Some Solons Hope To End Session Saturday Night

WASHINGTON (AP) — The adjournment-bound 87th Congress jogged within sight of the finish line today and found three hurdles still to be cleared.

Leaders still saw a strong possibility of finishing by Saturday night. Others were less optimistic and figured the 1962 session would drag over until next week.

The three controversies in the way of adjournment are:

1. Foreign aid appropriations, a perennial subject of sharp differences between House and Senate.

Conferees from the two branches sat late Thursday night and tentatively agreed on a $3,928,900,000 bill, more than $1 billion less than President Kennedy originally asked. The bill now carries $298 million more than the House allowance, but $494 million less than the Senate's. The conferees meet again today to try to settle other points.

2. The Agriculture Department money bill, on which a bitter row raged over funds to build new research facilities and over a peanut marketing research facility proposed for Dawson, Ga.

3. The long-debated bill to permit self-employed persons to set up tax-deductible pension funds. It has passed both branches but President Kennedy has given no word as to whether he will sign it. Backers could attempt to make it veto-proof by attaching it to supplemental appropriations bill or to try to override a presidential veto if Kennedy rejects the measure.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, told a reporter he was quite confident of adjournment by Saturday night.

Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, House Democratic leader, voiced similar views but not so strongly.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the conference of Republican senators, said he feared it would not be until next Tuesday.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he had put through the Senate on Thursday every remaining bill of any importance on which he expected to get action except the last appropriations measure, a clean-up supplemental. But he noted that the three big disputes were yet unsolved.

Both branches operated at a fast clip Thursday.

The trade expansion bill, perhaps the most significant measure of the entire Congress, and the drug regulation measure were sent to the White House.

One hitch developed over a technicality in the bill to raise postal rates and federal pay. But it was quickly ironed out and the Senate repassed the measure. The House plans to complete action on it today.

After three hours of debate the Senate passed an omnibus bill authorizing more than $4 billion for rivers and harbors and flood control projects. It was sent back to the House, which had cleared a much smaller version.

The Senate also passed and returned to the House the highway financing bill for the two years ahead.

It cleared for the President the legislation authorizing a $36 million federal aid program for mass vaccination of children against polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

Today the Senate was geared to vote on the compromise bill authorizing payment of World War II claims of Americans who lost property abroad.

Mansfield said he then would try to call up the supplemental money bill. However, senators involved in the battles over the agriculture appropriations and the pension bill for the self-employed have threatened to block the money bill.

If they used all of their available maneuvers, they could force the measure over until at least Monday.

Aside from foreign aid, farm and supplemental appropriations, three money bills are left but these do not appear to present serious problems. They are:

A $5,067,869,400 public works bill on which conferees have agreed and which is expected to go to Kennedy today; the State-Commerce - Justice Department bill on which conferees plan to finish work today; and the District of Columbia bill, which has one item in dispute.

Soviets Accuse Naval Attache Of Espionage

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government today accused Cmdr. Raymond D. Smith, the assistant U.S. naval attache at the embassy here, of espionage. He was ordered to leave the country immediately.

It was assumed that Smith's expulsion was ordered in retaliation for the expulsion from the United States this week of two members of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations accused of buying defense secrets from a U.S. sailor.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry ordered Smith's expulsion in a note handed to U.S. Consul James R. McSweeney this morning.

The Soviet note said Smith had "carried out espionage through observation of military objects."

"He had detailed maps and notes and special apparatus the nature of which left no doubt he was engaged in espionage," the note said.

The Soviet news agency Tass said:

"On Oct. 2, competent Soviet organs detained in Leningrad an unknown person who conducted careful observations of a military object.

"The detained person was found today to be the assistant U.S. naval attache, Raymond Smith. He had with him detailed maps, notes and special apparatus, which prove without doubt that Smith was engaged in spying."

There was no immediate comment from Smith or the embassy.

Moscow radio said McSweeney had been told: "The Ministry of Foreign Affairs is lodging a firm protest to the embassy in connection with Smith's spying activities which are incompatible with his status as a diplomat and considers the further stay of Smith in the Soviet Union undesirable."

The U.S. consul said he had rejected the protest as well as the charges that Smith was engaged in espionage, "but as usual in these cases we are complying with the ministry's wishes."

Smith was detained and questioned by Soviet authorities Tuesday while on a trip to Leningrad.

The naval officer, married with three children, arrived in Moscow last June.

Embassy officials said Smith and his family might leave Monday if transportation could be arranged.

Smith, 41, from Brooklyn, N.Y., attended Brooklyn Polytechnical High School, studied at Columbia University and was graduated with an engineering degree from Tufts University, Medford, Mass.

He received his Navy commission Oct. 20, 1945 and was promoted to commander in August 1957.

Estes Assets Transferred

EL PASO (AP)—The attorney for the trustee of the Billie Sol Estes estate said today all papers have been signed, thus completing the sale of the multi-million dollar estate of the West Texas financier.

Creditors agreed Sept. 22 to sell the Pecos promoters' assets to Morris Jaffe, 40, of San Antonio for $5.8 million plus $1.2 million in interest. Actually the assets were sold to Jaffe through the American Grain Corp. of which he is chairman of the board.

Soviets Shut Consulate In Shanghai

HONG KONG (AP)—The Soviet Union has closed its consulate in Shanghai, Red China's biggest city, the South China Morning Post reported Thursday.

The conservative English-language paper, quoting its own correspondent in Shanghai, said the consulate ceased to function Sept. 28 without advance notice.

The report said the Shanghai branch of the U.S.S.R. Trade Representation is now the only official Soviet organization in the big port.

The paper said Soviet citizens who called on the consulate in the past few days had been advised consulate affairs henceforth would be conducted by the consular department of the Soviet Embassy in Peiping.

The report said there are about 50 Soviet citizens in Shanghai, most of them employes of the Trade Representation or seamen on ships undergoing repairs.

Earlier the same paper reported Chinese Communist security forces "over a period of months" had forced consulate in Harbin and refused access to all visitors Sept. 26. That report, quoting a recent arrival from Red China, could not be substantiated here.

Restless Peace Hangs Over Ole Miss Today

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Negro James H. Meredith ate breakfast in the school cafeteria today and headed into the final classes of his first week at the University of Mississippi.

Federal marshals—still the reduced force of three men—accompanied the 29-year-old Negro into the cafeteria, where he got his own plate and ate at a table with them.

People stared, but nothing more.

Meredith plans to leave the campus later for a weekend holiday—destination unannounced.

A restless peace hung over the campus at the end of a week that started with bloodshed. Federal government officials described the situation as "fairly tense."

An indication that calm had returned to the 114-year-old university, scene of last Sunday's riots and two killings resulting from Meredith's enrollment, was the reduction of the military force on hand.

Some 3,500 Mississippi National Guardsmen pressed into service by President Kennedy just before the riots will be released tonight and another 4,500 got orders to return home.

The weekend was expected to be quiet in Oxford, after the Department of Defense ordered the homecoming football game between Ole Miss and Houston switched to Jackson, about 170 miles south. Authorities feared the 30,000 expected fans might have caused new incidents at Oxford.

Little Millsaps College claimed foul and said the transferred game would interfere with its game in Jackson at the same time.

The Meredith story had other developments Thursday:

Meredith used the library and ate in the university cafeteria for the first time. A few eyebrows cocked and there were some insults hurled when he left, but mostly the incidents were without disorder. A white student sat with Meredith, but did not eat.

The Justice Department said its force of 400 marshals would be reduced by 75 per cent within the next week.

The halls of the Mississippi Legislature echoed with criticism of the Kennedy administration. Rep. Russell Davis joked that U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy would referee the Ole Miss-Houston game and House Speaker Walter Sillers observed that if he did Ole Miss was "beaten before it starts."

The Justice Department disclosed that eight deputy marshals were injured during last Sunday's riots.

All homecoming celebrations were cancelled.

And 300 miles away in Springfield, Mo. Edwin A. Walker, former Army major general, who led some students in the rioting, got a court ruling that could lead to his release from a federal prison.

The moving of the football game and its accompanying celebrations, the Defense Department said, was "on the basis of information which indicated it would be unwise for the game to go ahead at Oxford."

Negro Loses Bid To Enter Clemson

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A Negro student lost today a bid to gain through court action immediate entrance to South Carolina's all white Clemson College.

The U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals withheld for the present a decision on a motion for a preliminary injunction which had been asked by Harvey B. Gantt, Negro student now at Iowa State College.

The court agreed with Clemson attorneys that the case can be conveniently heard on its merits at an early date.

The court also noted that Gantt is now enrolled at Iowa State "in school of his earlier selection."

The court's decision today had the effect of postponing the possible admission of Gantt to Clemson at least until the second semester early next year.

The court handed down its ruling a day after hearing arguments on the preliminary injunction aimed at immediate admission of Gantt to Clemson.

Gantt, whose home is in Charleston, S.C., would be the first Negro to enter Clemson if his suit is finally won.

