Gloria Shaw, director of the Senior Center, served as emcee and introduced special guests. Dr. Don Newbury, president of Western Texas College, gave the invocation and Bill Dryden, vice chairman of the Scurry County Senior Center Advisory Council, gave the welcome.

Jean Smith, assistant director at the Senior Center, and Bonnie Schupp, center secretary, presented the volunteer awards.

Shaw and Mary Farris, VIVA coordinators, presented the VIVA station awards. Shaw also presented the special awards.

Quilts were given away as door prizes. Those winning were Mr and Mrs. Carl Foree and Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Askins. Askins returned the quilt to the center to be auctioned off during the upcoming annual May Day Celebration.

Members of the Psi Zeta chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at Western Texas College helped to serve the meal.

Theme for the banquet was "Patterns for Senior Happiness."

PAC fund use noted

By the Associated Press

Gary Hart is accusing Walter Mondale's campaign of making "back-door use" of money from special interest political committees, while the former vice president says his chief rival for the Democratic presidential nomination has turned his back on the nation's cities.

Hart, trailing in recent polls in New York state as the crucial Tuesday primary looms, went on national network television Thursday night with an appeal his aides said was aimed at presenting his "new ideas" to an uncertain electorate.

He also used it to confront Mondale's claim of experience. "Those who are experienced in the wrong decisions can't be relied on to make the right decisions in a crisis," Hart said.

Mondale kept up his intense attack on Hart, saying the Colorado senator has "a very, very bad record on housing" and little interest in urban issues. Mondale spoke Thursday at an urban-issues forum and in a written rundown on some of Hart's Senate votes.

"Throughout his Senate career, he has turned his back on many of the programs and commitments that aid our cities," said the document distributed by Mondale's campaign. It said Hart's record showed "a pattern of neglect of the needs of America's cities."

Hart, sticking to New York City again today, told the same forum Thursday that despite their sometimes bitter debate, he and Mondale have no serious differences on civil rights, education, support of Israel or the environment.

"In terms of our values, our commitment and our ideals, I think we are very, very close and our records would indicate that," Hart said.

His pollster, Dottie Lynch, said many New Yorkers have indicated they are sympathetic to Hart but skeptical about his views.

Driver rolls truck

A 35-year-old Virginia man was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital early Friday morning for treatment of injuries sustained when his tractor-trailer rig overturned.

The one-vehicle traffic mishap was reported on U.S. Highway 84 about two miles east of Hermleigh around 8 a.m.

According to reports, Dan Labbe of Fredricksburg, Virginia was driving a his tractor-trailer rig westbound when he apparently lost control. It left the road and overturned.

Labbe was taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by units of Aid Ambulance-Snyder for treatment of facial lacerations and possible back injuries.

Two wreckers were required at the scene.

TICKETS ANYONE? — These six Western Texas College coeds will be selling tickets to the WTC NIRA Rodeo during the next two weeks as they campaign for the 1984 WTC Rodeo Queen title. The annual event is scheduled April 12-15. Each girl will be required to sell $250 worth of tickets to qualify as a queen candidate. One of those qualifying will then be selected based upon a vote of the WTC rodeo team. Candidates are (from left) Becky Miller of Snyder, Jayme Jones of Snyder, Monica Perez of Stamford, Judy Wiseman of Sudan, Lynn Dawson of Westbrook and Lori Byrd of Snyder. (SDN Staff Photo)

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If the government ran it...crime wouldn't pay."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Last week, Doug Manning in the Hereford Brand, gave some tips about talking golf. This week, he says even if you don't play well, it is important to look good.

"Play with new balls, even if they must be borrowed. Old balls say we are hackers. A new ball, even facing a water hazard, says confidence."

It reminded Manning of a man who borrowed a ball from his partner and then promptly hit it into the water. The hacker borrowed another ball and repeated the slice.

After five borrowed balls his partner blew up and said, "Play your own ball, those things are expensive."

"If you can't afford balls, you ought not to play this game," came the partner's reply.

Manning says dress for golf, but don't overdress. "This is tricky. Blue jeans are a no-no, but to look like a pro can be tacky."

Manning recalled when he first began to play, someone gave him some real pro clothes. He went to a strange course and a gallery gathered on the first tee box to witness the start of this sharp looking guy. Three slices into a cotton field put the gallery back in the club house.

Another tip: "Lie about lies. No matter what happens, blame it on a bad lie. This is not actually lying since there is no good lie except when the ball is on a tee."

Pet vaccination day is Saturday

Saturday is Dog Vaccination Day in Snyder and pet owners may have their animals immunized for rabies courtesy of the City of Snyder and the local Jaycees chapter.

