Babson's Business and Financial Forecast For 1966

(By Roger W. Babson)

"Peace and Prosperity" should continue to be the dominant theme in 1966. President Johnson will push ahead in attempts to capitalize on the inroads he has already made with his Great Society program. However, since 1966 will be a Congressional election year, he may find the going less easy than it was this past year; the Congressman and Senators who are up for re-election will likely think twice before being so generous with the taxpayers' money.

I, of course, would like nothing better than to be completely optimistic in this forecast, but my more than 60 years of experience in predicting trends has taught me that unexpected events are more dangerous when conditions are brightest.

1. The health of world leaders may well be a prime factor in 1966. These include President de Gaulle, Mao, Tse-tung, and even President Johnson.

2. Perhaps the biggest threat in 1966 will come from abroad. There is evidence that the coalition leadership in Russia may be centralizing into the hands of a strongman—something not seen since the Khrushchev ouster. Moreover, Africa could again hold the spotlight in the shifting pattern of the "cold war".

3. I do not look for war with Russia during 1966. Russia is still greatly concerned with trying to bring prosperity to her own people, and is especially troubled about the lag in farm productivity.

4. The struggle for power within Russia may come to a head in 1966. If the strongman is anti-West, he could try to put on a good show by heating up the "cold war"; but this should constitute no more than threatening gestures and bold talk.

5. The Berlin crisis is not likely to be a major issue in 1966, though there could be some nuisance events to "try our patience".

6. I do not foresee all-out war with Red China in 1966. Mao is not yet ready to risk major confrontation. His lagging farm and industrial programs still loom as major problems, and the task of extending Red China's nuclear progress is a heavy burden.

7. The foremost task for Red China still is to get a seat in the United Nations. While Southeast Asia is an attractive plum, territorial expansion may well have to wait in Red China's timetable, as a peaceful profile on her part would make gaining a seat at the UN easier. UN admission, of course, would greatly enhance Red China's prestige in dealings with the Afro-Asian nations.

8. Despite talks of a prolonged struggle in Vietnam, I forecast that it will be increasingly clear that the balance has swung our way. This should encourage our leaders to step up our commitment in Vietnam in 1966 in order to force a "peace conference".

9. I foresee no crisis over Cuba in 1966. The agreement Castro has made to allow more Cuban refugees to enter the U. S. A. underscores the problem he has in feeding his people.

10. The Vietnam situation and the Dominican Republic incident have convinced the Administration that the military might of our nation must be maintained at a "ready" basis. This means stepped-up defense spending, which should add another prop to the economy.

11. While such defense spending will focus heavily upon conventional military equipment, our space race, the Administration is not likely to falter and allow Russia to open another wide gap.

12. The increase in defense spending notwithstanding, I forecast that the economy will be hard pressed to match the fantastic achievements of the past four years. Threats of major labor strikes have been playing an important role in stimulating inventory accumulations from time to time to keep things rolling along. I do look for industrial production to edge to a new high. However, I fear the peak will come before midyear and taper off thereafter. On the whole, the business climate in 1966 may well prove to be one of high-level stability rather than of vigorous climb.

13. Business capital expenditures, which have been a key factor in prolonging the business boom, should remain a strong bolstering influence. However, I predict that they will not provide as much in the way of upthrust for the economy as in the past years.

14. Business inventory accumulation, likewise a big factor in the boom, should also become a less vigorous expansionary force. Perhaps fears of inflationary price increases will encourage businessmen to maintain a healthy volume of inventories; but unless war threats intensify, I see no need to pile up much more in inventories.

15. Consumers will have more money to spend in 1966. I forecast a further uptrend in personal incomes to new high ground. An important influence in this respect is the impact of automatic wage increases which are called for in existing multi-year labor pacts.

16. Also, I predict a further rise in the general structure of wage rates, as many secondary labor unions seek to match the gains of the auto and steel workers.

17. Unless another federal tax cut is enacted—which now seems remote in view of the war effort and the present fiscal deficit—net income after taxes may not rise as rapidly as gross income. The social security tax rate is scheduled for a step-up. Also, higher state and local taxes—including sales levies—will place more of a burden on consumers.

18. The all-important employment situation should remain generally good. We may have seen the greatest portion of the rise in manufacturing employment in government payrolls at all levels, and in services, should continue to score sizeable gains.

19. I forecast no radical change in the jobless picture.

Let me warn readers, however, that the problem is far from solved, and in coming years we may well have to reckon with it. The draft step-up only temporarily eases things and gives a false sense of well-being.

20. Retail trade should enjoy another excellent year. Much of the gain in dollar volume, of course, will come from price rises. Nevertheless, as long as personal incomes, employment, and business hold high, consumer confidence will encourage spending.

