JAYCEES PREPARE FOR SD VICTIM—The Snyder Jaycees paid a visit to the Scurry County jail this morning to help clean it up and ready it for the Big Spring Jaycee president John Taylor, who will spend one day in the Scurry County jail if Snyder has fewer automobile accidents Thursday than Big Spring does. However, just to familiarize himself with the feel of confinement, Steve Birdwell, center, Snyder Jaycee president, posed behind the bars for the above picture—just in case Snyder loses the Safe Driving Day contest. Shown from left are Homer Whisnand, sheriff, Kenneth Williamson, Birdwell, Ernest Sears, and Bob Littlefield. (Lee Watson photograph)

Issue Of Segregation Is Raised During Educational Conference

Dulles Warns Against Partisan U.S. Policy

WASHINGTON —Secretary of State Dulles today called on Republicans as well as Democrats to avoid partisan foreign policy quarrels which, he said, might "endanger our nation."

Dulles suggested at a news conference that Republicans, as well as Democrats, should avoid what he called "excesses" in debate on foreign policy in the campaign.

He said he himself is trying to avoid getting drawn into "what would reasonably be considered a partisan position."

Dulles said he has no present intention of making Republican party speeches in the 1956 campaign. But he added, unspecified events could change his mind.

Dulles refused to comment on criticisms of Eisenhower administration foreign policy made by Adlai Stevenson, Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, and other top Democrats.

The meeting with newsmen was Dulles' first since his return from the foreign ministers' conference at Geneva.

Answering questions, Dulles said Democrats could well follow the example he said had been set by Republicans during the presidential campaigns of 1944, 1948 and 1952.

Dulles opened his news conference by reading a prepared statement in which he said:

"Our nation will need the same bipartisan unity which in the past has given authority, vitality and much success to our foreign policies."

Dulles added that "careless or uninformed indulgence in partisan excesses" could result in peril to the nation's safety.

His statement said further:

"It needs to be remembered that those hostile to the United States and its ideals are not going to take a vacation, so that we here can safely concentrate on a domestic political battle.

"We should not encourage them to become bolder, calculating that the months ahead because they are an election period for us, will provide unusual opportunities for them."

Dulles voiced his views after Sen. Wiley (S-Wis) said that if Republicans expect Democrats "to refrain from using foreign policy as a political football, we have got to make sure that we Republicans don't kick it around ourselves."

Girl Escapees Are Back In Custody Today

AKRON, Ohio —Five girls who left an elderly matron dead behind them in an escape from the Summit County Detention Home Sunday night were back in custody today, and the prosecutor was preparing to seek murder indictments against them.

The last of the five teen-agers, Mrs. Zelda De Cost, 16, surrendered last night after hiding coatless in cellars in and near the detention home in below-freezing weather. Two others surrendered a few hours after the escape and two were captured.

Yesterday, as police and juvenile authorities questioned her, Mirl Cain, 15, told her story of the escape that cost the life of Mrs. Eula Bonham, 59. Officers quoted the girl as follows:

"I was supposed to hold her mouth so she couldn't scream. But I couldn't because she had cold cream on and her skin was slippery. Then four of us knocked her down on a bed and I tied her hands and feet.

"Before we left, I hit her twice over the head with a shoe because she was still struggling. Then I dropped the shoe and ran."

Mrs. Bonham died of strangulation. Her arms and legs had been bound with belts and an ammonia-soaked washrag had been stuffed in her mouth.

Margaret Nicholson, 15, surrendered a few hours after the escape along with Mirl Cain.

The other girls involved, Ruth Beichler, 17, and Shirley Shingler, 15, were captured when a service station attendant tipped off deputies that they had locked themselves in a rest room.

Radioactivity Mass Moves Over Japan

TOKYO, Wednesday (AP)—The Central Meteorological Observatory said today a mass of radioactive air has moved over Japan and for some time to come rain will be fairly "hot."

It was another in a series of radioactivity reports folowing the explosion of a nuclear device this month in Russia.

The observatory said henceforth its forecasts would warn of any radioactive rain.

Divorces Ended

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP) — Sam Sexton, 60, who married and divorced the same woman seven times, died at his nearby Sand Lick Gap home yesterday. His wife was Mrs. Martha Sexton.

Robbery Of Market Doesn't Panic Owner

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—When two men held up market proprietor James G. Browning he didn't get panicky.

When they left, he quietly followed. He saw them enter an apartment house. From a nearby service station he telephoned police. When officers knocked at an apartment door, Donald J. Robertson, an oil field worker, answered. With him was Alton G. Gardner, a laborer.

Browning identified Robertson as the man who leveled a revolver at him and took $93 from him. Police said that amount was found in the man's pockets. The two were booked on suspicion of robbery.

Two Accidents Are Reported In City Limits

Scurry County's safe driving campaign is headed for failure unless drivers are more careful, according to chiefs of the campaign.

Two more accidents occurred yesterday, both of them inside the city limits, to bring the total number of accidents in the county during the Nov. 21-Dec. 11 campaign to eight.

Of the eight accidents, five have been in the city. Only one involved an injury.

Safe Driving Day will be observed Thursday, and Sheriff Homer Whisnand and Police Chief Travis Steele are urging more caution among motorists. During that day, officials will be hoping for no accidents here. More careful driving can help prevent accidents, since carelessness and speed are the major causes, the officers aid.

Arthur Bryant, city policeman, reported that both of yesterday's accidents in the city occurred during the afternoon.

One of them was at 12:44 p.m at Avenue C and East Highway, where there was a collision involving a 1953 Chevrolet pickup driven by Dewey Denson, route 1, Hermleigh, and a 1955 Ford two-door driven by Wendell Jacob Backman of Merkel. Investigating officers estimated damage at less than $50 on each vehicle. Backman was issued a violation ticket for failure to grant right-of-way.

The second accident occurred at 4:18 p.m. at Avenue M and Twenty-sixth Street and was a collision of a 1955 Chevrolet station wagon driven by Edgar Eugene Norris, 210 Thirty-second Street, and a 1950 Autocar truck driven by D. M. Motes of Tyler. Damage to the station wagon was estimated at about $400, and that to the truck at about $10.

Viet Namese To Take Lead Against Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The young republic of Viet Nam is beginning to regard itself as something of an Asiatic St. George intent on destroying the dragon of communism.

Some of its leaders say privately they consider that the fate of Southeast Asia hinges on what happens in this southern segment of a divided country. A number of diplomats and foreign observers go along with this argument at least part of the way.

But Vietnamese who know the thoughts of President Ngo Dinh Diem put it emphatically.

"Nehru could have been the leader of Southeast Asian countries against communism," one observed. "But he failed at the Bandung conference. By playing up to Communist China, he supported the strong against the weak of Asia.

South Viet Nam can step into India's shoes. She represents a future for Southeast Asia. She is defending ideas dear to all Asiatics. She refused to follow a weak middle course which can only lead to disaster."

Viet Nam's vision of her new international role is reflected in increasing suggestions that she become a full-fledged member of the eight-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The confident new attitude being expressed in Siagon has aroused British anxiety. "We want South Viet Nam to remain quiet and avoid provoking the Communist North," said one British diplomat recently. "President Diem needs all the time he can gain to strengthen himself."

The United States for similar reasons is not encouraging Viet Nam's membership in SEATO.

South Viet Nam's army of 170,000 has come a long way since the day it was formed three years ago by the French. From a ragtag, bobtail, divided force it has been whipped into effective fighting strength by a team of American and French advisers.

Three Cars Are Saved From Burning Garage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Emily Stalnacker saved three cars from a burning garage at her home yesterday.

When she tried to drive a fourth from the building, she was forced back by flames.

Ordinarily, she wouldn't have felt so bad, but the one that burned was hers. The others were neighbors.

CAPTURED—Mirle Cain and Margaret Nicholson, both 15, are shown after their capture in Akron, O., after escaping from the Summit County detention home in Akron with three other teen-agers. The five girls bound and gagged a matron who was found dead shortly after their escape.

Phillips Will Run For Texas Governor

AUSTIN (AP)—State Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton, frequently in the headlines for his solo investigations of the state veterans land program, announced yesterday he wants to be Texas' next governor.

Phillips, never at a loss for words and once holder of the national filibustering record, said he plans to uncover "all the sordid facts" on the misuse of the veterans' land program during his campaign.

"The people of Texas want honesty and integrity in government with adequate safeguards against pilfering of public funds," Phillips said.

"They want quick punishment meted out to officeholders who break the Eighth Commandment: 'Thou shalt not steal.'"

He indicated his platform also will call for:

More generous provisions for the state's only general hospital for charity cases.

Sufficient state funds for institutions of higher learning so that enrollment will not be limited.

Better traffic law enforcement ways.

An end to "factional bickering over party politics."

An "efficient, economical government, responsive to the people, operated on a business-like basis without wasting money on frils and unnecessary state agencies."

Phillips, 42, said he thought he could give Texas a forward-looking government without "excessive" taxation. He said "only the surface has been scratched" in the veterans land investigation.

"The people of Texas want the veterans land mess cleaned up, completely and as quickly as possible," he said. "They want the full facts, dating back to the very start of the veterans land program, on all of the public officials who have been charged with the responsibility for its operation and whose negligence permitted crooked land deals to go unchallenged."

As a member of the Senate Investigating Committee, Phillips was highly critical of the roles of Gov. Shivers and Atty. Gen. Shepperd as members of the Veterans Land Board while former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles also was a member.

Giles has been convicted of felonies in veterans land deals.

Phillips said he had been removed from the investigating committee so he would have no authority to continue his inquiry.

Phillips, who said he worked as a shoe shine boy after being orphaned at an early age, criticized the new policy of limitinp enrollment at the University of Texas.

He is the second announce dcandidate for vovernor. The first was former House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba.

Perfect Circle Union To Vote On Agreement

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP) — CIO United Auto Workers at the erfect Circle Corp. piston ring foundry vote today whether to ratify an agreement reached yesterday at Chicago and end their bitter and sometimes violent four-month strike.

Neither federal mediators nor union spokesmen at Chicago would discuss the agreement. However, a company spokesman there said it called for a two-year pact embodying the 10-cent hourly wage boost the company put into effect in all its Indiana plants last July. He said the workers would receive an additional 7 cents hourly after next July 1.

Dean Detweiler, company public relations official, said at the firm's Hagerstown, Ind., headquarters that the pact does not provide for a union shop. Union insistence on such a clause had been a major stumbling block to the negotiations.

Detweiler, although declining to spell out terms of the agreement, said it had neither provision for compulsory arbitration nor a layoff pay plan.

The month-long mediation sessions in Chicago ended, the company representative there said, after a compromise was reached of what will be done about 35 strikers discharged for alleged acts during the strike.

The firm, the source said, agreed to reinstate 20 immediately, and eight others after a 30-day suspension. The remaining seven cases will be submitted to arbitration.

As the 229 union employes cast ballots, National Guardsmen patrolled the foundry area, where sporadic shootings, stonings and auto smashups have marked the protracted strike.

Southern Delegates Criticized By Negro

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Negro delegate injected the racial segregation issue into the White House education conference today by inquiring whether federal travel money has been paid to delegates who "do not support the Constitution."

Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington Bureau of the National Assn., for the Advancement of Colored People, said he had just returned from South Carolina, "where some newspapers are advocating defiance of the Supreme Court integration decision."

He asked whether delegates from South Carolina signed a statement that they uphold the Constitution when they filled out expense vouchers.

Later he told reporters he had the same question regarding delegates from Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The question, with its promise of a bitter, unscheduled controversy, was raised at the close of the first general business session of the conference called to talk about pressing school needs.

Dr. James R. Killian Jr., president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, got the discussion groups going with a report on the presidential committee's first topic, "What Should Our Schools Accomplish"

Killian said his subcommittee, which has been studying that question for some months, had concluded that too many people thought "that a school program which is good for one's own community must be good for all communities."

Actually, he said, "I found it useful to answer some questions one way for rural schools, one way for suburban and small-town schools, and one way for large urban schools."

