The activities begin at 7 a.m. Saturday, September 25 with a hearty bacon, sausage and egg breakfast in Kiwanis Park, courtesy of the City National Bank employees. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased at the park on the corner of 2nd and Chestnut Streets.

The annual reunion for Mitchell County residents and former residents will be held at the Civic Center, 157 W. 2nd Street. Registration is from 9:30 a.m. until noon.

Cash prizes of $25 each will be awarded for the best cowboy or cowgirl costume, best pet costume, best Junktique bicycle and most unusual Junktique entry.

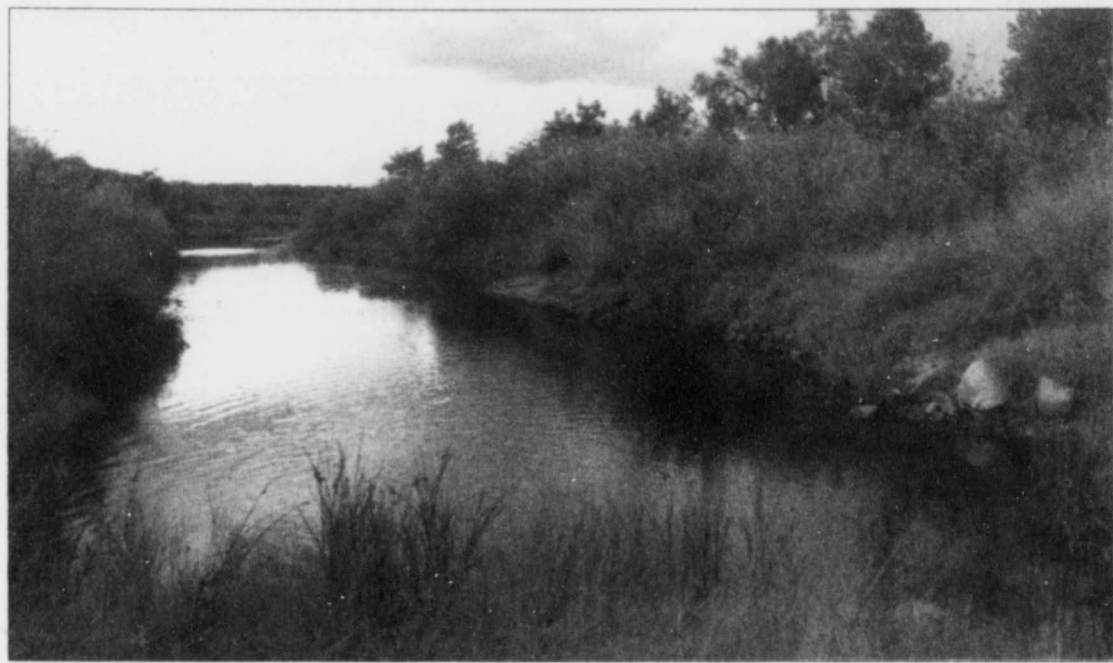

Participants need to line up at 9:13 a.m. at the parking lot by the tax office at 2nd and Hickory.

The parade route will go west on

The Opera House will host R.J. Vandygriff and his one-man show "The Cowboy Ain't Dead Yet" at 7 p.m. on Saturday and 2 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets are $20 for the show and $10 for the barbeque dinner from 5-6:30 p.m. on Saturday. The Opera House is located on Elm Street and 3rd near the post office.

ENVIRONMENTALLY FRIENDLY SANCTUARY for native plants and wildlife is the focus of the wildlife preservation area developed by Lone Wolf Resources as they rehabilitate old ColTex refinery lands.

Old refinery cleanup closes in on milestone

Fifteen years ago asphalt ponds covered the site of the ColTex Refinery, along with tank batteries for jet fuel and diesel.

Today, the land is clothed in green and yellow as native grasses and flowers take hold.

"There was a time, not long ago when the site was totally barren," Hank McConnell, Lone Wolf Resources, said. Recovery teams scrapped the soil down several feet to remove subsoils containing hydrocarbons and other contaminants.

"We were worried nothing would come back, but it's coming back better than expected," he said.

LWR has spent $65 million over 15 years reclaiming the site and are close to completing the recovery phase.

"When I first saw it, it was nasty-looking, just awful," Shirley Delaney, CAP member said. "I didn't see how it could ever be cleaned up. I can't believe it's this clean." CAP members conducted a site tour of the area September 20.

This week the final dump-trucks of contaminated dirt will make their way to the top of a containment cell mountain containing one million cubic yards of soil.

Once soil sample surveys are completed and no further recovery is deemed necessary by the state, workers will begin the

See what is happening at Baker Hotel this weekend!

Interested visitors will be able to get a first-hand look this weekend at the changes underway at the Baker Hotel.

The Community Development Department, in conjunction with Main Street, will conduct four tours of the Baker Hotel on Saturday during the Junktique Jamboree and one tour on Sunday, September 25-26.

Anyone interested in a tour may obtain tickets at the Jamboree in the Railhead Building.

The Main Street program has taken on the historic hotel as a long term project, beginning with an in-depth cleaning and safety upgrade.

Currently, Main Street's sole focus is on streetscapes and physical "bricks and mortar" projects, including the long term project of "transforming the Baker from an eyesore into something productive." Amie Wood, Community Development Director said.

A volunteer-led fajita fundraiser to help raise funds for the Baker renovation will be held in the Baker lobby Saturday and Sunday. Members of various civic organizations and students from area schools will be on hand to help with the event.

