Tax Bill Clears House Panel

The SDN Column

A lot of industrial firms take pride in production of various and sundry items used in the space program, and there are many such items which the public never hears about.

One of the most unique I have heard about is a heating device, called an isotope heater, which keeps the 112-pound testing station left on the moon by Apollo 11 from literally freezing to death during lunar nights.

The lunar night lasts two weeks and during this period temperatures on the moon's surface drop as low as 300 degrees below zero. The isotope heating system, consisting of two nuclear-powered units three inches high, keeps the testing equipment from dropping below a "safe" 65 degrees below zero.

This equipment was designed and fabricated by Mound Laboratories, operated for the Atomic-Energy Commission by Monsanto Research Corp. Monsanto, of course, is a well-known name here, having a gasoline plant and oilfield interests, including a repressuring unit, in Scurry County.

Bankers and officials of other financial institutions are particularly sensitive to discussions of interest rates these days. This is because they are "on the firing line" so to speak whenever there is any change in the money business of the country.

The First National City Bank of New York, which is one of the big boys in this field, put its public relations department to work compiling a small leaflet on the subject of today's high interest rates. They raise the familiar cry of "inflation," but do not leave the subject with that vague, overworked term.

"Simply put," they explain, "whenever the supply of money grows faster than the supply of available goods, prices go up.

"Uncle Sam has been spending more money than he takes in and the Federal Reserve in effect printed the money needed to cover the deficit in 1967-68. The result was bound to be the higher prices that we've all been experiencing. What makes the situation worse is that when prices are rising, people borrow more and more money.

"Now the government and the Federal Reserve are both taking action to brake inflation As you might guess, the way to do this is to stop printing money so fast."

So, they are making it more difficult for banks to get money, which in turn means that it is more difficult for customers to get money from the banks. - - - WACIL McNAIR

Floor Debate Is Due Today

AUSTIN (AP) — A $325.1 million tax bill, about two-thirds consumer levies, was approved by a House committee today and sent to the floor for debate this afternoon.

Opponents denounced it as a "dead horse" that offered nothing new for getting the house and senate out of the tax impasse that caused the first special session to fail

The bill would raise the sales tax rate from 3 to 3.5 per cent Jan. 1 and bring repairs and auto parking under the sales tax. It also would increase the cigarette tax from 11 to 15.5 cents a pack and impose a 10 per cent entertainment tax on professional sports, tourist attractions and other forms of entertainment.

Direct business taxes in the package are a $15 tax on vending machines, except newspaper racks, "service" machines and those selling items for a dime or less, and a corporation franchise tax increase.

The corporation levy, considerably lower than agreed upon in House-Senate negotiations during the first called session, would boost the Franchise tax rate from $2.75 to $3.25 per $1,000 in assets for three years, then drop the rate to $3 in 1972.

Three members of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee asked to be shown voting against the proposal, which cleared the committee on a voice vote. They were Reps. Will Smith of Beaumont, Joe Salem of Corpus Christi and Maloif Abraham of Canadian.

"Haven't we had enough fun and games?...Why can't we send a bill over there (to the Senate) that we can get some votes for?....It doesn't look very responsible to me to keep running the same dead horse out there to get killed again," said Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville.

"This is the worst bill I've seen in 20 years, except for the one taxing food that we killed the other day," said Smith.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, committee chairman and sponsor of the bill, said a "bill that might not get the (Senate) votes on one occasion might on another. I don't think this is fun and games."

The $325.1 million measure includes $54.4 million in direct business taxes. Business' share rises to $115.4 million if you apply the state comptroller's estimate that business pays 35 per cent of the sales tax. The remaining $209.6 million would be paid by individual consumers.

In a short meeting, the Senate Finance Committee approved a two-year appropriations bill incorporating items agreed on in conference with the House during the first called session that ended in failure Tuesday night. The committee also approved a 30-day stopgap spending bill, but indicated what the Senate will debate will be a 60-day bill approved in the senate in time for the morning finance committee meeting, but the group planned to consider it this afternoon.

Israel Asks Help To Protect Jews

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel's parliament called on all nations of the world today to help save the Jews of Iraq, Syria and Egypt "before it is too late." It also demanded an urgent United Nations investigation into the plight of Jews in Arab lands.

The Knesset was called out of summer recess for a special session to discuss the execution Monday of 15 alleged Iraqi spies, including two Jews. Nine other Jews were executed in Baghdad earlier this year.

The parliament unanimously approved a call to "all states and parliaments who uphold human rights, as well as to religious heads in the world, to take action without delay to save the Jews.

"Israel will not cease its efforts to save Jews in Arab lands."

Prime Minister Golda Meir accused the U.S. Human Rights Commission of "making a mockery of elementary rules of fairness" by failing to investigate the situation of Jews in Arab countries while conducting an investigation of alleged Israeli atrocities in occupied lands.

She said the commission's investigation of Arab allegations of Israeli atrocities "in fact encouraged Iraqi rulers to go ahead with their policy of mock trials and hangings."

The 71-year-old prime minister then appealed to the United Nations and other world bodies to take "urgent action to save the Jewish communities in Arab countries, who are kept there as hostages and are virtually in prison." The only way to save them, she added, is to let them leave their countries of residence "before it is too late."

In Beirut, Lebanon, King Hussein of Jordan said in a newspaper interview war with Israel was inevitable "and the possibility exists of an explosion at any time."

Husseln's comments, printed by the paper Al Jarida, reflected his hardening line in the Middle East conflict.

Little action was reported along the Jordanian front this morning but the Israeli army said its commandos struck deep in the Nile Valley Wednesday night for the fourth time in 10 months.

