County Bank Deposits Reflect Prosperity

Slaughter Murder Case Reopened--Suspects Are Held

BANK STATEMENTS INDICATE GROWTH

MORE THAN ONE AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS ON DEPOSIT IN COUNTY.

The call for a statement as made by the Commissioner of Banking on June 29th of this year found the banks of Donley County in excellent condition. In fact, there have been few times when they showed statements to a better advantage than on this call. The recent harvest of the wheat crop, the almost universal turning of the producers to a diversification program and other features have combined to put the county in an excellent condition financially to stand the season just at hand when production is at a standstill from the major commodities of the county.

The natural growth of the county will account to some extent for the increases in many of the figures. The Loan and Discount column bearing this out to a better extent possibly than any other part of the statements. On call this year, this amount totalled $1,071,142.54. The call for the same date of 1928 with only one bank at Hedley included will bring this total to $923,777.64. The year preceding that with only three banks of Clarendon reporting had a total of $602,712.63 in the same column. On January first of this year, the total in the loans department for the county amounted to $1,245,895.86. Thus it is seen here that a number of cases of indebtedness have been despite the fact that little actual production has been had within the confines of the county.

Cash and Exchange show a considerable loss due to the fact that cotton paper that was in the hands of the banks on January first has been turned into cash and is no longer held in this part of the bank's books. The County shows to have a total of $703,567.89 in this column on the call issued on June 29th. The same date last year with only one Hedley bank included shows to have been $468,094.34, a difference that would not have been cared for had the second bank in Hedley been included. June 30th, 1927, showed a little more than these figures in the three Clarendon banks, reporting $564,532.92 at that time. The statement made on call of January first carried the amount of $1,340,076.99 in this part of the ledgers.

Deposits show to have lost slightly since January first, but

MARINE TEST NEAR CONTRACT DEPTH

LINER SET TO PROTECT OPEN HOLE IN LAST FEW FEET OF HOLE.

Following the setting of a liner in the final few feet of open hole on the Marine Test, the drilling is proceeding without hitch as the contract depth is neared. The workers were on the bottom of the hole when operations were reported Wednesday evening. A depth of 3,410 feet was reported this morning and the drillers expected to reach their depth within the next two or three days unless something untoward should take place and hold up operations.

The drilling continues to be held in the sandy lime, the same formation as has been seen for the past five hundred feet or more. Few breaks have been found in this formation, the greatest difficulty found having been in a strata of water encountered last week. The liner has cut this of and they now have a dry hole insofar as the water is concerned.

The contract of the Marine Oil Company will expire with the reaching of the 3,500 foot depth and plans are now under way to secure an additional 1,000 feet to insure the county a thorough test. A number of other wells have been drilled to this depth with little showing and it is thought that an additional depth would show better than that already seen.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Chunn of Wellington, are here for a short visit in the home of his mother, Mrs. R. A. Chunn and with other relatives and friends.

CONFERENCE OF PASTORS IS HELD

PANHANDLE SECTION MEETS HERE IN TWO DAY SESSION LAST WEEK.

The Panhandle Conference of the Dallas Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church held a meeting in this city on last Thursday and Friday with a fine attendance. The meeting proper was held under the direction of Dr. H. S. Springall of Dallas, well known to Clarendon people as he visits here quite often. Another quite distinguished visitor in attendance on the meeting is Rev. W. K. Johnston of Lubbock, who holds the same place in the El Paso Presbytery at Dr. Springall's holds in the Dallas body.

Rev. McKee, as host to the conference, reports that the sessions of the meeting were very enthusiastic and spontaneous. Numerous changes are to be seen in the organization, all to the betterment of conditions in the work of the church. Progress is being made in all parts of the Panhandle Conference and the conference indicated that everything is working to a successful year's work.

Those in attendance are: Dr. H. S. Springall, Dallas; Rev. E. S. Lowrance and N. L. Lowrance, Iowa Park; Rev. Jan McMurry, Quanah; Rev. R. A. Ferlow, show a gain over the years of 1928 and 1929 at the same time of the year. The county shows to have $1,623,636.89 on deposit in the four banks of the county at this time. On call of June 29th, 1928, the figure stood at $1,287,835.52, while on the same date of 1927 the Clarendon banks showed to have $1,087,371.11 on deposit. January first of this year found the largest deposit seen for many years in the Donley County banks, with this figure standing at $2,451,377.08.

Banks of the county are feeling optimistic over the outlook for the coming year, and feel that they will be able to serve their patronage better than has ever been the case to this time. They are continuing to talk diversification to the producers who come into their places of business and are glad to point out the advantages to be gained by purchase of a program of this nature.

CARL PARSONS LEAVES FOR NEW QUITAQUE HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Parsons will move shortly from the city to their new home in Quitaque, where Mr. Parsons will be in direct charge of the Parson's Brother Tailor Shop in that city.

The plant has been under the guidance of Clarence Whitlock up until the past week, when Mr. Whitlock purchased the Texas Service Station from Mr. Paul Atcherry, and will be engaged in this business. Clarendon people will greatly miss this family from the city and it is hoped that sometime in the future they will see fit to again make Clarendon their home.

While we are sorry to see them go, we are glad that Quitaque will profit by our loss of these fine people and we hope for them much success in their new home. Mrs. Parsons will join her husband in Quitaque just as soon as a suitable house can be found.

County Clothing Contest Friday

The Girl's Clothing Contest for Donley County will be held in Clarendon Friday of this week, according to advices received from Miss Harvey Thompson, County Home Demonstration Agent.

The College auditorium has been secured for the meeting place and the event is to start at 9:00 o'clock in the morning and will possibly last until noon.

Miss Minnie Mae Grubbs, District Home Demonstration Agent will be the judge of the dresses and will choose those who will represent this county at the State meeting.

The girls of the county are urged to be here on time, bringing their entries carefully pressed and folded that they will not be mussed before they are shown. Prizes for the winners in the two classes of competition have been secured. Four prizes will be given in the first class, this being less advanced. Two prizes alone will be given in the advanced work. Advanced work prizes are: First $10.00, Donley County State Bank; Second, $5.00, First National Bank. First year prizes are: First, $10.00 Farmers State Bank; Second, $5.00, First National Bank; Third, Pair Silk Hose, Hanna-Pope & Co.; Fourth, Dress Pattern, Greene Dry Goods Co.

FINAL HARVEST IS THIRD SHORTEST

CAR CAPACITIES LARGER THAN LAST YEAR. PROBABLY FIVE MORE CARS.

Predictions on the final yield of wheat shipped from Clarendon this year vary as to the final amount although everyone is practically certain that the car number will reach forty or more before the end of the season. To this time, thirty-two cars have been shipped from the local station, which leaves eight more to be shipped to reach the final estimated yield for the year.

Prices showed to remain steady although the market fluctuated slightly following the opening this morning. Grades for wheat shipped from Clarendon were among the highest that have been shipped from any part of the section. Not any of the wheat has tested less than sixty and the greater part of it has tested two and three pounds above the mark needed to bring the test to first class wheat.

The acreage was cut approximately 5,000 acres, this amount being put in cotton and other row crops instead of being used for pasture as was done last year. In spite of this fact, the final yield in bushels will probably not be more than one-third less than was finally harvested and shipped last year. The 1928 crop set a record of sixty-three cars and will possibly not be reached again until conditions present themselves as were presented for the unprecedented acreage put to wheat. Cars shipped this year have averaged 90,000 to 100,000 pounds, representing an approximate increase of fifteen per cent in weight over shipments of 1928.

This week should see the final car shipments of wheat from Clarendon.

Judges Named For Election

The fact that Donley county and the state in general will have an election July 16 on two important proposed constitutional amendments is not very widely known, according to statements made to the News the past few days.

The voters will be called upon to pass on the question of raising the governors salary from $4,000 as it now stands to $10,000 annually. The other amendment before the voters the 16th is the increase of membership of the Supreme court from three to nine justices. Sometime ago an effort was made to increase the salary of the governor, but was defeated. The two proposed amendments given above have created much favorable comment and are attracting wide support and are believed to be almost certain of passage.

In Donley county judges have been appointed and voting places have been so named so the voters of Donley county may find their respective boxes and vote according to their wishes.

Election judges for Donley County and voting places are below: The Presiding Judge is named first and the Judges are named second.

News Late By Request

Not often is a newspaper late by request, but such is the case with The Clarendon News this week.

In order to get in the notice of election on the county-wide Junior College proposal, school officials asked The News to hold publication until after the arrival of the Fort Worth & Denver west bound passenger Thursday evening. The mechanical force obligingly matched the willingness of the management to do the night work in order to serve the public good, so The News is late the first time in years.

After the force had gone home a wire brought the information that the state board had not had a session Wednesday and the proposed election would be held up pending their convening. Further announcement will be made later.

We hope we are never late again, except under like circumstances.

Revival Meeting Closed Sunday

A series of Revival services held in Clarendon by the Second Missionary Baptist Church of Lelia Lake was brought to a successful close last Sunday evening in the tent on the Grammar School grounds.

Illness of the pastor for the past week hindered to some extent, according to those who had the affair in charge, but interest was higher than it was at the beginning of the series more than two weeks past. Due to the illness of the pastor, Rev. W. W. Eaves, the few final nights of the meeting were conducted by E. H. Kennedy of Lelia Lake.

Attendance increased up until the final night and those who had most to do with the meeting are well pleased with the interest shown although they feel that more of the Clarendon people should have attended the sessions of the Revival. They wished to express their appreciation for the many kindnesses shown them while here and expressed the hope that more folk would attend their services should they hold another series here at any time in the future.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Watts of Austin are here for a vacation visit of some length in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Watts.

7 COUNTY MEETING IS GREAT SUCCESS

ENTIRE WEEK IS GIVEN TO WORKING WITH CIVIC ENTERPRISES.

