered yacht had been intercepted by a Cuban navy unit near Cape Cruz on the south coast.

It said government forces were pursuing the "enemy" troops on the coast.

The government intelligence service announced the arrest of 12 Venezuelans it described as "part of a group of 60 mercenaries in Cuba" to participate in the revolt.

This was the first report of participation by citizens of another country. Apparently the Venezuelans were separate from the "expeditionary force" reported by Gen. Rodriguez Avila. The intelligence service said the Venezuelans arrived Nov. 28 in an "irregular manner."

The uprising began early Friday with attacks by civilian bands on police stations in Santiago de Cuba. At least 12 persons were killed and more than 50 wounded.

Just yesterday the army said the revolutionary attempt had been "completely crushed." It gave diehard rebels 24 hours to turn in their weapons.

Occasional shots were still heard in Santiago de Cuba, but stores, bars and restaurants opened and life returned pretty much to normal.

Paving Of Moore Road Is Resumed

Contractor has moved back on the job and is pushing ahead with the paving work on the Moore Road, it was said Monday by Walter Parks, county engineer.

Work of surfacing the road had been brought to a halt about two weeks ago when cold weather struck. Paving cannot be satisfactorily laid when the temperatures are low.

Parks said that with good luck, assuming the present mild temperature held, the job could be completed Monday.

The Moore road is five miles in length. It cuts off from Highway 87 and goes four miles west and a mile north through the Moore community. Eventually it is hoped to extend it to tie into the Fairview road.

The Fairview road has already been paved.

Parks said progress is being made on the Forsan road. Workmen are building base and have completed some of the grading and drainage. Two culverts have been constructed. One additional culvert will have to be built. All utilities on the route have been moved. Parks said that the road bisected an area where there were a great many gas and oil lines. All of these have been relocated.

The road crew "dodged" most of the powerlines and telephone lines.

As a result very few poles and lines had to be removed from the route.

Operators Drillstem Testing On Wildcat In North Field

Operators were drillstem testing the Forest No. 1 Roy Minear, a wildcat 13 miles north of Big Spring.

Two tests were run Sunday.

The venture was testing the Spraberry today after recovering 2,310 feet of oil on a two-hour test earlier. Gravity of the oil was 34 degrees. The present test is being run below 6,430 feet.

Dawson

Seaboard No. 1 Miers acidized with 3,000 gallons and is now testing. Operator set 5½-inch casing at 9,174 feet. Site is 660 feet from south and west lines, Labor 19, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey, in the Mungerville field.

McRae No. 1 Landers set 5½-inch casing at 11,123 feet and perforated between 10,974-11,004 feet. It washed with 250 gallons mud acid and 500 regular acid, and is now swabbing. The perforations are in the Strawn. The venture is a wildcat 14 miles east of Lamesa, 1,984 feet from north and 2,248 feet from east lines, Labor 4, League 280, Hutchinson CSL Survey.

Texas No. 1 W. J. Beckham squeezed off perforations below 8,174 feet and plan to reperforate at a higher level. The venture is located a mile and a half south of Lamesa, C NW SW, 17-35-5n, T&P Survey.

Humble No. 2 Lane pumped 18 hours and recovered 27 barrels of load oil, cut 89 per cent water. It is still pumping. Drillsite is in the Jo-Mill field, 3,100 feet from north and 1,800 feet from west lines, 45-33-5n, T&P Survey.

Humble No. 1 Stewart, in the same field, deepened to 5,626 feet. Location is 550 from north and east lines, 5-33-4n, T&P Survey.

Humble No. 1 Hemphill deepened to 7,002 feet. It is in the Mungerville Southeast field, 660 feet from north and east lines, Labor 31, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey, and nine miles west of Lamesa.

Howard

Forest No. 1 Minear today took a drillstem test below 6,430 feet in shale and sand. Operator ran a drillstem test from 5,915-77 feet, with the tool open two hours. It recovered 10 feet of mud.

On another test from 6,248-352 feet, for two hours, recovery was 2,310 feet of oil, 40 feet of oil and gas-cut mud, and 90 more feet of oil. Gravity was 34 degrees. Shutin pressure for 30 minutes was 1,347 pounds. The tests are in the Spraberry. It is a wildcat 13 miles north of Big Spring, C SW SW NE, 23-31-2n, T&P Survey.

Cosden No. 1 Garrett deepened to 5,320 feet in lime and shale. It is a wildcat venture 1,980 feet from south and 2,010 feet from east lines, 48-33-2n, T&P Survey, and seven miles north of Big Spring.

Ashmun et al No. 1 Grantham set 5½-inch casing at 9,080 feet and perforated between 9,021½-22½ feet in the Pennsylvanian. Operator squeezed off perforations and is now waiting on cement to set. Location of the wildcat is 13½ miles northwest of Big Spring, 1,957 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines, 8-33-2n, T&P Survey.

Williamson et al No. 1 Anderson, in the Big Spring field, drilled to 6,430 feet in lime and shale. It is C SE NE, 24-32-1n, T&P Survey, and eight miles northeast of Big Spring.

Mitchell

Shell No. 1 Barber drilled to 2,135 feet in lime, chert, and dolomite. It is a wildcat venture C SE NW, 18-28-1s, T&P Survey. Site is about five miles southwest of Westbrook.

Refugee Woman Stricken By TB

CAMP KILMER, N. J. (AP)—A 24-year-old Hungarian refugee — bride-to-be—was diagnosed as a tuberculosis case shortly after she arrived here, Army authorities said today.

Miss Elizabeth Kiss, the refugee, will be transferred later today to the Deborah Sanitorium in Browns Mills. Her care will be donated by a group of New Brunswick women who are among 35,000 sponsors of the free, nonsectarian institution.

Her illness was spotted after she arrived last week. Another 72 refugees were brought here after landing early today at nearby McGuire Air Force Base in a Trans-American four-engine airliner. The new group included 41 men, 18 women and 13 children.

8,800 Howard Acres Put In Reserve Plan

Ninety-six landowners have signed up for the 1956 edition of the Federal Conservation Acreage reserve program, it was announced by the ASC office Monday.

Deadline for signing up for the 1956 program was Nov. 31.

Signup period for the 1957 program is now under way and the deadline for this interval will be March 15.

The 96 landowners who signed for the program represent a total of 8,800 acres of land. Under the program, land which is accepted for the program has to be cultivated land — it cannot be pasture land.

