Refugees, Soldiers Pull Back To Coast

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu today ordered a paratrooper division from Da Nang back to Saigon to bolster its defenses as the North Vietnamese pressed their two-week-old offensive around the capital.

The Saigon command reported heavy Communist-led tank attacks against the district capital Dinh Quan and a series of assaults in Long Khanh Province, all in the 3rd military region that includes the capital and 11 surrounding povinces.

GIVE UP

To the north, thousands of refugees and soldiers streamed across the central highlands toward the coastal lowlands following the Saigon government's decision to abandon three western highlands provinces to the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

After a two-week Communist offensive captured one of the area's chief cities and isolated the other two, President Nguyen Van Thieu decided to give up the sparsely populated provinces of Kontum, Pleiku and Darlac. It is an area of 11,000 square miles — 433 square miles larger than the state of Maryland. Population of the provinces is more than half a million.

The fate of 11 Americans in the abandoned provinces was not yet known.

Although the decision to retreat was not made known until early today, the North Vietnamese threat started the exodus last week. Hundreds of civilians swarmed to get on planes at Pleiku, and thousands of others led on foot as the North Vietnamese overran Ban Me Thuot, the capital of Darlac province.

The evacuation swelled today. Field reports said thousands moved south by road from Pleiku toward Cheo Reo.

Scores of South Vietnamese air force planes at Pleiku that were either damaged or grounded for maintenance were destroyed before the army and air force pulled out.

Military sources said the situation was confused and they had no idea how many troops or refugees were heading for the coast. They said some soldiers were left behind to fight a rearguard action.

The South Vietnamese gave up the major cities of Kontum and Pleiku without a battle after reports of a massive North Vietnamese buildup. Observers said the North Vietnamese could be expected to move in within a few days.

Ban Me Thuot, a city of 170,000, fell after a week of fighting.

GROUNDED

Large areas of the three provinces already were controlled by the North Vietnamese. The chief government strongholds were the three provincial capitals: Kontum, Pleiku and Ban Me Thuot. All three cities withstood heavy North Vietnamese assaults during the Communists' 1968 Tet and 1972 Easter offensives, but only with massive support from U.S. infantry, artillery and air forces.

Two weeks ago, when the North Vietnamese launched their offensive in the highlands, they systematically cut the highway lifelines from the coast to the three capitals. Reinforcements and supplies could only be moved in by air.

"The South Vietnamese air force has a limited capability," one American official said, "so it was a question of which is best: getting chewed up because you can't move troops and supplies rapidly enough or moving into a defensive posture that is significantly more defensible."

OFFENSIVE

"The decision was made to cut losses now because the North Vietnamese were putting so many troops in the region and there was no way to supply the South Vietnamese troops," one analyst said. "The logistics are in favor of the North Vietnamese whose supply lines from Laos and Cambodia are much shorter."

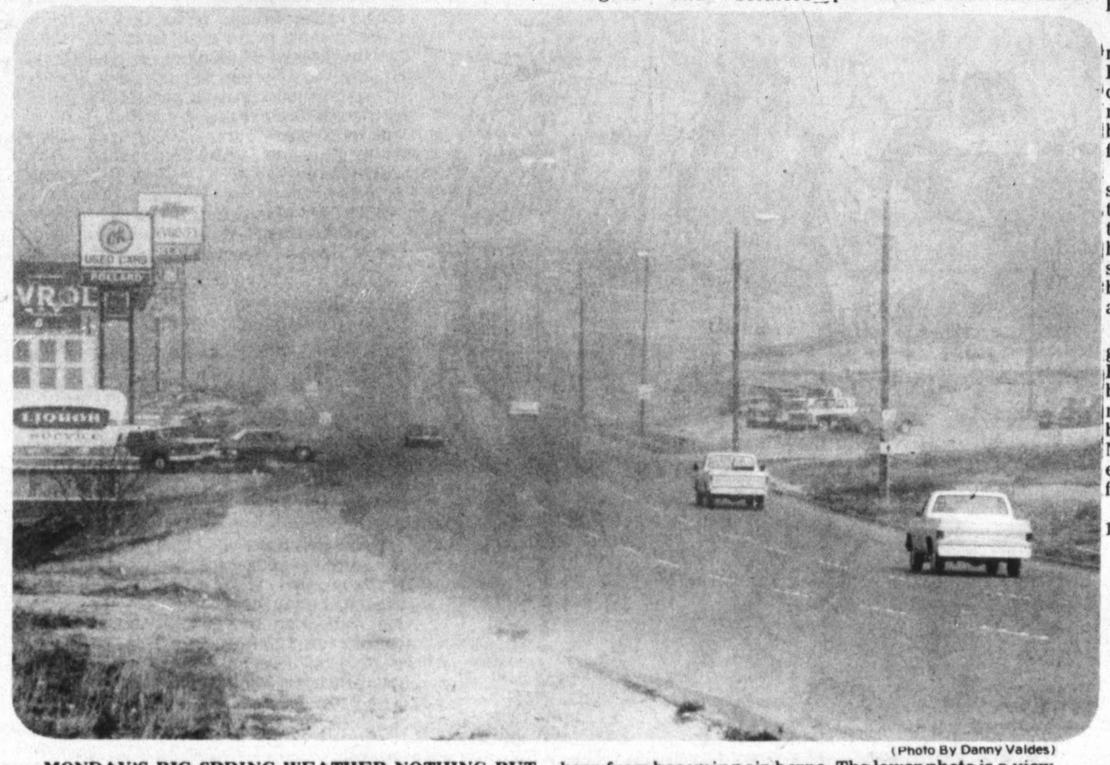

Officials said that by pulling back to the coast the South Vietnamese would have shorter supply lines, the North Vietnamese longer ones.

Other sources said the government's decision may also have been influenced by increasing discontent among the mountain tribesmen known as Montagnards who are the bulk of the population. They have never gotten along with the South Vietnamese, and many of them have weapons given them when they fought for the Americans.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said in addition to a U.S. Embassy official and eight American missionaries trapped in Ban Me Thuot, the fate of two other Americans in the highlands was not known. They were identified as Dr. George P. Christian, who refused to leave the hospital in Kontum where he was working, and George Moomaw of Pacific Architects and Engineers, a firm working on contract for the International Commission of Control and Supervision.

Dr. Pat Smith of Seattle, Wash., a physician who has spent many years in Vietnam and who ran the Kontum hospital, was evacuated Saturday along with 27 other Americans.

Rites Held For Onassis On Scorpios

SCORPIOS, Greece (AP) — Aristotle Onassis was buried today alongside the tiny whitewashed chapel where he married Jaqueline Kennedy 6½ years ago on his sunny island in the Ionian Sea.

As the 69-year-old multimillionaire's oak coffin was lowered into a concrete sarcophagus strewn with lilies, Mrs. Onassis reached out to hold the hands of her 14-year-old son John and her 17-year-old daughter. Caroline's arm was already grasped by her uncle, Sen. Edward Kennedy, who accompanied Mrs. Onassis and the coffin from Paris to this tiny island.

None showed emotion outwardly, but Onassis' 24-year-old daughter Christina, the principal inheritor of his shipping fortune, appeared to be fighting back tears as she tossed a handful of dirt on the coffin in keeping with Greek tradition.

The Kennedy children, their mother and uncle crossed themselves while a Greek Orthodox village priest offered a last prayer for Onassis. Then, arms still linked, the family walked together through a cyprus grove toward Onassis' yacht.

About 30 mourners were on the plane which carried the body to Actium in western Greece from Paris, where the Greek magnate died Saturday. It was brought to Scorpios by launch.

Workmen toiled through the night on Scorpios building a mausoleum alongside the tomb of Onassis' son Alexander, who died in a plane crash in 1973 at the age of 24.

Propane Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal investigations of fuel prices have turned up indications that propane gas users in rural areas were overcharged at least $80 million during the last heating season, says a spokesman for the Federal Energy Administration.

The total overcharges may run to more than $200 million by the time the FEA probe is completed, the spokesman said Monday night.

Meanwhile, an inquiry by the U.S. Customs Services into possible priee frauds in oil imports is focusing on residual fuel mainly used by electric utilities.

More than 30 companies, including foreign oil producers, suppliers and oil brokers are involved, the Custom Service said. Investigations are being made at approximately 40 points of entry which probably cover every major U.S. oil port, the service added.

In the propane gas probe, the FEA said it already has forced propane suppliers to roll back prices by nearly $50 million by threatening legal action. The inquiry has been under way for about nine months.

Propane gas is used by farmers and other rural residents to heat homes and farm buildings and to dry crops. It also is used by some industries as a substitute for scarce natural gas.

The inquiry, called Project Speculator, is one of three by the FEA. Project Manipulator is attempting to determine why much so-called "old" oil, subject to price controls, has illegally been sold as "new" oil, on which there are no price controls. Project Escalator is looking to imported oil sold to utilities.

The propane investigation carries such civil penalties as rollbacks and rebates. The others involve possible criminal penalties for violators.

The FEA and Custom Service said the investigation of oil imports frauds was started because of beliefs that some oil handlers may have used various forms of fraud to boost oil prices during or after the 1973 Arab oil imbargo which sharply hiked fuel prices.

Boston Doctor Lectures Here

Dr. Edward A. Edwards, Boston, Mass., will be physician-in-residence at the Big Spring V.A. Hospital on Wednesday and Thursday.

All area physicians are invited to attend the lectures presented daily in the second floor training room of the hospital. On Wednesday, at 1:00 p.m., he will lecture on "Choice of Treatment in Peripheral Arteriosclerosis," On Thursday, March 20, at 11:00 a.m., he will discuss "Operative Anatomy of the Pancreas and Duodenum."

Dr. Edwards will speak to the Permian Basin Medical Society at the Big Spring Country Club tonight. His topic was "Ischemias of the Upper Extremities."

Admiral's Daughter To Get Visa

MOSCOW (AP)—Victoria Fyodorova, the child of a World War II romance between an American naval attache and a Russian actress, said today she has received official permission to visit her ailing father in the United States.

"The Ovir (passport) office just called and invited me to come down Thursday to pick up my visa," the attractive 29-year-old woman, an actress like her mother, told a correspondent by telephone.

Miss Fyodorova's father, 77-year-old retired Adm. Jackson R. Tate, is suffering from a weak heart. He lives with his wife in Orange Park, Fla.

Contacted at his home, Tate gave reporters a handwritten statement.

"At this moment, my heart is too full for mere words. My immediate reaction is one of thankfulness to Secretary Brezhnev and the Russian people for this great gesture of humanitarianism."

Tate said he hoped his daughter would become as popular to the American people as Russian gymnast Olga Korbut. "I thank them (Russian officials) from the bottom of my heart and I hope that Victoria will become an envoy of understanding and peace between the Soviet and American people. It is our greatest hope that this will be the major result of this reunion," he said.

Tate was a naval attache in Moscow during World War II, and while there he met Zoya Fyodorova, a film star at the time and now aged 62.

Five months after they met Tate was expelled from Moscow, apparently because Stalin was irked by the affair. He spent his last night with Zoya on VE day in May 1945, and the child of the union was named after the victory.

A year later Zoya was arrested and sentenced to death for espionage. The sentence was later reduced to 25 years imprisonment and she was released after serving 8½ years following Stalin's death.

Wind Speeds Reach 57.5 Miles Per Hour Monday

An old-fashioned West Texas sander whipped into Big Spring Monday afternoon with winds reaching their peek around 4:30 p.m. when they climbed to 57½ miles per hour.

This was according to wind measurements at the Big Spring Experiment Station. United States weather forecast had called for winds up to 25 miles per hour.

Tree limbs, roof shingles and signs were the main victims of the spring winds and the air was choked with dirt in an area from Big Spring north to Snyder, Lamesa and beyond to Andrews and Seminole as land from farm areas in many West Texas counties filled the air.

Interest Rate Measure May Lead To Filibuster

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators agreed with the Campfire Girls of America today that they should not have to pay a sales tax on their fund raising candy sales.

The vote was 29-2 on a bill that would exempt the Campfire Girls, along with any other youth groups making such charitable drives. The Campfire Girls have a pending civil suit against the state comptroller seeking to get a refund of state sales taxes paid in previous years.

The bill goes to the House.

A new citizens group, the Texas Coalition for Utility Regulation, scheduled a noon rally on the Capitol lawn to dramatize its efforts to get the legislature to create a state commission to regulate utility rates and service.

Sen. D. Roy Harrington, D— Port Arthur, urged his constituents in Liberty, Chambers, Jefferson and Orange Counties to attend.

FOR EXAMPLE

Sen. W. T. Moore, D—Bryan, gave notice for the second day in a row he would try to bring up a proposal to raise interest rates on loans up to $5,000.

The bill's most outspoken opponent, Sen. Bill Patman, D— Ganado, has said he is saving his breath to talk as long as possible in a filibuster attempt to defeat the measure.

The interest on a 37-month $1,000 loan, for example, would cost $425.50—or $86.33 more than under current rates.