21. Spending for food, apparel, and general merchandise should continue upward; also for leisure-time and vacation lines. Color television is catching on, and I look for continued strong demand in this field.

22. The automobile business will not be left out in the spending spree. It will enjoy another prosperous year, but I foresee no significant upsurge beyond the high levels of the past two years.

23. In view of the drain on our gold supplies, the government has been endeavoring to promote domestic travel and vacations. Nevertheless, I forecast further interest in foreign vacations. In one sense, I am happy to see this. I have done considerable foreign traveling, and I feel that such activity is definitely advantageous. Furthermore, I feel that foreign travel can help Americans to wake up to the advantages here at home and make them more thankful for the blessings they enjoy.

24. Many readers—especially those retired and living on pensions and social security—are worried about the threat of inflation. I forecast no radical inflation during 1966. . . . The Administration is committed to "non-inflationary progress". However, some price increases appear unavoidable.

25. I predict that the greater danger will lie in credit inflation, rather than in price inflation.

26. With the rise in defense spending and the cost of legislation for the Great Society, the federal budget will suffer a sizeable deficit. In addition, states and municipalities are unable and unwilling to live within their means. Consumers will also go further into debt.

27. Look for new increases in the cost-of-living index. The government may try to head off substantial price hikes in key areas, but selective price rises will occur.

28. Industrial commodity prices should remain firm to higher, particularly in the first half of 1966. The primary bulwark against a price runaway is competition, which should be basically more effective than government influence.

29. I look for an increase in domestic competition in 1966. This should become more evident as the business upthrust tapers off. Also, we must not forget foreign competition. With many nations feeling the pinch of a dollar shortage, they will work to remedy this by increasing their sales here.

30. Business in 1966 need fear no major labor tie-ups. Strikes, however, may well be numerous among the secondary labor units.

31. I look for business failures to increase, both in numbers and in dollar liabilities. This will be due to keen competition, excesses of debt and inventory accumulations, and careless management.

32. Of greater concern to me is the steady climb in nonfarm real estate foreclosures: I expect a further rise in 1966.

33. Business profits in 1966 will not advance as sharply as in the past two or three years. The squeeze is on in profit margins; hence I look for a tapering off in the rise of corporate profits, although I foresee no drastic slump while activity holds near peak.

34. Looking at the farm sector, I see no radical change from the excellent 1965 year. Barring a crop failure or severe drought, farm prices, at worst, should shade only slightly lower.

35. Farm equipment manufacturers should enjoy good business in 1966. This goes also for fertilizer and pesticides producers.

36. The important building and construction lines should hold their own in 1966, but their dollar volume may be due largely to price and cost inflation. The Great Society program is a plus factor for construction, including urban renewal and highways.

37. Private home and apartment building could show slight improvement, but the real boom in residential building will not register significantly in 1966.

38. Hence, I forecast that real estate conditions will remain selective. Well-located sites for homes and industrial and commercial complexes will do well,

Last Rites Held Christmas Eve For Bill Phillips

Funeral services for W. L. (Bill) Phillips, 61, a resident of Abernathy since 1947, were held Friday in Abernathy First Baptist Church.

Officiating was the Rev. Boyce Evans, and assisting was the Rev. George Dale of Lubbock. Burial was in Abernathy Cemetery under direction of Chambers Funeral Home.

Phillips, a carpenter, died at home about 7:30 a.m. Thursday after becoming suddenly ill. A native of Wolfe City, Tex., Phillips was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Kenneth of Abernathy and Jerry of San Francisco; three daughters, Mrs. Marion Carlton of Abernathy, Mrs. Don Nelson of Tulsa and Mrs. Albert Rand of Denver, two sisters, Mrs. Eliza Scott and Mrs. Ola Davis, both of Duncan, Okla.; one brother, Ed of Bonham, and 11 grandchildren.

Active pallbearers were E. L. Kelly, Kenneth Jones, E. M. Tomlinson, Hiram Vaughn, Ralph Stephens and Andy Reid. Deacons of Abernathy First Baptist Church were honorary pallbearers.

Jan. 14-15-16: State Conventions of Texas Young Farmer members and Texas Young Homemakers members, Austin. Abernathy YF Chapter and Abernathy YH Chapter to be represented at conventions.

but study of local conditions is imperative.

39. I predict further increase in farm land values in 1966. With costs still rising, the physical size of farms must expand so operators can benefit from mechanization. This places a premium on well-located land in the important and larger agricultural regions.

40. The steady advance toward fuller automation should make further progress in 1966, helping industry to cope with rising operations costs and shorter work weeks.

