OFFICERS PROBE FREDERICK DEATH

DENTISTS FROM ALL POINTS IN TOWN FOR MEET

46th Annual Convention Of State Association Here 3 Days

400 OR MORE COMING

Speakers of Note to Be On Opening Program Tuesday Morning

The dental profession of the Lone Star state centered on Wichita Falls Monday night as dentists from all parts of Texas and some from points beyond came in on every train for the forty-sixth annual convention of the Texas State Dental Association which meets here for the next three days. More than 400 official convention visitors are expected in town for the opening session this morning and the majority of them had reached the city last night. Morning trains were expected to bring many others.

Sessions at First Baptist.

All sessions will be held at the First Baptist church where room has been provided for the addresses, presentation of papers, clinical demonstrations and other matters incident to the meeting. Official headquarters for the convention have been established at the Kemp hotel. Dr. J. G. Fife of Dallas, secretary of the state association, and Dr. F. F. Brown of Wichita Falls, president of the association, together with other local dentists active in meeting plans were busy all day Monday and Monday night making final preparations.

The convention will officially get under way at 8 o'clock this morning when organization of the house will be perfected. The meeting will be called to order at 9:30 by President Brown and after invocation by Rev. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, the visitors will be welcomed in behalf of the Wichita County Dental association by Dr. A. L. Prothro. The welcome on behalf of Wichita Falls will be extended by Mayor R. E. Shepherd and the response in behalf of the state association

DRY LAW TEETH OFFERED SENATE

Administration Bills Designed to Tighten Measure

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(AP)—Another batch of administration bills designed to strengthen the federal arm of prohibition enforcement was presented today to congress.

They supplement measures recently introduced and are regarded by General Lincoln C. Andrews in charge of prohibition enforcement as essential to a full effort by the government to dry up the liquor supply.

Chairman Cummins of the senate judiciary committee, became sponsor for the measures, which deal with review of liquor permits, the search and seizure of ships within the twelve mile limit and the employment of retired army, navy, marine corps and coast guard officers and men by the prohibition unit and authorizes customs collectors to refuse to register craft that they believe are designed as rum runners.

One section of one of the bills which would give the prohibition commissioner blanket authority to issue regulations for the enforcement of the Volstead act aroused wet senators, who said they would oppose with all the power at their command. Even some of the dry senators said that such a proposal would have little chance of getting through congress since it imposed entirely too much authority in the treasury.

General Andrews said the provision was not intended as a "joker," as some wet senators thought and was practically the same as a provision in the existing law except that it might be a little broader in terms.

Sanger Man Burned In Truck Flames

FORT WORTH, April 26.—(AP) Leroy Cox, 35, of Sanger, was seriously but probably not fatally burned tonight when his truck caught fire at Burleson, 18 miles south of here. The ignited truck set his clothing on fire and his injuries were aggravated when he ran for help, adding to the blaze.

At the hospital here to which he was brought in an ambulance it was believed he would recover.

GAS TAX HEAVY

Revenue to Texas During March Totals $360,000.

AUSTIN, April 26.—(AP)—Revenue from the one cent gasoline tax in March totalled $360,000, Comptroller S. H. Terrell announced today, practically the amount collected in February. The five big remitters for March were: Gulf Refining company, $87,867; Magnolia Petroleum company $74,626; the Texas company $63,580; Pierce Petroleum corporation $26,343; Humble Oil and Refining company $23,136.

JEWELRY STOLEN.

AMARILLO, April 26.—(AP)—Diamond-set jewelry valued at $10,000 was stolen from the safe of the Finklea Jewelry company last night. No trace of the bandit has been found.

Chaplain Departs To Join Family After Hotel Row

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., April 26.—(AP)—Captain Orville Clampitt, today checked out of his hotel here and left for Vancouver Barracks, Wash., where he is regularly stationed to join his wife and four children.

Captain Clampitt said before his departure that he was not slapped in the face with a newspaper by a woman in a hotel lobby yesterday, characterizing all statements that he was as being false.

The captain admitted he had registered at the hotel under an assumed name, that of "William Jones," but did so only to save his parents from embarrassment.

Negro Confesses Drowning Boy Out Of Mere Curiosity

FRESNO, Calif., April 26—(AP)—John Kellogg, negro 12-year-old son of a Fowler rancher, told police detectives today he had drowned Paul Simonian, Jr., seven-year-old son of another Fowler rancher in an irrigation ditch near Fowler last Friday, out of curiosity.

Under questioning the negro boy confessed, police say that the drowning resulted from a quarrel. The Kellogg boy was in the ditch swimming when the Simonian boy came along. The negro said he splashed water on the smaller boy and when he became angry ducked him, holding him by his feet to see what would happen. When the Simonian boy ceased to move the negro called for help and said he had found the lad drowned.

Tennessee Hills Quiet After Fight

PARIS, Tenn., April 26—(AP)—Sheriff T. P. Caldwell, after a vain search through the hills of northeast Henry county for the slayer of Thomas Evans, farmer, returned to Paris tonight without having made an arrest.

Quiet reigned in the hills, the sheriff said, reporting that a clue which he had believed might lead to the arrest of the slayers had proved worthless. The visit of the sheriff to the hills followed the alleged issuance of a warning by moonshiners carrying a threat of death to seven men who had aided in law enforcement should there be arrests in the Evans case.

Sheriff Caldwell disclaimed any intention of calling for state troops to bring order to the hill country.

No Verdict

The jury of the 30th district court in the case of Frank Folsom, charged with a statutory offense, went to bed at about 11 o'clock Monday night following deliberation of nearly six hours without arriving at a verdict. More than an hour of the deliberation, however, was spent in reading over large portions of the testimony in the case.

Presentation of testimony in the case took most of the day, the state building its case around a single alleged offense, and the defense depending on the testimony of four character witnesses to refute this.

SHOALS LEASE RECOMMENDED

Congressional Committee Urges Turning Plant Over

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(AP) Lease of Muscle Shoals for 50 years to Alabama and 12 associated southern power companies was recommended today by a majority of the joint congressional committee appointed to negotiate for the operation of the government's property by private interests.

In reaching its findings the committee split three ways. Four members favored the power companies' offer, while Senator Heflin, democrat, voted for the American Cyanamide company's bid, and Representative James, republican, Michigan, opposed both proposals.

The majority report was signed by Chairman Deened, Senator Sackett, republican, Kentucky; Representative Morin, republican, Pennsylvania, and Quin, democrat, Mississippi.

A bill to authorize a lease to the power companies was filed in the senate and house with the accompanying reports.

DRINK IS FATAL

Spoiled Fruit Juice and Soap Served As Beverage

COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—(AP) A solution used to make soap, mixed with spoiled fruit juices made a drink fatal to Everett Adams, 26, Ohio penitentiary prisoner who died today. Three other convicts including "Big Jim" Morton, Cleveland robber, are in the hospital.

The men employed in the prison laundry, purloined the soap solution, which a coroner's chemist found to be diluted wood alcohol and drank it Saturday.

INCORPORATE MILLS

BALTIMORE, Md. April 26—(AP)—With a potential capitalization under Maryland law of $60,500,000 the Flour Mills of America, Inc., was incorporated here today. The papers specify that 80,000 shares of preferred and 525,000 shares of common stock, each with no par value, shall be issued.

State Senators Will Meet On Road Bonds

SOLONS CALLED TO GATHER IN WACO POW-WOW

Proposed Validation Will Be Discussed by 25 Legislators

EXPENSES BEING PAID

Some Express Belief Move Is Political One Solely

AUSTIN, April 26.—(AP)—At least 25 state senators will gather at Waco at 11 a. m. Wednesday to consider the proposed validation of the district road bonds in Texas, the governor was informed today. Several of the senators here today said that somebody was going to pay their expenses so they could attend the meeting.

The meeting is being called by the committee headed by J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, which presented a memorial to Governor Miriam A. Ferguson Friday urging a special session of the legislature to validate the bonds affected by the United States supreme court decision in the Archer county bond case, State Senator A. E. Wood of Granger was told.

State Senator Eugene Miller of Weatherford said he was invited by State Senator Robert Stuart of Fort Worth to attend and that he expected to go, although he seriously doubted that the bonds could be validated by the legislature.

State Senator Archie Parr of Duval county said he expects to attend and State Senator Pierce B. Ward of Cleburne said he would if invited.

Kemp and the committee decided to meet with the senators, and official Austin was at loss today to know what was expected. Senator Miller said it looked like politics was behind the movement to force a special session while C. V. Howerton of Moody's political headquarters, said that it looked to him as if it was a move to learn whether the senate, if called, in a special session, would confine its work to validating the bonds.

A large number of bond holders and Sewell Meyer of Houston, Tucker Royall of Palestine and Leonard Tillotson of Sealy, other members of the committee, are expected to attend, along with mayors of several cities and other officials.

Whittemore Case In Hands of Jury

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 26.—(AP) The fate of Richard Reese Whittemore, accused of murdering a bank employe of Buffalo in a $93,000 robbery here last October was placed in the jury's hands at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon.

ESTABLISH RECORD

Town Has Distinction of 95 Per Cent Church Attendance.

CAPE GARDIAU, Mo., April 26.—(AP)—What is believed to be a record for any American city large or small, was established Sunday when Campbell, a Dunklin county town of 1,804 persons, had 95 per cent of its entire population in church. It was the fourth and concluding Sunday of a one-month-go-to-church campaign.

TEXAS PROSPERS

Bank Reports More Commerce Through State Ports

NEW YORK, April 26.—Steady industrialization of Texas has resulted in an increasing value of manufacturers which now amounts to about one billion dollars, nearly equal to the value of the output of raw materials, says the New York Trust company. More commerce passes through the ports of Texas than through any other single state in the world, the bank asserts.

Amarillo to Give All Delegates To West Texas Chamber Session 'A Royal Time, Lee Asserts Here

President of West Texas Chamber of Commerce In Wichita Falls For Short Business Trip Monday; Confers With Local Men Regarding It

"The convention in Amarillo in June will be the biggest in the history of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce," said Col. R. Q. Lee of Cisco, president of the organization yesterday.

Col. Lee came to Wichita Falls early Monday morning and left last night. He stated that he was here on private business but while in the city conferred with chamber of commerce officials and business men about the work of the regional chamber.

"Amarillo is already hard at work on plans for the convention" said Col. Lee. "Committees have been appointed and are at work on every phase of the big three-day session. The people of Amarillo are determined that every visitor shall be entertained and cared for in the true West Texas manner."

When asked as to conditions in West Texas, Col. Lee stated that in his opinion West Texas was never in better condition.

"The prospects for bumper crops are above normal in ever section," he said, "reports from the Panhandle indicate the biggest wheat crop in history. The South Plains area has a splendid under-ground season and cotton planting is now under way. Ranges are in excellent condition and cattle wintered unusually well. The outlook is very bright for all of West Texas."

MEXICAN ENVOY WILL BE HELD

Valley Prosecutor Resents Interference of Kellogg

LAREDO, April 26.—(AP)—Protest of Mexican Ambassador Tellez against the arrest in San Benito, Texas, recently of the Mexican minister of education, J. M. Puig Casaurane will have no effect on the minister's prosecution, John A. Valls, district attorney, has informed Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. He will be tried "not by diplomatic exchanges but by law," Valls asserts.

Governor Ferguson asked Valls for the facts in the case following receipt of a telegram from Secretary of State Kellogg, who said that he had received a note from Ambassador Tellez stating that the arrest of Casaurane was due to some lamentable error or the ignorance of Texas authorities.

The minister was arrested on an indictment charging libel. He made bond of $500 signed by R. B. Creager of Brownsville, republican national committeeman. The arrest was made while Casaurane was on his way to attend an educational meeting in the east.

Calls, in his answer to the governor, points out that Casaurane was not on a diplomatic mission and consequently enjoyed no diplomatic immunity.

"Law and order," said Valls, "will be maintained on the border whether the offender be the humblest citizen in all the land or a member of the cabinet of the government of Mexico."

"In common with all Americans I entertain a profound admiration for the rugged honesty, the brilliant intellect, and the superb patriotism of our illustrious secretary of state, but I also respectfully assert that the indictments pending in my district will be tried not by diplomatic exchanges, but by the laws of my state."

Druggists Have Fill Of Sale of Whiskey

FORT WORTH, April 26.—(AP) The drug dealer would like to be relieved of the dispensing of medicinal whiskey, H. L. Simpson, vice-president and sales manager of the International Association of Rexall clubs, said here this afternoon on the eve of the opening of the annual convention of the Rexall clubs of Texas. The meeting will open at 10 a. m. tomorrow, for two days. Displays were set up today.

The independent drug dealer will continue to thrive in competition with chain stores just as long as it gives good service and sells at reasonable prices, declared George A. Wilson, secretary of the I. A. R. C. The postage stamp trade is the only line in the drug store which does not make an immediate sale profit, and it depends on the cheerfulness and kindliness of the salesman as to whether or not a big profit is to be reaped in good will.

Gulf Coast Train Derailed at Sinton

SINTON, Texas, April 26.—(AP) Running through a disabled switch in the edge of town here at one o'clock this morning, the three rear Pullmans on the east bound Gulf Coast passenger train knocked a string of empty box cars off the switch track and themselves turned on their sides. No one was seriously hurt.

Railroad men said the heavy steel cars were all that saved the lives of scores of persons sleeping in them. After demolishing the string of empty freight cars and turning almost completely over and being dragged several rods in that condition, the three Pullmans showed only minor damages.

FRANCE TALKS DEBT PAYMENT

Ambassador Notified Of U. S. Objections To Offer

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—As the negotiations for the settlement of France's four billion dollar war debt proceeded today, the senate gave overwhelming approval to the agreement with Belgium for the funding of its $417,780,000 war obligation.

The American debt commission found some of the major provisions of the French proposal unacceptable and directed Chairman Mellon to communicate this decision to Ambassador Berenger, who is representing France in the renewed negotiations.

Meanwhile, the commission will meet tomorrow with the commission from Jugo Slavia in an effort to reach an agreement on the debt of that country. The negotiations will be taken up where they left off last fall and the Americans are hopeful of an early settlement.

Senate action on the Belgian debt came after a brief but brisk debate during which Senators Reed, democrat, Missouri; Howell, republican, Nebraska and others insisted that the debt commission was "saddling" billions of dollars in interest charges on the American people through the settlements with foreign nations.

Galveston Trip To Look Pretty Good To Girls

When the sun is smoking things up in true mid-summer style in Wichita Falls; when all roads lead to Galveston with its merriment, the beauty and the allurements of its great international pageant, when the cream of Texas feminine beauty and grace gather—then is when a free trip from Wichita Falls with all expenses paid will look pretty good to two Wichita Falls girls.

That's what is being offered by the Olympic theatre and the Record News in the elimination contests to be staged here the first three days of next week when the two first place winners of the bathing beauty feature will go to Galveston as Miss Wichita Falls and Miss Wichita county. All expenses, of course, will be paid, and in addition, a number of Wichita Falls merchants are offering some valuable prizes to the winning contestants.

The Galveston revue and international pageant of pulchritude is one of the premier beauty shows of the year. This summer it will attract entrance from 40 or more cities and three foreign countries and is guaranteed to be the biggest and best that has ever been held anywhere.

Pioneer Electran Is Laid to Rest

ELECTRA, April 26.—Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at the First Baptist church for John C. Turner, aged 47, by Rev E. M. Francis.

Mr. Turner is survived by his wife, three small daughters, his mother, Mrs. B. W. Turner of Electra, three brothers, J. M. and H. A. Turner of Electra and W. B. Turner of Burkburnett.

Mr. Turner has been an employe of the Texas Producing company for the last twelve years. The Texas company employes served as pall bearers. He has been a member of the Baptist church for fifteen years, and was a highly esteemed citizen.