Monday, the Senate voted 26-2 to take the private College of Osteopathic Medicine at Fort Worth into the state-financed system, and the sponsor of the merger, Sen. Betty Andujar, said she will ask for up to $18 million for the school for the next two years.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

The bill goes to the House.

Senators rejected Moore's attempt to debate his proposal raising tuition for foreign students at state-supported colleges from $14 to $40 a semester hour, the same as other out-of-state students now pay.

"I have seen tommyrot circulated by these foreign students about what a great thing it is for America to bring these students over here and educate them," Moore said.

Senators voted 29-0, however, to send to the House Moore's bill appropriating $200,000 for the Texas Transportation Institute at Texas A&M University—in Moore's district—to study the feasibility of using the railway system for mass transit.

The House approved and sent to the Senate a bill to provide a lawyer for any National Guardsman accused of causing injury or property damage while carrying out lawful orders.

Rep. Ron Waters, D—Houston, objected that this would make a guardsman "in a Kent State situation not accountable for his actions. The Nazi argument, 'I just followed orders,' would be an excuse."

Obscenity Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a ground-breaking decision on stage obscenity, the Supreme Court today struck down a ban on a performance of the rock musical "Hair."

The 6 to 3 decision marks the first time the court has ruled on the question of obscenity in stage productions, although it has considered the question many times in relation to books and movies.

In an opinion written by Justice Harry A. Blackmun, the court said a decision by the Chattanooga, Tenn., Municipal Auditorium Board to ban the play from the city's municipal theatre was an unconstitutional prior restraint on free speech.

"Only if we were to conclude that live drama was unprotected by the First Amendment — or subject to a totally different standard than that applied to other forms of expression — could we possible find no prior restraint here," Blackmun said.

"By its nature, theatre usually is the acting out — or singing out — of the written word, and frequently mixed speech with live action or conduct," he said. "But that is no reason to hold theater subject to a drastically different standard."

Attorneys for the municipal auditorium board had argued that the production could be held obscene because of actions of the performers even though the script would be constitutionally protected.

The court held that in such cases the performance may be restrained only for a specified brief period without a court hearing. To prohibit the performance for any longer, the justices said, there must be a prompt judicial determination of whether the material is obscene.

WINDY

INCREASING CONSUMER SPENDING

Bill Aimed At Reducing Unemployment Rolls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under renewed pressure from President Ford for quick action, the Senate is opening debate on a massive tax-cut bill aimed at increasing consumer spending and reducing the unemployment rolls.

The $29.2-billion tax cut approved by the Senate Finance Committee is $9.3 billion above what the House voted and $13 billion more than Ford recommended. But there are indications the total may be even higher when the Senate passes the bill and sends it to a conference with the House.

TWO MONTHS

Addressing a news conference Monday night in South Bend, Ind., Ford said it has been "two months and two days" since he first proposed a tax cut. "If we could get the tax reduction bill out of Congress promptly, it would be the best hope to stimulate the economy and to provide jobs," he said. Administration officials recently have expressed cautious optimism that the economy already is showing signs of perking up.

"I hope that before Congress goes on Easter recess, Congress will enact a bill like I proposed, or one similar to it," Ford said.

Congress is scheduled to begin a 10-day Easter recess the middle of next week. Senate leaders have said they would be willing to postpone the start in order to clear the tax legislation.

The biggest hurdle in the way of quick Senate approval is not the size of the proposed tax cut but House insistence that the oil depletion allowance be repealed.

This provision, which allows $2.5-billion tax benefits annually for the petroleum industry, is sure to spark a Senate-floor battle that will delay for at least two days a final vote on the tax cut.

OIL, GAS

Oil-state senators have promised a filibuster to preserve the tax break, which they say is necessary to attract investors willing to supply the money needed to find new oil and gas.

In its report on the tax bill, the Finance Committee said a cut of around $30 billion is required to bring the economy out of its slump.

"While it would be helpful, the $19.9-billion tax cut provided in the House bill would not be adequate to do this job, particularly in view of the fact that the economic situation has generally continued to deteriorate since the House action was taken."

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon indicated Monday the Ford administration considers the Senate tax bill too generous. He voiced the fear that a tax cut too large would raise federal deficits so high that private borrowers might be forced out of the money markets.

Simon told the Senate Budget Committee he finds reason for cautious optimism in the sharp decline in short-term interest rates, the rehiring of laid-off automobile workers and the slower rise of consumer prices.

Although Simon stopped short of saying he would recommend a veto if the Senate tax-cut bill becomes law, he said he considers the House figure "in the ballpark."

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military officials say the South Vietnamese command appears to be fundamentally changing strategy to concentrate on defending the most populous and productive sections of the country. This is the way they view South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu's decision to give up three thinly populated provinces in the central highlands.

CHICAGO (AP) — Chinese grandmothers are accused of spoiling their grandchildren just like American grandmothers, says a child care specialist just back from China. "All the grandmas want to do is feed them," young Chinese mothers complained to her. That is one reason young mothers like to place their children in day-care centers, said Bernice Weissbourd, who spent January in China with 20 other educators specializing in early childhood education. She is chairman of the governor's advisory commission to the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services and is educational director of the suburban Evanston Child Care Center. About half of the preschool children in China participate in organized day-care programs, while others are cared for by grandmothers, she said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some congressional leaders are promising to tell President Ford that hope is nearly gone for additional U.S. military aid to Cambodia, whose survival he has linked to U.S. security. Rep. William S. Broomfield of Michigan, ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said he would tell Ford at a congressional leadership breakfast today he doubts the aid will get out of a House committee unless Ford compromises on a cutoff date for all U.S. military involvement in Cambodia.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodian (AP) — Fighting escalated on the eastern approaches to Phnom Penh on the eve of the fifth anniversary of the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian command reported today. Ceremonies marking the anniversary of the 1970 coup were scheduled and then cancelled without official explanation.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — President Francisco da Costa e Gomes says the election of a constituent assembly will be held April 12 on schedule. But he indicates that parties who don't follow the line of the leftist military regime will be curbed.

More Diligence Needed

A good case can be made that Americans should be worrying less about alleged covert illegal activities by the FBI and CIA and more about the government's sorry record in tracking down those whose illegal activities are as overt as an exploding bomb.

Since 1970, the "Weather Underground" has claimed responsibility for some 20 politically motivated bombings in the United States.

The number, includes the Capitol building in 1971, the Pentagon in 1972 and the State Department last January. Another bomb planted at the same time in a military induction center in Oakland, Calif., fortunately failed to go off.

Most recently, in a commando-like operation, three men identifying themselves as members of the "Weather Underground" leveled a 2-block rubber products plant in Shelton, Conn., because "we're fed up with the shape of things in this country."

The FBI, which has been looking for eight known members of the group from as far back as the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago, when they called themselves the "Weathermen," does not dispute the claims.

How have these people been able to remain at large? Why has someone as well-known as Patty Hearst of the late, unlamented "Symbionese Liberation Army" never been found? How did Puerto Rican terrorists plant a bomb in a New York restaurant and kill four people and, so far, get away with it?

"This (Weather) underground," said FBI director Clarence Kelley after the State Department blast, "by utilization of false and stolen identities, continues its operations in a most clandestine manner and receives the help of an above-ground support apparatus allowing it to continue its terrorits attacks against the government."

Maybe there should be less opening of Bella Abzug's mail and more hard digging by our law enforcement agencies.

Horsey Business

In these uncertain economic times, where are the people, who have money investing it? In gold, oil, stocks and bonds and old socks?

All of these, no doubt. But a lot of people trying to stay ahead in the race with inflation are putting their money on horses, says the Keeneland Assn., which sells thoroughbreds.

The average price paid for a thoroughbred race horse at the association's summer horse sale at Lexington, Ky., last year was $53,489. While the initial investment is great, the potential returns are even greater.

For example, Canonero II, a thoroughbred bought for only $1,200, earned more than $360,000 in a brief racing career — returning an incredible 30,000 per cent profit to his owners. He was then sold for $1.5 million for stud purposes.

Another $32,000 Keeneland purchase, a filly named Chris Evert, has earned $679,475 in her three-year racing career. This is $300,000 more than the famed tennis star of that name has earned during the same period.

If the energy situation gets much worse, you can always use it for transportation. Alas, you should remember that a horse has to eat — and have you priced feed lately?

Backward, Oh Time!

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

I was wondering what had become of some of the people mentioned in an article I quoted last week from a 1947 issue of the Big Spring Herald.

ONE OF THE questions was answered by Bonnie Bennett who called to say that Leatice Ross (who wrote the old Round Town column) is now Mrs. Leatrice Whitehead of Houston, executive director for Goodwin, Dannenbaum, Littman and Wingfield Advertising and Insurance Agency. Her only son is in his second year at Texas Tech and her mother, Mrs. Jack Nall, still lives here.

Want to take another look at that newspaper?

"E. C. DODD, president of Howard County Junior College, was in Austin Thursday to participate in a meeting of the legislative committee of the Texas Association of Junior Colleges. Among other things, Dodd is interested in behalf of starting junior colleges wishing to get state aid appropriations this year." (Mr. Dodd is deceased.)

And in the agricultural news:

"Melvin Choate, who farms just north of town in the North Big Spring conservation group, is to receive some pasture grass seed from the Martin-Howard SC District for trial planting this spring. Choate is interested in putting each acre of his farm to its best use and, by so doing, will retire a few acres of deep sand from cultivation." (Mr. Choate died within the past year.)

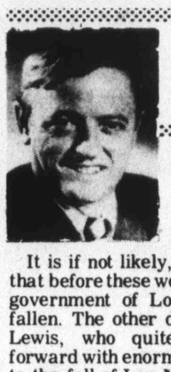

WHAT WAS happening in sports?

"Howard Bush's HCJC Jayhawks and a team of former Big Spring High School athletes will play an exhibition basketball game at the Steer Gymnasium this evening. Proceeds will go into the Jaycee athletic fund which reportedly is very sick at the moment. Frank Barton, who completed his eligibility at the local high school around 1940 and is currently registered at Sul Ross, will head the squad of Steer exes. He will be aided and abetted by such operatives as Billy the Kid Womack, James Fallon, Tabor Rowe, Pepper Martin, Jimmy Tidwell, Red Newton, Roy Collins and Hal Battle. Bush will depend on Tomme Elliott, John Griffin, John Rudeseal, Wesley Deats, John Pedan and Lad & Smith to carry the brunt of battle."

THE BIGGEST story on the society page Jan. 2, 1947 began like this:

"In a New Years' Day ceremony Emma Rose Weir, daughter of Mr.and Mrs. J. W. Wier, was married to Dalton Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Carr. The single ring vows were read by Dr. P. D. O'Brien in his home Wednesday morning.

"FOR THE ceremony the bride selected a street-length frock of royal blue wool, which buttoned up the front to a high neckline. She had a corsage of white carnations and wore a hat of black felt, styled with an off the face effect with trim of small black bows. For something old she wore her mother's wedding ring, something new was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, something borrowed was a handkerchief belonging to Nell Hall, and something blue was the wedding dress."

About Cambodia

William F. Buckley, Jr.

It is if not likely, at least possible that before these words are read, the government of Lon Nol will have fallen. The other day Mr. Anthony Lewis, who quite frankly looks forward with enormous gratification to the fall of Lon Nol's government — on the grounds that the successor government, which will be dominated by North Vietnam, will restore peace and order to Cambodia — took pleasure in citing the correspondence between his own position opposing further aid to Cambodia, and that of an alleged 80 per cent of the American people who, a pollster recently revealed, are also opposed to more aid to Cambodia. Herewith a few apopemptic thoughts to the departing government:

1) IT IS correct that we had no formal treaty observations to help Cambodia. The reason is that after the SEATO Treaty was signed, Sihanouk declared his neutrality, and refused to participate in the treaty.

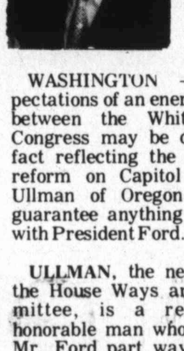

However, Sihanouk's neutrality was something like our neutrality in the Middle East. A little more brazen, because although we have supplied the Israelis with arms, and sold them arms, Cambodia under Sihanouk granted to the North Vietnamese free use of the Cambodian territory for prosecuting the war against South Vietnam. Under international law, this permits the belligerent at whose expense the neutrality is being abused, to act belligerently toward the neutral nation primarily for the purpose of fighting against the aggressor, but also for the sake of forcing the neutral country to abide by true neutrality. It was by an appeal to this precedent that the United States justified the incursion into Cambodia in May of 1970.

2) OUR AID to the government of Lon Nol after that time related not to the provisions of the SEATO Treaty, but to the exigencies of the Indochinese situation. It can be exactly compared to our aid to Israel. That is to say, the Lon Nol government, which had overturned the Sihanouk government, was facing an aggression provisioned by North Vietnam, directed by North Vietnam, and with the use, not in the least discreet, of many North Vietnamese troops and officers. Just as we helped Israel when the Arab states ganged up against her independence, so we helped Cambodia.

