Nuclear arms pact compliance likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan has informed Mikhail Gorbachev of his decision on compliance with the unratified Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said today.

Reagan is expected to announce later in the day that he will largely adhere to the nuclear arms control pact, but also take selective action to show America will match any Soviet violations of the accord.

Reagan, after weighing numerous options for keeping to or rejecting the accord over the weekend at his Camp David, Md., retreat, planned to inform congressional leaders of his decision at midday, Speakes said. Members of the National Security Council staff were to make phone calls detailing the decision, he said.

"Also, a letter from President Reagan went to (Communist Party) Chairman Gorbachev," Speakes said, adding that it would be delivered in Moscow through diplomatic channels. He said copies also were sent to U.S. embassies in allied countries and would be delivered today.

Speakes refused to comment on details of the president's decision, saying only that Reagan had informed Gorbachev of it.

An administration official, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said the president was ready to approve a policy of "proportionate responses" in order to keep the pact technically alive, yet also show that the United States is able to react to reported Soviet violations of the treaty.

"It's to go in the direction of showing some kind of restraint, but also include a proper response (to the Soviets) on the part of the United States," the official explained.

The "proportionate responses," he said, involve the dry-docking and postponing the dismantling of a Poseidon nuclear submarine, as well as speeding up the development of the Midgetman missile.

The six-year-old treaty places a ceiling of 1,200 missiles with multiple warheads on each side.

Von Bulow jury acquits suspect

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Claus von Bulow was found innocent today of twice trying to murder his heiress wife with insulin injections, more than three years after jurors in his first trial convicted him on the same charges.

The verdict followed about 14 hours of deliberations over four days. The jurors had deliberated just one hour and five minutes today before informing the judge that they had reached a verdict.

Von Bulow's lover, Andrea Reynolds, burst into tears on hearing the verdict.

Chief defense attorney Thomas P. Puccio had said he expected a verdict today and that he was confident of acquittal, based on the jury's review of testimony.

WHIRLAGIG AUDITIONS — Sunday afternoon, (from left) Larry Genuchi, Cindy Hataway and Donna Fowler were among those on hand to read for parts at auditions for the 1985 edition of the White Buffalo Day's Whirlagig Show. Snyder sales tax slumps for April

Snyder's recent sale tax return — reflecting sales here during April — took a one month drop of some 47 percent, a showing that dragged the year-to-date figure down to a minus 14.6 percent.

In real dollars, the monthly return of the 1 percent state sales tax equaled $55,370. For the same period last year, the city received a return of $103,726.

The year's total for Snyder now stands near $397,000, a decrease of almost $68,000 from last year when more than $464,000 was returned.

Exact figures are $396,799 this year compared to $464,658 for last.

Snyder's minus report for year-to-date figures generally went against figures reported in most part of Texas. Across the state, the returns to metropolitan areas were universally up. Cities of smaller and larger size in a 100-mile radius to Snyder also generally reported sale tax figures above last year's.

A sampling of these cities, ranked in order of return amounts, includes:

—Lubbock: plus 6.3 percent with $6.6 million reported this year compared to $6.4 million last.

—Abilene: almost even at plus 0.84 percent with $4,136,945 reported this year compared to $4,102,543 last.

—Odessa: plus 4.8 percent with $3.8 million reported this year compared to $3.6 million last.

—San Angelo: plus 6.5 percent with $2.6 million reported this year compared to $2.4 million last.

—Big Spring: plus 9.2 percent with $777,282 reported this year compared to $711,631 last.

—Snyder: minus 14.6 percent with $396,799 reported this year compared to $464,658 last.

—Sweetwater: plus 13.6 percent with $360,038 reported this year compared to $316,902 last.

—Colorado City: plus 3.5 percent with $130,035 reported this year compared to $125,625 last.

—Post: plus 9.7 percent with $79,737 reported this year compared to $72,657 last.

Two-day 'safari' set for local youngsters

A two-day nature study and safari for elementary age youngsters is planned by the staff of the Scurry County Museum Tuesday and Wednesday.

The program is for students grades 2-5. The group will meet from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. both days and a sack lunch will be required.

A fee of $6 will be charged for children of museum association members and $7 for children of non-members. The class will be limited to 15.

The nature study will have students exploring the world of insects and wildflowers, seeing wild game birds and waterfowl plus searching for traces of the pre-historic past in a local fossil bed.

Additional information about the two classes can be obtained by calling the museum office at 573-6107.

Two meetings slated for college trustees

Two meetings are planned by the board of trustees for Western Texas College Monday — a budget study session and the regular June meeting of the board.