New Storm Is Watched

MIAMI (AP) — A tropical disturbance moving toward the Windward Islands produced a threat of heavy showers and gusty winds today and hurricane hunter aircraft were ordered to check it for any sign of intensification.

The disturbance sprang up as tropical storm Eve degenerated into a low pressure area of minor squalls southwest of Bermuda.

Poke-Oiler Game Due On Cable Here

Tonight's football game between the Dallas Cowboys and the Houston Oilers will be picked up by West Texas Microwave Co. and Snyder Community Antenna Television plans to air it on Channel 2.

This announcement was made this morning by Mel Gilbert, SCAT vice president, who said that earlier the West Texas Microwave Co. had indicated that it could not furnish a picture of the game in this area. However, Gilbert said he was advised this morning that the game would be microwaved into Snyder and that SCAT planned to air it on Channel 2.

The game, a sell-out, is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the Astrodome in Houston.

Rains Shift To Coastal Areas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deluged sections in far West Texas and along the Mexican border were still drying out today while most of the state's shower activity shifted to coastal areas and South Central Texas.

Rain skipped Marfa in the nearly always dry Big Bend country overnight after two days of downpours which added up to a whopping 8.5 inches—and quickly soaked into thirsty rangelands.

There were still occasional showers around Eagle Pass and Del Rio, but nothing like the near-cloudbursts of the night before, when more than 6 inches of rain drove eight families from temporarily flooded homes in Eagle Pass.

Del Rio, which measured 3.31 inches Tuesday night, tacked on .61 more for a two-day total of 3.92. Water had subsided, however, after covering rural roads linking Del Rio, Eagle Pass and Crystal City, which received more than 5 inches the night before.

Often heavy showers were numerous in other sections of the state Wednesday evening, skipping only the Panhandle and extreme West and East Texas.

One of the larger totals was Galveston, where .89 during the evening boosted the 24-hour measurement to 3.88.

Before dawn today the shower activity extended down the coast from Galveston to Corpus Christi ranging inland past Liberty, Huntsville and College Station.

There was early morning moisture also from around Waxahachie in Central Texas to near Tyler, and in the Panhandle-Plains sector embracing Lubbock, Plainview, Childress, Shamrock and Amarillo.

Forecasts called for widely scattered showers to continue in all sections.

Temperatures near dawn were comparatively mild, ranging from 67 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle to 79 at Galveston.

Top marks Wednesday hit 97 at McAllen and 96 at Texarkana. Big Spring, which received more than an inch of rain, was the coolest point with a high of 77.

US Says Mutual Withdrawal Vital

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States said today it had taken major initiatives to reduce the level of violence in the Vietnamese war, including a curtailment of B52 raids in South Vietnam. Since North Vietnam did not respond, President Nixon has deferred action on further troop withdrawals, it was emphasized.

The United States warned that a negotiation settlement is impossible as long as North Vietnam rejects the principle of a mutual withdrawal of all non-South Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the 32nd session of the deadlocked peace talks that more than 130 battalions of regular North Vietnamese forces are "actively engaged against South Vietnam."

"It is thus impossible for the people of South Vietnam to determine their own future freely unless these troops from North Vietnam return to North Vietnam," he went on.

"This is why it is impossible to achieve a negotiated settlement until the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam is willing to act on the principle that all non-South Vietnamese forces will leave South Vietnam."

North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy immediately repeated Hanoi's long-standing rejection of any mutual troop withdrawal.

He denounced the American demand as a trick to prolong the U.S. "occupation of South Vietnam" and protect the "puppet regime"—a reference to the South Vietnamese government.

"Ever since this conference started, the United States has insisted on its extremely unreasonable demand of mutual withdrawal, which we have many times criticized and rejected," Thuy said.

Disagreement On Infiltration Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said today North Vietnam sent about 100,000 troops into South Vietnam during the first half of this year, enough to "substantially replace" enemy combat losses.

The Pentagon figured enemy killed during that period at 93,653 but said that loss would be expanded when prisoners, wounded and defections are added in.

It was the first time in months that the Defense Department has released infiltration figures and came at a time when the Pentagon was seeking to play down the idea that it stands in sharp disagreement with the State Department over the significance of a recent infiltration decline.

Defense spokesman Jerry Friedheim, asserting that there is no disagreement, said both agencies agree that infiltration is lower this year and that there may be a decline of enemy strength in South Vietnam as a result.

But whereas the State Department said it viewed the development as "significant," Friedheim said: "We interpret this cautiously."

Friedheim said the 100,000-man infiltration figure for the first half of 1969 is half the infiltration figure for the corresponding period in 1968, but he said any comparison of the two figures "must be made cautiously" because of special factors which existed last year.

Among these, Friedheim said, are the fact that in early 1968 North Vietnam was preparing for the big Tet offensive. He said also the halt of the U.S. combing of North Vietnam last fall and weather factors over Laos this spring must be considered in any assessment of this year's lowered infiltration.

SUE FISCHER TALKS

Says Remarriage Forced

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Sue Fischer didn't make it to her wedding last week.

Wednesday, with tears streaming down her bruised face, she told newsmen why.

The 23-year-old Albuquerque woman told of being taken by her former husband, Jerry Wilson, 25, of Borger, Tex., to Juarez, Mexico. She said he forced her to remarry him there.

Her days and nights were filled with terror until Wilson surrendered to FBI agents in Amarillo, Tex., she said.

Her story went like this:

A week ago Wednesday, Miss Fischer and her fiance, John Curtis, 25-year-old Dallas, Tex., corporation lawyer, drove up to a stop sign in east Albuquerque. She and Curtis were to be married the next day. They had met when Curtis handled her divorce from Wilson last May.