3) THINGS WERE going pretty well until, in the spring of 1973, Congress advised President Nixon and Henry Kissinger that they must stop bombing North Vietnamese concentrations in Cambodia. All kinds of reasons were adduced for stopping that bombing, foremost among them that it seriously jeopardized our relations with Chou En-lai, although he never complained.

When the bombings stopped, the Khmer Rouge, which is what we call the pro-Communist union of North Vietnamese and Cambodian insurgents, stepped up the guerrilla war which evolutionized into the juggernaut which is today pounding at the gates of Phnom Penh.

The Wide Chasm

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Rising expectations of an energy compromise between the White House and Congress may be doomed by this fact reflecting the current age of reform on Capitol Hill: Rep. Al Ullman of Oregon cannot really guarantee anything in negotiations with President Ford.

ULLMAN, the new chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is a reasonable and honorable man who wants to meet Mr. Ford part way in mandatory conservation and price decontrol of oil. But he cannot deliver even Democratic members of Ways and Means, much less the House Democratic majority. The big, bumptious class of freshman Democrats demand their own say. Finally, any compromise is subject to scuttling by the newly influential House Democratic caucus led by the crafty Rep. Phillip Burton of California.

THUS, THE impact of the procedural revolution by House Democrats goes beyond purging a few superannuated committee chairmen. Shifting power from chairmen to the caucus makes accommodation even more difficult between a Republican President and a Democratic Congress. Any compromise must now be approved by the caucus majority, which naturally frowns on anything that will cause their constituents distress — very nearly dooming any energy program, where some pain to constituents seems essential.

Shortly after the 94th Congress convened, the President was duly warned of all this by Repubican leaders who predicted Ullman would be more amenable to compromise than his Ways and Means predecessor, the enigmatic Wilbur D. Mills, but would have trouble keeping deals he made.

THAT FORECAST was quickly vindicated on the anti-recession tax cut. Ullman agreed with the White House that the bill should be free of tax reform. Furthermore, committee Republicans and enough Democrats backed Ullman to defeat an amendment repealing the oil depletion allowance. Just last year, that would have ended the fight.

Not today. Tenacious Rep. Sam Gibbons of Florida, Ullman's principal rival on the committee, worked closely with caucus chairman Burton to push through the oil tax reform in the Democratic caucus and on the House floor. That exposed the impotency not only of chairman Ullman but of the nominal Democratic leadership, Speaker Carl Albert and majority leader Thomas P. O'Neill.

WHATEVER FINALLY happens to the oil depletion allowance, that leadership defeat tells much — both in revealing power realities in the House and its effect on future legislation.

It shows that emasculation of committee chairmen, supreme in the House since the 1910 revolution against the dominant Speaker, has not returned authority to the majority leadership as some reformers hoped. Rather, it now resides in the multi-headed majority of the caucus, which cannot be controlled even by Burton.

SPECIAL DEMOCRATIC task forces, headed by Rep. Jim Wright of Texas and Sen. John Pastore of Rhode Island virtually required unanimity and, therefore, came up with an energy program of pious wishes. Thus, the White House turned to Ullman for serious negotiation.

Philosophy Finished

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The way to get people back to work, help corporations raise capital and restore stock market values is remarkably simple, said the speaker, a professor, economist, author and investor.

First, he said, you must recognize that a new rationale is needed in the stock market. The growth philosophy of the 1960s is finished, he said. In that decade growth was almost guaranteed. Today, growth is uncertain.

What is needed is dividends, he said. Give investors some real cash and they'll respond by buying more stocks, thus giving the capital-starved industries the funds to expand and create new jobs.

At this point any corporate officer gives a condescending smile. Corporations just don't have the money to pay out in dividends. They have, in fact, been forced to cut them. In 1940, more than 5 per cent of national income was in the form of dividend payments; in 1974, only 2.8 per cent.

For stock market prices to rise, stocks have to return appreciably more than bonds, commercial paper or certificates of deposit. But in recent years such debt instruments have returned more than stocks, partly because of more favorable tax treatment.

Leo Barnes, professor of finance and investments at Hofstra University, and originator of the immensely popular annual volume, "Your Investments," responds with his solution:

"Make all cash dividends tax deductible as a business expense for the corporations that pay them, just as they now deduct the interest payments on their debt."

Says Barnes: "Logically, it makes no sense to treat the interest paid on bonds and other debt capital as a deductible business expense, but not the dividends paid on equity capital."

He continued: "It's irrational. All the cash costs of capital should be tax deductible." Otherwise, he maintains, the tax system gives an unfair break to one form of capital raising over another.

Godfather & CIA

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Two Robert Kennedy aides revealed the other day that the CIA had plans to assassinate Fidel Castro, and they were going to give the contract to the Mafia to do the job. The question is how did they approach the Mafia about it and what was said.

THIS IS only conjecture since the files are sealed.

It probably happened during the wedding of Don Corleone's daughter. Hagen, the consiglieri, and Sonny Corleone bring the head of the CIA into Don Corleone's library.

The CIA chief kisses Don Corleone's ring.

"Godfather, may I speak to you alone?"

Don Corleone shakes his head. "I trust these men with my life. I cannot insult them by sending them away. What do you want of me?"

THE CIA chief licks his lips nervously. "Our honor in Cuba has been violated. This man Fidel Castro spits on us and insults us publicly. We must have justice."

"Why do you come to me?" Don Corleone asks.

"Because we have gone to the Army, the Navy and the Air Force like good citizens, and they just laugh at us. You, Godfather, are the only one we can turn to."

"What do you want me to do?"

THE CHIEF glances at Hagen and Sonny and then goes over and whispers in Don Corleone's ear.

The Don looks up gravely. "That I cannot do."

The CIA chief says desperately, "I will pay you anything."

Don Corleone rises from behind his desk and speaks coldly. "We have known each other many years, but until this day you have never come to me for counsel or help. I am your friend, but have you ever invited me to your home in McLean? Has your wive ever invited my wife for as much as a cup of coffee? Your children refused to play with my children. And once when my son wanted to borrow some camera equipment and a red wig, you turned us down. Let us be frank. You spurned my friendship. You feared to be in my debt."

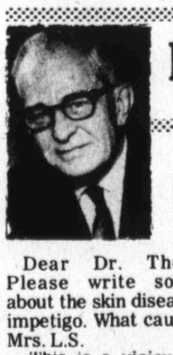

THE CIA chief wipes his forehead with a handkerchief.

"We never invited you because we didn't think you'd come."

The Don holds up his hand. "Don't speak. When you wanted something you sent to the government — to the White House, the FBI and the U.S. Post Office. You did not need Don Corleone. I do not want to have anything to do with you."

THE CIA chief gets on his knees. "Forgive me, Godfather, I thought we could count on the armed forces for justice. I tried to work through the system. But Castro still lives. Grant me this one favor, and you and your wife can come to our home any time you want to. We want your friendship. We really do."

Don Corleone goes over to the CIA chief and puts his hand on his head. "Good, then you shall have your justice. Someday, and that day may never come, I will call upon you to do me a service in return."

Impetigo Vicious Infection

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write something about the skin disease called impetigo. What causes it? — Mrs. L.S.

This is a vicious skin infection caused either by the streptococcus or staphylococcus germ. I say vicious because it is so highly contagious. Untreated, it can cause kidney disease, the kidneys being especially susceptiable to strep infection.

Impetigo can be contracted from persons having a boil, and those with breaks in the skin are particularly susceptible to it. It is a serious matter in infants, so those in homes where impetigo is present must be isolated. It can run wild in a nursery or in a school.

Little red bumps appear first — the scalp, head and neck being prime infection sites. The bumps fill with pus, and it is this pus that carries the germs. When the pus-filled bumps burst, they crust over, and then the crusts spread to keep up the spreading infection.

Impetigo can be treated successfully in all cases. Crusts should be removed by washing the area with soap and water. An antibiotic cream is then applied. If quicker results are desired, antibiotics can be administered by mouth.

The disease can follow chicken pox, so children recovering from that should be bathed carefully, have plenty of rest and a good diet. Liquid intake is usually increased as part of the treatment of impetigo.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why would my doctor tell me I have a mild case of sugar, then not prescribe any pills, no kind of medication, not even insulin? I am on a 1,200-calorie diet. I am 42 and weigh 214 pounds.

Would you call my problem low blood sugar (hypoglycemia)? I am sending 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to you in care of the Big Spring Herald for your booklet on hypoglycemia. — Mrs. B.R.

You don't need my booklet on hypoglycemia, which you correctly surmise means low blood sugar. You could use one on diabetes, though, for that is apparently your problem. The price of that is 35 cents.

What doctors mean when they say you have a "mild case of sugar" is that an above normal sugar content is showing up in blood or urine tests. Your doctor is doing the correct thing in keeping you off medication and insisting on weight reduction. Even if you are above average in height, 214 pounds is too much for you to be carrying around.

A weight loss of from 30 to 50 pounds could work wonders for you. Your type of diabetes, incidentally, is known as the "maturity onset" type, usually related to excessive weight gain. It is corrected by weight loss, not by medication.

To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)." Write to Dr. Thosteson, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My Answer

Billy Graham

What is the proper role for parents after a child is married? Our married daughter borrows money from us — incidentally, never paying it back — and she drops her son here when she needs a sitter. But she keeps insisting that since she's married she no longer belongs to us. Hence shows very little respect. B.B.

The Bible is quite clear about what happens when a child married. Genesis 2:24 says, "A man leaves his father and mother and is joined to his wife in such a way that the two become one person."

Now the word "leave" here doesn't not mean "filially" that is, as regards duty, but rather in terms of habitation and affection. Other commands such as the fifth commandment (Exodus 20:12) take care of respect and honor due parents as long as they live.

Somehow, you've given your daughter reason to think she could impose on you. Perhaps you've always indulged her, but it's not too late to firm up your attitude.

Start immediately to indicate that no more money will be loaned until an equal amount is repaid from former advances. You know what that will do. As far as baby sitting is concerned, do it at the convenience of your own schedule.

When you talk about respect, don't forget you have to earn it.

A Devotion For Today . .

"Whoever drinks of the water that I shall give him will never thirst; the water that I shall give him will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life."
(John 4:14 RSV)

PRAYER: O God, fountain of live-giving water, we thank You for Your constant and abundant supply of help and blessings. Help us keep the way open between our need and Your source. Amen.

SKELLY AWARD — Roy C. McKee, left, field resident supervisor for Skelly Oil Company, accepts a service award from Skelly President James E. Hara. McKee was among a group of Skelly employes recently honored in Tulsa, Okla. for their years of service with the company. At the podium in the background is George Conner, Skelly manager of internal audit.

Skelly Honors West Texan For Service

A Sweetwater man was among a group of Skelly Oil Company employes honored for their years of service at a special service recognition dinner held here last week in Tulsa Okla.

Roy C. McKee, field audit resident supervisor, was honored for 30 years of service. A member of Skelly's Internal Audit Department, McKee was introduced at the dinner by Internal Audit Manager George Conner.

McKee joined Skelly's former accounting department as a draftsman on Jan. 29, 1945, in Tulsa, Okla. He moved to Pampa, five months later and was then promoted to semi-senior engineer. He later held the position of senior engineer and was transferred to Sweetwater in 1961.

He attended Oklahoma State University, where he studied mechanical engineering. McKee lives in Sweetwater.

Under Skelly's service recognition program, employes receive a service award for each five full years of credited service with the company. Beginning with the 25th year of service, employes are honored at a special recognition dinner held during their anniversary year. James E. Hara, Skelly president spoke at the dinner where McKee was cited.

Battle Between Army, Landowners Shaping Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stage has been set for a battle in Congress between the Army—seeking 60,000 acres of land in Central Texas for expansion of Ft. Hood—and the 400 Coryell County landowners who refuse to let their land go.

The Army asked Congress Monday for tentative authorization to purchase 20,000 acres west of Ft. Hood for expanded facilities for division sized units. The Corps of Engineers has requested $10 million to buy the land from the 350 to 400 owners.

The landowners, who have formed a committee known as Our Land, Our Lives, are upset about the way the land acquisition plan was announced. Many say the land has been in their families for generations.

A Waco law firm has advised the committee to avoid a court battle over the issue of eminent domain and instead take their protests to elected public officials. But the landowners have taken a dim view of some Texas congressmen, singling out Sens. Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower and U.S. Rep. W.R. Poage, for being accomplices in the "sneaky and underhanded" way the plan was revealed.

Tower and Bentsen said that while they sympathized with the landowners protests, they understand the Army's need for the additional land, adding they would work to see that a fair price is paid.

At a meeting in Gatesville, Tex., last week, the landowners vowed to take their protests to Congress and any other place where they will be heard.

W. D. Cooper, a member of the committee, says the landowners "intend to get the facts and statistics to prove to Congress that this land acquisition is not necessary and not economically feasible." The farmers say the original plan was to purchase 60,000 acres at a cost of $30 million, but now they say the Army is going to purchase 90,000 acres at a cost of $45 million.

