Lubbock Finishes Plans to Entertain State Lions' Meet

Outstanding Speakers to Make Annual Convention One of Organization's Best

Lubbock, May 11.—Plans for the entertainment of every Texas Lion at the state convention here May 21, 22 and 23, are being formulated by committees of the Lubbock Lions Club, host club to the convention.

With the convention two weeks away, preparations are being rushed by General Convention Chairman S. J. McFarland through a group of twelve committees. The Hilton hotel will be headquarters for the convention. Sessions will also be held in Hotel Lubbock.

The convention will be featured by the presence of International President Chas. H. Hatton of Wichita, Kansas, immediate past president, Julien C. Hyer of Fort Worth and governors of the five districts of Texas, C. Herbert Walker, Pampa, 2-T; F. L. Kuykendall, Albany, 2-E; the Rev. W. H. Wright, Paris, 2-X; the Rev. Chas. Nixon, Del Rio, 2-A, and chairman of the board of governors, and Bob J. Lyles Austin, 2-S.

A wide range of entertainment features have been arranged for visiting Lions and their ladies. Besides the usual round of breakfasts, luncheons and dinners, an old-fashioned chuck-wagon barbecue will be given on Monday night, May 22, on the Texas Tech athletic field. An athletic show in the college gymnasium and a rodeo on the field will precede the dinner.

Committees are also planning a Lions trip to the famous Carlsbad Caverns near Carlsbad, New Mexico, as one of the features of the entertainment, the trip to come at the close of the convention.

International President Hatton is to be presented a woolen suit manufactured by students of Texas Technological college. Wool for the suit was grown on the campus and the cloth made in the college textile department.

Arrangements have been made for entertainment of visiting ladies (Continued on Page 8)

Halbert Overturns Car; Damage Slight

Bruises and Cuts Result from Mishap on Fishing Trip

Bruises were suffered by B. M. Halbert and a cut or two by his companion, Bob Holland of San Angelo, when the former's car overturned last Thursday morning near Vinegarone on the Del Rio highway south of Sonora.

Mr. Halbert was enroute with a party consisting of J. D. Lowrey, Sam Hull, Bob Vickers and Mr. Holland, on a fishing trip to the Devil's Lake. He does not know how the accident occurred, but suddenly the car overturned, rolling completely over, spilling the two men through the top, and righting itself. It was not damaged seriously, and was driven on to the lake.

At first it was feared that Mr. Halbert's arm was broken, but serious bruises proved to be the extent of the injury. Mr. Holland received a gash on the head.

All contents of the car were scattered about the ground.

The party caught plenty of fish.

Give Faculty Fish Fry

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jennings were hosts at a fish fry Tuesday evening at the home economics building at the high school, entertaining members of the Sonora school faculties and their respective wives and husbands. The catch was brought back by the Jenningses from a week-end fishing trip on the Devil's River.

Mesdames E. C. Mayfield and Ben Martin spent Thursday in San Angelo.

Girls predominate in the class, with 12 to their credit, while there are 5 boys. Graduation is conditional on making a satisfactory showing in final examinations this week and next.

Class honors have not been decided, and will not be known until results of the examinations can be averaged, so close is the contest. Announcement of honors will be made Friday night of next week at the commencement program.

Class officers are: Dee Trainer, president; Pauline Turney, vice-president; Alice Sawyer, secretary; and Mary Louise Gardner, treasurer. Miss Aileen Swafford is sponsor.

Sonorans Attend Hudspeth Barbecue

Affair Given for Former Congressman's Friends on Devil's Rio

A number of Sonora people attended the barbecue given Sunday at the Claude Hudspeth ranch on the Devil's River in honor of the friends of the former congressman for the West Texas district.

Among those from Sonora were Mr. and Mrs. George H. Neill, and little daughter, Jane Elizabeth, Mrs. Josie McDonald, and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Hutcherson. A number of prominent guests from all parts of West Texas spoke briefly after the meal. The affair was made doubly enjoyable by its surroundings of high pecan trees along the river.

Big Day Planned at Station B Sunday

Two Ball Games, Chicken Feast Scheduled

A big day for residents of the A, B and C Humble Pipeline Stations and for Sonora guests, is planned at Station B Sunday.

Baseball games between Station A and Sonora, and Stations B and C will be followed by a chicken feast, with all that is supposed to accompany it.

A number of Sonora people plan to accompany the local team and enjoy the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Schwiening to Temple

Mrs. Alfred Schwiening was taken to a Temple hospital Tuesday night for a major operation, following a period of poor health which has lasted for several months. Mr. Schwiening accompanied her.

Mr. and V. C. Maley returned to their home in McCamey Sunday evening after a week-end visit with Mr. and Mrs. George Baker.

TIES WRONG STRING—LOSES BAIT OF GOLD

When is a string tied, or when is it not tied—wants to know Fred Lohn, who recently went fishing with F. J. Wood down on the Devil's Lake. A sackful of goldfish (for bait) and two strings, coupled with Lohn's ankle, are the properties in the swellest fish yarn of the season.

Fearing the fish might die, and lose their bass-appeal, Mr. Lohn decided to trail them behind the boat. He tied up the sack, and fastened the other end of the string to his ankle. Shortly afterward bait was needed, and he hauled away on the string, only to find that an extra loose string in the boat was fastened securely to his ankle, and that the goldfish had regained a modified freedom, if they didn't drown in the sack.

Station B, Sonora Cop Week-end Tilts

Station A Loses Saturday, Eldorado to Locals Sunday

Humble Station B and Sonora were winners in a couple of week-end baseball games played here Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Station B defeated Station A Saturday 6-2, while Sonora downed an Eldorado nine 11-7. Both games were closely contested and well played.

