Meat processing plant is under consideration here

Expansion present firm is proposed

A membership meeting of the Post Industrial Foundation has been called for Monday night to consider community participation in an estimated $175,000 Small Business Administration loan to Jackson Bros. Food Lockers for construction of a larger and completely modern meat processing plant to be located just ouside the city limits on the Lubbock highway.

The special session is set for 7:30 p. m. in the community room of the First National Bank.

J. B. Potts, president of the Industrial Foundation, told The Dispatch that the membership meeting has been called by directors to determine the membership desires in helping the local firm expand into a new, modern plant which would employ up to 20 persons or more.

Potts said the SBA's community-style loan provides that the federal government would provide 80 per cent of the loan, and the community the other 20 per cent, with the company receiving the loan putting up 5 per cent of the community's 20 per cent portion.

Directors of the foundation met last Thursday morning to consider the Jackson Bros. expansion project with Larry Milner, Industrial agent for Southwestern Public Service Co. of Amarillo and Doug Galassini of Lubbock meeting with the board.

During this session the federal government office in Dallas was called to obtain complete information on loan procedures.

Both Jim and Bo Jackson, the two brothers who operate the locker plant as a partnership, also met with foundation directors.

Bo Jackson told The Dispatch yesterday that the local meat slaughtering operation "has completely outgrown" the firm's present quarters at 121 South Ave. H, and with all meat processing plants in the nation recently placed under strict federal regulations, a new plant within a year is a "must."

Jackson said the new plant would put 10,000 square feet under roof and would provide facilities with a slaughter capacity of 25 head an hour. There would be cooler space for 300 head with the plant designed to expand the cooler space area when necessary.

A rough estimate on the cost of plant would be $175,000. The plant would be of the most modern design and built according to "the federal standards book," Jackson said.

The plant even would incorporate its own sewer system.

The site location just outside the city limits is available, Potts told The Dispatch.

The Jackson brothers moved to Post in 1957 and operated their present locker plant under Wallace Simpson's ownership until they purchased the facilities Sept. 1, 1959.

The Jacksons began with only one full-time employe beside themselves and one part-time employe. They slaughtered 416 head in their first year of operation and did a $20,000 business.

They have grown steadily, slaughtering 2,200 head in 1966 and 3,000 head last year when their gross business hit the $200,000 mark. They now have 11 employes besides themselves for a total work force of 13.

"I believe we've only scratched the surface of what our business could do in Post," Bo Jackson told The Dispatch, "but first we need a bigger and more modern plant."

He pointed out that the firm could expand greatly in the field of custom slaughtering and could

Way cleared for lake recreation club loan

White River Water District directors in actions last Thursday night cleared the way for a $145,000 FHA loan to the White River Golf & Recreation Club for construction of a golf course on the lake shore and voted a special daily fishing permit rate of 50 cents a day for the proposed new all-weather fishing pier of the White River Marina, Inc.

Directors in their April meeting at the filtration plant authorized President Marvin McLaughlin of Ralls to sign a letter of approval in behalf of the board on a contract between the White River Golf & Recreation Club and White River Marina, Inc., which sets up recreational rights conveyed to the club by the marina corporation.

The contract and letter of board approval of it were required before the state FHA office at Temple would approve the loan for construction of the golf course, club house, swimming pool and other private club facilities.

Ralph Griffith of the FHA office in Lubbock met with White River directors to discuss progress of the recreational loan to the recreational club. He said the FHA hopes to grant final approval to the loan by July 1.

If so, construction would begin in late summer or early fall. Ranson Gallaway and James Wright, both of Spur, officials of the White River Golf & Recreational Club, also met with directors over the proposition.

The district already has given the recreation club a long - term lease on 211 acres, enough to build an 18 hole golf course in the land neck between the two forks of the White River Lake. Field notes for this acreage was accepted by directors as written by Al O'Brien, general manager of the water district.

J. T. Taylor of Crosbyton, secretary of the White River Marina, Inc., which have the commercial rights on the lake shore, told directors that the new lighted, all-weather fishing pier would cost an estimated $23,000 installed.

Fishing from the pier will cost $1 as well as the 50 cent special fishing permit authorized by White River directors.

A committee of directors was named to come up with recommendations for getting a house moved into the lake area for living quarters for a law enforcement officer to be hired by the district. The district recently passed its own ordinance to set up law enforcement for the lake area, which also would include protection of private property along the lake shore.

O'Brien reported that last Thursday he and his water district employes completed the planting of 300 trees around the lake shore. The trees, including honey locust and poplars, include 100 8 - tp - 10 and poplars, include 100 8-to-10

Superintendent says

Post 'dropout' problem is showing improvement

The "dropout" problem in Post schools is improving, School Supt. Bill Shiver announced today.

Since the beginning of the current school year, the Post schools have lost 144 students, but only ten of these could be classed as dropouts.

Shiver points out that the loss of 144 students represents only a loss of 25 scholatics as the schools had well over 100 new students move in during the year.

School enrollment today is 1,207 as compared to 1,232 at the start of the fall term.

Of the 144 students lost, 126 have simpley "moved out of the school district with their parents." This represents almost 90 per cent of the total.

In a breakdown of the 10 dropouts, Shiver said five were overage students not required by Texas law to attend school. "They knew it and simply didn't even start when the term opened," Shiver explained.

Two others left school to join the job corps, two others quit to go to work and one just "quit school, period."

Of the other students lost, three were married, three were graduated from high school at mid-term, one was injured in a car wreck and couldn't attend classes, and one got into "police trouble."

So "dropouts" as such represented only 2 per cent of the student losses during the present school year.

Shiver said that the move-outs and move-ins here during the school year were about normal. This he contributed mainly to migratory work families coming and going.

All in all, the superintendent said, the losses are "nothing to get alarmed about" although they probably have hurt the average daily attendance enough to cause the loss of up to three state teacher salaries next year.