In the spirit of recycling, five tons of brick from portions of the Baker that were removed due to safety issues will be sold during the Junktique Jamboree.

"We have three different styles of brick which look as though they represent three stages of development of the hotel," Wood said.

The ACME bricks appear to be the oldest bricks. Another group of bricks up for sale have "ABILENE"

Jamboree to hold 5K run

Registration forms are available at the high school office and the registration fee is $15. For participants 55 or older, the entry fee is $10. All ages are encouraged to participate in the 5K run.

On site registration opens at 7 a.m. on Saturday.

The race route (just a little over three miles) will begin at the corner of Elm and 3rd, go east to Chestnut, then up Chestnut to 22nd and across to Walnut; then south across 2nd and behind the Railhead to the finish line.

Driver cited in I-20 wreck

No one was injured when an 18-wheeler ran off the road near mile marker 223 last week.

Driver Jorge Lopez Martinez was eastbound on I-20 when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel and lost control of his vehicle at 5:45 a.m. on September 16, according to DPS Trooper Joe Salas.

"The trailer detached and the truck went into the south ditch," Salas said.

Martinez was cited for failure to drive in a single lane.

Bison remains of interest to history

Bones from the past may be the key to putting Colorado City on the history channel.

An award-winning Canadian documentary company has contacted the Heart of West Texas Museum for information about Colorado City's bison antiquus.

The Clearwater Documentary Company is producing a program about the migration of humans in North America and called to request permission to use a photograph.

Few people seem to realize the importance of the Colorado City exhibit, according to Amie Wood, Community Development director.

"Our bison antiquus at the museum is a replica, but is one of a very few in the United States," she said. The original, discovered on the banks of the Colorado River in the early 1920's, is the property of the University of Colorado.

"We've been approached five times to make replicas for other museums."

The skeleton of the bison antiquus was discovered by H.D. Boyes and Nelson Vaughan in 1924 on Lone Wolf Creek near Ruddick Park. "They were arrowhead hunting along the creek on the upper bank, when they found large bones sticking out of the mud," Wood said.

Realizing the bones were much larger than what they were used to seeing, the men called in experts from the University of Colorado.

"We have some incredible finds of prehistoric animals which were literally found in someone's backyard," Boyes and Vaughan excavated the area in 1924 and again in 1925. Numerous creeks to the south, west and north in Howard, Borden and Scurry counties were also prospected for additional Pleistocene material, but no "noteworthy" material was found except at the quarry according to university records.

The skeleton is currently in the collection, although not on display, at the Denver Museum of Nature & Science.

The bison antiquus was 15-25% larger overall than modern bison.

"The rib bones are incredible," Wood said. "The university dug into the whole hillside and took it back to the lab to uncover it in a controlled environment."

What made the find unique were three Clovis point arrowheads within the bison's skeleton in the general location of the ribs and shoulder blade underneath the bones.

"Historians said humans didn't come to North America for thousands of years after the last bison antiquus died out," Wood said.

A REPLICA OF BISON antiquus at the Heart of West Texas Museum is drawing media attention to Colorado City. The original is stored in Denver, CO.

Feral hogs outpace solution

Feral hogs, considered an exciting venue for sport hunters, are creating their weight in problems for agriculturalists.

In an interview with Bill McLean, Mike Bodenchuk, state director of Texas Agricultural Services Wildlife Services, called the problem "an ecological train wreck. There's no part of the ecosystem that they don't touch."

The hogs, two million strong in Texas alone, cost the state of Texas $52 million a year in damage, outpacing the $1 million a year grant through the Texas Department of Agriculture.

"You have a bunch in Mitchell County," Bodenchuk said.

Population density varies across the state as hog habitats are not all the same. While density in East Texas is measured per square mile, in Mitchell County and the South Plains, "it's determined by per mile of creek bottom," Bodenchuk said, "often 30 hogs per mile."

"This time of year with wheat sprouting, you can have 100 hogs on an acre of wheat," he said. "Anybody trying to grow sorghum or peanuts can tell you how bad it is."

Originally imported by Spanish explorers over 300 years ago, hogs were a vital source of cured meat and lard for settlers.

Following Texas' fight for independence, hogs were imported once again and allowed to roam freely.

European wild hogs, also known as Russian boars, were added to the mix in the 1930s to improve hog sport hunting, escaping from game ranches and interbreeding with the feral hogs.

Unfortunately for agriculture, feral hogs are prolific breeders and under adequate conditions can double the size of a population in four months, according to studies by Texas A&M University.

Feral hogs can begin breeding at six months of age with average litter sizes of 4-12 young up to twice a year. The hogs travel in family groups called sounders, composed of two sows and their young. Forage grounds can cover from 5,000 acres up to 70,000 acres as hogs compete directly with livestock and game and non-game wildlife through indirect destruction of habitat.

C-City welcomes new police officers

The Colorado City Police Department welcomes two officers, both with ties to West Texas.

Nick Holbrook returns to Colorado City as a full-fledged officer.

"I obviously love it here. I didn't come back fast enough," Holbrook said.

Holbrook grew up in Odessa, along with his brother. He and his fiancé, Amy, will be married on October 30.

Amy is "from Austin, but she's not a city girl," Holbrook said.