The Sacajawea and Kicuwa camps of Camp Fire Girls are celebrating their week in Clarendon beginning with Monday. The first day of the week was given over to Citizenship or Civic work and was put in by the members of the two camps in working with the city on the Adair Hospital. The entire business and residence sections of the town were worked in the interest of linen for this place, an amount of $75.00 in materials being received and cash to the amount of $82.50 through their efforts. A sufficient amount has been promised in addition to this to bring the totals well over the $200.00 mark.

Tuesday was given to Room Decoration day, the camps using the morning to clean and decorate their meeting places. The afternoon was given to the entertainment of all children of the city under twelve years of age. They were entertained on the campus of the South Ward School building, the youngsters being assisted with games and refreshments that are dear to the hearts of the little ones.

Wednesday morning, the Camp Fire Girls spread cheer through the sick rooms of the city, visiting many of those who are unable to be out of their homes. In the evening the fathers and mothers of the girls were entertained in the basement of the Young Ladies Home of Clarendon College with a banquet. The decoration and the cooking was done by the girls and an entertainment was given that was more enjoyed than any other feature of the week.

Beginning with this morning, the remainder of the week will be devoted to carpenter and learning the work attendant to life in the out-of-doors. At the time the paper goes to press, the site has not been named although they planned to use the grounds of the Country Club if possible.

Miss Lorena Steagall is Guardian of the two camps and is assisted in her work by Misses Mildred Martin and Aileen Parks.

of eggs for market. Wheeler County demonstrated budding roses and Armstrong budding the arrangement of a top dresser drawer in the most approved manner.

Two representatives were present from each of the six counties outside of Donley, in addition to the Home Demonstration Agent from that county. Donley County furnished the remainder of the number in attendance. At the close of the meeting, a letter was authorized to the Country Club, showing the appreciation of the workers for their letting them use the house and grounds for their demonstrations.

Miss Minnie Mae Grubbs, District Agent was the Judge. Others in attendance are: Izora Clark, Potter County; Marjorie Lyon, Carson; Elsie Phillips, Armstrong; Viola Jones, Wheeler; Veda Swafford, Collingsworth; Ruby Adams, Hall; Harvey Thompson, Donley County.

The affair of this year has been held as something of an experiment to see how the matter works out. In case of its working to a successful conclusion, the plan may be extended to care for the entire state in future years.

CHICKASHA GIN INSTALLS NEW MACHINERY IN PLANT

The Chickasha Gin Company is rebuilding the machinery and equipment in their place of business in Clarendon.

Almost a complete new set of equipment is being added, the only piece of equipment that has not been installed anew being the press. Mr. McMahon, manager of the place, states that they will not put in round bale equipment this year, waiting to see just how the crop turns out and how round bale equipment suits the producers in this section.

Mrs. Walter Lewright of Panama, Mrs. M. M. Noble and daughter, Peggy Jean, and Mrs. G. G. Kemp and daughter, Elizabeth were Amarillo visitors Saturday.

Leonard Reed returned Saturday of last week from a vacation trip to Stratford. He reports that wheat is all over the ground all over the upper Panhandle section of the state.

INVESTIGATION TO BE CONTINUED

SUSPECTS BEING HELD AND WILL BE BROUGHT HERE FOR EXAMINATION.

The unsolved murder of John Slaughter, night watchman for the city of Clarendon early in March 1927 has been a topic for discussion of Clarendon and Donley County people for the past two years. Any mention of the case has led varying ideas being pronounced as to the identity of the murderer.

The case was reopened here the latter part of last week by the arrest in Wichita Falls of Walter Scott, colored dishwasher in the Ideal cafe at the time of the murder. Scott is purported to have made a written confession implicating others in the case. This man was brought to the Clarendon jail the fore part of this week and is being held here for safe-keeping.

Raymond Wright was arrested at Ardmore, Oklahoma, on a warrant from the Donley County Sheriff and S. B. Scroggins was arrested in Altus, Oklahoma, on a like warrant. Application was made for extradition papers for this duo and are pending at the present time. Late accounts from the office of the sheriff indicated that these had not been received up to Wednesday evening. Both these were arrested on a charge of murder and will be brought here for examination when the extradition papers have been received.

Frank Burkly has been working on this case for two years, having started on it shortly after he arrived in this city. A great part of his time has been given this work since his purchase of a business here and he should receive due credit for the work he has done in connection with it. Since the induction of Sheriff Mosley to the office he now holds, he has spent considerable time in this connection.

It will be recalled that the body of the murdered watchman was found on Sully Street and that no clues were available to identify or point to the identity of the assailant.

Mrs. W. H. Patrick was called to Tulsa, Okla., Sunday by a message that her daughter, Miss Katherine, who had accompanied Mrs. H. B. Officer home, was seriously ill with an attack of appendicitis. Mrs. Patrick was accompanied by her brother, Mr. John S. Bugbee.

OLIVER HILL IS SERIOUSLY HURT

KNIFING AFFRAY AT AMARILLO RODEO PROVES NEAR FATAL LAST WEEK.

O. C. Hill, Jr., of Ashtola, son of O. C. Hill of this city, and one of the best liked men of that section of the county lies in an Amarillo hospital seriously injured from knife wounds inflicted last Thursday afternoon in that city. Initial reports received the latter part of last week and the early part of this week indicated that he would not live, but later reports received in the city this morning and late Wednesday evening stated that he had shown a remarkable change for the better and that he would probably recover.

The injuries inflicted on the person of Mr. Hill followed an affray that started in the grandstand before the rodeo performance of the afternoon of the Fourth. Sources of information vary as to the beginning of the affair, but all of them state that the man who did the cutting was waiting for him when he came out of the grounds following the show. During the excitement immediately following the scrape, the assailant escaped and had not been caught at a late hour.

Mr. Hill was accompanied by Mrs. Hill at the time of the incident and other members of the family were summoned to Amarillo immediately after the extent of the injuries became known. The injured man is one of the most respected and prosperous of the farmers of the Ashtola community and has many friends who deplore his injuries.

A NEW CHAPTER HAS BEEN WRITTEN

Not in recent years has the loyalty and staunch friendship of West Texans been so clearly demonstrated as in the Robison case down at Austin a few weeks back.

Traditions of man's friendship for man is a part of the West and no people were truer to that tradition than the ranchmen and cattlemen of this territory. Those who had an idea that the mercenary bustle of modern life had driven this admirable trait from the hearts of citizens in West Texas saw a spectacle that controverted that idea once and for all.

Just after the World War when the readjustments brought ruin to the ranching and farming interests of West Texas, a bill was passed in answer to a plea for the re-assessment of valuations of state lands scattered all over the great expanse of this section of the state. The veteran Land Commissioner, Robison, didn't want the job added to his increasing duties of office, but when the task was allotted him, he prayed for an associate to bear part of the labor incident to the revaluation. This was denied him and he set out alone to travel thousands of miles in an effort to readjust the valuations so that West Texas might not lose their land rights and in many instances the fruits of their labors for a life-time. Under the new law the owners of the land to be revalued were charged a fee of one-cent per acre to pay the expense of the commissioners' work. This money was not to be a part of the state funds in any manner, and any excess payment was to be returned to the land-owner. Robison dug into the job as he has done for the last twenty years on behalf of the State of Texas and its citizenship, with the result that at his age he suffered a breakdown before the job was completed, and was forced to go to a hospital.

Then came the first evidence of the friendship and loyalty of West Texans. When the plight of the old Land Commissioner came to their attention, with that unanimity so typical of this section, these land-owners began to send their one-cent an acre refund checks to their long-time friend J. T. Robison, endorsed over to him as a slight token of their natural instinct to aid and assist a friend in need. The money didn't belong to the State of Texas; and it didn't belong to the land commissioner—it belonged to the land-owners to do with as they saw fit. No one in possession of the facts could criticize so admirable a trait in the land-owners, nor condemn an under-paid public servant for accepting such gifts from friends and at such a crisis in health and life.

That was not all. When a yo-yoing legislature found those within its ranks who hoped to capitalize the dispute between Robison and the Governor a dispute in which the governor was backed by the attorney general, and an effort was made to vote charges on which to impeach the land commissioner, using a distortion of the facts above as a basis for condemnation; when the daily press carried the story, letters and telegrams from all over West Texas began to pour in, ranchmen arrived in Austin and the best legal talent in Texas was placed in charge of the defense. So crude and groundless were the charges against the gray-haired veteran of the land office, that the legislature voted nearly two to one for quashing all charges and gave Mr. Robison the vindication he so deserved.

In a few years at most the Robison episode will have passed from the minds of the people, but the loyalty and friendship of the sturdy sons of the West has been written as another proud chapter in the ruck of a busy and self-fish modern era, and will stand as an added testimonial to the character of the men and women who have made West Texas what it is today.

May that loyalty and friendship never dim.

SHOULD HE HAVE SHOT THE CREDITOR?

"You have been dunning me for six months, in spite of my telling you I would pay when I could. All right, I will pay when I can and when I do I won't ever buy a dime's worth from you again!"

Just like the good old days when grandpap told the family doctor that he was going to pay the whole medical bill at once by leaving the doc a ten acre woodlot, and then forgot to mention it in his will.

When we owe the other man money for six months, we ought to feel reasonably humble. When we threaten to punish him as soon as we are able we simply show our unworthiness of credit and our ineptness for business.

The first test of a good business man is, Does he discount his bills? No matter how proud he is, no matter how red in the face he gets, if he can't pay his bills he should sing low.—"Spinal Colyums."

The distinctive contribution of women to education is their regard for human values—their basic, innate realization of the fact that the individual human soul is the be-all and the end-all, not only of education, but of civilization and of life itself.—Mabel Carney, Columbia University.

CLARENDON AND DONLEY COUNTY PEOPLE ARE CONGRATULATED

In a daily column, "Home Town Stuff", written by Editor Ray H. Nichols of the Vernon Record, he takes occasion to review the county-wide Junior College Proposition in Donley County and makes a few observations which are congratulatory of our people on the merits in the proposed expansion of the school:

"Some two years ago the Methodist Church closed Clarendon College as a church school and in the transaction the buildings and equipment were transferred to Clarendon. The plant was used for operation of a junior college as a part of the public school system. Now it is being proposed to have the junior college as a part of the county schools. This sounds like a god arrangement and presumably junior college facilities would thus be made available to all students in Donley County.

