. . . Son of a gun . . .

We have just read a note in one of the daily blats concerning House Bill No. 19 which gives Texas banks permission to close each Saturday, but reduces other holidays to only six per year. Frankly, we are worried over what will happen to the future historical education of children and adults in Texas. Of course, the schools suffice in a small way, pointing out to students such holidays as Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, the Fourth of July and Armistice Day, but how would we know the anniversary of the Discovery of the Overdraft Charge if it weren't for the bank holiday?

How will our children know April 16 is National Auto Loan Day if the banks aren't closed? And then, there's the matter of Luther Q. Thornquist, brilliant Swedish fiduciary genius of the early Tenth Century, whose famous invention we celebrate on October 10. Of course you and ourselves know, as would anyone maintaining even a small checking account, that Thornquist was the bright young man who, in 926 AD, said, "Let's make coins round so they won't tear holes in our pockets!"

Let's face up to it, fellow Texans. If the banks remain open on all future October the tenths, will our children be able to carry on the fine Thornquist tradition? We think not. And we further think if the banks remain open on other equally important holidays such as Texas Deposit Slip Day, Founders Day, Sons of Founders Day, Nieces and Nephews of Founders Day, and the anniversary of the invention of that vicious little gadget, the Burroughs Posting Machine, we will have lost a part of our way of life. We demand that the Texas Legislature either reconsider House Bill No. 19 or add an amendment authorizing the State Treasurer to buy up all the bankers' golf clubs.

We called on the Rev. Julian Hartig, O. F. M. newly appointed priest in charge of St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church, and found him to be one of the most interesting people we have met in a long time.

A young-appearing man, Father Jullian has spent nearly 30 years in the priesthood, including seven in China, and speaks Chinese, Spanish and German.

After his ordination at Oldenburg College, Indiana, he was sent to Beeville, Texas, then served in Missouri and New Mexico until 1929, when he volunteered for missionary service at Wuchang, Hupeh Province, in central China. One of his missions was at Hwang-Shih-Kang, which is translated to mean "Yellowstone Canal."

A native of Chicago, Father Julian recalls that one of the hardest problems of the occidental is adaptation to the extreme weather. Summers in Hupeh are almost tropical and winters just as extreme.

Father Julian, who had several friends among the officers of the USS Panay, U.S. gunboat which the Japanese bombed on the Yangste River in 1936, recalled an interesting experience of his own on the Yangste.

"We were on a small Chinese steamer which we called 'chicken boats' because the farmers always carried their chickens on them, and were moving up the Yangste on our way to Hanghow. At one point on the trip, I noticed the water had become black. The passengers who had made the trip before realized we were caught in one of the large whirlpools and began to panic. I was plenty scared but the crew calmed our fears and in a little while the ship gradually forged ahead." Father Julian returned to the U.S. in 1936, when his health broke down due to the climate.

Coming here from Cerrillos, New Mexico, Father Julian succeeds the Rev. Cyril Hermann, O. F. M., who has been assigned to St. George's Church, Cincinnatti.

Trip To South Africa Described In Letter From Mrs. Kokernot

15 Meyer Street, Oaklands
Johannesburg,
Union of S. Africa
November, 1954

Finally 12 hours late (and several days later) we arrived in Alexandria, Egypt. This was February 14. For the first time we felt we were really in a foreign place. The language was completely strange, the people entirely different. After much delay we were allowed to get off the ship where we were met by American friends from Cairo. We went to a hotel to get some tea, and were set upon by a "Gali-Gali" man (I'm not certain of the spelling). He entertained us for about 20 minutes with his magic tricks. He was wonderful and I am sure he has delighted many a tourist as he did us—a wonderful introduction to the Middle East. He pulled baby chicks out of Jan's and Peggy's pockets and did many other fascinating tricks. we were all shriecking with laughter when he left.

