McLean Tigers Priming Themselves for Victory Over Rocket Eleven Friday

Former Countian Develops Strong Title Contenders

By LESTER CAMPBELL
Editor, The McLean News
Special to The Leader

McLEAN, Texas — The McLean Tigers, victorious in three District 3-A games so far this fall, are priming themselves this week for what is expected to be their most crucial battle when they meet the powerful Wellington Skyrockets on Tiger Field Friday night. Kick-off will be at 8 o'clock.

Four hundred reserved seat tickets are being sent to Wellington to be sold to fans there who intend to see the game. The seats will be in the west stands, Superintendent Logan Cummings has announced.

The Tigers, victorious so far this season over Wheeler 51-13, over Memphis 26-14, over Groom 35-0, and over Clarendon 46-6, have lost only their opener to the Panhandle Panthers 26-0. Since that first game, the team has steadily improved.

The improvements of the Tigers was seen most clearly in the Clarendon game here last Friday night, when the McLean eleven rocked the Broncos, and scored almost at will. The only score made by Clarendon came when an alert Bronco grabbed a Tiger fumble on the Tiger 25 yard-line and ran untouched for six points.

Featured in the McLean backfield is a shifty, 135-pound speed demon by the name of Johnny Haynes. Haynes, starting slowly this season, has in the past two games made a number of nice runs. The mainstay of the backs is Johnny Griffith, 160-pounder, who, although not shifty, runs extremely hard. Griffith has done most of the scoring thus far, running in (Continued on Page Seven)

Taxpayer Urges Action To Retain HD Agent

This letter was written by Mrs. J. C. Tinsley, who lives in the north part of Collingsworth County concerning the proposal of the Commissioners Court to drop the office of County Home Demonstration Agent on January 1.

Shamrock, Texas
October 18, 1947
Mr. Deskins Wells, Editor
The Wellington Leader
Wellington, Texas
Dear Mr. Wells:

When an issue develops that is of such vital importance as the Home Demonstration Clubs of the county, I think we people who pay the taxes to run this county should express ourselves about the issue. I think the Commissioners, instead of considering dropping the agent, should concentrate on the means of retaining her. I know what a problem it is to get the taxes raised or to revalue property, but when anything as important as the Home Demonstration Clubs are at stake, then we must put up a fight for them.

Personally, I don't belong to the clubs, nor work with them, but I worked with the Home Demonstration Clubs in Wheeler County for 10 years, until conditions beyond my control stopped my work, so I know wherein I speak when I express my opinions of the Home Demonstration Clubs.

If I didn't pay taxes in this county I would not feel privileged to speak, but I do pay taxes (quite a bit it seems) but I could pay a little more. It is only a question of a short time until something has to be done about the county's finances. No 1947 business can operate under a 1940 budget.

There is one prediction I'll venture to make. If they let the Home Demonstration Agent go, not one commissioner in office now will be in office after next year's election. You men think you run things, but you let a bunch of women become aroused and you are scarcely in the race.

The Home Demonstration clubs have taught the women on the farms to take advantage of the opportunities the farm offers. They have learned the value of an education for their children. They have learned to get along among themselves. They have learned that certain vitamins are essential to the growth and development of the bodies and they've learned the food that contains each vitamin. They've (Continued on Page Seven)

Fire Department Sponsors Show

The Wellington volunteer fire department is sponsoring the appearance of the Leeright Shows in Wellington during this week.

The show is owned by J. R. Leeright and features rides, swings, a merry go round, and other types of entertainment.

"This seems like one of the best shows of the type to appear in Wellington in several years," Fire Chief Wayne Cudd said.

The department's portion of the proceeds will go toward improving the recreation room at the fire hall.

The show will be open through Saturday night.

Nowlin Dogs Win in Kennel Show

Three Doberman Pinchers owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nowlin of Wellington won top prizes in the American Kennel Club Dog Show held in Amarillo during the week end.

All were entered in the senior puppy class of the working dog division.

Whizzer von Bassowitz was judged the best male in the class, while first and second places in the female section went to Duchess von Bassowitz, who is called Little Duchess, and Princess von Bassowitz.

The dogs are only nine months old, but Mrs. Nowlin reported that they were almost as large as dogs of their breed almost three years old. At the close of the show Whizzer was sold to Miss Frances Brown of Amarillo.

Several hundred dogs were entered in the show, which was attended by an estimated 2,000 people.

Govt. Support Price on Alfalfa Seed Set at 17c

A purchase plan whereby the government will buy alfalfa seed from producers at the support price of 17 cents per pound was announced this week by Millard Brown of the local AAA office. It is estimated that approximately 500,000 pounds of seed was raised in the county this year.

Under the plan the government will make a purchase agreement with the farmer who produces the alfalfa seed, whereby the government guarantees to buy the seed in May, 1948, at the support price of 17 cents per pound.

Mr. Brown said that the farmer is under no obligation to the government in regard to selling the seed. He may sell it at any time between now and the last of May for any price he may be offered.

He may store the seed on his farm, can sell all or any part at his convenience. The purchase agreement merely gives the farmer the privilege to sell his seed to the Commodity Credit Corporation next May, and is assured of receiving at least 17 cents.

It was explained that alfalfa seed must be bagged, cleaned and labeled before they are delivered to the government. At present, the nearest certified dealers for alfalfa seed are at Hollis and Vernon, but it is possible that some local dealer will be certified within a short time, Mr. Brown said.

County farmers have until February 28, 1948, to sign the purchase agreements at the local AAA office.

