FBI Pushes Gun Angle In Disaster

CONCORD, Calif. (AP) — Reliable sources said Saturday that Frank Gonzales, 27, yachtsman competitor for the Philippines in the 1960 Olympics, owned the gun which triggered the Pacific Airlines crash Thursday. He was among the 44 persons killed.

The Civil Aeronautics Board made public Saturday the tape recording of the last message radioed from the plane in which a voice, presumably that of the pilot, said: "I've been shot. I've been shot. Oh my God. Help."

A reliable source told The Associated Press in San Francisco that Gonzales gambled and lost at Reno and carried around $100,000 in air trip life insurance made out to his wife of two years.

A brother, James, said Frank Gonzales had become estranged from his wife two months ago.

OWNER
The New York Herald Tribune and the Los Angeles Times both published reports that Gonzales had been identified as the owner of the .357 Smith and Wesson magnum pistol found in the plane wreckage. All six cartridges were spent, indicating they had been fired recently.

FBI national headquarters in Washington would neither confirm nor deny the report that Gonzales had been established as owner of the weapon.

But sources previously had said a male passenger was the gunman, that he carried heavy air trip insurance, and that apparently he had shot at least one member of the crew.

Gonzales' brother said Frank had a penchant for gambling and had gone to Reno several times previously, always without any word of it to his family, but his previous trips were by car.

"I never knew what he was doing," the brother, James, said, adding that Frank kept to himself.

He said Frank became separated recently from his wife, a legal secretary with the U.S. government. They have a small son.

Frank Gonzales settled on San Francisco as his adopted home while on his way back to the Philippines after taking part in the yachting Olympics at Naples four years ago.

Yet to be made known is whether the co-pilot also was shot.

SECRECY
The FBI's unusual weekend activity was carried out in great secrecy. A spokesman explained:

"This is still a pending investigation. While there still are angles to be cleared we do not talk."

The same secrecy was dropped over others who might be able to say what happened on the Reno to San Francisco flight of a Pacific Airlines two-engine turboprop plane.

Ray Prock, a railroad switchman who was with his wife on the ill-fated flight from Reno but got off at Stockton, Calif., declined to answer questions at his nearby Tracy home on whether he saw any passenger acting strangely. Prock said he had been contacted by the FBI.

INTO HILL
Only a few minutes after Prock and his wife left the plane, the F27 Fairchild dived into a low hill near Concord—40 miles to the east across the bay from San Francisco—with such shattering force that bodies were shredded.

Capt. H. G. Bingham, piloting a United Air Lines plane in the area, reporting hearing a garbled radio message and of seeing later smoke rising from a hill. His company said Bingham was under instructions to say nothing further about the case.

Informed sources in Washington and sheriff and coroner reports at Concord put these points in focus:

A recording taped at a reception center of the last message from the pilot, Clark, showed that he cried out something like "My God, I've been shot! I've been shot!"

Then there was a scream. This scream could have come from the copilot, Ray Andress Jr.

Something then stopped one of the plane's two engines. Ground witnesses of the tragedy said one propeller was motionless and the other engine was making a terrific noise, as if struggling.

Diem's Brother Falls Before Firing Squad

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Vietnamese blindfolded Ngo Dinh Can with a black silk scarf Saturday, strapped him to a post in a prison soccer field and executed him with a volley from a 10-man firing squad. The squad used U.S.-made M12 carbines.

American appeals for clemency failed to save the diabetic, 53-year-old younger brother of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem. Can was the last important member of that Mandarin family in Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declined comment on the execution.

WITNESSES
Two hundred persons — officials and newsmen — witnessed the carrying out of the death sentence imposed on Can April 22 by a nine-man revolutionary court that convicted him on charges of murder, extortion and misuse of power as a former overlord of Central Viet Nam.

Can's body crumpled and hung limply at the impact of the bullets. Blood spilled across his black coat and white silk pantaloons before the coup de grace—a final shot in the head—was carried out by an officer. The time was 6:22 p.m., an hour and 22 minutes behind the schedule set by Premier Gen. Nguyen Khanh's government.

STRONGHOLD
About five hours earlier the chief of Can's secret police, Phan Quang Dong, was executed by a firing squad in a stadium at Hue. Can's old stronghold 400 miles north of Saigon, Dong, 36, had been sentenced March 28 on charges similar to those against Can. A silent crowd of 8,000 watched.

Can, like other members of the once powerful family, was a Roman Catholic. An official of Saigon's Chi Hoa Prison said Can received last rites in his third floor cell, where he had a wooden crucifix. Two priests accompanied him to the execution.

The victim of a recent heart attack as well as diabetes, Can was reported to have paled and stiffened in his cell when he was notified he had less than an hour to live. But a military spokesman said he responded, after a few moments of silence: "I accept that."

ON STRETCHER
Prison guards bore him on a stretcher to the field, then lifted him up and half-carried him across the muddy grass to the execution post.

The priests walked beside him and one, in a white pith helmet and white cloak over his black robes, talked with Can as he was strapped to the post and blindfolded.

Can requested that the blindfold be removed but this was refused, said a spokesman for the ruling military junta.

Court sources said Can was originally condemned to die on the guillotine, but the revolutionary tribunal which sentenced him finally decided he should be shot.

Under old Vietnamese customs, prisoners sentenced to death were executed on one of three ways, by beheading, garroting or tramping by elephants.

Beheading was considered the worst of the three. Many Vietnamese believe in ancestor worship and a headless ancestor is considered the worst of ignominy.

Washington (AP) — Hoping to widen the cracks in the once-solid Soviet bloc, the United States agreed Saturday to hold economic and political discussions with Communist Romania.

Indicating the significance which U.S. strategists attach to the talks starting in Washington on May 18, the State Department announced a top negotiator, Undersecretary W. Averell Harriman, will head the U. S. delegation.

Leading the Romanian team will be Gheorghe Gaston-Marin, vice chairman of Romania's Council of Ministers and chairman of its State Planning Committee.

Expanding U.S. — Romanian trade is to be the main formal discussion topic. The Romanians are especially interested in getting plants to extract products from oil, such as synthetic rubber, and intend to visit some U. S. plants after about two weeks in Washington.

Storm-Hit Town Begins Rebuilding

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—Grim and weary, hundreds of them homeless, residents of Chesterfield Township on Saturday mourned their dead, tended their injured and started to rebuild their tornado-shattered community.

The deadly twister that smashed this once-peaceful scene of homes, cottages and boatwells off Lake St. Clair's Anchor Bay in southeastern Michigan claimed nine lives Friday night.

HUNDREDS HURT
Hundreds of persons, many of them children, were injured. Damage was estimated officially between $4 and $5 million.

With 1,000 people homeless, Gov. George W. Romney led a damage survey on the results of which he was prepared to ask President Johnson for federal disaster aid.

Romney and federal representatives arranged to fly over the stricken district for an assessment of the full loss and report to Washington.

TO REBUILD
The governor, leaving his Republican party's Michigan state met with trade union men and others. They set up an "Operation Bulldozer" program to rebuild the devastated area.

As Macomb County and Mount Clemens city officials took precautions to keep the community safe from other harm in the destruction's aftermath residents gave thanks they still lived.

Coincidences played a role. "We can thank God we are alive," said Mrs. Louis T. James. The home of Mrs. James and her husband, a retired tool and die worker, was one of the 150 listed officially by state police as destroyed.

LEFT HOUSE
Just a few minutes before the tornado's black funnel swooped in, the James couple had gone to a card party at the home of friends out of the twister's path.

A home near that of Gina Mathews, 39, mother of two sons, was obliterated. "It exploded with a flashing light," she said. "Just 'boom' and it was gone."

A day-long search of ruins by National Guardsmen and others found no more victims. At noon police said there were no reports of missing persons.

Flight Delayed
HONOLULU (AP)—Joan Merriam has delayed until Sunday her departure on the final leg of her solo world-circling flight.

Headwinds up to 26 knots were reported Saturday between here and Oakland, Calif., from where she started her venture in mid-March.

President Zips Through Gotham

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson wound up a whirlwind tour of the New York area Saturday with a scorching blast at "bigotry and hate."

Johnson said President John F. Kennedy, assassinated last November, was "a victim of hate that was part of our country."

The President said he would like every American to ask himself on going to bed at night: "What have I done to banish fear and hate from myself today?"

Johnson delivered his attack on hate in dedicating a Kennedy Cultural, Civil and Educational Center that will be built by nearby Nassau County on the site of the old Mitchell Air Force Base.

NEWS MEET
The President earlier had breezed at a fast clip through a round of activities at the New York World's Fair and managed to jam a surprise news conference into his schedule.

He made a point of advocating in the North, as he had recently in the South, his civil rights and war-on-poverty programs. He also criticized opposition by doctors to his medicare program.

Thousands of well-wishers turned out to greet Johnson along his routes, and he managed to find time to shake hands with hundreds.

The day started with light Johnson banter about beagle hounds, but the mood changed sharply at the Kennedy memorial site as he attacked hate and those who "fling poisoned mud."

DISEASE
Johnson called hate a disease which afflicts the few and reaches the many.

The news conference, in an ultrahumid auditorium of the American Pavilion at the New York World's Fair, provided no major pronouncements. But it did establish, if only indirectly, two major points which had been in much doubt anyway:

1. Johnson is ready and eager to seek election to a four-year term in November.

2. And he's going to cover a lot of ground, geographically, in the process.

When a reporter suggested Johnson would rehearse Saturday night in Atlantic City, N.J., an August address accepting the Democratic nomination, Johnson replied: "I've had a high regard for your political prophecies through the years."

Johnson flew to New York in midmorning and addressed the 50th birthday meeting of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, AFL-CIO.

UNION MEETING
Johnson, in an off-the-cuff addition to his prepared speech, chided the nation's doctors for opposing his medicare proposals.

He said medicare would help doctors by making it easier for old folks to pay their medical bills.

Johnson's speech at Atlantic City, N.J., for a Democratic fund-raising dinner was in the same Convention Hall where the party is expected to nominate him in August to head its national ticket.

Rusk Says Idea Of Full Sovereignty Outmoded

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Saturday absolute national sovereignty in the nuclear age is an outmoded concept unable any longer to protect the free world's vital interests.

Rusk gave Western Europeans this message:

"Without mentioning French President Charles de Gaulle by name, Rusk gave Washington's answer to De Gaulle's demand for a louder and fully independent voice in world affairs.

Departing from the prepared text of a lengthy foreign policy speech at a luncheon meeting of Belgian-American associations, Rusk said Americans "simply cannot understand the revival of the notion of absolute independence in dealing with affairs within the free world."

Americans, he added, had little of it themselves nowadays with their freedom of action "rigorously circumscribed" by various commitments. These include a commitment to defend France against attack and to consult Paris on affairs within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization area.

Rusk gave Western Europeans this message:

Unity is succeeding and should be increased. The question is not whether Europe and America should work together, but how to do it better.

Thus Rusk set the stage for next week's meeting of foreign ministers in The Hague, which will take up NATO's future development in the light of De Gaulle's position.

Rusk advocated further political, economic and military cooperation within Europe itself and toward partnership between the United States and a united Europe.

Braille Watches Given In Aid To Latin-Americans

Zale Jewelry Company, in an effort to encourage private enterprise to support the aims and purpose of the Alliance For Progress, recently presented 500 Braille watches to the National Organization of American States and another 100 watches to the Department of State.

This special contribution was over and above the company's standing program of providing nearly 2,500 watches to blind persons in the United States, Latin America and Israel.

The ceremony was held at the Pan American Union in Washington, D.C. Making the presentation was Morris B. Zale, chairman of the board.

Acknowledging the gift on behalf of the OAS was Dr. Jose A. Mora, secretary general of the OAS.

In his remarks of acceptance, Dr. Mora said: "This gift is a symbol of the spirit of self-help and mutual help which is the underlying principle of the Alliance For Progress. It is significant that these 500 Braille watches represent a gift of private enterprise, whose participation is of such vital importance to the success of the Alliance."

Another ceremony marked the donation of 100 watches to the U.S. Department of State for use by members of the Peace Corps in Latin America.

Accepting these watches was Ambassador Ben Stephansky, deputy undersecretary of state for Latin America affairs and former U.S. Ambassador to Bolivia.

Catholics To Take Census

Members of Catholic churches in this area, under the direction of their pastors and parish chairmen, are planning to take a census from 2 to 6 p.m. Sunday, May 17.

Residents were asked to be at home, if possible, during these hours. The census is being taken in each of the 34 counties that constitute the Diocese of San Angelo.

Bishop Thomas J. Drury, spiritual head of the Diocese, stressing the importance of kindness and courtesy to census workers, asked those of the Catholic faith to assist similar church groups, if and when they take a census. The workers will visit homes in pairs with one person to ask the questions and the other to write down the answers. The census should be completed during the four hours.

Baruch's Papers

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Princeton University announced Saturday that Bernard M. Baruch, 93-year-old financier and presidential advisor, has presented his papers to the university.

Services Held For Mr. Smith

Services were held for Ralph Smith, 42, of 1404 Austin, at 2 p.m. Friday in the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home chapel. The Rev. James Puckett, pastor of Baptist Temple Church, officiated and burial was in city cemetery.

Mr. Smith, a farmer, died at a local hospital early Thursday after a brief illness.

He is survived by his widow; a daughter, Calessa Kay Smith, Big Spring; his mother, Mrs. Leona Smith, Big Spring; and a sister, Mrs. Charles L. Muse, San Angelo.

April Figures Indicate Heavy Summer Demand

A forecast of a heavy summer demand is shown in April water production figures of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Deliveries to the member cities and to the oil companies' waterflood projects were up sharply. Total metered to district customers during April was 993,144,000 gallons, or 21 per cent up from a year ago. Through the first four months, the district has delivered 3,227,446,000 gallons, a gain of 16.9 per cent.

The member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder took 748,251,000 gallons, a 13.94 per cent gain for the month. Odessa required 424,790,000 gallons, a gain of 10.7; Big Spring 249,006,000, up 13.2 per cent; Snyder (which is now furnishing the Rotan water district) 74,485,000, up 40.9 per cent.

Oil companies drew 244,863,000 gallons during the month, an increase of 54.46 over April a year ago. Of the 86,341,000 gallons gain, 72,095,000 was to Sun Oil Company, which was not a customer a year ago. However, SACROC, the major user, was shut down during part of April for bottomhole pressure tests and thus used less than normal.

All of the district's facilities are in top condition and are ready to meet summer demands, said O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager. In addition, the district stockpiled about 160,000,000 gallons of Lake Thomas water in the de-watered zone of its Martin County field, and this will be used in meeting Odessa's peak demands.

Shade Toppers Solve Problems

An inexpensive and practical way to solve window decorating problems is with a shade topper, suggests the National Cotton Council. Decorative valances that can be ordered in the same cloth as cotton window shades. They give windows a finished look without costly draperies or cornices.

The shade toppers are available in prints or solids to match or contrast with your window shades, and can be ordered with straight or scalloped hems and a variety of decorative trims. Easy to install, they slip over a standard curtain rod and completely hide shade rollers and metal brackets.

GEN. H. K. MOONEY VISITS MRS. RILLA WEBB Webb AFB was named for her late officer-son

Military-Civilian Teamwork Cited

Military strength not only has its tangible result in the prevention of war but it yields benefits to the commercial and scientific communities as well, Maj. Gen. Henry K. Mooney, vice commander of the Air Training Command, declared here Friday.

Addressing the base-community luncheon on the eve of Armed Forces Day, Gen. Mooney reiterated that the principal task of the military is to be so strong as to deter any aggressor because "weakness, not strength, invites war in a world which is still only beginning to see the possibility of rule by law."

PRaises COMMUNITY
Gen. Mooney had lavish praise to heap on the base-community relations here, asserting that it was abundantly clear that "your motives are more patriotic and economic." The spirit of civilian and military cooperativeness may be reflected in the fact that four of the seven who served as commanders in the past became generals here or immediately after leaving Webb.

Col. A. F. Tautz Jr., base commander, reminded that the foremost objective of the base was to become the best pilot training base in the ATC.

An honor guest at the luncheon attended by more than 100 in the Officers Open Mess was Mrs. Rilla Webb, mother of the late Lt. James L. Webb, for whom the base is named. Chaplain Benjamin Meacham worded the invocation for the occasion.

MOVES-MESSAGE
Gen. Mooney recalled that during the Cuban Crisis, "each military move was in effect a carefully formulated message from the President to Khrushchev intended to convince him that the United States would use military force to the extent necessary to achieve removal of the offensive weapons. But each move was also intended to convince him that he could withdraw without armed conflict if he would withdraw."

Played-up reports, inter-service rivalry and bickering have obscured the real story of inter-service cooperation, he declared. Cooperation, and not fighting, is the rule. He cited merged commands in Europe under an Army general, in the Pacific under an admiral, in Alaska and the NORAD under Air Force generals.

He disputed claims of duplication in aerospace development, adding that there was complete agreement on common goals. The Air Force has been given some highly responsible assignments, he noted.

ECONOMIC BENEFITS
Military operations are not costly negative deterrents, but they are often economically productive, he said. For instance, the military (Lewis and Clark) explored and opened up the Northwest Territory; the military pioneered flight; the military built the Panama Canal; the military made the first assault on space by balloon in 1935; the military made the first aerial Arctic exploration in 1925; the military led the conquest of yellow fever.

And more recently, the military teamed with private commerce in the launching of Telstar.

"While carrying out its role as an instrument of national policy," he declared, "the military through sheer necessity, has become irrevocably linked with the scientific and engineering community. The concentration of military demand led to Eli Whitney's development of the assembly line technique of production which is so vital to our modern economy."

Water Demands Gain In April
Water usage in Big Spring increased sharply with the advent of warmer weather in April with 249,006,000 gallons metered. The city sold 175,914,000 gallons in January, 150,909,000 gallons in February, 186,565,000 gallons in March. These figures include water sold for all types of use, residential and industrial, and water sold to Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

The highest amount filtered through the city plant in any one day was 7,874,000 gallons on April 21 during one of the warmest days of the year. The lowest single-day total treated at the filter plant was 2,501,000 gallons on Jan. 12.

Second Enrollment Due For Texas 65 Insurance
H. Lewis Rietz, Houston, president of the Texas 65 Health Insurance Association, has announced that the executive committee of the voluntary health insurance association has authorized an additional open enrollment period for Texans 65 years of age and past.

The dates for the next open enrollment are expected to be announced within the next 10 days, Rietz stated. The service will be available from any licensed insurance agent.

Benefits of the program are underwritten by 84 insurance companies doing business in Texas. The unique health insurance program offers three plans of voluntary health insurance for the senior citizen.

State Farmers Kept Busy But General Rains Still Needed

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas farmers were busy during the week except in areas where showers fell or dry soils further delayed work.

The eastern two-thirds of the state was the most favored by rains. Dry weather and high winds in Northwest, West and South Texas held on, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Rains which started Tuesday night offered some promise of relief in affected areas but Hutchison said general rains are needed for surface and subsoil moisture. Livestock, he added, are still being fed in the drier areas.

District agricultural agents in midweek summaries have varied reports.

PANHANDLE
Moisture is short over the entire Panhandle. High winds depleted moisture. Some dry land wheat is being grazed and plowed out. Ranges are below average.

Rain is badly needed on ranges and dryland farming areas on the South Plains. Livestock feeding is continuing. About 10 per cent of the cotton in the southern counties is planted and some irrigated cotton is up. Dryland wheat is being abandoned but irrigated wheat is heading and in good shape. An estimated 20 per cent of the area's grain sorghum has been planted. Some is up. In one county the crop was blown out.

Only three of the 22 Rolling Plains counties have adequate moisture. Rain is needed badly. Wheat is in the full-head stage and needs rain. Hail caused damage in a few counties. Several counties have good stands of cotton and sorghum. Stock water shortage is a problem.

BETTER PROSPECTS
Rains in North Central Texas improved crop prospects and ranges. Wheat is looking good but armyworms are a using grain. Some cotton and grain is yet to be planted. Early crops look good. Some early cotton is being treated for insects. Corn planting is about complete.

Most northeast counties have adequate moisture. Heavy rains have damaged young cotton. Some oats are being baled for hay. Pastures improved. The situation is quite different now. The commercial storage industry has vastly expanded its facilities. Where it was able to store about 1.5 billion bushels in the early 1950s, it now is able to house nearly 5 billion bushels. But much of this commercial space is going unused, as also is the case with some of the government bins.

The question of the department getting out of the storage business was raised at a recent meeting of representatives of the storage industry and department officials. Much resistance to a change in government policy was raised by the department's State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee officials.

Legislation is pending in Congress which would direct the department to relinquish its storage operations to farmers and the private storage industry.

The question of government storage of grain bobbed up as a prime farm issue in the 1948 presidential election. A Republican-controlled Congress had ordered the department to dispose of its storage facilities. But at harvest time in 1948, claims were made that there was not sufficient grain storage space and as a consequence farmers were unable to get price supports on their corn. Price supports are provided only on grain stored in acceptable facilities.

President Harry S. Truman made the storage question a big issue in the corn belt. Political leaders attributed his surprise victory over Republican nominee Thomas E. Dewey to this issue.

Subsequently, the bar against the government building storage facilities was lifted and new and expanded facilities were erected.

But, now that government programs and record exports have accomplished a reduction in total grain supplies, the industry wants the government to dispose of its facilities. It is not the intent of Congress for government storage and merchandising operations to supply those places the grain in nearby commercial facilities if they are available. If none is available, the grain goes into government bins for storage and merchandising of grain.