We drove on to Cairo that night and arrived there about midnight. You can imagine our thrill seeing the pyramids for the first time by moonlight. We were exhausted on arrival and fell into bed. Our host and hostesss were our good friends, The Telford Works, who are also with the Rockefeller Foundation (now in India). They made our stay in Cairo most enjoyable, what with the use of their car, chauffeur, good food, and hospitality. However, due to the Works (including their 8 and 9 years old daughter and son) I nearly suffered a nervous collapse. Already exhausted from the trip thus far, and in the process losing about 8 hours in time changes I wasn't ready for any severe shocks. Nevertheless, as I lay sleeping in the early morning (5:30) Egyptian sun which was shining through the windows I felt a thud on the bed and awoke to face a hairy monster. Shrieking I leapt out of bed, no doubt scaring "it" out of its wits, too. I still marvel that I didn't have a heart attack. "IT turned out to be their pet(?) mongoose! In the next hour we discovered that the Works also had in their "family zoo" 4 crows, a falcon, innumerable white mice (with which to feed those just mentioned,) a turtle, and a dog. Naturally with a mongoose as a bed-fellow I didn't mind too much the fact that the children and I were due to leave Cairo that morning for Damascus, Syria. I was going to see my sister and brother-in-law, the Edward Tiptons and my two nieces, one of whom I had never seen. We drove through Cairo again by daylight to the airport. We were completely awed by all we saw—camels, people in robes resembling nightshirts, men on donkeys, the Nile, everything we had heard about.

Iwas with reluctance I boarded the plane with the children (Bob was staying in Cairo on Rockefeller business), but knowing I was coming back in a week to see Cairo's sights was comforting.

The plane set down in Beirut, Lebanon 3 hours later, but not before we has seen the Suez Canal and Port Said from the air. Such a thrill. After much delay in customs I greeted my stster whom I hadn't seen for 3 years. We talked through a mesh fence for about 20 minutes before we were allowed together and outside. We were halfway to Damascus (a 3 - hour drive) before we remembered we had not kissed each other. The mountaneous pass with deep snow and Jan wouldn't give us any peace until we stopped and let her make some snow balls.

We were a tired, but elated bunch when we finally reached Damascus. But the week was filled with much sightseeing. What a thrill to see the remains of the Old Wall. Not to mention St. Paul's window, Annanias' house, and many other points of interest. The old part of the city, I am sure, is just like it used to be in Biblical time. We walked down "Straight Street", saw many Moslem mosques, and went to the main shopping section called the "Sook" (I am spelling most of these names phoenetically). We saw so much that I can't begin to put it all down on paper. It is such a help to see a place like this with people who have lived there and can serve as guides. It is also good to know that the food you are eating is clean, and especially nice to have one's sister as baby sitter, halfway around the world. The Tiptons have since returned to the United States.

The newer part of the city is beautiful. Many of the home and apartments are built of marble. The floors are beautiful, but every sound echoes. We enjoyed the availibility of Gertrude's servants, too, I should add. One thing I was surprised about-according to my sister there are a great many Christians in that area. I was under the impression that there were mainly Moslems, but there are great numbers of Christians—mostly Greek Orthodox. One could also see evidence of the Crusaders in the few blond, blue-eyed children. We saw the Arab refugee camps which were pitiable. Bob met us in Damascus for the weekend, when Gertrude and Edward gave a dinner party in our honour. We met many of their American friends whom we had heard about through them during 3 years of correspondence, and also enjoyed viewing their 35 mm color slides of parts of Syria and the Middle East which we couldn't hope to see during our short stay.

Article Four will be in next weeks paper.

Mayer Testifies Before House Tax Committee

Sounding a note of concern over delegating too much power to the Executive branch of the Government, Edwin S. Mayer of Sonora testified last week before the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, before which the proposed extension of the Reciprocil Trade Act is now pending.

Mayer was accompanied to the hearing by Congressman O. C. Fisher and J. M. (Casey) Jones, Executive Secretary of the National Wool Growers Association. Jones testified on the same subject earlier in the week.

Referring to the extension bill, the Sonoran said: "We object particularly to delivery of such economic authority in the hands of a department (State) that for years has shown little synpathy for the problems of the American producer in the face of unfair import competition".

The witness then called for "a reasertion by Congress" of its authority in the regulation of our foreign commerce.

Mayer, speaking for himself as a wool grower and also for the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, traced the history of wool tariffs and their effect on producers.