At a formal opening meeting last night the nearly 2,000 delegates got a send-off from President Eisenhower in which he discussed both sides of the federal school aid problem. This morning's general meeting was held in advance of a split-up into round table discussion groups to take up specific school needs.

More Trouble Is Reported In Morocco

RABAT, French Morocco (AP) — More trouble from rebellious tribesmen in the Riff Mountains was reported today as Premier-designate Mohammed Bekkai continued conferences trying to form Morocco's first representative government.

Sketchy reports reaching here said a military truck was ambushed yesterday in the Nador Pass area near the Spanish Moroccan frontier. The bodies of five soldiers were found near the vehicle.

About 2,000 rebels have been clashing intermittently with the French in the Riff Mountains since Oct. 1. Attacks by the rebels continued despite Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef's triumphal return from exile to power and French promises of greater Moroccan home rule.

The arrival of winter in the mountain area this week promised to delay large scale operations against the rebels until spring.

To the east in Algeria, troops clashed with rebels in the Constantine area. Five rebels were reported killed, 71 suspects were arrested, and a quantity of arms was seized.

In Tunisia, which has been relatively quiet since the French granted the people greater self government, infiltrating Algerian outlaws were reported to have made a raid in the Gafsa region. French mobile forces said they engaged a "strong band," killing or wounding three of the outlaws. Three Frenchmen were wounded. Some arms were seized.

In Tunis 200 former rebels demonstrated before the Interior Ministry in a demand for work. One civil servant was roughed up, and an office was ransacked.

Reds, British Are Criticized

JERUSALEM, Israel — Premier David Ben-Gurion accused Britain and Russia today of pursuing policies "liable to bring about the destruction of the state of Israel."

He claimed in Parliament that arms supplied to Egypt by Britain and Russia "will be used only against Israel."

He said Egypt's goal is "the annihilation of Israel" and added, "Both Britain and the Soviet Union are aware of Col. Nasser's political aims."

An Israeli army spokesman said today a heavy Israel-Egyptian mortar duel broke out yesterday between Egyptian outposts in the Gaza strip and Israeli positions on this side of the border.

Egyptian mortars directing their shells into the Kissufim area, about midway along the Gaza Strip armistice line, were silenced by heavy Israel mortars, he said.

The spokesman also claimed Egyptian soldiers penetrated across the border near Kissufim and opened automatic fire at a Israel patrol which replied and forced the Egyptians to retreat. Another Egyptian position in the Gaza Strip opened fire across the border at an Israel patrol near Nahal Oz, but this fire was not returned, the spokesman said.

UN Hopeful Is Opposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Nationalist China has informed the Latin American republics it will veto Outer Mongolia's application for U.N. membership, it was reported today. This would kill a plan to admit 18 new members at this session of the Assembly.

A diplomatic source at the U.N. said the Nationalist Chinese minister in each Latin American capital had visited the Foreign Office and informed the foreign minister of Chiang Kai-shek's decision.

The Nationalist Chinese delegation here has said it has no instructions on the membership question. The Chinese some years ago said they would veto Outer Mongolia in the Security Council. But this was before the membership issue appeared near a solution and more than two-thirds of the U.N. Assembly favored admission of all 18 applicants.

The wrangle over membership has boiled down to Outer Mongolia. The Russians threaten to veto all Western-backed applicants unless Outer Mongolia is admitted. The United States says Outer Monvolia cannot make the grade but the Americans are not campaigning actively to defeat the Soviet satellite.

Faure Faces Voting Today

PARIS —Backed in a corner after nine months of adroit parliamentary maneuvering, Premier Edgar Faure prepared to stake his government's life today on a vote of confidence on his demand for early elections.

The general expectation at the National Assembly was that Faure would be voted out. The Assembly ballot was due early tonight.

The resulting Cabinet crisis was expected to last several weeks, with the next Cabinet to be only a temporary team to arrange for election of the new Assembly in the spring. A spring vote could be billed as a compromise between the December date Faure sought and the balloting which otherwise would come in June.

Officially the vote was scheduled on the question of the Assembly's work schedule for this week. The House's Agenda Committee recommended that it debate a motion by Francois Mitterrand, major supporter of former Pierre Mendes-France, that Faure's government is no longer capable of leading the country.

Faure called for cancellation of this debate so that discussion of the proposed new electoral law can go ahead without interruption. Mendes-France, like Faure a member of the Radical Socialist party, and his supporters want to delay the elections to give them time to marshal the voters behind the former Premier.

Faure already has lost on his original request for elections in December. His last proposal was for a date in late January but that also seemed doomed.

President Calls For Meeting Of National Security Council

By ED CREAGH

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower today called the National Security Council to a meeting on Thursday at Camp David near Thurmont, Md. The White House said no particular emergency lay behind the decision.

This will be the second meeting of the defense strategy planning group to be held at the President's Maryland mountain retreat in two weeks. Both the NSC and the Cabinet are scheduled to meet there next week.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower will drive the 22 miles from his Gettysburg farm to Camp David for the 2:30 p.m. Thursday session. He will return as soon as the meeting ends around 4:30 p.m.

"There is not any particular emergency," Hagerty said, adding that the council regularly meets on Thursday. He said the meeting was being shifted from Washington to the nearby camp because the President wants to attend.

Some of the NSC members and other officials may travel to Camp David by helicopter. Nearly all did at last week's session.

Hagerty also announced Eisenhower will see Budget Director Rowland Hughes at 11 a.m. Thursday to continue a discussion on the 1956-57 budget.

The Cabinet will meet as usual at Washington Friday but Eisenhower will not attend.

Sub-freezing weather and a lack of pressing business kept the President away from his downtown Gettysburg office today as new speculation swept the country as to his second term intentions.

Eisenhower conferred at his farm home instead with the White House staff secretary, Col. Andrew Goodpaster, and dictated to his personal secretary, Mrs. Ann Whitman.

United Fund Drive Nearing Goal Here

The Scurry County United Fund is confident it will reach its campaign goal of $29,500 this week and is in the midst of its cleanup work.

At last report, the UF had $28,000 cash.

A number of United Fund officials met yesterday afternoon with Lyle Deffebach, president, and Stanley Noah, general campaign chairman, and made plans for the cleanup portion of the drive.

Several workers have not completed their contract work in many of the drives and are expected to do so within the next two days. One drive, that of the county-wide division, was getting into its intensive work this week in an attempt to round up by the latter part of the week.

The United Fund will close its campaign office at Avenue S and Twenty - fifth Street, it was decided, and move its files to the Chamber of Commerce office at the corner of Avenue R and Twenty-sixth Street for the cleanup drive.

Deffebach and Noah said many persons who were not contacted for contributions previously can expect to be contacted this week. They added that many persons who wish to contribute but have not been contacted may give to the United Fund by contacting officials through the chamber office.

The various drives of the campaign are advance gifts, headed by Harrie Winston; general business, Bob Taylor; business employes, Steve Birdwell; industrial employes, Bob Wilson; branch house, H. A. Johnson, Jr.; schools, Tim Dennis; residential, Mrs. E. N. Baker; and county-wide, M. L. Andress.

When the drive is complete, budgeted allotments will be turned over to the United Fund's member agencies, which are the American Red Cross, Salvation Army, Scurry County Youth Center, Scurry County Boys Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, American Heart Association, United Service Organizations, and West Texas Boys Ranch.

Noah and Deffebach urged workers to complete their contacts as soon as possible and report to the UF office.

Patterson Is Selected For Refugee Post

The appointment of Rep. Robert R. Pattersons local representative for the Governonr's Committee for Refugee Relief Program has been announced by John H. Winter, Committee chairman, Rep. Patterson will act on behalf of the State Committee in Scurry County.

The Committee was appointed by Governor Allan Shivers at the request of President Eisenhower to inform the people of Texas on the Refugee Relief Program. In addition to Winters, who heads the State Department of Public Welfare in Austin, members are the Rev. Henry Herbst, pastor of St. Peter and Paul Church, New Braunfels; the Rev. A. O. Rast, Executive Secretary of the Texas Lutheran Mission Board; Leonard L. Holloway of the Baptist General Convention of Texas; Sam W. Levy of Houston; and C. W. Pfluger, Jr. of Coupland.

Under the Refugee Relief Act of 1953, 214,000 displaced persons were declared admissable to this country. Recent figures show slightly over 4,000 have obtained sponsors and have migrated to the United States.

Of this number it is estimated that less than 500 have been brought to Texas.

To be successful in helping displaced persons get a new start in life, the Refugee Program will need assurances from 30,000 to 40,000 sponsors by early in 1956.

A sponsor is required to give assurance that the refugee will be provided with employment and housing and will not become a public charge.

The refugee's qualifications to fill the job provided him are certified by overseas officials. The Governor's Committee noted that a large percentage of the refugees are classified as agricultural workers who could be absorbed easily in the farming and ranching regions of Texas. Many skilled craftsmen are also looking for new homes in American.

"These refugees have escaped, in many instances, from prisons and concentration camps to wind up spending years in refugees camps waiting for resettlement," said Mr. Winters. "Texas is lagging in doing its part in this humaitarian program to which our nation has committed itself. Rep. Patterson as representative of the Governorr's Committee for Refugee Relief Program in Scurry County, will give the details of the Program to any employer or citizen interested in providing a new opportunity to a refugee."

Special Day Extended To Snyder For Show

Snyder has been extended an invitation to have a special day at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth.

President-Manager W. R. Watt, in a letter to the Chamber of Commerce, expressed appreciation for the cooperation extended in past seasons.

"Last year", the letter stated, "almost 100 cities and organizations had 'days' and their organized delegations, cowgirl sweethearts, band and — in many instances— riding clubs gained recognition for their communities and organizations, added 'color' and contributed greatly to the success of the exposition.

"We hope that you will have a 'day' which we will be happy to publicize; and we are sure that your delegation will have a fine time and, at the same time, will be helping the Stock Show as it serves the great livestock industry of our Southwest."

Dates of the show are Friday, Jan. 27 through Sunday, Feb. 5.

Snyderites To Appear At Highway Meeting

Four men left Snyder this morning for Austin, where they will appear with groups from Howard and Mitchell Counties tomorrow before the State Highway Commission.

The group will testify in connection with a proposal to designate a chain of farm-to-market roads running generally from Colorado City to Tahoka by way of Lake J. B. Thomas as a state highway.

Howard Countians are pushing the proposal, and those from Scurry County have agreed to help support it. Going to Austin from here were Edgar Taylor, county judge, and two commissioners, Pat Moore and T. B. Knight, along with Grady Elder, Chamber of Commerce manager.

All of the proposed highway is now either paved or being paved except for a three-mile strip south of the lake to State Highway 350.

Care Of Cemeteries Is Discussed Here

About 80 persons gathered at the courthouse yesterday in a speical meeting to discuss what could be done to care for cemeteries in Scurry County.

Meeting with the group was the entire county commissioners court, made up of County Judge Edgar Taylor and commissioners T. B. Knight, Cullen Toombs, and Pat Moore, and Doyle Parmer.

As the meeting opened, the court was asked by representatives of several communities to assume maintenance of all the public cemeteries in the county. All had responded to a request by the Snyder Cemetery Association to attend the meeting. The Altrurian Daughters presented the court with petitions bearing 627 signatures asking the court to take over cemetery maintenance.

It was learned in the meeting, however, that the county could not, by law, take over some of the cemeteries. Wayland Holt, county attorney, had done some research on the subject at the request of the court. He told the group that the 52nd Legislature, in 1951, passed an act giving the commissioners courts of counties authority to spend money out of their general funds to keep public cemeteries, but the attorney general had later written opinions on some phases of cemetery maintenance, one of them stating that the court could not levy a special tax for upkeep of cemeteries.

Holt said he had called J. C. Davis, assistant attorney general in charge of county affairs, and that Davis said it was his opinion that a public cemetery is one either the county or state owns and has title to the property and that a county could spend money for maintenance of only cemeteries it owns.

