Court Decides Against State In Handling Sedition Cases

DAIRY FARMERS RALLIED—Picket leader Sam Gailo stands on a tank milk truck to exhort dairy farmers to stand firm on picket lines at the Michigan Milk Producers Association in Imlay City, Michigan. More than 500 of the area's striking farmers, on foot and in their cars, immobilized at least 40 tank trucks which bring milk to Detroit. They are demanding higher wholesale milk prices. Meantime Detroit's gigantic fresh milk supply sagged to 40 per cent of normal.

Dairy Strike Goes Into Its Second Week

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's violence-ridden milk strike, pitting dairy farmer against dairy farmer, entered the showdown stage today.

Nobody professed to have the answer for certain. Some viewed the strike as crumbling, others anticipated riots or near-riots at outstate collection depots.

Milk trucks running a strike blockade to Detroit jumped to 112 yesterday. Only 20-odd made it Saturday.

Three major Detroit creameries predicted they could make 60 per cent of normal home deliveries. A fourth forecast it could service 75 per cent of its route customers.

Store shelves, bare or almost the last several days, were expected to remain thus, at least for today.

It was called by the Fair Share Bargaining Assn. (FSBA) to support demands that the farmer's price of milk be raised from $4.41 per hundredweight (46½ quarts) to $6.50.

It is opposed by the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. (MMPA), which yesterday called off a threatened strike of its own. The MMPA said a majority of Detroit creameries had agreed to its demands for a $5 price to farmers.

One dairy announced a 1½-cent-a-quart increase in retail prices. Others agreed they would do the same on a $5-a-hundredweight scale to farmers, adding that a $6.50 rate would result in a 4½-cent increase.

Before the strike milk retailed for 22 cents a quart in stores, 23 cents delivered.

The fair share group is made up of members of the MMPA who expressed dissatisfaction with the older organization's bargaining and said that, in effect, MMPA could not bargain under antitrust laws because it operated creameries itself. The FSBA insurgents remained MMPA members.

Farm Dispute To Be Tested

MILWAUKEE (AP) —Wisconsin's presidential primary tomorrow may indicate whether President Eisenhower or Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) is more popular with the farm voters. The primary also may show whether there is political unrest among the farmers.

The primary, designed to pick 30 delegates to the Republican National Convention and 56 to the Democratic National Convention, shapes up as a popularity contest between Kefauver, seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, and the President.

Kefauver's slate of delegate candidates is the only one on the Democratic ballot. President Eisenhower's slate is opposed only by a group headed by John Chapple, Ashland publisher, as a favorite son. Chapple's slate is regarded as only a token effort.

Wisconsin's election law permits no write-in votes for president or vice president or for any delegate candidates other than those who have filed and are named on the ballot.

The fact that neither President Eisenhower nor Kefauver has any intraparty opposition contributes to the lack of interest.

Delegate candidates have made optimistic statements but have done little active campaigning.

Wisconsin will also choose a Supreme Court justice and act on four referenca, but none of these contests has aroused great interest.

However, two hot mayoralty battles may help bring out the vote in Milwaukee and Madison. Both usually are Democratic although President Eisenhower beat Stevenson 219,447 to 204,474 in Milwaukee and by 38,724 to 37,987 in Dane County, which includes Madison.

Regardless of the turnout, the total vote polled tomorrow by the President's slate on the Republican ballot and Kefauver's slate on the Democratic ballot could indicate whether either party has gained or lost ground in Wisconsin.

The vote in the rural areas also could be regarded as an indication of how the voters feel about lower farm prices.

Enhancing the possibility of a popularity contest is the fact that Wisconsin election laws do not provide for party registration by voters. Therefore those who previously voted Republican can cross over to the Democratic columns and vice versa.

Democrats say a number of farmers will cross over to them as a protest against the administration's farm policy. Democrats claim that policy has resulted in lower earnings by Wisconsin farmers.

Earth Tremor Hits Town In Oklahoma

ANTLERS, Okla. (AP)—A 10-second earth tremor shook frightened residents of this south Oklahoma city today at 10:10 a.m.

Thomas Butler, manager of the Antlers Chamber of Commerce, said the quake "rattled doors and windows and shook buildings."

22 Are Killed In Crash Of Airliner

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Searchers combing the area where an airliner crashed seconds after takeoff from Greater Pittsburgh Airport located another body this morning bringing the complete count of the air disaster to 22 dead, 14 survivors.

The discovery erased any lingering hope that there might be another survivor in addition to the 14 who stumbled to safety from the flaming debris last night.

It came more than 14 hours after the twin-engine TWA Martin Skyliner crashed on the fringe of the big airport.

Rescue workers had removed 21 bodies from the smoking debris last night. They were taken to a morgue where identification was proceeding slowly.

The plane smashed into a hillside a little more than a mile from the airport's administration building and not far from the western end of a runway. Within minutes it was reduced to a mass of burned debris.

Two of those who escaped were the pilot and copilot.

The stewardess, Mary Jane Fanning, 21, of Elmhurst, L.I., perished. She was on her second flight since graduating from the TWA school at Kansas City last Wednesday. She was a native of North Bergen, N.J. Her family moved to Albuquerque, N.M., in 1948.

Copilot Harlan Jescerson, Morristown, N.J., was hurt critically.

Capt. Raymond F. McQuade, the 33-year-old pilot from Red Bank, N.J., is in fair condition. Neither he nor Jescerson were permitted to talk to newsmen.

The plan was scheduled to fly to Newark, N.J., with stops at Harrisburg, Allentown and Reading, Pa.

It was a bright and clear Easter Sunday evening as the plane lifted from the runway. Thousands of persons were at the airport to watch a colored fountain illuminated to climax the city's Easter celebration. The airport is 14 miles from midtown Pittsburgh.

Witnesses saw the plane's lights shining as it roared down the runway. Then came a rumble, a flash, a brilliant column of flame.

Clayton Hill, a civilian assistant fire chief for an Air Force squadron stationed at the airport, said he and other firemen reached the ship within three or four minutes. They helped a dozen people crawling from the burning wreckage.

Students Hurling Bombs In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Students carrying Greek flags threw bombs and stones at British security police and troops in the port city of Paphos today. Bomb fragments wounded a schoolteacher and stones slightly injured several of the British.

Three bombs were hurled also in Limassol, another port of this British Mediterranean island colony. One injured an elderly couple and another a child. A curfew was ordered in the center of that south cotast city, where a Briton was shot to death yesterday.

Police cordoned off the area and confined all residents to their homes while they hunted the killer.

At Famagusta, Ktima, Kyrenia, Karakoumis, Larnaca and Kalosen, bombs were thrown at the houses or cars of British servicemen. Five persons were injured slightly.

The man slain yesterday was the first British civilian killed by the pro-Greek Cypriots. The shooting brought the total casualties in the past year of violence to 69 dead and 424 wounded. The dead have included 24 British servicemen, 24 Cypriot civilians, 8 police and 12 alleged rebels.

The weekend curfew in Nicosia sealed off an area three miles in circumference in the heart of the city. Inside, an estimated 35,000 persons were bottled up from 6:30 p.m. Saturday until 4 a.m. today.

Despite the continuing tension, Britons on the island flocked in the warm sunshine to Easter church services. The 400,000 Greek Cypriots observe the Greek Orthodox Easter May 6.

Warning Is Issued On Russian Research

DALLAS (AP)—An Air Force official told electrical engineers here today that Russia is "a nation to be reckoned with in the technological race for qualitative superiority."

William Weitzen, deputy for operations in research and development for the secretary of the Air Force said "We must recognize that the Soviet Union has reached technological maturity."

Weitzen spoke to the southwest district convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

He said the one devastating example of this maturity was Russia's production of the atomic bomb in three years, when experts said it would take them about 10 years.

Eddy Farmer Killed

WACO (AP)—John Baugh, 78, retired Eddy farmer, died yesterday of injuries received in a car-train accident March 19 at Eddy.

Congress Is Given Do-Nothing Label

WASHINGTON (AP)—A GOP effort to pin "a do-nothing" label on the Democratic-controlled Congress ran into one Republican dissent today.

The Republican National Committee said yesterday there is a "semiparalysis" within Congress reflectiig "Democratic jitters." It said the present session is "shaping up as a do-nothing Congress."

Sen. Barrett (R-Wyo) said in an interview, however, he doesn't think it is fair to make any sweeping condemnation of members of the opposite party in the Senate and House.

"In some respects, Democrats in Congress have done a pretty good job," he said. "I think Senators Ellender (D-La), Holland (D-Fla) and Anderson (D-NM), for instance, have worked sincerely and hard to support the administration's farm program.

"In an election year, it is asking too much to expect Congress to consider legislation on a wholly impartial basis. There is more politics involved in legislation than there should be but it is not fair to criticize all of the opposition party members.

"What we ought to do is forget politics and do the best thing we can to bring agriculture in line with the rest of the country economically."

Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's No. 1 White House aide said he is sure Eisenhower "so far has been disappointed in the accomplishments of this Congress."

Adams did not mention specific proposals, but said in a television interview with Rep. Keating (R-NY) filmed for New York state stations:

"It's quite natural that our opposing party doesn't want to see any appreciable accomplishments on our part at this session . . .

"We have some very constructive suggestions — legislative suggestions—which the President has made, and certainly they're entitled to better consideration than they have or than they are apparently going to get."

BILL FISHER

General Election Set Here Tuesday

Polls for the city general election will be open from 7 o'clock tomorrow morning until 7 o'clock tomorrow night in the central fire station at the city hall.

Four contests for vacancies feature the election.

Bill Fisher, a candidate for place No. 5 on the council, was unintentionally omitted from a news story in the Sunday Daily News on the election.

Fisher is owner and operator of Snyder Wholesale, and has been a resident of Snyder for the past six years.

Also seeking election to place No. 5 on the council is J. H. (Jim) Mixon, owner of Mixon Tire & Supply.

Place No. 5 on the council was vacated by the resignation of Walter Hales, owner of Hales Lumber & Supply Co., who is seeking election to the office of mayor. Also a candidate for mayor is Harold Bennett, owner of Bennett's Office Supply.

Dr. Robert H. Hargrove, dentist is unopposed for re-election as councilman in place No. 4, and J. W. (Jake) Phillips, owner of Phillips Bros. Hardware, is unopposed for re-election to place No. 6.

Two candidates are seeking election to place No. 2 on the council. They are R. T. (Bud) Howard, Star-Telegram agent, and Steve Birdwell, owner of Birdwell Conoco Service Station.

The candidate elected to place No. 5 will serve the one-year term created by Hales resignation during his two-year term.

Other men elected to places on the council or to mayor will serve full two-year terms.

Fire Burns Rose Home

MOUNT KISCO, N. Y. (AP)—Two paintings and some statuary from a valuable art collection were saved today as fire destroyed the 26-room country home of Broadway showman Billy Rose.

"This is a terrific emotional loss," was the only comment Rose would make as he walked about the smoking ruins. The theatrical impresario, renowned as an art collector for years, declined to say how much of his collection, ranging from old masters to moderns, was in the mansion.

Rose and his fiance, Joyce Matthews, returned early today after being notified of the fire. They dined here last evening with composer Deems Taylor and his wife, and the group then left for New York City, about 25 miles away.

