SUPER-FLOOD ON MISSISSIPPI IS PREDICTED

TEX'S TOPICS

H. G. Smith, of 924 E. Fisher-st., writes us a letter with a to-the-point question for which some reader may have an answer. Says Mr. Smith:

It appears that you want something to write about in your column. Yes, I have been reading it since you have been doing the writing. I am a former Ohioan who has been in Pampa for more than 11 years.

"I came out here, married an old-timer's daughter and have been blessed with two fine sons. What more could a man want? Don't answer—let me do the talking. There is more than a loving wife (and two fine sons) that a man needs. What? A job—something to bring home the bacon."

"We are property owners and help keep up this wonderful city of ours. Yes, the taxes are paid. Now, you supply the answers, why can't an honest man get a job? Have been over this country from one end to the other, but still no work. Why?"

Ladies and gentlemen of the Topic audience, the man is asking us a couple of straight-forward questions? . . . They stump us a bit, but, we are easily stumped on many things. . . We have an idea that there is a job for this man somewhere in Gray county. Sometimes they are difficult to unearth. So, for an all right fellow who still is a booster and hasn't soured on us, even though he can't find work so he can bring home the bacon to his fine wife and two kiddies—let's see what can be done about it."

In other words, who among you has a clue to a job in which this young man—a high school and business college graduate—will fit? He adds that he taught himself to weld, but that doesn't keep him from digging a ditch. The boy has the right spirit. Let's hear from somebody about his case.

A fashion expert decrees that a man should never wear a suit, including one for walking. The up-to-the-minute wardrobe, however, is not complete without a sidown suit.

It is revealed that some of the New York newspaper editors are the work of insane people, which seems pretty conclusive that the rest are not.

The stabbing at the New York banquet turned out to be a crime, and not just another case in which pass were eaten off a knife.

The Japanese dragon has three toes, the Chinese dragon five. Which is strange, as it is the latter which always are stepped on.

Simile: Ignored as completely as a university bacteriologist's warning that kissing spreads colds.

A moviegoer can't remember much of "After the Thin Man" because of sitting behind a tall one.

A giant firecracker was exploded near an eastern woman to cure her of hiccoughs. Another idea would have been to tell her suddenly that her slip was showing.

The strike truce was probably a relief for auto plant night-watchmen whom the snores of "sidowners" kept awake.

Dentists at that Detroit meeting probably had no trouble meeting after-dinner speakers, since the task is like pulling teeth.

"U. S. Army privates are being taught shorthand." Years ago, as we remember, a soldier was asked to take a letter to Mr. Garcia.

"Two rubber trees were found in the throat of a Michigan boy." In years to come, however, he will learn how to dunk his doughnuts properly.

A Norfolk, Va., man is 102 years old, and has never had a doctor. Still, he must be tired of eating apples.

The brainless old-timer who "didn't know it was loaded" has been replaced by the drinking driver who didn't know he had been.

DEAD UNKNOWN IN FLOOD AREA

SOUTH TREMBLES AT GREAT DAMAGE TO COME

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26 (AP)—A sudden drop in temperatures slowed a steady rise in Pittsburgh's rivers today, just as they swept over the edge of the "Golden Triangle" business district for the second time in a week.

The weather bureau said the stage of 34.5 feet—nine and a half feet beyond flood height—at 8 a. m. had fallen three-tenths of a foot and was receding one-tenth of a foot an hour.

Through the night crowds filled the streets, pumps poured gushing streams of water from basements and the river. Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio climbed steadily.

PADUCAH, Ky., Jan. 26 (AP)—Refugees poured out of this flood-stricken city of 38,000 on the Ohio river today, leaving behind at least 200 dead and a threat of fire from gasoline filled waters.

Red Cross officials announced 14 persons drowned with the capsizing of a rescue barge coursing the city's streets. Survivors swam to nearby buildings.

Previously six lives were lost. Fred Duncan, a TVA lineman, was electrocuted. George Pace, an aged man, died of pneumonia. Four unidentified negroes drowned in the surging waters.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 26 (AP)—Cincinnatians trudged up and down the city's seven hills today, carrying cans, jugs, bottles—anything in which a little of the city's vanishing supply of drinking water could be gotten to their homes.

While the churning Ohio reached its peak.

BAER FUNERAL TO BE HELD ON WEDNESDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Frieda Baer, who died yesterday morning in an Amarillo hospital, will be conducted at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at First Methodist church by the Rev. Will C. House, pastor. The body was brought to Pampa yesterday afternoon and is now at the family home two miles northwest of the city.

Mrs. Baer, who was born April 23, 1879, came here from Clay Center, Kas., more than 22 years ago with her husband, the late Chris Baer.

Old-time friends will serve as pallbearers. They are J. H. Mundy, Charles Nicholson, W. W. Harrah, Harry Lyman, Joe Shelton, and Lon Noel. Flowers will be in charge of Mrs. Louie Behrens, W. Purviance, Joe Shelton, Lee Harrah, and Charles Ward. All other friends of Mrs. Baer are named as honorary pallbearers.

Services at the cemetery will be in charge of the Rebekah Lodge here, of which Mrs. Baer was an active member. Burial will be in charge of the G. C. Malone funeral home.

Surviving Mrs. Baer are two daughters, Mrs. Steve Oats of Pampa and Mrs. Marvin Elder of Borger; four sons, Carl, Harold, Albert, and Franklin; Mrs. John Spaeth of Salina, Kas.; and Mrs. Henry Yrueh of Abilene, Kas. and three brothers, Frank and Ferdinand Schroeder of Enterprise, Kas., and Herman Schroeder of Langford, Kas.

All Boy Scouts of troop 80 will be dismissed from school to attend the funeral. Franklin was senior patrol leader of the troop.

NEVADA EXECUTED

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 26 (AP)—Luther Jones, 32-year-old ex-convict who murdered four men near Elko, Nev., in a $40 holdup last Oct. 16, paid with his life in the state's prison lethal gas chamber today.

Telegram To FDR Will Aid Paralysis Victims

Pampans were again urged today to participate in congratulatory messages which will go to President Roosevelt from here on his birthday anniversary Saturday.

Ely Fonville, chairman of the committee making arrangements for the telegrams to the president, said today that for 25 cents you may have your name subscribed to a personal greeting to the President on the understanding that the entire amount received will be paid over to the national committee for the President's Birthday Ball without any deductions. Seventy per cent of the amount will be returned to the local committee for infantile paralysis relief and 30 per cent will be retained by the national committee to be delivered to the President for presentation to the Georgia Warm Springs

Explosion Causes Spectacular Gas Blaze

The photographer was a quarter of a mile from the fire when he took the above picture last Friday morning at 3 o'clock near the Car-gray refinery. A gas line leading to the refinery parted and the gas ignited. The heat was intense. The fire was extinguished by turning off the wells leading into the lines.

EXTENSION OF LIBRARY VOTED

ENTIRE SOUTH HALF OF BASEMENT WILL BE UTILIZED

Larger quarters for the Pampa public library are in the making. It was announced today by City Manager C. L. Stine.

Because of cramped quarters, the city library board has approved the entire south half of the city hall basement. This will mean the removal of the National Re-employment Service office which now occupies the southwest corner of the building.

With the additional space, only one entrance at the south will lead to the new library quarters and the entire lobby space there now will be utilized, Mr. Stine said.

Because the library fund does not have sufficient money to make the changes, the city will provide the cost of the expansion program. The city commission also last night raised the wages of the librarian, Mrs. James E. Todd, $10 a month to $90.

