FORD "60" OWNERS REPORT
 22-27 MILES PER GALLON

The 60-horsepower Ford V-8 is writing remarkable mileage records on American roads. Private owners and fleet operators alike report averages of from 22 to 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

You can fill the tank of your Ford "60" and drive all day—300 to 400 miles—without stopping again for fuel. Besides costing less to run than any Ford car ever built, it sells at the lowest Ford price in years. That's double economy!

The "60" delivers V-8 smoothness and quiet at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. It is built into the same roomy body as the famous "85"—with the same modern features of comfort and dependability that make the 1937 Ford V-8 unquestionably THE QUALITY CAR IN THE LOW-PRICE FIELD.

ARE PROMISED

The human story of a love between two nations is drawn vividly in the fictional drama of "Parnell," a Goldwyn-Mayer offering. The picture, with Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in the starring roles, is being presented at the Ellis Theatre.

Clark Gable and Myrna Loy are superb in their respective roles as the leader and the beautiful woman who loves him. The picture is a dramatic love story of a man and a woman, presented with artistry.

Supporting cast is one of the most impressive ever assembled for a picture. It describes the historical Parnell, who was the only man to unite the 86 members of the party in a struggle for his love of Katie.

A married woman, the picture results when her husband, Willie O'Shea, dies, and the collapse of Parnell's career, are closely related.

Clark Gable and Myrna Loy are superb in their respective roles as the leader and the beautiful woman who loves him.

Jane Withers Picture

"Angel's Holiday" Featuring Young
Star to be Presented at Ellis
Theatre June 17-18

Trouble comes double when little Miss Dynamite comes to town and laughs come thick and fast when her latest escapades as an amateur detective make front-page news in "Angel's Holiday," starring Miss Jane Withers, T. N. T., which shows Thursday and Friday June 17-18 at the Ellis Theatre.

With a gleam in her eye "Ginger" Jane takes a day off, teaching the neighbors how to put the "holler" in "holiday" and routing a riot squad with its own tear gas in a grand free-for-Jane hilarity spree which, despite its torrent of mischief, works out well for the young lovers involved. Robert Kent and Sally Blane, who are featured with Joan Davis in Jane's supporting cast.

Confessionally in stitches all the time, Director James Tunling and Associate Producer John Stone themselves took a holiday from button-busting laughter at the completion of the film, acclaimed as the funniest of the Withers pictures.

The original screen play by Frank Fenton and Lynn Root presents Jane with a splendid opportunity for her own peculiar knack of disrupting the status quo. In an attempt to become the female Charlie Chan, the skirted Sherlock Holmes, Jane interferes with a publicity stunt in which movie star Sally Blane disappears, only to get into genuine trouble when real kidnappers step into the picture.

The climax, however, is conservatively speaking, the rip-roaringest rampage in which the harum-scarum half-pint of film dynamite has ever indulged.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Townsend Clubs Look to National Convention for New Impetus

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON—Those hopefuls who look to Dr. Townsend for the panacea for old age problems are encouraged by the thought that the third national convention of Townsendsites to be held here late in July may give the movement new impetus.

Dr. Townsend and his devoted followers have not been very well pleased by recent developments.

In an attempt to borrow $5,000,000 on his personal promissory notes for loans of $10 and up, Dr. Townsend encountered the opposition of the Securities Exchange Commission. The commission explained that anyone who offered notes to the public for more than $100,000, came under the securities act and would have to file an application for registration.

Bitterness over this incident partially dictated the answer of Townsend clubs throughout the country that they would hold a national convention this summer in Washington's Powhatan hotel, which is located directly across Pennsylvania avenue from the SEC.

The doctor notified all those who had already advanced him money that unless they wished to have him keep it as a gift, their loans would be returned. Enthusiastic response to this announcement from individual members and clubs has taken the form of from $10 to $100 gifts.

When Dr. Townsend originally asked for $5,000,000 in loans to be secured by his personal notes, he said, "My personal assets at this time, aside from the Townsend National Weekly which is already pledged to the Townsend movement, are about $500."