Suddenly, she said, Wilson, brandishing a gun, jumped into the car and forced Curtis to drive toward a nearby dump ground.

Curtis jumped from the car and Wilson fled with his former wife, to Juarez. There, she said, he forced her to remarry him.

Miss Fischer said Wilson, a former Southern Methodist football star, forced her to call her parents in Albuquerque several times to assure them she was all right and that she had remarried Wilson voluntarily.

Saturday, Wilson, accompanied by Miss Fischer, gave himself up to FBI agents in Amarillo. He was sought on a federal kidnaping charge in connection with Miss Fischer's abduction.

"I was scared to death," she said Wednesday. "I told the police in Amarillo that I had voluntarily married him because I was terrified."

When Miss Fischer told police she had remarried Wilson voluntarily, federal officials moved to dismiss charges. A family friend brought Miss Fischer home to Albuquerque.

Wilson then was freed on a $1,000 bond on an aggravated battery charge in connection with his alleged beating of Curtis before the lawyer jumped from the automobile.

Safe in her physician father's home with off duty policemen hired to guard outside, Miss Fischer said Wednesday, she now wanted to tell the real story.

"Since his release he's been calling her," she said of Wilson.

Albuquerque Dist. Atty. Alexander Scaressse said Wednesday he planned to file charges of two counts of kidnaping and one account of aggravated assault against Wilson.

The district attorney's plans were prompted by reports filed by Albuquerque police who interrogated Miss Fischer at length Tuesday night.

Miss Fischer said she still intends to marry Curtis, "if I can get him back." The Mexican marriage will be annulled, she said.

Her divorce from Wilson after 11 months of marriage was on the grounds of mental and physical cruelty, she said.

Ground Rules Set Forth For Inquest

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Judge James A. Boyle set forth some of the ground rules today for the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne, the young secretary who died last month in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's auto accident on nearby Chappaquiddick Island.

He ruled that witnesses testifying at the inquest may be represented by counsel, but only for the purpose of obtaining advice on questions of constitutional rights.

He denied motions that would have permitted counsel for the witnesses to cross examine and raise objections.

Boyle's decisions came at the close of a second pre-inquest hearing, a 55-minute affair attended by attorneys representing the persons expected to be called to testify at the inquest itself, which begins next Wednesday. Boyle will preside.

The hearing was highly technical in nature, and most of it was devoted to the airing of arguments on the various motions.

Boyle also reiterated that he would call everyone whose testimony might be of value - including Kennedy - to take the stand. Boyle made it clear Wednesday that Kennedy would testify, saying he would see to it that the senator was present "even if he has to be subpoenaed."

Old Building In Hugo Is Destroyed

HUGO, Okla. (AP)—Fire of an undetermined origin destroyed the old Wright Building in downtown Hugo Wednesday night. The building had been vacant since it was sold recently to the Security First National Bank of Hugo as a site for a new bank.

There was no estimate of damage.

It was the second fire in the structure in the past three weeks. Another blaze, also of undetermined origin, destroyed the Three-C Cafe on Aug. 9.

Denver School Gets Injunction Vacated

DENVER (AP) — An appeals court has vacated a lower court injunction requiring an improvement in so-called racial balance in northeast Denver schools before they open Tuesday.

The 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday that the interests of the city would best be served if the integration program were discussed in a full trial.

The lower court injunction had ordered the School Board to proceed with an integration program approved by its predecessor. The newly elected board had voted June 8 to rescind the program.

ABILENE — Dan Martin of 2215 Forty-first in Snyder has been awarded the master of education degree from Abilene Christian College during the summer commencement exercises August 21.

Martin majored in secondary teaching with a minor in business administration.

Even Computers Moonlight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A moonlighting computer is humming and blinking the way toward a national job bank, a system which would tell a man every morning where he could get work, Labor Secretary George P. Shultz says.

By day the second generation computer in Baltimore writes unemployment checks for the U.S. Training and Employment Service.

At night it updates job lists for the area. By dawn it has ready a fresh line—up to 10,000 openings—on the desks at the Baltimore Employment Service and 15 outlying stations.

Shultz, in an article in Business Management magazine, said the computer has been highly successful and that the experiment will be extended to 35 other large cities, hopefully by year's end.

Conservation Bipartisan, Says 'Bird'

ORICK, Calif. (AP) — In the cathedral-like setting of a giant redwood grove President Nixon had dedicated to her, Lady Bird Johnson reminded Americans that "conservation is indeed a bipartisan business."

"All of us have the same stake in this magnificent continent of ours, we love it and the same feeling that it is going to belong to our children and grandchildren," the former first lady said Wednesday, "and the same opportunity to work in our time, to see that it stays glorious."

It was the climax of a day in which Nixon saluted former President Lyndon B. Johnson's wife for her conservation and beautification efforts in five years as first lady. They also celebrated Johnson's 61st birthday with cake and serenades of "Happy Birthday."

The Nixon and Johnson families traveled by plane and helicopter 670 miles from San Clemente to this remote Northern California coastal area.

Standing on a redwood platform beneath a 234-foot tall, 675-year-old redwood, Nixon signed a proclamation naming a 300-acre "Lady Bird Johnson Grove." Mrs. Johnson had dedicated the park on this same spot Nov. 25, 1968.

PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICHES GO FANCY—Made in checkerboard form they steal the scene at birthday parties.

Checkerboard Sandwiches

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

"Mom, you're a genius!"

That's what the pre-teen son of a friend of mine said to his mother when she brought forth a platter of peanut-butter checkerboard sandwiches she had made for his birthday party. And all his young friends agreed.

