44-Mile Smash Toward Baltic Puts Russians Only 22 Miles From Goal

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Wednesday, Feb. 28—Smashing 44 miles northward through permanent German fortifications in Pomerania, the Russians yesterday drove within 22 miles of cutting the last enemy escapt route from Danzig, the north Polish corridor and northeast Pomerania.

This continuing offensive by the Second White Russian Army group threatened quick entrapment of the German forces remaining in that great 5,000-square-mile sac along the Baltic sea.

The breakthrough, which began four days ago in forested lake country, was disclosed by Premier Stalin in an order of the day.

Over 100 Towns Taken

The subsequent regular Soviet communique broadcast from Moscow credited Marshal K. K. Rokossovsky's troops with capturing more than 100 German communities in their swift northward sweep toward the sea.

A later Soviet bulletin stressed the sanguinary nature of the fighting in a region favorable to the defense, stating that at the town of Schlochau alone 2,000 Germans were killed and 22 tanks and 46 guns knocked out.

Except for the capture of 12 additional blocks inside besieged Breslau in Silesia and the seizure of seven villages in Czechoslovakia, the brief Russian communique dealt entirely with Marshal Rokossovsky's significant offensive.

Nazis Admit Reverses

The German high command acknowledged the gains, and German broadcasters said the Russians already were fighting on the approaches to Koeslin, through which run the last highway and railroad along which the Nazis in the northeast could retreat.

By both German and Russian official accounts, however, the farthest point of Rokossovcky's advance came with the capture of Bublitz, 22 miles southeast of Koeslin and 28 miles from the Baltic sea.

German commentator Ernst von Hammer said the great Soviet offensive was aimed at taking Koeslin, Kolberg, Stolp and Neustettin and that the Russians carried orders to cut all communications between Danzig and the great Baltic port of Stettin.

Kolberg is situated on the Baltic 24 miles west of Koeslin, while Stolp is 39 miles northeast of Bublitz.

Neustettin, stubborn German defensive center, was in danger of being surrounded, with the Rus-

Appropriation Bill Approved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—A $2,453,177,125 deficiency supply bill, more than two-thirds of it for the Navy, was approved today by the House Appropriations committee.

It makes up deficiencies in funds previously supplied miscellaneous agencies for the fiscal year ending next June 30. It also finances a stepped-up veterans' placement program contemplating an Army discharge rate of 200,000 to 250,000 men a month after Germany's defeat.

In its report transmitting the big measure to the House floor, the committee went out of its way to compliment the Office of Price Administration for "performing a most difficult and Herculean task in a very praiseworthy manner." The committee approved an additional $6,235,000 for the agency.

Request Striken Out

Stricken from the bill on the grounds it had not been requested by the War department was a $40,000 request for reestablishment of the office of high commissioner of the Philippines.

The committee also turned down a request of $256,764,881 to restore the impairment of capital stock of the Commodity Credit Corporation. The committee said it is waiting the outcome of its own investigation of CCC.

The $1,914,120,488 allotted to the Navy in the measure, in addition to contractual authority for $14,300,000, boosted that agency's funds for the current fiscal year to approximately $30,000,000,000.

WMC Fund Included

Other items approved included: War Manpower commission, $5,567,400, largely for additional work connected with finding jobs for veterans.

Federal Works agency, $20,000,000 for construction of new community facilities.

Public Roads administration, $23,000,000 access roads and strategic highways.

National Housing agency, $84,373,000 for additional war housing.

Veterans administration, $246,775,000, largely for increased pensions to veterans.

State department, $25,000 to finance American participation in the United Nations commission for the investigation of war crimes.

Federal crop insurance, $30,000,000 to insure spring wheat, cotton and flax and corn and tobacco crops on a trial basis.

Two Women Killed In Plant Explosion

SHREVEPORT, Feb. 27. (AP)—Two women were killed and five others injured early tonight in an explosion at the Louisiana ordnance plant, 20 miles east of here.

Major L. K. Kallmyer, commanding officer of the plant, identified the dead as Dilla K. Brown, Minden, La., and Gloria Brewer, Doyline, La.

Names of the injured were not available immediately. Kallmyer said none was seriously hurt.

Cause of the explosion was not known.

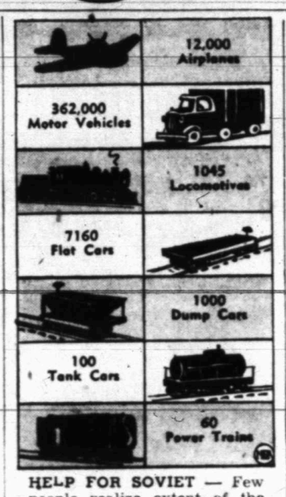

Jap Fleet Is Already Licked, Halsey Says

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 27. (AP)—The Japanese fleet won't come out and fight because it's already licked, and the Philippine campaign is going "better than we ever dared to hope," says Adm. William Halsey, jr., four-star commander of the Third Fleet.

The tanned and erect 62-year-old admiral has been vacationing at the 4,000-acre estate of Col. John Hay Whitney near here, and he planned to leave today.

Surprise Latin Move Delayed

By FLORA LEWIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 27—The United States managed to postpone for 24 hours today a surprise move to commit all the American nations to guarantee the frontiers and political independence of the countries in this hemisphere with their armed might.

Senator Warren Austin (R-Vt), member of the foreign relations committee, intervened just as a commission of the Inter-American conference here was about to pass the plan by acclamation.

Dramatically entitled "The Declaration of Chapultepec," the resolution combines proposals put forward by Uruguay, Colombia and Brazil. Conference sessions are being held at Chapultepec castle.

Ahead Of World Meet

The surprise came in the determination of the other countries here to forge links of steel among the American republics immediately, without waiting for establishment of a world security organization at San Francisco.

The "Declaration of Chapultepec" goes beyond the Dumbarton Oaks plan in one important point:

The signatory nations would be obliged to use force when aggression or a "sure threat" of aggression developed on this continent.

Austin managed to get the vote put off until tomorrow on two grounds. The resolution was in Spanish, and he said he did not have an English copy. Also, since he said it would commit the armed forces of the United States, he wanted to wait to consult Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the foreign relations committee, who was expected to arrive later today.

Requires U. S. Approval

It seems clear that full adherence by the United States would require congressional approval, probably a two-thirds Senate ratification as for any other treaty.

The United States position thus far has been not to make commitments, which would necessitate Senate action, before the United Nations conference in San Francisco, set for April 25.

Points Of Declaration

Points of the "Declaration of Chapultepec" include:

1. "All sovereign states are juridically equal, among themselves.

2. "Every state has the right to be respected by other members of the international community in its personality and independence.

3. "Any attempt of a state against the integrity or the inviolability of territory, against the sovereignty or political independence of an American state

President's Aide Dies On Cruiser

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL CRUISER, In The Atlantic, Feb. 20 (AP) (Delayed)—Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Matson, the man who made President Roosevelt's official appointments, died at sea today on the way home from the Crimea conference.

General Watson was 61. A cerebral hemorrhage caused the death of the presidential secretary and military aide.

Expressing his great personal sorrow at the loss of a "close friend and associate," Mr. Roosevelt said it was Watson's "sense of duty and determination to see the war through that made him insist on taking this trip with me."

May Split Up Job

The President had no immediate plans for naming a successor but it is expected he will divide the job and appoint both a new aide and a new secretary.

For the President's security his cruiser maintained radio silence. But an escorting destroyer was dispatched to a safe distance to send word of Watson's death to his widow and convey Mr. Roosevelt's condolences. She was informed the body would be brought home for burial, expected to be in Arlington National cemetery.

Kitchens Now Only U. S. Tin Mines

WPB Man Helps Launch Drive For Salvage Of Cans

THE only tin mines this nation has are in the kitchens of the American housewife and, speaking for Lubbock, an organized effort will be made to do something about working them.

The announcement was made Tuesday afternoon, after a Lions club war activities committee headed by Clem Boverie had voted to sponsor a drive to make the public more conscious of the government's need for collection by every individual of so-called tin cans. A day before, bottlers had agreed they would collect the cans, which would be placed in boxes marked by a sign paid for by the Lions club, from grocery stores.

Lewis C. Huff, representative of the War Production board, was here for both meetings.

Huff said the cans, a minimum of 15 tons to the car, will be shipped to a de-tinning plant at East Chicago, Ind., as fast as they can be prepared and loaded.

Other de-tinning plants have been set up, under exigencies brought on by wartime.

Tin is an essential and unique metal, both on war and civilian life. The Japanese conquest of Malaya and the Dutch East Indies shut off about seven-tenths of the tin sources of the anti-Axis nations. Stockpiles this nation so painstakingly built must not be allowed to dwindle further, the government has urged, and part of the tin we count on must come from reclamation of salvaged tin cans.

It is used in many weapons of

Carriers Deal Vital Blow To Tokyo And Verde Island Cleared Of Nips

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Wednesday, Feb. 28 (AP)—The more than 200 Superfortresses raiding Tokyo Sunday burned out 240 blocks in the heart of the city, an area including factories and the business districts, the 21st Bomber command disclosed today.

Photo reconnaissance bore out the extent of the damage wrought by the largest force of B-29s ever sent against the Japanese capital.

This devastation added to the blows delivered Sunday and Monday by carrier-based planes of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's task force.

The area devastated covered 29,740,000 square feet or 667 acres.

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

FIRMLY-ENTRENCHED Japanese defenders of little Iwo Jima, vital shield of the Nippon mainland, gave ground slowly yesterday before the grim U. S. Marines driving northward with close artillery, naval gun and air support.

Eight hundred enemy pillboxes have been counted in the Third Marine division sector alone. This indicated how badly the Japanese want to hold the strategic island 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Infiltration Fails

Further Japanese attempts to infiltrate American lines were reported today in Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' communique which told of limited gains in the center and right flank. The Japanese still have tanks, artillery and mortar in action on Iwo, and resistance was heavy throughout Tuesday, ninth day of the Campaign.

Meanwhile it was disclosed that Japan's airplane industry suffered a vital blow last Sunday when Yank carrier planes hit the Tokyo region. Five major assembly and engine plants were virtually ruined.

In the Philippines Yank doughboys completed destruction of the Japanese garrison on Verde island, 70 miles south of Manila. Others advanced in the Montalban sector northeast of Manila, and in the Antipolo region east of the metropolis. In the latter area the Yanks forged ahead in spite of heavy Japanese mortar, machinegun and artillery fire.

The Marines on Iwo, fighting from higher ground, were nearing the mid-island town of Motoyama. The Leathernecks, in their new elevated positions hold observation posts from which to direct accurate artillery and naval gun fire against the heavily defended northern half of the island.

Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith, Marine commander, said the end was in sight on Iwo, and that Yank conquest will probably be completed in a few days but it was obvious that the Devildogs faced a hard drive through strong fixed positions.

The Japanese acknowledged that the Marines had launched an allout attack. They conceded that the Leathernecks hold the entire southern part of the island, including Mt. Suribachi.

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher gave this incomplete box score on the smashing Fifth fleet

Ice Storm Damage Isolates Denison

(By The Associated Press)

Winter, long in retreat before what seemed to be an unbeatable early spring, yesterday launched a counter-offensive behind a barrage of snow, sleet, ice, rain and thunderstorms that numbed most of Texas.

Hardest-hit area was in northeast Texas, with Denison as the hub. The worst storm in the city's history made it a virtual ghost town without communication with the outside world.

Public Utilities Fail

Electricity failed, an emergency water pump was wavering, telephone and telegraph lines snapped and many major highways leading to Denison were blocked by snapped wires and uprooted trees.

Many stores closed, operations virtually ceased at nearby Perrin field, interurban service halted with the trolley lines broken in 15 places between McKinney and Denison, 600 local telephones were out of order, and Fire Chief Pat Lowe said he didn't know what would happen if fire broke out last night with water pressure low.

The storm, according to I. W. Davis, district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, covered an area roughly bounded on the east by Honey Grove, on the north by Red river, on the west by Ringgold and on the south by Fort Worth and Dallas.

Sherman Recovering

Nearby Sherman was breaking through its own worst ice storm in history, with transportation stalled, electric power and telephone lines down in many sections, and blocks of residence streets barricaded by ice coated debris from broken trees.

Snow fell in the Panhandle and at many West Texas points, thunderstorms and torrential rains struck other areas, and added to the threat were flooding streams which swamped some highways and caused danger to livestock.

These reports came in from over the state:

Brownwood had a low of 29 degrees, 2.20 inches of rain, and sleet, snow, and a heavy thunderstorm Monday night. Trees were ice-coated but the snow began to melt late yesterday.

Wichita Falls reported the first snowfall of the year. It totalled 2.8 inches and disrupted city transportation.

Plan Approved On Redistricting

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP) — The House Redistricting committee today by a 12 to 2 favorable vote recommended passage of a bill by Harley Sadler of Sweetwater providing for legislative redistricting of the state.

This bill, which Sadler said represents "two years of work," was given a final fine-combing in subcommittee during the past two weeks before it came up for consideration today. With only one minor change it was accepted as presented.