When J. W. Brinton, manager of the weekly, discovered recently that some clubs were admitting members for 25 cents a year dues, instead of the $2 officially required, he published a severe reproof.

"And these Townsend Club members—who pay half a cent a week to the support of the Townsend movement—expect Dr. Townsend and the Townsend clubs to put over a national program which will bring them an income for life after 60."

THE reports of Roosevelt's committee of six, sent to Europe to study the co-operative movement there, seem to have stimulated co-operative activity in the capital.

Newest Washington co-op is the Rochdale restaurant for which more than 100 persons have subscribed to shares of stock. It opened at a central spot near the State Department, Interior Department, WPA, PWA, SEC, the Social Security Board, and is already so popular it is turning away patrons.

Washington has a co-op grocery store, a co-op fashion shop, about 88 co-op credit unions, a co-op insurance agency. While hundreds of sub-executives in New Deal agencies are giving time and effort to these enterprises, there seems to be no reason to believe at this time that the administration will officially promote consumer co-operatives, as some business men have feared.

The new restaurant may be taken as a model of co-operative planning. It operates on Rochdale co-operative principles, sells shares of stock at $5, limits purchases to 40 shares a member, allows but one vote a member, can pay a maximum 4 per cent dividend on shares, returns most of the profits to patrons and pays union wages.

Five Mile Terraces

Longest Terraces in Country Believed to be on the Johnson Farm Near Hartley

Channing, Texas, June 8—Construction of what is believed to be one of the longest terraces in the entire country has just been completed on the farm of Mrs. Jessie Herring Johnson, six miles east of Hartley.

The terrace, which is five miles long, is part of a system of six terraces surrounding two lake beds on four of the seventeen sections of land owned by Mrs. Johnson.

The work which is a part of the soil and water conservation program being carried out on this farm, has been done under supervision of Claude Lovett, soil conservationist for the Hartley County Wind Erosion Conservation District, cooperating with the Soil Conservation Service.

The five-mile terrace completely encircles the two lake beds, and has only one opening, this having been made as a safety precaution against a possible break during heavy rains. The other five terraces of the system grow shorter as they approach the outer limits of the system. The outer and shortest terrace is two and a quarter miles in length.

The two north sections of the four included in the terrace system have been blowing this season, according to Asa Willis, who is farming the land. Two and a half of these four sections have been drilled to Sudan grass in an effort to stabilize the land.

"The four characteristics of a good bedroom are: cleanliness, orderliness, the harmonizing of colors and the arrangement of the room," stated Miss Wertha Tarter, county home demonstration agent, Saturday, June 5 at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Miss Irene Goucher.

"In arranging flowers to get the best effect, place into a vase the number you think pretty, then take out half of these. The flowers should be one and one-half times as tall as the vase in which they are placed. To revive flowers put one-fourth teaspoon of baking soda in the water. Aspirin is almost as good," further stated Miss Tarter.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (II Corinthians 13:11).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Christlike understanding of scientific being and divine healing includes a perfect Principle and idea, — perfect God and perfect man, — as the basis of thought and demonstration" (page 259).

NEW HOPE CLUB

Mrs. A. M. Koehn, Reporter
"Clean, fresh bed linens are restful to the body," stated Miss Wertha Tarter, county demonstration agent at the regular meeting of the New Hope club, which met with Mrs. Charlie Cudd on Wednesday, June 2.

Miss Tarter gave an interesting demonstration on bed making at this meeting. "Do not leave wrinkles in the bottom sheet, tuck it in on all sides," she remarked. She further stated that a sheet should be three yards long and to always fold the bedding when removing it from the bed.

Mrs. Hugh Riley had charge of a miscellaneous shower given for Mrs. Findor Shubert in honor of her graduation.

The members quilted a quilt for the hostess. Those present were Misses: Wertha Tarter, Beth Lovett, Dorothy Budock and mesdames John Budock, W. G. Yeary, Carl Carter, Anna Budock, O. E. Carter, Findor Shubert, Fred Furnish, W. L. Lovett, Hugh Riley, Ben Jones, A. M. Koehn and the hostess.