Four servants were in the residence. They escaped.

"Did they save the paintings?" was the first thing Rose asked firemen when he reached the scene.

Stratocruiser Crash Lands

SEATTLE (AP) — A New York-bound stratocruiser crash-landed in Puget Sound after its takeoff here today and the Coast Guard reported half an hour later that 34 of the 37 persons aboard had been picked up.

The Northwest Orient airliner went into the water after taking off from the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport. The crash scene was between the two cities.

The Coast Guard listed three persons as missing. The 34 known survivors were picked up in two Air Force amphibian planes. They were to be transferred to other rescue craft because the two planes were unable to take off with such heavy loads.

The survivors were picked up after they had been able to clamber to the wings of the double-deck plane in the several minutes it remained afloat.

Chinese Newspapers Displeased At Joke

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The China News explained that a story it published yesterday saying Red China boss Mao Tse-tung had blasted Stalin was a fake "in line with the spirit of April Fools' Day."

In the false story, the English-language mimeographed news sheet said its monitors had heard Peiping radio quote Mao as having termed Stalin a slavedriver, murderer and doublecrosser.

Two Chinese-language morning newspapers were not so happy about the matter. Both carried false item on their front pages today.

Ruling Nullified Against Nelson

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today ruled a state cannot prosecute an individual for acts of sedition against the federal government.

The high tribunal overturned the state court conviction of Steve Nelson, Communist party leader of western Pennsylvania.

Nelson was convicted in the state court under Pennsylvania's sedition laws and drew 20 years' imprisonment. Later he was convicted in federal court under the Smith Act and got a five year sentence for plotting violent overthrow of the government.

Nelson appealed his Smith Act conviction to the Supreme Court but it will not be acted upon this term.

The high court split 6-3 in today's decision.

Chief Justice Warren wrote the majority opinion. Justice Reed wrote a dissenting opinion, joined by Justices Burton and Minton.

Warren was joined in the majority by Justices Black, Frankfurter, Douglas, Clark and Harlan.

Today's decision upheld the Pennsylvania Supreme Court which had set aside the state court conviction with a finding that the federal Smith Act superceded the state's sedition law.

Pennsylvania had appealed. Attorneys general of 27 states supported Pennsylvania's appeal.

Solicitor General Sobeloff also supported the states' arguments. He said the federal government did not believe enforcement of state sedition laws was barred by the Smith Act. Sobeloff reported 42 states, Alaska and Hawaii have such laws.

Bell Seeks Reelection

CUERO (AP) — Rep. John Bell, who once was under indictment in the state veterans land program investigation, announced today for reelection.

He made no mention of the allegation which later was dismissed by a court order. Bell and his family were in Washington.

Bell, one of the authors of the veterans land legislation, was indicted in July of last year by a Saguin grand jury on charges of conspiring to steal $154,000 from the state in a veterans land transaction involving sale of a 3,701-acre tract in Guadalupe county to 24 veterans.

The congressman denied the charges and asserted it was "politically inspired" by the state attorney general's office.

On Dec. 12 the indictment was dismissed because a juror on the July grand jury failed to pay his poll tax. The court held that because of this the grand jury was "improperly formed."

Bell declared in his statement for reelection today that his actions and not policies would be the campaign claim for his race for reelection in the 14th congressional district.

"On the basis of this pledge and the results obtained during my first term in congress I am announcing my candidacy for re-election to a second term subject to the democratic primary in July," he said.

Storm Alert Is Sounded

FORT WORTH (AP)—A severe storm alert, with possible tornadoes, was forecast for this afternoon and early tonight over much of western Oklahoma extending into a small portion of the Texas Panhandle.

The Weather Bureau said the only Texas section affected was a "small area" east of Childress in the extreme southeast portion of the Panhandle.

The alert was to go into effect at 2 p.m. and continue until 8 p.m.

The warning called for "numerous severe thunderstorms with tornadoes." The alerted area is along a 100-mile-wide band from 40 miles west of Hobart, in southwestern Oklahoma, to 60 east and northeast of Enid, in northern Oklahoma.

Two Opponents

TEXAS CITY (AP)—Mayor L. A. Robinson faced two opponents in today's city elections. They are W. J. Godard, secretary-treasurer of the Nunez Construction Co., and L. C. Abel, assistant veterans county service officer.

Many Flock To Egg Roll At Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Excited, wide-eyed youngsters and eager parents flocked to the White House today for the annual Easter egg roll on the spacious south lawn.

A crowd of about 500, many carrying gaily decorated eggs in colorful baskets, was on hand when the gates swung open at 9 a.m.

White House officials were expecting about 20,000 visitors by the time the gates close for the day at 4:30 p.m.

First in line—there since a few minutes after 7 a.m. — was 10-year-old Penn Glazier of Wheaton, Md. He and his mother, Mrs. M. H. Glazier, said this was the third year in a row they were the first through the gates.

President Eisenhower was to greet the youngsters and their parents later in the day. The likelihood was that Mrs. Eisenhower, too, would put in a brief appearance.

The egg rollers came dressed in chic new Easter bonnets, cowboy suits, dungarees, and there was even one family of youngsters in Scottish kilts.

White House gardeners had stretched almost a mile of picket fence to protect the shrubery and flower beds from restless young feet. A sturdy fence also had been set up around the President's golf practice green not far from his office.

Mother Saves Three But Dies In Blaze

MINEVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — A mother and her 3½-year old daughter perished early today after the mother had tossed three other children to safety from their burning home.

Mrs. Valedia Savage, about 27, and her daughter, Katherine, died of burns and smoke poisoning.

She had thrown the other three children from a second-floor window of the 1½-story frame house. Her husband, George Savage Sr., 29 an iron miner in this Adirondack community, stood outside and caught George Jr., 5; Starlee, 2; and Ricky Edward, 3½ weeks.

Administration Seeks Means To Bolster Its Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is taking a new look at the legal authority it already has, seeking means to strengthen its farm program this year in the event no new farm law is enacted.

Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse said the department "obviously is taking a new look at the whole farm program to determine what more might be done to help improve the farm situation."

No decisions on possible new actions have yet been made, he said, but he indicated officials are weighing carefully steps that might be taken to hold down production of livestock feed grains already in surplus.

The administration has been pinning its hopes for improving economic conditions in agriculture on a proposed $1,200,000,000 soil bank program. Payments would be made to farmers for taking land out of production of crops already in surplus.

Agriculture Department officials said the possibility of a soil bank program helping farmers this year now appears "very slim." They based this appraisal both on the possibility that President Eisenhower may veto the pending farm bill and on the shortness of time for putting a soil bank plan into effect this year.

The bill as it now stands provides for the soil bank, but also would restore higher, rigid price supports and other features strongly opposed by the administration. Secretary Benson has predicted a bill with the high supports would be vetoed.

The bill is now being redrafted by a Senate-House conference committee, which will resume its work tomorrow. Both House and Senate must vote on the committee's compromise recommendations after Congress reconvenes April 9.

Rep. Cooley (D-NC) chairman of the House conferees, said at his Nashville, N.C., home he expects a Republican move to fix price supports on basic crops at 87½ per cent of parity instead of the 90 per cent provided in the farm bill. Parity is a price determined under farm law to be fair to the farmer in relation to his costs.

Mayor Will Face Trial

AUSTIN (AP)—Lesie Lowry, former Beaumont mayor, was called jury in his former insurance operations.

Trial was set for call in 98th District Court, with District Judge Charles O. Betts presiding.

Lowry; his brother, Paul Lowry; and Beaumont attorney D. H. O'Fiel were indicted shortly after the Texas Insurance scandals broke in May, 1954.

The cases against Paul Lowry aid O'Fiel also were set for call today, but it was agreed that Leslie Lowry would go to trial first.

The perjury charges are based on a sworn statement filed with the Insurance Commission in July, 1951, in the organization of the defunct Texas Fire Insurance Co. of Ennis.

This was one of three insurance firms promoted by the Lowry brothers. All have been placed in receivership.

The most publicized of the receiverships was that of Texas Mutual Insurance Co. of Beaumont, in connection with which a 3rd Court of Civil Appeals judge in 1954 made a stinging denunciation of what he termed "gross if not criminal laxness" in enforcement of Texas insurance laws. None of the present insurance commissioners were in office then.

Austin Man In Race For Lt. Governor

AUSTIN, Texas —April 2 —C. T. Johnson, 45 year old Austin business man Monday became the first candidate to file for the Democratic office of Lieutenant Governor by paying his filing fee to George W. Sandlin, Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Johnson is running on a platform that calls for an elected state utility commission, $75 monthly pension to all eligible citizens at 65, reduction of taxes and a statewide water conservation program as a dire necessity.

In proposing an elected state utility commission, Johnson stated that the wrangle over high utility rates is spreading all over Texas. There are approximately 100 rate hearings requesting telephone, electric and gas increases today.

Definite need for such a commission exist due to the weakness of most Texas city governments in controlling rates," he said. Johnson stated, "Such regulation of utility rates has been found very successful in 46 of the 48 states."

In his Old Age Pension program requesting $75 a month to all eligible citizens at the age of 65 he declared that Texas ranks 45th in the nation with an average low of $36 per month and this "is definitely not an adequate plan". "The employment outlook for an older person today is dark," he added. He continued by saying the time has arisen when we should accept these citizens as a state responsibility instead of a political football. It's the Christian thing to do, Johnson says. We should provide enough for our respected senior citizens to live on.

Johnson said he has been distressed about the "creeping sales taxes" which are being piled on the people by each session of the legislature, and will do all he can to switch the burden into fields of taxation based on the ability to pay.

In his statewide water conservation program, he proposes a plan to build 100,000 small dams in Northwest Texas and a vast canal parallel to the Gulf coast crossing the state's 10 rivers as a means of saving Texas from droughts. He said, "The small dams would benefit West Texas particularly and the vast canal would also benefit the entire Gulf Coast Region. Small dams on the farms of the arid regions of the western part of the state would establish water banks for use during droughts as well as insurance against soil erosion."

Johnson said, as lieutenant governor of Texas he would always be fighting for equal treatment for all and special privilege for none. "I will be found as a state official speaking up for the people in all issues. You may be sure that I will preside over the Senate in a fair manner to all people, and there will be no lobbyists telling me how to preside or what to do and say. Since I am not a lawyer, I have no retainer fees to explain, nor will I have any as lieutenant governor. The State Capitol needs a fresh, full approach to state problems."

St. Bernard Fails To Live Up To Name

ALBION, N. Y. (AP) — This St. Bernard didn't live up to the tradition of his breed. He carried no keg of brandy. And he was the rescued, not the rescuer.

Firemen in this western New York village said they skidded 36 feet of ladder across the thin ice of a quarry pond yesterday, and then reached a final 15 feet with a pike pole to hook the dog's collar and pull him to safety.

The dog had broken through the ice.

Error Cited In Letter

By typographical error, a line was omitted in yesterday's Daily News from a letter written by the Rev. T. Gerald Cates, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church.

The portion including that line should have read, "In-I Cor. 11:21, the ancient church is condemned for making a drunken feast of the Lord's Supper. This proves this ancient church erred in using intoxicating 'wine' in observing the Lord's Supper. The Greek word for wine is oinos and can mean fermented or unfermented grape juice and must be interpreted in the light of the context. (The word, 'wine' is never used in the English Bible in connction with the Lord's Supper.) This passage is another Bible tragedy in connection with strong drink."

