OLD FORD RESEMBLES ARMY AS BLASTS SPLIT THE AIR

Many local citizens last night though Pampa was being invaded by a young army when about midnight a series of cracks resembling rifle and revolver fire split the night air. At least 50 blasts were heard within a few minutes.

County officers started out to find the excitement and finally ran down an old Ford car that was back firing. The driver stated that it was a wet switch that was causing the uproar, but the officers belived differently. The youth was warned and sent on his way.

PIGGLY WIGGLY STORE ROBBED DURING NIGHT

Robbers are still busy in Pampa but success has been lacking lately. Last night unknown persons broke into Piggly Wiggly No. 2 on South Cuyler street but got only $5 in change.

Entry was made by tearing the screen from the back door of the building and breaking the glass to get to the lock. It is believed the robbers were frightened away before they obtained more than the change from the cash register. Other doors in the block had been tampered with but none opened.

Last night's burglary makes the third since Sunday morning, when the Thompson Hardware company and Clarence Saunders were entered and money and merchandise stolen.

Sheriff E. S. Graves believes it is the work of amateurs and is working along that line.

Heavy Gains in Post Office Are Revealed in Report

Pampa's postoffice went first class July 1 and in the first month of that classification saw business almost double. Postal receipts and money orders issued soared to new levels during the month.

Receipts from the postal department amounted to $4,960.12 for last month which was an increase of $1,345.57 over the previous month. A gain of $1,235.00 was shown over July of 1928 in that department.

In the money order department issues for July totaled $54,001.24 to show an increase of $9,850.22 over the preceding month. The big growth in that department was noted when figures for July of 1928 were compared with July figures for this year. The increase amounted to $20,973.21.

Much new equipment is being added to the local office and additional clerks being employed.

City's Name Will Be on Gynasium

Pampa will be recognizable from the air soon. Lee's Sign company has been awarded a contract to print the name of the city on top of the high school gymnasium. The contract was let yesterday by the Pampa Board of City Development.

Work of painting the big sign will begin tomorrow morning. The name "PAMPA" is to be in 12-foot letters of chrome yellow, which is the nationally recognized color for airplane signs. The letters will be on a black background and wil easily be discernable from several thousand feet in the air.

A small arrow will be painted on the roof, pointing north. A second arrow will point toward the landing field with the distance, which is one mile away. The distance lettering will be six foot high.

In the past airplanes have had to fly low and pass the water tower before finding the name of the city over which they were flying.

Pittsburgh Reports Two Gang Killings

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7—(AP)—Two men were slain here last night, one at the door of a hospital and the other on a street in the east end district. Police described the slayings as "mob killings" believing they may have resulted from a continuation of gang fighting.

Shotguns were shoved thru the curtains of an automobile parked near by and fired. Several hours after the Monastero killing, police found Lilo unconscious from stab wounds. He clutched a knife in his hand as he lay in the street. He died in a hospital before he could be questioned.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Williams of Woka are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams.

YOUNG MAN IS SOUGHT AFTER DARING THEFT

National Insurance Co., Loses $1,084.86 in Hold-Up

BANDIT TAKES VICTIM'S AUTO

Lone Robber Disappears in Traffic This Morning

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—A young man today jumped on the running board of an automobile at Texas and Milam streets in the heart of downtown business section here and forced the driver to take him to Sam Houston park where he took $1,084.86 in a handbag and made his escape.

The money belonged to the National Life Insurance company. It was being taken to the National Bank of Commerce by J. M. Wigren and W. M. Pearson, employes of the company.

After the bandit had forced the men to go about ten blocks he made them alight and drove off in their car.

Pearson and Wigren said the bandit stepped on the running board of their machine, pistol in hand, as the car slowed up for a traffic light.

The robber slid into the front seat and ordered Wigren to drive out Milam and turn to the right on Walker. "Keep your eyes to the front," he warned as the automobile sped thru the downtown traffic.

As the machine moved thru the city park and approached the dog and cat hospital the bandit ordered the driver to stop. "Hop out now," he said "and look unconcerned.

After the men alighted the youth turned the car around and sped back toward the downtown district.

Pearson, who was driving the car transporting the money said that just before the hlodup he saw in the mirrow that another automobile was following him. As he approached the red light one of the men pumped out and ran up to his automobile, he told police. Pearson said he did not see the other car again.

Anti- Smith Men Lose in Virginia

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 7. (AP)—Dr. John Garland Pollard, who stumped Virginia for Alfred E. Smith and is generally regarded as among the Virginia Democratic leaders Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, has asked Anti-Smith Democrats to repudiate, was swept into the Democratic nomination for governor of the old dominion in a political landslide in yesterday's Democratic primary.

Dr. Pollard, a professor of the college of William and Mary, had piled up a tremendous majority over his two primary opponents, G. Walter Mapp and Rosewell Page, on the basis of unofficial returns from 1,302 of the state's 1,681 precincts. The vote stood Pollard 87,467; Mapp 25,760; Page 3,882.

In his campaign against Dr. William Moseley Brown, nominated for governor by Anti-Smith Democrats and Republicans, political leaders believe Dr. Pollard will have the staunch backing of the entire Democratic party. Mr. Mapp hastened to offer his support in a telegram sent to Dr. Pollard while Rosewell Page in his final statement to voters offered his support to the party nominee in the event he was not nominated.

"It's Like This—"

HOOVER'S FARM BOARD plans to use existing farm marketing associations in administering at least a large portion of the fund placed at its disposal. It is perhaps a disappointment to many who had hoped to see new machinery set in motion.

* * *

By using cooperative associations, it is hoped to encourage the farmer to help solve his problems. It is found in the beginning, however, that in many communities the cooperative plan has flourished and declined. There is a keen need for reorganization in order to reap the benefits of government aid.