Gardner pitched almost airtight ball for B Saturday, allowing only three hits. Ratliff, for A, was also right, allowing but 5 blows, but they came when runs were needed, and accounted for all six runs in one inning. Gardner got a home run, as did Ard for the B team.

Cassius Taylor hurled the first six innings for Sonora Sunday, with Bud Smith finishing up. Five of the 7 runs were hit off Smith. Graves and Barber alternated as pitcher and catcher for Eldorado.

Home runs were hit by Archer for Sonora and Graves for Eldorado. Ory led the hitting for Sonora, with three good blows.

Lea Aldwell on Polo Team

Lea Aldwell, Sonora and San Angelo ranchman, and captain of the San Angelo polo team, has taken his group to Fort Worth, where they will meet the team of the El Ranchito club in a series of matches. Thirty ponies were taken to Fort Worth by the San Angelo group.

Spelling Bee Adds Life to Lions Meet

Stokes Delegate to District Convention in San Antonio

An old-fashioned spelling bee, in which George H. Neill and H. V. (Buzzy) Stokes chose sides, was the unusual feature which added much life to the club's luncheon meeting Monday. Lasting about 20 minutes, each Lion was given 3 words to spell, taken from the sixth grade section of a blue-back speller. One of the stemwinders was "Initiate," which, according to a much-rattled school superintendent should be spelled with two "m's." Judges decided the contest a tie, 19 to 19 errors.

President-elect H. V. Stokes was chosen to represent the club at a district convention in San Antonio Wednesday. He accompanied Dr. Tom White, who attended the state dental convention there Wednesday also.

Further plans for attending the state convention in Lubbock May 22 and 23 were made. Lions Bill Gilmore and John Eaton are working on a play to be presented stunt night, and will give the play as a feature of next Monday's entertainment.

Lawrence Grimland was announced as a new member.

Lion W. E. Caldwell presented a key to Lion W. E. James, club secretary, as recognition of his having secured two new members for the club.

Musical numbers by Miss Pauline Turney at the piano and Lacey Smith or his violin were enjoyed. W. R. Cusenbary was a guest.

Sutton County to Be Placed in New Congressional Dis.

Bill Now Before House Proposing New Area for West Central Texas; Plains, Bexar

Sweeping changes in congressional representative districts are proposed in measures now before the Texas legislature. A bill was agreed on recently as a compromise between the House and the state Senate, whereby three new districts would be created, one in the Panhandle-Plains section, one in west central Texas, which would include Sutton, and the other consisting of Bexar county.

Texas was allowed three new United States congressmen in the 1932 elections, and since no agreement had been made on redistricting the state, three men were elected at-large.

According to the new provision Congressman R. E. Thomason, present representative of this area, would lose several counties, but would still serve the section in the extreme portion of the state.

The new 21st district would include the following counties: Sutton, Sterling, Coke, Runnels, Coleman, Brown, Irion, Tom Green, Concho, McCulloch, San Saba, Lampasas, Mills, Schleicher, Menard, Mason, Llano, Gillespie, Kimble, Val Verde, Edwards, Kerr, Real, Kendall, Bandera, Kinney and Uvalde.

Part of the counties would come from Tom Blanton's seventeenth district, some from Mr. Thomason's and others from the central Texas section.

The new district would be primarily a stock raising section, with some farming in a part of the counties. Its interests would be largely unified.

Those attending from Sonora are George E. Smith, city manager, for the city, fire department and R. F. C. committee, George Baker and F. E. Dungan for the fire department, and G. A. Wynn.

Harold was the only athlete from the local school entering the meet. He was accompanied by Coach A. L. Smith and Supt. R. S. Covey. Mr. Covey attended to other business while there.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Lomax returned Wednesday afternoon from Rocksprings, where they went on Tuesday on business.

Ranchman Contracts Delivery Over 200,000 Pounds

IS CHOICE CLIP

Only Large Sale Reported at Price; More Rumored

Sol Kelly's sale Saturday night of his 225,000-pound clip of wool at 22½ cents a pound set a new high for wool prices in West Texas for 1933. The sale, announced Tuesday, was made to Wright Bros., Boston firm. It was the second sale reported at that price, but the first one of any consequence. Since that time other sales have been rumored, but none had been verified Wednesday night.

Mr. Kelly had not sheared a pound when the sale was made, and the price was based on the reputation of his flocks for producing a fine long, staple fleece. One-third of Mr. Kelly's 28,000 head are pure-bred Delaine, one-third pure-bred Rambouillet, and the balance a cross of the two breeds.

Mr. Kelly has built up a fine breeding herd of Delaines, using Dickerson bucks imported from Ohio.

Shearing of the 28,000 head will likely begin this week. A big percentage of the sheep are yearling lambs, held over from last fall. They will be shipped fat out of the shearing pens, according to Mr. Kelly's present plans.

In addition to his sheep Mr. Kelly runs about 1500 head of cattle on his ranches in Sutton, Schleicher, Irion, Crockett and Jeff Davis counties.

A top of 22 cents was paid here Monday for the lamb wool of Mrs. Nannie B. Wilson and son, Duke. Murphy Campbell, buying for Silberman & Sons, Chicago firm, bought 50,000 pounds from them and 5,000 from Berry Baker. Part of the Wilson clip sold at 21 cents, the balance at 22.

