Local weather

Forecast for the Big Spring area: It will be mostly fair through Tuesday. Southwesterly winds 10-15 mph. Low tonight in the low 50s, high on Tuesday will be in the mid 80s. Yesterdays high was 80 with a low of 54.

ON THE SIDE:

Prison selection

AUSTIN (AP) — A group that unsuccessfully sought a new prison for Dalhart today criticized the selection process used by the State Board of Criminal Justice.

"I don't know whether you'd call it a fix. I just think it was politics," said businessman Bob Langhorne Jr., who helped prepare Dalhart's proposal.

Langhorne said Dalhart officials had heard a rumor last week that the six sites to be selected by the board later today would be Abilene, Angelina County, Beaumont, Beeville, Dilley and Polk County.

"What's the explanation if it's not politics? Where do you get more votes? The Texas Panhandle doesn't have enough votes, and Dalhart in particular. There's nothing to gain by putting it in Dalhart except a better deal for the taxpayers," Langhorne said.

The criminal justice board was to choose sites today for three new 2,250-bed maximum security prisons and three 1,000-bed medium security facilities.

Dalhart's proposal included the 300-acre prison site along with 2,356 acres of deeded farmland, Langhorne said. The market value of the land was about $2 million, and vegetable production and other farm income would be about $1.4 million annually, he said.

Tricked again

SEATTLE (AP) — A package that sounded like a time bomb and looked like a bomb on X-rays turned out to be "a rather cute witch," probably made for Halloween, an airport official said.

"We're calling it our trick-or-treat case," said Port of Seattle Police Chief Ed Ingram. "We got the trick. We really did."

Ingram said a "strange, electronic sound" coming from the package, sent by priority mail from Juneau, Alaska, to an air base in Massachusetts, aroused the suspicion Friday of an airline employee at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport.

A technician's X-rays revealed what looked like a detonator, so the package was taken to a bunker and blasted with a water cannon to disarm it.

Mobile home crash

BIG SPRING — A trailer home in tow was destroyed early Sunday after the driver of the towing vehicle skidded off of U.S. Highway 87 because of wet and slick conditions, according to a Department of Public Safety report.

A 1990 Charit Eagle trailer home being pulled by a 1984 freightliner truck tractor overturned in the median of U.S. Highway 87 after the driver of the vehicle, Robert Paul Peterson, 53, Belleview, Fla., applied the brakes while attempting to make a turn. When Peterson applied the brakes, the rear axle brakes locked on the driving vehicle.

Manslaughter trial begins

Ex-Big Spring policeman accused of killing wife

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Jury selection began today in 118th District Court in the case of an ex-Big Spring police officer on trial for voluntary manslaughter in connection with the shooting death of his wife.

Howard County District Attorney Rick Hamby spent most of this morning asking potential jurors a broad range of questions about any involvement they might have with Dennis Dunn, who is facing trial in connection with the April 12, 1988, shooting of his wife, Carlye.

Mrs. Dunn was the victim of a fatal shooting in her home. She was driven to the hospital by Mr. Dunn, where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

He was arrested while still at the hospital on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, a charge a Howard County grand jury later increased to voluntary manslaughter. Dunn has been free on $90,000 bond since shortly after his arrest.

Dunn, who was placed on probation from the police department following his arrest in connection with his wife's shooting, was later dismissed after being arrested on a charge of public intoxication.

After a group of about 40 potential jurors were seated today, Hamby told them: "We are involved in a very, very serious matter... A man's life is at stake."

Hamby added, "We're dealing with the death of an individual. Evidence will show the victim of that death was a woman by the name of Carlye Dunn."

Hamby said it would be up to a jury to decide if Dunn is guilty of voluntary manslaughter in the slaying of his wife. Voluntary manslaughter is a murder committed with some mitigating circumstances, he explained.

Those mitigating circumstances are "sudden passion," which Hamby defined as an act of passion brought on by the victim; and "adequate cause," which he defined as something that would cause the alleged offender to commit the act out of anger, rage or terror.

"Quite simply, you get mad and you kill someone," Hamby said, adding, "And we have someone killed here."

Hamby told potential jurors: "We're not considering murder in the purest sense; we're considering it in its diluted state."

Hamby then proceeded with a series of questions to potential jurors about any possible involvement they had with Dunn, his family, and any information they have that would disqualify them or any other reason they could not serve as jurors.

"Now, does anybody know anything about this offense, other than what they've heard in the newspaper or on the radio?" he asked.

No potential jurors were dismissed for any cause before 11 a.m.

Hamby said if Dunn is convicted on the charge, he could face a maximum sentence of 20 years imprisonment.

Dunn is being represented by Robert Moore III.

Council to discuss bond refinancing

By RUTH COCHRAN
City Editor

BIG SPRING — City council members will again consider advance refunding of outstanding bonds during their regular meeting Tuesday as the council continues its efforts to save the city money.

The council will meet at 5 p.m. in terminal building 1106 of the Big Spring McMahon/Wrinkle Airpark.

In previous meetings, the council has discussed with financial advisors the possibility of paying off some of the city's bond issues, then refinancing them at lower interest rates. Mayor Max Green said the most likely candidate for refinancing is the city's 1981 bond issue.

"We have four different issues of which only one issue (1981) has the possibility of anywhere from $175,000 to $200,000 savings," Green said. "The other three... may generate losses in later years."

"My recommendation that I will make to the council, that if we do any refunding at this time, is that we only refund the 1981 issue."

The council may decide to refund the bond in 1990 or in 1991, he said, or it may decide not to refund it at all.

"If we're going to realize a savings in February (1990), we need to put everything in motion right now," Green said. "February is whenever our next payment comes up on the 1981 issue."

"If we wait until November of 1990, we may be able to generate a little bit more savings because the issue is callable in February of 1991. Callable means that we can

County updated on asbestos materials

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Howard County commissioners were updated on the status of asbestos in the Boy's Boxing Club by an asbestos abatement contractor today.

Dewayne Patterson, the owner of an Odessa abatement company, told the commissioners during their regular meeting that several sections of the Boy's Boxing Club building on the north side of town contain asbestos.

Patterson and another employee recently inspected the building and took samples for analysis to determine if there was asbestos in the building and, if so, how much asbestos exists in the building.

The 18 samples the asbestos abatement company took indicate there is asbestos in the floor tiles and in the men's and women's shower stalls, Patterson told commissioners. The levels of asbestos in the samples range from 6 percent to 66 percent, he said.

Patterson later said any asbestos amounts greater than 4 percent is considered unacceptable by government standards. It's now a decision for the commissioners to consider if the building is with saving, he said.

In other business, commissioners:

• Received a copy of specifications for pagers from the county's volunteer fire department. Commissioners had previously said they needed to see the specifica-

C-City student's hair suit delayed

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — A Friday hearing on a high school student's suit which says that the Colorado Independent School District's dress code violates the Texas Equal Right's Amendment, was postponed until Nov. 15 at 9 a.m. in 32nd District Court.

Colorado City High School senior Mike Lara, 17, has been on in-school suspension since Oct. 13 because his hair is over his collar. He sits in a three to four-foot plywood cubicle where his schoolwork and lunch is brought to him.

A motion for continuance was asked for by Tom Rees who said he needed more time to arrange for a psychologist to testify. He said he is trying to bring in a particular doctor who is already familiar with the school district.

"This thing has hit the court system very fast," he said of the suit which was filed Oct. 24 by Lara and his father Tanis.

"Even during this period of time we discovered it would be necessary for a psychologist to review the evidence to determine the compelling nature of teaching rules and regulations," he told District Judge Weldon Kirk.

"As a result we're without that expertise," he said. "Without that type of evidence it certainly wouldn't be appropriate to put us to trial."

Lara's lawyer, Pat Barber, asked Kirk Friday that the trial be held that day because of the strain which Lara is under.

"The plaintiff Mike Lara, has been continuously, every day, been in detention," Barber said. "This detention and isolation is physically, psychologically and emotionally damaging."

"I think the plaintiff Mike Lara should not be penalized for the lack of diligence of the defense lawyer to find witnesses," he said. "Any doctor or psychologist could give testimony."

Rees disagreed, saying that the doctor he wants to testify is the only one with a complete "expert knowledge of the school district."

After Kirk decided that the trial will continue on Nov. 15, Rees said, "We'll either have him (the doctor) here or obtain a deposition on

Pledge walk

Walkers in the Northside Community Center 6th annual walk-a-thon wile away the 11-mile trek with some small talk Sunday afternoon. Walkers took pledges for each mile completed, and according to Marianne Brown, community center executive director, the 17 participants gathered pledges totaling $7,300. The center's goal was $8,300, but the amount of money pledged still exceeded previous years, Brown said. The money will be included in the center's $20,000 annual budget.

Spring board

How's that?

Q. Why did we get white bags in Sunday's Herald?

A. The white bags are for donations to the Boy Scouts' food drive to benefit needy people in Howard County. Scouts will collect filled bags from front porches between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Saturday. In addition, boxes for donations of food will be located at Winn-Dixie, Don's IGA and Fiesta stores, Furr's Supermarkets and The Box parking lot. Collections will be divided equally between the Salvation Army and the Northside Community Center.

 Kirk also granted a motion for Barber to have photographs taken of the in-school detention center. Barber said a request to do that earlier in the week was not granted by Superintendent Jim Ramsey or Rees.

The only stipulation is that Barber must provide a copy of everything recorded to Rees by Monday. Barber, a photographer and a video cameraman took pictures of the center Friday after school was let out.

Pro-choice activists celebrate election victories

Hundreds of thousands of pro-choice activists reveling in recent electoral victories held demonstrations from President Bush's vacation hometown in Maine and the Lincoln Memorial to a celebrity-packed Los Angeles park.

"Today, we mark a new era in America. The 1990s will be the decade of choice," declared Kate Michelman, president of the National Abortion Rights League, at a rally Sunday in Rancho Park in Los Angeles' Century City.

Celebrities at the event included members of the cast of NBC-TV's "L.A. Law" and the Rev. Jesse Jackson, who exhorted the crowd of more than 50,000 to "fight for the right of self-determination."

Also at the rally were entertainers Holly Hunter, Barbra Streisand and Donna Mills, and Norma MacCorvey, the Jane Roe of the 1973 abortion rights case known as "Roe vs. Wade."

Many demonstrators around the country referred to the U.S. Supreme Court's July 3 decision that let stand the landmark ruling that legalized abortion but gave states broad authority to restrict abortions.

"The Supreme Court did us a great favor," Mary Ann Baker of Youngstown, Ohio, said at a rally in the nation's capital. "It got us off our complacent behinds."

In Washington, D.C., Democratic and Republican politicians and entertainers headlined a rally by about 150,000 people at the steps of the Lincoln Memorial.

It was the largest of Sunday's events that began with a sunrise service in Kennebunk, Maine, near President Bush's vacation retreat in Kennebunkport. Some attracted small counter-demonstrations.

Galvanized by election victories for abortion-rights supporters in last week's gubernatorial elections in Virginia and New Jersey, demonstrators said politicians would be forced to pay them heed in the next round of elections.

In San Francisco, 2,000 demonstrators played off Bush's campaign comparison of private charity to "a thousand points of light." A park overlooking the city's downtown glowed at dusk as demonstrators held up lights in support of the right to abortion.

"Here at dusk, we kindle a thousand points of light — our own thousand points of light — to say that we will never again accept the darkness of back alley despair," said Ms. Michelman, who went to San Francisco after the Los Angeles rally.