The budget session will begin at 4:45 p.m. Trustees are to take a meal break at 5:30 p.m., then reconvene at 6 o'clock for the regular June meeting.

Items to be considered include employment of new personnel and consideration of bids for monocular microscopes, copy machines, and a gas heater for the WTC pool.

Trustees will also consider a proposal from the College Welfare Committee and ratify bids for batteries.

A discussion related to adding an additional nine holes to the Western Texas College golf course is planned also.

This will be part of the monthly president's reports from Dr. Don Newbury. He said Monday morning there have been no new developments related to the plan and that the discussion will be to "bring the matter before the board again."

In addition, during the president's report Newbury will update trustees also on legislative matters, summer school enrollment and a lease agreement with the Scurry County Rodeo Association.

Jury trial begins here

Jury selection began shortly after 9 a.m. Monday morning in 132nd District Court for the trial of a civil damage suit involving Ronald E. Fisher versus GCO Drilling Co. and Texas Oil and Gas Co.

Fisher is bringing the action seeking compensation for injuries he reportedly suffered in an accident on a drilling rig owned and operated by the defendants on Feb. 19, 1984.

Fisher was employed by Rhodes Welding of Snyder at the time the mishap occurred. He is represented by attorney Aubrey Roberts of Sweetwater.

Attorney of record for GCO is Roy Longacre of Lubbock while Texas Oil and Gas is represented by Gary Terrell of Lubbock

Natural causes ruled as search finds local

Natural causes has been ruled in connection with the death of 57-year-old Glenn Merritt, whose body was found Sunday afternoon beside Deep Creek just south of Snyder.

Merritt — a resident of Snyder Oaks Care Center at 210 37th St. — was the object of a day-long search which began when he apparently walked away from that facility around 6 p.m. Saturday.

He was found around 4:30 p.m. Sunday by his father, Lloyd Merritt, a former Scurry County sheriff, and members of the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse. The body was located near where the R.S.&P. Railroad line crosses Deep Creek.

Members of the sheriff's posse had been called out to help search the undeveloped areas south of the nursing home.

Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway said Monday morning that his investigation of the death pointed to a stroke as the probable cause of death. He indicated no autopsy would be ordered in the case.

Funeral services for Merritt, a lifetime resident of Snyder, are set for 10 a.m. Tuesday at Bell-Cypert Seale Chapel.

Burial will be at Snyder Cemetery.

Merritt was born Oct. 27, 1927 in Snyder and served in Korea as

In Brief

Court rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, opening the way for a significant restructuring of the nation's banking industry, ruled today that states may band together to create regional banking systems.

By an at 8-0 vote, the court upheld regional banking laws in Connecticut and Massachusetts. Similiar laws have been adopted in the Southeast and are under consideration elsewhere.

Trial starts

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Solidarity leader Lech Walesa, declaring "I am eager to fight," walked into a courthouse wearing a Solidarity T-shirt today to testify in the trial of three associates charged with inciting civil unrest.

The Solidarity chairman was expected to be questioned about a February meeting he convened with the three defendants. The prosecution claims they discussed plans at the meeting for a strike to protest government price increases.

Two escape

FARRIS, Okla. (AP) — Two inmates of a minimum-security prison jumped a guard and forced him to drive them across the state line to Paris, Texas, where they fled on foot after releasing him unharmed, authorities said today.

Officer Gary Nanney was overpowered by the men about 10 p.m. while he was driving a pickup truck on the grounds of the McLeod Correctional Center, said Linda Green, a spokeswoman for the Corrections Department.

Local

Court meets

County commissioners Monday authorized the budgeted payment for the county's share of expense related to the Senior Center, Scurry County Museum and the veteran's office.

Each of these offices are administered through Western Texas College.

In addition, the court received word that a justice of the peace training session had been completed through the Texas Justice Court Training Center by JPs R.C. Nixon of Hermleigh; and Lanette Patterson of Fluvanna.

The session was a 20-hour course completed May 28.

In other county business, commissioners approved bills and minutes.

Double murder charges...

Daughter joins her mother in jail

ATHENS, Texas (AP) — A Balch Springs woman has joined her mother in jail and also been charged with two counts of murder in the wake of a probe that turned up two bodies buried in sleeping bags, police say.

Shirley G. Stegner, 26, was arrested in Dallas Sunday and is being held in the Henderson County Jail in lieu of a $1 million bond, said sheriff's investigator Rick Rose.

Her mother, Betty Branson Beets, is also in the East Texas jail on two murder charges and a $1 million bond, Rose said.

Mrs. Beets, 48, was arrested Saturday after a body believed to be Jimmy Don Beets, a Dallas Fire Department captain missing after an apparent boating accident in August 1983, was found buried under a homemade wishing-well garden outside her mobile home.