He was born in central Texas in 1879, but has been a resident of this section of the country for sixteen years.

J. M. WRIGLEY IS SLAIN WHILE ASLEEP SUNDAY

Important Disclosures Are Expected To be Made Soon

KILLED WITH SHOTGUN

Widow Declares She Heard Muffled Report, But Saw no One

FREDERICK, Okla., April 26.—Several threads of evidence gathered by officers during the past 24 hours are leading to what is believed an important discovery in connection with the slaying of J. M. Wrigley, prominent old settler in Tillman county, who has lived on his farm southwest of Frederick since the opening of the territory in 1907.

Wrigley was found by his son, Charles, a lad of 18 years, dead in bed shortly after 5 o'clock Sunday morning. He was joined by his mother, according to their story told to authorities, after he had shouted, 'dad's shot!"

Mrs. Wrigley phoned for neighbors shortly after the discovery, and officers were summoned, who conducted an investigation of the case during the morning. During the query, several bits of evidence were gained, which have not yet been made public by officers.

Slain While Asleep

Wrigley, age 64, slept in a small downstairs room that opened off of the place where his wife sleeps. The room of a son, Charles, also opens off of his mother's room, but there is only one entrance to the place where the slain man slumbered. There is a small window, however.

Mrs. Wrigley and Charles are the only other occupants of the house at the time of the killing. Two other sons, Brent and Chilton, are attendants at Oklahoma A. & M. college, but they have arrived for their father's burial.

Mrs. Wrigley, according to her statement to officers, was awakened at an early hour by a noise in the house and then a muffled gun discharge. She says she arose and went to investigate in her husband's room and then in Charles' room. She says that the darkness made it impossible for her to see that her husband had been shot.

Shot Through Head

Charles says he discovered the shooting a little later when he looked into his father's bedroom after daylight.

The fatal wound had been fired from a 12-gauge shotgun, an examination by physicians revealed. The load had entered under the right ear and emerged in a larger wound on the left side of the head.

Wrigley was a good farmer, and well-liked by his neighbors. He never kept money around the house, it has been explained, and the tragedy is a mystery thus far. No motive can be assigned for the slaying.

Funeral services are to be held Tuesday.

Declines Increase In Salary To Let Co-Worker Get It

AUSTIN, April 26.—(AP)—In order that a fellow worker, who is married and has several children, may benefit, William Meniki, in the tax division of the comptroller's department, declined an increase in salary several months ago, it became known today. When offered an increase from $150 to $160 a month, Meniki told Comptroller S. H. Terrell that L. G. Briscoe, needed the money more than he. Meniki explained that all his children were grown and able to care for themselves.

OIL IS LOST.

HOUSTON, April 26.—(AP)—The Texas company lost about 600 barrels of crude oil at Boling Saturday when lightning started fire in a flow pit on the S. T. Taylor lease. No equipment was lost, the report stated.

Humble Accepts Tax Collector's Draft for $2,400, Assuring Half Of Funds Needed By Rural School

Districts In Wichita County, Threatened With a Shut Down Through Road Bond Tax Tie-up Gets New Lease on Life Monday

Acceptance by the Humble Oil and Refining company at Houston of a draft drawn on them by Guy C. Raley, county tax collector, for approximately $2,400 has made available nearly half of the amount needed for continuance of Wichita county rural school terms through May 30, it was announced Monday by county school officials. With collection from the Texas Company and the Gulf Production company of amounts totaling slightly less than $3,000 the entire amount of needed funds will have been raised.

Payment of the draft by the Humble company is made in compliance with terms of the county tax collector that a partial payment thusly received would be in no wise exempt from any penalty for delinquency which the courts or amicable decision later may declare allowable. The Texas Company's check for better than $1,000, tendered at the request of school officials, was refused due to the wording of its endorsement to the effect that the check was "payment in full." It was returned Monday by the county tax collector with a letter stating that the county at present had no authority to exempt the com-

"HER MAN"

--By Beatrice Burton--

READ THIS FIRST:

SYLVIA STARR has been engaged to RANDALL PHELPS for a year when he asks her to free him, because he's fallen in love with her chum, FAY SHIRLEY.

Heartbroken, Sylvia gives him up, much to the satisfaction of her AUNT AGONY, the old maid who reared her. Aunt Agony says that Ranny is good-for nothing, and will never be true to any woman.

Her opinion of him seems to be correct, too, for suddenly he drops Fay and marries Sylvia after all. When they are settled down in a tiny flat, he makes no secret of the fact that he's bored. He gambles and drinks, and has a second affair with Fay Shirley. Even his father is disgusted with him, for taking no interest in his real estate business.

But when Sylvia announces that she's going to have a baby, he settles down for a time. Fay promptly marries her old beau, EDDIE CARTER.

Shortly after the birth of JUNIOR, the baby, Ranny returns to his old habits and haunts. He has one love affair after another, the most intense of them being his "crush" on ELSIE LEOPOLD, who uses his office and telephone to make arrangements for a new gift shop that she's starting.

And he spends all the family funds on himself and Sylvia has to give music lessons to help out. She begs Ranny to buy a house, so that the baby, who is frail, can have a back yard. But Ranny likes the flat and sees no reason for moving. Sylvia makes up her mind to buy a house, and when she gets $3,000 royalties from a popular song she writes, she banks it with that intention.

One morning, while the baby is sick with a heavy cold, Aunt Agony comes to help Sylvia nurse him. Ranny telephones to Sylvia to bring his watch and some papers he'd forgotten, down to the office, and when she arrives there, she sees Elsie Leopold in the office. Elsie tells her not to be foolishly jealous, and Sylvia walks out. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

He Was Making the Queerest Little Gasping Sounds

CHAPTER XLV.

Outside in the street, wet and cheerless with November rain, Sylvia's cab still waited for her.

"Take me home," she said to the driver as she got into it, "and hurry, please!"

She was in a fever to get back to the baby. Above the whirring of the traffic, she could hear his sick little wail. And his small face haunted her.

Oh, what difference did it make after all, if he had given Elsie Leopold deskroom in his office? What earthly difference did it make if they were there together from morning until night, making love to each other, no doubt?

It made no difference at all to Sylvia that morning, and for many mornings to come.

Ranny's faithlessness suddenly had lost its power to hurt her. Nothing had any power to hurt her, now, but the thought of the baby at home in his tiny, stuffy room, with its one window that opened on a dark airshaft. She had no thought but to get back to that room just as fast as she could.

But halfway home, she saw something that made her lean forward and ask the driver to turn and take her back to Ranny's office.

That 'something' was nothing more or less than a bright colored advertisement on a signboard they happened to be passing.

It showed the picture of a healthy, rosy-cheeked baby in a red sweater-suit. The kind of baby that Ranny, Junior, should be—and was not.

Under the picture was the legend "Rent that home in the country, now, and keep the kiddies healthy." It was an ad for Ranny's own company—"Jamison Phelps & Son."

Ten minutes later when Sylvia opened the door of Ranny's office and stepped inside, he glanced up at her in amazement. Then he shot Elsie Leopold a warning look that Sylvia didn't even see.

But Elsie jumped up, and hurried out of the office, leaving a strong taint of perfume in the air behind her.

When they were alone, Sylvia told Ranny what she had come back to tell him.

She told it to him in a voice that he hardly know. A dull, heavy voice with all the tender little golden notes gone out of it.

"You people have some houses for rent out in the country. I saw them advertised," she said, "I want one of them right away, so that I can get into it on the first of December."

His eyes widened, then narrowed. "You're not leaving me?" he asked. "You're not going away by yourself?"

She shook her head. "Don't be silly," she said, "its because of Junior that I want to get away. He can't stay in The Nest any more. He's going to die if he does—"

"Oh, nonsense, Sylvia!" Ranny broke in. "Thousands of healthy kids live in town and in flats, too."

"Not in rooms that open on an air shaft," Sylvia shook her head, "and out baby isn't a healthy baby. He never should have lived in town at all. You get the house, that's all—I have plenty of money for the rent. You get the house!"

Then she was gone. Ranny heard one uncontrollable sob escape her lips as she shut the door and went out.

He picked up his desk telephone and asked his brother-in-law to come into his office for a minute. Thomas Boyle knew more about the business of the Phelps company in one minute than Ranny would ever know!

"Thomas," he said to him, "Sylvia's got some fool idea in her head that she wants to live in the country now. Look at those houses of ours up on Sunnington Heights and see if you can find one about the size of your bungalow, will you? I'd do it myself but I have an important engagement."

What that important engagement was Thomas Boyle never knew, but it kept Ranny away from the office all day.

Elsie Leopold left shortly after he drove away in his Taube roadster. She did not come back, either.

Dr. Buzzard's shabby green car swung into Wing Street just ahead of the taxicab. Sylvia could just make out the blurred outlines of it through the rain that was coming down in bucketsful now.

As she paid the taxi driver she saw him emerge from it and go swiftly across the sidewalk to the apartment. He had said last night that he would drop in to see the baby this morning, but there was something about his haste that made Sylvia's heart leap with fear.

She rushed up the stairs behind him and reached the door of The Nest just as Aunt Agony opened it.

"The baby's worse," she said, looking from one to the other of them, nervously. "He's like a live coal—he's so hot. And I can't make him open his eyes."

Sylvia turned to go into the little room off the air shaft, but Aunt Agony caught her in her thin arms. "No, no, don't go in there the way you are—all cold and wet," she said sharply, and pushed her down into a chair.

Then she helped her out of her damp coat and pulled off her little felt hat and shook it. "Poor child!" she murmured, as if to herself, and shook her head.

There came a knock on the outer door.

Aunt Agony opened it to the Lister twins, who had come for their weekly music lesson. She briskly sent them away and came back to stroke Sylvia's hair with her rough, capable hands while they waited for Dr. Buzzard to come out of the sick room.

"Now, then, Sylvia," she said presently, "that's an awfully sick little baby in there, and you've got to make up your mind—"

Sylvia didn't wait to hear the rest of what she had to say. She wrenched herself out of Aunt Agony's arms and flew into her bed room—hers and Ranny's. She sank down on the floor and gave way to the storm of tears that she had been holding back all morning.

She cried and cried, but her tears brought her no relief.

When Dr. Buzzard came to the door and tapped lightly on it, she raised a face swollen and reddened with her grief.

"Well?" she asked, and looked at him with hard, sullen eyes.

But the old doctor had not lived with sickness and death for thirty years for nothing. In that time he had learned things about the human heart that only doctors and nurses and ministers ever do learn about it. And so he knew that Sylvia's sullenness masked the pain and torment that were in her heart that morning.

He put out one of his hands and took hers in it. "My dear, the baby has a pretty heavy cold," he told her the truth in his kindly way. "It's down in his chest. I've told Agony just what to do for him today, and I'll be around again about supper time."

All day long, while the rain beat on the windows of The Nest, the baby lay in his deep stupor. Sitting on the floor beside his bed, Sylvia counted his rapid breathing and his fluttering heart beats over and over, until Aunt Agony dragged her out of the room.

"You're doing that child no good, sitting there like a graven image!" she snapped out at her.

Her heart ached for Sylvia, and she knew that the girl was almost beside herself. But it was not Aunt Agony's way to sympathize with people who were in trouble. She thought they kept their heads much better if you "talked turkey" to them!

At seven o'clock Dr. Buzzard came again. He stayed in the baby's room for about ten minutes, and when he came out his face was very grave.

He told them very quietly what was the matter with the tiny thing. At the mention of the word "flu" he had expected Sylvia to burst into tears again, but she only looked at him with eyes that were like flint.

When he was gone she walked into her bedroom and began to pack two bags with Ranny's clothes—with his gay neckties, his silk socks, his silver brushes, and his magazines. Ranny read half the magazines on the market each month.

When he unlocked the door of The Nest at midnight the two bags stood waiting for him in the tiny hallway.

"I'm sorry to turn you out, Ranny," she said to him, and she might have been talking to a perfect stranger, "but you'll have to go over to your mother's to sleep. The baby's awfully sick, and Aunt Agony's going to stay nights with me. She'll have to have your bed. Dr. Buzzard's sending a trained nurse for the daytime."

Without a word, he picked up his bags. Then he caught sight of the baby's little bed that had been drawn into the airy living room. Beside it the light was wrapped in newspaper. A croup kettle steamed on a nearby table, sending out an odor of pine needles.

"Jimminy, is the poor little beggar as sick as all that?" Ranny asked, and tiptoed into the room to look down at the little son whom he hardly knew.

As he turned to go after a minute, he stooped suddenly and kissed his wife on her white cheek.

But his kiss, that had always had the power to thrill Sylvia to the depths of her soul, meant less than nothing to her now. Her eyes looked at him blindly as if a shade had been drawn down over them.

He telephoned from his office the next morning to ask how the baby was.

"Just the same," Sylvia answered him in that new, cold voice of hers. "What have you done about getting that house outside the city?"

He mumbled something about seeing to it right away.

She hung up the receiver, and sat, looking around The Nest, with eyes full of resentment. She had come to hate the little place that had once seemed heaven to her.

She blamed the baby's sickness on it. She knew that if he had had a sunny, airy room to sleep in—a porch where he could have spent his days, he wouldn't be the frail, white thing he was.

The thought became an obsession with her.

She began to hate The Nest as a prisoner would hate his cell.

The baby had been sick for five days when Miss Blodgett, the trained nurse, opened the door of Sylvia's room one afternoon.

Only ten minutes before, she had ordered her to lie down, and as soon as Sylvia looked at her face, she saw that something was wrong.

"I've just telephoned for Dr. Buzzard," she said, "and I thought I ought to tell you—that the baby seems a little worse."

The words were hardly out of her mouth when Sylvia was off the bed and out of the room like a flash.

She bent over the baby's crib, shaking all over with fear.

There was no doubt that the baby was much worse. The flush of fever was gone from him and Sylvia imagined that there was a bluish tinge to his waxen skin. He was making the queerest little gasping sounds. They seemed to merge into a long, rattling moan.

She turned her stony face to the nurse and took her by both shoulders.

"You tell me the truth, Miss Blodgett," she said to her, "my baby's going to die, isn't he?"

KIWANIANS HOST TO CLUB HEADS

Unique Program Enjoyed By Luncheon Club Here Monday Noon

Promoting the spirit of "We Build" the local Kiwanis club entertained chief executives and representatives of civic clubs of Wichita Falls Monday at noon at the Kemp in a varied program that included numbers by some of the most talented musicians of the city; a trio by R. Vaughn Ray and his sisters, Misses Juel and Adelle Ray with piano accompaniment by Mrs. F. R. Collard; talks by the only two honorary life members of the club, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kemp; and a brief address by John Cage, member of the state highway commission.

Mr. Kemp expressed his appreciation to Kiwanis for the honor bestowed upon him and Mrs. Kemp in making them life members of the club. He said he had no speech ready since he had just come from Austin where he had been in conference with the governor in asking for a "special session of the legislature to correct the most disastrous situation that has arisen" in regard to the road bond situation.

Contribute g Service.

"Next to the churches, the service clubs have contributed more to Wichita Falls than anything else," he said, and he mentioned how they provided a place to make friends, discuss problems, bring closer the bond of brotherhood between man and man; and the educational features.

"The local club is building in the real way, beginning at the foundation," Mrs. Kemp said, and she talked of the work of Kiwanis with the underprivileged child.

If the state highway commission has any success, it will be through the co-operation and confidence of the people of Texas," Mr. Cage who is a member of the commission, said in his few remarks. He expressed the hope that some solution of the situation would come within a short time.

Bobo In Charge.