Under its provisions representatives from the metropolitan districts will represent approximately 52,803 persons each, and from the rural districts, 38,000.

Legislative redistricting has been designated as an emergency matter by Governor Coke Steven-

Ration Values On Beef Readjusted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Point values on choice beef cuts will be slightly lower beginning Sunday while the ration cost of cheaper beef will be hiked a little.

The OPA has decided on this adjustment, it was learned today, because in some areas, mainly producing centers, high-point cuts have not been moving. On the other hand, low values on such cuts as flank and brisket have caused a scarity of those items.

School Trustee Election Is Set

Trustees of Lubbock Independent School district last night re-elected all principals for additional two-year terms and, under the law, set Saturday, April 3 as date for this year's election of trustees.

Terms of Trustees Hubert L. Allen and Paul Hardwick, sr., expire this year and both men announced following the meeting they would be candidates to succeed themselves. Hardwick, vice-president of Citizens National bank, is completing his first elective term; Allen, district executive of Southwestern Public Service company, is offering for his first elective term. Currently, he is filling out, by appointment, the unexpired term of W. B. Atkins, who resigned in December of 1942.

Both Have Children

Both Allen and Hardwick are parents of children in school. The former is a member of Lubbock Rotary club, the latter of Lubbock Lions club and both are widely known as civic and business leaders. Hardwick came to Lubbock 21 years ago, has one son in Senior High and another in Junior High. The family resides at 2307 Eighteenth. Allen's two elder children, a son and daughter, received all their education in the local system. His younger child is now a Senior High student. A past president of the chamber of commerce, Allen has resided in Lubbock for 25 years. He resides at 2124 Seventeenth.

Both Hardwick and Allen are members of the school board's athletic committee and, with Board Secretary R. F. Bayless, worked out the all-school sports program aimed at touching all pupils from the primary grade through Senior High and now getting well under way.

Selected to supervise the election were three men who have acted in similar capacities in city, school, state and national elections here for many years. They are Glen Hess, to be chairman; R. Bush Smith and P. C. McCoy.

Negro Report Accepted

The board, holding its regular monthly business meeting in its offices at 1007 Texas avenue, heard and approved a report and recommendations regarding negro school matters made jointly by Trustee Chas. A. Guy and Supt. R. W. Matthews. Matthews and Guy, with Business Manager A. C. Jackson acting as secretary, have recently held three lengthy meetings with representatives of the negro community in effort to ameliorate differences of opinion among negro population regarding sending all negro students to the newly enlarged Dunbar school.

Nazis Losing Fight Spirit

Prisoners Scooped Up By Hundreds And Town After Town Falls To Americans

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Feb. 27—American infantry and armor smashed across the flatlands of western Germany today in advances of ten miles or more, plunging all the way to the Erft river and within 8½ miles of Cologne in a great drive that threatened the whole industrial Ruhr.

German prisoners were scooped up by the hundreds and town after town fell to the waves of troops racing forward by truck and afoot.

The spearhead of Gen. Eisenhower's mighty four-Army offensive was the U. S. Ninth Army, which by-passed the steel center of Muenchen-Gladbach on the west and dove to the Erft river at the village of Morken, 18 miles from Duesseldorf.

Resistance Feeble

German resistance was so feeble and apparently demoralized that a complete news blackout tonight was clamped on all operations of Ninth Army divisions which have broken through in this area. It was thought the Germans themselves might not know the full extent of the American breakthrough.

Americans racing recklessly eastward and northward in conjunction with the renewed drive of the Canadian First Army threatened to outflank the entire sector of the Siegfried line between its crumbling north flank and the big American breach at Aachen.

What Germans were left on the Siegfried defenses in the salient extending west as far as the Maas river at Roermond—probably not many of them now—were faced with the problem of hastily scrambling back or of being cut off entirely.

Northward Thrust

The Ninth Army's 84th division crossed the highway between Muenchen-Gladbach and Roermond in its northward thrust and captured the town of Waldniel in and advance of more than ten miles.

Armored forces, driving beyond captured Erkelenz and through the big highway center of Rheindahlen, were less than three miles from Muenchen-Gladbach, whose population approximated 200,000.

While this wing of Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's Ninth Army was ploughing northward toward a junction with the Canadian First Army, the 29th, 30th and 35th divisions continued driving almost due east between Duesseldorf and Cologne.

Other towns fell rapidly

Relentless Air Blows Continue

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Wednesday, Feb. 28,—Berlin was attacked from the air twice during the night after more than 3,000 Allied bombers had hammered Germany's disintegrating rail network during the day in carrying the obliteration blitz against the Reich into its third straight week.

Early in the night RAF Mosquitos dropped two-ton blockbuster bombs on the capital, under attack for the eighth successive night, and shortly before 3 a. m. This morning the German radio said Berlin again was being bombed.

Other bomber formations were reported over the Reich and single planes roamed wide areas of Germany, creating confusion for the enemy's "achtung" warning service throughout the night.

The night attack followed blows by more than 3,000 Allied bombers today which carried the obliteration blitz on Germany into its third straight week. Daylight raiders smashed heavily at the enemy's disintegrating rail network and vanishing fuel supplies.

The huge rail freight yards at Leipzig and Halle felt the full force of a U. S. Eighth Air force attack for the first time. More than 1,100 Fortresses and Liberators dumped thousands of tons of bombs into the crowded freight yards and repair shops in the major action of the day's operations.

20 U. S. Planes Missing

Thirteen bombers and seven fighters were missing.

Early today the German radio disclosed that the multiple Allied air attacks were continuing through darkness.

The luftwaffe offered no interference with the Eighth Air force's daylight operation and the Fortresses encountered only meager to moderate antiaircraft fire over Leipzig. The Liberators were less fortunate at Halle, however, where flak ranged from moderate to intense.

Escorting fighters shot down two planes, a Junkers 88 and a Dornier 217, and went on a strafing spree which netted more than 70 enemy planes destroyed on the ground.

Bombers of the 15th airforce carried the offensive from Italian bases into its fifteenth successive day with further smashes at German communications, striking heavily at railyards at Augsburg, junction of the main lines to Munich, Nuernberg, Stuttgart and Switzerland. Rocket firing Thunderbolts from Italy ranged over southern Austria in strafing attacks.

The RAF bomber command followed up the American blows by striking with one of the largest formations of Lancasters and Halifaxes used on a daylight raid this year at the railway center of Mainz on the left bank of the Rhine.

Farm Deferment Bill Is Passed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Legislation giving necessary and irreplaceable farm youths virtually airtight draft deferments was passed by a voice vote by the House today and sent to the Senate.

It reemphasizes and tightens the Tydings amendment to the Selective act which outlines procedure for the induction of farmers and requires draft boards to consider the essentiality and replaceability of registrants.

Outgrowth of dissatisfaction with the administration of the Tydings amendment, the new legislation expressly requires local boards to base their draft classifications "only" on the registrant's essentiality to necessary farmwork and the prospects for finding a replacement.

In other words, if a draft board has two registrants, one an essential farmer and the other an essential industrial worker, it could not draft the farmer.

Siegfried Line About Written Off

Collapse Of Maas Segment Would Leave Rhine Exposed

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

COLLAPSE of a 40-mile segment of the Nazi West Wall defense system between Roermond and Boxmeer on the Maas appears close as the American south and British-Canadian north jaws of a potential trap close in on its communications. Its fall would see the end of the Siegfried line fortifications west of the Rhine and expose the river itself to Allied attack along its whole lower reach from Bonn to Emmerich.

The plight of Nazi forces in the Roermond corner is already critical. American Ninth Army tanks surging northeastward out of the wide bulge to the west rim of the Erft valley have cut the Roermond-Gladbach railroad and are also threatening the parallel highway. A German retreat from the dangerous pocket to escape entrapment, abandoning the small sector of Dutch soil they still hold at the Roermond confluence and the fixed Siegfried line defenses behind it, appears in the cards.

That may be the moment Field Marshal Montgomery is waiting for to signal into action his British Second Army, lying along the Maas between the American Ninth and Canadian First armies. It is the only presently dormant sector of the west front from the Moselle valley to the Emmerich-Arnhem gateway to northwestern Germany as Eisenhower develops his big push to full strength against still spotty and relatively feeble Nazi resistance.

The developing Canadian-American north-south squeeze operation is only one phase of the surpris-

Senate Approves 9-Member Court Plan As House Debates Proposal

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Submission to the voters of a constitutional amendment establishing a nine-member Supreme court was approved in the Senate and debated inconclusively in the House today.

The Senate also passed on second reading another proposed constitutional change abolishing the office of constable. It must have another reading before a final vote is taken.

Resolutions calling for submission of constitutional amendments must pass both houses by two-thirds majorities before they are submitted to the people.

Both Houses Recess

Both houses adjourned until tomorrow. Important committee hearings, including consideration of House redistricting and consideration of a proposed anti-closed shop constitutional amendment, followed the morning's floor work.

The Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe to the constable-abolishing resolution, which would have provided that commissioners courts could establish the office in precincts where constables are needed. Sen. Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, author of the resolution, told the Senate it could give the resolution back to him if the Moffett amendment were adopted.

"I want to abolish the office of constable! It is outmoded. I went through the constitution and abolished the ward everywhere I saw it," he said.

Moffett's amendments failed to pass, and the Senate then voted 18 to 9 to pass the resolution on second reading. This had the effect of keeping it alive. Twenty-one affirmative votes are necessary, however, to final approval.

The House overwhelmingly passed and sent to the Senate a proposed constitutional amendment setting up a retirement, injury and death benefit system for state employes. House acceptance of Senate amendments sent to the governor for signature a bill increasing the pay of employes of the state's judicial system, but the House refused to accept Senate amendments to a bill raising the pay of workers in state colleges. Appointments of a conference committee to work out the difference was authorized by both branches of the legislature. Under the Senate amendment, such pay increases would be paid from the colleges' local funds instead of from the state's general fund.

Floor Proposals Beaten

Several floor amendments to the nine-member Supreme court proposal by Kyle Vick, of Waco, were beaten down in the Senate. In the House, an admendment by S. J. Isaacks of El Paso to provide for election of the nine Supreme court judges from the state at large was defeated.

As finally approved by the Senate, the judges of the court would be elected from the state as a whole. The House proposition, by Rep. R. N. Grisham of Eastland, provides for election of the Supreme court judges by districts.

The Senate proposition, providing that the matter be submitted to the people at an election on Aug. 25, 1945, would make the six judges of the commission of appeals associate justices of the Supreme court until the Jan. 1 preceding the expiration of their terms, and until their successors are elected and qualify.

As it is now set up in the constitution, the Supreme court consists of a chief justice and two associate justice, who are elected, and six members of the commission of appeals write opinions but have no vote.

USO Service Here Praised By Transfers

Lubbock USO hostesses have received numerous letters from transferred soldiers of South Plains Army Air field in which the local USO has been referred to as the "friendliest place in West Texas, or any place."

One of the soldiers said the USO at his new base is an ice box in comparison to the way the boys are treated here. They also complain because the service clubs at their new bases charge for food, whereas here, goodies and drinks were free.

Miss Leona Gelin, USO director, said a lot of the boys, who were stationed at SPAAF, come back to Lubbock on week-end leaves if they are within 100 miles or so.

INSURANCE BENEFITS

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (AP)—Texas families received $33,645,000 in life insurance death benefit payments during 1944, compared with $30,670,000 in the previous year, the Institute of Life Insurance reported today.

Manpower Shortage At Slaton Hi Fails To Halt Gym Work

SLATON, Feb. 27. (Special) — The wartime labor shortage has caused the Slaton High school little concern since discovering there are excellent carpenters enrolled in the school who know how to put down a gymnasium floor.

When the gymnasium was built, the architect failed to provide air space between the floor and foundation, and as a result, dry rot destroyed the floor.

Realizing it was almost impossible to secure carpenters, A. C. Strickland, vocational agriculture teacher, suggested that the boys in his class do the work.

The idea pleased school authorities and the project was begun last fall. A floor, plan, including a sub-floor, was drawn by class members. The students have done the work during class periods. The project is expected to be completed in about two weeks.

Not only has the school benefitted from the idea, but the students have learned how to apply theory and plans to actual contruction.

When basketball season closes, the Slaton Mothers club plans to sponsor a skating rink for students at the gym, according to M. S. Kavanaugh, sueprintendent of schools. The place will then be sort of a recreation center for students. He explained that a small fee will probably be charged for skating.

Legislation Offered To Hike Gold Price

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Legislation to increased the price of gold from $35 to $56 an ounce was introduced today after the federal reserve board proposed to reduce the gold reserve ratio to 25 per cent.

The legislation was sponsored by Senators McFarland (D-Ariz) and Scrugham (D-Nev).

"This is the answer to the attempt on the part of the federal reserve board to reduce the gold reserve ratio to 25 per cent," Scrugham said in a statement.

"If the price of gold is advanced to $56 per ounce it will permit the same expansion of federal reserve notes as decreasing the reserve ratio to 25 per cent and, to my mind, in a much more healthy fashion."