In Atlanta, hundreds waved coat hangers and posters during a rally attended by congressmen and celebrities including actress Marlo Thomas and magazine editor Gloria Steinem.

"Anti-choice is our Berlin Wall, and together, we will make it fall forever," Ms. Steinem said.

In Seattle, former congresswoman Bella Abzug took issue with the anti-abortion position that life begins at the moment of conception.

"I don't know when the moment of conception begins," she said. "My friend Marlo Thomas has said maybe it begins when you say, 'Hi ya, honey.'"

Many of the 1,000 abortion activists in Columbia, S.C., said lawmakers who try to restrict abortions should be tossed from office.

"We must get rid of the politicians who would restrict our choices in so private an area," said Columbia attorney Victoria Eslinger.

In New Orleans, a brass band and gospel groups warmed up about 1,800 abortion-rights advocates at the City Park.

In New York state, demonstrators in Rochester donned purple ribbons, a symbol of the suffragette movement, and about 300 people marched in Watertown in support of abortion rights.

In North Dakota, many demonstrators carried signs declaring "Mobilize for Women's Lives" and "It's My Body... and Keep Your Laws Off It." Demonstrators in Bismark gathered by the Capitol steps, while in Fargo they marched to a replica of the Statue of Liberty.

In Chicago, more than 2,500 activists held a silent march from a Southwest Side church to Cook County Hospital, urging resumption of abortion services at the county-run medical center. Feminist Betty Friedan was among those who spoke.

In Missouri, where the case in

"We have a chance to de-Websterize Missouri," Baily shouted.

 call them and pay it off at a fixed price. Otherwise we'll have to pay a larger premium on advanced refunding.

"We're not required to do it right now, nor are we required to do it in 1990. It's just a matter of we may have an opportunity to save some money."

Other agenda items the council will consider include:

• A cost estimate for proposed restrooms at Moss Lake. Tom Decell, city public works director, said the improvements can't be made until money is budgeted for the restrooms.

"We had given several proposals to the city council about needed improvements at Moss Lake," Decell said. "They asked us to give them a list of all the things that needed to be done."

"Of course, there are no allocations in the budget for this. This is just an ongoing thing."

Visitors currently have the use of outdoor or pit toilets at the lake, he said. The proposal calls for two restrooms, each with two toilets and one sink. Estimated cost for the project, according to the proposal, is $4,500.

• A request by Rural/Metro Inc., for a 21 percent increase over three years of the city's subsidy to the service and a contract extension. The council has been tabling a decision on the matter since August.

• Acceptance of an operational report for October from the Big Spring EMS service.

• Approval of charge-off of uncollectable accounts.

• The emergency reading of a resolution casting votes for the City of Big Spring in the Howard County Joint Tax Appraisal Board election of directors.

Weather

The return of colder temperatures helped ease the flood threat in the Pacific Northwest, but it was more like summer again today in the south central and southeastern United States.

Warm weather that melted mountain snow, combined with days of heavy rain, had led to flooding that caused millions of dollars in damage in Washington state. But even though more rain was predicted today, colder temperatures were expected to prevent further snowmelt in the mountains.

High mountain passes in Washington got up to four inches of snow Sunday night, while Brown- ing, Mont., got 11 inches of snow. Northwestern Montana also had some flooding during the weekend from storms that dropped up to five inches of rain in some areas.

Farther south, 30 cities had record high temperatures Sunday as readings soared into the 70s and 80s from the High Plains to the southern and middle Atlantic Coast.

Readings of 81 degrees at Chattanooga, Tenn., and 76 degrees at Rapid City, S.D., were the warmest on record for so late in the season. Early this morning temperatures remained in the 60s in much of the South and central parts of the country.

Except for the Northwest, dry weather prevailed across the nation.

The high for the nation Sunday was 89 degrees at Borrego Springs, Calif., Gila Bend, Ariz., and McAllen, Texas.

Teens electrocuted

ELKHART (AP) — An 16-year-old boy was killed and another 16-year-old was seriously injured when a television antenna they were trying to install came into contact with a power line, authorities said.

Michael Jason Woods was pronounced dead at Trinity Valley Medical Center in Palestine about 6:30 p.m. Sunday, officials said.

Gaylon Hobbs was listed in stable condition this morning at Trinity Valley, said nursing supervisor Kathleen Jones.

The boys were helping Hobbs' father, also named Gaylon Hobbs, install a 25-foot antenna when the accident occurred, said Anderson County Sheriff Gary Thomas.

"The father was on the roof of the house and appeared to stumble and lose control of the antenna," Thomas said. "The kids were on the ground and tried to keep it up, but it fell into an electric line."

Thomas said both boys were holding the antenna when the line sent 7,200 volts through the aerial.

Final bow

DALLAS — Joan Sutherland takes a bow after her performance in the opera "The Merry Widow" Wednesday night. Saturday's performance will be her final opera in the U.S., she said.

Launch planned

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — A Starfire rocket will be launched next week from the White Sands Missile Range for a 15-minute suborbital flight that will mark the third flight in America's fledgling commercial rocket program.

The flight Wednesday will carry a 1,000-pound package of experiments perched atop the dartlike sounding rocket.

The 15-minute suborbital flight will expose 12 experiments to the effects of microgravity — near weightlessness — on animal and human cells, plastic foams, polymers and metal alloys that can be made stronger in space.

Chemical spill

DALLAS (AP) — A 55-gallon drum spilled a noxious chemical on a trucking company's loading dock, sending about 30 people to area hospitals and forcing a brief evacuation of about a half-dozen nearby businesses.

Three firefighters were among those who complained of difficulty breathing after the incident at Yellow Freight in the 4500 block of Irving Boulevard, about three miles southeast of Texas Stadium, officials said.

The chemical was described as ethylenediamine, a highly flammable liquid used in photographic processing. A city bus transported 19 people to Methodist Medical Center, and 15 others were taken to Parkland Memorial Hospital, said Capt. Jack Hickey, assistant fire chief with the Dallas Fire Department.

All were treated and released, hospital officials said.

One man said the chemical smelled "like acid from a battery — you get a little watery eyes, little like strep throat."

Landry named advisor in president's war on drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush today named 27 citizens, including medical pioneer Dr. Jonas Salk, former Attorney General William French Smith and ex-Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry, as advisers for the war on drugs.

"All share my goal of ridding America of illegal drugs," Bush said at a White House ceremony where he signed an executive order creating the Presidential Drug Advisory Council.

With drug policy director William Bennett at his side, Bush gave the advisory panel the mission of finding better ways to:

—Encourage employers to keep workplaces drug-free.

—Enlist the aid "of many Americans who want to volunteer their time and energy to winning the war on drugs."

—Communicate to all Americans, especially our young, the importance of staying off drugs.

—Coordinate the multitude of private and non-profit antidrug efforts.

—Involve the private sector "in the building of prisons and jails."

Bush, who unveiled a nearly $8 billion antidrug strategy in September, said, "The scourge of illegal drugs upon the lives of many Americans is simply devastating, and with the help of this advisory council, I look forward to stopping this devastation and guiding our nation toward an intolerance of illegal drug use."

The council, given a two-year life span, will be chaired by Texas businessman William Moss.

Besides Moss and Landry, also named was Judge Herman P. Pressler III of the Texas Court of Appeals in Houston.

Opponents critical of Williams

DALLAS (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams, who a poll found enjoying greater name recognition, was stung by his fellow office-seekers Saturday for suggesting they need fewer debates.

The barbs came in a debate as a new poll showed Williams, who has spent more than $1 million in television ads, emerged in name recognition to at least equal status with front-runner Kent Hance, a Texas Railroad Commission member.

"We're not surprised. If you spend $3.4 million dollars, your recognition should come up too," Hance said. "We're not concerned about polls. We're concerned about the future of the state of Texas."

The debate itself produced few surprises, except for former Secretary of State Jack Rains' comments on abortion.

While saying he opposes in most cases, Rains added, "As governor of Texas I will not permit further restrictions on abortion. I want to see (the party) concerned about the important issues of the state."

Rains explained his stance is part of a philosophy of expanding the Republican Party in Texas and trying not to alienate any groups.

Williams, a multimillionaire oilman from Midland, said the Texas Poll results showing a boost in recognition, indicate people are learning that he is the best-qualified candidate and not simply that he is the richest.

"I think a lot of Republicans like my message — that of voting out of office liberal Democrats. My policies have created a lot of jobs, that's what makes me a good businessman and will make me a good governor," Williams said.

But Williams said he was not enthused by other candidates' calls for additional debates across the state. "I'm not a lawyer," he said.

Dallas lawyer Tom Luce said more debates are needed. The first GOP debate was held last week in McAllen.

"The important thing is we need debates all over the states, and they need to be focused," Luce said. "We need one on education, one on crime, one on our schools."

Luce also said the poll showing Williams' dramatic rise, held little weight this early in the campaign. The primary election is March 13.

"It just tells us how many commercials he ran this month."

Rains said fewer debates would dilute the race to 30-second sound bites and slick commercials.

"And the people of this state deserve more," he said.

"What Clayton's saying to the electorate is 'I don't want to come out and talk about the issues in your hometown. I don't think Texas wants that kind of government'."

A fifth candidate, Fort Worth minister W. N. Otwell drew gasps and laughter from the audience of about 400 several times, including twice when he made anti-homosexual comments.

He criticized efforts in states like California where gays seek legal recognition as a family, saying "when God made Adam and Eve, He named them Adam and Eve, not Adam and Steve."

DALLAS — President Bush places his hand on the Texas Vietnam Veterans Memorial during a Veterans Day ceremony in Dallas Saturday morning. With Bush is 74-year-old Connie McWright, whose two sons were among the 3,172 Texas who died in Vietnam.

Criminals ignore Dallas woman's plea

DALLAS (AP) — The premise that one needs only to ask to receive apparently does not hold true where criminals are concerned.

But that won't dissuade a Dallas woman of giving up her dream of sometime having a day without crime, she said.

Verna Thomas, was the organizer behind the city's "No Crime Day" and even persuaded Mayor Annette Strauss to support this year's second annual event with an official proclamation.

Ms. Thomas distributed fliers asking those who were thinking of committing crimes to dedicate themselves to "love, respect and self-discipline" on "No Crime Day" this year, which actually was stretched to become a no-crime weekend.

Ms. Thomas distributed fliers asking those who were thinking of committing crimes to dedicate themselves to "love, respect and self-discipline" on "No Crime Day" this year, which actually was stretched to become a no-crime weekend.

But for the second consecutive year, Ms. Thomas' hopes of a crime-free day were dashed.

There were at least two shooting deaths and one fatal stabbing over the weekend. Police also received dozens of reports of robberies, burglaries and auto thefts. Included among a number of aggravated assaults were two attacks on police officers.

J.R. McEnturff, an 18-year veteran of the Dallas Police Department, was surprised when he learned of the attempt to encourage a crime-free weekend.

"When I first started (as an officer), I was naive. I guess."

McEnturff said. "I thought that what I did would really make a difference."

But crime is increasing in Dallas.

"We don't have enough police out here," said David Hodges, a police corporal. "We used to be able to answer a call in two or three minutes. Not it takes eight or nine. It just gets worse and worse."

But Ms. Thomas said she still maintains hope that Dallas can band together and simply encourage its criminal element to turn things around — if only for one day.

"Can you imagine if every building downtown had banners hanging from them that said 'No Crime Day?' If everyone turned on the headlights of their cars, if the whole city were involved?"

