Active Support Of Red Cross Drive Continues

Unwilling to stop when their Red Cross War Emergency quota was raised, Collingsworth County residents continued to send in their contributions. Because of this generosity, the county's quota has been exceeded by more than $500.

This brings the total raised during this campaign to $2,474.84.

Every part of the county has contributed to the drive, and children as well as adults have taken part.

Only this week, approximately $30 was given by the students of the Samnorwood Schools, including both the ward and high school at Samnorwood, and the Dozier Ward School. Practically every student enrolled had some part in this contribution.

In addition to these students, this week's contributors include T. J. Johnson, H. E. Berg, Jack Lowry, W. A. Bennett, M. P. Ruffin, Vernon Crossland, Joe Rountree, Jess Deger, Ruben Rountree, Tom Potet, Lee Roark, Leo Redding, C. M. Simpson, C. L. ## Readers Reminded Bargain Rates End February 1st

Just three days!

That's all the time that remains on The Leader Bargain rates. Deskins Wells, editor, warned this week. For on February 1, The Leader special rate of $1.50 is off, and the regular rate of $2.00 a year will apply to subscriptions.

"Response to the Bargain Rate has been fine," Mr. Wells said. "During the last week, we've had an especially large number to renew their papers, in addition to others who are subscribing for the first time. This latter number was surprisingly large for this time of John Hooper, director of the Wellington High School band for the last two and one-half years, left Monday for Dallas to seek enlistment in the United States Navy. Before leaving here, he stated that if he were able to do so, he would enter an officer-training unit.

No director has been selected to take Mr. Hooper's place in the local schools.

Since coming to Wellington Mr. Hooper has been among the town's most active boosters. In addition to having charge of one of the outstanding bands in this part of the Panhandle, he has been instrumental in promoting the interests of the town in the surrounding area.

He has been an active member of the First Baptist Church and the Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Hooper came here immediately after completing his work at Hardin Simmons University in Abilene. His home was at Archer City.

Citizens Aid Paralysis Drive At Ball Thursday

Wellington will dance Thursday night—but the money goes to help others to walk.

Scheduled as an outstanding entertainment event of the year, the President's Birthday Ball for the benefit of infantile paralysis victims will be held at the American Legion Hall Thursday, January 29, beginning at 9:00 p. m.

J. W. Wells, Wellington insurance man, is in charge of the arrangements.

"Plans are just about completed. We've got the place; we've got the music. Now we need the people to make this thing a real success," Mr. Wells said.

Tickets for the event are now on sale, and a group of high school girls will sell these in the business section Thursday.

"Everyone realizes the need for money to combat such a menace as infantile paralysis, and all of us are willing to give generously. We should know, too, that only a part of the money goes to the national foundation for preventing paralysis. The rest stays right here in Collingsworth County to be used here in case the need should arise," Mr. Wells explained.

"March of Dimes" banks have also been placed in a number of the local business houses, to receive contributions from those who will not be present for the President's Birthday Ball.

Pilot-Sergeant Pat Templeton is now seeing active service with the Royal Canadian Air Force in England. Templeton writes that he and all other Americans, hope to be transferred to the U. S. Air Corps Service.

The County Tire Rationing Board will have jurisdiction over vehicle sales in the county, E. N. Lewis of Wellington, chairman of the board, announced Wednesday morning.

Formal notice of this reached the board early this week.

At the same time, Mr. Lewis announced that the tire and tube quota for the county during February will be 9 passenger tires and 8 passenger tubes; 18 truck tires and 30 truck tubes.

Relative to the sale of motor vehicles, Mr. Lewis stated that no specific instructions have yet been received from the state office, and that it is not yet known who will be eligible for car and truck purchases. Detailed instructions are expected within the next few days, however.

Rationing of new automobiles is expected to begin about February 9.

Mr. Lewis also stated that farmers may now secure tires for their tractors, but these must be tractor type tires, and only four-ply tires will be available.

Mr. Lewis also called attention to the certification by applicant, found on each application for a tire or tube. This, he pointed out, is the oath that individuals sign relative to application. "This must be read because the applicant swears that he does read it," Mr. Lewis said.

The Tire Rationing Board, composed of Mr. Lewis, Ralph Bourland of Quail, and Dewey Malone of Dodson, meets each Monday night to carry on its business.

Cubs Set Up Paper Bins

To help in their work collecting old newspapers and magazines, Wellington Cub Scouts are placing two pens on the northeast corner of the courthouse lawn into which local residents are asked to place their papers.

"We had so many people wanting to give papers that we couldn't get around to all of them. Since it is impossible for us to call for the papers and magazines, the boys are doing the next best thing. That is placing these two compartments where any person may drop in his surplus papers," Rev. J. E. Kirby, cubmaster, said.