As for the "dropout" improvement, Shiver said a survey two years ago showed 27 high school "dropouts" in a single year compared to 10 this year. That year nine quit because of marriage compared to only three this year.

"Despite some rumors to the contrary, we're gaining ground with the drop-out problem," Shiver concluded.

Accident fatal to former resident

Graveside services were held here at 3 p. m. Tuesday for Mrs. Theresa Fay Pinkerton of Portales, N. M., formerly of Post, who was killed in a pedestrian-automobile accident at Portales last Friday.

Funeral services were held at Wheeler Starlight Chapel in Portales at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

The Rev. Joe Vernon, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the graveside services here. Burial was under the direction of Mason Funeral Home.

QUALIFY FOR STATE

Training routine pays off for 'Lope athletes

Rigorous training routines paid off for two Post High School athletes Saturday when they won first places in the Region 1 track and field meet at Lubbock to qualify for the state track and field meet May 3-4 at Austin.

For Peter Morales, who won the Class AA mile run in record-breaking time, it will be his second trip to the state meet, where he won the mile run last year. For Norman Tanner, who won the shot put with a heave of 53 feet 9½ inches, it will be his first trip to the state meet.

Coach Waco Reynolds said considering the time Morales and Tanner have spent in training during, and in the case of Morales even before, the track season, probably no winner at Lubbock Saturday deserved to win more than they did.

Morales began training for the mile as soon as the football season ended and has run from five to eight miles every morning in addition to his afternoon workouts. His running routine has taken him up and down Sand Creek from the Gail highway to the Snyder highway on some days, to the top of the caprock on others, and for 12 to 14 laps around City-County Park when he wanted variety.

"Pete has followed this training routine during the two years I've coached him, and they tell me he followed the same routine his freshman and sophomore years," Coach Reynolds said.

Morales has been District 4AA champion all four years in high school, but missed qualifying in the regional meet his first two years.

At Lubbock Saturday, he easily outdistanced the field in posting a 4:29.3 mile.

Tanner, who is an all- around athlete at Post High School, having also lettered in football and basketball, came along fast in the shot put this season after having averaged only around 43 or 44 feet all last season. The first time he heaved the 12 - pound steel ball over 50 feet this season was at Jayton some six weeks ago, but his 50-foot, one-half-inch throw earned him only a third place.

He placed second to Jimmy McKee of Denver City in the district meet to qualify for the regional.

Spring round-up for pre-schoolers will be May 3

Spring round - up for all pupils who will enroll in the first grade for the school year beginning in September of 1968 will be held Friday, May 3, from 9 a. m. until 11 a. m., Vernon Payne, elementary school principal, said today. School lunches will not be served to pupils in the spring round - up.

Room assignments for all pupils will be posted in the hallway near the east entrance on the north side of the primary building.

Parents are requested to enter the east door of the primary building, locate the room their child will be in for that day, take their child to the assigned room, then go to the auditorium in the primary building.

While in the auditorium, parents will receive a school supply list, a pupil health record form, and general school information.

All first grade pupils for the 1967-68 school year will have a school holiday on May 3, the day spring round-up is held.

Decision delayed on rail hearing

A hearing examiner said in Houston last week the Texas Railroad Commission will not rule until mid - summer on a proposal that Santa Fe passenger train service be discontinued between Houston and California.

Examiner James Cowden made the announcement after hearing a Houston official oppose the proposal made by the railway company.

Thomas B. Tyson, director of public services and chairman of the City of Houston's transportation committee, testified at a brief hearing.

"The growing city of Houston needs the services provided by railroads," Tyson said.

Tyson, while under cross-examination, said Houston had made no formal study of the railroad's claim it would lose $700,000 annually if the service is continued.

The Houston hearing was the last in a series. Testimony also was heard at Lubbock, Brownwood and Temple.

Second playday set for Sunday

The second in a series of playdays sponsored by the Post Junior Rodeo Association will be held Sunday afternoon at the Post Stampede Rodeo arena.

There will be four age divisions as in the first playday held several weeks ago. The events will include barrel racing, calf roping, flag race, goat tying, breakaway roping, double mugging and steer and bull riding. All these events, however, will not be open to contestants in all age divisions.

Contestants will be required to have a minor's release signed by a parent or guardian and notarized.

The public is invited to attend the playday, which will get under way at 1:30 o'clock. There is no admission charge.

WE LOSE AN HOUR JUST TO SAVE TIME

For Garza countians and everybody else throughout most of the nation, it is nearly time again to change the time and thereby save time —daylight time.

At 2 a. m. Sunday, move your clock ahead one hour to 3 a. m. You can make the change before going to bed, or even after getting up Sunday morning. Better not wait until Monday though or you will get to work an hour late.

All summer you willl have an extra hour of daylight because your clock is set ahead. If you get off work at 5 p. m., for example, your clock will say 5, but the sun time will be 4.

It all comes out even next Oct. 27, when we will go back to standard time at 2 a. m. by moving our clocks back to 1 a. m.

Library Week program

Club hears talk on best-selling books

Post Rotarians got 15 minutes of personal advice about their reading and some interesting statistics on the Post Public Library as a "Library Week" program at their Tuesday luncheon in City Hall.

Mrs. Estelle Davis called her talk, "The All Time Best Sellers of the Last 70 Years."

She said the best read writer in recent history is Erle Stanley Gardner. He has written 125 books about Perry Mason, the criminal lawyer, and in hard cover and paper back Perry Mason has sold a total of 139 million copies.

"Of course," Mrs. Davis noted, "The Bible, year in and year out outsells all other books." She said she was ashamed to report that "Peyton Place" is the all - time best seller with nine million copies sold.

She quickly reviewed the all-time best seller list and the current best sellers, noting each time that most of the current best sellers are available in the library. She also has read them and advised on which were "worth read-

Easier to 'X' than to 'scratch'

Of all the changes in the state election laws that will face the voters when they go to the polls May 4 for the first primary election, perhaps the one most voters are in doubt about is the one providing that voters indicate their choice by marking an "X" in the square beside the candidate's name.