WAKA CLUB

Mrs. R. G. Burger, Reporter

"Cleanliness and comfort are the two characteristics of a good bed," stated Miss Wertha Tarter at the regular meeting of the Home Demonstration club which met with Mrs. J. R. Stump, Tuesday, June 1. "Mattress and springs should be covered with protectors. Sheets that are three yards long may be tucked under the mattress at both ends and top sheet may be folded over covers," she further stated.

The Waka Home Demonstration club and the girls 4H club will hold their meetings together during the summer.

Those present at the meeting were, Miss Wertha Tarter, Mrs. G. A. Burger, Mrs. R. D. Glassey, Mrs. H. N. Elledge, Miss LaVerne Glassey, Miss Bonnie Elledge and the hostess, Mrs. Stump. Mrs. V. E. Steed was a visitor.

NINETY PER CENT OF DISEASES CAUSED BY FOOD

Neva Morris, pantry demonstrator of the Clover Leaf Club, says that before she was elected pantry demonstrator she never paid much attention to the kind of food that she ate. If it was food she liked, she ate it. If it wasn't food she liked she ate little or none of it.

Statistics show that from 80 to 90 per cent of the diseases that we have go through our mouth. In other words from 80 to 90 per cent of the diseases are the result of the kind of food that we eat.

Neva says being pantry demonstrator gives her a better chance to study foods, and to help her family meet their nutritional needs.

AN EXCELLENT SUBSTITUTE FOR APPLE BUTTER

"Even though apples don't grow in Beaver county and are somewhat expensive, homemakers have found a delicious substitute for apple butter which is scarcely distinguishable from the genuine spread," says Miss Ruth Phelps, Beaver county demonstration agent.

Mrs. Maggie Chappel has worked out the following recipe, which she finds quite satisfactory.

"Cook pie melon until it is tender. A person who is unfamiliar with pie melon will be unable to distinguish it from applesauce. Make a mixture of canned sand plums, sugar and spices and mix well with the pie melon. This makes a nice substitute for apple butter and is a delicious spread."

Mrs. Chappell also suggests that preserved pie melon and pineapple make a nice preserve.

THE NEW HOPE H. D. CLUB MEET WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Koehn are happy over the arrival of a daughter on Sunday, June 6. The name, Myrna Fay, has been chosen for the young lady.

Mrs. Louise Roberts and Charmaine, who have been in Amarillo on business the past two weeks, returned to their home in Perryton, Monday.

PREPARING FOR COUNTY 4-H CONTEST JUNE 25

"To Make the Best Better" is the motto for our 4-H club girls this year. Doris Cox, bedroom demonstrator of the Waka Club, says she is applying this to her bedroom and is going to do the best possible piece of work on her room.

The room that Doris is renovating is on the Southwest side of the house. It is painted dark green which makes the room naturally dark. Since every girl likes her bedroom to be light and airy and present a restful atmosphere Doris is changing the color of the walls to a cream and the wood work to a French gray. The floor was painted a medium brown and then waxed.

The curtains which were green are being replaced with marquisette curtains that have a light gold dot sprinkled through them. These curtains admit more sunshine and makes the room cheerful.

Doris says she can hardly realize that this is the same room so much improvement has been made. She is entering the room in the county contest that is being held June 25, for 4-H club girls.

International Sunday School Lesson FOR THIS WEEK

The Brotherly Love of Judah
Gen. 42:1-45:15

I. A Trip to Egypt

The famine foretold in Pharaoh's dream had become a gruesome reality. Food had grown scarce in Palestine. Jacob and his sons were much concerned about procuring food. But where would they get it? All the sons could do was to look upon one another with wonder and perplexity.