Attention is called to another paragraph which had a typographical error. It should have read, " 'Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder.' Prov. 23:31-32 (Read this entire passage — Verses 29 through 35.)"

Fluvanna Girl Gets Award

Margaret Ann Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Miller of Fluvanna, has been awarded a Club Publication, the Safety Sentinel for January.

She won the award by sending the following safety slogan "Your Farm Tools You Must Check or You'll Break Your Silly Neck".

Margaret Ann has been active in 4-H Club work for five years she and 20 other Fluvanna students meet twice a month, generally at the school, to discuss various aspects of 4-H work.

In connection with this activity she has won two firsts and one second at dress reviews and five blue ribbons, one red and one white in 4-H Club baking contests.

When asked what she liked to bake most, she said "chocolate cakes and chocolate or lemon pie."

In addition Margaret Ann has spent a busy winter helping her mother redecorate her bedroom and decorate her new "study". It doesn't take long to figure that red is her favorite color!

Hungarian Recipe Given

Here's a Hungarian recipe that has been used successfully here in Snyder for small and large gatherings. You can make it ahead of time and freeze it, then all you have to do the night of the party is heat, and add noodles!

MARZEETE GOULASH

3 lbs. of cubed sirloin tip roast
2 large onions diced
3 garlic buds diced
3 No. 2 cans of tomatoes
1 medium size can mushrooms (about 8-ozs.)
1 cup grated cheese (American)
1 large package of noodles

Flour meat and brown in fat with onions and garlic. Salt, pepper, and sprinkle with Accent. When meat has browned, add tomatoes and simmer gently for 2½ to 3 hours. If mixture starts to thicken up too much, add tomato juice or more tomatoes. Add this goulash mix to the cooked noodles, add mushrooms and cheese and place in hot oven until cheese has melted. Serve with green salad and garlic bread. This recipe will satisfy six very hungry people, or 8 moderate eaters.

Easter Eggs Still Good For Eating

Those hard - boiled eggs the Easter Bunny left are perfectly good eating. Any number of delicious luncheon dishes offer tempting ideas—for one, Egg Goldenrod made by slicing cooked eggs, warming in condensed cream of mushroom soup directly over the flame. Serve over toast.

Another dish is Rice Bake, in which a layer of cooked rice covers the bottom of a buttered casserole followed by quartered hard-boiled eggs, a few left - over peas or beans and over all a can or two (depending on amount of eggs and rice) of undiluted celery soup, to which two tablespoons of prepared mustard have been added.

Mitt Mop Is Handy Household Gadget

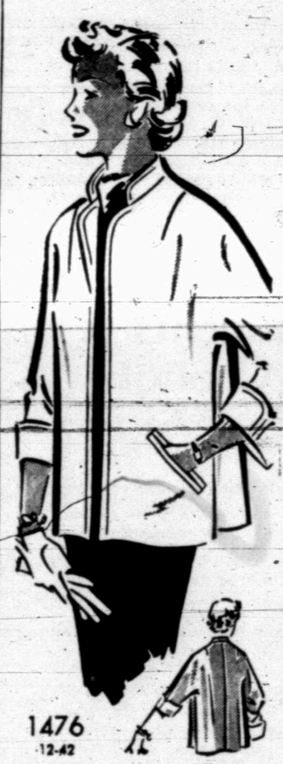

A handy household gadget is a mitt mop. This is a soft and fluffy nylon string mop fashioned to fit over the hand for easy cleaning —either dry dusting or wet sudsing.

The mitten pocket is made of plastic, and the whole thing is packaged in a plastic bag that can also be used for washing by hand or machine in hot soap or detergent suds.

Use Cake Flour

Hints for spring brides: For baking successful cakes use cake flour. Baking pans of shiny metal are best for cake baking, too. However, we suggest, that if your wedding gifts included oven-glass pans, which hold the heat, use a 25 degree F. lower oven temperature or a slightly shorter baking time.

Couple Introduces Gadget For Feeding Fussy Infants

SAN MATEO, Calif., April 2 (AP)—Two young couples who've never fed a baby in their lives have come up with a gadget they think may be the answer to the problem of feeding fussy infants.

"We got tired of listening to friends with small babies tell about their feeding troubles, so we decided to do something about it," says Hector Howard, an optical technician.

One night Howard and his wife Pat, together with Evelyn and Don Deemer, sat down around a kitchen table. Both couples are childless. Evelyn, Howard's sister, was playing idly with a ballpoint pen, flipping the retractor.

"That's it," she cried suddenly. "That's the principle of the thing."

As it turned out, she was right. The four of them, in a session that lasted nearly all night, came up with plans for an infant feeder which combines the principle of suction with that of pressure to insure an even flow of strained foods into a recalcitrant baby's mouth.

The feeder, on which a patent has been obtained, is simple. It consists of a round glass tube similar to shape to an ordinary nursing bottle, but about half the size. One end is fitted with a regulation nipple, the holes enlarged. The other is equipped with a plunger-like device on which pressure may be applied. The whole feeder can be held easily in one hand, the thumb working the plunger.

Operation is as easy as the device is simple. The mother puts as much strained food as her child requires into the tube, screws the nipple on one end and the plung on the other with plastic caps and starts feeding. The baby, accustomed to a nipple, sucks happily; the mother applies just enough pressure to keep the food flowing steadily.

"We let one mother use a feeder and within a week two of her neighbors were borrowing it daily," says Howard. "All three of them were having trouble getting their babies to eat off a spoon. The babies cried and, slopped stuff all over themselves and the kitchen. With our feeder you can't spill anything and the baby gets to eat in a way he knows instinctively."

The feeder still is not on the market, but the inventors hope it will be by next fall.

Quick-Fix Main Dish

Corned beef macaroni loaf is a quick-fix dish you will want to add to your repertoire of short-notice meals.

Add 2 teaspoons salt and 4 ounces elbow macaroni to 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine 1 egg, beaten, 1 cup tomato sauce (8-ounce can), ½ cup chopped onion, ¼ cup enriched bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon Worcesterhire sauce, ½ teaspoon salt and 2 cups cooked corned beef (12-ounce can). Mix well, drain and rinse macaroni. Fold into other ingredients. Pour into well greased loaf pan, 2½ x 8½ inches. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) about 1 hour. Slice and serve hot with mustard or horseradish sauce. This makes 4 servings.

Eggs Used In Noodles

Let Goldenrod Noodles be the disguise for leftover Easter eggs.

Add 4 ounces noodles and 2 teaspoons salt to 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes.

Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. While noodles are cooking, melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in top of double boiler.

Stir in 3 tablespoons enriched flour and ½ teaspoon salt. Add 1 cup milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly.

Fold in 4 hard-cooked eggs, diced; 1 cup cooked, cut green beans; 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper and 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento. Place over hot water and heat thoroughly.

Drain and rinse noodles. Arrange on warm plates and spoon sauce over top. Makes 4 servings.

Steaming salmon? Add a bay leaf and a few peppercorns to the water in which the fish is poached.

Frozen melon balls are delicious served in individual dishes with orange juice.

Battle Shaping Up

Quiet efforts to head off a Shivers-Johnson showdown, reputedly carried on by friends of both recently, apparently have bogged down, perhaps gone glimmering. Reports were that one of these "peacemakers" had said: "We've given up. There is no way to avoid a battle and Johnson will win."

Basically the point at issue between Senator Johnson and Speaker Rayburn on one side and Shivers on the other seems to boil down to this: The former insist that any Texas delegation that goes to the Democratic convention be pledged to support the nominee. Shivers has not agreed to this, and he made it quite clear in his television appearance on "Meet the Press" Sunday before last and later at the Houston committee conference that the nominee will have to meet his (Shivers) specifications to get his support. If he was not exactly looking for a fight, he was inviting one.

Shivers went further by asking Johnson where he stood on interposition, on repeal or weakening the Taft-Hartley Act, and on whether he favors Adlai Stevenson. In a speech at Houston, Shivers termed the proposal of Speaker Rayburn that Johnson head the state delegation "a cynical and calculated effort to divide the conservative Democrats of Texas." He said the Rayburn element was trying to "take over the state convention, the Texas delegation—and Lyndon Johnson." He linked Rayburn to Democrats who, he said, are led by the NAACP, the PAC and the Texas Democratic Advisory Council (anti-Shivers). These were fighting words, and neither Johnson nor Rayburn could be expected to ignore them. On the contrary.

These observations brought acid comments from Senator Johnson in Washington. "No one knows better than Allan Shivers that I am not and never have been the creature of the ADA, the DAC, the PAC and the NAACP, the CIO or any other group the govenor may have named," he asserted.

Then he added the stinger: "Nor have I ever been the errand boy of reactionary big business or the Republican Party."

He would be glad, he said, to go to the national convention if he "could speak the voice of a united Texas and represent the great majority who are tired and weary of the loud voices on the fringe of our political life." But, he added, he has no desire to go as the head of a delegation representing any one faction.

There he stands on firm ground. He has worked hard and effectively in unifying the party on the national scene. If he must turn his talents to the old home state, he must—and that's that.

Just A Stunt

Two young men, students at San Diego Junior College in California, strolled into a used car lot, looked over and agreed on a price of $1,200 for a 1954 model, and proferred 48 napkins in payment.

That's right, napkins. The youths had picked them up at a cocktail lounge. They bore the legend: "This napkin good for $25 toward purchase of any car," and bore the dealer's name.

The dealer tried to laugh it off, saying the napkins were "an obvious advertising stunt." But he hastily inserted advertisements in the newspapers proclaiming all outstanding napkins to be worth only as much as the paper they are printed on.

His haste was understandable, for the lads were not amused at his refusal to trade for napkins. They filed suit in municipal court. We wouldn't say they were too dumb to see the joke. They were smart enough to smell a business opportunity and take advantage of a legal technicality. Maybe the court won't overlook the "stunt" nature of the ad either.

There is a moral in here somewhere, but we haven't time to dope it out. We have to see a man about a toothpaste that is guaranteed to keep your mouth feeling cool and sweet all day long. That we've got to see.

Partial Integration In San Antonio Continues Without Racial Incident

By MORRIS WILLSON
The San Antonio Light

SAN ANTONIO, March 31 (AP)—Partial integration of white and Negro pupils in the city school system is progressing without racial incident after nearly one year of the desegregation program.

Although educators are pleased, Negroes in the higher grades are having trouble keeping up their grades.

Elementary and junior Negro children are maintaining average grades.

San Antonio is the first major Texas city and the only large Southern city to begin mixing races in public school classrooms.

The San Antonio Light said two major problems remain: How soon to integrate completely, and how to take care of the Negro students who are unable to maintain academic standards in their present grade level.

Typical of high school students unable to reach average scholastic standards are the 38 Negro youngsters at Tech High School.

There, these Negro students have an overall C minus average, while the median grade for the 1690 white pupils is B minus.

At Brackenridge 1747 white students scholastically average B minus also, but the 9 Negro pupils academically rate C plus.

In junior schools Negroes are about the same grade-wise as their white counterparts.