Scholarship In Tech Goes To Morse Girl

Miss La Verne Henderson of Morse, Texas Tech senior journalism major and business manager of the Toreador, was awarded the Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson scholarship for the school year 1943-44 when she was a junior it was announced by Cecil Horne, head of the department of journalism.

With a grade point average of 2.79, Miss Henderson was closely contested by Vicky Martin, associate editor of the Toreador, whose average was 2.41. The scholarship is given yearly to sophomore or junior journalism major who has the highest grade point average in all subjects.

Two other journalism scholarships, the Wilbur C. Hawk and Avalanche-Journal, awarded annually for best work in reporting, have been discontinued for the duration at suggestion of donors. It is expected these scholarships will be available after the war, according to Horne.

Essair Service Here Is Approved Again

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (U.P.)—An examiner of the Civil Aeronautics board recommended again today that Essair, Inc., be granted CAB authority to operate between Houston and Amarillo.

The United States district court of appeals had remanded the case to CAB for further hearing on the company's organizational set-up. The court had set aside a certificate of operations granted Essair in November, 1943. The examiner's report today was based on evidence taken last week at Fort Worth in hearings involving five airlines operating in Texas and Oklahoma.

ESSAIR HAD HOPED TO BEGIN SERVICE MARCH 15

M. D. Fanning, chamber of commerce official, reported that when William Long, president of Essair, was in Lubbock Feb. 11, the company had hopes of starting service, to be inaugurated by March 15, between Houston and Amarillo, with stops in Lubbock, Abilene, San Angelo and Austin.

This would give Lubbock its first scheduled airline service.

Churchill Upholds Settlement Of Polish Question, Praises Soviet

By ALEX SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 27—Prime Minister Churchill upheld the Crimea conference Polish settlement today as embodying "just and right" Soviet territorial claims, disclosed the Big Three had agreed to give Poland Danzig and upper Silesia along with other territory at German expense and defended vigorously the good faith of Marshal Stalin and the Soviet regime.

Opening in the House of Commons a three-day debate in which he is asking Britain to commit herself to the broad principles of the Crimea conference, Churchill declared that the American onslaught against Japan had brought the war in the Pacific to its peak period.

The conflicts in Europe and Asia taken together have now reached an "overall or double-peak period," he said, the war against Germany having "been prolonged for a good many months beyond what was hoped for last autumn."

Churchill said that the Big Three had agreed to give Poland "the great city of Danzig and the greater part of East Prussia west of Koenigsberg" as well as "a long wide sea front on the Baltic," the industrial province of upper Silesia and such other territory east of the Oder river as the peace conference might car to take away from Germany.

"The Russian claim, first advanced at Tehran in November, 1943, has always been unchanged for the Curzon line in east," Churchill said, "and the Russian offer has always been that ample compensation should be gained for Poland at the expense of Germany in the north and in the west.

"I think the Russian claim to it is just and right."

Churchill, formerly a leading critic of the Soviet Union and Communism, made one of his few departures from a conversational tone to speak with emphasis when he touched on the matter of the Soviet Union's good faith.

Again and again Churchill, appearing fit and in fine fettle, emphasized existence of complete Allied harmony in the prosecution of the war and in plans for controlling Germany after its collapse. But he simultaneously stressed the need for unity in forming an organization which will give all nations "great and small, victor or vanquished," security against an aggressor.

Without qualification, the Prime Minister told Commons that the new security league would be patterned after the old League of Nations but that it would be "a far stronger body in which the United States will play a vitally important part."

For the little countries, concerned about their future role in international affairs, the Prime Minister offered this assurance: "The world organization cannot be based upon the dictatorship of the great powers. It is their duty to serve the world, not to rule it."

In dealing with Germany, Churchill made it clear that th major powers are firmly resolved that "Germany shall be totally disarmed, Nazism and militarism in Germany destroyed and war criminals justly and swiftly punished."

But at the same time his words were tempered with a message obviously designed to counteract Nazi propaganda that the German people themselves have nothing to look forward to but a future of slavery.

"It is not the purpose of the Allies to destroy the people of Germany or leave them without the necessary means of subsistence," he said.

Taking note of criticism stirred up by French absence from the Crimea conference, the Prime Minister asserted flatly that "the first principle of British policy in western Europe is a strong France and a strong French Army." Commons cheered this.

News Briefs

M. E. Patton, minister of Walnut Street Church of Christ, addressed the luncheon of the Optimist club Tuesday in Lubbock hotel, speaking on "The Bible and Business." He was introduced by R. E. Key, program chairman.. A guest was Wendell Morrisset, A/S, of the U. S. Navy. President M. L. Shepherd presided.

Funeral services for Mrs. Georgia Ann Davis, 73, of 514 Ave. F, who died Monday in a Lubbock hospital, were conducted at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Bryan McDonald and Son chapel. Dr. J. O. Ellsworth of the Church of Christ of Latter-Day Saints read the service. Pallbearers were Jimmie Davis, Jake Vogeli, George Moore, Glen Morgensen, E. H. Taber and Charlie Roberts.

Funeral services for C. I. Vermillion, about 70, of Crosbyton, who was fatally injured when he was thrown from the rear door of an ambulance near Lubbock Monday, will probably be held Sunday, Marr Funeral home of Ralls said.

Cigaret Retailers Keeping Licenses

DALLAS, Feb. 27. (U.P.)—Even though there may not be enough cigarets to go around, Dallas retailers haven't given up hopes.

Frank Whipple, deputy city tax collector in charge of licenses, said latest count showed that Dallas has 1,404 licensed dealers, adding that less than 50 have failed to renew their licenses this year.

Whipple said, "Since the annual fee is only $2.50 dated from the time it is issued, most dealers seemed to be renewing because they hope the cigaret supply situation will gt better at any moment."

Perhaps the $2.50 had something to do with it. In Chicago, where the license fees for cigarets are much higher, 3,500 dealers gave up the privilege this year. A gamble with $2.50 wouldn't break a man.

Rites Set Today For Muleshoe Minister

MULESHOE, Feb. 27. (Special)—Funeral services for Rev. T. C. Willett, 68, pastor of Muleshoe Methodist church, will be read at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the church. He died unexpectedly Monday afternoon.

The minister, who had preached twice from his pulpit Sunday, explained to Mrs. Willett at lunch Monday: "I believe I won't eat much lunch." He arose from the table and said he believed he would "go lie down—but I don't feel badly."

He died peaceably a brief time later, on his bed, said J. M. Forbes, editor of The Muleshoe Journal.

The minister, a graduate of Southwestern university in Georgetown, Texas, had served his first appointment in 1909, at Post, and had other West Texas charges before moving to Muleshoe, where he was serving his second year.

He had not been ill recently, and his health apparently was excellent.

He is survived by his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Don Fleming of Logan, N. M., and three sons, Donald B. Willett of New Orleans, Thomas Wilbur Willett of the U. S. Army in Belgium and John Russell Willett of the U. S. Army in China.

The minister was born Feb. 6, 1878, in Wise county Texas, and was married Nov. 21, 1909, to Miss Mary Wyche Davis of Jim Ned, Texas.

Rites Held Tuesday For Ralls Infant

RALLS, Feb. 27. (Special)—Last rites for 6-months-old Jo Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Wallace of Ralls, were read at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon from Ralls Baptist church. The infant died Saturday morning in bed, presumably from a heart ailment.

The service was read by the pastor, Rev. J. H. McLain, and burial will be in Crosbyton cemetery this afternoon, Will Marr Funeral home announced.

Postwar Farm Controls Seen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (U.P.)—Congress has been warned that farm price and acreage controls will be inevitable after Germany is defeated, it was revealed today.

Vice President Ralph W. Olmstead of the Commodity Credit Corp. told the House appropriations committee this was a major reason for seeking to hike CCC borrowing power from $3,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000.

Olmstead said American agriculture is due for an economic jolt because:

1. It has been shown that the European market, counted on to support American farm production for a couple of years after the war, will not exist.

Food Demand To Be Light

2. "Even the demand for free food (among liberated countries) will be nothing like what has been forecast a year or two ago."

3. Domestic demand will decline because of the release of labor from war plants.

4. A vast surplus of foodstuffs is in Army warehouses.

Olmstead concurred in a statement of Chairman Clarence Cannon, (D., Mo.), of the appropriations committe, that all factors put together will cause the CCC "to drop on the American farmer the greatest surplus of food and fibers ever known in the history of the world."

Olmstead said this "inevitably" will mean postwar control of farm production acreage and of farm prices through supports and subsidies.

U. S. Oil Production Hits All-Time Record

TULSA, Feb. 27. (AP)—United States crude oil production increased 8,250 barrels daily in the week ended Feb. 24 to 4,777,250 barrels daily—a new all-time record—the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

California output increased 300 barrels a day to 902,450; eastern fields, 2,600 to 60,100; Illinois, 1,800 to 205,800; Kansas, 1,500 to 272850; Louisiana, 50 to 363,600; Oklahoma, 2,200 to 368,500, and the Rocky mountain area, 5,250 to 129,750.

Texas production was unchanged at 2,146,400 barrels daily and East Texas at 392,000. Michigan output declined 6,550 barrels daily to 44,500.

Mississippi production was 51,450 compared to 51,500 for the preceding week.

Opinions Differ On Sweep Of Flu Here

There seems to be a question of whether influenza has reached the epidemic stage in Lubbock, according to a check with hospitals and doctors Tuesday.

Some of the doctors said they have had more cases of flu the last few weeks than normal; others said they did not think the number of cases alarming for this time of year.

Pneumonia cases have been prevalent, but as one doctor explained, more can be expected as a result of the large number of flu cases now.

Navy Plans Expansion Of Storage Facilities

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (U.P.)—The Navy's ordnance program for the 1945 fiscal year calls for a 15 per cent expansion in storage facilities and an additional $92,021,392 for new construction, the House Appropriations committee reported today.

Rear Admiral George F. Hussey, jr., told the committee that most of the new facilities would be permanent. Although needed immediately for the war, he said, they will be used for storing reserve supplies and for testing and developing new weapons after the war.

A major project is planned at the naval ammunition depot, McAlester, Okla., at a total cost of $11,789,000.

RED CROSS DAY

THE four major networks have named today Red Cross Radio day and they will devote some portion or all of every one of their commercial and sustaining programs to appeals to the public in support of the 1945 Red Cross War fund.

In addition to the appeals which will be broadcast over KFYO, information will be given to workers who are to aid in the finances campaign to be staged in Lubbock during March. There is indication from a pre-view that Lubbock's quota will be met and passed without any difficulty. Leaders say workers are more enthusiastic this year than ever before.

If you are interested in the overall Red Cross story, give a listen to the radio sometime today or tonight.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner: I'm writing this to let you know why some of the service wives don't work. At least most of my friends feel the same as I do; why work when they pay such low wages? We really couldn't make any money.

About this marrying for an allotment; that's a bunch of bunk. Who could live on fifty dollars a month? Besides, not all wives get allotment checks. The money I receive comes directly from my husband and it's voluntary. No one makes him send me a cent, but he sends me a hundred and fifty dollars a month of his own accord.

The Southland reader said the girls drag the service men to the altar and I certainly don't agree on that. It was my husband's idea that we get married. Anyway if a man doesn't want to get married he doesn't have to. Just wait until the Southland reader's son decides to get married and he certainly won't let any grass grow under his feet — no matter what Mom thinks.

As for the suggestion to put the service men's wives' money into bonds — that's foul. Why should we pay for this war as well as our husbands fight it for their wives as well as a lot of unappreciative civilians? (Service wives aren't considered civilians). Why is everyone trying to spend our money when we don't care what the rest of the people spend theirs for?

Besides, if you are so set on putting someone to work, why not go down to the "spit and whittle" corner and put the loafing males to work?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Shannon J. Keltz.

DEAR Mrs. Keltz: We are sorry we haven't published your letter before but it was mislaid with our papers and we only ran across it today.

We disagree that the statement some women have married for allotments is a "bunch of bunk," as you expressed it. That's like saying you don't believe a man ever beat his wife because you don't know one who ever has. So far as that goes, we know no such women (hope we never do) but the fact remains there are those who marry men in service for their allotments. Our local papers carried front page stories only last week of a woman in Shreveport, La., who had married four soldiers for their allotments, without going through the formality of a divorce between ceremonies.

We also disagree that a woman whose husband is in service owes no obligation to her country, to buy bonds or to engage in war work, provided she is in good health and has no ties at home, such as children or individual parents. We're not married but we do not feel that our three brothers in service are freeing us from an obligation to do everything to help with the war. We believe you feel the same way.

Since we never go down to the "spit and whittle" corner we wouldn't know about the loafing males you describe and anyway we aren't running a job agency.

Wonder if three on a cigarette are as unlucky as three on a match?

PREVENTING SHORTAGES

ONE of the nicest women we know prepares a birthday list of relatives and friends a year ahead of time and not distracted by other needs, pays visits to the card files early in the year and selects those that say exactly what she wishes.

You'd be surprised how many people buy greeting cards. Down at a card counter the other day we questioned the saleslerk at the surprising number of customers we saw, not only at the Valentine display, but throughout the whole files. "It's February," she replied, not telling us anything we didn't know but saying it with an air that plainly implied we had been spending the last few years in a cave, completely out of touch with the world.