Texas long has been a "scratching" state when it comes to voting, and the change is going to be hard for some Texans to take.

In fact, some of them, either through force of habit or plain contrariness, will scratch out the names of candidates not wanted, just as they have in the past.

The question bothering many voters is: Will the election judges and clerks still accept the "scratched out" type of ballot?

The answer is that the "scratch out" ballot will be accepted if the election clerks are able to clearly determine the intent of the voter.

Just to play it safe, however, and make sure that your ballot is counted, why not go along with the new change and place the "X" beside the name of the candidate for whom you wish to vote. It will be much simpler than it will be to scratch out his opponents.—CD

Peak tornado season approaching

Garza countians and other Texans are being reminded daily that the peak tornado season is approaching. Most of the reminders are being issued by the Texas Department of Public Safety, which again this year has prepared a circular of tornado safety rules.

The DPS says statistics from the U. S. Weather Bureau's state climatologist indicate that Texas again led the nation in total tornadoes last yer, with an all-time record of 232. This was a big jump from the 77 twisters confirmed in the state during 1966.

Only two months in 1967, January and November, were free from tornadoes. September accounted for more than half with a total of 124. Of the September tornadoes, 115 occurred in connection with Hurricane Beulah.

There were two twisters in February last year, 11 in March, 17 in April, 34 in May and 22 in June. Other totals included July with 10; August, five; October, two and December, five.

To know what to do when a tornado is approaching may mean the difference between life and death, the DPS points out in its "Tornado Safety Rules" circular, which lists the following rules:

1. IF YOU ARE NEAR A TORNADO CELLAR: When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave or underground excavation, which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas or debris, and preferably equipped with pick and shovel.

2. IF YOU ARE IN OPEN COUNTRY: (1) Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour. (2) If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

3. IF IN A CITY OR TOWN: (1) Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. Stay away from windows. (2) In homes: The corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements can sometimes be protected by taking cover under heavy furniture against inside walls. Doors and windows on the side of the house away from the tornado may be opened to help reduce damage to the building.

4. IF IN SCHOOLS: In city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows; remain near a inside wall on the lower floors when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly supported roofs. (2) In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

Above all, keep calm. It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a torado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, just in case.

Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up lines urgently needed.

Might be answer to many problems

The tranquilizer dart gun ordered by the city police department for use in catching stray dogs won't be used on humans, of course, but Dr. William C. Conner of Emory University says dart-gun tranquilizers might be one of the answers to today's growling violence in the nation's cities.

Just as these guns are used to subdue and quiet animals, they might be effective in controlling rioters or those engaged in illegal violence.

Conner thinks experiments with tranquilizer guns are encouraging and that although they won't likely replace conventional guns they could in the future have a vital role in maintaining law and order. A revolver which fires darts in rapid succession is now being studied.

Conner, who recently gave a demonstration for civilian, military and medical authorities, may have come up with one of the answers plaguing law enforcement officers—themselves often beaten and abused in trying to make arrests of demonstrators or rioters using current disorders and disruption tactics.

Another intriguing possibility is that offered the long-suffering spouse at the breakfast or dinner table. With a five-shot dart tranquilizer beside one's plate, the conversation would almost certainly be influenced toward a more respectable approach.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

NOWADAYS, MOST couples expecting the stork have a name for the baby already picked out before the newcomer puts in an appearance, having to switch only when the sex of the new-born doesn't fit the pre-selected name. So, last week when a young Post couple became parents for the first time, some readers of The Dispatch's birth column expressed surprise when they learned that the couple did not have a name picked out to pin on the baby along with its first diaper.

Since non - conformity has so much going for it nowadays, I was glad to learn of at least one couple who decided to take their time about naming their baby. It can be over-done, of course. A couple back home decided not to name their first - born, but to wait a few years and let him name himself. So, about the time he started to school, the youngster decided he liked the name Buster, which was okay with his parents, but he spent most of his adult life trying to convince folks, especially when filling out forms, that Buster was his real name and not a nickname.

ALL OF WHICH leads up to a statement by Jennie Kitching, Texas A&M Extension specialist in family life education that names are more significant than most people realize. A Percival or an Alfreda by any other name may have an easier time in life.

The Texas A&M University specialist says a child tends to identify with his name and may react according to whether his companions approve or disapprove. Michael, James and Wendy were found to be relatively high in approval value, while Alfreda, Percival and Horace rated low.

A BOY WITH what used to be called a sissy name may have to overcome a name which is disliked by both sexes, a name which connotes low masculinity or a name whose owner is expected to be passive. A child with a name which rates high in approval by both men and women, such as Michael, starts out with a name considered masculine and one which connotes activity.

Researchers have found that children with peculiar names are more likely to suffer emotional disturbances than children having ordinary names. Boys show a higher rate of disturbance than girls.

FOR GIRLS, flower names, such as Pansy, Lilly or Rose, were popular once, but now are considered old - fashioned by both sexes. Other feminine names not too popular currently include Hildegarde, Beulah, Mathilde and Alfreda.

Library LISTENING POST

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN

Thanks, April 21 through April 27 is National Library Week. To celebrate, we've persuaded several of our regular library patrons to write book reviews for us so, without further ado, let's get on with the show!

THE EXPEDITION by Stanley Wolpert. Reviewed by Earl Chapman.

Oh, good for you, Stanley Wolpert. I was standing in Pix Bookstore but when I picked up the book "The Expedition", I was suddenly jetted from a 34th St. blizzard to the icy slopes of the Himalayas — snow goggles, ice crampons, and rifle — stalking some other than the mysterious Yeti. (Better known to you nonadventurers as The Abominable Snow Man.) I said to myself, "Self, this book you have to have."