"I have known but one wool grower who believed in free trade", Mayer recalled. "He was a prosperous producer of sheep back in the '80's but when wool was placed on the free list during the Cleveland Administration, he, along with many others, went broke. He spent the balance of his life as a land surveyor. But when I knew him in his latter days he was still an ardent free trader. Somehow it seems to me that his politics and his economics became terribly confused".

Recalling that the tariff on imported wool was cut by 25% in 1948—from 34c to 25½c per pound, the West Texan pointed out that the pending bill would "authorize" still further reductions of as much as 33- 1-3%. "This, in my opinion, would spell doom for the wool grower."

Reminding that the money to finance the new incentive program, enacted for wool growers last year, comes from revenue on imported wool, Mayer said the wool grower is anxious to preserve the tariff rates in order to provide money to make the new plan work.

While in Washington Mr. and Mrs. Mayer visited a cousin, Mrs. G. L. Eberle and General Eberle. They also spent a few days in New York.

MERRILL ATTENDS RANGE MEET IN CALIFORNIA

Leo Merrill, range specialist at the Sonora Experiment Station, returned recently from San Jose, California where he participated in the National meeting of the American Society of Range Management. This meeting was attended by ranchers and technical workers from all parts of the United States, Egypt, the near east, Australia and South America.

Outstanding contributions to the program were made by ranchmen who presented discussions on the effects of over grazing during and after drought, as they apply to their particular areas. Merrill is vice-chairman of the Range Management Society in Texas, chairman of the Program committee for the current year, and was appointed to the National Membership Committee at the California meeting.

Feed Aid May Be Continued If Drough Lasts

Applications for hay and feed grain assistance under the emergency drouth program will not be accepted after February 15. This word come from the United States Department of Agriculture.

The announcement of a new application acceptance deadline is in keeping with the USDA's policy to bring the emergency feed programs to a close as soon as spring pastures and forage become available.

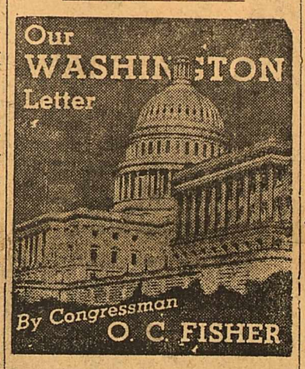

But should acute drouth continue in an area, the State Drouth Committee can request continued assistance.

One-hundred twenty-seven Texas counties currently are on the official drouth-aid list.

Applications must be approved before the February 15 cut-off date can cover needed hay and feed grain supplies up to the middle of April since the purchase orders may be issued for needed supplemental hay and feed grain for a period up to 60 days.

The feed grain program was set up to supplement the already existing hay program, Farmers Home Administration emergency loans and certain cost-share assistance designed to help eligible farmers and ranchers maintain basic livestock herds.

In the latest report, Farmer's Home Administration county committees in the 18 participating states have handled 19,278 certificates accounting for some 244,193 tons of hay and 739,553 certificates covering upwards of 75,000,000 bushels of grains.

The cut-off date of February 15 for applications to purchase government feed under the drouth program, is subject to change "if acute drouth conditions continue in any area".

Kenneth L. Scott, USDA'S director of the program, has assured me that there is no intention to cause undue hardships by halting the program in areas where critical conditions continue. He also reminds that applications approved by February 15 can be delivered later, up to mid-April.

The hay program will continue to March 31. The railroads' 50% reduction in rates on hay going into the disaster areas expires on February 15, but the Government's share (half the actual cost of transporting hay up to $10 per ton) will continue on all deliveries up to the end of March.

Counties desiring continuation of the feed program should act through county committees, then the State committee. The latter will make recommendations to Mr. Scott's office where final action will be taken.

WATER, a detailed treatment of all its problems, is the title of a recent publication put out by Texas Society of Professional Engineers, with main office in the Nash Building, Austin. Tracing the fall and final disposal of our limited rainfall, the author reminds us that the average rainfall in Texas produces 362 million acre-feet. Of this amount, 9% is direct runoff to streams and 1.5% is water that soaks into the ground and later returns as spring flow to streams. The remaining 89.5% is consumed by plant life, evaporation from soils, underground reservoirs and domestic use.