Perhaps these women were stocking up on cards, as does our friend. They'll be ready to send just the right greeting when they remember dear Aunt Harriet's or the nice neighbor's birthday instead of rushing down town and searching the shelves madly at the last minute. It's much like having an extra fuse on hand if there's a short circuit.

Cheese Gift Finally Catches Army Man

SAN MARCOS, Feb. 27. (AP) — Lt. Jack Wallace's double-imported, much-traveled two-pound cheddar cheese has finally caught up with him.

A friend in Abilene sent the imported English cheese to Wallace, then in England, as a Christmas gift. Wallace returned to the United States in November, the cheese following him.

Yesterday Wallace and cheese made connections at the army air field here.

Pronunciation Plan For Arkansas Fails

LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 27. (AP) — The Arkansas House doesn't agree with the Senate on the need for establishing an official pronounciation for residents of this state.

The House hilariously shouted down a resolution by Senator Julian James of Jonesboro to fix "Ark-an-saw-yans" as the official pronunciation.

James said residents of Arkansas were referred to erroneously in some sections as "Ark-an-sans."

How to wash linens for longer wear

1. Shorten washing time in your machine. Churning things too long means added wear and tear.
2. Reduce rubbing by hand to a minimum. Friction has an abrasive effect—is hard on fabrics.
3. Avoid using an inferior bleach—which may be uncontrolled in action and break down the cloth.
4. Whiten safely with Purex! Only Purex is made by the Intrafil Process—insuring uniform bleaching action. This is Purex Controlled Action!

TRY THE 2-MINUTE PUREX BEAUTY BATH for kitchen and bathroom. Directions on bottle label.

War's End To Bring Major Food Glut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—A prediction that war's end will drop upon American farmers the greatest glut of surplus food in history came today from the House Appropriations committee.

Principal reason: The demand for food in liberated Europe has been far short of expectations. Liberated areas beat American guesses on how long it would take them to restore farm production.

In committee testimony made public today Ralph W. Olmstead, vice-president of the Commodity Credit corporation, said:

"The areas of Europe liberated so far—France, Belgium, Italy, Poland, Romania and such places—did not require any such quantities of food as had been previously estimated. . . . In fact the effective requirements were much below the initial estimates."

Five Texas Areas Get Housing Facilities

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Five points in Texas were named for housing facilities to be constructed under a request to Congress today for funds to relieve the housing shortage in areas where it is hindering full war production.

The request, part of one for $84,373,000 for the National Housing agency, was made in a deficiency supply bill reported to the house by its appropriations committee.

A hundred family units were listed for Fort Worth, 200 for McGregor, and 150 for Camp Hood. 150 trailer units were listed for Beaumont-Orange and 25 for Falfurrias.

U. S. 'Goop Bomb' Probably Causing Berliners Trouble

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Very likely it's the "goop bomb" that is bothering Berliners.

Washington officials advanced this possibility today, after a Swedish dispatch reported new-type incendiary bombs have been dropped on Berlin by the U. S. Air force, causing fires of "unprecedented extent" and baffling German fire fighters.

The goop, which the AAF says "cannot be extinguished," is no military secret. Use of the 500-pound missile was disclosed several months ago, but it is assumed here that it has been modified since.

It contains a mixture of jellied oil, powdered magnesium and other highly inflammable agents.

Chafing dishes were used prior to the invention of chimneys and were introduced in England about 1200.

Gen. Smith Says Marines Intend To Take Iwo In Few More Days

By MAC R. JOHNSON
United Press War Writer

ABOARD ADM. TURNER'S FLAGSHIP OFF IWO JIMA, Feb. 27—Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith, commanding general of Fleet Marine forces in the Pacific, said today the Leathernecks "intend to take Iwo Jima in a few more days."

Smith was in high spirits after making a long tour of the American-held portion of Iwo Jima.

No Shortage of Courage

"There are no shortages on the island—not even of courage," he said.

He did not elaborate on the statement that Iwo would fall in a few days.

He added that due to the numerous caves on the island, "we will have difficulty in running down Japanese guerillas for some time after the seizure of the island."

Summing up impressions gained during a visit to the Fifth Amphibious corps division and regimental command posts, Smith said he considered the progress of the campaign "satisfactory."

Enemy Short of Water

"It is my belief that the enemy is suffering from a shortage of water and is having difficulty in caring for his wounded," he said. "Advance Marines are finding caves with many enemy dead. The Japs are making every effort to hide their casualties and there is some evidence of suicides."

He said one cave near a quarry on the southeast coast contained more than 200 dead. They included Japs killed in battle, some suicides and some cremated bodies. The Japs apparently are pulling their dead and wounded back into their own lines, Smith said, adding that it was probable that enemy dead may be sealed in caves.

Marine Morale High

The general said he was impressed by the morale of Marine officers and men.

Smith said that as U. S. forces advance northward on Iwo, the going will be tougher. He said American casualties are becoming relatively smaller each day as the men become battlewise.

He said the Marines now hold about ten 23rds of the island and have denied the Japs their observation posts by occupying high ground in the center.

Hard Fighting Ahead

"There are some days of very hard fighting ahead of us but each day we find evidence the Japanese are becoming more jittery," Smith said.

He said the enemy troops had collected their drinking water during rainstorms in barrels and cisterns and many of these receptacles have been destroyed by U. S. shells.

Some Japanese have been infiltrating into the Marine lines in an effort to get water. Most have failed, he said.

State Wage-Hour Law Is Proposed

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—A state wage-hour law with the pattern and intent of the federal wage-hour act is proposed in a bill introduced today by Rep. James T. Sparks of Sherman.

The bill stipulates a basic five-day, 40-hour work week, with exceptions for emergencies.

The minimum wage is 50 cents per hour.

Overtime pay is at the rate of one and one-half times the rate regularly paid.

Enforcement is by the state labor commissioner and violations are subject to a fine not exceeding $500 and a jail sentence not exceeding 90 days. Employers would be required to keep records of rates of pay and working hours of employes.

The labor commissioner, by regulation, could exempt from terms of the act learners, apprentices and workers physically or mentally disabled.

The bill does not contravene federal or state laws or municipal ordinances which establish higher minimum wages and lower maximum hours than those proposed by sparks.

HEARINGS SCHEDULED

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (U.P.)—Hearings on the Senate bill to raise the motor truck load limit to 48,000 pounds and the bill to prohibit discrimination against short-haul bus passengers were set for Tuesday night, March 6, by the Senate highway committee, today.

McKeever Signs As Cornell Coach

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 27. (AP)—Cornell university considered applications from 41 eager volunteers and today signed Ed McKeever, whose 1944 Notre Dame team won eight of ten games, as head football coach.

Texas-born and Texas-trained Edward Clark Timothy McKeever will report at Ithaca April 1, and expects to start spring training fifteen days later.

Salary and contract terms were not made public by Robert Kane, Cornell athletic director, who issued the announcement after a final conference here with McKeever.

The Notre Dame coach succeeds Carl Snavely, who resigned after the 1944 football season to return to the University of North Carolina.

After directing the Notre Dame team in three 1943 games, when Head Coach Frank Leahy was ill, McKeever took over the number one job at South Bend last season after Leahy entered the Navy. He was the first non-graduate head man at Notre Dame.

McKeever, born Aug. 25, 1910, in San Antonio, Tex., received his first football instruction from Jack Meagher, now coach at Iowa Pre-Flight school. Meagher then was at St. Edwards, a prep school in Austin, Tex. After a freshman year at Notre Dame, the new Cornell coach moved to Texas Tech, where he played under Pete Cawthon.

He was backfield coach at Tech until he joined Leahy at Boston college in 1939. He moved to Notre Dame along with Leahy in 1941. He is married and the father of young twin daughters.

Snead Crowds Nelson For Top Money Spot

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Picking up $2,666 in the last two tournaments, Sammy Snead, the ex-sailor, today moved into the front ranks of challengers to Byron Nelson's golf money winning crown.

Nelson, who set an all-time record last year when he won $40,000, still leads the 1944-45 winter circuit with a total of $14,068.66, but Snead moved into second place with $12,516.66, only $1,552 away.

There are six tournaments still to go with $47,498 prize money at stake.

Snead's Pensacola victory Sunday was his fifth of the winter season against four for Nelson. His money winning total probably would be nearly equal to Nelson's if the bad back which led to his discharge from the Navy had not kept him out of two tournaments.

With the golfing caravan headed here for the $6,666 Jacksonville Open, Harold (Jug) McSpaden held third place among the money winners with $8,535.66. Sam Byrd, the former outfielder, was in fourth place with $5,575.50 followed by Sgt. Jim Ferrier with $4,565.

Rounding out the top 10 are Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, $4,203; Claude Harmon, $3,458; Ky Laffoon, $3,166; Mike Turnesa, $3,000 and Johnny Revolta, $2,835.

Others who have won more than $1,000 since the winter season began at Portland, Ore., in November are:

Denny Shute, $2,575; Willie Goggin, $2,477.50; Craig Wood, $2,406; Henry Picard, $2,404; Ray Mangrum, $2,199; Sam Schneider, $1,704; Charles Congdon, $1,694; Ted Longworth, $1,656; Bruce Coltar, $1,605.50; Leonard Dodson, $1,562; Bob Hamilton $1,477; Fred Wood, $1,416, and Johnny Bulla, $1,066.

Hanger Ties For Top In LAAF Cage League

Section C Hanger romped to a 47-12 victory over Section B Tuesday night at the Lubbock Army Air field gym to pick up a postponed game that left the Hanger club tied with Section I and Finance for the first half title. The Section C Line club has won the last half.

Cecil Hefner looped in 16 points and Revis Harris accounted for 15 more to pace the Hanger club to the win.

Section I and Finance play Wednesday night, with the winner meeting Hanger for the first half championship.

BABE HERMAN RETIRES

ONTARIO, Calif., Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Babe Herman, veteran home run king, has quit baseball "for good" after 23 years in the major and minor leagues, Buck Fausett, manager of the Pacific Coast League Hollywood Stars, said today.

Pairings Drawn For Cage Meet

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 27 (Special)—Four Closs A schoolboy basketball teams, boasting of a combined won and loss record of 81 wins and 27 losses, will move on the Wayland college gym here Friday and Saturday to battle for the Region One, Class A crown.

The tournament will open Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Canadian cagers meeting the Lockney Longhorns in the opening game. This will be followed at 3 o'clock with the clash between the Levelland Lobos and Friona.

LOBOS BEAT COOPER

The Levelland Lobos won their 30th victory of the season Tuesday night at Cooper, beating the Class B champions of District 7, 51-29, in a practice tilt for the regional tournament both clubs will enter this week-end.

Jess Clairdy set the pace for the winners with 24 points, and helped to boost the season's total of the Lobos to 1,184 points for the season. Johnson paced Cooper with ten points.

The Levelland B team won the opener, 20-16, with Peterson leading the winners with eight point, while Billy Watson paced Cooper with six.

Play will be resumed at 8:30 o'clock Friday night, with the losers of the afternoon game playing, and the two winners playing at 9:30 o'clock. This will reduce the field to three teams, and name one finalist.

Saturday Big Day

The two losers of Friday night's games will play at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, with the winner moving into the finals at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Kenneth Kendricks of Phillips was named as referee for the tournament. First and second place teams will receive trophies, with gold basketballs going to the five All-Regional players from the tournament.

Two high scoring teams in the tournament will be co-favored with most critics giving the favorite nod to Canadian. The other favorite will be Levelland, a team that has lost two years in a row at the regional tournament finals, and both times by one point to gain the name of the "hard luck" boys of the annual meet.

Records of Teams

The Canadian team has won 27 games this year, and lost 11, piling up 1,239 points to their opponents 913. This record does not really match that of the Levelland lads, who have scored 1,133 points to 618 for their opponents in winning 29 games and losing only three.

Friona brings a record of 20 wins and 8 losses to the tournament, while Lockney's Longhorns have won 15 and lost 5.

Here are the regional set-ups for tournaments this week-end.

Region 1 at Plainview—Friona, Canadian, Lockney, Levelland.

Region 2 at Abilene — Baird, Kermit, Dublin, Ballinger.

Region 3 at Decatur—Holliday, Nocona, Azle, Gatesville.

Region 4 at Commerce—Grand Prairie, Plano, Quitman, Mt. Vernon.

Region 5 at Price—Teneha, East Mountain (Gilmer), Huntsville, Kirbyville.

Region 6 at Pasadena — Cedar Bayou, French (Beaumont), Texas City, El Campo.

Region 7 at Lockhart—Brenham, Belton, Lockhart, Sidney Lanier (San Antonio).

Region 8 at Alice—Eagle Pass, Victoria, Aransas Pass, La Feria.

Regional tournaments in Class B will be held at Canyon, Abilene, Dallas, Kilgore, Houston, San Marcos, Kingsville and Marfa but all district champions will not be certified before Wednesday.

BLIND TOM SHORTAGE

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 27 (U.P.)—Ray Dumont today issued a call for umpires.

