FEW BOLTERS ARE REPORTED BY R. Q. LEE

R. Q. Lee, Democratic nominee for congress from the 17th district, by special invitation delivered an address at Throckmorton Saturday night in behalf of the Democratic national ticket. Mr. Lee also spoke in Benjamin and Seymour to good sized audiences. He had previously spoken at Woodson and Elbert, in Throckmorton county. Mr. Lee stated that he found very little defection of Democrats at places visited, and predicted Knox and Baylor counties would poll the usual Democratic vote. He stated he found the people much interested in the national election, however, and all were anxious for the political literature he distributed.

Experience Makes Abilene Most Feared Foe But Hammett Will Be Greatest Threat with Bulldogs

Incidentally, to digress from Oil Belt competition for a moment, it is a safe prediction that Hammett will receive a bunch of offers from colleges and universities to accept some such arduous job as winding the dormitory clock and playing football during his spare time.

The Lobbes will have one advantage in their battles with the Bulldogs and the Eagles—that of playing on their home grounds. However, there will be almost as many Ranger and Abilene rooters in the stands at the two games as Cisco backers.

Most of the Oil Belt members will take things easy this week. The only game that will have any bearing on the championship will be in the invasion of Ranger by San Angelo. Lobo fans will have little trouble in recalling that it was the hitherto despised Bobcats that came within a single point of knocking the Chapmans clear out of the running. Whether it was mere frenzied inspiration or steady ability will be shown at Ranger Saturday.

BLANTON WILL MAKE PLEA FOR SMITH TONIGHT

Cisco Democrats and others who are admirers of Congressman Thomas L. Blanton will greet the retiring representative of the 17th congressional district tonight at the city hall, when Judge Blanton will speak in the interest of the national ticket of the Democratic party. The Lobo band will meet at the chamber of commerce at 7 o'clock parade up D avenue to the city hall, where the speaking will begin at 7:30. The local committee state that the city hall auditorium will be made comfortable and those who are interested in hearing the national issues discussed will have probably the last opportunity in Cisco. This speaking has been advertised all over the Cisco country, and a large crowd is expected to hear Judge Blanton on this occasion. All women are urged to be present.

Giant German Ship Passes Up Coast, Is Sighted Off Halifax on Return Trip of 4,000 Miles

With a tail wind at her back and sunshine glinting on her silver sides, the giant huge nosed air liner—the Graf Zeppelin—was beating up the Atlantic coast today on her return voyage of 4,000 miles to Friedrichshafen, Germany, bearing 24 passengers and a crew of 40.

She left Lakehurst at 1:34 o'clock this morning, passed over New York City at 3:15 and flew over Cape Cod at 6:26. She was bearing northeast by north in the general direction of Halifax. She passed over the Cunarder Laconia 175 miles south of Halifax at 10:15 this morning, the steamer reported in a radio-gram picked up by the Radio Marine corporation.

MOODY GIVES 3RD STAY TO MEX. SLAYER

AUSTIN, Oct. 29.—Governor Moody today granted Juan Flores, San Antonio Mexican under sentence of death in connection with the slaying of Manuel Hernandez in a store holdup, a 90 day reprieve. It was the third stay for the condemned man. It was granted in order to give the officers additional time to search for another Mexican named Flores as the actual slayer.

George B. L. Russell of Baird Is Chosen to Represent 24th Senate District on Advisory Road Body

Victor Gilbert, notarial representative from the counties of Eastland and Eastland, attended the meeting of legislators at Abilene called by Oliver Cunningham, rapid nominee from the 24th senatorial district, for the purpose of selecting the most outstanding and well graded road man to serve as a member of the advisory committee of 31 to study the highway commission bills for the next two years, and formulate suitable road laws for presentation to the next session of the legislature.

Oliver Cunningham, senatorial nominee, called the meeting at 10 o'clock Friday morning at which nine members were present. Judge Gilbert said, "After reading nine ballots in which Pittard, of Anson; Judge Dyess, of Albany; Judge Thompson, of Colorado; Judge Charles Combes, of Eastland; and Judge B. L. Russell of Baird, each of whom was supported, Judge Russell was finally elected, and the vote was unanimous, as the choice of those present to serve as the member from the 24th senatorial district upon this important committee."