After finding Beets' body at about 6 p.m. Saturday, sheriff's officials uncovered a second body believed to be that of Mrs. Beets' ex-husband, Wayne Barker, a construction worker who had been missing since November 1982.

The second body was found nearby buried beneath a storage shed that relatives say Beets built. Although the cause of death hasn't been determined, both men had been shot with a small-caliber pistol, police said.

Henderson County Sheriff Charlie Fields said the bodies were found in the Cherokee Shores subdivision west of Cedar Creek Lake. He said the bodies were sent to a Dallas forensic laboratory for identification and other tests.

Rose, who has been investigating the case since Beets was reported missing, said discovery of the bodies climaxed an intensive six-week inquiry begun after an informant provided information about Beets' death.

"We looked where we were told to look, and the bodies were right there," Rose said, adding that he doesn't expect to find any more corpses near the burned-out mobile home.

While Rose said he has not established a motive in the killings, Henderson County Chief Investigator Jim Brewer said he believes Beets' death involved insurance payoffs.

Brewer said Mrs. Beets was the sole beneficiary of insurance policies, several which paid $20,000 and one or two that paid $30,000.

"I've always contended he's (Beets) missing," Brewer said, "He was not in the lake, not in a boating accident."

The sheriff's department spent 13 days dragging and diving into Cedar Creek Lake after Beets' pleasure boat was found floating empty Aug. 6. Authorities later assumed he drowned.

Brewer said Beets apparently died before the supposed boating accident. He said the body was stored in a deep-freezer before it was buried.

A fire which occurred at the Beets' mobile home last week is still under investigation by the state fire marshal's office, officials said.

Thyroid node needs an exam

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Several years ago a doctor told me that I had a node on my thyroid gland, but he said that no treatment would be needed "unless something happened." Recently I felt some kind of enlargement in that area, and another doctor confirmed that the node still existed. Should I be concerned about this? What could happen that might require treatment?

DEAR READER — I worry about thyroid "lumps."

In a normal state, the thyroid is a symmetrical, smooth, dumbbell-shaped gland that sits just beneath the Adam's apple. The organ supplies a hormone that helps to control the body's metabolism.

On occasion, parts of the thyroid grow larger. These parts continue to produce hormone, but a lump may form. Sometimes these lumps become "hyperactive" — that is, they produce more hormone than the surrounding tissue. In these cases, the rest of the thyroid may reduce its output to compensate for the increased amount manufactured by the nodule or lump.

If a person with such a nodule is given a small dose of radioactive iodine, the chemical is carried to the thyroid gland, where it is concentrated. A few hours later, a technician can obtain a radioactive "count" of the gland. This is a type of "reverse" X-ray because, instead of the radiation passing through the body onto a film, the radioactive iodine emits energy that is captured by a counter. A "picture" of the thyroid gland is thereby produced. Ordinarily, only functioning thyroid tissue picks up the iodine; hyperfunctioning lumps pick up the most. Therefore, these nodules show up as bright spots on the counter, and are called "hot" nodules.

Like any gland, the thyroid can produce cancerous tissue. This is often in the form of lumps. However, cancer does not function normally; hence, thyroid malignancy does not produce an image on the counter. It casts a shadow, called a "cold" nodule.

Therefore, anyone with a thyroid lump should have a radioactive iodine scan. If the lump is "hot," no further treatment is usually necessary unless the person shows signs of excessive hormone. On the other hand, if the nodule is "cold," further investigation is indicated.

It's true that thyroid cysts can look like "cold" nodules. Your doctor is the best judge of whether your lump is squishy, like a cyst, or hard, like a cancer. The way the nodule feels, plus the way it shows up on the scan, will usually indicate the type of lump it is.

One final word: Years ago, doctors were enthusiastic about radiating, with X-rays, certain structures in the neck. Tonsils and thymus glands were commonly irradiated to cause shrinkage. We now know that this practice was harmful. Children who received neck radiation have a higher-than-normal incidence of thyroid cancer later in life.

I unequivocally urge any persons who had weak radiation (or X-ray treatment for facial acne) to seek medical attention. The risk of thyroid cancer is substantial in this group, and although the hazards of neck radiation have been well publicized in the medical literature, many people are still unaware that such a risk exists.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

CWC sets Mother-Daughter Lunch

The Christian Women's Club will hold a Mother-Daughter luncheon from 11:15 a.m. until 1:15 p.m. Wednesday, June 12 at the Snyder Country Club.

Janet Brown of Snyder Travel Agency will discuss life on a cruise ship as she describes the various ports in the Caribbean.