Nun ends adventure-filled pilgrimage in stagecoach

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A 289-mile adventure-filled pilgrimage from Galveston to San Antonio by three Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word has ended, with at least one nun ready to "kick the habit."

The nuns arrived Sunday by stagecoach at Santa Rosa Medical Center following a 16-day journey in which a stagecoach mishap injured two nuns. One was released from a hospital to rejoin the journey. Two other sisters also joined the trip.

The sisters' journey was a re-enactment of the 1869 trip of three nuns who departed Lyon, France, then traveled to San Antonio from Galveston. They came in response to an outbreak of cholera and yellow fever and founded the Santa Rosa Infirmary, San Antonio's first private hospital.

The retracing of the original trip was to commemorate Santa Rosa Hospital's 120th birthday.

"It was an experience of a lifetime. I would do it again tomorrow," said Sister Carol Ann Jorker as she stepped from the mule-drawn coach.

McEnturff said. "I thought that what I did would really make a difference."

Infant death rates high among poor

HOUSTON (AP) — Babies die in Houston because they and their mothers lack adequate access to health care, a newspaper's analysis of the city's infant mortality rate found.

"Infant mortality is our failure," city health director Dr. John E. Arradondo told the Houston Chronicle in a copyright story published Sunday. Arradondo doesn't deny that infant mortality most often strikes the group he is charged to serve — the poor.

A Chronicle computer study analyzed Texas Department of Health data tapes linking birth certificate information to the death certificates of 2,842 Houston infants who died between 1980 and 1986 — the most recent period for which the tapes are available.

The analysis showed a strong relationship between infant mortality and factors indicating poverty, the newspaper reported.

That correlation has not changed significantly since 1986, said Joe Rubio, local director of community services for the March of Dimes, a non-profit group that raises money to fight birth defects and infant mortality.

According to the analysis: —Mothers whose infants died were far less likely to have received adequate prenatal care than were those whose babies lived;

—Babies with teen-age or unmarried mothers were at increased risk;

—Black babies died at a rate almost double that of white and Hispanic infants;

—Babies who died were nearly 10 times more likely to be low birth weight, another indicator of poor prenatal care.

Houston's infant mortality rate averages about 11.5 infant deaths per 1,000 live births, and it has not decreased significantly since 1982. The rate is even higher in the inner city — more than 13 per 1,000 — and in some census tracts, in which about 3,000 people live, rates have approached 30 per 1,000.

Nursing home residents use computers to correspond

By JEFF MEYER
Associated Press Writer
VALLEY CITY, N.D. — Susanne Barstad didn't know a modem from a disk drive, but she and other residents of Sheyenne Care Center have learned that computers can be as easy to use as a horse and buggy.

"I figured you're never too old to learn if you want to try," the cheery 90-year-old said. "I've always had a curiosity about trying new things."

Barstad is among 19 residents of the nursing home who use a computer to write to pen pals around the country through a network called SeniorNet.

The nonprofit organization has trained more than 3,500 people on personal computers at 30 sites in 13 states and Canada since 1986. Sites include doctors' offices, senior centers and colleges, but Sheyenne Care Center is the only nursing home, said Cindy Schwehr, the center's SeniorNet coordinator.

Schwehr believes the program keeps the residents' minds alert and helps ward off institutional depression. "I think it boosts their self-esteem, their confidence. And it's an easy way for them to establish friendships with people in other parts of the country."

While some of the residents balked at using the computer, Barstad jumped at the chance. "I knew computers are going to be the wave of the future. . . . I was happy when they asked me to come down and try it."

Susanne Barstad, left, displays a letter she wrote on a computer with the help of Barb Svenningsen, a volunteer at the Sheyenne Care Center.

Barstad, a retired nurse, corresponds with three other seniors, including an author in Florida and a former journalist in Virginia.

Barb Svenningsen, a volunteer who helps the residents operate the computer, said some still hesitate to use it. "Their first question is, 'How much is it going to cost?' But those that get on it and realize they can do it — they really seem to like it."

SeniorNet evolved from a computer class and user manual, "Computers for Kids over 60," by Mary Furlong, an associate professor of education at the University of San Francisco and now executive director of SeniorNet.

Furlong started it because she felt senior citizens had been left out of the computer revolution of the '80s. "What I've learned in the past six years is that older adults have a great deal of wisdom to share. If we give them access to these tools . . . we as a society stand to learn a great deal."

Recognizing a relatively untapped market for computers and information services, industry has been eager to help SeniorNet get off the ground.

Apple Computer Corp. donated $200,000 worth of computers to equip 11 training sites including Sheyenne Care Center, which received a keyboard, disk drive, monitor and printer.

Users are billed only for the time something is sent over transmission lines, Furlong said. That averages about three or four hours a month at $12.60 an hour for most users.

Sheyenne Care Center's bills are paid for by the Markle Foundation of New York, which has donated $700,000 to SeniorNet. The center joined after former administrator Jim Tourville heard about it at a national conference.

Tourville and former marketing director Tim Hager contacted Furlong, and in 1987 the nursing home was selected to join eight other sites in the country.

"We had absolutely nothing to lose by doing this — because everything was donated — and hundreds of things to gain."

"This has given them a link with some of their younger family members because the children are learning about computers in school," she said. "It gives them something to talk about, and that can mean so much to an elderly person."

Ounce of flu prevention is worth a pound of cure

Editor's note: T. Franklin Williams, a geriatrics physician, is director of the National Institute on Aging, one of the 13 institutes that comprise the National Institutes of Health of the Department of Health and Human Services.

By Dr. T. Franklin Williams
BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — The old adage, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," holds true for the flu.

Each winter millions of Americans suffer the fever, aches and pains of influenza. Most recover from the effects in a week or so, but for many older people the flu and its complications are extremely serious.

While the body's immune system is busy fighting the flu, a person is less capable of resisting another life-threatening infection like pneumonia. Older people and those with chronic diseases such as heart disease, emphysema, asthma and diabetes have the greatest risk of developing pneumonia along with the flu.

And older people are more likely to require hospitalization. Flu and pneumonia combined are the sixth leading cause of death in the United States, and 80 to 90 percent of the deaths are in people 65 and older.

But flu and its complications need not be deadly, and can be prevented by vaccinating high-risk individuals six to eight weeks before the season begins.

Influenza is caused by a virus that infects the nose, throat and lungs. Flu travels quickly, especially during winter in crowded indoor places like malls, grocery stores, theaters and hospitals. When someone with the flu coughs or sneezes, droplets containing particles of the virus spread to other people.

After infection, symptoms usually appear in two to four days; the disease continues to be contagious for another three to four days.

Once the virus enters the body, it multiplies and causes a variety of well-known complaints, including chills and fever, headache, runny nose, sore throat and a dry cough. Extreme weakness and muscle aches and pains often last for several days. If the virus invades the lungs, viral pneumonia can develop.

To prevent the flu, people 65 and older and residents of nursing homes and other chronic-care facilities should be vaccinated. Also, health professionals, nursing home workers and family members who live with someone over 65 should get a flu shot to avoid spreading the disease to those at risk.

Unlike other viruses, the flu virus changes from time to time. Because different strains of the virus tend to spread flu each season, a new vaccine is prepared every year. It contains strains of the flu virus recently circulating worldwide and believed likely to hit during the coming winter. Nicknames such as the "Spanish flu" and "Hong Kong flu" refer to places where large outbreaks of new flu strains have first appeared.

The vaccine is made from highly purified, killed viruses. Because the flu shot does not contain infectious viruses, it does not cause the flu. The most common side effect is a sore arm, which occurs in less than one-third of those vaccinated and usually lasts only a day or so. A few people also may develop a brief, low-grade fever and some minor aches and pains, which begin six to 12 hours after vaccination and can persist for one or two days.

If a person has no special reason not to take aspirin, low doses (such as one tablet every three to four hours) usually will relieve these symptoms.

Immediate allergic reactions, such as hives, rarely occur after influenza vaccination. Anyone allergic to eggs, which are used to grow the virus for the vaccine, should NOT receive the vaccine since some egg protein may be present.

Since the flu vaccine takes several weeks to work, the best time to be vaccinated is in November. A vaccine also is available against the most common types of bacteria which cause pneumonia. The flu shot can be given at the same time as the pneumonia vaccine without increasing the side effects. The flu shot must be given every year, but the pneumonia vaccine should be given only once.

In addition to the flu shot, an antiviral drug — amantadine — can prevent infection by certain strains. The drug is useful for people who have not had the vaccine or as extra protection for those who have been immunized.

When taken soon after the early signs are felt, amantadine reduces the duration of fever and other symptoms. It also can prevent infection if taken during the entire four- to six-week course of a flu epidemic.

After people stop taking the drug, they become susceptible to the virus again. It occasionally causes difficulty sleeping, impaired concentration and dizziness, and has been associated with falls in older people. As with all medication, patients should take it only with a doctor's recommendation.

'Wanderers' need to be watched

ATLANTA (AP) — The nation's nursing homes need new ways to watch over "wanderers," the thousands of patients — especially Alzheimer's victims — who are prone to walking around, says a researcher seeking a high-tech solution.

In three months of study at an Atlanta nursing home, David Martino-Saltzman identified two patterns — "meandering," in which patients wander aimlessly, and "circuiting," in which they walk laps around a defined area. The challenge for researchers is to find a way for nursing homes to deal with the problem without physical restraints or drugs, said Martino-Saltzman, a behavior specialist at the Veterans Administration Medical Center here.

His study involved pressure-sensitive floor mats that would detect electronic tags worn by patients. The computerized system allowed the patients to wander, but alerted workers when the patients were where they shouldn't be.

Such systems can be prohibitively expensive for small nursing homes, he said. "Small nursing homes can't afford a $100,000 system. It behooves us to come up with something that's affordable."

Navy bombs nearly hit campers

DESERT CENTER, Calif. (AP) — Two U.S. Navy jets mistakenly dropped a dozen bombs about 300 yards from a campsite, leaving six campers shaken, including one who was slightly injured by shrapnel.

Two A-6 attack bombers from the Naval Air Facility in El Centro accidentally dropped the round of explosives three miles north of the Chocolate Mountain Aerial Gunnery Range, a Navy spokesman said Sunday.

"It was definitely a mistake, but as to why I don't know," said Mike Ray, public affairs officer for the El Centro station. Saturday's bombing was under investigation and Ray said he had no further comment.

The bombing left a half-dozen craters 10 to 12 feet in diameter and about a foot deep.

The jets apparently overshoot the target area and dropped the 250-pound bombs, igniting small fires over four acres of the California Desert Conservation Area, said Tom Biller, a U.S. Bureau of Land Management ranger who investigated the accident Sunday with Navy officials. The fires posed no threat in the desert scrubland.

"We're really lucky no one was seriously injured," said Biller, of the bureau's Palm Springs office. The aircraft's bombs came within 300 yards of the campsite before the error was detected and the mission aborted, he said.

Destroyer, merchant ship collide

HONOLULU (AP) — A U.S. Navy destroyer collided with a merchant ship in the Strait of Malacca northwest of Singapore on Sunday, killing one American sailor and injuring four shipmates, a Navy spokesman said.

Several fires broke out aboard the destroyer USS Kincaid and the Singapore vessel Kota Petani when they collided at 5:19 a.m. Sunday local time, said Lt. Cmdr. Bob Anderson, a spokesman for the Pacific Fleet in Honolulu.

The fires aboard the San Diego-based destroyer were quickly contained, and the crew of the Kincaid and the frigate USS Rentz helped douse the flames aboard the Kota Petani, Anderson said.