Those attending the meeting were Oliver Cunningham, senatorial nominee; Abilene; Jesse R. Hammett, retiring senator; Breckenridge; Representatives A. H. King, Hamorton; Bowen Pope, Hamorton; Victor B. Gilbert, Cisco; Carl D. Speck, Abilene; W. E. Reid, Abilene; Oscar P. Chastain, Abilene; and Bailey W. Mardy, Breckenridge.

Judge Russell was supported by Judge Oscar Chastain, Abilene, and Judge Oscar Chastain, Abilene, as the alternative nominee from Eastland county.

The selection of Judge Russell as representative from the 24th senatorial district will give general satisfaction, for he is an outstanding road man and distinguished West Texas attorney, having lived in Callahan county over 40 years, where he has held that county in various county offices, and later as representative in the Texas legislature, with distinction and honor.

Judge Russell has been closely identified with and fostered the good road movement long before the state highway commission came into existence, having been an original committee of one to personally conduct the first bankhead highway locating committee over the route from Abilene to Mineral Wells, over the present route of highway No. 1, through Baird, Cisco, Eastland, Ranger and Strawn. He was one of the prominent figures at the Broadway of America convention, held in Memphis last April, where he courageously and effectively defended the location of the Broadway of America over the route of highway No. 1, and on the floor of the convention pleaded for more federal aid and recognition of this transcontinental highway by congress that a great thoroughfare of national import and pride might follow the route of the Bankhead highway No. 1 from coast to coast.

At the Memphis meeting he was made vice president of the Broadway of America. In recognition of his services in behalf of good roads in serving in this important and respectable position.

This advisory committee is yet to be given a legal status by the legislature, which will consider Governor Moody's recommendations when that body convenes in Austin next January.

Judge Baker Named by 25th
COLEMAN, Oct. 29.—State representatives in the 25th senatorial district met in Coleman Friday and appointed Judge Weaver H. Baker, of Junction, the committee man from the district to act with others and study and advise highway law changes. Those present were Judge C. H. Jenkins of Brownwood; James Finley of Fife; Roscoe Runge of Mason; State Representative Lee of Concho and Representative counties, Coke Stephenson, of Junction and Alfred P. C. Pettison, of Fredericksburg.

T. & P. TO HAVE HEAVIEST RAILS IN ALL SOUTH

Shortly after the opening of 1929 the Texas and Pacific railway's main line from Fort Worth to Big Spring will consist of the heaviest steel in use by any southern railroad. Crews are now working west from Weatherford replacing 85-pound with 110-pound steel.

A crew of more than 75 men has been working from Abilene for some weeks installing the most modern automatic interlocking signal system yet devised. These signals are in use in a few "blocks" west of there and will be operating all along the line from Fort Worth to El Paso by January 1.

Rapid development of the Texas and Pacific is shown by the fact that weight of rails of main lines have been increased several times within the last few years. The line through Abilene is now 85-pound steel. Only three years ago this was substituted for 75-pound steel. West of Big Spring 90-pound rails are now in use. The 85-pound rails from Fort Worth to Big Spring are being substituted by 110-pound stuff.

OIL BELT STANDING.

W	L	T.	Pct.
Cisco	2	0	1	800
Ranger	1	0	1	730
Abilene	1	0	1	730
Breckenridge	2	1	0	667
San Angelo	0	0	1	500
Brownwood	0	2	0	000
Eastland	0	3	0	000

We have met the enemy and they are ours, Perry said some 112 or 115 years ago. The echo resounds in Cisco today.

However, Coach Chapman and his warriors still have some tough enemies left to conquer. Until last week end every Lobo believed that the Buckaroos of Breckenridge were the main obstacle in their march to the Oil Belt championship with the Abilene Eagles a secondary impediment. The Ranger Bulldogs were classed among those also remaining on the schedule.

Now, as a few days ago, there are still two high hurdles to be mounted before the championship goal is gained. The two are the teams that fought to a 19-19 tie at Ranger Friday afternoon—the Bulldogs and Eagles.