We don't blame them for being enthusiastic. These sandwiches are the most intriguing ones we've laid eyes on in many a moon. And so good to eat! The filling is nothing more than peanut-butter mixed with imitation bacon bits or, if you prefer, crumbled crisply cooked real bacon. Simple but downright delicious.

These sandwiches are definitely party fare. There's work to do in the spreading and assembling. And right here we warn you that if you read through the directions, they'll sound complicated; but as you follow them during the making, everything comes easy and clear.

Are you ready then to make peanut-butter checkerboard sandwiches for your youngster's next birthday celebration? If so, you can let them make the main course for an early party supper. Serve them with cherry tomatoes, celery sticks inserted in carrot rings, sweet gherkins and milk or juice. With ice cream and cake for dessert, this menu will be ample.

These sandwiches freeze beautifully. When you're ready to use them, just thaw them in their wrapping.

PEANUT BUTTER CHECKERBOARDS

1 cup creamy peanut butter
2 tablespoon small-sized imitation bacon pieces
6 slices firm-type thinly sliced white bread
6 slices firm-type thinly sliced whole wheat or other dark bread

Stir together until well mixed the peanut butter and bacon pieces. Spread 1 slice of white bread with about 1 ½ tablespoons peanut-butter mixture; top with a slice of dark bread; spread dark slice with about 1 ½ tablespoons peanut-butter mixture; top with a white slice, spread white slice with about 1 ½ tablespoons peanut-butter mixture; top with a dark slice. There will be 4 slices of bread stacked with peanut-butter-mixture filling.

Wrap the stack in plastic film and refrigerate. Prepare 2 more 4-slice stacks, following the same method; wrap and refrigerate. Chill stacks at least 1 hour, longer if convenient.

Remove 1 stack from refrigerator. With a serrated or very sharp knife, trim crusts generously so that all edges are straight. Slice the stack into 4 mixture; top with a dark slice ribbon-stack and return to refrigerator.

Spread a wide side of one of the 3 remaining ribbon-stacks with 2 teaspoons peanut-butter mixture. Place a second ribbon-stack on top of peanut-butter mixture, making sure that strips of dark bread are on top of white bread and white strips are on top of dark. Spread with 2 teaspoons peanut-butter mixture and add the third ribbon-stack, again making sure that strips of dark bread are on top of white and white strips are on top of dark. Wrap and refrigerate this checkerboard stack.

Repeat the process, using the second refrigerated stack, and then the third refrigerated stack. This will leave 3 ribbon-stacks in the refrigerator. Use these to make still another checkerboard stack. Wrap and chill all 4 checkerboard stacks.

Just before serving, with a sharp knife slice each checkerboard stack into 6 checkerboard sandwiches about ½-inch thick.

Makes 24 checkerboard sandwiches.

Note! Crusts trimmed from stacks can be put in plastic bags and frozen for youngsters' future snacktime nibbling.

100 MILLION YEARS OF EVOLUTION !

Federal Watchers Being Watched By Stern Critics

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal regulators of business certainly have enough problems today, not only with the industries they watch but because they are being watched also by critics such as Ralph Nader and others.

Nevertheless, here are a couple more problems that Washington may have to handle in greater numbers: reciprocity in buying and selling, the "you buy from me, I buy from you" syndrome; and power concentration in the stock market.

First reciprocity.

A large company selling a broad line of products wishes to diversify even more. It looks the field over and decides to buy into a smaller company, one of many companies that make a similar product and with which the larger company trades.

The interest is only a minority one, but the thought occurs to the heads of both companies that, since they are part of one big family now, the large one should buy only from the smaller one, regardless of quality and price.

It seems reasonable, at least from a selfish and narrow point of view. The regulators, however, are committed to taking a broad view of the market place. Reciprocity, the government has said time and time again, unfairly limits competition and injures the competitive opportunities of other companies.

Now here's the rub. A surge seems to be under way in corporate purchases of minority interests in other companies. W. T. Grimm & Co., management consulting firm, reports 2,815 outright mergers in the first six months of this year. But it estimates two to three times as many minority purchases.

Will these minority purchases lead to reciprocity? Perhaps not in great numbers. But the already overworked regulators are going to have to watch the trend nevertheless, because they can't be sure unless they check.

The issue of power concentration in the stock market is largely one for the Securities and Exchange Commission. Power is being concentrated, there is no argument about that. The question, again, is whether competition is reduced.

Consider the situation in which some mutual fund management companies find themselves these days. Because they wish to reach all segments of the market, these managers come up with different funds for different purposes.

There are conservative funds, speculative funds, income funds, capital gains funds and so on. Once a good mutual fund salesman sizes you up there's a very good chance he will produce a fund that suits your purposes.

The question of competition comes up in the buying and selling of stocks by the funds which, in the tradition of the market place, should try to outwit each other. But do they never succumb to temptation?

It's a very difficult thing to prove that the portfolio manager of one fund doesn't communicate his trading plans with the manager of another fund in the same stable, especially since they draw their paychecks from the same source.

It is equally difficult to believe that, in the interests of profits and in reducing losses, such activities do not take place.

The importance of the situation is underscored by the tendency of funds to be grouped under one management. Few management companies today are content with just one entry in the mutual fund derby.

Historic castle-hotels also dot the countrysides of Belgium, England, Ireland, Northern Ireland, Scotland, the Netherlands, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Switzerland, and Sweden.

Switzerland's six million people — roughly the population of greater Chicago — support 400 newspapers, including more than 100 dailies.

Junior Editors Quiz on MUSHROOMS

QUESTION: Why don't plants like the Indian pipe and mushroom need chlorophyll?