"The task of maintaining junior colleges for small cities would doubtless prove quite burdensome, and yet the advantages of having two years of college work available to students near their homes cannot be denied. It has the effect of placing college education within reach of thousands of boys and girls who would otherwise never be able to attend college, because of the expense of going away from home for four years. But for a small city to attempt to maintain a junior college in addition to the regular school work up through high school calls for a very considerable addition to the school budget. To distribute the burden of supporting the junior college over an entire county seems to offer a very good solution of this problem. Clarendon is fortunate in having secured a splendid group of buildings for making the experiment. Thus Clarendon's investments in the church school over a long period of years will not be a loss, as it has been in many cases of small church schools."

The Town Doctor

(The Doctor of Towns)

If I were President of a Service Club or a Chamber of Commerce in a town of from two to two hundred thousand population, I would, one week, invite all of the gasoline station attendants to luncheon, the next week, all of the hotel clerks, the next the soda fountain and drug store clerks, and the next week, I'd have an evening meeting and invite all the waitresses, waiters and restaurant owners.

At these meetings I'd have some well-liked and popular man who had a lot of humor, snap and pep in his make up, give a booster talk on our town. Not a lot of undue praise, nor an oration on "Our Home Town," but straight from the shoulder calling a spade a spade, I'd sell those men and women on why they should sell everybody with whom they come in contact on what the town offered, what it needed and I'd show them why they should do it for their own pocketbooks, as well as the town in general.

I'd see to it that facts and figures were placed in their minds and hands that would make it possible for them to put up a real sales talk. Among other things this would include the growth of the town in the last five years and why, population of trade zone and the income derived from the trade zone, historical facts, high lights of interest, and industries. If the town had anything that no other town had, I'd see that these people had all the details.

In other words, I'd start right now to place in the hands of those who come in contact with the potential customers of the town, sales ammunition to SELL the town.

These people are the logical people to start with and through them thousands of dollars can be made for every merchant.

Every day there is a constant flow of gold dollars going through your city, but no town can expect to get an even break unless they ask for it.

"You can't sell 'em, if you don't tell 'em," is as true in Town Selling as it is in the promotion of any product.

This Town Doctor article, one of a series of fifty-two, is published by The Clarendon News in co-operation with the Clarendon Lions Club.

HIGHWAY 88 TO PAMPA MAY BE EXTENDED NORTH

Word reaching the News early this week indicated that an extension of Highway No. 88 would be sought from the State Highway Department. The contemplated highway extension is north of Pampa and will cross Gray, Roberts, Hansford and Ochiltree counties joining with Highway 4 at Perryton.

People in that territory are very much in favor of the projected road and are even now circulating petitions in Roberts county asking for support of the citizens in building the new road and for a bridge across the Canadian River north of Pampa. The County Commissioners are in favor of the new road and have appointed F. P. Reid, veteran road builder of Gray County, to prepare all data and put the proposition before the State Highway Department.

Mr. Reid has finished the survey of the proposed road and has selected the place suitable for a crossing of the Canadian River.

GOING AWAY?

When in the next few weeks you yield to the call of the road remember that touring plans should include a Tourist Baggage Policy. A complete protection Automobile Policy and an Accident Policy. This office makes a specialty of the insurance needs of Tourists.

The fire of last Sunday morning further illustrates that property will still burn in Clarendon. The only safe way is to have us fully insure you. Never in the history of Clarendon, has insurance been as cheap as now, yet there are people without any insurance and a good many only half insured. Look over your Policies now and have us write you additional coverage.

Fleet Street, London

By Mary H. Howren

To the American, perhaps the most interesting street in London is old Fleet Street with its off-spring, the Strand. Rising at Ludgate Circus near Blackfriars' Bridge, with a background of Ludgate Hill crowned by St. Paul's Cathedral, curving in almost parallel symmetry with the river Thames, Fleet Street ends where once stood Temple Bar, and pours its stream of humanity into the Strand. Its surge, comparable at times to that of Fifth Avenue, New York that once beat against the city wall, is divided for a moment at this spot by a monument bearing on its base an inscription that proclaims the vanished, inarticulate and meaningless.

Out of Fleet Street and the Strand, like tortuous tributaries, branch out on each side curious alleyways. Between are crowded buildings, some modern, others of long-past styles of architecture, holding within themselves dark courts overshadowed by dingy walls, lighted by the sun's rays for one or two brief hours of the day, sometimes ornamented by straggling plane trees that cast a deeper shadow upon the twilight atmosphere.

These courts and lanes are associated with interesting events of history and story, and for the most part are well known by reputation to the interested sight-seer. Within the mazes of these hidden courts are the haunts of great literatures of many centuries. One of these, the Old Cheshire Cheese, lies within Wine Office Court, on the upper side of the street, halfway from Ludgate Circus. There one may pay an elaborate price, incidentally for a lunch, principally for the thrill of sitting at Johnson's table and of beholding the old punch bowl of the merry days when literary men seemed to have no cares, or, like Mr. Micawber drowned them in "the flowing bowl."

Farther up the street, on the side sloping to the river, there is the Temple, that wonderful Gothic church of the Middle Ages, built by the Knights Templars, who so skillfully combined priestly military abilities. The Temple is surrounded by courts filled with the dimness and silence of cathedral aisles and guarded by old cloisters, occupied once by priests and monks of the Church of Rome, but for the last six centuries by students of civil war. As the traveler today sits on the stone steps beside the grave of Oliver Goldsmith who loved this sacred place, he fills his fancy with the deeds of the crusaders whose bones long since have turned to dust beneath the floor of that holy temple.

Every court and lane has its historic or storied association, kept in memory by a people who love their traditions. But now and then one finds a surprise lurking in the depths of some forgotten corner. Such a surprise greets the stranger who chanced to stumble into Strand Lane leading off the Strand down towards the river, between the high wall of Summer House on the one side and a similar dark wall on the other. After a turn or so in his course, the investigator suddenly sees before him a sign inscribed with the legend:

"Old Roman Bath, free to visitors on Saturday between eleven and twelve o'clock."

Advancing still farther, he observes a doorway in the left wall with the inscription above, "Old Roman Bath." If it should happen to be Saturday between eleven and twelve o'clock, the door is open, and a young man, looking much like a ministerial student, is sitting within. This young man, with characteristic English courtesy, invites the visitor to enter. He conducts his guest down worn steps inside a narrow passage, and into a vaulted chamber to the left. This chamber appears to be about sixteen feet long and half as wide. In the floor, inserted to the depth of five feet, is an oval recess, about thirteen feet in length and six in width, more than half full of clear spring water flowing through with a perceptible current. Steps lead from the floor to the bottom of the bath. At this hour of the day a cheerful light comes through a window of many small panes, and falls upon the surface of the water and the white marble lining of the bath. At other hours the room is doubtless dark and gloomy.

The pleasant young man tells the visitor that antiquarians have agreed that the bath dates back to the Roman occupation, probably to the time of Julius Caesar. For, underneath the present marble tiling, which was placed there in recent years when the adjoining bath of the Earl of Essex, one of Queen Elizabeth's courtiers, was closed up, are the thin red bricks of Roman character similar to those in the remains of the old Roman Wall found in different sections of London. And beneath the bricks are the broken stones and stucco of the type used in Roman construction of Caesar's day.

The water comes from an underground stream, from which adjacent baths in Queen Elizabeth's time were fed. The source of this stream is believed to be an underground spring, once the Holy Well in Holywell Street, now the famous Aldwych district above Fleet Street.

The guide arouses added interest by quoting from "David Copperfield," who said in his days of love and prosperity:

"There was an old Roman bath in those days at the bottom of one of the streets out of the Strand—it may be there still—in which I have had many a cold plunge."

So, side by side, on this historic Fleet Street of London lie vestiges of all the ages of this great and ancient city.

Alfalfa and sweet clover make good supplementary pasture for the dairy herd when the regular pastures are short. These two crops furnish large amounts of protein and lime.

UNABLE TO WORK FOR FIVE YEARS

"Sargon did more for me than all other medicines I ever took. I was dreadfully run-down, and suffered from rheumatism continually. My joints were so stiff I could not raise my arms."

E. P. RUSSELL

I would be exhausted if I walked a city block. I had not been able to do a day's work in five years. My system was full of poisons and I suffered from constipation and bilious headaches.

"I started taking Sargon and began improving at once and now has been in years. Sargon Soft Mass Pills overcame my constipation and the bilious headaches, and I feel wonderfully strengthened and helped in every way."

"I believe I will soon be able to go out and work with the best of them."

The above statement was made by E. P. Russell, 1318 Royal St., Dallas.

Sargon may be obtained in Clarendon from Douglas-Goldston Co.; and in Hedley from Hedley Drug Co.

TODAY'S ROADS MUST WITHSTAND HEAVY BATTERING

SHOULD BE DESIGNED FOR HEAVIEST TRAFFIC, NOT FOR AUTOMOBILES.

By E. E. Duffy

From 10 to 14 tons is the limit states have affixed as the load burden that a loaded truck may lawfully impose upon state highways. Usually the greatest load that may be carried on one rear wheel is four tons.

Trucks loaded to the limit have little effect on the road surface while standing. But the moment the static, on standing load, becomes a "live" load as the vehicle moves, then the strain on the highway is much increased. When a truck moving at a fair rate of speed strikes a slight obstruction on the road surface, the blow dealt by a wheel may be several times the weight carried by the wheel. For example, one wheel of a truck loaded to the legal limit may strike the road surface a blow of 10 tons or more.

With the commercial traffic increasing rapidly, and admittedly to the public benefit, the modern road must be designed not only with passenger cars but with the heaviest bus and truck traffic in mind. Inferior roads, roads of no real structural strength, cannot be expected to carry present day traffic without breaking down.