Past experience has shown that the Eagles are the aggregation to fear most but the clash at Ranger indicated that the Bulldogs will perhaps be the strongest foe. The record of neither is very impressive to date but both also fight their hardest against the Loboes. The Bulldog threat has also been made more menacing by the return to eligibility of Hammett. He it is whom the Loboes will keep 11 pairs of eyes on in the clash of November 12. Twice in the Eagle game he stood at the 50-yard stripe and hurled the oval over the enemy goal, once for a touchdown. That feat is one which few big college stars can do and it would be a suicide to ignore.

ADS IN RURAL MAIL BOX ARE AGAINST LAW

"I would dislike to see anyone arrested for violating any of the postal laws," said J. W. Tripitt, Cisco postmaster Saturday, "but that is just what is liable to overtake some people who persist in placing circulars and other advertising matter in the rural mail boxes. I presume these offenders do not realize that they are violating the postal laws when they place their advertising matter in these mail receptacles. The mail boxes are to be used for no other purpose than that of depositing mail matter, properly stamped. Any other use is a violation of the federal laws, and unless the habit of placing circulars advertising political meetings, or any other class of matter, without the required postage, is stopped, somebody may have to pay a fine in the federal court. I hope this will be a warning to those who have been offending unknowingly in this particular."

While Postmaster Tripitt was speaking one of the rural carriers brought in quite a batch of advertising matter which he stated he had gathered from the boxes along his route.

Chilly Winds and Drizzling Rain Sweep Much of West Texas While Temperature Slumps 35 Degrees

Driven southwestward by chilly winds a cold drizzling rain today was sweeping some 25 counties of the north and central sections of the properties of the West Texas Utilities company, according to dispatches received from approximately 40 cities, towns and communities. The rainfall ranged from a heavy downpour in some sections to light drizzles in others in virtually all communities.

The mercury dropped from 10 to 35 degrees, over night reports showed. While the rain was too late to be of much benefit to the cotton crop, it materially aided small grains and put the soil in good condition for winter plowing, farmers said.

The heaviest rainfall was reported from Clarendon and Quanah, where a drouth of three months duration was broken. Rain began falling in Clarendon yesterday and in Quanah late Saturday. At noon today Clarendon had registered one and one-half inches of rainfall and no indication of a break was seen. The thermometer at Clarendon this morning registered 38 degrees, a drop of some 30 degrees in 12 hours. It continued to rain this morning at Quanah and Childress and a proportionate drop in temperature also was recorded in the area covered by the rain, west to Spur and south to Abilene.

CENTENARIAN WIRES SMITH BEST WISHES

Mrs. Alice Robertson, who asserts she was 100 years of age May 9, 1928, now residing in Cisco, Saturday handed the following message into local Democratic headquarters which was wired to Gov. Alfred E. Smith:

"Governor Smith, care Democratic Headquarters, New York City:

"I was born in Texas one hundred years last May, and am writing this telegram myself. I am a Protestant, am praying for your election and believe God will make you president for the good you have done for the widows and poor of New York. I am a poor widow and want a president whose heart responds to the needs of the poor, for we are many. My friends are paying for this message. If they will take me I will go in an airplane to see you inaugurated next March, if the Lord is willing."

"ALICE ROBERTSON."

Mrs. J. Whitney Lewis is spending a few days in Fort Worth.

ABSENTEES IN EASTLAND CO. MAY VOTE NOW

Absentee voting has already commenced in Eastland county, according to information given out at the county clerk's office, which stated that one absentee vote had already been received. Fifteen ballots have been mailed out, and 15 additional applications from those who wish to cast their ballots remain to be filled. The time for absentee voting commenced Saturday, and all ballots dated from ten days before the election will be cast in the absentee voting.

Those wishing to avail themselves of the privilege of voting absentee must make application to the county clerk of the county in which he wishes to vote, who will supply the voter with the required blanks with instructions for filling out the same, and when these are returned, properly filled out, a ballot will be mailed to the prospective voter, which must be returned to the county clerk to be safely kept until the day of election, when the absentee ballots will be delivered to the presiding officer of the election in which the voter resides, who will count and tabulate the absentee ballots in the same manner as those voting in person.

READERS OF DAILY NEWS ARE INVITED TO EXPRESS OPINIONS

The columns of The Daily News are open to its readers, who are invited to express their opinions in print. Right now the presidential campaign and its issues are the outstanding topic of discussion.

The readers who have a desire to express themselves should keep one thing in mind. That is, that the election is not a matter of life and death for Cisco and the rest of the country. No matter whether Smith or Hoover is elected, we will go right on eating and sleeping the same as before.