Shots will be offered from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the east end of the ag annex of the Scurry County Coliseum.

Jaycees remind that all pets are eligible for the vaccination, to include cats as well as dogs.

A charge of $6 per pet is asked. This covers the cost of the rabies vaccine and city-required registration tags will be issued to pet owners free of charge on that day only.

Snyder Jaycees will be assisting with the vaccination process and all three local veterinarians will be participating. This includes Drs. Robert Kidd, Robert Taylor and Charles Church.

City of Snyder employees will be on hand to issue pet tags.

'Candyman's' letter unanswered

AUSTIN (AP) — Condemned killer Ronald Clark O'Bryan's handwritten plea for life was reviewed by the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles today, but an official said nothing could be done.

"The board individually looked at the letter and decided there was no issue before it," said board director John Byrd.

O'Bryan's letter — pleading "I do not want to die! — was addressed to the board and to Gov. Mark White. It was carried to the Capitol building Thursday evening, but the two people who wanted to hand it to White gave up after waiting for him for more than two hours.

O'Bryan, nicknamed the "Candyman" by death row inmates, is scheduled to die by lethal injection before sunrise Saturday after being convicted of killing his 8-year-old son with cyanide-laced Halloween candy in 1974.

His letter was carried by Austin accountant David Sefton, who worked in a church ministry with O'Bryan a decade ago, and Kim Manganaro, a college student who will witness the Saturday execution.

On Tuesday, the Board of Pardons and Paroles voted 4-2 against recommending that White delay the execution for 90 days.

"This is my last shot at things," Sefton said today. "I talked to the Board of Pardons and Paroles and things really look negative there. They don't want to consider the letter."

O'Bryan's letter said:

"Let me explain something for your (White's) and the Board of Pardons and Parole benefit. I do not want to die! I am prepared as a Christian for my death under any circumstances. However, I have no death wish — nil."

Sefton said he picked up the letter while visiting O'Bryan Wednesday in death row near Huntsville. Sefton arrived at the governor's office Thursday afternooon with Miss Manganaro, 18, whose letter-writing led to a friendship with O'Bryan. Miss Manganaro was chosen by O'Bryan to witness his execution.

O'Bryan's letter asked White to allow more time for legal maneuvers in the case. The governor has the authority to grant a 30-day delay.

O'Bryan insists he is innocent, and Sefton said he believes him.

Q. — What are the plans for the Tiger drive-in theatre?

A. — The owner of the property is Noret Theatres based in Lamesa, and a spokesman there said Friday that current activity noted at the site is for cleanup of the area. They said at present there are no definite plans for future use of the property, although it was noted the facility is not going to be used as a drive-in theatre any longer.

In Brief

Brush fires are now out

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — Firefighters were expected to stand watch throughout today to make sure brush fires that consumed six houses, a wildlife management center and 3,500 acres of Hill Country land don't ignite again.

"...There are are still hot spots. You get a wind come up, all it takes is for it to blow an ember from it into the grass, and you've got trouble again," Kerrville Fire Capt. Steve Langlinais said Thursday night.

"They'll watch all four fires throughout Friday, I'd say ... to make sure it doesn't break out again," Langlinais said of the fires, which were pronounced under control at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Winds gusting up to 60 mph helped the fires to spread on Tuesday and Wednesday. But winds were calm on Thursday, and that eased the attempt to get the blazes under control.

Kerrville Fire Marshal John Mann said the next step is to find out what caused the fires.

Restitution is in millions

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas courts are becoming more aware of the need to require criminals to repay their victims, an official of the Texas Adult Probation Commission says.

Commission spokesman Dick Lewis made the comment as the commission announced Thursday that $52.1 million was turned over to the state by Texas probationers last year to help pay for the crimes they committed. That was an increase of more than 25 percent over 1982, he said.

Under the adult probation system, criminals may be required to pay restitution to victims, court costs, fines, fees for court-appointed lawyers and fees for the supervision of people on probation.

According to the commission, $10.9 million of the 1983 total was used as restitution for victims, up from $9 million in 1982.

Lukacs and Rubens don't always write about slams. Here is a simple one no-trump contract that anyone should make, but most players won't.

The first two diamonds are ducked because South hopes that West has led from a five-card suit. No such luck! East, in with the third diamond, leads a spade, which you as declarer, sitting South, will win in dummy. You want to be in dummy because you can't make the hand if the club finesse is wrong, and you must attack clubs immediately.

The club situation here is one that any regional champion should know how to play. You need four club tricks, so which club should you lead from dummy?