At present, the government has about 437 million bushels of grain, mostly corn, stored in its 963-million-bushel capacity system. It has 1,813 million bushels stored in commercial facilities.

One of the chief complaints against the government's operations is that it often deprives country elevators of grain business they need to survive. The government sells corn from its bins to farmers, often at prices the private elevator cannot meet.

But the department says it has run its storage operations to the benefit of commercial concerns. When it takes over surplus corn from growers under price supports, the department places the grain in nearby commercial facilities if they are available. If none is available, the grain goes into government bins for storage and merchandising of grain.

good. Some fields are being baled for hay. Corn and sorghum are making excellent growth; cotton is planted; fruit prospects are good.

PLENTY FORAGE
Moisture is adequate in East Texas and ranges have plenty of forage. Livestock were in good shape.

In Southeast Texas and the upper Gulf Coast crops are making good growth and hay harvesting is in full swing. Cotton farmers are busy controlling aphids, thrips, weeds and grass.

A rain would be welcomed in able facilities.

Washington (AP)—Now that feed grain surpluses have been reduced somewhat, a new controversy has arisen over whether the government should continue to compete with private concerns in the storage of grains.

The Agriculture Department has built over the years storage bins with a total capacity of 963 million bushels of grain. These bins are located for the most part in the Midwestern grain-producing areas. They were set up years back when grain production exceeded demand and commercial storage was unable to handle the surplus.

Choral Group Hit For Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—A Texas choral group is singing its way about the World's Fair, capturing the attention of New Yorkers.

The 125 girls who make up the "Choralettes" of Houston's Lamar High School have given a number of concerts around the fair grounds to appreciative audiences.

Their main program Friday, for example, was on the front steps of the Texas Music Hall before about 300 persons.

Then the girls toured the Texas Pavilion and attended a musical comedy.

The "Choralettes" presented an LBJ hat to Mayor Robert Wagner, and serenaded him with "The Eyes of Texas." The hat was from Gov. John Connally of Texas.

"Glaucoma cannot be cured, but if detected early and properly treated, it can be arrested and blindness prevented", according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

"Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision with an annual, professional eye examination by a Doctor of Optometry", advises Dr. S. J. Rogers of Texas State Optical.

Connally Gets Travis' Nod

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally's supporters took control of the Travis County Democratic convention Saturday after negotiations eased threat of an open debate on party control between Connally and Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Both Connally and Yarborough attended and were introduced for standing ovations. Neither made a speech to the crowd of about 1,000.

The test case when Will Davis was nominated for permanent chairman as "a Lyndon Johnson-John Connally Democrat" who believes "the governor should be leader of the party in Texas."

Roy Evans, secretary treasurer of the Texas AFL-CIO, nominated John Faulk to oppose Davis, with the assertion that Evans had heard Davis would conduct "an expedition, but not necessarily democratic, convention."

Faulk is a former New Yorker who became known when he won a $3 million libel suit recently, in which he alleged he was blacklisted with radio and television employers.

After the series of nominating speeches, Faulk withdrew his nomination, saying he felt unity was more important because "The eyes of the world are on Texas today—the home of Lyndon Johnson, who needs our help this fall."

Davis was then elected by an apparently unanimous voice vote.

"Statistics will bear out that most early teenage pregnancies are results of Jr. High School dances." "Emotions are stirred up in these dances that the young people do not know how to deal with."

These statements did not come from preachers or church leaders. They were made by speakers at the assembly in Iowa, called to study the problem of premarital pregnancies among American high school students. These speakers were specialists in the field of mental health, family relations, etc.

Such testimonies as these (and they are plentiful) show that dancing is lasciviousness. Lasciviousness is defined as

Junior College Choir Slates Music Festival

May 16 and 18th, the Howard County Junior College Choir, under the direction of Ira Schantz, will present its third annual "Festival of Light Music" at 8:15 p.m. each day in the college auditorium. This concert will consist of better-known tunes from musical comedy, Broadway and folk music, and will be presented in the "Fred Waring manner" — special stage action, lighting and costuming, and will be patterned on the first two festivals which the department gave in 1962 and 1963.

The program will be divided into two sections. Part I will present the choir in such numbers as "It's a Grand Night for Singing" from "State Fair," "Once Upon a Time" from "All American" and "You'll Never Walk Alone" from "Carousel." In addition, there will be solos by baritone guest artist Hubert Murphy, and Bill Anderson, one of the regular members of the choir.

A sextet, consisting of Charlotte Anders ("Miss Big Spring" this year), Sylvia Peay, Reba Fields, Janice Winans, Bill Anderson and Clinton Gambill will do a medley from "West Side Story," the musical play and movie, the score of which was composed by Leonard Bernstein.

A special feature will be the premier performance of a number composed by one of the choir members, Bob Harrison, and Schantz. "Soft Winds Blow" is in the "pops" style, but is intended to be in the "mood" category and will feature soprano guest artist, Joyce Bradley, as soloist with the choir, providing choral background.

"You'll Never Walk Alone" will feature a two-piano accompaniment played by Jack Hendrix and Harlan Thornton, Thornton, instructor of French and Russian at HCJC, is a former member of the college choir.

Part II will feature choruses, solos and duets in a Latin American vein. Beginning this section will be a two-piano composition, "Jamaican Rumba," played by Hendrix and Connie Randel, followed by numbers such as "South of the Border" and "Vaya Con Dios." A feature of this section will be a dance, "A South of the Border Saraband" by Carol Childlaw. Bill Anderson will sing "El Matador," accompanied by Bob Harrison on the guitar. Harrison will also be featured in "La Cucaracha" with the choir. Guest artists Mrs. Bradley and Murphy will team together to present Cole Porter's "Begin the Beguine," and the concert will close with the choir singing "El Sombrero" from the Broadway musical, "Wildcat."

Hendrix, head of the HCJC music department, will be pianist for the concert. Tickets, which may be obtained at the door on each night of the concert, will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and children. All proceeds will go to the Music Scholarship Fund. HCJC students will be admitted on their activity tickets.

The members of the HCJC Choir are:

Charlotte Anders, Peggy Greenfield, Bill Anderson, Bob Harrison, George Bailey, Charles Lee, Billy Blankinship, Madaleen Miller, Carol Branch, Carolyn Morris, Carol Childlaw, Sylvia Peay, Kaye Clark, June Ritchey, Sally Davis, Gienna Smith, Jerry Dean, Jo Beth Wasson, Reba Fields, Janice Winans and Clinton Gambill.

C-C Directors

Chamber of Commerce directors will meet Monday noon for their monthly session at the Settles Hotel. Among reports to be received will be those from the industrial group which attended the seminar in Austin. Other key committee actions and recommendations will be up for consideration.

Mitchell's Demos Back Gov. Connally

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County Democrats at their county convention Saturday went on record as supporting Gov. Connally down the line—both as to his state program and as to his plans as head of the party delegation to the national convention. The convention also endorsed Lyndon B. Johnson as the candidate of the party for election as President.

Charles C. Thompson, a Colorado City banker, was named as chairman of the convention and will head up the county delegation of eight when it goes to the state convention.

Other delegates are Otto Jones, Dr. Jene Steakley, John Worrell, Jack Hale, Austin McClelland, Mrs. R. H. Ratliff Jr. and County Judge Elmer Martin. Eight alternate delegates were also named.

Twenty-seven attended the meeting.

The Republicans, on the same date in their county convention, elected Bob Robinson and Bob Butler as delegates to the Dallas Republican convention June 16.

The group endorsed Barry Goldwater as the presidential candidate of the party. It also endorsed Jack Cox for governor but pledged itself to support which ever Republican wins the runoff primary on June 6.

The county convention demanded more Republican polling places in future elections and will seek to find locations for such voting places in public buildings.

The convention went on record as condemning the pledge which was printed on both party ballots in the primary election.

It also declared its opposition to the practice of only Democratic office holders being given opportunities as speakers at public events and will work to have members of the Republican party presented on such occasions.

Texture Interest Revives Pucker

Interest in texture has brought about a revival of puckered fabrics in spring and summer fashions, according to the National Cotton Council.

Especially noteworthy are cotton gingham puckered all over with elastic stitching for an interesting honeycomb texture. Some designers combine puckered and non-puckered versions of the same fabric for one ensemble.

Lawson, who has been in the fields of their choosing, but must continue playing in the Symphony.

Lawson has made the all-state band three years, and James made the all-state orchestra two years.

Subcommittee Finishes Columbus Bend Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Interior subcommittee completed hearings Friday on a bill to authorize building a $25.5 million dollar Columbus Bend Dam in the Lower Colorado River in Texas. Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex., chairman, gave no indication when the subcommittee would vote on the bill.

Water impounded by the 76-foot high dam would be used for city and industrial purposes.

Witnesses whose land would be inundated opposed the bill.

Rep. Clark Thompson, D-Tex., sponsor of the bill, expressed sympathy but said he backed the project because of the overall good it would do the state.

R. M. Dixon, Austin water consultant, said: "This project won't stand a complete examination. Maybe that helps explain the need to rush it through—to tell nothing that is not delved into by questioning—and to keep the spotlight on the area where the public is completely sold: More water whether it is needed or not."

ROLL 'ER OUT!
Texas' first diesel fire truck

Stations Set, Men Hired, Truck Due For Opening

Plans for putting two new fire stations in operation neared completion last week with an inspection of the stations by City Commissioners, Mayor George J. Zachariah and City Manager Larry Crow.

Crow said the group toured both stations with the contractor, Jim Bill Little, and the architect, John Gary, and found everything to their satisfaction.

Both buildings were constructed according to identical specifications with concrete and masonry materials and brick facings. Each structure is one-story, and has complete dining and sleeping facilities for fire crews in addition to room for two trucks. The cost per building was $38,721.

Tentative plans call for trucks to be sent to the buildings and crews to be assigned at the new stations on May 15—just one day after the second new diesel truck is due to arrive.

Station No. 5, 1903 Wasson Road, will receive a 750 gallon pumper unit from the Central Station. The main station also will send a 750 gallon booster truck to Station No. 6, 2906 W. 13th.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker already has announced the assignment of new lieutenants to both stations. Howard Dodd and Pete Anderson will be in charge of crews at Station 5. Station 6 chiefs will be O. L. Stewart and B. F. Lopez.

Duty assignments for hosemen and drivers have not been announced, but Crocker said the drivers at each station will be veteran employees. The hosemen may have lesser experience.

Although neither of the new diesel trucks will be assigned to the new stations, their arrival will necessitate a change in location for some of the units.

The first truck, which arrived Wednesday, will go to the Central Station as a replacement for the pumper being sent to Station 5. The other new truck will be sent to Eleventh Place and Birdwell Lane as replacement for a pumper being sent to the station at Eighteenth and Main.

The Eighteenth and Main station's pumper, a 750 gallon unit, will be sent to the Northside station. This station also will house two 500 gallon pumps, which will be used as auxiliary trucks. Also, the Central Station will retain one of its 750 gallon booster trucks as will the station at Eleventh Place and Birdwell Lane.

Unloading of the first 1,000 gallon diesel pumper was supervised by Dan Lake, Mack Company salesman, but it will be inspected by an engineer, who is expected here this week. Each truck cost the city $26,100.

City officials also inspected the first new truck. It had been driven to Station No. 6 so they could look it over at the same time they inspected the new stations.

Crow said 12 new firemen will receive one week's intensive training beginning Monday. M. W. Clawson is the department's training chief.

With a total personnel strength of 51 men, 11 trucks, and six stations, Big Spring's fire department will be the equal of any, for its size, in the state, Crow said.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING City's TTA Boardings Above CAB Requirements

By M. A. WEBB

Boardings locally on Trans-Texas Airways flights in April were above the "five-per-day" average set up in the Civil Aviation Board's "use it or lose it" rulings. Station manager Dean Berry, at Howard County Airport, said Friday that the May boardings were also holding up above requirements.

He listed 179 April boardings as compared to CAB's required 150.

Trans-Texas Airways' Houston headquarters said April was a record breaking month for passenger traffic. Total passengers rose 60.4 per cent to 57,646, compared to 35,935 during April, 1963.

Max A. King, vice president of traffic and sales, said the big jumps in traffic figures reflected, in part, the airline's recent route expansion into New Mexico and Northwest Texas.

week were: Colt — Dr. M. A. Porter; Cessna Skyhawk — Jay Lebcowitz, three days, Dr. John B. Norton, and Bob Brock (cross country).

Webb Aero Club members used all four aircraft during the week with the Mooney being on display at the Webb AFB Open House Saturday. Aircraft up and pilots were:

Cessna 150—Simmons (3), Colt—Cox (cross country); Tri-Pacer — Estes, Aman (cross country three days); Mooney—Bryan (1 and cross country), on display Saturday.

More information on the organization of a cadet and an adult squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will be ready during the coming week. A briefing meeting was held Tuesday night to get information to boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 18, and enlistment will follow.

Jay Lebcowitz, who has been asked to captain the adult squadron, has been out of the city most of the week.

Rites Today For Loraine Rancher

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Wade Preston, 65, Loraine rancher and farmer, died in the Johnson Hospital in Loraine at 1:30 p.m. Friday-after a few months illness.

Born Feb. 13, 1899, he came to Loraine in 1907. He was married to the former Vada Henderson, was a member of the First Baptist Church where he served as a deacon for many years, and a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Loraine with the Rev. Jim Turner, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Loraine Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home with Masonic rites at the graveside.

Survivors include his widow; one son, Roy Preston; one grandson, Harold Ray Preston all of Loraine; three sisters, Mrs. Edna Armstrong, of Ontario, Calif., Mrs. O. O. Hill, of Big Spring and Mrs. Clifton Henderson, Loraine, and three brothers, Ed Preston, Belton, Ham Preston and Howard Preston, both of Loraine.

Traffic in and out of Howard County Airport was light during the past week. Club flying was off with only nine registering for aircraft.

Electricians Meet Thursday

Every electrician in the city is invited to attend a meeting with the city electrical board at 7 p.m. Thursday.

City electrical and plumbing inspector Homer Ward said the purpose of the meeting is to discuss the city electrical code. Any possible difference of interpretation of the code can be worked out at the meeting, he said.

Other members of the board are Gene Haston, chairman; Clyde Chesser, Gilbert Pachall, Vernon Permenter and L. W. Hart. The meeting is open to the public.

Wegner Pulls Out Front

DENVER — Oklahoma's bantam cowboy, Bobby Wegner, spurred to the national lead in bull riding and Texan C. R. Boucher had widened the gap in steer wrestling title charts, following 3-day pro rodeo action at Porterville, Calif.

The annual West Coast rodeo, its purses this year fattened by $12,800 for television rights, doled out $39,089 to 66 winners among a total 441 entries in six events.

Wegner, 30, from Ponca City, moved up from fifth on the bull riding ladder, after pocketing $1,408, besting 74 other contestants in the event.

Boucher, 33, from Burk Burnett, boosted his earnings to $12,348 with his $1,658 victory over 81 other steer wrestlers in the Porterville arena. Third for last year's steer wrestling championship, Boucher now has an almost $5,000 edge for 1964's title.

Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, took top honors in calf roping to vault to second place in this and in all-around standings.

Current leaders in the various events are:

All-around — Harry Charters Jr., Melba, Idaho, $11,678, and Dean Oliver $10,029; saddle broncs — Jim Tescher, Medora, N.D., $6,311, and Marty Wood, Bowness, Alta., Canada, $6,038; bareback broncs, Jim Houston, Omaha, Neb., $8,125; bull riding — Bob Wegner, Ponca City, Okla., $5,495, and Bernis Johnson, Cleburne, Tex., $5,248; calf roping — Olin Young, Albuquerque, N.M., $8,203, and Dean Oliver, $6,449; steer wrestling — C. R. Boucher $12,348, and Harry Charters Jr., Melba, Idaho, $7,439.

Killed By Auto

BISHOP, Tex. (AP)—Taurino Salazar, 65, of Kingsville was killed by a car Friday night on U.S. 77 six miles south of here. Patrolmen said Salazar was standing outside his car after being involved in a minor collision. Another vehicle bore down, clipped one moving car and hit Salazar's auto and two others parked along the highway.

Crowds At Webb For Special Events

A combination of air power demonstration, military precision and circus atmosphere—that was Armed Forces Day observance at Webb Air Force Base Saturday.

The local facility's annual open house and special public programs were combined this year with the graduation ceremonies for Class 64-G and wing review for this class, and the awarding of wings highlighted the weekend affair.

Air Police at the base reported by closing-down time Saturday afternoon that more than 3,000 cars had passed through the gates. They set Saturday's attendance at close to 7,800.

AT LUNCHEON
Actually the Armed Forces

Day program opened Friday, when civilian leaders from Big Spring and surrounding towns were guests of the base at a luncheon, at which Maj. Gen. Henry K. Mooney, deputy commander for the Air Training Command, spoke. The graduating class held its dining-in Friday night.

Saturday morning, a small group of officers and their wives and civilian couples visited with Gen. Mooney at an informal coffee. Saturday night there was a reception for the graduating class and their visitors—including parents and other relatives from many distant points. This was followed by a dance at the Officers Club.

But the real spectacle of the military occurred during the day Saturday, and it was family day as parents took their youngsters on a tour of the installation, let them gaze at jet plane fly-overs, and clamber over other planes and military equipment.

FUN, INTEREST
Everything went in good fun and interest, and there were no incidents or accidents to mar the day.

The 30 graduating officers received honors with the roar of jet aircraft overhead at 9 a.m. Saturday. On the reviewing stand to take the salute of troops in review were Gen. Mooney, Col. A. F. Tuite, Webb wing commander, and seven other senior officers at the Base.

An Air Force Band from Lackland AFB was an attraction during the review.

Following this, a spectacular fly-over demonstrated Air Force power and versatility. In the formations were T-37s, T-38s, and F-100 and F-104 fighters.

A static display of various types of military aircraft including fighters, trainers, cargo aircraft and helicopters was open to the public. Many of these aircraft were flown to Webb AFB from Kelly and Randolph Air Force Bases at San Antonio, Holoman AFB, N. M., Chanute AFB, Ill., Tinker AFB, Okla., and England AFB, La.

Other static displays relating to Air Force activities were also available to the public in Hangar T-1. These included display units from the chapel, hospital, recruiting service, personnel equipment, civil engineer, Civil Defense and Army National Guard.

Hold Own Convention
Democratic Party unity in Dallas County split in two in Dallas Saturday when Liberal-Loyalist delegates staged a rump convention. They are shown as they walked out, carrying their standards, of the County Democratic Convention at the State Fair Music Hall after the convention convened. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Strained Party Unity Marks Democrat Meets

Conservatives bolted the Harris County convention and Dallas County liberals held a rump session but across most of Texas Democrats met Saturday in harmony—sometimes strained—for their county conventions.

Governor John Connally, whose conservative supporters do not want to be committed to support the national platform, expressed "delight" with early and incomplete reports which he said indicated he would have control of the June 16 state convention in Houston.

The tense and strained party unity that prevailed at a number of the county conventions was reflected at Austin where Connally sat on one side of the city coliseum and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, leader of the liberal forces, sat on the other side.

The Travis County convention was delayed for more than an hour and a half while spokesmen shuttled back and forth between the two leaders. Connally forces controlled the convention with the only vocal dissent coming on passage of conservative-backed resolutions to support a national platform that would be "for the best interest of Texas."

At many of the conventions, the moderate-liberal factions prevailed to secure almost unanimous approval or resolutions endorsing President Johnson. Connally, Yarborough, supporting Connally as the head of the Texas delegation to the national convention, and eulogizing the late President John F. Kennedy.

Although some liberal factions offered resolutions urging that Yarborough be named with Connally as head of the delegation to the national convention, that issue did not appear to be a major one, even the rump liberal group in Dallas County passed a resolution endorsing Connally for the job.

Peru Crash Fatal To 46

LIMA, Peru (AP)—An Argentine air force courier plane, wheels down, the pilot groping for a landing in dense fog, crashed into a high coastal sand dune, killing 46 of 49 persons aboard Friday night. The plane burned on impact.

The only survivors were an 8-year-old girl, Graciela Martha Gastaldi, a boy, Jorge Enriquez, 13, and a noncommissioned member of a crew of seven, Oscar Ahumada. The children, also Argentines, were in critical condition at Lima's naval hospital.

Doctors at the scene, 18 miles north of Lima, said only four of the bodies found could be identified.

The plane, a propeller-driven DC4, was trying to land at Lima's airport after a flight from Buenos Aires.

It barely missed two small islands offshore near the airport as it came down. Wreckage was strewn along the sand for over 100 yards. Only the tail section and part of the cabin remained intact. The wreckage was not found until Saturday afternoon when the dense fog lifted.

The plane hit on its wheels, leaving deep tracks as the pilot apparently fought to control the ship's skid. It hit the high sand dune after skidding for about 150 feet, and investigators said it looked as if the plane's fuel exploded all over the dune with the crash.

In Buenos Aires, an Argentine air force spokesman said the plane was on a regular courier flight. The spokesman said 11 Peruvians, three Uruguayans and one Spaniard were among the passengers.

Garden City Infant Dies

Services are pending for the infant daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Ernest McGaughey, Garden City. The child, one of twins, was dead at birth in a local hospital Saturday. Her sister, it was said, is doing well.

The services will be directed by River-Welch Funeral Home and the burial will probably be in Vera.

The father is the pastor of the Garden City Methodist Church. The McGaugheys have another daughter, Suzannah, at home. Other survivors include the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McGaughey, Vera, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Kelley, Johnson City, Tenn.

Plane With 6 Falls, Burns

COOPERTON, Okla. (AP)—A C124 military transport plane with six persons aboard has crashed near this Southeastern Oklahoma town and four bodies have been recovered. The Oklahoma Highway Patrol reported Saturday night.