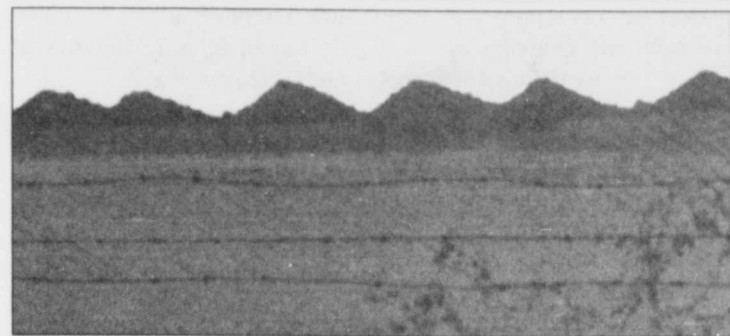

The department also welcomes C. J. White, who hails from Dallas, but considers Lubbock and Midland his stomping grounds.

"I have two older sisters who beat me up," White said. "That's why I became an officer. I love 'em to death."

White and his wife, Davina have two puppies, Trixie and Crush, a Maltese and a Morkie.

"This is a great small community," White said. "There's no shortage of anything a big city would have."

"This was big."

However, the Colorado City find was dismissed by the scientific community as a hoax. The discovery of Clovis points and bison antiquus at Folsom, New Mexico in 1927 caused the scientific community to re-think history.

"Folsom has the title of the first site in North America, even though we predated their discovery," Wood said.

The documentary company will feature the history and importance of the Colorado City find. "We are sending them lots of information for them to use," Wood said.

Ten minutes after speaking with the Canadian company, Wood received an email from the Texas Film Commission featuring a new television series on backyard archaeology.

The show will be hosted by a top archaeologist and anthropologist who want to meet people who believe they've discovered objects or uncovered sites of historical, cultural or scientific importance on the ranch, backyard or study site, according to the email by Carol Pirie, deputy director / program manager, of Film Friendly Texas.

"They're trying to educate the public about backyard finds, the importance of sites and documenting items and sites," Wood said.

The company has produced programming for networks such as PBS, Discovery, History Channel, National Geographic, and A&E.

A phone call from the company followed up on the email and puts Colorado City in the running for a potential spot on the series.

"We have some incredible finds of prehistoric animals which were literally found in someone's backyard," Wood said, referring to the recent 2001 discovery of mammoth bones near Lake Champion. "We're in the running because of an opportunity coming up and in the right direction."

BAKER stamped in all caps. The highest of the three types of brick are the Ferris bricks, which were used as outer brick in the newer walls of the Baker.

Individuals will have an opportunity to purchase a piece of history from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Railhead and take a Baker brick home.

Another group of KCCB trailers will pick up metal and appliances which will be delivered to the west gate of P.J.s Wrecking yard east of town.

"The purpose of these semi-annual city wide cleanups is to assist the elderly, disabled, or those who do not own a pickup or trailer to transport items to the landfill or to P.J.s," Reilly said.

Those able to haul their own debris, should take class IV items to the landfill from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Saturday, October 9. P.J.s will be open all day Saturday.

"The arrival of the dumpsters have greatly improved the appearance of our alleyways," Reilly said. "KCCB hopes that after October 9, our alleys will approach 'spotless.'"

Depending on the amount of available manpower, KCCB hopes to make separate pickups of any alleyway trash cans which citizens no longer need.

"When you call in your request to the Chamber of Commerce at 728-3403, be sure to mention if you have trash cans to pick up," Reilly said.

Blackwell Riding Club to host cook-off Cowboys join TCEQ with clean air contest

Blackwell, Texas, population 350, will play host to an event next weekend that will raise funds for the Blackwell Riding Club, a community service organization.

The Blue Agave Chili Cook-Off will be held September 25 at the Blackwell Rodeo Arena in conjunction with the Blackwell Ranch Rodeo.

The contest will feature some of the best chili cooks in the state, and there will be additional cooking competition including a contest for pinto beans, chicken wings and brisket. Prizes will be awarded for the winning entry in each division.

Also, those attending may want to take part in the bloody mary and margarita pour off.

There will be a head cooks meeting at 8 a.m. on Saturday, September 25. The cook-off is a "CASI" sanctioned event, qualifying winning teams for the Terlingua International Chili Cook-Off.

Plenty of camping spaces will be available, although there are no hook-ups available at the arena. Judging of the food will take place throughout the day.

The ranch rodeo begins at 5 p.m., and "The Duquines", a live band from Austin, will perform immediately following the rodeo.

Merchandise vendors are welcome, but no food vendors will be accepted.

For entry forms and further information, please call 325-668-3552 or 325-370-1119.

Cowboys join TCEQ with clean air contest

The deadline is just around the corner for entering the state's Drive Clean Across Texas online sweepstakes to win a 2010 Ford Fusion Hybrid. Texas drivers have until midnight this Sunday, September 26, to sign up to win the low-emission vehicle, which was donated by the Dallas Cowboys.

The contest, which kicked off on June 15, is part of the state's annual campaign to encourage drivers to take simple steps to improve air quality. Texas drivers who are at least 18 years old can sign up for a chance to win the car by visiting the campaign's website at www.drivecleanacrosstexas.org. There, drivers can also pledge to do their part to reduce air pollution.

Besides saving money on gas, drivers who choose a low-emission vehicle, like a hybrid, are taking a big step to reduce tailpipe emissions that contribute to unhealthy air. Campaign officials with the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) and the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality encourage motorists to make cost-saving, no-cost, and low-cost changes in their driving and vehicle maintenance behaviors to reduce air pollution.

"Each of us is part of the solution to continue to improve air quality in our state. Doing simple things like getting a tune-up and replacing dirty air filters improves gas mileage and reduces vehicle emissions," says Dianna Noble, TxDOT's Environmental Affairs Division Director.