Julian Bobo, chairman of the inter-club relations committee was in charge of the program and introduced the entertainers. Representatives of other clubs present included: J. C. Mytinger, president of the chamber of commerce; Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce; Miss Elizabeth Miller, president of the Business and Professional Women's club; J. H. Allison, president of the University club; Mrs. W. W. Cook, president of the Federated Missionary society; Mrs. Lois Parker, vice president of the Musicians; Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, president of the Woman's Forum; Joe B. Hatchitt, president of the Lions club; Frank Keim, president of the Rotary club.

--"Kick 'Em, Cowboy"--

Finishing touches are being placed on the special arena in front of the grand stand at the Texas-Oklahoma fair grounds, for a three days session of cowboy sport contests.

Never before in the history of the Burnett Rodeo, have such elaborate preparations been made, both for the caring of thousands of spectators and in the great number of events in which practically all the top hands and rodeo stars of the western part of the United States will take part. It is said that the champion of every line of cowboy sports will defend his title at the Burnett Rodeo, from the king-of bulldoggers down to fancy roping.

Herds Being Corraled.

The herd of outlaw bucking horses and wild longhorn steers are being corraled at the Tom L. Burnett ranch and will be brought in Wednesday ready for the opening performance. Nearly all the contestants have arrived, even the famous cowboy clown Red Sublett who will cut many antics in the arena, riding bucking horses, steers and showing new tricks with his trained mule "Spark Plug."

The C. A. Vernon Carnival company will arrive here Thursday with many devices just outside of the main entrance to the arena and with many concessions and shows.

The California Red Jackets have just signed a contract to play for the open air dances on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. They and their entertainers are said to be the best.

Preparations are being made for the big parade which will be held Friday at 10 a. m.

Arrangements have been made for the cowboy band from Simmons college to furnish the music for the rodeo.

Queen of Gypsies Lands in New York For Her Coronation

NEW YORK, April 26.—(AP)—A queen, attired in the colorful finery of a high born gypsy woman, arrived on the Leviathan today to prepare for the coronation which will mark her place.

The queen was the bride of Frank Kaslov, king of the American Gypsies, who met his bride in Marseilles, proposed in the American way and was married shortly afterward. The queen, daughter of one of the wealthiest families of Greek Gypsies, was Paris Kevi.

She will live at the Philadelphia home of her husband, presiding occasionally with him at the Gypsy headquarters here in the bowery.

A large crowd of subjects greeted the pair as it marked the end of a successful quest for the proper queen since King Frank was widowed more than a year ago.

His search had spread abroad after it was found that among the 500 eligible Gypsy girls in this country there were none of the proper blood.

A honeymon on the Mediterranean preceded the return of the "throne."

Rodeo Tickets On Sale Thursday At Drug Stores Here

Grandstand seat tickets for the seventh annual rodeo of the Tom L. Burnett Production company, Inc., to be staged at the Texas-Oklahoma fair grounds Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be on sale at the Renfrom and Miller Drug stores Thursday morning.

Cowboys arriving Sunday night from Oklahoma City, where the "89ers" celebration has been held are: Dick Shelton, Bob Crosby, Richard Marchant, Herbert Meyers, Ike Rube, Roy Quick, Bob Askins, Piddy Ryan, Morgan Evans, Breezy Cox, Earl Arnold, Cheyenne Kiser, Leonard Ward, Aubrey Harold, Herman Roark, Allen Holder and Elmer Jones.

A contract was closed with the California Red Jacket's orchestra to play for the dance in front of the grandstand.

Slight Loss Made In Fairview Dist.

A loss of 35 as compared with 1925 census reports is the final report on the scholastic census of the Fairview independent school district of Wichita county, received by Burl Bryant, county superintendent of schools.

The lists show a count of 572 for 1926 and 607 for 1925. The reports of the Electra independent district are the only ones missing from the entire county. Despite the loss in the Fairview district, it is estimated that the county's total gain will exceed 1,500.

VISIT INDUSTRIAL PLANTS

Students of the public speaking department of Junior college under the direction of their teacher, Miss Juanita Kinsey, spent Monday visiting the various industrial concerns of Wichita Falls, including the glass plant, motor truck plant, ice plants, flour mills, refineries and others, where they tok notes and will prepare reports from the information gained.

Another Program Today At Better Homes Week House On Bullington

"Better Homes Week" will be marked by a second program this afternoon at the "Home Perfect," 2303 Bullington street, which has ben compeletely furnished and decorated for the purpose of furthering the "Better Home" movement which is one of country-wide interest. This requires no little effort to bring before the public the labor-saving devices, the increased comforts of modern conveniences that may be effected through homes equipped and furnished in the ideal and educational way.

The program at 3 o'clock this afternoon will include a vocal solo, "God Give Us Homes," by Alva Wiigus, a reading by Josephine Bridewell, and musical numbers by Katherine Weeks and Elizabeth Langford. A talk by Mrs. W. B. Killingsworth on "Pictures in the Home" will be given with an original painting to illustrate and a review of its history.

Hostesses who will be present to demonstrate the advantages of modern conveniences and time saving methods of housework are Mesdames J. L. Elliott, C. S. Morgan, G. L. Shappard, J. D. Bright, E. U. McArthur and Dan Blackburn.

A beautiful floral display consisting of a centerpiece and baskets of flowers will be furnished by the Wichita Floral company to express the place of flowers in the home.

During the previous days of the "Better Homes Week" the furnished home has been flooded with interested home-makers and it is evident that enthusiasm is increasing each day. The home is open daily from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., one hostess being there the entire time and a receiving line from 2:30 to 5.00.

Singing Session Draws Big Crowd

The singing convention held Sunday at Valleyview, Okla., drew the largest crowd in the history of the convention. An all-day meeting was presided over by J. S. Gore. Chorouses, a number of special duets and quartets, followed by a picnic dinner and the principal speaker of the day, R. H. Henry and Rev. Lewis comprised the program for the day.

Announcement was made that an all-day singing would be held at Rabbit Creek, Okla., the fourth Sunday in May, the Cotton County Convention at Bethel on the fifth Sunday in May, and the Wichita District Singing Convention at Cooper school the third Sunday. The Wichita county singing convention will be June 13 at the county line instead of at Barwise as was previously announced. The convention was closed with a benediction by Prof. Daniels.

IRREGULAR EATING CAUSED INDIGESTION

"My experience in the World war left me with an awful bad case of nervouse indigestion," says Mr. William M. Sanders, who lives on Cherokee avenue extension, Gaffney, S. C.

"I was treated for this for several months but cuold get no relief. I tried many things but nothing helped me. I suffered with bad spells of vomiting and at times had severe gas pains in my stomach. I grew worse and worse. I was thin and poor. I was extremely nervous. I could not bear for any one to speak to me. Pains would dart through my body. I was in a generally bad condition. I thought this was caused from irregular eating during the war.

"But one day I decided to try Thedford's Black-Draught, because what I read of it sounded reliable. I got a package of the medicine and began to take it regularly. It was not long before I began to notice a decided improvement. The bad gas pains soon ceased, the vomiting stopped and I was decidedly less nervous. I kept the medicine up because I was so pleased with my improvement.

"We have not been without Black-Draught in our house for over three years. It has a regular place in our medicine cabinet. I weigh now more than I have ever weighed in my life and am in good health. When I have a little spell of indigestion or constipation now, I take a small dose of Thedford's Black-Draught before and after breakfast and in less than no time I'm all right. I would not be without it in my home for anything.

"My wife thinks as much of Black-Draught as I do. It has done her world's of good."

Black-Draught is sold everywhere; price 25 cents a package. JA-28.

Star Says Movies Must Be Human If They Succeed

Speaking of the future of motion pictures at a recent meeting of The Wampus, a West Coast film advertising organization, Ronald Colman, who is being featured opposite Constance Talmadge in her latest comedy, "Her Sister From Paris," said that the salvation of the picture of the future is to first have a worth while story to tell and then tell it in a clear, concise manner, with directness and force.

"I do not agree that mere studies of character are enough to uphold the satisfactory picture, though many people seem to think so," says Colman. "The trouble is that too much burden is placed upon the character actor or actress. Having nothing further to fall back on the producer uses him or her as a surefire support of his picture. This often results in a vague and nebulous story, wandering through clouds of 'psychology.' That word covers a multitude of cinema sins.

"The successful motion picture of the future, like the successful picture of the past, will be the one that tells a human, interesting story in which character is shown in action and not merely by a series of good titles and studies in closeups. Everyone loves an engrossing and natural story which moves along to a logical finish. A picture of this type will always be in demand, and undoubtedly the demand will always exceed the supply."

"Her Sister From Paris" will be presented at the Mission theatre today.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Frank Esell, oil operator who resides at 1008 Eleventh street, is in the General hospital for treatment of injuries received on the head and face when he was struck by an automobile Monday morning at Seventh and Indiana. His condition is not thought to be serious, according to hospital attendants last night.

Neither Mr. or Mrs. Chauncey have been in the best of health in recent months and they hope to profits by the skilled attention to be obtained in the Mayo clinics. Their stay in Minnesota will be governed entirely by the results of the examination and the treatment necessary.

Jones Returns From Ardmore

Lester Jones, chairman of the civic service committee of the Boy Scouts, returned Monday morning from Ardmore, Okla., where he attended the funeral of an 8-year-old cousin who was killed while on the way from school. Mr. Jones talked to citizens of Ardmore concerning traffic accidents and told them of the work that is being done in Wichita Falls by junior safety councils.

He has been asked to return to Ardmore to help in organizing the junior safety traffic work in that city, it was said.

TWO WOMEN FOUND HELP

By Reading Experiences of Other Women

Mrs. Nina Matteson, Box 206, Oxford, N. Y., writes—"If it had not been for your medicine, I could not have done my work as it should have been done. Mother told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I had read in different papers what it had done for different women. She wanted me to try it, so my husband got me one bottle at first; then I took two others. * * * Now I am feeling quite strong again."

Mrs. Ernest Tanguay of Adams, Mass., says she was ill for four years and could not sleep nights or go out on the street. She read about the Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking eight bottles she was able to do all her work and go anywhere and is quite herself again.

This dependable Vegetable Compound is a household word in thousands of homes. The fourth generation is now learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If this medicine has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you? At your druggist's.

AMERICANS ARE LAWLESS

"THE Europeans are, by and large, law and conservative. The American people have a distinct tendency toward lawlessness, and are more or less reckless of consequences. This inability to understand one another must be a source of very real danger as long as it exists," writes Colonel E. M. House, in the current number of an American magazine. For instance, Mussolini. He is law abiding and conservative, and it is not difficult for Americans to understand him. Colonel House in the same article indulged in prophecy, "the future of the United States lies largely in the hands of the women. Once they understand that the United States, because of its geographical situation and botanical resources might become the arbiter of world peace, they will find a way to achieve that great role for the country. Labor will be with them, so, indeed, will the church organizations. Peace cannot be had by merely wishing for it. If it is worth having it is worth working for, fighting for, if needs be. Another World would mean the overrun of our present day western civilization. It may be averted, but not sitting home in smuge complacency, hoping it may not come."

This may be true, but the nations of Eurpoe maintain great standing armies, they maintain powerful navies, they are not dismantling their gun factories or their powder plants. Why should Uncle Sam be the Quaker of nations without an army or navy for defensive purposes, when red handed Mars disturbs the peace of the world. Peace is worth fighting for, and the only way to obtain peace at times is to fight and to win.

THIS HAPPENED IN IOWA

A PREACHER and an editor in the small town of Sloan, Iowa, decided the village was a modern gomorrah, and they started a cleanup. An indignation meeting was called, and all the leading citizens of the town answered the call. There were men present who had lived in the town for 40 years, and these pioneers declared that Sloan was the village of excellent repute, that its people were moral and law abiding and then they adopted resolutions, asking the two reformers to pack their belongings and move to more inviting fields without unnecessary delay.

And so it happened that this peaceful village of Sloan in the pious state of Iowa. The preacher deserted his pulpit, the editor sold his plant and there are two vacancies to be filled in the reform field of the village. Gomorrah must have been a very wicked place. Reformers have been talking about it for 2,000 years or more. Preachers and editors have been talking about it. Political moralists have been shouting about it. Peaceful villagers of Sloan, in the state of Iowa will have none of it. This is why the preacher fled and the editor walked to other fields of adventure.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

Now that the police of New York have found out that burglars and bandits cannot work at their trade while in jail, the crime wave is beginning to wane.

BROOKHART AND HIS ENEMY

SENATOR BROOKHART of Iowa is all powerful in the corn belt states. He is very unpopular with the administration and the administration leaders. He is a black flager in politics and follows no boss. He has the backing of a democratic leader, Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana. He has the backing of a republican leader, Senator Borah of Idaho.

He is feared by the administration. He is feared by the machine leaders of the republican party. He is feared by the big bosses of the republican party. They would like to throttle him. They would like to cast him out. They would like to eliminate him from the political life of the country.

Back in Iowa there are three or four hundred thousand corn growers, mostly republicans, who are for Brookhart, There is where the rub comes in. Brookhart is said to be the best rifle shot in America. He has his weapon trained on republican senators and republican bosses. This is why they are so uneasy. This is why they do not know which way to jump. Politics at times is a merry old game.

OUTCLASSED

No office boy can think of as many excuses for going to the ball game as his boss can think of for going to the golf course.

LUTHER BURBANK'S CREED

IN his last illness, Luther Burbank continued his custom of noting down thoughts that occurred to him. His last written comment was found on a card at his bedside. It read: "Do I ignore what is generally called the spiritual nature of man? This is the corona, the flower of life, the fruit of which is altruism, the desire to help ourselves and others to higher and better thoughts and actions in other words, to a more perfect harmony with environment."

The famous plant wizard of the world came from a family of Unitarians and both he and his wife were members of that denomination at the time of his death. Chief Justice William Howard Taft, a former president of the United States and the only living ex-president, is perhaps the best known Unitarian in America.

On March 6, the eve of his 77th birthday, Luther Burbank addressed a message to the children of the world, telling them their happiness will be in direct porportion to their loving thought "toward every person and animal and even toward stars, planets, oceans, rivers and hills."

The plant wizard then said he expected to live at least five more years, and in that period do the most important work of his life. "Everything is yet to be done," he said to a magazine writer, "and in the next five years I hope to produce plants with grains of fruits larger than we have at present, with more varied flavors and colors, with better storing and shipping qualities, with more nutriment and less waste and with every poisonous or injurious element dominated."

And yet, he felt that there was still more important work than his own to be done by someone else who could breed a finer human race. It was his contention that inferior human beings cannot be treated as if they were inferior plants.

He said to a magazine writer, "if civilization is to endure, some way must be found to produce more of the fit and fewer of the unfit. Today we are little more than fields of wild weeds, in which here and there arises a superior type, the result of a fortunate and chance crossing rather than of intelligent selection."

His conclusion was that "all plants, animals and men are already in eternity, traveling across the face of time, whence we know not, whither, who is able to say. Let us have one world at a time and let us make the joruney one of joy to our fellow passengers and just as convenient and happy for them as we can, and trust the rest as we trust life."

He has made the last and the greatest adventure that man can make. He did not live in vain. His life was one of service to mankind, while his creed or philosophy of the hereafter may not appeal to the many.

PROVING GROUNDS

We learn that scientists are experimenting with the wave length of smell, and we are wondering whether they are working at Bermuda or Limburg.

DRILLING FOR PETROLEUM

CAPTAIN J. F. LUCEY of Dallas is an authority on the American method of drilling for and producing oil in general use in every oil field in the world today. In a recent lecture on drilling and production problems, the captain said, with the improved methods of drilling, the depth to which an operation may be carried has increased greatly, citing the fact that 15 years ago it was difficult to drill a well below 2,000 feet.