In fact, it is much more important to Cisco that there be no bitter animosities aroused within its borders than it is that either party should win. If citizens should be set against each other and refuse to cooperate in the building of a greater Cisco, it would be far more disastrous to the city than the defeat of one's favorite candidate. There is absolutely no reason why friends in Cisco should cease to be friends because of a disagreement over the merits of one man who lives in New York and another who lives in California, neither of whom has probably been seen by a dozen Cisconians.

So, in expressing oneself in print, he should remember that there are two sides to each question and that there is no need of saying bitter things about one with whom he disagrees. It certainly will not win him over to your way of thinking, it may make you an enemy for life and will react against a greater Cisco.

Readers who desire to express their views should use a typewriter if possible and, whether typewritten or handwritten, should leave space between lines and write on one side of paper only.

PLANETARY STUFF.

It cannot be denied that Oomarruru, the big-eared woman of Mars, planetary correspondent of the psychic Dr. Mansfield Robinson of London, has a certain appeal. The learned doctor's description of her need not conjure up a picture of a heathen idol. She may be a very beautiful woman. Big ears are possibly regarded as lovely on the planet Mars. We must not assume that there is any absolute rule for beauty. Our beguities on earth might seem hideous to the Martians.

The good lady may also be extremely wise. Her ears themselves are suggestive. Big ears must be to hear with. The lady, we may assume, is given to listening. And thereby comes wisdom.

She may also be extremely psychic, as psychic as Dr. Robinson himself.

If that is the case, however, it is hard to see why it should be deemed necessary to address the lady by wireless, on 30,000-meter waves or any other waves. In fact, Dr. Robinson seems to have got his most important communications from her not by wireless or radio or any other device of material science, but by telepathy, which is purely mental.

Perhaps he seeks objective proof. Telepathic messages are harder to demonstrate to a Missourian world than anything, whether in code, Martian or English, coming in electro-magnetic dots and dashes.

It might be expected that such interplanetary correspondence would use the method of Ignatius Donnelly, by which he was able to give a complete picture of the people of the Lost Continent of Atlantis and their airplanes. He simply "read it in the astral light." Surely either the lady Oomarruru or the psychic doctor might write or project any desired information into the astral light, wherever or whatever that may be, for the other to read.

TROPHY FOR SAFE FLYING.

Not enough attention is paid to the successful routine flying that goes on in this country. A girl aviator performs a useless and dangerous stunt and makes the front page of the newspapers. Any airplane accident which results in death or serious injury makes the front page. Readers will get excited about such things and ignore other significant news indicating real progress. One such bit of news is the item about the coming award of the Herbert Schiff memorial trophy. It is an award made annually to the naval aviator who accomplishes the greatest number of flying hours without accident. This year it goes to Lieut. James E. Dyer, on duty at the Naval Air Station, San Diego, Cal. Dyer has a record of 1,251.15 hours in the air during the fiscal year 1927-28. He is the fourth winner of the trophy. Accidents, of course, are bigger news than safely accomplished routine activities. Yet, for the advancement of aviation, a little more emphasis should be given the facts about all the successful flying done by army, navy and civilian flyers whose names we rarely hear because their work is routine and unspectacular.

HELPING THE FARMER.

Barnett R. Brickner, a prominent American rabbi, addressing the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., gives this quadruple solution of the farm problem:

- "First, release of the surplus land for recreation purposes;
"Second, legislation which will help to keep the middle-aged man on the farm;
"Third, propaganda and education to teach the farmer to act cooperatively;
"Fourth, efforts by the cities to make farm life more attractive—for instance, extension of good roads."

The first and fourth suggestions sound somewhat novel. If there is really too much farm land under cultivation, it may be doing the farmer a favor to turn a lot of it into parks. From this viewpoint, farm leaders should be out boosting golf. The more golf courses, the better for agriculture. There is no question that rural sections benefit greatly by good roads, and that good roads come mainly from the demands of city motorists. But often their construction imposes a temporary hardship on the farmers. When they are hard up, they naturally resent paying for roads used mainly by city speeders.

ACTING.