LEDRIK, VANDERBURG TIE FOR SCHOOL POST

Today Student Council is the thought in the mind of every student in Pampa high school. This morning Mickey Ledrick and Fred Vanderburg tied for the office of president. The run-off will be held when other Student Council members are elected Wednesday morning during home room period.

Out of 584 votes Mickey Ledrick received 241 which was short 26 of being a majority. Fred Vanderburg received second highest with 118 votes.

The aim of a Student Council is to provide the following things: Closer cooperation between the students and the faculty. To improve the spirit of respect and order in the school. To help to uncover talent and leadership in the student body. To give valuable training and practice in democratic self-government. To develop pride in school accomplishments. To furnish a means for bringing all students organizations under one head. The organization also aids in the handling of school activities and social functions.

Surviving Mrs. Baer are two daughters, Mrs. Steve Oats of Pampa and Mrs. Marvin Elder of Borger; four sons, Carl, Harold, Albert, and Franklin; Mrs. John Spaeth of Salina, Kas.; and Mrs. Henry Yrueh of Abilene, Kas. and three brothers, Frank and Ferdinand Schroeder of Enterprise, Kas., and Herman Schroeder of Langford, Kas.

All Boy Scouts of troop 80 will be dismissed from school to attend the funeral. Franklin was senior patrol leader of the troop.

One Boy Shoots Another

Seven youthful "gunmen" were rounded up and given a "talking to" by city police officials late yesterday afternoon in an investigation of the shooting of a Pampa youth.

The boy in question was shot on a street in the city. The shooting was the result of a dispute between the boy and another youth. The boy who shot the other was named B. B. Smith.

The "trigger-man" confessed that he shot the lad because he had accused him of not returning some of his marbles. The boys were warned and released, and police issued an order that no B-B guns be fired within the city limits.

MAN BARELY ELUDES DEATH IN CAR CRASH

Roy Heaton, of Keller, miraculously escaped death last night when his car left the road at a bridge near LeFors, tore up the bridge railing, overturned and rolled into the creek bottom.

In leaving the highway, Heaton's new Dodge car was pierced by two of three timbers which went straight through the car from one side to the other.

One of the timbers narrowly missed Heaton as it tore through the metal and cushions. Heaton was driving alone. The accident happened at the same point where Oscar W. Dotson, of Pampa, and Mrs. Dotson were killed in an accident last Dec. 22.

BORGER UPSETS TEMPERMENTAL PAMPANS; CLEAN COMING TONIGHT

TURKEY TURKS TO PLAY HERE ON SATURDAY

QUINT REACHES DEPTHS IN BULLDOG-GYM DEBACLE

Coach Odu Mijahel's Harvester basketball machine, which had been running smoothly until last night, when it took the first beating in five years, a Borger cage team has given a Pampa quintet.

The score was 22 to 17; the place, the Bulldog gym. The temperamental Pampans, willing enough but not experienced enough to translate that temperament into effective hustling, could not hit the stride they showed last week-end. They labored valiantly to shake smoothly, but they couldn't get going. The defeat came as a shock, although close observers expected one let-down this week.

Despite the loss, on the whole the Harvesters are showing improvement. The single-game slumps are becoming scarcer and will entirely disappear in a couple of weeks. The boys will likely play like champions the rest of the week.

The Harvesters several weeks ago defeated the Bulldogs fairly easily. They were doped to win the game by a dozen points because they whipped Plainview Saturday night after Plainview had swamped Borger 36 to 17.

Tonight, the Harvesters who have alternately played like champions and then like typical cellarites, will attempt to reach the heights again by moving down McLean. The second teams of both schools will play at 7:15 o'clock and the first teams will play at 8 o'clock. Admission will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for students.

The Harvesters fell into the pitfall of all bad basketball teams last night. They played as individuals and not as a team. They didn't pass the ball; they tried to score from any position. One would have thought just by watching the game.

RHEUMATIC PAIN PUTS PROMINENT TEXAN IN BED

Well-Known Citizen Near El Paso Suffered 4 Years; Stomach In Horrible Condition; Awful Fainting Spells; Got Quick Relief When He Found Van-Tage.

Day after day the fame of VAN-TAGE continues to spread. This is the new scientific mixture of 21 Natural Herbs blended with 12 Other Splendid Ingredients, now being introduced at Cretney Drug Store, next to LaNora theatre, and the latest prominent citizen to endorse it.

MR. C. A. MARUJO
dorse it is Mr. C. A. Marujo, of Ysleta, Texas, who resides at the same old family home where his grand-parents were born. Read what this native-born Westerner says about Van-Tage:

Bedridden With Rheumatic Pain, Stomach Agony

"I suffered terribly for 4 years," said Mr. Marujo, "I was bloated with horrible stomach gas all the time, badly constipated, and suffered from fainting spells and biliousness. Had rheumatic pains so bad they got me down in bed at times. I tried all kinds of medicines and treatments, but they didn't do me any good. Then I heard about Van-Tage and tried it, and I am here to say that I didn't think there WAS a medicine like this. It certainly relieved my suffering. In just two weeks I made me feel fine ALL OVER! The gas and bloating have left me entirely and my stomach has gone down to its normal size again, and even those awful rheumatic pains have been completely relieved. I don't know how to express my thanks for Van-Tage, but I will say that I will be only too glad to recommend it to ANYBODY."

Is Like Taking Several Medicines at Once

VAN-TAGE contains over 30 ingredients. So it is like taking several medicines at once. Clears gas and bloating, cleanses the bowels, helps sluggish liver and kidneys, so that people declare it made them feel different ALL OVER. And—due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Van-Tage is reasonable. So, get it—TODAY—at Cretney Drug Store, next to LaNora theatre.

that each wanted to be high point man, or wanted to make more points than the other. That of course was not true. The boys really tried to play as a team, but every now and then one or the other of them gets an urge to attempt a difficult shot, even when he could pass and let the other fellow score.

James Dewey was the only one who could hit the basket last night, and he made 10 of the 17 points Pampa scored. Ayer had one of his rare off nights, and he and Cox, Reynolds, Heisell and Dewey fumbled the ball frequently, threw it away and made unwise shots. The game was rough; Pampa could not hit the basket, and it was blue Monday anyway.

This morning Coach Mitchell booked another battle for his team. Saturday night, the Terrible Turks of Turkey, coached by Al Duncan, former Pampans, will come to Pampa to play the Harvesters. This year, Coach Duncan is certain his boys can plaster a defeat on the Harvesters. He has a great team that has already been widely advertised on these pages.

Friday night the Pampans will tilt the Sandies in Amarillo.

Beat Samnorwood.

That McLean's Tigers are improving with practice is shown by the fact that they won over Samnorwood's five after having taken two previous whippings from them.

The score was McLean 21, Samnorwood 16 in Thursday night's fray at Samnorwood.

Floyd was high-point man for McLean and Cleveland starred for Samnorwood.

In the girls' game, the score was Samnorwood 25, McLean 20. McLean, supported by Tidwell, was the outstanding goal shooter, making 17 of the 20 points. M. L. Clemmons showed outstanding improvement in the guard position. While for Samnorwood, Weaver and Thurman showed their usual brand of playing.

The first conference game of the season will be played at Alameda on Saturday night. The Longhorns, plenty of action is promised by the Longhorns who slipped up on the Tigers last year and took the county championship away from them when they thought they already had it won.

MCCARTHY GIVEN HIS 1937 LOOP ASSIGNMENT

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—All Marjoe Joe McCarthy has to do to earn his $35,000 as manager of the New York Yankees next season is win the American league pennant by 20 games and take the world series in four straight.