* * *

ANSWER: Chlorophyll is that marvelous green substance in the leaves of most plants which enables them to make their own food. The kind of plants which Diane is showing to us on the left, which have flowers and familiar-looking leaves, are of this kind. Not only do they feed themselves, they feed us too. Their fruits and grains are indispensable to us. Some of the plants which do not possess chlorophyll are shown on the other side. Such plants get the nourishment they need in other ways. The little spots of fungus in (1) called rust are getting food from living leaves. The amazing little fungus in (2) called bird's nest fungus, because it resembles birds nests, is obtaining the nourishment it needs from rotted logs and soil. What look like eggs in this plant are actually cases containing the tiny spores from which new plants can grow. Mushrooms, represented in our picture by the cute-looking little helmets, are also fungi, getting food from decaying vegetable matter. The strange Indian pipe (lower left), though it looks like a fungus and feeds on decayed matter, is actually a flowering plant, even if it has no chlorophyll.

Preparing Child For Kindergarten

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a young man preparing to start kindergarten gets tired of hearing:

"I don't know why you feel you have to lead him by the hand to class the first day, Madge. After all, Andrew is not exactly a baby any longer."

"I hear you're going to have Miss Blimpstein as your teacher. Boy, that old girl is a tiger. I had her myself when I was in kindergarten. At the end of the year three of us kids were missing, and everybody figured she ate them."

"What's all the fuss about anyway? Andrew isn't going to the moon—he's just starting kindergarten."

"Don't worry so much, kid. Even if you weather kindergarten, you still have 16 more years to go before you'll get out of college."

"Don't let him pull any fake illness on you, Madge. Whether he claims he has a fever or a bellyache, I want him in that kindergarten seat when the bell rings."

"I understand that that little bully in the next block is going to be in the same kindergarten class with you, Andrew. Don't let him knock all your front teeth out."

"If you aren't polite to all the little girls, Andrew, Miss Blimpstein will make you stand in the corner and let them throw spitballs at you."

"You'll get to do all kinds of fascinating things, Andrew — such as galloping around the room to music, cutting out dolls, and learning to draw and color little white lambs in green grass."

"What do you mean you think you'll drive him to school every day, Madge? You'll not only spoil him—you'll stunt his growth. Let him walk. It'll do him good."

"Mom, I'm not going to have Andrew tagging along after me to school every day. What'll the other guys in the third grade think if I gotta stop every few steps to let my baby brother catch up with me?"

"If you wipe your nose on the sleeve of your sweater, Andrew, Miss Blimpstein will make you drink ink instead of milk for your lunch."

"Now quit blubbering, Andrew. I insist you wear short pants to kindergarten. You look so darling in them. You can have long pants when you start first grade."

"No, you can't take the dog with you . . . or the cat . . . or your turtle . . . or any other pet. You just take yourself, understand?"

"If you're a really good boy, you'll be rewarded. You may be permitted to beat the blackboard erasers."

"Don't let them tease you, Andrew—kindergarten is no worse than a bad case of mumps."

"You don't have to know how to read and write by recess time, Andrew. But if you haven't learned how to by the end of the first day, Miss Blimpstein will send you to the principal's office, and he'll put you in an automatic spanking machine that whacks you 150 times a minute."

Romo Stops KC, 4-3

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vicente Romo is missing again—this time from the Boston Red Sox bullpen.

Romo, the wandering Mexican reliever who disappeared from the club for 36 hours in Chicago a couple of weeks ago, hasn't been back to the bullpen since.

Manager Dick Williams, who decided Romo didn't make enough money to be fined for his AWOL escapade, has turned him into a starter and with good results. The stocky right-hander pitched his first complete game in the majors Wednesday night, beating Kansas City 4-3.

That gave Romo a 2-1 record as a starter for the Red Sox and 5-9 over-all. He scattered nine hits and got credit for the victory when Syd O'Brien's two-out, bases-loaded single drove in George Scott with the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning.

In other American League action Wedesday, Detroit blanked Oakland 2-0, Minnesota clipped Washington 4-2, California took Cleveland 4-1 in 10 innings, Baltimore jolted Seattle 7-2 and New York downed Chicago 6-3.

In the National League, Atlanta shut out Pittsburgh 1-0, Cincinnati rapped Chicago 6-3, Houston tripped St. Louis 5-1 in 10 innings, San Francisco nipped Philadelphia 8-7, New York whipped San Diego 4-1 and Los Angeles dumped Montreal 7-3.

Romo left the Red Sox without an explanation on the club's last trip to Chicago. He turned up 1½ days later safe and sound after the Red Sox had called out just about everyone but the Marines to search for him.

The pitcher's explanation was that he had become ill and stayed at a friend's house. Williams docked Romo one day's pay but did not fine him, explaining, "Vicente can't afford a big fine on the salary he's making."

But the manager did spring Romo from the bullpen after his return, and so far the results have been good.

Jerry Adair's leadoff homer in the ninth tied the game for the Royals against Romo. Earlier Pat Kelly had tagged a two-run shot for KC.

But the Red Sox won it for Vicente in the last of the ninth. Scott and Russ Gibson both singled with two out and Dick Schofield, swinging for Romo, walked, loading the bases. Then O'Brien singled Scott home with the deciding run.

Rico Petrocelli had a two-run homer for the Red Sox.

Mike Kilkenny, Detroit's rookie left-hander, allowed just three singles and pitched the Tigers past Oakland.

Mickey Stanley and Tom Matchick each drilled a run-scoring single to give Kilkenny 4-4, all the offense he needed against Catfish Hunter, 9-12.

Minnesota rushed four first inning runs across the plate and Jim Perry made them stand up to beat Washington.

Perry pitched a four-hitter and batterymate John Roseboro singled home two of the Twins' first inning runs. Lee Maye homered for the Senators.