The cooperator agrees to establish permanent grass on the land listed and to neither graze nor harvest it for a period of five years.

The land must be planted to some suitable grass. Actually the ASC office said, the program pulls out the acreage from production for the five-year interval.

Gabe Hammack, ASC office manager, said he had no information on how many landowners might be interested in entering the program for the new period. The 1957 program would extend the retirement time one year later than was the case of the land in the 1956 program.

48 Sanity Hearings Set

A near record docket of 48 cases is set for jury hearing at the Big Spring State Hospital this afternoon.

That many applications for committal to the hospital are on hand and R. H. Weaver, county judge, said that the trial of the matters would take most of the afternoon.

There have been a few months in the past, the county court records show, when more than 48 committals were handled but the number is close to a record for a month.

Applications for committal to the State Hospital came from many counties in the state. The hearings on the applications are handled through the county court in this county.

Each case is presented to a jury of six men who decide after the evidence is submitted on whether the committal shall be ordered or not.

Harbin Baby Dies, Rites Wednesday

Keith Warren Harbin, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harbin, died in a hospital here Sunday afternoon.

The remains were shipped by air Monday morning from the River Funeral Home to Alice. Last rites will be held at the graveside at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Memorial Gardens.

Besides the parents, Keith is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Harbin, Mathis, and Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Listenbee, Yorktown. The baby was born Nov. 29. Mr. Harbin is employed here by Halliburton.

Postal Receipts Show A Decline

Postal receipts for the month of November were slightly more than $2,000 less than the receipts for November 1955 and postal authorities are at a loss to explain the decrease.

Total receipts for the period just ended were $17,054.05. In November 1955, the receipts were $19,384.16.

This is the first month, according to E. C. Boatler, postmaster that receipts for a month in 1956 have not shown an increase over the same month in 1955.

Senator Looks Back On His Predictions 50 Years Ago

By SEN. JOSEPH C. O'MAHONEY
Written For The Associated Press

Looking backwards to the beginning of this century and reexamining the scientific and technological achievements which have been recorded, one is impressed by the speed with which they have transformed the world.

It is extremely doubtful if the present generation has realized either the speed with which these changes have been wrought or the extraordinary effect they are exerting upon the political and social concepts under which we now live — here and throughout the world.

The predictions I made in 1906 for the next hundred years have already been accomplished and exceeded in half a century. Each one of these steps of progress, however, has carried within itself the seeds of a changing social order. We now live and move within this altered order without realizing the transformation which has already taken place and which may well destroy self-government itself unless we take deliberate charge of the course of history. Our forefathers did it. We can do it too.

What I dare to predict now for the next 50 years must be predicated upon the alterations through which these years have taken us. Life upon this planet is not the local thing it used to be. The means of transportation and communication this generation enjoys have obliterated the geographical boundaries which once set men and nations apart, and thereby resulted in the growth of different habits and mores among all the dwellers of the earth.

Now that people in every land have practically become neighbors, we are face to face with the necessity of establishing for all men the principles of free government first set up in this country.

This struggle cannot be won by warfare, although history shows us that whenever the world has been divided between two great powers they hae been inevitably locked in conflict and one of the two has perished from the earth.

Now that the weapons of warfare have been transformed by nuclear science into appalling machines that release the totally destructive secrets of nature, it is doubtful if even the most brutal of communistic regimes will not be deterred from another resort to arms on a worldwide scale.

The fear of total destruction and realization that no nation can finance a third World War with nuclear weapons, constantly becoming more expensive as they become more destructipe, will make it necessary for us to devote all our hopes and fears to the adjustment of modern science to the preservation of man rather than his annihilation.

This is the dilenma which mankind can solve only by faith in the freedom of the soul and by adherence to the philosophy of popular government. It reached its flowering in this nation but is now enveloped in the worst threat of the subjugation of the individual by central power that mankind has ever faced.

As I look forward to the next 50 years, I envision the victory of freedom and peace for the individual over concentrated political and economic power by the triumph of the moral and spiritual aspirations of millions of individuals who hate war, who love peace, and who want to live in friendship and tolerance with all the men and women whom God has made free.

This struggle of the spiritual over the material, I do not hesitate to say, must be waged by the citizens of the United States. It may require decades for them to comprehend and to teach the world by example that the founders of this country contemplated a popular government under which the equality of the people would be maintained in both political and economic matters.

If freedom is to be preserved, and of course that means freedom for the individual both politically and economically, it will be necessary for us first of all to realize that the institutions of any people or nation are the institutions and practices under which they live their daily lives. Empires of the past have been built when the people were governed from the top down. Free government is established when the institutions, political and economic, rest upon the will of the people and are administered by popularly selected leaders who act under the orders of the people.

Civil Hearings Are Under Way

Seven civil cases were announced as ready for trial when Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th District Court, sounded his docket Monday morning.

Judge Sullivan said that it was unlikely that all seven of the cases could be tried by the end of the present week but that the court would push ahead with the matters in the order called.

A jury had been summoned to report at 10 a.m. Initial case on the docket was called at that time and selection of a jury to try it was under way at 10:30 a.m.

First case on the docket is Denie Key et al versus John Shortes, et al. This is a damage action stemming out of an automobile accident which occurred on Nov. 27, 1954. Denie Key alleges that a pickup in which the plaintiff was riding was struck by a car driven by Roosevelt Redie and owned by Shortes. The accident occurred seven miles northeast of Big Spring.

The plaintiff has sued for a total of $103,280 damages.

resolution voted on by the Security Council on the 13th of October with regard to the 18-power proposals."

The 18-power proposals were formulated in London soon after Egypt nationalized the canal and would set up a system for international control of the waterway.

The Security Council on Oct. 13 unanimously accepted six principles for negotiations on Suez. They were:

1. Free and open transit through the canal without discrimination.
2. Respect for Egypt's sovereignty.
3. Insulation of the canal from the politics of any country.
4. Fixing of tolls to be decided by agreement between Egypt and the users.
5. A proportion of the dues to be allotted to development.
6. Disputes to be settled by arbitration.

Lloyd did not lay down in his statement details of a time table for the complete withdrawal of the British-French forces. But he said Keightley and Burns would draw one up together and report it as quickly as possible to Hammarskjold. Widely circulated reports, wholly unofficial, have said the British-French forces would be out by Christmas; and that is what the troops themselves believe.