Pavements may now be built with every expectancy that they will carry traffic 25 or more years—and smoothly. These pavements will carry the legal load countless times daily, year in and year out, with no fear of costly deterioration.

Recently in Chicago repairs on a through artery compelled the detouring of traffic on side streets, streets that were giving good, though not excellent, service. Within one month the pavements on these side streets were utterly ruined by the heavy traffic pounding over them.

This is but an instance where economy in road building may not be economy at all, but rather parsimonious buying.

There is no place in the transportation scheme, where traffic is fairly heavy, for pavements that will not stand up under the demands imposed upon them by heavy vehicles, which nowadays are to be found in growing numbers wherever there are half-way "decent" roads and streets.

"PLAINS, INC., FINDS UNITED CO-OPERATION"

"At no time since its organization have we found the people of the entire Panhandle-Plains section as universally united in any movement," said Dr. O. H. Lloyd, of Vega, and W. R. Arnold of Hereford, who returned yesterday from a tour of the entire area in the interests of the Panhandle-Plains, Inc.

"We received a cordial reception and pledges of support in every community visited," said the committeemen. "Every Panhandle citizen seemed to be fully appreciative of the wonderful spirit shown by Amarillo in offering to match every dollar raised outside of the city with $3 in carrying on this great work."

During the past week, Mr. Arnold and Dr. Lloyd have traveled more than 1,200 miles in the interest of the Panhandle-Plains, Inc.

In a report to the organization, the committee shows that a total of $4,150 has virtually been subscribed by Lamb, Hale, Randall, Othman, Deaf Smith, Carson, Gray, Roberts, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Donley, Briscoe and Floyd counties to the support of the Panhandle-Plains, Inc.

HENRY FORD OFFERS SAFE DRIVING RULES

As a contribution towards greater safety and more pleasant driving conditions on the highways of the country this summer, the Ford Motor Company has listed twelve rules as suggestions to motorists and has distributed them to dealers over the country.

Announcement of the suggestions was made today by Clarendon Motor Co., Ford Dealers in this city, who will display the list prominently in his place of business.

"These rules," said Mr. Kemp, "are merely common sense as applied to automobile driving. Every experienced motorist knows all of them. It is our hope, however, that by stating them concisely and posting them where they will come to the attention of a great many motorists, we can so emphasize them as to make a real contribution towards greater highway safety."

The twelve rules are:

1. Courtesy comes first. Consider the rights and privileges of others.
2. Keep your mind on your driving, and anticipate sudden emergencies.
3. Learn the "feel" of having your car under control.
4. Obey all traffic and parking regulations.
5. Keep to the right, and comply with road markings and signs.
6. Signal for stops and turns—watch the time ahead.
7. Slow down at crossings, schools, dangerous places.
8. Never pass cars on hills, curves, crossings.
9. Adapt your driving to road conditions—rain, ice, soft spots and ruts.
10. It doesn't pay to take the "right of way" too seriously.
11. When you drive, remember the times when you're a pedestrian.
12. Know the law. It was passed for your protection.

"It is estimated that 20,000,000 persons will tour on American highways this summer," Mr. Kemp continued. "Recognition of the rights of others will be essential. Many unpleasant accidents will be avoided if motorists, at times of close situations, will recall these rules and act accordingly. They are the recommendations of the Ford Motor Company offered to give greater peace of mind to those who travel by automobile."

CLARENDON STUDENTS ARE FOUND ON TECH HONOR ROLL

Three Clarendon students are found on the Spring term honor roll for Texas Technological College. Of the three, Miss Mary Hazel Hurn leads the group with an average of "A" for twelve term hours of work. Miss Naomi Allison and Miss Edgar Mae Mongole each made a "B" average on eighteen and fifteen term hours of work respectively. Miss Hurn completed the course for a B. S. in Home Economics at the school during the spring term.

The making of cottage cheese in small quantities for home use is a very simple process and ordinary household equipment will suffice, says the Bureau of Dairy Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture. It is desirable, however, to use a floating dairy thermometer in order to obtain uniform results. If the cheese is made without a curdling agent, hold fresh clean milk at a temperature of 75 F. until curdled. Cut the curd into small pieces stir and heat to 100 F. in half an hour. Put it on a cheese cloth, drain for about 25 minutes and salt. If a curdling agent such as rennet is used, warm the milk to 75 F. and add the rennet (first diluting it in cold water) at the rate of 10 drops to 30 pounds of milk. When curdled pour the curd on cotton cloth, let drain for 25 minutes, press with weights, and salt. Sweet or sour cream may be added to cottage cheese at the rate of a half pint to 10 pounds of curd.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.

George D. Stuart, Editor of The Tarentum (Pa.) News, Says:

That eighty per cent of the men and women in any given American community merely live in it. Be it a great center of population with its teeming millions, a thriving city of a mere wide place in the road, this rule, sad to say, applies.

It has never dawned upon four-fifths of the people that they are a definite part of the community, that their town belongs to them, that they are obligated by the tenets of good citizenship to contribute their part toward the development and expansion of that place which they call their home.

In every city of town, regardless of size, a glance about will convince even the stranger that all tasks of a public nature are performed by a mere one-fifth of the people, a faithful few who, exhibiting a fine spirit of sacrifice and willingness, make a sincere effort to carry the burden while the others, with arms akimbo set, look on, rarely to praise, frequently to criticize.

Those vexing problems which are ever to be found in every community could easily be solved if the thoughtless army of the four-fifths would join that loyal, courageous little band of the one-fifth.

Here, indeed, in a problem for the educators and the thinkers of the land. How are we to train our children in order that they may grasp a consciousness of the fact that obligations go hand in hand with the privileges of citizenship and residence in any community? How are we to instruct them so that they will gladly put their might and main when they become men and women—and citizens of New York or Main Street?

The solution of these problems will automatically solve a hundred others just as perplexing. The answer is the key which will open the door to that era of community progress which is the dream heaven of every forward looking man and woman.

But Meanwhile, While We Cast About For the Answer to Society's Great Problem, Let Us Appreciate and Give Full Credit—Not Criticism—To Those Earnest Men and Women Who Roll Up Their Sleeves When a Community Task is to Be Done—And Do It. For, Truly They Are The Salt of The Earth—The Real Patriots of These Piping Times of Peace.

SUMMER CULLING

It is a good idea for several reasons to cull the young stock by the middle of the summer. A few suggestions here may not be out of place.

At the time of separating the cockerels from the pullets, about eight to ten weeks, a fairly thorough job of culling can be done which will save many dollars in feed costs. Also if the cull birds are removed at this time they are going to bring higher prices per pound in most markets than as though they were allowed to reach fuller maturity.

A saving of space will be effected and the young stock that is worthwhile to keep will have a better chance to mature properly. A great many birds will be culled out of the ordinary growing flock on sight due to apparent low vitality and outstanding physical defects. Especially if the flocks are to be later used for breeding purposes any marked disqualification should be culled on sight. In the case of Leghorns these would notably be such defects as lop combs, side sprigs, off colored feathers and stubs.

In the heavier breeds body weight is perhaps of the most primary importance. A very complete set of suggestions on this important subject may be had by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture as Washington, D. C., for Farmer's Bulletin 1112 on Culling.

At the same time as culling the growing stock it is a good idea to go through the laying flocks very thoroughly. Health and constitutional vigor are of great importance and should have first consideration. When the bird is in good laying condition the combs and wattles are naturally bright red. Flexibility of the pelvic or lay bones located on either side of the vent is one of the most important indicators. In the good layer these bones are invariably thin soft and flexible. They are also wide apart, the width of about three fingers.

The experienced poultry breeder is able to tell the high-producing type at a glance. Some of the other more obvious features are the length of back, deepness of chest, strength of bones and ruggedness of constitution without reaching the extent of coarseness. The eye should be bright and prominent and alert. The poor producer can be spotted by its shriveled, dull and whitish comb. The eye is likely to be sunken, dull and listless, the pelvic bones rigid and close together and the body of the bird scanty.

It is best to get rid of the loafers just as early as you can spot them.

Poultry Tips Column conducted by Leonard L. Brown, internationally known authority and founder of the Brown and Mann strain of S. C. W. Leghorns. Inquiries addressed care of this paper gladly answered by Mr. Brown.

Cut Off Commission Of Appeals—Vote For Larger Supreme Court

NO ADDITIONAL OFFICE HOLDERS—NO INCREASE IN TAXES—JUST COURT EFFICIENCY.

In 1874 when the present State Constitution was framed Texas had perhaps a million inhabitants. The new constitution provided for a Supreme Court of three justices.

In 1928 Texas had five and a half times as many people as in 1875. In property values—increase in which naturally contribute to litigation—the growth has been even more remarkable. From the $249,000,000 assessed values in 1875 the total has steadily climbed until it is nearly $4,000,000,000 or sixteen fold. Population and property increases, bringing human beings into closer contact than when Texas was largely a pastoral State, have increased the possibilities of litigiousness by geometric rather than arithmetic progression.

But the number of Supreme Court justices remains the same—just three.

In other words with five and half times the population and sixteen times the property values and with the increased likelihood of litigation that comes from the growth of such factors, three Supreme Court justices are still striving—to the best of their ability, it is only just to say—to dispose of the vitally important litigation that ultimately must reach them for final adjudication.

It is virtually a matter of course that in spite of efforts to aid them through commissions of appeal, they are falling so far behind with their labors that citizens of Texas, vitally concerned in speedy and final adjudication of their legal controversies, are materially suffering.

That in brief is the genesis of the pending constitutional amendment to be voted on July 16 next and back of which is the strength of the Texas Bar Association and the Texas Press Association membership, together with the support of many thousands of other thoughtful citizens of Texas who believe in the axiom that justice delayed frequently means justice denied.