Ft. Hood, which now occupies 210,000 acres, is the largest Army facility, with 40,000 military personnel, their dependents and civilians. The post is home to two Army divisions, more than any other Army post holds.

Included in the area the Army wants is Pidcoke, a town west of the base with a population of 40. The Army says it is the largest town to be affected by the proposed acquisition.

Before the acquisition is approved, the Army, which will gain all the mineral rights once the land is sold, must submit an environmental impact statement. Extension of the base has been opposed by the Texas State Legislature, which passed resolutions asking the plans be halted.

The Army said it plans to lease the land back to the farmers for grazing if the acquisition is approved.

Rock Island Lines Files

CHICAGO (AP) — Representatives of 15 railroads meet with the Interstate Commerce Commission today to discuss the fate of the Rock Island Lines, which filed for reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws.

"It's a sad day for the Rock Island and a sad day for me," said President John W. Ingram after the line's board of directors voted unanimously Monday to stop accepting shipments effective March 31.

Robert M. Brooks, director of the ICC's Office of Procedure, said the ICC has the authority to order another carrier or a group of railroads to take over operation of the Rock Island's 7,500 miles of track in 13 states for up to eight months.

$60 MILLION

Congressmen and Rock Island officials have estimated that the takeover could cost the government as much as $60 million.

The Rock Island board of directors opted for reorganization after U.S. Railway Association rejection of the railroad's request for $100 million in loans to ease cash flow problems and rebuild the equipment of the nation's 13th largest line.

The USRA said the railroad could not repay the money or obtain enough funds to bail the line — the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Coast Railroad Co. — out of financial trouble.

The railroad has operated at a loss for the last eight years and had a record deficit of $23.1 million in 1974.

Although competitors contend that as much as 80 per cent of the Rock Island's track is duplicated by other lines, the carrier serves 700 communities and nearly 2,000 grain elevators, as well as about 5,000 factories and 20 major utilities that employ 167,000 workers.

10,000 EMPLOYES

The railroad itself has more than 10,000 employes, with main lines from Minnesota to the Gulf of Mexico and from Chicago to New Mexico.

The reorganization request for the railroad was filed Monday in U.S. District Court in Chicago.

Asked if it means the 128-year-old railroad is dead, Ingram said, "I think it means that the Rock Island will be in the hands of the ICC and the Congress."

He said operation of the system's commuter line in the Chicago area, which carries some 26,000 riders daily, probably would continue under jurisdiction of the city's Regional Transportation Authority.

OSHA Seminar

Another seminar on Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) has been scheduled to start April 1 at Howard College.

Theron Lee, director of continuing education, pointed out that under the 1970 federal law, every employer is responsible for understanding and complying with the various provisions of the act. The U.S. Labor Department has been supplied with a corps of inspectors to see that the law is complied with.

Mike Dixon, who has a background both in teaching and in industrial work, will be the instructor.

The seminar participants will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays through April 22 from 6:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m. Fee for this is $35. More information for preregistration can be had by calling or writing Lee at the college.

Chess Winner

Mark Madigan of Goliad Junior High was the winner in the first chess tournament held here Saturday.

Second place went to Wayman Wells of Runnels. There was a tie for third between Chip Kooser and Glenn Margolis.

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP)— Two Texans and an Oklahoman were in custody today after sheriff's officers disarmed them at a roadblock and set free a 27-year-old woman they had kidnaped.

Pat McLaughlin was set free about 3 a.m. Sunday, only minutes after she had been taken from her home near Sharon, a community 11 miles south of Woodward.

Three men took her hostage and left her husband tied with an electrical cord, Sheriff Creel Gaston said.

"They told him they'd turn her loose unless he called the law, and said if he did he wouldn't recognize her," Gaston said.

"He told me he didn't believe it took him more than two or three minutes to get loose."

Reunion Of 2 Stars Happy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The meeting took place in the hallway of the Walt Disney Studios — Jerome Courtland, film producer on the lot, and Shirley Temple Black, member of the Disney board of directors and U.S. ambassador to Ghana.

The reunion was warm and sentimental. Just 30 years ago he gave Shirley her first screen kiss in a comedy called "Kiss and Tell."

Jerome Courtland at 49 retains his clean-featured handsomeness, but it has been several years since he worked as an actor. He was one of those rare performers who saw a career slump coming and did something about it.

Now Disney is releasing Courtland's first feature as a producer, "Escape from Witch Mountain," with

JEROME COURTLAND

Eddie Albert, Ray Milland and Donald Pleasance.

He was born Courtland Jourolmon Jr. in Knoxville, Tenn., and was discovered for films in the classic way: while visiting a movie set in Hollywood.

He was 17 when he was cast in "Together Again," with Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer, and 18 when he gave Shirley the famous kiss.

"Then I went into the Army for a couple of years, and I came back with the ambition to become a director," he recalled.

"I asked questions about everything, and some directors were very helpful, others weren't.

"They'd tell me, 'Forget it,' but that didn't stop me. The brass gave me the run of the studio (Columbia), and I spent my spare time in the cutting rooms and dubbing rooms, absorbing everything I could."

But those were days when young actors wanting to know about film making were considered eccentrics or busybodies.

Courtland continued to play second leads in big pictures ("Tokyo Joe," "Battleground") and first leads in small pictures ("Barefoot Mailman").

In 1958 Kirk Douglas chose Courtland to star in the European-made TV series "Tales of the Vikings," an outgrowth of the feature films in which Douglas had starred.

Courtland made 39 of the films, and they proved to be the most satisfying work he had known as an actor. He stayed in Europe for six years.

Campaign Money

DALLAS (AP) — Texas congressmen still had $301,476 in their campaign warchests as of Dec. 31, 1974, with five reporting more than $25,000 in their campaign coffers.

A report from the Washington bureau of The Dallas Times Herald cited figures showing the five are among 36 congressional candidates reporting more than $25,000 two months after the 197 general election.

The figures were prepared by the National Information Center on Political Finance and compiled from official reports filed with the clerk of the House.

The report showed Rep. Bill Archer of Houston had $54,159; Rep. Robert Poage of Waco with $49,750; Rep. Jack Brooks of Beaumont with $31,000; and Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney with $25,101. Republican Sen. John Tower reported $52,764.

Reports on how the money is spent and on additional funds raised in 1975 must be filed with the clerk by today.

Hyperthyroid Program Topic

A malfunction of the thyroid gland, located at the base of the neck, can upset balances throughout the body including those within the heart.

Hyperthyroidism, in which the gland is producing too much of its hormone, will be discussed at Big Spring State Hospital in Big Spring Thursday, 12:30 p.m.

A therapeutics seminar, "Hyperthyroidism — A Choice of Treatments?", will be broadcast live locally from The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

Moderating panel discussions and questions from the participants throughout a five-state area will be Dr. Paul Cutler, professor of medicine at the UT center. Drugs, surgery and radioactive iodine will be discussed as the three primary treatments for hyperthyroidism.

Insurance Firms Are Taken Over

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's leftist military rulers nationalized the nation's insurance companies Saturday in the second sweeping takeover since the regime survived an uprising last week.

Meanwhile, usually reliable sources reported that there were two plots by dissident officers to topple the ruling officers last week and that the regime managed to escape ouster only because the plots were working at cross purposes.

Former President Antonio de Spinola fled the country with his wife and 15 other high-ranking officers, who said in Argentina on Saturday that they had staged the rebellion Tuesday in which two air force planes rocketed and strafed an artillery barracks.

Brazil said it was granting exile to Spinola, who spent four days searching for a country of asylum. Spinola, 64, became president after the military ousted the 45-year dictatorship last April and was then forced out of office himself in September by left-wing officers.

Spinola's officers said they took up arms in the spirit of the April revolution and to try to safeguard plans for election of a constitutional assembly scheduled for April 12.

The order from the newly established Revolutionary Council for the nationalization of nearly 50 insurance companies followed similar action Friday against more than 200 private banks.

Sources who claimed to have a plausible reconstruction of events last week gave this account:

The first plan involved moderate officers as hostile to Spinola's authoritarian manner as they were to having Premier Vasco Goncalves' radical faction at the helm. They felt they had the votes to get rid of the radicals legally and set a secret session of the Armed Forces Assembly of 200 officers for Tuesday night, when this was to be done.

In the second plot, Spinola organized what he thought would be a widespread revolt of elite military units whose success would convince the lukewarm assembly moderates to restore him to power. He had hoped to forestall the scheduled assembly vote that would have maintained his banishment from command.

But Tuesday's generalized rising by units Spinola thought were loyal to him didn't materialize.

Gandy's Milk Recognized

Gandy's Dairies, Inc. of San Angelo, received international recognition for product quality and customer service according to Gandy's Dairy president, John Gandy.

The recognition came from Quality Chekd Dairy Products Association of Chicago after Gandy's dairy products passed 38 rigid special examinations. All products produced by Gandy's underwent extensive tests for quality, freshness, purity, handling packaging and service. Every Gandy dairy product passed the thorough examination with flying colors.

Upon passing the tests, Gandy's Dairies was invited to join the Quality Chekd Dairy Product Association, an international organization of more than 100 independent dairies.

"After 41 years of producing what we considered excellent dairy products, we were extremely pleased to have an outside organization of Quality Chekd's stature tell us how great our products are", Gandy exclaimed, "It's nice to know you're good but it's an honor to be told."

John Gandy said that all Gandy Dairy products will now be packaged in the famous Quality Chekd cartons and no other change will be made.

Gandy pointed out that the dairy would process and distribute the same products to all current routes and the same Gandy people will produce and distribute the products. There is absolutely no change in the management, employes, service or products other than the new Quality Chekd cartons.

As a member of Quality Chekd, all Gandy products will undergo monthly tests for quality, purity and freshness.

Gandy's Dairies, Inc. organized in 1934 by board chairman, Loy Gandy, serves 62 West Texas counties.

AT GANDY'S — "Buddy" Calhoun (left), manager of Gandy's Dairies' Big Spring branch plant, is shown introducing Cliff Blythe, sales supervisor, to a display model of Gandy's new Quality Chekd milk carton. Gandy's Dairies, the largest independent dairy in the Southwest, received international recognition for quality and service from the Quality Chekd Dairy Products Association.

Bridge players in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Miami have a treat in store for them when the Lancia Team headed by Omar Sharif visits those cities in May. They will be able to watch the two men who, by consensus, are the greatest players in the world today—Giorgio Belladonna and Benito Garozzo of Italy. Watch Belladonna work his own brand of magic on this deal from the qualifying rounds of the 1975 World Team Championship, held in Bermuda in January.

Belladonna and Garozzo use weak two-bids, but there are not many who would consider employing that bid on the South hand. However, conventions do not bother Belladonna much, and Garozzo thought he was well within himself when he raised to four hearts.

West led the king of clubs, and looking at all four hands it is difficult to see how Belladonna could possibly make his contract. He seemed to have a loser in each plain suit and, because of the 5-0 break, two losers in trumps. But the hand developed into a mere routine exercise for the mighty Giorgio.

He won the first trick in dummy and cashed the king of hearts, getting the bad news. At trick three, he switched back to a low club, and East stepped up with the jack. Declarer won the spade return with the ace, entered dummy with the trump queen and led the nine of clubs. He discarded a spade from his hand as West won the queen.

West tried to cash the queen of spades, but declarer ruffed. He cashed the ace and king of diamonds, then discarded his losing diamond on dummy's master club. Now a diamond was ruffed in the closed hand with the eight of hearts.

With nothing left but J-10-7 of trumps, West had to overruff. However, he was then forced to lead away from his J-7 of trumps into Belladonna's A-9 tenace. The master had telescoped five losers into three—the defenders had to be satisfied with two club tricks and one trump!

Senate Votes To Rescind Funds For FIII Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to rescind nearly $123 million previously appropriated for the purchase of F111 fighter bombers, a move which will signal the end of production of the aircraft by General Dynamics at its Fort Worth, Tex., plant.

Similar action was taken earlier by the House, and the Senate's 49-37 vote Monday upheld a recommendation by President Ford.

The Senate vote, on an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., overturned the position taken by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The overall bill, as it came from the committee, provided for rescinding $744 million less in previous appropriations than President Ford had proposed as part of his effort to hold down government spending.

The measure now is expected to go to a Senate-House conference committee for adjustment of differences.

A General Dynamics spokesman in Fort Worth said the cutoff would result in substantial layoffs of F111 production workers later this year. He said the layoffs would accelerate during 1976.

The spokesman said, however, that many of the workers would get jobs building the new F16 lightweight fighter.

The Air Force has agreed to purchase F16 jets and General Dynamics hopes to get contracts from the Navy and North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations. Washington reports say Israel also is interested in purchasing the new planes.

Proxmire, in arguing for his amendment, emphasized that neither the President nor the Air Force had requested funds for the F111.

Opponents said the production line should be kept going until Congress decides later this year whether to go ahead with the bigger, longer-range B1 bomber.