41. Trees do not grow to the skies; neither does the stock market rise unendingly. While I forecast that the stock market—as measured by the Dow-Jones Industries—can surpass the high mark of 1965, I anticipate a volatile 1966 market with a good-sized drop-off a real possibility sometime during the year.

42. Even though the stock market may push to new highs, any further advance may not bulk large percentage-wise. If business and corporate profits show a tendency to taper off, the fundamental basis for a worthwhile advance will be removed.

43. Speculative enthusiasm and inflation fears can be expected to figure prominently in the stock market during the course of 1966. The urge to make a quick buck is increasingly evident.

44. I forecast that 1966 will not be the time for illogical speculation and gambling in the stock market. Above all, let me remind readers of the dangers of using borrowed money to buy stocks. Those who "go off the deep end" may well regret it before very long.

45. Those who invest (not speculate) on the basis of growth will sleep better nights. I have in mind the expanding population, rising incomes, scientific advances, greater leisure, and above all the impact of the Great Society.

46. Investors should be pleased with cash dividends and stock splits, particularly in the first half of the year.

47. If businessmen, consumers, and investors do not act voluntarily to keep inflationary pressures and speculation from getting out of hand, the monetary authorities may be forced to raise margin requirements on stock purchases, and perhaps tighten credit further.

48. Look for somewhat lower bond prices in 1966. Although we are not in immediate danger of credit exhaustion, the banking system is under some strain from the rapid expansion of credit in recent years. My advice is to buy bonds which mature in five years or less. The time to buy good longer-

Money Approved For CD Warning System In City

It was reported by Bob Sokol, City Manager, that he was notified by the state director of defense and Disaster Relief that the City of Abernathy has received approval for the allocation of $1,232.76 of Federal funds to apply on the cost of a Civil Defense warning system.

The City of Abernathy will match the allocated Federal funds, which will be used to cover the cost of the two Civil Defense warning sirens. The sirens will be installed in the near future.

AHS Cagers Lose Twice To Post

The AHS varsity cagers took two stinging defeats at the hands of the Post Antelopes in basketball action played December 22 at Post. The Post boys' squad led by the sharpshooting of All-Star Ronnie Pierce downed the local squad 65-56.

Tommy Hunley led the local cagers in scoring with nineteen points while Rex Hester added 12 to the cause.

The girls' squad fell to Post 51-45 as Mary Davis led all scorers.

Next Game Jan. 4. After resting during the holiday season the AHS cagers will return to action Tuesday, January 4. Coach Mitch LeMoine's girls will travel to Plainview where they will meet the Queen Bees of Wayland College. The varsity and "B" team boys travel to Morton Tuesday.

MOTHER DIES

The mother of Mrs. C. S. Wales of New Deal, Mrs. Lula Belle Glass, 83, was dead on arrival at Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, at 6:40 a.m. Friday. She became ill at the Wales home and was rushed to the hospital. Funeral rites were at Meridan, and burial was in Hall Creek Cemetery in Bosque County.

term bonds will come when the yields on short-term bonds exceed those on long-term issues.

49. The dollar will not be devalued in 1966. Possibility of devaluation of the British pound will undoubtedly come to the fore again, but additional effort will probably be made to keep the pound from "going under". I fear, however, that all this is only "buying time" . . . that devaluation of the pound may be inevitable.

50. I foresee no cure for the outflow of gold from America's shores in 1966. However, in view of the importance of the U. S. in international trade and world military considerations, foreign bankers will be reluctant to withdraw their gold en masse. Bear in mind also that there is no country that can match our industrial and military might. . . . and that, among the leading nations, the United States has suffered least in terms of the ravages of inflation and political instability.

PLANE CRASH INJURES TWO COUPLES

The crumpled mass of a material above once was an operative twin engine, seven-passenger Aero Commander airplane. It crashed in a field about a mile southeast of Abernathy city limits at 3:10 p.m. Monday.

Two couples were critically injured in the weather-caused crash. They were Dr. Fred J. Kramer, 29, pilot of the plane, his wife, Lu Ann, 26; Larry Niemann, 27, and his wife Carol, 26. Dr. Kramer is a Blackwell, Okla., surgeon. Niemann is an Austin attorney and part-time instructor at the University of Texas.

Dr. and Mrs. Kramer were taken to West Texas Hospital, Lubbock, by Chambers ambulance. Lubbock ambulances took Mrs. Niemann to West Texas Hospital, and her husband, to Methodist Hospital, Lubbock. All were critically injured, and all had serious spinal injuries.

The first persons to reach the crash scene were James Davis and Charles Lambert, who witnessed the crash while they were at City Gin, about three-quarters of a mile away.