The lucky grand-prize winner in this year's Drive Clean sweepstakes will be given the keys to the brand-new hybrid car at the Dallas Cowboys' Valley Ranch headquarters in a ceremony later this fall. Second and third place winners will receive tickets to a Dallas Cowboys home game. To get more tips on how to drive clean and to enter the Ford Fusion Hybrid sweepstakes, visit www.drivecleanacrosstexas.org.

A NEW ENTRANCE sign to Colorado City graces the old campgrounds for ColTex refinery workers. HOGS

While several factors such as intentional releases, improved habitat and wildlife management actually encourage feral hog growth, there are few inhibiting factors.

Statewide programs to control population expansion fall behind due to sheer numbers. Cooperation from landowners become an integral factor in stemming the tide.

"It's necessary for people to quit looking on feral hogs as an asset," Bodenchuk said. "Every pig costs them $200 per year (in terms of ecological damage).

They need to understand the scope of the problem."

"Second, landowners need to band together to do the job, instead of a checkerboard approach to hog control which provides 'safe harbors' for pig populations. Groups are better than one guy by himself."

Landowners who work together can utilize authorized trappers provided by the state to do helicopter deprivation control.

"Using the helicopter to shoot hogs is the most cost effective method," Bodenchuk said. "It costs $14 per hog to shoot from the air and we can shoot 300 a day from the air."

However, the program isn't geared for individual landowners. Working together means landowners can share the cost of the operation. Landowners interested in the program should contact Rick Gilliland, Texas Wildlife Service district supervisor at 806-651-2880.

Reporting anyone moving hogs to trap and release them for hunting is a third option at the local level. "It's against the law to move them, but there's hardly any enforcement," Bodenchuk said. "Anybody who kills hogs are friends. Turning them loose is a problem for everybody."

A regular hunting license is required for sport hunters, but landowners or agents of landowners doing deprivation hunting, i.e. mass killing to reduce the population, are not required to have a license.

There is no bag limit or season on killing feral hogs, which are considered tasty eating by many hunters.

Strong and intelligent, feral hogs can prove a challenge for even the seasoned hunter.

"My advice is to never walk on one without a gun in your hand," said Wally Watkins, who had a close encounter of the porcine kind a few weeks ago.

Watkins' sister and brother-in-law called him to come get a feral hog they shot near 7 Wells Pump. Watkins says they are good eating.

"It was still kicking 30 minutes later, which isn't unusual," Watkins said. Assuming the pig's throat had been cut, Watkins approached the hog.

"It wasn't dead. It jumped up and came after me," he said. Watkins managed to evade the pig by making a sharp left.

The wounded animal continued to charge straight ahead and disappeared into heavy brush.

Bodenchuk cautions those who hunt feral hogs for food to wear gloves and be careful while handling due to bacteria which causes disease in livestock and painful diseases in people.

Proper cooking neutralizes the bacteria.

Feral hogs are responsible for long-term devastation to natural resources and unproved pastureland, as well as agricultural crops.

Rooting causes grasslands to die and replaces the grass with weeds. Rooted areas where soil is soft can be three feet deep, causing damage to livestock and farm equipment. Pond wallowing contributes to algae blooms, oxygen depletion, bank erosion and soured water, especially during drought conditions where large numbers of hogs concentrate around fewer water sources.

Grant money through TDA uses a "scorched earth" policy to eliminate pigs within a given area, cutting down on ecological damage.

"Right now, given the size of the problem and amount of money available, the focus is on reducing damage to acceptable levels," Bodenchuk said.

A growing concern along Texas highways are the increasing number of feral hog-related accidents.

Unlike most animals, pig eyes do not reflect light, making the hogs impossible to see after dark.

"You won't see it until you hit it," Bodenchuk said. "Nothing on a pig reflects light. It looks like a shadow at best."

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department website contains excellent information about feral hogs and various hunting techniques at www.tpwd.state.tx.us/huntwild/wild/nuisance/feral_hogs

Additional information on feral hogs can be obtained from the Texas cooperative Extension Texas A&M University system, http://icwdm.org/publications/pdf/feral_pig/txferal-hogs.pdf

Psalm 44 - Our Fathers Told Us

"We have heard with our ears, O God, Our fathers have told us" (v.1). David declared that their fathers had told them about God and all that he had done for the Hebrew people. He had blessed them and had given them a beautiful land in which to dwell. As a result, David made God the King of his life (v.4). Today, we need to teach our children and bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord (Ephesians 6:4). If we want our children to grow up to be Christians who will live faithfully until death, we must begin by spending time opening the Bible and showing them who God is and what He has done for us in sending His Son to save us from our sins.

However, just because one is faithful to God, doesn't guarantee that our lives will be free from suffering. Instead, we understand that all who desire to live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution (2 Tim. 3:12). No matter how difficult it may be, we can overcome. David said, "All this has come upon us; but we have not forgotten You" (v.17). We can remain faithful until death and receive the crown of life (Rev. 2:10). Even more encouraging is that when we suffer, we have the aid and comfort of Christ through His word and through prayer (Heb. 2:18; 4:15,16). Though we be led to slaughter like sheep, we can overcome through Christ Jesus our Lord (v.22; 1 Cor. 15:55-58).

In the closing verse of this Psalm, David asked, "Arise for our help, and redeem us for Your mercies' sake" (v.26). Today, if we are living in sin, we are lost and will face the consequence of our sin (Rom. 3:10,23; 6:23). There is some good news! Jesus came to redeem us with His own precious blood. He has paid the price for our ransom. If we will hear the word (Rom. 10:17), believe in Jesus as the Son of God (John 8:24), repent of our sins (Luke 13:3), confess Jesus as Lord (Rom. 10:9,10), and are baptized for the remission of sin in the name of Christ (Acts 2:38; 22:16), we will have our sins washed away in the blood of the Lamb and we will be redeemed by Him (Rev. 1:5; Heb. 10:4).