Some of the cemeteries in the county, the Snyder Cemetery among them, probably could not be deeded to the county. The Snyder Cemetery, for example, has sold lots to families for many years, and to make that cemetery one owned by the county, all those families, provided they could be found, would have to deed their lots to the county.

Most persons attending the meeting agreed that this could not be done. It was also generally agreed that if all the public cemeteries in the county could not be cared for, it would probably be useless to try to care for any of them with county funds.

Those attending the meeting agreed that a committee should be appointed to further study methods of care of the cemeteries, many which have graves of those who died many years ago and have no relatives living here to care for the graves.

The possibility of acquiring funds for cemetery care through the United Fund was mentioned but not discussed to any extent.

Judge Taylor appointed the committee, which is made up of M. W. Bavousett of Camp Springs; D. C. Hess, Pyron; Welch Scrivner, Dermott; D. O. Watson, Hermleigh; Robert Jones, Fluvanna; Ollie Richardson, Dunn; Jake Huffman, Canyon; Rea Falls, Ira; Mrs. Alvin Koonsman, Cottonwood Flat; John Schattel, Lone Wolf; and Mrs. B. L. McKinley, Harvey Shuler, Frank Arnett, and Hugh Taylor, Snyder.

Resident Of Lamesa Is Released On Bond

H. S. McCormick, 36 - year - old Lamesa man, was released on bond from the county jail yesterday afternoon.

Charged with swindling by worthless check here and at Sweetwater, McCormick was arrested in Lamesa 12 days ago.

His bond was $250 on the local case, which is a misdemeanor case, and $2,000 in the Sweetwater case, in which he is charged with felony check swindling.

Sureties on both bonds were James R. Patterson, Jr., and Ford Caperton.

Grand Judy Panel Is Summoned Here

A grand jury panel has been summoned to appear in district court at 9 a.m. Monday.

Panelmen were being mailed notices by the sheriff's department today.

District Attorney Renal B. Rosson said the grand jury will have seven or eight cases for consideration, including some charges of driving while intoxicated as a repeated offense, child desertion-support cases, burglary, and felony check swidling.

Those listed on the panel were H. R. Williamson, H. H. Cary, Gilbert Richter, Frank Strom, Edgar von Roeder, Robert H. Crowell, W. T. Dabbs, O. S. McCormack, Leonard Spence, Herbert Feather, David L. Harlin, Harry Holbrook, Dan Gibson, J. A. Joyce, Raymond Lunsford, and G. E. Chorn.

MRS. JOHN BRUCE COX

Rotan Couple Married In Double Ring Rites

ROTAN, Nov. 29 — Double ring rites, read at 4 p.m. Sunday in the First Methodist Church here, united Patsy Kate Newton and John Bruce Cox, both of Rotan.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Newton, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Cox.

Service was read by the church pastor, Rev. J. Alvis Cooley.

Banks of greenery outlined the chancel rail. At either side were triple arrangements of candelabra, holding lighted white tapers. Baskets of white mums tied with satin, with graduated arrangement of palms, completed the altar width nuptial appointment.

Wide, white satin bows marked the bridal aisle.

Ushers and groomsmen were Darrel Boen, Rotan; Don Boren, Snyder; and Don Drum, Snyder. Boen and Boren lighted the candles.

Wedding organist was Mrs. Mark Strickland, Rotan. Soloist and reader was her daughter, Becky Strickland.

Mrs. Strickland presented a medley of tunes, including "Poeme," "Traumerai," and "Evening Star," as guests gathered; presented the traditional wedding marches; and played a soft rendition of "Poeme" during the ceremony.

She was accompanist for her daughter, Becky, as she sang, "I Love You Truly," and read "Why I Love You," as prenuptial offerings; and "The Wedding Prayer," as benediction while the couple knelt at the altar.

The song, "I Love You Truly," was sung at the wedding of the bride's parents in the Methodist Church in Rotan, and Mrs. Strickland, who was then Ruth Jenkins, was the pianist.

Maid of honor was the bride's former roommate in McMurry College, Nancy McLaren of Anson. Her other attendants were Barbara Cox, Rotan, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. John Paul Young, Abilene, the bride's cousin; and Ouida Filingim, Rotan, student in Baylor University.

The attendants were gowned alike in electric blue velveteen, the long torso lines accented by softly gathered, waltz length skirts, bracelet length sleeves, and deep V necklines. They wore jeweled white velvet bandeaux and short white gloves, which were gift from the bride. They wore choker pearls and carried arm bouquets of white pompon mums and blue satin leaves, tied with bows of wide blue satin and net.

Flower girls, gowned identically as the attendants, with the exception of short puff sleeves, were Frances and Susan Newton, nieces of the bride. Their bouquets and headdress were miniatures of the attendants.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore an original creation of gleaming white velvet and French shadow lace, the volumnous skirt falling in softly gathered folds over hoops, and extending into chapel length train. Fitted sleeves of the gown ended in points over her hands. The lace yoke, ending in high, round velvet collar, was inset in the sweetheart neckline of the fitted velvet bodice.

Halo for the bride was the Princess band of velvet, agleam with luster pearls and sequins, from which the bridal veil of French illusion fell in soft triple folds. Her only jewelry was pearl earrings. She carried purple throated white orchids, nested in satin and net, and showered with lily of the valley, atop a white Prayer Book. Inside the book was a white lace handkerchief that had been carried by her mother.

Best man for the bridegroom was Frank Brownfield from Blackwell.

The bride's mother was attired in soft blue taffeta, with blue satin hat, and other accessories in navy. She wore a corsage of red roses, tied with blue satin.

The bridegroom's mother wore cocoa brown satin gown, with brown satin hat, and other accessories in brown. Her corsage was of red roses tied with bronze satin.

A reception, in the home of the bride's parents followed the church wedding. As guests arrived at the home, they were greeted by John Paul Young of Abilene, and Bobby Young of Roby.

The bride's brother, Lehman E. Newton, Jr., opened the door. Parents of the couple, the bride's attendants and the flower girls, received with the newly wedded pair. Mrs. L. E. Newton, Jr. stood at the end of the line, directing guests into the dining room. Wedding flowers were on the piano. Mrs. Henry Withers presented reception music. Mrs. Strickland and Beck presided at the bridal registry.

The all white bridal confection was served with punch by Miss Mabel Phillips of Abilene and Mrs. Gene Goss of Dallas. Bridal flowers centered the reception table and buffet, softly lighted by candle glow. The table was draped with floor-length, gathered pink net over pink taffeta, and was appointed with crystal and silver.

Assisting in the dining room, and in showing the wide array of wedding gifts on display were Mrs. Bob Strayhorn and Mrs. Truman Gilliland, Boran; Mrs. Gilbert Freeman, Dallas; and Mrs. Maurice Young, Roby. Mrs. Bob Wiliams said the goodbyes.

When the couple left on a honeymoon trip to points South, the bride was wearing a dark green tweed suit, with avocado green blouse, hat, and gloves, and other accessories in black. She wore the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

On their return they will live at their ranch, near Snyder.

The bride is a graduate of Rotan schools, and attended McMurry College, Abilene, two years, where she was a member of Gamma Sigma and Wah Wahtaysee. Her father is mayor of Rotan and manager of Rotan Cotton Oil Mill.

The bridegroom is the son of Rotan ranch people, and is a graduate of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, where he received a degree in Agriculture. He taught in Snyder schools two years before becoming engaged in ranching.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents Saturday night at the Silver Spur in Roby.

A number of gift affairs honored the bride prior to the wedding.

Piece Work

Don't throw away those little left-over dabs of pimiento. Just freeze them in any freezer container. Then, when you need a touch of pimiento for a colorful casserole, break off any amount from the frozen pieces and add it to your dish without defrosting. A milk container cut down to ½ cup size makes an ideal pimiento container.

S-D Day For Safety

The Associated Press started keeping tabs on the number of day-by-day traffic deaths in this country this month and will keep it up through December 1.

The check was started November 17, and there were 57 fatalities on that day. Next Thursday, December 1, will be S-D Day—safe driving day—throughout the country, and the AP is running the check as a basis of comparison to see if a one-day, one-shot traffic safety day can show any improvement over ordinary days.

On the first S-D Day last year, December 15, 51 persons died.

S-D Day is the brainchild of President Eisenhower's Committee for Traffic Safety. It is hoped to bring about a decided reduction in traffic deaths on that day to show drivers and pedestrians that safety is an everyday proposition, and not a matter for holidays and weekends.

City police and highway patrolmen throughout the country will cooperate, and the help and cooperation of all safety groups and individual motorists is earnestly solicited, and will be a "must" if the day is to be a success.

Texas, with a very bad record for fatal accidents, had 12 traffic deaths over the Thanksgiving holiday period on the basis of reports as of this writing.

Nationwide, the record has worsened this year over last perhaps because there are more motor vehicles in use, a greater population, and more people trying out those new super-powered automobiles.

No amount of campaigning for safety will effect any great saving of life unless individual motorists react to the appeals for caution that comes to them from all directions, from the President on down.

Traffic safety is a personal matter, just as is safety in all things. Let us hope S-D Day next Thursday will find a consistent and earnest from the motoring public.

It will take that kind of response to make any real dent in our scandalous record.

Texas For UN Spot?

The one-vote margin by which the U.N. General Assembly decided to probe into the political situation in Algeria has now been expunged from the U.N. minutes as though it never happened, and France, which walked out in protest of the original act, has now walked back in again.

Credit for the series of steps which produced this vanishing act of a dangerous issue goes to India's V. K. Krishna Menon, who has more often been conspicuous as a Russian apologist and U.S. critic than as a great compromiser.

In any case, a rift within the lute of sweet U.N. accord has been repaired, and all is well. The way is now open to a vote on the admission to U.N. membership of 18 nations that have been knocking for entrance all these years. This list includes Bulgania, Romania, Albania and Hungary, all Russian satellites, and Outer Mongolia, which is to Russia what Algeria is to France—that is, an integral part, a piece of its metropolitan area.

The U.S. did not object to admission of the four satellites, though not relishing it either, but promised to fight to the end against admission of Outer Mongolia.

The columnist David Lawrence suggests a compromise on this particular point. He says Texas has as much right to insist on U.N. membership as Outer Mongolia has, so why not have Uncle Sam propose Texas as an offsetting counterclaim?

Russia will have a whole flock of satellite and metropolitan memberships if the 18 new members are admitted, in addition to the Ukraine and Byelorussia, which are already members, and as much a part of of Russia as Texas is of the United States. But with four direct votes in the Assembly, Russia will still be outnumbered by Britain, with six votes, including five Commonwealth nations. The U.S. will have only one—unless Mr. Lawrence's idea of including Texas is accepted.

Stalin himself once cited Texas to Mr. Roosevelt as potential U.N. material, when he was arguing for the Ukrane and Byelo (White) Russia. So Mr. Lawrence's idea isn't entirely new.

Leaders In Education Conference Must Concentrate Energy On Major Problems

BY WALTER LIPMANN

This week some 2,000 educators and laymen, drawn from all the states, are in Washington to attend the White House conference on education. They have already taken part in a series of local and state conferences, and this is, so to speak, a meeting at the summit. They have been called together by President Eisenhower who has had from Congress approval of the conference and an appropriation to pay for it.

The reason for the conference is that education in this country is in serious trouble and big measures will be required to cure the trouble. It is the business, indeed it is the duty, of the White House conference to report to the President, "making recommendations insofar as possible" for the "solution...of significant and pressing problems in the field of education."

• • •

The agenda of the conference covers almost every aspect of education from curriculum to finance. This raises a general and overriding question. It is whether the conference will try to say a little something about everything or whether it will resolutely face up to the hard but essential task of making recommendations on the biggest problems about which the Federal government can do something.

The leaders of this conference will have missed the bus—the bus provided for them by the President and Congress—if they scatter their energy over the whole enormous field of education. They will have made the old mistake of talking about so many things that few will remember that they have talked about anything. They will have missed the bus, too, if instead of coming to a decision on the practical problems which concern the Federal government most immediately, they are content to use the White House as the sounding board for giving more publicity to problems which have already had immense publicity.