No other trading was done in Sonora during the week although (Continued on page 8)

Wild Turkeys Go from West Texas to Re-Stock State

Kerr and Edwards Counties Are Leaders in Supplying Game Birds for Distribution

State game department program of distributing wild turkeys from Kerr and Edwards counties to stock other parts of the state is being continued with success; and so far this year has resulted in turkeys being placed in 24 counties.

J. J. Dent of Kerrville, inspector of state game preserves, is directing the trapping and handling of the birds. During the past decade, from 250 to 750 turkeys have been trapped and shipped from Kerr and Edwards counties each year to various Texas counties. This year already the number distributed, chiefly from Kerr county, has exceeded the minimum figure by a good percentage, and the distributing season has not closed.

From two to five men are employed to do the trapping, and from one to 50 turkeys are snared at a time. One instance of 76 being taken from a wire-netting trap at one time has occurred. A mixture of corn, wheat, oats and other grains is strewn along a fence toward the trap which is made so as to have the fence for one of its sides.

Dent has devised for the state game department a special truck to haul the easily frightened birds.
The truck has padded slats on the interior and is double decked. Each deck has six compartments each of which will hold 10 turkeys. Another truck, single deck but with string netting above the birds to keep them from flying against the top slats of the truck and injuring their heads, also is used.

Inspector Dent reported that he had received splendid co-operation from landowners in trapping turkeys. It is explained that these game birds are being taken from Kerr county because they are more plentiful here than anywhere else in the state and because when they become too numerous in a given territory, they are more susceptible to turkey plagues.

Places to which they have been shipped from here this year include Bexar, Harris, Jefferson, Blanco,
Jeff Davis, Brazoria, Walker, King,
Knox, Williamson, Bowie, Navarro,
Colorado and Angelina counties.

Dent called attention especially to the success of the state game department's efforts in stocking wild turkeys in Potter county. Four years ago the first shipment, 13 turkeys, was taken from here to a game preserve near Amarillo. Today it is estimated that there are 800 turkeys on game preserves and other land in the Panhandle county.
In the shipping, usually one gobbler is sent with each six hens.

While the birds are in transit, they are fed on the same grain mixture with which the traps are baited. Practically no birds are lost in shipping if the double-deck compartment, padded truck is used and if close observance is kept on them.
The low deck prevents them from getting enough flight to hurt themselves. They have a tendency to crowd one another into corners, however. This difficulty is overcome in part, though, by the small compartments, and further by watching closely to make them shift when they assume the crowded position.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

THERE IS MORE STRAIGHT THINKING NOW

The following conversation actually took place between a high school senior and a boy who had been out of high school two years:

John: "I have absolutely wasted
two of the best years of my life, and the tragic thing about it all is that I did not appreciate the fact until I did a little straight thinking about a month ago."

Henry: "What do you mean, John? You have been getting ten dollars a week ever since you left high school. You board at home and have plenty of money for your clothes and amusements."

John: "True enough. I have been getting ten dollars a week and I suppose I might go on getting ten dollars a week for the rest of my life if I should continue on my present job. It took me less than half a day to learn my work. Since that, I have been a machine. There is no chance for advancement, nor do I have any hold on the job; any one else with two hands and a reasonable amount of sense can do my work as well as I can do it. So you see, I am exactly where I was when I finished high school. I have no more money and my experience has been worth nothing to me."

"Had I taken a course in some good business college just after I finished high school, I would have been far ahead of what I am today, both financially and from the standpoint of valuable experience."

Many thousands of young men and women have had the same tragic experience, and, unfortunately, many more will do likewise.

The thoughtful young person will do the wise thing and enter the Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration, at Tyler, Texas, for one of their Complete Business Courses and let them train him thoroughly and assist him to find employment which will pay him ten times as much as John received in his little makeshift job.

W. A. Mangum, Eagle Pass, Sees
Last of Large Shipment Leave

W. A. Mangum and Albert Finley were in Eagle Pass Monday to see the last of the Hal L. Mangum stock shipped to Kansas grass. Two thousand five hundred head of spayed heifers and some 3,000 steers comprised the stock that Mr.

Mangum has shipped in the past few weeks. Two train loads Monday were the last of the shipments. The stock is in fine shape and with the finishing on Kansas grass they will be one of the prettiest lots of beef cattle to go from this section.

The shipment meant some money for the railroads, for the freight on two trains was over $7,000.—Uval-

Down Hold-Up Lane

By ALLEN COLES

SHORTLY past midnight Dick Sanders sat in the flickering light of two dripping candles typing the last revision of the last chapter of his last adventure book for boys.

He was wishing as he typed there in the lonely cottage down Hold-Up lane, that the rain wouldn't beat so menacingly on the sloping roof. So long as his work was absorbing he didn't mind life in this wooded seclusion but now that he was nearing the close of his book there was something a little terrifying or at least depressing about Hold-Up lane, as the villagers called the short road that led into the woods which according to reports had once been the haunt of bandits.

Once or twice Dick stopped typing to listen more intently to the medley of sounds caused by the wind and rain, and then in the middle of the last paragraph he stopped abruptly. The candles had both flickered suddenly as if a door had been opened to let in a gust of air and then, before he had time to think what his youthful hero would have done under the circumstances, he felt a withering pang of terror and looked up into the dangerous end of a gun.

"Stick 'em up," came the command—a strong voice but high enough for a woman. With gun still in the right hand the aggressor took the lighted candle in the left and raised it to give Dick Sanders closer scrutiny. Then he saw that the stalwart figure before him was that of a fifty-year-old woman clad in a bright blue swagger coat and skirt.

"What are you doing here?" the woman demanded, and then, "This is my house. I've a good mind to bind your arms and feet and throw you out of doors to enjoy the weather."