"Today," he said, "we are drilling and think nothing of it, wells to 4,000 feet, 5,000 and nearly 6,000 feet. I would say that in comparatively a few years, we will not think any more of drilling to 6,000 feet than we do today of drilling four thousand feet; but in order to do it successfully, the coming generation will have to do it, and train and conduct an entirely new technical staff."

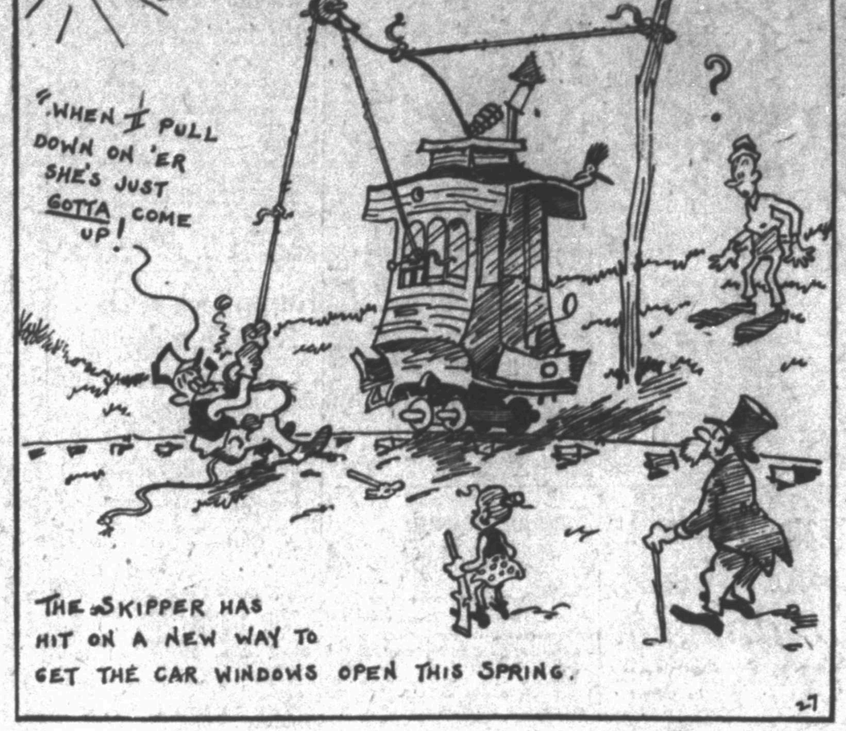

Captain Lucey sketched briefly the growth in scientific methods of the oil industry and the entry in increasing numbers of scientific and technical men into the work, mentioning the geologist, the mechanical engineer and the metallurgist. He declared that 15 years ago he knew of only one geologist throughout the United States who was an officer of an oil company, while today many of them are ranking executives of large companies. The mechanical engineer and the metallurgist are likewise taking their places in the industry and the field is one of great opportunity.

Ambitious boys of today should remember that the petroleum industry is yet in its infancy, and that it promises rich rewards for those who fit themselves for high place in the petroleum field of endeavor.

CONSERVATISM

There is a lot of prohibition talk now, but when the party platforms are written neither side will take a chance of slipping on a wet plank.

The Wife Who Pretends to Forgive But Won't Forget Her Husband's One Fall From Grace.—Mother-in-Law Is Beloved—A New Slant on the Wife-Working-After-Marriage Problem.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Some years ago during my early married life the combination of a California moon, Sierra atmosphere and the June wife of a December husband, together with my own weakness, caused me to fall from grace. I did wrong, and am willing to take my medicine, and have taken it in large doses ever since, because my wife forgave, she has never forgotten, and during tiffs she throws it up to me with the expertness born of years of practice.

I have become callous to it, but the children have ears, and I am afraid they will hear. Perhaps I don't deserve much consideration, though I have tried to be a good husband and father since my stumble.

Is there any cure for a wife who, in her angry moments, will disillusion her children as to their father's character? JUST A MORTAL.

Answer:

It has always seemed to me that there is no other such poor sport in the world as the man or the woman who professes to forgive but who never forgets, who accepts the sinner and then reviles him or her for his or her sin.

There are men who will marry a woman whose skirts they know to be bespattered, and then continually throw up her past to her. There are women who will take back an erring husband, and torture him the balance of his life by forever nagging him about the false step he made.

Nothing could show a meaner or mare ungenerous spirit, because the man did not have to marry the girl with the soiled garments, and the wife could have shut her door on her unfaithful husband.

They voluntarily shrived their sinners, and when they did that they washed their slates clean and started a fresh score. They were in honor bound to blot out all their offenses.

And if they were not big enough souled to do this, it would have been far better and kinder to let the black sheep go their own way in peace.

Certainly a wife is not only a poor sport who continually reminds her husband of a fault he has committed in the past, but she is a poor and short-sighted mother as well, for she can do her children no more deadly wrong than injure their father's prestige in their eyes.

For there will surely come a time when she will find that her children are getting beyond her control, when they need a stronger hand than hers on the rein, and a more experienced head than hers to guide them. They will need a father who has seen more of life than their mother has, who knows the world better than their mother does; a father whose opinions have weight in their eyes that their mother's never have.

But how shall she appeal to her children to regard him as this father, if she has taught a man of no worth?

The woman who criticizes her husband to her children, or who calls children's attention to their father's faults, is either a brainless idiot, or else she is taking a fiendish revenge upon him, and in either case the children are the sufferers because she takes away their father's influence from them, and that might save them in their hour of temptation.

Undoubtedly, it is hard for a wife to forgive a husband for stumbling off the straight and narrow path, but in common fairness, if she does pretend to forgive him, she should also forget, or at least she could keep silent and never mention it again. DOROTHY DIX.

LAME DUCKS

BY JOSEPHINE DASKAM BACON

They were alone in the park, it seemwas all wrong, and I managed to get Brewer, who was over in London, and he said it would be too dangerous to break it again and set it right. He was very kind, but he said it was no use."

Suddenly she looked around her. There were alone in the park, it seemed. The children had all gone home to luncheon.

"I—I must go," she said abruptly. "I don't know why I babbled like this to you. I never do I suppose it was hearing about your—your accident. I must go."

"Perhaps we'll meet again," he said, not looking at her, a little wrinkle of pain between his eyes. "I often come here. Good-bye."

"Perhaps," she said. "Good-bye." And she walked quickly away.

He never even glanced after her.

The next day it rained steadily, a cold, driving, sleety downpour. He tramped the streets, never still, for inaction drove him crazy, and his drawing-boards and copper plates made a disheartening litter in the big room that opened out of his tiny bedroom. He ate automatically, at the first cafe that presented itself, when he felt hungry, and stood for some time cynically regarding the chilly bronze ladies on the edge of the great fountain of the Place de la Concorde, phlegmatically pouring streams of water over their unprotected shoulders from their bubbling cornucopias.

Suddenly at three o'clock a light, unreasonable sun streamed out over the city. The violent, blinding light was too much for his eyes and he turned toward the little park which would be, at least, sheltered. Mechanically he made for the little island of green where he usually sat, and noticed with a certain irritation, that a woman was already seated in the deepest corner. When he came nearer, he saw that it was the girl of yesterday, but she looked, somehow, different, younger. She was certainly under thirty, not over it. In a few more steps, the reason was fairly clear; she was greatly improved in appearance. Her suit had been well pressed; her hat, though simple to severity, was of straw, and became her; her thick bobbed hair, though straight and decidedly Joan-of-Arc in contour, had been evenly trimmed and brushed.

As he neared her, she rose and extended her hand frankly.

"Good afternoon," she said in her low, oddly colorless voice. "Won't you take this place? It's best for the glare, isn't it?"

"You're very kind to think of it," he answered, touched at what was, for her, he seemed to realize, an unusual consideration. "I will, if you don't mind. Much more of this, and I'd have a beastly headache."

"Face the hedge, why don't you?" she suggested, and took another chair beside him. "How long have your eyes been so bad?"

"About three weeks," he said. "Nobody warned me, you see, and I thought it would be rather sissy to put on dark glasses—none of the men I was with wore them. And the doctor said all I needed was complete rest from etching for a month. I always loved winter sports and never had them over here—only at school and college, you know. So when my eyes began to hurt, I supposed it came from adjusting them to a bigger angle, as I had been advised to do, and kept on staring at the mountains. Then one fine afternoon, skiing, everything went red and jagged, and then black, and I began to have a splitting headache and a few other little things, and then—Black! Nearly all gone. No can do."

"But surely," she began, "the big ecculists—"

"Oh, I've seen them all! The big Johnny in Vienna, and Wilmar from Washington; he was over here by good luck. They all say the same."

"And will you always have to—I mean—will it—will it get worse?"

"Maybe not—probably not, they think. It came so sudden, you see. Dark glasses always, in a strong glare, if I'm sensible, but less and less, very likely. But special eye glasses, a little later, and no fine work of any kind. Not even painting; I don't see colors, as I used to—fine shades, I mean."

"Oh—you painted too?"

"That's what I was supposed to be doing. Then I got awful interested in etching, and I couldn't seem to do anything else. I'd only been two years at it and—and I got into the autumn Salon, this year."

"No, really? How wonderful!" she said with the quick artist sympathy. "It was rather jolly. And the Government bought one, besides."

"Well, well! What was it?"

"It was a corner of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier—taken three-quarters on, if you see what I mean. It was sort of an odd idea, and I think that was what got them. You know how they are."

"Oh, yes—'Comme o'est bizarre!" she quoted, a little scornfully. "'Bizarre' seems to be the greatest praise they can give anything, from an evening dress to a circus-act!"

His Yankee grin flicked across his sad face. "That's them!" he agreed. "Anyhow, I'm glad the old Tomb got across, before I went bad. Like to see it?"

"Yes indeed!" she answered, and he took out a worn wallet the treasured printed column, with a rough cut of the classic, lovely shaft and the enthusiastic comment of the reviewer, who found in Mr. Wesley Cromer's work a great promise for the future of American etching. The French critics, he added, found in his strong, assured style a distinctly Gallic flavor and a gratifying lack of Anglo-Saxon sentimentality, a quality which, he added modestly, his countrymen were perhaps incapable of comprehending.

She looked up and laughed shortly.

"That's what they said about me!" she said.

"Really? How funny! What was it?"

She took from her new handbag a little roll of newspaper clippings, selected one, handed it to him in silence, studying the etching the while. He read it curiously, glancing from her to the picture of her in a column of the Paris edition of the Herald, a clever, intense face, younger, apparently, than she, well set on a long, round throat and squared shoulders rising from a severe, dark evening gown, with a quaint maltese cross on a fine chain for her only ornament. Miss Janet Crewe, it appeared, had avoided the temptation of a too early debut and had, as a result done great—even very great—credit to Mme. Leschitisky and Mr. Cortet, who admitted her to be their most promising pupil in five years. Her success with the Grieg "Concerto" had roused even the orchestra to well-merited applause, and enthusiasm based on a magnificent and really masculine technique, utterly unspoiled by the tempermental quality so often relied upon by young women to cover grave defects of method. Indeed, no shadows of the sentimentality so often and so mistakenly applied to this famous concerto marred a rendition which well deserved the interest manifested in Miss Crewe's career by one of the United States' leading concert managers. America could not fail to honor so brilliant a young countrywoman in proportion to her merit.

"I wish I could have heard you, Miss Crewe," he said sincerely. "I'm a great critic, but I'm fond of music. And that's a good thing, for I've got to begin to go to concerts. The lights on the stage strains my eyes, and I have to watch 'em pretty closely yet, to understand 'em. I'll miss the play, though."

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

The Thing to Think About

I do not think that very long
I could be gentle with the strong,
Or could be tender with the weak,
Or find the proper word to speak,
Or know the proper thing to do,
If all day long, or all night through,
Through hours of labor, hours of doubt,
The wage was all I thought about.

But if my hand can ease a pain,
Give comfort to a yearly brain,
The medicine of quietness
That has more virtue than we guess,
Can make a little smoother bed,
Or bring a hope where hope has fled,
Or make the fearing less afraid,
Ah, then, how richly I am paid!

These are not "patients," these are men
And women who are babes again
For me to mother. Oh, how blest
Are we whose hands may serve the rest!
And, if some simple act of mine
Can make the sun of gladness shine,
Through hours of labor, hours of doubt,
That is the thing to think about.

What Do You Know About It?

Daily Science Six

1. What continents are found in the southern hemisphere?
2. Has the southern hemisphere more land than water?
3. Is a south exposure a sunny exposure in the southern hemisphere?
4. What are some animals found in the southern hemisphere and not in the northern?
5. Where is Cape Horn?
6. Who first rounded the Cape of Good Hope?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

The Coal Sack.

One of the many things that impressed the first sailors to voyage in the southern hemisphere, was the Coal Sack. The southern cross was strong enough, and the fact that the trade winds blew from the southeast instead of the northeast, but the Coal Sack really filled the minds of early sailors with awe and made them cross themselves. The Coal Sack is a great black patch in the southern heavens where there are no stars. And what is stranger still is that the most powerful telescopes have picked up few or no stars in the Coal Sack. It makes one wonder if the suns and worlds that star the sky are not just a little ribbon of light in infinite dark nothingness. The Coal Sack has been called the window of the universe, a window however where you look out to the stir of life and light around us into the awful emptiness of blind space stretching away to infinitely, a window separating a lighted room from black night.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday questions:

1. Primary colors are red, yellow, and blue.
2. Colors of the spectrum are red, orange, yellow, green, blue, and violet.
3. Natural sources of light, besides sunlight and moonlight which is merely reflected sunlight, are starlight, radium, and phosphorus.
4. The colors of the aurora borealis at times include any of the spectrum colors, but are chiefly white, green and red.
5. The green coloring of plants is due to a substance called chlorophyll which breaks up sunlight, absorbing all but the green rays.
6. The red of the Red Sea is due to minute red algae.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

TAURUS

Today's planentary aspects, while very favorable in the a. m. are quite adverse later on. There is not much time available for concentrated effort on new ideas but if anything along these lines has to be attempted, it should be started at as early an hour as possible. It, according to the signs, is an excellent opportunity for executing contracts and agreements, the details of which have been carefully worked out at some previous time. After noon, it would be expedient to confine attention to routine work and great effort must be exercised in order to exercise self-restraint as there will be present the temptation to speak and act on the impulse of the moment which always brings in its train consciences of an unpleasant variety.

Children born today are destined, according to the signs, to suffer from a variety of minor ailments during their infancy but these will all yield very rapidly to usual remedies and need cause no alarm. After the vicissitudes of early childhood, they promise to grow up normally and achieve a healthy maturity. Temperamentally, these children will be rather wayward. They should not only be disciplined but great care should be taken to surround them with the proper environment, as they will be rather indifferent to an attitude observed by many parents, "do as I say, but not as I do." They will excel in outdoor sports, but will have to be taught at a very early age the principles of good sportsmanship.

If today is your birthday you, with a natural humility that is not in keeping with your inherent ability, are rather disposed to hide your light under a bushel. You possess exceptional intelligence but, through lack of aggressiveness, do not make such practical use of it as is possible. You do not seem equipped to make a niche for yourself, but are too reliant on others to take you by the hand and push you forward.

You are a great thinker, and very introspective. Your views on most matters are sound, but you cannot express them with facility or felicity.

Your sincerity is never doubted. Your loyalty is recognized. As a natural consequence, your friends are many, and they can always rely upon you, as you can invariably depend upon them.

The affectionate disposition that is characteristic of you makes for happiness in your home life.