From the Texas of 1875 to the Texas of 1929 is a far cry. Today it is one of the greatest States in the Union in population and wealth; probably the greatest in its possibilities for future development. And the attainment of that development, very many well informed and thoughtful Texans believe, is being delayed and hindered by an unsatisfactory court system out of which has grown a very general demand for court reform. One of the first and essential steps toward that reform—lawyers rather generally agree is the adoption of the pending amendment which would increase the justices of the Supreme Court to nine, abolish the Commissions of Appeal (with their six tion, on record as urging the people to vote on this amendment—an action taken only after scrutiny of the entire amendment and inquiry as to its purposes and effect. Fearing that lack of interest or information might cause its defeat the Press Association decided to ask its members to make a special and diligent effort to advise their readers of the amendment and to urge their vote in line with the Association's earnest desire to further the cause of court reform in Texas.

47 LESS BANKRUPTCIES IN 1929 THAN IN 1928

Austin, Texas, July 10—Business conditions in Texas over the past six months have been satisfactory, it is indicated by the relatively small number of bankruptcies reported during that time, according to Berward Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

A total of 266 bankrupt companies having liabilities of $4,734,000 were reported, compared to 313 failures with liabilities involving $8,052,000 for the same period of 1928, Mr. Nichols pointed out. Failures during June were but 30 bankruptcies in the State last month, compared to 51 in May and 44 in June, 1928.

The "crazy" ant that infests households—so called because of its habit of running about, apparently aimlessly, with a quick, jerky motion—can be restrained from its erratic activities by any of the various means used to combat house-infesting ants, such as rusting sodium fluoride powder along the insects' runways, or by injecting a little kerosene or gasoline into the nest, if it can be found. The surest way to keep a house free from ants is to leave no food lying on shelves or open places. Cake, bread, sugar, and meat are especially favored by ants. Many of the ants that infest households came from the Old World to this and other countries on ships.

A recent issue of the United States Daily devoted considerable space to the sale by Harlingen, of its municipal electric system to the Central Power & Light Company, under the terms of which the company in return for the assumed the entire bonded indebtedness of the city.

Two Clarendon Midshipmen Are In Naples Now On Dreadnaughts U. S. S. Florida and Utah on Cruise

Washington, July 6.—Twenty-five Texas native sons, all "future Admirals," are aboard the three modern dreadnaughts, Arkansas, Utah and Florida, comprising the Naval Academy practice squadron, on the annual three-month summer cruise, where midshipmen gain practical experience in seamanship. The three battleships headed anchor in Chesapeake Bay off Annapolis, Md., June 8 last at one minute past midnight, each midshipman carrying with him recollections of "June Week," just over at the academy. They carried, too, detailed instructions from their sweethearts as to just what to bring back for them from Europe. The itinerary of the cruise rivals any offered by a tourist bureau, but life aboard ship is anything but a pleasure cruise. Generous shore leave is given, however, which compensates for the intensive instruction given aboard ship.

The first stop of the midshipmen was Barcelona, arriving here June 25 and departing July 2 for Naples, which they reached July 5. The remainder of their itinerary follows: Leave Naples July 11, arrive Gibraltar July 15; leave Gibraltar July 17, arrive Weymouth, England July 22; leave Weymouth Aug. 1, arrive Hampton Roads Aug. 16, leave Hampton Roads Aug. 19, arriving later the same day at Southern drill grounds; leave drill grounds Aug. 28, arriving Annapolis early in the morning of Aug. 29.

Get Month's Leave
A month's leave of absence is given the three upper classes starting immediately at the termination of the cruise. Many of the sweethearts who bid their midshipmen good-bye at Annapolis when they left June 8 will be waiting at dock when the lads come in aboard their motor launches from the battleships early in the morning of Aug. 29.

If Midshipman Travis R. Leverett of Wortham, Texas, keeps his promise he will bring back with him five Spanish shawls. Likewise, the other midshipmen will return bearings gifts if they did what the girls asked them to do.

The first and third classmen go on the practice cruise while the second classmen remain at the academy for three months' instruction in aviation and the fourth classmen (plebs) learn the rudiments of sailor life. The classes at the academy are the reverse of college classes. Thus a first classman at Annapolis is what is equivalent to a senior at college and a fourth classman is a freshman.

Texas Boys in Cruise
Names of the midshipmen from Texas, on the cruise, their address, class and ship, follow: Samuel D. Dealey, Dallas, first; William L. Lowrey, Dallas, first; Frank S. Farnald, Dallas, third; Florida; John R. Van Slyke, Dallas, third; Arkansas; H. L. Hendrick Jr., Fort Worth, first; Utah; Joseph E. Dodson, Waco, first; Utah; Miller S. Burgin, San Antonio, third; Robert T. Simpson, Houston, third; Utah; Edwin G. Kelley, Texarkana, first; Arkansas; William P. Holloway, third; Florida; John Paul Roach, Paris, third; Florida; Thomas S. Webb, Orange, first; Utah; Harry Paul Burden, Mineola, first; Florida; Jack Agnew, Bonham, first; Utah; Ire E. McMillan, Honey Grove, first; Arkansas; Travis R. Leverett, Wortham, third; Utah; William Y. Allen Jr., Huntsville, first; Utah; Charles C. Howerton, Cuero, first; Florida; Roy A. Newton, Jewesville, first; Florida; Everett O. Rigbee Jr., Fort Stockton, first; Florida; John Bradford Conway, Clint, third; Utah; Charles H. Everett Jr., Olden, third; Utah; John S. Miller, Clarendon third; Florida; and Ennis Taylor, Clarendon, third; Utah.

The three first line dreadnaughts of the scouting fleet the Arkansas, Utah and Florida, form what is known as the "Naval Academy Practice Squadron" and the three vessels make the cruise together with midshipmen of the first and third classes evenly distributed on the three ships. Each vessel is manned with a small enlisted crew and is officered by the staff of the Naval Academy. Officers or the navy medical corps are aboard each of the three battleships and the midshipmen are thus assured of every medical attention. Sea-sickness, sunburn and mashed fingers from the machinery form the majority assignments to the "sick bay." Bruises suffered by the novices at sea are inevitable but serious injuries are infrequent.

Has Busy Day
Before leaving Bancroft Hall at Annapolis the midshipman consults the bulletin board, on which is posted his ship, watch number, locker number and a long list of directions, including the location of his locker, his mess, where to stow his clothes bag and his assignment to a division and his first week's detail, together with a pamphlet of instruction as to what to do immediately on reporting aboard his ship. The classes are divided equally into four divisions, three for deck duty and one for engine room duty. One-fourth of the time of the cruise is spent in the engine room where instruction as to the mechanism of the vessel is given by the officers. The divisions study the engines in rotation.

To the landlubber, the schedule of the day's activities of the midshipmen afloat appears to leave little time for recreation or rest. When under steam at sea, the midshipman's day begins at fifteen minutes before midnight, when they are called out of their slumber by the cry, "All the starboard watch," followed in ten minutes by, "relieve the wheel and lookouts." The watch is mustered at midnight, at which hour the midshipmen are at their posts in various parts of the vessel. This watch is part of the regular routine of life aboard ship and is kept in fair weather and foul. First class men act as officers and the third class men are stationed with them as understudies. The watch lasts from midnight to 4 in the morning, when a new watch comes on duty. This new watch lasts until 5 o'clock, after which coffee is served, followed by washing down the decks and scrubbing paint-work. Breakfast is served at 7:30 but before that, at six bells (7 o'clock) "all hammocks" is called at which time the hammocks must be taken down and stowed in their netting. A hasty toilet is sandwiched in before breakfast. The meals are practically the same as those served the enlisted men aboard ship, being plain but strengthening.

"Shooting" The Sun
One of the early morning tasks of the midshipmen is "shooting the sun" with their chronometer to check the time with the log. This work is pursued before and after breakfast up to 9 o'clock, followed fifteen minutes later by inspection of quarters and physical drill. This is followed by drill at the battle stations. All instruments used in connection with the battery are tested out under power and in so doing the midshipmen are instructed in the rudiments of gunnery.

The engineer division is instructed daily while at sea in the operation of the complicated machinery that propels and fuels the ship. This instruction, which includes manipulation of a multitude of appliances in every department of the vessel, including the electrical plant and fireroom is given daily from 8:15 to 11:15 a. m. and from 1:15 to 4 p. m. Loading and pointing the guns forms the basic instruction of the deck division. The range finder crews are drilled constantly, as the efficiency of a battleship in action is determined by the accuracy of its fire. There is, too, the fire control party working at its exacting duties.

Dinner is served exactly at noon. Shortly before that hour the sun is "shot" again by the class working with the chronometers. During the morning hours instruction is also given in signaling and the midshipmen work up an appetite flagging. An important duty with which the midshipmen are not entrusted alone is that of keeping the proper distance between ships. Midshipmen sometimes become so engrossed with the engine telegraph that they forget about the important rule of distance and that is when their superior officer steps in and reminds them they are not alone on the sea. All the instruction at sea is carried out under the watchful eyes of the commissioned officers, who are the tutors and who also are responsible for the safety of the ship and men. The midshipmen scrub their clothes daily after classes are over at 4 in the afternoon.

Routine in Port
The three months of the cruise is divided as nearly as possible to allow half the time under steam at sea and the other at anchor in port. When in port, the routine varies considerably and many of the tasks performed at sea are omitted. Shore leave is given half the personnel at a time, thus leaving on board one-half of the cruise crew at all times.

One of the dirty and disagreeable tasks that fall to the lot of all midshipmen when their ship is in port is coaling. This job is speeded up through competition between divisions. Coaling is followed by washing down the ship and then laundering the clothes. Sightseeing comprises the major activity of the midshipmen ashore and when near cities they are always welcomed into the social life of the people, if there is no social life available ashore.

the baseball team will organize and play a few games and the crew will get in some practice at the oars. There is usually a race staged between crews chosen from the three ships.

Two weeks' target practice at the southern drill grounds near Hampton Roads is usually the concluding feature of the cruise. Instruction received in sighting the guns, fire control and seamanship in general is given a severe test at target practice.