James Shea, director of research for city schools, says poorer grades for the Negro pupils are consistent with their economic level and adds:

"It is natural for the Negroes to require a little time to adjust to new school surroundings; in another year or so their scholastic averages may well be up to par."

At Fannin elementary school, where 37 Negroes are enrolled, Mrs. Delva Stone, principal, declares:

"Our Negro children are not quite equal to the whites scholastically, but they cause no trouble and co-operate wonderfully. Our records indicate four are academically outstanding, and 33 are low average."

Supt. Thomas Portwood said there are no plans for mass demotion of Negro pupils here. He added:

"Negro youngsters having the toughest time are those in senior schools; the first and second graders are doing about as well as their white counterparts."

The local program is far from complete integration.

Total Negro membership in the San Antonio Independent School District is more than 500 and fewer than 5 per cent of Negro children are desegregated.

The mass of desegregated Negro children are in Grades 1 and 2, where Asst. Supt. Inez Foster says they comprise a typical cross section—some poor and some excellent.

Hollywood Today

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Kids could have had a field day in a Vine Street eatery the other lunchtime. There was Davy Crockett in one booth and Robin Hood in another.

Crockett, of course, was Texan Fess Parker, studious-looking in glasses as he conferred with his lawyer about investments. Robin Hood was Britisher Richard Greene, in Hollywood for interviews and the George Gobel Show. The two portrayers of legendary characters were introduced and allowed as how they would meet in London. They will be there today, thanks to modern transportation that Hood and Crockett never dreamed of.

Greene, still as amazingly handsome as when he was a Hollywood leading man, has been enjoying his new burst of fame as the gay leader of the Sherwood Forest gang. He has had a brief respite before returning to England to film his second 39 shows.

"I took on the show with some trepidation," he commented. "I had never particularly thought of myself in the role of Robin Hood, and I didn't know if I wanted to be typed.

"But then I said to myself that other people had been typed and had managed to break out of it. Frank Sinatra is an excellent example. So I decided to take it on, reasoning that at some future date I would be able to wriggle out of the green tights."

Originally he had planned to do only 39 shows. But the program proved so appealing in this country and England that the option was lifted and he was sought for another year's product.

WASHINGTON LETTER

High School Students See Backstage Capital

BY JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — The nation's capital, expecting to play host to some half-million high school students, is going to offer them something more than sightseeing and pleasuring this spring, traditional time for school excursions from hundreds of communities.

If plans formulated by Clarence A. Arata, executive director of the Greater National Capital Committee, work out they'll get a "new educational experience and see first hand how the government of their country functions."

One phase of Arata's program is to give them an opportunity to meet top-level government authorities. Ten cabinet departments have arranged a program with the help of the National Education Assn. and the committee.

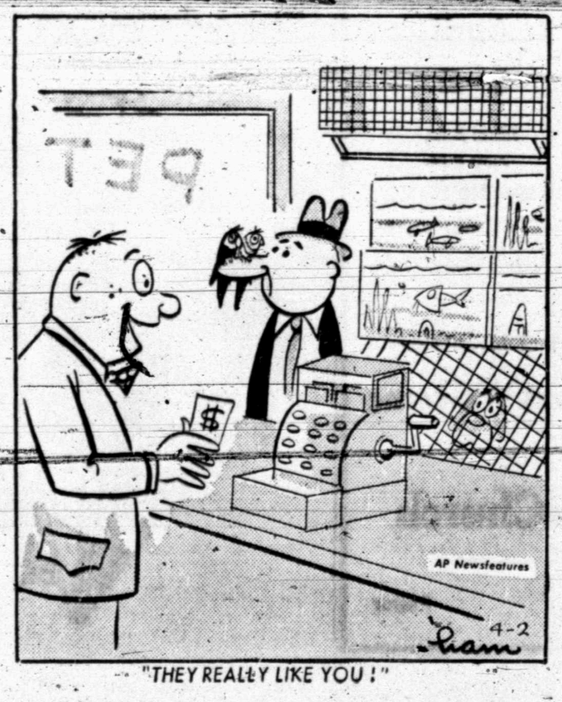

Congressmen from the students' districts have agreed to show the youngsters through the Capitol building to let them get "the feel" of sitting in the wells of the House and the Senate and experience the feeling of history in the making. This "extension of the classroom to Washington," as Arata puts it, has long been sought by teachers, civic leaders and the students themselves, who represent some 6,000 high schools throughout the nation.

"While the planning is necessarily experimental this spring," Arata told me, "undoubtedly there will emerge a 'final' firm plan which will be instituted on a regular basis in the fall, when more and more students groups are planning their trips to Washington."

The plan calls for setting aside certain hours on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays in which students can be received in the government's departmental buildings with a big - shot official giving them an idea how their department ticks. The youngsters will be taken backstage for an inside look at both the legislative and excutive branches of their own local and state communities.

The Greater National Capitol Committee will act as a clearing house, or booking agent Arata explained. It will maintain a daily status board, showing the time and place of the orientation lectures by departments and the seating capacity of each. Through advance arrangements the groups will be booked into the various departments without conflict or duplication.

"THEY REALLY LIKE YOU!"

Firm Celebrating 80th Anniversary Takes Memories Back To Early Days

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—In a Broadway show of recent date, there was a joke that sometimes drew a laugh, and sometimes a ghastly blank, depending on the average age of the audience. It was built around a reference to B.V.D.s.

Does that take you back, brother?

Does it carry you back to the Stutz Bearcat and the Stanley steamer? Can you still see Wallace Reid and Mary Miles Minter and Baby Peggy and Charles Ray? Does it remind you of meatless and wheatless days, a song called "The Rose of No Man's Land," a place called Chateau Thierry, "Over the Top," Woodrow Wilson's 14 points, and Charles G. Dawes' upside - down pipe?

It did me.

Somehow, though, while we weren't looking, a whole new generation has come along and these youngsters find nothing automatically funny about B.V.D.'s. To them, this could mean any number of articles of apparel, for the firm has branched out considerably.

But in my day, sonny, it meant underway, a one-piece suit of underwear.

You kind of backed into it, as I remember, stepping first into the legs which were knee-length, and then fighting your way through the arms. Then it buttoned down the front, and there you were.

Well, the firm is celebrating its 80th anniversary this year, and the officers are having a lot of fun looking back.

The trademark came from the initials of the founders, Bradley, Voorhees and Day.

A big seller in the early days, however, was not men's underwear. It was the "spiral bustle."

A fetching advertisement from an old magazine shows a lady with an hour-glass figure (and not bad, sport, not bad!) examining a spiral bustle with demure approval. It resembles the skeleton of a small mountain lion. The text says it is "the coolest and most durable bustle made."

Then the famous men's underwear began to catch on. Somebody coined the slogan, "Next to myself, I like B.V.D. best."

The late William Allen White, in one of his brochures on American business, credited this with making the product "familiar to the natives along the Gold Coast and to the wild man from Borneo."

The ads were illustrated with long, lean gentlemen, telephoning, reading letters, chatting or just looking pleased, all in underwear. I believe Howard Chandler Christy drew them, and they were beautiful guys with profiles and crisp, curly hair. Wow!

Then, the present-day shirt-and-shorts began to move in on the orthodox B. V. D.'s. Nobody is quite sure why.

Some of the officers believe it was just the public being fickle, as usual. Others think it may have had some connection with World War I and the talk about "cooties."

A "cootie," junior, was a louse that infested the trenches, and made his home in the seams of the soldiers' uniforms.

In due course, the one - piece suit was definitely passed in popularity. I was surprised, however, to hear that about a million of these are still sold every year.

Guess who buys them. Lumberjacks, and north woodsmen, mainly, the firm says.

There was an interesting milestone in 1934, too. That was the year when Clark Gable took off his shirt in the movie, "It Happened One Night." He was wearing no undershirt! Sales fell off 40 per cent, the B. V. D. executives say.

They don't even like to think about it.

New Typewriter Keyboard Is Simpler, Writer Says

By LILLIAN McCLAUGHLIN
... Des Moines Register ...

DES MOINES, April (AP)—Kjg; g; ndglg ktrdh sl a ktrd, ogdko dxfgrrdh g n k j a ;kalhaoh vd-tnsaohe.

If the average secretary or stenographer had written that sentence on her typewriter it would read:

"This is being typed on a typewriter equipped with a standard keyboard."

The jabberwocky is what happens when a typist trained on the Dvorak simplified keyboard switches back to the standard typewriter, tackling the same sentence but using her Dvorak system.

I wrote it for fun, and then fled—back to the simplified keyboard on which I have been practicing for three weeks (some 40 hours' drill).

I'm getting along fine. I'm scoring an average of 45 gross words a minute on test paragraphs in my Dvorak manual, and getting faster every day.

My net score (after deductions for errors) flutters around in the low 20s.

My composing - typing speed is not so facile as it was on the standard keyboard but a lesson in the back of Dvorak's manual encourages me:

"Creative copy will come along naturally as you and the typewriter because one in expressing thoughts and feelings with machinelike ease."

At any rate, I can type well enough on the simplified keyboard to go back to my normal work, use it and meet deadlines.

My guess would be that within a month I could turn out copy faster than I used to on the standard keyboard.

(Dvorak says a superior typist will require approximately 100 hours for retraining to secure a 35 per cent improvement in daily output—speed and accuracy. Slow and mediocre typists, he says, frequently double their typing performance after 100 hours of retraining.)

I've been asked if the simplified keyboard is really easier to learn and to use?

The answer is yes. At the beginning of my project I read everything I could find on the simplified keyboard, which was considerable.

Statistics from scientific studies comparing the two keyboards were just so many numbers then, but have come to life now.

On the simplified keyboard, 70 per cent of the typing, more than 3,000 words (35 per cent of all the words used in ordinary copy) are typed exclusively on the home row (where the fingers normally rest). Finger motion is reduced by 90 per cent.

On the simplified keyboard only 61 diferent monosyllabic words are typed exclusively by one hand, compared to 3,800 by one hand on the standard keyboard. (I have been aware of only one: the pronoun you.)

Next question: Will the simplified keyboard ever come into general use?

That's one that three weeks' self - training hardly qualifies me to answer. But it seems fantastic, that a scientific keyboard, geared to put to use the potential speed of modern typewriters, should not be allowed to replace gradually a system worked out for the horse-and-buggy typewriters of the 19th century.

Consumption Of Liquor Is Decreasing Steadily

By INEZ ROBB

The good word for today is that the distillers' big white horses are running over fewer and fewer Americans as time goes by. But keep an eye peeled, friends, for the matched Palominoes and the wine wagon. They're creeping up.

Incredible as it may seem to other refugees from the cocktail party, the curse of the 20th Century, the consumption of hard liquor has been decreasing steadily in this country for almost a century.

Great - grandpa cultivated the hair on his chest by downing 3.25 gallons of whisky in 1860. And dad dy, in 1917, was living it up at the rate of 1.81 gallons per annum, although he couldn't hold a cup to his pa.

By 1955, the per capita consumption of the hard stuff was 1.21 gallons yearly, only two - thirds of what daddy drank and hardly enough to prime great-grandpappy.

But if whisky is making Americans less frisky, wine is increasingly making them feel fine. The consumption of wine in the U.S.A. today is just about double that before World War 11, although it is still nothing to arouse a native milk-and-Mendes - France movement.