I wonder if you too, My Prince,

The talk of peace.
They gabble of it here and there,
In Europe, China, everywhere
Like startled geese!
Peace! But they're adding to their guns!
Peace! But they're training up their sons!
And pray, what for?
It's plain enough for all to see
'Tis not for peace on land and sea,
But it's for war!
Yet here the secret I will give
Whereby the world in peace could live
Forevermore
No League of Nations would we need;
From fear and hatred we'd be freed,
And cannon's roar!
For Peace, the Pearl of Wondrous Price,
Would come and make a paradise
Of earth anew
If people, yellow, brown and white
Would love earth other, JUST A MITE—
Like I love you!

Extensive Displays.

Extensive displays had been arranged at the church Monday night by representatives of numerous dental supply houses who are in town for the period of the convention. These ranged all the way from tooth brush exhibits to intricate dental machinery.

Visitors who reached the city Monday were entertained at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club with golf and trapshooting contests. A number of out-of-town delegates were taken for drives through the oil fields and through the irrigated valley, this feature to be provided against Tuesday afternoon for wives of the visiting dentists. Committees under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Bolding have made plans for these sightseeing excursions. A large party will leave the Kemp at 3 o'clock this afternoon for an extensive tour.

Today's program will be as follows:

Tuesday Morning, April 27.

9 a. m.—Collection of dues by secretary and assistants at registration booth; registration of members by 1926 State society or American receipt card at booth; registration of applicants for membership and issuing badges to them.

Opening Session House of Delegates. Convention Hall.

9 a. m.—1. Organization of house. (See order of business); 2. Consideration by boards of censors of applications for membership and balloting upon same (applicants will be issued badges which will admit them to the sessions and clinics.)

First General Session, Convention Hall.

9:30 a. m.—Calling convention to order by President Brown.

2—Invocation by the Rev. Dr. O. L. Powers of Wichita Falls.

3—Address of welcome on behalf of the Wichita County Dental society by Dr. A. R. Prothro of Wichita Falls.

4—Address of welcome on behalf of the city of Wichita Falls by the Hon. R. E. Shepherd, mayor.

5—Response to addresses of welcome on behalf of the Texas State Dental society by Vice President Edward L. Williams of Houston.

6—Introduction of visitors; including, if present, Dr. I. L. McGlasson of San Antonio, fraternal delegate from the State Medical association of Texas; Dr. Boyd S. Gardner, Rochester, Minn.; Dr. K. W. Knapp, Minneapolis, Minn.; Dr. Polk E. Akers, Chicago, Ill.; (The last three being instructors in the Post Graduate course.) Also Texas instructors in the course: Dr. J. M. McMinn, Dallas; Dr. S. B. Riggs, San Antonio; Walter T. Newton, Houston.

7—President-elect, Houston, presiding; President Brown's address and discussion of same. Discussion opened by Dr. W. O. Talbot, Fort Worth.

8—By the president-elect: Appointment of a committee of three to consider and bring in a report on the president's address.

9—By the president: Announcement of the committee on resolutions, namely: Dr. Jack Hearne, Fort Worth, chairman; Dr. J. L. Curry, Belton; Dr. Russel Markwell, Galveston.

10—Report of the secretary-treasurer.

11—Conferring the Order of Good Fellow upon Dr. Trim Houston, Corsicana.

12—Report of boards of censors on election of applicants for membership.

13—Roll call of new members, giving name and address of each and college graduated from.

14—Announcements.

15—Adjournment.

Among the visitors registered Monday at the hotel were: Dr. Harry J. Bosworth, Chicago; Dr. R. P. Horton, Dallas; Dr. Trim Houston and wife, Corsicana; Dr. E. K. Kidd, Thornton; Dr. R. B. Hutchinson, Lubbock; Dr. E. B. Riggs, San Antonio; Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee, Edna; Frank Kane, Fort Worth; Dr. J. D. Maupin, Dr. R. Tulley, Teague; W. G. Bridgewater, Fort Worth; Dr. Boyd S. Gardner, Rochester, Minn.; Dr. K. W. Knapp, Minneapolis, Minn.; Dr. E. R. Dalton, Dr. Polk E. Akers, and Dr. Harry J. Bosworth, Chicago; Dr. Maxwell T. Hill, Dr. O. W. Kennon, Mexia; Dr. Joe Humphrey, Dallas; Dr. C. A. Roberts, Kingsville and others.

pany from he penalty which it expects eventually to collect.

There had been no work from the Gulf Production Company late Monday as to approximately $1,800 which it is expected will be collected.

Collections of the "partial" payments on taxes due for 1925 by the Texas Company, Humble Oil and Refining company and Gulf Production company, are being made by the county tax collector at the instigation of rural school officials, who have recently found themselves faced with a shut down of school unless tax money due in two or three districts could be collected. Following decision of the United States Supreme Court invalidating the district road bond issues in Texas the three companies had tendered their 1925 tax payments minus the amount due in support of the Electra road bonds. The county tax collector ruled that he had no authority to accept, stating in so many words "the whole or nothing."

Upon request of rural school trustees later, however, that the districts were in urgent need of money, negotiations were started to secure that portion of tax money due in support of the district schools. This amount was something more than $5,000, the entire amount refused being $57,177.24.

NAME CHIEF OF INDIAN TRIBES

Edward Merrick Appointed Supervisor Over Oklahomans

MUSKOGEE, April 26.—(AP)—Edward Merrick, head of the legal department of the Indian agency, today was appointed to serve as acting superintendent of the Five Civilized Tribes by H. H. Fiske, inspector and field secretary of the department of the interior at Washington.

The action was the first move of the interior department representatives who today opened a searching investigation of administrative details of the Five Civilized Tribes agency. They assumed charge of the Indian offices for an indefinite period.

Fiske became acting head of the United States Indian offices and will serve in that capacity until a report of the investigation is filed with the Washington department.

Superintendent Shadee Wallen and C. J. Hunt, assistant superintendent, yesterday were ordered to vacate their offices temporarily pending a review of the administration records.

The order came from Acting Secretary of the Interior Finney.

REPRESENTS ELECTRA.

ELECTRA, April 26.—Miss Myrtle Chenault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Chenault will represent the Electra high school at the state interscholastic meet in Austin in May, having won first place in the finals at the district meet in Iowa Park Friday. She won over twelve contestants from other cities in the district. Miss Chenault is a member of the junior class and a reader of some ability, although this is her first year to go to the district meet. The school is quite elated over having such a winner among their ranks.

WAURIKA

B. E. Vanbebber and his son Jesse, made a business trip to Wichita Falls Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webb and Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Mershon spent Sunday in Walters as guests of Mrs. Webb's uncle, N. Jones, and family.

Mrs. Clyde Wood and little daughter, Abbie Louise, of Shawnee, arrived in Waurika Wednesday afternoon for an extended visit at the home of Mrs. Wood's father, A. L. Dunkin, and family. They were accompanied by Miss Grace Dunkin.

BEREAN CLASS.

Miss Esther Groseclose was hostess Monday night in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. O Groseclose when she had as her guests the Berean class of the Methodist Sunday school. The hospitable Groseclose home had spring time suggestions in flowers and the trailing greenery of ferns and potted plants. A very enjoyable evening was spent by the young people, following a brief business meeting at which time plans were formulated for the summer work of the class. A number of amusing games and contests drew conducted, perhaps the cleverest one being the one in which the young men proved their skill as designers of women's dresses. Large sheets of paper were given them and they selected a model from among the girls, for whom they designed and made a dress and hat of paper. Plenty of pins were provided and after the costumes were completed a style show was held when each young man announced the name of his model and described the costume she was wearing. Many of them were exceptionally clever although perhaps there were more variations of the butterfly dresses than had ever been shown at any single style show before. Hershel Alexander won the prize in his presentation of Miss Viola Burge in a grass dress from Honolulu, the paper all fringed and an exact replica of the grass dresses being presented.

After a short musical program and some stunts the evening closed with a tempting plate luncheon served by the hostess and her mother, assisted by Miss Marguerite Frazier.

LITTLE ELECTRAN DIES.

ELECTRA, April 26.—Little Dorothy Morrison, 14-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Morrison died at the family home Sunday night. She is survived by her parents, two sisters, Aleda and Lanell and one small brother, Tony Austin Morrison. Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon from the family residence with Rev. E. M. Frances, pastor of the First Baptist church in charge and burial in the local cemetery.

ROBINSON QUITS HARVARD.

CAMBRIDGE, April 26.—(AP)—Theodore D. Robinson, assistant secretary of the navy today withdrew his son, Douglas from Harvard. The young man, who disappeared from the college several weeks ago while suffering from amnesia, will resume his course next fall, it was announced. He will return to Washington with his father.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For 50 years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralized acid fermentations in the bowels and, gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

TRY A 25-CENT BOTTLE

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and 50-cent bottles, any drug store.—Adv.

VETERAN SLAIN BY OFFICERS

Demented Ex-Service Man Kills Father; Wounds Brother

COLUMBUS, Texas, April 26.—(AP)—Joe Mechura, 29, a demented veteran of the world war, was shot to death here Sunday by Sheriff Adam Burttschell after Mechura had wounded his father, John Mechura, 59, and brother, Frank, 24.

Joe Mechura was killed while he was advancing on officers with a shot gun loaded with buckshot. His father is in a hospital here in a critical condition with both arms shot away. Frank Mechura is but slightly wounded. The Mechuras live on a farm a mile south of Columbus and are a widely known family. Joe was gassed badly during the war, his health completely gave way and he was adjudged insane and sent to the state hospital at San Antonio. Last December he was released from that institution and returned to the farm.

Sunday the young man became quarrelsome and demanded of his father where his government allotment of $100 a month was being kept. The father told him the money was being safely retained for his benefit in the bank and tried to explain that it would be available for his use. The former soldier flew into a rage, seized a shot gun loaded with buckshot and fired on his father.

A heavy charge of buckshot partially tore off both of the old man's arms. Frank, the brother, ran from the house, but Joe pursued him and fired on him, wounding him slightly in the back.

Frank walked to town in spite of his wounds and notified officers.

Sheriff Burttschell and deputies went to the farm and found Joe in a pasture. The sheriff called on him to surrender. The demented man began walking toward the officers, menacingly brandishing his gun. The sheriff warned him to halt, but he continued his steady approach. The sheriff fired over his head with a .44 caliber rifle to frighten him. The young man continued to come forward and the sheriff then fired the fatal shot.

Arctic Fliers Seek Missing Aviator

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 26. (AP)—Failure to hear from Captain George H. Wilkins, who left here 11 days ago for Point Barrow with the first plane of the Detroit Arctic expedition, speeded the loading of the second plane to follow him today, it is reported by the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Captain Wilkins and Ben Eielson, his pilot, hopped off for Point Barrow April 15. Although Major Thomas B. Lanphier, commander of the second section of the expedition, expressed confidence that the advance plane had reached Barrow, efforts to pick up radio signals from them have not been successful. Captain Wilkins carried a short wave radio set which, it is believed, would enable him to send back messages despite the fact that Barrow now has 18 to 20 hours of daylight.

Longhorn's Passing Deplored by Society

AUSTIN, April 26.—(AP)—Rapid disappearance of Texas Longhorn cattle has aroused the anxiety of members of the Texas folk lore society, who fear the Longhorn soon will belong to the past along with the buffalo and antelope.

Saturday in the closing session of its 12th annual meeting here the society adopted a resolution urging the legislature to appropriate sufficient funds "to preserve in its purity for future generations the Texas Longhorn breed—the most historic breed of cattle the world has ever known."

REVIEW SLAYINGS

MEXICO CITY, April 26.—(AP) After a session lasting less than half an hour featured by heated verbal exchanges between the members, the Mexican-American special claims commission investigating the massacres of American mining engineers at Santa Ysabel in 1916, recessed this afternoon without final action. The commissioners planned to resume conference later in the day.

KILLED IN CRASH

WACO, April 26.—(AP)—Abe Dowser, Waco Man, employed by the city was instantly killed this morning when hit by an incoming Texas Central passenger train in East Waco. The dead man is about 55 years old. He was said to have been walking on the track.

Waco Man Nabbed For Whitecapping

WACO, April 26.—(AP)—Felix Williams, young man, was allowed bond in the sum of $1,000 in each of three cases charging whitecapping here today. The charges resulted from threatening letters alleged to have been received by William W. Cameron, E. R. Bolton, and C. M. Seeley, wealthy Waco men. Williams was arrested a day or two following receipt of the alleged threatening letters, following a gun battle with officers, during which another man who was in the car with Williams escaped.

A stick of dynamite with fuse attached was found in the car which Williams and the other man had occupied.

Auto As Weapon Is Charged to Owner

FORT WORTH, April 26.—(AP) Charges of aggravated assault committed with an automobile as the lethal weapon were filed yesterday against John Petras, 44, Newark, in connection with the injuring of Ralph W. Rhodes, ran down by Petras' machine the preceding evening.

Rhodes was struck while standing in his front yard. Petras was arrested when he returned to the scene the next day.

Secrets of The Dark

DARKNESS falls in the city. Needle points of light prick the gloom. The time of leisure is at hand—for motoring; for dancing on the pavilion; for the bridge parties; for the theater. The curtain comes down on business cares and all thoughts of work-a-day activity. It is the natural time to relax.

Those few hours between dusk and dawn are crammed with greater dramatic interest to the world at large than any other handful of hours out of the twenty-four.

Out of the darkness sweeps some dread disaster. . . . What did they wear at Mrs. DePuyster's ball? . . . The night express crashes through an open switch. . . . The basket-ball game given play by play. . . . And, from the daylight half of the world, by cable and by radio, the morning newspaper reaps its bumper crop of news "stories."

Which means—no rest, no relaxation, no loafing on the job for one class of citizens: morning newspaper reporters.

Secrets of the dark make the meat on which they thrive. Their task well-done starts the world on its daylight progress fully informed, adequately in touch with questions of the moment. Through morning newspaper makers the full scope of the day's events is projected on the breakfast table. Secrets of the dark are brought to light.

Women Read in the Morning

"85% of all retail purchases in the United States," says a prominent economic authority, "ARE MADE BY WOMEN." Advertisers seeking audiences for the sale of their merchandise will therefore spot-light the women.

How many millions of women throughout the United States are missed—clearly missed—by advertisers who do not use morning newspapers adequately!

For daylight hours are natural business hours in the well-regulated home as well as in the store. That is the time when the family purchasing-agents is on job and open to suggestions. Buying impulses delivered by morning newspapers are carried to the sales-counter while they are still alive and kicking. There is no "locked-door" period between the will to buy and the act.

Morning newspapers keep a point of contact in the home with the women during the hours of daylight.

More Truth Than Poetry

CRIME NEWS

When Bertram the burglar walked into a flat
And removed all the occupants had,
But little he thought he would ever be caught
Or that theft was regarded as bad.
But when he had read in the papers next day
That detectives were out on his trail,
He buried his pelf and sequestered himself—
Thus avoiding a season in jail.
Which proves that the newspaper press of the time
By printing the news was encouraging crime.

When Get-Rich-Quick Goofus, whose plan of finance
Was clothed with bewitching allure,
Went south for his health with some millions of wealth
He had got from the credulous poor.
But little he fancied the arm of the law
Would ever come reaching his way,
Till the news of his deed he was troubled to read
When he ran through the papers next day.
The fact that he fled the next day to Hong Kong—
Proves that printing of crime news is totally wrong.

No gulle can be found in the criminal mind
Quite despite its addiction to loot,
These gun-toting chaps when from virtue they lapse
Entertain not a fear of pursuit.
They would stay where they are till convicted and jailed
With their consciences wholly at peace,
If they did not peruse every morning the news
And haste to escape the police.
It is reading the stories of crime every day
That prompts them to pack up and hurry away.

Contractors to Work On Highway Surface

AUSTIN, April 26.—(AP)—Orders to go to work likely will be issued today by the highway commission to the three contracting firms six weeks ago awarded Asphalt resurfacing contracts formerly held by the American Road company, Eugene Smith, secretary, said.