Dick Sanders slowly lowered his hands.

"You see, I've been here two months now in a shack further along on Hold-Up lane, and I'd never seen anyone in this cottage. I've been writing all summer and just last week my typewriter collapsed entirely. At the post office they told me that a writer sometimes came up to this cottage to work. It may seem unpardonable but needing the typewriter as desperately as I did and not being able to rent one in the village, I picked the lock of your back door one day last week and took the liberty to come in and make myself at home. It's not, however, a particularly good typewriter. I brought my own candles."

His companion had taken off her soaking hat and coat. "That at least was considerate."

"I suppose I ought to be going," suggested Dick Sanders whose feeling of terror had been replaced by one of embarrassment and chagrin. "I hope you won't think too ill of me—"

"Don't be a fool," she told him. "While I'm getting into dry clothes you run along out in the kitchen. Take a candle and see whether you can get the oil stove lighted. And then I'll come out and we'll make some coffee and see what else we can find to eat."

Dick had started the coffee and was opening a can of milk when his hostess returned, and under the now friendly glow of her smile lost his feeling of restraint.

"What do you write?" she demanded bluntly. "My name is Dick Sanders," he said. "I do adventure stories for boys."

"Terrible rot," she said. Dick flushed with resentment. "And you?" he said. "Oh, I'm L. P. A." And Dick recognized the name of the author of the season's most talked-about book of fiction whose identity had been a matter of controversy for months. "I also happen to be a pretty successful business woman. And when I do my writing I hide myself up here so that nobody will know. It didn't occur to me that anybody else would choose to live in Hold-Up lane. I drive up at night when I feel like writing. This time my car struck in the mud a mile down the road."

"Well, if you're L. P. A. I don't so much resent having you call my stuff rot. You're wonderful," said Dick with enthusiasm.

"So will you be when you're my age," she answered, "and I hope sooner. Suppose you give up this pot-boiling you have been doing. I've read some of your books. Signs of real promise if you'd give yourself a chance. Let's spend the rest of the autumn collaborating on the next best seller."

The slender hand of the young man and the capable hand of the motherly woman clasped across the table.

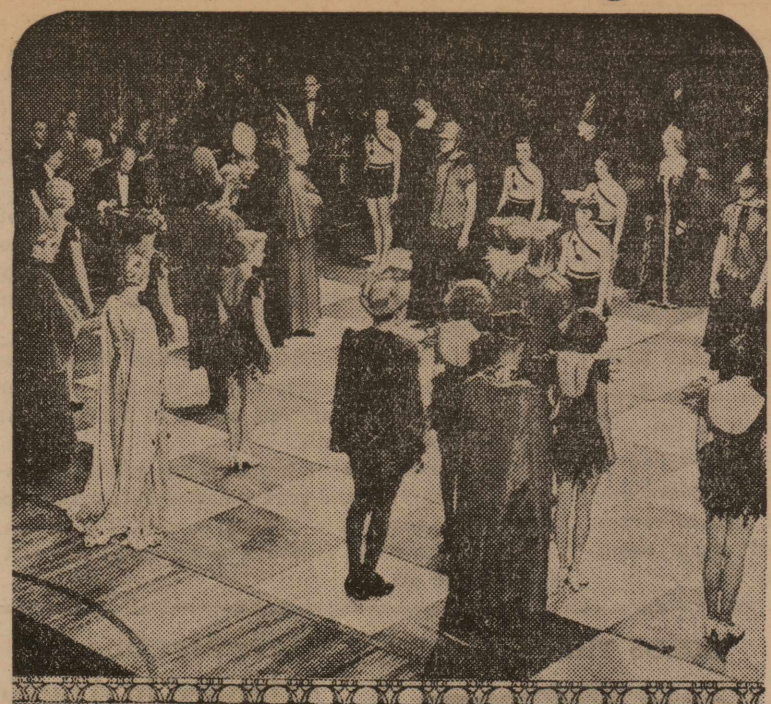

And that's why Dick Sanders' adventure books for boys extended only to five volumes instead of the fifty-odd that his publishers had anticipated.

Approval Given Texas Projects

Only 4 Conservation Jobs Planned So Far in State

Denial of reports from newspapers of various sections of Texas that government conservation projects were to be located in their areas has been made by Lawrence Westbrook, chairman of the Texas Relief Commission.

Four re-forestation jobs have been given definite approval, and it is to these that the accepted applicants for a six-months term of service in the unemployment relief army will be sent. Forestry work in Polk, Angelina, Trinity and Newton counties in East Texas are the only projects accepted to date.

Information has been secured about a number of jobs in other sections of the state, but no action has been taken.

Mrs. B. B. Kelly, and her little son, James Britton, of Texen, left Tuesday after a visit of several days here with Mrs. Kelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. James.

HEAD OF WACO ORPHANAGE SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY

Mr. W. F. Barnett, the "dad" of the Methodist orphanage, Waco, entertained the gramma and high schools Wednesday morning, May 4, with an interesting talk concerning the home that he represented.

The forms of amusement, the means of education, and the provisions for the home life of the homeless children were mentioned. According to Mr. Barnett the denominational orphan homes are more stable and lasting than the homes of the ordinary boys and girls.

After the thorough explanation of the work of his institution, Mr. Barnett talked about the personal characteristics requisite for a successful life.