No injuries were reported aboard the merchant vessel, which sustained major damage to its bow, he said.

The crash took place about 240 miles northwest of Singapore in the strait between the Malay Peninsula and the Indonesian island of Sumatra.

The names of the dead and injured were being withheld until their relatives could be notified, Anderson said.

The cause of the collision was under investigation, Anderson said.

The destroyer carries 20 officers and 297 enlisted personnel, Navy spokesman Lt. Cmdr. Camille Estrada said in Washington.

Small plane lands on overpass

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A small plane made an emergency landing with its engine aflame on a freeway overpass and struck a car, but the occupants of both the plane and the car escaped serious injury, authorities said.

Robert Gaugenmaier, 62, of Studio City, was flying the Cessna 210 when it developed engine trouble approaching Burbank Airport, police Officer Jim Thompson said. Gaugenmaier's wife, Judith, 50, was a passenger in the plane.

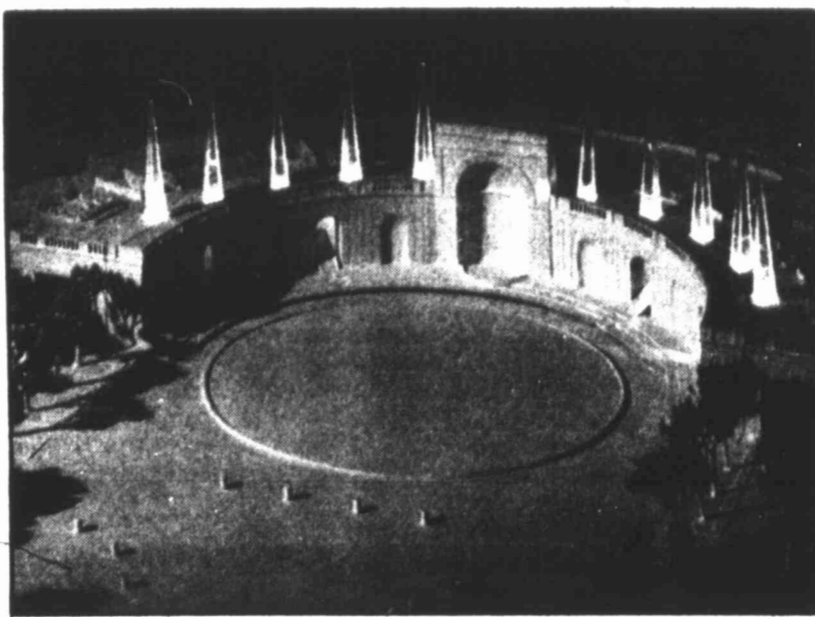

The craft clipped a traffic light and, with its engine on fire, was forced to land on the Sunland Avenue overpass of the Golden State Freeway.

"I was looking for any place I could set it down," Gaugenmaier told police after the 4 p.m. crash about one-half mile north of the airport.

Gaugenmaier's forehead was cut and his face, chest and arm were bruised. Both he and his wife reported back pain. Thompson said. The couple were treated at Pacifica Hospital of the Valley and released Sunday night.

Motorists who saw the crash helped remove the Gaugenmaiers as flames poured from the engine.

Rebels launch major attacks in San Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Government forces fought today for control of the capital after leftist rebels, in their biggest offensive since 1981, seized parts of San Salvador and attacked military posts in the provinces.

At least 139 people were killed, including an American teacher, and 317 wounded, hospitals and the military said, in fighting that began Saturday night and prompted rightist President Alfredo Cristiani to declare a state of siege.

The president, whose official residence was attacked in the offensive's early hours, imposed a 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. nationwide curfew in addition to rescinding basic rights.

In the capital, the fighting was the heaviest of the 10-year-old civil war. Early today, the sound of mortars and sporadic gunfire echoed through its deserted streets.

The rebels claimed 400 soldiers were killed or wounded and gave no casualty figures for their own forces.

They launched the offensive after pulling out of peace talks to protest a series of attacks on leftist political and union leaders they blamed on the U.S.-backed government.

Fighting was reported in at least four of the country's 14 provinces, including northern neighborhoods of San Salvador, much of which was being held by heavily armed rebels. It was the biggest coordinated rebel attack since a 1981 offensive in the provinces.

By late Sunday, rebel snipers had taken posts in the high floors of buildings in the capital's northern sections. Residents of the area helped rebels dig trenches.

"A free country or death!" one group called out when they saw journalists approaching suburban Metropolis.

"All the northern zone (of the city) is classified as critical," said Pedro Varela of the Red Cross. He also said such eastern areas as Soyapango, San Bartolo and Ciudad Delgado "are very dangerous."

On national television, Cristiani announced the state of siege, suspending rights of assembly as well as free speech and movement.

The legislature was to vote today on whether to suspend the rights of people detained by authorities.

"The terrorists must know that there are judicial tools to fight these irrational attacks," he said.

The rebels declared a nationwide ban on traffic at midnight Sunday and ordered all gas stations to close.

Both sides made public appeals for international support and claimed they held the upper hand.

World

Party formally ousts former-chief

BEIJING (AP) — The Communist Party Central Committee has formally ousted former party chief Zhao Ziyang from its ranks, sources said today, nearly six months after he was accused of supporting the student-led democracy movement.

The Nov. 6-9 plenary session of the committee voted that Zhao, who was ousted from office in June, would be removed from all his duties in the committee, according to sources who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The Central Committee, meeting for the first time since the June session during which Zhao was purged, did not mention Zhao in its final communique, leaving open the question of how the party would handle his case.

Some party hard-liners reportedly hoped to put Zhao on trial on charges of fomenting counter-revolutionary rebellion, but others, including senior leader Deng Xiaoping, are believed to have resisted.

It was unclear whether Zhao had been stripped of his party membership as well or would be allowed to remain a member of the 47-million-member party he once headed.

Zhao, 70, one of the architects and main proponents of the market-oriented reforms that have brought prosperity to millions of Chinese, still commands wide popular support.

Peruvian voters defy rebel threats

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Voters turned out in large numbers for municipal elections despite threats of violence from Maoist rebels, and spurned candidates of President Alan Garcia's party, unofficial returns showed today.

Shining Path guerrillas trying to thwart Sunday's balloting killed a candidate and blew up a church, a school and power lines. Six other people were killed in attacks blamed on the rebels.

No overall figures were available, but turnout was high in Lima and other major cities. In the capital, authorities extended voting for two hours to accommodate lines.

Soldiers armed with assault rifles patrolled the streets. Armed police and soldiers also provided heavy security at voting places.

Sunday's voting was seen, first as a trial of whether the government could put on an election amid a rising tide of rebel violence.

It was also considered a bellwether of the appeal of Vargas Llosa, the presidential front-runner, as well as a gauge of just how unpopular Garcia's center-left Aprista party has become.

A television exit poll Sunday showed Vargas Llosa would capture 55 percent of the vote if presidential elections were held immediately. No other candidate got more than 14 percent support in the poll.

Most East Germans return home

BERLIN (AP) — Egon Krenz's gamble that an open door policy would not backfire has paid off. All but a few of the millions of East Germans who flooded West Germany over the weekend returned home.

In charge of a faltering economy and a government under siege by calls for democracy, East Germany's new Communist leader created a safety valve by opening the doors to the West. The lack of freedom to travel to the West has been among the most bitter complaints of East Germans.

ADN reported that East German officials had issued nearly 4.3 million visas for travel to the West between Thursday and late Sunday.

West German officials said that of the more than 3 million East Germans who poured in over the weekend, only about 2 percent opted to remain under laws that guarantee automatic citizenship to East Germans.

Krenz's hand was forced by a combined challenge: the flight of 200,000 East Germans this year and massive street protests demanding reform.

To stem the flight of East Germany's youngest and most talented workers, Krenz opened locked doors that had done much to fuel the exodus. West

Club members meet

The Sew and Chatter Club met Wednesday at the home of Libbie Dirks for its annual Thanksgiving dinner, with Dirks presiding at the business meeting.

Members will donate cookies to the Big Spring State Hospital. A donation was made to the Salvation Army.

Ruth Appleton and Dirks celebrated their birthdays at the meeting.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party Dec. 13 at 3 p.m. at the home of Louise Porter.

Officers installed

"Spade & Hoe" Garden Club conducted its first meeting Oct. 31 at the Big Spring Country Club.

Edna Womack installed the 1989-90 officers, they are:

Terri Johansen, president; Sheri Thompkins, first vice president; Leighrene Kohl, second vice president; Kay Fraser, secretary; Eunice Woods, treasurer; Edna Womack, parliamentarian.

Members discussed different areas of the city for the "Adopt-A-Spot" program.

The next meeting will be Dec. 5 at noon at the home of Edna Womack.

Gold Star mothers

The Chapter of American Gold Star Mothers met Thursday at the home of Martha Moody.

Kathryn Thomas, president, opened the meeting according to ritual; Odell Turner, chaplain, voiced the ritual prayer.

Moody and Lora Bell Tom reported on the recent Vietnam Veterans Air Show.

Golden Knights, the U.S. Army parachute team, presented a baton to Thomas. According to a news release, the team earned a reputation for being the finest precision free-fall parachute team in the world — military or civilian.

Members will decorate Christmas trees on the sixth floor of the Veterans Administration Medical Center Dec. 7; gifts will be distributed Dec. 20.

The hospital reported showed that on Oct. 18, 34 patients and six visitors were served coffee and cake.

The next meeting will be at the VA.

Blood pressure check

REDMOND, Wash. (AP) — Free access to high-quality electronic blood-pressure monitors is useful because it helps to promote health awareness, according to a report by a Redmond health services company.

Founded in 1958 to work with NASA to develop methods to monitor vital signs of astronauts, the organization has placed some 4,000 Health Monitor Centers, which offer free blood-pressure screening and personal health information to shoppers, in pharmacies and pharmacy-grocery stores across the nation.

The company — Vita-Stat Health Services — estimates its machines perform 8 to 10 million blood-pressure checks each month at the centers.

To obtain the typical blood-pressure reading, the company recommends about eight measurements over a period of several days. Since each measurement takes approximately two minutes, the shopper has ample time to read the health information available on the unit's lighted panels.

Stenholm's wife: Politics a family affair

By BRADLEY WORRELL Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Politics is a family affair for U.S. Rep. Charlie Stenholm, D-Stamford, his wife said.

"Of course, the district is so big, when he started campaigning he'd go one way and I'd go another. Even our children got involved in the campaign."

CINDY STENHOLM It was a family campaign," said wife Cindy Stenholm of her husband's early campaign days.

Mrs. Stenholm, in town Friday as part of a routine stop through Congressman Stenholm's district, said it is easy for her to be a campaigner for her husband because she tends to agree with all of his political views.

"Yes, basically I do (agree with him)," Mrs. Stenholm said.

"Sometimes I ask him, 'now Charlie why did you vote like that?'" she said. But Mrs. Stenholm said she trusts her husband's decision because he is familiar with the background behind the legislation.

"When he makes a decision it's pretty well thought out. And he has an excellent staff of people to help him," she said.

Stenholm, who was recently appointed as one of 12 Democratic deputy whips, intends to continue in politics for some time, Mrs. Stenholm said.

"Charlie is very happy as he is, as a congressman," she said. "He is gaining seniority, getting to where he can accomplish things... He likes everything he's doing."

Mrs. Stenholm said it is difficult for her to see her husband sometimes criticized by other legislators or the press.