* * *

By avoiding direct governmental participation in marketing and in reposing confidence and millions in private cooperative initiative, the government is steering clear of socialism but probably failing to achieve rapid success. Lack of financial strength has not been a particularly detrimental factor in the past, but a revival of interest should be noticeable immediately. It will require close government supervision, moreover, to safeguard the millions of dollars which will be made available to marketing interests. The farm board's responsibility will not be discharged by lending funds. But is the golden opportunity of the cooperatives.

SCHOOL WILL OPEN about September 6, with registration beginning a few days earlier. Millions of pupils will resume their studies, and hundreds of thousands of teachers of the nation will assume their tasks. Tremendous opportunities will be unfolded.

* * *

The prohibition forces of the nation have decided not to use the schools for spreading propaganda favorable to their cause. They rightly decided that use of any kind of propaganda would lead to dangerous possibilities.

* * *

In this connection it is interesting that the League of Nations appealed to teachers to cease using propaganda for the League and to resort to reasoning. One speaker said "human beings must be taught to form their own judgments, and therefore teachers cannot simply place before their pupils what they themselves consider right and wrong."

* * *

Another speaker said "the League of Nations is no religion or philosophy or dream of the pacifists. It is so much of a reality that no statesmen can come together to decide the fate of people they govern without taking account of its work and influence. War today is not an impulse on the part of one nation to exterminate another. War is possible only because under certain conditions men are willing to fight. It is an issue resulting from certain steps which have brought people into a position of opposition. Individuals have little to do with these subtle and gradual shiftings of international relationships."

* * *

And one of the most subtle agencies which unwittingly makes this war attitude possible is that of the textbook writers, who glorify war and spread hate. It has been a historical axiom to raise one's country's standing by running down other nations. Although we know that there are mental and physical giants in peace times, histories have not so indicated. Statesmen the world over are asking that histories be rewritten to remove unnecessary emphasis upon wars. The patriotism of peace should be taught in grade schools. It is not necessary to build nationalism upon warlike doctrines.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON — A few foreign nations may be planning reprisals in case they are affected by the next tariff law, but there will be some surprise around here in case any such reprisals are carried out. Virtually all of them try so hard to impress this government as to how nice and important they are that any such course would be a reversal of policy.

The best evidence of the anxiety of other governments to stand in with Uncle Sam, who is so important himself and who has so much money, is to be seen in the caliber of diplomats who are sent to Washington and the continual process of building bigger and better embassies and legations. Most of them send their very best men to represent them here and often they house these men in mansions whose size and expense are well out proportion to their national wealth.

They Rate Very High

Socially, at least, Washington responds cordially to these obvious overtures. Perhaps Washington society, based so much as it is on the official rank of federal jobholders, is easily dazzled. At any rate, whereas diplomats in other capitals keep comparatively to themselves, are most often surrounded by their own countrymen and frequently abide in second-rate quarters, in Washington they are virtually the first social layer. Social activity appears to revolve around them. The mere rank of an attache casts so much glamour in this town that it is no wonder so many bus boys and waiters of foreign descent have posed as such in their heart-breaking campaigns.

The social functions which attract the most attention here are generally diplomatic. The Chilean ambassador's dinner, at which Mrs. Gann was placed in the seat she wanted, and the British ambassador's dinner, where Mrs. Gann didn't take a drink, have had more publicity than any other dinners within the year.

Hardly anyone will question that Washington now has the highest grade diplomatic colony in the world. Howard of Britain is rounding out a brilliant career of foreign service, Claudel of France was world-famous before he came here, Davila was one of the ablest men in Chile. Prince De Ligne of Belgium is the top of his country's diplomatic heap, Tellez of Mexico is perhaps the ablest of his nationality except for Plutarco Calles. Nicaragua's Sacasa was her constitutional president and Central America's most distinguished surgeon, and similar nice things might be said about many other heads of missions.

The more important diplomats have large allowances for entertainment—another indication of the world's anxiety to please. The British ambassador, one hears, has $80,000 a year for entertainment purposes.

And more and more money is being poured into new buildings. In the last three or four years, a dozen diplomats representing smaller nations have moved out of dark old houses or hotel rooms into handsome quarters infinitely superior. And those of large nations have in several instances moved from what appeared satisfactory quarters to any outsider into splendrous palaces.

TWINKLES

Well, this hot weather at least serves to quiet those impatient souls who are always saying "let's do something!"

* * *

Those St. Louis fliers who were given a lifetime baseball pass each might have been more pleased had they been given a lifetime place to park their cars—if they have cars.

* * *

But speaking of the weather, a summer camp is certainly due the boys of this community. The Boy Scouts plan to have one in the latter part of August.

* * *

Floydada is getting free mail delivery, which indicates that Pampa ought to have an extensive system. But it will take cooperation on the part of the citizens, who must put up boxes.

* * *

An Old Fogey is a community liability, but if you can find bone heads that are a few million years old, scientists will beat a path to your door.

* * *

Doing without water a few hours certainly illustrates the need for this very common but vital beverage. More and cheaper water is a good perpetual issue in any man's town.

* * *

We may be able to get baby autos by parcel post, but what will one of the things look like after an argument with some of our mammoth oil field trucks?

* * *

If the state really wants 100 foot right-of-ways, we suggest that the roads be sloped to the fences and graded so it will not be disastrous to "take to the ditch."

* * *

Nature is wonderful, but why did she not fix it so one could get a coat of tan while lying in a nice cool shade?

* * *

Our ambition is to get so far from civilization that nary a fly will buzz around the victuals at meal time. However, usually the chiggers and mosquitoes flourish in the most virgin parts of the big woods.