POLICE RADIO PICKS UP SHERIFF COX—IN OREGON

Distance posed no problems for Big Spring's police radio Sunday.

Dispatcher Sherill Farmer was working at the radio Sunday when he got a call from Glasscock County Sheriff Buster Cox.

Cox had a peculiar question, Farmer thought; he asked about the weather in Big Spring.

Farmer thought he was kidding and asked him why he didn't look out the window and see for himself.

Cox just replied it wasn't easy as that; he was in Bend, Ore. He said that he could hear the Big Spring station better from there than he could from Garden City.

Cox and Miller Harris were in Oregon on official business and hearing the Big Spring station, wanted to know how the weather was here.

Freak conditions made possible the contact, since the local radio is not powered to reach past 50 miles.

Girl, 11, Saves Her Kin From Drowning

HOUSTON (AP)—Virgil Oden, a welder, has always found it worthwhile to take his daughter, Susan, 11, along on his fishing trips—and yesterday he found it was worth his life and the life of his brother, Harold, 46.

Susan saved them from drowning in the deep waters off Scott's reef near Seabrook, after the wash of a passing boat nearly capsized their boat and did pitch both men out.

"We would have drowned if 'Baby Girl' hadn't been along," said Oden today.

Oden, 48, a widower, has been taking Susan with him fishing "since she was a little bit of a thing."

"She has always wanted to go along, and I have never refused her," Oden laughed.

After fishing all day, the three started back to shore, Susan kidding the two men because she had caught 7 of the 11 fish hooked, including the biggest and the largest redfish.

The water was choppy and the wind high, and Oden never saw the wash of the passing boat until too late.

"First thing I know, that boat was almost upside down," said Oden. "My brother and I were thrown into the water, and Susan was almost thrown out. It was quite an effort for her even to get back in the boat, which with us out, was running almost full throttle and in circles."

Weighted down by their heavy clothes—they hadn't had a chance to grab life jackets—the men swiftly became exhausted. They shouted to Susan to cut the motor off whenever the wildly-careening boat came near.

"She finally understood us, and in trying to cut the motor off, throttled it down to slow speed," said Oden. "I was able to get in and help Harold in. Susan was scared stiff, he said. But thank God she was with us!"

He added he wouldn't be a "bit surprised" if this Christmas isn't an extra big Christmas for the girl.

Lone Star Scout District Officers Will Be Installed

Annual meeting of the Lone Star District of the Buffalo Trail Council will be held at 7 p.m. today in the High School Cafeteria.

Highlights of the meeting, a dinner affair, will be the installation of new district officers, together with tributes to unit leaders.

John Taylor, district chairman, will preside. Maurice R. Koger is to be inducted as district chairman, with Lee Porter and Dr. Marshall R. Cauley as vice chairmen; Taylor and C. H. Rainwater as board members.

Approximately 25 units — Cub packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer posts — are due to be represented at the meeting. A brief address is to be given by Joe Pickle, a former district chairman.

She's In Railroad Business

Mrs. Grace Everett, 603 Settles, gets her first look at the electric train she won Saturday in the Big Spring merchants' pre-Christmas awards program. Presenting the train is George Oldham of the Chamber of Commerce Merchants Committee. Mrs. Everett was the sixth prize winner of the program. Awards will be made daily until Christmas. Today's prize was to be a $1,000 fur coat.

346,000 Letters Posted Here During November

Big Spring post office dispatched 346,330 pieces of letter mail during the month of November, E. C. Boatler, postmaster, reported today.

There were no comparative figures for a year ago, but Boatler said that he believed the volume was greater than in November 1955. Much of the letter mail handled in the latter part of the month, he added, was Christmas in character. It included many Christmas greeting cards and the volume of this type of mail is steadily increasing day by day.

Boatler said that his staff is looking forward to Dec. 18 to see if this year's volume of Christmas mail manages to equal the flood of such mail which struck the office on last Dec. 18.

"We handled 63,000 pieces of letter mail through the cancelling machines that date," Boatler recalls. "It was the biggest single day's business the post office ever recorded."

He urged anew that all patrons endeavor to get their Christmas cards in the mail as soon as possible to insure their delivery well ahead of the holiday.

Best time to come to the post office to mail greeting cards or to dispatch Christmas parcels is before 10 a.m. and between 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. The rush is less during these hours, Boatler pointed out.

Business has picked up enough as the Christmas season advances to merit employment of two extra workers to help handle the work. Additional workers will be systematically added throughout December to care for the holiday mail.

Burglars Leave Note Of Thanks At Motor Firm

Burglars took tools from the shop at Lone Star Motors, 600 E. 3rd, pried open two money boxes, and took between $50 and $75 in change over the weekend. They also left a note of thanks.

The loss was discovered by D. R. Wiley Sunday afternoon.

Two money boxes were broken into, one in the safe and one in the parts room. Tools used to open the boxes came from the shop and were left there, the police department reported.

Exact tally of the money taken had not been made this morning. The note thanked the firm for the money.

Two coke machines were broken into at different places on the north side.

About $2.95 was taken from one at the Kate Morrison School. Since officials had not been in the building since Wednesday, they had no way of knowing when the money was taken. Burglars entered through a window.

About $5 was taken from a machine at the Hull and Phillips Grocery on the Lamesa Highway. Also taken were two rolls of pennies and eight to 10 cartons of cigarettes. Entry was gained by a window.

Oil Men Meet On Aid Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of 15 major oil companies meet with top federal officials today to put final touches on a massive, government-backed plan for rushing U.S. oil to Europe.

The plan, approved by President Eisenhower late last week, calls for delivery of around 500,000 barrels of U.S. and Caribbean oil a day to European countries whose normal supply of Middle East Oil has been choked off.

It will allow the 15 companies to pool their tankers, production facilities and customers, without fear of prosecution under federal anti-trust laws, for the duration of the European oil crisis.

The combination of 15 companies is known as the Middle East Emergency Committee (MEEC). It was formed last summer when Egyptian Premier Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal, but suspended its activities after Egypt was invaded.

The biggest problem was rounding up tankers. The United States can produce considerably more than enough oil to meet its own requirements and Venezuela can be counted on for more supplies but there are not enough tankers in the right places to transport 500,000 barrels a day to Europe now.

The 15 companies control some 680 tankers. Plans are to re-route these tankers so Europe can start getting its full quota before Christmas.