They noted growing opposition to the B1 because of its mounting cost and said that if it should be dropped, the F111 was the only viable alternative.

The bill, with Proxmire's amendment, was passed by a 76-8 vote and provided for total rescissions of about $316 million in previously appropriated funds.

Texas Sens. John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona were chief spokesmen for continuing production of the F111.

Four Retain Cage Ratings

By The Associated Press

Indiana, UCLA, Lousiville and Maryland, first-round winners in the NCAA tournament last Saturday, retained their top four positions today in The Associated Press College Basketball Poll.

But Marquette, a first-round loser, nose-dived from fifth to 10th place and Clemson, 14th a week ago, lost in the first round of the National Invitation Tournament in New York and fell completely out of the rankings.

To the surprise of absolutely nobody, Indiana's unbeaten Hoosiers, who walloped Texas-El Paso 78-53 in their NCAA regional opener, received all 41 first-place votes for 820 points from the nationwide panel of sports writers and sports broadcasters.

UCLA's Bruins, 24-3, who had to go into overtime to beat back a surprisingly tough pack of Michigan Wolverines 103-91 in their tourney opener, received 688 points.

Third-place Louisville, 25-2, a 91-78 victor over Rutgers, got 623 points and Maryland, 23-4, received 564 points following its 83-79 triumph over Creighton.

Those four winners face their next tests Thursday night leading toward the end-of-the-month showdowns in San Diego. In the regional semifinals, Indiana faces 13th-ranked Oregon State, UCLA goes against unrated Montana, Louisville plays No. 12 Cincinnati and Maryland opposes ninth-ranked Notre Dame.

Kentucky, 23-4, beat Marquette 76-54 in their first-round game and beat the Warriors into the No. 5 position in the poll, too, receiving 549 votes.

North Carolina, with 405 votes for sixth place, moved up a notch in the standings, as did Arizona State, with 374 for seventh, and North Carolina State, with 307 for eighth.

Notre Dame vaulted from 12th to ninth, winning 77-71 over Kansas to win 204 points while Marquette rounded out the Top Ten with 201.

Alabama, 10th a week ago, slipped one rung with 166 points, Cincinnati bounced out of a three-way tie for 17th to shoot up to No. 12 with 127 and Oregon State, 15th a week ago, edged up to 13th with 85 points.

Drake wasn't even in the Top Twenty a week ago, but the Bulldogs won the National Commissioners Invitation Tournament in Louisville, whipping Arizona in the finals, and won 14th in the balloting with 65 points.

Rounding out the Top Twenty are Pennsylvania, 11th a week ago but 15th now with 57 points; Nevada-Las Vegas, a new entry with 39 points for 16th; Kansas State, another new member with 38 points for 17th; Southern California, down from 13th to 18th with 24; Centenary, down to 19th from a share of 17th with 23, and Syracuse, also a newcomer with 22 points for 20th place.

With the new teams in the rankings, Rutgers, Texas-El Paso and Pan American as well as Clemson were displaced.

The Top Twenty, with first place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. Indiana	30-0	820
2. UCLA	24-3	688

Ryan Hurls Perfect Exhibition Innings

Nolan Ryan is already in late-season form...and where Ryan left off late last season was with a no-hitter.

It came against the Minnesota Twins in his final 1974 start and was the third no-hitter of Ryan's career. Monday, the California fireballer made his 1975 debut despite the lingering effects of a slight muscle pull in his right calf and hurled three perfect innings, striking out three, as the Angels defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-3 in an exhibition baseball game.

As if that news wasn't ominous enough for American League batters, Ryan had some more bad tidings for them.

"My arm feels better this spring than it ever has," baseball's strikeout king said. "It felt strong the first day I came to camp. I'm very pleased with the effort, especially since I hadn't thrown hard or in anything resembling a game in over a week. One of my goals this season is to get off to a fast start."

Ryan, who sometimes walks as many as he fans, threw 37 pitches in his three-inning stint and 23 of them were strikes.

"This is the best I've ever seen Nolan throw in the spring," said Harry Dalton, the Angels' general manager.

Elsewhere, the Montreal Expos and Houston Astros continued their spring streaks...in opposite directions.

The Expos rolled to their eighth consecutive success, a 3-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers behind the six-hit pitching of Steve Rogers and Dennis Blair which lowered the team's earned run average to 1.88. The Astros suffered their sixth loss in a row, bowing to the Boston Red Sox 4-2 as four pitchers held them to four hits.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Texas Rangers 3-1, the Cincinnati Reds downed the New York Mets 7-4, the Chicago Cubs outslugged the Oakland A's 12-9, the New York Yankees nipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 and the San Diego Padres trounced the Milwaukee Brewers 8-1.

The Chicago White Sox edged a split squad of Minnesota Twins 2-1 while the rest of the Twins lost to the St. Louis Cardinals 7-6 in 10 innings.

Cabot Cagers Take Fourth

The Cabot YMCA basketball team traveled to the State YMCA tournament in Longview over the weekend and brought home a fourth place trophy.

The team defeated North Tyler 70-69 and Waco 76-60 before losing to Seventh Street (Beaumont) 91-75. The Houston team tied with Big Spring for the fourth place spot.

Kevin Miller led Cabot in scoring with 33 points in the Waco game.

Dominion Tops College Division

By The Associated Press

Old Dominion won on the court last week and today the Monarchs were victorious at the polls—earning the No. 1 spot in the final Associated Press college division basketball rankings for the 1974-75 season.

Old Dominion, a 76-74 victor over the University of New Orleans for the championship of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II tourney at Evansville, Ind., picked up 20 first-place votes and 317 votes in the balloting by sports writers and sportscasters across the nation.

"It's great to be voted No. 1, but I like the idea of proving it on the floor, like we did last week," said Old Dominion Coach Sonny Allen, informed of the final poll.

Old Dominion, 25-6, was No. 2 in last week's poll, which was led by Kentucky State. The Thoroughbreds lost to unheralded Malone in the opening round of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tourney at Kansas City, and slipped to fourth in the final rankings.

New Orleans, 23-7, just nipped Grand Canyon, the NAIA champion, for the runnerup spot in the final poll. The Privateers picked up 161 points to 159 for Grand Canyon. New Orleans was sixth in the previous poll but Grand Canyon wasn't even ranked, although the Arizona school had only three losses when it began play in the NAIA and wound up with a 30-3 record.

Gardner-Webb was fifth in today's poll, followed by Assumption, Jackson State, St. Mary's of Texas, Midwestern of Texas, Alcorn State, Tennessee State, Gannon, Randolph-Macon, Bentley and LeMoyne-Owen.

No. 15 LeMoyne-Owen, a poll newcomer, won the NCAA Division III title on Saturday at Reading, Pa.

Grand Canyon got three first-place votes, as did Jackson State. Assumption and Kentucky State each got one vote for first.

Old Dominion only lost once during the season to a college division team, bowing to Florida Southern on the road.

The final Associated Press Top 15 college division basketball poll, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records through Saturday, March 15 and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 14-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. Old Dominion	(20)	317
2. New Orleans	23-7	161
3. Grand Canyon	30-3	(3) 159
4. Kentucky St.	(1) 26-3	136
5. Gardner-Webb	23-3	98
6. Assumption	(1) 22-8	91

Fierro Wins In Handball

A Big Spring handball player, George Fierro, brought home the consolation trophy from the Longhorn Invitation Handball Tournament held over the weekend in Austin.

He defeated Charles Casper, Dallas, 21-11, 21-16 to take the trophy in Class B singles. Around 31 other players were competing in that division.

San Angelo Takes 5-AAAA Golf Title

ODESSA — First round 5-4A golf play was captured by San Angelo here at the Odessa Country Club last weekend.

The Bobcats shot a 321 to lead runners-up Permian and Lee by four strokes. Big Spring no.1 and no.2 teams finished with a 367 and 368 respectively.

San Angelo Country is the next stop on the district tour with play scheduled for Friday at 9 a.m.

The scores: SA No. 1, 321; Permian No. 1, Lee No. 1, 325; Abilene No. 1, 335; SA No. 2, 338; Midland No. 1, 340; Permian No. 2, 343; Odessa No. 1, 348; Cooper No. 1, 355; Odessa No. 2, 361; Abilene No. 2, 364; Midland No. 2, 365; Lee No. 2, 365; Big Spring No. 1, 367; Big Spring No. 2, 368, and Cooper No. 2, 375.

Big Spring scores: No. 1 — Steve Sledge, 81, Steve Carson, 91, Donny Knight, 97, Warren Jones, 98, Jeff Newton, 102; No. 2 — Duane Thomas, 90, Carl Greisham, 90, Steve Brantley, 94, Bobby Waters, 94, Barry Havorlson, 99.

Permian Gets New Helper

ODESSA — Calvin Kirkham of Monahans has been named an assistant football coach at Odessa Permian High School.

At Permian, he will replace James Breckenridge, who resigned recently to become head coach at Borger.

Kirkham's starting salary at Permian will be $11,950. He will be in charge of offensive backs and defensive linebackers.

Martin Expects Rangers To Win World Series

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Billy Martin School of Positive Thinking is now in session.

"I believe we can win the American League West Division, win the playoff and win the World Series," says the Texas Rangers' manager.

Don't laugh. Martin predicted in 1974 that the Rangers would give Oakland a tough fight. The Rangers finished just five games behind the three-time world champion A's.

"There is no doubt that Oakland has been dealt a crushing blow with the loss (to the New York Yankees) of Catfish Hunter, a 25-game winner," Martin says. "This, to my mind, automatically lifts the Rangers into the role of favorite in a tough division.

"It figures to be a battle, close all the way. Oakland still will be rugged. So will Kansas City and Minnesota. California has highly respectable pitching and will improve under Dick Williams. Chicago will miss Dick Allen but the White Sox still will be troublesome."

Martin is delighted with the addition of Willie Davis from Montreal.

"He'll improve our defense in center field, will give us more speed and will add a potent bat in our batting order," Martin says. "With Cesar Tovar in left and the American League's Most Valuable Player, Jeff Burroughs, in right, we have an outstanding outfield which combined for 265 runs batted in last season."

The Rangers are set at first base with Rookie of the Year Mike Hargrove, who hit .323 last season. Toby Harrah is a fixture at shortstop.

Second base is something of a question mark. Dave Nelson was ineffective at the position last year after suffering an ankle injury but Lenny Randle filled in well.

"We're undecided, but not unsettled, at second and third," Martin says. "It could be Nelson or Randle at second, and it could be Randle, Roy Howell or Mike Cubbage at third base, depending on developments."

Cubbage and Howell are hot prospects after excellent minor league seasons.

Picnic To Open Webb Softball

A family picnic affair will provide a preview for the 1975 Webb Ladies Softball campaign.

The preseason picnic is set for 2 p.m. at the Webb AFB Golf Course pavillion. Each family is asked to bring a covered dish and meat.

The picnic will the touting the season's opener Sunday April 6, when the Sand Dusters square off against the Freedom Flyers at 2 p.m. The nightcap at 4 p.m. will pit Youngblood & Co. against the Patriots. The Pink Panthers, last year's champion, will be idle in the first round.

Youngblood takes the place of the Southern Belles, who were runners-up last year.

Officers for the league this year are: Rocky Vieira, president; Ruth Simcox vice president; Marcia Schwendeman, secretary-treasurer; and Liz Burns, publicity and advertising. League officials are pushing for a large opening day turnout.

Coahoma Tops In Eighth Grade Meet

Coahoma Eighth graders walked away from the junior high track meet Friday in Crane with first place team honors and 81 points; the seventh graders winning sixth as a team in their division with 54 team points.

Among the Coahoma eighth grade point-getters were Danny Tucker, who tied for first in the high jump and first in the 220 yard dash; Tracy Frazier, who was fifth in the shot put, fifth in the 100 yard dash and 6th in the 220; Randy Wallace, first in pole vault; James Nix, fifth in pole vault; Tim Davidson, second in the 330 yard run; Gary Hulme, first in the 100 yard dash; and Tony Flores, seventh in the 660 yard run.

The 440 yard relay team including Davidson, Salvador Hernandez, Hulme and Tucker was third with a time of 49.3 and the 1320 relay was second, posting a time of 2:51.9 with Frazier, Phillips, Cabell Mackie and Tucker funning the laps.

Point-getters for the seventh grade included Jamie Culpepper, first in the long jump with 16-2 and Larry Newton second with 15-8. Newton was also fourth in the 100-yard dash.

Tim Ballard was second in the 880 yard run and Gary Gee placed second in the 70 yard high hurdles. The 440 yard relay team placed third and the 880 relay, fourth.

Montreal Bids For 1977 Super Bowl, Dallas Too

HONOLULU (AP) — Montreal, Canada, punctuates its determination to be successful with the 1976 Olympic Games by bidding for football's 1977 super bowl.