That's what Col. Jake Ruppert jettisoned before Joe left today for Philadelphia on his last tour of the banquet circuit.

Last year at Joe's annual beef-steak dinner to the New York Baseball Writers, the ruddy colonel expressed displeasure at the Yankees' habit of finishing second.

Last night Ruppert lauded Joe, then added:

"But he fell down on two things. I asked him to win the pennant by 20 games and the series in four straight. He didn't do this but I've forgiven him. And anyway, maybe he'll do it this year."

TECH TO PLAY TEAMS OF 9 STATES IN FALL

LUBBOCK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Texas Tech's ambitious Red Raiders will meet teams of nine states on the gridiron next fall. Seven of the foes were not on the Raiders' 1936 card.

The schedule: Sept. 18, Arizona State of Flagstaff at Lubbock; Sept. 25, University of Texas at Austin; Oct. 2, University of Montana at Lubbock; Oct. 9, University of Detroit at Detroit; Oct. 16, University of Arizona at Lubbock; Oct. 23, University of New Mexico at Lubbock; Oct. 30, Oklahoma A. & M. at Stillwater, Okla.; Nov. 5, Loyola of the South at Lubbock; Nov. 11, Duquesne at Lubbock; Nov. 20, Creighton at Shreveport; Nov. 25, Creighton University at Lubbock.

INFIDELERS RELEASED

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals have announced the release of infielders Arthur Garbarino to Sacramento and Jimmy Jordan to Columbus.

SPRINGER URGES TRADE AT HOME IN BCD SPEECH

Binford Arney Gives Main Address at McLean

Use of Panhandle resources and support of Panhandle industries was stressed at the annual B. C. D. banquet in McLean last evening, when C. O. Greene, president, and other officers were installed before an audience of 120 which included visitors from Pampa and Amarillo. Binford Arney, Amarillo attorney, who made the main address, and Wilt Springer, retiring president who reviewed the past year's progress, both urged faith in the future of this territory. Mr. Arney spoke of prospects for the industrial development of Texas, especially the Panhandle.

"An industrial boom is sure, if we take advantage of our two important factors for development—plenty of gas and absence of labor trouble. Prospects for the Panhandle are bright; let us be ready to take advantage of its progress," he said.

Mr. Springer asked that "trade at home" be the motto of McLean residents, as he acknowledged cooperation given him during 1936 and reviewed accomplishments of the year. He mentioned purchase of a school bus, the Jericho gas celebration, sending band members to a band clinic in Cincinnati, assistance to high school home economics department, promoting a regional football banquet, and other projects.

Mr. Greene, introduced with other new officers, outlined briefly the active program for 1937 and invited continued cooperation of the town. His fellow-officers are W. K. Wharton, vice president; W. E. Bogan, secretary, and Thurman Adkins, treasurer, all re-elected from last year.

Vester Smith and E. L. Sittler are new directors, succeeding Lee A. Wilson and T. A. Landers. They will serve with Boyd Meador, C. A. Cryer, W. W. Boyd, and Jesse J. Cobb, hold-over directors.

Thurman Adkins acted as toastmaster for the banquet. John Struog of Pampa sang a solo, playing his own accompaniment. A trio, Mrs. Bob Thomas, Mrs. C. O. Greene, and Miss Stanley, sang with piano accompaniment by Miss Emerald Floyd.

Guests who responded to introductions with brief talks were Geo. Briggs, Jim Collins, Garnet Reeves, and Joe Gordon, of Pampa; Bill Gilstrap, T. E. Johnson, M. A. Taylor, J. A. Whitely, and A. A. Meredith of Amarillo.

Others who attended from Pampa were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Landers, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Leech, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman White, Mrs. Sturgeon, Mrs. Gordon, Earl Talley, and Wayne Phelps. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bruce of Alameda were guests.

Work on fairgrounds project stops again

Building construction work on the Pampa fairgrounds project was at a standstill today because WPA does not have funds to buy lumber and material and the city has told officials it cannot supply the needed money amounting to approximately $4,000.

With no money available to pay them, workers have been taken off the stables and other lumber work at the project, according to City Manager C. L. Stine.

Gay C. Holder, of the district WPA office at Amarillo, attended last night's city commission. A letter from district headquarters two days ago intimated that the local project would be closed down unless the city provided material for the job.

However, it is believed some compromise will be reached to prevent complete closing down. Dirt work on the roads and dam was being continued, Mr. Stine said.

KPDN IS HUNTING FOR NEW DRAMATIC TALENT

KPDN is hunting new dramatic talent for a series of studio plays to be broadcast in the next few weeks. New voices are also needed for the three weekly broadcasts currently produced by the station.

Present greatest need is for male voices versatile enough to enact character roles as well as straight "hero" types. About ten men are needed to take part in present programs and the new dramatic series which will start early next month.

Pampans who are interested in becoming radio actors should contact Mel Marshall, KPDN program director, at the studios.

300 Trees To Be Planted In Parks

Pampa city commissioners last night bided their time in accepting bids for the planting of between 300 and 400 trees in Central and Priest's parks.

Bids opened last night were considered to be too high. City Manager C. L. Stine was authorized to make further investigations before the purchase is made.

SOIL EROSION TALKED AT CLARENDON BANQUET

Dick Huges and Allen Hodges represented the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce at Clarendon last night.

Water conservation and soil erosion were the main issues in an address by Dr. J. D. Dickey, of Memphis, principal speaker.

W. H. Felt, of the address of welcome and John R. Porter was toastmaster. Representatives were in attendance from Childress, Memphis, Amarillo, and Pampa.

Five new directors, Sam Braswell, Clyde Douglas, John R. Porter, M. R. Allenworth and J. T. Palmer were installed. Joseph Holland is president and J. M. Hill, secretary of the club.

RADIO REPORTS OF FLOODS ARE TRAGIC PLEAS

Pampans Crowding to Radios to Listen

In Pampa, where flood waters are an unknown quantity, residents are finding themselves burning the midnight oil as they stay up to listen to radio reports direct from the flood zone in the Ohio river valley.

Grim tragedy fills the ether as announcers stick to the microphones in the studios of WHAS at Louisville, Ky., a city without lights or power and where refugees are telephoning frantically to be removed from second story windows of their homes as the flood waters rise.

The messages of flood relief from WHAS are coming through WSM at Nashville, Tenn., leading a many-station hook-up to aid Louisville, where Old Man River has inundated much of the city and made thousands upon thousands homeless.

All through the night one hears the pleas of announcers as they are sent across the air to radio-equipped boat and automobile rescue parties. Crowded with pointing out that one can hear equally tragic and dramatic reports of the greatest Ohio river valley disaster of all time. Many other stations, including short-wave amateurs, also carry news and personal messages in and out of the devastated areas.

Radio Station KPDN in Pampa is among the stations carrying the appeal of WSM at Nashville. KPDN's offer to help was forwarded to WSM and this morning a telegram from Harry Stone, station manager there, expressed appreciation of the Pampa station's offer and urged KPDN to continue to push an appeal for funds and serum for flood victims.

FAIR PLAY

The Texas legislature in its present session will be called upon to reject or adopt two bills designed to impose taxes on out-of-state concerns for the privilege of doing business in the state.

The bills have to do with the importation of beer into Texas. One proposes a fee of $1.50 on each barrel shipped in. The other would impose a 5 per cent fee on all beer shipped in.