Dear reader, I pray for an eternal home for you. If you would like to know more about Christ and His church, please contact us and we will be glad to study with you. - Denny Wilson

Baker attracts I-20 attention

Long seen as a deteriorating building, the Baker Hotel is finding a new way to "earn its keep."

Recent purchase of a quality projector allowed Main Street to use the Baker as an interstate advertising billboard.

Images of the Baker and downtown historical murals were projected on the hotel's brick walls during Main Street's dinner and movie event for Giant on September 11.

"Apparently, you could see it from the interstate," Amie Wood, Community Development director said. While the individual images could not be seen, the bright, flickering lights attracted attention.

"We had seen the concept in a totally different application," Wood said, citing the Alamo's usage for celebratory events and movie companies usage on blimps as a big screen television for video games.

"It opens up possibilities for creating and directing attention to the Baker," she said.

Wood plans on using the project with the Baker as a backdrop during the Junktique Jamboree to highlight the Opera House performance of R.J. Vandygriff's The Cowboy Ain't Dead Yet."

"The hotel is one of those things visible from every point in the city. It's worth trying to do something with it," Wood said.

Main Street used photos of the hotel from the 1920's and 1950's, along with photos of the murals in the Heart of West Texas Museum which depict the history of Colorado City, as preview attraction for Giant.

The murals were originally designed and hung in the Baker Hotel but relocated to the museum after the hotel closed.

"It's a way to highlight something that is, at this point, not complete and a way to make it an attraction as opposed to an eyesore," she said.

Future plans include joint projects with the 3M Palace for outdoor movies projected against the Baker. The Opera House has also expressed interest in using the projector to host "silent movie" festivals.

Rattlesnakes in the Attic

We need to give our children more OMG (oh my goodness, eyeroll) moments. I cannot tell you the number of parents I hear that gripe about disciplining their children, usually teens. I find that after my teen and I have a "disagreement", showing up at school in my lawn mowing hat with matching shoes goes a long way in settling any issues she might have with my parenting. I can usually end any complaints she has with a look that says, "Should I come eat lunch with you at school today?"

Men do this all the time; they are just not aware of it. I have a friend whose husband picked up his daughter from volleyball practice wearing his button-down work shirt, yard shorts, black terrysock socks and cowboy boots. He just walked in the gym and visited until the practice was over. No one even noticed except the teenage girls. The offended daughter has now offered to walk the two miles home if her mother is too busy to pick her up after practice. You can't make this stuff up. We, as parents, have to be sneaky in how we pull this off. If everyone shows up in their lawn mowing hat at school on Monday morning after their kids missed curfew over the weekend it will all become normal. We must maintain the element of surprise and humiliation. Ad-mitedly this technique will not work on all children. My son is safely at Tech and my daughter's calls to him for support in gaining control of my behavior, have not been heeded. Admittedly, it probably works better on girls than boys, but it is worth a try.

My latest adventure has been to buy a lime green Volkswagen Beetle, a bug. I almost bought another SUV, you know the haul-everybody-and-everything type vehicle. My daughter actually gave me some brilliant advice. "Mom this is a really nice car, but it costs a lot of money to be so boring." The statement translated actually meant, "I will be getting my license next year and if you spend too much on a car then I won't get a cool car." I had already been secretly researching Bugs on the internet. We drove to the local Volkswagen dealership. The salesman smiles at the daughter and says, "Honey, will this be your first car?"

Daughter glares at me and says, "No, this is for my mom."

The first one I drove was red with a standard transmission. Daughter did not approve; she did not know how to drive a standard. I roared down the street with a big grin on my face totally enjoying the experience and freedom of the road when all of a sudden out of nowhere the daughter says, "Mom, I think you are having a mid-life crisis."

SHARON GILLENWATER

Book signing at Junktique

Hometown author, Sharon Gillenwater will hold a book signing at More Books in the Good Ole Days Antique Mall Saturday, September 25 from 2-5 p.m.

Gillenwater will be in town for the Mitchell County Reunion and Junktique Jamboree with books to sell, including Jenna's Cowboy, the first in her new Callahans of Texas series.

"If someone already has some of my books, I'll gladly sign those, too," Gillenwater said.

A Colorado City native, Gillenwater has close ties to West Texas which find their way into her writings as characters, places and events.

Her newest novel, Emily's Chance, is book two in the Callahans of Texas series through Revell.

Emily Rose may be in the tiny West Texas town of Callahan Crossing for the moment, but it's just a rung on her ladder to success. Her work at the Callahan Crossing historical society will look good on her ever-growing resume as she attempts to break into the prestigious world of a big city museum curator. Little does she know cowboy and contractor Chance Callahan has decided that he can convince her to stay-both with the town and with him. As he helps Emily restore the town's history after a devastating fire, he also helps her uncover her own hidden worth and the value of love.

Emily's Chance will be available in mid-October.

Snyder mayor to speak at reunion

Snyder Mayor Francene (Womack) Allen-Noah will be the guest speaker at the Mitchell County Reunion, Saturday, September 25 at the Civic Center.

Allen-Noah is a 1950 graduate of Colorado High School. She married 1945 graduate Matt Allen, who passed away in 1987.

Allen-Noah received her masters of education from Hardin Simmons University and taught for 30 years in Scurry County.