Jerry Snyder, the Olympic Stadium coordinator, will make the city's bid to the National Football League's annual meeting today. It will be the only bid from an area that doesn't have an NFL team

To reports that Montreal might be in trouble holding the Olympics, Snyder replied, "The talk began because we ran into labor troubles. We went through the labor problems last fall and that was when the rumors developed that we wouldn't be able to hold the Games or would have to tone down the facilities.

"However, all that has been resolved and the Provincial Parlimentary Commission has given us its blessing to carry on."

Being built for the Olympics is a domed stadium to hold 73,000 people, so Montreal joins Los Angeles, Miami, New Orleans, Houston, Dallas and Pasadena, Calif., in bidding for the 1977 Super Bowl.

"We want to get prestigious events for our stadium," Snyder explained. "events in sports, culture or any nature. Not only will that let Montreal people see such events, but it will help defray costs of the Stadium. We have an exciting facility."

Although the Super Bowl has never been held in a city which does not have an NFL franchise, an official said that would not be detrimental to Montreal's bid.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL did emphasise that the bid by Montreal for the Super Bowl must not be confused with any possibility of the league expanding to that city.

The 1976 Super Bowl will be held in Miami and selection of the 1977 site becomes the first major item of business of the five-day annual meeting of the NFL. Estimates are that the Super Bowl boosts the economy of the host city by at least $30 million.

BSHS Opens District With AHS

The Big Spring Steers will open their 1975 District Baseball season here today at 4 p.m. as they host Abilene High School in Steer Park.

The Steers, 4-5 on the season, will be facing the only team in the district picked to place below them in the preseason poll.

Dick Battle (1-2) or Pat Carroll (3-1) will take the mound for the Steers as Jerry McKennon will pitch for Abilene.

Abilene High sports a 5-5 season record thus far, after losing two out of three games against Dallas White.

Elsewhere in 5-AAAA opening action, Midland will play at Permian; Odessa will play at Midland Lee, and San Angelo travels to Abilene Cooper.

On Saturday, Big Spring will host Midland, San Angelo will go to Lee, Permian will be at Abilene and Cooper will travel to Odessa.

Heldman Wins Dallas Midnight Net Match

DALLAS (AP) — The spectators who walked out of Julie Heldman's midnight match with Janet Newberry in the $75,000 Maureen Connolly Brinker tournament failed to unnerve her, but they did get her attention.

"I was serving for set point, and I heard this clomp, clomp, clomp!" Miss Heldman said, "I just waved bye to them."

Miss Heldman, who splits her living time between Houston, Tex. and London, rallied to a first round 5-7, 6-2, 6-3 win over fellow American Newberry of La Jolla, Calif. in the tournament Monday night.

In earlier matches third-seeded Martina Navratilova of Checkoslovakia dropped Marena Kroschina of the Soviet Union 6-4, 7-6 and eighth-seeded Francoise Durr of France crushed Betty Stove of the Netherlands, 6-0, 6-3.

"I'm not known to be all the sweetness in life," said Miss Heldman, the seventh seed.

At one point, Miss Heldman drove an easy overhead into the net, kneeled down and bit her racquet handle. But her comical antics are not what kept her in the match.

She was able to hit key passing shots when it counted the most.

"When it counted I got them in," she said. "Last week I hit them all out.

"All I had to do was return a good percentage of her first serves. The chick can hit some awful good shots."

Play continues this afternoon with four more first round singles matches and four evening singles matches with second seeded Evonne Goolagong of Australia facing American Julie Anthony.

Australia's Margaret Court, the top seed, opens play Wednesday night among two singles matches and an exhibition mixed doubles special featuring Australians John Newcombe and Fred Stolle who will team with Goolagong and Stove.

Galvin Cards First Ace

Dave Galvin carded the first hole-in-one of the golfing season during the A-B-C-D Tournament held Saturday at the Webb Golf Course. Galvin, who sports a 15 handicap, used a seven iron to score his first ace on the 138-yard, par 3 fourth hole.

Stanton Wins WT Relays

Stanton moved across the finish line 106 points to win the Class AA team title in the West Texas Relays in Odessa last weekend.

The Buffaloes sacked four first places. Gordon Eiland reeled off the best time of 24.2 in the 220. Elvin Brown outran all entrants in the 120 yard hurdles, with a high step of 15.4.

Johnny Gonzales observed runners from his back as he won the one-lap 440-yard race in 56.4. The mile relay foursome of Eiland, Ken McCalister, Gonzales and Hernandez placed first in 3:36.1.

Elvin Brown placed second in the 330 yard hurdles, timed in 43.6. Hernandez was runnerup in the 880 with a 2:04.5 clocking.

Five fourths were chalked up by Stanton, Hernandez in the long jump, Gonzales, high jump, H.A. Schuelke, shot, Roger Owens, mile, and McCalister, 440.

Hernandez leaped 19-3½. Gonzales scaled 5-5, Schuelke fired the iron ball, 45-11, Owens ran four laps in 5:03.3, and McCalister ran the 440 in 56.4

Coahoma Fifth In WT Relays

Coahoma placed fifth with 50½ points in the Class AA Division of the West Texas Relays in Odessa last weekend.

Two first place finishes were recorded by Coahoma thinclads. Robbie Tindol outthrew all contestants in the discus at 132-4. Putt Choate was tops in the shot with a heave of 50-5.

Tindol took second to Choate in the shot, tossing the iron ball, 50-3. Tim Higgins was awarded second in the pole vault, scaling 10-9.

Freddie Moran stepped off the third fastest mile recording, running the four laps in 5:01. In the 330-yard intermediate hurdles, Ray Don Myers flashed the fourth best clocking of 43.2.

Mike Collier and Rodney Lee were fifth respectively in the 220 and pole vault. Collier was timed in 24.7, and Lee scaled 10-3.

Don Kelso landed sixth in the shot with a throw of 43-0.

Both Coahoma boys and girls teams next travel to Jal, N.M. Friday.

Hostages Threatened Constantly By Convicts

HOUSTON (AP) — A prison librarian says she and other hostages were threatened constantly at gunpoint by the three convicts who took over the Huntsville prison library last summer.

"They said they were to get what they wanted or we'd be shot," Mrs. Lynda Woodman testified Monday before the Ignacio Cuevas murder trial jury.

As the state's second witness in the death penalty case, Mrs. Woodman was to resume today her description of the 11-day library siege.

LONE SURVIVOR

Cuevas was the lone survivor among the three convicts. He is charged with intentionally causing the death of another librarian, Mrs. Julia Standley.

The prison escape attempt ended with an Aug. 3 shootout in which three others also were killed. They were Mrs. Elizabeth Beseda, a prison teacher, and the other two convicts, Fred Gomez Carrasco and Rudolfo Dominguez.

Mrs. Woodman said about 60 inmates and 11 prison employes were in the library at the time of the takeover but that all but four of the inmate hostages were released within a matter of hours.

She said Bobby Heard, a prison guard, was in the attic during the early hours of the takeover.

FINE TAPE

"It took quite a bit of time to get him down and he was handled pretty roughly," she said. "They shot at the ceiling one time while he was up there. I didn't see the shot but heard it. It was never suggested he leave the library except one time when they were going to kill him and throw him out."

Mrs. Woodman said she and three other female hostages first tried to hide in the librarian's office but later were told they had to join the other hostages in the library area.

"I was confused at first about who was who but saw the three men milling about with their guns," she said.

"Carrasco didn't always have his gun on you but those other two, Cuevas and Dominguez did," she said. "They had guns on you all the time. They meant business."

She said inmate hostages put handcuffs on each of the prison employes and Heard and Glennon Johnson, an education and recreation officer, were taped.

"We had some very fine library tape," she said.

Johnson became ill during the first night.

"Carrasco was on the telephone at the desk and I tapped my hand on the desk and told him 'You have a sick man here'," she said. "On Carrasco's instructions, two inmates arrived a bit later and carried Mr. Johnson out on a stretcher."

Mrs. Woodman said Father Joseph O'Brien, a prison chaplain who was seriously injured in the shootout, arrived about 3 a.m. on his third trip as a courier to the library.

"Carrasco gave him a choice of leaving or becoming a hostage," she said. "Father O'Brien stayed."

USSR Firm To Start State Coal Project

W. G. Marquardt, president of Texas Electric Service Co., announced Monday that Texas Utilities Services Inc., a TESCO affiliate, has signed a contract with V-O Licensintorg of Moscow (U.S.S.R.) which will lead to a development project for determining the feasibility of underground gasification of deep lignite coal deposits in East Texas.

Gasification of lignite is being studied as a potential source of fuel for generating electricity.

V-O Licensintorg is an exporter and importer of technology for the government of the U.S.S.R. Texas Utilities Services (TUSI) is an affiliate of TESCO, Dallas Power & Light Company and Texas Power & Light Company, electric utilities serving about four million people in a 75,000 square mile area of north central, East and West Texas.

PILOT PROJECT

Marquardt said the pilot project in East Texas is one part of the electric companies' continuing research into all technologically feasible alternatives to increasingly expensive natural gas and oil as fuels for generating electricity. The companies began using mined lignite in 1967 and are constructing a jointly-owned nuclear generating facility near Glen Rose which is scheduled for service in 1980.

Soviet research into the underground production of combustile gas from deep coal deposits began in 1933 and is said to be considerably further developed than recently begun U.S. efforts. The contract provides documented technology from more than 40 years of Soviet research. The Soviets are operating two underground gasification plants currently which are producing gas from coal for continuous commercial use as power plant fuel. After detailed technical talks with Dr. Kurill Zvijagintsev, Soviet technical director, TUSI engineers concluded the Soviet process for producing combustible gas from underground deposits of coal holds promise for successful application East Texas.

Court Decision Perks Regional Jails Idea

DALLAS AP — Dallas County Judge John Whittington says county officials around Texas "are going to have to face reality about their jail situation" now that the U.S. Supreme Court has refused to review a lower court's order for improvements in the Dallas County Jail.

The Dallas County commissioners appealed the decision by U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes because its "unprecedented interpretation of Texas law, affirmed by the Fifth Circuit, has a momentous impact on Texas jails, condemning, in essence, all but five of about 247 county jails in Texas."

REALITY

"We've already been developing a plan that would be followed in compliance with the full court order," Whittington said. "But these other county governments, they're just going to have to face reality. They're going to have to contract with their neighbors who are more financially able to finance the improvements in the jails."

Whittington said he has been talking about the idea of regional jails for five years. As an immediate solution to comply with the court order, "counties that don't have the availability of money to make the improvements are going to have to contract with other counties — maybe on a daily basis," he said.

The improvements ordered for the Dallas County jail include construction of an outdoor exercise area; sufficient cells to accomodate as many prisoners equal to the largest number of inmates during 1972; that solitary cells be at least 40 square feet and have a bunk, and a combination water fountain, toilet and lavatory; and that employes and inmates handling food must be examined to detect presence of communicable diseases, as required by law.

CUT IN HALF

The tab for improvements at the Dallas County Jail has been estimated at $35 million for construction, with an additional $1.5 million for architectural fees.

Whittington says he estimates the cost of revamping the county jails across the state would be "roughly ten times that figure" or about $350 million.

"But if it's done on a cooperative contracting basis, the cost could probably be cut in half," Whittington said.

Snyder Woman Sues Doctor

A Snyder woman today filed suit in Howard County's 118th District Court over the death of her husband after a Big Spring doctor conducted a heart bypass operation.

Mrs. William M. Wells wants $150,000 from Dr. J. E. Matthews for the death of her husband on March 15.

Attorneys For Ex-Okie Governor File Motion

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Attorneys for former Oklahoma Gov. David Hall and W. W. "Doc" Taylor of Dallas have asked a federal court to permit them to interview the 12 jurors who convicted the two men last week of bribery charges.

ILLNESS

An application, filed in federal district court Monday, said the interviews would be to determine if one juror's illness forced the others to reach a hasty verdict and if "extraneous prejucial information was improperly brought to the jury's attention" or whether "any outside influence was improperly brought to bear upon any juror."

The application said, however, that the main purpose of the interviews would be to determine if the illness of Mrs. Dell Meyer in the early morning hours of last Friday caused the jury to reach a verdict more quickly.

Hall and Taylor were convicted late Friday afternoon in connection with a scheme to bribe Secretary of State John Rogers to influence a vote of the state retirement fund board on a proposal by Taylor.

Hall was convicted of four counts, including extortion, conspiracy to attempt to bribe a public official and two violations of interstate facilities. He could receive a maximum sentence of 35 years in prison and $40,000 in fines.

Taylor, a Dallas financier, was convicted of the bribery conspiracy count and also two separate violations of interstate facilities. He could receive a maximum of 15 years and $30,000 in fines.

TENSION

The jury halted its deliberations Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Meyer, 65, said she felt ill. She then suffered severe chest pains about 5 a.m. Friday and was rushed to a hospital. She was initially believed to have suffered an apparent heart attack, but her condition later was diagnosed as arthritis and tension.

Mrs. Meyer was allowed to return to jury duty early Friday afternoon. Hall's attorneys asked for a mistrial, but it was denied.