Nearly one-half the beer sold in Texas is the product of outside breweries. It would appear that any such attempt at economic trade isolation by Texas, or any state, is of questionable merit. Any barrier to free trade erected by one state on any commodity would invite the setting up of barriers on similar commodities by other states.

Such an exclusion of out-of-state products certainly will invite retaliation. If Texas should exclude or discriminate against beers made in other states of the union, other states inevitably will retaliate by excluding Texas beers—and, no doubt, what is more important, brewers in other states will retaliate by declining to buy Texas rice and Texas barley.

Ultimately, this same influence could lead to a boycott of Texas fruits, cattle, and other Texas products.

If the legislature adopts this plan, it will deprive many Texas citizens of employment through the disruption of wholesale and retail handling of the products throughout the state.

Naturally, there is respect for the majesty of the law and the power of the legislature to do what it thinks best. However, there are those who are bold enough to feel that these proposed restrictions on business coming from the other side of our borders really turn the wheels of time back 100 years—and reestablish the old idea when the people of the village or the town made only those things which could be traded within the limitations of that area, killing the thought that a good idea could be extended.

In the spirit of fair play, a conclusion is arrived at that Texas would be making a mistake to put this proposed legislation into effect.

BOUNDS OF REASON

We were taught to believe that beyond the bounds of reason lies danger. Thomas G. Plant, spokesman for Pacific coast shipowners, has spoken. He outlined what he termed final offers to the seven maritime unions participating in the western shipping strike.

We are glad to learn that the shipowners have reached the decision to be "final." In other words, we, like millions of other Americans, believe there is a limit to everything. Although we think the limit to the maritime strike should have been reached shortly after it was called (or before), there probably is nothing so valuable as prudence and patience in a crisis like was faced at several stages of the needless burden that some of these unions have inflicted upon the public of the West.

Foregoing this point, for the time being, we want to raise this question pertaining to the strike, in the reader's mind: What now—since this is final? Will our great ship owners and operators be forced to endure more embarrassment and hardship that is absolutely beyond the bounds of reason. Someone says: "Umph! They can afford it." Well, if there are those who think this, we would like to have the individual put himself in the same position as a shipowner who has struggled and built up his private enterprise. This is one of the prime rights under the Constitution of the United States. There is no abridgment of those rights!

In saying these things, we do not want to place ourselves in the category of "beyond the bounds of reason." Perhaps some of the unions had a just grievance. But we contend it could have been amicably settled without inflicting misery on hundreds of thousands who have suffered simply because a few persons went beyond the bounds of reason.

Editorial of the Day

PRESS CENSORSHIP AND WORLD PEACE
(Chicago Tribune)

Describing the handling by the German press of the controversy over foreign assistance to the Spanish combatants, Sigrid Schultz, Tribune correspondent at Berlin, says: "The impression the press conveyed to the German public is that most of the leading nations are helping the 'Spanish bolsheviks' with arms and men—but not a word was published as to the presence of a single German volunteer with the forces of General Franco."

This is an inevitable consequence of government control of the press. Under every dictatorship, the Russian, the Italian, the Nazi, the people are not permitted to know what is going on either in their own countries or in the outside world. It is said that is their own business, since they have chosen or submitted to be ruled by dictators. But it is more than their own business. It is the concern of every other country. When the press of a country becomes a mere instrument of the dictator there is no chance of an appeal to the people. We must deal only with the dictator without hope of presenting any side of a controversy he does not find it expedient they shall consider. The appeal the American people made to the "opinion of mankind" when they declared their independence and argued their cause before the world is shut off from every people whose press has been taken over by dictatorships. Even where a theoretically free press is censored by powerful interests, as in Great Britain, public opinion may be so directed as to have serious consequences outside the borders of the nation immediately concerned, sowing ill feeling among peoples.

Washington Letter

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—Jimmy Roosevelt, the president's eldest son, has made his official debut in Washington at the side of his father—on the occasion of the presidential message to Congress and again at the ceremonies of inauguration.

Jimmy will be an assistant, a secretary, and a companion. To a certain extent he will attempt to fill the important place left vacant by the death of Louis Howe, the beloved friend and most intimate counselor of F. D. R., and to a certain extent he will attempt to replace the late Gus Gennerich, without performing the duties of bodyguard.

The president's loneliness since the death of Howe and Gennerich was a large factor behind his request that his son join him at the White House.

It is also true that Jimmy, who is still under 30, has made a pile of money and has political ambitions which can be nourished in his new job. The president is sympathetic with those ambitions, although it's silly to listen to odd rumors referring to the young man as a "crown prince" or "heir apparent."

Young Roosevelt thus far has had most of his training under Gov. Jim Curley of Massachusetts, whom Bay State voters refused to send to the Senate last November despite their concurrence in the Roosevelt landslide.

He will be on the spot in his position as his father's confidential handy man, a target for jealousies and resentments, eyed constantly by both conservatives and liberals who already are wondering as to the direction in which his influence will be felt. The friends and enemies Jimmy makes in Washington and the type of such statesmanlike qualities as he may exhibit will go a long way toward determining the extent to which he may be expected to travel in his political career.

One of the more recent Roosevelt stories: Ginger Rogers, the dancer, invited to the White House for a performance, was presenting a rather sedate tango for the president and his guests.

"Come on, Ginger," the president urged, "give us a dance like the ones you do in the movies."

The actress broke into some fast and fancy stepping, raising her skirts distinctly above the knees.

"Well, you asked for it," she cried, looking at the president.

"Well, I'm taking it!" replied F. D. R. with a big grin.

Every newspaperman sooner or later encounters Mr. J. Henry Smythe Jr., who likes to talk about his resemblance to the president—which might not strike you with terrific impact unless you were reminded of it—and who is commonly known as "Slogan Smythe."

Or it might be more accurate to say that sooner or later Mr. Smythe encounters every newspaperman.

He walked into this office at a busy moment and introduced himself.

A lifelong Philadelphia Republican, Smythe in 1928 gave his party the slogan "No Con-Tammnation of the Nation" and says it was widely used. He says you must also remember his "This will be a Landon-slide" and "Keep Coolidge—he keeps the faith!"

For Hoover in 1932 he contributed "Hoover is a Trouble Remover," "His Reputation is a Credit to the Nation," "He Kept us out of Worse," and "Vote right—Be a Hooverite."

"Of course," Mr. Smythe admitted, "slogans alone can't win a campaign."

Yesteryear In Pampa

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Joe Bartles of Amarillo and his father, Cherokee Indian for whom the oil city of Bartlesville, Okla. was named, were visitors here.

T. D. Hobart was attending the Texas-Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, of which he was a director, at San Antonio.

Miss Leah Amend of Amarillo, former teacher here, visited in Pampa.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

The annual report of the fire department was made, showing an insured loss of $1,874 during 1935, and inspections that disclosed 273 fire hazards for correction.

A three-day program for parents of younger boys, devoted to Cubbing, the Boy Scout program for boys under 12, started with A. L. Patrick in charge.

Old Man River On A Tear

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK.—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff:

Ruth Gordon's voice, like Helen Hayes' is perfectly suited to comedy or tragedy.

Just to hear either of them speak lifts me out of the theater and into whatever parts they are playing.

Sixth avenue, with its aura of savdust and shooting galleries, continues New York's untidiest street, yet now and then a silk hat turns up in the hamburger joints.

Wary of the pretense and caviar of the upper bracket world, they like to get back to rubbing elbows with the gentry from the other side of the tracks.

I saw Kenneth McKenna in one of the other night and he was right back where he started.