Rick Reichardt slammed a bases-loaded triple in the 10th inning, moving California past Cleveland and beating Sam McDowell, 15-11.

Jim Fregosi tied the score with a leadoff homer in the ninth against McDowell, who, until then, had outduelled Rudy May. One inning later, hits by Joe Acue and Sandy Alomar and a walk to Fregosi loaded the bases for Reichardt, who promptly unloaded them.

Frank Robinson hammered his 29th homer and drove in three runs as the Orioles halted their mini-slide by pounding Seattle. Baltimore had dropped four straight before Mike Cuellar set down the Pilots on four hits. It was Cuellar's 18th victory and 15th complete game.

Mel Stottlemyre won his 17th game for the Yankees with Horace Clarke sparking a pair of rallies that brought New York from behind twice against the White Sox.

Clarke doubled two runs home in the second and singled to start another two-run rally in the fifth.

JAYCEE GRID FETE TONIGHT

The Snyder High School varsity and junior varsity football teams will be guests of the Jaycees at a barbecue to be held at 6:30 p.m. today at the pavilion in Towle Park.

Booster Club members also are invited to attend, but they must make reservations for a $3 ticket by contacting Jaycee chairman, Jimmy McFarland at 573-3632.

The Jaycees have made it a Club project this season to provide strong support for the Tiger football team. The barbecue is a part of the overall program. The Club also has purchased a block of tickets to Tiger home games this season.

"We want to get to know all of the boys," said McFarland, adding—"We plan to give them our wholehearted moral support and also help them in any other way we can within the bounds of the UIL (University Interscholastic League) rules."

Bears' Beall Beams

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor football coach Bill Beall greeted 94 candidates Wednesday and said they were in the "best condition of any team I have ever seen report to camp."

Beall said "from looking at the waist lines and the shoulders it appears the boys have put in a lot of hard work this summer."

Oilers Get Shot At Pokes

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Oilers, sporting the best squad in years, hope to snap the Dallas Cowboys' hold on the Texas Pro Championship tonight in a sell-out game at the Astrodome which kicks off a 13-game holiday weekend program.

Coach Wally Lemm warned his Oilers to watch for quick outside and up the middle plays when he learned that the Dallas starting backfield will include Craig Baynham and Les Shy.

"That's their speed backfield," Lemm said.

The Oilers also will have an eye on Cowboy quarterback Craig Morton, who stepped in for retired Don Meredith to direct the multiple formation Dallas attack. It was Morton who came off the bench late in the game the last two years to clinch 30-17 and 33-19 thrillers for the Cowboys.

Both teams have identical 2-1 pre season records and almost identical rushing records. Dallas has averaged 120 yards on the ground while allowing 86 yards on defense. Houston has averaged 126 yards to its opponents' 86 yards.

Morton has a slight edge over Pete Beathard, the Oilers' rapidly maturing quarterback. In three games, Beathard has completed 35 of 71 passes for 534 yards and four touchdowns while Morton has hit on 39 of 77 for 561 yards and three touchdowns.

Another grudge game is on tap Friday night when the Kansas City Chiefs, unbeaten in four exhibitions and the hottest team in the American Football League, meet the Cardinals at St. Louis for the Governors' Cup. The Chiefs won the inaugural game last year 13-10 and are favored to repeat.

Kansas City got a 418-yard, four-touchdown performance from quarterback Len Dawson while beating the Los Angeles Rams 42-14 last weekend. Cardinals' quarterback Charlie Johnson managed 15 for 32, 162 yards and one touchdown in the loss to Minnesota, the Cards' first defeat after two victories.

In Saturday's games, the New York Giants (0-2) meet the Philadelphia Eagles (1-1) at Princeton, N.J.; Los Angeles (1-2) is at San Diego (2-1-1); Chicago (2-2) faces Buffalo (1-3) and Green Bay (1-2) takes on Cleveland (2-0-1) in a doubleheader at Cleveland; Miami (0-4) hosts Baltimore (4-0); New Orleans (1-2) entertains Atlanta (2-1), and Cincinnati (1-2) travels to Pittsburgh (1-1).

In Sunday games, San Francisco (0-3) is at Oakland (1-3), Minnesota (3-0) faces the Jets (2-2) in New York, and Boston (1-2) entertains Denver (1-2).

Eagles' General Manager Pete Ratzlaff indicated running back Leroy Keyes, the last of the big name holdouts who signed Wednesday, might see some action against the Giants.

Keyes, All-America from Purdue, said he hoped he'd be able to justify his salary, reported in the vicinity of $200,000.

"I feel 82 per cent in condition now," said Keyes, who started working out at Purdue six weeks ago.

Both teams will unleash their best running backs. Tucker Frederickson will make his first start for the Giants and Philadelphia expects their ground game to improve with the return of Tom Woodeshick, who missed the early pre season games because of a knee strain.

The Rams will be minus veteran cornerback Clancy Williams, who was indefinitely suspended by Coach George Allen Wednesday.

Allen threatened to trade Williams because of his "indifferent attitude."

"There's more to this game than just ability," Allen said. "I don't care if he has intercepted 19 passes the last three years. He has had an indifferent attitude toward the game and toward practice this season."

Williams, the Rams' No. 1 draft choice from Washington State in 1965, was not immediately available for comment. He has been bothered by a bruised right arm suffered three weeks ago in th pre season opener against Dallas.

Travelers Go Ahead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wee bit of charity and a soaking rain combined to give Arkansas a half-game lead today in the eastern division of the Texas League. Amarillo and Dallas-Fort Worth were still neck and neck in the west.

Arkansas nipped Shreveport 5-4 in 10 innings Wednesday night on an unearned run. Memphis, half a game behind the Travelers, was rained out for the second consecutive night at San Antonio.