If you lead the three-spot, you must win in your hand and will have no way to repeat the finesse, so the three-spot lead is out.

How about the jack lead? You can retain the lead in dummy just once, and that is not enough. (Actually you can retain the lead twice by throwing your 10 under the jack. If you do, East will cover the second club lead and you will make only three club tricks.)

Will the nine-spot lead be a winner any time East holds the king? It surely will. If the king covers, you take your ace, go back to the jack and have your four club tricks. If the king doesn't cover, you remain in dummy to lead the jack and get your four club tricks.

As Sherlock Holmes would say: "Elementary, my dear Watson."

The Deep Creek Chapter of the American Business Women's Assn. held its spring enrollment event Marcy 27 at the Snyder Country Club. Karen Carmichael, viee president, opened the event by introducing the officers and two guests.

A program was presented by Jackie Sloan, Naida Garza, Glenda Freeman and Murray Anne Ray. Topics covered were professionalism, education, meetings, travel, self-improvement and publication.

The evening closed with an invitation to membership. The Deep Creek Chapter of ABWA is a new chapter in Scurry County and their main objectives are to promote the professional, educational, cultural and social advancement of business women.

Educational in nature, ABWA chapters awarded more than $2,000,000 in scholarships to women students during the past year. In addition, ABWA National Scholarship Fund awarded over $300,000 in scholarships during the same period, according to an ABWA spokesman.

Business women in the Scurry County area interested in becoming a member or desiring further information about the association may contact Karen Whittenburg, membership chairman, at 573-8564 or 573-3837.

Contact make-up

Many women are in a quandary about wearing eye makeup with their contact lenses. Here are some easy tips that will make it safer to look beautiful as well as see! Don't apply eyeshadow at the base of eyelashes. The same goes for mascara — start your mascara a bit above the base of your lashes to avoid flaking. Also forget about lash-lengthener mascaras as the filaments may flake off into your eye. Never line the inside lids of your eyes. You may, however, line below the lower lashes and smudge a bit for a more natural look.

Baby sitter credited with saving two boys lives

GREENVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Two youngsters buried by debris when tornadoes ripped through their home and littered the street with corpses credit their survival to a fast-thinking babysitter who told them, "Somehow we're going to get out."

Nine-year-old Chad Sturgeon was sitting on his bed talking to his babysitter, Jennifer Olrogge, when he suddenly "heard a train coming."

Chad said Thursday that the 15-year-old sitter woke up his 8-year-old brother, Blake, and told them to lie on the floor.

"While we were down there, all sorts of glass was flying around," Chad said. Then pictures came off the wall, and the roof came off. Part of it went up, part of it came down.

The room, and the youngsters, were quickly covered with debris.

"Then it was all over. She said 'Get up. Somehow we're going to get out,'" Chad recalled.

Reluctantly giving an interview in what was once the family's beautifully appointed den, Chad explained that debris had blocked the kitchen door.

"So we went to Momma's room. A whole wall had fallen, so we jumped out there," Chad said.

"Then we saw (dead) people out there in the street, and then some people came and got us," added the youngster, his voice quivering and tears on his cheeks.

"I'm so glad Momma wasn't home in the bedroom at the time because that wall would have fallen on her."

Ann Sturgeon said she and her husband, Ed, were out with friends when the tornado hit their home six miles southwest of downtown Greenville just after 9 p.m. Wednesday.

They said it was a miracle their boys weren't killed.

"There's no way they should have gotten out of that bedroom," said Sturgeon, his fashionable 8-room home in shambles, the built-in pool polluted with debris. "It took us two hours just to clear the garbage off the bed."

Added Mrs. Sturgeon: "God just got them out. They couldn't have done it alone. He did it. He was in full control of them."

Revival continues

Revival services at the Church of God, 21st and Avenue Q, will continue through Sunday. The first service got underway Wednesday night.

Nightly services begin at 7:30 p.m. except Sunday when services are at 9:45 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The Rev. W. R. Collins of Weatherford, a former district overseer of several Church of God districts, is the evangelist in charge services.

Area Baptists set meeting

The Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association associational meeting is set for Tuesday at the Avenue D Baptist Church in Snyder.

A supper will be served by the church beginning at 6 p.m. and the executive board and WMU meetings will begin at 6:45 p.m.

Dr. Robert Polk will present the message entitled "How to Raise The Level of Giving in Your Church."

Local church hosts youth weekend retreat

Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church will host a Search for Christian Maturity retreat beginning 6:30 p.m. Friday evening and continuing through Sunday afternoon.

The closing cermony will begin at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the parish hall.