Say Hassan In Yemen

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Prince Saif Al-Islam Al-Hassan has crossed into Yemen, proclaimed himself Imam, and rallied tribesmen against the army rebels who overthrew his nephew, ex-Imamant said today.

The source, who claimed to have traveled with the prince when he slipped into Yemen, said the tribes have risen for him.

Hassan was said to have crossed from Saudi Arabia, where he had set up headquarters after flying back from the United Nations in New York when military leaders staged the uprising last week.

Hassan is an uncle of Imam Mohammad Al-Badr, the monarch ousted by the rebels and reported slain. Hassan headed Yemen's delegation at the United Nations.

Court Order Is Defied By Longshoremen

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen failed to return to work here today despite a court order halting the Maine - to - Texas dock strike.

The Kennedy administration obtained the temporary injunction Thursday charging that it was a threat to the national safety and a serious drain on American dollars.

The strikers union bowed to the injunction, voted picks to disband and issued back-to-work calls. However, the New York - New Jersey Waterfront Commission said docks were still unmanned at 11 a.m.

The position taken by the International Longshoremen's Association was that the men had been told to return to work but that it was the problem of the stevedoring concerns and ship owners to order the men to work through the waterfront commission hiring centers.

Acting less than four days after 60,000-odd ILA members walked out, the Justice Department went into court here Thursday armed with affidavits from three cabinet members and the report of the President's fact-finding board.

U.S. Dist. Judge John McGohey issued a restraining order valid until Oct. 14.

Guido Fills Two Posts

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido has filled two big holes in his Cabinet, shattered by army rebellion two weeks ago. He appointed Carlos M. Munis foreign minister and Rodolfo Martinez interior minister Thursday night.

What the new foreign minister's stand on the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba will be is not definitely known. Guido's government has been following an openly anti-Castro policy and it was assumed Munis, a conservative and former ambassador to Brazil, will continue this policy.

Childress and Lubbock were among the places receiving showers before dawn. There was light rain overnight in the area from El Paso to Wink.

The weatherman predicted thickening clouds in all areas through Saturday with occasionally heavy rain in extreme Southwest Texas and isolated showers across the northern part of the state and in South Central Texas.

Temperatures Thursday afternoon ranged up to 91 degrees at Amarillo, Brownsville and Mineral Wells. Alpine was the coolest point with a high of 78.

Schirra Feels He Made One 'Goof'

By RALPH DIGHTON

ABOARD USS Kearsarge in Pacific (AP)—Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., who flew his Sigma 7 spacecraft so precisely he landed almost dead center on target, feels he made one goof.

A space agency spokesman reported Thursday night that the Navy commander, for an unspecified period, used two systems to control his craft's attitude in space. There was a consequent double usage of vital fuel—which he in contrast was trying to conserve.

However, when the time came to start down at the end of the sixth orbit, Schirra was quoted as saying his instruments showed he still had 78 per cent of his attitude control fuel left.

That presumably prompted him earlier to say his sensationally precise six-orbit flight on Wednesday was "a definite step forward in terms of scientific accomplishment."

And a spokesman called the flight extremely smooth in terms of pilot performance and spacecraft systems operation.

Lt. Col. John Powers, spokesman of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Schirra's 78 per cent fuel still was much more than earlier astronauts had at the same point in their flights.

He said the amount of fuel left after Schirra positioned his craft for re-entry had not been measured.

Schirra estimated he had enough fuel left when he landed in the Pacific for several more orbits if they had been required. The fuel is hydrogen peroxide, which is converted into steam jets that turn the craft around in space.

During technical discussions with engineers and five fellow astronauts, Schirra said that several times in flight he felt that too many people were talking to him by radio.

Powers explained that the astronaut's communication with the ground is by high frequency radio and that even if two people are checking out their system in Australia, the astronaut hears them."

Storm Daisy Still Grows

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Daisy grew overnight, increasing center winds to 100 miles per hour, but on a course to the north.

The U.S. Weather Bureau located Daisy approximately 600 statute miles east of Miami, at 8 a.m.

Daisy's speed and course were clocked at 8 miles per hour to the northwest.

The erratic tropical storm, which waxed and wanged for several days before settling into a full-blown hurricane, swung from a westward to a northwestward course over the past two days.

Forecasters predicted continued slow forward movement, a gradual turn to the north and continued gradual increase in swirling wind speed.

Daisy's gales reached out 300 miles to the east and north and 100 miles to the Southwest.

Seas were rough throughout the Bahama Islands. Small craft were warned against venturing too far from port. The South Atlantic coast was advised to keep a weather eye on Daisy.

SIDELINE GROWS INTO FULL-TIME BUSINESS HERE

His wife started into business for herself because they wanted a sideline to build up for "getting ahead" as the youngsters grew up. But the business got so big, they had to move to a spot three times as big and he had to quit his job to accommodate the demand for their services.

That's just another entertaining and interesting "momentum" story which fits into the fascinating pattern of our 75th anniversary issue, "Snyder on the GO!" which is coming soon.

But you'll have to see the "GO" issue for identities and full particulars. The issue will be packed with real interesting historic features, and we're getting in a lot of fine old-time pictures. Incidentally, check your scrapbook and see if YOU have pictures we could use...bring 'em in and let us see.

Extra copies of the issue should be ordered soon though, as there will be only a limited supply. They're only 50 cents per copy and we'll mail 'em anywhere in the U.S. if you order in advance. (Regular subscribers get the "GO" issue, as usual, of course.)

Spaceships Too Fast For One-Time Trail Driver

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—"All this space travel is too fast for me," opined Will Caffey, 92, onetime trail driver who lives at Snyder.

"I just don't think the good Lord meant for people to go to the moon," he said as he patted one foot to music which enlivened the 46th annual convention of the Old Trail Drivers Association.

Oldsters and their descendants gathered to conjure up memories of yesteryear, say spun stories, laughed and danced from sunrise until late at night.

Caffey, here with his 82-year-old wife, was a center of attraction.

"The last trail drive I took was in 1892 when I rode up to Kansas from White Deer," he said.

"Those were hard times, but we always came out okay. In some ways, the times are more dangerous now than they were then, I suppose."

A native of Ketchye, La., Caffey went with his family to Comanche County in 1875. He started as a lad making long, hard drives to take cattle northward to market.

"In 1901, we went by covered wagon to Snyder," he recalled.

Until 20 years ago he was a farmer and rancher.

"I still raise quite a garden each year," he said. "You should see that okra and those beans and black-eyed peas."

The Caffeys have nine children, 20 grandchildren and 22 great grandchildren.

France Heads For National Election

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP) — France today headed into a national election battle between President Charles de Gaulle and his political opposition on the issues of executive leadership and parliamentary government.

This was the result of the National Assembly's adoption of a motion censuring Premier Georges Pompidou for De Gaulle's proposed constitutional amendment to have future presidents elected by a popular vote.

The censure motion mustered 280 votes, well above the required absolute majority of 241. Its passage forces Pompidou to resign. Although De Gaulle could appoint another premier, aides said he would dissolve the National Assembly and call national elections.

The coming battle will be fought over the issue of a strong presidency, backed by periodic referendums and plebiscites, versus government by Parliament.

De Gaulle is banking on his own great personal popularity and the stability he has brought France's government. His opposition is raising the specter of Louis Napoleon and the 19-year dictatorship he established as Emperor Napoleon III.

The president fired the opening gun in his campaign Thursday, threatening to quit unless the French people approve his direct-election amendment in a referendum he has scheduled Oct. 28. His seven-year term ends in early 1966.

His opponents in Parliament took up the challenge just before dawn. Deputies of the Socialist, Radical - Socialist, right-of-center Independent Republicans and the Catholic, left-of-center Popular Republican parties trooped to the assembly rostrum to deposit the ballots condemning Pompidou. As president, De Gaulle himself was immune from assembly action.

Only the members of the Gaullist Union for the New Republic and a few minor allies backed the premier.

Pompidou's defeat brought the Fifth Republic its first real Cabinet crisis. The last time the National Assembly overthrew a government was in April 1958, in the twilight of the Fourth Republic, when it ousted Premier Felix Gaillard.

De Gaulle was absent from Paris today viewing military maneuvers in eastern France. Aides said Pompidou would submit his resignation late this evening. The president then is expected to issue a decree dissolving the National Assembly and setting the date for general elections. He is also expected to ask Pompidou to remain as premier in the interim.

The elections will be held either with or soon after the Oct. 28 referendum on the constitutional amendment. The law says the elections must take place between 20 and 40 days after the assembly is dissolved.

De Gaulle touched off the battle by calling for the referendum on his proposed constitutional change instead of first asking Parliament to adopt them. His opposition claimed he was violating the constitution by ignoring Parliament and came forward with the motion of censure.

Snyder Man On Recovery Task Force

PROJECT MERCURY (PHTN-C)—Eddie C. Watson, boatswain's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Watson of of 1508 27th Street, Snyder, Texas, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Epperson, a unit of the recovery force which the U.S. Navy and U.S. Marine Corps assigned to the Pacific Ocean area for the third manned orbital flight into space.