Several hundred miles of roads in central and north central Texas are involved.

Before the resurfacing contracts were awarded, Attorney General Dan Moody charged the proposal was designed to justify the price of 30 cents a square yard paid the American Road company and the Hoffman Construction company. He threatened litigation should the contracts be awarded, but his warning was disregarded.

Last fall the American Road company was barred from the state after confessing court judgment for $600,000 excess highway profits.

ELECTRA MEETS HARROLD.

ELECTRA, April 26.—The announcement has been made that the debaters of the Electra high who so triumphantly won the debate at the district tract meet in Iowa Park, Friday and Saturday over Archer City, will be required to debate in the by-district meet before going to the state meet in Austin in May. They will encounter the Harrold team of the Vernon district, with the date and place to be decided later. The young orators on the Electra team are Johnnie Lebus, son of Mr. John Lebus, a well known business man of this city and Joe Hardy Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller, living north of the city.

National YMCA Names Dallas Woman

MILWAUKEE, April 26.—(AP)—Mrs. John M. Hanna, Dallas, Texas, was selected president of the National Y. W. C. A. for the coming two years, the auditing committee announced late today at the convention in session here.

Other officers elected are: Mrs. Charles W. Gilkey, Chicago, first vice president; Mrs. Edward Dunham, Trenton, N. J., second vice president; Mrs. Hazel Butterfield, Beatrice, Neb., and Miss Elsie West, Summit, N. J., secretaries.

Our Noble Athletes Get Poor Breaks As Steers Stage Rodeo

Paddy Had Riotous Time on Hillock As Buddies in Field Permit Easy Outs to Fall For Safe Blows

BY BLONDY CROSS

Wichita Falls knights of the bludgeon were humbled in baseballic strife Monday at Spudder park by one umpire, nine Dallas players (not counting the coachers) and Dame Misfortune, the latter who foisted off a series of poor breaks on our noble athletes. The score was 8 to 4, Dallas, when in reality it should have read something like 4 to 0 with the domestics on the chesty end of the tabulation.

Paddy Martin, the riotous southpaw, had his troubles and they were many. Nevertheless, Dallas scored but three technically earned runs, two of which came after misjudgement on an outfield aviation during the initial stanza. Had this hoist been snared instead of being allowed to fall safe, thereby forcing an unwilling scorer to chalk it up a base hit as per the rules the regulations of this great game, there is doubt that Dallas ever would have explored home plate.

An error afield in the seventh proved sufficient breach in the barrier to let Sniper's Steers surge across the pan five times.

There is no section in the box score where one may chronicle the errors of mind and matter enacted day after day by the league's umpires. In fact, the arbiter by league ruling unless six of the eight clubs gather and vote his decision down, if you know what we mean, is never wrong. Yes sir, nossir, you can't score any of the umphing persons with miscues. They're always right. One of 'em yesterday was entirely too much right for Wichita Falls.

Umpire Wins.

Umph Daly, working at the plate, must have had a hard night of it Sunday, for he certainly wasn't up to form Monday.

First time we've ever written anything other than kind words about an umpire. Always regarded them as more or less the under dogs, and a fairly conscientious set of workmen, anyhow.

This morning, we break our rule. Yesterday's victory should be credited to Daly.

Dallas didn't win that game; Daly did it. The percentage column should not show a victory for Dallas. Daly ought to be added to the league standings and be given the win. At the rate he was stepping yesterday it wouldn't be long until he'd be leading the league.

Yesterday's orgy was little short of murder. A blind man couldn't have called 'em any worse.

If you disagree, you need not read further. If you think the writer was too far away to be enabled to pit optical judgment against that of the umps, then we don't want you to read any more. Throw this newspaper down and take a long running dive into the lake. We don't care whether you peruse these columns any further or not.

Daly had trouble all along on balls and strikes. Ordinarily, one would say that's natural. But yesterday afternoon in this particular baseball farce the umps enjoyed more trouble than usual. Wichita Falls ball players are not umpire baiters. They do not make it a custom to yap at the indicators. But they were griping lustily yesterday.

That Debacle in Seventh.

With the score knotted 3-3, the bases full and one out in the seventh, Daly pulled the crowning clown act of the matinee. Bauman was on third. Riley hit to first base. Washburn fielded and pegged home. It was a clean cut force-out, but the throw was a bit low and Lapan in making the catch was forced to lean far out from the plate, one foot on the rubber. A fraction of a second after he caught the heave Lapan pulled his foot away in order to keep his balance, also to be on his toes for any other play it may have been possible to hook in with. Bauman was out ten feet. Daly ruled him safe.

The writer was not standing down there behind the plate with the arbiter, but he certainly was close enough to take cognizance of the fact Lapan did NOT jerk his foot off the medallion until after he had caught the ball. Outside of that, the play was not even close. Today, Washburn is scored with an error. That's a technicality that can't be helped. He threw low to the plate, but not so low that the runner was not out, but the umps ruled different. Therefore, Mule is debited with a miscue and Wichita Falls loses a ball game. The next runner was forced out at the plate, the umpire himself ruling so on bounder hit to Brainard who pegged home. This putout would have retired the side had not Daly gone blind on the Bauman play. Tate, next man up, socked the ball over the right field fence, clearing the runways and sending in four more scores.

Brainard objected to a strike called on him in the seventh and was bounced from the park by Umph Daly with a fine plastered on him automatically. The "strike" in dispute couldn't have been two yards away from the plate, else the catcher probably would have missed it. But regardless of the elevation, the fling was at least a foot on the outside and the boss couldn't have reached it with a tent pole. Yes, we were directly behind the pan and just high enough to see whether or not the ball came over and then curved late.

That First Inning.

Bauman hoisted a popup back of first in the opening couplet. The wind took the ball and fooled Washburn into misjudging it. The apple fell safe. Then with two away, Miller lofted a homer to left.

The other Dallas run was scored in the fifth on a single by Bauman, a wild pitch and a bingle by Gross after there were two down. Martin struck out three in this inning. The southpaw whiffed seven in all.

Brainard singled to right in the fourth and went to second when Miller played tag with the ball. Washburn hit a long one to right center, Brainard going to third after Miller made the catch. Ping sent the boss home with a pungent poke through second.

Two More Homers.

Washburn floozed a misjudgment double in the sixth to left center. Ping followed up by whipping the sphere to the port home run zone.

Martin went out in the seventh for a pinch hitter. Sutherland took up the flinging duties and in due time during the eighth round came to bat. He slammed the first offering to the jungles back of the left garden. The sacks were unpopulated.

The Spudders fielded merrily on the whole. Pete Turgeon was the outstanding performer. The most startling feat of the affair was enacted in the fourth when Turge leaped into the clouds and with one hand pulled down heroic drive by Tate, then doubled Riley off first.

The double play mechanism functioned on one other occasion. Distel started it off in the third on barking bust by Miller. The maneuver was sensational in itself. George had to field with alacrity, then come up and toss to Pete at keystone. Turge relayed her to Washburn at first.

Jimmy Londos to Clash With Nick Velcoff in Match Here Next Week

Nick Velcoff, the Bulgarian heavyweight speedster and one of the cleverest big fellows in the mat game today, meets the famous Jimmy Londos, better known as the "Greek God," in a finish match at the Majestic theatre next week, so announces Matchmaker Alec Ross.

Jim Londos is one of the most well known wrestlers of the era. Although he has never appeared in Wichita Falls, he needs no introduction, no ballyhoo to explain who he is.

Velcoff has wrestled in local rings several times, winning great popularity. On his last appearance here he lost to Dick Daviscourt after coming very near to winning, in fact, had the Washington giant groggy and almost out on his feet. In pulling Daviscourt from the ropes, Velcoff slipped and fell with the full weight of the big bozo landing on the Bulgar's chest, temporarily disabling him and giving Daviscourt the chance to recover and win the match.

Both Velcoff and Londos are the rough, exceedingly clever type. The winner of the match is to meet the winner of the Santel-Stecher match carded here some time in May, announces Matchmaker Ross.

CAT CASTOFF GETS REVENGE ON OLD BUDDIES

Chink Taylor Saves Game For Sports, Then Beats Atz Himself

FORT WORTH, April 26.—(AP)—Chink Taylor, Cat cast off, sweetly revenged himself on his former team mates here this afternoon when he spectaculously, saved the day for the Shreveport Sports by ruining Sears' double in the eighth and then putting over the winning run in the ninth, making the count 3 to 1, and giving the Sports their only win of the three game series.

Both Howard and Adkins pitched the whole route, but allowed 12 hits each. Errors, however, were confined to one for each team, a fact that often saved one side or the other from being badly trampled. The score:

Tygers Lose

DETROIT, April 26.—(AP)—Detroit's losing streak was run up to five games here when Chicago scored a five to one victory over the Tigers. Solid smashes bunched in the fifth and eighth innings gave the White Sox the game. Harris with three hits including a triple was the batting star, driving in two runs in the fifth and another in the ninth. CATS ATTACK SPUDS TODAY

Jake's Outfit Begins to Put In Threat, Morgan May Hurl

Jake's Cats sneak in the orchard for the first of three this afternoon. Fort Worth has been rocking along without much show of its one-time championship strength, but in the Shreveport series just past, gave sufficient indication of a slowly developing menace to warrant care on the part of the other Texas league clubs. The cats beat the Taleton outfit two games out of three.

Manager Brainard indicated yesterday he may start Dick Morgan on the hurling eminence this afternoon. Big Dick declares he's ready to go and fully prepared to tame the Panthers the 'nth degree.

Waco Wins Over Beaumont, 8 to 2

WACO, April 26.—(AP)—Opening the fifth inning with a double, followed by Drake's wildness in the same inning, gave the Cubs an 8 to 2 victory over Beaumont here today in the last game of the series. After Cohen's double, Drake walked in three runs on consecutive walks followed by Pratt's double scored two more. Pratt's hitting featured Waco's attack while homers by Deviveros and Reagan in the seventh accounted for Beaumont's tallies.

TWO SOCKS TO BUTTON, KICK IN SLATS, FLYING TACKLE AND MR. MANTELL WINS GENTLE MAT GO

They billed it as a wrestling match, did officials of the Wichita Falls wrestling association. But it was a rough-and-tumble fight, a mixed bout with all the color and tricks of a lumberjack forest battle thrown in.

Dutch Mantell, the funny little man with the funny face from Columbus, beat Young Mahmouth, the Turk. Dutch won in what would ordinarily be termed straight falls, speaking in the language of the mat. In truth, the Columbus monkey-man won via the knockout route. two socks to the button and ensuing slams to the canvas.

The first "fall" went to the Dutchman in 56 minutes and 15 seconds on a punch to the jaw that was announced as a reverse flying mare. The reverse "horses" was there all right, all right, but it came only as a finisher after Mantell had clipped Mahmouth on the point, knocking him groggy, then applied a couple of flying headlocks to further along the woozy state of the swarthy grappler's think tank.

The second "fall" was jerked off in 12 minutes and ten seconds, this time with a double toe hold. But Dutch first socked the Turk to the mat with a ripping right to the mug, then stuck on the pedal punisher.

She was a riotous affair throughout, in fact, as several of the more bloodthirsty type of fans put it, the best bit of strife ever staged in this fair city of ours.

No, It Wasn't Rough

If it was rough stuff you wanted, you got it last night at the Majestic theatre. If it was clean, scientific grappling you sought, you got that minus the cleanliness. There was science there of varying degrees, but it was of the brutal, barbaric kind.

Mahmouth is larger and stronger than Mantell. He's just as clever. The Dutchman was on the defense most of the route, forced back by a rushing, smashing attack waged by the Turk. For a period it seemed the primeval Mantell was about to be domesticated. He appeared much the worse for wear from general all-around rough usage which included cracks on the chin, knees in the mug, toe-hold punishment, wrist-lock inquisition through the gamut of rough-and-tumble milling even down to kicks in the pants.

Nearly Won on Kicks

The Turk all but booted the Dutchman out of the ring. Failing in this, he threw him out a couple of times, then knocked him down with well-planted punches to the point of the chin. Dutch came very near to taking the ten-count on two occasions from left hooks, but managed to come back, albeit slowed up considerably. He rallied furiously after taking his second knock down, slammed a head lock on the Turk and brought him to the mat, but lost the hold there. Coming up again he caught Mahmouth on the chin with an upper cut, then poked on another headlock. The Turk broke the hold by throwing Mantell into ringside laps. Mahmouth was groggy. Dutch came back and slapped on another head hold to further aggravate the dizzy condition of his opponent, then slipped into a reverse semi-flying mare to bring the Turk down with a jar. Still it took several seconds to pin Mahmouth. The second fall proved easier for Mantell. Nevertheless, the Turk put up a still battle while he lasted.

Harry Demetral, the Greek middleweight, took a speedy and furiously waged one-fall match from Bob Lester of New Orleans in 23 minutes with a headlock and double wristlock. The bout proved very much of a pleaser. It was very scientific.

Buffs Beat Bears

SAN ANTONIO, April 26.—(AP)—The Houston Buffs battled 11 innings today before winning over San Antonio, 5 to 4. Houston by annexing today's contest, won all three games of the series.

The Buffs led until the sixth and the Bears tied the count in the seventh, both teams then went scoreless until the eleventh when the winning marker was pushed over as twilight fell. The score:

Championship Trophy To Be Put At Stake By Legion In Tiff Tonight

Wildcat Ewing Will Try Skill Against Clever Clyde Hull; Three Other Bouts Carded For Tonight

THE CARD

Clyde Hull, St. Paul, vs. Wildcat Ewing, Houston, welterweights, 10 rounds.

Johnny Sherrod, Fort Worth, vs. Spike Flanagan, Wichita Falls, welterweights, eight rounds.

Sailor Murphy, Nowhere, vs. Bulldog Nolen, Charley, welterweights, four rounds.

Kid Norford, Wichita Falls, negro welter, vs. "Harry Wills," Wichita Falls negro middleweight, catchweights, four rounds.

Place: Twelfth and Ohio Arena.

Time: 8:15 tonight.

Tommy White, Texas City fighter who by rights of conquest has won the Pat Carrigan, Wichita Falls post of the American legion, southwestern welterweight glove championship, forfeits his right to the crown, so aver legion officials.

In forfeiting championship claims White, also loses the titular trophy placed in competition by the legion. Tommy is said to have refused to Hull fight tonight. Incidentally, White legion auspices, holding out for a larger guarantee and privilege of appropriating 30 per cent of the gross gate receipts. The legion is said to have offered him 25 per cent.

Trammel Next Week.

Failing to come to an agreement, the legion's cup has been declared forfeited by White and is to be put up for the winner of the Ewing-Hull fikht tonight. Incidentally, White has roundly trounced both this evening's contestants. The winner of the Hull-Ewing affair is to meet Duke Trammel, the Fort Worth socker a week hence with the cup at stake, announces Matchmaker Wofford.

White was notified yesterday of his forfeiture by Bill McDermott, chairman of the Wichita Falls boxing commission.

Tonight's melee is expected to be a hard-fought affair. Ewing, as usual, is confident of coming away the victor. If determination augurs anything similar to success then Wildcat already has the bout tucked away.

Dope Favors Hull.

The dope, however, points to a Hull victory with little chance of a kick-over. But, of course, you never can tell until the final gong clangs closing the last round.

Sherrod and Flanagan have arrived at a meeting more or less by process of elimination. Both these rugged welters have beat every thing in their class around, excluding the main event fighters, this section. Each recently tagged it on Pug Humphries.

There is to be a four-round curtain riser added to the card, said Wofford, yesterday who had not at that time decided what two fighters would be used.

Panhandle Romps On American In Orgy of Error

Twilight League Diamond A Hectic Place Monday As 6 to 3 Score Is Piled Up With Aid of Numerous Boots

BY MACK TURNER.