Rev. Kirby also pointed out that the government is now calling for old tires, tubes, and other rubber

Both cars were badly damaged.

AAA Committee Meets Each Sat.

At the first regular meeting for 1942 of the County AAA Committee, held recently, it was voted for the committee to meet every Saturday in order that producers may meet with them to discuss farm problems.

"Any person desiring to meet with the committee may do so at the office of the AAA on any Saturday afternoon," Clyde Emmert, county chairman, said today. "If you have any problem in your farm program for 1942, we will be glad to talk over with you."

Concerning one specific item, Mr. Emmert stated that all landlords who intend to change the status of their tenants for this year should come in and discuss the matter with the committee, whether they take over the land to work it themselves, or whether they cut the number of tenants. The Committee will then determine whether they will be able to recommend to the state committee for the land owner to receive all of his 1942 AAA payment.

Briggs Overall left the first of last week for McAllen where he will make his home.

No Change In Blue Stamp List

Families taking part in the food stamp program in Collingsworth County will have the same selection of foods as they did in January, Wynn S. Goode, Area Supervisor, Surplus Marketing Administration, USDA, announced today.

The complete list of blue stamp foods for the period of February 1, 1942 to February 28, in all stamp program areas is as follows: Butter, all cuts of pork (except that cooked or packed in metal or glass containers), fresh grapefruit, pears, apples, oranges, and fresh vegetables (including potatoes), corn meal, shell eggs, dried prunes, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self-rising flour, and whole wheat (Graham) flour.

"The food stamp program, building America's Health Defense, not only provides nourishing foods to fellow Americans in need, but primarily creates wider food markets for farm products. In these days of full farm production, the stamp program, community school lunch program, direct distribution of commodities, and lend-lease purchases, all under the supervision of the USDA, Surplus Marketing Administration, help assure to the American farmer a fair return on his full production by creating and maintaining a steady outlet for the food he produces," Wynne S. Goode said.

SOLDIER'S LIFE

... As Soldiers See It

Somewhere in England
Dec. 31, 1941

Dear Deck:

I thought I would drop you a line from England, as I am now settled. When I first arrived in England, I was surprised at its appearance. There was no big ruined cities. Everything looked very normal, just like any American city, except there were barrage balloons high above the city, and air raid shelters throughout the city. All the stores are open and carrying on a very good business. As far as I can see the war has not yet hurt this country in any way.

There's no serious shortage of food. I went in a cafe my first day in England and ordered a roast turkey dinner, and it was as complete as I could ask for. Also, contrary to belief, the English people seem to like coffee as well as tea, and they make better coffee than any I ever drank in Canada.

The other day I experienced my first air raid. To be truthful, I didn't even know anything about it. It happened about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. No one even looked up. No one was the least bit afraid. So naturally I thought the explosions were the big naval guns. My senior officer had to inform me of the air raid, and I was right in the middle of the whole thing. The Germans didn't do a bit of damage and were gone before I could even see my first German aircraft.

There are some of my American friends here with me that I trained with in Canada. We have been trying our very best to be transferred to the American Army Air Corps. If we can't be transferred, we were going to ask for a discharge from the RAF and come back home and do our fighting for our own country. I would personally be one of the happiest persons on earth if I could be wearing an American uniform. That's also the feeling of nearly all of the Americans serving in the Royal Air Force. The Air Ministry says that it's completely out of their hands as to the Americans. As far as they are concerned we are just like the rest. I don't mind that so much if I could just be in the American Army.

Sincerely yours,
Pat Templeton.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Names of registrants about to be inducted into the armed forces may be furnished newspapers and newspapers may print these names, according to a recent announcement of General J. Watt Page.

Thus far the local board has received no official notice of this ruling although I received it from the Washington office of the National Editorial Association some time ago. Naturally I intend to co-operate with the local board until the situation is clarified, but that means that there are no names of inductees in this issue of the paper. Perhaps this can be cleared up by next week.

Although it is much more recent, something of the same thing concerns tires. It has been announced that preachers and ministers can secure tires, but the local tire board has received no official notice of this. They cannot act until it is official.

Gene Lewis has also asked me to warn every person who signs up as being eligible for tires to read the certificate they sign very carefully. He is afraid that some people may sign it without reading and that others may read it without understanding the seriousness of any infringement. He is merely asking that you be careful now and not sorry later.

Many of the best posted experts believe that the small town is coming back with a bang. Mainly it is due to tires. I agree with this idea, but it also occurs to me that those towns where a majority of the merchants are asleep will not come back with a bang. It is obvious that people will find it less and less profitable to trade in Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth or Dallas. What many merchants overlook is the fact that the mails are still running. This week a big batch of mail order catalogs were received in this county.