It is nearly two years since President Eisenhower asked Congress to approve this confernece. The time has now come to form a policy and take a decision. What policy? A policy which shapes the relation of the Federal government to the support of the schools.

There is a strange notion afloat in the land that to have a Federal policy on education is to have something new, something contrary to the American philosophy of government. As a matter of fact national grants in aid of education are as old as the Republic. More exactly, they are older than the Republic in that the Northwest Ordinance of 1785 contained an enormous national grant in aid of education. It provided that when the western lands had been surveyed "there shall be reserved the lot number sixteen of every township for th emaintenance of public schools within said township."

The list of Federal statutes providing aid for education is a long one. It includes the land grant colleges, vocational training, veterans education, and aid to support schools in areas affected by Federal activities, such as defence plants.

• • •

There is no new principle involved. The question is whether Federal aid is necessary and, if it is, how Federal aid is to be given to the schools while avoiding Federal control and Federal domination of the schools.

There is a grave shortage in American education of which the outward signs are overcrowded school rooms, part-time schooling and over-worked teachers. The basic fact is that our population is growing very rapidly, that more and more young people are going to school and college, that the schools and colleges are expected to do more and more for them. In a word, the demand for education has been growing. There are not enough school rooms and there are not enough teachers to meet this demand. This is the educational shortage which the White House conference is called upon to deal with.

The shortage of classrooms is quite evidently a problem of money. The classrooms can be built if the money is provided. The question is whether each state separately can raise the money that it needs, or whether Federal money should be appropriated. This is the most important question before the White House conference, and the country has a right to expect a clear answer.

The shortage of teachers is, on the other hand, only in part a question of money. It has been demonstrated, as we shall see in my next article, that it is not even theoretically possible to find enough teachers to meet the demand, and that a reorganization of the teaching system will have to be undertaken. But the shortage of teachers cannot in any case be met unless there is a marked improvement in teachers' salaries.

• • •

There is no reason why Federal money for school buildings should mean Federal control of education, control of what is taught, of how it is taught. In fact, Congress could and, it seems to me, that Congress should, declare in appropriating money for Federal aid that the money shall be used for the construction of schools, and that no Federal official shall give funds or withhold them in order to influence what is done in the schools when they are guilt. It would then be a Federal offense to use Federal aid to establish Federal control of the schools.

Makers Of Men's Clothing Hiring Women Designers

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Men design women's clothes. And now some women are designing men's apparel.

One maker of men's suits (H. Daroff and Sons) has hired a woman to advise retail outlets to encourage women to shop for men's clothing, with the idea that will boost sales volume.

A maker of men's hats Frank H. Lee Co.) has hired a woman to design its new spring line on the theory that a woman would know best how a man should look—so as not to clash with his wife's fashions.

Many women have long been very vocal about telling their men what they ought to wear. Many pick out the clothes on the theory the husband's taste can't be trusted. Others go along as unpaid but certainly not unheard consultants.

But a lot of men resent it and won't permit their wives to choose anything for them.

Some merchants say the wife spurs the husband into spending more on his appearance than he would if he weren't nagged. They report 50 per cent of their sales of men's suits are made while the wife watches.

Others say that the wife just complicates sales, wastes clerk's time and upsets other and unaccompanied males who may be there shopping.

Some men, who choose their own suits, are content to let the women do the shopping for shirts, underwear, socks, pajamas and the like.

Merchants say 70 per cent of such items are bought by women.

H. Daroff and Sons also had a research organization query women shoppers on the subject of men's duds.

More than a third of the women said, "Everything is left up to me." But almost half said style was specified, though less rarely was brand and color mentioned.

The women said when they went along with their husbands they were listened to on the matter of fit, but seldom consulted about fabric, color, brand or price.

Obedience School For Wives Might Have Some Merit, But There Is Flaw In Idea

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments by a pavement Plato:

Would obedience schools for wives make for happier marriages in America?

The question has been raised by a reader who wisely chooses to remain anonymous.

"Obedience schools for pets have worked out very well," he wrote. "So why not an obedience school for pet wives?

"Such schools could teach most wives some things they badly need to learn, such as self-discipline and and the willingness to carry out a man's orders without barking back.

"What do you think of this idea? Wouldn't it restore to the average husband the prestige he once held as head of the family? If you hear of such a school, please telegraph me at once. I want to enroll my own wife as the number one trainee."

Frankly, the proposal at first glance sounds fine. The ordinary husband can think at once of many ways in which his wife might benefit from attendance at an obedience school.

"She could, for example, be taught to get up off the sofa and say "hello" whenever he returned home from work. She could be taught to take off his shoes and fetch his slippers.

She could be taught not to interrupt him when he is telling his favorite joke at a party. She could be taught not to show up at breakfast with her hair in wire curlers, looking like a fugitive from the electric chair. It might even be possible to teach her when it was all right to talk to her husband, and when she should bring him his newspaper and let him read it in silence.

There is even a bare likelihood that she might be coerced into letting him handle the spending of his own paycheck, although this could well force 7 out of 10 American families into bankruptcy in six months.

The list of things a well-run obedience school could teach a dutiful wife to help make her husband's lot more cheerful is well nigh endless.

However, the idea of obedience schools for wives, while it sounds highly logical, is basically impractical. The big flaw in the proposal is this: Where would you get the teachers?

You couldn't use women as teachers. No wife with any spirt would let another woman teach her how she should behave toward her own husband.

The teacher would have to be really extraordinary. To dutybreak a stubborn, willful wife he would have to have the physical appeal of Clark Gable, the magnetism of a hypnotist, the wisdom of Socrates, the oratorical skill of Domosthenes, the daring of a wild animal trainer.

Let us suppose such a teacher could be found. What then? Well, no wife would want to return to a dull husband after studying under a professor like that. They'd all fall in love with teacher and want to spend the rest of their lives in obedience school.

That seems to rule out the possibility of obedience schools for wives.

The question naturally arises then: "How about a few obedience schools for husbands — wouldn't they improve matrimony?"

The answer to this is there simply isn't any demand for them. Every marriage is an obedience school for husbands. That's the way it is — and that's the way it's likely to stay.

Krushchev Invites Us To Make Him 'Eat His Words'

BY INEZ ROBB

Do you ever have Walter Mitty-type dreams of spitting in Nikita S. Khrushchev's eye? Of making him eat his words? (Man! what a potential case of indigestion!) Of forcing him to fish or cut bait?

Me, too!

And, friends, Nikita has just given you and me an unparalleled opportunity to do all three. The boss of the Soviet Communist party has made a long-range bet that eventually the U.S.S.R. will pick up all the chips without so much as firing a shot because you and I can't take it.

Khrushchev is betting that communism will win hands down over democracy because you and I, and our counterparts in the Western world, lack two essential ingredients to victory: (1) the will to sacrifice until it hurts to win and (2) the will to endure the menial, emotional and nervous tensions of a prolonged cold war.

Those have always been fighting words in these parts, and we have always expected a feller to smile when he said 'em. But Mr. Khrushchev wasn't smiling when he made his blunt predictions to Lester B. Pearson when the Canadian Minister of External Affairs recently talked with Mr. Big in Russia.

There is no doubt at the moment that we can outproduce the Russians, but the Russian hierarchy is insultingly sure that in the pinch they can outsacrifice and outendure us. We still have the edge on them mechanically and materially, but not, they figure, spiritually and for the long haul.

In short, Mr. K. is predicting that you and I are so flabby and so spoiled from easy living that we don't have the intestinal fortitude to defend the way of life that puts a secret ballot in every hand, freedom of speech and worship everywhere, two cars in every garage and a Sunday dinner on the table every day.

Mr. Khrushchev obviously believes we are incapable of giving up those mink-lined cotton-twill raincoats designed by C. Dior, the $99 nylon nighties woven with a 24-carat gold thread, the diamond-studded bow ties recommended for dinner jackets, and the $1,000 dolls (with ermine coats!) advertised by a New York department store.

There's no denying there's a lot of fat in the U.S.A., more rich lard than any other nation has ever acquired in history. But there' a lot of muscle here, too. We also have our share of grit, gumption and stamina. And Nikita will do us a favor if he just keeps sounding off about us being quitters long enough to make us mad enough to show him up for the windbag he is.

It will take more than Walter Mitty-type dreams to make Mr. Khrushchev eat crow. We may be paying more rather than less taxes to meet the Communist challenge, but it won't kill us. We may have to eat a notch lower on the hog, but it won't bother us much. Not if, in the long run, we can really spit in Nikita's eye.

Tiles By Dali Decorated Retired Officer's Home

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — When Rhoda Low Seoane, wife of a retired Army colonel decorated the front of her house in exclusive Georgetown with tiles designed by surrealist Salvador Dali, neighbors claimed it disrupted the atmosphere of the historic section.

"Remember Dear, how we came home one day to find a photographer crouched up close to the steps to take pictures of the tiles, and all the fuss," Mrs. Seoane laughingly asked her colonel, an Army veteran of 40 years. "We think we've taken my husband's ugly old three-story brick house and made something artistic with it."

The Seoanes, spend their winters here, and summers at "Thalassa" (Greek for "the sea"), the former Miss Low's family home at Bristol, R. I. They bought the colorful tiles bearing Dali interpretations during a visit to Spain. They brighten the sides of the windows and front stoop of their house which the colonel said he bought 16 years ago.

"I think they add a unique and distinctive character to an otherwise dull street, "Mrs. Seoane, a water color artist, with a flair of her own for originality told me."

Georgetowners went to the district commissioners in their tizzy over the tiles, murmuring something about building permits, but these gentlemen ruled that Dali's artistry "does not constitute a danger to the public or to other property owners." Obviously they're there to stay.

Mrs. Seoane, whose father, William Low, a scion, of the old China clipper ship industry, was a world traveler and adventurer, has seen a great part of the world and boasts some unusual experiences. The most interesting of these was her meeting with the Mad Hatter.

It happened while she was visiting the Bishop of Staffordshire's wife in Litchfield.

"Perhaps," the Bishop's wife told her, "you don't know that the artist Tenniel, who illustrated Lewis Carroll's 'Alice in Wonderland,' lived here. But everyone here knows he based his character, the Mad Hatter, on a subchanter in our Cathedral."

"This was in 1926," Mrs. Seoane told me, "After tea I went walking in the Cathedral close with the Bishop's daughter. Suddenly she gave me a poke, 'right there he is—getting along in years he is—in his 80's I should guess,' "she whispered.

Cockney Characterized By Colorful Rhyming Slang

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—"Let's get the wind out of our mince pies and go across the frog and toad to the old rub-adub for a needle and pin," the man said. "We've got the bird line, you know."

In the Queen's English, the Cockney meant:

"Let's get the wind out of our eyes and go across the road to the bar for a gin. We have the time, you know."

This is rhyming slang—colorful and varied—and it takes a real Cockney to speak it.

A Cockney is a person born within sound of the bells on old St. Mary-le-Bow Church, near the very heart of this capital. Rugged individualists and generally good humored, the Cockneys started with the English language as far back as the first part of the 1th century.

The Cockney characterized himself in the first part of the 19th century by substituting V for W and vice versa: "Are you villing to wote?"

Later in the century he changed the th sound to F, as in Arfur for Arthur.

Their greatest assault on the English language concerns vowel sounds (they say dyly for daily, abaht for about, moch for much) and the adding or dropping of H's at the beginning of words.

Then came rhyming slang—or substituting one, two or three words that vaguely rhyme with the real word and stringing them all together in a sentence.

There are pubs where a large portion of the drinks are asked for in rhyming slang—and pity the barmaid who doesn't understand.

Beer is a pig's ear. Whisky is a bright and frisky. Rum a deaf and dumb.

Most of the rhyming slang is done with nouns and its nearly always spoken and not written. And sometimes eyes become just mince (rather than mince pies). Stand-to-attention, the full rhyme for pension, becomes stand-to. Greenages, the rhyme for wages, may become just greens.