Dumont, the president of the National Baseball Congress, said that he was short about 1,200 of the allegedly "Blind Toms" of the diamond game because of the war, not the "boos" of the fans and the occasionally intemperate language of the players.

Farley Favored For Landis' Job

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP) — James Farley moved out front in the baseball commission race today as a bloc of clubowners was reported shifting support from President Ford Frick of the National League to the former postmaster general.

Although Farley never has said he is a candidate for the job it was believed he would be receptive.

Owners were sticking to a "no-comment" reply and a four man committee, named to flush out candidates, had postponed its first formal meeting. However, this group was supposed to make a preliminary report in 30 days which would make Monday, March 5 the deadline.

If the owners originally "sold" on an inside man for the job have shifted to Farley as reported, they probably will insist on setting up a promotional department within the office to be headed by a baseball man.

Frick was reliably reported to have commanded nine votes at the Feb. 3 meetings but opposition was strong enough to block him. Despite his visits to Washington with President Will Harridge of the American League, resulting in solution of the travel problem, several clubs still object to a candidate from within the game.

While the executives invited speculation by continuing to cloak the movements in secrecy, debate on the manpower legislation in Washington served to complicate further the diamond situation.

Until there is final action on the service legislation, the actual fate of the game remains in doubt. With spring training scheduled to start within 10 days and player contracts slow in returning, the owners can do little but mark time.

Westerners To Miss San Angelo Events

The track and field team of the Lubbock Westerners will be unable to attend the annual San Angelo track and field show this season, it was announced Tuesday night by E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic director of Lubbock schools.

The school had listed the San Angelo show as one of the meets planned for this season, but when the invitations arrived from Coach Jewell Wallace it was learned that the San Angelo meet was scheduled on the same date as the area meet here, April 14, at which time Lubbock will be competing with Plainview and Brownfield trackmen to name area entrants for the regional meet.

Invitations were also received from Odessa High school for the invitation meet there on April 7, and are being considered.

Weather permitting, Coach Marlin R. "Shorty" Hayhurst plans to hold another inter-squad track meet on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Fans Claim Lubbock Fighter Was Robbed

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27. (AP)—Le Bouef means "beef" in English and Referee Richard Le Bouef heard plenty of it last night.

Le Bouef lifted the hand of Sgt. Paul Roman as winner over Howell Steen at the end of the pair's torrid 10-round bout here last night and booing fans, believing Steen should have been given the decision, descended on the ring. Police protected Le Bouf, who said the early lead of the Barksdale Field middleweight entitled him to the verdict, despite the strong finish of Steen, former Lubbock, Texas, football player.

El Paso Boy Steals Show In Golden Gloves Tournament

CHICAGO STADIUM, Feb. 27 (AP)—Two spectacular young heavyweights—Adoleo Ouijano of El Paso, Texas, and Sgt. George Seibert of Pittsburgh, Pa.—drew the spotlight in the 18th annual Golden Gloves tournament in the stadium tonight with sensational victories.

Ouijano, 23 year old Army Air Force member stationed at Muroc Field, Calif., advanced to tomorrow night's quarter finals by scoring two knockouts in a total of 65 seconds.

He first disposed of Anton Thostenson of Minneapolis in 35 seconds and then flattened James Henderson, Fort Wayne, Ind., negro, in 30 seconds with powerful blows to the head. Ouijano, fighting as a member of the Los Angeles squad, scored three two-round knockouts in West Coast competition.

Seibert, a 22-year-old nephew of the late Stanley Ketchell, former world's middleweight champion, looked the part of his uncle in triumphing over John Steiner of Omaha, Neb. Seibert is a terrific puncher with either hand and had Steiner in distress early in their three round mix.

The tournament will reach a climax tomorrow night when the 64 survivors of the first two nights of bristling action make their showdown effort to be in the cast of 32 who will return to the tournament semi-finals and championship round March 9.

Milby Buffs Nose By Goose Creek Ganders

HOUSTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Milby High school, undefeated in 1945 play, defeated Robert E. Lee High of Goose Creek, 38-35, in the first of a three game basketball district series here tonight.

The Buffs held a 21-19 half time lead and then ran up a 37-27 advantage early in the fourth period before the Ganders started hitting to pull back into the game.

Austin Wins Opener Over Harlingen Five

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Austin High school defeated Harlingen High 51-28 here tonight in the opener of a best two out of three games series to determine the bi-district basketball champion.

Austin is District 15-AA champion, Harlingen winner of the district 16-AA title. The teams move to Harlingen Friday night and if a third game is necessary, it will be played in Harlingen Saturday night.

Eleven Records Fall Before SWC Cagers

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 27 (AP)—Eight team and three individual records were broken during the 1945 Southwest Conference basketball season, J. Willard Ridings, head of the Texas Christian university news service and a veteran sports statistician, announced today.

Three old records still stand — total points by a player in one game, 41 by Bill Henry of Rice, against Texas A. and M. in 1944; best season's defensive record, by Arkansas, which held opponents to 216 points in 1926, and player making most field goals in one game, 18 by Henry against A. and M. in 1944.

New records were:

Total points by player in one season—280 by Henry; old record—246 in 1944 by Henry.

Total points by team in one season—Rice, 803; old record—680 by Arkansas in 1944.

Points scored against a team in one season—766 against Baylor; old record—749 against A. and M. in 1944.

Total points by team in one game—95 by Rice against Baylor; old record — 81, made by Southern Methodist and Texas in 1944.

Greatest margin of victory—71 points by Rice in defeating Baylor 95-24; old record—45 points, by Texas in defeating A. and M. in 1944.

Total points by Both teams in one game—146, by Texas A. and M. and Texas; old record—137, by Rice and Texas in 1941.

Player making most field goals in one season—110 by Henry; old record—102, by Henry in 1944.

Team making most field goals in one season—333 by Arkansas; old record—287 by Rice and Arkansas in 1944.

Player making most free throws in one season — 60 by Henry; old record—54, by Johnny Adams of Arkansas in 1941.

Team making most free throws in one season—158 by Southern Methodist; old record — 148, by Baylor in 1938.

Greatest deficit for one season—Baylor scored 425 points less than her combined opponents; old record—170, by Texas Christian in 1938.

Governor Signs New Fish Bill Into Law

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Texans may fish for bass and white perch legally after March 1 under terms of a new law signed today by Gov. Coke Stevenson.

The measure abolishing the former closed season (March and April generally) on all species of bass and white perch, whipped through both houses with a minimum of opposition and the governor's signature today made the enactment final. Because of the heavy majorities, the new law goes immediately into effect.

In addition to abolishing the closed season, the new law lowers the legal minimum size limit on all species of black bass from 11 to seven inches, and completely abolishes minimum size limits on all other fish.

It repeals scores of local laws relating to closed seasons and bag limits, but has no effect upon local laws governing licensing and number of hooks and lines allowed fisshermen. It does not preclude passage of local laws in the future.

It sets a bag limit of 15 on all species of black bass, providing however that not more than 10 of these 15 shall be of greater length than 11 inches. A bag limit of 25 was set on white bass, catfish and white perch.

It is considered grand larceny to steal a postage stamp.

Paschal Panthers Nip Sunset Bisons, 18-17

FORT WORTH, Feb. 27. (AP) — With all the excitement and fury which the score indicates, Paschal's Panthers slipped past Sunset of Dallas 18-17 here tonight to even up their bi-district series. The deciding game will be played in Dallas Friday night.

The Bisons jumped ahead and led throughout the first period. The Panthers surged in front early in the second period and held onto the ball for seven minutes, leading 9-7 at the half. Coach Charlie Turner's charges widened their winning margin early in the second half before a late Bison scoring spree tightened up the game.

Jack Robinson of Paschal copped high scoring honors for the tilt with eight points while Paul Mitchell of the Bisons was one point back.

The Fight On The PAC

It Must Not Include All Labor

IT is not surprising that a new organization of veterans of the current war is being set up under the name of "American Veterans of World War II." Nor is it surprising that the organization, to be called the "Amvets," has as one of its objectives opposition to and final overthrow of the Congress of Industrial Organization's Political Action committee as a force in American politics.

A great many people have come to the conclusion that the best way to defeat the objectionable aims of the CIO and its PAC is by taking a leaf from Sidney Hillman's own book—by organizing the opposition to the PAC into a weapon far more potent than Hillman can command. Too many people know that the CIO is a cover for Communists and "fellow travelers," and often is used by them as a tool to carry on their schemes to change the government and the American Way of Life. And because they are aware of this condition, they will be willing, under proper leadership, to actively fight for preservation of freedom as we know it—and as most want it—in this country.

Perhaps the "Amvets" will merge as the organization around which an all-out fight against Hillman & Co. can be rallied. But perhaps it won't be. As the "Amvets" announcement says, "no iron-clad policies can be set up until Army and Navy demobilization is considerable." Those who prefer continuation of the principles of Americanism as laid down by the Founding Fathers and nurtured by patriots ever since—as opposed to the foreign "isms" adopted by the PAC—must necessarily wait until the "Amvets," or some other organization, can set its policies and come before the whole nation with them.

This much, however, is certain:

Any organization formed to fight for a continuation of basic American principles must not encompass over-all opposition to, or hatred for, organized labor which, properly lead and operated, is purely American and democratic and not un-American. Simply because a radical branch of organized labor will be the principal target, sight must not be lost of the fact that honest labor is essential to the progress and the prosperity of the nation; comprises an important segment of our people; must be encouraged by us all for the good of us all.

Honest, sincere and reasonable labor has more to gain than any other group of Americans in a successful fight against selfish labor racketeers and gangster-ridden unions. Its active support always should be sought and welcomed in any sort of movement to keep the U. S. free and make it a better place in which to live.

WE are convinced that the rank-and-file of the nation's unionists are basically as honest and as patriotic as the rank and file of the rest of us.

Because the labor movement is young in this country, it is at times irresponsible—as has been stated by numerous union leaders, themselves. Time and experience will bring responsibility.

It also is true that some of the shrewdest men in the nation today are at the top of some unions and for selfish reasons sometimes have misled their followers. This is true in organizations outside labor, too.

It is further true that some labor leaders hold their members in line by violence and threats of violence; that they have built their organizations at the top after the gangsterisms of prohibition days and members of locals frequently are helpless to overthrow the yoke. This situation has been encouraged and protested by political deals of local, state, sectional and national scope.

But the day is coming, we are sure, when the rank-and-file of American labor will secure control of its own organization and meet on common ground with management and the public in constructing a new era in which life will be more pleasant and richer for all concerned.

No one opposes more than we the policies of men like Sidney Hillman, James Caesar Petrillo, Harry Bridges, Joe Curran and Willie Bioff who, in reality, are the rallying points for opposition millions of Americans have for excesses of organized labor. But no one appreciates more than we the rights of working people to a share of the fruits of their labor; to fuller, happier life, or their rights to be a force in the government. We feel that way, because we believe in fair play for all.

We never have, we never shall, approve persecution of the many in order to punish the few, no matter what the excesses of the latter may be.

If it were possible, overnight, to wreck organized labor and render it impotent, civilization would be set back in this country at least 100 years. Therefore, we shall never—and we do not believe the majority of Americans will ever—embrace a leadership based on blind hatred of all labor.

Such an organization cannot succeed and should not succeed for the good of the nation and all the people in it.

FOUR YOUNG MEN IN THE GOLD RUSH

II

That same evening the four adventurers, after a catfish dinner in a water-front restaurant, went to Jake Birdsall's room to talk over their plans.

Tom Plunkett wet a finger on his tongue and turned a page of the guidebook that lay on the table before him. "It says here," he said, "that the wagons ought to be light instead of heavy, because you'll run into deep sand, mud and mire, and a heavy wagon would sink to the subs."

"Yeh, but it's got to carry a heavy load, and how you goin' to manage that with a light wagon?" This came from Jake Birdsall.

"Well, now, let's see what we'll have to put on the wagon," said Mat Gordon. "We'll have to carry a tent big enough for four to sleep in, and four mattresses—"

"Git out!" Jake sneered. "Four mattresses. D'you want to take all the household furniture? We'll sleep on the ground. Take along a lot of blankets. No sheets; you'd have to wash 'em."

"All right," Mat continued. "A tent—and blankets—no mattresses. Lemme write it down. Then everybody'll have to take some clothing, such as shirts and drawers and one more suit—maybe two suits—and extra boots."

"Oughta to be several pairs of boots," Jake remarked. "The way they wear out in a rough country."

"What does it say in that guidebook?" Andy Gordon asked. "Read some more, Tommy, about what we'll need on the way."

First in the list fo supplies to go in the wagon, according to the book, was a kit of carpenter's tools—a saw, an augur, an axe, a hatchet, a gimlet, a chisel, a hammer, and a lot of nails of all sizes.

"Naturally we take all of them things without being told.'" was Birdsall's comment. "What else?"