The Twilight league diamond was a hectic place Monday afternoon during the Panhandle's triumph over the luckless American Refinery Eagles. The game was filled with boots, wild heaves, stalling, protesting and generally all around slow and uninteresting baseball.

Bob Cannon and Snipe Connally hooked up in what should have been a wonderful pitching battle, but the American infield went up in the air and the scores rolled in.

Nine errors in the field by the Americans were all costly and not one of the Panhandle's six runs were earned. Bob Canno, Panhandle slabster, pitched a nice game until he weakened in the sixth inning and was relieved by Randolph who finished the game with ease.

Protest Starts.

The Panhandle managers, being three in number, put up a howl in the sixth inning melee, and finished the game under protest. This came on Pete "Ping" Martindale. The big American catcher took a cut at the third strike with the bases full and the ball bounced from Red Hick's hands and went into the crowd of Panhandle rooters that packed the first base line chalk mark. One man scored and Ping went to first. Then came the protest.

Coyal Francis, American Refinery third baseman, led the hitters for the afternoon with a single and a double in three times at bat. No one else could get a second hit.

Hinds, Panhandle shortstop, played a great game at short and cut down an early American Refinery rally by engineering a double killing in the third inning. This was the only time the Americans could threaten early the game.

Don Faicheny was also playing a great game on the first bag, and was taking the throws from all angles. His perfect peg in the seventh cut Johnnie McMahon off at second after he had tried to stretch his hit over first into a double.

Panhandle took the lead in the second by shoving three runs over. After Faichney had whiffed, Daniels walked. Francis messed up Hick's roller to third and all hands were safe. Cannon fanned for the second out. Hinds slapped a single to left and continued on to second as Christian let the ball get away from him. Daniels and Hicks scored, and Hinds continued on to third on the throw in. Kerr lined a hit off Snipe Connally's glove and Hinds scored. Rawls then fouled out to Francis.

Two runs were added in the fifth without a hit being made. Kerr bunted and was safe when Connally fumbled the ball. Rowls struck out. Graves hit to Francis and all hands were safe when Coyal fumbled. McMahon dropped Hohen's easy fly to center and the bases were filled. Faichney flied to right and Kerr scored after the catch, Graves going to third. On a double steal, Hohen reached second. Graves came for the plate and when Daniels, the batter, blocked Martindale, runner scored. Daniels then struck out.

Another Added.

One more run was added to the Panhandle's string in the sixth. Hicks hit to Francis and Medford lost the throw in the sun. Hicks went to second. Cannon rolled out, pitcher to first and Hicks took third. A perfectly worked squeeze play then sent Hicks over. Hidns laid down a perfect bunt and was thrown out by a close margin.

The Americans shoved over three runs in the sixth, but the six run lead was too much to over come. Roberts bunted to the box and beat it out. McMahon sacrificed to second. Farquhar bunted to the box and beat it out. Roberts took third. Farqurhar stole second. Cannon slipped Christian a bean ball and filled the bases. Mart'ndale took a swing at the third one and raced to first when the ball got away from Hicks and rolled into the crowd. Roberts over the pan.

CINCINNATI, April 26.—(AP)—Errors by St. Louis in the ninth and tenth innings were partly responsible for Cincinnati overcoming the visitors' two run lead and turning the game into a victory today by a three to two score. Walker gathered four of the Red's seven hits and also drove over the winning tally in the tenth with a single. May, who relieved Donohue in the ninth held St. Louis in check. The score:

Aguinaldo Scores American Politics

MANILA, April 26.—(AP)—Gen. Emanilo Aguinaldo, speaking before several hundred veterans of the Philippine revolution in Bulacan province today declared that "as long as we are controlled by politicians such as we have now, America will never grant Philippine independence."

Aguinaldo was replying to criticism by members of the supreme national council because the veterans of the revolution of which he is president had previously declined as a body to ally themselves with the supreme national council. He declared the Filipinos should change leaders if they desired success.

Burn Negro Church Following Trouble

CARTERET, N. J., April 26.—(AP)—The Church of First Baptist negro congregation from which negroes were driven by a white mob yesterday was destroyed by fire today.

Race riots were threatened when Robert Ducaeft, a negro, was arrested late yesterday, charged with the fatal stabbing of John Carrol, a white boxer.

Shortly after the Rev. George V. Reed, pastor, began the usual Sunday evening services in the negro church, bricks and stones were hurled through the windows. The worshippers fled from the building and several were struck by stones thrown by the pursuing whites.

Water Dangerous In Officers' Pool

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(AP)—Swimming in the officers' pool at the Coco Solo naval air station, Canal Zone, has its moments of excitement according to a mail report received today at the navy department.

A rock wall, submerged at high tide, let in a barracuda early this month. He was routed with a dynamite depth bomb, but the bomb killed a lot of small fish which attracted the next visitor, a six foot shark. Bombs and rifle bullets finally routed him out, but the report adds that the following morning a devil fish was cleared from the pool, his tenacles measuring about two feet.

SCHILDKRAUTS REUNITED

ATLANTIC CITY, April 26—(AP) Joseph Schildkraut, perfect lover of the stage, and Miss Elise Bartlett, his actress wife, are reunited for the third time since their marriage four years ago she has dropped divorce proceedings. A telephone plea to Hollywood for reconcilation cost him $675. She is to have power of attorney in all their affairs.

Irishman Is Given Term For Bombing

LONDON, April 26.—(AP)—Hugh Daly, young Irishman charged with throwing a "bomb" at Premier Baldwin during the St. Patrick's Day banquet in the Hotel Cecil, was sentenced in Old Bailey today to a year's imprisonment.

He was found guilty of throwing the missile, which witnesses described as a piece of fire works, "with intent to do grevious bodily harm."

COMPLETE SHIP SALE

NEW YORK, April 26.—(AP)—Negotiations for the sale of the White Star line fleet by the International Mercantile Marine company to Furness, Wihy & Company and Morgan, Granfell & Company were completed in London today, according to private cable messages received here.

TEXAS PRODUCE

SAN ANTONIO, April 26.—(AP)—Shipments during the wek-end were not overly heavy although they reached considerable volume in onions. The Texas movement consisted of 29 cars cabbage; 39 mixed vegetables; 88 onions; two string beans and 29 white potatoes, for Saturday and 3 string beans, 2 onions Sunday. The previously unreported movement Friday was 29 cars cabbage; 38 mixed vegetables; five onions and 48 white potatoes while the pick up for Thursday amounted to 11 cars string beans; 27 white potatoes; 8 onions; 52 mixed vegetables and 24 cabbage.

At Laredo the shipping point market on onions was unsettled around $1.50 usual terms for number one yellows and $1.35 for commercial pack with whites bringing $2 per bushel crate. A cash car of whites brought $1.85. Recent rains and high water are interfering with loadings at Crystal City where cash sales of yellows around $1.25 per bushel crate are noted. String beans at valley points are in steady demand around $2.25@2.50 for greens and $2.50 few 2.75 per bushel hamper for wax while potatoes there are bringing $5 cw. fob usual terms and $4.65 cash track. Carrots at Brownsville are marked steady at $1@1.15 per bushel basket; beets are steady around 90 cents a 1.00 and cabbage rather dull at $15 per ton.

There was a little more weakness in the poultry market this morning and eggs also appeared trending toward lower levels, although actual price cutting was not general at state markets.

San Antonio, hens 25c; fryers, small 30@35, large 35@40; roosters 10@12; turkeys 25c for number 1s, 22 old toms, 18 number 2s; eggs, $650@7.00 per case 30 dozen.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 26.—(AP)—The cotton market developed moderate activity today. Summer hours started with an opening at 8 a. m., an hour earlier but the market closed at 2 o'clock in the afternoon thus adding an hour to the length of the session. The trend of prices was reactionary owing to the rather better weather in the belt over the week-end, but mainly because of the official forecast for fair and warmer weather. After opening somewhat lower, despite rather favorable Liverpool cables the market declined during the morning until losses of 14 to 15 points on old crop months and 20 to 21 points on new crops were shown. There was a rally of five to eight points around mid-session which held until mid-afternoon after which prices eased off again a few points but the close was steady, showing net losses for the day of 11 to 14 points.

Two private estimates of acreage were issued during the day one making the decrease compared with last year one per cent and the other making it 2.5 per cent.

First trades here showed losses of 2 to 11 points owing to the more favorable weather but prices rallied slightly right after the call, May trading at 17.86, July at 17.51 and October at 16.60. These proved to be the high points of the day. The market soon started to ease off owing to the forecast for fair and warmer weather and by mid-season May traded down to 17.75 July to 17.39, October to 16.45 and December to 16.46 or 14 to 21 points down compared with Saturday's close.

The market improved slightly after mid-session, May trading up to 17.80 and October to 16.52, or five to eight points above the lows but eased off some in the late trading although recovering slightly at the end.

Total exports for the day 39,938 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 26.—(AP)—Improved weather conditions in the south and bearish private acreage figures were reflected in declines in the cotton market today. July contracts sold off to 18.05 or 13 points net lower and within ten points of the lowest price reached on the decline of a week ago last Saturday.

They closed at the lowest, the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 13 to 24 points. The opening was barely steady at a decline of four to eight points on reports indicating that weather conditions over Sunday had been more favorable than expected and prospects for rising temperatures. Early liquidation of May was well absorbed by covering and by buying against sales of July at a difference of 47 to 48 points, and there seemed to be considerable demand on the basis of 17.15 for October. This held the decline in check during mid-day, but no buying power of consequence developed and the market sold off to 18.51 for May in late trading. Later deliveries also eased off to the low levels of the morning and last prices were within a point or two of the lowest, with the market evidently hopeful of more favorable weather for planting the new crop.

Two private reports on crop preparations were published at the opening, one pointing to a decrease of 2.3 per cent while the other indicated a decrease of only one per cent, in acreage. These figures were considered more in line with bearish than with bullish ideas of the outlook and probably promoted selling on the better weather news. The latter was the chief factor on the decline but bearish sentiment may have found encouragement in continued talk of southern mill curtailment.

Tomorrow will be the first May day here. If any notices are expected but there was considerable May liquidation during the day and the May-July difference narrowed to about 46 points at the close.

Exports today 39,938, making 6,969,278 so far this season. Port receipts 19,842. U. S. port stocks 1,005,172.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Profit taking and bear selling halted th advance in the industrials which had continued interrupted for seven continuous days in today's stock market, but the railroad shares continued their rise to higher ground. Trading which was largely of a professional character showed a marked falling off in volume, the day's sales just crossing the 1,500,000 share mark as against 673,100 in Saturday's two-hour session and 2,580,700 on Friday.

The decline in the industrials was not associated with anything in the day's news, but was widely regarded as a natural readjustment after the vigorous upturn last week. Despite the sharp deficit in reserve shown in last Saturday's clearing house statement call money enewed at 3½ per cent and then dropped to 3, with a napparent plethora of funds available. Time money was on a flat four per cent basis, instead of 4 to 4½, the closing rate last week.

Publication of a splendid quarterly report by the General Motors corporation showing earnings of $7.50 a share was followed by the traditional selling on the good news," the stock reacting from an early high of 129⅝ to 126⅝ and then rallying to 126¼ for a net loss of 2⅝ on the day. Heavy selling also broke out in Hudson Motors, which was driven down over five points below Saturday's closing quotation to 65⅝ and then rallied about a point. Weakness also developed in some of the other automotive issues, Mack Truck, White Motor, Jordan and Fisher Body losing two to three points.

Trading in the standard industrials was rather quiet, but practically all of them drifted to lower ground. U. S. Steel closed ⅝ lower at 121½ after selling a point above that figure, and losses of a point or two were recorded by American Smelting, American Tobacco, Baldwin, Fleischmann, Gulf States Steel, S. S. Kresge, Studebaker, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and local tractions.

Some sharp recessions took place in a number of specialties, which were bid up rapidly last week at the expense of an overcrowded short interest. Allied Chemical, American Safety Razor, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Coca Cola, Cushman, DuPont, Mathieson Alkali, Remington Typewriter, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and Woolworth all closed at net declines of 2½ to nearly five points.

Heavy liquidation of the Armour issues apparently was in anticipation of a poor first quarter report. A drop in the "A" stock to 15⅝, the lowest price since it was listed on the New York stock exchange revived rumors of a possible omission of the next dividend. Cudahy Packing also was weak.

There were a few independent strong spots among the industrials and specialties, one of the most prominent of which was Freeport Texas which was pushed up to a new high level at 32⅛ on reports that the sulphur business was unusually prosperous. Marine preferred advanced over a point in anticipation of an early conclusion of the negotiations for the sale of the White Star line fleet.

The demand for the rails centered at first in the high grade dividend paying issues but eventually spread to some of the low priced carriers, particularly New Haven, St. Paul preferred, Bangor and Aroostook, and Chicago Great Western preferred. Among the higher priced shares the best gains were recorded by Louisville and Nashville, Norfolk and Southern, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and "Nickel Plate" common.

Foreign exchanges were easier although Belgian francs rallied nearly five points to 3.61 cents in anticipation of the senate's approval of the Belgian debt settlement which came after the market closed. Demand sterling ruled just under 4.86 and French francs were slightly easier around 3.35½ cents. Norwegian kroner jumped nine points to 21.56 cents, but other changes were rather narrow.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, April 26.—(AP)— Wheat prices developed strength today, helped by 1,310,000 bushels falling off in the United States visible supply total and by liberal export business at Winnipeg. Closing quotations here for wheat were unsettled ⅛ to 2½c net higher, May (new) 1.63 to 1.63⅛ and July 1.43⅞ to 1.44 with corn unchanged to ⅛c off, oats unchanged to ⅜c down and provisions unchanged to 22c decline.

Expectation of big deliveries of corn on May contracts had a depressing influence on the corn market and on oats as well.

Provisions reflected a downturn in hog values.

RANCHER KILLS BIG BLACK BEAR

Animal Sought by Ban Johnson Was Bagged In Mexico

SAN ANTONIO, April 26.—(AP) Rufe Thomas, Del Rio, Texas, ranchman, has slain a 600 pound black bear which President B. B. Johnson of the American League and other hunters have sought in vain.

News of the exploit, which occurred in Mexico about 30 miles southwest of Del Rio was brought here today by Ed Toepperwein, who was with Thomas on the hunt.

Caught with his shoes off, his blistered feet exposed to the hot sun, Thomas stood his ground and shot the bear when it was less than five feet from him, rather than flee over surrounding rocks.

Toepperwin, a noted rifle shot, said the bear, both because of his intrinsic worth as an unusual trophy, and further because of his depredations on live stock, has lived a hide-and-seek existence with many hunters for many years.

Thomas picked up the bear's trail early one morning and had stalked him until mid-afternoon, tramping that section. A new pair of shoes many miles over the rough hills of started giving trouble early in the day, later causing his feet to swell and blister.

Abandoning the hunt Thomas found a comfortable seat on a small ledge, removed his shoes and was airing his aching feet when he saw the bear less than sixty yards away.

In his haste to get a shot in the clear at the bear, Thomas left his shoes a few paces and sent a bullet through the neck of the upright bruin. The shot proved fatal, but at first only served to enrage the bear.

Wildly pawing the air, beating the brush and tearing small trees up by the roots, the bear charged down the cleared space toward the ledge on which Thomas knelt. Two more shots failed to stop the beast until he was within five feet of Thomas.

English Summoned To Trial In Senate

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—(AP)—Federal Judge G. W. English was served with a summons today ordering him to appear at the bar of the United States senate next Monday and enter a plea of guilty or not guilty to charges of misdemeanors in office, which the house of representatives preferred against him.