In the midst of this situation Jacob seemed to break the spell with his information that there was corn in Egypt. He had "heard" that there was plenty there. So to Egypt must they go for food. All the brothers except little Benjamin set out for the country of the Nile. This journey was to mean more for them than the purchasing of food. For they were to meet their long-lost brother whom they had sold into slavery years ago.

II. Joseph's Reception of His Brethren

The ten brothers did not even dream of seeing their lost Joseph. They considered him long since dead. Surely such a tender lad as he was when sold could not endure the life of a slave in these many years. The older brothers had not changed so much but that they could be recognized. But Joseph had grown to manhood in the meantime, hence his brothers would not know him. He did not at first tell them who he was. On the contrary he made himself strange unto them and spoke roughly to them. Of course he had a motive in view. He still loved his brethren although they had sold him into slavery. There was nothing revengeful about him.

But were these ten men the same brothers as of old? Did they still have the spiteful dispositions as they used to have? How could this be determined? Joseph chose the most powerful test that could have been made. He accused them of being dishonest. He called them spies. This was a terrible insult! Even peaceful minds would revolt at such an accusation. But the men did not recoil at this taunt. They humbly pleaded that they were not spies. So they had changed. The haughtiness of their young manhood had forsaken them in their sober and more mature years. They urged that they were all the sons of one man, and that their youngest brother was at home with his father, and the other "was not." How it must have touched the heart of Joseph to hear this from their own tongues. To think that they imagined their dead, yet here he stood before their eyes and they knew it not! But he was not through with his testing. He demanded that one of the men remain as hostage to guarantee that they will bring the young man Benjamin down to Egypt on their next trip.

When the sons returned (except the hostage) they related to their father Jacob what had happened. When they opened their sacks of corn their money was in them. How could this be? What strange turn events taken that a rough ruler who accused them of being spies would restore their money?

It was with a sad heart that Jacob learned the demand of Egypt's prime minister regarding Benjamin. How could the old man let his youngest son go? Joseph had been eaten by a wild beast (so he thought). Simeon was captive in Egypt, and now to take the lad Benjamin would leave poor old Jacob to weep his way down into the grave. But orders were orders. They could not see the face of Simeon again unless they brought the youngest son with them. So as the famine bore down heavily upon the land, and another trip must be made to Egypt, the sons finally persuaded the reluctant Jacob to let Benjamin go along since Judah said "I will be surety for him."

When the party arrived in Egypt they were received kindly and a feast was made for them. Upon seeing Benjamin he was moved with great emotion and sought a place where he might weep unseen. Then he washed himself and dined. Since it was an abomination for Egyptians to eat with the hand, he gave the brothers their food on a separate table. To their astonishment Joseph placed the sons at the table according to their ages, beginning with the oldest, and extending down to Benjamin, the youngest. On Benjamin's plate much more food was placed than on any of the others.

Again the sacks were filled with instructions to put each man's money in the mouths of them. Joseph had his own silver cup put in Benjamin's sack. As soon as the party was well on their way Joseph had his men overtake them and accuse them of theft. A search was made for the cup and it was found in the sack of Benjamin. Just at this point the real quality of Judah becomes visible. Since Joseph had said he would make a servant of the man in whose sack the cup was found, it began to look as though Benjamin would be detained in Egypt. What would Jacob do? What would Judah, his surety reply to the heart-broken father? Taking Joseph aside, Judah related the heart-rending story of Jacob's grief and his reluctance in letting the youngest son accompany them on the trip to Egypt. Judah even offered to serve as slave in the place of Benjamin.