The Youth Ministry Board of the Diocese of Lubbock will sponsor the retreat.

The search program is designed to help young people experience Christ in their lives. It gives youth a deeper insight into the meaning of Christianity.

Sixty new searchers are expected to attend the retreat. They will be assisted by older Searchers who have already completed the retreat as well as other leaders from the local church and throughout the diocese.

Directors are John Mancias of Lubbock and Tommy Rios and Kathy Hernandez, both of Snyder.

Your Birthday

March 31, 1984

You're the type who prides yourself upon your lack of dependence on others, but his coming year your most successful ventures will be those accomplished in conjunction with equally talented associates.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Two factors may cause you to fall short of your aspirations today: One is a lack of initiative, the other an inability to clearly define objectives. Major changes are in store for Aries in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predicitons today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) An absence of imagination isn't your problem today. Avoidable difficultties may be created because you're sold on too many illogical schemes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It may be wise to suspect ulterior motives today if a casual acquaintance offers you a proposition that sounds too good to be true.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your objectives today will be worthy ones, but onlookers could arouse doubts. Your aims and theirs won't be in concert.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If someone asks you for specific instructions today about how to perform a task, don't pretend you know how if you really don't.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Just because a friend was lucky in a chancy venture is no guarantee today that you'll be able to repeat that performance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It will prove wise today to just be yourself and do the best you can. If you try to be all things to all people, the results will be disappointing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Normally you're not the type who wastes time getting down to work but today considerable momentum is apt to be lost by daydreaming or rationalizing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Avoid activities today which could bruise your budget. Later, when bills come due, you'll be glad you exercised fiscal self-discipline.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Disappointment of even rejection is likely today if you expect those who love you to drop what they're doing in order to cater to your whims.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your listeners will put stock in what you say today, so resist temptations to pass on financial tips about which you know little.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Prudence must be practiced today or else your extravagance will offset your gains. You're adept at acquisition, but equally adroit at squandering.

Dear Abby

Fussy Grandma Insists That The Dog Dress for Dinner

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My Grandpa died, so Grandma came to live with us right after the first of the year. We have a bulldog named Tuffy, and Grandma isn't used to dogs. Anyway, whenever Tuffy comes around, Grandma makes a face and turns her head the other way. She spends most of her time in her room, but she always comes out to have dinner with the family.

One day last week she gave me a pair of pants she had knitted for Tuffy, and she asked me to please put the pants on him because she thinks it's disgusting to see him run around "naked." Abby, all dogs are naked and nobody cares.

Well, I put the pants on Tuffy and he didn't like it one bit, but it made Grandma happy. Mom and Dad say it won't hurt to put the pants on Tuffy when Grandma comes out of her room for dinner.

What do you think of this weird problem?

KEVIN (AGE 10)

DEAR KEVIN: I think I know who wears the pants at your house—and it's not Tuffy. Unless you want to pick a bone with Grandma, put the pants on Tuffy when she's around.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I just turned 18 and my boyfriend is 22. We both work. We decided to live together, but my parents do not approve of the idea. They think if we are going to live together we should be married first.

Abby, neither of us is ready for marriage yet. Besides, when I get married I want it to be for keeps because my religion looks down on divorce. What do you say?

ST. LOUIS READER

DEAR READER: You are wise to realize that you aren't ready for marriage. But I know of no religion that "looks down" on divorce that doesn't also look down on fornication.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Two days ago I made one of the most important decisions of my 26 years. I quit my job.

The reason: I was outnumbered by smokers. Out of 50 people employed at this company, only three were nonsmokers. Imagine that! I worked for eight hours a day in a room that was 11-by-13 feet with three two-and-a-half-pack-a-day smokers.

Abby, except for their smoking, these people were friendly and pleasant, but I just couldn't deal with the smoke.

It was a shame that I had to leave a job I liked so much, but I know I was smart to leave.

PROUD OF MYSELF IN HAVERHILL, MASS.

DEAR PROUD: I don't know the laws in Haverhill with regard to a person's right to work in a smoke-free office, but had you lived in Minneapolis, San Francisco, Palo Alto or Sacramento, you would not have had to quit your job. The smokers would have had to quit smoking in the office.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A housewife asked for a witty comeback when she was asked, "... and what do you do?"

I say, "I have 10 kids, a husband and an invalid mother-in-law living with me, and you ask me, 'What do I do?'"

Paul Harvey

The late Ward Walker tried to imagine what it would be like if YOU had first discovered natural gas NOW.

You could foresee enormous potential for this new energy source, for light and heat and power ...

But...

If you had to clear with the EPA...