The patrol said a C124 had been reported missing in the Cooper area from Clovis Air Force Base. The plane from Clovis was en route to Dover, Del.

Mrs. Dale Callen of Cooper said she and her husband heard a roar and looked out of a window in time to see the plane falling. She said the plane was in flames as it fell.

Callen called Kiowa County Sheriff Leon Messick with the information.

Sheriff Messick sent three men to the scene and dispatched two ambulances and a fire truck.

"It was so hot they couldn't get close to the plane," Messick said.

8,000 View C-City March

COLORADO CITY (SC)—An estimated 8,000 spectators lined the sidewalks in downtown Colorado City Saturday afternoon to witness the Tumbleweed Festival parade.

The procession spread out for a mile. It featured a long array of colorful floats all constructed with tumbleweeds; numerous marching bands and other special displays.

Three flyovers by jets from Webb AFB roared above the procession.

The candidates for Tumbleweed queen were featured in the parade. They were given liberal applause by the spectators.

The procession was one of the closing events of the festival. Saturday night the queen was crowned as the finale of the annual celebration here.

Five 4-H Youths Score In Regional

Linda Shaw, Mack Frazier, Margie Newman, Lawrence Long and James Haston, all members of the Howard County 4-H clubs, Saturday won trips to the Texas 4-H Club Round-up to be held in College Station in June.

They were in senior divisions in regional competition at Lubbock. First and second place winners in the senior division are awarded trips to the Round-up.

Linda, Mack and Margie were acclaimed first in the Senior Share-The-Fun demonstration. Lawrence and James won their trips by placing second in the Senior Electricity Demonstration.

Martha Couch, whose demonstration on money management was rated as best of the meet, was a first place but, because she is a junior, does not get to go to the Round-up. Betty Lou Little's demonstration in Favorite Food, likewise won a first place but, she, too, is a junior.

THE WEEK

around 1.5 inches or more and will be able to plant. The remainder is pretty marginal, but there's still time.

There was big doings at Webb AFB, not the least of which was an interesting Armed Forces Day open house Saturday. There was on display an exceptional number of planes. Excitement was added in a wing review honoring Class 64-G and the Lackland AFB band. Things got off to a big start with opening of the new Air Force Boulevard and its new entrance, and by a luncheon address in which Gen. H. K. Mooney tossed some mighty fragrant bouquets to Webb-Big Spring relations.

Considering the weather and some conflicting engagements, an exceptionally good turnout greeted the Citizens Committee meeting Thursday evening to explain the proposed school Master Plan and plans to finance it. Questions indicated a lively interest, and former Mayor G. W. Dabney distilled it to this: "If we're not going to give our children the best opportunity, we got no business having them."

April building totals amounted to $299,773, which was some $65,000 over the same month a year ago. Still, this was no record. Things could pick up in May when College Baptist lets its contract (low bids totalled $9 last week) and if the First Baptist bids come in this week within the money.

The City of Big Spring received its two new 1,000 gpm diesel pumps last week, reportedly the first diesel pumps in the state. Perhaps it is more than coincidence that the first motorized fire engine in the state was acquired by Big Spring over half a century ago.

You are in for a treat this coming weekend if you plan on attending the National Junior College Track Meet here. HCJC practically swept the field in Western Conference finals last week and will be one of the favorites for the crown. This exciting event deserves your support; moreover, the meet may be moved around after this year.

Several years ago Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, was named an associate in the American Psychiatric Association. This was no small honor or within itself, but last week he was elected as a fellow in the APA at its national gathering.

Howard and Glasscock Counties will receive a $126,000 appropriation from the Texas Highway Department for construction of FM 818 in the two counties a distance of seven miles west and north of Lees.

Forces have been regrouped for a second assault of Operation Rush, the big push for raising Christmas decoration funds. The earlier drive yielded about $3,000 in pledges, little less than a third of the target goal. This is a cooperative enterprise.

which may tell us a number of things.

Howard County last week retired the last of the $325,000 in road bonds floated in 1954 for roadway work and right-of-way purchase. Perhaps before this year is out, another issue will be needed. If it opens the way to as much work as the other did, it will be a tremendous bargain.

Downtown Lions celebrated their 35th anniversary Thursday, pausing to take stock of a long list of projects which have made Big Spring much better than it would have been. As one speaker put it, multiply the 35 years by 100 members and you come up with more service years than the years since the birth of Christ.

Another oil wildcat prospect went glimmering in central eastern Howard County with the plugging of Sheehan & Sons No. 1-15 Chouteau as a Pusselman prospect. This venture reportedly had several shows, but none deemed by operator sufficient to warrant completion.

Howard County had its annual honors day Thursday with Weldon Martin and Carolyn Sue Lewis taking the American Legion all around student awards; Marilyn McReavy and Richard Ehling the sportsmanship awards; Ronnie Hamby the Wall Street Journal scholarship. And equally important, over a score were honored for exceptional scholarship.

The cacti are beginning to put on their blossoms. It's always amazing that anything so thorny and unlovely can put on some of the most exotic flowers of any plant. Cholla are putting on their crimson and fuchsia blooms, and soon prickly pear with duplicate this shade, adding bronzes and yellows.

Top Grads Plan To Attend HCJC

LAMESA (SC)—Richard Caballero and Keith Howard have been named valedictorian and salutatorian of the 1964 graduating class of Flower Grove High School.

Caballero is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose M. Florez of Lenora and compiled a 4-year average of 92.4. Howard, the son of Mrs. Vivian Howard, also of Lenora, posted an 88.4 average.

The two plan to attend Howard County Junior College this fall.

Other graduation candidates include Martha Carmichael, David Cave, Ervin Cockrell, Norbert Gonzales, Robert Gonzales, Anthony James, Hans Howard, Minerva Pena and Veta Oaks.

Baccalaureate services will be conducted at 8 p.m. on May 17 with Rev. Scott Mitchell of Lubbock delivering the sermon. Commencement will be on May 22 at 8 p.m. with Warren Farrow, Webb AFB personnel director, the guest speaker. Both services will be in the school auditorium.

New Bennett Unit To Open

Bruce Frazier announced Saturday that the No. 2 building at the Bennett House would be put into service Monday. The institution has been operating in its No. 1 section since it opened.

Monday, Frazier said, eight of the guests in the house will be moved to new quarters in the second building. As new guests arrive they will be assigned rooms in the building. For the present, food will be prepared in the No. 1 building kitchen. When population in the second building justifies, its kitchen and dining room will be put in use.

Frazier said there are approximately 90 guests now enrolled in the house.

Nude Wedding Leaves Formalities Uncovered

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A shapely brunette who wore only a veil and shoes, and a 23-year-old sailor clad only in a suntan were married Saturday under the palms.

None of the 200 or so guests, also nude, got to kiss the bride.

The simple civil ceremony was conducted in the sunshine with no more excitement than accompanies any wedding, except for butterflies felt by the handful of reporters who undressed in public to witness the event.

The only untoward moment was when the bride's father got literally up in arms about a low-flying plane and its ogling occupants before the wedding. He hauled out a rifle and waved it menacingly until the plane flew away.

Besides the veil, which hung to a strategic length down her back, the bride, Sissy Dawson, 16, also wore high-heeled shoes.

With Candidates All The Way, Says County

Howard County Democrats Saturday evening urged voters to support Democratic candidates from the precinct to the presidency in their county convention.

Resolutions adopted pretty much followed the pattern of those in precinct conventions on May 2.

They backed President Lyndon Johnson unequivocally for renomination and called for support and swift passage of his legislative program. They asked a state minimum wage of $1.25 an hour; a ballot on an amendment to abolish the poll tax; anti-discrimination statutes and an end to segregation laws; the passage of a Texas Labor Relations Act to protect the rights of employees and employers; and a code of ethics for legislators in their official conduct.

The final resolution urged voters to rally behind the Democratic standard in November.

Approximately 100 delegates from seven Big Spring boxes and those at Vincent, Coahoma and Forsan quickly named Frank Hardesty, county Democratic chairman, as permanent chairman and Eddie Acri as secretary.

Police Rule Natural Death

Death from natural causes was ruled Saturday afternoon in the case of Mrs. Sallie Black Johnston, about 75, whose lifeless body was found at 3:15 p.m. in her room in Hotel Settles. Mrs. Johnston had been a resident of the hotel since April 9.

Jess Slaughter, Peace Justice, conducted the inquest.

Capt. Lindy Oldfield of the city police department said that Bill Theford reported the finding of the body to the sheriff's office. It was relayed to the police department.

The body was lying on the bed, clad in a nightgown. Apparently death had occurred some time Friday night.

The body was taken to the River-Welch Funeral Home where it is being held pending location of relatives. Oldfield said that a letter found in the room gave the address of two women in Odessa. He talked with one of these and she informed him that she had recently visited Mrs. Johnston here. She said she knew of no relatives the woman had.

Meeting Set For Midland

MIDLAND — The American Chemical Society, Permian Basin section, will meet Thursday at 6:30 p.m. for a dinner meeting at the Caravan Motel in Midland.

Dr. Harry H. Sisler, University of Florida, will speak on "The Synthesis of New Nitrogen-Phosphorous Compounds." He will be the last tour speaker of the current season.

In June, Mr. Ladd Fields of Beckham Instruments will speak. There will be no meetings in July or August.

Ackerly Gin Meeting Held

ACKERLY — Ackerly Co-op Gin stockholders were handed dividend checks totaling $26,599 Saturday night at the annual meeting of the group. More than 100 attended the meeting held in the Ackerly High School auditorium.

The members re-elected Leon Bodine as a member of the board. The board will meet on Monday to elect officers for the new year. The present president is B. B. Adams. Directors, in addition to Bodine, are E. C. Dyer, J. S. Franklin, Leo Batson, A. R. Skinner and C. C. Griggs.

Darrell Smith is the manager of the gin. He announced that the gin had handled 5,172 bales this past season. The year, he told the members, had been most profitable.

A number of area co-op officials were in attendance at the meeting. They included Hugh Thomas, Wayne Martin, Chris White and Lowell Thomas. All were presented and spoke to the gathering.

Weather Forecast
Showers and thunderstorms are expected Sunday from southern Plains eastward to parts of Mississippi and Tennessee valleys. Showers are likely also for northern Rockies, and Pacific northwest. Beeman Fisher Cited At Tumbleweed Affair

By PAT WASHBURN
COLORADO CITY — "Texas today is upon the threshold of a new economic era, the success of which depends on whether citizens will accept responsibilities today, not tomorrow. This was the way Waggoner Carr, attorney general of Texas, put it in speaking to 210 people gathered here Friday in the Civic House at the official opening luncheon of the fifth annual Tumbleweed Festival. His talk was one of the highlights of a dinner meeting that included the presentation of a special certificate to Beeman Fisher, Fort Worth, president and general manager of Texas Electric, recognizing him as one of the state's most outstanding leaders."

BEEMAN FISHER... sunrise for West Texas

"You cannot have freedom and prosperity without individual responsibilities," Carr added. "And the persons who lead this state must continue to realize that emphasis in Texas today is ever more and more upon fabrication for consumer use. Reports are already indicating that by 1970, sales will reach the $1 billion mark in this state."

Carr listed reasons why business is becoming increasingly interested in Texas as a site for new development—a large work force stemming from the fourth largest population in the nation, good roads, the Houston space program, the large amount of wealth circulating daily, and the fact that already many large industries have located in Texas.

"We cannot afford to relax even with all this economic growth because our economy must continue its astounding growth," he said. "It must continue to supply a sufficient number of new jobs for the expanding population. Between 1960-1975, reports show that there will be an additional 500,000 job seekers added to the present number. That is the problem facing us today."

"We need honest, aggressive state and local governments and we need to recruit to those bodies our finest citizens," he said. "We have been blessed with a fine calibre of leadership in Austin. But we cannot rest on our laurels."

Before Carr's talk, Colorado City's Charles C. Thompson presented Fisher with the certificate honoring him as the 1964 Tumbleweed Festival choice of an outstanding leader of Texans.

"He is a man who believes that we are only at the sunrise of good things to come in West Texas," Thompson said in paying tribute to Fisher. "And yet, his footsteps have already mingled in many of the good things that have happened to all of us in this area."

After the presentation to Fisher, Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Fisher received large bouquets of roses.

The entertainment for the program was provided by the Colorado City High School Chorolettes, the local trophy-winning capella choir under the direction of Curtis Baker.

Paul Boyd Hunter was the master of ceremonies.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Suggests LL Let Up For Mid-Week Church Rites

To The Editor:

I am one of many parents in the City of Big Spring that is privileged to have sons participating in the Little League Baseball program. I am particularly proud of this program because it is primarily for the boys and teaches them many things that will enhance their chances for a better life after they grow into manhood.

I am not proud of the fact that these same boys are penalized because they do the correct thing and attend worship services on Wednesday evenings. I do not mean that the managers penalize them for being absent. When there is a game played on Wednesday evening there is certainly a conflict in the boy's mind. He loves to play ball and wants to be at every game possible, but he also loves God and knows that it is the right thing to put God first. The two cannot mix. Why can't they be separated. Five nights a week is sufficient to carry out a Little League schedule. It is done in other cities, why not in Big Spring. I certainly believe this is something all parents should think about and do something about it. You cannot teach your boy about fair play and how to get along with others working as a team if you let him believe that he can miss the worship services at anytime to play in a baseball game, or anything else. If we allow him to play rough-shod over God, then, all the other good teachings we attempt to prod into his mind will be in vain.

I am very proud of the men who give of their time to work with our boys in this program. I believe that they are doing a wonderful work of which they and we as parents will be richly rewarded.

Sincerely,

To The Editor:

The recent story about Mr. J. B. Pickle, the death of Mrs. Emily Andrews, and other familiar names in the news make me desperately homesick. In 20 years, the roots of friendship go pretty deep. We are happy when we read or hear of anything good happening to our friends, and for the membership of the First Baptist Church. We rejoice when we think of its present leadership and progress. We have been in 66 revivals and Bible conferences since we left the (First Baptist) pulpit. This has placed us in intimate contact with more than five dozen pastors. We have the finest crop of young preachers we ever had. New churches are springing up on every hand. . . . We believe if one person on earth needs Christ, every person needs Him. Some of us never expect to be satisfied until there are as many people born spiritually each year as are born naturally. . . . There are many there in Howard County for whom I pray often that they may be won to His way of life.

Members of the family are well except Mrs. O'Brien has had some oral surgery, and Richard was injured in a car wreck. His car was struck as he was on his way to a hospital to participate in surgery. He was stopped at a signal light when his car was struck by one driven by a woman learning to drive. His car was demolished and he is still in Methodist Hospital but making good progress. I have just finished teaching the book of Job for the 122nd time at Devine. This book continues to amaze me with its infinite depths, widths and height.

GOP Backs Barry, Nixes Unit Rule

Howard County Republicans are sending an unstructured delegation of seven to the state Republican convention in Dallas June 16. The delegates were named at a meeting of the county organization Saturday morning in the 118th District Court Room.

An attempt to send the delegation under the unit rule was rejected by a lopsided vote.

Ralph Gossett, retiring county chairman, will head up the county group at Dallas. The delegation goes to the convention as supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the GOP presidential nomination. However, a proposal that the delegation be bound until released by the Arizona senator fell aside with rejection of the unit rule.

Thirty-five Republicans attended the county convention. Gossett presided with Mrs. Floyd Mays as secretary. Bill Sheppard, the new County Republican chairman, was introduced. He will go to the convention but pegged himself on the list as one of the county's seven alternates rather than as a delegate.

The delegates are Gossett, Ralph McLaughlin, Bob Rozzell, James Cates, John Currie, Paul Meek and Zell Smith. Alternates are Sheppard, Mrs. M. Porter, Mrs. Floyd Mays, Mrs. Zell Smith, Dr. Akin Simpson, Bill Edwards and Dr. Floyd Mays.

Gossett told the meeting that the total Republican vote this past primary was nearly double that of the primary in the last election.

Several resolutions, one condemning the spending by the Democratic administration, another rapping the World Court and recommending the U. S. retain its entire independence in the determination of domestic problems, and third endorsing Goldwater were adopted unanimously.

2-AAAA's Cooper Wins State Crown

By JACK KEEVER
AUSTIN (AP)—Abilene Cooper and Eldorado emerged from a tightly bunched field Friday night to win Class AAAA and A track and field titles at the annual state meet.

Their team titles shared center stage with Dallas Samuell's fabulous national scholastic mile relay record, Houston Robert E. Lee's tie of another national mark in the 440-yard relay and a double victory by George Aldredge of Dallas Highland Park in the sprints.

Getting first places from Ricky Smith in the broad jump and Dal McDonald in the mile run, Cooper took the team title with only 30 points, two more than Amarillo Tascosa and four more than Highland Park.

Only 10 points separated the first and 10th place team. Eldorado got 20 quick points in winning the 440-yard relay and added 15 more to take the division title by three points over Boswell, a surprise second. East Chambers was third with 30 and there was only 19 points difference in the winning total and that of the 10th team, Clyde.

Samuell, upset in the 440 relay and pushed down into a fifth-place tie in that event, closed the night session with a great 3:14.9 mile relay, 3 of a second under the national mark set by Andrews Texas High School four years ago.

The Spartans, with Jimmy Jasper and Mike Casey running quarter-mile laps of 47.9 and 47.8, sped home almost a full second ahead of their nearest challenger, Dallas Hillcrest.

Samuell also had run a 41.5 in the 440 relay, the best time of any team coming into the meet, but it was not their night in that race. Lee, getting smooth handoffs and with Doug Cameron anchoring, raced in with a 41.5, tying Andrews' national mark, also hung up in 1960. San Antonio Brackenridge, with all-state football player Warren McVea anchoring, was a step behind in 41.6.

Aldredge, unbeaten this year in any dash, flashed home in 9.4 in the 100-yard dash and 21.4 in the 220, run around a curve and into a stiff breeze. His 100 mark tied the national mark, but was not allowed because of an unacceptable seven-mile wind at his back. It does go in the books as equaling the state record, set by Baytown's Don Parkhurst in 1962.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Dr. Bob Carter of Amarillo College, the National Junior College Athletic Association's Region V representative, has notified HCJC officials that the National JC Track and Field Meet will be moved to Garden City, Kan., in 1965 on a trial basis. . . . If Garden City proves an able host, the school there can get the meet for an additional two years. . . . New York City Community College is anxious to host the show. . . . Big Spring has proved to be a good host in the years the cinder chow was held here and the meet has never had a better director than L. L. (Red) Lewis but some of the contending schools felt that HCJC had a distinct advantage in having the show each year and they were merely going on meccas to burn candles at the feet of Mercury by making trips here. . . . Such is the price of fame. . . . The transfer of the meet back to Kansas should give Lewis another selling point to prospective athletes — that of another long trip each year. . . . Lewis recalls all too well a National meet held in Kansas not long before it was transferred here, when the tracksters ran in water up to their ankles. . . . Lewis, by the way, thinks he has a good chance at signing a Fort Worth shot putter who has cleared 60 feet in practice. . . . His coach says the youth has even better potential in the discus throw. . . . The Indianapolis 500 race this year is due to draw more than 300,000 spectators. . . . The top-priced seats, at $30 and $15, have been sold out for two months. . . . Lowest priced seat in the stands can be had for $9. . . . Frank Broyles, the University of Arkansas football mentor, is trying to put a little more 'go' in his offense. . . . "The finest defense in the world isn't going to win for you very often when you score only one touchdown," Broyles remarked recently. . . . Paul Hahn, the 45-year-old trick shot golfer who gave his act here a few years ago, says he gave up the pro tour because he doesn't enjoy winning like he should.

THURMAN RANDLE

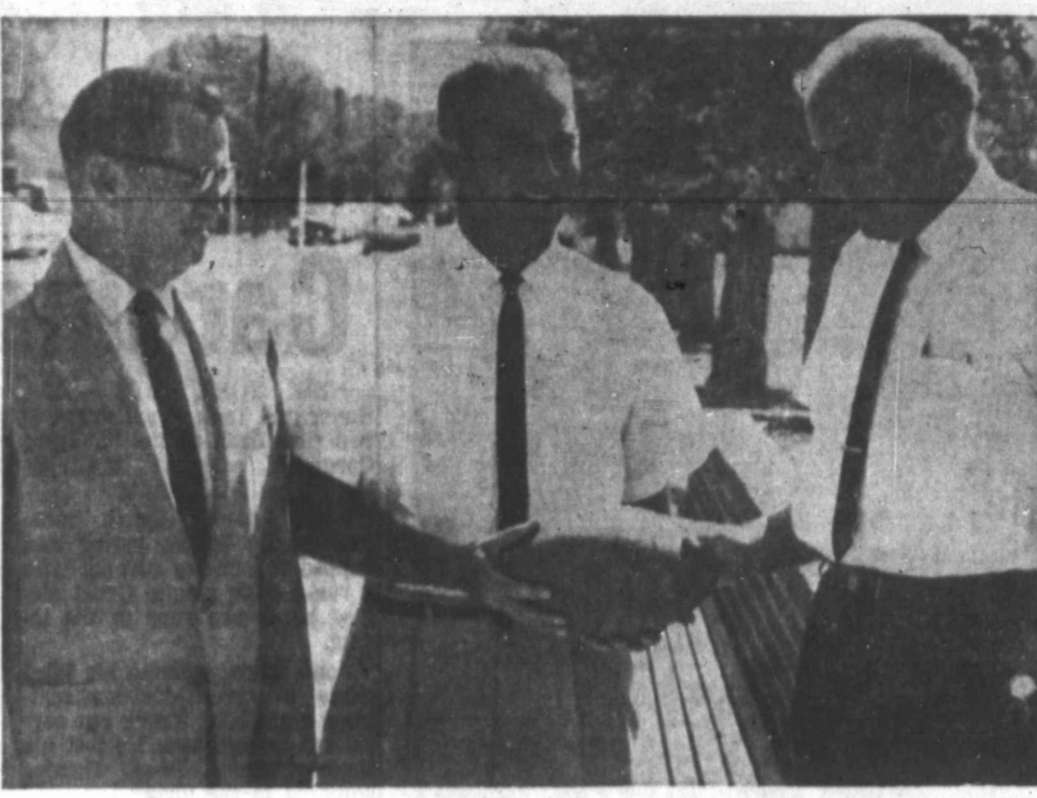

Did Pique Keep Fierro Off Team?