Tommy read aloud a long list which included coils of rope, some light chains (you never know when you may need them, the book said), half a dozen balls of twine, some tin buckets, tin plates for use at meals, a coffee pot, tin cups. Needles, thread, buttons and scissors for repairing clothes. Also a strong box or two, with locks on them. Some warm woolen clothes and a heavy overcoat, for it gets very cold out there. A large quantity of soap, some towels, several wicker baskets, writing paper and pens and ink, a few blank books, pocket-knives, a lot of matches in boxes. Tommy stopped reading at this point and kept his place with a finger on the page. "The book says the matches are very important," he explained, "and be sure not to forget 'em, for you won't find a match on the way. It ays to take plenty of candles and a lantern for each person."

In the matter of arms the author advised every man to carry a good rifle, a pair of pistols, five pounds of powder and 10 pounds of lead. Also a bowie knife.

"What about grub?" This from Andy Gordon. "We eat on the way, you know. Maybe we're expected to browse on grass."

Tommy read the list of groceries: 150 pounds of flour; bacon, 150 pounds; coffee, 25 pounds; sugar, 30 pounds. "That's just for one man. For the four of us it would be four times that much."

"It's an awful lot of grub," Andy said. "Don't you think so, Jake?"

"Wait a minute," Tommy interrupted. "There's more to come. He's got down a keg of lard, 50 pounds of crackers, some cheese, salt and pepper."

"That's all?" Birdsall asked.

They discussed food supplies for half an hour and decided to cut down every item to about two-thirds of the amount proposed. "To help out on the meat we may be able to shoot some buffaloes, and I guess there'll be birds that we can kill," said Andy Gordon. "We're all purty handy with guns."

The group sat in silence for a little while. "I guess that about covers it," Jake Birdsall said. "We'll start to buy the things tomorrow. Also we must find a covered wagon and six oxen. We'll take them all by steamboat from here to St. Joseph."

Mat Gordon took from his pocket a map of the United States west of the Mississippi. "This map," he explained, "was sent to me by Bob Perrin. You-all know Bob; he went out there last year by land, the way we're going, and he sent this map back by mail—around by Panama, it took three months to get here—and it shows the route his party took. He says it's the best route of all.

The route, as mapped out, ran from St. Joseph to Fort Laramie, in Wyoming. From there on to Pocatello, in Idaho. The trail did not touch Colorado or Utah, but ran through Kansas, a corner of Nebraska, across Wyoming into Idaho. There it turned sharply across Nevada in a southwest direction, entering California just below Lake Tahoe.

"I wonder just how far it is by this trail," Jake Birdsall inquired.

"It's figured out here," Mat replied. "Perrin says it's a little more than 2000 miles from St. Joseph to Sacramento. I've checked that up by measurements made on the map, and he's right."

"Well, we can't count on more'n 15 miles a day with these ox teams, taking everything by and large, such as deserts, mud, mountains and so on," Jake said, as if talking to himself, "and that means only 90 miles a week if we lay off on Sunday as a rest day. Now, let's see—gimme a pencil and a piece of paper." He figured slowly, straightened up and said, "It means 22 weeks, fellows."

Bowles Hopes For Cut In Clothing Prices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Price Administrator Chester Bowles told Congress today he hoped to bring down prices of clothing 6 to 7 per cent by next August.

"They are at the top of our order of business," he testified before the Senate banking committee. "It is here that we have had our most dangerous increase in living costs since the hold the line order became effective."

"While the average prices of all items going into the cost of living have increased only 1.5 per cent, clothing prices have increased much more in addition to marked quality deterioration.

"Because clothing accounts for about 13 per cent of all living costs, this increase in clothing costs has contributed nearly all of the increase found in total living costs of low and middle income families."

Bowles appeared in support of legislation to extend the price control and stabilization act until Dec. 31, 1946. It is now due to expire next June 30.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY."

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

SO many things have been said about Eleanor Roosevelt, so many jokes told at her expense, that there seems to be little one can add to the collection.

Yet, a few days ago Mrs. Roosevelt had an item in her column which stamped her as an incorrigible Alice in Wonderland.

I don't remember the exact wording of the item, but as I recollect it, it was a rainy day and our Eleanor was waiting for a taxicab. Many of them rolled by, when suddenly a private car stopped. A lady opened the door and said: "May I give you a life?"

Whereupon Mrs. Roosevelt used this example to show how very much maligned New Yorkers are, how, at heart, they are really just neighborly, simple, friendly folksies, always ready to help and to do you a favor.

BRANDEIS

It never dawned on Mrs. Roosevelt, apparently, that this particular lady might have recognized her as the wife of the President—and to be able to tell your friends that you have given the President's wife a lift in your car, is certainly something to talk about.

New Yorkers are so simple, so friendly, so nice, that Mayor LaGuardia who—no matter what you say about him—certainly knows his New York, is fighting with all his might against a proposed ordinance to permit sharing of taxicabs.

If the ordinance is passed, he says, there will be holdups and pickpocketing, and women will be assaulted and there will be knifings and brawls and whatnot.

That sounds more like the real New York to me and I would just like to make you a bet that the nice lady who offered Mrs. Roosevelt a lift, would have given you or me a nice tongue lashing or at least a dirty look if we had suggested a lift to her.

And, coming back to Mrs. Roosevelt, I can't help liking her. I don't like her because she is a Democrat, or because she is the President's wife, but I really think that she means well and that she is doing a lot of good.

When I visited her at the White House some time ago, I had quite a chat with her, and during that chat she was so completely natural and so completely like any other well-bred American woman that I never thought of her exalted position.

There was one particular little phase in our conversation—I can't give you the details, because it was more or less personal—that proved to me that she isn't only a nice woman but also a regular, every-day American mother.

* * *

WE may not agree with the Roosevelts on their particular brand of personal behavior or their domestic ethics.

But I haven't yet seen a single member of the Roosevelt family who isn't a likable and human sort of a guy or gal.

Being a President or a President's wife or son or daughter isn't such an easy job as you may think. I have seen ration board members and petty OPA officials who are a darn-sight more swell-headed than the Roosevelts.

Mind you, I voted against Mr. Roosevelt for President four times in a row.

But as a week-end guest or a club-car companion or for the fellow next to me on a sleigh-ride, I'd like any member of the Roosevelt family better than many others I know.

And if Mr. Roosevelt runs for president again I'll vote against him again!

May be I should stop reading Pegler and Sokolsky and Lippman and Dorothy Thompson.

Nazi Fall By May 1st?

That's The High Command's Date

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE Army High Command has now given an unofficial estimate of the date it believes that Germany may stand on the black brink of defeat on the battlefield.

The prediction does not refer to complete destruction of the Nazi fighting forces, but it does hint at the time our strategists think that major resistance will have been crushed.

It's May 1, 1945, with allowances for a margin of error of 30 or 60 days.

The forecast is found in a message from Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War, asking that House Appropriations committee hearings on the military budget for the 1946 fiscal year be postponed to the day given above. The original schedule called for the appearance of Stimson, Under-Secretary Robert Patterson and Gen. George C. Marshall on March 15, together with their advisers.

That date was advanced to April 23 as the great Russian steam roller swept westward and Germany's fortresses in Poland, East Prussia and Silesia began to fall before the onslaughts of the Red Army.

TUCKER

When Gen. "Ike" Eisenhower and Field Marshal Montgomery straightened out the von Rundstedt bulge, and then launched their steady drive through and around the Siegfried Line, Stimson suggested that May Day would be a more appropriate hour for presentation of the military needs and estimates for what may be the final year of the global drama.

The revised schedule and date have significance because of the High Command's tentative decision to leave the weapons of General Eisenhower's Army in Europe and to re-equip our forces headed for the Japanese sector with arms newly manufactured in the United States. The two things tie together.

Not until the Nazis are eliminated as a major enemy will Stimson's technical advisers be able to prescribe changes in the types or amounts of small arms, artillery, ammunition, food and uniforms for the Pacific conflict. It is obvious that men fighting in a Far Eastern climate need diets and equipment different from the requirements of those engaged in Europe or Italy.

If the War department expected Hitler to last much longer than May 1, it would not be in a position to outline its new Oriental requisitions to the members of the House Appropriations subcommittee which allocates funds for the ground units.

WARNING: Another factor which underwrites official expectations is the recent notice to western railroads, shippers and Pacific Coast ports that they must look for peak loads in the next few months. Vast movements of troops and supplies, which have pointed eastward in the past, will soon flow in the other direction.

Incidentally, the plan to abandon great stores of military supplies in Europe has already drawn fire. Rep. Albert J. Engel of Michigan, one of the best informed men in the Appropriations subcommittee group, has warned Secretary Stimson that he must be prepared to justify this program.

The strategists believe this arrangement will save both time and money, and shorten the over-all war. They admit that it will mean greater outlays in the first instance.

But they insist that the shift of equipment from Europe to the Far East would take many months and delay the hour when we could mobilize our full strength against Tokyo. In their opinion, a saving of only ninety days in winding up the struggle would spare the expenditure of lives and money.

WALLACE: Two stubborn Middle Westerners are responsible for the last-ditch battle which Republicans in House and Senate have waged against confirmation of Henry Wallace as Secretary of Commerce. They are Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP Senate Steering committee, and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, assistant leader of the lower chamber.

When the House adopted the George bill stripping the D. of C. of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its family of lending agencies, most GOP-ers agreed to abandon the scrap. They had won their point, so they thought, by depicting the new cabinet member as one whom even Democrats feared to trust with the handling of money. But Taft argued that if the Iowan was not fit for the larger authority he was not competent for any high post, and Hallock instead on minority support of the Wolcott amendments, which further clipped the Wallace wings.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Lehman

LAST week-end apparently marked, until V-E Day, at least, the last midnight-to-dawn wartime spending spree in the U. S. War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes decreed a blackout of the Great White Way—and all the nation's "hot-spots"—in the interests of manpower and fuel-saving.

The curfew rings everywhere at midnight these days, but its effect is greatest in New York, for the concentrated and teeming Broadway district is the nation's biggest entertainment center.

More than 1,000 cabarets are licensed to stay open until 4 a. m. Nine thousand taxicabs bring in the flush and take out the broke. Many night clubs have a weekly overhead of $30,000, the bulk of it raked in after the clock has chimed 12.

Hot-spot proprietors—though bowing to the ruling—are furious at the prospect of losing their bonanzas. They warn that there will be a revival of ory era speakeasies, the loss of jobs for thousands of employes, from waiters to strip teasers, and that visiting servicemen will be robbed of their chance to enjoy life.

LEMAN

But most New Yorkers do not look upon the midnight ban as a national castrophe. They say that even blind-tiger patrons could not be gyped worse than are out-of-town suckers in many legalized joints.

Dismissed workers need not starve; Uncle Sam can use blues singers and bus boys in shipyards and war plants. Broadway is full of male dancers agile enough to leap over tables like fawns, but too delicate—in the eyes of certain draft officials—to shoulder a gun or peel a spud in a naval barracks. The closing of night clubs may force a reopening of many a mysteriously sealed Selective Service file.

Vets on furlough will not suffer hardships. Manhattan is packed with theaters, restaurants, dance halls, taverns, movie houses and other amusements resorts that can still offer a lot of entertainment before midnight. Not many enlisted men can patronize the swanky places where a single evening's pleasure takes a month's pay.

War plant management and union leaders maintain that hereafter the swing shift will get more sleep and endure fewer hangovers. Authorities at the Bureaus of Missing Persons and Juvenile Aid say their problems will be lessened. Scatter-brained teen-age girls flock into Times Square after midnight and often end in disgrace.

SCORN: It is not likely that the respectable, overwhelming majority of New York citizens—or the folks out in New Ulm, Minnesota—will weep because a bunch of juke-box tavern keepers are screeching that the government is giving them a raw deal.

In fairness, it must be stated that not all owners are complaining. "If it ends the war one minute sooner," declares Billy Rose of the Diamond Horseshoe, "I'm for it." "The boys in the Iwo foxholes haven't any night clubs or saloons," comments Richard Flannagan of the Monte Carlo.

Prompted by patriotism or coached by press agents wise in the ways of building good will, many other entertainment moguls have accepted the verdict without squawking. It is a fact, too, that they will be hit financially, in loss of patronage and in pay adjustments which must be made in union contracts.

Senate's "Work-Or-Fight" Thinking Muddled

Manpower Bill Causes Confusion

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—It used to be the consensus around here that Congress could tie itself in more knots and profound more confusion on the subject of tax bills than any other.

A fine sample was the mongrel tax law compromised out of the once famous Ruml Plan. The conflicting ideas of the Treasury and Congress confounded the most astute and left the average taxpayer in a hopeless fog. Congress has been trying to simplify that one ever since.

STOKES

There may be some excuse in a tax bill, for taxes, after all, is very abstruse subject, even to the experts, and too, Congress has to be careful to avoid loopholes through which smart lawyers can sneak their clients. Also politics always intrude.

There seems much less excuse when it comes to writing a manpower bill to fit the nation's workers into the right places to get the most production in a war, with shortages threatened, and with an all-out effort needed for the final push.

But the concensus here is that the palm for confusion this year should go to the Senate Military Affairs committee for the draft of the "work-or-fight" bill it finally has patched together after sitting with the problem for a month.

Heaven Help The Public

Members, themselves, can't even agree of the meaning of some of the provisions they included.