The guest speaker will be Eleanor Briley of Dallas. She is a retreat and conference leader and has 10 years experience as youth director.

Ms. Briley's topic will deal with failure and success in living.

The mother-daughter team of Marge and Lori Sealy will provide the music.

CWC is a interdenominational organization. There are no dues and membership is not required.

The lunch will be $5.50 per plate or beverage only for $1. A free nursery will be provided. For reservations, call Karen, 573-9038, or Judy, 573-5785, no later than Tuesday, June 11. Also any cancellations should be made by that date.

Newcomers pleased with Snyder, people

Wynn and Barbara McMullen and her daughter, Teri Lawdermilk, moved to Snyder from College Station May 1 due to a transfer. Barbara was working in College Station as a secretary but has not yet gone to work in Snyder.

"I've lived about all over the world and I've never seen a place like Snyder. They said there were no trees, just tumbleweeds. Really painted a dreary picture, but they were wrong.

"I first saw Snyder in the dark and it reminded me of College Station back in 1957. By the end of the first week here, I'd fallen in love with Snyder and the people. They are so friendly and you'd never find that in College Station now," she said.

She added that people don't cut in line here but there's not much waiting in line either. "People are so helpful. They'll even recommend a better product and tell you where to get it," she continued.

Other things that have impressed Barbara are the number of local businesses that have installed computers.

Teri was equally impressed with the two weeks she spent in the Snyder school system. "Teachers work with you on a one on one basis. The classes are about the same size here as in College Station, but the teachers seem to really care," said Teri.

Teri is a member of a softball team this summer.

Barbara says she personally enjoys..."playing at playing softball." She also enjoys tennis and she and Teri bike three miles each day to combat flab.

While she is staying at home, Barbara is enjoying handcrafts, reading and learning to make bread. Once she returns to the work force, hopefully by the time school starts, her interest will again shift to such things as business women's clubs.

Fake tanning

Want to look tan when you're not? Makeup can do it. Change to a foundation in a deeper tan shade than you normally use, but don't select one that is ridiculously dark for your natural skin tone.

Carry the foundation down over the jawline, blending out into the neck, to avoid a demarcation line. Deepen your blusher color and your lipstick, but use soft eye colors, such as taupe or mint green.

Here's another deal that illustrates the principle of guarding against a bad trump split. South had a very comfortable overcall of one spade. When his partner raised him to two spades (a doubtful action with only a doubleton spade), he cheerfully bid game. The light response by East had set the stage for the best defense against four spades. Opening the heart ace and continuing hearts forced declarer to ruff immediately. From the declarer's point of view there was only one way to be defeated. That was for West to hold four spades to the A-J. If that were the case, West would duck when South played the spade king or queen. Winning the next trump with the jack, West would continue hearts. Eventually West would get ahead of South in trumps and score the setting trick with a little spade. But there was an antidote to this poisonous defense.

At trick three, South simply led a low spade to the 10. If either opponent wanted to win the jack, fine. Then the next heart could be trumped with dummy's small spade. If the 10 were allowed to win the trick, West would still be able to win the spade ace and jack, but no longer would his small trump come into play.

A willingness to give up two spade tricks without a battle enabled South to protect himself from losing three spade tricks to the trump-forcing defense.

Locals granddaughter receives Scout honors

Tasha Butler of Vicksburg, Miss., granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Butler of Snyder, was selected by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. to attend "Cadettes on Horseback," June 15-29.

This is a national event involving 40 girls ages 13-15 from across the nation and will be held at the Girl Scout National Center West, a 14,000 acre site bordered by the Big Horn National Forest near Ten Sleep, Wy.

Tasha will be a sophomore in Vicksburg High School and she is a member of the band. She has been in Scouts for five years

Beat Celtics in Boston...

Lakers win championship

BOSTON (AP) - The Los Angeles Lakers, fortified by infrequent failures, erased a stain from their reputation Sunday by beating the Boston Celtics 111-100 to claim their third National Basketball Association title of the decade.

Los Angeles' 4-2 victory in the series avenged a seven-game loss in last year's finals when Boston captured its 15th NBA title. That Celtics' triumph came on their own famed parquet floor before their own vocal fans at Boston Garden, where they had been 8-0 in final games of championship series.

On Sunday, the floor and fans again were Boston's. But the game belonged to the Lakers as they won their ninth championship.

"This victory is sweeter now because we've broken their stranglehold on us," Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley said after the Lakers' first victory in nine finals against the Celtics.

On Sunday, Boston's Larry Bird found out how losing can overshadow success.

"When you lose, you're a failure no matter what you've done all season," said Bird. "Right now, we are losers."