Nov. 15 Deadline On AAA Practice

Farmers are again reminded that November 15 is the final date for applying for approval of leaving the stalks or stubbles or sorghums on the land as a conservation practice for payment under the 1947 AAA Program. Prior approvals by the County Committee, must be given before the crop is harvested in order to be eligible for payment.

We also wish to emphasize the fact that sandy land farmers can earn a payment of $3.50 per acre for covering the land with cotton burs, hauled from the gins, as a conservation practice, provided they first get an approval from the county office, for carrying out the practice.

Farmers wishing to terrace their farms or construct a dam should make every effort possible to get this done before December 31, which is the end of the 1947 program year, because of the fact that $500.00 will be the maximum payment any producer can earn on all farms under the 1948 Conservation Program.

The AAA Office will be glad to discuss any conservation practice and assist in any way possible to make Collingsworth County a better county.

Rockets on Alert After One-Sided Tiger Victories

Wellington's Red Rockets, defending champions of District 3 will invade the McLean field Friday, October 24, expecting one of the hardest games of the season. They were warned by the one-sided victory of McLean over Memphis and put on notice again by the 46 to 6 win of the Tigers over the Bronchos. Wellington defeated Clarendon 34 to 0 as compared to the 46 points piled up by the Tigers against the same team.

Coach Al Duncan has been working his boys hard this week; for he realizes that they will need to be in perfect condition when they meet Larry Sanders' men this Friday. Monday Duncan gave the Rockets two hours of hard scrimmage and then had them do sprints for some time before jogging around the field to end the evening. No serious injuries will mar the start of the Rockets and there are practically no minor injuries; so the boys from Wellington will enter the game at full strength.

Raburn has recovered from his attack of poison ivy and Kenneth Strickland's leg is practically well.

Reserve seat tickets for the Wellington McLean Game will be on sale at the office of Supt. E. L. Pritchett at the high school.

The McLean line has a slight advantage in weight; but the Rockets have been up against heavy lines before and they have done all (Continued on Page Twelve)

MISS AMBER — A GRAND CHAMPION

One of the outstanding Palomino mares in the lower Panhandle area, Miss Amber, a 2-year-old, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Mish Dukeminier of Wellington, recently was grand champion mare at the Childress County Fair, reserve champion in the pleasure riding class, and first among mares foaled in 1945. Miss Amber was born on Victory day — and even at about the hour word was received of the Japanese surrender. She is descended from the Tobe Deahl stock of horses, and is registered in the Palomino Horse Breeders Association and is eligible for entry in the Tennessee Walking Horse Breeders Association records. Her sire was Oklahoma King, while her mother was Shang, also owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dukeminier.

Farm Bureau Holds Membership Drive

Collingsworth County Farm Bureau will participate in the annual state-wide membership Round-Up Week, October 23-30, it has been announced by Joe Wilson, organization chairman, who attended the sub-district meeting at Clarendon October 1 with a group of Collingsworth farmers. Approximately 50 workers will be soliciting Farm Bureau memberships in this county during Round-Up week, Wilson said.

Round-Up Week will be launched on the evening of October 23 when J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, addresses Texas farmers over the Texas Quality Network from 8:30 to 9:00 p.m. Other agricultural leaders of national prominence to be heard on the same program will be Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau; Chas. B. Shuman, president of the Illinois Farm Bureau; and H. L. Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau.

A farm-to-market road program for Texas and the future national farm program were topics which came under discussion at the district meeting.

First State Bank At Dodson Names New Officials

In the selection of new officers of the First State Bank in Dodson a short time ago, Dewey Malone, former vice-president, became president, succeeding E. J. Smith, who left that institution to head a bank at Hollis, Oklahoma.

Floyd F. Teutsch, who has been cashier for several years, and W. Frank Smith, who came to the bank from Childress, were named vice-presidents. Mrs. Tom Birchfield is cashier and Vinnie Portwood is assistant cashier.

Two new directors were named, Duard E. Scott, Dodson hardware merchant, and Mr. Smith. Other directors are Mr. Malone, E. J. Smith and Mr. Teutsch.

These are the first major changes to be made in the official family of the bank in recent years.

Commissioner Points to County Road Conditions

By PAT O'HAIR
Commissioner, Precinct 3

Only after much study of the facts from every angle did the Commissioners Court take decisive action on the problem of retaining the County Home Demonstration. The result was clear and conclusive effected by an overwhelming majority of the commissioners.

The question for us to decide was: Can $1,200 be spent to better advantage by retaining this service or using this money (every penny of it) on the school bus routes, mail routes and other necessary public roads. This money can be and must be diverted to roads in a manner thus explained: For several years commissioners' salaries have been paid from precinct road funds, also part of the county judge's salary from the road and bridge fund, but in our budget adopted this year for 1948 all of these salaries must be paid from the General Fund, from which fund the Home Demonstration Agent is paid. In like manner other shifts which are lawful and permissible can be and must be made, thereby reversing a procedure used a few years ago, for instance, when approximately $3,600.00 was transferred from the road funds to be paid on the Community Building.

The condition of the roads of our precinct is bad, the worst ever. We have several main school bus roads that have been totally impassable since June. Families are leaving their crops in our community and moving to Memphis to get their children in school. Other families are carrying children two to three miles in the morning to meet the bus and making a second trip in the afternoon. Daily, farmers say they can't get pickers to the field or cotton to the gin. Names and addresses will be given on request. At one time we had over 20 bridges and culverts out, the floods were that far ahead of our best efforts to repair. We yet have several out. We have numerous others that are rotten, dangerous death-traps being crushed and splintered by big semi-cattle trucks, then crossed by buses carrying our children to school. Let us avoid a tragic wreck scattering death and suffering in our county. Let us make a change.