There is an answer to that of course. One is for the merchant to keep his customers informed about the merchandise he has to offer. Some people right here think that most local merchants are practically out of everything. That is not the truth, but some merchants have encouraged it by talking about what they could not get instead of telling their customers about what they do have. No merchant is ever going to make a penny on what he does not have. Money can be made on what you do have provided the potential customers are informed that it is there for their convenient use. Remember: "Out of sight is out of mind."

By a highly successful subscription effort, The Leader is now able to present the picture of your store to a larger audience than at any time in recent years. We have the foundation for the comeback of a town such as ours much more securely built than you will find in the average town of this size. The job can be done and this paper is in a position to do its part.

Personally, I cannot say that I understand just how it happened, but I can count the mailing galleys and again I want to thank all of you for the splendid way in which you have responded to our subscription campaign. It is a response such as many a country editor dreams about all his life and never receives. Again I say thank you.

In Wellington you go to St. Joseph's Hospital if you want to give some of your blood to the blood plasma bank. Concerning this movement, Tex Deweese writes with feeling on this subject in the Pampa News. Part of his article follows:

"Here is a shapeless woman with great red hands. She speaks not a word of English. But her blood, gushing through the tube into the glass receptacle, speaks eloquently enough. Here is a brawny truck driver, casual in his second gift of blood; a fat and rosy woman; an embarrassed salesman of neckties; a young man already wearing the uniform of his country; rich man, poor man, beggerman, they come.

"Little enough they had in common, these strangely assorted people; they might never have met, never have known the others existed. Yet they have come together to open their veins into a common life-giving pool. They have something in common after all, these people. It is America. Here they found that their own innermost hearts are part of the great throbbing, beating heart of America. Incidentally, what are Pampans doing along that line?"

Pruden Drug Store Observes 10th Anniversary

Pruden's Drug Store, one of Wellington's outstanding firms, this week is observing its tenth anniversary in this city.

Under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Fleet Pruden, the owners, this store has grown from a small business into one of the most modern drug firms in this part of the Panhandle.

"We get an especial pride and pleasure in coming to our tenth anniversary," Mr. and Mrs. Pruden said this week. "And the thing that has given us the most pleasure during the entire time we have been here is the confidence which our customers have in us. This one thing has been the basis on which we have been able to build our store into one which fills your needs."

Their store now is a complete one, with all goods generally carried by a drug store—the fountain service, cosmetics, magazines, and other lines—but in addition to these there is the prescription department, a favorite with both Mr. and Mrs. Pruden.

The gift department of the store has undergone rapid expansion during the last year, and much merchandise has been added in all departments to keep before the people of Wellington the goods to meet their demands.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pruden work in their store. Assisting them at present are Miss Travis Tennison, Earl Clark, and Buddy Forbis.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

'Sergeant York' Hailed As Year's Greatest Picture

Warner Bros.' mighty picturization of "Sergeant York" opens at the Ritz Theatre on February 7. The widely-heralded biographical tribute to one of the World War's greatest heroes has been acclaimed from coast to coast as the greatest picture of the year.

Gary Cooper stars in the title role. The lanky star of "Meet John Doe" and countless other triumphs plays his greatest role to date as the Tennessee mountaineer who "got religion," became a conscientious objector, yet emerged as one of the greatest heroes of all time!

The war sequences of "Sergeant York" are unparalleled, and rival war sequences from any other film. Opposed to these thrilling moments are the tranquil scenes showing Alvin York's life in Tennessee, and the metamorphosis from renegade to a soldier-hero.

York is regenerated when a bolt of lightning rips his rifle from his hand and melts it into a heap of twisted metal. From then on he becomes a church-goer, and with the aid of Gracie Williams, his lovely mountain sweetheart, and faithful Pastor Pile, attempts to own a piece of rich bottomland.

Undoubtedly the film's greatest sequence is that one delineating York's capture of 132 Germans. The feat remains in war annals as one of the most amazing of its kind. More surprising still was York's admission that he had accomplished this only to stop more killing since he believed reverentially in the biblical adage "Thou Shalt Not Kill."

In addition to Gary Cooper, "Sergeant York" prominently features such personages as Walter Brennan as Pastor Pile, lovely Joan Leslie, George Tobias, Stanley Ridges, Margaret Wycherly, and thousands of others. Howard Hawks directed the Warner Bros. film.

Editorial

Advertise during 1942.

That is the advice of a nationally-known business analyst to the retail dealers of America.

This authority, whose writings are syndicated widely by newspapers in all sections of the nation, points out that new and heavier taxes, defense bond purchases, and relative scarcity in many retail lines are all factors to be considered by the merchant in mapping his course in 1942.

There are other factors.