In the early days the annual summer cruise was made aboard sailing vessels and there are many old sea dogs who contend the change to the modern battleship is for the worse. Life aboard the sailing ship was much more arduous and those who follow the sea contend the sailing-vessel is the only ship on which one can really learn seamanship. On the dreadnaught, the midshipman receives instruction in handling of small motor launches used to go ashore but the launches do not require oar duty, which used to be considered indispensable to the making of sailors. Practice in the handling of small boats is given the midshipmen at the Naval Academy, however. The academy grounds front on Chesapeake Bay.

Finucane-Parker

A marriage that will be of more than usual interest to the people of Clarendon and surrounding country, was the marriage of Miss Abbye Parker to Mr. James Finucane performed last Monday evening in the city of Tulsa, Oklahoma. The wedding was a surprise to the friends of the bride here.

Mrs. Finucane is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Parker of this city and was a popular and accomplished member of the younger set of Clarendon. She was raised here and attended Clarendon High School, winning honors in this institution.

Mr. Finucane is from Oklahoma City and is a very promising young business man. He is engaged in the sales department of an electric sawing machine company.

After a short honeymoon visit at Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. Finucane will be at home in Memphis, Texas.

William Lawrence Hayter Marries Dallas Girl

A wedding that will be of much interest to the folks of Clarendon was that of William Lawrence Hayter, son of Mrs. J. S. Hayter, and Miss Mabel Elizabeth Miller, of Dallas. The ceremony was held Wednesday night at 9 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church of Dallas, with the Rev. James Kirkland officiating.

Mrs. Hayter is the charming and accomplished daughter of Mrs. C. L. Miller of Dallas, and is well known in the social circles of that city.

Lawrence Hayter is the oldest son of Mrs. J. S. Hayter and for the past several years has been employed in Dallas where he met the young lady. He is a graduate of Clarendon High School and was a star athlete on former Broncho athletic teams. After graduation he attended Rice Institute at Houston until securing his position in Dallas.

After a brief honeymoon they will be at home in Dallas, Texas.

Bridge Luncheon

A lovely courtesy was the bridge luncheon given Friday at the home of Mrs. E. W. Blyener honoring her daughter, Mrs. R. B. Burnett, of Oklahoma City.

When the guests arrived they were greeted by five beautifully appointed tables adorned in a color scheme of orchid, pink and green, carried out in the table covers, floral centerpieces of sweet peas, place cards and tallies.

After the luncheon a number of games were played in which Mrs. Jim Morris was presented with high score prize, Mrs. R. A. Chamberlain second high and Mrs. S. L. Gentry cut consolation. The prizes were very artistically wrapped in the color scheme of the luncheon.

Those attending were: Mmes. R. A. Chamberlain, S. L. Gentry, L. S. Bagby, J. T. Sims, B. L. Jenkins, Sr., C. C. Powell of Roswell, N. M.; J. R. Porter, Ralph Kerbow, O. L. ## Win One Class Meeting

The win one class of the Methodist S. S. had their regular monthly social meeting, Monday, July 1, at the home of Mrs. R. H. Beville, with Mrs. R. Y. King as associate hostess.

A variety of garden flowers and pot plants adorned the rooms where the business session and social hour were enjoyed.

Routine business was disposed of after which an informal social hour was enjoyed, during which delightful refreshments were served.

Recent Bride Honored

Honoring Clarendon's most recent bride, Mrs. Everett Barnes, Mrs. Brea Couch entertained Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with a miscellaneous shower at her home.

The guests were entertained with music and whistling furnished by Miss Maurine Vinson and Mrs. Lester Schull respectively.

Little Ella Jean Speed, cousin of the bride, entered pulling a little wagon decorated in red and white loaded with gifts for the honoree. The gifts which were many, were opened and passed around to each individual present.

Dainty sandwiches and punch were served to the following: Mesdames Ed Speed P. W. Latson, J. D. Barrow, T. M. Couch, Clarence Whitlock, George Garrison, Otis Barnes, W. A. Wilkins, Charles Speed, Lester Schull, the hostess, the honoree, and Misses Maurine Vinson, Sallie Smith, Gwendolyn Couch, Frances Cauthen, Opal Duckett, Jo Veta Wilson, Ruby Speed, Kitty Speed, Sue Clark and Esma Keener.

Keyse City Visitors Are Honored With Bridge Dance

A charming evening of entertainment was tendered Misses Annela Houser and Bertie Mae Fitzgerald Tuesday evening of this week by Miss Leila Bell in her home in the western part of the city. Bridge and dancing were the principal diversions of the evening. Refreshments were served at a late hour to the following: Misses Edna Butler, Thelma Youngblood, Sallie Smith, Nell Butler, Maurine Wood, the honoree and the hostess and to Messrs. Tom Murphy, Neil McKillop, Marvin Warren, Ross Harwood Beville, Kenneth Kerbow, Macklin Butler, Raymond James, Warren Lott and Erskine Butler.

Story Hour

The twenty-four children present at the Story Hour Tuesday evening had an unusually good time.

The stories told by Mrs. W. C. Stewart were enjoyed immensely. The play hour afterward was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Killough Entertains With Bridge Party Saturday

A charming party of the week was the bridge party Saturday morning given by Mrs. C. E. Killough at her home in east Clarendon. The guests were entertained with three tables of bridge which took up the major portion of the morning. The rooms of her lovely home presented a charming setting for the gaiety of the occasion. A guest prize was presented to Mrs. C. C. Powell of Roswell, Mexico, a former member of the club who was visiting in the home of relatives at this time. Late in the morning a delicious ice course was served to the guests by the gracious hostess.

Those enjoying this party were: Mesdames H. B. Kerbow, J. R. Porter, Sam M. Braswell, W. W. Taylor, George Reed, C. C. Powell of Roswell, D. O. Stallings, Fred Rathjen, U. J. Boston, Eva Rhode, Harry Ruddell, and the hostess, Mrs. C. E. Killough.

Maurine Wood Entertains With Slumber Party Monday

Miss Maurine Wood was the gracious hostess to a number of her friends Monday night honoring her house guests, Misses Annela Houser and Berta Mae Fitzpatrick, with a slumber party. Miss Wood had provided her guests with many entertaining features and as is the case with most of these kind of parties, there was very little time given to slumber. The young ladies enjoyed an automobile ride over the city then were refreshed with suitable refreshments. After the slumberless night for the merry-makers they were again refreshed with a delicious breakfast, served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. A. N. Wood.

Those enjoying this occasion were: Misses Nell Butler, Cleo Brown, Pauline Lane, Thelma Youngblood, Reatta Thomas, Edna Mae LaFon, and the honoree, Misses Annela Houser and Berta Mae Fitzpatrick, and the hostess, Miss Maurine Wood.

CARROLL McMURTRY LAID TO REST HERE THURSDAY

Clarendon and community were shocked as well as all of the Panhandle last Wednesday morning, when the news was received of the terrible automobile accident in Amarillo which cost the lives of three young men, one of whom was Carroll McMurtry, who had come to manhood in and around Clarendon.

Carroll was the only surviving child of Chas. T. McMurtry, and Mrs. Ida McMurtry. He was born Nov. 24th, 1907, and was therefore, in his twenty-second year at the time of his passing. Carroll was educated in the public schools and Clarendon College and was a favorite among the younger set of Clarendon and Amarillo. He had spent much time with his father on the ranch Northeast of Clarendon, but was visiting his mother in Amarillo when the tragedy shortened his days.

Few young men have been more popular in his circles than was Carroll, and the tragic ending of his life cast a pall over the preparations for the celebration of the Fourth of July, and his burial here Thursday morning, July 4th, caused many a change in plans for the day in almost every home in this community.

The body was brought here from Amarillo and the funeral services were held at ten o'clock Thursday morning in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McMurtry, the former an uncle of the deceased.

Rev. Robert McKee, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of which Carroll was a member, conducted the impressive ceremonies amid a great gathering of young and old, friends of the youth and of the family, surrounded by a mass of flowers paying fragrant tribute to the sorrowing parents. A quartette composed of Mesdames Braswell and Smith and Messrs. Braswell and Cope and accompanied by Mrs. Loyd Stallings sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Jesus Saviour, Pilot Me." In the funeral oration Rev. Mr. McKee brought a quiet message of resignation and hope to the bereaved ones, pointing the way of life in the comforting words of the Saviour.

From the McMurtry home the cortege proceeded to the Citizens Cemetery where the earthly remains of Carroll McMurtry was consigned to the tomb to await the Resurrection Day. The pall bearers were Kelly Chamberlain, Will Carroll, Rex Reeves, Alfred Woods, Leo Ray, Jess Kemp, Clyde Easterling and Harold Bugbee.

The news joins with a host of friends and relatives in mourning the passing of this youth so full of vigor and promise.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Scott, Miss Ella Crane, Ross Fowlkner of Ft. Worth, Miss Marguerite Crane of Withfield, were guests of W. L. Crane and family last week. The above nests accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Crane left the first of the week for a trip through Yellowstone Park.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bailey of Waco, are guests of W. L. Crane and family last week. The above nests accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Crane left the first of the week for a trip through Yellowstone Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kerbow, the children, Jane, Harry and Jerry, Miss May Talley of Dallas, are guests in the home of the ladies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Talley.

TRANSFERS TO BE MADE DURING JULY

FREE SCHOOL POSSIBLE ONLY WHEN TRANSFERS ARE FILED THIS MONTH.

This is to remind those who are interested that July is the last month in which children may be transferred from one district to another for school purposes except for High School purposes only.

If you have moved from the district you were in when the school census was taken or if you plan to send your children to school in another district outside of where you live, then you should make your transfers this month, because the district where your children attend school should have the free school money for teaching your children. Furthermore, if you should send your children to a school outside your home district and do not transfer them, then they would be pay pupils for the whole school term, but if you transfer them then the free school money would take care of the first three months of school. In case you live in the district now where your children would attend school, they would go free the remainder of the school term, otherwise, they would be pay pupils.