The very idea, the bureaucrats and the scardy cats would say — piping into the homes of our nation an ordorless, colorless, poisonous, explosive gas!

Why, it could be ignited by a cigarette ...

Or by an electric spark ...

The humanists and the environmentalists would picket your house with posters saying such things as:

. HE WANTS TO BURN US UP...

HE WANTS TO BLOW US US...

PROTECT THE INNOCENT FROM THIS POISON GAS...

—And environmental impact studies would question the safety of removing from underground the jillions of cubic feet, predicting cities like Houston would sink into the bowels of the earth.

And what would happen should a major gas line blow up!

And would not the air we breathe be polluted forever by all those jets of burning gas?

The EPA would surely say ... no way. Never.

And our nation would be poorer.

Baylor University's Institute of Environmental Studies has a long-run interest in alcohol as a fuel.

Graduate students there built an ethanol production unit years ago, later an industrial size unit.

This larger unit took the waste from the Mars Candy Company and distilled it into alcohol fuel. That fuel powered a cross-country flight by a Baylor professor.

Recently, Baylor's Dr. W. Merle Alexander went to Honduras, noted that hard-working people remained impoverished largely because they could not afford to mechanize their agriculture. Gasoline prices were high and sugar prices were depressed.

So Honduras remains mostly thatched huts with an average wage for the few who can find work of 50 cents an hour.

But farmer coops can own their own farmland in Honduras. And Dr. Alexander returned to Waco to propose donating to Honduran farmers the solar-powered equipment necessary to convert some of their cheap sugar into precious fuel.

It's on its way. Within a very few years it is conveivable that one-third of that country's sugar could produce all of its fuel; that at least one country can go from total dependence on foreign fuel to total independence.

Baylor students will go there to help get it started.

Alcohol as medicine?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your column pointing out the health hazards of drinking alcohol. Is there a level of consumption considered safe for a middle-aged man in reasonably good health? A level that won't cause vitamin deficiencies or lowering of hormone levels?

I've also read that approximately two ounces of whiskey per day actually seems to help prevent heart attacks in men. Do you agree that moderate consumption can be beneficial? What are the adverse effects?

DEAR READER — Since you're talking about using alcohol as a medicine to prevent heart attacks, you have to look at it medically.

When doctors choose a medicine for a patient, they try to choose the most effective medicine that's least likely to cause complications or side effects. The same applies to using alcohol as a medicine.

There are studies that show a decrease in cholesterol and heart attacks in men who consume up to two drinks a day. More than that may cause high blood pressure in some people and increase the rate of heart attacks. Also, alcohol is an addictive drug in some people. Just as doctors should avoid prescribing other drugs that may cause dependence, it's wise to avoid prescribing alcohol if there are other choices that accomplish the same thing — and there are.

Adequate amounts of regular exercise induce the same alterations in cholesterol that are shown to occur in men who use alcohol. In fact, men who exercise regularly may not get any additional changes from drinking alcohol.

A proper diet and exercise is more healthy than using the potentially hazardous drug, alcohol. And there are new medicines or combinations of medicines available now that appear to be more effective.

As you requested, I'm sending you the Health Letter 14-6, Alcohol Can Be Dangerous to your Health. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has been bothered by fungus in his fingernails and toenails for several years. It makes the nails thick and they look just awful. We moved from the North to Mississippi and we've found fungus infections are common here.

He took a small white tablet for more than a year, but he stopped since he didn't see any improvement.

Is there anything that can be done for fungus?

DEAR READER — While I can't say for certain, it's likely your husband was taking Fulvicin, also known as griseofulvin. It's commonly prescribed for fungus infections of the nails. Many of the topical medicines that we use for fungus of the skin areas aren't effective in treating fungus of the nails.

Fungus infections of the toenail may even cause them to turn black. You usually have to take griseofulvin for a year to 15 months or more until normal nail tissue has replaced the old diseased area. It's true that it's not effective in all cases, but it's highly successful in many.

Granting stay would be hard

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Mark White says he would find it difficult to grant a stay of execution for Ronald Clark O'Bryan, the condemned child killer known as the "Candy Man."

White, who was in Houston to attend a conference on education, said the public would lose confidence in a system that allowed 10 years to elapse before a court's sentence resulted in punishment. The governor is empowered to grant a 30-day stay of execution.

"People are entitled to see the judgment of the courts carried out," White said Thursday.

O'Bryan is scheduled to die before dawn Saturday for the 1974 killing of his 8-year-old son, Timothy. The boy was poisoned with Halloween candy. O'Bryan was convicted in 1975 and sentenced to die.