One of the jurors, James Bruner, said Monday that Mrs. Meyer's illness did not cause a hasty decision or unduly delay the jury's deliberations.

CB Radio Taken

A citizen's band radio was stolen from the Wayne Henry residence in lot 18 of the Midway Trailer Court, the sheriff's office learned Monday.

Ladder Parts Are Stolen

Four sections of ladder were stolen from a residence on the Gail Highway, Bill Tucker told the sheriff's office Monday afternoon.

Bottle Tossed Through Door

A vodka bottle was thrown through the small door glass at Hale Pump Co., East Highway, the sheriff's office reported this morning.

Probated Terms Given Two In Court Case

On the recommendation of the victim, her parents and the district attorney, District Judge Ralph W. Caton this morning sentenced Kenneth Wayne Miears, 17, to 10 years of probation for rape of a 12-year-old.

Miears, 1301 Elm St., signed a statement saying he had sexual intercourse with the girl in his home on Jan. 25. He has been in jail since that date.

A blond, small, thin man, Miears was barely audible when he testified briefly.

The written request for probation cited the illness of Miears' father. Miears was a dishwasher when arrested, the sheriff's office reported.

In other activity, District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III saw Buford Laddell Howell, 18, 406 E. 22nd St., plead guilty Monday to car burglary.

Howell told 118th District Court he took a tape deck from the car belonging to Robert Gordon Moon on March 8. Howell was given 10 years of probation.

Also Monday, indictments against two were dismissed.

Buster D. Wood, no age available, has been in the Oklahoma State Penitentiary since a 1969 car theft, the district attorney wrote.

Moore cited "insufficient evidence" to convict Wood for theft of a 1962 model luxury car belonging to Lewis E. Heflin.

Thomas Michael Tolson, 24, formerly of 2909 West Old U. S. 80, was indicted for possession of marijuana.

The offense which happened in March, 1972, involved less than two ounces of marijuana, Moore claimed. Thus, under new state laws, it would be a misdemeanor conviction.

Activities Of Chamber Explained By Hansen

The organization and activities of the Chamber of Commerce were outlined this morning at the monthly agricultural breakfast.

Terry Hansen, new chamber manager, told about his promotion and the naming of former chamber manager Ron Mercer to executive director of Big Spring Industrial Growth and Development.

Before all work in industrial activity was "strictly volunteer," Hansen said.

Through quarterly meetings, the industrial program involves existing industry. The program also solicits new industry.

"We have entertained several new prospects since July of last year," Hansen said. The city provided money for the industrial program, Hansen explained.

Speaking of the chamber, Hansen outlined its four councils plus the base-community council. The basic four are for economic development, community development, internal organization and public affairs.

COUNSELING

Hansen listed establishing a family counseling service Feb. 17 among recent chamber accomplishments.

The state pays the salary of the counselor, his secretary and the costs of office supplies, Hansen said. A chamber committee raises the rest.

When Texas International petitioned the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to stop serving Big Spring, "we won the first round," Hansen said. "If they wanted to leave, they'd have to leave permanently."

They did. And Big Spring is awaiting Texas Aeronautics Commission approval of a new airline flight connecting the city with Midland-Odessa and Dallas.

A Century Club of 100 members paying $100 membership fees was formed to improve Webb Air Force Base and community relations.

HOUSING

Attracting new industry and alleviating the local housing shortage are on the agenda for 1975, Hansen said. "Housing in Big Spring has been extremely tight," the chamber spokesman said.

With a 3 per cent motel-hotel room occupancy tax, the chamber gets $45,000 yearly to promote tourism. Drawing out-of-town schools and colleges to sports events here and camper rallies illustrated the use of this money.

Proposed state legislation, which would tax transferring title of tractors like that for car title transfer, was mentioned at the close of the meeting.

Single Ballot Cast In Race

One had voted absentee in the Howard County School board and in the Big Spring Independent School District elections this morning.

And one absentee ballot for each election has been requested by mail, County Clerk Margaret Ray said.

Agenda Is Full For Conclave

Annexation of property and water rates and regulation are among the items listed on the agenda for the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1.

Also, an alternate to the tax appraisal board is to be named.

The board meets at 7 p.m. Thursday in district offices in Coahoma.

DEATHS

Paul Miller

Funeral for Paul W. Miller, 81, who died at 5:15 a.m., Monday in a local hospital, will be at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Officiating will be Ryan Rogers, minister of the Sand Springs Church of Christ, and Bob Kiser, minister of the Anderson Street Church of Christ. Burial will be in Mount Olive Memorial Park.

Mr. Miller was a retired oil field driller. He was born Jan. 26, 1894, in Warren, Pa. He married Neil Yater Dec. 23, 1924, in Colorado City. He had been a resident of the Big Spring area since 1936 and was a member of the Church of Christ.

Pallbearers will be nephews.

Jo Ann Nelson

CUSHING — Mrs. Darvis (Jo Ann) Nelson died at 2 a.m. today in a Cushing Hospital.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Holsombach Funeral Home in Cushing. Among the survivors is a sister, Mrs. Leslie (Betty) Lloyd Jr, 1601 Wood, Big Spring.

Mrs. Avery In Workshop

Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, director of financial aids at Howard College, is one of 61 experienced financial aids directors from institutions of higher education in the nation who was selected as a state trainer and brought to Washington, D.C. for an in-depth training workshop by the Office of Education.

In addition to Mrs. Avery, representing the state of Texas is David Gardner from the Tarrant County College System. Both Mrs. Avery and Gardner have been prominent in state, regional and national activities dealing with financial aids in post-secondary institutions and they were selected on the basis of their expertise and leadership ability.

This is Mrs. Avery's second year to be chosen as a state trainer. She has been the director of financial aids at Howard College for the past nine years and has held numerous positions of leadership in professional organizations. She is currently serving on the 10-member executive board for the Texas Association of Student Financial Aids Administrators. She recently completed service as a reviewer for the Office of Education.

Mrs. Avery will be conducting workshops in three cities, Dallas, Houston, and San Antonio, under this "Thirty-Cities Project". These workshops will be held in the inner city where the target population lives.

She and Garder have assembled a 12-member instructional team to help them in conducting the 35 workshops in Texas.

Col. Duff Is Speaker

Doyle C. Ruff, deputy commander for Military Training at the United States Air Force Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, will be the honored guest speaker at the Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 75-06 graduation tonight at Webb AFB.

Col. Ruff will address the 35 graduating members of the class during ceremonies at the base Chapel. The graduation is slated to begin at 6 p.m. with a reception in the Officer's Open Mess following the ceremony.

A 1959 graduate of Florida State University, Ruff holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Merchandising. He earned his commission through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps and received his pilot's wings in 1961.

He flew the A1E Skyraider in 1965 while assigned to the 1st Air Commando Squadron in Southeast Asia. Later he was assigned to the Air Force Academy.

Before attending Armed Forces Staff College, he served as a member of the Air Force's aerial demonstration team, the Thunderbirds. Prior to his current assignment, Col. Ruff was the Career Development Staff Officer at the Air Force Military Personnel Center at Randolph AFB, Tex.

Col. Ruff is a senior pilot with more than 4,000 flying hours. His decorations include the Silver Star with one oakleaf cluster, the Distinguished Flying Cross with one oakleaf cluster, the Air Medal with seven oakleaf clusters, the Presidential Unit Citation, the Meritorious Service Medal and the Air Force Commendation Medal with one oakleaf cluster.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT ALL — Serafin Rocha, a 4-foot-6 clown with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, married former circus showgirl Diane Failor Monday night in Pittsburgh. The 19-year-old bride and 24-year-old groom are shown at left. At center are maid of honor Debbie Failor and best man Mike Padilla. At right are bridesmaid Rita Dluhos and usher Mike King. King and Padilla are also circus clowns.

Ford Will Propose Highway 'Bonanza'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford plans to propose a $2 billion-a-year bonanza for the 50 states to build and repair roads as they see fit.

White House sources said today Ford will submit to Congress within the next two or three weeks a new federal highway program. The program would return to the states half of the present federal gasoline tax of four cents a gallon.

This would come to about $2 billion a year.

TAX MONEY

Under the Ford plan states would be able to spend the money for road purposes as they saw fit and would not be required to contribute fixed amounts to the federal interstate highway system, which in many states is nearly complete.

As an example, Indiana Gov. Otis R. Bowen told reporters after meeting with Ford Monday night in South Bend, Ind., that his state is giving its federal gasoline tax money to other states because Indiana is ahead of many in building the superhighways.

Ford dined with governors of six states at the end of a daylong visit to Notre Dame University and promised to give serious consideration to diversion of federal gasoline taxes, Bowen reported.

White House sources said later that Ford, indeed, is planning to divert half of the gasoline tax receipts. Currently all of the money goes to the federal government, which, in turn, spends it primarily for road building programs, all of which require varying amounts of matching money from the states.

'DOMINO THEORY'

Ford already has released $2 billion in impounded highway funds mainly for use in updating and renewing existing road systems.

At a news conference during the Notre Dame trip, Ford made perhaps his strongest appeal to date for his Indochina policy and warned that the fall of Cambodia "could affect the national security of the United States."

As part of his appeal, he invoked the "domino theory" that the fall of one Asian ally would lead to another, and ultimately endanger the United States.

Ford said the survival of a non-Communist government in Cambodia is vital to U.S. security. Citing the domino theory and threats to U.S. allies in Southeast Asia, Ford said, "... I think the first one to go could vitally affect the national security of the United States."

Ford has been pressing Congress to approve emergency military aid for Cambodia, but Congress has been reluctant to comply. However, government officials disclosed Monday that $21.5 million in unspent U.S. aid for Cambodia has been discovered and will be made available to the beleagured country.

SLOPPY JOE

Ford called the miscalculation on Cambodian aid the result of "very sloppy bookkeeping in the Department of Defense."

On another question, Ford condemned any CIA involvement in any plots to assassinate foreign leaders and vowed this would not happen while he was President. Ford said he is personally analyzing assassination allegations to determine how they should be investigated.

Asked whether Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller would be his running mate in 1976, Ford appeared surprised at the question and said, "I didn't think I had ever equivocated on that point. I see no reason whatsoever that the team should not be together in 1976."

DOUBT

In another area, Ford said he is pleased with the progress of administration negotiations with Congress for a compromise on energy legislation. But he repeated his resistance to using higher gasoline taxes as a means of obtaining energy conservation.

"I think the gas tax is not the right approach ... I have very grave doubt the Congress will pass a gas tax," Ford said. Democrats in Congress have proposed various gasoline tax increases.

Coahoma Caller Isn't Welcome

Sunday started with a bang in Coahoma.

One resident called law officials that they had just heard a shot fired at the Coahoma Gin shortly after midnight.

It turned out that somebody at that location was shooting at a skunk that was polluting the night air in that section of Coahoma.

Conflicting Testimony In Morman Deaths Case

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two court-appointed psychiatrists were expected to give conflicting testimony today on the sanity of Robert Kleasen, charged in the slayings of two Mormon missionaries.

The chief defense attorney, Bob Gibbins, Monday told the Associated Press he will immediately rest his case without calling witnesses because that's the way Kleasen wants it.

HANDS TIED

"Our hands are tied," Gibbins said.

State District Court Judge Tom Blackwell has promised to call witnesses for the defense himself if necessary.

The state says Kleasen killed Gary Darley, 20, of Simi Valley, Calif., and Mark Fischer, 19, of Milwaukee, Wis. The defendant allegedly cut up their bodies with a band saw in a taxidery shop.

A nine-man, three-woman jury—including former Austin City Manager Robert Tinstman—was chosen Monday afternoon to determine Kleasen's present sanity.

Defense lawyers asked no questions of the prospective jurors because Kleasen refused to let them.

Gibbins said one court-appointed psychiatrist, Dr. Stuart Nemir, will testify Kleasen is incompetent, while the other, Dr. Roger McCary, believes he is competent.

INNOCENT

Asked if he thought his client would be found sane, Gibbins said: "I don't see how he can miss."

If Nemir testifies Kleasen is incompetent, Gibbins says, "we have another decision to make. Kleasen says he wants us to rip him up on cross-examination, and I don't know. We don't want to rip him up because we truly think (Kleasen) is incompetent."

As he was led back to jail in handcuffs, Kleasen was asked if he had a comment on the case.

"One doesn't have to prove one's innocence, so what can I say?" Kleasen replied.

He is innocent?

"Yes, sir."

Sterling Well Is Promising

R.L. Burns No.1-16 Terry, six miles southwest of Sterling City, swabbed 20 barrels of condensate from an unidentified cone at 7,365-996. The venture, 2¼ miles northeast of the Cisco oil and Canyon gas cone of the Conger field, previously had conducted three tests and three tests in other zones with recovery only of acid water. Location is in section 16-T, T&P.