In other words, most of our water gets away from us. Preventing that surface waste, conserving more of our underground supply, and coordinating all efforts to hold the rainfall, as near as possible to where it falls, is one of the most pressing problems facing Texans today.

City Leases Own Gas Well

The City of Sonora has entered negotiations with the Ada Oil Company of Oklahoma to lease its gas well on the Rip Ward ranch. The well, located about two miles from the municipal light and power plant, will furnish gas for the generating engines.

Under terms of the lease, which is expected to be signed next week, the city will buy gas at the well for 15 cents per thousand cubic feet, compared to 22 cents per thousand it is now paying the Lone Star Gas Company. The city will pipe the gas to the plant along right-of-way which is already available.

"According to our estimates," said Mayor Alfred Schwinning, "the lowered cost of the gas will enable us to pay for the pipeline in less than two years." He gave credit for the idea to R. M. McCarver, superintendent of utilities.

Schwiening also announced that the telephone rate hearing will be held Tuesday, February 15, beginning at 8 A. M. Representing the city at the hearing will be City Attorney L. W. Elliott, G. A. Wynn, J. W. Elliott, Joe H. Foy of San Angelo, and Clinton Owsley, Houston, telephone rate expert.

Sonora's hot and cold Bronco cage team came back Tuesday night to put themselves into third place in the District 6-A race by defeating the Eldorado Eagles 64-46. It was Eldorado's second straight loss against five wins. Sonora has a four won, three lost record, and takes on Eden here tonight.

The two teams were on even terms except for the third quarter, when Sonora dropped in 21 points to 8 for the Eagles. The total difference in the other three quarters was but four points.

The Sonora girls team kept up the good work, outclassing their Eldorado opposition 59-14. June Henderson hit a terrific pace, scoring 34 points, a high for the season in district play for girls. Higks was high for Eldorado with eight. The Sonora girls are district leaders.

Ozona Players To Present Comedy Feb. 19

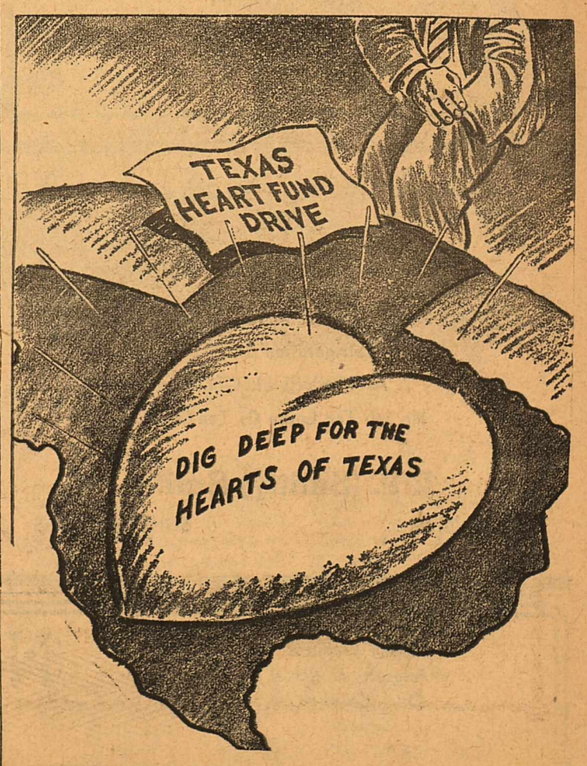

"January Thaw" a gay homey family comedy will be presented in Ozona February 19 by the San Angelo Community Playhouse. The play will be brought to Ozona by Eplison Sigma Alpha to benefit the March of Dimes.

The playhouse, under the direction of Virgil Oden, a native Ozonan, has grown tremendously and many West Texans are finding live theatre a wonderful creative outlet and hobby. The current play has been underway six weeks, and has had many hours of work spent on set, costumes and production. Neal Sanders has had charge of the setting for this production. Mrs. John Y. Rust is costume director for the theatre and personally supervised every garment acquired for the play. A staff of about fifty members is required to carry this play on the road.