Within a month or so, the tanker fleet will be augmented by 30 surplus wartime tankers from the government mothball fleet. They are now being reconditioned.

Companies represented on the MEEC are the American Independent Oil Co., Arabian American Oil, Caltex, Cities Service, Creole, Getty, Gulf, Sinclair, Socony Mobil, Standard (Calif.), Standard (NJ), Standard-Vacuum, Texas, Tidewater and Venezuelan Petroleum.

MARKETS

WALL STREET

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels and oils again paced the stock market to an advance in brisk early trading today. Pivotal stocks went ahead 1 to 3 points.

The ticker ran a minute behind.

Steel and oil prices were bolstered, brokers said, by the optimistic statements of Secretary of State Dulles on the Middle East and by the U. S. plans to help Europe with oil supplies.

Bethlehem Steel was up 2⅞ at 180½, continuing its rise on last week's news of a 4-for-1 stock split proposal. Gulf Oil rose 2½ at 107. Royal Dutch 3¼ at 95¼, and Benguet was unchanged at 1⅝ on 10,000.

American Telephone was up ¼ at 169½, Anaconda up ½ at 73¾. Chrysler up ¼ at 68½. General Electric up ½ at 59¾. General Motors up ¼ at 43¾. Boeing up 1⅛ at 58¼. International Paper up ¼ at 103¾ and Standard Oil (NJ) up ⅝ at 57.

Alleghany Corp. dropped ⅛ at 6¾. Kennecott Copper was up a point. Other gains were made by Westinghouse, New York Central, U. S. Rubber and International Paper.

COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton was 75 cents a bale lower to 40 higher at noon today. December 34.10, March 34.03, May 34.09.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Pampa and Ysleta football officials contacted local coaches recently, seeking games for the 1957 season.

Pampa wanted a two-year home-and-home contract. But for the fact that the Steers are already booked solid for next fall, the two schools perhaps would have gotten together.

Big Spring probably won't be playing Ysleta again any time soon, not after the wierd officiating the Steers experienced out that way last time they played Ysleta.

Big Spring's non-conference opponents in 1957 — Andrews, Levelland, Sweetwater, Snyder and Lamesa — all probably are better drawing cards than Pampa would be, too.

* * *

Another basketball season opens for the local high school tonight and prospects are rosier than they have been since the days of Coach Larry McCulloch and his boys.

Charley Warren, Bobby Malnes, Harold Rosson and others made up a splendid lineup in those days. Still, the Steers failed to win district.

Big Spring hasn't won a conference championship since before World War II. The Longhorns won't be favored this year but they may emerge as the team to beat.

Midland is supposed to succeed Odessa as the 2-AAAA king, although the Bulldogs lost their tall boy, Gary Roberson. In Jim Owens and Larry Cooper, the Bulldogs have two excellent rebounders who will give any team a bad time, however.

Coach Johnny Johnson will know a lot more about his Big Spring team after tonight. Lamesa is down in basketball but is always tough for Big Spring.

* * *

The Steers, of course, have no replacement for Jan Loudermilk, their 6-feet-5¼ pivot man. When and if he is taken out of the game, they'll have to change their offensive and defensive tactics.

Much is expected of little Jesse McElreath, who has grown to 5-7 and isn't so little any more. He's the pepper-pot of the team, the waker-upper, the holler guy.

A real surprise could be Billy Bluhm, who has been looking good in practice. Bluhm could have developed well enough to force one of the lettermen to sit on the bench.

* * *

The glass backboards still haven't arrived here but will be installed as soon as they are shipped in.

* * *

The Steers' Dec. 7 date with Snyder was tentative until the Tigers suffered that 7-6 football defeat at the hands of Graham last weekend.

The Tigers would have cancelled out had the Bengals beat Graham, as they were expected to do.

Snyder's best player, Milton Ham, along with several other cagers, all played football.

Grover Seitz, who used to play a lot of outfield for Big Spring back in the '20's), will manage Plainview in the Southwestern League next season.

He's been boss at Pampa for the past couple of years.

In an attempt to lure more business through the game, the price of the general admission ticket in Plainview has been reduced from 85 to 75 cents.

Billies Play Union Terry

KNOTT (SC) — The Knott Hill Billies play a return basketball game with Union Terry in Union Terry this evening. The engagement was originally scheduled for Tuesday evening but was advanced 24 hours by agreement.

Jan. 29 — Garden City	Here
Feb. 1 — Dawson	There
Feb. 5 — Sterling City	There
Feb. 8 — Dawson	Here
Feb. 12 — Forsan	There
Feb. 19 — Stanton	Here

Dobbins, Evans Odessa Leaders

ODESSA (SC) — James Dobbins and Wayne Evans have been named co-captains of the Odessa Junior College basketball team for tonight's game with Decatur Baptist College.

Game captains will be named for each contest. Permanent captains will be selected at the end of the season, however.

Dobbins hails from Amarillo. Evans is a New York product.

Officials Select Angelo As Site

San Angelo won the right to host the Class AA football game between Crane and Stamford at a meeting of officials of the two schools, conducted here Sunday afternoon at the Settles Hotel.

Other towns which offered to stage the contest were Big Spring, Colorado City and Sweetwater.

Associated Press 1956 All-Southwest Conference Team

These 12 players have been named to the Associated Press All-Southwest Conference team for 1956. The Texas Aggies with five players represented dominate the conference team. Twelve players were selected when Osborne of A&M and Nesbitt of Arkansas tied for the fourth back position. (AP Wirephoto).

Steer Cagers And Lamesa Open Season At 8 P. M.

STARTING LINEUPS:

B SPRING		LAMESA
Don Lovelady	5-11	J. L. Mayhew	6-1
Jimmy Evans	6-0	Webb Corbin	6-2
J. Loudermilk	6-5	W. Holladay	6-4
M Musgrove	5-10	Jim Barr	6-0
Jesse McElreath	5-7	Ken Hubbard	5-9

Poised for serious toil after a long scrimmage with Howard County Junior College Saturday night, the Big Spring High School Steers open their 1956-57 basketball season here tonight, meeting the pesky Lamesa Tornadoes at 8 o'clock.

B teams of the two schools tangle at 6:30 p.m.

The lid-lifter will be the first of three games the Steers play this week. They return to action at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, opposing Sweetwater here in a unique doubleheader — they'll play early enough in order that the HCJC Jayhawks can get their campaign underway at 8:30 p.m. against Decatur.