Interest in Use Of Defoliant Is Shown First Time

Approximately 8,900 bales of cotton have been ginned in the county to date this season, ginners reported to The Wellington Leader early Wednesday, October 22. In no part of the county does the amount ginned at present represent more than 50 per cent of the crop, gin managers estimated, adding that their estimates were on the whole guessing. In the western part of the county, through the Quail area, ginning has just started and north of Salt Fork River, in most of the northern half of the county, it was reported as "just going good."

The grade, which at the opening of the season surprised both growers and ginners by being the best in recent years, continues good, reports show, with strict middling, middling and some strict low middling making up the bulk of the cotton now coming in.

The staple, shorter than last year, averages from 13-16 to 29-32.

The price at various points in the county Wednesday varied from 30 cents to 32 cents, with a majority of the gins paying from 31 to 31 1-2 cents. Cottonseed, which a few weeks ago was selling at $105 a ton, had dropped to $95.

Wellington ginners estimate the crop at about a third out, or possibly a little more than this. A number of growers were reporting they are still badly in need of pickers.

In the Dodson area, where picking began first, it was estimated that the cotton was from a third to a half out. The number of pickers in this area was reported to have increased considerably in the last few days and one gin manager reported he believed that section had about as many as are needed at present.

The yield in the Dodson area is varying widely, but reports of from one-third of a bale to a bale per acre have been received. Dodson gins, in addition to the crop in the Collingsworth County portion of the trade area, are also receiving a considerable amount of cotton from Oklahoma, as well as some from Childress County.

On the other hand, a small portion of the cotton grown in Collingsworth by farmers living near the county lines is not reported here, being ginned at Loco, Arlie, Memphis, McKnight, McLean, Shamrock and Madge.

Picking has been underway only about two weeks in the Quail section, and a scarcity of pickers prevails, in spite of the fact that the schools there, as well as at Samnorwood and Dodson, have been dismissed for the cotton picking season.

"Almost every time a farmer brings a bale to the gin he says he needs some more pickers," one report said.

Cotton in this area is the latest in the county, and it is estimated that not more than 15 per cent is picked. Cotton in this area is averaging 13-16 strict middling.

For the first time in this county, considerable interest is being shown in the use of defoliant, with picking by mechanical pickers or sleds in mind.

J. W. Thomas, county agent, contacted in regard to this, said use of a defoliant had been tried only (Continued on Page Seven)

City To Enforce Parking Laws

Enforcement of parking regulations in the City of Wellington for the future were announced this week by Bura Handley, city manager, following action by the City Council.

Parking spaces throughout the business section have been marked off during recent weeks, and motorists are warned to observe the markings. Regulations outlined by the city are:

1. Don't park in the blocked-off space around fire plugs, drive ways and pedestrian lanes.
2. Don't park beyond the middle of the street.
3. You must stop at all stop signs and lines.
4. Don't park your car straddling a parking line.

Offenders who violate these regulations will be subject to a fine, and the officers have been instructed to enforce these regulations.

Wellington Ice Company Has Modern Locker Plant

"You can have fried chicken the year around and fresh strawberry shortcake on Christmas Day," declared L. P. Jones, manager of the Wellington Ice and Locker Plant in summing up the advantages to a family in having a locker for its use.

During the month of October the Wellington Ice and Locker Plant is offering its new customers $5 worth of processing or curing either beef or pork to give them an opportunity to become acquainted with the services offered by the plant.

Two sizes of lockers are available at the plant. There is a six cubic foot locker which has a capacity of 200 pounds of processed meat and rents for $12.50 a year, and also the five cubic foot locker that holds up to 175 pounds of processed meat and rents for $10.50 a year.

The person who has a locker brings in the meat that he wants preserved and it is cooled, cut into the sizes that the owner specifies, wrapped, stamped with the owner's locker number, the cut of meat and the date, and then the meat is frozen and placed into the owner's locker.

This is called processing the meat. The plant offers this service at 2 1-2 cents a pound. Pork undergoes a curing process by hickory wood smoke, and the handling of a hog from the time the meat is brought in until it is placed in the owner's locker in specified size pieces costs 5 cents a pound.

Meat preserved in this fashion can be stored in lockers for many months. For best results it is recommended that pork be stored for not longer than five months and beef be stored not longer than seven months.

"We must educate the people to make the best use of their lockers," emphasized Mr. Jones. "It is a common failing of people to overload their lockers with meat in the wintertime and to keep the lockers nearly empty the rest of the time. A locker is rented by the year, and additional deposits to the locker can be made at any time."

Mr. Jones declared that by the use of the locker a person can save one-half the cost of meat in comparison with the method of buying it at retail. The method is of great value to farmers who have periods of surpluses and shortages. Fowls can be preserved by the quick-freeze method and stored up to a year without losing their flavor. Butter and lard can be stored, and eggs can also be preserved by beating them into a mixture and putting them in containers in the amount needed in recipes.

Fresh fruits and vegetables can also be preserved by the quick-freeze method and can be stored for approximately a year without losing their color, flavor or vitamin content. This method is fast and easy, and it eliminates waste and shrinkage.

Although people have stored meat by freezing it for some time, the locker plant with its sanitary chilling room and processing methods is a recent development in the food preservation line. The goal of the modern plant is to preserve food as near the natural state as possible.

Six people in the Wellington Ice and Locker Plant offer the best of services to their customers. Besides Mr. Jones, the plant employs Mrs. Jones as bookkeeper, and Joe Claunch, Charles Henrich, Rural McGaha and Royce Campbell.