* * *

It is reported that the I. C. C. representative at Fort Worth frowned severely upon the nice essays that some towns had prepared. That is a hard blow for the poets. Mr. Mahaffie is an advocate of the nudity movement—nudity in facts.

* * *

* * *

A citizen asks if The News is not going to bring the Graf Zeppelin here. It's a happy thought, and if tickets hadn't already been sold for the return trip at once we would make a try—doggone'd if we wouldn't.

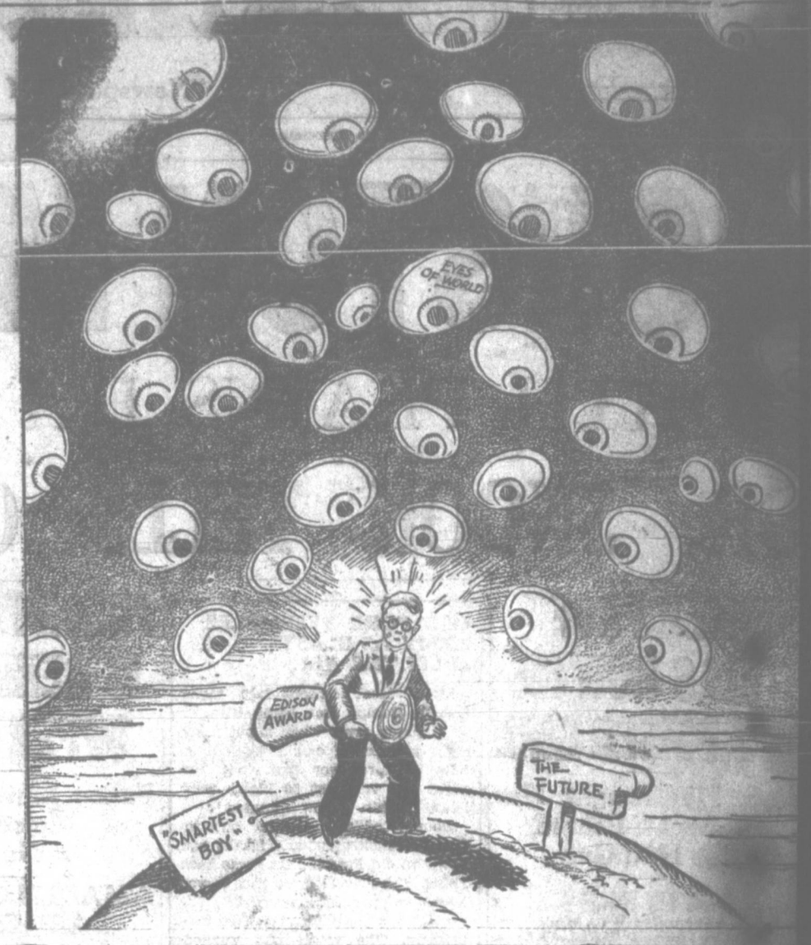

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McConnell and children will eave today for a two-week vacation in Colorado. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Williams and children of Perryton.

Nuptials of Miss Dorothy McKinney and Mr. Troy Maness Read Tuesday Afternoon in Pretty Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Dorothy McKinney and Mr. Troy Maness was solemnized at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a pretty wedding at home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. McKinney, 615 North Somerville. The Rev. John Lee Harris, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, read the ring service before an altar of banked ferns and garden flowers.

The bride wore a beautiful afternoon dress of beige georgette, with matching accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses. Neither she nor the bridegroom had an attendant, and only their families and relatives were present for the ceremony.

An informal reception was held following the wedding, after which the young couple left on a trip to Carlsbad and the mountains of New Mexico. Upon their return they will make their home at Mr. Maness' farm, 6 miles east of Pampa.

Miss McKinney was a member of the 1919 graduating class of Central high school. She was a member of the high school dramatic club and the staff of the "Harvester", year book. Her popularity and prominence in student activities won her the title, "Harvester Queen", this year, with full-page picture in the annual publication.

Mr. Maness also attended Central high a part of this year. He was one of the most valuable members of the school's athletic teams, both this year and last, making letters in football and basketball. While attending school, he managed his farm, of which he is now the owner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Maness, pioneer residents of the county.

Church Benefit Social Postponed to Be Held Today

A benefit lawn party and ice cream social, which was to have been given yesterday afternoon and evening by the Altar society of Holy Souls Catholic church, was postponed because of rain until this afternoon and evening. In event of rain, the party will be given in the McGarrity Motor company building. It will begin at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. H. G. Myers, who is in charge of arangements for the benefit social, has planned pleasing musical entertainment for the evening. The shaded lawn will be decorated with Japanese lanterns. The public is invited to attend.

Their guests were as follows: Mrs. Lavender, honoree, Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Carlock, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lutz.

The group presented Mrs. Lavender a set of beautiful salad forks. Bridge was played at thre tables. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston held high score and received an electric toaster. Book ends were given for low combined score to Mr. and Mrs. Lutz. The hostess served dainty ices.

Mrs. Lavender has been prominent during a three year residence here in the social life of the city. She was a member of several bridge clubs, a charter member of the A. A. U. W. and College club, and a former member of El Progresso study club. In addition she has been associated in business with Mr. Lavender and her son Laverne.

Mexico City Girls Asked to Abandon Use of Cosmetics

LEON, Guanajuato, Mexico, Aug. 7. (AP)—Two hundred senoritas held a mass-meeting here to protest against use of lipstick, rouge, short skirts and bobbed hair by the girls of Mexico City, and resolved to issue a proclamation to the nation calling upon girls who "have decorum and honor the memory of their ancestors" to "oblige the flappers of the capital to act and dress like civilize human beings."