Kay of Ozona, will arrive this afternoon in Sonora to be joined by Mrs. George Baker for a trip to Comstock where they will appear on the program of an inter-county Parent-Teacher Association council meeting there Saturday. HAVE CHILDREN IMMUNIZED NOW

Following-up the annual Summer Round-up of pre-school age children for examination and correction of correctable defects, the Sonora Parent-Teacher Association and its auxiliary, the Child Welfare Study Club, which directed this year's round-up, is urging all parents to have their children immunized against communicable diseases before the end of school, if this has not been done.

In order that a surplus quantity of vaccine not be ordered, it is further urged that all parents who contemplate having the immunization done notify local doctors ahead of time so that they may order the vaccine.

The fact that no epidemic of serious disease has broken out in Sonora schools since the first summer round-up here two years ago seems to indicate that the project is worthwhile.

Safeguarding public health is the wisest expenditure that parents and governmental authorities can make, for it saves both life and money. The health, or life, of one child, is worth many times the cost of protecting all.

35 YEARS AGO

The Devil's River News for April 29, 1899, showed interest in rain much like that evidenced in Sonora in the past weeks of 1933:

"Jas. R. Hamilton of San Angelo, the well-known mutton buyer was in Sonora Tuesday on the way to his sheep in the Junco country. When asked how much the rains would make for him he replied, 'I hope not many mistakes.'"

"Tom Larkin and John Newton, another of T. C. Newton's boys, were in Sonora Wednesday from the sheep camp below D. C. Ker's in Edwards county. Tom wants more rain. Some people are more satisfied."

The paper was well-filled with personal news items, some of which follow:

Steve Murphy from the "Devil's Retreat," Sonora, was shaking hands and "bones" with his many friends in San Angelo last week on his way to San Antonio to take part (?) in the Battle of Flowers. Look out, old man, flowers are very near akin to Cupid's darts, and the next thing we'll be a hearin' of you'll be swoppin' spring poetry and effusions from the "Retreat" for the bright smiles and forget-me-nots of some fair one from the Alamo city.—San Angelo Enterprise.

The following witnesses to the S. L. Holland case at Eagle Pass left on Friday for that place: Ex-sheriff J. P. McConnell, W. H. Cusenbary druggist, D. R. Holland stockman, R. C. Dawson saddler, and John W. Hagerlund merchant.

S. H. Stokes sold his two section ranch, one mile west of Sonora, to Dr. A. L. Taylor for $1000.

Mr. Halbert of Sutton county, brother of County Attorney Halbert of this place, arrived here Wednesday and left for the quicksilver belt to help develop quicksilver property belonging to the latter.—Alpine Avalanche.

Miss Sophie Vander Stucken will arrive in Sonora Sunday from Menardville. The News is informed that Miss Vander Stucken will have charge of the ladies department at Mayer Bros. & Co.

A. J. Winkler this week bought the Mrs. Erskine place from Milam Schulenberg for $350.

All the Whitehead family excepting Grandma Whitehead and Will have been down with the measles. Mrs. Lightfoot went down to the ranch last week to assist in nursing the parents.

Judge Trainer's justice's court has for the past two weeks been transferred from North Llano to Sonora. George will be a graduate when he opens court in precinct No. 3.

Mrs. W. H. Cusenbary and daughter Myrtle are visiting at the ranch of D. B. Cusenbary this week.

Toney Gunzer the sheep and goat man, was in Sonora Monday trading.

Mrs. Jess Mayfield was in Sonora this week the guest of Mrs. Allison.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Mann and family left for their old home at Menardville Thursday. The News wishes Mr. Mann and family success.

J. B. Hill, county and district clerk, is making many and substantial improvements to his house in East Sonora. Doll Bass has put a stone foundation under the house and is now building a chimney.

Geo. Kirkland has leased from A. J. Swearingen the lot next to the laundry opposite Mayer Bros. & Co., and will erect thereon a building 16x30 feet to be used as a restaurant and ice cream parlor. B. F. Bellows has the contract.

Hank Silvey the retired cattle king was in Sonora Tuesday buying delicacies and substantial for the feast he gave the dancers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tobe O'Neal's on the ranch in the Frank's Defeat country last night. Hank called at the office and extended a pressing invitation to the News force to attend the dance, but being our busiest part of the week we were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ogle of Sherwood arrived in Sonora Sunday. Mr. Ogle has accepted a position with his father-in-law M. V. Sharp, the blacksmith.

Mrs. Geo. Hamilton, from the Independence, west of the Pecos, arrived last week on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Wyatt of the Lost Lake country.

Miss Thrasher, who has taught successfully a class in music in Sonora this season, expects to leave for her home, near Hot Springs, Ark. next week. Miss Thrasher is a charming young lady and has added many to her large list of friends during her visit to Sonora.

Nothing Can Hold Back the Dawn

By COL. FRANK KNOX
Publisher, Chicago Daily News

After all, the heart of a man is the most resilient thing in the world. For rebound and for comeback there is nothing on earth to compare with it. Regardless of geography, race or creed, they're all alike—men will bend but they will not break!

We've just had a demonstration of it here in the United States.

A short time ago you could have cut the gloom with a cheese knife. Today the whole Nation is smiling.

Tomorrow they will have pretty well forgotten.

Why? Simply because it is human nature to live in the future tense.

College professors write histories. We read them, most of us, because we're supposed to, but we don't really care where we've been. All we want to know is where we're going.

The trouble with the depression was the fact that, in spite of all we could do, it remained in the present tense. We wanted to push it behind us—that's the way the human animal gets rid of his troubles. Now we think we are more or less rid of it—the effects, no—but the thing itself—decidedly, yes.

"I remember back in 1932 when business was in a terrible shape." "Oh, shut up! Call up Bill and let's make it a foursome for tomorrow."