Here's a short vocabulary:

Mouth—north and south
Nose—I suppose
Face—deuce and ace
Stairs—apples and pairs
House—cat and mouse
Shirt—dickey dirt
Shoes—fires and flues
Trousers—round the houses
Wife—trouble and strife
Husband, or old man—pot and pan
Spoon—silvery moon
Waiter—potato
Head waiter—hot potato
Tea—rosey lee
Dog—sherry hog
Money—bees and honey

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Television has become the prime incubator of talent for the movies and the theater.

This is the opinion of David Susskind, who certainly should be well-informed on the subject. As executive producer and vice president of Talent Associates, a TV packaging firm, he is responsible for such shows as TV Playhouse, Armstrong Circle Theater, Justice and Appointment With Adventure. "The movies and the theater are looking to television today as never before," he says. "Any half-decent TV show provokes a barrage of movie interest. Television has ceased to be the Class B league to its older brothers, the theater and movies. Today it's Yankee Stadium."

The talented graduates of television form an illustrious company, Susskind points out. There are such actreses as Grace Kelly and Eva Marie Saint, who got their starts in television and now are movie stars. There are directors such as Delbert Mann. But one of the most surprising developments is among writers.

"The leading television dramatists of a couple of years ago, with one or two exceptions, all have left to write for the movies and the theater." Susskind says. "Their places are being taken by a new crop of equally talented writers who are not imitative of their predecesors."

The list of writers who no longer write primarily for television is long and distinguished, including Paddy Chayefsky, Horton Foote, N. Richard Nash, Tad Mosel, David Shaq and Robert Alan Aurthur. Into their places, says Susskind, are moving such talented newcomers as Douglas Taylor, Phil Reisman Jr., Vance Bourjaily and Alfred Geto.

It's not just the lure of gold that leads writers to the hills of California and the canyons of Broadway, Susskind believes. "It's the allure of working in the movies and the theater. Even more, I think, is the desire to be free of the deadline of television. There's the delicious difference of time in the theater and movies."

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

HENRY ADAMS: A Biography. By Elizabeth Stevenson. Macmillan.

"Mont-Saint-Michel and Chartres" and "The Education of Henry Adams" are the principal works for which we remember, with a gratitude beyond expression, this Adams—descendant of two presidents, whose father, Charles Francis, was a masterly legislator and statesman around the time of the Civil War.

We haven't known much else about him; his wife's suicide, his distinguished friends, his sharp tongue about ended the story. Consequently this informative, detailed biography is doubly welcome.

Adams' professional career, after Harvard and study abroad, included participation in public affairs as his father's secretary; teaching; editorship of the North American Review; a somewhat amateurish role in politics.

But the Adams important to us is the author of books on various historical and social topics, as well as the works on the cathedrals and on his own life. Miss Stevenson's particular, most praiseworthy achievement is her painstaking establishment of the intimate connection between the man and his work. Of the "Mont-Saint-Michel" she says, "The whole man wrote the book," and proceeds to prove it.

"I am not made for Boston, Mass.," Adams wrote in his old age. Yet it's hard to say for what else he was made, however much in his last 30 years he preferred Washington and European capitals. This book is, besides a record of Adams, a record of how rich, and how basic to us all, New England has been. Among nostalgic reminders culled from its pages, we note that John Hay died at Lake Sunapee, that sculptor Saint-Saudens had his studio in Cornish, N.H., that there was Boston under the skin of artist John LaFarge and architect Richardson as well as Adams.

Swink Long Unanimous All-SWC Choice

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP) — Jim Swink, the Texas Christian terror, heads up an All-Southwest Conference football team that turned into a squad.

Swink, who scored on everybody and ran up 1,283 yards rushing, was the only unanimous choice of coaches of the seven schools in selecting the All-Conference team for The Associated Press. But there were ties at two positions, thus it is a 13-man squad that gets the honor of being picked as the best in the Southwest for the 1955 season.

There are more underclassmen on this team than ever before, with one sophomore and five juniors making it. This foretells what should come next season when the teams all will be jammed with veterans.

Almost Unanimous

Herb Gray, Texas' mighty guard, lacked only one vote of being unanimous, while Hugh Pitts, Texas Christian's great center, and Menan Schriewer, Texas' brilliant pass receiver and hard working end, got five votes apiece.

Over-all, Texas Christian, conference champion and Cotton Bowl host, dominated the selections with 4 players on the first team. Texas wound up with 3, Texas A&M and Arkansas 2 apiece and Baylor and Southern Methodist 1 each.

Rice, which had one of its worst seasons and was hampered by many injuries, especially to its best men, didn't place on the All-Conference. It had been many a season since the Owls couldn't break into the All-Star group.

Landing along with Swink and Pitts from the TCU team were Norman Hamilton, huge tackle, and Chuck Curtis, the magic ball-handler, adept passer and brilliant quarterback.

Fondren Only Sophomore

The sophomore making the team was Walter Fondren, versatile Texas halfback. He and Preston Carpenter, the Arkansas star, tied for one of the halfback posts. Swink, of course, made the other without getting up a sweat.

Schriewer won one of the end positions but Eugene Stallings of Texas A&M and Henry Gremminger of Baylor tied for the other. Bryan Engram, Texas Christian's captain, was next in line for an end job.

Forrest Gregg, old dependable of the Southern Methodist line, was with Hamilton at tackle. Each weighs 225.

Dennis Goehring, light but agile Texas A&M guard, is Gray's opposite in the All-Conference line.

The fullback is Henry Moore, Arkansas' mighty ball carrier.

Jack Powell of A&M got strong support for tackle and so did Jack Pardee, the defensive genius of the Aggies, for fulback.

SECOND TEAM

Ends—Bryan Engram, Texas Christian, and Marshall Crawford, Rice.
Tackles—Jack Powell, Texas A&M, and Bill Fuller, Arkansas.
Guards—Wayland Roberts, Arkansas, and Don Goss, Southern Methodist.
Center—Johnny Tatum, Texas.
Backs—George Walker, Arkansas; Delano Womack, Texas; John Roach, Southern Methodist, and Jack Pardee, Texas A&M.

Cliff Battles, new member of football's Hall of Fame, won 15 letters in sports at West Virginia Wesleyan. In addition to football Battles played baseball, basketball, tennis and was on the track team.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

THE TIGER FOOTBALLERS will be going against what could very well be called the "District 2-AAA All-Stars" Saturday afternoon when they clash head-on with the Garland Owls.

No less than 10 of the 11 Garland starters have been named on the Dallas News' All-District 2-AAA football teams for the 1955 season.

Five Owls were named on the first team and five on the second team. Don't know what happened to that 11th man on the Owl team that he didn't make the grade.

Heading the all-star list on the Owl club, of course, is this fellow Bobby Boyd, 170-pound halfback.

Boyd is being boomed for all-state honors this season for the second straight year. The swift-running Owl back has rolled up an amazing 1,403 yards this season to lead the Garland ball carriers.

Boyd does other things with the football besides running with it.

He has thrown 10 passes this season, completed five of them for 148 yards.

And then he has been on the receiving end of 10 other passes for 145 yards.

The statistics we have on hand do not indicate whether Boyd caught some of his own passes. But the kind of football player he is built up to be, don't be surprised if you don't see this lad "passing to himself" in Saturday's game.

Boyd Has Fine Running Mate

Boyd has a pretty good running mate that the Tigers certainly can't overlook Saturday.

J. R. Wynne, 150-pound fullback, has racked up 809 yards this season, second to Boyd in rushing.

Both Wynne and Boyd were named on the All-District 2-AAA team.

The other Owls, incidentaly, who landed a spot on the first all-2-AAA team as selected by the Dallas News are end Lowell Baker, 175 pounds; tackle Larry Scott, 180; and guard Alvin Moore, 150.

Second team choices are end Tommy Turner, 164; tackle Billy Weaver, 181; guard Roger Brand, 150; center Rex Coldwell, 163; and and quarterback Arthur Douglass, 159.

The only Garland starter who missed being named on the first two teams is halfback Floyd Blackwell. Blackwell, by the way, is a former Snyder product. He played junior high football here before moving to Garland.

Blackwell, however, won't see any action Saturday against the Tigers as result of an injury. He suffered an elbow separation in the Grand Prairie game and is out for the season.

In scoring, Boyd more than tripled his nearest pursuer in point-making.

The Owl star scored 109 points in District 2-AAA play while the second leading scorer tallied only 36 points.

For the season, Boyd has scored 22 touchdowns and 13 conversion points. You'll note the latter is another of Boyd's abilities, kicking the ball.

Guess you could say Boyd is a "quadruple-threater." He can run, pass, receive passes and kick the football.

Yes sir, from all indications, this feller Boyd certainly must be a football genius.

Ticket Sales Here Enlightening

We were more than somewhat elated yesterday at noon when we called the Chamber of Commerce office to check on the ticket sales for the Garland game this weekend and find out that more than 1,100 tickets were sold within 2½ hours time.

At an early count this morning, there was only a little better than 100 reserved seat tickets left.

So, it looks like the Tigers are going to receive the support they need in Saturday's game at Garland.

The Snyder High School band, which has put on some fine half-time performances at Tiger games this fall, certainly have the football spirit.

The Tiger band, which has copped the "sweepstakes title in band contests the past two year," won't win that title this year. The marching contest comes off Saturday which, of course, falls on the same day the Tigers meet Garland.

So, band director Melvin Montgomery left it up to the band members as to what they wanted to do, compete in the marching contest or back the Tigers at Garland.

A vote was taken and the bandsters overwhelmingly voted to go to Garland.

In order to win the sweepstakes title again, the Tiger band would have to take part in the marching contest to be held Saturday in San Angelo.

But the band had rather see the Tigers emerge state champions in football and they're going to do all they can in support of the Bengal gridders.

We tip our hat to the Tiger band.

Sooners Thrilled Over Rating

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—"Is it really for sure?" halfback Tommy McDonald wanted to know.

And when he found out it was for sure—Oklahoma is the national football champion — the speedy, high-scoring junior whooped with delight. So did every other Sooner player on the campus. Coaches and school officials joined them.

The Sooners, undefeated in 29 straight games, were named the nation's No. 1 team today in the season's final poll of sports writers and broadcasters by The Associated Press.

"It's really great," said McDonald. "We're ready for anything."

That anything as every Sooner player knows is undefeated Maryland.

"We just hope we won't let our fans down in the Orange Bowl game," said line coach Gomer Jones after he heard the news.

"We're all very happy we were selected national champions. I believe it was a team effort that won this honor. The whole squad was outstanding all year long. The morale was great, even among those who did not get to play very much."

Spikes Passes 1,000 Mark

Jack Spikes soared past the 1,000 mark in rushing for the 1955 season last week, which is believed to be the first time in history that a Tiger ball carrier has hit the four-figure mark.

Spikes gained 129 yards against Lamesa Thanksgiving Day to push his season total to 1,014 yards. Spikes has toted the mail 137 times for an average of 7.4 yards per carry.

Still another Tiger, Joe Baxter, is approaching the 1,000 mark. Baxter, who missed one game because of an injury, has gained 947 yards in 98 carries for a 9.6 average.

Powell Berry continues as the Tiger passing leader with 16 completions in 29 attempts for 290 yards and six touchdowns.

Milton Ham is the top Tiger pass receiver with 11 catches for 182 yards and three touchdowns.

Baxter tallied 86 points through the regular schedule to pace the Tiger scorers on 14 touchdowns and two conversions. Spikes follows with 10 touchdowns for 60 points.

Following are the individual Tiger statistics:

Port Neches Grid Star Hearing Set

AUSTIN (AP) — A hearing will be held by the Interscholastic League tomorrow on the eligibility of Gordon le Boeuf, Port Neches backfield star.

Port Neches plays Temple in the Class AAA first round Saturday.

Rhea Williams, athletic director of the league, said Newman Smith, Temple superintendent, had protested the eligibility of le Boeuf under the league's amateur rule which prohibits a boy receiving valuable consideration.