III. Joseph Made Known to His Brethren

Joseph's last test had revealed the true character of his brethren. He could not refrain himself no longer. So he dismissed his men from his presence that he might make himself known to his brethren. So touching was the scene, and so loudly did Joseph weep that the house of Pharaoh heard. Like lightning from a clear sky, or rather like a burst of sunshine at midnight, "I am Joseph; doth my father yet live?" Forgiveness was written in every expression of Joseph. He assured his brothers that it had all turned out for the best. He bade them return immediately for his father and have him come to Egypt, for there would be yet five more years of famine in the land. Again they wept and communed together. All Egypt joined in the sentiment. And good king Pharaoh himself directed plans for an elaborate reception of the aged Jacob. Here is an example of what purity of character, devotion to purpose, and loyalty to Jehovah can do. Again, if a Judah could reform, let no man say

Moisture Doesn't Eliminate Need of Soil Conservation

Amarillo, Texas, June 9.—Farmers who may hold the opinion that normal moisture eliminates the need for soil and moisture conservation farming practices are making a serious mistake, according to H. H. Fennell, Regional Conservator of the Soil Conservation Service in Region Six, which includes the wind erosion area of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico and Colorado.

"Almost the opposite is true," Mr. Fennell warns, "because it is in the periods of extreme drought that we find the greatest difficulty in making vegetation and trees grow which are necessary to protect permanently the soil from blowing. This also applies to filling stock water ponds located so as to provide a more equal distribution of grazing, and to obtain the best results from other conservation practices."

"When we get a good amount of moisture, such as we have over most of the wind erosion region now, we are able to see more clearly what is happening to the soil and water. An abundance of moisture can be observed in many sections of the region now, but one noticeable thing is outstanding."

"The slopes of fields cultivated in straight rows, that is, up and down the hills instead of around the slopes on the level, are moist, but dry out rapidly. The water that should have been held on the slopes and distributed there for the soil and crops, has been allowed to run off into wet weather lakes, roadside ditches and streams, where it is of no value to crops and of decreasing value to livestock or wildlife."

RUN-OFF ESTIMATE ONE-HALF

UNTERRACED LAND LOST ONE-HALF OF MOISTURE OF RECENT RAINS; SHOULD GO INTO EARTH

According to information accumulated at the Panhandle Agricultural Experiment Station, Goodwell, Oklahoma, more than 50% of the recent rains was estimated as run-off water from unterraced land, says Harley A. Daniel, Director.

After the rains of May 26 to 29, the unterraced land that was planted to wheat last fall contained an average of 9.9 inches of wet soil, while on the adjacent terraced land the water had penetrated to a depth of 19.2 inches. The data reported from this station show that the extra moist soil saved by terracing produces about 24 per cent more available moisture for plant growth and has increased the average grain yield of wheat and sorghum during the last 11 years 2.8 bushels per acre per year. These rains penetrated the soil to an average depth of 14 inches on listed land with a slope of less than 1%, but the adjacent terraced and contour listed plots had an average of 24.9 inches of wet soil. This experiment was started in 1924 and the crop yield has been increased an average of 56% during that time.

The 1.57 inches of rain May 26 came in a very hard dash and approximately 53% was estimated as run-off on the land not protected with contour furrows or terraces, while 0.82 inches came the 29th and 50% of it was wasted. Therefore, the average unterraced or contour field in this area has only absorbed about 1.14 inches of these rains. The remaining 1.25 inches has either gone down the streams or accumulated in small ponds where it is worthless for agricultural purposes.

While the Beaver or North Canadian River was raging at a very high flood stage June 1, destroying very valuable soil, bridges and highways in the Panhandle, the dust was sailing through the air reducing visibility to a few feet in many places. After 87 dusty days this year, the desert-polished soils of the southern high plains were in ideal condition for the water to run off and, consequently, thousands of dollars worth of valuable water and soil went down the streams.

The bridges and highways that were destroyed in the flood water must be rebuilt, which will cost an enormous sum of money. The land in the dust bowl is practically free of vegetation and there is nothing to prevent this destructive process from continuing after each heavy rain unless proper conservation practices are put into operation and the water stored in the soil where it falls. Daniel says that the calculated net income from storing the extra run-off water in soils with terraces during the last 11 years at Goodwell, Oklahoma, averaged $1.71 per acre per year, which shows that sound farming practices are investments which pay good dividends as well as being very effective in preventing tremendous losses due to floods.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cummins, Shawnee, Okla., came in Tuesday for a visit in the home of her brother, M. F. Hethcock and family.