United Gas Corp. Promotes Official

HOUSTON — Promotion of John C. Flanagan to general manager of the Texas operating division of the United Gas Corporation, in charge of firm's far-flung retail gas sales in the state, was announced today by President N. C. McGowen.

At the same time Mr. McGowen announced retirement Oct. 1 under United's retirement plan of J. V. Strange of Houston, who for the past 17 years has been vice president and general manager of the operating division.

Mr. Flanagan, a United vice president since early 1946, was born in Longview in 1896. He was educated in schools at Denison and Shreveport, La., joined United in 1929 and from 1930 to 1940 lived in Houston while serving as assistant to the president.

He moved to Shreveport in 1940. In January, 1946, Mr. and Mrs. Flanagan moved back to Houston after his election as vice president and appointment as assistant general manager of the operating division.

Mr. Strange, one of the gas industry's best-known executives, went into the utility business 41 years ago on the West Coast. He came to Houston in 1930 as vice president in charge of distribution for several companies which later became the United Gas system.

United's retail gas sales in 1930 were confined to Texas. But under Mr. Strange's direction, operations expanded from 99,173 customers in 102 cities and towns to the present number of 277,411 customers in 189 Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi cities and towns.

Former Loco Man Dies at Childress

Services were held October 15 for Samuel Adam Motesenbocker, age 78 years, 6 months and 6 days, who died Tuesday, October 14, at his home, 605 Ave. F NE, Childress. He had been ill for several months.

Mr. Motesenbocker moved to this area in 1926 and lived in the Loco community, where he was engaged in farming, until a few years ago when he moved to Childress. He was employed there by the Sarten Packing Company.

He is survived by his wife; five sons and one daughter, Marshall Motesenbocker of Dallas, Jesse Motesenbocker of Quail, Johnnie Motesenbocker of Childress, Sammie Motesenbocker of Wellington and Mrs. A. L. Myers of Kirkland; also eleven grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Other survivors are a brother, Albert Motesenbocker of Myrtle Springs, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Temmeg of California, and Mrs. Nancy M. Lilly of Garnett, Kansas, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Family Should Know SS Rights

Perhaps you know your rights under the social security program, but does your family?

Many widows who fail to file claims until they have lost payments advise that they were never told about this protection. J. R. Sanderson, manager of the local field office of the Social Security Administration in Amarillo, states that monthly payments can be made retroactively for only three months prior to the filing of an application. Upon death, payments which are made monthly to minor children and to widows with such minor children in their care are made without respect to the deceased worker's age.

Most workers in commerce and industry know about their own retirement payments at age 65 or older, but in too many cases the family does not know about payments in the event the worker dies.

Complete information can be obtained on this subject by writing to the field office of the Social Security Administration, Amarillo, Texas.

OUR 1ST. ANNIVERSARY

PORK CURING

Another feature of our plant is our pork curing department. Again all you do is drive the fat hog into the pen—we do the rest. The animal is butchered in the most sanitary conditions. Then we cure the meat with a stitch pump system. After that it is smoked over a "HICKORY WOOD" fire to provide that distinctive hickory wood cured taste.

We are indeed grateful for the splendid business you have given us during the first twelve months after opening here, and we intend to show it by constantly increasing service. We believe that the experience gained will enable us to serve you better in the future, and as a mark of our appreciation we cordially invite you to come by and see us Saturday Oct. 25 at which time we will have open house for all of you.

SLAUGHTER DEPARTMENT

Featured in this plant is a complete killing floor. All you do is to bring your animals here and turn them in the lot. They will be slaughtered in a modern, sanitary slaughter house. Every precaution is taken to see that they are dressed in the most sanitary manner to conform to all state regulations. After it has been chilled it is cut to your specifications with servings packaged to provide a meal for your size family. Sterile lamps retard the growth of any harmful bacteria.

DRESSED POULTRY

We will also dress your chickens, turkeys and other fowls and will process them to be stored until such a time as you may need them.

We feel that we have the finest frozen food equipment that money can obtain, and we invite you again to come by and see us next Saturday 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. and learn more about how it can serve you.

David Behn Weds Dorothy Forbis At Campus Chapel Ceremony In Chicago, Oct. 17

Miss Dorothy Margaret Forbis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Forbis, Wellington, became the bride of David M. Behn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira D. Behn of Cloverport, Kentucky, at the Thorndike Hilton Chapel on the University of Chicago campus Friday, October 17.

Rev. Mallory Fitzpatrick read the vows before the altar that was decorated with white flowers and brass candelabra with white candles. Mrs. Fitzpatrick played the traditional wedding marches at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of deep tan with brown braid hip flounce and brown accessories. Her corsage was baby chrysanthemums in autumn colors.

Miss Marcia White of Chicago, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a beige cutaway suit with sheer pink blouse and black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

John P. Behn, of Cloverport, Ky., attended his brother as best man. Philip W. Young, Chicago, was the usher.

The bride's mother wore a black bolero dress with jade trimmings and black accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. The mother of the groom wore gold wool crepe with brown accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

After the ceremony, the reception was held at the Clarence Sidney Funk Cloisters adjoining the Chapel. The table was decorated with white flowers, and the three-tiered cake was crowned with pink roses and surrounded with green.

The bride was graduated from the Wellington schools and attended Texas Tech in Lubbock where she received her A. B. degree. She later received her A. M. degree from the University of Texas at Austin, and is working on her Ph. D. degree at the University of Chicago.

The groom received his A. B. degree from the University of Chicago and is working on his master's degree at that school at present. He served with the Army Air Forces for three years during the war.

After a short honeymoon the couple will make their home at 6209 Dorchester, Chicago, Ill. They will continue their studies at the University.