Le Boeuf was taken on a trip from Port Neches to College Station by a Texas A&M alumnus to see the Texas A&M-SMU football game Nov. 5 and his transportation meals and a ticket to the game were provided, Williams said.

The District 6 committee ruled le Boeuf eligible so far as the district race was concerned on grounds that there was no intent of recruiting involved. Williams said, there is more involved in the amateur rule than this one point.

Pitt Panthers On Move Again

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Pittsburgh's meeting with Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl Jan. 2 may show whether the Panthers, once the scourge of collegiate football, are on the prowl again.

The 1955 Pitt team hung up the university's best record since 1938 in winning seven games and losing three. The 1938 squad, last of a string of great Pitt teams, won eight and lost two.

That was the late Jock Sutherland's last great squad. From 1924 to 1938, the Panthers won 64 games while losing only 9 and tying 5. The 1937 team was named national champion. And the 1936 team went to the Rose Bowl and climaxed a great season with a 21-0 victory over the Washington Huskies.

By contrast, from 1939 to the start of the 1955 season, Pit won only 60 games against 84 defeats.

Pitt fortunes began to perk up in 1952 with a creditable six victories and three loses.

Pitt's record dipped to only three triumphs in nine outings in 1953. And in 1954, the Panthers won four of nine, but illness to Coach Red Dawson may have, hurt Panther spirits.

Johnny Michelosen, hero of the great Pitt teams of the late '30s, succeeded Dawson at the beginning of this season and took a brash step in assuming command. He junked the traditional power-based Pitt single wing, mainstay of the Panther offense under Sutherland and Dawson, and installed the faster and more deceptive split-T. The results bore out Michelosen's choice.

When Wally Post of the Redlegs batted in 103 runs in 1955 he became the first Cincinnati right fielder ever to knock in more than 100 runs in one season.

Jim Ricca, Detroit Lions tackle, has his own daily radio sports broadcast in the Washington, D.C. area during the off-season.

TOUGH SLEDDING—Chicago Cardinals halfback Jim Carr (24) picks up five yards before being brought down by Chicago Bears end Doug Atkins (81) on the slick-turf at Comiskey Park in Chicago. Action came in the first period. The Cardinals overwhelmed the highly-favored Bears, 53-14, as the cross-town rivals battled in a swirling snowstorm.

Red Sox Buy Frisco Club

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Boston Red Sox have bought the San Francisco franchise for $150,000 in a deal calculated to strengthen the Pacific Coast League and are negotiating the sale of their Louisville farm in the American Assn.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox general manager, surprised the minor league convention last night by buying the Coast League outlet as Cleveland's Hank Greenberg sat back and waited for the club to fall into his lap.

Assured the Red Sox would do "everything possible" to have a contending club in San Francisco, the league's directors approved the sale.

In addition to the franchise, the Red Sox acquired the contracts of 19 players, including veterans like Gene Bearden, Wally Judnich and Bill Serena and who have had a whirl in the majors.

The league assumed all obligations of the former owners, the San Francisco Seals, Inc., headed by Damon Miller. It had declared the franchise forfeited by Miller's group at a special meeting at Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 11. Out of the $150,000 must come $50,000 to pay a note due the leagues and $6,750 in back salary to former Manager Tommy Heath. After all debts are paid, the remainder will revert to Miller's group.

Cronin revealed a deal to sell the Red Sox's Louisville farm was in "the taking stage." He said negotiations were under way with a "local group' but he declined to name names.

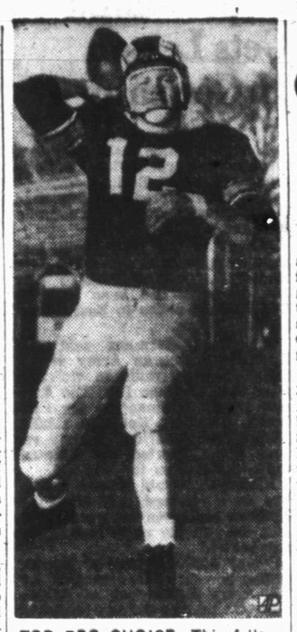

While the Coast League was ironing out its roughest problem, the American Assn., remained in a turmoil. The Milwaukee Braves, still hoping to get approval to move their Toledo franchise to Miami, were awaiting an official vote from the league. Although no vote has been taken, the Braves have been given every indication that no such transfer will be aproved.

Hal Sayles was named president of the Class B Big State League after the resignation yesterday of Howard Green. The league decided to remain in Class B, dropping a plan to move up a notch, and settled on eight clubs, instead of a proposed dozen teams.

After declaring Harlingen, Tex., "a franchise in default" it passed over Temple and Longview, two potential members and admitted as new members, Lubbock, Abilene, Wichita Falls and Beaumont. The holdover clubs are Corpus Christi, Waco, Port Arthur and Texas City.

The South Atlantic League voted to give the visiting club a percentage (20 per cent) of the gate.

Brooklyn was approved as new owner of Macon, Ga., and a new group, headed by General Manager Bill Purnhage, was accepted at Montgomery, Ala., Cincinnati's Columbia, S.C., franchise was shifted.

TOP PRO CHOICE—This fellow must be a sleeper. He's quarterback Gary Glick, a comparative unknown from Colorado A&M the Pittsburgh Steelers in the college, who was first choice by National Football League bonus draw. The Steelers, entitled to first draw by virtue of their cellar position in the league last season, passed over better known players to choose Glick, 23, of La Porte, Colo., a 6 foot, one inch, and a 192 pounder.

OU No. 1 In Final AP Poll; Spartans 2nd; Froggies 6th

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

Undefeated Oklahoma, winning at the polls in the same whirlwind fashion that it won most of its games, today captured the 1955 national college football championship and the Father J. Hugh O'Donnell Trophy in the 20th annual Associated Press poll.

The bowl-bound Sooners amassed 3,581 points in the season's final AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters. It topped Michigan State by more than 300 points. Maryland, Oklahoma's opponent in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2, finished third.

Oklahoma succeeds Ohio State, Big Ten champion for the second straight year, as winner of the national championship trophy. It is the second time the Sooners have taken the award, named in honor of the late Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, former president of Notre Dame. They also finished first in the 1950 poll. It must be won three times to gain permanent possession.

The Associated Press poll was established in 1936. Each newspaper or radio or TV station may cast one ballot, rating the teams from first to tenth. Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for each first-place vote, for second, etc.

In the final 1955 balloting, Oklahoma was first on 218 of the 294 ballots cast, second on 99 and third on 35. It was one of the heaviest votes in the 20-year history of the poll.

Michigan State, with 88 first-place votes, polled a second-place total of 3,204 points and Maryland, with 55 firsts, received 3,024 points.

Others finishing in the top 10 were UCLA, which will meet Michigan State in the Rose Bowl, Ohio State, Texas Christian, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Notre Dame and Mississippi.

Other previous winners of the O'Donnell Trophy were Michigan, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Michigan State and Maryland.

Oklahoma, leader of the weekly polls for four weeks preceding the final ballot, wound up its season with a 53-0 walkover against Oklahoma A&M, its 10th victory of the season and 29th in a row.

TCU will oppose Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl, Georgia Tech will play Pittsburgh (rated 11th) in the Sugar Bowl and Auburn will play unranked Vanderbilt in the Gator Bowl.

The leaders, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Oklahoma (218)	3,581

Irvin Returns To Majors--As A Cub

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Monte Irvin, whose big bat played a key role in the New York Giants' miracle finish in 1951, is coming back to the major leagues at the ripe old age of 37—this time with the Chicago Cubs.

The slugging outfielder, abandoned by the Giants last summer, was the only big name among the 10 minor leaguers selected by the majors for a total of $115,000 in yesterday's annual draft session, which officially opened the winter baseball meetings.

Although an unusual number of big league managers were here, only one trade was consummated. The Chicago Cubs sent Hal Jeffcoat, a fair relief pitcher, to the Cincinnati Redlegs in an even-up exchange for Tobie Landrith, a second-string catcher.

The Cubs, in desperate need of a strong right-handed outfielder, plucked Irvin from Minneapolis, the Giants' farm club in the American Assn., for the $10,000 draft price, beating out at least two other clubs—Detroit and Cincinnati. If Irvin can come anywhere near the .352 batting average he posted with the Millers, he will provate a real bargain.

Chicago also took title to pitcher Vito Valentinetti from Toronto. Valentinetti had a 9-15 record with Charleston last season.

The Cubs were the only club to choose more than one player in the lightest draft since 1945 when the same number of players were selected.

The biggest surprise was Washington's selection of a practically unknown pitcher, right-hander Conrad Grob, from Montreal, as the No. 1 pick. Grob, 23, had an 11-9 record at Mobile before being moved to Montreal.

The second choice went to Pittsburgh, which selected Jack McMahon, a southpaw on the Denver roster who turned in an 11-5 record for Birmingham last season. Baltimore picked first baseman Bob Boyd off Rochester. A former outfielder with the Chicago White Sox, Boyd batted .309, drove in 94 runs and hit 15 home runs at Houston.

The St. Louis Cardinals picked pitcher Billy Muffett, who was 10-4 at Shreveport. Muffett came off the Los Angeles roster.

Kansas City took title to Bill Herriage from Oakland, Herriage, a right-hander, had a 15-7 mark at Montgomery.

The Tigers selected Joe Presko, a former Cardinal right-hander who had a 6-10 record at Omaha. The Giants took right-hander Steve Ridzik, former Philadelphia and Cincinnati pitcher, drafted from Seattle.

Milwaukee took southpaw Lou Sleater from Columbus. The former American Leaguer was 1-1 at Toledo.

The Giants completed their coaching staff with the selection of Ray Mueller, former National League catcher, as bullpen coach.

Sayles Named Big State Prexy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hal Sayles of Abilene, Tex., was named last night to head the Class B Big State League succeeding Howard Green of Fort Worth.

Green resigned yesterday at the minor league convention here. Sayles, an Abilene real estate man, has been president of the Longhorn and West Texas - New Mexico leagues.

The minor league meeting spiked hopes of Big State League members to raise their classification to Class A and change the name to the Texas State League operating with as many as 12 teams.

Plans were made to eliminate one team, Harlingen, and add four others. The new teams are Lubbock, Abilene, Wichita Falls and Beaumont. Other members of the league are Corpus Christi, Waco, Port Arthur and Texas City.

Harlingen was voted a franchise in default because the owners could not show sufficient financial support for operation in 1956. Two other possible teams, Temple and Longview, were pased over by the directors.

Scout Report On Garland Is QB Feature

Scout reports on the Garland Owls, Saturday's bi-district Tiger opponents, will be the main topic of discussion at the weekly meeting of the Snyder Quarterback Club tonight.

The meeting will be held in the high school cafeteria starting at 7:30.

Jack (Spider) Dillon, Tiger B team coach, will give the scout report on the Owls. Dillon has seen Garland in action twice, against Grand Prairie and Weatherford.

Tiger coach John Conley will give his views on the regular season finale against Lamesa at tonight's meeting after which he'll show a film of the game.

Further details of the special buses to Garland Saturday will be revealed at tonight's meeting.

All members and fans of the Quarterback Club are urged to be on hand for tonight's session.

DeMarco Set For Basilio

BOSTON (AP)—For a fellow who took a sound shellacking from Carmen Basilio the last time around, ex-welterweight champion Tony DeMarco fairly breathes confidence. Tony is sure he is going to take back the 147-pound title from Basilio in the Boston Garden Wednesday night.

The 23-year-old, 5-5½ ex-champ says he feels 100 per cent better now. He's had only one fighting chance to prove that and on the record it looks good. Big-chested Tony stopped heavier Chico Vejar, the Stamford, Conn., actor-fighter with the push-button chin in 2:40 of the first round on Sept. 14.

Competent observers say that he has been very impressive in the gym since then. He has been banging away with both hands and keeping his attack going.

The confidence in DeMarco's camp seems to have spread around the city. The odds, which had favored the 28-year-old Basilio by 9-5, have dropped to 7-5. Many here believe it will be 6-5 and pick 'em by the time they step into the Boston Garden ring.