Albert Fierro, the Big Spring quarterback, probably wasn't picked to play in the Texas Coaches Association All-Star game because of the severe beating the Steers handed a team coached by a member of the selections committee a few years ago. . . . Fierro will appear instead in the Big 33 Football Classic in Hershey, Pa., scheduled for Aug. 1. . . . Ken Estes of Orange, a brother to Big Spring's Bill Estes, is a member of the group selecting the Texas team. . . . Fierro and his teammates were handicapped to suit coach Bobby Layne's plan of attack—the pro-type offense. . . . Three of the biggest factors taken into consideration were size, speed and, of course, ability. . . . Fierro is one of four Texas players chosen to appear in the game who will matriculate at the University of Houston. . . . Fierro will fly out of Midland July 22 for Baltimore, Md., and will be whisked over to Hershey with other players by chartered bus. . . . Pete Runnels,

Randle Will Attend Cisco College

Thurman Randle, the big Negro lineman who tore up San Angelo's Bobcats last fall while playing opposite All-American A. Z. Drones, has been granted a two-year scholarship to Cisco Junior College, where Jim Puryear is coach. . . . Randle had entertained the idea of enrolling at Henderson County JC in Athens, Texas, but prefers to play closer to home. . . . He may study to become a coach. . . . Thurman is the eighth boy signed off the 1963 Steer team to an athletic scholarship. . . . The others were Albert Fierro, signed by Houston; Tim Smith, Texas Tech; Dick Irons, SMU; Coye Conner, Baylor; Kenney Crane, Kansas State; Charley West, San Angelo College; and Humberto Hernandez (student manager last fall but a letterman two autumns ago), Houston. . . . That's far and away more boys who have been assured schooling than off any other Steer team in history and is a tribute to the kind of coaching Don Robbins and his aides are doing. . . . Perhaps Oswald Spengler was right when he said civilization (and power) is continually moving westward. . . . The team in the catbird seat in this year's National JC Track and Field meet could be Phoenix, Arizona, figured by some to score at least 119 points to ward the team crown. That would be far more than enough to win. . . . The Arizonians look especially tough in the pole vault, discus throw, shot put and mile run. . . . When Herbert Love, the Coahoma minister, was hospitalized here recently, his place in the pulpit was taken by his two sons, Mike and Dwight. . . . Mike, of course, is the talented football back for ACC who formerly terrorized District 2-AAAA lines. . . . A Baylor trackman named Walter Hayhurst opened his mouth during a recent 440-yard hurdles event to take in a bit of fresh air, and a bee lit right on his lip, then started stinging. . . . Hayhurst said he had to eat part of the insect before he could get rid of it.

B. B. Lees, center, a native of Big Spring, recently was named the new head football coach at Eastern New Mexico University. Handing him the ball is Carl Richardson who resigned as head coach to devote more time to completing requirements for his doctorate from the University of Texas. At the left is Dr. Joe Dickson, athletic director.

B. B. Lees Is Named ENMU's Head Coach

PORTALES — A graduate of Spring, he attended Eastern where he earned both a bachelor's and a master's degree. He was a star performer for the Greyhounds in football, basketball, and baseball.

Lees has been serving as backfield coach, was named to succeed Carl Richardson who resigned to devote more time to completing requirements for his doctorate from the University of Texas. Richardson is remaining on the staff as an assistant coach.

Lees was born in Big Spring in 1933 and he was president of the student body in high school. He was active in sports participating in football, baseball, track, tennis, and basketball. He also was the West Texas open freestyle swimming champion.

After graduation from Big Spring, he attended Eastern where he earned both a bachelor's and a master's degree. He was a star performer for the Greyhounds in football, basketball, and baseball.

SMU Names New 1965 Track Man

LUBBOCK (AP)—Glenn Gossett was named track coach of SMU Saturday, succeeding McAdoo Keaton, who is retiring.

Gossett is assistant football coach and will remain in that capacity, adding track coaching. Keaton reaches retirement age in June. He has been track coach at SMU since 1946.

Hayden Fry, athletic director at SMU, told of the change.

Steve Hillhouse Winner As Aggies Clinch Flag

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas A&M into the bottom of the seventh waited till the last inning of the last game of the season to win the 1964 Southwest Conference baseball championship.

The Aggies whipped Texas, 5-2, Friday in the second game of a doubleheader to bring in the crown.

A&M needed to win only one of the two games. But Texas took the first, 3-2, and had the Longhorns won the second also, the two schools would have tied for the championship.

Texas would have represented the SWC in the NCAA playoffs by virtue of regular season play.

A&M ended the season with a 12-3 record. Texas and Baylor tied for second place with 10-5 marks.

The Aggies' championship is their first since 1959. Texas has been the SWC baseball leader the past four years.

Frank Stark's three-run double in the top of the ninth broke a 2-2 tie in Friday's second game. Chuck McGuire, working in relief for winner Steve Hillhouse of Colorado City, put the Longhorns down in order in the bottom of the ninth.

Texas was behind 2-1 going

Honor Graduates

Webb Class 64-G Holds Graduation

In ceremonies traditional with the Air Force, 30 students of Class 64-G staged their dining-in at Webb Air Force Base Friday evening, as a highlight of their graduation. Maj. Gen. Henry K. Mooney, vice commander of the Air Training Command, was a principal speaker.

Two class members won singular honors. Capt. Anton M. Taylor received three citations. These included the Flying Excellence Award, "for optimum mixture of ability, dedication and luck"; the Distinguished Officer Graduate in USAF pilot training, "for excellence in flying, academic and military performance"; and the ATC Commander's Trophy "as the most outstanding officer among the graduates of each class."

The award for academic excellence went to Capt. Donald E. Harlan, who also was the recipient of an Outstanding Officer award.

Gen. Mooney, reviewing his own experiences in the early days of flying, stressed the rewards of being a military pilot. In choosing a profession of constant change, he said, young Air Force officers also are in a profession of vital national significance. Dramatic changes in aircraft, equipment and techniques are occurring even as officers are being trained, the general said, and reminded the class members that they are "inheriting a real young history, with much more of it to be made."

The graduates included: Capt. Donald E. Harlan, Capt. Richard K. Johnson, Capt. Anton M. Taylor, 1st Lt. Thomas R. W. Skinner Jr.; Also, 2nd Lt. Carl W. Altman, Marion O. Becnel, Barry B. Bridger, George Brower, Peter L. Costa, John A. Deluca, Vernon D. Farmer, Harry R. Fenstad, Dale F. Ferguson, James A. Fletcher, Bernard W. Gann;

Also 2nd Lt. Floyd E. Hawley, Rodney W. Maker, Thomas B. McGar, John L. Miller, Edward M. Oswald, Eugene W. Parker, John L. Pearson, David Sanderson III, Frank Shine Jr., John A. Tucker, Clement W. Twiford, Malcolm M. Whitten, William J. Wirant and Robert R. Wolf.

T. Sgt. Norbert Kibellis was a graduate from Dusseldorf, Germany.

will test their voter appeal somewhat in uncontested preference primaries Tuesday.

Rockefeller is the only candidate on the ballot in West Virginia, and there is no provision for counting write-in votes. The 14 GOP delegates chosen in the same election are not bound by the preference vote.

Goldwater is alone on the Republican ballot in Nebraska, but a committee seeking write-in votes for Lodge has been active.

Also at stake in Nebraska are six district delegates. Most of the candidates favor Goldwater, although the delegates are not bound by the outcome of the primary. Ten GOP at-large delegates will be chosen June 1.

Voters will nominate candidates for senator and governor in both states.

Incumbent Gov. Frank B. Morrison has Democratic primary opposition in his bid for a third term in normally Republican Nebraska. Five men seek the GOP nomination, including Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska has no Republican primary opposition for re-election while Raymond W. Arndt is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

In West Virginia, a former assistant secretary of defense, Cooper P. Benedict, is unopposed for the GOP Senate nomination while the incumbent, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, has only token opposition in the Democratic primary.

Former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood is regarded as the leading candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. The Democratic field of four includes a former state commerce commissioner, Hulett C. Smith, businessman Harold G. Cutright and Bonn Brown, former law associate of Gov. William W. Barron. Barron cannot succeed himself.

Six candidates seek the Democratic nomination for the 5th District House seat being vacated by Rep. Elizabeth Kee. One of them is her son and administrative assistant, James Kee.

Masons Schedule Proficiency Exam

An examination for proficiency in Masonic ritual has been set for Saturday, May 30, at 8:00 a.m. in Staked Plains Lodge 598, Big Spring. The examination will be conducted by A. G. Vaughn, Ahlone, a member of the Texas Masonic Grand Lodge Committee on Work.

Masons in this area who qualify in the examination will be granted certificates of proficiency in the Masonic ritual at the Dec. 2nd Annual Communication of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Texas in Waco.

A FREE-FOR-ALL

Politicos Eyeing Oregon Primary

WASHINGTON (AP)—A free-for-all preference primary in Oregon and uncontested popularity polls in West Virginia and Nebraska this week may shed more light on the scramble race for the Republican presidential nomination.

Voters in the three states also will nominate candidates for two governorships, two Senate seats and 12 House seats, and will choose delegates to the Republican and Democratic conventions.

Republicans will hold state conventions to choose delegates in Rhode Island Tuesday and Vermont Saturday. Democratic state conventions are scheduled in Maine Friday and in Delaware, Hawaii and Vermont Saturday.

Counting conventions and primaries, 74 GOP and 151 Democratic delegates will be elected.

Six potential Republican presidential nominees, including three who have announced for the job, are on the ballot in Oregon Friday.

It will be the second head-to-head meeting between two major announced candidates—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Polls in Oregon indicate that both men may wind up as they did in New Hampshire two months ago—trailing Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

The same team which helped spring the New Hampshire upset has been working for Lodge in Oregon for several weeks.

Political observers will be watching to see how former Vice President Richard M. Nixon fares. Two men active in Oregon in Nixon's 1960 presidential campaign have been working in his behalf in recent weeks—with Nixon's expressed gratitude.

Also on the ballot are Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, an avowed candidate, and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania. Neither has campaigned in Oregon.

Scranton, Lodge and Nixon have said they are not candidates but have indicated varying degrees of availability for the nomination.

Oregon Republicans also will elect 18 convention delegates bound by law to support the primary winner until he releases them or gets less than 35 per cent of the convention vote.

President Johnson is the only name on the Democratic preferential primary ballot. Twenty-four Democratic convention delegates will be elected.

MONEY FOR MORE EQUIPMENT
Mrs. M. L. Kirby, coin club treasurer, and Jim Thompson

Coin Club Makes Gift To Center

Big Spring Coin Club, pleased with its local observation of National Coin Week, has closed the record of the week with the formal presentation of a check for $100.85 to the Howard County Rehabilitation Center.

The check is the proceeds of the special auction sale of Coin Week conducted at the Kenny Coin Shop. Club members donated rare coins which were sold at auction. The sale produced $100.85. Mrs. M. L. Kirby, secretary of the Coin Club, gave the check to Jim Thompson, therapist of the center, last week. The club asked that the money be used in the purchase of new equipment to serve the center's new home, soon to be built.

Last year, Mrs. Kirby said, a similar auction for the center produced $100.75 — just 10 cents less than this year.

New Bank Insured

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. approved Friday $150,000 insurance for the new Howe, Tex., State Bank.

Charles Dunnam Named President Of ABClub

Charles Dunnam, cashier at the First National Bank here, has been named president of the American Business Club and will formally take office July 1. He succeeds R. E. (Bob) Hickson.

Other officers named in an election held recently within the club were Dr. Harold Smith, first vice president; R. L. Heith, second vice president; R. J. Hughes, third vice president; and Bill McDonald and Alvis Harry, sergeants at arms.

The ABClub secretary-treasurer, Vernon Whittington, is appointed rather than elected to his office.

Named to the club's board of directors were Dr. Bob Johnson, Garner McAdams, Chester Cathey and Bill Read.

Initiation of new officers will be conducted Tuesday, May 26. Hickson revealed at the Friday luncheon of the club, held in the Settles Hotel.

Hickson told the gathering he still had hopes that the membership of the club would equal or exceed 115 by the time the National ABC convention takes place this summer.

An attendance contest being staged within the club, which ends next Friday, has as its leading team a squad captained by Alvis Harris.

CHARLES DUNNAM

Hickson reminded those present that the club was charged with the responsibility of supplying personnel to run off the National Junior College Track and Field meet, scheduled here May 15-16. He received assurances from J. D. Jones, meet co-ordinator, that workers had been well briefed as to their duties.

It was also disclosed that the ABClub's board of governors has again voted to sponsor an entry in the Big Spring Teen-Age Baseball Association, at a cost of no more than $300.

Carl Marcum appeared as a guest speaker in conjunction with the observance of National Music Week and introduced the director of the Big Spring High School choir, Mel Ivey, who in turn introduced members of the choir.

The choral group, which recently returned from a trip to Southern California, sang five numbers, three of which the choir had used in regional competition at Odessa earlier this year.

Guests of the club included Walter Fletcher, Odessa; Al Atkins and Bob Winters.

Dawson FM Road Project Slated

LAMESA (SC) — The Texas Highway Commission has approved a Farm-to-Market road project for Dawson County this year. A total of $117,000 was earmarked for the grading, structures and surfacing project from FM 2051, 3.0 miles southwest of Frenship, 6.4 miles to a county road.

Viet Nam Apologizes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam apologized to Cambodia today for a border violation by Vietnamese troops but renewed its charge that Communist Viet Cong are using Cambodia as a base for strikes against Viet Nam.

Vietnamese forces were reported chasing a Viet Cong battalion when they strayed an estimated three-fourths mile into Cambodian territory Friday and were fired on by Cambodian infantry, armored vehicles and jet aircraft.

An American-made M113 armored personnel carrier was knocked out by gunfire from a Cambodian M24 tank, also U.S. made. Three Vietnamese were killed and two seriously wounded.

A communique from the Vietnamese Defense Ministry said the armored vehicle was being held inside Cambodian territory. No mention was made of reports that a number of Vietnamese were captured.

The clash took place on the frontier 40 miles northwest of Saigon, an area where U.S. advisers say the Communists are openly using Prince Norodom Sihanouk's neutralist nation for sanctuary.

Six weeks ago, Cambodian fighter planes downed a U.S.-piloted spotter plane following an attack by Vietnamese ground forces on a Cambodian border village. The American pilot was seriously injured and his Vietnamese observer killed.

Premier Nguyen Khanh's government protested downing of the plane but apologized for the attack on the village.

Viet Nam and Cambodia are to start negotiations about their poorly defined border. The French rulers of Indochina left the frontier vague when they granted the former colonies independence in 1954.

The U.S. State Department said no Americans were involved in the latest clash.

Heston Returns Salary For Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Charlton Heston has broken all the Hollywood rules by returning his salary, estimated at $300,000, for the filming of "Major Dundee."

He returned the money to Columbia because he said his concept of how several scenes should be shot caused the movie to go 11 days and $300,000 over the budget.

CHOSEN BY Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith, 2705 Crestline, is their daughter, China Dale, who came to live with them when she was two days old. China was born Jan. 14, 1963, on Mrs. Smith's birthday, and has proven to be a perfect gift. At right is her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Faye Rhodes of Stanton.

DURING OFFICE hours, Dr. Louise Worthy devotes her energies to the care of children belonging to others. In the evening when she returns home she can find three youngsters of her own waiting at the end of the lane. Not last week, however, for Jeb, 4, and Roy, 2, were visiting in Donie with their paternal grandmother, Mrs. Roy Worthy. Ann, 6, remained at home and relished the idea of having her mother all to herself as they chat in patio swings. The tail-wagging greeter is the family pet, Nipper.

THE MORE the merrier during storytime at the Garner McAdams' residence, 1313 Dixie. Mrs. McAdams, left, reads to her grandson, Keith DeWayne, as his mother, Mrs. Jenie Nootbaar, listens to the story. Well able to keep him enthralled with tales of her own experiences is his great-grandmother, Mrs. H. H. Squyres, right.

MRS. GARY LEE POWERS

Chapel Rites Unite Couple

Wedding vows were pledged Friday evening in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base by Miss Sandra Louise Thornton and Airman 1C Gary Lee Powers. Chaplain Benjamin F. Meacham performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geary Thornton, 1209 W. 2nd, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Powers, 439 Seneca, Louisville, Ky.

Louis Burcham gave his sister-in-law in marriage and Hubert Murphy sang "A Wedding Prayer" and "Because." He was accompanied by Mrs. Robert Heinze at the organ.

FORMAL GOWN

The bride's gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace trimmed with seed pearls and sequins and long pointed sleeves. The skirt of tulle was overlaid with a three-tiered skirt of tulle and Chantilly lace. The elbow length veil was attached to a tiara of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations atop a white Bible belonging to Cheryl Dean Burcham.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Jim Boyett, wore a pale blue taffeta gown fashioned with a U-neckline and a belted skirt. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Miss Patsy McElyea, bridesmaid, wore a similar blue taffeta frock.

Airman 2C Bud Clifford Corbin served as best man and groomsmen were Airman 1C Benjamin Matthews and Airman 1C Wayne Lee Elgin.

The bride's travel costume was a pink eyelid embroidered frock and she wore a corsage from the bridal bouquet. Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the couple will be at home at 504 Presidio.

The bride attended Big Spring High School and the bridegroom attended Male High School in Louisville. He is now stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Louis Burcham, 2311 Mishler. Guests were received by the bride and groom, the bride's mother, and the feminine attendants.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decked with pink roses. Miss McElyea and Mrs. Boyett served.

Miss Lillie Faye Massey registered guests, and house party members were Mr. and Mrs. Boyett, Miss McElyea, Mrs. Alice Holt and Mrs. Leon Pettit.

Contestants Vie For Cotton Maid Title

One lucky teen-ager out of 28 will win the title of Maid of Cotton in Big Spring this week. She will be crowned at the Howard County Cotton Pageant Thursday in the Municipal Auditorium.

The variety show and beauty pageant will be presented by the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The pageant is in conjunction with the celebration of Howard County Cotton Week, and will be given at 8 p.m. under the direction of Malcolm Patterson.

Mrs. Leland Graves is serving as coordinator of the beauty contest and will hold an orientation meeting for the contestants Monday evening at the First National Bank. Others who will help with the arrangements are Mrs. Jack Orr, Mrs. Jack Taylor, Mrs. Wade Choate and Mrs. Jimmy Taylor.

Entertainment scheduled for the show will include vocal selections by Miss Charlotte Anders and Mrs. F. Van Jones.

Joint Celebration Held At Castles

KNOTT (SC) — Mrs. Tom Castle honored her husband and Mrs. Estell Hopper of Big Spring with a birthday dinner Sunday.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Airhart and girls of Sparenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fryar and boys of Stanton, and Mrs. Eddie Grisom and children, Mrs. Lola Page and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barn all of Big Spring.

Fraser's Are Hosts

COAHOMA (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fraser had visiting in their home this weekend their friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Corley, of Anson.

Mrs. George Grimms of South Fork, Colo. is visiting in Sand Springs with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lepard.

Barbara Parrish daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Parrish, was discharged from the WAVES on March 24. She returned home Tuesday from Syracuse, N. Y.

The Coahoma Bridge Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Charles Parrish with eight members present. Mrs. E. L. Collier held high score, Mrs. Marion Hays won second high and Mrs. Shirley Lee held low score. Mrs. Jack Taylor was a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Bell of Ranger, the parents of Mrs. Herbert Love, are here for an extended visit.

Mrs. Fenton Best of Abilene, mother of V. E. Best, will move here this week from Abilene.

Arriving this weekend from Eatontown, N. J., is Mrs. Weldon Appleton who will have a two-week visit with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Appleton, of Vincent.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hale had as guests this weekend, Mrs. A. W. Yell of Brownwood, Mrs. N. T. Gault and Melinda of Miles, Mr. H. L. Stamps, Mrs. George Holden, Mrs. Ruth Shives, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Calahan and sons, Ken and Howard. The occasion was to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Stamps.

Job Hunter Needs Suit

LONDON (AP) — When your son sets out to find his first job, buy him a job-hunting suit.

Who says so? Britain's Federation of Clothing Manufacturers.

In a statement the federation explained:

"It is a matter of some puzzlement that parents who know the psychological flip of putting on their best clothes, should carelessly expect their sons to meet the first challenge of adult life handicapped by the lack of a decent suit."

The statement said employment managers don't like applicants in baggy trousers, patched elbows and unpolished shoes.

Gives Cheer

Mrs. William Funderburg, of Family Services, presents a color book to a hospital patient.

Assistance Available At Family Services

Assistance to service families may have started back in the 1920's when the first Air Force officers' wives' club was organized. As the clubs grew, greater emphasis was placed on welfare projects, and most clubs had a welfare committee, and later a personal services committee.