The organization of ships and aircraft units, Task Force 130, was on station in the Pacific to locate and recover Astronaut Walter M. Schirra.

The around-the-world vigil, maintained by the Pacific and Atlantic recovery forces, marks the first time that Pacific Fleet units have been specifically assigned to Project Mercury operations. However, in past spaceshots, all military units which possibly might be used have been on standby during a space shot. The landings of the two previous U.S. manned orbital flights have been terminated in the Atlantic.

Flames Rake Warehouse

HOUSTON (AP)—Flames leaping 150 feet overhead roared through a rubber products warehouse and forced evacuation of a small hotel in the Houston industrial district today.

The four-alarm blaze in the Semco Houston Corp. warehouse, a one-story brick structure, were discovered shortly before 2 a.m.

City detectives Ned Human and Charles Reynolds escorted about 20 occupants from the Underpass Hotel, a two-story frame building just across a narrow alley. Two were in wheel chairs.

"There were five or six little explosions inside the warehouse," reported one of the hotel rsidents, Bill Holman, 64. "They sounded about like a six-shooter."

Firemen said the burning structure was nearly filled with foam rubber. Dense black smoke wreathed the scene.

Asst. fire chief W. O. Hunter said the flames were brought under control within half an hour after the first alarm.

There was no immediate estimate of loss. Only the walls of the warehouse were left standing.

Nixon Makes An Offer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former vice president Richard M. Nixon jokingly offered "my mortgaged home" Thursday to President John F. Kennedy for a California meeting of his cabinet.

Nixon, Republican gubernatorial candidate, ribbed the scheduled influx of Democratic leaders to support the campaign of his opponent, Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Nixon told a Los Angeles Press Club audience that the President and Mrs. Kennedy, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges and others will be in California this month.

Thalidomide Sparks Suit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A father filed a $2.5-million damage suit in U.S. District Court against two drug firms, charging that an 18-month-old son was born without arms as a result of the sedative drug thalidomide.

The child, Thomas David Diamond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dixon Diamond of suburban Rydel, also had other deformatives at birth, the father said.

The suit, filed Thursday, contends that the William S. Merrell Co. and Richardson Merrell Inc., both with principal offices in Cincinnati, Ohio, "were careless and negligent in the manufacture, research and testing of the product known as Kevadon."

Kevadon is a trade name for thalidomide, a drug prescribed to induce sleep and calm nerves. Thalidomide is blamed for deformities in infants in Europe.

Damages of $2,500,000 are sought on behalf of the boy and his parents.

The suit alleges the drug was administered on doctor's instructions in a clinic at Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 12, 1960, in the second month of pregnancy. The boy was born in suburban Abington Memorial Hospital April 6, 1961.

The Diamonds contend the drug caused their son's deformities.

Little Needle Started All

AP Newsfeatures

DALTON, Ga. (AP)—When Katherine Evans was 13, she got out her needle, whipped up a bedspread, then another and another—and launched an industry that now grosses more than half a billion dollars a year.

The girl had seen pictures of tufted bedspreads made in colonial times and she wanted one. So she bought some unbleached muslin drew a pattern and began sewing.

Using some cotton yarn and a big needle, she sewed along the pattern and as the stitches came through the cloth, she snipped each one with her scissors, leaving little tufts of yarn.

It was Katherine Evans' first spread. She completed the second a year later—in 1896—and gave it to her sister as a wedding gift. The sister's neighbor saw it, wanted one, and Katherine agreed to make one—for $2.50.

Start of Industry

That was the start of the tufted textile industry, which now makes everything from bedspreads to carpets in a tightly knit complex of factories centered in this north Georgia area.

"Somebody saw the third spread, the one that was sold," Katherine remembers. "Whoever it was wanted one, and they got in touch with me and I made them.

"I was making a profit and it was nice to have some extra money. As we got more and more orders, I began letting work out to my friends and neighbors. I taught a lot of people how to make tufted spreads. Some of them became competitors, I suppose, but there was plenty of work and orders, enough for all of us."

Machines Developed

Mrs. Whitener—as Katherine soon became—remembers receiving orders from the big Eastern cities. The industry, still a cottage craft, continued to expand.

Back before the New Deal, thousands of persons in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee were engaged in the business which radiated from Dalton. Route men made specified runs, taking raw materials to Dalton and picking up finished spreads.

Then came the New Deal, with wage and hour changes. Machines were developed to do the work of many people. And with the machines came more and more bedspreads, and more and more companies, which are still growing.

She's Still Watching

A recent U. S. government report listed gross sales at $592 million a year—compared with that $2.50 in 1896.

At 82, Mrs. Whitener still is watching her baby grow. She loves to talk about the industry—its leaders today and those of yesterday whom she helped to train.

You might say that she sits on the front porch of her neat clapboard home in downtown Dalton an watches the textile industry flow around her.

FAR CRY FROM THE OLD DAYS . . . Katherine Evans Whitener watches modern tufting machine, guided by electric eyes, turn out design.

Christi Has A Romance

THE PALE HORSE. By Agatha Christie.

This time Miss Christie's hero is Mark Easterbrook, a young historian who finds a romantic reason for trying to solve the mystery of what seems to be the brew of three witches.

The story begins with a priest, Father Gorman. After hearing the confession of a dying woman, he jots down a list of names, starts home, and has his head bashed in.

The individuals on the list have something in common. They have died of causes diagnosed as natural, but in each case the death has been of distinct advantage to someone else.

The trail leads to a country house—once an inn, "The Pale Horse"—and its three strange occupants. Sybil Stamfordis is a medium, Thyrza Grey collects books on sorcery and their cook Bella is known as the local witch.

Like an artist of old, who sometimes painted his own image as a spear-carrier in one corner of a large scene, the author once again makes a woman who writes detective stories, Ariadne Oliver, one of her minor figures. It is Mrs. Oliver who, unknowingly, tosses off a remark that flashes a major clue into Easterbrook's mind.

But of course, to keep this within the realm of true detective stories, the author sees to it that although Easterbrook gets almost to the final solution, it is Inspector Lejeune who caps it off.

It's an interesting story, off the beaten path.

Reminisce Of The Rockefellers

THE POOR ROCKEFELLERS. By John W. Rockefeller Jr.

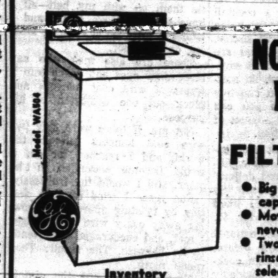

The adjective "poor" is a matter of relativity. The author is a consulting engineer who is in no danger of starvation, but his point is that his branch of the family does not have the millions associated with the name made famous by John D.

John D. had a cousin, also named John, and the author is the latter's grandson. He does not write much about his grandfather, but he gives us many pleasant recollections of his father and mother.

They were John William Rockefeller, educated as a physician, and the former Anne Murphy, who came into a considerable inheritance. Obviously the family—there were five children—lived in very comfortable and happy circumstances; it is the author's main thesis that they "put money in its place"—meaning they got a lot out of life without worrying too much about millions.

John William was one of those strong personalities who made the turn of the century a delightful time, and he reminds you just a little of Clarence Day's immortal father. He ate steak for breakfast and believed any child could get in seven weeks the schooling that most children acquire in a 40-week school term. Disliking cold weather, for many years he hauled the family off to the sunnier parts of Europe for the winter.

The author has a great relish for anecdotes, and he tells them very well. Although he is not a professional writer, he is a skilled raconteur, and his book is very amusing.

Cover Charge Now Standard For Capital Cocktail Party

By INEZ ROBB

Ever since the end of prohibition the nation's capital has annually won an such pennants as are offered for the nation's highest per capita consumption of alcohol.

It has long been acknowledged that the cocktail party in Washington is not so much a savage social ritual as the indispensable bent elbow of the body politic. Any visitor to Washington who has tried to spend a week on its social merry-go-around returns home awed by its intake of eight-to-one martinis aggravated by frozen canapes.

However, something so new and frightening has been added to cocktail parties in the capital that there is, I am told, a run on white ribbon in the five-and-dimes. That new dimension—and this is the sort of important political development that you do not get from Walter Lippman or Arthur Krock—is a stiff cover charge imposed by the host and hostess.

"Until this season, people in Washington used to give cocktail parties to get rid of their lobbying or social obligations or their liquor," explained an old friend, who has lived all his life in the nation's capital. "And you went to see and be seen and, like the stag at eve, to drink a skinful.

"Those were the good old days," he continued morosely. "But the New Frontier has changed all that. Nowadays when the leaders of the establishment give a cocktail party—and what really "in" Washingtonian can afford to be seen at a disestablishmentarianist cocktail bout?—there is a big fat cover charge.

"The establishment cocktail hosts now charge a fee for their hospitality as a means of raising campaign funds for their friends. This is an election year and everyone in Washington who can afford a bottle of gin has someone near-and-dear who is running for re-election.

"So, to re-elect his friend or friends," my friend went on, "the host gets out that bottle of gin, borrows a drop of Vermouth from the neighbors and sends out engraved invitations for a cocktail party for the candidate. An envelope is enclosed in the invitation for your convenience in shelling out for the financial support of the man who is running.