For despite the increase in winebibbing in the U.S., we still consume only nine-tenths of a gallon per capita per annum, vis-a-vis the French consumption of 35 gallons annually, or enough to pickle Pierre permanently.

For all the above statistics (and more to come), I am indebted to E. Otto Sichel, an American who is the descendant of generations of German vintners. Sichel is now engaged in educational work, in that he beats the drum for the Christian Brothers, whose wines and brandy help support 113 school maintained by the order.

The good brothers started growing grapes and making a little wine in California for their own stomachs' sake 75 years ago, and then discovered that the sale of their products helped support their schools. Today, their wineries produce 8,000,000 gallons yearly.

Man has been fermenting anything he could get his hands on since the dawn of time, but Sichel believes that wine originated in Persia, whence it spread to Greece, Italy, France and then the world.

Eighty-five percent of all the wine drunk in this country is made in California from grapes grown from European root stock. The first such European wine grapes were brought to California from Mexico, which got them originally from Spain.

Only 10 percent of the wine produced in this country, principally in New York and Ohio, is made from grapes native to this continent. Wines made in this country account for 95 percent of those we Americans toss off annually. The other five percent is imported. Our 140,000,000 gallons against a mere 60,000,000 gallons consumed in the '30s.

But this increase in wine-bibbing is more than offset by the decrease in the hard stuff and, in Sichel's opinion, indicates a decided moderation in what the boys in the back room are having.

Campaign Train May Be On Way Out Of Politics

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—I am beginning to fear for one of the fine old fixtures of the American political scene, the candidate's campaign train.

Like the brass band and the torchlight parade, it may be on the way out.

The airplane and television have ben muscling into the picture on a bigger scale every presidential year. You can reach a lot of voters in a very little time with them. They are slick and modern.

But for the reporter, covering a presidential campaign, the train has special advantages.

It gets you to the whistle-stops and the earnest little towns, lets you listen to people talking, and gives you the "feel" of the debate, as nothing else can do.

You practically live in the "work car" on the train.

This is a news room on wheels. The seats have been taken out, and long shelves for typewriters line both sides of the car. A public address system connects with the rear-car platform where the candidate does the talking.

The train may stop 8 or 10 times a day. In 1952, both Gen. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson were indefatigable campaigners who made a lot of stops, and then did a major speech at night.

You don't have much time, only a few minutes at each stop. Sometimes you know what the candidate is going to say. Sometimes, he catches you flat-footed.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

IMPERIAL WOMAN, by Pearl S. Buck (John Day).

Few write with the authority of Pearl Buck on her favorite subject of China and her historical novel, "Imperial Woman," is probably her best and certainly her most detailed and complete work in this field since "The Good Earth."

The novel revolves around the last Empress of China, Tzu Hsi, who was known to most westerners of the time as "Old Buddha." While Tzu Hsi remains the central character throughout the book, Miss Buck brings in so many lesser characters that at times it becomes confusing. This was probably necessary, however, to give the intimate inside portrayal of the last great court of the Manchus and how it governed by a mixture of wisdom, ruthlessness and intrique. The fascinating picture of the workings of the Chinese court is so detailed that the action seems to move slowly at times.

The story of the rise of Tzu Hsi to the throne and then her continual battle to retain her power at the cost of her womanhood is a fascinating one. Its historical accuracy would have to be vouched for by better Chinese authorities than this reviewer but it is interesting reading. Miss Buck's grip of the scores of characters she introduces is always authoritative and believable, although it would seem that in the educated Chinese aristocracy of the period, with their many cultural qualities, there would be more statemen of influence concerned with the good of their country than Miss Buck portrays. Most of her characters are constantly engaged in intrigues to futher their own personal ends, with the inevitable result that they pull their own empires to pieces.

The published describes the Imperial Woman as Pearl Buck's longest novel and this certainly seems so at times, but those who like historical iovels with an inside look at an imperial court's intrigues and personal life will find it well worth reading.

Holy Land Darkened By Strife

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As new strife cast darkening shadows over the Holy Land this Easter, Christians throughout the world celebrated the resurrection of Jesus with prayers for peace.

Fresh shooting incidents marred the peace around Jerusalem, where Protestant pilgrams from many lands crowded the quiet garden outside the Old City's walls. Standing before an empty tomb they heard the ancient words "He is not here for He is risen."

As the faithful went through their timeless ritual, word came that an Israeli farmer had been wounded in a night attack on Israeli road traffic near the tense Jordan border. An Israeli spokesman said Jordanians fired on an Israeli team which went up to investigate the attack. Israel asked an emergency meeting of the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission.

Fear of a major Arab-Israeli outbreak together with raw weather resulted in a relatively small attendance at this year's Jerusalem services.

In Vatican City, white-robed Pope Pius XII warned that mankind is racing forward on the road of suicide and extinction from atomic bombs and guided missiles.

Addressing some 350,000 persons in St. Peter's Square below his balcony, the 80-year-old pontiff spoke of how the atom's vast energy might be put to peaceful use.

"All are aware," he said, "that other uses have been sought and found suitable for producing, instead, destruction and death."

His message, broadcast to millions throughout the world, appealed for "light and strength from the risen Christ for those who control the destinies of nations."

There was little peace on the tense Mediterranean island of Cyprus, where Greek islanders seeking union with Greece are defying British rule. Rebels gunned down a British civilian out for an Easter promenade and hurled 12 bombs.

An estimated 10,000 Washingtonians lined the sun-drenched streets to watch President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrive at the National Presbyterian Church for Easter services. During the day the President posed on the White House lawn for a family picture including his son and grandchildren.

In New York, chilly weather kept most Easter outfits under wraps as paraders moved along Fifth Avenue.

From Munich, Germany, Radio Free Europe beamed Easter messages of U.S. Roman Catholic and Protestant churchmen to Communist lands.

Storms Hit State Areas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool air from the northwest and warm, moist air from the Gulf collided over Texas Monday, scattering thunderstorms over much of the state.

The storms were centered over the upper Red River Valley of North Central Texas early Monday and extended down to about Abilene. Central, East and South Texas was cloudy with clear skies elsewhere.

Rainfall was reported around Childress and Wichita Falls.

Early morning temperatures ranged from Amarillo's 50 up to 73 at Brownsville.

Nehru Denies Arms Offer By Russians

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru confirmed today that India has ordered military supplies — apparently planes and tanks — from Britain but denied a report he had rejected a cut-price offer of Soviet arms.

Nehru did not specify exactly what India is buying in Britain except to say, "We have discussed buying tanks and aircraft in the last two years, and it is true we recently finalized details of an order."

Russia, he told a news conference, "has made no offer to us, but we made inquiries in Russia. The inquiries did not concern arms as such but military and civil aircraft."

The Indian leader did not say what had been the outcome of the inquiries to the Russians. But he emphasized his government is interested in Russian civilian aircraft.

"We are not committed or tied down to any country for arms," he said. "It is for India to decide where, when and what arms to buy."

He added that India traditionally buys her arms from Britain because the Indian army is based on the British style.

"But that is a matter of convenience which can be changed anytime," he said. "And if we change we won't do it behind anyone's back."

Nehru was commenting on a London report that India had placed a multimillion-dollar order for British jet bombers, tanks and other weapons after rejecting a Soviet offer.

British sources said their country would supply the Indians up to 40 Canberra jet bombers to replace obsolete U.S. World War II Liberators. They added about 40 Centurion tanks and other weapons also had been ordered.

These sources said India had rejected a Soviet offer to supply any number of Ilyushin T28 jet bombers at half price, as well as tanks and guns.

Posse Hunts For Boasting Texas Convict

LIBERTY (AP)—A posse combed the area today for a boasting, escaped Tennessee convict after two young women told of disarming and escaping him yesterday.

Miss Mavis Webb, 25, of Liberty and Miss Juanita Williamson, 22, of Dayton told Sheriff W. P. Rose that Ted Thomas, 25, held them captive in the South Liberty Oil Field for more than four hours yesterday.

They said he boasted that he would not be taken alive and that he would kill some officers before he died.

Thomas, formerly of Houston, had eluded 200 officers and six hounds in north Harris County for three days.

The women said they escaped Thomas when he got overconfident, left his rifle in their car and walked away far enough so couldn't catch them when they started the car and sped away.

They took Rose to Thomas' camp on the Trinity River where they said he had held them captive. Rose rounded up at least 50 officers and ordered hounds from the prison system.

The women told this story:

They were driving around in the oil field and ran out of gas. Thomas appeared and forced his way into the car when a man identified as James Murphy arrived to check an oil well. Thomas threatened to kill Murphy and the girls if they cried out, then talked Murphy into giving them gasoline.

He then forced them to take him to his camp.

Thomas escaped at Fort Willow, Tenn., in November. He was arrested in Montgomery County two weeks ago but escaped.

NEW PLANT SUPERINTENDENT—Leo V. Rea, shown above putting finishing touches to a complete cleaning and renovating of a white leather jacket, is the new plant superintendent for Highland Park Cleaners, located just south of Thirty-seventh Street on the Big Spring highway. Rea was superintendent of a cleaning plant at Parkway Cleaners, the largest cleaning plant in Hobbs, N. M., for five years prior to coming here. (Lee Watson Photograph)

Plant Superintendent Hired By Highland Park Cleaners

Highland Park Cleaners on the Big Spring highway has just added a new plant superintendent who has had about 12 years experience in all phases of the cleaning and finishing business.

Leo V. Rea is the new plant superintendent.

Rea has been with the Parkway Cleaners, largest cleaning and finishing plant in Hobbs, N.M., for the past six years, five of which was as plant superintendent.

He has had a total of more than 12 years in the cleaning and finishing profession.

He started in the business at an early age and actually worked his way through school in the profession.

"However cleaning and finishing of clothes in the proper manner is a thing which requires constant study," Rea said.

He has made special studies of the modern methods of proper cleaning and handling of new synthetic materials which have become popular for use in both men's and women's clothings.

"Even more important to the wearer of the clothing than just having it neatly and presentably cleaned and sized, is the proper methods used in doing the job to insure long life and long wear in the item," Rea said.

Rea is experienced in the cleaning and renovating of all types of traditional materials used in clothing such as woolens and cottons, silks, linens, and even leathers.

One of his specialties is renovating of leather coats and jackets and restoring the original appearance and texture to the leathers.

A complete hat cleaning and blocking service is also offered by Rea and the Highland Park Cleaners.

S. S. Steinberg, owner, said that Rea was added to the staff of the plant to permit an even faster service, while at the same time maintaining the high quality service for which the plant has become known.

One-hour cleaning service when necessary or desired by the customer will be a new aspect of the plant's services.

"We are not attempting to make Highland Park Cleaners a pants—pressed—while - you - wait establishment, but that service will be offered for customers who need such fast service," Steinberg said.

Rea said that Highland Park Cleaners has one of the most modernly and completely equipped cleaning and finishing plants he has seen in this area.

"We have all the equipment necessary to do the proper job on any garment brought to us," he said.

Bar Keeper Is Killed

HOUSTON (AP)—A shotgun blast killed tavern keeper Sam Macgregor, 49, as he slept in his mother's home in Huffsmith last night.