The senoritas of Leon recently agreed to abandon bobbed hair and not to wear short skirts, whereupon Mexico City girls, in interviews published in one of the leading newspapers termed the attitude of the "provincialities" ridiculous. One girl went so far as to say that the Leon senoritas "are ugly."

These interviews prompted the mass meeting here, at which speakers asserted that the metropolitan girls "paint their lips like circus clowns" and have their hair shorn because they like the barber to tickle their faces."

In the 31st District Court, Gray County, Texas.

The State of Texas to the Sheriff or any Constable of Gray County—Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED, that by making publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Gray once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, you summon W. J. Conaway, whose residence unknown, who is alleged to be a non-resident of the State of Texas, to be and appear at the next regular term of the 31st District Court of Gray County, to be holden at the Courthouse thereof, in the City of Pampa, Texas, on the fourth Monday in September, A. D., 1929, in a suit, numbered on the Docket of said Court, No. 2103 wherein Realty Trust Company is plaintiff, and Dr. Elgin Hughey Conaway, W. J. Conaway, C. C. Hagland, and A. D. Schneider, are defendants, the nature of plaintiff's demand being substantially, as follows, to-wit:

BRIEF STATEMENT OF THE CAUSE OF ACTION.

That on November 15, 1927, the City of Pampa, Texas, issued its certificate of special assessment, payable to Stuckey Construction Company, or assigns, for the pro rata cost of paving Francis Avenue in said City, said certificate reciting that by ordinance dated August 8, 1927, there was levied and assessed a special assessment against the following property, to-wit:

Lying and being situated in the City of Pampa, Gray County, Texas, being Lot 13, in Block 23 of the original town of Pampa;

and against Dr. Elgin Hughey Conaway, the real and true owner thereof, said assessment being in the sum of $1,509.19, payable in three annual installments, beginning November 14, 1928, and annually thereafter, bearing interest at 8 per cent from November 14, 1927, and providing for accelerated maturity and reasonable attorney's fees, if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection.

That default has been made in the payment of the first installment due on said certificate, and Realty Trust Company, the present legal owner and holder thereof, has declared same wholly due and payable and has placed same in the hands of attorneys for collection, and reasonable attorney's fees of $300 have accrued. That defendant, W. J. Conaway, has some interest in said real estate, but same is inferior to the lien of plaintiff's assessment.

Plaintiff prays for personal judgment against Dr. Elgin Hughey Conaway and foreclosure of lien against all defendants, including W. J. Conaway.

KITTENS ARE GOING STRONG MINUS LEADER

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

If the Panthers can maintain anything like their present clip until boss Frank Snyder's spiked ankle heals and he can lend his big bat to the cause, the club that captures the second half is likely to get some serious opposition from the Kittens.

With Snyder on the bench for several weeks, the Cats have shown enough class to forge up into second place. Their pitching has been about the most consistent in the circuit for a fortnight, and when that department has fallen down, as it did yesterday, the baters have come to life and yhaled out a victory anyway.

By way of making their second berth a little more secure, Panchots club blasted out a second straight triumph over the Buffs yesterday, 10 to 9. They had to summon a four-run rally in the ninth to do it. Both teams used three pitchers, and of the six only Dick Whitworth, final Cat flinger, did any good. Jim Lindsey, Buff wheelhorse, lasted only two innings. Hack Miller, 1926 Texas league homerun hero, signed by the Buffs several days ago as a free agent, belted one for the circuit.

Andy Messenger, of the fancy price tag, began paying the Spudders dividends when he kept 12 Beaumont hits scattered and set the southerners down 11 to 4. In the middle game at Wichita Falls, he whiffed five. Bennet and Stapleton supplied most of the punch to sink the two Shipper hurlers, Estill and Vaughn.

The Cubs squared their series at Dallas by fafling on Sarge Tom Connally in the seventh for five runs to win, 5 to 3. Up to the fatal frame Connally had not alowed a single hit and had walked only one batter. When the Cubs finally got started, however, they slammed six hits, including two doubles, in succession, before Tauscher subdued them. Earl Caldwell pitched another of his good games.

San Antonio went down the thirteenth straight time as Shreveport copped the second, 11 to 6. Hobo Carson, licked the previous day, tried it again, and again had no luck against the Sport slugers. He walked seven. Tiny Owens was rapped hard but could aford to loaf behind his lead.

Italian Champ Will Meet Lutz Here Tomorrow

Boxing, wrestling and free eats, drinks and smokes will be included in the smoker at the Pla-Mor auditorium tomorow night when a big wrestling match and two boxing matches headline a card.

Oreste Vadalfi, ex-heavyweight wrestling champion of Italy and a contender for the heavyweight crown of the world, will be seen in action on tomorrow night's card. The champ will be stacked up against Big Bill Lutz, Plainview giant. It should be good.

The Italian has a record to be envied. He has been in the game fifteen years but is only 32 years old. He has met Stecher, Lewis, Zybysko, Londos and many others, and holds decisions over them all. He is a scientific wrester with a world of strength. He started out to be a strong man in Italy but took up wrestling.

Bill Lutz is well known in the Pampa ring. He is the man who gave Oscar Dotson, local blacksmith wrestler, such a hard time. He has thrown Dotson twice out of five times. The officials are going to let the big fellow get rough tomorrow night and something is due to pop.

The boxing end of the card will be worth the price of admision. In the six-round battle Tuffy Graham, Pampa welter, and Tommy O'Brient of California, will clash. It is to be a grudge fight and may not last long. But while the two are in the ring gloves are due to travel long and often.