And that's the way it goes. Out of sight—out of mind.

We feel that whatever ailed us is by way of slipping back into the blur of things we choose to forget.

The man-in-the-street is walking with a springy step. Smiles have crowded out the worry wrinkles. Again we see life ahead of us. Again we believe. Again we hope, laugh and plan. Three weeks ago, it was like a nightmare. No matter how hard you tried, you couldn't move. Nothing mattered. One brain, one set of muscles, and one man was just about as good as another. Today every man feels that once more he has a fighting chance to win out.

Down deep from somewhere there comes a low rumble—a vibration—a something or other that sounds like the presses starting in a newspaper building—every newspaper man knows what I mean. A song writer would say—"happy days are here again." The conservative and, for the most part, wrong-guessing economist would perhaps call it the beginning of a new cycle. We business men interpret it as merely meaning that, after all these months of idleness and rusting, the wheels are once more beginning to turn. At any rate, let us hope that wherever we are going, we're on our way. It will take careful driving—but the big thing is that at last we are moving.

Hum: "Well, why don't you fight?" W. B.: "Cause I ain't where I'm from."

Kenneth: "I wanna quarter's worth a'rat poisoning." Gene Bailey: "Do you wanna take it with you?" Kenneth: "No, I'll send the rats after it."

"The horse you sold me last week is a fine animal, but I can't get him to hold his head up." "Oh, it's because of his pride. He'll hold it up as soon as he's paid for."

ing. And, from a quick glance at the new banking set-up, it appears that we have plenty of gasoline.

Meanwhile, however, let us not come back so quickly that we forget the real heroes. May I recommend that the following be cited for bravery in action:

—the man who, in spite of his lost job and his lost hopes, managed somehow to keep his family fed;

—the wife who went through it all, uncomplaining and smiling;

—the merchant, who, in spite of the rush to the store across the street, refused to cut the quality, preferring to die by his standard rather than to desecrate it;

—the manufacturer who kept the shoddy out of his product;

—the dairyman who didn't water the milk;

—the man who, in spite of advice, kept his assets in his own name;

—the cop who shot it out with armed bandits and took his share of lead at the few dollars a month that he didn't get;

—the landlord who wasn't over squeamish about the rent;

—the banker who protected his depositors;

—and last, but most noteworthy of all, the good citizen, of any land whatsoever, who kept his faith in God and country.

The night has been long; but the never-ending cycle of night into day still persists and now—NOTHING CAN HOLD BACK THE DAWN!

Mr. Davis has been giving ranchmen information about the scouring service offered by the Experiment Station. Tests to determine net shrinkage will be made on any reasonable quantity of wool, and the wool will then be sold for the ranchmen, without cost other than the freight to College Station. It is recommended that in cases where the shrinkage of wool from a certain bunch of sheep is desired, that 25 average fleeces, or about one full bag, be sent in.

Welfare Meeting Is Attended in Angelo

Four Members Sutton County Child Welfare Board Go from Here

Mesdames M. C. Puckett, B. W. Hutcherson, and Tom Driskell; and J. M. Puckett attended a child welfare regional conference held Friday last week in the San Angelo Junior college auditorium from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., for the purpose of defining work of child welfare boards and organizing a county children's council for Tom Green county.

Though held primarily for Tom Green, the conference invited all surrounding counties to participate for the derivation of inspiration and instruction for work in their local units.

Mrs. Puckett directed a round table discussion on the relation of public health and welfare programs, in the afternoon session, following Dr. Ernest W. Prothro, Nolan county health officer, who spoke on that subject.

Among speakers on the program were Miss Helen Hardy of the state Child Welfare Division, Austin; Miss Alice Scott Nutt of the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C.; and Capt. Lee A. Colwick, instructor State Training School. Capt. Colwick's address on "Problems and Activities of Boys' Training School," stressed the fact that home environment is far more to be desired than institutional care, but that the latter can be made profitable, as well as happy, to the subjects. Sonora attendants at the meeting especially commended his message.

The conference was organized largely through efforts of E. W. Bode, Tom Green probation officer, who has spoken in Sonora and who especially urged the Sutton county board to send representatives.

STUDY HALL BEHAVIOR

The end of school is almost here, and there are quite a few of the scholars not making the best of the study hall. In a week or so most of the teachers are going to hear Because some high school students morning till late evening. Why? Whining and begging from early are not making use of the last few study halls.

Some come to study hall without the slightest intention of studying. Maybe the student has a few sentences to write in English. Having finished he will be free, Of course all notebooks are due before school is out, but why worry now? If this is the student's attitude, it will be best if he reforms himself.

JOKES

Insurance agent: "Madam, is your husband at home?"
Lady: "Yes, he is in the barn with the cattle."
Insurance agent: "Shall I have trouble finding him?"
Lady: "No, he is the only one with whiskers."

Mr. Smith: "Some acids are stronger than others; I'll take car-bolic acid as an example—"
Class, (in chorus): "Whoopee!"

"I tell you I won't have this room," protested the old lady to the bell boy. "I ain't going to pay good money for a pigsty with a measly little foldin' bed in it. You think just because I'm from the country—"

Disgusted, the boy cut her short. "Get in, mum, get in. This ain't your room. This is the elevator."

THE FRESHMAN CLASS OF 1932-33

By CORA BELL TAYLOR

There are twenty-three of us.
We're a bunch that you can trust.
First comes Wesley, who is short and lean,
But he is big enough to be mean.

Kenneth is long and lank,
And is a Scout with a high rank.
A very slow boy is W. B.
He gets up his lessons, perhaps, maybe.