The setback 148-114 loss in the opening game, helped the Lakers.

"Personally, Game 1 was embarrassing," said Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who had 12 points and three rebounds in that contest but ended up as the unanimous choice for the series' most valuable player. "I knew I could do better than that. I had to prove it."

He did it by scoring 121 points in the Lakers' four victories, including a team-high 29 in Sunday's clincher.

"When I came out early to practice today I thought, 'we have our chance,'" said Earvin "Magic" Johnson, who had 14 points, 14 assists and 10 rebounds for the Lakers. "It was a long year last year living with defeat. This year we didn't make mistakes. We made the plays to carry the game out."

"We didn't want a seventh game," said James Worthy, who had 28 points for the Lakers. "They made a great comeback but we were able to hold them off."

The game was tied 19 times in the first half, which ended with the score 55-55. The 20th tie, at 57-57, was the last.

Bird, who had 28 points Sunday on 12-of-29 shooting, had a poor series by making just 41.4 percent of his shots. He refused to blame elbow, finger and ankle problems.

Boston also was hurt by guards Dennis Johnson and Danny Ainge, who made only six of their 31 shots Sunday, and its lack of depth. The Celtics used just seven players in the last two games.

Miami edges Texas; CWS title tilt tonight

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - Miami went to its stopper, relief ace Ric Raether, to hold off the hard-charging Texas Longhorns and force another championship game after Sunday night's 2-1 Hurricane win in the NCAA College World Series.

A Texas win Sunday would have given Miami its second loss of the tournament. Now, the two teams face off again tonight at 7:10 p.m. CDT to decide the national collegiate baseball champion.

"I am dead tired. I was tired when I came in," Raether said following his three-and-one-third innings of two-hit, shutout relief against Texas, now 64-13.

"We went with Raether early but tonight was our championship game," said Miami catcher Chris Magno, who scored the tieing run after a lead-off triple in the sixth.

Magno scored on Chris Hart's safety squeeze bunt.

Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson said the squeeze "was not a surprise. We were ready for it. We could have had him (Magno) at the plate if (Billy) Bates had made a good throw."

Magno's hook slide just managed to get under Texas catcher Robbie Byers.

It was Bates' dropped foul pop fly that actually gave Magno a second chance on the triple.

Texas, which had been behind in every game of the series, took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when David Denny led off with a double down the left-field line. Denny moved to third on a ground out and scored on an infield error.

Don Rowland scored the winning run when he walked to lead off the bottom of the eighth.

"I was really surprised to get four straight balls," said Rowland, who then stole second and advanced to third on a catcher throwing error.

Rowland scored the game-winning run two outs later when Rick Richardi's grounder to third was bobbled by Texas' Dodd Johnson. It was third-ranked Texas' fourth error of the game and second unearned run off losing pitcher Greg Swindell, 19-2.

Raether, who improved to 7-2, allowed a two-out pinch single by Bobby Behnsch in the ninth and walked Coby Kerlin to bring up Texas' Bates, who had two game-winning hits already in the CWS. This time Raether struck out the Texas junior to end the game.

BLUE BOMBERS 26, MAGIC MAROONS 25

Monica Garcia slapped a home run, a triple, three doubles and a single to help the Blue Bombers wrap up the Division II championship Saturday. Karri Blackledge cracked four singles for the winners, who also got a double and two singles from April Blair, a double and one single from pitcher Angela Good and two singles from Rose Ann Garza. Hitting one single each were Renee Matthews and Rebecca Ramey.

The Maroons were led by pitcher Katina Brandon, who slugged a home run, a double and three singles. Angie Burleson powered a triple, two doubles and two singles and Angel Scarber knocked one double and five singles. Also hitting for the Maroons were Michelle Rivera, four singles; Amy Cantrell, a double and a single; and Christi Smith, two singles.

The Magic Maroons had taken a 10-4 lead in the first inning but the Bombers closed the gap during the fifth and sixth stanzas. They tied it in the seventh, then edged the Maroons 5-4 in the eighth inning.

First USA for Africa delivery lifts off

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A cargo jet carrying the first shipment of food and medicine bought with funds from the USA for Africa Foundation lifted off early today, boosted by a send-off from singers Lionel Richie and Kenny Rogers.

The supplies were bought with money from the sale of promotional items and the hit single record and album "We Are the World," recorded by 45 superstars who donated their talents to aid starving Africans.

The Flying Tigers Boeing 747 jet, carrying 240,000 pounds of supplies valued at $3.2 million, left Los Angeles International Airport at 12:30 a.m. Passengers included singer Marlon Jackson and USA for Africa president Ken Kragen.