In Martin County, Love Oil No.2 Elsie Campbell, six miles northwest of Tarzan, complete as a ⅞-mile south extension in the Strawn production of the Breedlove South (multipay) field. It made 181 barrels of 46-gravity oil, 78 barrels water and had gas-oil ration of 2,263-1. Production was from 10,856-874, and location is 19,80 from the south and 330 from the west lines of Wheeler CSL.

NMH No.1 Cryray, Howard County Sprayberry try, pumped three barrels of oil and 12 of water in 24 hours.

HMH No. 1 CF Dobbs, Mitchell Wildcat, was below 2,636 feet.

In Glasscock County, Amoco No.1-C Cooper waited on completion unit at 8,207 and Amoco No.1 Frank Powell drilled below 2,915.

Pioneer Could Change Name

AMARILLO — A proposal to change the name of Pioneer Natural Gas Company to Pioneer Corporation was outlined in Pioneer's annual report mailed today to the company's more than 13,000 shareholders.

Action will be taken on the name change on April 15 at Pioneer's annual meeting of stockholders. If the name change is approved by the stockholders, Pioneer Natural Gas Company will continue its gas transmission and distribution operation as a division of Pioneer Corporation.

The company's annual report showed that Pioneer's earnings amounted to $2.59 per share in 1974 compared with earnings per share of $1.67 in 1973.

"Operations other than gas transmission and distribution accounted for nearly 70 per cent of the company's net income for 1974," said K. B. (Tex) Watson, Pioneer president.

You may be using more than a ton of coal a year without even knowing it.

The reason you don't know you're using this coal is because it comes to you in the form of electricity.

We now have two power plants that use Texas lignite coal. They account for about 20% of our total generation. We figure they use an average of more than one ton of coal annually for each residential customer.

One other lignite plant is under construction. By 1980, when almost half of the electricity we generate will be with lignite, you may be using three to four tons of coal a year.

We're using lignite because new supplies of natural gas and oil — our traditional fuels — are hard to get and increasingly expensive.

This, plus the higher costs of building power plants that use lignite, together with inflation — means that electricity is going to have to cost you more.

But because lignite fuel itself is more economical, it will help us keep the price of electricity from increasing as much as it would if we tried to depend on new, more costly supplies of natural gas and oil.

One other big advantage of lignite is that it isn't being used extensively for anything other than the generation of electricity.

We're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

One of the ways we're doing it is by using a fuel that you can't use yourself.

Rod, Custom Show Boasts Big Variety

The rod and custom car show slated here Saturday and Sunday by the Early Car Club will have a wide variety of offerings.

While primarily for automobiles of 1948 or prior vintage, the show nevertheless will have several examples of custom alterations to later model cars.

Also included among the exhibits, which may approach 100 by show time, will be a few late model custom-built motorcycles, drag racers, etc.

In the jargon of the participants, the rod car is an old model automobile which has its body and chassis largely intact to preserve the original appearance, but which has a late-model motor, transmission and running gear. It's an "old car" entirely road-worthy for today.

The custom-built units, naturally, include many additions or alterations to change appearance or utility. The sky's the limit.

The true antique car, on the other hand, seeks to preserve all the original elements from tires to motor, as well as body.

The show is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday at the Dora Roberts Exhibits building at the Fair Grounds and from 12 noon to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Tax Board Will Meet

The Howard County Commissioners will meet as a Board of Equalization to review oil and industrial property June 9 and will meet to review personal and real estate property June 25 and 26. The dates were set by the Commissioners Court at its Monday afternoon session.

The June 9 meeting will begin at 9 a.m.

The court heard a report from the Joint Tax Appraisal Board, which said that 131 instruments denoting transfers of titles were recorded by the office in February. A copy of each document was given to each governmental agency on the board. The report also said that $151,000 in construction of new homes and businesses was recorded for February and $87,781 in improvements were recorded.

In other action, the court:

—Rejected bids for the sale of a 1963 Ford truck tractor, a 1971 Mercury and 1972 Ford automobiles. Three bids from $403 to $950 were submitted on the truck, only a $250 bid was submitted for the Mercury and two bids, $695 and $850 were submitted for the Ford.

—Voted to change the right of way for a road in the Tubbs Addition to miss a rock outcroping.

—Adopted a resolution relinquishing all claims to a dedicated but undeveloped roadway in the Silver Heels Addition.

—Heard State Highway Department District Engineer Roger Welsch report on the Federal Aid System where federal money could be used to build some roads in the county. He asked that the commissioners keep in mind some new Farm Roads, so that if some money becomes available for construction the roads could be planned.

CD Planning Meeting Here

Tornado and severe weather safety precautions will be reviewed at the annual planning and coordinating meeting scheduled to get underway in the Department of Civil Defense office classroom at 2 p.m., Thursday, according to W.D. Berry, local director. Civil Defense headquarters are at 207 W. 10th St.

U.S. Weather Bureau Records indicate that Texas leads the nation in total number of tornadoes per year. The meeting is especially important to the people of Howard County who need to know what to expect in the way of warning and what to do when a tornado is approaching.

THEFTS

Larry Roland Teague of Abilene reported a CB radio taken from his truck while at the Phillips 66 motel. Value: $300.55.

THEY'RE TOPS AS COOKS — Winners in the 4-H Cooking Project of the Howard County 4-H Food Show Saturday at the Howard County Fair Barn included these four seniors and four juniors. They will all compete in the District 2 4-H Food Show Saturday in Lubbock, accompanied by Miss Sherry Mullin, extension agent.

Winners Are Named In 4-H Competition

Thirty-nine Howard County 4-H members participated in the County 4-H Food Show held Saturday in the County Fair Barn.

The four highest scoring participants or alternates in the county show, both from senior and junior divisions, will enter the District 4-H Food Show to be held on Texas Tech University campus, Lubbock, March 22.

Senior first place winners were Donna James, Coahoma, bread and dessert; Tricia Jackson, Gayhill, side dish; Patty Peugh, Knott, main dish; and Dana Westbrook, Gayhill, snack and beverage. Alternates are Linda Bassham, Gayhill, side dish; Darla Harrington, Coahoma, main dish; and Diane Murphy, breads and desserts.

Junior winners were Kristi Franklin, Coahoma, side dish; Vickie Buchanan, Coahoma, main dish; Karen Hobbs Just for Fun, Forsan, breads and desserts; and Jaylene Saunders, J. F. F., snacks and beverages. These alternates are Tammy Peugh, Knott, main dish, Paula Kay Allen, Coahoma, side dish; Carmen Holman, Coahoma, breads and desserts; and Jana Long, Knott, snacks and beverages.

Twenty-one volunteer adult leaders, trained and supervised by Miss Sherry Mullin, extension agent, have given guidance to the 4-H Food and Nutrition program. More than 100 boys and girls participated in projects in clubs at Coahoma, Knott, Northridge, Forsan, Gayhill and Big Spring. Youth involved in the project groups have studied the nutritive value of food and its effect on health and physical fitness, principles of food preparation, menu planning, buying and storage, and attractive table service.

Blue participation ribbons in the junior divisions were awarded to 28 girls.

Pastor Gives Advice To Desperate Woman

DEAR ABBY: This is to comment on the letter written by the "desperate wife" who inherited the care of her husband's brain-damaged, adult brother when the mother passed away. The desperation of the wife is understandable, for the brother had to be cared for as a baby (since he was at the idiot level) and was often violent. You suggested that she find someone who could get through to her husband and convince him that he must not force his wife to care for his brother simply because he (the husband) had made the death-bed promise to the mother that the brother would never be sent to an institution.

Your counsel was good, Abby, but you didn't go far enough. It is likely that anyone so stupid and unfeeling as this husband wouldn't even listen to the counsel of someone else.

What then! I believe it would be in order to suggest an alternative to this harrassed wife: If the husband refuses, she should just say: "Listen, buddy, I've had it. I'm giving you just one week to put this man in a home for such unfortunates, or I'm walking out on you, and I mean it!" She must really mean it, and do it, if necessary — no matter where she has to go. For the alternative would be her continuing and complete demoralization and dehumanization, and the rewarding of the impossible husband for his despicable demands.

Should you regard this letter as the rantings of a heartless man who has had no experience in counseling, be assured I am not, as I am a clergyman.

(REV.) C. W. KIRKPATRICK
UNION CHURCH OF CHRIST: LUDLOW, MASS.

DEAR REVEREND KIRKPATRICK: Thank you for expanding on my answer and thereby improving it.

DEAR ABBY: I am an divorced woman with a problem I hope you can help me with.

There's a clown who works where I do who always greets me with: "Hi, how's your sex life?"

I never know whether to say: "Better than ever," or, "It's non-existent right now."

This morning when he asked me, I replied: "Fine. How's your gall bladder?" That shut him up.

Got a better answer?

ME IN DESERT HOT SPRINGS

DEAR ME: Anything that shuts him up will do.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law has completely alienated me by her poison pen letters to my husband in which she has attacked my character. My husband cannot accept the fact that I can neither phone nor write to her and extend a sincere invitation for her to visit us.

My husband reasons that since her ravings do not influence him, I should ignore it all. We have a good marriage, but this is beginning to put a strain on it.

My husband now informs me that since his mother is not welcome in our home neither is mine.

Is this blackmail reasonable? My mother has never caused any problems, and since she doesn't live close, I seldom see her. Why should she be banished?

How can this problem be resolved without my issuing an insincere invitation to his mother who obviously hates me for no reason whatsoever?

IMPASSE

DEAR IMPASSE: Look at it this way: Your husband's mother may be a mental case. But she is still his mother. Tolerate her, and treat her as you would treat a sick person.

More Than Emotion In Marriage

COLLEGE STATION — Marriage should be a financial as well as emotional partnership, one family resource management specialist recommended this week.

"To attain this, frank discussions about money available and each partner's desires and needs are necessary," Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said.

One important point to remember when figuring income available is to base plans on net income — what's left after taxes, the specialist reminded.

Also, income from all sources needs to be considered.

"Each partner should understand who is to be responsible for paying the bills or balancing the checkbook at the end of the month. Together the couple should list any fixed expenses and outstanding debts, such as loans or installment payments."

One of the best ways to avoid the potential crisis of unexpected bills coming due is to set aside a definite amount of money from each pay period, she noted.

"Fixed expenses to consider are mortgage or rent payments, taxes, insurance premiums or education costs. Savings should also be considered a fixed expense by setting a certain minimum to save and treating this as another fixed expense," the specialist advised.

She suggested that each partner — and children if there are any — should get a personal allowance. It should be understood that this money can be spent however desired and doesn't need to be explained.

"Future installmment buying should be planned together. No installment debt or large expenditures should be taken on without a joint agreement," she said.

Cook-Off Is Set For July

AUSTIN — Only two weeks remain before the April 1 registration deadline for the National Chicken Cooking Contest.

The Cook-Off, sponsored by the National Broiler Council and the makers of Ac'cent and Mazola, will be held in San Antonio, July 7-10. Fifty-one contestants, representing the 50 states and the District of Columbia, will vie for the top prize of $10,000.

Rules and applications for the contest, designed to promote the use of chicken products, are available at most supermarkets.

Judging will be on the basis of five points, including simplicity, creativity, appearance and flavor.

The Texas Chicken Cook-Off will be held in Austin, May 17, in Highland Mall. However, to be eligible for either contest, applications to the National Cooking Contest must be postmarked no later than April 1.

Mrs. Crawford Joins Chapter

Mrs. Cathy Crawford received ritual welcoming her into the Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at the Thursday meeting at La Posada.

A transferee from Odessa, Mrs. Crawford received a yellow rose from the chapter.

The chapter will provide Easter baskets for the children of a local family, and will be in charge of selling tickets at the door for the Nicolo Marionette show, "Peter Pan", March 21 at the City Auditorium.

"The Art of Thinking" was the program topic brought by Mrs. Virginia Rodriquez and Mrs. Janie Hinojas. During the talks, the two stressed the importance of being able to improve one's thinking, and how important this mental process is to man.

The group participated in answering questions with emphasis on answering questions with humor.

The chapter will meet on March 26, a change of dates, with Mrs. Ruth Penner, 2610 Carol.

Girl Is Born To Ironses

FOR YOUR PLEASURE

Comedy, Art Shows And Easter Pageant Slated

The latest production of the Midland Community Theatre is the rollicking comedy, "Drink to Me Only," which continues weekends through March 29 (and with a March 23 matinee). Its the story of a daffy millionaire playboy charged with shooting his seventh wife in the derriere. The defense, that he consumed two bottles of hootch in 12 hours before cleaning his pistol which went off accidentally, suddenly runs into trouble when medical testimony is produced that that amount of joy juice can't be consumed in that space of time. Frantically, the defense conscripts a junior associate in the law firm to prove the point . . . and that sets things going.

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — Hofstra University here will offer a six-week, June 2-July 11, intensive study-training program in arts management.

This is in response to a growing concern for mroe expert handling of finances and other administrative problems of arts organizations.

The program will cover five areas: management, accounting, marketing, law and the arts. The arts area will deal with artistic standards, current and evolving art trends and factors involved in relating the arts to the communities and environment in which they will thrive.