"It used to be a crime could be committed in January, a trial would be held in the middle of the year and the sentence was carried out, sometimes, by the end of the year," White said.

Wilkerson updates Task Force members

Les Wilkerson, of the Texas Council of Governments spoke to members of the Scurry County Task Force last week, discussing two functions of the council: planning services for training of law enforcement officers in various areas of crime prevention and juvenile funding services.

Wilkerson reported that in October 1984, a regional crime prevention school will be starting up. Snyder's police department and sheriff's department were among the first to request space in the class, he said, adding, that one representative from each force would attend this school.

Wilkerson also explained that the council has grants available to assist in placement of children in homes. These grant applications are submitted by juvenile officers. The cut off date for applying for said funds is April 14 of this year.

The funding is utilized for individual placements, he said, and not for group efforts. The grants are handled on individual needs as requested by the juvenile officers.

Congressman requests probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Iowa congressman says there should be an investigation into the "curious relationship" between Charles W. Shuman, the head of the Farmers Home Administation, and the designer of a new $646,000 loan application system bought by the agency.

Rep. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, said Thursday that the designer of the new system is Thomas L. Frey, a professor of agricultural economics at the University of Illinois. Shuman's daughter, Carol, is a student at the university and is Frey's assistant, Harkin said.

Although Shuman was out of town and unavailable for comment, his agency referred calls to Undersecretary Frank W. Naylor Jr., who oversees FmHA operations.

"Dr. Frey is a professor in the school of agriculture there," Naylor told a reporter. "Charley's daughter is a senior, honor student. It's very typical for them to be student aides. The amount of money she's earning is very minimal."

Frey could not be reached for comment.

Three accidents worked Thursday

Minor wrecks prompted three accident investigations by Snyder police Thursday.

Catarino D. Lambaren of Colorado City filed a hit-and-run report at 1:14 p.m. He told investigators that his 1980 Chevrolet had been struck by an unidentified vehicle while parked at Furr's Supermarket on 26th St.

The 1600 Block of 27th St. was the scene of the day's second mishap at 3:59 p.m. Involved in it were a 1973 GMC driven by Sebastian Rivera of 1608 27th St. and a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Angel Rios 2201 Ave. E.

The day's third accident was reported shortly after 2 a.m. Friday at Allsup's convience store on College Ave. According to police reports, a 1971 Ford driven by Matthew James Dean of 1100 26th St. collided with the store building.

No injuries were reported from any of the three mishaps and only minor damage resulted in each case.

Five suspects ID'd in criminal mischief

Snyder police detectives reported clearing a criminal mischief complaint filed by David Harr of Western Texas College early Thursday morning with the identification of five suspects in the case Thursday night.

The five suspects, all identified as college students, were released from custody Thursday evening pending action in the misdemeanor case by County Attorney George Killam.

Harr, director of the dormitory at WTC, had reported the incident around 2 a.m. Thursday after finding his 1979 Toyota pickup parked with its front wheels in the lake on the WTC golf course.

The truck had apparently been pushed from the dorm parking lot, through a fence and downhill into the lake.

In other action, city police arrested one suspect for DWI Thursday night.

Tonight at 7:30...

Tigers host Panthers in District 2-4A opener

Snyder's Tigers will ride a three game winning streak into tonight's District 2-4A opener after defeating Midland High on Thursday, 10-8.

The Tigers lashed out with 10 hits in their latest victory, giving them an 8-5 season record.

"I think we've been improving since the (Snyder) tournament was over. We've eliminated some errors and our hitting is better. I'm a lot more optimistic than I was two weeks ago," said Coach Albert Lewis, whose Tigers face the Fort Stockton Panthers at 7:30 here this evening. It will be the first district game played at the newly renovated Moffett Field.

Fort Stockton is 5-5 for the season. In other 2-4A games tonight, 7-8 Lamesa is at 6-4 Monahans and 14-1 Andrews is at 8-8 Pecos.

Snyder's lineup tonight, in batting order, will be Chad Peterson at centerfield, Chris Sanders at third, Charles Bollinger at short, Norman Malone at first, Eddie McClure at catcher, Tommy Hunter as designated hitter for pitcher Paul Tate, William Cotton at second, Bobby Velasquez at left and Jimmy Cain at right.

Snyder simply outgunned the Bulldogs on Thursday, getting the necessary hits and coming across with clutch pitching at the right times.

Cain took the victory. He lasted four and a third innings before Midland began to tag him. He was relieved by Cotton for one inning. Bollinger pitched the final one and two-thirds innings to earn a save. He struck out the side in the seventh.

In all, Tiger pitchers gave up eight hits, five walks and struck out eight batters.