"Yes, it does, because they don't think things through," she said. Some people don't have the "common sense" people in this area of the country have, she said, adding that she realizes people from other parts of the country will consider things differently.

"But you say, does it hurt? Yes, it hurts," she said.

Mrs. Stenholm said she has dealt with some of the problems of being the wife of a congressman by deciding some time ago not to let herself get too involved with all of the political crises her husband faces as part of his job.

Recalling an experience where she worried for days about a piece of legislation her husband was apparently working on only to find out from him that they had already taken care of the issue, Mrs. Stenholm said, "I was fretting and there wasn't anything I could do."

"From that time on I decided I would let Charlie take care of the politics and I would just take care of Charlie and the family."

Mrs. Stenholm said she doesn't like that her husband has to be busy in Washington D.C. or traveling so much, but said, "Always the positives (of being a congressman) have outweighed the negatives."

"The best thing is the friends that we've made. We know so many more people, good people. And Charlie is happy, and that's important."

Living in Washington D.C. is also generally a good thing, she said.

"Do I like living in Washington D.C.? Yes, we worked hard to get there," she said.

"There's so much to do and see," she said. Mrs. Stenholm said living in Washington D.C. is a different experience than living in Texas.

"It's like going to a foreign country," she said, noting that different kinds of people live there and that the seasons are varied from Texas.

Mrs. Stenholm said it is interesting to meet all the different kinds of people, although they are generally not as friendly as Texans.

"And when it's time to come home, it's time to come home," she said. "It's (Washington D.C.) like a trip, like a long trip."

"I enjoy it, I enjoy coming home."

CONFIDENTIAL TO BIG MOUTH IN HOBBS, N.M.: Tell her you are sorry you told her secret and ask her to forgive you. Strange how most people can learn to talk in two years, but it takes a lifetime to learn to keep quiet.

Milk concentrate

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Researchers have developed concentrated milk that's low in fat, free of cholesterol and can be stored in freezers, perhaps making unnecessary large plastic jugs that clog refrigerators.

"What we've done is to remove the milk fat, and replaced it with oil — corn oil, peanut oil, soybean oil or whatever," said George Bookwalter, a scientist at the federal Northern Regional Research Center in Peoria. "Basically, we add water and oil to non-fat dry milk."

The vegetable oil is free of cholesterol, unlike dairy fat, he said Monday.

The newly patented process could greatly expand milk markets and provide new convenience to milk drinkers.

"It's a very significant development for the milk industry," said Jerry Dryer, an Arlington Heights-based consultant to the food and dairy industry.

"It does a number of things. It extends the shelf life of milk. It makes milk available to more people, including the geriatric crowd that doesn't get out much, especially in the winter," said Dryer, former editor of Dairy Food Magazine.

Christmas spirit is fast wearing out its welcome

DEAR ABBY: I can remember when Christmas decorations didn't appear until the day after Thanksgiving; now they are thrust upon us in September! I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw a TV commercial advertising Christmas albums the day after my kids went back to school.

Now the department stores put up their Christmas decorations in the middle of September. I don't enjoy browsing in the stores anymore because I feel pressured to do my Christmas shopping before the leaves have started to fall off the trees.

Do we really need the sights and sounds of Christmas for a quarter of the entire year — three months in advance? Christmas cards and wrapping paper are displayed across the aisle from the Halloween paraphernalia. Heaven help us. What's the rush? I am not ready to do my Christmas shopping yet.

Does anybody else feel this way? — BAH, HUMB IN SEPTEMBER

DEAR BAH: Count me in however, my Christmas shopping won't take long this year because instead of sending gifts to people who don't "need" anything, I'm sending a nice check to the American Red Cross earmarked for the San Francisco earthquake victims. Readers, how about you?

DEAR ABBY: My "lost treasures" story had a happy ending, but your reply to "Depressed" did, indeed, put the loss of material things in perspective for me.

For a long time I had planned to write a family history for my kids and was going to use my photograph collection to illustrate the stories of people and events. One day, I went to the "safe place" where I kept the photographs, only to find they were gone. With every box, drawer or closet that I searched, the feeling of panic, then depression, worsened.

Family photographs are treasured by most of us because they represent not only memories from our past, but something we can pass on to our children and grandchildren.

The nagging feeling of loss continued until the day I read your reply to "Depressed." I realized that I had not experienced a major loss — like the loss of a loved one. I had just lost my pictures. I still had my memories, and my children would have to settle for a written account of their history.

Dear Abby

I eventually found my pictures, Abby, but the experience brought home exactly the message you intended to share with your readers.

— LOUISE SCHWED, RED HOOK, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with "A Teacher in Laramee," who stated that a teacher should never lower a student's grade as punishment. (In this case, two girls cheated — one gave the other the answers during a test — so the teacher gave both students a failing grade.)

I am a senior in college, and in all of my classes, if a student misses X number of days (usually three), that student's grade is lowered a whole letter grade for the entire course. It doesn't matter if that student is a straight-A student and all his or her assignments were turned in on time.

I think this is very unfair. Grades should reflect scholarship — nothing else. — SANDY IN CHAT-TANOOGA, TENN.

DEAR SANDY: That's also my opinion, but you and I were out-numbered at least 100-to-1.

Tankers finish second

PECOS — Both Big Spring High School swim teams placed second in the Pecos Invitational Swimming Meet here Saturday afternoon. It was the highest Big Spring had ever replaced at an invitational meet, according to Big Spring coach Harlan Smith.

The Big Spring Lady Steers finished second behind Monahans, and the Steers were second behind Pecos.

The Lady Steers 400 yard medley relay team of Ericka Clarkon, Debra McMillian, Sally Lopez and Christy Webb swam away from the field, winning the event in 4:31.66; some 16 seconds in front of second place finisher Monahans.

The Steers had a triple-winner in Johnny Webb. The senior won the 200 individual medley (2:23.68), the 500 freestyle (5:39.12), and was a member of the winning 400 yard freestyle relay team. The foursome of Webb, Chase Fraser, Chris Fuqua and Abel Diaz won in 3:39.66.

The other first place winner for Big Spring was Fuqua, who won the 50 freestyle in 23.49.

Big Spring will compete in the San Angelo Invitational this Friday and Saturday. (Complete results in scoreboard on 2-B).

Navarro stays perfect

BRENNHAM (AP) — Navarro College became the first Texas Junior College Football Conference team since 1980 to complete the regular season unbeaten and untied Saturday with a win against Trinity Valley Community College.

The Bulldogs recorded their third shutout in the last four games with a 40-0 win over the defending conference champion.

Navarro, ranked No. 1 in the NJCAA for much of the season, is expected to get an invitation later this week for a berth in the NJCAA national championship game to be played Dec. 2 in Tulsa, Okla.

Navarro, 9-0 and 6-0, broke the game open with a 33-point second quarter. TVCC closed the year at 5-5 and 3-3.

Kilgore College, 6-4 and 4-2, will earn the host spot in the Junior College Shrine Bowl if Navarro is invited to the championship game.

The Rangers, pegged for sixth place in preseason forecasts, rolled up 366 yards rushing led by 111 by Darrell Ridge, the conference's leading rusher. Teammate Willie Mozeke added 93 yards rushing as the rotating tailbacks closed the season 1-2 in the conference rushing race.

Sidney Hawley added 145 yards rushing for Tyler, 3-7 and 1-5.

In the conference's other season finale Saturday, Ranger Junior College used a pair of safeties to rally for a 22-20 win over Cisco Junior College. Ranger, 5-5 and 3-3, overcame a 13-2 second half deficit to win its third in the last five games. Cisco closed 6-4 and 2-4.

Rape trial begins

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — District Judge Preston Trimble admonished potential jurors today to approach with open minds the trial of three former Oklahoma football players charged with rape.

Jury selection began today in Cleveland County District Court for Bernard Hall, Nigel Clay and Glen Bell, who are accused of sexually assaulting a 20-year-old Oklahoma City woman on the night of Jan. 21 in Clay's dorm room.

Trimble reminded the potential jurors that "rumor and gossip is one thing, evidence is another thing."

The attorneys representing the three former players like their chances for victory, one of the attorney said Sunday.

"We feel confident in our cases. Our attitude hasn't changed," attorney Charles Cox said.

The trial for the three was scheduled to begin in September, but was postponed because the sister of the alleged victim was due to have a baby. The sister testified at the preliminary hearing and is expected to be called to the stand during the trial, which the attorneys say should last a week.

"Of course it's wearing on 'em (the players)," said Cox, who represents Bell. "But they're confident, too. It's a long, drawn-out ordeal and everyone's anxious to get it over with."

Since the preliminary hearing, two principals involved have had trouble with the law.

In September, Clay was arrested in California for allegedly selling crack cocaine.

Pokes lose a thriller, 24-20

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Phoenix Cardinals coach Gene Stallings often calls second-year quarterback Tom Tupa the future of the franchise.

After a shaky debut in his first NFL start last month, Tupa finally showed some of that promise Sunday.

Tupa, taking over at the start of the second half after Stallings benched 10-year pro Gary Hogeboom, threw two fourth-quarter touchdown passes to Ernie Jones, including a 72-yard bomb with 58 seconds remaining, as the Cardinals beat the Dallas Cowboys 24-20.

"Gene talked to me on the way into the locker room at halftime. He said to be ready and I was ready," said Tupa, who completed 14 of 22 passes for 245 yards in his fourth NFL regular-season game. "I've been waiting for another chance."

After Dallas (1-9) had taken a 20-17 lead on a 75-yard bomb from Troy Aikman to James Dixon with 1:43 left, Tupa lofted a pass to Jones along the sidelines on a third-and-four situation.

Jones caught the ball in stride at midfield and raced untouched into the end zone for his second touchdown of the game as Phoenix (5-5) kept its wildcard playoff hopes alive.

The Cardinals didn't clinch the victory until Dixon fumbled the ensuing kickoff and rookie tight end Walter Reeves recovered at the Cowboy 2. Phoenix then ran off the remaining 51 seconds.

"It's a bitter defeat," said Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson, whose team upset Washington 13-3 last Sunday night and was trying for its first two-game winning streak in two years.

"We missed too many opportunities early and we turned the ball over too much. We had them beat and let them back in the ballgame with that long pass."

Hogeboom was 7-for-13 for 91 yards with two sacks and suffered a mild concussion late in the se-

PHOENIX — Phoenix Cardinals Ernie Jones (86) runs past Dallas Cowboys defenders Vince Albritton (86) and Everson Walls (24) after taking a pass from Tom Tupa. The scoring play covered 73 yards, and was the game winning TD.

Lady Steers begin versus Central

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — The Big Spring High School Lady Steers have a new coach; some new players — and the same old objective: win the District 4-4A basketball title.

The Lady Steers, with George Martin replacing C.E. Carmichael at the helm, will begin their quest for a fourth consecutive district title Tuesday when they travel to San Angelo to take on the Central High School Lady Bobcats.

Big Spring, coming off a 26-4 record, returns four starters from last season's playoff team. Guards Peggy and Stephanie Smith and forwards Gisela Spears and Jennifer Hendleman provide a solid core of experience for the Lady Steers to build on.

Gone from last year's squad is leading scorer Tami Wise, who took her 25-ppg average to Texas Christian University. Senior Lana Dower and sophomore Tevayan Russell, a transfer from Pecos, will vie for Wise's vacated post spot.

Rounding out the Lady Steers' varsity roster are: post players Amber Grisham, Amber Fannin and Bridget Black; and wings Kerry Burdette and Cassie Underwood.