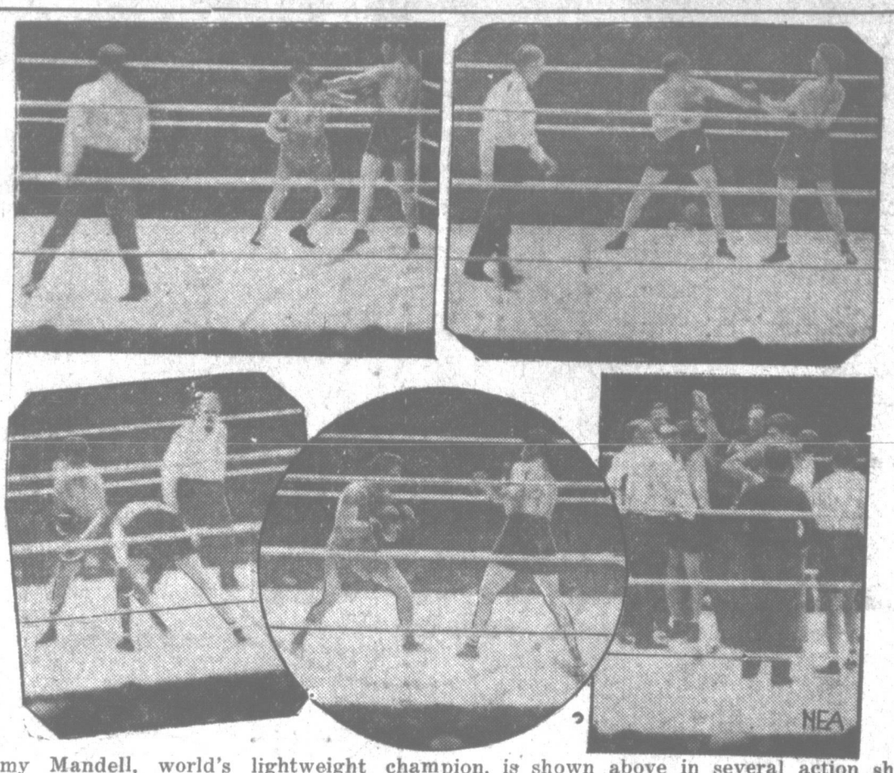

Another grudge fight will bring Joe Ash of Pampa and "Beede Rye" Hays of Los Angeles, together. The boy with the funny name wants the Pampa boy stayed with the Arizona Wildcat two weeks ago.

Western Juniors Open Tournament

CHICAGO, Aug. 7. (AP)—A group of 32 youthful golfers—some college stars, a few former caddies and a sprinkling of high school boys—survivors of an army of 242 who attempted to qualify, today entered the first round of match play of the western junior championship tournament at Lagrange country club.

The medalist, Fred Lyon, a tall University of Illinois sophomore, who turned in a qualifying score of 72, two over par, was paired with Frank Flegel, of Herwyn, Ill., who scored a 77 to get into the championship flight.

Cowboys Schedule 11 Football Games

ABILENE, Aug. 7—(Special)—Eleven games have been scheduled by the Simmons university Cowboys for the coming football season. They include two Southwestern Conference tilts, five Texas conference games, two games with T. I. A. A. teams and one with a non-conference aggregation.

Feature games of the season are the opening game with Texas university at Abilene September 28, a contest with Texas Christian university at Breckenridge the folowing week, and the Thanksgiving game with Texas Tech at Abilene.

With two games less to play than they had last year, the Cowboys expect to come thru with a better record for the coming season. Five games were played within three weeks during the first part of last November and the heavy schedule took its toll from the reserve strength of the Cowboy team.

The schedule: Sept. 26, Texas university at Abilene; Oct. 6, T. C. U. at Breckenridge; Oct. 19, Daniel Baker at Brownwood; Oct. 26, West Texas Teachers at Amarillo; Nov. 1, Austin College at Abilene; Nov. 8, Southwestern University at Abilene; Nov. 11, Trinity University at Waxahachie; Nov. 22, St. Edwards University at Abilene; Nov. 28, Texas Tech at Abilene; Dec. 6, Howard Payne at Abilene.

Kahl and Stalls Leave for Tulsa to Enter College

Although they lost to Pampa by graduation the names Bob Kahl and Troy Stalls will long be remembered by Pampa football, track and basketball fans. The two stars of the Harvesters left yesterday for Tulsa, where they will work until time to go into fall training with the Tulsa university football team.

Both men have signed up to enter Tulsa U. this Fall and to try out for basketball, football and track. Bob Kahl will also be eligible for baseball. They were accompanied to Tulsa by Archie Walstad and Jones Seitz, who will visit there for a few days before returning to Pampa.

Kahl was captain of the Harvesters, high school football team, last year. He played center and end and his great field generalship carried the Harvesters thru to the semi-finals. Stalls was the giant line man who tore great holes in opposing lines and smeared plays behind the line.

The two boys also starred in basketball. They were in the state track meet in Austin.

Alonzo Stagg Is Training Hard for the Football Season

Within six weeks the boys will be in their moleskins, and Amos Alonzo Stagg, the "grand old man of the midway," will be ready for them.

Stagg, dean of America's gridiron coaches, is training, like his players, for the opening of the practice season, September 15. He will be 67 years old, August 16, but he is playing his usual game of tennis daily with his son, Paul, junior champion of Illinois, to get into condition to direct his squad. Despite his age, he frequently beats his son.

Stagg will start his thirty-eighth season as coach of the University of Chicago team.

CUBS HOPE TO HOLD LEAD IN EASTERN TRIP

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sped by the prayers of a million Chicago fans, the Cubs are on the march today seeking a final conquest of the East.

In two swings along the Atlantic seaboard this year, the Bruins have won nineteen games and lost nine; a continuation of that pace through the sixteen engagements of the impending invasion would send the young men of Joseph McCarthy back to the West late this month all but assured of their pen nant.