Both his hamburger joints were heaped with onion.

I hate child actors. When I haven't any work to do, I just sit here and hate them.

Johnny Green, who is Fred Astaire's musical director, was graduated from Harvard when only 19.

A fine commentary on education, I must say.

Arthur Somers Roche, O. Henry and Adeline Patti all used to live at the same rooming house, at 61 Washington Square South, though not all at the same time.

Phillips Holmes, the actor, is an authority on contemporary poetry.

Moss Hart keeps a whole set of Encyclopedia Britannica in his bathroom.

Maurice Evans who will presently turn up as Henry II, is considered by London critics a better Hamlet than John Gielgud.

Walter Huston wasn't well received when "Othello" opened.

It was the first bad press he has been given in five years.

Congratulations to Helen Deutsch and the Theater Guild.

They are working for each other now.

I want a copy of Al Woods' autobiography when it comes out.

It should touch hidden springs to thousands of columns.

Woods has a native line of patter that fascinates most listeners.

One day last winter, musing through the snow of Fifth avenue, Roland Young fell into girle with him.

"Whither bound?" the actor inquired.

"I'm looking for the first robin of spring," Woods rejoined.

"So soon?" "Byrd," said the producer, "spent three years in the Arctic; who am I to give up so easily?"

Maxwell Anderson is a successful playwright, but he is also a good business man.

Most of his plays are published by Anderson House, which he owns.

Noel Coward is still tops, however, any way you slice it.

He writes, he acts, he composes, he sings, he publishes and he produces.

In 10 years he has earned $5,000,000.

No contemporary actor has even approached that figure.

Francis Hackett, the author, is at Killarney House, County Wicklow, Ireland.

He is making his home there.

What ever became of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener of Philadelphia?

It hasn't been seen in five years.

At "High Tor" the other night, Gloria Swanson was an avid spectator.

A young girl clutched the sleeve of her swain, and cried: "See her? And just think, Saturday night we saw Fredric March!"

Drinking it up!

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH

Edited by DR. JAQO GOLDSTON

For the New York Academy of Medicine such syphilis probably could be found to be the leading cause of death in the United States.

What then is to be done? Get every case of syphilis under appropriate treatment. Where lacking, create the necessary facilities. Spread the knowledge of the true hazard of this disease.

The venereal diseases are too costly in money and suffering to neglect.

Then, too, it is for all of us to work out, in the light of our differing convictions, the problem of venereal prophylaxis—the prevention of infection.

There are many flour mills in Alaska.

There is one flour mill in Alaska at Fairbanks, but this mill is not in operation.

Are the seasonal temperatures in the southern hemisphere higher or lower than they are in the northern hemisphere?

It is true that the earth is nearest the sun when it is winter in the northern hemisphere and summer in the southern hemisphere. The difference in distance with, and do not need the same training. Some children do not need to go to school as early as others. It is not necessary to make every child just like every other. It is the infinite variation of mankind that makes life interesting and inspiring.

Children should be left alone more, and encouraged to think. They should be given an opportunity to discover resources within themselves. Every child should have some spot, no matter how small, which he can call his own, and where he can retire and be alone. There should be some time every day which belongs to the child and which he can use as he likes.

The gregarious child will not use the privacy and seclusion even if they are given to him. He likes the crowd. But the thoughtful, imaginative child will have a chance to develop.

Scholars, artists, thinkers, are not mass products, and cannot develop in crowds. Imagination and creative thought flourish only in solitude. One need not be a hermit to think deeply, but one must have a reasonable amount of privacy, both physically and mentally.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Frederic J. Haskin

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. Who is the sportsman's saint? H. W.

A. St. Hurbert.

Q. Which of the States had the first written constitution? N. L.

A. Connecticut framed the first written constitution.

Q. How early did Clyde Beatty start training animals? W. F.

A. When Mr. Beatty was five years old he trained cats and dogs in the back yard of his home at Chillicothe, Ohio. At fifteen he left home to join a circus as cage boy.

Q. What is the average time that a patient with tuberculosis stays in a sanatorium? T. F.

A. A little less than six months. It may be pointed out that the death rate for tuberculosis, whether hospitalized or not, is only 56.6 per 100,000 population in the United States.

Q. What debutantes of recent years have had the most expensive parties? E. R. L.

A. The cost of the debut of Miss Joan Peabody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener of Philadelphia was estimated at $100,000. Miss Barbara Field, daughter of Mrs. E. Marshall Field of Chicago, had a lavish debut, the cost of which was estimated at over $50,000.

A few other debuts that ran into that figure were those of Annie May Henry, daughter of Huntington Henry of Chicago, Catherine Bond Johnson, daughter of Richard Newton Johnson of Baltimore, and Barbara Kahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kahn of San Francisco.

In 1929 the debut of Helen Lee Dames Doherty in Washington, D. C. was said to have cost $50,000 while Natalie Coe's coming out party in New York City the same year was equally elaborate.

Q. What famous soldier was known as Little Mac? E. H.

A. This nickname was applied by the soldiers of the Union Army during the Civil War to General George B. McClellan.

Q. Are there any flour mills in Alaska? S. L.

A. There is one flour mill in Alaska at Fairbanks, but this mill is not in operation.

Q. Are the seasonal temperatures in the southern hemisphere higher or lower than they are in the northern hemisphere? H. W. O.

A. It is true that the earth is nearest the sun when it is winter in the northern hemisphere and summer in the southern hemisphere. The difference in distance with, and do not need the same training. Some children do not need to go to school as early as others. It is not necessary to make every child just like every other. It is the infinite variation of mankind that makes life interesting and inspiring.

Children should be left alone more, and encouraged to think. They should be given an opportunity to discover resources within themselves. Every child should have some spot, no matter how small, which he can call his own, and where he can retire and be alone. There should be some time every day which belongs to the child and which he can use as he likes.

The gregarious child will not use the privacy and seclusion even if they are given to him. He likes the crowd. But the thoughtful, imaginative child will have a chance to develop.

King without a country

Chapter XIII

All the rest of that day and evening Paul wandered idly about Gallipoli, unrecognized and lonely, drifting from one casual group to another, asking questions and directing each conversation to the subject of the king.

When he went to bed, at last, in the cabin of his sloop, he had to admit that the thing he had eluded back to Gallipoli to find had eluded him. For he had come back to bask in the radiance of the old days—to snuggle up against the warm love his people had once had for him—and he found that it no longer existed.

The truth of the matter was that they had simply forgotten him. They did not look back at his reign with the fond longing he had imagined; they did not look back at all until someone reminded them of it, as he had been doing; and then their attitude was one of, "Oh, yes—King Paul. To be sure; he was king before King Joseph, wasn't he?"

Here and there he found a faint note of hostility; a feeling that King Paul had deserted them, had fled when they needed him. But for the most part that was absent. In the brief year he had become an obscure figure in history; a person one remembered when his name was mentioned, but not one that anybody looked back to with any desire or yearning.

When he got up the next morning he found the little city decked out with flags and bunting in honor of the expected visit of Joseph. Each house, no matter how humble, had found some means of putting up a festive aspect. Stores sold cheap lithographs of the king, and these appeared in almost every window. Small, crudely-lettered signs, "God Bless our King," were strung over gateposts and alleyways. A holiday had been declared, and innumerable children, joyous at their release from school, were already massing in a vast group on the common, tiny flags clutched in unwontedly clean fists, while anxious teachers scoured about to make sure that their charges would give the monarch a proper welcome.