"I was raised by Swann and Lillian Taylor. He was a cattleman and cable tool driller and she was an outstanding seamstress," Allen-Noah said.

Her bent toward politics came from her second husband who served as a councilman on the Snyder city council until his death in 1999.

"He was very interested in local politics and wanted me to run for mayor while he was alive," Allen-Noah said. "I really was not quite ready then."

She was elected as mayor in 2001 and is currently entering her 10th year.

Allen-Noah will speak following the reunion barbeque lunch, catered by Gas 'n' Grub at the civic center.

Registration for the reunion

Francene Allen-Noah

begins at 9:30 a.m. until noon.

Reservations for the reunion may be made through the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce at P.O. Box 242, Colorado City, Texas 79512 or by calling 325-728-3403 by September 20. Tickets are $10 each.

"O" negative blood needed

United Blood Services is making a critical appeal for O negative blood.

There is a continuing shortage, and a strong public response is needed to correct this critical situation. O negative blood transfusion needs of patients in local hospitals will not be met as the blood bank's supply on hand is half of one day. An adequate supply is three days.

All blood types are needed, but the O negative supply is critical. United Blood Services is the sole provider to 10 hospitals around the area. Premature babies can only be transfused with O negative blood.

Donors must be 16 years old, weigh at least 100 pounds and be in good health to donate.

Call 325-223-7500 or 800-756-0024 or go online to www.unitedbloodservices.org for more information. Appointments are encouraged by walk-ins are welcome.

Brother Keifer Cauble had a couple of good ones that I had not heard yet so I think I'll share.

You Know You're A Redneck Church When:

"The members vote against buying a chandelier because nobody would know how to play it."

"The Pastor calls on 'Bubba' to take up the offering and five guys stand up."

"Everybody thinks the first day of deer season is a church holiday."

I love Redneck jokes. I guess because they make perfect sense to me.

Danny and Pam Butler enjoyed the Clifton Reunion Labor Day weekend at their Colorado City lake cabin. Pam said family came from all over Texas, New Mexico and Arkansas. Said they began to come in on Thursday and many stayed right through to Monday.

Geory Martin and his family hosted the 1995 LISD class reunion in his home Saturday evening. Those who were able to make it were Krystal Butler, Kathy Martinez, Angie Gonzales and Adrian Garcia. Everyone brought their children, had supper, caught up on one another's lives and reminisced over old times.

Judy Mitchell-Macha brought the special music at the Loraine First Baptist Church Sunday. She must have done a beautiful job because I was asked three times if I had that information.

Helen Hartley has been filling in on the piano and everyone wants to thank her for the great job that she's doing.

Ryan and Mandy Mitchell-Bain and son Johnny were in town from Amarillo last weekend to visit family and friends.

The Women's Salad Dinner at the First Methodist Church Monday night was a big success. Darlene Moore of Sweetwater spoke to the group and that was very enjoyable. Attending the dinner with Darlene was Claudine Reap and Sally Etheredge of Roby. These women are former classmates of Aubry Nell Cauble.

The guest pianist at the Methodist Church this Sunday was Wanda Applin and her husband sang "It's All About Jesus".

Brother Keifer posed the question to the congregation, "Who cares if a sinner goes to hell?" Thought provoking sermon which led to the reasons why we should care.

There was a church meal directly after services and approximately 40 members and guests were in attendance. Visiting from Roby was Aubry Nell's brother Jimmie Dennis and his family.

Pam Butler also had a birthday the 12th of this month and everyone went out to eat at Mi Ranchito in Colorado City Wednesday. Here to celebrate with Pam and Danny were their daughter Krystal and granddaughters Raeli and Kamri, their son Brian, Lisa and Donna Parker. Travis Beard is a cousin from Missouri working construction in the area, so he was able to join in on the birthday fun as well.

Geory Martin's family attended the West Texas Fair and Rodeo this last weekend and Kristie and their son Kyle entered the Walk/Trot class with 15 year old gelding, Justa Feature. This was Kyle's first horse show and at almost three years old, he won the Blue Ribbon in his class!

Geory said that Kyle also received some NutterButters with his Blue Ribbon. Said he was very excited about winning first place and tried to 'High-Five' the judge. I'm pretty sure this won't be Kyle's last rodeo. Congrats!

Call me with your news at 325-737-2003. Thanks.

A BULLDOG SPIRIT flag was donated to Loraine School recently. Richard Muñoz at Loraine Seed & Delinting and Miguel and Krystal Acevedo of Loraine donated the funds and Debby Mitchell made the flag which was revealed at Loraine's Homecoming game.

State conservation board hosts meeting in Lubbock

TEMPLE, TEXAS — This year marks a milestone for the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board (TSSWCB) as it prepares to host the 70th Annual Meeting of Texas Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) directors. The meeting will be held on October 25-27 at the Overton Hotel and Conference Center in Lubbock.

The annual meeting provides SWCD directors, employees and others the opportunity to discuss issues relevant to the conservation of the state's natural resources. Speakers from the local, state and national level will address attendees concerning a wide variety of agricultural and conservation topics.

"Conservation efforts face ever-changing challenges," said José Dodier, TSSWCB chairman. "It is critical for district directors to meet to receive updated information and communicate with others in the state who may face similar issues."

A highlight of the meeting will be a conservation tour scheduled for Wednesday the 27th. The tour will include stops at local agricultural producers' operations, the Lubbock Cotton Growers Coop Gin and a tour of the Llano Estacado Winery.