On Friday night, the Longhorns visit Andrews for a practice tilt.

Coach Johnny Johnson said he was well pleased with the Steers in the HCJC scrimmage.

However, Don Anderson, a 6-1 starter, suffered a knee injury in the action and will be lost to the team for at least a couple of weeks.

Regulars back from last season include Jan Loudermilk, a 6-foot-5¼ inch pivot man; Jimmy Evans, 6-foot forward; and Capt. Mike Musgrove, 5-10 guard.

Missing from last year's team, which competed in what was generally regarded as the toughest schoolboy basketball district in the state, are Jimmy Bice, who was eligible to return but who moved to California; LeRoy LeFevre and Charles Johnson. Johnson was the second leading scorer on the team.

Barring injury, Loudermilk should be little short of sensational this season. Jan competed against some of the best college players in the country during the summer and did very well.

Donald Lovelady, a six-foot letterman, will start in Anderson's place tonight. Lovelady has a good eye for the basket.

Billy Bluhm, Billy Bob Satterwhite and Frank Hardesty, Jr., are others who will see action tonight. Bluhm is still competing furiously for a starting berth and could make it before long.

O. W. Follis, the Lamesa coach, had a complete rebuilding job to do this year, having lost all his starters.

However, he'll have a fairly tall ball club. Wayland Holladay, at 6-4, is the rangiest of the Tornadoes.

Only Lamesa starter who fails to measure six-feet is Ken Hubbard, a senior who measures 5-9.

Others who will probably open for the visitors are Webb Corbin, 6-2; J. L. Mayhew, 6-1; and Jim Barr, 6-0.

Follis can also call upon such boys as Bill Gilbreath, 6-0; Ewell Prather, 5-11; Doyle Goolsby, 6-2; Bobby Clement, 6-0; Sam Jones, 6-1; and Frank McKinney, 5-11.

Goolsby probably would be a starter for Lamesa but for the fact that he has a bad knee.

Only Lamesa lettermen back from last season are Barr and Holladay.

Pete Cook and Boyce Hale will team up to officiate tonight's double bill.

Webb Dusters Sweep A Pair

The rejuvenated Webb Air Force Base Dusters head for Abilene AFB tonight, after having twice decisioned Amarillo AFB in Amarillo in basketball action over the weekend.

The Dusters came from behind to nip Amarillo, 85-82, Friday night and then did a repeat of those tactics on Saturday, 96-89.

Lt. James Johnson, a newcomer to the team, set the scoring pace in both games for Webb. He tallied 32 points in the opening game and 24 Saturday night. He probably would have done better the second time around, had he not fouled out with four minutes to play.

The Dusters trailed until the last two minutes in the second go, when Isaac Powell hit a couple of timely baskets and Nick Thomas chipped in a brace of gratis pitches.

Webb now has a 2-5 won-lost record.

The Dusters next see action here against Amarillo Thursday and Friday nights.

Houston Cougars To Seek SWC Entry Again Friday

DALLAS (AP)—University of Houston will make another bid for membership in the Southwest Conference at the winter meeting Friday and Saturday.

At the same time charges of illegal recruiting practices against Texas A&M are expected to be considered.

Houston will be submitted for membership by Baylor, which has sponsored its bids in the past. Only once has Houston ever managed to reach the voting stage, however, although it first sought admission in 1948. It was voted upon along with some other schools and all were turned down. It has never been voted upon alone, which however, seems likely this time since no other candidates for membership are expected.

Admission to the conference comes by invitation only. Houston officials recently visited conference schools seeking support.

Houston now is a member of the Missouri Valley Conference nd it also has an application on file with the Southeastern Conference.

SMU, which switched its stand last year to make possible Texas Tech's admission, may second the motion. SMU announced at the time it would consider other schools that might want to become members.

A&M has asked that the conference take up the case that kept it on probation at the last meeting of the NCAA Council. This is the case of Jackie Moreland, the Louisiana schoolboy basketball star who signed a letter of intent at A&M but went to North Carolina State and caused the latter school to be placed on 4-year probation.

LIONS WIN, 42-10

Gifford, Layne Pace NFL Play

By JIM KENSIL
The Associated Press

Pro football clutch players like Frank Gifford and Bobby Layne aren't paid by the yards they gain or the touchdowns they score. But when the National Football League moguls lay out the big salaries, they expect the "big play" and the "big game."

Yesterday was dividend day around the circuit as the key veterans, most of whom could afford to toil on a touchdown-yardage rate, paid off aplenty.

Layne, an eight-year veteran, passed for two touchdowns, scored another and kicked six extra points as he quarterbacked the Detroit Lions into first place in the Western Conference with a smashing 42-10 victory over the Chicago Bears.

Gifford, former movie stunt man, scored three times and threw for the other Giant touchdown as New York all but clinched the Eastern Conference title by whipping the Washington Redskins 28-14.

Elsewhere in the loop, here's what other old pros did:

Tobin Rote, the Green Bay signal caller, scored three times on short sneaks after his passes had riddled the Chicago Cardinals in a 24-20 upset victory. The loss at Chicago all but eliminated the Cards from the Eastern race.

Lou (The Toe) Groza, an all-time great, kicked a 37-yard field goal with just 29 seconds remaining at Cleveland to lift the Browns to a 17-14 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Capt. Elbie Nickel, with 33 years and 12 pro seasons behind him, steadied young Jack Scarbath in his first quarterback start, receiving two passes from Scarbath to lead the Pittsburgh Steelers in a 30-13 defeat of the visiting Los Angeles Rams.

College B Game Starts At 5:00

Coach Harold Davis of HCJC announced this morning that his B team would play Decatur's reserves at 5 p.m. in the college gym here Tuesday.

There will be no admission charge for that particular game and the game will be finished in time for the fans to catch the entire Big Spring High-Sweetwater game, which starts at 7:15 p.m.

The varsity game between Decatur and HCJC takes place at 8:30 p.m.

Yearling Fives Go To S'Water

Three local junior high school basketball teams plunge into action this evening in Sweetwater.

Charley Caraway's Ninth Graders have their work cut out for them, since three of last year's starters have moved from town. They include August Joe Luedecke, Homer Mills and Taylor Lewis.

The Ninth Graders will field a fairly tall ball club tonight, however.