Martin also will bring a new philosophy to Big Spring. Gone is the patient, pass-oriented offense and the heavy reliance on the zone defense that was the trademark of Carmichael's squads.

"The new coach promises that the Lady Steers will employ a faster-paced offensive attack and a defense based on full-court pressure."

"This is the best free-throw shooting team I've ever seen. In fact, this is the best bunch of pure shooters I've ever had," Martin said. "We're going to put the ball up. If people want to see a good old, fast-paced game, they need to come out and see us."

Defensively, the Lady Steers will "press the other team the moment they step off the bus," Martin said. "We're definitely going to press. If we get in foul trouble, we'll come out of it, but pressing is going to be our game."

Martin also said Big Spring will rely more on its bench than in the past. Whereas Carmichael relied more on his starters, the Martin-led Lady Steers "are not going to be afraid to use our bench," he said.

PEGGY SMITH

The first-year coach, who coached the past five seasons at Haskell, also said that, after three scrimmages, his team is ready for the season to begin.

The most recent scrimmage was Saturday, when the Lady Steers participated in a three-way session with Mineral Wells and Martin's former team, the Haskell Maidens. "In the first quarter, (Haskell) outscored us 17-4," Martin said.

Steers to face OHS

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

BIG SPRING — It won't be easy repeating last year's feat as Tommy Washington takes the reins as the new Big Spring High School basketball coach.

Washington knows it won't be easy winning a district championship like last year's 20-12 team. But the 12-year coaching veteran, who came to Big Spring from Crane, isn't really thrilled with district championships.

"Right now I'm not just looking at making it to the playoffs. I want to go beyond that," said Washington. "If you get satisfied once you reach your goal, then there's nothing to shoot for."

The Steers officially tip off the season Tuesday when they travel to Odessa to play the Odessa High Broncos. Junior varsity plays starts at 6 p.m., followed by varsity action at 7:30.

By no means is Washington stepping into an ideal situation. He inherits a squad that lost four players, all who were starters. All is not lost though; he also returns six lettermen, two who saw extensive playing time.

Graduation hit the Steers hardest at the perimeter positions. Gone are two junior-college bound guards, Abner Shellman, who's at Howard; and Doug Young, who was a Frank Phillips. Together they averaged 35 of the 71 points the team scored last season, and three-fourths of the assists.

Also lost are Brandon Burnett and Tony Lewis and post player Thane Russey. Burnett and Lewis were defensive specialists and Russey averaged eight points and seven rebounds last year.

Joe Downey, a 6-foot-3 post player, is the lone returning starter. Last year Downey was an honorable-mention all-district selection who averaged seven rebounds and 10 points per game. This year he's the starting tight end on the football team.

Although he didn't start, Louis Soldan played in all 32 games last year. The 6-foot-4 junior post player played solid ball as a junior. He finished the season averaging a five rebounds and seven points per game.

Even with the loss of the outside players, things aren't that bad for Washington. That's because he returns 5-foot-10 seniors Chris Cole and Jason Davis. Cole played in 30 games last year and Davis saw action in 22 games. Davis is the Steer football team's starting wide receiver right now.

There is also two forwards that got limited playing time last year. Six-foot-one senior Junior Lopez and junior Mike Williams, 6-foot-2,

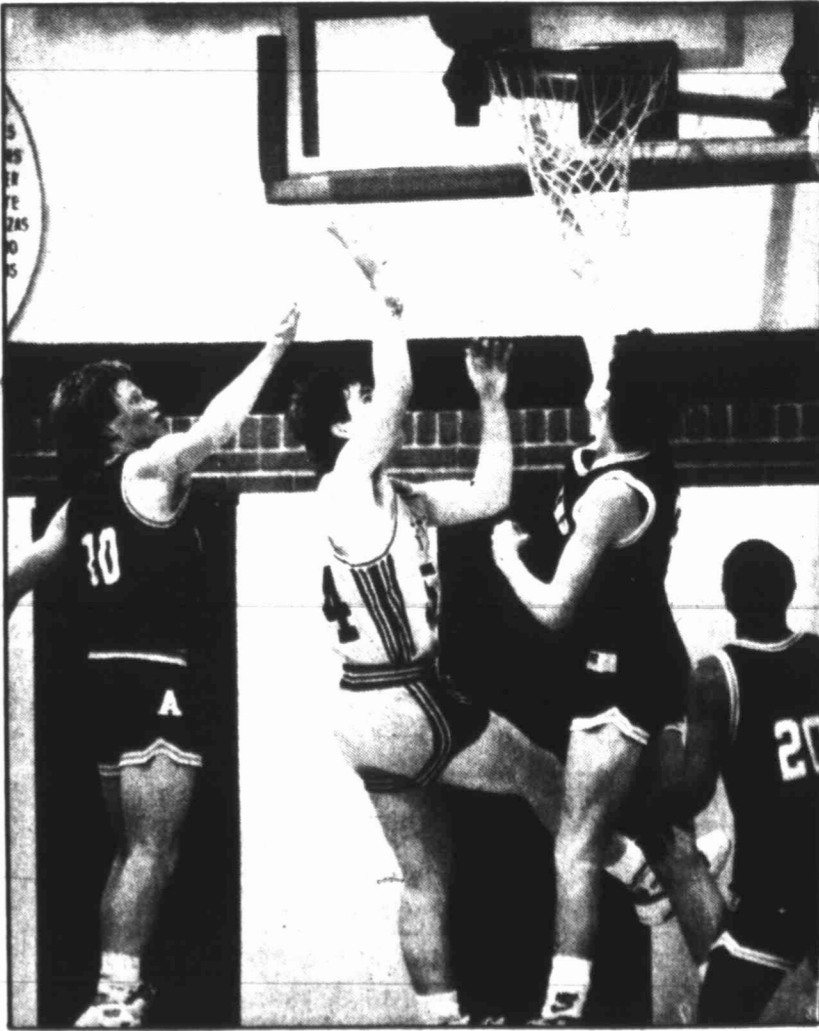

240 pounds, add depth to the squad. "Chris (Cole), Junior (Lopez) and Louis (Soldan) have been the leaders so far. When we get Joe (Downey) and Jason (Davis) it will give us a boost. There are a lot of possibilities. We might get some more kids from football, I don't know. I hear that Pat Chavarria and Neal Mayfield are pretty good players."

Others that can help the program are Darrell Wrightsil, a 5-foot-11 junior wing player, and Lamont Jojola, a 6-foot-1 junior who also plays the position. Another 6-foot-1 player, sophomore Rod White, is a wing player, also.

Washington says the progress of the players is evident. "Darrell Wrightsil is really working hard. He improved his shooting," said Washington. "Mike Williams is a good shooter. He's good on the baseline and he can score inside. If he loses a little weight, get down to 220, he'll be all right."

"Lamont Jojola just needs playing time; he'll be a player before it's over with. He's probably got the best vertical jump of anyone. Rod White doesn't handle himself like a sophomore. The more experience he gets, the better he'll get."

The new Big Spring coach said the two biggest changes he's getting are Steers page 2-B

Big Spring Steers post player Joe Downey (54) goes to the basket in action last year against Andrews. This year, Downey is the lone returning starter coming back for the Steers.

cond quarter before Stallings benched him.

"I don't know who will be the starter now," Stallings said. "But I'd rather have a quarterback controversy and be 5-5 than not have one and be 4-6."

The loss overshadowed the 379-yard passing performance of Aikman, playing for the first time since breaking his left index finger Oct. 1.

Aikman, the No. 1 overall pick of this year's draft, completed 21 of 40 passes before leaving the game with a mild concussion after being leveled by linebacker Anthony Bell on the TD pass to Dixon.

Aikman also threw two interceptions — both by Tim McDonald, who returned one 53 yards for a second-quarter touchdown.

The Cardinals, trailing 13-7 at halftime, took a 17-13 lead on Al Del Greco's 45-yard field goal with 9:14 remaining and Tupa's 38-yard touchdown pass to Jones with 6:25 left.

Del Greco, 14-for-18 this season but 2-for-4 since having his club record-tying string of 10 consecutive field goals broken last week, was wide left on a 44-yarder 5:55 before halftime and had a 41-yard attempt partially blocked by Ed "Too Tall" Jones with 10:05 remaining in the third quarter.

Aikman, 14 of 27 for 229 yards in the first half, hit Kelvin Martin for a 5-yard touchdown pass and 13-7 lead 25 seconds before halftime.

Phoenix had taken a 7-6 lead 4:05 before halftime on McDonald's first TD of his three-year NFL career. He has six of Phoenix's 11 interceptions this season.

Luis Zendejas, signed Tuesday by Dallas after being waived by Philadelphia, kicked a 32-yard field goal with 1:25 left in the first quarter and a 29-yarder 8:35 before halftime after two long drives stalled.

A season-high crowd of 49,657 watched the game at 74,724-seat Sun Devil Stadium in 82-degree weather as the Cardinals swept a season series from Dallas for the first time since 1970.

get used to this kind of ball," he said. "But I think they'll play well. They're beginning to pull together as a team. It's like the old coaching cliché — we won't wait for things to happen, we'll make them happen."

Big Spring has "one of the toughest non-district schedules I've ever seen," the coach said. After playing Central, the Lady Steers will participate this weekend in the Crossroads Classic at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, and will not play a game at Steer Gym until they host Lubbock Dunbar Nov. 28. There will also be a junior college women's tournament going on.

After that, it's back on the road for Big Spring, which will not play another home game until the third game of district competition Dec. 19 against Pecos.

Still, the Lady Steers are ready for the season to begin, Martin said. "We're ready to start playing for real," he said. "We're tired of all this scrimmaging."

The junior varsity will begin action at 6 p.m. Tuesday, followed by the varsity game at 7:30 p.m.

Chadwick beats dad in WTC Classic

SNYDER — In the first father-son confrontation, son won out over father as the Howard College Hawk-Queens defeated the West Texas Dusters 54-52 in a thrilling contest Saturday night in the Western Texas Classic.

Howard coach Royce Chadwick was going against father, and longtime veteran, Kelly Chadwick. In their first meeting, it was a Linda Waters' jump shot that made the difference.

With about 1:30 left in the game, Monique Cook got out of a WTC trap, passed the ball to Kim Robinson, who penetrated the middle; passed off to Waters, who nailed a 15-foot jumper.

Needless to say, the game went down to the wire. With a minutes left, Howard milked time off the clock. The Queens went up for a shot, but had it blocked. WTC retrieved the ball, but its shot was no good with 20 seconds left.

Howard rebounded, and Cook dribbled until the clock ran out.

"If you like college basketball, it was the perfect game to see," said HC's Chadwick. "It had a little bit of everything. It was the most exciting game I've ever been involved in. "It was the first time I have ever coached against my dad, and it was really strange. The fans really got into it. It was a great game for the fans. I'm sure if anybody wanted their money back, Western Texas would probably double it."

The Queens, 6-1 for the season, will host the Crossroads Classic Thursday through Saturday. The loss drops WTC to 6-1.

HOWARD (54) — Boyd 10; Robinson 4; Waters 6; Cook 12; Glaspie 10; Carroll 11; Hedlund 0; Lawson 5; 10;

HALFTIME — Howard 26, Western Texas 25.

SOUTH PLAINS 82, HOWARD 64

The Queens suffered their first loss Friday night, a 82-64 setback to South Plains at the Western Texas Classic.

South Plains forward Cheryl Swoopes had a big night for the Lady Texans, scoring 40 points.