Promoter Sam Silverman expects to sell out the Boston Garden to its 13,900 capacity.

This fight will be telecast and broadcast across the country but the New England area will be blacked out.

Glick Will Click If History Is Criteria

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gary Glick, the Colorado A&M quarterback selected as the bonus choice in the National Football League draft yesterday by the Pittsburgh Steelers should make the grade if history is any criteria.

Since Bert Bell, commissioner of the NFL, initiated the bonus choice in 1947, seven of the nine previous selections made good as pros. One still is in the service and hasn't had a chance to play, while the other was injured and forced to retire.

The first bonus baby back in 1947 was Bob Fenimore picked by the Chicago Bears. Fenimore, an Oklahoma A&M star as a collegian, was injured in his first year with the Bears and retired from pro football. Bobby Garrett, the Cleveland choice in 1954, later traded to Green Bay for Babe Parilli, Kentucky, quarterback, is in the armed services. The Stanford ace is expected to report to the Packers next season.

Michigan Prexy Raps Pre-Season Ratings

DETROIT (AP)—Decrying pre-season ratings of teams and players and emphasis on post-season bowl bids, the University of Michigan's president has called for a curb on what he terms "the accelerated madness" of college football.

Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, Michigan president, told 700 at the annual UM "Football Bust" last night:

"I sincerely hope a way is found to preserve the game in its proper college setting, so that we won't have to alter it — as I am sure we will have to do if our present course continues."

Hatcher said he read "with sinking heart" magazine reports which rated Michigan No. 1 in the nation before it had played its first game this year and other articles which forecast conference championships bowl bids months ahead.

Michigan ended up with a 7 won, 2 lost record. A 17-0 loss to Ohio State in the final game cost the Wolverines the Big 10 championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl. Ohio State won the conference crown and handed the bowl bid to Michigan State. OSU went last Jan. 1. Under conference rules no team may go two years in succession.

Citing newspaper reports of last Saturday's games emphasizing bowl bids, Dr. Hatcher said:

"'Coveted bids,' they are called. Here's another: 'Army knocks Navy out of Cotton Bowl.' And one says: 'Tennessee ruins Vanderbilt's bowl hopes.'

"There was a time when football games were played to see who would win. Now everything points to the 'coveted bid' to a bowl."

Jockey Sets Sights On 400 Winners

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Opening day "bugs" out of the machinery, Tropical Park settled down for 42 more days of thoroughbred racing today and jockey Willie Hartack set his sights on 400 winners for the year.

Hartack, the nation's leading rider, brought in four winners on Tropical's opening day card yesterday to run his score to 390 before a bet-happy crowd of 13,062 spectators.

A mechanical failure in the tote machines dropped the third race betting to $68,270 but it climbed to $95,223 in the fourth, which was delayed for 15 minutes until the money machines could get back into operation.

Hartack's performance overshadowed the Inaugural Handicap, split into two divisions with 15 in the first and 9 in the second. The slender Charles Town, W.Va., rider failed to win either section of the feature but scored in the first, fourth, sixth and ninth races.

Oldsters May Get Aid From New Drug

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

BOSTON (AP) — Use of a new drug combination could prevent many oldsters from going "over the hill" to a mental institution, the American Medical Assn. was told today.

Two Michigan scientists said experiments with the drugs among senile patients in hospitals indicate control can often be achieved at home by family doctors for behavior problems that ordinarily require hospitalization for such people.

Reseachers John T. Ferguson and William H. Funderburk of Traverse City State Hospital made the report in a scientific exhibit at the annual clinical meeting of the American Medical Assn.

They said their objective was to eliminate "abnormal behavior" — such as destructiveness of clothing or furniture, or faulty habits of personal appearance — which predominated in case, regardless of the mental diagnosis.

The drugs used were reserpine, which is a "tranquilizing" substance, and methyl-phenidylacetate which acts as a stimulant of the central nervous system.

The idea was to produce an "active tranquility" in the patients, the doctors said, declaring that doses of the respective drugs were designed to take care of both "overactivity" and "underactivity" in the patients.

Describing studies among 215 female mental patients, the doctors said that in the large majority there was "marked improvement in the ability to cooperate and a new interest in their outlook on life and themselves."

For example, the staff beauty shop operator was "swamped" with work following the drug treatments, and appointments for dental treatments rose sharply.

Owners May Regain Paper In Argentina

By SAM SUMMERLIN

BUENOS AIRES —Argentina's famed newspaper La Prensa, silenced and enslaved by dictator Juan D. Peron in an act condemned around the world, is on the verge of being returned to its exiled owner-editor.

Provisional President Pedro Aramburu in his first meeting with the press last night did not say outright his government would give La Prensa back to Dr. Alberto Gainsa Paz. But he said his regime had "resolved" the celebrated La Prensa case and that this would "repair the outrage committed against this great newspaper."

There appeared no other interpretation of his words than that control of the paper would shift from the General Confederation of Labor (CGT) back to the Paz family which since it founded La Prensa in 1869 had built it into one of the Western Hemisphere's leading journals.

Peron closed the outspoken newspaper more than four years ago and handed it over to CGT—the big worker's organization with which he hammered out his dictatorship. La Prensa was transformed from a respected independent journal to just another rubber stamp for the Peronista line.

Aramburu's press secretary Adolfo Lanus said the decree, which was expected to declare the seizure of La Prensa unconstitutional, had not been completed. He added, however, it might be finished in time for the President to sign today or tomorrow.

It was learned Aramburu's declaration was timed to precede a visit to Buenos Aires tomorrow by Henry Holland, U. S. assistant secretary of state for Latin-American affairs. The treatment of La Prensa has resulted in much criticism of Argentina in the United States.

Aramburu's statement was hailed by Jules Dubois, veteran Latin-American correspondent for the Chicago Tribune and chairman of the Freedom of the Press Committee of the Inter-American Press Assn. Dubois, who has been in Buenos Aires for several weeks plugging for La Prensa's return, termed it the "greatest step for restoration of freedom of the press taken in Latin America by any government in modern times."

In New York, Gainza Paz termed IAPA's work "basic" in mobilizing world opinion against the seizure of his newspapers. The editor, who has been living in exile in New York, is expected to return here Thursday.

Girl Narrowly Misses Death On Slate Dump

MANCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—A girl who narrowly missed death on the bank of a burning slate dump was on her way to apparent recovery today.

Wilma Reid, 16, was found unconscious only 30 feet from the burning slate with head injuries and chemical burns.

Sheriff Daniel Davidson said how she got there will have to be determined when she recovers. Her condition was listed as fair.

The sheriff quoted Elbert Reid, the girl's father, as saying he drove the girl to a spot near their home, told her to walk the rest of the way and left.

Sir Winston Will Observe His Birthday

LONDON — Sir Winston Churchill observes his 81st birthday tomorrow.

In the seven months since he bowed to age and resigned as prime minister, Churchill has made only one appearance in the House of Commons, where he spent more than half a century. That was to be sworn in after the May elections as a Conservative backbencher—an ordinary member of Parliament.

But outside the glare of world attention, the veteran statesman has kept busy.

He spent two months this fall vacationing on the French Riviera. Much of his time there was devoted to writing and painting.

Now in the peaceful solitude of his country home, Churchill dictates and polishes a few more pages of his book on the history of the English-speaking people. It is scheduled to be published next year.

If the whim strikes, he settles down before an easel to put a few more touches of bold color on a canvas.

Dressed in a floppy hat and the siren suit he made famous, he walks along the paths of his estate in Kent with Rufus, his poodle, dancing excitedly at his side.

Since retiring, Churchill — "I am a friend of animals"—has expanded his interest in race horses by buying a stud farm. To him his mares, stallions and foals are "mother horses, father horses and baby horses."

Among his rare public appearances now are those at the racetrack.

Churchill is said to keep in close touch with current events, but his mood seems to be that of a man who feels he has a right to relax and in a detached sort of way watch history unfold. He gives the impression of deliberately trying to avoid any appearance of having a say in state policy—a right that might normally fall to him as a respected elder statesman.

Post Office Issue Raised

WASHINGTON —A spokesman for the Post Office Department says that, contrary to an announcement by the office of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), Thomas Miller "has not been appointed" acting postmaster for Appleton, Wis.

Appleton is McCarthy's home town. He had recommended the appointment of Miller, 57, to succeed Stephen Balliet, who reaches the mandatory retirement age of 70 tomorrow. McCarthy's office said Wednesday Miller had been appointed.

The department spokesman, who declined use of his name, refused to indicate whether Miller would or would not get the post later.

"The whole matter of an appointment is under review by the department," the spokesman said.

McCarthy himself was not available for comment.

Miller, a former tavern keeper, was convicted in 1931 of violating federal prohibition laws and in 1946 and 1950 of violating Wisconsin gambling laws.

Is Dieting Always Wise?

Maybe you shouldn't go on that diet! Most Americans are weight conscious but many of us overdo it. How much weight we should carry depends on our age and height and especially our bone structure. Big-boned women should carry more weight than small-boned women, tall women more than short. And what about the work you do? A man doing heavy labor needs a few more pounds than a man behind a desk. This informative article tells you the facts about dieting and includes a height-weight chart that will help you keep trim. Don't miss

Rep. Boland Gets Lesson In Germany

NAPLES, Italy —Rep. Edward P. Boland (D-Mass) said today that his weekend brush with the Communists in East Berlin convinced him of "Soviet predomination over the phoney German Democratic Republic."

Boland arrived by plane last night from Frankfurt after he, Rep. Harold C. Ostertag (R-NY) and Mrs. Ostertag had been held by Red German police in East Berlin for four hours.

The East Germans said the Americans' car, an Army sedan, had a two-way radio in violation of an East German law. The Russian deputy commandant for East Berlin, Col. I. A. Kotsiuba, finally ordered the American party's release but supported the German police position on the radio.

"Obviously," said Boland today, "we were released only after the Russians had given the word. They rule and run the place lock, stock and barrel."

Boland said the case of his detention now is in the hands of the U.S. Army headquarters at Heidelberg and that he did not intend to bring it before Congress. Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher Jr., U.S. commandant in Berlin, is handling a strong protest to the Russians over the incident, which Allied officials considered might signal a move to wipe out special Allied rights in the four-power city's Soviet sector.

Ostertag, a member of the House Defense Appropriations Committee, spent today at Heidelberg, Germany, where he was briefed by officers at U.S. Army European headquarters.

He said on his arrival from Berlin that there was more to the East Berlin incident "than appeared on the surface."

Ostertag told newsmen in Frankfurt that the Communists are "trying to antagonize" the touchy situation in divided Berlin and to force the United States to recognize the East German puppet government.

He described the incident as "just one more part of the cold war" in the wake of the recent Geneva conference.

Snyder Gets Temporary Status From Airlines

WASHINGTON — The Civil Aeronautics Board granted Continental Air Lines of Denver a permanent ceritifcate yesterday for the formal route of Pioneer Airlines, which Continental acquired April 1.

Of the 23 airline stops acquired from Pioneer, Continental was given a permanent certificate for 16 and temporary authority for seven.

The new permanent points granted Continental on the route formerly served by Pioneer are Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Big Spring, Bryan, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, Midland-Odessa, San Angelo, Temple, Waco, Albuquerque, Clovis and Santa Fe.

Continental received temporary authority at Las Vegas, N.M., Breckenridge, Mineral Wells, Plainview, Lamesa, Snyder, and Sweetwater.

Man Hunts Treasure But Discovers Body

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Henry Morris went to the river bank to look for hidden treasure yesterday but accidentally found a corpse instead.

Morris, following broadcast clues from a local radio station in a publicity promotion campaign, found the body of Gene Carter, 66, of Pembroke.

The station offered $200 to anyone who could locate the treasure and broadcast clues directing listeners to the river.

The coroner's office said Carter apparently drowned Sunday and that there was no evidence of foul play.

Florida's Political Sun Shines On Adlai

By HENRI X. CHANDLER

GAINESVILLE, Fla. —Some of Florida's political leaders and voters are showing signs of warming up to Adlai Stevenson, who ran almost 100,000 votes behind President Eisenhower in 1952.