Probable starters for Caraway's team this evening include Chuck Wolk, 5-11, at the pivot; Zay LeFevre, 6-1; and J. B. Davis, 5-10, at forwards; and Bobby Evans, 5-8; and either Donnie Everett, 5-11; Gordon Bristow, 5-9; or Jimmy Tucker, 5-9, at the guards spots.

Bowl Lineup Completed With Pick Of Clemson

By BOB HOOBING
The Associated Press

Clemson's selection for the Orange Bowl leaves only a belated windup game between Gator-bound Pittsburgh and unbeaten Miami before college football moves into its final post-season phase.

Pitt, looking forward to a rematch of last year's 7-0 Sugar Bowl loss to Georgia Tech, need not worry about the once-tied Hurricanes in their nationally televised meeting.

Whatever happens, the Panthers are signed for a Dec. 29 date with Tech in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.

After a week's postponement, Atlantic Coast Conference chose its champion, Clemson, Sunday to represent it against Colorado in the Orange Bowl.

That left the major bowl pictures as follows:

Rose: Iowa (8-1) vs. Oregon State (7-2-1).
Sugar: Tennessee (10-0) vs. Baylor (8-2).
Cotton: Syracuse (7-1) vs. Texas Christian (7-3).
Orange: Colorado (7-2-1) vs. Clemson (7-1-2).
Gator: Georgia Tech (9-1) vs. Pittsburgh (6-2-1).

Clemson got the nod to fill the last opening after defeating Furman 28-7.

The bowl situation, long entangled, crystallized quickly once last Saturday's results became evident.

Prior to that time only the Rose Bowl was set for a replay of a midseason 14-13 Iowa triumph over Oregon State.

Tennessee's completion of a perfect season with a 27-7 victory over Vanderbilt brought from the Vols an official acceptance of a Sugar Bowl invitation which apparently had been offered much earlier.

The New Orleans bowl officials, handicapped by the Louisiana law forbidding interracial athletic competition, struck a bonanza when their other prime candidate, Baylor, walloped Rice 46-13.

LEAN PICKINGS

Cubs Due To Grab Catcher In Draft

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs were expected to select a catcher as their first choice in today's annual major league draft at the opening of the 55th minor league convention.

Because of the slim pickings in the thickly padded draft list, baseball men predicted this year's selection of eligible draftees would be even smaller than last year when the big leaguers plucked only 10 minor leaguers for the draft price ranging up to $15,000.

With that thought in mind, major league officials turned to the trade mart in an effort to plug their weaknesses.

The Cubs, direly in need of a first-string catcher, have made no secret of their desire to land Del Crandall, Milwaukee's highly regarded backstop. The Braves, surprisingly enough, are not unwilling to part with Crandall but reportedly have demanded second baseman Gene Baker and pitcher Bob Rush in exchange.

With the exception of the world champion Yankees, who apparently intend to stand pat, all clubs have expressed a desire to complete at least one deal either here or at the major league meetings in Chicago next week.

Here is a list of reports, some unfounded, that have been circulated in the lobby of the hotel headquarters:

1. Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles has offered George Kell, veteran third baseman to the Detroit Tigers for pitcher Ned Garver and first baseman Jack Phillips. Manager Jack Tighe of the Tigers said he was taking the offer under advisement.

2. General manager Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians was prepared to name Eddie Stanky, former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, as a coach under newly hired manager, Kirby Farrell.

3. Fred (Dixie) Walker, who managed the Rochester Red Wings into the Little World Series last fall, is about to be named skipper of the Toronto club succeeding Bruno Betzel.

4. The New York Giants have asked Milwaukee for outfielder Bobby Thomson, second baseman Danny O'Connell, pitcher Ray Crone and a bundle of cash in return for star second baseman Red Schoendienst.

Arabs Of All Lands Unified By Religion

By RAMON COFFMAN

The Arabs in various countries have different strains of race, but they agree on one thing. In all Arab lands the people are Moslems. They follow the teachings of Mohammed.

Q. Who were the original Moslems?

A. Residents of Arabia. The desert wanderers known as Bedouins are described as original Arabs. Many pure-blooded Arabs still live in Arabia, but in other lands they are strongly mixed with natives of different stock.

The "white Arabs" of Syria, Jordan and Iran have married with other strains of the white race. In northern Africa some of the Arabs have tanned skins, but are white, or nearly white, in race. Other African Arabs have brown skins because of mixture with Negroes.

Q. Are the people of Egypt full-blooded Arabs?

A. No. Egypt today contains people who have gone through a great deal of racial mixing. The ancestors of modern Egyptians include Bedouins and other Arabs of the Arabian Desert, also ancient Egyptians and dark-skinned Nubians.

The ancient Egyptians were white people who left Asia Minor and settled in the valley of the Nile River. They were related to the Babylonians and Hebrews.

There is doubt as to the proportion of ancient Egyptian stock left in Egypt. Probably it amounts to about one third.

Q. Why has Egypt fallen behind in the march of civilization?

A. The reason is subject to debate. Little progress in science, medicine or invention has been reported from Egypt during modern times. The death rate is very high. An average Egyptian lives only to about the age of 37. In advanced countries, the life expectancy runs above 65 years.

Deceased Elks Are Honored

Big Spring Elks and Does held their annual memorial ceremony honor of deceased BPOE members Sunday.

The traditional ritual was conducted by officers of the local lodge, and then the Does presented their "Elks Rest" program. Highlight of the ceremony was the reading of the tablet of deceased members of the local lodge.

Lodge officers participating were C. C. Ryan Jr., exalted ruler; M. T. Kuykendall, leading knight; Jack Taylor, loyal knight; Jasper Atkins, lecturing knight; L. D. Cobb, esquire; Joe Bunch, chaplain; and R. L. Heith, secretary.

Does taking part in the "Elks Rest" feature of the program were Mrs. Bill Ragsdale, Mrs. Joe Clark, Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, Mrs. Cletus Piper, Mrs. Joe Flock, Mrs. Grace Grandstaff, Mrs. C. C. Ryan Jr., Mrs. Hugh Nixon, Mrs. Julius Zodin, Mrs. Howard Dupree, Mrs. M. T. Kuykendall and Mrs. Alma George.

Soloist for the program was Carl Morris. Orland Johnson was pianist.

'Conveyor-Belt' Farms For Future

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 3 (AP)—Come look at a farm of tomorrow.