Now back to Post for 337 pages of intrigue, mystery and high adventure.

The high adventure during the first 237 pages is the fourth floor of the Savoy Hilton in London. The mystery: who gets the new girl secretary? The intrigue: can these bums and drunks even make it to the airport?

How about these explorers? Seth —can't stand his wife, loves the secretary, weak. Niels — drunk photographer who can't understand why his wife committed suicide, very weak. Peter — gambler and playboy, his idea of roughing it is when the menu shows oysters out of season. Bruno — ex-Nazi who is chased by his wife, the only Atlas in the group. Hodge — now we come to the real leader — crazy, mixed up, looking for the mysterious Yeti.

"The Expedition" features plenty of girls, whiskey, and talking but not much looking. Did they find the Yeti? Well, they came as close as Hillary, Gates, and Herb Cline. What do you expect for $6.95?

THE UNEXPECTED MRS. POLIFAX by Dorothy Gilmore. Reviewed by Helen Cornish.

"The Unexpected Mrs. Polifax" by Dorothy Gilmore turned out to be a delightful surprise and a charming book. Not often can one say this about a spy-thriller book.

Mrs. Polifax is a very normal woman in her early sixties. By normal, I mean that her children are grown and married, she has grandchildren, she is a widow living in a New York apartment, she belongs to several women's clubs such as a garden club, a hospital auxiliary, etc.

Her only problem is that she is bored stiff and even contemplates suicide as an end to what she thinks is a pointless existence. Mrs. Polifax goes to a young doctor for a check-up — mainly because she thinks something must be wrong with her to feel as she does about life. Naturally she finds out she is healthy as can be, but the doctor does concede that she needs to get interested in something. He suggests that she do something that "she has always wanted to do but hasn't".

Searching in her mind for the one thing that she always wanted to do, she remembers that as a teen-ager she had dreamed of being a spy. So, what does Mrs. Polifax do? She goes to Washington and turns up at the CIA office for an interview.

The head of the department is quite taken back when this kindly looking lady announces that she wishes to be a spy. Through a mistake she is "hired", and so starts a big mystery which takes her to Mexico and Europe on an exciting spy adventure.

For an enjoyable night's entertainment "The Unexpected Mrs. Polifax" is highly recommended.

ELIZABETHAN PLAYS edited by Hazelton Spencer. Reviewed by Charles Didway.

Those who enjoy Elizabethan drama should read at least some of the plays in this book before they become so deeply engrossed in Shakespeare, the paragon of all playwrights, that they find it difficult to enjoy others who wrote at about the same time.

The twenty - eight plays in this collection have been chosen primarily for their merit as masterpieces of English drama, and secondarily to represent the leading Elizabethan playwrights and the main currents of drama in Shakespeare's time and just after.

Almost every play in the volume is in its way a masterpiece. Christopher Marlowe, Ben Jonson and the Beaumont - Fletcher collaborations are illustrated by four plays each. The other playwrights represented include such masters of the English drama as Robert Greene, George Chapman, Thomas Dekker and John Webster.

It is not, of course, a book to be read at a single sitting, as is no anthology. Many of the plays I had read elsewhere, but enjoyed rereading in this volume — such as Johnson's "Volpone," "The Alchemist" and "Bartholomew Fair"; Marlowe's "Tamburlaine" and "The Jew of Malta" and Beaumont and Fletcher's "The Maid's Tragedy."

The most enjoyment I derived from the book was in reading a number of plays I had not found elsewhere, including "A Woman Killed With Kindness" by Thomas Heywood, "The Wild-Goose Chase" by John Fletcher, and "The Shoemaker's Holiday" by Dekker.

The editor of "Elizabethan Plays," who, incidentally, was associate professor of English in The Johns Hopkins University at the time of its compilation, indicates in his prefatory note that the chief purpose of the book is to introduce university students and general readers to the riches of the non - Shakesperean drama of the English Renaissance. I feel he has achieved that purpose, and that the copiously - annotated volums, "Elizabethan Plays", is a valuable cultural addition to the Post Public Library.

THE CHOSEN by Chaim Potok. Reviewed by George Miller.

This first novel by an unknown author will introduce you to a new world. It describes the life of two Orthodox Jewish boys as they grow up. The beauty of this story lies in its sensitive description of a boy's heart. His search for identity is familiar — it is the search of Everyman. But it is made more difficult, and more unique, because he is a Jew. His study of the Mosaic Law enriches him but sets him apart.

More unique is his relationship to his father — a wise and well-loved Rabbi. For years his father has refused to speak to him, not out of anger or rejection, but for reasons his son can only vaguely guess. The revelation of this reason forms the climax of the book and illuminates all that has gone before.

This is a beautiful book, filled with warmth and love. It speaks to the heart and has won a wide audience of admirers. It long appeared on the best-seller list, and may prove to be an enduring classic of our times.

HORSE TRADIN' by Ben Thorpe. Reviewed by Preston Poole.

Ben Thorpe tells a tale of pure horse sense. If you are "turned" toward the unaffected and unpretentious, you will enjoy this book. A glance at the picture of Ben Thorpe on the back fly leaf will give you an insight into this interesting book.

This is a summary of various horse swappings between Weatherford and Oklahoma Territory, told by a fellow who can laugh at himself and others.

A word has been defined as being the skin of a living thought and words come alive as the author tells of one horse trade after another. After reading a few chapters of this book, the chili commercial on TV with all the cattle bellering will seem tame because the imagination is primed with mules, horses, and other items of the not-so-old West told by a contemporary of many of the cowboys right

I'm well on my way to becoming a legend and all because of a boo-boo I made a few years ago!

The boo-boo came about when the C's took their first trip through the bluebonnet conutry and I mentioned that they were even blooming right outside of Post on the Justiceburg highway. I was corrected immediately after my column was printed by Sam Etter who rushed in to explain and show me the difference between bluebonnets and the buffalo clover which I had mistakenly called bluebonnets.