There is a difference of opinion, for instance, on whether the penalties in the measure can be applied to both the employer and the employe, though the intention seemed to be that they would apply only to the employer, and most members now agree that is the proper interpretation, according to Senator Thomas (D., Utah), committee chairman.

But there are still some who disagree. An explosion by Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.), himself a lawyer, illustrates the confusion:

"If the lawyers in the Senate can't agree then God help the constituents!"

THIS picture covers a most important point. For while an employer could be forced to cut down the total number of employes to the ceiling fixed by the War Manpower commission, there is no compulsion for those let out to work in a war plant, or anywhere else. An employer who hires a worker without a certificate of availability is penalized as a check.

Workers might transfer voluntarily, of course, to a designated war plant, but the experience with volunteering has been none too encouraging. No amount of persuasion, for instance, has been successful in getting a needed 215 skilled textile workers to transfer from civilian plants at New Bedford, Mass., to the two plants there making tire fabric for heavy duty tires now badly needed, though various government agencies have been busy on that problem for two months.

Some Confusion Planned

The farm bloc got in an amendment to the Manpower bill which would prevent workers on farms, who have been deferred and are not acceptable for military service, from leaving the farm without the consent of the local draft board. This would seem to be another limitation on getting workers into war industry.

The discouraging aspect of the Senate committee's treatment of this bill is that the confusion is not due solely to lack of legislative skill. In some cases it is studied and premeditated confusion, designed to help sabotage the measure when it gets on the Senate floor.

THE bill got out of committee only after it was agreed that any member may oppose any provision on the floor, which is a guarantee of such controversy and confusion in the Senate that no one can dare forecast what sort of bill finally may emerge to be compromised with the very different measure passed by the House several weeks ago.

It is an open secret that some committee members have been playing skilfully for time, on the theory that the war with Germany might end and the bill then could be killed. But military officials fear that if the war with Germany ends, and there are no controls, there will be an exodus from war plants that will seriously handicap the big job yet to be done—the complete defeat of Japan which military men believe the American people want.

Congress then may discover it has not been so wise.

Discharged Vet Dies Under Train Wheels

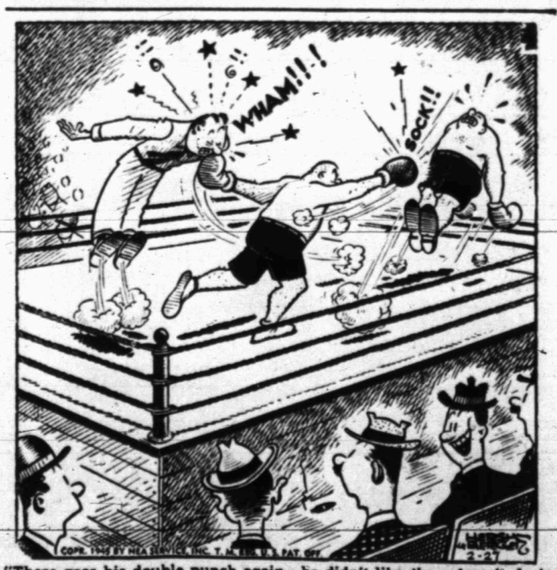

SHREVEPORT, Feb. 27. (AP) — Cecil McDonald, 27, a discharged veteran of this war, formerly of Farrison, Tex., was killed instantly early today when he fell beneath the wheels of a Texas & Pacific switch train in the Hollywood yards.

McDonald was employed by the Texas & Pacific as a switchman.

Dr. Charles S. Boone, deputy coroner of Caddo parish, termed McDonald's death as accidental.

McDonald was discharged from the Army Nov. 26, 1944, after having served for three years, including more than six months in North Africa, where his back was injured.

John B. Hughes Says Texas Boys Great Bunch Of Fighters

"I met lots of Texas boys out there—they're a great bunch of fighters, but they all still want to get back to Texas," remarked John B. Hughes, internationally known radio news reporter, here Tuesday night.

Hughes, who will speak at 8 o'clock tonight at the Senior High school auditorium, also said that "Americans are good fighters wherever they go, as good as in the world, but they hate war and the regions in which they have to fight. However, the boys haven't changed fundamentally in their outlook on life; they are still Democrats and Republicans, Texans and New Englanders, still the same."

Philippine Experiences

Of his experiences in the Philippines, where the ace commentator landed Oct. 20 with the first wave of Yanks, Hughes said we had it "a little hot" for a while, but that our military superiority left no doubt as to the outcome. The battle of the Philippines also proved, according to Hughes, that an Asiatic people can adopt a Western civilization and blend the East and West to a certain extent; and that the Orient and the Occident can get along together. Experience proved Japanese propaganda had no effect on the Filipinos, who remained loyal to the ideals of Western civilization."

In his appearance tonight Hughes will speak on the subject, "Report From the Philippines," in which he will relate the story of the war in that theater, a description of the guerrilla action in the islands, and a general survey of the Pacific military situation.

Those who bought the $1 "exchange" tickets are reminded to turn them in for the $1.65 and $2.40 reserved seat tickets today in the lobby of Hilton hotel.

Heart Ailment Fatal To County Pioneer

W. E. Connell, 64, of the County Line community in northwest Lubbock county, a resident of the South Plains for the last 28 years, died of a heart ailment Tuesday morning in Lubbock General hospital after an illness of one week.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, W. E., jr., in the Navy, and Jack of Shallowater; a brother, R. E. Connell of Ruleville, Miss.; two sisters, Mrs. John Stagner of Huston, Miss., and Mrs. Henry Jackson of Sunset, Tex.; and one grandson.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Central Baptist church, with Rev. J. T. Clinton of Lubbock and Rev. W. O. Wilson of Anton officiating.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery, Rix Funeral home reported.

Inter-Am Parley

will be considered as an act of aggression against the states which sign this declaration.

4. "In the case of acts of aggression, or that there are reasons to believe that an act of aggression is being prepared by any state against the integrity or inviolability of territory, against the sovereignty or poiltical independence of an American state, signatory states to this declaration will consult among themselves to concert on the matters to be taken.

5. "If an act of aggression or menace of aggression as foreseen in this declaration should occur, the signatory states will resolve jointly on the measures to be applied against the aggressor state, adopting, according to the circumstances, one or several of the following: Withdrawal of chiefs of diplomatic missions; rupture of diplomatic relations; rupture of consular relations; rupture of postal-telegraphic, telephone and radio-telephone relations; interruption of economic, commercial and financial relations; use of military forces to repel the aggression.

Sustain Territories

6. "The signatory states are obliged to sustain by all measures, including their arms, the territorial integrity and the political independence of all and each of them, once an absolute majority of the American states has thus agreed.

7. "When the aggression consists in invasion by the armed forces of one state into the territory of another, crossing established frontiers, or when there is a sure threat of invasion, immediate action is obligatory against the aggressor or presumed aggressor by the other American states.

8. "When an international security organization is established, application of compulsory sanctions will be put into effect by the American states in harmony with forms of the statute of that organization.

9. "This declaration will be known by the name of the Declaration of Chapultepec."

PRICES SURGE UPWARD

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP) — Specialties held the recovery limelight in today's stock market until the final quarter hour when a burst of buying pushed up rails, steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts and a wide assortment of industrials, a number to highs for the year or longer.

Closing advances of fractions to better than a point were widespread.

Reasons for the rally varied. Among these was the return of investment funds on the idea the 4-session reaction had served as a technical correction of the lengthy upswing.

Gold mining securities were not particularly responsive to the congressional move to lift the price of the yellow metal although this step buoyed inflation psychology to a certain extent.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .4 of a point at 61.7, first upturn since last Tuesday. Of 933 issues registering, 562 were gainers, 167 losers and 204 unchanged. Transfers totalled 1,190,000 shares and were the smallest for a full stretch since Feb. 9. The aggregate Monday was 1,260,000.

Prominent on the bulge were Bethlehem, General Motors, Southern Pacific, American Distilling, Park and Tilford, Schenley, American Bosch, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Western Union "A," Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft.

Secondary railway bonds were given a lift.

Todd shipyards, in the curb, jumped 3 points on a boosted dividend.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 —Buying by mills and leading spot firms in the near months lent a firm tone through the entire list in the cotton futures market today. Closing prices were 5to 30 cents a bale higher. Spot house buying in May was associated with covering of contracts against the recent CCC lend-lease otton awards.

It was reported that Belgium accepted offers on 14,000 bales of cotton against its inquiry last week in the open market for 20,000 bales. Prompt stopping of 15 additional March notices issued was a strengthening influence.

ingly swift American two-Army lunge in the center, however. Ninth Army elements are already on the left bank of the Erft, the last river moat guarding Cologne.

Road To Dusseldorf

Lying between the twin prongs of the Ninth Army advance to seize Rheindahlen on the north and Konigshoven on the south, less than a mile from the Erft, is the gap that leads down the left bank of the Erft to Dusseldorf. Further Allied progress in that direction would not only outflank the Erft defense front on one side but the Muenchen-Gladbach cluster of industrial towns on the other. It would knife across rear communications for the foe leading to half of the dozen road and rail Rhine bridges still open to him for escape to the east bank for a new stand.

Two Leave Today To Boost Hospital

A. C. Jackson and W. T. Strange will leave Lubbock today for Washington where they will further, "on the ground," Lubbock's campaign to secure a Veterans hospital. Both are ex-service men of World War I and both have been active on local committees working over the years to secure such an institution.

The men are making the trip at the request of the directorate of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce because of their knowledge of the campaign from its inception and due to experience and contacts gleaned from pervious trips to the capital.

Jackson, business manager and tax assessor-collector of the Lubbock Public schools, and Strange, an architect, expect to be gone from a week to 10 days.

war. Every sub has three tons of tin; every destroyer, for its electrical system, gun mounts and engine bushings, must have at least 13,000 pounds of tin; every medium tank 30 pounds—and tin goes into each airplane motor, cannon and machine gun, every field radio, telephone and telegraph instrument, every pair of binoculars, every hand grenade. Tin contributes essential therapeutic services to the Medical corps and Red Cross personnel. Blood plasma, morophine hypodermics and foods for our fighting men go in tin.

Tin cans, both ends cut out—or one end out and the other pushed back so that the can can be flattened—should be taken to your closest grocery store. They should be taken immediately—even before the Lions have their signs up.

sians already holding a great arc around it from Gross Born, 11 miles southwest, to Bublitz, 15 miles northwest.

Mrshal Rokossovsky's forces were moving rapidly up close on the right flank of Marshal G. K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army which has been prosecuting the most direct drive on Berlin.

Right Flank On Move

Moscow news dispatches said that Zhukov's right flank also was on the move toward the Baltic and that the Germans were hurling in their reserves in desperate attempts to keep open the route to Danzig. The Germans said Zhukov was fighting toward Stettin to secure his flank for an ultimate frontal drive on Berlin.

Stubborn fighting continued for Breslau, another surrounded German fortress, on the First Ukraine Army front in Silesia.

That Army, under Marshal Ivan S. Konev, also had crossed the Neisse river barrier at several points, the Germans said, but claimed the defense later had repulsed the Russians.

College People Spearhead Opposition

Military Training Is OK'd For U.S. Males After War

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—A large majority of the American people—virtually seven out of every ten—continue on the side of those arguing in favor of a post-war military training program for the nation's youth.

GALLUP

Argument over the issue has waxed hot during the weeks since President Roosevelt requested passage of a bill to set up such a program for the post-war period, in his annual message to Congress.

Educational leaders have taken the lead on behalf of the bill and in opposition to it.

In an open letter to the President 12 college and university heads questioned the need for such a bill and proposed postponement of any action on it at least until Germany has been defeated.

Fourteen other college and university presidents take the opposite view, urging upon the President prompt decision on the issue.

The question, as put to a cross-section of the adult population:

"After this war is over, do you think every able-bodied young man should be required to take military or naval training for one year?

The replies:

Yes	69%
No	22
Undecided	9

When the vote of women alone is examined, they are found to be in favor of a peacetime military training program by a slightly larger majority than men.

People who say they voted for Roosevelt in the last election are in favor of the program by a larger majority than is the case among those who say they voted for Dewey. Large majorities among both groups favor peacetime military training, however. This is shown as follows:

Vote By Parties

	FDR Voters	Dewey Voters
Yes	73%	64%
No	19	30
No Opinion	8	6

There is some difference of opinion among people favoring such a program as to when a law providing for it should be passed. This is shown when these people are asked:

"Do you think a military training law should be passed now, or should this wait until after the war?"

The replies:

Favor Passing Law Now	37%
Favor Waiting Until After War	25
Undecided	7
Total	69%

In line with their thinking about the need for a peacetime military training program, the public has also shown its determination not to be caught unprepared again in the event of war by favoring a much larger peacetime army and navy than existed during the period between World War I and World War II.

When asked what size army and navy we should have after the war in a recent survey, voters, on the average, called for a peacetime army of about 2,000,000 men and a peacetime navy of about 1,000,-000 men.

This represents an army four times greater than we had in 1938, counting not only the regular army but also national guardsmen and reservists. It represents a navy five times greater than in 1938, counting officers and enlisted men in the Navy as well as members of naval militia state organizations.