Despite a 5 to 4 defeat by Brooklyn before a record mid-week crowd of 55,000 at Wrigley field yesterday, the Bruins are eastward bound with their lead of seven and one-half games intact. The Pirates also lost—to the Giants by 5 to 3—and must face the clan McGraw in another game today.

Bill Walker performed upon the mound against the Pirates and pulled out of a mean hole in the ninth to preserve the slender lead Giant hits and Pittsburgh errors had given him in the eighth. With the bases filled by three singles and two men out, he forced Pie Traynor to roll weakly to the infield for the final out.

Jess Petty went the route for the Buccaneers, and permitted the Giants to bunch their hits where they would do the greatest damage.

Rain interferred with the Cardinal-Brave game at St. Louis and the Phils and the Reds were not scheduled.

While Chicago was cheering its Cubs, American league contenders were, in effect, marking time. The Athletics bowed to the Browns by 8 to 3 in the first game of a double header, but came back strong to win the second by 11 to 3 behind Eddie Rommel's knuckle ball. The Senators trimmed the Yanks by 13 to 9 in the opener but Freddy Heimack pitched a three-hit shut out in the nightcap winning for the champions by 8 to 0.

Cleveland nosed out Detroit by 6 to 5, and entered into a tie with the Browns for third place. The Sox, white and Red, were not scheduled.

"Dusting Off" of Pitchers Must Stop

CHICAGO, Aug. 7—(AP)—American association pitchers who persist in aiming fast balls at the heads of batsmen will be severely disciplined from now on.

President Thomas J. Hickey has sent notice to umpires and managers that the practice of "dusting off" batsmen, which has become so common as to cause fist fights on the fields, must stop immediately. Alleged attempts to bean batsmen were said to have been responsible for two serious fights between Minneapolis and St. Paul players recently.

Hoover to Request More Prison Funds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—(AP)—President Hoover has determined upon a program to relieve overcrowded conditions in federal prisons which includes a request to congress for additional funds.

The program contemplates an increase in appropriations of $5,000,000 for enlargement of the prisons at Atlanta and Leavenworth and construction of a new prison in the northeastern section of the country.

Mr. Hover has discussed the situation at length with Attorney General Mitchel land Sanford Bates, superintendent of federal prisons, and has statistics to show that the Atlanta institution is housing 120 per cent more inmates than its estimated capacity and Leavenworth 87 per cent.

This condition is regarded as the cause of demoralization and outbreaks of the prisoners.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MOLLY BURNHAM, engaged to JACK WELLS, has inherited $10,000. Molly has just graduated from college, and upon learning the news, she gives a party that is both a celebration and a farewell, because commencement is over and the girls are preparing to leave.

Jack Wells, whom Molly loves with all her heart, is a draftsman in an architect's office. Jack is handsome and a Harvard man. He loves Molly devotedly but has no money at all. Nothing but an uncertain future, and a heart full of love. Molly is willing to be married at once, and face poverty together. But Jack is a practical young man, and insists upon waiting.

He is in New Hampshire just now, seeking contact with rich old BILLINGS, the wool king, who is planning to build a model village for his employes.

After the party, RITA MELNOTTE, Molly's particular friend, asks her to spend the night with her. It is their last night in the dormitory. Rita tells Molly that she has something important to tell her. Molly has begun to feel decidedly uncomfortable about celebrating the death of the poor old aunt from whom she has inherited her $10,000. After her guests go, she joins Rita in her room.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

She greeted him gaily. "Isn't it wonderful, sweetheart! Now we can get married!"

"SO you got rid of 'em," observed Rita.

She propped herself on a satin pillow of Chinese blue, and scuffed her cigaret in a cloisonne dish. "Hen parties always give me a pain. Twenty girls chattering about what they'd do if they had $10,000. and not one of them with brains or gumption enough to go out and earn it! Money's responsible for all the misery and all the joy there is. You can't be happy with it, and you can't be happy without it.

"I wonder," she mused, "if anybody is ever happy. Except transiently, I mean. You know, Molly, a man and girl ought to be happy, if they love each other and are married. The Lord knows I love Bob. But I haven't brought him anything but misery. What do you think, Molly? Do you know anybody who's really happy?"

"Yes," Molly replied quickly. "My father and mother. I think they are both absolutely happy. And I'm happy, too, Rita. . . . Oh, not perfectly contented, of course. I don't suppose youth is ever altogether satisfied. We want too many things. But when you get older, and you have the things you've been dreaming about, why then you're happy."

"And you think your mother and father have captured all the dreams of their youth?" Rita's full red lips twisted cynically.

"Well, of course they're awfully simple people." Molly flushed a little. "They're the salt of the earth, and pillars of respectability. We own our little house. And Dad has a car, and he keeps hens. And mother has a lovely flower garden, and a vegetable garden. And they've a radio. And they go to the movies every Tuesday and every Saturday. My parents are exactly the sort of people that Mencken makes fun of."

Rita smiled. "I wonder if Mencken is happy," she said.

"Oh, I don't think so. I don't think intellectual people are ever happy," observed Molly. "But, my goodness, I should think you'd be happy, Rita. I know if I was married to Jack, I'd be absolutely happy."

"That's what you think," interrupted Rita drily. "Well, my dear, I thought when I got married, I was going to be happy, too. And naturally I expected to make Bob happy. And what have I done? Just messed up everything!"

She got up suddenly, and began to fold the crimson coverlet.

* * *

THERE were tears in Rita's eyes "For the love of Pete," she exclaimed irritably, "get out that light, will you? I never knew anyone so slow in my life."

Molly knelt and said her prayers.

"I didn't know you said prayers," observed Rita.

Molly didn't answer.

"Do your father and mother say them?" pursued Rita.