I was most flattered when I ran into Zoe Kirkpatrick one day last week and she asked if I'd been out to see the Helen Cornish bluebonnets. Noting the dumb look on my face Zoe explained that ever since I had mentioned the local bluebonnets, which were really buffalo clover, they always referred to the blooming clover as Helen Cornish bluebonnets.

How do you get a legend out of that, I can hear you asking. Well, I figure as the Kirkpatrick boys grow up they will always refer to the clover as my bluebonnets. They will pass this on to their friends and as they grow up and get married they will tell their wives that that lovely blue flower is a Helen Cornish bluebonnet and this will be passed from generation to generation and I will have made my mark in life.

Ah, early June to look forward to.

We've still making headway on Post Fair Contributions keep a coming in and helping us near our goal. Our newest one came from the Post Chamber of Commerce. Chamber Manager Dennis Odom says they keep the [illegible] Commissioners Office on the Green Tennis Courts and the Pro Shop.

Thanks to all who have helped to help us out with our latest project. Aren't people nice?

Amity Study Club plans to set up a domino playing area so all of you "sharks" best get ready to participate in that. Tommy Young, president of the Jaycees, verified that the Jaycees will have a penny toss concession and probably snow cones. So, Joe Bailey, another Jaycee, was right!

With the check from the Graham HD Club came a nice note explaining that farmer's wives are rather busy this time of the year so they didn't feel like they could make any definite plans as far as a fair booth was concerned but if any of them had time they might deliver a few baked items on the day of the big Fair, which is May 11. Having seen some of their cakes at the county fair, I hope they find the time. Yum-yum.

The C's are leaving this windy, sandy country for a few days on a trip which will include San Antonio and a visit not only with our Miss C but also a visit with our Army son-in-law and his wife— our favorite married daughter. They are driving from Leesville, La., to meet us there and I imagine we'll not be able to resist a visit to the Fair.

No new leads what to expect to see this week in this column. Maybe we can pick up some ideas at the Fair which we can incorporate into our Fair. We're already set on ideas because we don't have to charge gate admissions.

NICHOLAS AND ALEXANDRA by Robert Massie. Reviewed by Ruth Ann Newby.

It often happens that the books I like, other people don't. At the risk of removing a good book from the best - seller list, I must say (since you asked) that I liked "Nicholas and Alexandra". It doesn't sound too vitally interesting—the story of the last Tzar and Tzarina of Imperial Russia— but it is! It's all about their cozy home life in the palace, the tragedy of their hemophiliac son, the wild, strange monk, Rasputin, and the Russian Revolution. It's a fascinating story — all true — and an easy way to learn some Russian history.

P. S. In case nobody else reviews it, "North Toward Home" by Willie Morris is GREAT—especially the part about Texas University in the 1940's and 50's.

FORTY ODD by Mary Bard. Reviewed by Jewel Steel.

'Forty Odd" is an hilarious true-to-life story of what Mary did to overcome the fact that she had reached the age of forty.

When she first reached forty, she thought she would just give up and go to bed for the remainder of her life, but after a little of this, she decides to do something about it. She gets herself involved in so many projects such as reducing, book lectures, dancing lessons, Brownies and Girl Scouts that she forgets she is forty and learns that it is a number and not a disease.

Mary is assisted and hindered through it all by her doctor-husband and three daughters. Altogether, it is a funny book about an attractive American family — yet underneath the humor, there is also some sound sense.

NEW! For clean Sorghum...
spray weeds when you see them!
with BANVEL
HERBICIDE

Velsicol announces Banvel herbicide for control of all hard-to-kill weeds of major importance in grain sorghum. This includes carelessweed (pigweed), sunflower, lambsquarter, purslane, morning glory and other annual broadleaf weeds. Banvel herbicide is applied post-emergence, so there are no wasted sprays in years when rain is scarce and weeds are not a problem. With Banvel you see your weed problem and then spray—all in plenty of time to give young sorghum plants plenty of opportunity to grow.

Banvel is sprayed onto weed leaves and translocates to the roots...for new, total control of weeds. Just apply Banvel between the 10th and 25th day after emergence of grain sorghum (approximately 4 to 12 inches tall).

Banvel is not dependent on soil moisture for its effectiveness, so its results are dependable. And it's a liquid that won't clog your sprayers; nor does Banvel need constant agitation.

Banvel increases yields. It's excellent for use on grain sorghum, wheat, barley, oats and field corn. Order Banvel herbicide to get full potential from your valuable, high-yielding sorghum seed.

See your dealer today. You'll be glad you did!

Prosper with pesticides by using them safely! Follow label directions.

Spring is so much more than just a season. It is a miracle, enacted against a backdrop of perfect days. It is the time of rebirth . . . of reaffirmation.

Spring is Christ's story, beautifully illustrated by nature. It is all the teachings of the Church, brought to reality, spread out gloriously for you to see. Nature in her sweet, new loveliness, touches the world, touches you with the Christ-like spirit. If your vision has been dulled, she gives you the chance to see again more brightly than ever.

Palm Sunday is here again. Never before have the doors of the Church seemed to stand quite so open . . . so ready to receive you. Never has the lesson of everlasting life . . . Christ's lesson . . . been so poignant. There will be new richness in your life if you will trust in the Church. In your soul there can be eternal spring, and all the bleakness, questioning and doubt can be erased from your heart forever.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Rev. George Miller, the library's volunteer librarian, reported to the club that in less than two years the Post Public Library has gathered through gift and purchase a total of 6,000 volumes.

He said that 1967 readership was 6,093 books with 1,215 library patrons with library cards. Pointing out that the library is open 24 hours a week over six days, Mr. Miller said that the checkout average last year was 117 books weekly or between 20 and 21 books per day open.

He said the first quarter of 1968 has shown a big gain in circulation over the comparable first three months of 1967.