The plane was scheduled to pick up additional supplies in New York and Brussels, Belgium, before arriving Tuesday in Khartoum, Sudan, and unloading half its cargo. Ethiopia will receive the rest of the supplies.

C. America policy takes center stage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress continues its year-long struggle over the administration's Central America policy, as the House votes this week on a plan to provide so-called nonlethal aid to the CIA-trained Contras battling the Nicaraguan government.

The House rejected one such plan earlier. Many Democrats, however, want to be on record in favor of some type of aid, and approval of a revised proposal is given a good chance, with a vote expected Tuesday or Wednesday.

House GOP Leader Robert Michel will offer a $27 million plan to provide "nonlethal" aid. There will be several Democratic alternatives, including one to cut the amount to $14 million and direct much of the money to refugees.

By a 55-42 vote, the Senate approved a $38 million aid plan Friday, which calls for spending $14 million now and $24 million later to provide "non-lethal" assistance to the rebels.

Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn, said Sunday on ABC television's "This Week With David Brinkley" that terms of the measure enable senators to tell pro-Contra constituents they voted for the money while telling opponents of deeper involvement they opposed military aid.

"It's a very nice policy for domestic political consumption here at home" said Dodd, an opponent of the measure. He said, however, that U.S. policy is failing.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said on the same program the measure was "a very straightforward, bipartisan resolution to assist the Contras."

Lugar said he could not "imagine any set of circumstances" under which the United States would invade Nicaragua. But he drew a distinction between an invasion and "a surgical strike," which he would not rule out if the Sandinista government stockpiled sophisticated Soviet weapons.

Meanwhile, Social Security and President Reagan's defense buildup are expected to be the main points of dispute as House and Senate negotiators compromise talks Tuesday on a budget for the 1986 fiscal year.

Both houses have approved budgets designed to trim the deficit by $56 billion next year, but they differ sharply on how to acheive those savings.

The plan approved by the Republican-controlled Senate proposes a one-year freeze in Social Security benefits and other pension programs. It would permit the defense budget to rise with inflation.

The Democratic-controlled House countered with a plan that safeguards the Social Security increases slated for next year. It provides no inflationary increase in spending authority for the Pentagon, although actual outlays would still rise by $15 billion.

Well violation produces fine

A Midland man has been fined $3,000 by the Texas Railroad Commission for failing to appear at a commission hearing called to inquire into well plugging violations at a Scurry County well.

Commission rules require operators to plug or bring back into production wells which have been inactive for more than 90 days.

Receiving the $3,000 fine was Jerry D. Nickell of Midland for a well located on the Snyder Townsite Oil Unit lease.

The action was part of some $43,000 in administrative penalities assessed by the RRC last week. This involved 18 oil and gas operators fined for pollution and well plugging violations.

Dear Abby

Woman Resents Suggestion To Keep Hairy Legs Under Wraps

By Abigail Van Buren

(1985 by Universal Press Syndicate)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old woman who prefers not to shave her legs or underarms. My hair is naturally quite dark and plentiful—too plentiful to maintain every two days. I find shaving a nuisance and uncomfortable.

My problem? Non-acceptance at public and private swim centers and exercise clubs. I was asked to (a) cover my legs with tights; (b) wear shorts with leg-warmers; (c) wear slacks; (d) resign from a swim class. So far, I have done none of the above.

Isn't this a form of sex discrimination? Or am I living in a geographical area that is out of step with the rest of the nation?

I would like to hear how other women handle this sort of public insult.

RAPUNZEL LEGS
IN EVERETT, WASH.

DEAR RAPUNZEL LEGS: They're your legs, and if you want to braid the hair or stuff it into a snood, it's your choice.

Since no man would be asked to hide his hairy legs from public view, I agree, it is indeed a case of sex discrimination. Readers?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Whenever I read in the newspaper that someone died of lung cancer, I wonder if that person was a smoker.

I think that should be included in the report of the death, don't you?

I DON'T SMOKE (ANYMORE)

DEAR I: Yes. I'm sure most people would like to know.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: On Mother's Day, you reprinted a prayer the Jews recite on Yom Kippur to honor the memory of a deceased mother. It was a most poignant one for me; it was my wife's birthday, my parents' anniversary, and the first anniversary of my mother's death.

As I lit the Yarzeit candle and said Kaddish, I looked up at my mother's picture on the wall and recalled what you have said so many times: "Show love to your parents; it's later than you think."

I was good to my mother. I told her and showed her by my actions that I loved and appreciated her. But, Abby, I could have done even more.

When I see my young son, so cute and mischievous, I realize how my mother must have loved me as a toddler, even as I love my son. She once said, "You will never really appreciate your parents until you are one." Now I know she was right, but there is no way to let my mother know.