In case your home school does not teach the grade your child is prepared to take, say for example your school only teaches thru the eighth grade and your child is ready for the ninth grade, then you may transfer to a school which does teach the ninth grade work and the free school money would take care of the first three months work, then your home district, according to the new rural high school law, must pay for the remainder of the school term, provided your child gets a rural high school certificate and has the home trustees to sign it and further, provided the home district has the money in case the said home district does not have the money, then the State Department of Education must pay it when papers are properly filled out and presented. In this latter case of High School students, transfers may be made any time during the year up to two weeks before school is out but in order to get the records straight to save confusion these transfers should be made this month along with other transfers.

H. T. Burton, Chairman, County Board of Education.

GOLF TOURNEY IN PROGRESS

HILLCROFT GOLFERS LAUNCH ATTACK ON W. H. COOKE, 1928 CITY CHAMPION.

The city golf tournament is well under way and with very few exceptions the favorites are coming through their matches with expected wins. Qualification play was held Saturday and Sunday and the players were placed in three flights according to their score turned in. All Hillcroft players were eligible to participate for the city loving cup, now in the possession of W. H. Cooke, City Champion for 1928. A charge of one dollar was made as an entrance fee which will be used to offset the expense for the prizes to be given.

There are seven prizes to be given at the conclusion of the tournament. A prize to the low medalist, and two prizes in each flight, prizes going to the winner and runner-up of the three divisions. Much interest is being manifested in the tourney and it is believed that the tournament will prove to be the most successful ever attempted by the club. All players are ambitious to win the City Cup from Bill Cooke this year and the defending champion will have to play wonderful golf to retain the prize through the present campaign.

Those qualifying in the First Flight are: Ira Merchant 80; Meredith Gentry 80, Al Cooke 80, John Penel 82, Bill Cooke 81, Robert Weatherly, Jr., 82, Walter Wilson 84, and A. N. Wood 83.

Those qualifying in the Second Flight are: Homer Parson 87, Kenneth Kerbow 89, Sam Braswell, Jr., 90, P. B. Gentry 91, R. C. Weatherly 87, Fred Buntin 91, J. T. Patman 89, and Tom Connally 91.

Those qualifying in the Third Flight are: C. J. Douglas 92, E. M. Ozier 91.

Leonard Wilson 105, W. S. Bagby 94, H. Mulkey 96, G. H. McCleskey 93, Sam M. Braswell 100, H. B. Kerbow 94, Lee Casey 96, Holman Kennedy 92, Lee Vaughn 113, and I. O. Noble 103.

Due to the fact that three of the members, Ira Merchant, Meredith Gentry and Al Cooke, tied in their qualification rounds for low score, a play-off was necessary to produce the low medalist player. Ira Merchant finally was awarded this distinction only after a fiercely contested match in which he and Al Cooke were the principal contenders. Merchant ended his play with a perfect score of 72, which is par. Al Cooke was close behind with a fine score of 73, one above par for the eighteen holes. Meredith Gentry was off his game and turned in an 82 for his play.

Survivors of the first round play to date are as follows: W. A. Wilson won from Ira Merchant 1 up (20 holes). Al Cooke won from R. C. Weatherly, Jr., 2 up. W. H. Cooke won from A. N. Wood 6 up and 5. John Penel won from Meredith Gentry 1 up (19 holes).

Second Flight
Sam Braswell, Jr., won from Kenneth Kerbow 1 up (19 holes). R. C. Weatherly won from Fred Buntin 1 up.
Tom Connally won from J. T. Patman 1 up.
Homer Parsons and P. B. Gentry incomplete.

Third Flight
Seldon Bagby won from McCleskey 1 up.
Lee Vaughn won from Leonard Wilson 3 up and 2.
Homer Mulkey won from Sam M. Braswell 5 up.
Bennett Kerbow and Lee Casey incomplete.

Other third flight matches have not reported.
The committee has ordered all matches to be finished Sunday afternoon. This is very important and it is hoped that all players will play accordingly. The finals will be played in all flights Sunday afternoon, July 14.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Holt of Wheeler and Mrs. M. D. Stephens of San Angelo, were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Youngblood, before leaving for Waco for a short visit.

New Cottons Are Charming

In the model shown above at the left the brilliance and distinctive charm of the new cottons are fairly written all over this very chic afternoon frock. It is made of sheer batiste, the designing having been printed by woodblocks in the French manner. The whole effect of the cape, bows and tiers of the circular skirt combines to make a distinctly feminine and useful summer costume. Summer shades of lavender, rose and green also add a feminine touch. Equally important is the fact that this frock is both cool and easily laundered. The fabric covered pumps add a finishing touch to this costume.

At the right is one of the new types of cotton frocks of fine quality unbleached muslin which has been sponsored by Fifth Avenue this season. It comes in delicate egg shell tints and has just the distinctive touches of hand design in its finishing which add just the right note. The rough straw hat and fabric colored pumps complete this attractive ensemble.

NEW YORK-PARIS FASHIONS

HERE is the smartest possible complete costume for warm days in town or for afternoons in the country. It has several very pertinent new points that stamp it unmistakably as of this summer: not by any chance, last summer. First, the sleeveless dress. This is the first time in the memory of this fashion reporter when sleeveless dresses have been correct for anything in the day time but actual sports use. Not so any longer. Mark well the little shoulder cape. That makes the frock perfectly permissible for the street. Then the complete unity of the color choice for the accessories, hat, purse and shoes. Especially with these colorful printed frocks, it is smart to wear these three items in some darker tone and all exactly matching. Here the frock is of a small patterned print in tones of red and eggshell. The hat, of Rebooux's new synthetic straw, pleat tulle, the purse of kidskin and the slippers of the same, all dyed the same shade of dark red. And the long suede gloves wrinkled down around the wrist, they in turn are dyed a lighter tone, not much more than a tint of the same red.

J. D. Allred spent the Fourth in Chillicothe visiting with his parents and friends.

New CHEVROLET Sixes
on the road since Jan. 1st!

Today's Chevrolet is scoring a huge nationwide success because it represents one of the most sensational achievements in automotive history—a Six in the price range of the four.

The Chevrolet six-cylinder engine delivers its power freely, quietly, and easily throughout the entire speed range—delightfully free from annoying vibration and rumble. Combined with this remarkable six-cylinder smoothness are equally remarkable speed, power and acceleration—and an economy of better than twenty miles to the gallon.

In addition to such sensational performance the Chevrolet Six offers the outstanding advantages of Bodies by Fisher. And no car ever provided a more impressive array of modern convenience features—adjustable driver's seat and VV one-piece windshield in closed models, easy action clutch and gear-shift, ball bearing steering, and instrument panel complete even to theft-proof Electrolock and electric motor temperature indicator!

LION COMMITTEES ARE READ TUESDAY

LIST OF STANDING COMMITTEES READ AS APPROVED BY DIRECTORS.

At the beginning of the year of work of the Lions Club, with the taking of office of the newly elected officials, the committees that are to be active for the new year took the center of attraction for the Lions this week. Report was had on M. J. Bonham, statement being made that he had been moved to Pampa, but that he could be brought to the city whenever he was needed. Lion Byrd promised to see that the child would be brought to the city or sent to Amarillo whenever the committee desired to see him. Rhodin W. Chase and G. C. Boswell were introduced as the guests of the day.

Lion W. M. Murrell in the role of the Lion Tamer, called the attention of the Lions to some statements made by former Lion Tamer Sherman at the Directors meeting last week. These statements had to do with the conversation had while the Boss Lion or any other Lion was speaking. The Tail Twister was instructed to act whenever the occasion arose in this connection and to keep the Lions quiet unless they were on the floor for some definite purpose.

Committees named for the year will be found as follows: Attendance: Fred Rathjen, Chairman, Earl Alderson and W. C. Stewart.

Boys' Work: G. L. Boykin, Chairman, A. A. Mayes and T. D. Nored.

Community Welfare: Holman Kennedy, Chairman, G. G. Kemp, and J. E. Porter.

Lions Education: W. M. Murrell, Chairman, S. E. Allison and Sam M. Braswell.

Fellowship: Homer Mulkey, Chairman, T. F. Connally and W. C. Byrd.

Finance: Odos Caraway, Chairman, J. T. Patman and W. H. Patrick.

Major Activities: A. L. Chase, Chairman, Sam M. Braswell, Homer Mulkey, O. C. Watson and Ira C. Merchant.

Program: Dr. J. G. Sherman, Chairman, Robt. S. McKee and J. E. Teer.

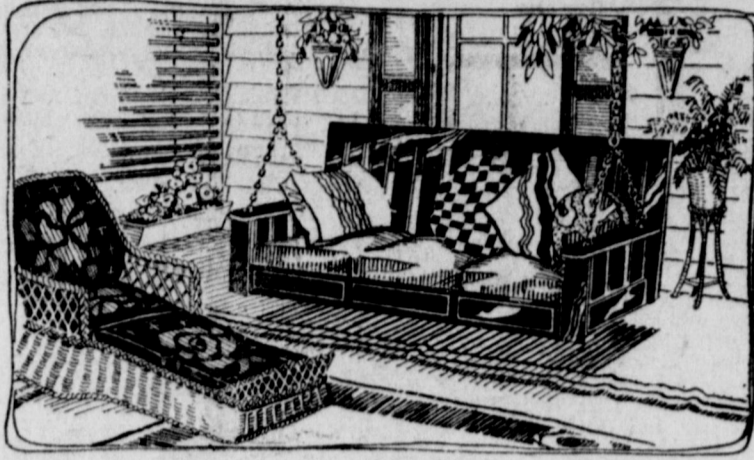

School Affairs: O. C. Watson, Chairman, T. E. Trostle and H. T. Burton.

Publicity: F. L. Stallings, Chairman, C. H. Allmond and U. J. Boston.

Rural Contact: M. M. Noble, Chairman, J. J. Alexander, L. H. Johnson and A. A. Mayes.

Adjournment was had in the usual manner.