At the start of the Rotary meeting, Bob Collier inducted Don Davenport, Church of Christ minister, and Gene Moore, new Pioneer Gas Co. manager, into the club as new members.

The Rev. Curtis Lee, president-elect of the club, presented Dick Dickson with a Rotary pin containing the four-way test as a prize for being the editor of the Post Branding Iron, the club's weekly bulletin which won third place among the weekly publications of small clubs in this Rotary district.

The Jacksons have had offers from three different towns in this area to move and build their new plant in those communities. The offers include free sites as well as financing help.

But the Jacksons want to stay in Post. They are drawing customers from a radius of 50 miles in all directions and believe this community is an ideal location.

"And Post has been very good to us," both Bo and Jim Jackson point out.

Plant construction would take about six months, the brothers estimate. They said although they own their present facilities they would move their entire operation to the new plant when it is built.

In last Friday's preliminaries, Tanner qualified with a toss of 51-5 to finish behind both Steve Marton of Seymour and McKee. In Saturday's warm-ups, the Post athlete gave an indication of what was to come, however, with one warm-up throw of close to 55 feet.

Cocah Reynolds said Tanner has increased his distance this season by throwing the shot from 50 to 100 times a day in practice, including a Sunday session at his home each week.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT NO. 3

In the 3 1-3 years that I have been your commissioner, I have tried to operate your precinct business like I would operate my own. Your precinct business is now on a complete cash basis, all equipment debt-free and in good condition. It is my goal to keep your precinct on a complete cash basis. My program for replacing equipment when it wears out is to set aside each year enough money so that new equipment can be purchased for cash in order that it will not be necessary to issue interest bearing time warrants. This saves you money two ways. Interest is not paid and by buying on a cash basis you get a better price.

If you re-elect me your commissioner for a second term, I will continue the same program that I have had in the past.

Appreciatively yours,

BEN G. SANCHEZ

These Are The Issues

I have chosen to become a candidate for the office of County Attorney because I fundamentally disagree with the incumbent on the following issues affecting Garza County:

1. ENFORCEMENT OF THE COMPULSORY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE LAW.
2. WASTEFUL SPENDING OF JURY FUNDS IN THE COUNTY COURT.
3. FAIR AND IMPARTIAL ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.
4. ADEQUATE AND COMPETENT ADVICE TO GOVERNMENTAL BODIES REQUESTING THE SERVICES OF THE COUNTY ATTORNEY.

In the May 2 issue of The Post Dispatch I will discuss in detail the above issues and offer my solutions.

VOTE FOR

To The Voters of Garza County Precinct No. 1

I would like to take this opportunity to explain some of the things I have done the first three and one-half years in office.

We owed $65,000 on road bonds in Precinct 1 when I took office. This has been paid off two years before the maturity date, so the 30 cents road tax has been dropped.

Our General Fund is in better shape this year. We should have this paid off in the near future.

The hospital is looking better and, with Medicare approval, should get even better.

All precincts are in good shape at this time.

I have enjoyed serving as your commissioner the past three and one-half years. I would appreciate your vote on May 4 and if re-elected will endeavor to do a better job the next four years.

Post Does score eight points, regional meet

The Post High School girls' track team scored eight points in the Region VII track and field meet at Kress Tuesday, but failed to qualify anyone for the state meet.

Post's eight points came on a fourth place by Sherry Bird in the 80-meter hurdles and a fourth place by Karon Windham in the broad jump.

Compton, Kelley win tournament

Bob Compton and Arthur Kelley, with a low-ball score of 58, won the am-am handicap team tournament at the Caprock Golf Course here Sunday afternoon.

The team of Harold Lucas and Jim Hundley Sr. came in second with a score of 60, and the teams of Deamos Altman - Gene Martin and Colley Gatlin - Wiley Hill tied for third with 63's.

Other teams and their low-ball scores were: Teddy Scott and Byron Haynie, 64; Jimmy Bartlett and Monroe Lane, 65; Felton Gatlin and Bill Crane, 67; Charles Morris and Don Ammons, 68; Sexton Huntley and J. D. McCampbell, 68; Donnie Hays and Jackie Hays, 70; Walter Didway and Don Davenport, 71; Sid Pierce and Hugh Martin, 71; Johnny Kemp and Tommy Young, 85.

Jim Hundley Sr. and Jimmy Bartlett tied for medalist honors with 78's.

Six district trackmen going to state meet

District 4AA schools qualified six individuals for the state track and field meet May 3 in the regional meet held Saturday at Lubbock.

Post led by qualifying Norman Tanner in the shot put and Peter Morales in the mile run.

Other district qualifiers are David Avery of Stanton, broad jump; Dwayne Young of Denver City, 120-yard high hurdles; Calvin Lockett of Midland Carver, 880-yard run, and Richard Washington of Slaton, 440-yard dash.

Post girl winner of 52 tennis trophies

Kippy Payne, 14-year-old Post High School freshman, who has won 52 trophies in tournament play, is the most convincing argument the local high school has for a stepped-up tennis program that would include courts on which to play and practice.

Kippy this year brought the high school a district tennis championship, if not the first in its history, then at least its first in the last 15 or 20 years. She lost to Jean Mostad of Winters in the finals of the regional tournament at Lubbock last Saturday after having defeated last year's regional champion, Cheryl Mason of Lockney, in a first round match.

The petite brunette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Payne, has overcome the odds of not having a tennis court at the school on which to practice. She has done all her practice in the high school gym or on a court constructed near Postex Mills some three years ago.

Kippy gained her tennis background at Andrews, where her father was in the school system before coming to Post last year as elementary school principal.

She has played tennis for the last four and a half years and won 17 of her 52 trophies in tournament play last summer. In the Highway 80 tournament at San Angelo, she won the championship in the 14-year-old girls' singles, was runner-up in the 16-year-old girls' singles, and teamed with Rudi Nelson of Andrews to win the championship in the 16-year-old girls' doubles.