I was stunned last week to receive an invitation to a cocktail party for which the campaign cover charge was $100! Of course, whether you go or not, you are supposed to return that little envelope with a C-note. Now, no matter how many votes you can buy for $100, for that sum you can also buy an impressive amount of gin for home consumption.

"So I called my host and explained that I admired his candidate, but not one hundred dollars' worth," my friend continued. "So he asked me how much I liked his boy, and we settled for $3.

"But this was an exceptional break. Just a few days before, I was asked to a campaign cocktail party given by a decidedly establishmentarian hostess. She gave her pay-as-you-drink party not for one but for three candidates. What to do? I finally decided to go for $25. The new trend is to drink and drink and drink an elect and elect and elect.

Remember when your mother used to have a silver tray on which callers left their cards? That's the tray on which you drop the envelope with your contribution nowadays, in Washington. If you don't drop the envelope as you enter, you get that 'they shall not pass' or 'what is that bum doing here' look from your hosts.

"Once a cocktail party was a place where you were among friends," my Washington informant concluded. "Now it's a place where you're among friends with their hands in your packet. I don't say this new policy is going to dry up Foggy Bottom. But it will help."

Many Homes Raided In South Africa

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—Special political police swooped on many homes of former leaders of the banned African National Congress in African townships Thursday.

Armed with search warrants, police took away letters and documents. No arrests were made. The swoop followed recent unrest, sabotage and arson attempts in eastern Cape Province.

Junior Editors Quiz on BUFFALOS

QUESTION: Are there any wild buffalo herds left in our country?

• • •

ANSWER: Although most of us speak of "buffalo," the proper name for this animal is the American bison. Enormous herds of bison once ranged the grasslands from Great Slave Lake in Canada to northern Mexico, eastward to central Pennsylvania, Virginia, Georgia and Mississippi. The Indians killed many for meat and hides, but not enough to diminish the herds greatly. In 1871 a naturalist reported a herd estimated at 7 million. Yet by 1880, there were no more than 850 bison left in the United States. The great herds had interfered with railroads and wagon trains and at the same time there was a great demand for buffalo robes. As a result, white hunters ruthlessly slaughtered the bison. Before they became extinct, however, bison were protected by law, and now their numbers are slowly increasing. At present there are said to be more than 800 bison in Yellowstone National Park, living in a wild state. There are many herds living in game preserves, also wild, although in fenced-in areas. About 16,000 bison all told still exist in the U. S. and there are about 15,000 more in Canada, most of them in Wood Buffalo Park.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Draw a bison, using the three step method suggested by our artist. First draw a rounded wedge, big end forward. Then add the head, well down below top of body, with beard hanging under chin. Finish by adding legs and wooly coat, separating this from bare skin.

Life Only Series Of Small Dooms

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Life is a series of small dooms.

The human spirit is so made that it can weather well the major perils of existence—such as wars, earthquakes, marrying the wrong girl and seeing the other fellow get the job we wanted.

These great shocks to being we can take in stride, and still march chin up into the everblowing wind. It's the little flaw in living in an imperfect world that gets us down.

We are so made that we can put up with a piece of toast wholly burned on both sides better than we can one that is only partly burned on a single side. Yes, the fortitude with which we can meet the big disaster fails us in facing the gnat-bites of a tiny recurrent annoyance.

Everyone has his own favorite chink in the armor of his aplomb, that little touch of grayness that keeps his day from being a happy adventure in living color.

With me it's the problem of dealing with wire coat hangers.

I don't know just when I began to hate wire coat hangers. Science to the contrary, I feel sure it is an inherited fear. My mother doesn't recall being frightened by a waving wire coat hanger in the months before my birth, but it must have happened.

Certainly as long as I can remember, I have been haunted by the problem of wire coat hangers, just as some people are fated forever to have their shoe laces break whenever they dress in a hurry.

There are men who can laugh at wire coat hangers, and treat them as faithful metal servants. They can drape their pants at night in a wire coat hanger, and awaken in the morning and find them there smooth and unwrinkled.

Not me. No matter how carefully I hang my coat and trousers on a hanger, even if I tie them on with my belt—all I have to do is look away, and I hear the soft plop of clothing landing on the floor.

There are also men who can close their eyes and reach into a forest of wire coat hangers and pluck out one dedicated to his purpose.

Not me. If there were only two wire coat hangers left in the world, and I reached for on, it would become entangled in the other, and I would tug fruitlessly.

For years I tried to fight destiny by twisting apart and throwing away every wire coat hanger I met, and encouraged my friends to do likewise. The result: They made more.

Now don't tell me the simple solution is to buy wooden clothes hangers. Twice I've had my wife buy a dozen wooden clothes hangers.

What happened? Within two days the wooden hangers would be mysteriously transferred to my wife's closet. And when I opened my own closet, there were my suits crumpled on the floor beneath a row of tangled wire coat hangers darkly grinning.

Drivers Had Reason For Leaving Scene

ATTICA, Ind. (AP) — State troopers were puzzled when both drivers disappeared from the scene of an auto collision Thursday on U.S. 41, 12 miles south of here. There were no indications either had been hurt.

The mystery cleared when a check showed both cars were stolen, one from Attica and the other from Chicago.

MANAGER DARK REMAINS CONFIDENT, THOUGH

Giants In Familiar Role

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants were in the unusual position of having to battle back today as they faced the New York Yankees in the second game of the World Series, one down following Thursday's 6-2 opening defeat.

Manager Alvin Dark, still confident his Giants will win the Series, pinned his hopes on Jack Sanford, the big right-hander who won 24 of 31 decisions during the regular season. Ralph Houk, the Yankee mentor, selected his best right-hander, Ralph Terry, who topped the American League pitchers with 23 victories. He lost 12.

Satisfied with his team's fine all-around performance in the series opener, Houk planned to use the same line-up that rapped Giant pitching for 11 hits, including a home run by Clete Boyer, and brought the Yankees their fourth straight World Series triumph over the Giants. The Yankees won the last three games in 1951, the last time the two teams met.

Dark decided on several changes. He benched Orlando Cepeda, Harvey Kuenn and Ed Bailey, inserting left-handed hitting replacements Willie McCovey at first, Matty Alou in left field and Tom Haller behind the plate.

Bailey is a left-handed hitter, too, but Haller, a former illinois quarterback, normally catches Sanford. Haller suffered a cut on his right forearm in the second playoff game last Tuesday. The wound required six stitches.

"I want to play," said Haller. "The stitches won't matter."

Kuenn and Cepeda failed to get a hit Thursday as Whitey Ford tamed the Giants on 10 hits for his 10th World Series triumph. Cepeda, the National League's leading home run hitter and runs batted in leader in 1961, left four runners on base and hit into a double play to kill off a promising Giant rally in the fifth inning.

"Orlando is worn out," said Dark. "Including winter ball, he has played 260 games since last season. I'm not in favor of winter ball for fellows who play regularly in the major leagues."

Dark declined, however, to use tiredness as an alibi for the Giants, although the club seemed emotionally drained after the wild three-game pennant playoff with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"Ford just pitched a fine game," he said. "He deserved to win. But we'll get them. We've come back before."

Off to a shaky start, Ford got better as the game progressed. He permitted only two hits after the fifth inning and struck out Mays in the eighth after Willie had cracked three line singles in his first three times at bat. Including All-Star games, Mays now has nine hits in 11 times at bat against the brilliant Yankee lefthander.

"If Willie has a weakness, I haven't found it yet," remarked Ford. "But that's nothing to be ashamed about. He's only one of the greatest hitters I've ever pitched to."

"At that," Whitey added, "I have a better record against him in World Series than in All-Star games. I held him to a .750 batting average today (3 for 4). In All-Star games, he's hitting over .600 against me (6 for 7)."

Sanford has never pitched in a World Series. Terry's World Series record is 0-3. He has appeared in four games, three as a starter. It was Terry who threw the home run ball to Bill Mazeroski in the ninth inning of the final 1960 series game that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates the world championship.

Goliad 20, Lamar 9th 6

BIG SPRING—The Lamar 9th Texans of Snyder knocked on the scoring door enough times here Thursday but fell victim to stiff Goliad goal line defenses in going down by 20-6.

Three Texan drives during the course of the contest carried inside Goliad's 10—once they had first and goal on the three—but each ended in futility.

Freddy Johnston plowed two yards up the middle for the lone Lamar marker in the final period after a 30-yard toss from Bill Blum to Wade Hooten set up the score.

A pass play of 45 yards broke the scoring ice for the Big Spring eleven in the first period. Their second tally was on a freak play in which the ball was stolen from a Texan ball carrier and toted 55 yards, so that Goliad left the field at halftime with a 14-0 advantage.

A 60-yard blast up the middle of the field in the third period capped off Maverick point production for the evening.

Texan coach Ace Amos, whose team rang up more first downs than did the Mavs, commented that his boys played exceptionally good ball throughout.