Out-of-city guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Forbis, Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Behn and John, Cloverport, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Plumer, Oak Park, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hoffman, Valparaiso, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Grip, Champaign, Ill.

PTA Eastern Star Hold Sales Saturday

Rummage sales rival everything in town for popularity these fall days from the standpoint of the organization sponsoring the sales, the people who want to rid their homes of clothes they can't use before cold weather sets in and the people who are buying at the sales.

Saturday morning two more rummage sales will offer "fresh rummage" to their customers. The Wellington Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star will continue their series of sales at the Stevenson Implement Co., and the East Ward P. T. A. will hold their second rummage sale at the Home Supply Co.

Both sales will again offer goods that average from $1.00 to $4.00 as a price range. Men's suits and coats will be offered for a little more, and some women's dresses will go for as little as 50 cents.

Last Saturday's sales were reported as a great success by the Eastern Stars and a sell-out by the East Ward PTA. In order to accumulate enough material for a sale, the PTA offered a prize for the class room bringing in the most rummage. The third grade home room of Miss Christine Cooper and the first grade home room of Miss Mary Alston tied for the prize.

Anyone having rummage is invited to take advantage of this opportunity to turn it in for a worthy cause. All goods should be turned in early Saturday morning since the morning is the popular shopping hour at these sales.

Mrs. Percy Wells is attending the spring clothing market in Dallas this week.

Home Demonstration Clubs Exhibit Year's Work in 8 Educational Displays on Achievement Day

Eight educational exhibits by the Home Demonstration clubs of the county and a general exhibit were presented at the annual Achievement Day on Saturday, October 18, at the Community Building.

Approximately 300 persons from throughout the county gathered to see the type of work that the clubs had studied and accomplished during the year.

The exhibit of Houselog was centered around frozen foods. In a home freezer, supplied by the Home Supply Co., the group displayed vegetables and a chicken sealed in the new wax air-tight wrapper. Mrs. O. A. Kiker is president of the Houselog club.

North Wellington presented a sewing exhibit that was under the direction of the club's president, Mrs. Walter Franks. A lighting exhibit featuring all types of lamps and lighting was presented by the Fresno, aided by a member of the West Texas Utilities seaff.

Clean milk production was the theme of the Dodson exhibit, and the group displayed a seamless milk pail with a seamless strainer and filter pads as a sure way of having clean milk in the home. Midway exhibited a study in the food values of dairy products, Aberdeen presented a food and teeth exhibit showing the foods that help make strong teeth and bones, and Abra presented an exhibit of foods that furnish equal amounts of calcium.

Samnorwood presented a comparative exhibit on the theme of buying wisely. One of the features of this exhibit was a display showing that 48 ounces of potatoes and 4 ounces of potato chips can be purchased for the same amount of money.

Mrs. W. R. Breeding is president of the Abra group, Mrs. Marvin Wynn is president of Dodson, Mrs. M. C. Cleveland, Midway; Mrs. Harry Jones, Samnorwood; Mrs. Arla Simpson, Aberdeen; and Mrs. Alfred Knoll is the THDA chairman.

The general exhibit featured canned goods, jellies, jams, and all types of fancy work. Mrs. Willie Knoll, Mrs. W. A. McClure and Mrs. W. C. Johnson served on the exhibit committee, and Mrs. Walter Franks, Mrs. Marvin Wynn and Mrs. W. C. Johnson are members of the finance committee.

Gene Crutcher Marries Patricia Koen At Primitive Baptist Church here Saturday, Oct. 18

Iowa Girl Is Bride Of Darrell Darnell

Miss Ella Mae Erlbacker of Earling, Iowa, became the bride of Darrell Darnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Darnell of Wellington, in a double ring ceremony at St. Joseph's Church in Earling on September 9, the Rev. P. A. Bissen officiating.

The bride wore a white satin gown designed with a marquisette yoke with a high neckline trimmed in satin applique and beads. The full skirt swept into a long train and a beaded tiara held her long veil in place. She carried white roses and her only jewelry was a two-strand necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Patricia Erlbacker, attended her sister as maid of honor, and Mrs. Harry A. Keenan, sister of the groom, attended the bride as bridesmaid. Both wore matching gowns in pastel shades of pink and blue, and their only jewelry was gold lockets, gifts from the bride.

Joanne Stalz, the bride's niece, was the flower girl. She wore a dress identical to that of the bride and carried a colonial bouquet. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the bride. Gerald Erlbacker, a nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. He wore a white suit.

John Erlbacker Jr. attended the groom as best man.

After the ceremony, dinner was served to approximately 100 guests and the reception was held.

The bride was educated at St. Joseph's school in Earling, Iowa. She is employed in Elgin, Ill. The groom was graduated from Dodson High School in 1944, and during his school days he was active in football and baseball.

Mr. Darnell is employed in Elgin, Ill., and the couple will make their home there.

Miss Patricia Ann Koen, Amarillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Koen of Wellington, and Gene Crutcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Crutcher of Archer City, were married at the Primitive Baptist Church in Wellington Saturday, October 18.

Elder Floyd Pittman, Vinson, Okla., pastor of the church and cousin of the bride, read the marriage vows before the altar that was lighted by candles in tall holders. A basket of pink gladiolas and ferns stood at each side of the altar.

The bride wore a white wool street length dress that was buttoned down the back with a bustle effect, and rich brown accessories. Her picture hat was of brown felt, and she wore a corsage of orchids. She also wore a cameo brooch that her father had given her mother at the time of their marriage.

Miss Loeva Koen attended her sister as bridesmaid. She wore a pink crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of orchids. Bill Crutcher attended his brother as best man.