Dallas-Fort Worth beat El Paso 4-2 to remain a percentage point ahead of Amarillo, which licked Albuquerque 5-3.

Arkansas has five games remaining and Memphis six, including a doubleheader in San Antonio tonight.

Dallas-Fort Worth and Amarillo tangle in a crucial four-game series beginning Friday night. The first two games will be played in the Spurs' home park and the final two will be unreeled in Amarillo.

Memphis is at Arkansas for two games beginning Friday night and then the site switches to Memphis for two games.

Arkansas got its unearned run on a throwing error by Shreveport first baseman Adrian Garrett. It came on a grounder by winning pitcher Jim Thompson to lead off the 10th. Thompson was later forced but a single and a sacrifice fly pushed across the winner.

By ABIGAIL Van BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress in a very nice restaurant which is located on an interstate highway. It's one of a well-known chain. I greet everyone with a smile and try to give good service. Sometimes I exchange chit chat with my customers, but I never get overly familiar. I am happily married and have four children.

About three months ago a man came in alone and I served him. I don't know who he is or where he's from. He was well-dressed and well mannered. He didn't talk much but he did tell me about his grandchildren. I also told him about my family. I showed no more interest in him than any other customer and he never made a pass at me.

About three weeks later this man came in again and sat in my section. I remembered him, greeted his cheerfully and served him. When he left he gave me a hundred-dollar bill for a tip. I was flabbergasted! I really tried to give it back but he wouldn't take it.

About three weeks later he came in again, and the same thing happened. After it happened a third time I took the three one-hundred-dollar bills down to a bank to find out if maybe they were counterfeit. They were real and legitimate.

I haven't spent any of it. I'm afraid if I do, he might turn out to be some kind of eccentric and his family might demand the money back. He seems perfectly sane and normal to me, but I wonder now just what I should do?

PERPLEXED WAITRESS

DEAR PERPLEXED: If you haven't already told your husband, tell him. You are wise to save the money for the time being in case The Last of the Big-Time Spenders turns out to be a disturbed or shady character. Maybe he is on the level, but I'm suspicious. It's a little too early for Santa Claus.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful husband and children, too, but don't use my name as this is a small town and I'm known here.

I love my husband and he loves me. So what's my problem? My husband's brother. I feel strongly attracted to him, and it so frustrating because we are around each other a lot. I know that he feels a strong attraction for me, too. He is also married, and has a family, but you can't change what you feel, can you? I wouldn't want to jeopardize my own marriage, or his either, but I sometimes feel that if I don't get this guy alone just once I am going to jump out of my skin. It's getting worse all the time. How can I control it? Or should I make the first move and get it over with? He wouldn't be hard to get.

ATTRACTED

DEAR ATTRACTED: Sublimate! By that I mean keep busy, think of something else, and keep your mind off this man. You're undoubtedly "flirting" with him, and he's responding. CUT IT OUT! It's marital suicide.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Please let a secretary answer GEMINI from a secretary's point of view: No marriage is threatened by a married man buying his secretary dinner when she works late to express appreciation for extra work or a job well done.

You told the wife if the boss wants to show "appreciation," he should try money — and for the most part I agree. But let me assure you that no amount of money paid by a corporation — not the boss — makes up for the inconvenience of an interrupted week-end, a 100-mile drive, working in a cold office because over the weekend the heat is turned off, typing for several hours, and missing dinner becauses the boss' insecure wife feels her marriage would be threatend if her husband took his secretary to dinner. I can assure all wives that after such a grueling work session, no secretary could possibly entertain any "ideas" about her boss. All the secretary would like is a nice warm meal and a kind "thank you" — little to ask in return for her inconvenience.

WELL PAID EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

• • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ALIVE AND WELL": You may be "alive," but in my opinion, you are far from "well." Your "honest" approach to the necessity for extra-marital relations in order to satisfy man's (and woman's) urge for variety will eventually destroy the "deep love" you claim to have for one another.

Two Makers Hike Prices Of Autos

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. are reported shipping 1970 model cars to dealers with tentative price increase as high as $275

The Detroit News said Wednesday that average Ford car prices tentatively will be up $68 or about two per cent.

Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend has refused to disclose an average tentative price hike but said the 1970 prices would be higher than last year.

These prices represent only notification on invoices to dealers who arrange preintroduction sales. Final prices may be either higher or lower than these tentative estimates.

Ford prices will be set before the cars go on sale officially Sept. 19. Final Chrysler prices will be decided shortly before their sale opening Sept. 23.

The real tipoff on 1970 prices will come when General Motors announces its prices sometime before its cars go on sale Sept. 18. The other automakers may juggle their prices after seeing GM price tags.

American Motors Corp. is expected to send out tentative prices shortly. The News said AMC prices will show an increase of more than $100 but will not be as high as the Chrysler prices.

U. S. Tank Recaptured

SAIGON (AP) — An American tank that the Viet Cong captured from allied troops nearly three years ago was recaptured today by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops.

U.S. Green Berets and South Vietnamese irregulars found the World War II-vintage M41 tank in a large enemy underground arms cache 12 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City. Carrying a 76mm cannon, the tank was still in operating condition.

It apparently was one of three captured by the Viet Cong on March 23, 1966, when a strong enemy force attacked the headquarters of a government armored regiment 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

Vietnamese Air Force fighter-bombers destroyed two of the tanks as their captors fled north along a highway, but the third tank was never located.

Swamps, salt-water marshes, and receding flood waters are favorite mosquito breeding grounds. Many species deposit their eggs in damp soil, but these will not hatch until covered with water.