Funeral Held Sunday

Wayne Glasgow Died Suddenly Friday Following an Illness of Three Months Duration

Wayne Glasgow, age 14, died suddenly at his home, 304 Southwest First street, Friday afternoon, around four o'clock. Wayne was taken ill with tonsillitis in March and had not been well since, suffering with heart affliction. He was able to be up the past week and his death came as a shock to his family and friends.

Wayne, son of William and Emma Glasgow, was born January 25, 1923 on a farm south of Perryton. When three years of age, he moved with his parents to Perryton where he lived until June 4, when his young life came to an end at the age of 14 years, 4 months and 10 days.

He was a student in the junior high school and a member of the Senior band. He belonged to the Methodist Sunday school and was an active Boy Scout. Wayne was a lovable boy, being thoughtful, friendly and kind to all. It is sad to see one so young pass away, yet, it is better to live well for a short time than to live poorly to an old age.

Surviving relatives are the mother, two sisters, Miss Eva at home, and Mrs. W. C. Williams, Pampa; two brothers, Bill of Guyton, Oklahoma; and Earl, Perryton.

Impressive funeral services were held at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon, two o'clock, with the pastor W. B. Vaughn in charge. Music was furnished by a double quartet composed of Mrs. Carl Ellis, Mrs. Rufus Boerjack, Mrs. W. E. Foglesong, Miss Opal Foglesong, J. M. Jackson, Robert Lawrence, Addison Cutler and Rufus Boerjack. Miss Ruby Neufeld was the accompanist.

Honorary pall bearers, members of Wayne's Scout troop, were Cecil Leicht, Charles Gidley, Doc and Charles Patton and Robert Howard Holt. Active pall bearers were Howard Holt, W. I. Byron, Jack Shaul, Virby Conley, W. R. Caylor and A. W. Blue.

Interment was made in the Ochiltree cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our thanks and appreciation for the friends and neighbors, whose many acts of kindness and words of sympathy, helped to lighten our sorrow. The floral offerings were indeed beautiful.

Pleads for Use of U. S. Helium

Serious, impassioned was Dr. Hugo Eckener, veteran German aviation expert, as he testified above before the Senate Military Affairs Committee in Washington, pleading for the release of American-owned helium for use in Nazi dirigibles. "Without use of this helium, he said, the lighter-than-air craft is doomed."

W. D. Thompson Figures He Made That Much on One Job By Terracing in 1936

Of course if we could hire out for such a price every one would make application for such a job, but that is the amount W. D. Thompson figures he made on one job in 1936.

Mr. Thompson, a farmer of the Missouri Avenue Community, had several small lakes or depressions in his field that usually drowned out each year and his desire to harvest these caused him to build small terraces completely around such depressions. These terraces in combination with contouring kept the lakes dry and a harvest of 15 bushels per acre was cut from these lakes. Similar lakes on Mr. Thompson's farm that were not treated in this manner followed their usual custom and drowned out completely.

According to J. T. Stovall, County Agent, Mr. Thompson is now looking for a few days work that will pay in the same way and has contoured all available land on his farm and reports no run off from the recent heavy rains from this contoured land.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Duke and son, Bob, and Veva Jo Mitchell of Darrouzett were Perryton shoppers Saturday and were dinner guests in the evening with Mr. and Mrs. E. W. LeMaster.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hammon and sons were in Kingman, Kans., from Monday until Wednesday of last week. They were called there by the death of Mr. Hammon's cousin, Carl Gilbreath.

BABY CHICKS ARE SOLD THROUGH HERALD

H. C. Rosebury of the Rosebury Hatchery, Liberal, writes that he "had good results" from ads run in the Herald. For the past two years Mr. Rosebury has used this medium to advertise baby chicks and in both instances he has found it profitable. The Munson Hatchery, Okla., is another hatchery that has run an advertising schedule over a period of several years during the spring for the past two years. This hatchery has also found that money spent in space in the Ochiltree County Herald was a good investment as it has created a market for the baby chicks in this section.