After the ceremony, the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Koen greeted the guests at the door and ushered them into the flower filled reception room. The table was covered with a lace cloth and in the center was the three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom. Miss Floetta Koen presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Loeva Koen served the guests cake and sandwiches.

The bride was graduated from Wellington High School in 1946 and attended Draughan's Business College in Wichita Falls. Since then she has been employed by the Electrolux Corp. in Amarillo.

The groom attended the public schools in Olney and served in the Marine Corps during the war. He is employed by the Continental Oil Company in Archer City.

our voice is constantly changing

A telephone company's "voice" changes in somewhat the same way as that of a teen-age boy. But unlike the teenster, our voice is constantly changing. With the installation of new telephones, our voice becomes richer, fuller, and covers a wider range. Through our expansion program, we hope that before long our voice will make its greatest change—the satisfying sound of telephone service for everyone who wants it.

once previously so far as he knows, and that was on the Bert Weaver farm three seasons ago. Several factors were against the success of this experiment.

Mr. Thomas warned farmers interested in the practice that several important factors are necessary for its success.

Much interest is being shown by growers in Hall County, and a large quantity of the defoliant, known commercially as Aero Defoliant, has been shipped into Memphis.

The theory behind the use of a defoliant is that the leaves will fall from the plants within 10 to 12 days and the remainder of the bolls will mature much quicker, enabling the grower to use a mechanical picker or sled and still get an early harvest.

Weather is one of the most important factors, Mr. Thomas said. There must be enough dew or other moisture on the leaves to hold the defoliant for several hours, but not enough to wash it off. If there is too little moisture, the effect is lost. Because of this, the cotton must be sprayed with defoliant at night or in the early morning.

Local growers who have indicated they may try the practice have said they plan to rig up their own sprayers or blowers, attaching them to the power takeoff of tractors. Mr. Thomas said that a much stronger air blast is needed to spray the defoliant than is used to spray sulphur on the cotton fields, due to the former being much heavier.

From 35 to 40 pounds of defoliant per acre will probably be needed here, costing around $2 per acre. This is considerably higher poundage than is generally given for cotton in the Mississippi Delta Area, where defoliation has been given a thorough test. That, Mr. Thomas explained, is because cotton in this area, being drouth resistant, has much tougher leaves that are harder for the chemical action of the defoliant to penetrate.

A high wind which rises after the defoliant has been sprayed, can blow it away.

Dan Jones, Lubbock cotton man and head of the experiment station there, is considered as the foremost authority on defoliating cotton in West Texas.

Mr. Thomas pointed out that while he is interested in the outcome of experiments with defoliant, he is not recommending its use here.

four of the seven touchdowns made against Clarendon. Bill Boston, who plays only on the offensive in the quarterback slot, has fumbled only once or twice this season while handling the ball in the tricky "T" formation. His relief on the defensive is a tough freshman back, L. M. Watson, who also does the punting. Rounding out the backfield in W. A. Bruner, who makes most of the hard line plunges, and Wes Langham, who has been out of the past two games with an injured shoulder.

On the line, the outstanding man is big Dick Andrews, weighing 208 pounds, who plays left tackle. Right tackle is another husky, Barney Myatt, 205-pounder. Guards are Jimmy Newton, 154 pounds, but tough, and Brian Allen, 150-pounder. Jack Brooks, formerly center, has also been shifted to play guard, and has been turning in some good work.

Holding down the center position now is Arvin Smith, co-captain, and he is one of the best bruisers on the team. Ends are Bill Eudey, 170 pounds, and Alvis Shelton, 170 and co-captain, both of whom have greatly improved since the beginning of the season.

All the second stringers have been able to get in some play this season. In the Groom, Clarendon, and Wheeler games, to give them some experience. In these three games, every man on the squad has seen action, including the tiny manager, Billy Frank Harlan, who has been sent in several times to attempt drop-kicking the extra points.

Some people ask why the clubs can't function without an agent? They have to have a leader. No group of people, either great or small, can go very far without a leader. Hence the chaos and turmoil of the present days. We do not have the right leaders.

If we let this agent go, there will be so much demand for an agent that one will have to be reinstated, and then after the 25 years' work the clubs in Collingsworth County have done, they'll have to loose their present standard and go back to the beginners class.

Maybe I'm talking when I should be listening, but I'm very much interested in anything that benefits my country as a whole, and somehow we have to find the means to keep the home demonstration clubs operating.

We all know our property is worth three or four times what it was on the 1940 valuation, yet we are paying taxes on the 1940 valuation. I'm glad it is not my problem to meet this business of financing this agent. I do know it has to be met and I'm behind any means that it worked out to meet this obligation.

Respectfully,
Mrs. J. C. Tinsley

Editorial

The joint congressional committee investigating food prices in the eastern portion of the United States has uncovered overwhelming evidence to the effect that approximately 2,500,000 persons in New York City face undernourishment and deficiency diets on account of the inflated costs of food. Similar condition may be expected in other populous centers.

This grim testimony, surprising to residents in agricultural regions, did not come from alarmists and "do-gooders." On the other hand, corroboration was given by Dr. F. G. Boudreau of New York, chairman of the food study committee of the National Research Council, at a Chicago nutrition conference a few days ago. Dr. Boudreau declared that millions of people in the United States do not have enough to eat.

That inflated food costs mean considerably more than depleted pocketbooks and unappeased appetites was made clear at the same conference by Dr. Jonathan Forman, editor of the Ohio State Medical Journal, who declared that malnutrition is an underlying cause of virtually all disease. In addition to the threat of widespread illness, an undernourished nation is confronted with the problem of extensive absenteeism and decline of productivity when production is sorely needed. Evidently, the broad generalization that Americans are a people who gorge themselves and waste too much food calls for some qualification.