The play is the story of a city family which moved to the country after buying a historic old house. However an old couple which had lived in the house many years and later disappeared returns. There is a stipulation in the sales contract that the old couple may live in the house if they should ever return, which no one thought probable. The two families combine their antagonisms to build up a hilarious plot. The warmth of young love is of course not overlooked by the playwright, and finally a happy household is evolved in the third act.

The play is opening February 7 in San Angelo and will run six nights. This is the third production of the current season. "January Thaw" is a gay, happy comedy with which will please old and young alike.

Mrs. Max Darrell Murray and Michael David, who have been living in New York, have arrived in Sonora. They are guests in the Bill McGilvray home at present, but plan to establish a home here.

Soil Conservation District News

Prepared by Local SCS Personnel
News of Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District

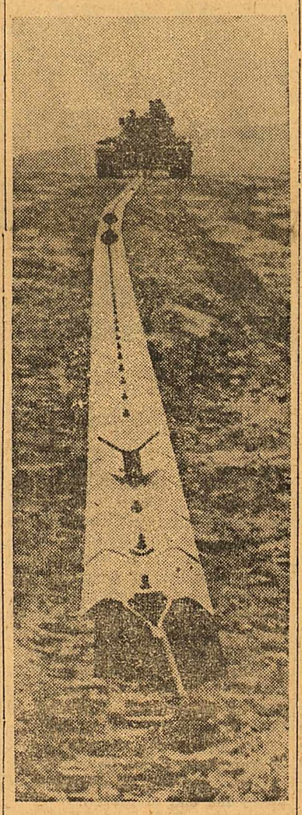

The Edwards Plateau SCD Supervisors spent an interesting and profitable afternoon last week observing range management studies at the Experiment Station. "Some valuable range studies are being carried on, which should be of great benefit to ranchmen in this area," was the general comment.

Leo Merrill, Station range specialist, showed the group several pastures stocked with varying rates and combinations of livestock. Experimental pastures are stocked at rates of 16, 32 and 48 animal units per section. Straight cattle, straight sheep, and combinations of sheep, goats and cattle are carried. Three new pastures are being set up to study the effect of heavy, medium and light stocking with straight goats.

One of the highlights of the afternoon was the observation of the deferred-rotated pastures. These four pastures are grazed by cattle, sheep and goats at 32 animal units per section. Each pasture is grazed 12 month, then rested four months.

The deferred-rotated pastures have made splendid progress even considering the drought. The pastures now have a fine cover of good grasses, including sideoats grama, Texas wintergrass, little and cane bluestem, Texas cupgrass, and many others. The livestock on these pastures have consistently made good gains.

The group making the tour included Joe B. Ross, Fred T. Earwood, Lea Roy Aldwell, Armer Earwood, Mr. Wang from Formosa, E. B. Keng and Leo Merrill.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

START SIMPLE RECORDS NOW, SAVE TAX HEADACHES NEXT YEAR

There is no time like the present, while last year's tax problems are fresh on your mind, to start a procedure that will aid you with next year's income tax calculation. That is to maintain a record of your income and outgo. Such a record can be simple and brief but it may save you tax dollars.

The average man who works for a wage or salary doesn't have to concern himself about keeping books and records-at least so he thinks. His employer keeps a reliable record of his earnings and Uncle Sam looks primarily to the employer for information on his earnings and for the withholding of various taxes out of his wages.

But whether or not you run a business of your own, you have a partner who each year is claiming a substantial interest in your personal income. And the law requires that you keep books for him in case he ever asks for an accounting.

Perhaps you own your home or are paying it out in installments. It's likely that some day you may sell that house. When you do you'll want to be able to prove whether you realized a gain or a loss on that sale. If a gain in capital resulted, it probably will add to your income tax. If a loss was suffered, it probably will reduce your income tax.

You may have made certain capital improvements on the house while you lived in it, but unless you can show what out-of-pocket expense you incurred while making them, you may not get credit for them in your cost basis so as to prove that you had no capital gain or that you had a loss.

Or perhaps you received that little summer cottage on the lake as a gift from your father. If you ever sell it, you should be able to show Uncle Sam not only the cost of improvements you made on it while you owned it, but also what its fair market value was at the time Dad gave it to you.