One of the most obvious is that at least two important every day items—automobiles and tires—will be very difficult to obtain. Indeed, one might say that the supply of new tires and automobiles has been cut off entirely—as far as the average consumer is concerned.

This points to a couple of other very obvious facts:

Consumers will have more money to spend for other retail items—food, clothing, furnishings for the home, and other items, notwithstanding that they will have to pay war prices for many of them.

There will be more trading with home merchants.

This will be the general tendency regardless of the amount of advertising the home merchants do. But the home merchants, knowing that out-of-town retailers draw trade out of the home town by extensive and intensive advertising campaigns carried on with clock-like regularity, know that they will be expected to do the same in this new situation that the war has thrust upon us.

This will be a hard one to most of us. It will be a year of sorrow and blood, sweat and tears to many of us.

The phrase "business as usual" is now regarded as unpatriotic.

But trade must continue, subject to the prime consideration of winning the war.

There is another phrase that can be used wisely and not unpatriotically by the merchant during the coming year. And that is:

"Advertise—as usual."—The Lamesa Reporter.

Among the foods which are valuable sources of nicotinic acid are lean beef, corned beef, chicken, liver, and rabbit. Lesser amounts are found in milk, collards, kale, green peas, tomato juice, and turnip greens.

Liver contains a good supply of vitamin A, iron and phosphorus, and contains thiamin and nicotinic acid.

• On Texas Roadsides

In defending America, there is no occasion to overlook the need for keeping this country worth defending. The "woods and templed hills" of which we sing must not be ruined by shacks and billboards that in many places have converted scenic assets into rural slums. Roadsides are front windows that Texas can use to impress favorably the motorists on transcontinental roads that cross old ranges of the buffalo and the mustang.—The Dallas Morning News.

• This Sugar Shortage

It is said the "sugar shortage" is not a shortage of sugar but a shortage of bottoms (boats) in which to haul it. Japan caught us unawares and the army and navy are needing all the boats they can commandeer to meet the situation. Of what the Department of Agriculture is doing about sugar beet allotments we do not have any recent information. However, in the summer and fall beet growing acres were still being restricted carefully to keep from breaking the grower and glutting the market.—Homer Steen in The Floyd County Hesperian.

• War And Business

All kinds of proposals are being made to save business from destruction. This is war, and every person should be willing to go the limit in the defense of his home. But frankly, we believe that such radical curtailment would be unnecessary if the President was not so intent in carrying out his program of social reforms. This is war; and in war you cannot look at the clock. If the 40-hour per week law was repealed and men put back on full time production, there would be raw materials for the manufacture of many more essential items. In cases where imports of essential materials have been cut out by the war, it is a different story, and the only way to do is carefully guard the stock on hand.—Clyde Warwick in The Canyon News.

• Dollar A Year Patriotism

Shame on you, you $1 a year men in our Nation's Capital! We didn't know until it was revealed to the country the other day that you'd been spending most of your time and energy trying to land for your companies big, fat wartime government contracts instead of using, as you were supposed to do, your God-given brains and talents to help further the cause of national defense. We didn't know you were just common lobbyists instead of patriots. We didn't know your greed and selfishness exceeded your love of country. It was a noble gesture when you offered to donate your services to your country in a time of great peril and we looked upon you with pride and admiration. But now we think you ought to be pitched out the window and booted out of the city of Washington.—J. R. Huie in The Vernon Times.

• Have You Paid Up?

Are you behind in paying your bills? Lamesa merchants who have an aggregate of many thousands of dollars on their books, are asking that you make an effort to settle past due accounts. They are pointing out that a bad credit rating is not only bad for the credit, but for business as a whole. They point out the relationship between the individual's standing in the community and the credit rating he has with his local merchants.—Hal Collier in The Lamesa Reporter.

Washington Week

By RALPH HERBERT

Whatever may happen in other countries now at war or under the heel of axis armies, Americans will eat as usual. Except for a possible rationing of sugar to prevent the selfish from hoarding, and a lack of tea because of Japanese successes in the Far East, the American table promises to be about as usual.

America gets into the war just when farmers have completed a record production year and are planning another record for 1942. The largest total supply of food in history is on hand. In addition, there are large supplies of feeds in the ever-normal granary and there is time, before planting begins, to set new high goals for the farmers to attain in the present year. As a result, there is little or no excuse for any substantial increase in the price of agricultural commodities and the government is going to do everything in its power to squelch any attempt by dealers to impose speculative increases.

European continental markets have been almost completely lost, but this has been more than compensated for by increased exports to Great Britain and Latin-American countries. Total value of agricultural exports for the first nine months of 1941 was 12 per cent greater than in the preceding year.