Japanese plane production—one assembly plant wrecked and another left virtually in ruins; three engine factories virtually leveled.

Japanese planes—233 destroyed or damaged, including 47 shot down.

Japanese shipping — 31 small ships sunk or damaged.

Airfield hangars and radar installations destroyed.

Battle Weather Also

The Yank fliers in the Tokyo strikes battled through wind, snow, sleet and heavy ackack to reach their objectives. Nine of the Navy's fighter planes were lost in combat but five pilots were rescued. The carrier task force steamed in close to Tokyo bay but was unchallenged by the Japanese fleet. Two American ships sustained minor damages while retiring from the scene of action.

A Navy spokesman in Washington said carrier-based planes of the Third and Fifth fleets have sunk 187 Japanese ships and destroyed 1,610 planes since last Dec. 1. They damaged 402 vessels and 1,078 planes. American losses in these actions totaled 178 planes.

The Chinese high command reported Japanese forces were repulsed and suffered heavy losses in a battle east of the Canton-Hankow railway. The fighting was in the Tzehing sector, 75 miles southeast of Hengyan.

Situation In Burma

In Burma, British and Indian troops probed Japanese positions north and south of Mandalay. Other Indian forces continued to advance into rich Burma oil fields following their capture of the ancient pagoda city of Pagan.

Two Chinese columns were reported to be within 22 miles west and 24 miles north of the old Burma road center of Lashio.

Allied airmen wrecked a bridge near Mandalay and two others in north Burma.

Texas Weather

caused even the old-timers to mavel, according to Bob Moore. First a heavy thunderstorm struck, followed by rain, sleet, hail and finally snow. Later yesterday the sun shone brightly.

Sleet and ice covered Abilene; the U. S. weather bureau at Dallas issued warning to residents along the Trinity river and its tributaries to remove livestock, predicting a flood crest as high or higher than last week's 40.7 feet; Amarillo and most of the Panhandle were covered by snow but the sun came out yesterday and the weather warmed.

Rain, Ice At Dallas

Dallas had a rainfall of 1.90 inches following a severe electrical storm, with trees covered by ice yesterday morning; rain was general over central Texas, some of it freezing as it fell; farm work was delayed in Navarro county; and airline planes were grounded over much of Texas.

South Texas was not hard hit. Houston was in the grip of a norther, with rain and colder weather predicted. But low there was 43 yesterday, with 38 expected today. Budding trees and early victory gardens were saved when the mercury failed to drop as low as freezing at San Antonio where a low 37 was reported. Beaumont had a mild 59.

The mercury tumbled almost 40 degrees at Laredo—from 80 to 41 yesterday.

Other state temperatures were: Amarillo 25, Big Spring 24, Abilene 25, Lubbock 22, Clarendon 25, Wichita Falls 24, Fort Worth 29, Waco 31, Austin 35, San Antonio 37, Corpus Christi 43, Brownsville 50, Galveston 63, Beaumont 68, Del Rio 42, Tyler 36, Sulphur Springs 35, Texarkana 36, Dallas 30.

Yanks Surge 10 Miles In Reich

throughout the day and the Ninth Army captured 1,500 prisoners with many more still to be counted.

First Nears Cologne

With the Ninth Army already at the Erft, last natural barrier before the Rhine river, 13 miles away, the U. S. First Army surged toward Cologne, caturing the cross-roads village of Sinzdorf, 8½ miles southwest.

At the same time the Canadian First Army lashed out in an intensified attack against the Germans' northern flank, rolling back the weakened Nazi defenses two to four miles between the Maas and the Rhine, and driving within 30 miles of a wing of the Ninth Army probing northward beyond Muenchen-Gladbach.

U. S. Third Army troops to the south fought into the important road hub of Bitburg and streamed across the Bitburg-Trier highway in several places in a general two-mile advance all along their sector of the sprawling battle front.

Nazis In Confusion

Gen. Eisenhower's whole mighty offensive swept irresistibly toward the Rhine through German forces officially described as being in "extreme confusion." Several German divisions were counted as completely destroyed since the First and Ninth armies slammed across the Roer river last Friday.

At the center of the assault the 30th division powered up to the Erft river midway between Duesseldorf and Cologne, capturing the river village of Morken on that last natural barrier before the Rhine. East of Dueren armored spearheads of the First Army blasted to within nine miles of blackened Cologne and almost to the banks of the Erft, beating down desperate Nazi counterattacks on the way.

The Germans brought tanks across the Erft and met the onrushing American Shermans in tank-to-tank slugging matches, but failed to check Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' powerful drive across the Cologne plain.

Thousands Clog Highways

For the first time in the war thousands of German civilian refugees flooded the highways before and behind the Americans. A front dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Wes Gallagher described it as the greatest rout of German forces since the flight across France from Normandy.

"The fight appeared to have gone completely out of German soldiers guarding the Ruhr approaches," reported Gallagher. "They gave up in bunches, including officers, and were talking freely of Germany's defeat."

Today's flaming drive past Muenchen - Gladbach revealed what previously had been a military secret, Gallagher asserted—"that Gen. Eisenhower's winter drive is aimed at bigger stakes than just reaching the Rhine. It is part of a blow at the heart of the Nazis—the Ruhr."

Third Storms On

To the south Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's American Third Army troops stormed into Bitburg, the German "Bastogne," after throwing armored claws about the town. The town was lightly held, but its Nazi garrison put up determined resistance as Patton's foot soldiers and tanks moved in for the final assault.

With three great Aerican armies ripping through the vitals of the enemy's Rhineland defenses, Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British and Canadian forces on the north pierced the Nazis' last defenses in the Hochwald forest and smashed on through crumbling enemy resistance.

Field dispatches said hundreds of tanks had broken the backbone of the Germans in that sector and that the Allied advance was assuming the proportions of a breakthrough. Two main German strongholds, Calcar and Udem, were captured, though at last reports there still was some house-to-house fighting in the former.

Many Towns Overrun

Sixteen German towns fell to the First Army on its 25-mile attack front across the Roer river west of Cologne, and tonight doughboys and armor were fighting in Sindorf, just over a mile from the Erft river, which at that point consists of a number of creeks winding through marshy land rather than a single stream.

Once across the series of Erft waterways the hard-driving armor and doughboys of the 104th and Eighth Infantry divisions, which are spearheading the smash at Cologne, will find only flat plains between them and the Rhine, said Associated Press correspondent Don Whitehead. Heavy American artillery already is throwing shells into Cologne, adding to the great destruction done to the cathedral city by Allied bombers.

For the second day dripping skies held tactical air support of the Allied armies to a minimum, but the extent of the advances scored indicated it was not greatly needed. The Eighth Airforce sent more than 1,100 Flying Fortresses and Liberators smashing against rail centers at Leipzig and Halle in the ninth straight day of heavy bomber operations.

Owing to the air resistance, it takes about 19 seconds for a bomb to reach the earth when dropped from an airplane a mile high.

Parkman Case Goes To Muleshoe Jury

MULESHOE, Feb. 27. (Special)—The J. W. Parkman murder trial went to the jury at 11 o'clock in a night session of Judge C. D. Russell's 64th district court, but a verdict tonight was said unlikely.

A grand jury that reported to Judge Russell in December accused Parkman by indictment with having murdered R. C. Dennington, about 45, his son-in-law.

Dennington was shot with a pistol about 11 o'clock the morning of Nov. 13 in front of a cafe in the Bula community, in southeast Bailey county. Both principals were farmers of that section. Mrs. Dennington had sued for divorce earlier that month.

Parkman, about 60, waived examining trial in the court of R. J. Klump, justice of peace, and was bound over to the grand jury under bond of $5,000, which he posted.

School Trustees

attempting to go into every angle of the negro educational problem were, in addition to Guy, Matthews and Jackson, two committees composed of negro leaders and E. C. Struggs, principal of Dunbar. One committee of three, composed of Charles Deo, Rev. E. W. Criglar and A. G. Graves, represented the Lubbock Negro Chamber of Commerce. Another, requested by Guy to aid in the investigation, was composed of Dr. Joe Chatman, physician; Dr. Clarence Lyons, dentist, and Perry Jackson.

The board unanimously accepted recommendations of Guy and Matthews to continue educating all negro children at Dunbar for the remainder of this school year, but to re-open the old Booker Washington school for instruction in the first three grades next fall, providing the present need, or an increase in negro enrollment, calls for its re-opening. The building will be repainted, refurnished and generally renovated before being placed into use again.

Opinion Is Divided

Guy said he would have recommended immediate re-opening of Booker Washington were it not for the fact that its equipment has been moved and is in use at Dunbar; that satisfactory negro teachers are difficult to secure at the moment, and the present condition of the building is bad. The school situation in the negro section has become a sort of "football" between residents of the old and new areas, he said, and careful efforts to uncover a preponderance of public opinion there had been impossible to get because of dissension.

Principals unanimously re-elected for terms in 1945-46, 1946-47, include the following:

Floyd Honey, Senior High; Carroll Thompson, Junior High; Ishmael Hill, Central; Lennon Hill, Hunt; Mrs. Reuby Rhodes, McWhorter; Mrs. Ivy Savage, Wilson; Miss Stell Thurman, Carter; Mrs. Guy Trow, Dupre; Mrs. J. T. Trigg, Sanders; W. Carey Mathis, Bean, and Ed C. Struggs, Dunbar.

Also re-elected for a two-year period was Miss Dorothy Lomax, director of curricula at both Senior and Junior High schools. To be elected with the rest of the faculty this spring will be J. T. Stalcup, combination teacher and principal at Guadalupe. Mrs. Dorothy McGregor, formerly of the Sanders faculty, has been shifted to Superintendent Matthews' office replacing Miss Grace Ellington, longtime employe who recently resigned to move to California.

Office Aides Named

Miss Mary Ward was approved as aide to Senior High Principal Honey, replacing Miss Billie Lou Abel, resigned, and Miss Rosa Lee Woolverton was named an assistant to Miss Lomax for a three months period.

Drug Store Sales Here Far Above National Average

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (Special) —Lubbock county, with .053 per cent of the population of the United States, buys .103 per cent of the $2,715,000,000 worth of merchandise annually sold by the country's drug stores, or 94 per cent more than the national average, according to a study of distribution made public by the National Wholesale Druggists' association.

Lubbock county has 32 drug stores which sold an estimated $2,810,000 worth of merchandise in 1943, the last year for which figures are available, E. Allen Newcomb, secretary of the association, said.

Newcomb pointed out that Lubbock is one of the hubs of a self-contained wholesale trading area covering 3 counties in Arkansas, 6 counties in New Mexico, 1 county in Oklahoma and 154 counties in Texas, with a total population of 3,590,800. The 2,053 retail drug outlets in the area, with annual sales of $85,896,000, are served by six wholesale drug centers, Waco, Lubbock, Dallas, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Texas and Texarkana, Arkansas, he said. The Lubbock house is the Behrens Drug Co.

Higher Ceiling Prices Sought On Used Cars

DALLAS, Feb. 27. (U.P.)—J. B. Caldwell, vice president and general manager of the Texas Used Car Dealers association, launched today a campaign to secure an upward national revision of ceiling prices on used cars.

A formal petition asking the higher prices was laid before Theodore E. Forssard, regional price attorney for the OPA, by Caldwell and other officials of the association. The association was formed 90 days ago to represent 1,000 used car dealers in Texas. It says the current cost of handling and reconditioning a used car is more than 26 per cent of the total selling price and that in many cases, under present ceilings, dealers lose six per cent on the sale of a used car.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

10th Division Stops Nazi Counter-Attack

ROME, Feb. 27 (AP) — The U. S. Tenth Mountain division has thrown back a strong German counter-attack in the area of Mount D'Ella Torracia, inflicting heavy casualties and capturing a number of prisoners, the Allied command announced today.

The Germans, who have been contesting every Allied gain, moved out in the counter-attack below Bologna after an intense artillery barrage. After being forced to withdraw, they continued to throw heavy fire against the American positions in the mountains.

Brazilian troops who had moved to Mount Castello when the U. S. Mountain troops made their push to Mount Belvedere and Mount D'Ella Torracia last week likewise were subjected to heavy enemy artillery fire. The Brazilians broke up a small counter-attack near La Serra.

On the central sector southeast of Bologna a raiding party again tested German defenses and found them stubbornly held. Nevertheless, the Allied patrol cleared out three German pillboxes.

On the Eighth Army front the story again was one of frequent patrol clashes with both sides sending small investigating parties across the lines.

State highway patrolmen said that the Hundman car and one driven by an Orange negro collided first. The Jimerson car struck the wrecked cars, then Hall's auto ploughed into the other three.

WFA Welcomes Probe Of Spoilage Reports

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones was described by aides today as willing to have the Federal Bureau of Investigation look into charges by Rep. Taber (R-NY) that large amounts of WFA-held food have been lost through spoilage.

A suggestion that Congress ask the FBI to investigate the matter was made by Jones, aides said, at a recent meeting of the House Appropriations committee after Taber said he had received reports of heavy losses.