"I suppose so." Molly was embarrassed.

"Well, I think that's very nice," approved Rita. "Maybe that's why they're so happy."

"Maybe," acknowledged Molly. She was conscious herself of a very nice little warmth about her heart "Why don't you say some, Rita?"

"Who? Me?" Rita yawned. "I don't know any."

They lay side by side. The clock on the dressing table ticked with piercing clarity.

Suddenly Rita tossed aside the sheet, and, kneeling, flung her arms passionately across the bed. Her hands fell heavily on Molly's knees. And Molly kept her legs straight and stiff, and held her breath . . . while Rita prayed.

After a while Rita got up, and walked to the window. She pushed the curtains aside, and stood there a long time, her tall, slim body silhouetted like a boy's against the moonlight. She spoke without turning.

* * *

"I'VE been acting like a fool tonight," she said. "We meant to announce our marriage as soon as I was graduated. But—I couldn't tell this to anyone but you, Molly—Bob hasn't earned a cent in six months. If we announce our marriage, his father will stop his allowance. And he says he'd die before he'd touch a cent of my earnings."

And Molly exclaimed warmly, "Oh, Rita, I'm sorry, dear. But you mustn't let Bob get bitter. Nobody makes money right straight off. Goodness, Jack hasn't a cent. Bob ought to know that when a girl loves a boy, it doesn't make any difference whether he has any money or not."

Rita turned fiercely. "But it does!" she cried. "I love my happy, brilliant Bob. But this new Bob—this bitter, frustrated failure. This loving man who's eating his heart out, and my heart, too. . . ."

"That's why I asked you to come here tonight," she said. "To warn you against marriage like mine. Companionate marriage is a trap, Molly. It sounds so big and free and brave. It provides for expression, liberty, all that sort of thing. But it doesn't think of the essentials, the sweet, simple, homey things. What has it done for me? It hasn't given me the tenderness of my beloved. It hasn't given me a home. It hasn't even brought me comradeship."

"Lay off marriage, can't you!" commanded Molly crossly. "Maybe your love for Bob has cooled. But that won't ever happen to Jack and me."

"Oh, my love hasn't cooled," injected Rita bitterly. "That's my tragedy. It isn't the cooling kind. Now don't be a little fool and get sore because I've tried to save you a fall, my dear. Just keep your mind on that $10,000, that's all."

* * *

MOLLY had telegraphed Jack about her legacy, and he wired rather formal congratulations, adding that he would be out the next night to take her to dinner, and asking her to meet him at the station.

She greeted him gaily. "Isn't it wonderful, Sweetheart! Now we can get married!"

"Get married!" he repeated. "Say, how do you get that way? What do you think I am?"

"Oh, lordy, Jack, I forgot to ask about Ted Billings! Did you see him?"

He shook his head. "The biggest chance of my life, Molly, and you forgot to ask me about it."

"Oh, I hadn't, Jack! I've been praying for it."

It might be more tactful, she thought, to ask no questions. And so, presently, to change the subject, she was talking again about her legacy.

"I'm going to take a room," she announced, "and look for a job. I couldn't do that when I didn't have any money, because I knew Dad would stop my allowance. But now that I've funds of my own, it's different. Then we can pool our incomes and get married."

"What do you think I am?" he interrupted unreasonably. "A squaw man?"

Molly shrugged coolly. "Rita said something last night," she observed, "and I guess she was right."

"Rita's a nut," he pronounced.

"Well, I guess she knew what she was talking about," defended Molly. "She said that loads of men refuse to consider their wives' earning power from an economic point of view."

"Oh, Rita and her modern talk!" he scoffed. "Anyhow, if men are like that, what are you going to do about it? Love is like that, too. I've tried to tell you how a man who loves a girl feels about it. How he wants to take care of her. . . . But you won't understand."

"Oh, I understand all right," insisted Molly. "Only I think it's awfully silly. And, listen, Jack—I've been thinking things over. You don't want to marry me now, and I don't see any reason why I should be perfectly miserable for a whole year, and goodness knows how much longer, just waiting for you. The Dean sent for me the other day, and she said the most wonderful things. She even offered me a position."

"Well, I wouldn't even think of accepting." Molly's voice broke. "I loved you so!" she choked. "And I didn't want anything in the world but just to marry you. Only now . . . you've been so funny and hateful . . . and you won't get married . . . and you won't do anything at all I want you to! Well, I'm going to get a job—that's what I'm going to do! I'll just show you!"

When they said goodby she clung to him. And he held her as though he could never let her go.

"Remember what you said the other night about premonitions, Molly?"

"Sh!" She laid her fingers on his lips.

They clung to each other in a sort of ecstatic misery. And when Molly had gone up the steps, Jack drew a small box from his pocket. He opened it, and the moon shone on a little solitaire. A sparkling little solitaire.

In the store it looked large and very bright and beautiful. Now it looked little and cheap. He shook his head mournfully, and slipped it back in his pocket.

And that night Molly cried herself to sleep.

Next morning she would look for work with Rita.

Suffered Day and Night for 10 Years

"I am in better health than I ever expected to be again and have gained twelve pounds taking Sargon. I had gotten down to 113 pounds and looked like skin and bones, but my strength is building right up again and I feel like a brand new man.

"For ten years I had what I believe was the worst case of stomach trouble in Texas. I was never free from pain day or night. My kidneys were in such awful shape I never got a good nights rest. Bilious spells and constipation added to my troubles and severe headaches used to come on me and last two or three days. I finally got so weak I had to quit work.

"My stomach trouble started to leave me almost as soon as I started Sargon. My appetite came back and my digestion is now perfect. I sleep fine and am gaining weight every day. Sargon Soft Mass Pills overcame my constipation and biliousness and I'm never bothered with headaches any more. I'm stronger today than I've been in ten years and give Sargon absolutely all the credit."—J. H. Hickman, 1807 Lear Street, Dallas, Texas.