She died a slow, painful death caused by lung cancer. A heavy smoker all her adult life, she knew the risks, but was unable to break the habit. It broke her. And it broke my heart.

Please keep plugging away at the two points you mention periodically: Don't smoke—it'll kill you; and love thy mother and father. When they die, they're gone forever.

M. IN MIDLOTHIAN, VA.

Burglary among weekend incidents

Police investigated four complaints — including one residential burglary — during the weekend.

Rick Roedl of 411 26th St. filed the burglary complaint at 8:38 a.m. Saturday.

He told police that his residence had apparently been entered while he was away sometime Friday night.

Listed as taken from the house were three guns along with a Japanese sabre and two Japanese bayonets — all war souvenirs.

Sandy Miller of 3401 Houston Ave. filed a misdemeanor theft complaint at 2:52 p.m. Saturday.

She told investigators that a lawn mower had apparently been stolen from the yard of her residence.

Doug Morris of 3116 Ave. T filed a misdemeanor criminal mischief complaint at 7:19 a.m. Sunday.

He told police that his Consolidated Tool and Supply Co. pickup had apparently been vandalized while parked outside his residence Saturday night.

Damage to the truck included a broken windshield and driver's side mirror with an estimated value of $275.

Richard Loper of 3101 Ave. U filed a criminal trespass complaint with city police at 4 p.m. Sunday.

He told investigators that he had returned home Sunday to discover several individuals had spent the night in his residence without his permission.

No arrests have yet resulted from that complaint.

In all, police logged six misdemeanor arrests over the weekend.

Two suspects each were jailed for public intoxication and being intoxicated on a premesis licensed to sell alcohol.

One suspect was arrested for driving with a suspended license and another for unpaid traffic citations.

Seize then release

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An Israeli-backed militia seized and then released a French colonel who was trying to negotiate the release of 21 Finnish U.N. soldiers held by the group, U.N. officials said.

Meanwhile, Shiite Moslem militiamen turned heavy fire on Palestinians holed up in two Beirut refugee camps, killing 16, and other Moslem factions battled in the northern Lebanon city of Tripoli, police said.

U.N. spokesman Timur Goksel announced Sunday morning that the South Lebanon Army militia had taken Lt. Col. Jean-Michel Blemajian hostage. The French U.N. officer, deputy chief of U.N. operations, had been sent Friday to negotiate with the mostly Christian militia.

Hours later, Goksel said the Frenchman had been freed unharmed in the village of Qantara and flown to the headquarters of the U.N. Interim Force in Lebanon, or UNIFIL.

Fire run here

Snyder firemen were called to a reported house fire in the 3000 Block of Ave. M at 11:12 a.m. Monday.

Fireman said two electrical shorts were found in the hallway and kitchen of the Erineo Bottello residence at 3005 Ave. M.

Damage to the residence was minor.

Guard rail hit north of here

Snyder-based Department of Public Safety highway patrol officers investigated a minor accident near Dermott early Sunday morning.

According to reports, Charles Kenneth Welsh of Slaton was driving a 1975 Peterbilt tractor-trailer rig north bound on U.S. Highway 84 around 2:50 a.m. Sunday when the rig collided with a guard rail at a crossover 9.8 miles north of Snyder.

Welsh was not injured in the accident.

He married Jewell Foster Aug. 29, 1929. She survives.

He is survived by five children including Billie Boren of Snyder; 12 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; a brother; and several nieces and nephews including Mrs. Don (Sandia) West of Snyder.

Bones, videotape linked to two men

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The bones of up to 25 people and videotapes of women being tortured, including one who pleaded for the return of her baby, may link two men, including one who committed suicide while under arrest, to a three-year string of disappearances, police say.

Investigators searching the cabin shared by Leonard Lake and Charles "Chatt" Ng near Wilseyville in Calaveras County have unearthed "a truckload of bones," and found sex tapes, identification papers and women's clothing, San Francisco Police Chief Cornelius Murphy and Sheriff Claud Ballard said.

Lake died Thursday, four days after he apparently took a suicide pill while he was under arrest in San Francisco, police said. A warrant for Ng's arrest is being prepared, Ballard said Sunday.

"A number of people whose lives have sometimes been touched by Lake or Ng are missing," Murphy said. "Topside, we're talking about 25 people. Somehow their lives crossed ... and they have since disappeared."

In a search of the site about 150 miles east of San Francisco, detectives found "stacks of albums with pictures of very beautiful women" in various stages of undress, Ballard said Sunday. Some of the "ladies were very, very young."