In planning farm production for the present year the goal is: ample food for the people of the United States, plus abundant supplies for American armed forces, plus a surplus ample enough to feed America's allies in the war against axis powers.

This means that 1942 production must be highest in the nation's history, expansion being especially encouraged for increases in hogs, eggs, evaporated milk, cheese and chickens.

The whole program means an increase of a flat 15 per cent over previous high averages.

Odd Bits Of News

The University of Texas has awarded 33,130 degrees in its 58-year history, according to the annual report of Registrar E. J. Mathews. Of this total, 5,176 were in graduate fields.

When he left to join his regiment at Camp Croft, S. C., Private Jerry Callahan of Chicago asked his friends in an office building where he had been an elevator operator to write to him. He recently received a letter 247 feet long, bearing messages from more than 1,800 persons.

In a big home-coming celebration for Dr. F. L. McCormick at Drakesville, Mo., staged by rural women's clubs of the vicinity, an interesting feature was a parade of "babies" brought into the world with the doctor's aid—the oldest 37 years and the youngest less than one month old.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale, chairman of the University of Texas department of economics, has been named by the U. S. Department of Labor as a member of a committee to recommend a new minimum wage for the textile industry. He will represent the public interest in conferences with leaders of labor and industry.

Dr. C. P. Boner, University of Texas physicist and nationally known authority on sound, has been called to Harvard University as director of a program of research in acoustics for the services.

For roughage in feeding lambs, allow one-half alfalfa and one-half Johnson grass or Sudan hay. The hay should be green in color, well cured and free from mould.

I Saw

—By VIRGINIA ROBEY

As the first sand storm of the year brought grins and comments of "This seems like the old days," I SAW

L. M. Bartlett saying he had two big jobs off hand—for when he got his Leader renewed and his taxes paid, he was ready for another year. . . Hazel Adams wearing a new blue coat that was quite becoming. . . Miss Florence Jones saying she gussed the Americans are kind of wasteful people, "but I like us mighty well, don't you?" she added. She's saving papers and magazines for her young nephew, Johnnie Jones, who is collecting for the Cub Scouts.

Jim Cook, clerk in the local post office, saying that they could sell you most any kind of stamp you want. Besides postage stamps ranging from half a cent up to several dollars, you can get duck stamps, revenue stamps, defense stamps, federal vehicle use stamps, and probably some more, from the Post Office. . . Sidney Heath wishing he could go fishing. With the warm sunshine, it was that kind of a day.

Della Fay Coleman complaining how hard it was to walk the day after she'd played a practice game with the Quail Bob Whites, the first time she'd played basketball in several years. . . Frank Stafford of Lone Mound saying he'd been doing his part by way of tax money to help Uncle Sam for several years. "I don't know whether Uncle Sam is aware of it or not, but it sure does pinch me," he said. . . and R. E. Zeck agreeing that taxes are pretty steep sometimes.

Clint Richards saying The Leader staff could come out and help him take care of his small daughter who has the measles. Heard: that James Holly is saving old safety razor blades to give to the government. . . A. Parsons saying he used to have another initial in his name, but it was too much trouble to write more than one. . . Mrs. Clyde Murley returning a child's purse she'd found. . . Mary Brown and Gertrude Steel buying carbon paper for the county Food Stamp Office.

Mrs. Oscar Payne telling how well the Samnorwood district had done on its collections for Red Cross. Samnorwood and those school districts that make up the Consolidated District have to date raised more than $400. "That's more than any other school district has raised, and we feel that we've done awfully well," she commented.

There'll be no egg shortage as far as Mrs. Harry Gilbert is concerned. Although she lives in town, she was in a local grocery store the other night with a bucket of eggs to sell. . . And she's not all. Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Parsons, Sr., have had a chicken house and chicken yard built back of their fine new home on Amarillo Street. The Sandy Parsons, Jr.s, have chickens too, and not only get enough for their family use, but some to sell. They went to quite a bit of trouble to build a number of nests, only to find that all the hens laid in one nest, and nothing could make them change.

LaVerne Eiland, new clerk behind the soda fountain at the Palace, with a smile for everyone that came along. Her friendliness is quite an asset anywhere she might be working.

Porter Loving swooping down to make a perfect landing in a cotton field just a few hundred yards west of the town section Saturday afternoon. He came for a brief visit with his family from southern Kansas, where he trains civilian pilots.

BRIEF TOPICS

Calcium and phosphorus are the two most important minerals needed by dairy cows. Sources are ground limestone, oystershell flour and legume roughages grown on soils rich in calcium.

A farmer's sign near West Point, Miss., reads: "Positively no more baptizing in my pasture. Twice my gate has been left open by Christians, and before I chase my heifers all over the country again the sinners around here can go where they are supposed to go."