Hardly anyone can catch Curt,
He's a boy that doesn't flirt.
J. O. is one who is never sore,
Of this kind we have several more.

Jack is the flirt of the class—
He likes to look at a pretty lass.
Gilbert can speak English to a "T,"
If you don't believe it, ask him and see.

Wilburn is the biggest tease,
He sure can laugh and sneeze.
Josephine is new,
Of this kind we have very few.

There's tricky brown-eyed Bobby Mae,
Aren't you crazy about her? Say!
Helen is dignified, tall and fair
Our brown-eyed beauty with straight black hair.

Leola is a very nice loyal friend,
Upon her word, you can always depend.
Violet is so sweet, so clever, so true,
And she is one who never seems "blue."

Wilma and Guyon are always together,
There are no two girls who are any better,
Lillie, who is very tall and lean,
In her lessons is somewhat keen.

Here's studious Lillie Mae,
Is she lazy? Nay, Nay.
Lunetta is the one who can give out the news,
She has a car that we all can use.

Edna has a long ways to come to school,
But she never disobeys any rules.
There's the chubby, black-haired Nora B—
Who is just as sweet as she can be.

Clemencia is very short and lean
For the Fifth of May she was crowned "Queen."
Virginia is tall and fat,
She seldom ever wears a hat.

Here I am, I'm a poet,
Seldom anyone seems to know it.
All of these complete our class,
Three more years will be our last.

WHAT A FRESHMAN IS

A Freshman is always happy,

How and Why of Inflation

Washington—Various phases of gold standard abandonment and currency inflation are explained in the following questions and answers:

Q. What articles will show the first price increase in an inflation program such as the administration is adopting?

A. Food prices usually react first in a period of inflation.

Q. Why?

A. The dollar is worth less because it is not supported by gold in foreign markets. Issuance of additional currency would cheapen the buying power of the dollar. Food would be affected first because it is a perishable commodity which cannot be stored in quantities obtained at lower price levels.

Q. How much will the price of food advance?

A. It depends on the extent to which the dollar is cheapened. At present the dollar is worth about 30¢, indicating the price increases of about ten per cent.

Q. What other prices will be affected?

A. A period of inflation usually brings a general increase in the price of all necessities.

Q. When will the price of clothing increase?

A. Cotton already has advanced. Manufacturers generally have supplies ahead for several weeks and have already warned retailers to buy early if they want to be assured of obtaining goods at present figures.

Q. Will rents be affected?

A. Dependent usually on local conditions.

Q. Will real estate prices increase?

A. The general economic theory is that prices of material things, including property increase in periods of inflation.

Q. Will wages be increased?

A. Not immediately.

Q. Why don't wages and salaries increase correspondingly with prices?

A. Economists describe this discrepancy as a "lag." It takes months or perhaps years, due to the intricacy of the economic system, for the new blood to circulate all through the structure.

Q. Who will be the immediate beneficiaries?

A. Farmers, who benefit doubly. Their stocks and crops on hand are increased in value. This increase makes it easier to pay off indebtedness.

Q. How does inflation work from the standpoint of a salaried man attempting to pay off mortgage interest?

A. To the disadvantage of the salaried man. He will not have as much money, after paying increased prices for food and clothing, for his mortgage payments.

Q. Will unemployment be decreased?

A. Yes. Pay rolls are expected to expand horizontally as additional money circulates.

Q. What are the ultimate benefits hoped for in an inflation program?

A. Increased commodity prices.

For Sale or Exchange

By JANE OSBORN

"REMODELED Farmhouse, in Perfect Condition—For Sale or Exchange." Sally Humphrey read the sign thus worded as she spun along the highway one mid-summer's day. An arrow on the sign pointed away from the highway up a hillside lane and, as Sally's eyes quickly followed the direction of the arrow, she saw a low-roofed little house peeping from the side of a knoll of oak trees on the hill.

Since Sally had left art school she had devoted her talents to the decoration of lampshades and dinner cards. When Sally's old aunt had died six months ago, just after Sally had finished her art studies, she had found herself possessed of a rather small but very solid brick house as her home even though it was placarded with an enormous "For Sale" sign.

Apparently no one wanted to buy the house, for so far there hadn't been a nibble. But there, up that hill with the red arrow pointing to it, was just the house she wanted. With her car she could get away from the city occasionally now—now she was driving over hills and down dales to get mountain laurel which she needed to copy in decorating some shades that had been ordered.

With the laurel stowed in the back of her car Sally was coming back an hour later, and still remembering the charming little house, she drove slowly when she came to the sign. "Or Exchange"—that was part of the sign that took her eye now. She drove up to the roadside, stopped her car and got out. Of course there wasn't a chance that the owner would like to exchange this lovely country house for her red brick city place, but she would be safe in asking.

That was when she saw David Gage for the first time—Doctor Gage, in spite of his youthful looks and not very professional manner. She said she had called to see about the house—and the young man asked her to sit down and told her that he was very glad he happened to be in.

"It was the real estate agent who put the sign up. I wouldn't have said the house was in perfect condition, and it is only partly remodeled."

But whatever shortcomings the little house may have had they did not displease Sally. "Now, I'll tell you what I have to offer," said Sally after their tour of inspection. "You probably wouldn't be interested—"

"I wouldn't unless it is something in a city or big town—preferably in a busy, congested neighborhood."

"That's just what it is—"

Sally. "It is in Malford—once a nice quiet neighborhood but now, I'm bound to admit, in a rather crowded section."