Girls Of 50 May Be Stewardesses

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Air France may have avoided a strike when it agreed to let stewardesses fly until age 50. It hasn't made some American men very happy, but others have flown to the defense of the older girls.

"It's a pretty depressing prospect," said Jack Nessel, 30, of New York City, when asked what he thought of a 50-year-old stewardess.

Most domestic airlines have age limits in the 30's for their stewardesses. Air France had set 40 as the top limit, but agreed to the boost Wednesday as one of a number of concessions to prevent a walkout.

A spot survey by the Associated Press showed many men prefer younger stewardesses.

"This idea ought to bring the railroads back to popularity," said Wayne Smith of Atlanta.

Bill Wallace, also of Atlanta, said, "At the age of 50 the stewardesses ought to be efficient, but that's the only good thing I can say for the idea."

Charles Eastman of Sterling, Colo., said, "Blah. They wouldn't turn me on. You want some young thing to come in and flirt with you when you fly. I believe in the equality of the ages, but . . ."

John Morgan, 50, a New York City fireman, responded at first, "Hooray for grandma. Give her a break." After a pause, however, he added that he personally would prefer to fly with young stewardesses.

The older gals did have some supporters.

"Maybe it will turn out that French stewardesses, like good French wine, improve with age," said one passenger.

"I've never met an 'old' French woman," said Nicholas J. Nichols of Chicago.

"I'm interested in good service, not age," said Ross Gelber in Washington. "Experience counts too."

"Why not, if they're still sexy? Some chicks look better as they age," said Ted Rymar, 29, of Detroit.

And jazz clarinetist Pete Fountain of New Orleans, said, "I'm a devout coward and never get on a plane before some fast action in the airport bar. After I'm on there, from age 18 to 50 as long as they keep serving the drinks, they all look the same."

Agent Knows About Plane

HOUSTON (AP) — A U. S. customs agent said Wednesday that his office was aware of an airplane that allegedly carried arms and ammunitions from Houston to either El Salvador or Honduras.

"I can truthfully say that I do know about it, but I'm not at liberty to discuss it," the Houston Post quoted Steve Minas as saying.

A front page story carried by El Heraldo in Mexico City said the El Salvador embassy was searching for the aircraft after being alerted by U. S. border officials.

Dr. Hector Escobar Serrano, the El Salvador ambassador to Mexico City, said Wednesday night that he would neither affirm nor deny the report.

An FBI spokesman said several airplanes in Texas, including one at Houston's Hobby Airport, had been under surveillance for a few weeks because of suspicion that the aircraft would be flown to one of the two Central American countries.

The airplane in question is believed to be a P38.

The two Central American countries engaged in combat for five days last month before reaching a ceasefire agreement aided by the Organization of American States.

Secretaries Told To Lower Hemlines

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Secretaries in the district attorney's office have been told to lower their hemlines because suspects and witnesses making statements "become extremly nervous when secretaries in miniskirts are taking shorthand."

The miniskirts were ordered down "below the knee" by Director of Investigations Fernando Ortiz de la Pena.

He added that Saturday is the worst day. Not only do miniskirts become shorter than skirts worn during the week, Ortiz lamented, but male personnel arrive with ragged moustaches and in sports clothes.

Ortiz said he hopes lower skirts will imporve courtesy in the government offices.

Cotton is static-free.

Mexico, Brazil Open Enterprise

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The first joint Mexican-Brazilian Enterprise—a promotion bureau—opened Wednesday in the offices of the Mexican Federation of National Chambers of Commerce.

An announcement to a meeting of the private sector of the 90-man Brazilian Trade Mission said the Enterprise will promote sales of Brazilian goods in Mexico and Mexican goods in Brazil.

A plant to transform raw materials used in production of plastics was projected as another joint venture in discussions held by representatives of the Brazilian and Mexican chemical industries. The proposed plant would be located in Brazil and operated with both Mexican and Brazilian capital.

Mexico sells Brazil approximately 20 million pesos (1.6 million U.S. dollars) in chemical products annually, while Brazilian sales to Mexico are half that amount.

Edmundo de Macedo Soares E Silva, Brazilian Minister of Commerce and Industry and head of the mission, emphasized in a meeting with Mexican businessmen. That positive action in promotion of industry and commerce between Brazil and Mexico is possible only through direct contact.

Jesse Pinto Freire, of the Brazilian Commerce Federation said:

"We are not here to create problems nor to discuss. We came to buy and sell, to invest our capital and make an effort to increase the present level of trade."

The efforts made by the Mexican mission to Brazil in June and the Brazilian mission, which arrived Aug. 24 and will remain until Sunday, were called "a new experience in the world of two important underdeveloped countries" by Mexican industry and Commerce Minister Octaviano Campos Salas.

"It is a massive mutual effort and one does not know where it will end," he said.

The mission is scheduled to visit a number of Mexican industries in Mexico City Thursday, and in Monclova and Toluca Friday.

Meetings Monday resulted in an agreement to establish a camera factory using Mexican and Brazilian captial and approval by President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz for a correspondent bank of the Bank of Brazil in Mexico.

Tricia Nixon's Pain Still Not Pinpointed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors still haven't pinpointed the cause of abdominal pains which hospitalized Tricia Nixon, but President Nixon's elder daughter is reported improving and free of pain.

The White House reported Wednesday that Tricia was still under observation at Walter Reed Hospital, where she was taken by ambulance Tuesday morning.

The Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., reported earlier Wednesday that the President's 23-year-old daughter was out of bed, eating and "doing well."

A brilliant Arab scholar of the 9th century, Al Khowarizmi, used the zero to advantage in his classic work. Al-jebr w'al muquabalah. The title, abbreviated, became the word "algebras." The term "logarithm" supposedly is a distortion of the scholar's name.