In the circumstances, it is little wonder that food prices are being regarded as a major national problem. Senator Baldwin,

• Best Publicity

A fine example of community salesmanship is to be found in the location of a new shoe factory in Temple, according to Hubert M. Harrison. Recently a stranger took his car to a radio repair shop in Temple to have his radio fixed. The repair man had recently become a member of the Temple Chamber of Commerce and was familiar with the intense campaign being conducted for new industries.

Noticing a display case of baby shoes in the back of his customers car, which had a Wisconsin license plate, the radio man began asking questions and learned that the stranger was just passing through Temple on his way to another Texas city to look into a location for a factory to make baby shoes. The radio man began to "sell" Temple with enthusiasm and factual information. He finally persuaded the shoe manufacturer to go to see the manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The result of this chance bit of community selling is a new shoe factory in Temple which eventually will employ 250 people and turn out 2,000 pairs of shoes daily. The most effective publicity a community can receive is the word-of-mouth recommendations of the citizens who believe in his town—Weldon Owens in The League Chronicle.

• Wheeler School Improvement

The School Board of the Wheeler Independent School District has called a $27,000 school election for Saturday, October 25. The funds received from the sale of the bonds, if voted by the property owners of the district, will be used to repair the Wheeler Grade School Building, which is in a deplorable condition—J. C. Howell in The Wheeler Times.

Three Ohioans were charged with stealing two tons of radiators from an empty house. Apparently they thought the heat was off.

a member of the joint committee in the Eastern states, anticipates with misgiving the economic impact of sustained high food prices unless voluntary administrative curbs are provided. The food budget for lower income groups, he declared, has risen so dangerously as to cut down on their purchasing power for other products. Certainly, the situation adds support to food conservation by those who have an abundance but waste too much—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Paraphrasing Browink, "Oh, to be in San Antonio now that autumn's there!"

Most romantic of Texas cities! Herds of bawling cattle once were driven down the dusty main street. Stagecoaches dashed in, with a story of a holdup or an Indian attack. Mules, with jingling little bells, prodded in, loaded with Spanish silver.

Her history is a procession of Spaniards, Mexicans, filibusters, Comanches, cowboys browsing in the saloons, cattle kings betting thousands on the turn of a card.

From San Antonio, Jim Bowie set forth to seek the San Saba mine (known to legend, too, now as "the lost Bowie mine"), had an epic fight with redskins and, because of his wounded men, had to turn back.

Roy Bean lived in San Antonio till he left for Langtry to become "the Law West of the Pecos."

San Antonio not only is the scene of the Alamo but here too were fought the Council House fight, the Grass Fight, Salado, Alazan, Medina, Concepcion; and the city was stormed by Texas patriots responding to the ringing call, "Who will go with old Ben Milam into San Antonio?"

Shanghai Pierce of the booming voice; Big-Foot Wallace, Texas Ranger, stagecoach driver, hero of the Mire expedition and of the War with Mexico! Bet-a-Million Gates; Sam Bass on the dodge; Ben Thompson, master of the six-gun; Robert E. Lee; Capt. Jack Hays; Sidney Lanier; O. Henry; Brann the Iconoclast—all were here.

What a cast of characters! Imagine writing a whole book about San Antonio and leaving all this or nearly all of it out! Well, a fellow did.

A gambler who was an expert at poker was asked why he never bet on the races. He said, "They won't let me shuffle the horses."

The volume of production of all U. S. crops this year is expected to be a little over last year's high record, well above the 10 year average, and slightly above the average for U. S. farmers' best years, 1942 to 1946.

"Zero-Zero" to "CAVU"

By BILL HUGHES

In the recent passing of Clee Rothwell of Cee Vee, Texas, Herd Manager of the Mill Iron Ranches, that outfit suffered an inestimable loss. Clee was 62 years old. He began his career with the old Mill Irons 50 years ago at the age of 12. At 21, old Bob Green, Foreman and a figure in the history of not only the ranches but of this country, made Clee wagon boss. From the middle teens to the late twenties the Mill Irons went temporarily out of the cattle business and Clee during that time rode on several other outfits. But when in the early thirties Mill Iron started back into the cattle business, this time with registered cattle, 100 C-Y cows from Wyoming to be exact, Clee returned to the Mill Irons and took up his position of Herd Manager, which task he devoted himself to unsparingly until his death, with success and in a manner such as few men achieve.

He loved life, cattle and his men, and all that knew him loved, respected, and trusted him. As for his work, let the record stand and present speak for itself. Under his guidance, Mill Iron grew from nothing in 1933 until in 1947 it is the second largest registered herd in the United States. Much of Mill Iron's foundation stock came from the famous Banning-Lewis Ranches in Colorado Springs. Just recently at the latter's 25th anniversary sale, a Mill Iron bred coming 2-year old bull calf owned by Banning-Lewis topped the sale in his class. On October 17, of this year at Kansas City, Missouri, in the American Fat Car Lot Show, Mill Iron steers, the low end cut of Mill Iron's 1946 bull calf crop bought, fed, and shown by Mr. Dan Casement of Painesville, Kansas, placed second.

It is said and correctly so, that no man is indispensable, but it is equally true that friendship and loyalty nourished, strengthened and ripened over forty years is a thing that can not be replaced in a life's span, in a matter of days, or even several years—if at all. Furthermore that knowledge, gained through actual living and doing, keep interest and hard work can not be duplicated by text book education, sporadic observations or even by experience of no matter how long if only surface deep.