Bollinger led Snyder at the plate. The junior was three-for-five with a home run and four RBI. Going two-for-three were McClure and Velasquez. Velasquez also had four RBI while McClure punched a double. Other extra base hits went to Sanders and Malone, who powered a triple apiece.

Method questioned...

Colts bolt to Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - In Baltimore, there was pain and anger. In Indianapolis, there was happiness mixed with understanding.

The long-rumored, on-again-off-again move of the National Football League Baltimore Colts was confirmed by the team's coach and general counsel Thursday and Indianapolis Mayor William H. Hudnut III reacted with relief-tinged joy.

"I am of course sorry for my friends in Baltimore," Hudnut said at a news conference where he confirmed that a preliminary agreement had been reached. "While I'm sorry that Baltimore is broken-hearted this afternoon, I'm grateful that Indianapolis can rejoice."

The mayor refused to discuss details of the agreement reached between representatives of Colts' owner Robert Irsay and former Indianapolis Deputy Mayor David Frick, who represented the city.

He said details would be disclosed at Saturday's meeting of the Capital Improvement Board, which has the final say on use of the new 61,300-seat Hoosier Dome, where the team will play.

The mayor was careful to point out that the deal was not complete until all parties have signed the necessary agreements.

"We do not have, technically speaking, a deal yet," Hudnut said.

Hudnut said he hoped to have all agreements signed by Monday.

Indianapolis fans were in no mood to wait.

"Everybody was screaming and yelling . . ." when word came of the Colts' move, said Beth Barnes, assistant manager of Churchill's, a bar located downtown not far from the Hoosier Dome.

Similar sentiments were expressed throughout the city.

The first indication that the move was imminent came Wednesday night when moving vans arrived at the Colts' suburban Baltimore training facility and office and began to load equipment. They were on their way Thursday.

The method of the move particularly upset Baltimore Mayor William D. Schaefer. He said he was sad "that this team so rich in tradition had to sneak out in the middle of the night."

A Baltimore bank Thursday night filed an attachment against the Colts assets toward the-more-than $2.3 million it said the team owes Baltimore County. Attorney Michael Colglazier, representing the Equitable Bank, said the purpose of the attachment "is to make sure the indebtedness will be paid."

If the debts, which Irsay owes for back rent and concessions at Memorial Stadium, are not paid, the assets will be seized, Colglazier said.

The bank is representing the creditors, whom Colglazier would not name.

Baltimore officials, editors and fans were furious with Irsay, who they said had betrayed them by not notifying him of his final decision.

WTC games televised

The four basketball games played by Western Texas College in the NJCAA National Tournament will be televised on SCAT channel 2 this weekend.

WTC's games with Miami Dade North and San Jacinto will be aired Saturday, starting at 9:30 a.m. Games with Eastern Arizona and Ricks College will be seen Sunday, starting at 1 p.m.

Argentina's Roldan vies for Hagler's title belt

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Marvelous Marvin Hagler defends his undisputed middleweight title for the ninth time tonight in a bout against Argentina's Juan Domingo Roldan.

Hagler, who hasn't lost in 33 fights stretching back eight years, is a prohibitive favorite against the challenger, who is top-ranked by the World Boxing Association and No. 2 in the World Boxing Council ratings.

The 29-year-old champion went 15 rounds for the first time since winning the title his last time out against Roberto Duran and predicts this fight won't last nearly as long.

"I want to show the monster is back," Hagler said. "I'm looking for vindication after the Duran fight."

Hagler appeared somewhat cautious and tentative against Duran and had to rally in the late rounds to pull out a decision. He vows he won't leave the outcome to the judges this time.

"I'd like to knock his block off, if you really want to know the truth," he said. "I'm coming in with a different attitude this time. I realize I can't leave it in the judge's hands."

Hagler will be facing a hard puncher in Roldan, who has 34 knockouts in running up a 50-2-2 record.

Roldan vaulted into contention for a title shot with a sixth-round knockout over then top-ranked Frank "The Animal" Fletcher on the Hagler-Duran undercard.

Hagler, who earned his biggest payday - an estimated $4 million - against Duran, will be paid $1.25 million for the fight. Roldan will receive $100,000, "plus certain South American television rights," according to promoter Bob Arum.

The fight at the Riviera Hotel will be televised by Home Box Office and begin about 9:30 CST.

AP announces Jordan as top player for 1984

SEATTLE (AP) - Michael Jordan, North Carolina's clutch-shooting junior, today was named the Associated Press' college basketball player of the year by an overwhelming margin.