A man identified as Silliam Hall, 28, was arrested at daybreak for questioning. A shotgun was found in a car he was driving.

Sheriff C. V. Kern described Hall as a fugitive from a Fort Madison, Iowa, prison.

Hall was arrested with Mrs. Joy MacGregor, about 30, the dead man's estranged wife.

Kern quoted Hall as saying:

"Yes, I killed Sam. Nobody hired me to do it or egged me on."

MacGregor was sleeping at the home of his mother, Mrs. Marie Clayton, when the shotgun roared at about 10:50 p.m.

The charge tore away one side of his face.

Trial Slated On Kidnaping

GEORGETOWN (AP)—Mrs. Pauline Schulze, 30, former Houston nurses aid, was cited for trial today on a charge of kidnaping a 29-minute-old baby from a Beaumont hospital.

Mrs. Schulze went to trial Jan. 30 in Beaumont. A mistrial was declared after doctors said Dr. Roy Schoettle of Houston, a key witness, was too ill to finish testifying. He suffered a heart attack during a recess Feb. 2.

Defense attorney Percy Foreman of Houston predicted the trial would last only one day.

The child, Carolyn Wharton, was taken from her hospital crib March 19, 1955. She was found unharmed at Mrs. Schulze's Houston home about 10 hours later.

Schoettle testified Mrs. Schulze, a practical nurse at his Houston clinic, told him she was going to have a baby and named him as the father.

Dr. G. B. Thomas, an obstetrician, said he examined Mrs. Schulze at the clinic March 20 and that it would have been impossible for her to have borne a child two weeks before the examination.

SMASHES WORLD RECORD—George Breen, 20-year-old swimming sensation from Buffalo, N.Y., churns up the water on his way to a new record in the 1500-meter swim at the three-day NCAA swimming championships in New Haven, Conn. His spectacular 18:05.9 trimmed 13.1 seconds off the world record. Coaches claimed his feat was equivalent of a runner doing a four-minute mile.

Three Unions Striking On Gulf Coast

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three unions were on strike Monday on the upper Texas Gulf Coast.

At Beaumont, the Operating Engineers Union Local 450 and the Pipefitters Union Local 195 called strikes for Monday morning, a move that was expected to halt most construction in the Sabine area.

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union struck Sunday at the Ethyl Corp.'s plant at Pasadena. Company officials said supervisors continued plant operations.

Difficulties at Beaumont arose over pay and contractors' seeking three-year contracts.

Negotiations between the pipefitters and the Gulf Coast Piping Contractors Assn. failed Saturday. Officials of the Associated General Contractors of Jefferson County and the Sabine Area Construction Committee, which represent most contractors in the area, said they were notified the operating engineers would strike Monday.

The operating engineers asked up to 17½ cents an hour the first year and 15 cents the second year classification demands.

Glenn Hayes, plant manager, said the union demands were excessive.

The plant makes Ethyl antiknock compound for use by refiners in processing gasoline.

Trial Ready For Spinster

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The state is prepared to ask a grand larceny indictment against Minnie Mangum today.

The case of the mild-mannered 52-year-old spinster came before a Corporation Court grand jury more than three months after her arrest on charges of embezzling from a loan company.

Total thefts from the Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn., which "Miss Minnie" served as assistant secretary and treasurer, have been set at almost three million dollars.

She has been charged specifically with embezzling $14,661.30.

Since her arrest Dec. 29, the company has gone out of business —bankrupted by shortages.

Attorneys for the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. have begun filing suits against individuals who allegedly received Commonwealth funds from "Miss Minnie."

The defendant denied, in answer to one of the suits brought in U.S. District Court here, that she had embezzled funds of the loan company.

She is free under $10,000 bond.

Rain Needed For Crop Of Small Grain

DALLAS (AP) — District farm agent R. G. Burwell of Stephenville says if rain comes to Central Texas within 10 days, farmers likely will make a good crop of oats and small grains.

The surface soil moisture from last winter's snow and ice is about gone. High dry winds have added to the dryness and there is no subsoil moisture, Burwell said.

Oats are showing effects of dry weather, he said. Some farmers are grazing to the limit. Others are betting on a rain.

Corn and grain sorghums are about planted and most are coming up. The crops were planted on scant moisture and will need rain soon for satisfactory growth.

Cotton planting has started in the eastern section of the Central Texas district.

Considerable peach damage in the western section has been noted, Burwell said, but the overall outlook is for a good fruit crop in Central Texas, provided favorable moisture comes.

Moisture is good in East Texas, said district agent Walter Scott of Nacogdoches. Corn, watermelons and tomatoes are being planted and farmers need warm weather. Cattle are growing and are in fair condition, Scott said.

East Texas reports indicate this may be the year for a fair fruit crop. J. F. Rosborough, extension marketing specialist, said the Jacksonville area now expects a crop 75 per cent of normal, the Gilmer area 70-75 per cent, the Alexia crop 50 per cent, and the over-all crop 60-75 per cent of

VERY MUCH ALIVE—Shirley June Dicus, 3, is shown in Neosho, Mo., with police chief Walter Montgomery. Shirley was thought to be dead when the body of a little girl found buried near Kansas City was falsely identified. Her father, Lloyd A. Dicus, a 31-year-old Texas ex-convict, was arrested for questioning and held until the girl was found. The body that was found has not been identified.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

IT'S SHOWDOWN TIME for the Tiger tracksters this week who will compete in the District 3-AA meet in Abilene Saturday.

The Tiger thinlies aren't given much chance to emerge with the team title but several members of the Bengal squad stand a good chance of qualifying for the regional meet.

The first three places in each event qualifies for the regional meet.

Powell Berry in both hurdles, Bud Morgan in the low hurdles, Bobby Pollard and Jack Spikes in the sprints and the Tiger sprint relay team are among those who stand a good chance of qualifying for the regional for the Tiger thinlies.

The Tiger cindermen haven't fared very well in the three meets they've taken part in thus far, the Canyon Reef Relays here, the West Texas Relays at Odessa and the ABC Relays at Big Spring but the Black and Gold thinlies are showing marked improvement with each passing week.

The Tiger tracksters got off to a late start in track due to spring football but the Bengals should be at their peak Saturday as they'll have a month of preparation behind them.

TIL "Goofed" In Setting Up Track Schedule

You know, the TIL (Texas Interscholastic League) does a lot of screwy things but the way they have the track schedule set up just about takes the cake.

As has been stated above, the district meets are set this weekend. Then there's a two - week lapse between the district and regional meets after which there's another two-week lapse between the regional and state meets.

By holding the district meets so early it poses a problem to the schoolboy track mentors. Boys who don't place in the district meet are, for all practical purposes, through for the season.

Oh they may continue coming out for the remainder of the season but with nothing to shoot at the boys' spirits are dimmed and they won't put their all into the workouts.

Since the state meet is carded for the first week in May, it's more than we can understand why the district meets aren't held the third week in April and the regional meets the fourth week in April.

This would give all boys two more weeks to get ready for the district meets.

Football and basketball playoffs are held on successive weeks once they begin and we see no reason why the district, regional and state track meets aren't held on successive weekends.

While we're blasting the TIL, we might as well go "hog wild." Another of their screwy arrangements is the way they have set up the baseball districts.

Big Spring is 50 miles from us yet she isn't in the district with Snyder. What makes this so outrageous is that Vernon, 180 miles from Snyder and Wichita Falls, 200 miles from us, are in our district.

There are at least seven schools playing baseball that is closer to Snyder than Vernon and Wichita Falls.

Using approximative figures, the two schools at Lubbock, Tom S. and Monterey, are 80 miles away; Midland is 90 miles away; San Angelo and Odessa are 105 miles away; and Plainview is 115 miles distance and Big Spring, as aforementioned, is 50.

Maybe there's an explanation for the things we've mentioned here but it sure does look silly on the surface.

Major League Exhibition At Lubbock Tomorrow

Joe Kelley, Lubbock Avalanche sports editor, informs us that no one will be turned away at tomorrow's major league exhibition game at Lubbock between the New York Giants and Cleveland Indians.

Standing room will be sold, Kelley reports. Reserved seats are already gone and most of the general admission tickets have been sold.

Fans who buy general admission tickets at the gate will stand an equal chance of getting a seat since the general admission sections will be filled up on a first come - first served basis.

So all Snyder baseball fans who would like to see such stars as Willie Mays and Alvin Dark of the Giants and Bob Feller and Early Wynn of the Indians, plus many others, of course, can take in this game tomorrow without too much effort. Game time is 2 p.m.

VALUABALE HAND—Joe Reaves, Tiger second baseman, has contributed heavily to the Tigers' success thus far this season. Reaves, in addition to his superb defensive play, has been showing a lot of power at the plate. Reaves came into his own Saturday when he slammed a homerun in each game to lead the Tigers to a double-header victory over the San Angelo Bobcats, 8-5 and 3-1. Reaves now has three homers to his credit this season. (Lee Watson Photograph)

Tiger 9 To Seek 6th Straight Win At Midland Tomorrow

By winning five of their six games during the past week, the Tiger baseballers boosted their season record to 9-4 and will continue their non-district slate tomorrow with a game against the Midland Bulldogs at Midland.

The Tigers, after dropping an 8-6 decision to the Lubbock Westerners Tuesday, surged back to win all five games over the weekend—their longest winning streak of the season.

Coach Speedy Moffett's Bengals will have two things in mind when they invade Midland tomorrow. They are (1) keeping their winning streak going, and (2) even the overall series with the Midlanders this season.

The Tigers and Bulldogs have met three times this season with Midland owning a 2-1 edge thus far.

Lanky Dwayne Prince will likely draw the starting pitching assignment for the Tigers in tomorrow's fracas at Midland.

After the Midland game, the Tigers will go to San Angelo Friday and return home Saturday to meet Monterey of Lubbock in a doubleheader at Pong League Park.

Elsewhere around District 3-AA of which Snyder is a member, the Abilene Eagles finally met their match in the North Side Steers of Fort Worth who snapped an 11-game Eagle winning streak with a 3-2 victory in the nightcap of a doubleheader Saturday at Abilene. The Eagles, however, had won the first game of the twinbill, 4-2, and also won the series as the Birds had won the series opener Friday.

The 11-1 Eagle record is easily the top mark in the 3-AA ranks. The Tigers own the second best mark among the 3-AA nines with 9-4. Then comes Vernon with 2-1 and Wichita Falls with 3-4.

District 3-AA play will commence April 17 with Abilene playing at Snyder and Wichita Falls at Vernon in the opening games.

IN TEXAS RELAYS SATURDAY

Olympic Hopefuls To Run At Austin

AUSTIN (AP)—University of Texas exes coming here for the annual round-up festivities next weekend will get a close look at some of the outstanding prospects for the 1956 American Olympic team competing in the Texas Relays.

The top Olympic prospects will be favored to repeat as individual champions in the Texas Relays but other champions from last year may find the going a bit tougher.

Part of the relays are to be run at night for the first time.

Sprinter Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian College, named the meet's top performer as a freshman last year, and Kansas' massive Bill Nieder are big choices to defend their titles in the 100-yard dash and shotput, respectively.

Robert Van Dee of Oklahoma, a two-time winner, will try again for the discus throw championship.