WHEAT ADVANCES EARLY

CHICAGO, Aug. 7. (AP)—Wheat scored sharp early advances in price here today. A leading influence was that Liverpool quotations failed to reflect in full yesterday's big break in values on this side of the Atlantic. There were also indications of overnight export business in wheat from the United States.

Opening 3-8 to 5-8c higher, Chicago wheat afterward continued to point upward. Corn and oats were also stronger, with corn starting 3-4c to 2 3-8c gain, and subsequently reacting somewhat. Provisions kept steady.

Wheat closed unsettled 3c to 4 1-4c net higher, corn 2c to 3 5-8c up, oats 7-8c to 1 3-8c advanced, and provisions varying from 40c decline to a rise of 2@5c.

The author of "I, Mary Maclane," "Men Who Have Made Love to Me" and other romantic writings, Miss Maclane had virtually disappeared. It was some time after her death before it was realized she was the Mary Maclane whose romantic adventures as well as her books had stirred the imaginations of the reading public of a few years ago.

No one was at her bedside as she died.

Sweetwater Will Dedicate Airport

SWEETWATER, Aug. 7—(Special)—A flying field will be dedicated to the "flying world" on August 10 and 11, when Sweetwater celebrates the international opening of her municipal airport.

The 260 acre field, a 118 by 100 foot hanger, a $20,000 inn adjacent to field and office, all services with lights, water, gas, telegraph, and telephone are some of the reasons for the celebration.

Five races, gallon bucking, bombing contest, dead stick landing, and United States Army and Mexican Government planes in war maneuvers, will afford one of the most spectacular aerial attractions of the Southwest. Prizes totaling $1,500 will be given. An additional feature will be four daily flights in a motorless plane, the glider, by one of the best glider experts in this country.

Three Members of Pioneer Family Are Drowned in Tank

SPUR, Aug. 7—(AP)—Three participants in the happy reunion of an old West Texas family were stricken from its midst yesterday by death in the waters of a cattle company's earthen tank near here.

Herman McBroom, 12, wading in the tank, stepped into a hole and cried for help. His father, Escell McBroom, 36, of Brownfield, dived in, not waiting to remove his clothing. The son went down for the last time before the father could reach him and the elder McBroom and Henry Smith, 32, of Lamesa, brother-in-law, died together grasping each other. Smith too had dashed into the tank when he saw his brother-in-law sinking.

Meanwhile Smith's 55-year-old father, C. J. Smith, at whose home here 22 members of the family had come together for the first time since their childhood, sat on the bank, powerless.

The effort of Will and John Smith, brothers of Henry, and R. T. George, a brother-in-law, to part the drowning men and rescue them were futile.

The bodies were brought to the Smith home where only a few hours before the reunited family had gathered for what proved to be the last time.

PRO AGENT'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Sandlands, federal prohibition agent, was found in the Detroit river today by special inspectors of the treasur department who have been dragging the river since Monday night. Sandlands disappeared early Saturday after he had boarded a cruiser in the river.

It was reported to inspector Fred W. Frahm, head of the police homicide squad, that Sandlands' head was battered as if by blows from a club.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7. (AP)—Miguel Garcia Gramados and Carlos Merlen, Guatemalan fliers, took off here at 5:30 a. m., today for San Antonio, but returned at 8 a. m. They came back to the field here after striking rain and bad weather near Springfield, Mo., more than a hundred miles on the way. When they landed they expressed hope of leaving again about noon and reaching Dallas tonight.

Mrs. Wm. Stone left this morning for Sayre, Okla., where her father is seriously ill.

MacDonald Smith Leads Golf Meet

SALISBURY PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 7—(AP)—It's a long stern chase today for all but one of the 60-odd golfers who survived the first 36 holes of the long Island open championship and very few have good prospects in the pursuit line.

After the first half of the 72-hole test yesterday, MacDonald Smith, pro of the Lakeville country club, Great Neck, had run up a lead of six strokes and his nearest rival, Gene Sarazen appeared the only one who had much chance of cutting it down in today's two rounds. Smith negotiated the hard No. 4 of the Salisbury country club course yesterday in 71 strokes, one under par, then came back on the No. 3 layout, considered a much easier course with a brilliant 69 to take th lead with a total of 140 strokes.

Sarazen jumped for into the lead in the morning round, shooting a fine 67 of the No. 3 course, but slipped badly in the afternoon, requiring 79 strokes for a 146 total. Ernest Catropa, an unattached pro, reached the half-way mark in third place with rounds of 72-75—147.

CALIFORNIA BOY FAVORED IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

DELAFIELD, Wis., Aug. 7—(AP)—Hugh McArthur of San Diego, Calif., recent winner of the Michigan state junior title, today was favored as the western boys and junior tennis championships went into the quarter-finals.

McArthur commanded the greatest following among the gallery despite the fact that was forced to put up the hardest fight of any of the seeded players in his yesterday's match. He was forced to play three sets to defeat Frank Jones of Oconomowoc, Wis.

KIMBRO STILL REGENT

Dr. Snook said that after the first automobile ride he proposed to drive out a coutnry road she agreed.

"On the way back some remark was made about my being maried," Dr. Snook Snook said, "and she got out of the car four blocks from where she lived."

He said he talked to her at intervals during the next four or five weeks and shortly after they began discussing books on sex and three or four weeks after, their intimate relations began.

Dr. Snook said Miss Hix often asked his advice about personal matters. During the summer of 1926, he said he taught her to shoot and gave her the gun he later claimed he thought she had with her the night she was slain.