By 10 o'clock the sidewalks were crowded. Paul found a place by the pedestal of a dust-grimed war memorial, at the entrance to the common. A pair of memory-enslaved him as he recognized the memorial; he had dedicated it, 15 years ago, as crown prince. He climbed on a granite abutment so that he could look over the throng, and waited.

Far off, at last, he heard the sound of music. King Joseph, the king came in intermittent bursts at first, and then swelled to a steady tide of sound, given rhythm by the blood-stirring pulse of drums. It came nearer, and an electric current seemed to pass through the waiting crowd. They could make out now the tramp of many feet, the blast of trumpets and the shrill scream of the fifes, and a wave of cheering came sweeping in toward them as the people hailed their king.

There it came, at last, down the street on the far side of the open common. The regular band of a famous regiment of regulars—a regiment that had fought the king's wars for three centuries, and had the names of great battles and obscure ones inscribed on its banners—swung into view. After it came the regulars in blue, trim and grimly elegant in blue and white, their sloped ankles twinkling, their rifles sloped with professional exactitude, something elated and confident shining forth from the way they stepped out, the way they held their heads, the way they swung their left arms.

A mist came into Paul's eyes as he watched them. His amber spectacles fogged, and he impatiently jerked them off and thrust them into his pocket. He had been honorary colonel of this regiment. They were his men; he knew all of the officers and half the men. They were great men and a great regiment; he looked on with a lump in his throat as the steady blue ranks swept past him, the jaunty caps bobbing over bronzed faces.

Then, as the roar mounted to a crescendo, there came an open touring car. Standing in the tonneau was such a small fraction of the total distance that there is no significant difference in the corresponding seasons in the two hemispheres.

Q. Where is the Ponce de Leon carnival to be held? S. G.

A. The festival will be held in Puerto Rico from January 30 to February 14.

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

INVESTMENT. Despite talk of the pyramiding of the government debt and smaller yield rates, insurance companies are accumulating distant maturities of treasury bonds. This due to the conviction that there isn't anything better available to be carried up to maturity dates. Then again, the floating supply of these issues is expected to decline because of pending Social Security Board buying. Bond dealers say that other high grade issues will have to move up to as high as five per cent yields before federal bonds will decline in market value. That isn't expected for a long time. And so every time insurance companies are stuck with a batch of cash they rush into the government bond market for such investments.

RAYON. Informed rayon critics say that despite rumors there's no likelihood of a price increase. Figures quoted to consumers are currently five per cent above those of last year only because the discount was revoked. The industry's production capacity is around 325,000,000 pounds. The output today is about 260,000,000 pounds. Plant facilities are being expanded so that 400,000,000 pounds per year will be capacity output by the close of 1937. Rayon consumers are expected to take that amount during the 1937-1938 season.

HIGHER. Slowly but surely the cost of living is increasing. But retailers plan to move cautiously in making price changes. The movement has already begun. Large retail merchants don't want to bring about consumers' resistance and so price changes will run from 25 cents to as much as $2—depending upon the item. In wearing apparel and accessories, existing price levels will be retained as long as the present inventory positions hold out. But in home furnishings such as rugs, furniture and other accessories prices will be lifted immediately.

PENDING. A couple of weeks ago Financial Whirligig exclusively disclosed that a banking group would loan to the Mexican government $5,500,000 for land irrigation purposes. Since then your correspondent has learned that the New York banks will not loan the money without the guarantee of an internationally known oil organization. The oil company is withholding the guarantee pending negotiations with the Mexican government. As previously stated the public will not share in the loan.

FORECAST. Believe in astrology? Many of the financial world do. Here's a consensus of the findings: Business—to continue upward subject to temporary difficulties—meaning labor disputes; crops—there'll be no drought this year—hard year to forecast with many being fooled, but trend upward subject to sharp reactions; politics—smooth sailing for administration especially in that there'll be no war on a world-wide basis. His activities are in England, Germany, France, Holland, Belgium, Spain, Ireland, Denmark, South Africa, Italy, India, Malaya, Japan, Australia, and smaller units in seven other foreign countries. These properties are all privately owned and operated by Ford Motor Company. The organization in Canada is a stock proposition which is open to the public.

FREEPORT. Because production can be undertaken at lower costs, Freeport Sulphur has taken a lease on the Hockley Dome in Harris county, Tex. The property was leased from the Stanolind Oil & Gas Company of Tulsa, Okla. The entire dome covers an area of 1,800 acres. This gives Freeport its second sulphur dome in Texas. The other is known as the Hoskins Mound, located in Brazoria county. Operations on the Hockley Dome will start within the next 60 days.

REPORTS ARE THAT: Labor difficulties are in the making in the can manufacturing industry. . . . Market price of Link Belt common keeping ahead of earnings. . . . United Paperboard common has a speculative following. . . . London a seller of Morsanto Chemical. . . . Libbey-Owens-Ford is the country's largest manufacturer of safety glass—when no strike interferes. . . . At current levels New York Air Brake is adequately appraised. . . . Francisco Sugar held as an inflationary hedge. . . . Radio Corporation common amply priced discounting possibilities. . . . Kelsey-Hayes Wheel's operations affected by General Motors' labor difficulties. . . . Profit margins in tire industry expanding—good for Lee Rubber. . . . Barring unforeseen developments, Anaconda-Copper's earnings this year will be double those of 1936. The General Baking issues are being "mentioned" in speculative quarters. . . . Hayes Body being switched into Studebaker. . . . Sulphur companies' shares purchased on belief that commodity is out of line with other commodities which have staged sharp price advances. . . . Loew's share accumulation attributed to those who anticipate a dividend increase. . . . United States Steel appears to have discounted earnings for the first six months of this year. . . . And, that rail shares are being bought on opinion current in active trading circles that the group is about due for a long delayed movement.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

BY WILL H. MAYES.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. An evidence of good faith inquires must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. What was Houston's reply to Santa Anna when the latter was captured at San Jacinto and taunted him with the scornful statement that Texas had no government and was fighting under no flag? K. D. A. "So far as the first point is concerned, the Texans flatter themselves they have a government, and they will probably be able to make a flag."

Q. What flag was used at the battle of San Jacinto and what became of it? K. D. A. So far as history shows, the only flag the Texans had at San Jacinto was one made by the ladies of Newport, Ky., and presented to Capt. Sidney Sherman and his company of Kentucky Rifles. It was of white silk and in the center a young woman was standing, leaning forward, a flagstaff in her right hand; in the outstretched left a sword with the words "Liberty or Death" on a streamer hung over it. The flag was sent to the Republic of Texas by Mrs. Sherman at Frankfort, Ky., in August, 1836, and returned to Texas by the family in August, 1896. The crumbling fragments were restored through efforts of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, and in a formal presentation the flag was placed behind the chair of the Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives April 21, 1933, where it may now be seen in almost its original beauty.

Q. How many airports are there in Texas and does any other state have more? A. At the beginning of 1937, there were 134 airports and landing fields in various stages of improvement and efficiency in Texas. California, with 184 is the only state with more. Q. Who wrote the "Hymn of the Alamo"? K. G. A. Reuben M. Potter of Brooklyn, N. Y., author of a number of Texas historical sketches.

Notable Nothings Of P. H. S.

By The Nimble Nit-Wits

Miss Brannon's favorite slang word since her last one, "O. K.", is "Oh, lawdy."

Colleen McMahon: Do they have the fourth of July in England? Mr. Dennard: Of course not! Colleen: Well, what day comes after July the third?