Threats to an Dee in the discus event will be Al Oerter, a Kansas sophomore; Ray Burrus of West Texas State, last year's runner-up and NAIA champion, and Carl Vereen, Georgia Tech.

Kim Ellis of Oklahoma A&M and Raymond Vickery of Baylor will battle it out in the broad jump.

With the deadline for entries a week away, 11 states already are represented on the 29th relays entry list.

Latest schools to file are Ohio State, Colorado, Missouri and Louisiana State.

Other entries are Arkansas, Drake University, Kansas Teachers, Wabash College, Oklahoma A&M and Oregon.

Oregon will send Jim Bailey, Australian ace, here as the favorite in the 1500-meter run. He is the 1955 NCAA mile champion.

Veteran Seitz Back To Pilot Pampa 9

(This is another in a series discussing Southwestern League prospects).

PAMPA, Tex. (AP)—Most everything connected with baseball in Pampa has been changed this year except the uniforms and a veteran manager. New league, new team; even the price of admission has changed.

But fiery old Grover Seitz, veteran of 15 managerial years in baseball, says he could take one infielder and one outfielder and open the Southwestern League season tomorrow.

No doubt he could. Already in camp are three pitchers with a combined victory record of 60 games last year—Jack Venable, Red Dial and Tom Pollet. Bellwether of the big three is Dial, perennial 20-game winner and holder of the West Texas-New Mexico League record of 28.

John Lalibert, who won 18 with Alexandria, and Bill Hair, formerly with Dallas but more recently with Augusta, round out the mound staff.

Seitz also has his catching worries solved with the return of Big Jim Martin. He hit .306 after joining the Oilers last season, coming from Shreveport.

Joe Fortin who hammered 41 homers last season, is back at first. At second is veteran Frank Kempa, who played college ball with Oklahoma A&M before joining Amarillo in 1954. Seitz needs a shortstop and is looking for someone to plug the gap covered last season by Rach Slider. Slider lost his right index finger two weeks before spring training began.

At third, presently, is veteran Allan Cross, who comes from the Texas League.

In the outfield are Lamar Cagle, who comes from Lake Charles, and Dick Hairston, who has been with the Oilers for the past two seasons Hairston is a long-ball hitter with 25 homers last season.

"I have more outfielders on hand," said Seitz, "but right now I don't see anything that suits me. But I expect help from the Class AAA and AA clubs. Sacramento has promised to release four players, one of them an infielder. If no infielder shows up I will move Cross over to short and fill in at third with someone else."

Seitz undoubtedly will come up with enough material to make the Oilers serious threats in the new league. He has finished in the top division 14 of his 15 years, that including 4 pennants.

Braves' Hopes Bank On Conley's Return

(Another in a series of pre-season appraisals)

By JOE REICHLER

WAYCROSS, Ga. (AP)—Pennants, as a rule, aren't lost in March, but that's exactly what may have happened in the case of the Milwaukee Braves when Gene Conley, their ace righthander, suffered a recurrence of his chronic back and shoulder miseries.

Although slightly encouraged by the latest medical report on the ailing shoulder of the 6-8 pitcher, which showed "definite improvement," nobody in the Braves' camp knows for sure when Conley will be able to pitch again, if at all. He was left in Bradenton when the Braves broke camp the other day.

Milwaukee must have a sound Conley if it is to make up the 13½ games that separated it from the pennant - winning Brooklyn Dodgers last year. If Conley can't take his regular turn and contribute the 15-20 victories expected of him, the Braves will be lucky to do as well as last year when they finished second.

Manager Charlie Grimm, a sincere and forthright person who doesn't try to sell you a bill of goods, put his finger on the Braves' situation the day before the Conley injury hit the camp like a ton of bricks.

"We've never had a full team since we've moved to Milwaukee," the Braves' pilot continued. "Injuries to key men killed us. If we can only stay solid this year, we can go all the way."

Even if Conley is available all year, Grimm realizes he is not out of the woods by any means.

Bass Fishing Tournament Set In May

WACO, March 24 (AP)—The champion bass fishermen of Texas will be picked in a tournament in May.

The state will crown its first such champions when the Waco Tribune-Herald sponsors a tournament at Lake Whitney May 3-6.

A 16-county invitational tourney was held on Whitney last May. The entry list was cut off at 150 anglers, and 146 showed up to fish. Interest was so keen the Tribune-Herald decided to make this year's event for the state championships.

Application to enter may be had from the Waco Tribune-Herald outdoor editor, Earl Golding.

The meet will feature teams, with two men to a boat. Each team must fish during one of the first three days, and 75 or so teams will qualify for the finals Sunday, May 6.

Prizes and trophies will be awarded during each qualifying day for the best catches, and the state champions will be crowned and presented trophies and prizes on the final day. The total catch for the two days of fishing will determine the winners.

Golding said he had already been questioned by dozens of fishermen.

Winners in the 1955 invitational meet were C. E. Dansby of Valley Mills for the individual string, and John Sanders and D. M. Parnell of Waco with the best team string. Sanders and Parnell were also first and second in the big bass division.

Queen's Colt Wins

LONDON, April 2 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth saw her colt High Veldt win the 2,000 Guineas Trial Stakes by 4 lengths today at Kempton Park, giving royalty a repeat of last year's performance. The Queen's Alexander won last spring.

Man Shoots Good One-Legged Golf

SELMA, Ala., April 2 (AP)—One-legged Frank Cothran III, shoots a good game of golf but a strong wind sometimes disturbs his balance.

The 21-year-old Selma man lost his left leg in a feed mill accident last November.

Within a month after the accident, he was back at the Country Club course, playing a few holes on crutches. A few weeks ago he began using an electric cart to tour the course, playing 18 holes three or four times a week. His best round was a one-over-par 72.

He travels the greens in the cart and walks up to the ball on crutches. Once set for his shot, he tosses the crutches to a caddy and swings while balanced on one leg.

Odessa Pro-Amateur Set For July 18-22

ODESSA, (AP)—The eighth annual Odessa $7,500 Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament is scheduled July 18-22.

That's the same time as the national PGA, but the conflict of dates is expected to make the Odessa tourney the best ever. Many young pros not eligible to play in the PGA (a man has to be a pro for five years) will enter the pro-amateur. Also, officials said, many older golfers would prefer the Odessa tourney to the hard grind of the natiinal PGA.

Injury Jinx Hitting World Champ Bums Fast And Hard

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

If many more injuries pop up among the Brooklyn Dodgers they may have to defend their National League pennant and world championship by proxy.

Latest casualties are right-hander Billy Loes, so depressed by a chronic arm condition he says he may "go home and quit baseball," and outfielder-infielder Sandy Amoros, laid up for a week or so with a badly twisted right ankle.

Loes, 26, probably won't make th trip North with the club from Florida, taking hospital treatment instead.

"They've been taking X-rays of my arm for two years and haven't found a thing," he says.

Amoros was injured in yesterday's 4-3, 11-inning victory over the Chicago White Sox. He twisted the ankle sliding into second base.

Also on the shelf is reliefer Don Bessent, sidelined for two or three weeks after removal of a blood clot from his stomach wall.

The walking wounded include shortstop Pee Wee Reese, with an aching back; Duke Snider, with muscular pains in stomach and back; and sore-arm pitchers Karl Spooner and Carl Erskine.

Spooner was disappointing yesterday against the White Sox. In his first appearance of the spring, the 24-year-old lefty stayed around only one inning. He gave up two runs and threw nothing but soft stuff.

The Brooks won it on a single by rookie Gino Cimoli. It came off Sandy Consuegra and scored Gil Hodges, who earlier smacked a three-run homer off rookie Bob Fischer.

Elsewhere, the Detroit Tigers battered Boston ace Frank Sullivan while whipping the Red Sox 6-3. Harvey Kuenn opened one of two three-run Tiger rallies with a single and prodded the other with a two-run single. Ted Williams, who had been out of the Red Sox lineup since March 13 with a groin injury, got a single in four trips.

Mickey McDermott, the hoped-for starter the New York Yankees acquired from Washiigton, went a full nine innings for the first time this spring and set down the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 on six hits. The Yanks had lost five straight.

Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians breezed through five innings to beat Baltimore 5-3. He gave just one hit and upped his strikeouts to 13 for 17 innings.

New York's Giants thumped the Chicago Cubs 7-2 with Dusty Rhodes, Daryl Spencer and Gail Harris smacking homers in a five-run first inning.

Bob Friend became the first Pittsburgh pitcher to go nine innings. It let the Kansas City Athletics have just four hits for an 8-1 victory.

Rookie catcher Joe Lonnett delivered a bases-loaded single in the ninth to give the Philadlphia Phils a 6-5 decision over Cincinnati. Earlier, Stan Lopata had walloped a 400-foot homer with two men on base for the Phils.

Trotters Take 2-0 Lead Over All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — The famed Harlem Globetrotters and the College All-Stars moved on to Boston today with the Globetrotters holding a two-game margin after starting their cross-country tour with afternoon and night victories at Madison Square Garden.

The Globetrotters won the afternoon game yesterday 61-52 before 12,135 fans and made it two straight at night, winning 72-64 with 10,085 spectators on hand.

Ron Sobieszczyk of DePaul, Joe Holup of George Washington and All-American Robin Freeman of Ohio State paced the collegians in the matinee contest. Sobieszczyk had 10 points and Holup and Freeman, nine each.

Tom Heinsohn, Holy Cross' All-America, was the All-Stars big gun at night, scoring 16 points. Holup had 10.

Duquesne's Si Green, another All-America, had to be content with five points in the first game and nine in the nightcap.

O-City Options 3 To Plainview Club

LONGVIEW, Tex., (AP)—The Oklahoma City Indians continued their spring training activity today with a reduced roster, following the option of three players to Plainview, Tex., of the Southwestern League.

Manager Rudy Laskowski announced that shortstop John McCole, catcher Ray Dudek and pitcher Bert Toomey had been sent to the lower classification club for further seasoning. Plainview trains at Kilgore, Tex., only 10 miles from the Indians' camp here.

Souchak Wins Azalea Open By Stroke

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Mike Souchak has regained his putting touch—just in time for the Masters Golf Tournament opening Thursday at Augusta, Ga.

The 210-pound, 28-year-old former Duke University football end putted his way to victory by a single stroke over Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., in a rousing finish to the $12,500 Azalea Open yesterday.

Mike came to the final green 3 under par. He had to sink a five-foot putt for a birdie and a 68 to match Mayer's closing round and stay one shot ahead.

Souchak, who plays out of Grossinger's, N.Y., stroked the ball and turned his back on it. The crowd's whoop told him what he said later he had known as soon as he hit the ball—it was in the hole.

Mike's 23 total was 15 under par for the 6,795-yard Cape Fear Country Club course and meant $2,220.

On the 14th he putted one in from 50 feet for an eagle 2 after a mighty drive reached to the fringe of the green on the 310-yard hole. He also dropped a 10-footer on the ninth for a birdie to keep ahead of Mayer as each turned in 33.

Mayer, won $1,500 second money. Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., leader through the first two rounds and in a three-way tie for the lead at the start of the last 18, had his poorest round, 71, to finish third at 26, good for $1,170.

Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y., was fourth with 277 for $980, ahead of George Bayer, Cincinnati, and Art Doering, Cedarhurst, N.Y., who tied at 278, each winning $790.