Lamar 8th 24, Goliad 6

BIG SPRING—Lamar 8th was outweighed but refused to be outgunned here Thursday, winning out over the Goliad Mavericks of this city, 24-6.

Stout defensive play aided the Texans in the scoring of their first tally in the initial period. Goliad, running from its own 40, was repulsed on a fourth down try for a first down, failing to pick up the half-yard needed. The Texans took over and—sparked by the passing of Murry Bowden—drove on down near the Mav goal, with Bowden sneaking over from two yards out for the six-pointer.

A quickie pass over the line to Doug Hill upped the count to 8-0.

A fumble recovery on the ensuing kickoff led to the second Texan marker. Tommy Sinclair was the man of the hour on that one, sweeping right end early in the second quarter for four yards and the TD. Bowden tossed to Rickey Hall for the conversion points.

Goliad made its bid later in the same period, scoring on a 25-yard off-tackle maneuver.

Sinclair earned the final insurance touchdown for Lamar late in the game on a five-yard end run, with a Bowden-to-Hall aerial clicking again for the bonus points.

Bowden completed 10 of 18 aerial attempts during the game. Hill was his favorite target, gathering in five, while Hall accounted for three and Sinclair added two.

Texan coaches were apprehensive over their team's defensive structure following the loss by injury last week of standout Rob Golden, but the unit rose to the occasion and played one of its finest games to date.

Lamar 7th 22, [illegible]

COLORADO CITY—Thursday's Lamar 7th invasion here proved fruitful once again, as the Texans from Snyder romped to a 22-0 triumph over the host team.

It was the third win of the season for the Texans, who have yet to give up a point to the opposition.

Z. B. Rinehart capped off a 55-yard first quarter drive to put Lamar in the driver's seat, sweeping end for 18 yards and a touchdown. His conversion run was good, also.

Rinehart struck again late in the half, slanting 38 yards off tackle as nine seconds showed to be left on the clock.

Texan scoring was completed in the final quarter, with a 15-yard touchdown pass from Tommy Bullard to Tim Mebane serving to culminate a 30-yard paydirt march.

Sharp defenses paid off for the Texan eleven, which allowed the C-Citians only three first downs. Standouts in that area included Steve Moffett, Jerry Hardwick, Jackie Greene and Don Malone.

Offensively, the running of O. L. Cooper and Pat Vanderpool helped to spice the winning attack.

Hobbled Tiger 'B' Journeys To Sweetwater

Weakened at the vital quarterback slot by injuries to the number one and two performers there, the Snyder Tiger "B" team prepares to invade Sweetwater tomorrow for a 7:30 battle with the "B" team of that school.

The Bengals are still looking for their first victory after dropping their first three encounters. Sweetwater may boast of one of those conquests, having opened the Tiger season with a 20-6 win.

First-string signal-caller J. N. Wall has sustained a broken finger on his throwing hand, but may still be able to enter the game. The number two man at the position—Richard Waters—is the victim of a broken toe and is not expected to even suit up for the contest.

Several Tiger linemen are also nursing minor injuries on the eve of battle to blacken the picture still further.

Wall is still being listed as a tentative starter, however. Joining him in the backfield will be Bobby Kay at right half, Jay Williamson at left half, and Robert Foree at fullback.

Tiger "B" returns home a week from tomorrow to engage Lamesa "B".

Houstonian Winner Of Oklahoma Open

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Babe Hiskey of Houston won the 48th Oklahoma Open Golf Tournament in a sudden death playoff Thursday.

Hiskey, professionals Ernie Vossler of Oklahoma City and Chris Gers of Ardmore and amateur Rocky Thompson of Wichita Falls, Tex., wound up regulation play with 215s.

The 24-year-old Hiskey collected top money of $400. Vossler and Gers each won $187.50. Thompson was presented $150 worth of merchandise.

Tigers In Kermit For 8 P. M. Tilt

Snyder's Black and Gold Tigers, cruising along with a 2-1 record for the campaign, embarked for Kermit today and their next-to-last non-district engagement of the year against the Yellowjackets of District 2-AAA.

The kickoff is set for 8 p.m.

The Tigers opened their season by thumping Andrews 7-0 before falling to Levelland 14-6. Last Frday they played an atroused brand of ball in dropping the Big Spring Steers 14-8.

Following tonight's encounter they will come home next week to host the high-flying Stamford Bulldogs, a 6AA powerhouse which has run roughshod over its four foes. The Bulldogs have piled up 161 points in those four games and have yet to have a point scored against them.

Defensively, it'll be Larry Lee at the middle guard, Robinson and Riley Boothe at the tackles, Hardin and Billy Stewart at the end, Pena, Greene and Darrell Aldridge backing the line, and Taylor, Brown and Potter at the halfbacks.

Tonight's clash marks the fourth time in which the two teams have gotten together on the gridiron. Tigers spotted the 'Jackets 12 points last year before coming back to win by 19-12. Kermit posted shutout triumphs in the two previous encounters staged in the '40s.

Bears Notch Narrow Win

The Bears emerged victorious in a Boys' Club League defensive struggle here Thursday, wrapping up first round play with an 8-6 victory over the Hotshots.

The Hotshots tallied first in the third stanza on a seven-yard scamper around end by Gary Welch.

Not to be denied, the Bears came storming back in the final quarter to go ahead on a 10-yard blast up the middle by Terry Clemmer and successful conversion run by Jackie Aldridge.

The winners gained 118 yards rushing and compiled five first downs, with Mitchell Rambin leading the way with 48 yards on nine carries.

The Hotshots amassed 60 yards on the ground and two first downs. Kenny Sehested and Welch had 28 and 24 yards rushing, respectively. Sehested punted three times for an average of 21.7 yards, also.

Five lost fumbles hampered the Bear effort through much of the game.

The Colts came out on top in first round play with two victories and a tie to their credit. Next in line were the Bears with two wins and a loss, the Hotshots with one triumph and two defeats, and the Frogs with a tie and pair of losses.

Steelers, Texans Picked For Wins

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The balls and strikes of the World Series will in no way detract from the punts and passes as the professional football teams engage in another hectic weekend.

And if the coaches or fans aren't always surprised at the antics of the National and American Football League clubs, the fearless prognosticators are — particularly if they happen to be right.

It's been that kind of a year so far.

Here's a go at this week's schedule (last week NFL, 5 right, 2 wrong; AFL 1-2; season: 16-14-1):

NFL

Pittsburgh over Philadelphia—This one Saturday night will be a filly, but Steelers strength and good running game and savvy of quarterback Bobby Layne too much for Philly.

Green Bay over Detroit—Packers defense is match for big Lions line and ground offense is stronger with Jim Taylor and Co.

New York over St. Louis—Giants' defense has been penetrated at times this season, but never when it counted most, and Cards have been unable to come up with big plays.

Washington over Los Angeles—When was the last time anyone picked the 'Skins to win? But they have momentum, improved defense and Bobby Mitchell.

Cleveland over Dallas — Browns won't be caught napping thrice running, not with Jimmy Brown and Tom Wilson set for ground game.

Baltimore over San Francisco—Quarterback Johnny Unitas has some running help from Mark Smolinski, Alex Hawkins and the oft-finished Joe Perry to go with his passing.

Minnesota over Chicago—This is the upset of the week, for the Vikings will catch the Bears still battered and bleeding from their 49-0 loss to Green Bay.

AFL

Denver over Oakland—Tonight, Denver fans will whoop again when their darlings make it 4-1 in the American League's western division.

Boston over New York—Patriots' veteran quarterback Babe Parilli and healthy teammates hold decided edge Saturday night over Butch Songin, filling in as Titan quarterback for injured Lee Grosscup.

Houston over Buffalo — Oilers had a week off in which to regroup. It should help old pro George Blanda.

Dallas over San Diego—no reason for the Texans' bubble to burst, for Chargers big line not the same without injured Earl Faison. Abner Haynes and quarterback Len Dawson to show way for Texans.

McNair Stars For Buttons; Weaver Hurt

ABILENE—Tackle Larry McNair of Snyder played a key role in Hardin-Simmons' freshman grid victory over the West Texas State Calves here Thursday night.

McNair, who converted both tackle assists, accounted for 10 of the Buttons' points. He blocked a West Texas punt on the Calves' 32, picked it up and ran it over for the second Button touchdown, then booted four of four extra-point attempts for good measure.

The chips fell the wrong way for West Texas guard Bill Weaver, also a Snyder native. He received a broken hand and was admitted to Hendrick Memorial Hospital here, where a cast was fitted this morning.

Hogs Given 'Mild Vote'

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two championship tests, with the Texas Christian-Arkansas game one of the most important of the season, are mixed with three intersectional clashes as the Southwest Conference football campaign rolls into October.

Saturday's five games are due to draw more than 170,000 fans.

Arkansas hopes to establish itself as a firm contender to repeat with the conference title in the battle at Fort Worth. More than 40,000 will be in the stands to watch versatile Billy Moore duel with TCU's mighty Sonny Gibbs.