Coach Mitchell was seen hanging out clothes at his home the other day. He was trying to evade the public eye, but he couldn't escape the magic eye of Snooper, who sees all, knows all, and tells ALL.

Little Bert Simmons was seen tinkering with Mrs. Roberts' clock in the office the other day.

Snooper thinks that Jackie Bragg is the "hardest-headed" girl in school. Mrs. Bellows only tapped her (with a plate) and it broke (the plate).

Earl "Goetch" Rice is still the man about town as far as the fifth hour journalism class is concerned.

John Mitchell was bragging about being just another Beowulf (a warrior who in feudal times killed monsters).

Announcement: All students of PHS have an everlasting invitation to all Amarillo high school dances.

Guess Who: Blonde hair, runs around with Leona, senior, says, "You ain't just a foolin'." Drives a '36 standard metallic Chevrolet coach.

Snooper wishes to make this correction. Keith Glasgow is not going to school here, he is just visiting.

VOCABULARY DRILL

Cynic—When dishes are washed.
Cane—The one who murdered Abel.
Greek—The noise made by loose boards.
Coffin—Polite way to say wooden overcoat.
Egg—The weapon that hen supplies to men who don't like vaudeville.
Tank—In the state of meditation (Greta Garbo).
Blubber—The useful production of the whale; the useless production of the kid at our boarding house.
—The Bells.

A man wrapped up in himself makes a very small package.—Sandstorm.

Modern proverbs from Ohio Scandal:
If you want to remember things, tie a string around your finger; if you want to forget things, tie a rope around your neck.
Success has turned more heads than halitosis.

If all the paper clips in the world were hooked together into one long string, there would be a powerful lot of papers flying around loose.

HOW TO BE ADMIRABLE

Never brush your teeth, it only wears them out.
Never comb your hair, it might cause you to be bald-headed.
There is no need to use a mouth wash, merely eat a few bites of good strong onion or garlic.
Do not clean your fingernails, it makes them brittle.

Girls do not need to powder their noses, somebody may need a mirror.
Do not shine your shoes, it takes away the natural gloss.
It doesn't matter what kind of under clothes you wear, no one ever sees them anyway.

Don't let the English teacher frighten you, the average business man admires a good "ain't."

It's all right, boys, if your whiskers do grow, it adds the masculine touch.

Don't be courteous, it went out of date with the horse and buggy.

Do not fail to hum when some one is talking, it broadcasts your voice.

Never stand still, it might stiffen your joints.

Always chew gum, it's such good exercise for the jaws.

Always sit up on the other person's toes, it shows what a good foundation you have.

Always yell at the top of your voice, everyone likes an impressive speaker.

Scratch on the desks and write on the walls, it's history in the making.

Never study your lessons, you can always copy some dumbbell's answers on examinations.

Don't fail to skip classes, it shows you are worldly wise.

Always smoke cigarettes between periods when the brain is weak, it gives you a lift.

Be discourteous to teachers, it shows your superiority.

LOCKERS ARE BEING CHECKED
Lockers are being checked this week so that the empty ones might be assigned to the new students.

Mr. Osborne wishes that everyone who has changed his locker since the first of the year or changed from the locker that was assigned to them to see him so that he might change it on his record and the records in the bookroom and the office.

CAPAIN IRVING O'HAY TELLS AUDIENCE OF WAR EXPERIENCE AND OTHER LIFE HOBBIES

Considers Speaking Easy Money for Irishman

Amusement seemed to be very prominent at the A. A. U. W. annual banquet last Tuesday night.

The cause of the amusement being Capt. Irving O'Hay of Taos, N. M., who was the speaker of the evening.

Capt. O'Hay used to be a soldier of fortune, participating in seven different wars, five of them without firing a shot. He is now working for world peace. His greatest difficulty used to be making a living between wars. Some of the occupations he chose at such times were: baseball umpire, soap salesman, actor, "chaperone for tourists—cattle on an ocean voyage," and speaker.

He is now making himself and his experiences well-known by speaking of his experiences before large audiences. As an Irishman, he considers speaking an easy way to earn money.

Capt. O'Hay's manner of speaking was different from most professional speakers. He said what he wanted to say without thought of the effect. He spoke in typical Irish fashion, describing his proficiency as an Irishman's manner of expressing himself.

The speaker has been a friend and comrade to such well-known men as Theodore Roosevelt, Jack London, O. Henry, Richard Harding Davis, and others.

Many books have been written about his experiences, which have been numerous and of various types.

Most of the high school teachers were present and enjoyed the affair a great deal as they will all admit. Two of the faculty members, Ernest Cane and Winston Savage, and a high school student, Rose La Nell Williams, made up a saxophone trio which played during the dinner, accompanied by Eugene Finkbeiner, also a high school student.

Other faculty members and school officials present were: Misses Arlean Pattison, Angela Strnad, Alice Short, Kathleen Milam, Helen Martin, Mary Idelle Cox, and Clarine Brannon; Mmes. Norman, Ruth Midyette, L. L. Sone, Bob Curry, Hol Wagner, and R. B. Fisher; Messrs. R. B. Fisher, L. L. Sone, B. R. Nuckolls, Bob Curry, J. L. Lester, B. G. Gordon, and Odus Mitchell.

These are only a small portion of Capt. O'Hay's audience as there were almost 300 present. A large number of the guests were from Amarillo and Canyon.

Mrs. Allen Hodges, president of the local chapter, spoke briefly. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Paul Kasahke, toastmistress. Mrs. J. A. Meek gave the invocation.

A winter theme was carried out in the decorations of the dining room. The Skaters Waltz, done by Fatsy and Keston Rhoades, dressed in Russian costume, added to the winter note. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Frank Keesh.

Deadline Is Set On All Annuals

Buy while you can! No unsold annuals will be printed! The final annual drive is now in progress. February 29 has been set for the deadline.

A booth is being erected in the front hall for the purpose of taking orders and reserving annuals for students. Any student may now place a small deposit on an annual and pay the balance in small amounts. It is not necessary to pay total price at one time.

The annual staff is composed of representatives from each class. They are as follows: seniors, Betty Jo Townsend, Bob Kilgore, Fred Vanderberg; juniors, Dan Buzard, Jim Brown; sophomores, Jimmie Mosely, Dorothy Jane Day. The staff will receive orders for annuals at any room during home room period.

Inaugural Address Heard at Assembly

High School students were greatly impressed during assembly hour Wednesday morning in the City Hall when they listened to the inaugural speech of President Roosevelt.

The President made it plain that he would help the laboring class of people. In his speech he also said, "We are determined to make every American citizen the subject of his country's interest and concern."

The consensus of opinion of the school body was that this inaugural address was the President at his best.

BULL PUPPY STRAYS AWAY

"Tuffy," a brown and white three-months old Boston bull puppy belonging to Freda Bellows has strayed from home. When Freda went home Friday to lunch, the family told her the sad news. A liberal reward is being offered for the return of the dog. He is wearing a collar with license number 18.

NOTE OF THANKS

The faculty and student body wish to express their thanks to the Sam Houston band for the fine music which they played at the Basketball game Thursday night.

Next Harvester-Sandie Game To Be on Armistice

The traditional Turkey Day game between the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm and Pampa Harvesters will be no more, it was decided Friday in a meeting of football coaches and school heads of the district in Plainview. It was decided the two teams should meet on Harvester field on Armistice Day.

Other games called for on the schedule were at Lubbock on Oct. 29, at Plainview on Nov. 19, and with Borger at Harvester Park on Nov. 25.

Before Oct. 1 newspapers in the district will be asked to publish the name, birthplace, and date of birth of every player in the district, it was voted at the meeting.