No Distinction In Registrants Over, Under 28

Under recently amended regulations no distinction is made in classifying registrants over 28 years of age and registrants under 28 years of age, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, said early this week.

Prior to the declaration of war, men over 28 had been placed in Class I-H by reason of age and were not subject to induction. Under new regulations, this classification no longer exists and all local boards have been instructed to reopen immediately all cases of I-H registrants and to place each registrant in the class found by the board to be proper under current regulations, without regard to age.

Likewise, registrants now in Class IV-E-H, who are conscientious objectors to combatant and noncombatant service, but were deferred by reason of age, will now be eligible for immediate orders to report for work of national importance, provided they otherwise qualify under current regulations.

All such registrants, General Page said, will receive written notice of reclassification.

"I want to take this opportunity again to caution all registrants, regardless of his classification, to keep in touch with their local boards and to notify them immediately of any change of address," General Page said. "A registrant becomes liable to severe penalties provided by the Selective Service Act for delinquency if he fails to notify his local board promptly of any change of address."

General Page also emphasized that registrants who are expecting to be called into a branch of the armed forces to which they have made application should notify their local boards and report all developments in connection therewith. This, he said, will enable the local board to cooperate with the registrant in his particular ambition to serve his country.

Griggs-Burton Suit Reversed

Reversed and remanded by the court of civil appeals at Amarillo, the damage suit of Mrs. M. V. Griggs and Mrs. C. E. Burton of Childress against the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway Company, will be sent back to Childress for another trial in district court.

Mrs. Griggs and Mrs. Burton are seeking damages as a result of the deaths of their husbands on a Denver engine which plunged through flood-weakened Salt Fork bridge north of Wellington in June, 1938. Both men were drowned in the river.

The case was tried three times in district court in Childress before a verdict was reached. Two trials resulted in declaration of mistrials. The third trial awarded the women damages of $13,800 each, but the appeals court reversed the verdict after an appeal by the railroad company.

The case is expected to be docketed for trial at the summer term of district court, which will open next June.

Its name is Golden Krust Bread. We bake it—our sales are growing—we are making new friends by the hundreds. And what's the cause of all this enthusiasm? Just this, we have added organic iron, calcium, phosphorus and Vitamin B1 to every ounce of bread we bake—the same proportions you'll find in an unmilled berry of wheat.

Youths Leave For Defense Training

Six Wellington boys have been accepted for defense training, according to Marvin W. Dabbs, area counselor for the NYA. The boys are Herbert L. Bearden, Lucien G. Bearden, Hermett A. Rogers, Kermett A. Rogers, Thomas D. Austin, and John K. McGill, Jr.

They left Monday for the NYA mechanical school at Canyon for a three month's finding course. If they prove within that time to be adapted to welding or sheet-metal work, they will be sent to an advanced school in South Houston preparatory to obtaining work in the shipbuilding industry.

Mr. Dabbs stated that he will be in the office of John Harper in the First National Bank building each first and third Thursday to accept applications from young men desiring to enroll in some defense project.

To be eligible for the training, applicants must be between the ages of 17 and 19, mechanically inclined, and must pass a rigid physical examination. They must also secure a minority release and be able to secure a birth certificate.

Mr. Dabbs stated that high school graduates could make application for enrollment at the NYA airplane mechanics school located at the new U. S. Naval Base at Corpus Christi.

Regulation On Government Cane Is Explained

Regarding the harvesting of cane seed off bundles cut from government acres in 1941, J. C. Emmert, county AAA chairman said this week:

"It has come to the county committee that some producers are anticipating the harvesting of cane seed off the bundles that were cut on government acres in 1941. We wish to advise that this is strictly against the regulations. When cane is headed for feed, seed, or syrup, it becomes soil depleting and is counted as grain sorghum and the penalty is eight times the rate of pay received on general crops, or an average of eight dollars an acre in the county."

"It is a fact that some producers in the county failed to plant their total soil depleting acreage, which is your cotton allotment plus your feed allotment, plus your wheat allotment if you had a wheat allotment, and in those cases, the producers could harvest enough cane to finish their total soil depleting allotment and use the seed any way they see fit—to sell or feed either—but we would advise that any person before harvesting cane to come to the county office and see just how many acres he can harvest without a penalty and in order that we may send a reporter out and check the acreage harvested later."

"We will appreciate your co-operation in this matter."

Student Choir Sings At Meet

The high school choir of the Quail Consolidated Schools gave a demonstration of the work done in high school music at a meeting in Childress Tuesday of county superintendents, music teachers, and city superintendents of the districts. This included 13 counties and 132 schools.

The subject for the demonstration given by Mrs. Carl Chaudoin, music teacher at Quail, and her students, was "Building a High School Choir." The talk was based on problems that confront the music teacher in building a choir. Some of the problems mentioned were classification of voices, selection of voices, voice testing, use of vocalises in training the choir, and repertoire.