The two couples were on a skiing trip to Colorado. The Kramers flew from Blackwell to Austin Sunday to pick up the Niemanns. The pilot radioed the Lubbock Municipal Airport tower that the plane's wings and windshield were icing over. The tower operator was giving the pilot instrument landing instructions when he lost radio contact with the ill-fated plane.

When Davis and Lambert reached the crash site, Niemann had crawled about fifty feet from the plane. He told them that three other persons were in the plane. The two local men removed the two women passengers. Dr. Kramer was pinned in his seat and a wrecking bar was used to lift the plane enough for a rescue team to remove him from the wreckage.

Although no fire resulted from the crash, Abernathy Volunteer Firemen sprayed the wreckage with foam as a precautionary measure.

A foreign student at Wayland, Shelby Collier, director of the International Choir the first year of the dinner, was also music director at First Baptist Church in Abernathy, where the are members. He happened to express a wish that the choir have some place to gather for an informal get-together away from the college.

That year the Reids held a backyard picnic in September and the next year began the tradition of having dinner in their home at Christmas.

Over the years, each International Choir group chooses to present the Reids with a token of their appreciation for the elaborate dinner and food.

"The house is just full of their wonderful gifts," Mrs. Reid says. "Walking around my home I see reminders of the party from every year." Some of these presents are in the form of a picture, a wrought iron candelabra, an arrangement of poinsettias and carnations in a dangle container, an assortment of preserves, a crystal pitcher, glasses and tray trimmed in sterling.

Choir members this year, says Cram, decided to give the couple personal gifts, cuff links and tie clasp for Mr. Reid, and a pin and earrings for Mrs. Reid.

Guests who help serve the turkey dinner are Abernathy residents who are traditionally invited to the dinner. This year they included the Rev. and Mrs. Hubert Long, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Skipper, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Carlton, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Furman Shipman, Mrs. J. L. Haral, and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hager.

Mrs. Shipman helps the Reids by cooking one of the 25-pound turkeys, which are completely

(Editor's Note: A story from the Wayland Baptist College Information Department concerning the Andy Reids' Annual Christmas dinner party for the Wayland International Choir arrived here the day after the Review's Christmas edition had been printed last week.)

PLAINVIEW, Tex.—Highlight of the Christmas season for an Abernathy couple is their annual Christmas present to a Wayland Baptist College music group.

This present is a turkey dinner with all the trimmings from Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Reid to the Wayland International Choir, which this year has 37 members and is directed by James Cram.

The annual Christmas dinner originated in 1951-52, according to Mrs. Reid. "Our hobby was sponsoring foreign students and many of them were in the choir," she explains. Since that time, the Reids have sponsored

News Roundup

Firemen were called about 11 a.m. Christmas Day to fight a barn fire on the A. H. Allen farm three miles south of County Line. Damage and loss was comparatively light, considering the size of the structure and the large amount of contents. Mrs. Allen, told the Review. The Allens expressed their thanks to the firemen, neighbors and everyone else who assisted in any way in saving contents of the barn and fighting the fire. Exact cause of the fire was not known. However, a fireman said it might have started in electrical wiring.

REIDS HOST DINNER

demolished during the course of the meal, says Mrs. Reid.

Also helping with the event since 1955 have been Pina Betancur, who helps prepare the meal, and L. J. Hager, who wields a knife to carve the turkeys.

A typical menu at the Reid's Christmas dinner for the International Choir reads: turkey, dressing, gravy, sweet potatoes, vegetable, fruit salad, cranberries, and Texas cream pie.

After dinner the International Choir presents a program of music, sometimes Christmas selections and often just anything that come to the members' minds.

"The most beautiful number this year was the arrangement of 'Beautiful River' by Mr. Cram," remembers Mrs. Reid. "People here in Abernathy are still talking about it."

There was one year, 1960, that Mrs. Reid had everything prepared for the Christmas dinner, but the choir could not attend because of a snowstorm. "We just called in some neighbors and friends and ate all the food," she says.

At the party this year former Wayland student, Mrs. Ruth Torres Fulton, now a teacher in the Abernathy school system, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reid, son and daughter-in-law of the Reids were present.

Since the party was first begun the Reids have entertained five directors and versions of the choir: Shelby Collier, W. E. Steward, Donnie J. Adams, William A. Vessels and James Cram.

The Reids have lived in Abernathy for 40 years and have been married for 37. Mrs. Reid came to this area to teach and met her future husband who was then employee of the bank in Abernathy. Today he is a Wayland trustee and half owner of Chevrolet interests in Abernathy and in Levelland.

James Neve visited relatives down-state, and went deer hunting during the holidays.