Their activities prompted the Air Force to recognize dependent assistance officially in 1949. In 1952 at the urging of the SAC, USAF designated Eighth Air Force as the pilot organization to develop and test an expanded dependent assistance program. During the next year, as they developed an orientation course for wives, they trained wives who worked as volunteers welcoming newcomers, handling emergencies in the family, and performing office work in the dependents assistance center.

Later the Dependents Assistance became known as the Family Service Center.

It informs dependents of military personnel of the services provided on the base, in the community, and by volunteer organizations, ease the problems and difficulties encountered by military personnel and their families due to permanent change of station or during periods of temporary duty; and indoctrinate, by means of the dependents' orientation course, all wives in matters affecting their security and welfare. Also, it trains wives who participate in the volunteer program.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MARILYN WILSON

Class 65-C enjoyed a Boney Party last Saturday at the base pavilion concluding the T-37 phase of training. The IPs and their wives were guests. A water safety award was presented to Capt. F. J. Loftus, and gifts were also presented to the IPs. The men participated in a game of softball.

An informal dinner party, honoring Capt. L. W. Babcock, was enjoyed last weekend by his associates and friends in DCT, in the home of Col. and Mrs. E. L. Masters. Col. and Mrs. A. F. Taut were special guests.

Mr. Louis Jalving, from Detroit, Mich., is visiting in the home of Lt. John Arnold, with his daughter, Mrs. Arnold, following a business trip which took him to San Antonio.

TO DENMARK

Mrs. V. G. Nelson was treated to a lunch at the Spanish Inn Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. S. P. Colquitt, Mrs. Bill Largent, Mrs. Ivan Crane, and Mrs. H. L. Kimsley. A floral arrangement, centered with "Bon Voyage," and individual gifts were presented to Inga, as she is flying with her two children to Denmark to visit her family for six weeks. She plans to stop off at the World's Fair.

Mrs. Bill Largent was the guest of honor at a recent baby shower in the home of Mrs. W. G. Daoust. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Sam Colquitt and Mrs. Fred Zerbe.

Capt. and Mrs. Ulay Littleton entertained 40 guests at a buffet dinner last weekend, honored guests were Maj. and Mrs. Keith Hill, who leave this weekend for Ramstein AB, Germany. A large walnut executive yo-yo was presented to Capt. Littleton as the occasion also celebrated his birthday.

A recent open house was enjoyed by couples from White Flight, in the home of Capt. and Mrs. Dalton Livingston. Punch, cheeses and caviar were served. Instead of a midnight breakfast, strawberry shortcake was provided at 3 a.m. for the weary guests.

HILLS HONORED

Maj. and Mrs. Keith Hill were honored at a dinner party in the home of Capt. and Mrs. Frank Loftus last Sunday. The Hills were guests of Capt. and Mrs. R. H. Hartzog as they dined at the Cross-Keys last Saturday. They presented Mrs. Hill with an orchid, and a "Fieldings Guide to Europe" to the couple. The remainder of the evening was spent at the solo party for Class 65-E, in the home of Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth Munro.

The newly elected OWC Executive Board is comprised of the following ladies: president, Mrs. R. H. Hartzog Jr.; first vice president, Mrs. A. J. Grill; second vice president, Mrs. Roger Counts; third vice president, Mrs. Dwight Hartzell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. W. Green; recording secretary, Mrs. John G. Short; treasurer, Mrs. R. J. Kasher; and assistant treasurer, Mrs. Al Swearingen.

Mrs. J. L. (Sally) Hudson Jr., AM 3-6438, will assume the duties of publicity chairman, and will thereby be writing the two women's columns. If you will continue to support her, you will see your news as you have me, she will be very appreciative. Thank you much, I've enjoyed serving you. Happy Mother's Day!

MRS. WOODROW THOMAS RUTLEDGE JR.

Rutledge, Armstrong Nuptials Performed

The marriage of Miss Patricia Joy Armstrong and Woodrow Thomas Rutledge Jr. was solemnized Saturday evening at the East Fourth Baptist Church. The Rev. Billy Rudd performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Moore, 2410 Scurry, and Albert E. Armstrong, Rising Sun, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Rutledge, 604 Scurry, are the bridegroom's parents.

Mike Moore Jr. gave his sister in marriage and presented her at the altar which was centered with arched candelabra and flanked with the traditional seven-branched taper holders. Banks of gladioli and chrysanthemums accented the arrangement.

Traditional wedding music was presented and Miss Karen Kee sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride's gown of white peau de soie was a floor length sheath topped with a short jacket of Chantilly lace fashioned with short sleeves, scalloped hemline and a Sabrina neckline. The finger-tip length veil of silk illusion cascaded from a pillbox adorned with lilies of the valley. She carried a cascade arrangement of white gladioli and satin leaves.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Mozelle Natalie Groehl served as maid of honor in a floor length gown of candle light yellow peau de soie and a matching jacket. She wore yellow slippers and bandeau. Other attendants, identically gowned, were Miss Kathy Johnson, Miss Muriel Ann Berset, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Don McCown. Each carried a single long-stemmed yellow rose tied with matching satin.

W. Alf Cobb served as best man, and groomsmen were Tom Hodnett of Vincent, Carey King and Ronnie Clanton. Ushers were James Napper of San Angelo, Eddie Everett and Jerry Kilgore. Russell Paul Rutledge lighted the altar tapers.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the bride wore a semi-fitted two-piece linen suit in white with white patent accessories. She wore the center corsage from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is a student at the University of Texas, Austin. The bridegroom, a graduate of Big Spring High School, attended North Texas State University at Denton and is presently employed with Halliburton Co. The couple will be at home in Big Spring and attend college in the fall.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in Fellowship Hall following the ceremony and guests were received by the bridal couple, the bride's mother, bridal attendants and the bridegroom's parents. Mrs. Ronald G. Leatherman, sister of the bridegroom, had charge of the register. House party members were Mrs. Billy D. Miller, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Ronnie Clanton and Mrs. Carey King.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth over yellow and centered with swirled gold

Birthday Session For Kimberly Hall

Kimberly Hall was feted on her fifth birthday with a party. The group attended the Thing-a-ma-bob show preceding refreshments served at the home of the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. S. G. Peach, 2503 Larry.

Cohostesses were Mrs. W. M. Hall, Mrs. Oscar Glickman, Martha Glickman, Maxine Myers, Sonia Peach, Gayle Johnston, Jerri Loigren and Bobbie Wellborn.

Twenty-five guests were served at a table decorated with balloons and a cake topped with miniature characters from "Alice In Wonderland."

Autos Studied By HD Clubs

Car maintenance was the main program study for home demonstration clubs in the community this week. Special emphasis was given to the recognition of engine trouble.

One group held a white elephant sale as a fund raising project.

AIRPORT CLUB
Mrs. E. A. Jones, 1315 Mount Vernon, was hostess to 14 members of the Airport Home Demonstration Club Tuesday. Mrs. Vern Vigar presented the program on car maintenance and presided at the business session.

Mrs. Vigar gave a report on family life in Russia that was presented recently at the district meeting in Floydada. Mrs. Ernest Miller reported on the council meeting, and Mrs. W. M. Dorough worded the devotion.

Women Entering Prospecting Area

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—If you can't sleep, need a new outlook on life and would like some excitement, try prospecting.

This is the advice given by the only two women prospectors in Saskatchewan's Northland.

Both are grandmothers, have been prospecting for about five years and agree the chances of getting rich are slim. They also agree it's a great life.

To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Slater H. Johnson of Lamesa announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Beth, to Jack Cohorn. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Cohorn, also of Lamesa. The wedding date is Aug. 1 in the First Methodist Church.

Sets Date

Miss Janice Sue Lippard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lippard of Lamesa, is betrothed to Scott Schroeder Morris, son of Cmdr. and Mrs. George E. Morris Jr. of St. Petersburg, Fla. The couple plan to marry Aug. 8 in the First Methodist Church.

Summer Bride

Miss Shirley Dianne Huse and Carl Bennett Jones will be married July 8 in Grace Lutheran Church in Lamesa. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Huse, Lamesa, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones of San Antonio.

Announces Plans

Miss Wanda Jean Taylor, daughter of A. J. Taylor, of Lamesa, is engaged to marry William E. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jackson of Brownfield. The wedding is scheduled June 13 in the Midway Baptist Church.

Week Of Recognition Honors Texas Nurses

The people of Texas will have an opportunity to give recognition to nurses throughout the state today and throughout the week. This week has been set aside by Governor John Connally so that we may pay tribute to these fellow Texans who are constantly seeking to improve nursing and its service to the people of our state. The week was chosen because it is the birthdate of Florence Nightingale, and during this period National Hospital Week will also be observed.

In Big Spring, the Texas Nurses Association, District 24, will have a reception next Sunday, May 17 as a climax to the observance. The affair will be held in the Howard County Junior College Student Union Building from 2 to 4 p.m. in honor of Miss Elizabeth Hines who has been a professional nurse for over 40 years. Assisting with the reception will be members of the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association District 25.

A spokesman for the Texas Nurses Association says, "The severe shortage of nurses is a complicated story. We have more nurses than we have ever had before, and yet our shortage is graver than it has ever been."

"Despite the increasing numbers of nurses in practice, the demand for nursing service is increasing even faster. For years now, it has been the old story of having to run faster just to stand still. The reasons for the shortage are many. Rising rates of hospitalization, growth in public and voluntary health agencies, increased employment of nurses in settings other than hospitals and institutions — doctor's offices in schools, industry—all of these have so expanded the demand for nursing services that the shortage has become a critical national problem.

"Today's shortage of nurses is frightening but tomorrow's could be even more so. According to the recent report on nursing to the U.S. Surgeon General, the shortage of all nurses, both in hospitals and other fields, will be much greater by 1970, if we do not take preventive action now. The group which studied the problems for two years estimated that we should have 850,000 RN's by 1970. They suggested that to meet minimum needs for nursing service at that time would require at least 680,000 professional nurses."

Wins Title In Region

COLLEGE STATION (SC)—A top honor has been won by Mrs. J. H. Johnston, Tom Green County homemaker living at Water Valley. She has been named 1964 Champion Conservation Homemaker for Region 2.

This regional award is part of the annual "Save the Soil and Save Texas" program, sponsored by the Fort Worth Press in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and other groups.

Mrs. Johnston and other Region 2 winners will be honored at a program in San Saba, May 9. Wife of a rancher and mother of two boys, Mrs. Johnston considers soil and water conservation a moral responsibility of every landowner. "We hope we are teaching this idea to our sons, John, 14, and Billy, 11," she explained.

The Johnstons operate 2,700 acres of their own land and lease another 4,000 acres in Sterling, Coke and Tom Green counties. They are constantly seeking methods for improving the ranch by controlling mesquite and prickly pear, drilling water wells, adding stock tanks and improving fencing.

PLANNING "With so many activities competing for people's time, today's family has little opportunity to be together unless some planning is done. The things we do together have been planned by the entire family. We try to use our time wisely. The boys are encouraged to make the best possible grades in school and choose their other activities with this in mind. The boys are learning money management from funds they earn during summers and on weekends," the homemaker explained.

Quality often is more important in household purchases than price, Mrs. Johnston explained. She practices economy in her household management, and plans purchases carefully.

Planning for the family's clothing helps to make for wiser buying. In caring for the clothing, Mrs. Johnston finds it more practical to launder twice a week. She uses the automatic dry-cleaning method to clean garments before storage, then has each garment pressed professionally when taken from storage.

Typifies Profession

Miss Fredda Bonfield, daughter of Mrs. Julia Bonfield, 608 W. 18th, is typical of the dedicated young women who are entering the field of nursing. Miss Bonfield took her first two years training at the University of Texas in Austin and is shown during the capping ceremony at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston where she is completing her training.

Baptist Girls Entertain At Mother's Day Party

WESTBROOK (SC)—The Intermediate Girls' Sunday School Class of the Baptist Church entertained their mothers with a salad supper in Fellowship Hall on Wednesday. Colors of red and white were carried out in table decorations.

Invocation was given by Patricia Bell and Mrs. Herman Parsons, teacher of the class.

Mother of the evening was Mrs. Herman Sullivan who was presented with a vase.

Missionary Society Sees Panel Program

The Kate Morrison Circle presented a Royal Service program in the form of a panel show at the general meeting Tuesday of the Woman's Missionary Society of East Fourth Baptist Church.

Mrs. Jim Hatler was the moderator who interviewed women representing missionaries in different countries. Participants and the countries were Mrs. Elmer Dickens, Argentina; Mrs. Arnold Tonn, Chile; Mrs. Rafer Dunagan, Paraguay; and Mrs. Jim Barrett, Uruguay. The interviews stressed the need of prayer and financial support for missionaries in the field.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Don Cannon leading the singing of "The Morning Light Is Breaking" followed by a devotion by Mrs. Harold Cain. The call to prayer was given by Mrs. Billy Rudd and the prayers led by Mrs. T. B. Clifton and Mrs. Hatler. Mrs. R. E. Wilson presided as Mrs. Monroe Casey was named reporter. Also, a nominating committee was selected. Members agreed to express their appreciation to Rev. Billy Rudd by taking meals to the Ruddle home three days next week. Rev. Rudd has been serving the church as interim pastor. The Rev. L. D. Green began his pastorate here last Sunday.

Plans were made to allow Mrs. Clifton to take flowers used in the church on Sundays to a local hospital immediately following the services. The crown for having the most members present from one circle went to Mrs. Cannon, chairman of the Judy Burdette Circle. Refreshments were served to 28, including two visitors, Mrs. L. D. Green and Mrs. Ken Davidson.

A program will be conducted at the Veteran's Administration Hospital Saturday evening by the Judy Burdette Circle. The executive committee met at 1:30 p.m., preceding the Royal Service program, to discuss recommendations to present to the WMU.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Friends have received word that LINDA LLOYD, 13-year-old Goliad Junior High student, is doing well after surgery on her back Tuesday. Her parents, MR. and MRS. JUDSON LLOYD, 1007 E. 15th St., are with her at Methodist Hospital in Houston. Her room number is 565.

DR. and MRS. H. F. SCHWARZENBACH and their children were in Lubbock Saturday to see the track meet in which their son and brother, John (Red) Schwarzenbach participated for Texas A and M University.

MR. and MRS. WALTER MOORE and Nancy, who is an NTSU student, are in College Station today to visit their son and brother, Larry. Mrs. Moore also attended the A and M Mother's Club activities.

MRS. D. P. THOMPSON is also in College Station for the A and M Mother's Club meeting and to visit her son who is a student there.

MR. and MRS. L. B. NEWMAN JR., are here for the day from Lubbock to visit her parents, MR. and MRS. ROGERS HEFLEY.

Since the RAYMOND SHELLYS arrived here by train Wednesday from their home in Williamsburg, Pa., the weather has run the gamut from plain wind, wind with sand to wind with sand, rain and hail. But Mrs. Shelly says she has been through coal dust and mill dust and she finds sand dust preferable.

The Shellys are visiting their son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. GALEN SHELLY and plan to be here several weeks. Mr. Shelly had visited here 11 years ago but this is the first trip for Mrs. Shelly.

ALBERT POLACEK is doing well at Howard County Hospital Foundation, following eye surgery a week ago. Mr. and Mrs. Polacek make their home in Jal, N. M.

MR. and MRS. BUEL FOX and MR. and MRS. GROVER WILEY are in Roscoe today to spend Mother's Day with Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Wileys' mother, MRS. HOLA CHILDERS.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES B. ARNOLD and their seven-month-old daughter, Andrea, of Monahans, have spent the weekend here with his parents, MR. and Mrs. C. B. ARNOLD. Mr. Arnold is head of the math department of Monahans High School.

TOM HODNETT, son of MR. and MRS. JIM HODNETT of Coahoma, is visiting his parents this weekend. He is in college in Denton.

MR. and MRS. G. A. LEWALLEN and MR. and MRS. H. L. WRIGHT are in Lubbock today for a special Mother's Day luncheon at the home of their children, MR. and MRS. DOYLE LEWALLEN, 1525 29th St.

MR. and MRS. BILL CROOKER and their children, Karen, Billy and Dorrie, and Karen's guest, Denise Head, have been in Fort Worth since Wednesday for the Colonial Golf Tournament.

The RELERCE JONESES and MRS. MAMIE LEE DODDS were thrilled to hear their children, MR. and MRS. ART DODDS are getting a trip to Kiwanis International in Los Angeles this June. Art's name was drawn for the free trip at a meeting of the Bay City Kiwanis Club where he has been a member only a short time.

The grandparents and great-grandparents, MR. and MRS. A. E. TRUE, are going to keep the little Doddses, Kerry and Dennis. Dodds is minister of music and youth at the Bay City First Baptist Church.

MR. and MRS. C. W. MAHONEY are in Dallas this weekend attending a cotton buyers meeting.

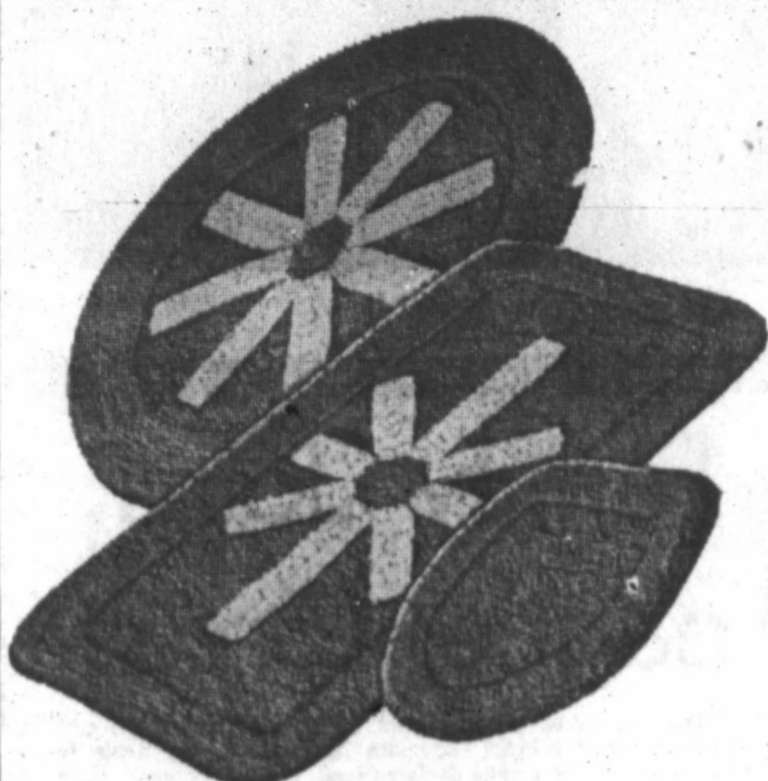

The LEROY HOLLINGSHEAD family is in Robert Lee visiting her parents, MR. and MRS. C. J. BROOKS.

MR. and MRS. LARSON LLOYD and their children, Larson Jr., and Lisa Ann, are in Dallas visiting the McAdams grandparents who got their first glimpse of Lisa Ann this visit.

MRS. CLYDE ANGEL is in Houston with her daughter-in-law, MRS. ROBERT ANGEL, who underwent surgery Saturday.

Miss Betty Gibson Weds T. W. French

Miss Betty Marlene Gibson and Thomas W. French Jr. exchanged wedding vows Friday evening in the Church of Christ at Ackerly. J. B. Hudson, Church of Christ minister at Roscoe, performed the nuptial rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Gibson, Ackerly, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. T. W. French Sr. of Taft.

The ceremony was performed before an arch of greenery and pink roses flanked by candelabra and baskets of palm leaves. Pews were marked with cathedral tapers tied with white satin bows.

Wedding selections were sung by Mrs. Lonnie Kemp, Mrs. Don Floyd, Mrs. Warren Zant, Mrs. Jerry Hall, Mrs. Tommy Horten, Mrs. Arlen White and Mrs. Bob Hunt. The numbers were "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "Wedding March."

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. Her formal white satin sheath was appliqued with Chantilly lace, and the gown featured a rounded neckline, petal point sleeves and a detachable chapel train. Her waist length veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and sequins. She wore an antique gold bracelet belonging to her grandmother and a blue garter made by Mrs. Curtis White of Ackerly.

The bridal bouquet was a white orchid encircled with pink Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Don Gibson of Lamesa, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor. Her rose pink satin dress was sleeveless and styled with rounded neckline and belted skirt.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Phil Wallace, Seminole, and Mrs. Mike Holcomb, Tarzan. Their dresses were of pale pink and styled identically to that of the matron of honor. Each carried a nosegay of pink feathered asters, and wore headbands of pink organza trimmed with white lace.

The best man was Don Gibson, of Lamesa, brother of the bride. Groomsman were Phil Wallace of Seminole and Pat Grigg, Ackerly. Ushers were Ed Billingsby, Ackerly, and Bruce Barrow, Taft. Flower girls and their escorts were Mary Kay Hunt, Gene Keith Bray, Marsha Dyer and Clifton Glen Grigg. Ring-bearers were Rodney Turner and Kathy Mahaney. Terry Davis, a cousin of the bride, and Eddy Herm.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Kemp in Ackerly. Receiving guests with the bridal couple were their parents.

The pink net cloth covering the bride's table was caught at the corners with wedding bells. The centerpiece was formed of pink roses and appointments were of milk glass. The white, three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Guests were registered by Miss Dawn Springfield of Ackerly. Members of the house party were Mrs. Lonnie Kemp, Mrs.

MRS. THOMAS W. FRENCH JR.