It may be that you are receiving an annuity on an insurance policy. If so, do you know how much that policy costs you and how much of that cost you have recovered tax-free to date?

There are many kinds of transactions you enter into that may some day affect the computation of your personal income tax. The best proof of the cost of anything you've purchased is a receipted bill or canceled check. If one of these pieces of evidence relates to any transaction that may affect your income in later years, it's a good idea to keep it. Your "pardner" may some day ask to see it.

(This column, based on Federal law, is written to inform-not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS FROM VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Q - - I am taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill. I also would like to enroll in a correspondence course on the side, to study a subject related to my job training. Will VA pay for the course?

A - - You will be required to pay one monthly premium at the term rate, and your first regular premium at the permanent plan rate. The latter may be either a monthly, quartely, semiannual or annual payment.

Cadillac

Where Pride Leads to Economy!

This gasoline station isn't accustomed to being ignored by the cars that pass its way. For it resides at the edge of a great desert—and it is many, many miles to the next fueling point.

But the big, handsome automobile you see here swept by without so much as a sign of recognition! For it is a new 1955 Cadillac—and its owner knows that he can travel from his morning's start until his evening's stop without a single refueling.

Of course, when a motorist decides to order his first Cadillac, he isn't usually aware that the car is so economical to operate—and so practical to own.

He wants a Cadillac for what it is and represents—and for the great pride and pleasure it will bring him.

But it isn't long before he discovers where his pride has led him!

He discovers it first when he prices the Cadillac of his choice. Invariably, he is surprised at its relatively modest cost. Not infrequently, he finds that it actually costs less than the car he is currently driving.

And then, once his Cadillac is delivered into his hands, he discovers how frugal it is with a gallon of gasoline. He finds, as we said, that a full tank is usually sufficient for a full day's drive.

Next, he learns of Cadillac's extraordinary dependability. In fact, he often has to be reminded when the time has come for routine service.

But not until he surrenders his Cadillac to its second owner does he discover the full wonder of Cadillac's economy. For then he learns how amazingly it holds its value—and how little a year's service affects the public's regard for the car.

All this is to say, of course, that you don't have to follow your pride to the "car of cars." You can, if you prefer, make your decision solely on the basis of economy—and still buy a Cadillac!

Come in soon—and see for yourself! We've got the facts—and we'll be delighted to see you at any time!

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

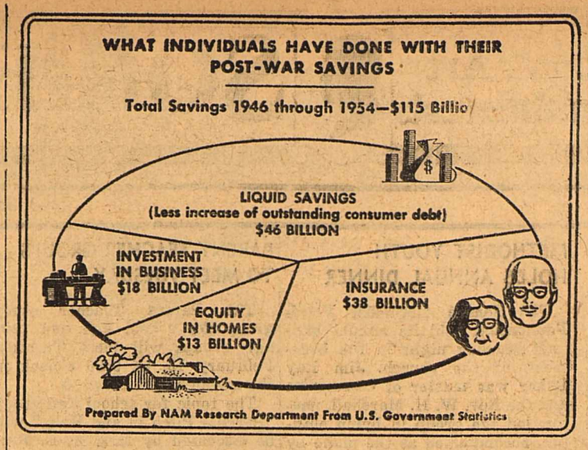

By DR. BOB JONES, JR.
PRESIDENT OF BOB JONES UNIVERSITY
GREENVILLE, SOUTH CAROLINA

When God in the person of the Lord Jesus Christ was incarnate among men, it was a complete identification of Deity with humanity—God in Christ became man, in all points like unto man except that He only of all the sons of man was completely free from sin. The Lord of glory became a child of earth. How lying in the manger of Bethlehem was the One without whom was not anything made that was made. The tiny, chubby baby hand upon the cheek of the virgin mother was the hand of Him who holds the universe in the hollow of His hand. The baby arm about the mother's neck was the arm of the One whose everlasting arms are underneath all things. The lisping words of the toddling Child of Nazareth were the words of the One who spoke the earth into being and who created a universe by the Word of His mouth. The knowledge of the twelve-year-old Lad in the temple as He confounded and amazed the doctors of the law, was the knowledge of the One Who is the Author of all truth and the embodiment of all wisdom. The One sitting on the well-curb to rest, tired with His journey and burning with the heat of the day, was the God Who created the world in six days and rested on the seventh. The One who paid taxes to Caesar was the One Who established human government and from Whose hand Caesar received the power he so often misused.