The land moves on a great conveyor belt under a protecting canopy of glass or plastic. Crops are grown on an assembly line, much as automobiles are built today.

At the start of the line, soil is automatically placed on the conveyor. It moves past stations for proper fertilizing, seeding, watering. At the end of the line the crop is even automatically harvested and packaged, ready to move to market.

Under the plastic dome, temperature is controlled; insects and damaging winds are barred. Growth is speeded. There are several crops a year.

Just such a bold concept is proposed by scientists of the Midwest Research Institute as one feasible method of boosting farm yields and taking many gambles out of agriculture.

Fantastic or very far off? Not necessarily, says Fred N. Stephens, manager of the engineering division of the institute, an independent research organization. It could actually be applied now for certain high-profit specialty crops, like lettuce. In time the plastic-enclosed conveyor-belt farm could be a general thing.

It is one of several ideas to solve farm problems through research known as systems analysis, Stephens explains. Systems analysis doesn't deal just with improving existing methods or techniques or machinery. Instead, it involves taking a fresh look at a problem, considering the fundamentals, limits and economics, all pointed to the goal of how best to do a particular task.

"The most obvious way of doing a thing is not always the best," Stephens says.

Farming is saddled with hazards such as insects, fungi, drought or too much rain, too much or too little sunshine, winds, variations in fertility of plots on the farm.

These involve gambles which no other kind of industry would put up with, Stephens declares.

Applying systems analysis to agriculture, key scientists of M.R.I. suggested the canopied moving farm.

The conveyor could carry enough soil to equal 30 acres of land. Automatic devices could sense the need for various fertilizing nutrients, and for water. If there is enough rain, louvres in the plastic dome allow it to fall on the moving crop. Excess water is stored, and sprinkled on later as needed. Soil erosion is avoided.

Sun energy supplies most of the heat. Special aluminum reflectors could concentrate more sunshine and heat when needed. The plastic dome covers only the conveyor lines and stations doing the various processing steps from start to finish. After harvest, the conveyor line runs back to the starting point, and it could even grow a new crop on the return journey.

Costs of such a system would be high, suitable at first only for certain crops, Stephens said. But in time even small farmers might afford it, just as TV sets, initially very expensive, now are commonplace.

Much more immediate prospects from operations research are these possibilities:

General farm tractors of a new design, with the engine mounted over the front wheels to give weight, the plow or other attachment in the middle, and the operator at the rear end.

For wheat farms, machines of bull-dozer type, equipped with a beam of light serving as an eye to measure even grades, could redistribute topsoil evenly for uniform fertility.

Perhaps a machine which could sense the nutritional needs of the soil and when a dial was set, give the earth the fertilizers it needed to produce wheat, corn, potatoes, or other crops.

To assure uniform moisture supply, the farmer might put on his soil a layer of hydroscopic material drawing moisture from the air. When too much water fell, the same material would give up the excess to the air again.

'Timing Strip' Agency Planned

Efforts will be made this evening to compete organization of an agency to set up and operate a "timing strip" for modified auto enthusiasts.

Ted Groebl, one of the leaders in the drive for formation of the agency, said the session will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce offices at the Permian Building. Persons who have been contacted about their prospects of filling key positions in the organization, as well as all others who are interested, are requested to be at the meeting, according to Groebl.

A name will be selected for the agency and plans for its first activities will be mapped after officers and directors are chosen.

Student Plans Fight Against Desegregation

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 17-year-old schoolboy who says he's a foe of racial integration plans today to test an order barring him from any city - operated school.

Billy Branham, who arrived here with his mother two weeks ago from Detroit, yesterday was told he could not enroll by School Supt. Omer Carmichael.

Carmichael received praise from President Eisenhower for the smooth integration of this city's public schools last fall.

Soon after arriving here, Branham visited Louisville Male High School and talked to students opposing integration. When he was refused enrollment there, he said he would carry on his segregation campaign away from school.

In a statement yesterday, Carmichael said, "We have no obligation for the education of a non-resident and are therefore free to deny admission.

"Billy has publicly stated his purpose to work against the established policies of our schools and confirmed this in a two-hour conference with William F. Coslow (assistant city school superintendent) and me."

Branham has given his address as an apartment house owned by Millard Dee Grubbs, chairman of the board of directors of the Citizens Council of Kentucky, Inc.

Informed of Carmichael's statement, Grubbs said, "It is a piece of impudence."

He said the boy has seen him, but that he has not given him any advice.

"But I am supporting him, just as I would support anyone else in a fight against a gang of Communists," Grubbs said. "I share Billy's view that Negroes should not be put in white schools."

Girl Survives Berserk Auto

WINDSOR, Conn. (AP)—Down the hill it came, hitting 70 or 75 miles an hour — a car gone crazy.

At the wheel, Cynthia Moran, 17, pounded furiously with her foot on the brake. Her 14-year-old brother David sat frozen to the front seat.

Crowds just a few blocks ahead were crossing Broad Street heading for church. Traffic Patrolman Robert Christensen was directing them across.

Something had happened to the car at the top of the hill. Suddenly the engine had roared up and the car spurted ahead.

Cynthia couldn't stop it. The brakes didn't hold. She couldn't get the gears into neutral. Nothing happened when she turned off the ignition.

She leaned on the horn and turned the car onto the center esplanada—a grassy strip dividing north-south lanes on Broad Street.

Patrolman Christensen shouted at the crowds to get out of the way.

Cynthia came to the intersection and by then managed to jam the gears into reverse. The car joted and spun around, then slammed into Albert Turgeon's car, coming the other way.

Cynthia and her brother jumped out. Turgeon, 67, jumped out of his car.

The cars, hooked bumper to bumper, began to move again — in a slow, crazy circle. Christensen hopped onto the car Cynthia had been driving and pulled the wires from the coil in the engine, stopping it.

Police said they believed the linkage between the gas pedal and the carburetor in Cynthia's car had stuck.

Court Handles Routine Affairs

County Commissioners Court was in session Monday morning but was busy with only routine matters during the forenoon.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, was engaged in trial of a lawsuit in 118th District Court and was not present. Lee Porter, county auditor, said that he had no special business to take up with the commission.

Walter Parks, county engineer, said that he wanted to go over plans for the opening of Birdwell Lane with the board but that the matters were more or less a report on progress of the project.