"We were leading by a point and Kim Robinson got into foul trouble and Linda Waters twisted her ankle," said Howard coach Royce Chadwick. "I took those two out the last five minutes, and we started making turnovers. We trailed by eight at the half."

"They pulled away in the second half. Swoopes is the type of player, she can stick a jumper in over you, and you're playing good defense. It's kind of demoralizing. We played pretty good defense on her."

Sophomore Post player Shannon Lawson led Howard with 16 points. Lisa Moore added 11 and Robinson scored 10.

Chadwick praised the play of Moore, a freshman forward, who also grabbed five rebounds.

Mavs off to slow start

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — It's a new season, but things already look sadly familiar to the Dallas Mavericks.

After taking the Los Angeles Lakers to seven games in the Western Conference final two seasons ago, the Mavericks dropped all three games to Los Angeles last season en route to their first losing season since 1982-83.

Dallas lost its fifth straight decision to Lakers Sunday night, 107-98. Their worst start since 1981-82, the franchise's second year, when they went 1-13.

The Mavericks folded early after the Lakers took the lead for good with a 9-0 run in the second quarter.

With the Lakers trailing 34-33, reserve guards Larry Drew and Michael Cooper sparked the spurt as the Lakers took a 42-34 lead with 5:22 remaining in the period. Drew scored five of his 15 points and Cooper added three assists during the run.

James Worthy, who had 15 of his 22 points in the first half, hit a 3-pointer with 5.8 seconds left in the second quarter for a 56-45 halftime lead. Dallas got no closer than eight the rest of the game.

Lakers coach Pat Riley, whose team is off to a league-leading 5-1 start, has his own explanation for the Mavericks' woes.

Dallas' only run at the Lakers came in the first period when Magic Johnson left the game with a strained neck. During his absence, which lasted 3:45, Dallas outscored the Lakers 12-2 and took a 20-19 lead.

Johnson returned to score 13 of his 22 points in the third quarter and made his last seven field-goal attempts in the game.

Buck Williams led the Trail Blazers with 21 points and 12 rebounds, while Terry Porter added 20 points.

NBA Roundup

SuperSonics 108, Timberwolves 97
 Seattle won at Minneapolis as Derrick McKey scored 10 of his 32 points during a decisive 19-4 fourth-quarter spurt.

The Sonics led 78-67 with 2:33 left in the third quarter, but Sam Mitchell scored eight of his career-high 31 points and Tony Campbell added six of his 30 during a 16-2 run that gave the expansion Timberwolves an 83-80 lead.

Dale Ellis' 3-pointer then ignited the 19-4 run, which saw McKey score eight consecutive points in one stretch.

Ellis' 3-pointer with 8:49 left was the first scoring of the fourth quarter for the Sonics, who committed turnovers on their first five possessions.

Names in the news

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Willem Dafoe says he cannot identify with the Greek prizefighter he plays in "Triumph of the Spirit," an Auschwitz survivor who survived the camp by fighting other inmates to death.

He told Model Magazine for its December issue that he met Salamo Arouch, the man the movie is based on, and found him to be different from the character he played.

"The Salamo I know is not the Salamo of our story. To presume there's any way you can understand what people felt (in Auschwitz) is a little ludicrous. I just confronted the action in the story," he said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Talk show star Oprah Winfrey will star in and co-produce a new half-hour ABC series, "Brewster Place," based on her miniseries about black urban life in the late 1960s, ABC said Tuesday.

The network said the new show, to premiere in the spring next year, will begin production in March in Chicago, where she tapes her syndicated talk show. ABC said she will continue that weekday series.

HONG KONG (AP) — Prince Charles and Princess Diana got an extravagant colonial welcome Tuesday as they began their visit to this British territory that has been shaken by the approach of Chinese rule in 1997.

"Burning," said Arouch cried when he returned to the camp in which his family died. The movie was filmed there.

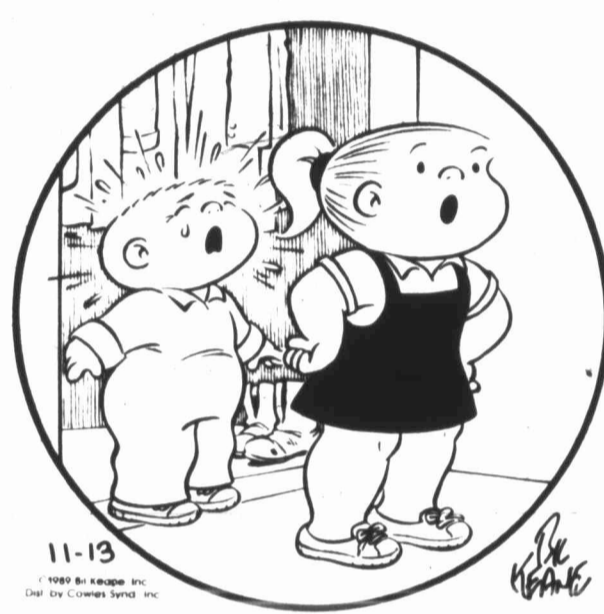

"He told me that when he survived the camps he felt like life was a gift."

Jeanne Dixon's Horoscope

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1989

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Being more aggressive will help land new business. A candid conversation with a co-worker bolsters your spirits. You develop a new strategy to solve a longtime problem.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be on the lookout for bargains. Teamwork eases business pressures, letting you make headway with pet projects. Evening brings greater compatibility with someone close to you. Be tender.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Say what is on your mind if others seek your opinion. A power play could result in a startling change at work. Maintain your neutrality and you could come out on top.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Good luck prevails where property matters are concerned. Your hard work pays off. An attractive new acquaintance is dazzled by your lively personality. Take steps to consolidate recent gains.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Do not mix sentiment with business. Signing a contract is best postponed. Mixed trends indicate that an adviser has hidden motives. Travel gives you a new perspective on romance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Tough business negotiations require a direct approach. Mate or partner is supportive. If single, you may find yourself embarking on an exciting new romance. Dress fashionably tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Romance will have to take a backseat to business today. Feel free to experiment with new methods and procedures. Complete paperwork before leaving the office.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You receive a message today that could change the course of your career. Be true to your responsibilities. This is not a very good day for signing legal papers or contracts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Do not let your personal feelings prevent you from doing what needs to be done. Joint financial problems should soon be resolved. Count on your income increasing in the near future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Valuable business contacts can be made at a meeting today. Learn how to delegate authority and your productivity will rise. Romance looks promising. Consult mate before planning a weekend outing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A fine day for enjoying fringe benefits related to your career. Try to go out to lunch with an old chum. It is possible that someone is having minor regrets about last night.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Do not try to force an issue. Your enterprising spirit will help you obtain financial backing. Visitors from afar are a source of happiness. A personal relationship intensifies.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Your initiative and enthusiasm will make you a winner. Financial worries subside when you hit a lucky streak in January. New alliances, including business partnerships, are favored. Invest more of yourself in work projects and your career will reach new heights. Travel in June. Ponder personal matters in August; you need to terminate a dead-end relationship. Only a permanent commitment will bring the domestic bliss you seek.

Stephen F. Austin QB quietly setting records

NACOGDOCHES (AP) — This hasn't been an easy season for Todd Hammel to get headlines, even as the quarterback was leading Stephen F. Austin State University to its first outright conference football championship in the school's 67-year history.

Over the past three weeks, Hammel has passed for 1,526 yards and 17 touchdowns — enough to finally grab some headlines and the attention of NFL scouts.

Earlier in the season, if it wasn't University of Houston quarterback Andre Ware, it was Texas A&I's record-setting running back Johnny Bailey stealing the spotlight on Texas sports pages.

Saturday, Hammel completed 31 of 45 passes for 571 yards and eight touchdowns as the Lumberjacks defeated Northeast Louisiana, 66-45, in a wild battle that improved SFA's record to 9-1 and clinched the league title.

"This is terrific. This is incredible. I just don't know how to describe it. You dream about having games like this. It's tremendous," Hammel said.

Two weeks earlier, Hammel threw for 421 yards and a school-record six touchdowns. He followed that by passing for 534 yards and three touchdowns a week later.

At the start of the season, there was little interest by the NFL in Hammel. SFA sports information director Robert Hill said.

"But they're becoming interested in him. Let me put it that way," Hill said Sunday.

"Playing professional football has been one of my dreams. I hope they'll give me a chance at it," said the 6-foot-1, 205-pound Hammel, a senior from Durant, Okla.

Overshadowed Saturday was a record-breaking effort by Northeast Louisiana quarterback

Doug Pederson, who threw for even more yards than Hammel. Pederson, a junior, completed a conference-record 46 passes in 72 attempts for 619 yards and five touchdowns.

SFA fans celebrated the league championship Saturday by storming the Homer Bryce Stadium field as the final seconds ticked off the clock, ripping down both sets of goalposts.

The following NCAA Division I-AA records fell:

— Hammel's 404 passing yards in a half (old mark 373);

— Total offense in a half, Hammel's 404 yards (old mark 369);

— Most passing yards in two consecutive games, Hammel's 1,105 yards (old mark 1,098);

— Most passes completed, both teams, 77 (old record 74);

— Most passing yards, both teams, 1,190 yards (old record 933);

— Most points scored in the second quarter, 56 (old record 44);

— Most points scored in the first half, 76 (old record 73).

"I think we've just witnessed one of the best games in Southland Conference history," league commissioner Don Landry said in presenting Lumberjacks coach Lynn Graves with the conference championship trophy.

The game produced 1,328 yards in total offense and 13 touchdown passes. The score was tied 10-10 after one quarter, but SFA outscored Northeast Louisiana 35-21 in the second quarter for a 45-31 halftime lead.

The Lumberjacks' 700 yards of total offense was a conference record.

Hammel's eight touchdowns fell short of the national record of nine by Willie Totten of Mississippi Valley when Jerry Rice, now with the San Francisco 49ers, was a receiver there.

Rams crush Giants, 31-10

By The Associated Press
The San Francisco 49ers and New York Giants went into the weekend on the West Coast tied for the best record in the NFL. Now, two weeks before their showdown at Candlestick Park, they seem miles apart.

The 49ers crushed Atlanta 45-3 Sunday, their biggest rout in two seasons. The Giants crashed in Los Angeles, losing 31-10 to the Rams.

"I think we finally arrived as far as putting all four quarters together and being dominating and executing well," Roger Craig said after running for 109 yards as San Francisco improved to 9-1.

The Giants, meanwhile, ran for a total of six yards on 10 carries.

NFL

Roundup

49ers 45, Falcons 3
Joe Montana threw three touchdown passes, two to Jerry Rice, as San Francisco won its sixth straight game. Montana was 16-for-19 for 270 yards in less than three quarters and Craig reached the 100-yard mark for the first time in nine weeks.

The 49ers held Atlanta 13-7, 0-6 on the road) to a 25-yard field goal by quarterback Chris Miller, who was pressed into service when kicker Paul McFadden was injured in pregame practice.

"I didn't know he was hurt until we called time out. The last time I kicked was some extra points my junior year in high school," said Miller, who made the finals of the NFL's Punt, Pass and Kick competition four times as a youngster.

Rams 31, Giants 10
The Rams were the only team to win its first five games this season. Los Angeles then lost four straight before beating up the Giants.

Jim Everett was 23-for-33 for 295 yards and two touchdowns. He completed 18 straight passes, two short of the NFL record held by Ken Anderson.