Arkansas was picked as a likely champion before the season started. The Razorbacks, in running over Oklahoma State and Tulsa, lived up to their billing.

TCU was considered a dark horse candidate in view of the erratic way the Christians played last season. But the Frogs beat well-rated Kansas and barely failed to whip a very good Miami club. TCU has played a much stronger schedule than Arkansas and has indicated it can be just as good.

The key intersectional game comes at Houston, where the youthful but solid Rice Owls try to knock over Penn State, one of the nation's top teams. A Rice victory probably would draw the league even for the season with outsiders. It now stands 4-5-1.

In other intersectional tests, Texas plays Tulane and is expected to win handily, while Southern Methodist is host to Air Force Academy. SMU is accorded less than an even chance of winning the only day game on the schedule.

Texas A&M, winless in two games, makes its conference start against Texas Tech at College Station. Tech already knows what it faces in the league. The Red Raiders took a 34-0 blasting from Texas last week.

The Aggies are favored by two touchdowns but on the basis of what they have done to date would appear to be slightly overrated.

It was break even on selections last week, making the record 8-5-1 for the season. Which isn't very good.

This week's effort:

Arkansas-TCU at Fort Worth, 7:30 p.m.—A mild vote for Arkansas.

Texas A&M-Texas Tech at College Station, 7:30 p.m.—A&M will triumph in a close one.

Texas-Tulane at Austin, 7:30 p.m.—Texas by four touchdowns.

Rice-Penn State at Houston, 8 p.m.—Taking the Owls to upset the boys from Pennsylvania, although the odds say something else.

SMU-Air Force Academy at Dallas, 2 p.m.—Air Force is stronger, SMU no better it as good. So it's Air Force in a squeaker.

ONE'LL GET BOOT; BUT WHICH?

Leo 'The Lip' Chides Alston

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers will probably take their time about announcing whether Manager Walter Alston has been re-hired or retired.

But one thing already seems apparent: If Alston is back next season, coach Leo Durocher won't be. And vice versa.

Durocher is now openly criticizing the way Alston has run the club.

The night the Dodgers were beaten 6-4 by San Francisco in the final game of the National League playoffs, Durocher turned up at a restaurant on the Sunset Strip. Two men who were present said that Durocher was telling those around him that Alston botched the last playoff game and that "I could have won it."

At least a few Dodger players also have developed strong anti-Alston attitudes.

Later in the final playoff game, three Dodgers were listening to the play-by-play on radio in the dressing room. One hadn't played that day. The other two had been taken out of the game.

One of the players asked disgustedly: "Now what the hell is Alston doing walking (Ed) Bailey to get at (Jim) Davenport?"

The other two players nodded agreement.

The intentional walk to Bailey loaded the bases. Stan Williams walked the next man and forced in the run that broke a 4-4 tie.

After the first playoff game Alston announced Williams probably would start the next game. Don Drysdale, advised of Alston's choice, asked a reporter: "What the hell? Is he saving me for the first spring exhibition game?"

Alston, as many expected, scratched Williams the next day and started Drysdale instead.

One of the few publicized direct conflicts between Alston and Durocher occurred late in the season in St. Louis. Durocher remarked in the dugout that a player who had just committed a blunder deserved to be fined. Alston turned on Durocher and told him to mind his own business.

Durocher might simplify the issue by taking the managerial job he apparently has been offered by the Cleveland Indians. The rumble here during the playoffs was that the Indians wanted to give Leo $80,000 or $85,000 a year.

Buzzie Barasi has indicated that, while he is general manager, Durocher will never manage the Dodgers. But the boss of the Dodgers is President Walter F. O'Malley. And O'Malley is the man who brought Durocher back into baseball as a Dodger coach.

Alston would not necessarily be assured of re-employment even if Durocher took a job elsewhere. It is certain, at any rate, that Alston has received no such assurance so far.

REMEMBER the Sabbath Day to keep it HOLY

© Williams Newspaper Features P. O. Box 214, Ft. Worth, Tex.

IN THE Ten Commandments, which do you suppose gets the larger treatment? Reverent observance of the divine order for a day of rest and of worship gets chief emphasis. A moment's reflection makes the reason clear. The man who does not take time to keep the Sabbath will likely forget to worship the God of his fathers; he who does not reverence God cannot be expected to regard his neighbor and his neighbor's goods. Sabbath observance stands, therefore, at the very center of religion and of morality. Then if you disregard the Sabbath you do it at the peril of your soul!

NOTICE the argument of Moses. God could get His work done in six days, even the creation of a universe and all its creatures. Surely you do not need the seventh day for the lesser tasks of your doing.

YOU are under the command of God; you are a part of His creation; there is nothing more important for you than that you remember God and your relation to Him. The Sabbath is such a time of remembrance. The church bell, the rest from daily toil, the quietness in the busy street, the need of your own soul, unite to remind you of your God and His day. The law giver commanded His people to keep this one day sacred to the Lord; to use it for one's own profit is to rob God of the time which belongs to Him.

HERE is an ancient command, never more important than today. The press of the material and the secular was never more insistent; things want to get in the saddle and ride mankind. Remember the Sabbath; then you will worship God and know that you are the eternal child of the Highest. He who remembers the Sabbath most is most likely to remember to attend his church.

So They May See = Psalm 91 = So They May Hear

HE THAT DWELLETH in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

2. I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust.

3. Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence.

4. He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

5. Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day;

6. Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

7. A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee.

8. Only with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

BECAUSE THOU hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation;

10. There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling.

11. For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

12. They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone.

13. Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder: the young lion and the dragon shalt thou trample under feet.

14. Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name.

15. He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him.

16. With long life will I satisfy him, and shew him my salvation.

Northside Baptist

Northside Baptist Church begins Sunday a "Church Loyalty Crusade." The theme of the crusade program is "The Bible Speaks." The church will seek to reach these goals during the crusade: Every member attending church every Sunday, a personal study by each member of the great Bible doctrines, and daily devotions in every church family.

The pastor, the Rev. Jack Dean, will preach a series of sermons during the crusade on the great doctrines of the Bible. The lead-off sermon to be delivered at the 11 a.m. service Sunday will be "The Lord's Supper". The church will observe the Lord's Supper at the close of the Sunday evening worship service.

The church also has announced a change in time for the Sunday evening services. The Baptist Training Course will begin at 6:30 p.m. and the evening worship services will begin at 7:30. The Sunday evening service is broadcast over KSNY.

Berlin Wall Is Pierced By Blast

BERLIN (AP)—Explosives blew a hole about a foot square in the Berlin wall today, West Berlin police reported. They said they did not know who was responsible.

Religious Artists Slate Big Exhibit

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — Catholic, Protestant and Jewish artists from throughout the country will exhibit a $250,000 worth of paintings and sculpture next week in a fast growing movement aimed at giving more vitality to religious art.

The occasion is the third biennial National Religious Art Exhibition which will be held Oct. 11-28 in suburban Birmingham, the place of its birth four years ago in the gymnasium of a church.

Mounting interest forced the promoters to move the show to a big tent the following year. This year's exhibition will be in an auditorium able to accommodate 15,000 persons a day.

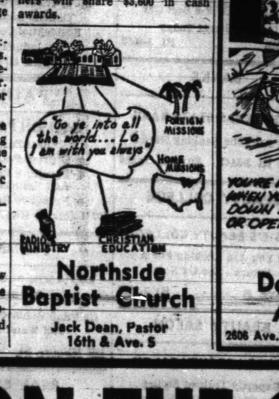

Exhibits likewise have grown. The show opening next week will display about 300 selections by 220 artists from 22 states plus a number of foreign countries, and will include mosaics, metal works, ceramics, enamels, textiles and graphic arts as well as paintings and sculpture.

The sponsor of the show still is the Holy Name (Catholic) parish of Birmingham but its expenses are underwritten by art patrons of many faiths. Prize winners will share $3,600 in cash awards.

Besides encouraging artists to interpret the life of Christ, the Rev. William B. Davidson of Holy Name church said the idea behind the exhibition which he got going in 1957 was "to stimulate public interest in and appreciation of religious art, and to encourage private ownership of religious art objects."

Eloise Spaeth of New York, art patroness and one of three judges of the exhibition, said Detroit could become "the leading factor in the improvement of art in our churches and homes" through these exhibitions.

Approximately 100 of 400 entries submitted for showing this year were turned down by a selection board. Those chosen range from a 4x8 foot painting of a Roman soldier nailing Christ to the cross to a humorous bronze showing an angel looking down from on high to determine if a harp-playing human below is worthy of entering heaven.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — It was mighty fascinating the way the Aztec and Mayas ran things according to the stars back in ancient times. Nobody had much to worry about because the position of the planets took care of whatever happened.

Everybody was free to engage in spiritual and physical endeavors like going to ball games, painting pictures on walls and contributing to the cultural structure of their society.

An Aztec wife would wake her husband up at 3 a.m. Central Standard and say, "time for breakfast so you can get out and hoe the corn, love."

The husband would control his urge to hit her with a shoe and would roll over and look up at the sky.