Christ was incarnate for a definite purpose. He came to die. Man had sinned and man was under the condemnation of the righteous law of God. The human race must be punished. No man could pay the penalty for the sins of man because no man was himself free from the condemnation of sin; but God Himself, the sinless One, in the person of His Son incarnate in the flesh, paid the penalty for the sins of man. In the Lord Jesus Christ the power and love of God ally themselves in satisfying His law and in making divine mercy available for man through His atonement upon the cross for the sins of Adam's children.

The whole wonder of the incarnation is this: it was for us, for you and for me, that God became flesh and dwelt among us. The personal application of His shed blood to our sinful hearts cleanses us; faith in Him imparts salvation to us. How wonderful that God should take upon Himself the form of man, become an inheritor of the "ills that flesh is heir to," suffer the ignominy of the cross; but how much more wonderful that He did this for us!

Your Health

There are some 300 million dental cavities in United States children, and the backlog is increasing at the rate of about 40 million a year. The toll of dental disease is a particular tragedy because the knowledge to reduce the high incidence of tooth decay is at hand, according to Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer.

One of the chief reasons for the decay toll is the heavy consumption of sweets, he said. Sweets are readily fermentable and offer a good nutrient for bacteria to manufacture enamel-destroying acid.

Dr. Holle urged that parents offer fruit or popcorn or cheese to children instead of jams and pastries for between-meal snacks.

The ritual of toothbrushing is still one of the most effective methods of preventing decay, Dr. Holle said. However, he added, the brushing should be done immediately after eating rather than on arising in the morning and on retiring at night.

"In addition to the toothbrush, fluoridation of water promises to help reduce substantially throughout a lifetime the dental crippling that now plagues the adult generation," Dr. Holle said.

"As part of the preventive program, children should be taken to the dentist as soon as their first teeth are in," said Dr. Holle.

The dentist and the young patient can thus become acquainted under favorable circumstances, free of any discomfort. This type of introduction is much better, happier and more productive than one in which the child is suffering from a toothache caused by dental neglect, he added.

HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY
No wonder you see so many 1955 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever in history—topping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three."

in the '55 Buick ride

To be honest – there are some bumps which nothing will level out completely.

Yet even the real rough ones turn out a lot smoother when you're in a 1955 Buick.

And that's not just our say-so. New owners of these bright new beauties keep telling us that.

So you may wonder—how come? What's different about the Buick ride that makes it such a marvel?

The answer is—plenty.

Most cars have coil springs on front wheels only. Buick has them all around – and this year they're newly calibrated for even deeper smothering of jounce and jar. So here your ride is balanced, buoyant, level, serenely smooth.

Most cars drive through the rear springs. Buick drives through a torque-tube that takes up all driving thrust, wipes out rear-wheel wiggle and wag, steadies your going to a sure and solid track.

And no other car in all America has these great comfort extras plus the backbone of a massive X-braced frame plus both direct and lever-type shock absorbers to snub after-bounce plus a special front-end geometry to stabilize "cornering" plus tubeless tires on extra-wide rims for softer riding and greater stability.

Surely, you owe it to yourself to try this great Buick travel, just to judge things for yourself.

You'll find it the nearest thing to velvet on wheels—and made even more so by the silkiness of record-high V8 power and the absolute smoothness of Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* Come visit us this week – for sure.

Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.*

COFFEE 27¢ A POUND

Coffee advertised for 27¢ a pound today would send you flying to the store. But back in 1940 that was not an unusual price for it.

Today, even your electric service bill is higher, because you are using a lot more of it. *Actually, the average price you pay per kilowatt-hour has gone down, but you have added more electrical appliances to make your job easier, your life more pleasant.

How many work-saving appliances have you added — a refrigerator or a range, perhaps. Possibly an automatic washer, dryer or a food freezer. More than likely an air conditioner.