Starting out today on a hand-shaking tour of the University of Florida campus, the candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination said he felt "highly encouraged" after the first day of his "see the people" tour of the state.

A crowd estimated at several hundred broke into applause when he arrived at the municipal airport yesterday afternoon and a crowd that filled one entire side of the courthouse square cheered when he was introduced last night.

Few of the state's political leaders showed enthusiasm for the former Illinois governor in 1952 when he made only two hurried speaking trips to Florida.

Stevenson told the crowd last night that he had come to Florida to win back the state from the Republicans in 1956.

Florida is regarded as an important testing ground not only for the Democratic nomination but for the 1956 presidential election. The state last year elected its first Republican congressman since Reconstruction days, Rep. William Cramer of St. Petersburg.

Rep. Billy Matthews (D-Fla), who said he would be for Stevenson if Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga) didn't run, predicted a Democratic victory in 1956. Rep. Bob Sikes (D-Fla), who was one of the few top-layer Florida Democrats to support Stevenson in 1952, said there was considerably stronger sentiment for him in Florida now than three years ago.

State Rep. Doyle E. Conner of Starke, speaker designate of the 1957 Florida House, said, "There is no question that Stevenson sentiment is greater now than at any time in 1952."

Russia Offers To Halt Its Weapons Test

LONDON (AP) — Russia offered again today to stop testing nuclear weapons if the United States and Britain promise to quit also.

The offer, broadcast by the Moscow radio, came only three days after the Kremlin announced the Soviet Union had exploded its most powerful hydrogen bomb.

Today's broadcast said:

"We cannot discontinue the production and testing of nuclear weapons so long as both the U.S.A. and Britain manufacture such weapons and test them.

"Proposals which the U.S.S.R. put before the United Nations stipulate a total ban in nuclear weapons and their removal from national armaments.

"And as one of the first moves to disarm, the U.S.S.R. suggests that countries which posses nuclear weapons pledge to discontinue their testing. We are ready to do so here and now if the other powers possessing such weapons agree to do the same."

Both Britain and the United States plan to hold new tests next year.

Today's broadcast was a repetition, in the form of a direct proposal to America and Britain, of a more general Soviet plan submitted to the U. N. subcommittee on disarmament last May 10. At that time Russia proposed that all nations possessing atomic and hydrogen weapons stop testing.

The Big Four foreign ministers at their recent Geneva conference failed to agree on a disarmament plan, referring the subject back to the U. N. subcommittee. The West has frequently rejected Russian proposals for a ban on atomic and hydrogen bombs without guarantees of strict international supervision.

Hike In Crude Oil Output Is Reported

TULSA —An increase in Oklahoma helped daily average production of crude oil advance by 6,800 barrels to 6,861,225 during the week ended Nov. 26, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

Oklahoma gained 9,900 barrels to 576,100 barrels. The week's output raised the estimate of 1955 production to 2,225,614,475 barrels compared to 2,092,701,195 a year ago.

Colorado was up 600 barrels to 149,100; Arkansas up 350 to 74,300; and Louisiana down 1,300 barrels to 761,100.

ACCUSED SLAYER TAKEN IN CHAINS TO COURT—John Gilbert Graham, (right), 23-year-old accused slayer, wears chains as Logan Ketcham (left), of the sheriff's office, takes him to the municipal building in Denver, Colo., for a brief court appearance. Graham is charged with dynamiting an airliner carrying his mother and 43 others to death on Nov. 1. His attorneys were granted until Dec. 9 to make a plea.

Trial Planned For Huggins

FORT WORTH (AP) — The district attorney's office said yesterday there was a possibility that former convict Harry Huggins might be tried before Christmas on charges of participating in the murder of William Clark here May 19, 1953.

Mrs. Mary Clark, widow of the wealthy oilman, was acquitted of plotting the death of her husband.

Mrs. Clark was laughing and smiling as she arrived in court yesterday for the formal declaration of innocence.

Mrs. Clark had been indicted with Tincy Eggleston, Cecil Green and Huggins in the death of her husband. Eggleston and Green have been killed since in gangland slayings.

Huggins, who testified he participated in the robbery of Clark in Clark's 23-room mansion but denied any part of the slaying, was a state witness in Mrs. Clark's trial.

The defense accused the state of making a "trade" for leniency with Huggins, who also faces a burglary charge.

Dist. Atty. Howard Fender told the jury in Mrs. Clark's trial he "unquestionably" would recommend a low penalty for Huggins should he plead guilty.

HITLER'S PRIVATE LIFE

Germans Launch Russian Invasion

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in the series on the private life of Adolf Hitler as told by his personal valet.)

BY HEINZ LINGE
Hitler's Personal Valet
(WORLD COPYRIGHT 1955)

BERLIN. — About five weeks after Rudolf Hess flew to Scotland, Hitler and his generals launched the campaign against Russia. Hitler thought Hess would have told the British about the impending attack, but he refused to allow it to interfere with his plans.

"The war with Russia will be over so quickly that no one will be able to do anything about," Hitler said. "It will be over before Christmas, and you will be enjoying the fruits of the Russian harvest."

The date of the attack was June 22, 1941. Hitler was in a good mood as we boarded the train for Rastenburg in East Prussia with Generals Keitel and Jodl. We were heading for "Wolf's Lair," the command headquarters he built there in 1939.

It was Hitler who nicknamed the stronghold "Wolfschanze." He was particularly friendly with a family named Wagner whose children called him "Uncle Wolf." The name pleased him. Once before the war he remarked:

"Foreigners think that in the Reich Chancellery there sits a wild wolf. They would be surprised to see a joking chancellor sitting here."

He recalled this as we reached "Wolfschanze," saying, "I am the wolf and this is my lair."

Wolfschanze was an elaborate affair with separate quarters for the Fuehrer, his staff, Bormann, Keitel, the secretariat and the press, complete with restaurant. The fact it was built in 1939 showed how early he was planning the attack on Russia.

The first news reaching command headquarters was good. The army was pouring over the Russian frontier and making rapid progress toward the Ukraine.

In these first days, Hitler said to me:

"Linge, I am the man who can do it."

There was not better indication of the complete change which took place in Hitler's attitude beginning with the attack on Russia. In his previous campaigns, he was content to give an outline of his ideas to his generals, and leave the planning and execution to them. Now he had decided to take complete command and issue the orders from Wolfschanze.

From the earliest days of the Russian campaign, Hitler, Keitel and Jodl were being deceived by the generals commanding the front-line troops. They reported what they thought Hitler would like to hear, not what in fact was happening.

They told Hitler they were much farther ahead than they actually were. They said only old men — grandfathers — were fighting in the Russian army and that the young men were not taking part. They wanted to stand high in the eyes of Hitler. In those early days, neither Keitel, Jodl nor Hitler went up to the front to see for themselves.

The early blitzkriegs were run from a map room, where Hitler waited for Keitel and Jodl to bring him reports on what was taking place. This time Hitler walked straight into the planning room and did all the talking.

"This war on Russia," he remarked to me, "is entirely different from the wars in the West. I have told every officer to carry next to his sword the books by Carl May dealing with Red Indian warfare. That is how they should fight the Russians...wait for them behind trees and bridges, then jump out and kill them.

As favorable news continued to come in, Hitler invited Mussolini to the front and soon he became impatient for his arrival. He wanted to show Il Duce the victories he had planned himself.

The moment Mussolini reached Wolfschanze, Hitler flew him to Uman in the Ukraine to show him the panzers in action. There Hitler mingled with his troops and took field kitchen meals with them.

As the troops crowded around him, Hitler would say:

"Have I told you lies about Russia?"

He was delighted when they replied: "No, mein Fuehrer, it is worse."

"Is it a paradise for workers and farmers here?" he shouted.

And when they replied, "No!" he would laugh heartily.

Hitler took Mussolini to see an Italian division that had arrived at the front, and as we drove along in a car Hitler said to him:

"Look at those poor villages, Duce. What we see here now convinces me more than ever that after the war we must bring our socialism here. We will plant German farmers all over the Ukraine so that not only will they produce goods for us, but they will show the Russians proper farming and every one of our farmers will have their weapons in their hands ready to fight for what we have given them."

Mussolini said something about Italy being a poor country too, and Hitler immediately said, "Italy will get something back as well."

The inspection of the Italian division did not go as planned. We were to meet it head-on and drive slowly past as they marched onward. Somehow, the division got the wrong idea. It was marching in the wrong direction so that we overtook it instead of meeting it. Not until our procession of 20 cars was well among them did the troops realize that Hitler and Mussolini had arrived. Someone gave the division an order to halt and eventually we saw the divisional general come running toward us, putting on his helmet as he ran.

Then we received an excited ovation. The troops shouted: "Duce! Hitler!"

It was a Fascisti division. The men were untidy, not very well disciplined, and not very warlike in appearance. But from Hitler's expression, you would have thought he was inspecting the finest soldiers in the world.

Later, when we were back at his private quarters, Hitler said:

"I know, Linge, they are no good. But what can I do? I suppose I must have some allies, although it would have been much better for Germany if Italy had been neutral. England could never have been sure so long as Italy was neutral and would have had to give her help with food and raw materials. Instead, it was Germany who has had to help Italy."

At that moment, Hitler was no doubt thinking of the two months of summer campaigning weather he had lost because of Italy's adventures in Greece and Albania.

Soon the panzers had captured Smolensk and were aiming for Moscow. By October 2, they were only 90 miles from the Russian capital. In the three months of war, they had taken more territory than in the area of all Germany.

Hitler was convinced that the war was nearly over, and he was hoping that the Russians would revolt against their government.

"It is practically won," he told me. "We have captured millions of their soldiers."

Then we saw winter begin to frustrate the Fuehrer's plans. The mechanized armies ground to a halt. Repeatedly he telephoned to his front-line commanders asking for news. He ordered that Moscow must be captured.

But even Hitler had to realize that all the German army could do in the Russian winter was to stand fast. So now he issued an order there must be no retreat of the men were short of winter clothing.

All plans had been made for a short, sharp war. It became necessary for a public appeal in Germany to send supplies of warm clothing to the front.

However, nothing could be done about tanks which could not move because their oil was frozen, or locomotives which could not go forward for lack of fuel, or breaches of guns frozen hard and other calamities brought about by the intense cold.

Hitler was furious. He sent for General Brauchitsch, who was in command in the field. He deprived him of his command and sent him back to Germany.

"I was a corporal in the first war, Linge," he said. "I know what the soldiers want. I will take command of everything."

There were many other dismissals. And as Hitler sat in his Wolfschanze, he realized his hopes were buried for that winter. But he was not completely disheartened. More than once he said to me:

"Good fortune anyone can take, only the strong can take misfortune."

(NEXT: Linge tells about Hitler's quick succession of Chiefs of Staff.)

Lewis Defends Welfare Fund

WASHINGTON — John L. Lewis has told a Senate Labor subcommittee he thinks existing laws are adequate for dealing with any "human jackals and scoundrels' who misuse union welfare funds.

The 75-year-old head of the United Mine Workers suggested, however, that the attorney general be urged by a congressional resolution to step up prosecutions of such cases.

Lewis, making his first public appearance since his recovery from a recent mild heart attack, said union leaders must share responsibility for safeguarding such funds. He said:

"If some of the leaders of organized labor would abandon their holier-than-thou attitude ... and put their own house in order, welfare funds might have a better chance to live."

Machinery Is Gummed Up After Explosion

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—They joke a lot about the slowness of molasses in cold weather. But there wasn't anything inactive about the 2,500 gallons delivered yesterday at Brant's farm elevator here.

A blast shook the elevator building a few minutes after a tank truck, carrying the molasses, had been unloaded.

Zane Brant, a member of the firm, said the molasses, used in mixing livestock feeds, was found oozing from a concrete tank in the basement. Nearby machinery was covered with the sticky mess.

Brant said the damage would "run into thousands of dollars." He could not explain the explosion.