The mixed choir sang two numbers a capella, "Gloria Patria," by Palestrina, and "Ride the Chariot," a negro spiritual. These numbers were followed by a demonstration of vocal drills and sight reading. The girls' glee club completed the demonstration by singing two standard numbers, "Without a Song," by Vincent Youmans, and "My Little Nest of Heavenly Blue," by Lehar; and two popular numbers in three-part arrangements, "I Don't Want to Set the World on Fire," and "Elmer's Tune."

A Week Of The War

Chairman Nelson of the War Production Board abolished the OPM and transferred its function regarding production, purchasing, priorities, materials, civilian supply and subcontracting to a new streamlined organization under the Board. In addition, Mr. Nelson created under the new Board a progress reporting and a planning unit to suggest improvements from time to time.

Mr. Nelson stressed two fundamental differences between the old and new organization: an increased amount of authority and a more definite delegation of responsibility to promote speed. He said the main objective of the new organization was the full mobilization in the war effort of every national resource, large and small.

Mr. Nelson named Ernest Kanzler to convert auto industry facilities to war use. Mr. Kanzler will have complete authority to do whatever is necessary, Mr. Nelson said. He said that he expected to appoint as many other men with similar authority for other industries as are necessary.

The War Front

President Roosevelt told his press conference an inter-allied supply council and similar joint commands are in existence, and excellent progress is being made to strengthen the position of the United States in the Southwest Pacific.

The Army announced Gen. MacArthur's forces have repulsed continuous heavy attacks by reinforced Japanese units on Batan Peninsula, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy with comparatively low losses to the defenders. The entire Japanese 14th Army, together with other units, landed on Luzon. U. S. Army forces sank a Japanese cruiser and a large tanker 100 miles off Jolo, and shot down 16 enemy planes in the Philippines.

The Navy announced the freighter SS Brazos was sunk in a collision 120 miles southwest of Cape Hatteras, and during the past week U-boats sank the City of Atlanta, the Latvian freighter Cilvaira, the tankers Coimbra and Allan Jackson, and torpedoed the tanker Malay. The Navy did not announce number of U-boats sunk or captured but said "some of the recent visitors to our territorial waters will never enjoy the return trip portion of their voyage." The U. S. Navy sank three enemy merchant ships off Tokyo Bay and torpedoed a 5,000-ton enemy vessel in Binanga Bay.

Report To The Nation

The Office of Facts and Figures, coordinating the information activities of all Federal agencies to keep the public informed of the war effort, issued a 62-page booklet, "Report to the Nation," outlining the defense and war programs from the beginning to the present. In separate chapters the report discusses price control activities, alien control, economic warfare, production of all necessary war items, civilian defense, war financing and all other phases of the national effort.

Autos, Trucks And Tires

The WPB ordered all production of passenger cars and light trucks for any purpose halted February 1. The announcement of the order said all military demands can be filled from the stockpile of autos that will be on hand by that date and which cannot be sold without Government permission. OPA announced that there is no prospect of rationing for used cars or of commandeering of private cars. OPA amended the auto freezing order to permit transfer of title to any vehicle under the terms of installment contracts drawn up before January 1 and repossession of any vehicle involved in a breach of such contract. The agency also amended its tire freezing rules to allow clergymen to purchase new tires and tubes. OPA put a ceiling price on materials used in retreading used tires.

Transportation

The Interstate Commerce Commission granted railroads permission to increase passenger fares 10 percent. Exempt from the increase are special fares granted to military or naval men on furlough. Permission was also granted to the Railway Express Agency, Inc., to make an emergency additional charge of 10 cents per package sent at first, second or third-class rates.

Army

The President said the United Nations are collaborating with the U. S. to effect transfers to the American armed service of the Americans who had enlisted before the war under foreign flags. War Secretary Stimson announced completion of plans for the formation of a 6th Armored Division and two additional all-Negro units: an infantry division and an air pursuit squadron. The House passed and sent to the Senate legislation appropriating $12,500,000,000 to provide 33,000 new Army planes and equipment for them.

Navy

President Roosevelt asked Congress for $15,960,000,000 for the Navy and signed a bill authorizing establishment of a special limited-service Marine Corps composed of World War veterans and older men to be used in patrolling and guarding vital facilities. The Navy announced that students in school or college who have not yet reached their 20th birthday may enlist in the Naval Reserve with permission to complete the current school year before reporting for duty.