Ruby Allred and Mrs. Kennie Reese. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Barrow Jr., Taft; Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Davis and Mrs. Edgar Halton and Pam, Loraine; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gibson, Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Smith Jones and daughters, Roscoe; and Dr. and Mrs. Joe K. Neff, Big Spring.

WEDDING TRIP

For a wedding trip to points in South Texas, the bride wore a navy blue sheath with light blue tunic and white accessories. She used the corsage from her

Mustache Rage Hits

NEW YORK (AP) — Wives may be faced with a ticklish situation soon. The mustache—big and bushy—is on its way back.

Members of the barbers' unions as well as representatives of the trade press say it has been a gradual growing style for the past year, and indeed it may be a compromise between the beard enthusiasts and the clean shaven clans.

The clue that American males are following is the bristly path across the lip is the growing interest in all things Victorian, cited as the increasing number of Victorian-decorated restaurants, and in men's clothes slim trousers, colorful jackets and striped shirts.

What do women think of this? Apparently they like mustaches, barbering authorities agree. Otherwise, the brush would come off.

Use Wire Base

To make flowers stay put in almost any kind of wide-mouthed container, place crushed chicken wire in the bottom.

Keller Family Joins Little League Circuit

By MARY COCHRAN

The cry—"Play ball!"—is as much a harbinger of spring as the first robin. When the call went out in the Little League set in Big Spring there were some receptive ears at the Ronald L. Keller home at 2606 Carleton.

Though the Kellers have been in Big Spring only one month, they have already joined forces with the Webb Tigers Little League team and S. Sgt. Keller has taken on the job of helping coach the group. The oldest son, Ronald, 8, is a team member, and DeWayne, 5, assists as water boy.

Mrs. Keller, Clayton, 3, and Charles, 2, serve as a family cheering squad. Sports figure heavily in the family interests. At the present time Mrs. Keller is a bowling enthusiast and Sgt. Keller is warming up on the first tee at the golf course every time he gets the chance.

Sgt. Keller has been an active sports participant since his childhood days. In his youth, he performed at several schools for his father was a military career man and Keller moved many times in his role as "army brat." One tour of duty took the family to Japan where Keller received schooling in Tokyo from 1947 through '49.

Mrs. Keller is a native of Portland, Ore., where she had the opportunity to learn many water sports. She prefers skiing and swimming. The couple became fascinated with hydroplane racing while they were living in Washington when he was stationed at McCord Air Force Base. They were out at the lake front or entrenched in front of the television set every time any of the big racing events occurred. It is a sport that makes the heart race with excitement, the couple declares.

He is in the procurement office with the 3560th Air Base Group at Webb Air Force Base. He came here from Marillo where he served as an instructor. Sandia Base at Albuquerque was another assignment he has had during his 10 years with the military. He served in Korea in 1954 and 1955 in the combat zone but escaped the fighting period.

Hand crafts are a special hobby of Mrs. Keller. She has two hand looms at home on which she produces hand woven gifts for friends and family. One of those looms is a hand built model presented to her by her husband's grandfather. This interest began when, in her senior year in high school, she attended the Virginia Intermont College at Bristol, Va. Following a period of instruction she qualified as an instructor and has taught arts and crafts in city park programs.

St. Mary's Episcopal Church is the family worship home and she has affiliated with St. Monica's Guild.

The Kellers like the Southwest and have become thoroughly acclimated to the warmer weather

25th Year Celebrated At Dinner

WESTBROOK (SC)—The May Fellowship Dinner of Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church was held Monday evening in Fellowship Hall. The salad dinner also marked the 25th anniversary of the WSCS of the local church.

The program consisted of a welcome by Mrs. Bill Rees, president. Mrs. C. T. Jackson gave the invocation. Talks were given on "Our Heritage" by Mrs. Leroy Gressett and "Our Future" by Mrs. Price Hendrix. Special music was given by Mrs. Rees and Mrs. Leroy Messimer. Mrs. Frank Oglesby led responsive reading and the program closed by the group repeating the motto.

Pink and silver were carried out in table decorations. Approximately 25 members and visitors from Bailey Chapel Church and Big Spring attended.

Point Of Interest Aids Arrangement

Any artistic composition should have a point of interest to which the eye is led. In a good flower arrangement, this focal point should be placed low, with all flower stems seeming to point to it. Ways to achieve a focal point include contrast in flower color or form, and by placing flowers closer together at the focal point.

Cotton Responsible For Most Of Farm Income

Gross average income derived by Howard County from agriculture annually is in the neighborhood of $9,500,000. Of this income, $6,500,000 is produced by cotton.

Cotton is the basic source of income for the majority of Howard County's farmers, and more than a third of all the tillable land on the 755 farms in the county is planted to this staple. Total land in farms in this county is 184,140 acres. Each year, even with cotton allotment programs, Howard County farmers plant an average of 75,000 acres to cotton. From this acreage, they produce cotton and cotton seed to earn an income of more than $6.5 million annually.

MOSTLY COTTON
Agriculture is sharply restricted in this county. Field grains are the only other farm crop of economic importance. Field grains bring in about $750,000 annually to farmers of the county.

In second place, dollarwise, is livestock. In Howard County, livestock accounts for $1.5 million of the gross income of $9.5 million which agriculture produces.

It will seem, therefore that three-quarters of the total farm income in this county comes from cotton.

Howard County farmers cultivate large areas as is necessary in dry land cotton cultivation. There are 755 farms (the number of cotton allotments) in the county. These average 950 acres each.

604 FAMILIES
There are 604 families (owners) living on farms and ranches in this county. Assuming an average of 3.2 persons per family, the farm population is approximately 2,000.

Cotton prosperity, of course, is dependent heavily on the weather. A dry year or a year with sand storms and hail and high winds, can diminish the cotton production to the point where there is no income at all.

A good year, such as prevailed in 1963, when the farmers of the county had 69,408 acres planted to cotton, means prosperity for farmers and reflected prosperity for merchants, banker, automobile dealers—everyone. Last year's cotton crop hit nearly 44,000 bales—not a record, by any means, but a good crop. The economic situation was further benefited by the relatively small damage caused by insects. In years when the "bugs" are exceptionally numerous and hungry the farmer has to spend large amounts to fight the pests if he is to save his crop. This means shorter profits; less prosperity.

ALLOTMENT UP
In 1964, the cotton allotment for the county is 72,000 acres. So far, the cotton prospects for this fall do not look too bright. There was a sharp lack of rain in the fall and the dry weather has held over into the late spring.

Farmers are beginning to worry. If it rains, they say, before June 1, the picture can be completely changed. If there is no appreciable rains before that date the prospects for cotton production will begin to dim.

OUTPUT VARIES
Cotton production in Howard County since 1910 has varied widely from year to year. In 1949, the crop hit 59,300 bales, an all time high. Two years later—1952—the total production was only 1,200 bales.

In 1956, another dry year the crop was 2,500 bales.

In 1961, the farmers gained 45,737 bales and in 1962, they saw the crop drop almost 50 per cent to 28,890 bales.

How well Big Spring does, from a business standpoint, is often an issue determined by how well the cotton farmers are doing.

King Cotton continues to rule in Howard County and his rule has done much to bring about the development of this county to its present highly prosperous state.

Cotton King This Week

Producers, merchants, buyers, and service businesses are joining in the observance of National Cotton Week, Monday through Saturday, calling attention to one of the mainstays of this area's economy.

County Judge Lee Porter and Mayor George Zachariah have jointly proclaimed it National Cotton Week and have urged residents to consider the role of cotton not only in our economy but in our wardrobes.

Monday, bales of cotton will be distributed over the downtown business district and on the courthouse lawn through courtesy of the Big Spring Compress Company to remind shoppers that this indeed is a week of cotton.

Several civic and other clubs will have programs which deal with various phases of the cotton industry.

Climax of the week will come on Thursday when there will be a variety program — real family entertainment — at the City Auditorium. One of the highlights will be a Maid of Cotton contest, and another will be the distribution of $1,056 in cotton merchandise and cash prizes.

There is no admission charge for this show being arranged by the Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee.

"Any industry which averages pumping more than six million dollars a year into local economy is certainly basic," said the proclamation by Judge Porter and Mayor Zachariah. "Cotton not only does this, but it probably affects directly and indirectly more individuals than any other single product of trade in our county."

"Moreover, cotton is the base fiber for some of the finest, the most versatile, the most beautiful, the coolest and most comfortable materials available today. What better way could we support this industry so important to us all than to make this week a time for reaffirming our faith and interest through purchase of cotton goods."

Howard County has over 515 cotton farms and will plant, weather permitting, over 72,000 acres of cotton this year. In addition, there are over 25 Big Spring firms (plus at least a dozen others in the county) which serve cotton farmers directly during part of the year. A survey has shown 173 items are handled by another 25 businesses or professions which utilize cotton in some way.

For years National Cotton Week has received almost token attention here, but the chamber's agriculture committee is hoping that this will be the beginning of a concerted effort to recognize cotton for what it means to this region.

Fiber You Can Trust

The flow of so-called "miracle fibers" never ceases from the test tubes of scientists. The promises held out by their promoters are dazzling. These dreams, however, often literally melt for the housewife when she subjects the "miracle" to laundering in water hot enough to get it clean and to a hot iron.

There is one fiber, however, the quality of which has been proved through 5,000 years of testing in every sort of climate under every sort of condition. It's cotton — the fiber you can trust. This is a good reason why, despite competition, cotton still accounts for a higher percentage of the fiber market than all of the "miracles" jumped together.

The consumer doesn't have to read the fine print when she buys a one hundred per cent cotton product. She knows it will be comfortable and fresh — not sticky in hot weather or clammy in cold. She knows it's strong, will wear well and still look like new.

Cottons do not shy away from washers, dryers, or hot irons. They're completely washable. Cotton takes dyes well and keeps them. New prints, patterns, and textures have been designed to give it new faces, high style, and man has improved its inherent qualities through chemical processes.

County Production

This table reflects how cotton has shown an increasingly important role in Howard County's agriculture from 1910-36, and then its stabilizing influence every year since then. For the past 20 years, cotton production has averaged over 28,000 bales for the county, varying from 1,200 to nearly 60,000 bales.

This is the record:

Year	Bales	1949
1910	1,546	59,374
1916	4,647	47,781
1926	28,014	45,000

Influence Now In Fashions

The Scandinavian influence — which brought clean styling and the uncluttered look to home furnishings — is now showing up in fashion, according to the National Cotton Council.

It's the keynote of a new American fashion collection called the "Old World" group. Adapted from styles originating in Finland, it features dresses that are ultra-simple yet sophisticated. Imaginative variations on the shift, they are in basic shapes ranging from little girl smocks to low-waisted shifts with ruffled flounces.

In cottons with a homespun look, many feature handcraft touches of embroidery and tucking. Prints look hand-screened and colors are either brilliant or subtle, but always offbeat. These Old World-influenced cottons are especially popular with coes, who like their individual styling and comfort.

Revolution In The Cotton Patch

Technology is coming to the cotton patch as well as to the cotton fabric laboratories. One of the major revolutions of modern times in this area is in the mechanization of cotton cultivation and harvest. Not so many years ago nearly all of the crop was harvested by pickers and pullers. Today, about three-fourths of the crop is being gathered by mechanical pickers or strippers (such as below). While it has affected the working force, it has given the farmer more net.

Battle To Control Insects Is Endless

Insect damage to the county's cotton crops was not as much a problem last year as it was in 1962, but farmers became apprehensive over reports of the dreaded boll weevil.

The boll weevil was not seen in the county last year until September and October. Thus, his presence was too late in the growing year to cause any significant damage to cotton crops, but his appearance was enough to chill farmers.

A combination of limited rainfall and insect damage cut the yield of the county's 515 cotton farms from 45,757 bales in 1961 to 26,890 bales in 1962. Although the acreage planted was about the same in both years, the harvest in numbers of cotton bales was off about 19,000.

The harvest was back up to normal last year, or maybe a little higher than usual, as 71,498 acres yielded about 45,000 bales. Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said the recovery is explained partly by a better distribution of rainfall last year. The average per acre yield of cotton lint in any given year is 312 pounds.

INSECTS VARY

Helbig said damage from particular types of insects varies over the years. For instance, in 1963, Howard County farms were hit hardest by the tobacco bud worm. The previous year, the Beet army worm gave the most trouble.

Howard County does not have the problem of insect damage that many other counties in the state have. However, area farmers can usually count on a fight, at one time or another, against the two types of insects previously mentioned as well as thrips, fleahoppers and boll worms.

Boll worms and the tobacco bud worm attack the boll itself. Flea hoppers invade the tiny squares on the plant, and thrips suck the juice from the leaves of the plant. Beet army worms infest the foliage, blooms and small bolls.

Dry land farmers combat these insects with dust or liquid sprays, applied with mechanical devices. Helbig said the trend is to liquid sprays. It would be uneconomical to spray the insecticides from airplanes on dry land farms, he said.

Helbig said DDT and toxaphene insecticides have been effective against all of the insects, but greater dosages are required for the harder insects. Government researchers are developing new insecticides all

Keeps Crease But Sheds Wrinkles

Cotton garments that shed wrinkles but not set-in creases and pleats are now possible because of a new chemical finishing process.

The National Cotton Council reports that research has found a way to put permanent pleats and creases in wash-wear cottons through a process called "deferred curing."

By curing the wash-wear finish after the garment has been cut, sewn, and pressed to shape, creases can be set in that will not come out after cleaning or laundering.

Until the development of the new process, manufacturers have had difficulty in putting durable creases in wash-wear cotton garments. The wrinkle resistance provided by the wash-wear finish would cause the garment to lose pleats or creases along with wrinkles.

Improved crease retention is expected to strengthen cotton's position in markets consuming about 620,000 bales of cotton annually.

Women's and children's sport wear, in wash-wear cottons with permanent pleats or creases, are already on the market. The council reports that all-the time as the pests gradually develop an immunity to types that have been on the market a long time.

Although statistics are not kept locally, the estimated annual national loss to insects is $378 million, and control costs are $150 million. Control of damaging insects has increased yields as much as one-half bale per acre. Beneficial insects control damaging insects where infestation is low.

RIGHT ON THE JOB!

When the going gets tough, cotton has a ruggedness no other fiber can match. Cotton work clothes stay right on the job with you—all the time. Cotton never becomes clammy or sticky because it "breathes"; absorbs and evaporates moisture. Wash it in the hottest water, cotton comes out truly clean. Dry it any way you please and iron it without worry. Even after repeated launderings cotton bounces back looking fresh and new without dinginess or odor buildup. When you buy work clothes, buy 100% comfort and durability. Insist on 100% cotton.

Many Businesses Are Allied With Production Of Cotton

More than 25 Big Spring firms serve cotton farmers directly during part of the year. One hundred and 73 items, handled by another 25 businesses or professions, utilize cotton in their manufacture. Cotton touches every household in hundreds of ways, although the staple is fast giving way to synthetics to hurt the economy in cotton-growing areas.

Big Spring firms directly concerned with the preparation of land, planting, growing, harvesting and ginning cotton, number more than 30, and employ approximately 200 persons normally. Seasonal employees run the total to at least 50 more.

Liquid petroleum gas, used largely in trucks, tractors, and irrigation engines; gasoline and diesel fuel; implements, tractors and parts for them; seed, feed, and fertilizer dealers result directly from the farming of cotton. In addition to these, gins, transports and compressors play a big part seasonally.

Five known firms handle liquid petroleum gas, either butane or propane; eight firms deal in tractors and heavy farm implements; three provide planting seed, in addition to cooperatives; four handle fertilizers, including anhydrous ammonia, and two feed stores handle insecticides, in addition to some drug stores and some cooperatives.

Manufactured products touching practically every variety of item used in Big Spring, are associated in some way with the cotton industry. These include: Advertising, agricultural, bags, airplanes, automobiles, belts, building, cordage, twine and threads, electrical supplies, laundry, medical, offices, printing, railways, ships, shoes, sports, telephone, telegraph, electronic, theatrical, and wicking, plus many miscellaneous supplies.

COTTON IS KING IN WEST TEXAS

The story of Cotton and its effects on our area's economy is so vital—so big—so dramatic that we are happy to join in offering our congratulations to the West Texas cotton industry. We are proud we could serve the industry by ginning a part of the 44,000 bales produced in Howard County.

Pre-School Roundup Scheduled Tuesday

Children who will enter first grade in the Big Spring schools next fall will get a preview of what is in store for them Tuesday in a city-wide series of meetings.

Incoming first graders and their parents are urged to attend the Pre-School Roundup set for 2 p.m. Tuesday in each elementary school.

Parents of Spanish-speaking children will be asked to pre-enroll their children in the summer program for non-English speaking children at the same time. The program will operate only during the summer months. Bi-lingual letters have been sent to Spanish-speaking parents outlining this program.

All children should participate in the "roundup" in the elementary school district in which they reside, Charles L. Ainsworth, director of elementary education, said. Generally this will be the school nearest them. Further information can be obtained by calling any elementary school or the superintendent's office.

"As usual, a child must be six years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1964, before he can enter school next fall," Ainsworth said.

Various programs are being planned for the orientation. At Airport School, teachers will talk with the parents, and children will visit in the classrooms. Present first graders will entertain their guests at Boydston school. P-TA groups will serve refreshments at Washington Place and Cedar Crest Schools.

School nurses, counselors and speech therapists will be on hand at Kentwood and Park Hill schools to explain their function to parents. Gay Hill plans classroom visitation and playground activity for the visitors. Kate Morrison and Bauer schools will pre-register children for the summer program as a part of their orientation.

Marcy first grade teachers will meet their incoming students and make explanations to parents. Pupils who will attend College Heights elementary will also visit with their first grade teachers. Lakeview pupils-to-be will spend some time in the present first grades to see what is in store for next year.

Principals expect the majority of the more than 700 pupils who will be in first grade next year, to be in attendance at the "roundup" meetings.

Army Offers Nursing School

Sgt. R. J. Woolverton, U. S. Army Recruiter, announced that the U. S. Army had established a new program for young men and women interested in nursing to qualify for a tuition - paid four year college course.

He explained that those accepted to participate would be enlisted in the Army Reserve and receive the cost of tuition and books in addition to military pay. They will attend an accredited college or university of their choice during their freshman and sophomore years. At the end of the second year, students will be transferred to the Walter Reed Army Institute of Nursing, Washington, D.C. During this phase, students will go to the University of Maryland and upon graduation will be awarded a B.S. degree in nursing.

Sgt. Woolverton explained that following graduation and licensing, students will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Army Nurse Corps, with an obligation to serve on active duty for at least three years as Army officers.

High school graduates who are United States citizens and have not reached their 24th birthday on the date of enlistment and can meet the mental and physical requirements, are eligible for this program.

Complete information may be obtained by writing or visiting with Woolverton at 207 1/2 W. 4th or calling him collect at AM 4-8940.

Committees To Meet Jointly

The board of directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and the education committee will hold a joint luncheon meeting at the Settles Hotel at noon Monday.

A highlight of the meeting will be the presentation of facts and information on the upcoming school bond election set for May 23. All directors and members of the education committee are urged to attend.

THE CABLE TV VIEW

By Jim Lancaster
Cable TV

An unsung hero is the television serviceman. We of the cable company are constantly aware of the miracles of skill carried on daily by the independent television repairman, and those in the employ of such organizations.

Television is a miracle. Nobody knows that more than the television engineer. A studio program is broken up into electrical vibrations that shoot out into space at the speed of 186,000 miles a second. In perfect synchronization with the program and hardly a millionth of a second later your television receiver literally grabs pictures and sounds out of the air and performers become alive in your living room.

Isn't that a miracle? Your set has to be capable of vibrating electrically some 200 million times a second—to keep time with the energy that is being radiated by the transmitter.

You can see why ordinary technical ability is not enough when it comes to dealing with adjustments and repairs to this complex piece of equipment.

The skill required to diagnose failures in television has to be of an engineering nature. Invisible forces circulating thru tubes and component parts are working at speeds that must be measured mathematically.

A good TV serviceman can never stop learning if he is to keep up with the constant flow of new developments. Actually, the "natural" TV man should have started playing around with radio as a youngster and has continuously been living and eating television.

That is why we look with respect on the television serviceman. We of the cable television company can appreciate the skill and learning. In a way, this is our salute to the servicemen in our community who keep your set functioning in tip-top condition. This kind of cooperation from your own servicemen makes for full enjoyment on the cable system.

In fact, the cable system helps the serviceman and the television viewer because a set performs at its best when it is on the cable.

Just as the dealer and serviceman are the people you should look to to sell your set, and keep it in tip-top condition, we of the cable company feel that our function is to bring to your set good clear television from many television stations.

Five different lines of cars—forty-five different models to choose from. Come early and trade great!

Now that spring's in full swing, you'll find new Chevrolets perfect for picking.

Luxury—First, there's the big Jet-smooth Chevrolet. Sumptuous and soft riding with a fat coil spring at all four wheels to smother bumps. Over 700 sound stoppers throughout the car to blot out wind and road noise. Interiors luxuriously done up in the newest and softest vinyls.

Trade what you're driving for one of these, and you won't want to trade seats with anybody else on the road.

Spirit—Next, Chevelle. The beautifully in-between size car that combines small car handling oomph with big car comfort. Order to your liking in sedan, coupe, station wagon and convertible body styles. Eleven different models that you can equip with just about any extra-cost option you can imagine. No place to go this summer? Get a new Chevelle—you'll think of something.