Kippy also won trophies in tournaments at Abilene, Andrews, Odessa and Midland last summer.

In Texas tennis rankings, the Post girl is ranked fifth among 14-year-olds and under and ninth among 16-year-olds. She and Miss Nelson are ranked second in 16-year-old doubles.

Her biggest tournament has been the Texas Open at Fort Worth, where she went to the semi-finals in singles and to the semi-finals in doubles with her Andrews partner, Miss Nelson.

After winning over the defending regional champion in her first round game at Lubbock, 7-5, 6-2, Kippy disposed of Karen Fowlin of El Paso Parkland, 6-1, 6-1, before going up against the Winters girl Saturday afternoon.

Kippy says she was "off form" in her finals match against Miss Mostad. "I'd beat her if I could play her again," she said.

Her coach, N. R. "Jiggs" King, says Kippy started out against the Winters girl "as if she was going to eat her up." But the final score was 6-2, 6-1, in favor of Miss Mostad, who is a high school junior.

Kippy says she is looking forward to next year's district competition, but that she might pass up this summer's tournaments on account of not having adequate practice facilities here.

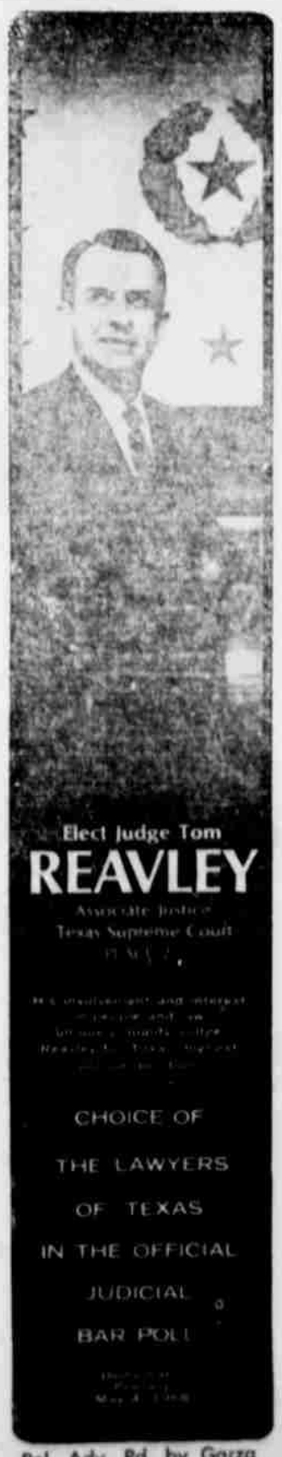

A Post tennis fan, who requested that his name not be used, said he sees no reason why tennis courts cannot be built at the school here so that Post can compete on an even footing with Denver City, Stanton and other Class AA schools in the sport.

"There probably are any number of students in the high school here who would go out for tennis if we had the facilities," the fan said. "It seems a shame to let such ability as Kippy's go to waste just through not having a couple of tennis courts."

Ed Whittenburg predicts victory

HOUSTON — Ed Whittenburg predicted Saturday night he will be elected governor of Texas "because the people have a choice between me and the professional politicians and they want a change."

Speaking at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner at the Houston Sheraton - Lincoln Hotel, Whittenburg said that on May 4, voters will decide whether the leadership of Texas will be one that promises or one that gets things done.

"The quality of leadership for Texas must be motivated by something more than thirst for power, personal gain or satisfaction of the ambition of friends," Whittenburg said.

Voting regulations for new residents changed

Voters in the May 4 primary who moved into the county on or after Nov. 4, 1967, must vote between April 11 and April 30 in the office of the county clerk, according to information from Carl Cederholm, Garza County clerk.

A new law enacted last year permits registered voters with less than six months' residence in the county to vote on all statewide offices and issues if they have lived in the state longer than one year, but they must vote in the county clerk's office under procedures similar to absentee voting.

Formerly, a person who moved from one county to another within the state was totally disfranchised for the first six months after he moved, unless one or more of the various types of districts (congressional, legislative, judicial, etc.) included both the county of his former residence and the county of his new residence.

If he had lived in a district for six months before the election, he could vote on statewide offices and issues and on the offices for districts in which he had six months' residence, but he could not vote on local offices and issues within the county.

The new law preserves the voting rights which existed under the old law, but the procedure for voting has been changed. Heretofore, a person entitled to vote on the basis of six months' residence in a district voted on election day at the regular polling place for the voting precinct of his new residence.

Under the new law, no one who has resided in the county less than six months may vote at a regular polling place, and all voting by such persons must be done through the county clerk's office.

WHY DOESN'T AREA HAVE MORE HOGS?

Growing hogs in Garza County and using milo for the grain in their feed could add to the gross income for both the hog producer and the county as a whole.

For an efficient factory type operation, at least 50 sows, and perhaps 100, would be best to take advantage of modern mechanized and automated methods.

This would be a year - round and full - time operation, with some animals being ready for market each month of the year. It is a specialized business, as is any other livestock operation, with knowledge and practice of nutrition, sanitation and medication necessary.

Hogs should be produced in this area as well as anywhere else. We have good climate conditions. We have milo grain that is really better for livestock feed than the irrigated grain in nearby areas, as it is higher in protein.

In nearby counties we have some of the best purebred hogs in the U. S., of most of the major breeds. Animals from these herds can be obtained for foundation stock for commercial production.

There is always a market for butcher hogs in Lubbock, but our local meat processors, Jackson Bros., probably would be interested in expanding their operation is a regular supply of high quality hogs were available.

It doesn't take a large acreage of land for a factory type pork production and the turnover of maturity of the animals for slaughter is less than a beef cattle operation. Also, the capital investment ratio is somewhat less for hogs than for cattle.

We could just as well be selling pork ready to cook as selling our milo to other areas for someone else to use.