Civilian Defense

President Roosevelt asked Congress for $100,000,000 to be used by the OCD for air raid protection of civilians. Congress authorized the appropriation and formally placed the responsibility for civilian protection with the OCD. The FBI announced it will conduct special war traffic schools for police of 120 strategically located cities. The War Department announced that in cooperation with the OCD it will establish six more schools to teach civilian defense workers protection against chemical weapons such as incendiary bombs.

Labor

Labor Secretary Perkins reported hourly earnings of wage earners in manufacturing industries rose 1.5 percent to a new high of 78.1 percent—15 percent above the same time last year. Average hours worked per week (40.3) were 4 percent above last year and weekly earnings ($32.81), 2 percent higher.

Labor Director Hillman announced regional labor conferences will soon be held in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Columbus, Ohio, "to bring labor organizations into the war effort on their own ground." Labor organization officials, Government officials and representatives of universities and colleges will attend the meetings.

Agriculture

The Department of Agriculture announced it will increase purchases of eggs to support market prices at a level at least 85 percent of parity. The Commodity Credit Corporation announced it will offer 100,000,000 bushels of wheat for sale to aid livestock producers to attain new production goals. Agricultural Marketing Administrator Henderson reported more than 2,650,000,000 pounds of agricultural commodities valued at $300,000,000 had been shipped to Britain under the Lend Lease program up to December 1. He said the war in the Pacific had not changed the basic program for agricultural operations—"we are continuing heavy purchases to make available the vital supply of foods for England and Russia."

Ships

The Maritime Commission awarded contracts for construction of 660 vessels. This brought the total of Liberty ships contracted for to 997. Labor Director Hillman proposed a plan to place shipyard workers on a six-day, 48-hour week in the Atlantic, Gulf and Great Lakes zones.

Priority Unemployment

President Roosevelt asked Congress for $300,000,000 to aid workers who lose their jobs temporarily because of conversion of civilian industry to war production, if the worker is willing to take special training to fit him for a war industry job. Under the program workers would receive a weekly benefit payment equal to 60 percent of regular earnings, but in no case more than $24 a week in benefits for 26 weeks. The Federal grant would make up the difference between unemployment compensation paid by the State and the 60 percent war dislocation benefit.

The WPA announced it is working on a program to shift to WPA rolls those workers dislocated by the war who do not fall within the scope of the program outlined by the President.

County Pioneer In Story Of T-Anchor Reunion

So long as two old cowpunchers can get there, there will be a reunion of the Western Cowpunchers' Association of All Brands on the T Anchor range near Canyon. And Lewis Nurdyke of Amarillo has immortalized and publicized this annual gathering of old-timers in a richly reminiscent article in the first March issue of Ranch Romances magazine.

Mr. Nurdyke, who is on the staff of the Amarillo News-Globe, calls his story "Trail Dust," and for it draws on the memories of many well known cowpunchers—among them Elmore Dodson of Dodson, Blue Stevens of Hale Center, and Mel Armstrong and John Arnott of Amarillo. Harold Bugbee of Clarendon has illustrated the anecdotes, including an especially fine head of Blue Stevens; and the issue of Ranch Romances containing this article of great interest to local readers is on sale at newsstands from January 30th to February 12th.

UNCLE SAM's fast-moving ski troops put military power in the right place at the right time.

America's electric companies have done the same job with industrial power. They were ready when the crisis came!

They powered new plane plants, tank factories and shipyards almost overnight — and rushed reserve electric power to key points over carefully interconnected systems.

As the demand grew greater, they speeded new construction. Last year, alone, they installed over 2½ million more horsepower—enough to light one-quarter of all the homes in America!

Good business management made this possible. The same companies, the same management, will go on increasing the production of power for protection—until skiing is a sport again, instead of a war maneuver!

Fire Department Answers 3 Calls

Three fire alarms have been answered during the last week by the local fire department.

The first of these fires, Tuesday, January 20, occurred at the servant house in the rear of the Cameron Beam home. The house was badly damaged, and the clothing and furniture of the negro couple occupying it were destroyed.

Second of the blazes was a grass fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Morris. No damage resulted.

A stack of feed belonging to Marion Hicks, at the west edge of town, caught fire and was approximately half destroyed Tuesday afternoon, January 27. Origin of the blaze has not been determined.

Alarms on each of these fires has been turned in between 1:40 and 1:45 in the afternoon.

lie should read about priorities and become as familiar with them as possible, for the present economy and the war effort moves around the priorities setup.

"I decry the patriotism of housewives who hoard sugar. Such as this will bring on other rationing," he said.

"I don't know how soon priorities will come to food," Mr. Clements said later.

Recognizing that there is danger in the present economic setup, the speaker stated that thousands of factories have been forced to close their doors because they are unable to secure materials with which to work.

In closing, he warned that Americans must not forget that they are a democratic nation, and that on the war's close, they must see that no dictator comes to power.