Economy—Chevy II—the car that takes to inexpensive vacations naturally. It just goes and goes, and where it stops nobody knows. But for all its thrift, it's anything but under-furnished. Did you know that the Super Sport Coupe has bucket seats and door-to-door carpeting? Eight models to pick from, including wagons with room to swallow up an eight-foot Christmas tree. (Plan ahead, we always say.)

Fun—Then there's Corvair. The fun one with the engine in the rear for unbelievable traction. Spring mud, summer sand, winter snow—nothing stops it. You'll even think they're now paving highways with adhesive tape the way Corvairs cling to them.

Corvette. The enthusiast's car. Sting Ray Sport Coupe and Convertible. Still America's only true sports cars. Pick either one and you'll find it does for your driving what holidays do for kids.

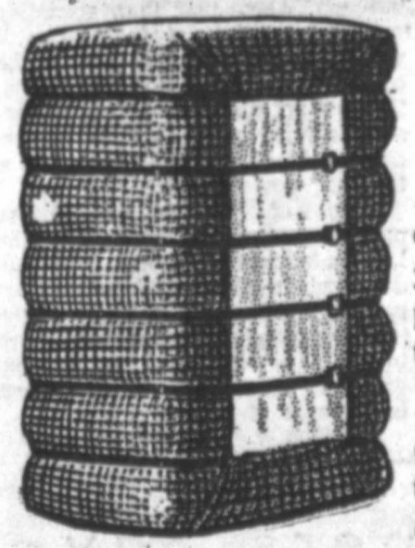

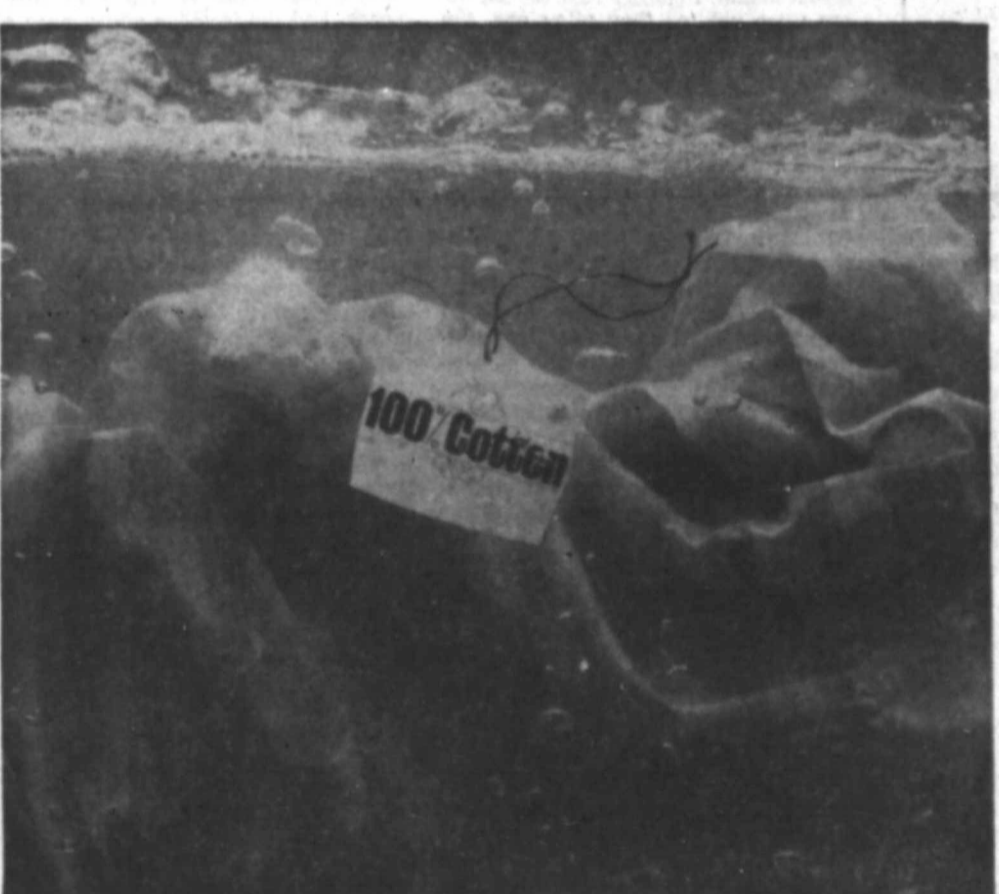

Performance—And with any new Chevrolet you choose, you can get the standard engine for all the power you need in everyday come-and-go driving. Or you can pick from a wide, wide range of extra-cost engines for maximum performance.

Either way, whether you've got some place special to go this summer or not, when you trade for one of Chevrolet's five great highway performers—you'll travel!

With the improved farming methods developed by the farmers of this region, you can be assured that there will be plenty of this time-tested fibre for years to come.

The farmers of Howard County have contributed millions of pounds of cotton to the vital task of keeping America's cotton industry supplied.

The State National Bank is proud to have had a part in the cotton farming industry over the past 50 years and hopes to continue to help those who produce this crop that has become so essential to our way of life.

We Owe Cotton A Lot

Monday begins our first concerted promotion of National Cotton Week. Out of it we hope that all of us will become more conscious of what is such an obvious fact that we tend to overlook: cotton is still one of our basic industries.

On current prices, cotton grosses around $6,500,000 on an average year for Howard County. To be sure this figure sags when rain fails to come then soars when moisture is plentiful. And when you stop to consider that Howard County is on the south edge of the great cotton counties of the area, the impact of cotton on this region is magnified. For instance, Dawson County, immediately to the north, will produce on an average five to six times as much cotton as Howard County. Obviously, cotton is one of our mainstays.

There are some things we need to consider about cotton, however. First, it is proven to be the most practical crop for this region. It is a hot weather plant and highly drought resistant. It can promise less and do more than any crop. It is our most dependable and least perishable crop.

Second, cotton must return more to a competitive position in world markets. This means that cotton needs resign itself to a gradual lessening of reliance on government equalization of its unhappy position of producing on an open market while buying supplies and services on a relatively protected market. This means that mechanization, insect control, increased productivity through fertilizing and research into strains as well as water utilization must be stepped up. Some of the net gain must be applied to lower price.

Third, cotton is a highly competitive field. Wool was once its main contender as a fiber, but now synthetic fibers have crowded into the markets like a camel coming into the tent, and no one need be deluded that all the discoveries of artificial fibers have been made. This means that the research and promotion of cotton as a natural and for many purposes a superior fiber must be accelerated.

Much too long those engaged in and dependent upon cotton production, manufacture and cotton product marketing have been taking economic nourishment from it and returning little to sustain it. Most of the burden has been carried by the spinner and merchandisers, and the processors of oil and protein by-products. In recent years producers have been drawn to some extent into contributing funds for research and promotion. Still, too many allied businesses are willing to suck the life out of cotton with little or no thought of helping the industry survive and flourish. They want gigantic promotions for peanuts, and it can't be done.

If cotton is to stay in the battle and slug it out for a fair share of the fiber market, it must have increased support here where it is so important—and that includes all of us to the extent of insisting wherever feasible that the label show "made with cotton" before we buy.

Corporations Favoring Bonds Over Stocks

Let's play statistics. And, because it's a challenging take-off date, let's start with 1929. In that year, the total output of goods and services—the Gross National Product—crossed the $100-billion line. And up to the month of the Great Crash in October, corporations were able to dispose of common stocks to investors and speculators like vendors of cotton candy to kiddies at a carnival.

SALES OF new stock issues soared above $5,000,000,000—an unprecedented total, 140 per cent higher than in 1928. Now let's shift focus to 1961, another year of bull-market excitement in Wall Street. Stocks advanced to all-time highs on the New York Stock Exchange and over-the-counter stocks went hey-nony-nony and up, up and up. Anything with "onics" in the company title was gobbled up by capital-gains-hungry investors and speculators.

And many corporations—especially new ones—brought their common stocks to the public. Sales of common stock issues totaled $3.3 billion, the greatest dollar total since 1929.

BUT, CONSIDERING (1) the intervening inflation and (2) the climb of GNP to more than $500 billion, that wasn't much. Common stock flotation amounted to only 0.6 per cent of GNP as against 48 per cent in 1929. Why this discrepancy?

On the basis of the cost, corporations should have rushed their common shares to market, even as in 1929. Common shares of corporations in 1961 returned stockholders less than 3 per cent in dividends. Investors and speculators didn't look for immediate returns. They were buying the future. Yet corporations didn't take advantage of this chance to raise common-stock capital "cheap."

IN 1963 it was much the same—a strong stock market but an even smaller sale of common shares—only one billion dollars.

Source: S.E.C., U.S. Treas., Comm. & Fin. Div., J.A. Livingston or 0.2 per cent of the GNP, which by then had advanced to $585 billion. As for cost, it was still low—3.2 per cent. In contrast, the yield on bonds was about 4 per cent. In 1929, common stocks sold to yield 3.5 per cent, bonds 4.9 per cent. Common-stock money was cheaper—1.4 percentage points.

Yet, corporations last year favored bonds. Out of every $100 raised, $89 came from the sale of bonds, $8 from common stocks and $3 preferred stocks.

In 1929, corporations took advantage of the lower cost of stock money. More than half of that year's financing was through common stocks. What has happened? What change has taken place to cause corporate finance committees to spurn common stock offerings and to put out bonds?

UNDOUBTEDLY you have guessed the reason: High federal tax rates.

In 1929, the top corporate rate was 11 per cent. In the last decade it has been 52 per cent (see chart) and it will come down to 48 per cent under the new tax law. The government, in effect, subsidizes debt financing.

A million dollars in interest comes before taxes. A million dollars in dividends is after taxes. Therefore, a corporation

Around The Rim A Matter Of Understanding

Jimmy crickets! You goin' through that again? I done it for you maybe a hummer times before! What else you expect me to say?

This was the reaction from my very young, but very wise young friend, who must remain anonymous, when I asked him about helping me with a little piece for Mother's Day. It has been quite a few years, I said, since you wrote about Mothers, and besides, you might have some new ideas on the subject. It took some persuasion.

OH, ALL RIGHT. The newest idea I have on Mothers is that they are two different persons. Kids stay the same, but you can't say that for Mothers.

Just take eating. When you are at the table and all that glop is there, and you are not very hungry, Mothers will keep telling you to eat your rice, or drink your milk, or you just think spinach isn't good until you've tried it. Then, at the right time, when you are really just starving for a candy bar or a snow cone or some pop corn, or a couple more bottle of pop, that's when Mothers say no, you've had enough. It will ruin your dinner. Mothers don't seem to understand that if you could have enough snow cones and hot dogs, then they wouldn't have to worry about the rice and spinach. You get it?

OR TAKE studying. About the only good way to study is when you can get on the floor in front of the television, with maybe a snow cone or a bottle of pop, but you think Mothers understand this? No, they think you ought to come in and get your home work done before dinner. Anybody but a Mother would know that this is the time the other kids are out, and you have to be with the other kids. If the grades aren't so good, some Mothers even want you to get up early in the morning and study before you go to school. Nobody but a Mother would expect such a misunderstanding like that.

OR, YOU COULD take movies. Some Mothers never seem to get the idea that if it is a love picture, they should be out in front of the picture show real quick, because one time of that stuff is enough. And they never get the idea, either, that if it is about a creature coming in from outer space, that there is no hurry. Anybody knows it takes three times to see that kind of a movie.

MOTHERS ARE not too good on keeping up with the price of things. If you ask them for enough money to get a couple of snow cones, and maybe a hot dog, and well, a bottle of pop and other stuff like that, they just say, here's 10 cents and that all you're going to get tonight. It might surprise some Mothers to know how many necessary things you can't get for a dime.

Mothers sure don't know anything about baseball. They think they do, and they will try to tell you how to play in the Little League games, but if we listened to our Mothers instead of our coaches, we would always be at the bottom of the standings. Mothers get upset if you strike out, and they don't understand that even Mickey Mantle does this ever once in a while.

THERE'S A LOT of good things about Mothers, though. They do take you down to the movies, and they will get you to the Little League park and back. They do break down once in a while and let you have snow cones and hot dogs, and well, maybe a little pop. And there are times they will give you more than a dime. They will even help you with your studying, when you're in real trouble.

Mothers, I guess, are fine, if they just understood kids better. —BOB WHIPKEY

What Do The Primaries Mean?

WASHINGTON — The gaping holes in the primary system as a means of picking a Presidential candidate are in this season of discontent more obvious than ever before.

The choice on both men and issues is too narrow. Money and organization weigh in the scales far more than they should. Aside from the party loyalists, the voters are recording their dislike of things as they are.

IN INDIANA Sen. Barry Goldwater could properly resent the presence on the Republican primary ballot of Harold Stassen. No, one believes for a moment that this wandering minstrel of politics has a chance for the nomination. He turns up like a ghost of things past to haunt the primaries wherever he can get his name on the ballot.

Yet Stassen polled more than 90,000 votes, or nearly 27 per cent of the total. These were Republicans registering a protest in the only way available.

BY BOTH the primary and the convention route Goldwater is amassing a formidable total of delegates. The latest count released by the Senator's headquarters is 231 publicly committed and 60 "favorable." That is close to half, at this early stage, of the 655 required for nomination.

But the question being asked by Republicans thinking beyond the primary marathon is how much substance in strength for the ticket in November these delegates represent. Of the 231, five Southern states have contributed 88 committed or favorable. These states are Georgia, Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia. Three border states—Missouri, Oklahoma, and Tennessee added another 50 delegates.

IN 12 YEARS the Republican party in the South has undergone a revolution. A measure of the change is the fact that for the first time in 50 years Tennessee will have an all-white delegation. Georgia has also excluded Negroes after a bitter interregnum fight with old-line Republicans trying flexibility and wait-and-see policy.

As late as 1952 the shadow party in the South sent delegations to the national convention that were cynically bought and sold. The winning candidate almost invariably had a store of these bought delegates in reserve.

THE NEW ORDER that has shoved the old aside is fanatically loyal to Goldwater. The prime movers are the industrialists and businessmen giving the South a new economic look. They are on the far right and on the whole segregationist in outlook.

Altogether Goldwater will go into San Francisco with as many as 200 Southern delegates. If he wins the nomination that will be his margin of victory.

Under the late President Kennedy the Goldwater strategy was to put together a combination of Southern, Western and Midwestern states to overcome the big-city East. But as of today the Republicans have only the slimmest chance of carrying Southern states with a Goldwater ticket. Except for Alabama where Gov. George Wallace has had his way with a slate of independent electors, keeping President Johnson's name off the ballot, Southern Democrats in elective office have declared for the President.

WHETHER in the North or in the South, where Negroes are voting in increasing numbers, a Goldwater ticket will get little or no Negro support. Under the theory of the white backlash of opposition to the forced pace of integration this can be discounted. But as recent primaries have shown that theory is subject to serious doubt.

The professionals in the GOP—astute men like Ohio's Ray Bliss—want to win. They are not happy at the thought either of suicide or of a wrecking operation with the wreckers controlling the party machinery. That is why sober men are taking a hard look at the facts and figures behind the propaganda claims.

Billy Graham

I have been living in immorality for some time, but I have seen that it was destroying me. God has forgiven me, but my problem is this: I have met a fine Christian man, and he wants to marry me. Is it right for anyone who has lived as I have to marry?

H. V. While immorality is one of the sins mentioned in the Ten Commandments, it is not unpardonable. In fact, our Lord seemed to specialize in straightening out people who had fallen into this particular sin. Women like Mary Magdalene, the Samaritan woman, and the adulteress sentenced to be stoned all were pardoned by Him, and lived useful lives.

If, as you say, God has forgiven you, I see no reason why you should not marry. However, in fairness to yourself and your fiancé you should tell him your past. If he finds it out later, on his own, it could be the repercussion could be disastrous. If, after you tell him about your affair, he feels differently, it is better to face up to it now, rather than after marriage. It is always wise to be forthright and honest.

To Your Good Health Don't Let Gangrene Get Started

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Friday we discussed gangrene and the problem it poses for people with diabetes; the signs of a beginning case; the great danger of this affliction; the reasons for it starting.

Today I'll concentrate on ways to prevent it from getting even a start.

The first rule is to keep diabetes under control. Don't cheat on your diet or other treatment methods. Maybe you can, most of the time. But it's like excessive speeding in your car or bluffing at poker. When you get in trouble, it's bad!

Other rules: Strict cleanliness pays off. Don't walk around (even just in the bathroom) barefoot, and a small wound can start gangrene in an older person with diabetes.

Wear shoes that fit. They should be comfortable, and should provide protection both for the toes and soles.

Trim toenails straight across, or nearly so. Do NOT give them a "graceful curve," because (diabetes or not) that invites an ingrown nail occasionally. An ingrown nail hurts. It provides an ideal place for infection to start. A diabetic can't afford that.

Besides washing the feet regularly, clean under the toenails. Use an orange-wood stick, because it is soft enough not to make little nicks in the skin. (Cleaning under the nails is important because fungus or other infections might get a start there otherwise.)

For small wounds, antiseptics are very important and useful. The safest is rubbing alcohol. Fresh peroxide is good, too. Avoid iodine (it can be irritating). Decidedly avoid anything with phenol (carbolic acid). It may be a good germ killer but it is also too strong, and can be an irritant.

Watch out for fungus infection—athlete's foot. This is an absolute rule. Such an infection, ordinarily annoying but not serious, can (and will) cause cracks in the skin where other infections can get a foothold. (No pun intended, because this is serious.)

If your feet are excessively moist, look out, because such a condition can cause cracks in the skin. It is helpful, if you have this trouble, to use a bland foot powder. You may need to change socks an extra time per day.

Corns and calluses should be treated by your doctor or by a podiatrist because a small infection, to you, is more than ordinarily dangerous.

You MAY use plain corn pads, but NOT the medicated ones. If overlapping toes cause irritation use bits of cotton wool or lamb's wool as a pad between them.

Avoid hot or cold foot baths. This is more important than most people realize, until they get into trouble, because with circulation impaired you may also have a poor sense of heat or cold. So a too-hot or too-cold foot bath can cause trouble before you realize it.

Some people use white or light-colored socks. I don't think the color is important, except that light colors better show any bleeding or drainage from a sore place, so you notice it sooner.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are the chlorophyll tablets (for combating bad breath) perfectly safe? —L. K.

Yes. I have never heard of any harmful effects.

Fish From Bridges TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The fisherman is not overlooked when Florida builds new bridges. Frequently, the old span is left in place and converted into a fishing pier. In other cases, catwalks are built alongside the bridges to give the fisherman a safe place to stand while casting.

Sometimes, if he's brave enough to compete with traffic for space, the caster is allowed to fish from the span itself but this dangerous form of the sport seems to be dying out.

"ASK YOURSELVES," he lectured these upper-uppers of the federal bureaucracy, "if you really need all that real estate, or all those regular offices, or all those supervisors, or all those automobiles."

Both Senate and House have lately been giving the business to the business-nagers. Three senators—Magnuson, Monroney and Young of North Dakota—recently jumped with hobbled language on Joseph Swidler, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, a long-time offender. Swidler had requested Congress to buy the PFC a $300,000 electronic computer to tabulate the results of a 10-pouad questionnaire which has been sent out to natural gas producers.

MAGNUSON CALLED it "another example of a federal agency burdening business," and "Allott (R., Colo.) said it would cost some firms as much as $250,000 to get the information required by the FPC report.

It turned out that the large questionnaire had gone to gas producers who already have a huge overhead, while a shorter questionnaire—with "only" 35 pages of single-spaced instructions—had gone to the smaller operators. The discrimination against big corporations, already heavily burdened with taxation and investment needs, had the familiar appearance of business-as-usual.

OVER ON THE House side of Capitol Hill, the Appropriations Committee has dropped the safe even more squarely on Commission Chairman Swidler's head. He had asked pay increases in 1964 for 12 new positions. The commission has grown in job-size by 40 per cent since the last full year of the Eisenhower administration. Despite the growth—or because of it—the commission (says the committee) has been "foot-dragging" in the disposal of cases and "is hurting the industries it has to regulate." The House report ends bluntly:

"The commission is spending too much time in empire building and trying to expand its jurisdiction."

DURING THE Kennedy administration, Swidler's commission infuriated Congress with an arrogant decision. The 1962 tax bill had been trumpeted as a measure to encourage businessmen to accept tax credits and to apply them as economic stimulators to the expanding and modernization of their plants. The Power Commission voted that this tax credit should be turned into a "flow through" or a bonus for consumers in the form of reduced rates.

THIS DECISION was plainly anti-business. Worse than that, according to numerous complaints in Congress, it was a defiance and nullification of the congressional intent. For that reason, the new tax bill of 1964, under Johnson's administration, includes a specific prohibition against the "flow through" device.

Some of this twilight warfare against enterprise may confuse the layman-taxpayer, but both the President and the Congress have now exposed and denounced it. That was the meaning of Johnson's matinee lecture to his money-spenders, and of congressional impudence with the endless harassment of businessmen.

What Others Say

The President's Council of Economic Advisers has estimated that it would take $11 billion a year in direct aid to bring all Americans up to the level of $3,000 a year for a four-person family. (This is the minimum deemed necessary to avoid living in poverty.)

Meagerness of cash income is not the only yardstick for measuring poverty. A great deal of interest is directed to what has been called "the culture of poverty"—the way of life that depresses hope and initiative among the poor.

President Johnson's "war on poverty" program is intended primarily to "open wide the exits from poverty to the children of the poor" and to "enable every individual to build his earning power to full capacity."

The objectives are idealistic in concept and we do not quarrel with them. But government never has been able to legislate poverty out of existence and it never will succeed. The history of states in which government has exercised full control is that the masses never are elevated, but rather that the misery is made uniform by depressing everyone to a common, drab level of subsistence. Utopia is not approached solely by passing a law, or a dozen of them.