"According to the stars, the corn doesn't need cultivating today," he would state. Then he would pull the blanket over his head and mumble, "four eggs over lightly with a thick, jaguar steak about 9:30. And don't make racket when you go out to feed the chickens in half an hour."

Culture played a terribly important role in the lives of the Ancients. They were always devising forms of art such as building pyramids and temples and then painting colorful picutres on the walls. Probably they did the same thing at home.

And to demonstrate this more clearly, a Maya wife would came in from shopping at the market and start looking for her husband.

Naturally, she would find him lying in the kitchen sink painting pictures with his toes on the wall. (This was the forerunner of finger painting, only starting from the bottom.)

"What on earth are you doing, Willis?" the wife would ask.

And Willis would dip his foot in a bucket of purple paint and keep right on. "This is an abstract of the sky on an overcast night. Will you please hang around and scrub my feet when I finish?"

And something like 1.5 seconds later, he would shout. "Hey, whatsa idea of dumping those turnips all over me?"

Every fifty two years, however, the astrominical cycle ended and for five days everybody panted with agony. This occurred because of some kind of gap in the orbits of the sun, moon, and Venus, which took a breather before resuming their regular patterns.

At the end of the cycle, everything just stopped. All the dishes were broken in a special gap ceremony, the temples were shut down and there was nothing but suspense, concentration and hopeful praying that the world would start moving again.

For instance, you would find a minor city official lying in his hammock in the front yard looking up at the sky on a summer evening. Suddenly, he would leap to his feet and shout for his wife.

"What's wrong?" she would ask breathlessly. "Are there skunks in the hen house again?"

"Look at the position of the stars," he would say. "The angle of Venus with the moon and the fact that the sun is out of sight indicates the cycle has run out."

The wife would clutch at her bosom and say in a trembling voice, "you mean....."

"That's exactly what I mean," he would say sternly. "The world has come to an end so go in the house and bust all the dishes."

Of course, it was something of a hardship on the ladies. Wrecking the kitchenware and then when things got back in orbit again, they had to start making plates all over again.

But during the five day gap, nobody did a lick of work. The ladies would stay around the house smashing pots and maintaining a fearful silence. And the men would have loads of peace and quiet so they could concentrate on the suspense.

After the gap ended, the ladies got to work with the clay and the men went back to making spears and checking the stars to see who would win the next round.

It was a marvellous system and personally, I don't know why they ever gave it up.

Interest Conflict Laws Tightened

WASHINGTON (AP) — House passage by voice vote sent to President Kennedy Thursday a bill to tighten and broaden existing conflict-of-interest and bribery laws.

Supported by the President, the bill would bar former government employes from representing private interests before federal agencies in matters in which they had participated personally and substantially before leaving the federal service.

The new law also would relax some of the restrictions on outside interests of part-time federal employes and consultants.

G. L. Autry Jr. of the Snyder Fire Department presented an informative program to local Optimist Club members to highlight Thursday's noon meeting of the organization held at Sallie's Dining Room.

Constituting the program was a film on the procedures necessary to combat fires in which nuclear weapons are involved, such as in plane crashes in which the planes are carriers of such weapons.

Autry was introduced to the club by program chairman Bob Norris.

Bill Teaff presented his guest—Glenn Moore—to the group, also.

President Claude McCormick Jr. voiced a reminder to all members that evening's special "ladies night" program for members and their wives. It will be held at Sallie's beginning at 7 o'clock.

Aim To Hike Cuban Aid Cost

An AP News Analysis
By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Having ruled out direct military action to smash the growing Communist base in Cuba, President Kennedy has embarked on a strategy of active economic warfare against the Castro regime.

His immediate purpose is to make Soviet aid to Cuba as costly and unprofitable as possible.

His long-range aim is to bring the self-styled Marxist-Leninist government of the Caribbean nation down in collapse.

To achieve his short-range purpose the President needs not only to raise the cost of Soviet shipping to Cuba but also to deny Soviet Premier Khrushchev any new Communist successes in the Western Hemisphere.

To attain the ultimate destruction of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro by economic and political means, if that is possible, the President needs far greater support and cooperation from U.S. allies all over the world than he so far has been able to muster.

His policy, so far as it goes, seems likely to command considerable domestic support, which is inevitably a source of concern in this congressional election year. It falls far short of the expressed desires of those critics in Congress and elsewhere who in recent weeks have called for much more drastic action, including possible naval blockade.

Two developments this week give the broad outlines of Kennedy's limited action program.

In a meeting with 19 Latin-American foreign ministers at the State Department, Secretary of State Dean Rusk sought and won unanimous agreement on two major points.

One was that this country's allies in the Western Hemisphere must do more than they have done so far to protect their lands and their political systems against subversion with arms, agents and money exported from Cuba.

The other point was that the Latin Americans should take whatever measures are available to them to cut off their remaining trade with Cuba and deny Castro the benefit of Western Hemisphere imports and exports.

In the second development, administration officials disclosed to Congress, to the Latin-American foreign ministers and to the NATO allies that the United States has decided to impose penalties where possible on these who make ships available for transporting Soviet bloc goods to Cuba.

The shipping restrictions outlined by State Department officials are sweeping:

They will bar any Soviet vessels from American ports—except for humanitarian reasons or other special cases—because the Soviets are sending arms to Castro.

They will deny U.S. cargoes to ships involved in the Cuban trade with Communist-bloc countries.

U.S. officials estimate 75 per cent of Castro's trade is now with the Sino-Soviet bloc, 25 per cent with non-Communist countries, virtually all of which are U.S. allies.

The real limiting factor in Castro's importation of civilian goods, including petroleum products and fuels for his industry, has been his shortage of funds for foreign trade. He must pay cash because he has long since destroyed his credit.

Administration informants say that Turkey, Italy, Japan, and Germany have agreed to U.S. appeal to deny the use of their ships for Cuban trade. Britain and some other NATO allies have told their shippers to cut down on vessels in the Cuban trade.

But if the U.S. objective is to make Castro wholly dependent on Soviet sources of supply, the United States will have to obtain far greater cooperation from allied governments than it has so far.

No Economics Textbooks Are Approved

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Textbook Committee declined Thursday to recommend adoption of any new economics textbooks for use in Texas high schools.

The committee announced after a 10-hour secret session that it was recommending 96 textbooks for use in public schools but none on economics was included.

Three of the four economics texts in the list for consideration were protested at a Sept. 14 hearing.

These were "Our American Economy," published by Harcourt, Brace & World; "Applied Economics," published by South-Western Publishing Co., and "Economics for Our Times," published by McGraw-Hill Co.

A fourth economics book, "Understanding Our Free Economy" published by D. Van Nostrand, was not protested.

At the September hearing, R. K. Harlan, a Dallas businessman, contended that "Our American Economy" was not objective.

Mrs. A. A. Forester of Texarkana, state textbook chairman for the Daughters of the American Revolution, contended "Economics for Our Times" was weak in its discussion of labor laws.

Mrs. Joan Slay, a Fort Worth housewife, appeared for the Parents' Committee of Tarrant County and protested adoption of all three economics books.

She concentrated her protest on the books' discussion of the United Nations, which she characterized as "a trap."

Penn State athletic teams compiled a 33-17 victory last spring. The golf team won 11 of 12 matches.

Boy's Dreams Coming True

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Stevie Weber's dreams are coming true today, his sixth birthday.

His dreams do not center around money or success or fame, but then the world of a 6-year-old boy is not our world.

Trains—or, rather, a train — occupies a dominant place in Stevie's world. It's a Long Island Rail Road freight train, and every morning at 10 a.m. Stevie has been watching it roll by Merillon Ave. near his home and waving to the crew.

The crew got to know Stevie after a while, and they'd wave back, as the boy enviously watched the train clatter into the distance.

Knowing his love of trains, Stevie's parents have been taking him on a train ride on his birthday for the last three years. Still, a coach isn't a freight train.

Stevie's mother decided that maybe even a big railroad could understand the dreams of a little boy, so she wrote to the LIRR asking if perhaps there wasn't something the railroad could do to give Stevie a special present this birthday.

There was.

At about 10 a.m. today, the freight train Stevie has been watching was to stop at Merillon Ave. It's not a regular stop, but there's an irregular reason for it.

Coming aboard are Stevie and his father, Floyd. They're riding —right in the cab with the engineer—from Merillon Ave. to Hicksville, more than seven miles away.

At Hicksville is a frosted cake with six candles on it waiting for Stevie. And there to help him celebrate were to be the members of the train crew that have been waving to the youngster.

How does Stevie feel about all this?

"We didn't even tell him about it until a couple of days ago because we knew how excited he'd be, but, frankly, we still weren't prepared for his anticipation," his father said.

"He's been talking about nothing else since, and he's been spending all his time 'reading' his train picture books like an astronaut getting ready for a launching.

"How does he feel? Well, it's hard for me to say. Remember when you were 6 years old?"

Post-Debutante Admits Slaying

BOSTON (AP)—Police said today a pretty young post-debutante has admitted slaying an electronics engineer whose nude body was found in her luxurious Beacon Hill apartment.