"The TSSWCB has planned an agenda that we believe will address those issues and concerns soil and water conservation districts will be dealing with in the near future," said Mel Davis, TSSWCB special projects coordinator. "We anticipate approximately 750 participants for the event."

For more information, including a tentative program and online registration, visit <http://www.tsswcb.state.tx.us/swcds/annualmeeting> or contact Davis at (254) 773-2250.

Harvest moon lights up sky

Thursday's full moon is the closest to the equinox this year, earning it the title of the Harvest Moon.

The equinox, which occurred on Wednesday, is the day when the sun crosses the celestial equator into the southern hemisphere.

The event means day and night are approximately 12 hours long each.

Also joining the full moon in the night sky are two planets, Jupiter and Uranus, rising just after sunset.

The three will be grouped closed together in the night sky, but don't expect to see Uranus without aid of a binoculars or a small telescope.

Stargazers should be able to locate the two planets on a perpendicular line between the moon and the horizon.

4 injured, 1 killed in Coleman wreck

One juvenile was killed and four others injured in a one vehicle rollover in Coleman County Monday, September 20.

A 1999 Chevrolet four door, driven by 13-year-old Kelsie Kay Roberts of Coleman, was traveling west on county road 422 when Roberts lost control of the vehicle at 1:35 p.m., according to DPS officials.

Seventeen-year-old Eva Anna Estrada was ejected from the vehicle and pronounced dead at Coleman County Medical Center at 6:40 p.m. by Judge Nance Campbell.

Also injured in the accident were 16-year-old Jessica Lynn Dean, 18-year-old Rickey Lee Roberts, and 17-year-old Gage Tyler Andrews, all of Coleman.

The accident is being investigated by Trooper Pat Salas.

Last Friday night, the Wolves clicked on all cylinders and delivered a 39-0 shutout to the Coleman Bluecats and impressed the homecoming alumni at Wolf Stadium. The shutout pleased the overflow homecoming crowd as the offense and defense put together, perhaps, their best game of the year.

The Wolves' offense put up some big numbers, as running back Tracy Russell exploded to lead the Wolves' overall ground attack rushing for 176 of the 278 yards total rushing in the game. While the ground attack pulled the Bluecats up closer to the line of scrimmage, quarterback Derek Gainey went through the air and kept the Bluecats second guessing all night long.

On the defensive side of the ball, the Wolves' 'Fly Squad' defense, led by J.C. Johnson and Johnathon Luera, denied Coleman's offense any success. Russell, a senior, scored the game's first points, scoring twice in the first quarter. Russell's first touchdown came from 7 yards out, and late in the first quarter, he scampered 43 yards to pay-dirt putting the Wolves up 12-0 after the first quarter.

Kicker Derek Gainey was no good on both PAT attempts, his first misses of the year.

During the second quarter, the Wolves' defense continued to harass the Bluecats' offense and forced a fumble around the Bluecats' 47 yard line, and it was time for the offense to go back to work. A 15-yard pass from Gainey to Nick Reyna with 8:55 to go in the second quarter, put the Wolves up 19-0 after a successful PAT.

After an excellent homecoming half-time show by the Colorado High School Band, Russell had a show of his own with a 74-yard touchdown run with 11:42 to go in the third quarter. A Gainey to Tylor Lorenz pass and 51 yards later, the Wolves tacked on another 6 points with 6:32 to go in the third quarter. The Wolves were up 32-0.

The Wolves aerial attack put another fourth quarter touchdown on the board when junior quarterback Bailey Spencer connected with Aaron Mendoza on a 48-yard scoring strike. The extra point was good, and the Wolves recorded their first shutout of the season 39-0.

Linebackers J.C. Johnson, Johnathon Luera, Tyler Hammond, along with Rafael Gonzalez continued to lead the defensive efforts, limiting Coleman to only 179 total yards.

"It was our best effort of the year," Johnson said. "I like the way our kids hit."

Denver City is this week's opponent as the Wolves begin district play.

A much bigger Mustang team should provide the Wolves a real challenge.

District II-2A is shaping up to be a tough district as Wall, Kermit, Crane, Alpine, Denver City and the Wolves should all have a shot at making the playoffs.

Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m. in Denver City, which is about a 2 1/2 drive from Colorado City.

Wolves begin district play this Friday

"They all count now," Head Coach Frank Johnson said Tuesday, as the Wolves prepare to open district play Friday night in Denver City.

Other District 2-2A games include Crane at Wall and Alpine at Grape Creek. Kermit has an open date.

Colorado City, Wall and Kermit all went through the pre-season games undefeated.

Denver City is 1-3 but has played all 3A schools. The Mustangs beat Lamesa 20-14 but lost to Pecos 19-12, Brownfield 14-7 and Seminole 35-14.

"What troubles me is their size. They're as big as Lamesa," Johnson said. "Most upsets happen the first week of district competition."

"We really played well against Coleman last week. We out hit 'em, and I'm proud of the way our kids hit," Coach Johnson said.

The Wolves defense shut-out the Bluecats while putting up 510 yards on offense.

Lady Wolves are facing hard times against tough opponents

The Lady Wolves varsity volleyball team has been facing hard times lately, losing to Water Valley, Shallowater, Big Spring and Lamesa.

In the game against Water Valley, Colorado City lost in 4 matches, winning only one match, 25-19, 25-10, 25-21 and 25-20. The game against Shallowater proved the same scenario with the Lady Wolves losing 3 of the 4 matches they played, 25-18, 26-24, 25-21, 26-24.