In videotapes seen by detectives, women were sexually abused and told that if "they didn't meet their demands, they would be killed," he said. "The best evidence we have are actual movies of a woman pleading with Lake and Ng to give her back her baby, and being abused and forced at gunpoint to engage in sex acts with them."

"Instead, Ng slashed off her blouse and brassiere with a knife," he said in a telephone interview from his home in San Andreas, adding that it was "like a horror film."

Investigators were looking into the possibility that the woman on the tape was the mother of a 2-year-old boy and the common-law wife of Lonnie Bond, 27, of San Diego, who was Lake's next-door neighbor, Ballard said.

Police also found a diary chronicling Lake's activities, Murphy said.

Another citizen is taken

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Gunmen kidnapped the American who serves as acting dean of agriculture at the American University of Beirut on Sunday as he drove from the city's airport, said Maj. Gen. Osman Osman, Lebanon's police chief.

He said Monday that Thomas Southerland, a Scottish-born American veterinarian, was seized by five or six gunmen on the main highway from Beirut to the airport.

Osman said so far police have not been able to identify the gunmen.

Airport officials said Southerland had flown from London aboard a Middle East Airlines jet.

University sources, who asked not to be identified, said Southerland was driving in university President Calvin Plimpton's limousine and may have been mistaken for the university chief.

Osman said: "The university had not requested any special protection."

In Washington, a State Department spokesman who would not give his name said: "We can confirm that the kidnapping took place," and also confirmed that the kidnap victim was Thomas Southerland.

University sources said that the gunmen shot out the limousine's tires and grabbed Southerland from the auto. The Lebanese chauffeur's face was showered with glass when the windshield was shattered by gunfire, they said.

Honor graduate finds he's illegal

TEXAS CITY, Texas (AP) — It wasn't until Belgian-born Remy Poos was set to attend Austin College this fall and turned down for college aid that he discovered he's an illegal alien.

Poos, 18, graduated with honors — 36th out of 350 — from Texas City High School last week before learning the necessary papers needed for him to become a U.S. citizen were never filed by his now-deceased stepfather.

"I guess he just wasn't aware of what procedures had to be followed," said Poos, who moved to Texas City with his stepfather and mother when he was 9. "I didn't realize there was a problem with my citizenship until he died."

Poos' stepfather, Richard Bolin, was a U.S. citizen working in Antwerp when he met Poos' mother, Agnes. Bolin died of cancer last August.

"He brought us over on a visitor's passport and they got married. As it turns out, we have been living here the whole time as visitors," he said.

The snafu led to Mrs. Bolin's deportation to Belgium after her husband's death. Poos stayed with sponsors in Texas City on a student visa to complete his education.

Poos, who is fluent in English and Flemish and also speaks French and German, applied to Austin College in Sherman to study international business and journalism.

Chuck Wharton, director of admissions at Austin Collge, said Poos would have been eligible for financial aid if he held permanent resident status.

Poos' guidance counselor, Ellen Perry, and members of the Texas City Kiwanis Club have appealed to Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Beaumont, for help. They want Brooks to sponsor a private relief bill which would speed up the process for Poos to obtain citizenship status.

In the meantime, Poos said, he'll pursue naturalization through normal channels and try to get an extension on his student visa. If he can't use the aid to Austin College, he'll probably attend College of the Mainland, a junior college in Texas City.

"I want to stay here and further my education," he said. "If nothing else, this has been a good lesson in how government works."

1 in 4 households victimized by crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proportion of U.S. households victimized by crime last year fell to the lowest level since 1975, but still one out of every four experienced a crime of violence or theft, the government reports.

Advancing longstanding theories about crime risks, a study by the Bureau of Justice Statistics found that people living in the suburbs or countryside were safer than those living in cities.

The report, released Sunday, concluded that black households were more vulnerable than white households, but also found that high-income households were more likely to be victimized than middle-income households.

"We estimate that 22.8 million households were affected by a burglary, motor vehicle theft or household larceny or were inhabited by someone who was raped, robbed, assaulted or who was the victim of a personal larceny," said Steven R. Schlesinger, the bureau's director.

But Schlesinger also said that "there has been a gradual downward trend since this statistical measure was introduced in 1975, when 32 percent of American households were touched by crime," he said. Last year, the 22.8 million households said to have been "touched" by crime represented roughly 26 percent of the total.

Noting that the overall gauge of crime's pervasiveness was at its lowest ebb in nine years, Schlesinger said: "Many believe that recent declines in crime rates are due, in part, to greater public awareness and understanding of crime, and to citizen crime prevention programs."

The approximately 22.8 million households affected by crime in 1984 were about 800,000 fewer than those victimized in the preceding year and about 2 million fewer than in 1982, the report said.