Sad news for pugilism. Jack Dempsey has failed in the drama. Perhaps it is good news, though, for drama. Jack has been starring in a play called "The Big Fight," written to give him a chance for the display of his special qualifications and exploit his great popularity. His wife, a professional actress of acknowledged talent, has starred with him. In spite of the double drawing power, the enterprise has failed and is being discontinued. A news dispatch explains: "Critics said of the play that Dempsey was not a finished actor and that he was not materially aided by his vehicle." So Jack couldn't get by with the acting. Strange as it may seem, in a period that has seen all sorts of people exploiting their popularity or notoriety on the stage, it takes an actor to act, and a poor actor will be squeezed out of the game sooner or later. An unknown person with a genuine historic gift, given a little time to display it, stands a far better chance than a famous person without a gift.

COLLECTING.

Japanese talent blossoms out in an unexpected field. Japs have a special genius for collecting bills. In an American book store where a young Jap is employed, he was asked to try collecting an account of long standing which the credit department had given up as hopeless. Within a week there came a check paying the account in full. When the amazing merchant asked how the Jap did it, the latter proudly submitted a copy of his letter to the delinquent debtor, as follows: "Dear Sir: With reference to your long over-due account, we have received no response in spite of previous applications. Unless we receive a remittance by Monday morning, the steps we shall take will simply amaze you." A psychologist points out that the decisive factor in this letter was the vagueness of the threat, which set the debtor's imagination to working, and moved him to avoid a peril he could not foresee, when a concrete threat would have left him cold. The same psychology was observed the other day in the relations between a reproving grandmother and a little grandson who was going just as far as he dared in household deviltry. Ordinary corrective methods failed to work. "If you don't stop that," said Grandma, "I'll fix you!" The young culprit's eyes widened with terror. Here was retribution looming up beyond his experience. He didn't know what was coming, but it must be something dreadful. It grew upon him overpoweringly. "I—I don't want you to fix me!" he chattered, backing away and hurrying to safety. And he was good all the rest of that day.

Nearly $15,000,000 Paid to Workmen Injured in Texas During Past Two Years Through Compensation Claims

AUSTIN, Oct. 29.—Operations of the state industrial accident board for the past two fiscal years ending August 31, 1928, released today, disclosed that the past two years, the 60 insurance companies writing workmen's compensation business amounted to nearly $15,000,000 in claims for deaths and injuries to employees. It is shown, however, that for 1927 total compensation claims paid for injuries were $3,968,442 and in 1928 $3,862,579; compensation death claims for 1927 were $1,149,490; for 1928 $1,296,615. For 1927 there were 19,947 subscribers. This number was increased to 27,197 for 1928. The number of employees subject to the law in 1927 was 922,448, which number was increased to 1,061,702 for 1928. The total number of awards made by the board in 1927 was 1,856, and in 1928, the number was 1,917. "It frequently comes to the attention of the board," continues the report, "that the employer continues to look after the interests of his employees, or the beneficiaries of deceased employes, until the claim is finally disposed of. Employees of labor are becoming more and more solicitous of the welfare of their employees, and their continued cooperation in this respect is to be most earnestly desired. We would suggest no better remedy to check the enormous increase in the annual toll of death and injured in industrial pursuits in this state than an intensive educational campaign carried on among employers of labor, and perhaps under the supervision of this department."

"Galloping Ghost" Haled to Court

The MAYTAG Changed My Idea of Washday Servant

"I never thought of having a washing done in my own home until I found out how easy and satisfying it is to let the Maytag do it."

Thousands of women have thus expressed their admiration for the Maytag. Over a million homes now enjoy the Maytag wash-hour, enjoy the satisfaction of clothes washed at home in a clean, careful and sanitary manner.

The Maytag's unquestioned supremacy among washers is due to many outstanding features, originated by The Maytag Company—the world's largest manufacturers of washers. The one-piece, cast-aluminum tub keeps the water hot for an entire washing. The Gyrafoam action makes water do the washing—the fast, thorough, gentle way.

The Maytag Roller Water Remover has a flexible top-roll and a hard bottom-roll. It removes both soap and water evenly and gently from all parts of the garment. Buttons, snaps, ornaments, or fine laces go through unharmed.

Phone for a Free Home Washing

Let the Maytag do your next washing in your own home, and you will know that it is clean and sanitary. Telephone for a Maytag before next washday. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.