The division of schools into A and AA classification was discussed and met with favor. Those representing Pampa High School were Supt. R. B. Fisher, Coach Odus Mitchell, and Harry E. Hoare, sports editor of the Daily News.

NORTHWEST SECTION BAND DIRECTORS MEET

The band directors of the Northwest Conference met in Pampa Sunday and made plans for the band contest to be held here in the spring.

After the meeting all the directors went to the city auditorium where the high school and Junior high bands held a joint clinic, under the direction of F. W. Savage and A. C. Cox.

As soon as the new auditorium is finished the Harvester band will give a concert. The concert will include all the required numbers of the Texas State Band and Orchestra Association requirements for Junior high and Ward school bands, as well as as novelty and required numbers for High School bands. It will be the first of many concerts to be played by the high school band.

LOST—15 minutes of precious time every morning from 10 to 10:15. Finder please return to home room. Reward will be well earned.

LOST

You will probably never notice in the lost and found column of your newspaper an item offering a reward for precious time that has been lost. Today, however, the Little Harvester is advertising for the time lost during home room period every day.

The main purpose of the home room period is to acquaint the student with the policies of the school and to inform him of class activities. Another important purpose of having this mid-morning interruption of the schedule is to allow the home room teacher to check against the absences.

None of these things can be accomplished with the way students are now allowed to run helter-skelter over the building during this fifteen minutes. Instead of the teachers sending pupils on worthless errands, this period might well be made interesting by having some current event discussed, or it might be a profitable study period.

The study situation of the school is dependent upon the success of the home room to a large extent. The kind of conduct that is carried on during home room prevails during the rest of the day. All classes seem to be in a turmoil, with the ugliness of discourtesy cropping up on all hands.

When the Student Council is organized a lot of this unruliness will be taken in hand by the students themselves.

However, too much should not be left up to the students, and it is up to the teachers to encourage students to use more becoming conduct. It is just as much the teachers' fault as the students that this discouraging conduct is carried on within the walls of Pampa High school.

DID YOU DO IT?

Several huge chunks of plaster were dug out of the wall in the high school building last Friday morning, much to the disappointment and regret of Principal L. L. Sone and faculty members. This deed was done with a pocket knife, it is supposed, between the first and second periods.

Mr. Sone is calling upon the student body to help in keeping this sort of thing from happening. The person who mars and defiles public property is humanity in the lowest form. There is no room in Pampa High school for this sort of student.

Mr. Sone has worked for years to keep a neat, clean building, but always he has had to fight against odds. There are initials carved everywhere. Ink splatters, pencil marks, and broken lockers are continually appearing.

Why not help keep your school house pleasant by assisting Mr. Sone in preventing these degradations? The students themselves are the only ones who can control the students. Thus we see again that a Student Council is needed more than ever before.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB TO MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE SOON

"My! Aren't they beautiful?" That is what everybody will be saying about the Glee Club girls and their costumes. For one of these days, very soon, the Glee Club is going to make its first appearance and they are going to be wearing new blouses. A committee has been appointed so this the girls may give suggestions as to what kind of blouse they want. They will be of different material and design from those worn last year. It has not been decided as to what kind of blouses will be ordered.

There are 154 girls in the organization, 43 having dropped out this semester. The club is working on

Help a Worthy Cause by Joining The Red Cross

Have you joined the Red Cross? If you haven't you should join it soon. It is known as the Jr. Red Cross for students. Students may join by paying one cent or any amount he or she feels like they are able to give. Many have already joined and received their buttons.

How many of you students know what the Jr. Red Cross does? Here are three questions that any of you should be able to answer. What it is. What it does. How to use it. Today there are 4,000,000 men and women, and more than 8,000,000 boys and girls that belong to the American Red Cross and can answer any question you or any one else might ask.

Miss Lillian Mullinax is the chairman for this Jr. Red Cross drive. Betty Jo Townsend and Pauline Gregory have charge of the high school receipts. To quote Principal L. L. Sone, "We want to be 100 per cent as soon as possible. It is an organization for the students and the faculty. It is a good thing and I think the drive will be a success."

If you have not joined, do so at once. It is a worthy cause and should be well worth what you give.

Parent-Teachers To Give Banquet

Members of the high school band and pep squad will be entertained at the annual banquet given by the Parent-Teachers' association and Band Parents club on Jan. 29, at 6:30 p. m. in the high school cafeteria. It was decided at a call meeting last Tuesday afternoon.

A program has not yet been planned stated Mrs. N. F. Maddux, P.-T. A. chairman.

Journalists Have New Bulletin Board

The journalism classes have a new bulletin board on which will be put suggestions for features, editorials, new stories, cartoon, rotogravure sections from Metropolitan newspapers, and current poetry will also appear from time to time.

Mrs. Midyette says the bulletin board is a cooperative board. All students of journalism are asked to make it interesting and keep it up to date.

"When My Dream Boat Comes Home" and "Trees."

Mrs. E. L. Norman and Miss Angela Strnad are the sponsors and Miss Helen Martin the director.

TWELFTH GRADE IN SCHOOL SYSTEM BECOMES EFFECTIVE STARTING NEXT SCHOOL YEAR

Port Arthur Grads
Better Equipped
For School

Starting this year, there will be twelve grades in many Texas schools instead of eleven.

Supt. R. B. Fisher made the announcement after a trip to Austin for a state meeting of school superintendents of Jan. 6.

Mr. Fisher stated that ninety-five per cent of the schools were in favor of the change.

The reason for the change is to decrease the number of students graduating so young, also many students starting at age 6 are too young to begin the old 11 grade system and make proper progress.

It was stated that a majority of the parents, patrons and school officials believe that a child should stay in the community for 18 years. Graduation at a younger age is not wise, and should not be practical.

The average age for graduation is 16 in Pampa, and in a few years would be younger still, if some step were not taken.

The cost of introducing the twelfth grade will be very small, if any. There are three plans mentioned to absorb the cost. First, class sizes may be increased during the years of introduction, they are releasing teaching positions. Second, to lengthen the teachers' teaching day.

Third, by eradication of failing students by better teaching and classifications.

The rule will become effective in September of 1937. The schools throughout Texas will more or less be copied from Port Arthur which has been using the twelve grade system for the past year very successfully. The system was believed worth its extra cost by the tax payers and ex-students and students now in Port Arthur.

Comment from the Port Arthur school board: "We appreciate the fact that it is business of school board members to be vitally interested in the educational achievements of the children entrusted to their care." The school board also stated that they were receiving wonderful cooperation from the tax payers who were 100 per cent for the new plan.

Here are a few comments made by graduates of Port Arthur high school:

"All in all, graduates of the twelve year system are a little older and more experienced, and for that reason seem to get established a little quicker."

"The more subjects a person takes in high school, the better it is for him in College. I do not claim that just because we had an extra year that we will make the best grades in college, but all will be better equipped to do so."

With everyone backing the twelve grade movement in Port Arthur it is a success and if the plan is adopted in Pampa it should also be a success. There is no reason why the Pampa school should not be up with any school in the state.

Twenty-Five Girls Enrol for Tennis

Girls' tennis will not start until next Monday, Miss Kathleen Milam says, due to the cold weather. Wilma D. Abernathy, a regular from last year, is ill but is expected to return to classes soon. She and her partner, Phyllis Cotton, will practice against the other girls who will be teamed up. There were 25 girls to come out for tennis this year which is more than ever before.

The girls will practice the sixth hour and after school.