Head Volleyball Coach Anita Graham said, "They (the Lady Wolves) are coming close but just cannot seem to finish." She also attributed some of the team's struggles to injuries. "We have people hurt right now, and players are playing different positions," she said.

Big Spring and Lamesa proved to be the toughest teams for Colorado City. The girls lost every match against both of these teams.

In the game against Big Spring, the Lady Wolves forced an overtime situation, but let the win slip away 27-25. Lamesa beat Colorado City 25-19, 25-23 and 25-17.

"We are in every game, and we have had the lead, but we just cannot seem to hold on to it," Coach Graham said Tuesday.

Huntyr Messick leads her team in digs with 38, with Kaley Molina following closely with 32. Emma Leanos has 27.

Michelle Billingsley also leads defensively with 27 blocks. Lauran Meeks and Tara Higgins each have 16.

Offensively Billingsley also leads with 25 attacks, and Amanda Arispe has 17.

Emily Hicks and Sydney Upshaw have 37 and 30 assists respectively.

Hicks has racked up 5 aces, with Arispe and Messick each getting 4.

Unfortunately, the junior varsity and freshmen teams have not fared better than their varsity counterparts. The JV lost to Water Valley 3-1, Big Spring 2-0 and Shallowater 2-1. The freshmen lost to Big Spring 2-1.

The freshmen team travels to Bronte on Saturday to compete in a tournament and the JV and varsity will play at home against Abilene Christian High School. Play begins with the JV at 5:30. Varsity play follows at 6:30 p.m.

Bulldogs pluck Jaybirds, 48-0

By Aimee Adams

The Friday night lights shone brightly on the victorious Loraine Bulldogs as they improved their season record to 4-0, with a decisive victory over the Jayton Jaybirds, 48-0.

In the first quarter of play, the game seemed to be a tough defensive struggle with the only touchdown being scored by the Bulldogs.

During the second quarter, Loraine picked up the pace and put up another 20 points on the scoreboard while keeping the Jaybirds out of the end zone. The halftime score showed the Bulldogs 26, Jaybirds 0.

The third quarter ended with the Bulldogs still going strong 42-0. The 45-point mercy rule was enforced at the beginning of the fourth quarter when the 'Dogs ran the last touchdown in to finish off the 'Birds, 48-0.

Loraine faces Lueders-Avooca on Friday, September 24 at home. In preparing for their next opponent, Coach Richard Jackson said, "We will try to minimize our mistakes and continue to work toward perfection."

Matt Sanchez, Brandon Gibson and Scotty Bailey led the defensive efforts with 6 tackles each. Rafael Acevedo racked up 2 solo tackles and 7 assists.

Nate Martinez scored 2 defensive touchdowns with Timmy Garza and Andy Limones scoring 1 each. Scotty Bailey intercepted a Jaybird pass and ran it back 18 yards for another score for the Bulldogs.

Offensively, Jacob Benivamondez and Nate Martinez scored 1 touchdown a piece.

Bulldogs to host Raiders

The Loraine Bulldogs host Lueders-Avooca Friday night in Loraine. The Bulldogs posted a 67-20 romp of the Jayton Jaybirds last week and remain unbeaten in four games.

The 4-0 Bulldogs continue to improve each week and will be tested Friday night when the Raiders roll into town with pre-season offensive MVP running back Robert Hubbard.

Game time is set for 7:30 p.m.

Loraine runners travel to Hamlin

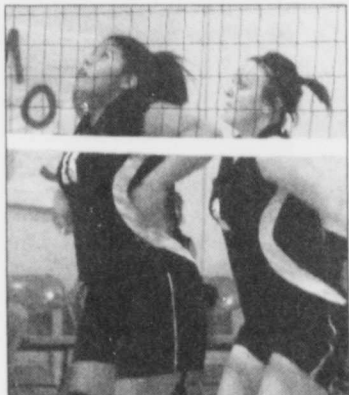

By Aimee Adams

On Saturday, September 18, the Loraine cross-country elementary and junior varsity teams traveled to Hamlin to compete against several other schools from the area.

In the junior high division, Seattle Jackson, 6th grader, placed 1st in the boys' group and 5th overall in the half-mile event. J.T. Cooper, 6th grader, took 2nd in the boys' division and placed 6th overall. Sonny Benivamondez, 6th grader, placed 7th overall and Geo Benivamondez, a 3rd grader, placed 11th overall.

Kristin Harris placed 5th in the junior varsity girl's two-mile event.

SPORTS

JUNIOR VARSITY WOLF Gustavo Silva (84) finds a hole during the game against the Coleman Bluecats. The hole was made possible with good blocking executed by Fabian Gutierrez (64) and Josh Ludwig (50). The Bluecats beat the Wolves, 30-14, in Thursday's contest in Coleman.

Wildcats look for 5 in a row

The Westbrook Wildcats will try to make it five-in-a-row this Friday night as the Moran Bulldogs visit Westbrook.

"Moran is small on numbers this year, but they have one outstanding player and we're not going to take them lightly," Head Coach Jim Hill said Tuesday.

"We're going to work hard this week and try to get ready for them," he said.

Moran is 0-4 and lost to Rising Star last week 58-0.

Westbrook wins over Veribest

Westbrook broke open a close game with 2 fourth quarter touchdowns to out distance Veribest last Friday, 40-22.

Veribest had scored 2 third quarter touchdowns to make it a close game.

The victory puts the Wildcats at 4-0 this year. Not bad for a team that went 1-9 last year.

"Our kids are working hard and we're trying to turn this thing around," a happy Head Coach Jim Hill said. "We're making mistakes, but we're trying to improve each week."