BEAUTY in the HOME

Create A Colorful Modern Porch

By Margery Sill Wickware

THE opportunity to 'do' a porch delights me, for here color—bright and varied—surely belongs! Well chosen colors can do more than any other single thing to lend a home the charm of good taste and individuality. I think the effectiveness of this simply furnished porch illustrates beautifully how much can be done with duco colors and a little ingenuity.

For the hanging swing I chose delft blue—much the same shade as the striped upholstery of the chaise-longue, which I painted with the cool Nile green. The porch floor is light brown floor and deck enamel. Then bright accents of Mandarin red—on the chair (cushioned in green), on the flower stand and small table, on the hanging ivy baskets. The pillows added gay yellows.

This is only one of many schemes I might have worked out with duco—there are so many lovely shades to choose from, all created to blend harmoniously with each other—all quick-drying and easy to apply.

I should think any woman would find working with this material delightful. Every woman has a sense of beauty and with a little guidance, can cultivate a color sense which will enable her to produce delightful artistic effects.

WHITLOCK BUYS SERVICE STATION FROM ATTEBERRY

A business transaction of the fore part of the week that will interest the public at large was the change in ownership of the Texas Service Station, the popular filling station at the end of the east paving owned by Mr. Paul Atteberry has been purchased by Clarence Whitlock, late of Quitaque. The News joins with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Whitlock in welcoming them to make their home again in this city. Mr. Whitlock has been in charge of the Parson's Brother Tailor Shop in Quitaque for the past few months, and has proven himself to be a success in the business world.

Mr. Atteberry is at present undecided as to what he will do in the future, but it is almost certain that he will continue his residence here as in the past.

Readers of the News will notice the ad of the new management in other columns of the paper, and will do well to watch for the station ad in the future editions of the News.

the Panhandle section of the state. This would do more than any one thing to increase the average grade of milk cows in the county.

Miss Mable Mongole is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lachery in Whitdeer.

Miss Orene Hudgins of Pampa, spent the fourth here with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mitchell and family spent the fourth visiting relatives at Goodnight.

Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Stricklin and daughter, Beverly Gray, left last week for Colorado, where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ellis left Saturday morning for Oregon where they will spend the summer. This popular young couple will be greatly missed by all who know them.

Dr. and Mrs. George S. Slover of Amarillo, former President of Clarendon College, spent Sunday visiting friends here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Burton.

Mrs. J. S. Hayter and children returned to Clarendon July Fourth from Dallas where they had been to attend the wedding of Lawrence Hayter, July 3rd in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Curnutt of Altus, Oklahoma, returned last Saturday to their home after a visit here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller. Mrs. Curnutt is the sister of Mrs. Miller.

AIR MAIL CONNECTION ANNOUNCED

CONNECTIONS MADE AT FT. WORTH FOR KANSAS CITY, CHICAGO AND NEW YORK.

A direct air mail connection between Clarendon and points in northern, eastern and western sections of the United States is now available as the result of the addition of a daylight schedule between Dallas, Ft. Worth, Tulsa and Kansas City on Contract Air Mail Route No. 3, operated by National Air Transport.

Air mail posted at Clarendon in time to be placed aboard the train leaving here at 7:35 p. m. will reach Ft. Worth in time to make connections with the N. A. T. northbound plane leaving there at 9:35 a. m. Postmaster C. H. Bugbee said today, Air Mail dispatched on this plane arrived at Kansas City at 2:20 p. m. Connection is made at Chicago for the overnight service to New York thus enabling a letter leaving here one night to be in New York and other eastern cities the second morning. Similar connections are made at Chicago for western and northwestern points.

The new daylight schedule of National Air Transport in the southwest provides air mail service to cities both on and off the direct air line, and is the result of the Post Office Department's desire to extend the service and make it available to additional communities.

The extent to which air mail is used by ranks to cut down the time of clearing negotiable paper, by produce merchants and livestock dealers and commission men in obtaining detailed market reports and the sending of manifests, and mailing checks to scores of other business uses, has resulted in a general speeding up of business transactions.

The use of air mail for social correspondence has also shown a decided increase since it has been recognized by authorities on etiquette as being socially correct as well as providing a faster mode of personal communication.

BOY SCOUTS TO BE WELL FED AT SUMMER CAMP

Sample menus received in the office of The News would indicate that the Boy Scout who attends the annual camp of the Southeast Panhandle Council that will be held in Camp Williams Warner should return to his home many pounds heavier by reason of the healthful diet that will be given them. The question, "When Do We Eat?" is one asked almost constantly by the boys that are to be found in the camps so the quantity served the boys must do them from the time one meal is ended until the time the next meal is served. Eating between meals is to be discouraged and presented as much as possible and for that reason the meals that will be served will all taste good to the boys whenever they are eaten. A sample set of menus for one day will suffice to show that the boys need not go hungry. This is what is planned for August 15th:

- Breakfast: Mush, Sliced Orange, Poached Egg, Hash, Toast and Coffee.
  - Dinner: Roast Beef, Mashed Potatoes, Beets, Hot Gingerbread and Syrup, Iced Tea.
  - Supper: Vegetable Soup, Lettuce and Tomato Salad, Graham Crackers, Fruit, Milk.
- This is merely a sample of the variety of foods that will be served the boys when they are in the camp from August 12th to 21st.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Nored and children are in Sulphur, Oklahoma, with a visit with his mother and for medical attention to Mr. Nored. They will probably return here some time next week.

5 reasons why STEEL ECLIPSE WINDMILLS run in lightest breeze

Why does the Steel Eclipse run when other mills are motionless? The answer is, scientific design and fine workmanship. Note these five reasons—

- (1) Wheel is tilted to take advantage of lightest breeze.
- (2) All working parts run in oil.
- (3) All wearing surfaces are machined.
- (4) Mill starts on two-thirds load—not full load; quick downstroke and slow upstroke means less effort required on the lift or pumping stroke.
- (5) All bearing surfaces are in line, reducing internal strains and power loss.

CLUB NOTES

The Ashtola Girls Club met Thursday, July 4th, and presented good home work reports. After the meeting, the Country Home Demonstration Agent made home visits with seven of the members and found all of them working hard on their many varied projects. At this meeting, plans were discussed for the ice cream supper they will hold at the school house on the evening of July 19th.

The Clarendon Club met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. O. L. Fink. A home marketing program was the demonstration on hand at that time. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. J. C. Estlack on July 19th, at which time the ladies will improve their household linens. Towels will be given special attention on that date.

The Girl's Council met in the office of the Country Home Demonstrator Saturday, July 13th with twelve girls present. Plans were laid for the team demonstration Monday and some discussion was had on the clothing contest for Friday of this week.

Special notice should be given the mothers and Club members that they are invited to attend the Clothing Contest that is to be held here Friday of this week.

The Chamberlain Home Demonstration met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. A. Hughes. Eighteen were present for the demonstration on Home Marketing and saw the stress that was placed on standardization of quality and all other points that go to making a marketable product. Quantity was also stressed with an idea in mind of getting a certain amount marketed at certain times with the resultant increase in price that would come from a standard product. The next meeting is to be an all-day event in the home of Mrs. H. M. Reid on Wednesday, July 24th. Picture framing will be the topic for demonstration at that time.

The Goldston Girls Club met Tuesday morning in the home of Miss Maude Smith with nine present for the demonstration and meeting. Three of the number are at work on their contest dresses and good home work reports were had from all of the members. The demonstration for the day was had on the preparation of buttered vegetables. The next meeting scheduled is to be held in the home of Miss Virginia Harris on July 23rd, at which time a demonstration is to be given on the preparation of escalloped vegetables.

Those in attendance on the seven-county meeting that was held at the Country Club Monday of this week are to be found as follows: Wheeler County, Leona Crossland and Gady's Dill; Potter County, Mildred Cook and Dorothy Jones; Collingsworth County, Esther Faye Allen and Esther Smith; Hall County, Inez Mitchell and Emily Smith; Armstrong County, Noreen Tyler and Annie Mae Hess; Carson County, Helen Lill, Vada Lee Lawson and Alberta Dittenberner.

MRS. C. B. INGRAM PAIN-FULLY BURNED SATURDAY

While burning some papers in the yard last Saturday, Mrs. C. B. Ingram suffered some rather painful burns about her ankles and is reported as being resting easily. She lighted the fire and a part of the papers whipped round her feet by the wind, burning them before she could get away from the paper or get the fire put out. Although not considered dangerous, her burns are painful in the extreme.

Lenode Goldston, formerly an employee of the First National Bank of this city and now National Bank Examiner with headquarters in Amarillo, was a visitor in this city this morning.

C. A. WILSON BRINGS FIRST BOLL FROM BRICE

C. A. Wilson, farmer of the Brice district was a caller in the News office Wednesday morning with the first boll of cotton that has been seen this year. The boll was almost half grown and was not injured in the least by any outside agencies. Mr. Wilson stated that he had many smaller squares in his field and that his crop was showing many blossoms early in the year.

W. T. U. ISSUES BOOK FULL OF INFORMATION

The News is in receipt of a beautiful booklet, compliments of R. B. Niese, Jr., publicity superintendent of the West Texas Utilities Co., in the general offices at Abilene. The title of the booklet is "The Land of Opportunity—West Texas," and is a compendium of information on the resources and development of West Texas where the company is operating in over one hundred towns and cities. It is one of the prettiest pieces of printing issued in Texas in many moons and is a valuable addition to the library of any West Texan, and is in keeping with the policy of the company of never doing anything by halves.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONDUCTS CHURCH CENSUS

Members of the First Christian Church are busy this week completing a religious census involving the entire city. The object of the census is to determine the condition of the city in a religious way, prior to the meeting which is scheduled to be held here starting Monday, July 22. Only a small portion of the city is left to be worked by the census takers and this will be finished by the end of the week.

Rev. John W. Tyndall will conduct the Christian meeting and he will be assisted by Rev. Perry of Vernon, who will have charge of the music during the revival.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Pyle spent Thursday of last week celebrating at Wayside Park near Memphis.

Lloyd Martin and Philip Couch spent the fourth in Amarillo attending the rodeo.