Then David explained that he had just completed his work as interne at a hospital, and that he was about to start out on his career as a general practitioner of medicine. Alone in the world, he had spent practically all he possessed in completing his education until some months before an old uncle had died leaving him this house. He had hoped to sell it and with what he got pay something down on a house where he could begin his career as a doctor. No use trying to get enough patients there in the country. No one had wanted to buy it—so the agent had suggested the possibility of exchange.

That afternoon Sally drove David back to see her little house, and the next day she came back to the country house. Then David came back to see the little house in the city—there was much to talk about and consider even before going to the real estate agent for the terms of the exchange. And as David saw and admired the tastefully furnished little house in the city Sally saw new charms about it, and as she praised the little country house David began to wonder whether he would really be content to sell it.

There were several more meetings when Sally and David told each other far more about themselves than would have been appropriate under any other circumstances. Then a week later, when David was drinking tea at Sally's, Sally began to waver. She had spent a lot of time furnishing the little house—after all, it had belonged to her own people—maybe she oughtn't to sell after all. "I want to live there in the country—yet it breaks my heart to leave this place."

David suddenly looked embarrassed. Then he set his tea cup on the tea table and moved his chair near to Sally's.

"Why shouldn't we both keep both houses," he said. "I think it might be done—I've been thinking, hoping. I hope you won't think I am conceited even to think that you might even be interested in me."

"I'm interested now," said Sally. "and now we'll have a town and a country home and a little money and enough from the lampshades and dinner cards."

And so it was arranged. by McClure-Nesbit (W.S.)

THE Comforts of the AMERICAN Home

It is a well-known fact that—home for home—the American household has more comforts and conveniences than that of any other nation.

In foreign lands the modernized dwelling is found only in the better sections of the larger cities.

In America, even in remote rural districts, you find the radio, the vacuum cleaner, washing machine, up-to-date heating systems, telephones and numberless labor-saving appliances.

There is a well-kept look about residence, store or out-buildings with an atmosphere of prosperity and content. Did you ever stop to realize why this is so; how this condition was brought about?

It is largely due to advertising. And a big share of the credit belongs to newspaper advertising.

Stop and think how many of the foods you eat, the things you wear and other articles entering into your everyday life, you first heard of through newspaper advertisements.

You will then realize what a part they do play, or should play in your daily life.

Read the advertisements in the newspapers regularly and thoroughly, if you are not already doing so. They mean more to you than you can tell.

Eldorado Plans Boy Scout Cabin

Whitten Directing Drive to Finance 23 by 32 Structure

Eldorado will have an attractive and serviceable cabin for the exclusive use of her Boy Scouts, according to plans outlined by Judge J. A. Whitten of Eldorado. Details of the project are outlined in the following story from last week's Eldorado Success:

A campaign was begun in earnest yesterday and will be pushed to an early completion to build a Boy Scout Cabin in Eldorado.

The building will be located near the school house and will be 23x32; divided into an assembly hall with platform; four patrol rooms, and an office for the Scoutmaster. The building will be of stucco.

This arrangement will be an honor to our town and every citizen should feel proud of it. As to the cabin and what it will be used for will undoubtedly be worth much to our boys, as well as our Camp Fire Girls.

The committee yesterday paid all council dues for both the Scouts and girls and our hopes are that the girls will revive their organization.

At the Lions luncheon yesterday, we raised $132 and will need about $200 more. A committee is now soliciting and will call on everyone. It will take only a small amount from each to make the amount, and we earnestly ask that everyone do his best.

The boys are now meeting in the E. W. Brooks building, thanks to Mr. Brooks.

There are 16 fine boys in the troop and there is room for a few more.

Texas Moves Into Lead for Exports

State Exceeds New York for First Time; Cotton Cause

Texas moved ahead of New York to first place in the country as an exporting state in 1932, according to figures issued by Sherwood H. Avery, manager of the Dallas office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Exports from Texas during the first nine months of 1932, his figures showed, were greater than those of New York by nearly $19,000,000, and were greater by about $6,000,000 than from Texas ports for the corresponding period of 1931.

Texas exports for the first nine months of 1932 were $209,835,362. New York's were $190,119,423. Texas' for the same period of 1931 were $203,313,132. New York's for the 1931 period were $341,694,313.

"The increasing value of exports from Texas," Avery said, "was due to larger shipments of unmanufactured cotton in the 1932 period. Exports of unmanufactured cotton, including linters, from Texas during this period amounted to 3,376,766 bales, valued at $134,427,069, as compared with 2,132,537 bales valued at $115,799,521 for the same period of 1931."

Gasoline exports from Texas decreased during this period. In 1932 they were 10,097,533 barrels valued at $21,951,095. In 1931 they were 12,621,529 barrels valued at $29,168,923.

Exports of lubricating oil for the same period increased. In 1932 they were 1,538,352 barrels valued at $7,590,590. In 1931 they were 1,416,998 barrels valued at $7,449,757.

These figures were based on "states of original shipment" given by shipper in export declarations. Figures for the last three months of 1932 were not available.

Caution is as necessary now, as it always is, and we should be careful not to spend too much and expand too fast with the present hopeful outlook. Keep both feet on the ground and think of the future when you spend and invest.

numerous buyers visited this section to inspect wools at the local warehouse and to try for trades with the warehouse and with owners.

Most Sutton county owners who are free to sell their clips seem determined to hold off until the full effect of inflation and rising foreign markets is felt, and optimism continues. Nearly all local growers feel that it is merely a matter of time until the average fleeces in this section will bring from 25 cents up.

All that is needed to make the sheepmen feel good is a general rain, with prospects appearing to be remote.