Actually, in homes served by WTU, the average cost of a kilowatt-hour is 22% LESS than it was ten years ago.*

Chinese Communists Capture Island

WHAT BELONGS TO YOU?

By W. H. Marshall

What belongs to you? Many things that we think belong to us don't belong to anybody. There isn't a man in Sutton County that can lay claim to a foot of land. You have a deed to it, but you cannot lay claim by deed to ownership. Deeds give you time-limit trusteeship. What belongs to you is Being. It is personality, it is individuality, it is character. These you cannot see, taste, or hear.

You merely understand them if you belong to them. Ownership, you see, is spiritual, not material. The material is yours for a day of necessity. The spiritual is yours by faith in Jesus Christ. It is yours by the new birth, it is spiritual.

I said a moment ago the Being belongs to you and it does. But a man can refuse it. A man can refuse his gift of Being from the hand of God. How can a man do it? By living more or less like a mere animal. Putting physical satisfactions first and above spiritual needs and satisfactions. You have got to eat bread to keep the body alive, but Jesus said, "you do not live by bread alone." To live we must feed on the Bread of life, the Gospel of our Lord Christ, and seek to do His Will at all times.

Too many nice men are time servers, and life livers. You woudn't throw away your chance at material success, but many otherwise fine men will throw themselves away answering the call to their physical lust and indulgence of their low appetite. The hardest fight a man has on his hands is to keep from being a mere animal at times when he has every reason for being a human BEING.

Of course, every man, if he wants to, can say, "To hell with myself."

LONE STAR GAS CO. SETS SAFETY RECORD

Lone Star Gas Company employes in the San Angelo Division have attained a 3-year perfect safety record representing 501,310 hours of company work without a lost-time accident.

Division Superintendent E. L. Buelow has been advised of the accomplishment by A. W. Breeland of Dalas, assistant personnel director in charge of safety.

Breeland pointed out that the San Angelo Division is one of 107 Lone Star units in Texas and Oklahoma with perfect safety records through December 31, 1954. These records rage from one through December 31, 1954. These records range from one through 26 years and their cumulative total is 457 years.

Buelow lauded his fellow workers for their "day-in and day-out efforts toward accident prevention."

"Our safety record," he said, "reflects Lone Star's constant program of training personnel on the importance of safety, not only to protect their lives of the men, women and children who represent the public we sarve."

A framed certificate pointing up the safety accomplishment will be presented to district employes at the next regular safety meeting. It will bear the signature of President D. A. Hulcy and other Lone Star officials.

The San Angelo Division, averaging 67 employes, consists of San Angelo, the division headquarters, and Carlsbad, Christoval, Miles, Bronte, Rowena and Sonora.

Mr. Adams cautioned the prisoners not to make any further effort in that direction.

'Bein An Editor'- Most any one can be an editor. All that an editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days out of the week, and twelve months out of the year and "edit" such stuff as this:

"Bill Jones of Cactus Creek let a can opener slip and cut himself in the pantry."

"A mischievous lad of Piketon threw a stone and struck Mr. Pike in the hall last Tuesday."

"John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for leaks and fell striking himself on the back porch."

"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the social last Saturday night, a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green several times on the public square."

SOCIAL SECURITY MAN AT COURT HOUSE TODAY

Holly E. Rees, field representative of the San Angelo social security office will be in Sonora today. He will be in the County Judge's office a part of the morning, beginning at 9 o'clock.

Rees said because of the broadened coverage of domestic workers, many more household employers are now required to report the cash wages paid their employees. It is no longer necessary that a domestic employee work on 24 or more days in a calendar quarter for a single household employer in order to get social security credit for the wages paid.

Social security information, as it applies to household employers since January 1, is given in the new booklet, "Do You Have A Maid?", just issued under the joint sponsorship of the Internal Revenue Service and the Social Security Administration. It describes the first step to be taken by every employer of domestic help who pays an employee $50 or more cash wage in a calendar quarter of the year for work in a private household.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Cowsert and children visited Cowsert's mother, Mrs. O. O. Cowsert, in Rocksprings last week.