The summons was served at Judge English's chambers in the federal building at East St. Louis by John F. McGrain, deputy sergeant at arms of the senate who came from Washington for that purpose.

Cops Catch Liquor

One man was arrested and 16 gallons of corn whiskey seized late Monday afternoon when city police raided a building on lower Ohio avenue. Charges of possession of whiskey and possession for purposes of sale will be filed against the prisoner this morning, police said.

Officers making the raid were Carmichael, Donahue, Saye, Robertson and McCoy.

AMARILLO MEN HERE

Norris Ewing and Henry Ansley of the Amarillo News are in Wichita Falls for a few days on business connected with the 1926 West Texas chamber of commerce convention to be held in Amarillo. They report elaborate preparations already being made in Amarillo for the three day session that is expected to set an attendance record of its kind.

GRANTHAM MARRIES

CHICAGO, April 26.—(AP)—George Grantham, first baseman of the Pittsburgh National League club and former member of the Chicago Nationals, was married here tonight to Miss Ruby L. Gates of Kingman, Ariz., the marriage culminating a schoolday romance. Members of the Pittsburgh and Chicago teams attended the ceremony.

Members of the Ansil[illegible]ague of the First Methodist [illegible] were entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter J. Johnson, Monday night with a party.

WATER DEP'T. SHOWS GAIN

Operating Profit Reaches $93,849, Report Indicates

The Wichita Falls water department showed a net operating profit of $93,849.50 during the fiscal year ended March 31, a report compiled by Utilities Commissioner P. B. Curd and presented the city council at its meeting Monday night, indicated.

There was a gross income of $238,922.25, according to the report.

Expenses totaled $113,709.30, divided as follows: Operating, $84,823; maintenance, $27,281.31; cash short, $21; interest, $1,468.04; bad accounts, $15.95. Deductions are made in figuring net profits of $31,363.45.

The balance sheet shows assets and liabilities of $1,608,980.30.

Bootleg Charleston Appears In Colorado

LAS ANIMAS, Colo., April 26.—(AP)—Charleston "bootlegging" is the latest indoor sport among the fair sex here.

The city dads put a ban on the latest terpsichorean wrinkle with an ordinance providing a fine of $25 or 30 days in jail or both, for "any female person found guilty of participating in or engaging in the Charleston."

Germany Challenges in Ocean Trade Again

Germany again is looming as a serious rival of Great Britain in transatlantic transportation. Many new liners are projected or being built. The newest German ship to be put into service, the "Hamburg," has just made her maiden voyage from Hamburg to New York. She is of 21,000 tons.

Bishop Criticises Rabbi's Statement On Mexican Wrangle

SAN ANTONIO, April 26—(AP) Statements of American clergymen and educators, known as the "committee of 17" who recently spent ten days in Mexico investigating conditions there under the Calles administration were sharply critized tonight by the Right Rev. A J. Drossaerts Roman Catholic bishop of San Antonio.

He referred to a statement of Rabbi Ephram Frisch of San Antonio that the committee had been kindly received by Calles and his cabinet, "who did all they could to aid the committee in their investigations" and remarked:

"And well might one go to Mr. Wheeler to find out what happened to these 'innocents abroad.' They were hoodwinked by the wiles and smiles and clever work of Calles, Moronos, Tejada and the other worthies who surround the throne of his red majesty in Mexico City."

ELECTRA

ELECTRA BABY DIES

Little Clara Mae Robertson, 2-year-old baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Robertson of Wichita Falls, died early Monday morning at the family residence on Scott avenue after after a brief illness. The child is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ashley, prominent business people of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Ashley and family left for Wichita Falls upon receipt of the word of the child's death. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday in Wichita Falls.

TRAFFIC ARRESTS

Chief of Police James T. Taylor announces that 50 tags were placed on cars in this city during Saturday afternoon and night to make them observe the traffic rules. No charges were made this time but each car will be fined $5.00 on the second offense for double parking.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

The Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church gave a very interesting program at the regular hour Sunday morning with John Elliott Smith, a young violinist of the city giving two selections and Miss Inez Ingou reading two selections, "Encouragement," and "Chinese Love Story," which were very much appreciated. Mr. E. A. McKelvey is the teacher and each Sunday interesting programs are given. There were 42 present Sunday morning.

HONORS GUEST

Mrs. Joe Woods and daughter, Dellia Mae Woods, were hostesses to a lovely appointed party Saturday evening honoring Miss Hazel Rogers of Wichita Falls, fifteenth birthday. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games, and Miss Eloise Gafford favoring them with several reading selections. A very enjoyable time was had, with late in the evening the attractive birthday cake in pink and white with pink and white candles being cut, in the dining room which was lovely with pink and green streamers from the chandliers. The favors were novelty gifts in the green and with colors. Punch and angel food cake were served late in the evening.

Sweet peas and pansies were used throughout the rooms. Those enjoying the occasion were, Misses Mary Lambreth, Ruby Rogers, the honoree; Messrs. Paul Rogers, Bally Craig, all of Wichita Falls; Misses Alma Moore, Mary Stroud, Ruby Griffin, Della Mae Woods, Eloise Gafford, Messrs. Melvin Rogers, Alfred Dick, Hilliard White, Carl Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rogers.

YOUNG MUSICIAN

Master John Elliott Smith, age six, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, delightfully entertained with a violin solo, "John's Firt Waltz," which was composed by his father, who is leader of the Electra band and a musician of some ability at the Men's Bible class Sunday morning, also playing the same number at the conclusion of the Sunday school hour.

PROMINENT GIRL WEDS

Miss Mabel Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, of Vernon, became the bride of W. C. P. Culberson, of Pioneer, Texas, at the home of Miss Davis' aunt, Mrs. J. T. Denny, Saturday evening. The ceremony was read by Justice of Peace J. T. Cabe in the presence of the immediate family, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, daughters, Maxine and Bobby Mae and Mr. and Mrs. Denny. Miss Davis was attired in a simple crepe model and was unattended.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Pioneer, to make their home.

Miss Davis is a popular member of the younger set in Eelectra, having lived here all her life. She is well known in literary circles of this city, having made several appearances before the public. Mr. Davis, her father is a well known oil promoter of this section of the country.

The groom has been employed in the Vernon oil fields for the past year, where he has made a number of friends in that section of the country, also Electra.

PERSONALS

Poet Finds Bars A Prison Make As He's Jailed Again

CHICAGO, April 26.—(AP)—Vincent de Pascal, inventor, poet and advertising genius has frequently extemporized in verse upon the premise that iron bars do not a prison make.

But tonight, for the second time in a year, iron bars stood quite conclusively between Mr. De Pascal and the cultural sphere in which he feels most at home.

He inhabited a cell in the Evanston police station and faced charges arising from a confession which police say he made admitting robbery of seventeen Evanston homes. The officers support their charges with exhibits of $20,000 in negotiable bonds, a number of jewelers rings and other evidence which they declare were found in his hotel room after he had been captured in the Evanston home of George B. Williams, broker.

The first occasion on which prison bars restrained Mr. De Pascal from being himself was when as a prisoner in an Elmira, N. Y., reformatory in 1925 when he won a world tour which was first prize in an advertising contest. He could not go because his prison term had not expired, but his revelation of genius won him an early parole.

Czarist Detective Given Seven Years

MOSCOW, April 26.—(AP)—Anna Yegorovna Sterebriakova, known as the "grandmother of czarist provocateurs" 75 years old and blind, will spend the next seven years, if she lives, in solitary confinement. She was convicted by a revolutionary tribunal and sentenced today to death, but because of her age and infirmity the court commuted the penalty.

The woman had been for 23 years the secret agent of the czarist police, and in that time, it was charged, she had betrayed many prominent social revolutionists and anihilists, among them Anatole Lunacharsky, now soviet commissar of education. She resided in Moscow where she maintained an elegant saloon, much frequented by the bolsheviki

House Gets Harbor Bill From Committee

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—A revised draft of the $36,000,000 rivers and harbors bill was reported today to the house.

A battle is expected, when the rules committee is asked tomorrow to approve a resolution of the rivers and harbors committee calling for one hour general debate on the bill in the house. A number of committee members contend more time should be alotted in view of the controversy over provisions of the measure.

CONTINUE WORK ON TABERNACLE

Expect Floral Heights Structure to Be Finished Wednesday

Carpenters and plumbers continued their work on the tabernacle of the Floral Heights Baptist tabernacle Monday, and an announcement Monday night by Solon Featherston, chairman of the building committee, said the structure would probably be completed Tuesday or Wednesday.

The tabernacle is located at the corner of Avenue F and Buchanan street near a residential district. A group of property owners have filed application for an injunction to prevent the erection of the church building there, and the hearing has been set for Thursday afternoon. The contention of the plaintiffs is that the location is in a restricted district and the church building would lessen property values.

The defendants contend the location was once in a restricted district, that of 1910 when the restriction was placed for a period of ten years, and for the past six years there has not been a restricted district.

Services were held Sunday in the new tabernacle with Rev. C. S. McClung in charge. Five additions were made to the church, and three were given the ordinance of baptism Sunday afternoon.

Matamoros Cabaret Destroyed By Fire

BROWNSVILLE, April 26—(AP) Brownsville fire department responded to a call in Matamoros, Mexico, across the river from Brownsville, for the first time in its history early Monday morning when Monte Carlo, a cabaret and roof garden, burned to the ground with a loss approximating $20,000.

The cabaret had one of its best nights in many months Sunday night when it entertained 115 physicians on their way to Mexico City from the American Medical association convention held in Dallas, and hundreds of other Americans who crossed the river following the temporary suspension of passport requirements.

Cotton Belt Earns $450,561 In Quarter

NEW YORK, April 26.—(AP)—Earnings of the St. Louis-Southwestern railway, both for March and the first quarter of 1926, were more profitable than the corresponding periods of 1925, surplus after charges for the first quarter amounting to $450,561 against $410,222 a year ago. March surplus was $162,054 against $100,238 in March last yer. Gross revenues for the quarter, however, were slightly less, $6,502,189 against $6,581,260.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway had a prosperous first quarter with net operating income of $10,008,937 against $9,002,161. March net rose to $3,004,111 compared with $2,071,154 in March, 1925.

O. KO BOND ISSUE

An order to proceed with the issuance of a $25,000 bond issue voted Saturday in the Cashion school district was voted Monday by the county commissioners following a formal tender of the results of the election, which showed a vote of 65 to 4 in favor of the bonds.

Actual construction of the school building is expected to start almost at once, it is stated.

Fishing Gets Better and So Do I-Grafton

Wichita Falls Pastor At Corpus Christi Is Improving

Dr. N. F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who has been in Corpus Christi for the past few weeks recovering his health following a nervous breakdown, is improving rapidly, it has been learned through a letter received from him by the Record News. He stated he was enjoying the bay weather and, incidentally, the fishing which seemed to increase as he grew stronger. He wished to express his appreciation of the many kindnesses shown his wife and himself before leaving here and hopes to soon be well enough to be back with the "best people on earth."

His letter in full was as follows:

"We are pleasantly situated on the bay where it is delightfully cool. I am steadily improving and each day finds me a little stronger and a little nearer the home base of good health. Mrs. Grafton is enjoying keeping house in Corpus Christi—no dust to keep one eternally at it. The fish are beginning to bite good and just as soon as I get sufficient strength we are going to catch a mess. I can walk out on the pier for a few minutes each day. I eagerly read the reports of the games our Spudders are playing and am of the opinion that we have the best team we have ever had. I am trying awfully hard to be strong enough to run over to San Antonio for the games there next month. May I not express through the Record News our appreciation of the many kindnesses shown us before leaving home. I am trying my best to get well and back to the best people on earth.

"Very truly,
"N. F. GRAFTON."

Start On Bridge

The first step to be taken by contractors in the construction of the new free bridge over Red river will be the erection of a barrier to protect the north bank of the river, County Engineer J. M. Isbell, announced Monday morning.

The fact that the north bank has been rapidly washed away during the last 10 months makes it evident that some sort of protection must be made to prevent further erosion, else the building of several hundred feet more of bridge will be necessary.

The Austin Brothers Bridge company, bidders for the contract, received the order Saturday, to begin work, and it was stated that material would be ordered shipped to the site immdiately.

Pouring of the concrete pilings will begin within the next 10 days, the erection of the bank protection being under way in the meantime.

NEW RADIO STATION

A radio station will be installed on the roof of the Wichita Falls Electric company to be used for emergency calls and to handle load dispatching of the company. This station will be in communication with a similar station on the roof of the Interruban building in Dallas.

A. G. McGalin, director of communication for the Texas Power and Light company and associated companies was in charge of the establishment of the station.

Tests conducted here recently were entirely satisfactory and the station is expected to become permanent.

WATER ACTION DELAYED AGAIN

C. C. Directors Take No Immediate Steps On Bond Issue

The recommendation that the chamber of commerce endorse a bond issue of $1,200,000 for the installation of a water softening and filtration plant and general improvement of the water system as reported by the water committee was submitted to the directors of the chamber at a meeting Monday morning. A definite decision was withheld until the latter part of the week when the matter will be taken up again for discussion.

Approvement of the plan to call an election for a $1,200,000 bond issue for improvement of the city water system is being asked of the directors. Plans for the improvement are based on a report of Dean T. U. Taylor of the engineering department of University of Texas. The city council will be petitioned to call the election in event the recommendation is approved by the directors.

BETTER HOMES NATION'S NEED

Hoover Tells Why Idea Is Sponsored In America

WASHINGTON, April 26.—In making final announcement of the opening of better homes week, April 25 to May 1, which to be observed in more than 3,000 communities within the United States, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, who is president of better homes in America, has issued the following statement:

"Better homes week is the time when the home and its fundamental place in the nation's life are brought to the foreground, and the will for their advancement takes root in our minds. It has a spiritual and political meaning which I hope will escape no one of us.

2,000 at Work.

"More than three thousand local committees have engaged in better homes campaigns for their communities this year. We expect that the men, women and children of America will take full advantage of their work and that as a result we shall make a definite advance in the standards and ideals of our housing and home life. The tremendous interest in better homes demonstrations in recent years, and the improvements which have followed them, have shown that the American people cherish deeply in their hearts the values of the home, and are setting about to realize them more fully.

"The local demonstration houses exhibited each year are improving in architectural qualities. Construction is being made more economical, the interior arrangement more livable, the equipment better adapted to well-ordered housekeeping, and the decoration and furnishing more attractive. The better homes committees are making good in developing the practical art of home making, and in adapting the products of modern industry and the results of research to the individual needs of families in their communities. Their exhibits and lectures reach millions who are striving to improve their homes.

Changing Ideas Help.

"It is largely by interchange of experience and technique that industrial arts have made such rapid advancement in America; and in home making, with the local committees doing their part, the possibilities of rapid and far-reaching development were never so great. The time is ripe for several years of prosperity have put a better standard of living within reach of millions of American families."

POLY POP

Policeman Kills Dallas Prisoner With Hit On Head

DALLAS, April 26.—(AP)—Injuries received in a fight with a policeman proved fatal last night for Luther Pogue, 28, who died of a fractured skull at the city jail.

Pogue was hit over the head with a billy club by Patrolman George Busan, and also tumbled from a stack of merchandise in a warehouse where the fight was Saturday night. An official investigation today is expected to determine whether the fatal gash was from the club or the fall.

Emergency hospital physicians who sewed up Pogue's wound thought Saturday night it was nothing serious and he was jailed.

Officers said Busan was called after Pogue, apparently intoxicted, had been creating a disturbance along a gasoline station, where he is said to have uprooted shrubbery. Pursued by Busan to the warehouse, the boy buried a missile, presumably a can of tomatoes and struck Busan in the mouth. A stack of unclaimed freight goods on which Pogue climbed gave way with him, and Busan brought his club into play trying to quell him.