Porter said that the monthly financial report could not be made ready because bank statements for November were not all at hand and he had had no opportunity to work up the required figures.

Calender's Wrong, It's Indian Summer

By The Associated Press

The calendar said it was December but a step out of doors Monday made Texans think it was still Indian summer.

Skies were generally clear and temperatures mild. The same kind of weather was forecast through Tuesday.

Predawn temperatures ranged from 25 at Dalhart to 60 at Corpus Christi and Galveston. Abilene had 49, Amarillo 36, Beaumont 52, Brownsville 46, Dallas 48, Houston 51, Lubbock 28, San Antonio 44, and Texarkana 47.

Highs Sunday ran from 82 at Alice to 68 at El Paso.

While much of the country east of the Mississippi River had higher temperatures today, a frigid blast of arctic air moved across the Canadian border sending the mercury plunging across the Northern Plains and northwestern Great Lakes.

The invasion of snow and strong winds was expected to spread east and south through the day and reach Oklahoma, Missouri and Illinois. Zero readings were forecast for tonight as far south as Iowa and Nebraska.

Snow continued early this morning over much of New York state, Pennsylvania and most of New England but was expected to move to the northeast out of the Keystone State and western New York later in the day.

A warming trend was in the works from the eastern Great Lakes and Ohio Valley to the Atlantic Coast.

George To Stay As NATO Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) said today he has agreed to continue as President Eisenhower's personal representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He said the job has been made more challenging by crises which, he said, nearly wrecked the Western defense alliance against communism.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, will end Jan. 3 a career of 34 years as a senator. He said he will shift then to a desk at the State Department.

Eisenhower named him to the NATO position, with an ambassador's rank, after George decided not to seek re-election.

There was an announced understanding that he would decide by the first of the year whether he felt his health and the prospect of making a worthwhile contribution would permit or justify his continuing in the post.

George, 78, told a reporter his answer to both questions is "yes."

The task before him, George said, is to help plan ways "to get NATO back on the track, and develop it in economic and political fields." His work does not deal with NATO's military phases.

George said he believes crises in Suez and Cyprus and the explosive Hungarian situation have taught NATO member nations new lessons about the risks of trying to go it alone.

Refugees Beef

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Nineteen Hungarian refugees have left their camp at Biggekerke in one of Holland's southern islands, saying they were unsatisfied with the straw mattresses, draughty quarters and food. Dutch authorities informed them they would have to return to the camp by tonight or go back to Austria.

MRS. EARNEST GEER

Missionary Slates Talks In Baptist Churches Of Area

An Arizona woman who has been engaged in missionary work in that state is to speak at several Baptist churches of the Big Spring Baptist Association this week.

She is Mrs. Earnest Geer of Safford, Ariz. She spoke Sunday evening at the First Baptist Church of Knott and will appear in other churches and before Women's Missionary Union groups throughout the week.

Mrs. Geer is to speak at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the West Side Baptist Church. Saturday evening, she will talk at the Prairie View Baptist Church, nine miles north of Big Spring, and at 11 a.m. Sunday she is to speak at the Hillcrest Baptist Church, Big Spring. She also is on the program for the Stanton Baptist Church's evening service Sunday.

Appearances before WMU groups include the East Fourth Baptist at 2:30 p.m. today; Baptist Temple Young Women's Auxiliary at 5:30 p.m. today; College Chapel WMU at 9:30 Tuesday; West Side Baptist at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday; First Baptist at 3 p.m. Thursday; Airport Baptist, 11 a.m. Friday; and Baptist Temple, 2:30 p.m. Friday.

Talks Power

Vice Adm. Charles R. Brown, U.S. Mediterranean fleet commander, told a news conference that his unit, already the most powerful in the world, soon will be beefed up more. This will include the missile cruiser Boston.

2 Protestant Churches Lift Race Barriers

By The Associated Press

Two large Protestant congregations, separated by hundreds of miles and varying traditions, have lowered racial barriers to permit integration in their churches — one all white, the other all Negro.

In Minneapolis, the fashionable Hennepin Avenue Methodist Church opened its doors to members of a small Negro Methodist church which is to be torn down to make way for a redevelopment project.

And in the South, an all-Negro Baptist church in Louisville, Ky., has admitted 13 white persons to its congregations.

A delegation from the all-white, 4,000-member Methodist church in Minneapolis yesterday told members of Border Negro Methodist Church, "We invite you with sincere warmth." They said the Negroes need not decide immediately whether to accept.

Dr. Stanley Copps, Minnesota Methodist bishop, said the invitation was a "proposal of Christian love and fellowship."

The integration move in Louisville was believed to be the first by a Baptist church in Kentucky since slavery days.

The 13 white persons joined the Zion Baptist Church in the past month and the pastor, the Rev. D. E. King, said they "seem to be enjoying themselves."

Representing three families, the 13 became the first white members of the 1,522-member Negro congregation. The church is in a Negro-white neighborhood.

The Rev. Willard P. Macy, former pastor of an all-white church in Louisville and one of the 13 who joined Zion, said his association with the Negro church has been a "wonderful experience."

The Rev. Mr. King, the pastor, said his Negro members "have taken this as a normal thing."

Spirits Come High In Kansas

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Holiday spirits can come high in Kansas if you cross the state line to buy them in Missouri.

A lot of Kansans along the state line do. Kansas estimates it lost $317,257 in tax revenue on such goings-on last year. Something is being done about it this holiday season.

Several teams of Kansas state agents are stationed on the Missouri side of the line, equipped with binoculars and radios.

They park near liquor stores, watch for Kansas license plates and tip off other officers by radio whenever they see a Kansan heading home with a large package.

If picked up with more than two quarts of liquor not bearing Kansas revenue stamps, the erring jayhawker is taken to the nearest magistrate. The penalty is $10 to $500 and costs. The liquor is confiscated.

There wouldn't be any enforcement problem if Missouri liquor prices weren't more attractive, Kansas agents moan.

A fifth of good whisky can be bought in Missouri as much as $1 cheaper, chiefly due to tax differences and Kansas price-fixing laws.

New Pipeline To Be Laid In Mid-East

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) —The laying of a new pipeline to carry crude oil north from the Gulf of Aquaba is due to begin this week.

The eight-inch line will move oil 150 miles from Eilat, Israel's southernmost port, to Beersheba. From there the oil can be transported by rail to Haifa refineries.