Det. Lt. Edward Sherry said Miss Suzanne Clift, 21, was booked on a murder charge and would be arraigned today in Boston Municipal Court.

She is accused of the shooting of Piero Brentani, 27. His body, a .22-caliber bullet in the back of the head, was found Wednesday in the girl's padlocked bedroom.

Sherry said the girl was very calm, almost stoic as she told her story. He said she gave no reason for the slaying.

She identified a .22-caliber pistol, found in the kitchen of the apartment she shared with her socially prominent grandmother, Barbara Pierce Pearmain, 71, as the murder weapon.

Police said Miss Clift told them she shot Brentani early Monday in the room where he was found. She said she did not leave the house until Tuesday.

The slender blonde girl told of flying to South America and back.

Miss Clift, niece of movie actor Montgomery Clift, was arrested shortly after she entered Massachusetts General Hospital Thursday night.

Police found her after getting a lead from a taxicab driver.

James Maycyk, administrator the hospital emergency ward, said the girl "just walked in and sat on a bench like anyone else looking for treatment." He said Miss Clift was crying and "gave the appearance of a person looking for a psychiatrist."

The cab driver, John Anzalone, 21, of Billerica, told police the girl had a dachshund dog with her when she engaged his cab at South Station railroad terminal. He said he did not recognize her as the woman police were seeking.

She told him to drive to 85 Pinckney St., the Beacon Hill apartment she shared with her grandmother.

When he drove up to the apartment, Anzalone told police, "she didn't get out right away. But then she said she wanted to see if anyone was home. She changed her mind and told me to drive to the Statler Hilton Hotel."

At the hotel, Anzalone said, the girl dismissed him and told him to take care of the dog. She left in another cab. Anzalone reported the incident to police and only then learned the identity of his passenger.

Brentani held degrees from the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology and Harvard University.

Mrs. Pearmain found the body when she returned home from a 10-day vacation at her summer home in Osterville on Cape Cod.

Varig Airlines in New York told police a young woman traveling with a dachshund had taken a jet flight to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Tuesday and had returned to New York Wednesday.

Miss Clift is a graduate of a Boston finishing school and attended Mt. Holyoke College. She recently worked as a secretary.

Her mother, Mrs. Peter Thomson, divorced and remarried, and also living on Beacon Hill, said Brentani was "a fine sensitive fellow" whom Suzanne met on a blind date two years ago.

Brentani, who worked for Minneapolis-Honeywell Co., was a native of Dresden, Germany. He reputedly was the son of a man in Italian consular or diplomatic service. He listed his parents' names as Ermanno and Carlotta Brentani, Sao Paulo, Brazil.

2 Charged In Church Fire

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The Justice Department has filed charges against two white men in connection with an Aug. 15 fire at a Negro church in southwest Georgia.

The church—the Shady Grove Baptist near Leesburg—was the first of four Negro churches which burned in an area around Albany, scene of prolonged racial turmoil and the jailing of hundreds of Negroes.

Federal charges of conspiring against the rights of citizens were filed Thursday against Jack P. Smith, 28, and Douglas Harold Parker, 18, both of Smithville.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in a statement released through the Atlanta office that Smith and Parker conspired to ignite gasoline on the premises of the church.

The church had been used by an interracial youth group for Negro voter registration meetings.

Maximum penalty under the federal law is 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

The Los Angeles Angels ended their 1962 action against the Boston Red Sox with 12 victories in 18 meetings.

Comedy Try Has Little To Offer

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — There's Carroll Baker, a blonde cutie, for the guys—and Van Johnson, a blond beaut, for the girls.

That about sums up the better side of "Come on Strong," an attempt at comedy which ingloriously fumbled into public view Thursday night on the stage of Broadway's Morosco Theater.

The other things—Time signals, right down to the second, punctuate every scene shift. They don't really contribute anything to the affair, but they are well done.

Garson Kanin, the author and director, has put together two old plots for Miss Baker and Johnson to scramble through as best they can. One is the boy-meets-girl routine, the other is what-price-Hollywood-fame?

Miss Baker goes about her chores in a bewitching assortment of nighties, flimsies and similar scantties — the work of designer Oleg Cassini—without ever revealing a believable character in her race to stardom.

Johnson, baring his chest and snapping pictures like mad, is a male equivalent of ambition. But what he's after, other than evading the bonds of matrimony while enjoying its rewards, never becomes clear.

The action and dialogue jerk in arbitrary fashion from farce through melodrama to awkward satire. Thirty roles are involved in the four-year narrative with negligible effect.

"Come on Strong" does add one small footnote to the annals of theatrical history. As the curtain rises for the first time, the stage remains completely dark for several moments. A burst of applause by the first nighters greeted the stygian situation. Perhaps they sensed what was coming.

Bar President Says JFK Action Correct

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The president of the American Bar Association says President Kennedy had "the solemn, legal duty" to use soldiers to integrate the University of Mississippi.

Sylvester C. Smith Jr., told the Philadelphia Bar Association Thursday the Department of Justice was justified in intervening, for "enforcement of the orders of the federal courts was inescapable."

He said his orgenization always has "maintained that lawyers, as officers of the court and ministers of justice, have a duty to sustain and defend the courts."

New Charge Lodged Against Vassall

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard disclosed today a new charge against William Vassall, 38, a clerk in the Admiralty accused of collecting secret information.

The second charge, brought under the Official Secrets Act, said Vassall communicated secret information to a person likely to be an enemy of the state in August and September. No details were given.

Vassall was arrested last month. The son of a London parson, he used to work in the office of the British naval attache in Moscow.

Caprock Material Purchased By Best

Announcement was made today of the sale of Caprock Material Co. to Gene Best, former owner of the firm, by the owner in the past four years, Walter Hales.

The business was originally established in 1950. At that time the firm was a partnership consisting of Best and a sand and gravel business owner in Albany. Best became sole owner in 1953.

The firm was purchased by Hales in January, 1959. Hales at that time also operated the Walter Hales Lumber Co. and National Distributing, a wholesale lumber firm. Both firms have since ceased operations in Snyder. Hales has recently been engaged in concrete contracting, doing work on missile sites.

Caprock Material, located at 2300 Avenue R, covers an area of almost two city blocks. Their facilities include a large batching plant with large bins and a belt conveyer, a weith batcher, and office and warehouse facilities. Many building materials are stored on the Caprock property, including Featherlite blocks, Sakrete a dry-mix material, driveway and roof gravel, concrete pipe and septic tanks, sewer pipe, and other products.

Prior to his entering the ready-mix concrete business Best was area manager in Houston for the Korotest Manufacturing Co. A native of Arlington, Colo., he has been a Texan since 1920. He finished high school at Albany and attended the University of Texas.

Best is vice president of Snyder Savings and Loan Association. He has served as a member of the Snyder school board, a Chamber of Commerce director, Scurry County Boy's Club director, and as an officer of the Optimist Club and Canyon Rifle Club.

Suspect In Mail Robbery Checked

BOSTON (AP)—Postal inspectors were reported today to be checking out a Providence, R.I., man tentatively identified as one of those involved in the $1.5-million mail truck robbery Aug. 14.

The Boston Globe said the truck driver and the guard, William F. Barrett and Patrick R. Schena, identified the man as one of those who tied them up and looted the truck.

They were said to have identified the man when he appeared in court last week. The man was then sentenced to 5-10 years in prison for illegal possession of burglary tools.

The spectacular robbery, the largest cash haul in history, took place on a lonely Route 3 bypass the night of Aug. 14.

This is the total-car warranty

Ford Motor Company warrants to its dealers, and its dealers in turn warrant to owners, as follows: that for 24 months or for 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will be made by tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance services, routine replacement of parts, such as filters, spark plugs, ignition points, wiper blades and brake or clutch linings, and normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items. The benefits of the warranty are available to the original purchaser and to subsequent owners of the vehicle during the time and mileage limits prescribed in the warranty.

Here is what it means to you

The new 1963 Ford-built cars and trucks are quality-engineered and manufactured to serve you better and last longer than ever before. The proof is in the warranty . . . proof of quality unheard of a few years ago.

In fact, it was only two years ago that Ford Motor Company announced the 12-month, 12,000-mile passenger car warranty which became the industry standard as other manufacturers followed Ford's lead. At the same time, Lincoln Continental became the only American-built car warranted for two full years or 24,000 miles, whichever came first. Now, this warranty applies to all Ford-built cars, regardless of price. Why is this possible?

Actually, the new warranty is a natural outgrowth of the engineering leadership that has resulted in twice-a-year (or every 6,000-mile) passenger car maintenance. It goes hand-in-glove with such Ford-pioneered service savers as the elimination of the 1,000-mile inspection . . . 30,000- to 36,000-mile intervals between major lubrications, 6,000-mile intervals between oil changes and minor lubrications, self-adjusting brakes, aluminized mufflers, and longer-life electrical systems.

These features that save you time and money as you drive are a direct reflection of the total quality achievements of Ford Motor Company.