Everett threw a 51-yard TD pass to Aaron Cox with 45 seconds left in the first half and, after Dave Meggett fumbled the ensuing kickoff, connected with Willie Anderson on a 21-yard TD just 14 seconds later for a 24-3 lead.

Broncos 16, Chiefs 13
David Treadwell kicked a 26-yard field goal with one second left as Denver won in Kansas City.

The Chiefs, playing without injured Christian Okoye, the NFL's leading rusher, made it 13-13 on Steve Pelluer's 3-yard TD pass to Emile Harry with 5:36 left.

John Elway then drove the Broncos 71 yards in 10 plays. On third-and-8 and the Chiefs' 39, Steve Sewell took a shovel pass and ran to the 9 with four seconds left.

Denver leads the AFC West at 8-2 and the Chiefs are 4-6.

Bears 20, Steelers 0
Chicago won in Pittsburgh for the first time since World War II as the Bears took advantage of six turnovers.

Jim Harbaugh passed for one touchdown and ran for another, helping Chicago convert two mistakes into 13 points in the final 2:07 of the first half.

Kevin Butler kicked two field goals, giving him 12 straight this season and 22 in a row over two seasons. The record is 23, set by Washington's Mark Moseley in 1981-82.

Lemuel Stinson intercepted two passes and William Perry had two sacks and a fumble recovery. Chicago (6-4) was ranked 19th defensively, but gave the Steelers (4-6) their third shutout in 10 games.

The Bears had been 0-4-1 in Pittsburgh since 1944.

Bills 30, Colts 7
Jim Kelly threw three touchdown passes, two to Andre Reed, and Buffalo capitalized on three fumble recoveries in the first quarter.

The host Bills, leading the AFC East at 7-3, got going when James Pruitt fumbled the opening kickoff.

Eric Dickerson fumbled on Indianapolis' next two possessions.

Kelly has 16 TD passes, one more than he had in 16 regular-season games last season. Thurman Thomas ran for 127 yards on 29 carries.

The Colts (4-6) didn't cross midfield until the fourth quarter and had the ball for just 18:46.

Vikings 24, Buccaneers 10
Reggie Rutland returned a fumble 27 yards for a touchdown and Minnesota's defense, ranked No. 1 in the NFL, sacked Vinny Testaverde seven times.

The visiting Vikings opened a 17-0 lead in the first quarter and the NFC Central leaders won for the sixth time in seven games. Tampa Bay lost its fifth straight.

Herschel Walker, facing the Buccaneers for the first time, was held to 48 yards on 18 carries.

Browns 17, Seahawks 7
Bernie Kosar hit Lawyer Tillman with a 17-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter, sending Cleveland to its fourth straight victory.

The AFC Central-leading Browns (7-3) limited Seattle to 180 yards, just 40 on the ground. Cleveland intercepted two passes and the Seahawks fumbled twice, giving them a league-leading 29.

Kosar completed 16 of 27 passes for 173 yards and one touchdown. He was not intercepted.

Seattle is 4-6, including 1-4 at the Kingdome.

Dolphins 31, Jets 23
Dan Marino threw three touchdown passes as Miami won at Giants Stadium for the first time in five years.

The Dolphins trailed 20-3 late in the second quarter before Marino hit Mark Clayton for a 78-yard TD and connected with Scott Schwebes for a 65-yard score in the third period.

Miami is 6-4. The Jets are 2-8, 0-5 at home.

Miami rookie Pete Stoyanovich kicked a 59-yard field goal, the third-longest in NFL history.

Redskins 10, Eagles 3
Washington held Randall Cunningham in check and the banged-up Redskins won in Philadelphia.

The Eagles (6-4) crossed midfield only four times. Cunningham was sacked three times, all by Dexter Manley, and the Redskins (5-5) intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble.

Doug Williams' 24-yard pass on a fourth-and-inches play in the second quarter set up Earnest Byner's 1-yard touchdown run.

The Redskins began the day without offensive linemen Jim Lachey and Mark May, cornerbacks Darrell Green and Barry Wilburn and running back Gerald Riggs, all out with injuries. Offensive tackle Joe Jacoby was hurt in the first quarter and Byner was ejected in the third because of unsportsmanlike conduct.

Chargers 14, Raiders 12
San Diego came back from a 12-0 deficit as Anthony Miller returned a kickoff 91 yards for a touchdown and Tim Spencer atoned for a goal-line fumble with a fourth-quarter touchdown against the Raiders.

Spencer, who fumbled inside the Raiders' 1-yard line earlier in the fourth period, put the Chargers on top with a 5-yard run with 8:48 to play. The touchdown run was set up when the Chargers' Ken Woodard partially blocked Jeff Gossett's punt.

Saints 28, Patriots 24
Dalton Hilliard ran for 106 yards and two touchdowns and New Orleans turned three turnovers into 21 points in the second quarter at New England.

The Saints (5-5) led 28-0 before the Patriots (3-7) scored 10 points before halftime.

New Orleans won its 10th straight game against AFC opponents.

Lions 31, Packers 22
Rodney Peete threw two touchdown passes to Richard Johnson and Detroit's defense set up all its points at the Silverdome.

The Lions (2-8) got just eight first downs to 31 for Green Bay (5-5).

Struggling Oilers meet faltering Cincy Bengals

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers coach Jerry Glanville has fond memories of the Cincinnati Bengals' last visit to the Astrodome. He'd like to see a repeat performance.

The Oilers sent the Bengals home red-faced after a 41-6 victory in the Astrodome last Dec. 8, and Glanville spent last week reminding his team how they beat the Super Bowl-bound Bengals to avenge an earlier rout.

"What we need to do is execute like we did the last time they came to the House of Pain (Astrodome)," Glanville said as his team prepared to host the Bengals tonight. "That was as fine a game as the Oilers have played."

The two teams are 5-4 this season and neither is playing up to the playoff form they demonstrated last season.

Cincinnati has lost three of its last four games and the Oilers have retained the dual personality that has kept their fans guessing the past three years.

"I watched us play Cincinnati last year and we're not as good as we were then and they aren't as good either," Glanville said.

"It's a shock watching us play last year and how good we really should be. We've got to get healthy, get well and reach that peak like we were a year ago."

In each of the past two seasons, the Oilers have reached the playoffs with at least one hot streak. Glanville hopes the same is true this year. The Oilers have won three of their last four.

It took Warren Moon's best performance of the year for the Oilers to get past the Detroit Lions 35-31 eight days ago while the Bengals were losing to the Los Angeles Raiders 28-7 — and losing quarterback Boomer Esiason in the process.

Esiason suffered a bruised lung against the Raiders but he's expected to be ready for the Oilers.

"I guess this is the rubber match," Cincinnati coach Sam Wyche said. "We embarrassed them up here and they embarrassed us down there."

Despite blowouts in their last two meetings, Glanville anticipates a tight game.

"It's a series where the team with the ball last usually has a chance to win the ball game," Glanville said. "Last year, they blew us away and then we blew them away."

"I look for it to go back to that, whoever has the ball last has a chance to win."

Moon is the No. 2 rated passer in the AFC behind Buffalo's Jim Kelly and Esiason is rated No. 3.

Cincinnati's defense has dropped to No. 18 in the NFL.

"We aren't getting pounded, we're just getting beat with the long pass or the one breakaway run and that's something we've got to stop," Wyche said.

Everyone chasing Steffi

NEW YORK (AP) — The past and the future will be chasing the present when the Virginia Slims Championships begins its week-long run tonight.

The past is led by second-seeded Martina Navratilova, a four-time winner of the Madison Square Garden event, who at 33 is closing in on the twilight of her tennis career.

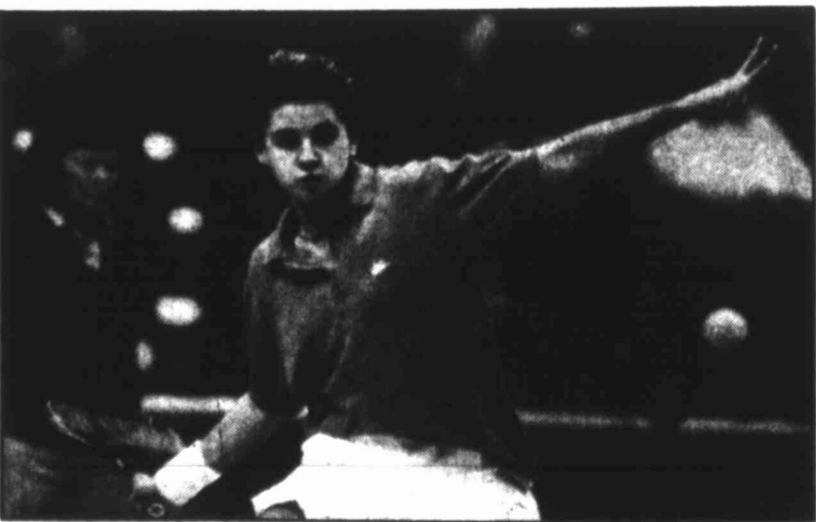

The future is a group of teenagers making their debut in the season-ending Championships: 15-year-old Monica Seles, 17-year-olds Arantxa Sanchez and Conchita Martinez, and 18-year-old Mary Joe Fernandez.

Steffi Graf is the present, although some might also say the future.

Graf, 20, has lost to only three players in the last two years, and two of the three are in this year's 16-player field: Sanchez and Gabriela Sabatini, the 19-year-old defending champion. In last year's Championships, Graf was upset by Pam Shriver, who failed to qualify this year.

Also missing is Chris Evert, who retired from major tournaments after the U.S. Open. Although she qualified, Evert turned down an invitation to play on the indoor courts, a surface she never did like.

Sabatini didn't play Graf on her road to last year's victory, and she's looking forward to facing her doubles partner across the net.

"I'm hoping to play her in this tournament," Sabatini said. "Last year here I was playing the best tennis of my career, and I think I would have beaten her then if we had played."

The future takes center stage tonight when Seles, the No. 6 seed, takes on Martinez. Then Sabatini, seeded third, plays another newcomer, Gretchen Magers, and Sanchez, the fourth seed, meets Catarina Lindqvist of Sweden.

Graf will open up against Czechoslovakia's Jana Novotna, who is making her Championships debut. Also in the top bracket are Zina Garrison, who will battle Canada's Helen Kelesi, 19, and Raffaella Reggi of Italy, whose first-round opponent is Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia.

In the bottom half of the draw, Navratilova's first-round opponent is Fernandez, while Hana Mandlikova, now based in Australia, is scheduled to face Bulgaria's Manuela Maleeva.

Chang takes no prisoners

WEMBLEY, England (AP) — Michael Chang didn't get his wish. He made Guy Forget pay for it.

Chang wanted badly to play John McEnroe, but instead found himself opposing unseeded Forget in the final of the $440,000 Wembley indoor championship Sunday.

He gave the Frenchman no mercy, winning 6-2, 6-1, 6-1 in 90 minutes for the third title of his career and his first since he became the youngest male champion of a Grand Slam tournament by winning the French Open in June.

"I know I'll play McEnroe again sometime," said Chang, 17, who has lost his three meetings with the 30-year-old former No. 1 player.

Forget, ranked 89th in the world, beat McEnroe, the top seed, in the semifinals. Chang did not want to go the same way as his fellow American.

Chang, who earned $80,000 for the victory, was asked how it felt waiting for his first title since making tennis history in Paris.

"I'm not to the point where I can win every or every other tournament," Chang said. "I'm not good enough for that."

He was certainly far too good for Forget, who has only been back on the tour since September following a five-month layoff due to injury.