Quail Now Making Comeback In Texas

AUSTIN, April 2 (AP)—Quail are making a substantial comeback in Texas, and more than half are believed to be in the Panhandle, the Game commission says.

Principle basis of the latest appraisal is tabulations showing more than twice as many quail wings were sent in the past season than the year before by hunters for a record 11,253 total.

South Texas made the worst showing.

Quail wings are used to chart whether the hatching season was early or late, the number of young birds which have matured per adult hen, the general hatching success and the hunting pressure.

National Open Champ Slates Dallas Meet

DALLAS, April 2 (AP)—National Open Champion Fay Crocker, busiest player on the golf tour, will compete in the Dallas Women's Open at Glen Lakes Country Club, April 19-22.

Miss Crocker, from Montevideo, Uruguary, has played in every women's PGA tournament since turning professional in January 1954.

The South American star won $5,270 in her first year as a pro and then picked up three tournament titles and $12,679 with a fine 75.56 scoring average last year.

Miss Crocker joins Louise Suggs, Patty Berg, Betty Dodd, Diane Garrett and Gloria Armstrong as official entries in the $7,500 tournament thus far.

Winds Bring Warm Trend

Southerly winds brought warmer weather over the eastern portion of the nation today after much of the country experienced a sunny but chilly Easter.

The mercury rose an average of 10 to 15 degrees in the Southeast and as much as 20 to 30 degrees in the Ohio Valley and in the central portions of the Mississippi Valley.

While the warming trend pushed into the East, cooler temperatures prevailed over the area from Montana southward through Wyoming, Utah, western Colorado and Arizona.

The greatest overnight temperature slide occurred in Arizona, where falls of 20 degrees were common.

Temperatures in the 70s were reported along the Gulf Coast and readings in the 60s prevailed as far north as northern Illinois and northern Indiana.

The only areas east of the Continental Divide where the temperature did not reach 50 or better were the Northern Plains eastward through the upper Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region, the New England states and the Mid-Atlantic Coast states.

Woman Has Signals A Little Mixed Up

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Police halted a young woman driver for making a right turn after her directional signals indicated a left turn.

The woman said she thought the lights told drivers behind her which way they should turn.

Studies show hurricanes do not form when ocean surfaces are below 82 degrees Fahrenheit.

Civil Rights Plan Pushed By Negroes

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negro leaders urged steps be taken to increase voting registration among their race and called for prompt congressional action on civil rights legislation as a means of lessening Southern resistance to racial integration yesterday.

Rep. Diggs (D-Mich) told a membership rally of the National Assn. for the Advancment of Colored People at Montgomery, Ala., that Negro registration should be stepped up "so that when our children go to bed at night they can dream realistically that someone like the Rev. King can be a congressman from the state of Alabama."

Diggs referred to the Rev. M. L. King, Negro Baptist minister, who recently was convicted of violating Alabama's antiboycott law in connection with the prolonged Montgomery bus boycott. King has appealed a $500 fine.

The Negro congressman warned that the boycott method of protest should not be used "indiscriminately" unless "a carefully drawn set of circumstances makes this a reasonable method of retaliation."

He was the featured speaker at a rally at which NAACP officials reported they had signed up 1,583 new members. The NAACP said Saturday that there were fewer than 1,000 members in the city.

At Washington, Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP's Washington office, said much Southern resistance to racial integration "will disappear" if Congress acts promptly on civil rights legislation. He declared that "basic civil rights bills" have cleared Senate and House judiciary subcommittees and can be enacted this year if leaders of both parties "really get behind" them.

Mitchell said, "It should be obvious to everyone that . . . something is wrong with the election system" when "officials in states like Mississippi, where half the population is colored, offer the greatest resistance to integration."

There were an estimated 100 gray whales in the world in 1939; 4,500 today.

The 182nd Massachussetts Infantry, orgnaized in 1636 is rated the oldest National Guard unit in the United States.

Electronics Equipment Plant At Garland Damaged By Blaze

GARLAND, Tex. (AP)—A raging fire, spurred by a series of explosions, destroyed more than 80 per cent of an electronic equipment plant last night.

Varo Manufacturing Co. officials immediately imposed a tight censorship for "security reasons." The firm makes airborne electronic equipment for the government.

Fire Marshal R. R. Flanagan said the loss would exceed one million dollars, but company officials declined to comment.

Two guards discovered the blaze. More than a dozen fire companies, including equipment from Dallas and other neighboring cities, fought the fire.

Emergency police were needed to hold back hundreds of spectators attracted by billowing clouds of dense smoke. Traffic was tied up for blocks.

The fire was uncontrolled for more than an hour and flames were visible in scattered parts of the plant four hours after the initial alarm.

Smoke overcame four firemen.

One security guard who would not permit use of his name reported hearing several cannon-like explosions shortly after the flames were discovered in the rear of a building.

Garland Fire Chief Harry Grantham said three minor explosions inside the plant were heard shortly after he arrived.

"I counted three explosions and each time I heard them the fire seemed to flare up more," Grantham told reporters.

He said the unexplained blasts seemed to spread the fire to other parts of the building.

One company official said the blasts might have been set off by magnesium castings stockpiled in the plant.

The building was located in a thinly settled area and was almost out of reach of fire hydrants.

The first firemen at the scene were blocked by locked doors.

"The flames kept the guards from getting to the doors to let us in," Grantham said. Firemen hacked through the doors, only to be turned back by boiling flames.

"It seemed to be burning in two parts of the building—at one rear corner and up front," Grantham said, adding that the blaze had "a considerable lead" when firemen arrived.

The intense heat kept firemen at long range.

Assistant Dallas County Fire Marshal R. V. Thompson said "It really puts me at a loss to figure out just what did happen."

Flanagan said the plant was found in satisfactory fire prevention condition during a recent inspection.

Python Holds Man For 15 Minutes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A veterinarian personally "hand-fed" a 28-foot, 237-pound python at international airport.

Dr. Nathan Gale was making a routine check on the snake when it bit him on the hand and held on for nearly 15 minutes before its jaws were pried loose.

The python, just in by air from Singapore, is destined for a Long Beach, amusement area. The snake's bite, while painful because of 400-needle-like teeth, is not poisonous.

John Waynes Have New Daughter Today

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor John Wayne is passing out cigars after the birth of a daughter.

Two Similar Slayings Are Being Studied

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Was it moon madness which prompted the knife slayings of two pretty teenage wives two months and 50 miles apart?

Detectives investigated this fantastic possibility today in the killing of Mrs. Barbara Jepsen and Mrs. Oleva Johnson.

"Far-fetched as it may seem, records show that some psychopathic criminals are influenced by the moon," said Detective Sgt. Al Ortiz. "It's a theory that must not be overlooked."

Mrs. Jepsen was knifed to death Jan. 31 in Van Nuys, four days after a full moon. Mrs. Johnson, of Houston, was slain here March 28, two days after the full moon.

Other similarities occurred in the deaths, leading investigators to suspect the same killer. Both women, each 18, were stabbed in the chest. Both bodies were found on their beds. One body was partially disrobed, the other completely.

Mrs. Johnson's body was discovered Wednesday by Pvt. Harold Johnson, 19, in their auto court cabin. Johnson told authorities he was not married to her, but that she had come from Houston two weeks for a marriage ceremony. They have a prematurely born son who still is in a Houston hospital. They had lived together more than a year as man and wife, he told officers.

Johnson took a lie detector test Saturday which military investigators said backs his contention that he knew nothing about the killing.

Detectives questioned several soldiers at a Nike guided missil installation here in the Johnson slaying. The soldiers recently were transferred from Van Nuys, where they were stationed near Mrs. Jepsen's home at the time she was killed.

Youth Interrupts Easter Services

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Rev. G. Raymond Campbell was unexpectedly interrupted during Easter service.

In the course of his sermon he asked:

"Who is Jesus?"

From the rear of the Westminster Presbyterian Church a small boy replied:

"God."

The reverend paused to acknowledge the boy, then continued his sermon—"This Awed Silence."

Communication System Helps With Services

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Molly Reed at 93 the oldest member of Victory Memorial Baptist Church, attended Easter services at home, thanks to a new 2-way intercommunication system.

The communication system was installed between the church and her home, two blocks away, where she is ill.

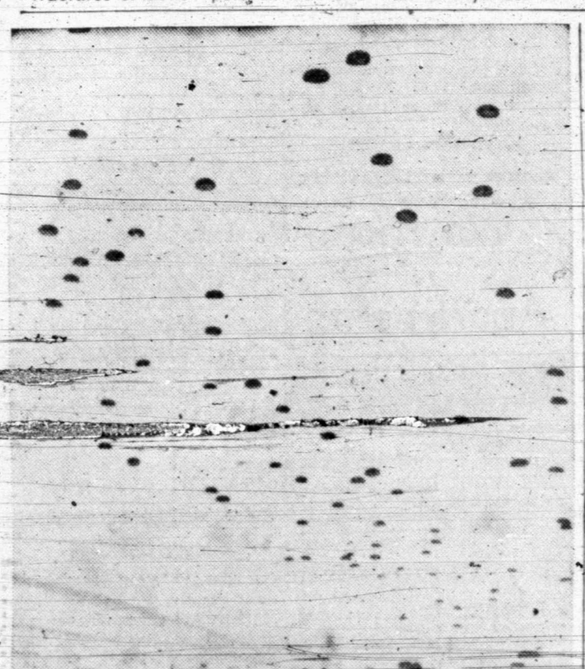

The Rev. George H. Riggs extended a special greeting to Mrs. Reed and she spoke a few words to the congregation.

Full Parity Asked For U. S. Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Agriculture subcommittee called today for a farm program which would give the small "family-type" farmer government price supports at full parity.

Noting "disturbing reports" that the everyday type of farmer is rapidly being eliminated and displaced by the commercial "factory" type farm operation, the subcommittee recommended a new legislative program.

"This program," it stated, 'should begin by supporting the production of average family farms at full parity when the farmers agree to cooperate in a national policy gearing acreage to useful production and conserving and improving the soil against the needs of the future.

"This program should be open to all crops capable of administration in such a program. It would not be restricted to basic crops."

Parity is a price standard determined by law to be fair to farmers in relation to the cost of things they must buy. Price supports are now fixed at varying percentages of parity.

The subcommittee voiced belief the administration's soil bank would be of little direct benefit to the small farmer. It said he already is suffering from acreage cuts under federal controls, and will be forced to quit farming if required to take more land out of production.

The soil bank plan now pending in Congress would provide federal payments to [illegible] who cut planting of surplus crops below the acreage allowed them under marketing controls.

As a complement to the soil bank, the subcommittee recommended payments to farmers for complying with acreage allotments this year.

"Not many small farmers can afford to take out further acres" to qualify for soil bank payments, the subcommittee said.

Also recommended was restoration of price supports at 90 per cent of parity on basic crops subject to acreage controls this year, more credit from the Farmers Home Administration, expansion of market research activities, more liberal soil conservation payments, and a wide dispersal of industry to afford jobs for farmers as a supplementary labor market.

Most of these recommendations were considered, and some accepted, by the Senate Agriculture Committee in writing the omnibus farm bill now before Congress.

Average annual U. S. wheat pproduction in 1905-1909 was 681 million bushes.