Texas does not produce near enough hogs for their own use, but imports pork from other states.

I think we have everything we need for this kind of industry except someone who wants to grow some hogs.

Farmers who have adequate acreage to farm and are receiving the government checks that go with it probably would not be interested, but for someone who enjoys working with animals, this could return as much on the investment as most any other farming operation.

As other farming operations, it is not a get - rich - quick deal and it requires a lot of special knowledge and interest, but most any business or industry a person works at nowadays needs special training and good business ability.

OPEN DURING THE NOON HOUR!

That is what your county tax office will be if you elect me as your next County Tax Assessor-Collector.

I believe the tax assessor-collector's office should be open during the noon hour five days a week in order to give the working public an opportunity to transact their tax business, purchase car tags, etc.

I'll try to see every voter between now and the date of the first primary election, but if I miss some of you I take this means of soliciting your vote and influence.

Grassland iris garden drawing many visitors

By MARY LEE LAWS

Looks like winter is here again. Can't seem to have many warm days in a row.

Mrs. O. H. Hoover of Plainview has been here visiting friends and relatives for the past few days. She and Lucille Walker visited Mrs. C. C. Jones Friday afternoon and then went back by Saturday morning to see the iris while they were fresh. Others visiting the Jones garden during the week were Mrs. E. A. Rawlings, Mrs. W. G. McCleskey, Mrs. King, Mittie Walker, Mrs. C. M. Greer, Ruth and Artie Young.

Jurd and Artie Young fished at Two Draw lake Satuday and took a picnic lunch. They also visited the Buck Thompsons.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Mathis visited the Centrail Baptist Church Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McCleskey went to Brownfield Wednesday to see the W. M. Duboses.

Attending the Bible School workshop for the Nazarene Church in Lubbock Thursday were the Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Rawlings, Laverne McCleskey, Mary K. McDonald, Mrs. W. G. McCleskey, and Jeanette McCleskey.

Mollie Gribble is still a patient in Mercy Hospital in Slaton. She is reported as not doing too good.

The Rev. Duane Morrison of Wilson was called as pastor of Central Baptist Church Sunday. He and his wife, Sonjia, and two sons reside at Wilson where Sonjia is a 4th grade teacher in the Wilson schools. Bro. Morrison works in Lubbock. We hope this family will enrich our community. May God be with them in their new job.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bullard and Stanley, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weatherby, all of Lamesa, were Sunday dinner guests of the Dean Laws.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gribble and Lucy Cunningham went to Lubbock after church Sunday to have lunch with Mrs. J. W. Warrick.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Gartman of Post bought the Elmer Gray house and moved it on their home place Wednesday. We want to welcome the Gartmans back home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Webb left for Colorado Springs, Colo., after visiting here with friends and relatives for a few days.

Mrs. O. H. Hoover and Lucille Walker attended the services at the Nazarene Church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McCleksey visited with Jurd and Artie Young Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. E. A. Rawlings visited Mary Lee Laws Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Murray were Sunday luncheon guests of the W. G. McCleskeys.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. McCleskey, Mr. and Mrs. James Murray and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bert McDonald and children and Karen Laws were Sunday dinner guests of the Kelly Laws.

Mr. and Mrs. Jurd Young were in Lubbock last Wednesday for his checkup. While there they visited Mrs. W. C. (Mutt) Graves in West Texas Hospital. She is doing fair.

Louise Gerner of Dallas was here for the weekend. She visited Laura in Lubbock and they both spent the weekend with their parents, the Amos Gerners.

MRS. O. F. Haley became ill Sunday afternoon and Mrs. Gerner and Ruby Claborn sat up with her that night. She was still not feeling very good Monday morning. Laura, Louise and Jerry Gerner also visited Mrs. Haley Sunday.

Looks like Grassland may grow some yet. We have two new houses in our community. One is Frankie Stanley's house just south of Granny Walkers and the other one is being built north of H. C. Gribble's old house. It belongs to H. C. and Mickie and I know they are real anxious to get it completed.

Mrs. Price Thomas has bought a house in Lubbock. We hate to see her move.

Mrs. Holly Thorn, Mr. and Mrs. William Young of Lubbock visited the Jurd Youngs Sunday afternoon. Other visitors during the week included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Duncan of Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Young and family of Lubbock and Mrs. Walter Jones.

The Grassland Coop Gin held its annual membership meeting Monday night. Underwoods catered the supper, which was delicious. In the business meeting two new directors were elected. Several prizes were given away. A good crowd attended.

Postites see many top exhibits at HemisFair

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Davies and Carol met the Davies' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Davies of Detroit, Mich., in Fort Worth from where they went to San Antonio to HemisFair.

National YWCA Week coming up

LUBBOCK — The Young Women's Christian Association of Lubbock will join April 21-28 with YWCAs across the United States to help girls and young women know that they count in today's world.

The occasion will be National YWCA Week with the theme, "Where You Count — the YWCA," according to Mrs. R. G. Richards, executive director.

"We believe this theme stresses what is at the base of all YWCA programs — the individual girl or woman who wants a place where she can develop her own potential and contribute to her community, nation and world," Mrs. Richards said.

In announcing plans for the local observance, Mrs. Richards invited the girls and women throughout the area to visit the YWCA and to join in recognizing the worth of each individual.

Garden Club members elect officer slate

Mrs. Robert Cox was elected president of the Green Thumb Garden Club when it met last Thursday night in the Reddy Room with Mrs. Homer McCrary and Mrs. Wilson D. Williams as hostesses.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Jewell, vice president, and Mrs. Douglas Buchanan, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Dan Cockrum, Mrs. Lewis Herron and Mrs. N. R. King were the nominating committee for the 1968-69 slate of officers.

The new officers will be installed at a salad supper at the Herron home at the next meeting.

Mrs. Hansford Hudman presented a program on Terrariums.

Motor vehicle accidents are leading cause of death to residents, says the National Safety Council.