What is needed is an assault on the poverty of spirit too prevalent among both the haves and the have-nots.

The haves must show by works, not mumbled recitations in church, that they are truly their brothers' keepers.

The have-nots must show that they want opportunity to have by earning, rather than want guaranteed security by government handout while hunting excuses.

The haves must awaken to the fact that any blight in their smug communities—whether slums, lack of job opportunities, high crime, deteriorating schools—like the one rotten apple that spoils all the rest in the barrel.

The have-nots must want to improve their lot, change their environment, get an education, accept help ungrudgingly.

Many Activities Slated At Goliad

By KATHY SHAW

The final month of school at Goliad promises to be full of activity. The month's activities began early Monday morning with a visit from Mr. Harold Bentley and Mr. Wayne Bonner, assistant principal and counselor at high school. They met with the freshman English classes where they helped students select the courses they will need to take next year. All students are required to take English, world history, physical education, and a form of mathematics. Each student may choose two electives.

Mrs. Pat Drake, high school coach announced that the following girls had been chosen for the sophomore volleyball team for next year: Sheri Alexander, Donna Cobb, Susan Daniels, Betty Jo Hollis, Sonja Hudgins, Elaine Miller, Beverly Peters, La Donna Stocks and Sally Wade.

MRS. PAUL SWEAT

Winner To Attend Tech

At a Founder's Day dinner at Coker's Restaurant, May 2, the Delta Kappa Gamma scholarship, which is presented to one of the members of Beta Kappa Chapter each year, was awarded to Mrs. Paul Sweat.

Mrs. Sweat, a fifth grade teacher at Boydston, received her bachelor's degree from Sam Houston State College, Huntsville, and her master of elementary education from Texas Tech, Lubbock.

Basic math for elementary teachers and art will be the courses of study at Texas Tech this summer for Mrs. Sweat. She will be accompanied by her son, Marcus, who is a student at HCJC.

Group Takes Field Trip

Twenty-eight members of the Westbook sophomore, junior and senior classes made a science field trip to Signal Mountain Friday. Robert Hutchins, principal and science teacher, and Coach Sam Scroggins sponsored the group.

Twelve members of the eighth grade class enjoyed a skating party at Sweetwater Saturday afternoon. Skaters included Eddie Ranne, David Crawford, Eddie Lewis, George Sweet, Lawrence Kelley, Patricia Bell, Margie Geron, Kathy Henderson, Brenda Rich, Vickie Sullivan, Wanda Whitehead and Betty Clements. Also skating were Carolyn Bryant, Elmer McMahon, Claudine Read and class sponsor, Mrs. Charles Maughon.

Future Homemakers Induct New Officers

By BETTY CONGER

An FHA meeting was held Monday night at Forsan. The installation of the new officers was conducted by the outgoing president, Paula Gordon.

Following the installation a style show was presented by the first and second year homemaking girls. Gifts were presented to the Chapter Mothers, Mrs. Bill Conger and Mrs. C. L. Gooch. Mrs. W. M. Romans, club sponsor, and Paula Sue Gordon, club president, also received a gift from the chapter. Refreshments were served by the freshman and sophomore classes.

Forsan Junior High Band and Choir presented a concert to the high school and elementary grades Monday. The band played several selections of well-known songs. Solos were played by Elmer Johnson, Gloria Dodd, and Jennifer Philly. The band and choir are under the direction of Mrs. Bob Mason.

Baccalaureate services will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. High school graduation is scheduled for Friday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Valedictorian of the class is Paula Sue Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gordon of Big Spring. Salutatorian of the

The Goliad band is performing for various elementary schools. This week they played for Washington and College Heights sixth grade students. Next week they go to Airport, Park Hill and Marcy schools. Mr. R. E. McKiski, the band director, visited Park Hill school Thursday and Marcy school Friday where he showed the students a movie on the band. These programs are being held to acquaint the sixth grade students with the band and its functions.

The Goliad Cappella Choir sang several selections for the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon Tuesday.

The curtain club met Tuesday night at the YMCA. They were entertained by the dancing classes who performed modern, ballet, and tap dances.

Biology and algebra achievements tests were given to ninth grade students Thursday. These tests will be scored, and the scores will help in the placement of students.

The seventh grade art classes taught by Mrs. Maurine Burks and Mrs. Ruth Ann Sandidge are doing a stitching project. They are making a mural of the outstanding structures in Big Spring, upon finishing the mural, they will present it to the school. The eighth grade classes are studying color and making sketches. Collages, the French word for paste-on, are being made by ninth grade students.

Girls taking homemaking have had two main concerns this week. The girls who were trying to earn junior degrees were expected to turn in their appli-

Junior-Senior Banquet Held Saturday At Sands

By GLYNDA FLEMING

The Sands Junior-Senior banquet was held Saturday night at the Cosden Country Club. Blue and silver decorations carried out the theme of the banquet. There were clusters of balloons with silver stars scattered among them. "Rendezvous of the Stars," which was the theme, were written in silver letters above the head table.

Ruth Lemon, junior class president, was mistress of ceremonies. Martha Robinson read the prophecy of the seniors and Johnny Merrick read the senior class will. Entertainment was provided by the junior girls as they sang "Three Stars."

The seniors will board the chartered bus today, at 1 p.m. to go on their senior trip. They plan to spend a week in Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, and the surrounding area. Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Harry went as sponsors for the group.

Don Boyd went to Austin Thursday to enter competition in the state persuasive speaking contest. Don, a senior at Sands High, won the regional event April 25. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Boyd, Knott. Elections for cheerleaders and Student Council officers will be held next week. The junior high district volleyball tournament was held at Sands Thursday. Sands won first place and Gall, Second. Other teams entered were Loop, Flower Grove, Grady, Klondike, Union, and Dawson.

Big Springers To Receive Degree

DENTON—Three Big Spring students are among the 750 seniors who have applied for bachelor's degrees at North Texas State University this semester. They are Suzette Anderson, Arlen D. Bryant and Mrs. Deana Franklin.

Miss Anderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin E. Anderson, 110 A Fairchild. She is seeking a bachelor of arts degree in library service. Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bryant, 1602 Tucson, is working toward a B.A. in art. Mrs. Franklin is a candidate for a B.A. in education. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bledsoe O'Brien, 1205 Goliad.

class is Donnie Gooch, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gooch of Forsan. Congratulations go to the girls volleyball team for capturing the state championship title for the second straight year. Betty Conger made the all-state team. The team is coached by James Blake.

The last assembly program for the elementary grades was held Thursday morning. The opera, "Mother Goose Plays Cupid" was presented by the

Transatlantic Cables Go Out

LONDON (AP)—Only one of the five transatlantic cables linking Britain and the United States was working today following a mysterious break in telecommunications.

An official of Britain's general post office, which controls the cables here said cable ships were moving to deal with the fault.

About 130 Get Awards At Honors Assembly

By CLAUDIA RICHARDSON

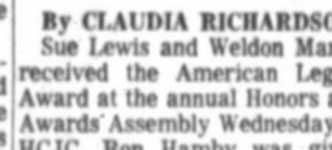

Sue Lewis and Weldon Martin received the American Legion Award at the annual Honors and Awards Assembly Wednesday at HCJC. Ron Hamby was given the Wall Street Journal Award, and Marilyn McReary won the Dibrell's Sportsmanship Award.

A special award was given by the Student Government Association to Mr. Lee Thacker, geology instructor at HCJC, because of his interest in the individual student and his work with student projects.

Joe Alderice received an award from SGA for his help in student activities. Anthony Rhodes received an award for being the most helpful SGA member to the SGA president.

Mrs. John Harley, SGA sponsor, was given a gift from the group. About 130 students were honored for their achievements during the year.

The annual spring formal, sponsored by the freshman class, was held in the SUB May 2. Theme for the dance was "Dutch Holiday." The amendment to the SGA Constitution passed. Therefore, SGA officers will be elected this week.

The Festival of Light Music will be presented Saturday and the following Monday in the HCJC Auditorium. Charlotte Anders, Sylvia Peay, Janice Winders, Reba Fields, Bill Anderson, and Clinton Gambill will sing a medley from "West Side Story." The entire choir will sing selections from "All American."

Special guests of the festival will be Hubert Murphy and Pat Hill, folk singer. HCJC students will be admitted by their activity cards, and others for $1.

The HCJC choir is directed by Ira Schantz.

Coahoma Seniors Leave On Trip

By CAROLYN WILSON

Wednesday morning bright and early Coahoma High School seniors left on their annual senior trip, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilson and Mr. W. A. Fishback. This will be the second from the last senior trip for CHS. Present juniors will be the only other group allowed to make a trip of this type.

Congratulations are in order for Butch Fraser and Jim Shafer who were recognized as CHS valedictorian and salutatorian this year. Butch, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fraser, will graduate with an average of 93. Jim, salutatorian, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shafer, and had a final average of 91.

A Bark joint staff meeting was held Monday in Mrs. Tommy Parrish's room. Old and new staff members attended the meeting. Mrs. Parrish gave the deadlines. She then presented the five senior members a gift.

The junior class held a car wash Saturday on the elementary school lawn. The proceeds will help finance the class senior trip next year. The Student Council and National Honor Society have received their organization pins. They will be given to the students in the near future.

Preparations for final exams and six weeks tests are being made.

George Whitaker To Receive Degree

George Edward Whitaker, 707 Abrams St., Big Spring, is among the 923 Texas A&M University students who are candidates for degrees May 22.

Whitaker seeks a bachelor of science degree in agronomy. Gov. John Connally will address the students at graduation.

Attire More Proper For Janine's Second

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Janine Gray's shocked British friends will take more kindly to her attire in her second Hollywood film.

She's playing a lead with Robert Morse and George Maharis in "Quick, Before It Melts," a comedy set in Antarctica. Janine is quite properly covered up with sweaters over sweaters topped by parka.

A bit different from her last cinema, "The Americanization of Emily." That's when her chums were startled at reports that she had played a scene in the nude.

"But I wasn't nude," she protests. "I wore pants."

That is all, however. She resisted efforts of MGM officials who wanted her to wear "pasties," a trade term for a fish-colored adhesive about the size of a silver dollar.

"I refused," Janine declared. "Why, those little things make you look grotesque. Just to prove it, I demonstrated how it would look with one pasty on and one off for the director, Arthur Hiller. He is a rather shy man and was a bit unnerved, but he sided with my argument."

So she did the scene pasty-less. It was a comedy sequence in which James Garner bursts into James Cagney's London apartment. Janine dresses hastily while the men engage in an argument, oblivious of her.

Janine, a shapely blonde with a haunting resemblance to Kim Novak, admitted that the reaction among friends and family in the isles was a bit testy.

"My parents were alarmed," she said. "My mother wrote me to ask what nasty kind of business I was engaged in. After I explained the whole thing, they weren't so concerned.

"But I was really surprised at the reaction among my friends in the entertainment business when I returned to London. They said, 'Really, Janine, did you have to do that sort of thing? They seemed to think I had done something terrible."

She has no regrets whatsoever, especially after seeing the press coverage her strip drew in England.

"I don't know how else I could ever have gotten such exposure (sic)," Janine commented. The hubbub led to "Quick, Before It Melts," and now she hopes to stay in Hollywood for more roles.

Air Rescuers Depicted In 'Flight From Ashiya'

Honored by 43 foreign governments, the United States Air Rescue Service nevertheless remains relatively unknown.

For the first time, the story of these American servicemen, dedicated to saving life, has been brought to the motion picture screen in "Flight From Ashiya," opening Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

Starring Yul Brynner, Richard Widmark, George Chakiris, Suzy Parker, Shirley Knight and Danielle Gaubert, the Panavision and Eastmancolor drama marks another first as well: it is the first large-scale co-production ever undertaken in Japan. Harold Hecht Films, Inc., joined with Daei Motion Picture Company Limited, oldest motion picture production company in Japan, to make the story.

Although Japanese budgets of $100,000 are considered high, over $7,000,000 was spent to bring in "Flight From Ashiya," which was filmed in Tachikawa on the outskirts of Tokyo, where the former Ashiya air base is now located. Other locations were at Osaka and Kyoto, in Japan . . . and in Rome.

It was here at Cinecitta Studio, that director Michael Anderson created a full sized typhoon. Four huge drum-like rotating machines made gigantic waves and six wind machines sprayed water from fire hoses to simulate driving rain. They were fed from four 100 foot high troughs with circulating pumps. Altogether over 700 tons of water were used to create the scene where the Brynner-Widmark-Chakiris rescue team goes into action to save survivors of a freighter that sinks in stormy seas. A special camera plane flew into an actual typhoon to record footage which was edited into the film for authenticity.

To overcome the language barrier on "Flight From Ashiya," Gilbert Kurland, executive production manager, provided every department head on the film with an interpreter—either Italian or Japanese—to assure that the production would move as smoothly as possible. For this and other reasons, it did—resulting in an absorbing and entertaining drama of men whose daily way of life is danger.

'Hiroshima Pilot' Relates Texas Man's Tribulations

William Bradford Huie (Patman's $5.95) seeks to puncture many of the major and minor myths of Claude Eatherly, ex-Air Force major, ex-resident of psychiatric wards, ex-resident of jails, is a problem no one seems able to solve.

The Texan has been involved in numerous crimes, none of which netted him much money but which were serious by legal standards. In all but one case he has escaped punishment by claiming he suffers from mental illness.

Over the years, a myth has been built up about him centering on two points: 1. He was a hero or a participant in the Hiroshima atomic bombing, and 2. his mental state is caused by a guilt complex because of the Hiroshima bombings.

The Hiroshima Pilot, written by William Bradford Huie, claim he is a war hero and suffering guilt because he assisted in the atomic bombings. They use his condition to propagandize for disarming the United States on the terms Russia would like.

There can be no question that he is maladjusted, but the creation of false heroism is doing his mental condition no good although it feeds his ego—something his past performances show he seeks. Psychiatrists disagree on just what is wrong with him.

Huie reaches the conclusion that an overly dramatized movie script and a television program may have been accepted by Eatherly as fact instead of what they were designed—shows written for theatrical impact.

Huie also comes to the conclusion that the myths about Eatherly have become so fixed that they never can be straightened out, although the book goes a long way toward doing that.

Melville's Final Drama Filmed In 'Billy Budd'

The last sea yarn by the author of "Moby Dick," conceived at the height of his powers and not discovered till 33 years after his death, heaves to on the screen of the State Theater today in a panoramic CinemaScope picturization of "Billy Budd."

A tale of mutineers aboard a British warship in the days of sail, "Billy Budd" introduces England's newest young discovery, Terence Stamp, and stars Robert Ryan, Peter Ustinov, and Melvyn Douglas.

It was filmed on the Mediterranean and ashore in England under the producer-directorship of Ustinov, who also co-authored the script with Robert Rossen.

It gives Ryan one of the most satanic roles in literature—the demon-haunted Claggart, master-at-arms of the wooden man-of-war, who in Melville's slashing allegory breaks "man's compromise with good and evil."

Ustinov is Captain Vere, half Hamlet, half Pilate, who is the

"Rejoice Dear Hearts"

An unusual philatelic situation occurred recently behind the Iron Curtain when Romania issued a set of stamps honoring U.S. and Soviet astronauts. The one astronaut on each stamp, the U.S. flag appeared in the background of the American heroes and the U.S.S.R. flag appeared behind the Russians.

An exhibit of rare stamps and postal items is now on display in a temporary exhibit hall of the Smithsonian Institution's new Museum of History and Technology. The temporary exhibit will be continued until the completion of the Hall of Philately and Postal History at a later date. Many rare items are included in the display but the one that intrigues me the most is a postcard recovered from the wreckage of the "Hindenberg."

The Vatican City Post Office has issued a four-stamp set as part of the world wide campaign to save the Nubian monuments. The 10 lire and 70 lire adhesives show the niche in the Temple of Quadi es Seboua which contains a mural painting of St. Peter. The 20 lire and 300 lire feature the Kiosk of the Emperor Trajan at Philae.

Bond Sales Tempo Up

The tempo of United States Savings Bond purchases increased in this district in March but the district still lags slightly below the state level for the first quarter.

Totals for the district were $128,498 in all E and H bond sales. This brought to $391,104 sales for the year, making one-fifth of the goal realized in one-fourth of the time. The $128,498 rate for March, however, would be sufficient to attain the goal if it is maintained.

Sales by counties, as announced by Larson Lloyd, district bond chairman, were: Andrews $2,555 ($6,548 for the year) 13.6 per cent of quota; Dawson $14,091 ($27,796) 30.8; Gaines $6,512 ($24,386) 22.1; Howard $56,379 ($136,826) 21.0; Martin $7,077 ($10,207) 34.0; Mitchell $14,832 ($39,675) 17.2; and Scurry $27,051 ($55,633) 17.3.

March sales in Area I amounted to $1,290,537, making $3,569,942 for the year, or 25.9 per cent. Through the first quarter, sales in Texas stood at $16,181,153, or 26.6 per cent of the state goal for the year.

Church Hosts Archbishop Here Monday

The Rev. Angus Campbell MacInnes, archbishop of the Anglican Church in Jerusalem and Metropolitan of the Middle East, will visit St. Mary's Episcopal Church Monday night, accompanied by his wife. Archbishop MacInnes and Mrs. MacInnes will be the guests of St. Mary's congregation at a supper in the church patio. At 7:30 p.m., he will be preacher at a service of evening prayer in the church. The public is invited. The archbishop has jurisdiction over the Anglican church's mission in Jordan, Israel, Egypt, Cyprus, Syria and the Sudan, Iran, Lebanon and Libya. This area is divided into five international dioceses which have native assisting bishops serving under the archbishop. Three features of the Anglican Middle East Mission are a number of schools, hospitals, participation in Biblical archeology projects to St. George's College in Jerusalem, and the Christian Mission to Moslems. The American Episcopal Church, which is part of the Anglican Communion, supports the Jerusalem post through annual Good Friday offerings.

Archbishop MacInnes is touring Southwestern United States, visiting Dallas, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Kansas City, Big Spring, Odessa and Fort Worth.

Two Looks For Price Of One

Cotton terry towels have gone two-faced for spring. The result: Two fashion looks for the price of one. According to the National Cotton Council, the newest towel ensembles are reversible styles which feature floral prints on one side and a solid on the other.

By using bath and hand sizes with either print or solid color up, or combining the two, you can create a number of different effects.

Airman 2.C. Patric A. Love, has arrived for duty with a Pacific Air Forces (PACAF) unit at Osan AB, Korea. A personnel specialist, he previously served at Webb AFB. His new unit supports the PACAF mission of providing airpower for defense of the U. S. and its allies in the Pacific area.

He attended Howard County Junior College. His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Battle, 3106 West Highway 80, Big Spring.

Army Pvt. Benito A. Barrera, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Barrera, Route 3, Colorado City, participated as a member of the assault forces in Exercise West Wind, a joint Army-Navy-Marine Corps amphibious operation, on the Hawaiian Island of Molokai, April 15-24.

More than 4,000 troops of the 25th Infantry Division were landed on the island's Papohaku Beach from helicopters and landing ships. After establishing a beachhead, the men moved inland to conduct jungle warfare and counter-insurgency operations against 2,000 of the division's men who took the part of guerrillas previously established on the island.

A rifleman in Company C, 2nd Battalion, of the division's 14th Infantry regularly stationed at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, Barrera entered the Army in September, 1963, and received basic training at Fort Polk, La. He is a 1959 graduate of Colorado City High School and was engaged in farming before entering the Army.

DEAR ABBY

You Can Still Give

DEAR ABBY: My mother gave me her annual warning speech again this year prior to Mother's Day. It always starts out, "Please don't buy me anything. There's nothing I need." Abby, this hurts me. I KNOW my mother doesn't "need" anything, but it takes the pleasure out of it for me when she is so ungracious as to reject my gift before she even gets it. Please put a word or two in your column letting mothers know that their children enjoy buying Mother's Day gifts, and they should not be discouraged from doing so. LOVES TO GIVE

DEAR LOVES: Most mothers are fearful that their children will deny themselves something in order to buy a Mother's Day gift. An original poem or letter doesn't cost anything, and is the most cherished of all gifts. When I was a child, my own mother used to say, "Don't buy me anything. I have everything I need." So I would write little poems and verses telling her how much I appreciated her. Only after she passed away did I realize how much they meant to her. She had saved every one.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I'm wrong, but I always thought that Mother's Day was a day to remember one's OWN mother. I am my husband's sweetheart, companion, partner and lover but, by Jove, I am NOT his mother! I hope that Bill and I never start calling each other "Mother" and "Dad" like some couples we know. And we certainly don't intend to exchange gifts on "Mother's Day" and "Father's Day."

MY MOTHER'S DAUGHTER

Dear Readers: In my files is this letter, written on Mother's Day by a young prisoner who was awaiting execution in San Quentin prison:

"A crime was committed. There was an arrest. And a boy was thrown into a cell. The crime was great, the boy was young, and the cell was dark.

Life seemed at an end, and hell became a living thing.

"Then one day, as the boy sat weeping, he looked up to see his mother. She was smiling. She opened her arms and said, 'My son, did you think I would not come to you?' Suddenly the boy forgot his terror and found comfort in the magic circle of his mother's arms.

"Through the dark that shrouded the hill of Calvary, a voice cried, 'Son, behold thy mother!' And Mary knelt at the foot of the cross.

"For every son who crucifies himself on the pillars of hate, weakness and greed, there at the foot of the cross you will find his mother. Your mother and mine. God bless them, here and beyond. They have known so much pain."

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212.