Jordan, a 6-foot-6 guard, received 100 votes from a nationwide panel of 162 sports writers and broadcasters.

Sam Perkins, Jordan's teammate, finished second with 13 votes and was followed by Oklahoma's Wayman Tisdale (12 votes), Houston's Akeem Olajuwon (11) and Georgetown's Patrick Ewing (9).

The voting was done before postseason play.

All top five finishers were chosen to the AP All-America first team earlier this month by a separate panel.

Jordan and Perkins, a 6-10 senior forward, were prime factors in leading the Tar Heels to the No. 1 ranking in the nation - both preseason and final.

Jordan, a two-time All-American, led North Carolina in scoring with a 19.6 average and was the team's third best rebounder, 5.3 a game.

He made 55 percent of his field goal tries and 78 percent of his foul shots. He also led Carolina in steals.

North Carolina became the first team in 10 years to undefeated during the regular season in Atlantic Coast Conference play. The Tar Heels finished with a 28-3 record after being upset in the NCAA semifinal playoffs by Indiana.

Jordan, of Wilmington, N.C., has been a starter since his freshman season, the year his last-second goal earned the Tar Heels the 1982 NCAA title over Georgetown. He ranks as the ninth-leading scorer in Tar Heel history.

His best individual scoring effort this season was 32 points against North Carolina State.

Meyer chosen coach of year

SEATTLE (AP) - Ray Meyer, who recently completed his 42nd and final season as DePaul coach, today was chosen college basketball's coach of the year by the Associated Press.

Meyer, 70, got 46½ votes from a nationwide panel of 163 sports writers and broadcasters to win the award for the second time in his career. He also won in 1980.

Dean Smith, who guided North Carolina to a 28-3 record and the Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season title, finished second with 34½ votes.

Other leading vote-getters were the coaches of the Big Ten co-champions - Gene Keady of Purdue and Lou Henson of Illinois.

The voting was completed after the regular season.

DePaul posted a 27-3 record without a superstar or perhaps even a star, and was the nation's fourth-ranked team and a sentimental favorite for the NCAA championship, which the Blue Demons had never won in 13 tournament tries under Meyer.

DePaul, the top independent team in the country, bowed out of the NCAA playoffs in the semifinal round, losing to Wake Forest 73-71 in overtime.

Earlier this season when DePaul won its first 17 games, Meyer said, "I'm having more fun coaching this year. Every game is like being in chess match."

Of his lack of a superstar, Meyer had said, "Nobody's a sure bet for the NBA. I'm not even sure the NBA is looking at any of our players."

Tyrone Corbin was the only Blue Demon to average double figures in scoring.

Meyer leaves with 724 victories (against 354 losses), putting him fifth in career victories among Division I coaches.

In 1979 he was inducted into the Naismith Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

POMPANO BEACH, Fla (AP) - Jimmy Anderson's seventh-inning sacrifice fly snapped a 1-1 tie and reliever Odell Jones shut the door on Boston over the final two innings, preserving Texas' 2-1 exhibition victory over the Red Sox Thursday.

Charlie Hough, Ricky Wright and Jones combined on a six-hitter as the Rangers lifted their spring record to 11-9. Boston is 13-10.

Anderson's sacrifice fly scored the winning run after Gary Ward walked, Mike Richardt singled and Ned Yost bunted the runners into scoring position.

Boston right-hander Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd gave up just five hits and struck out six in seven innings but took the loss.

Cats defeat Lamesa, 5-4

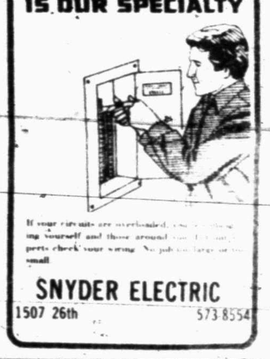

Snyder junior varsity baseball team defeated Lamesa 5-4 Thursday.

Don Osborne picked up the win and Albert Rodriquez earned a save. Osborne struck out seven and gave up eight hits.

Kenneth Pickering and Brad Holcomb had key RBI for the squad which upped its season record to 5-4.

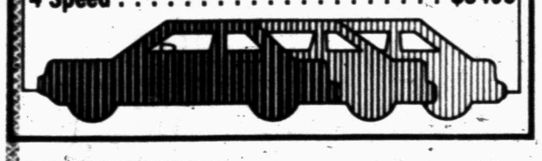

"They out-hit us pretty good (8-4) but we played real fine defense. We only struck out twice but every thing we hit went right back to them," said Coach Ricky Howell who takes the Cats into doubleheader action here Saturday with San Angelo Central. The games start at 1 and 4 p.m.