The Mill Iron has been extremely fortunate and very rich in character of the type of men who have made and are making the outfit a success. There was only one Bob Green and there will be only one Clee Rothwell. Mill Iron was fortunate to have picked them, but time and circumstances and the real stuff of which they were made developed them; and they made Mill Iron. I am certain that Mill Iron would never attempt to try to replace Mr. Clee. They believe and do hope that from among the splendid Mill Iron men on hand, those still to come, that fortune will smile again and that time will produce another name and personality to take its place among the stars from cowman's land.

'Egg and I' Shows In Wellington

"Rough and Ready" is what they are calling Claudette Colbert around the Universal-International lot these days.

The smartly-clad, enameled-nailed Claudette, who on the screen has always been a symbol for chic, takes an awful beating in the hilarious "The Egg and I," coming Sunday through Tuesday to the Ritz Theatre.

She's a gingham-clad farmer's wife who has to lend a hand with the chores or incur the disapproval of her husband, played by Fred MacMurray. Fred portrays the city-slicker turned rural who firmly believes in the old adage that no man should have more land or livestock than his wife can take care of.

Gets Deglamorized

The peak of Claudette's deglamorization in the film version of Betty MacDonald's best-seller is when she wrestles with Cleopatra the pig. For this sequence she had to get right down in the studio-made mud/pig pen and try to tug Cleopatra back into the pen by pulling on the sow's ears.

Though the studio used hot water in making the mud—a standby fire engine supplied the tepid liquid—it was still a messy and smelly business for Claudette. The close-ups and all took the better part of an afternoon. The mud was sprinkled with fish-meal to keep Cleopatra interested, and the smell, according to Claudette did in no way resemble Chanel No. 5. She reported that after five steaming baths her husband, Dr. Joel Pressman, finally allowed her to enter their living room that evening.

Performs Farm Tasks

In addition to mauling the pig, Claudette had to chop wood, shingle roofs, haul water from a well, plow trim trees, feed and water chickens, cows, goats, sheep, a dog and a horse. MacMurray was off in the woods hunting and just came in for meals, also prepared by Claudette, to offer suggestions for speeding up her chores.

By the time the film had been finished, the heretofore glamour girl had suffered a bruised shin, a wrenched shoulder, a stubbed toe, a burnt arm, and bad bruises the size of half-dollars over the greater part of her anatomy.

Heading the featured cast in "The Egg and I" are Marjorie Main, Louise Albritton, Percy Kilbride, Billy House, Richard Long, and Fuzzy Knight. The hit film was directed by Chester Erskine.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Wood and children, Linda and Barbara, left recently for Big Spring to make their home. Mr. Wood was with the advertising department of the Wellington Leader for a year and a half. He has accepted a place with the Civil Aeronautics Administration and will be stationed at the Big Spring Air Field.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

J. A. Says College Presidents Cant Unload State of Affairs

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek no doubt has misconstrued the meaning of the statement he is arguing about, as his letter below will reveal.

Dear Editor:

I was sittin out here on the bank of Buck Creek Monday afternoon watchin a airplane fly over and tryin to see of it was gonna attempt to make a rain although it didn't particularly concern me none one way or another as I learned long ago a man will be a lot more contented in this world if he learns to take women and the weather for what they are, you can't change one or the other and even if you do the results don't vary much, the best policy is to not get so wrapped up in your crops you can't enjoy the weather and don't bank on no woman making no more improvements than you do, but instead of droppin out dry ice I notice a handful of newspapers fell out and since one drifted down to where I was sittin and I could reach it without gettin up I opened it up and read a statement by a college president that "it's not the leaders but the rank and file of life, the shirtsleeve aristocrats of toll, who make a civilization."

Now I personally ain't got no prejudices against college presidents, but ain't it goin a little far for them to be unloadin the present state of civilization on us ordinary citizens? It don't seem right for the leaders to keep leadin us all around and presidin over things and directin affairs and enjoyin their offices and flyin back and forth across the ocean and gettin quoted in the newspapers and then when things turn out like they have squirmen around and sayin the world-wide mess belongs to us.

Atomic bombs, torn up Europe, busted England, starvin Chinese, homeless waifs, sky-high prices, ankle-length skirts, drouth in one spot deluge in another, scarcity of cotton pickers, automobile shortage, housing shortage, the Russians, no sir, them college presidents ought to be smarter than to figure they can put the blame on us. Personally I *didn't have nothin to do with it. I was out here on my farm tendin to my own business which consists mostly of leavin the other fellow's business alone when it all happened. As far as I'm concerned, great leaders make great civilizations, and if the present state of the world ain't satisfactory, don't come lookin to me for the blame. I ain't seen no college president or other leader lookin me up to hand me the credit when the world is sailin smoothly. I decline the present honor.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try it!

LETTERS From The PEOPLE

Dear Deskins,
Let's give a glad hand to the V. F. W.—they really did police an evening of good music and dancing last week.

Everything worth while requires a lot of work and pressure from somewhere. Usually there are few thanks for those who do the work. Here is my "thank you" for a gala evening—and am I glad I could enjoy it without being inside that pressure block—might have made me sick then where would I be?

Sincerely,
E. P.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Lawrence recently moved from their farm near Arlie to the home which they recently bought from Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rapp. This house, of brick and rock construction, is the one formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lee O'Neil, now of Lubbock.

Rocket B Team Down Strong Hollis Eleven 18 to 13

The Wellington Skyrockets' second team defeated the Hollis Tigers' second team in a hard fought battle Wednesday night, in Wellington, with the slight margin of 18-13.

The first touchdown came in the second quarter when Lynn Wright of the Rockets received a partially blocked Tiger kick and sprinted 45 yards down the west sideline for the score. The try for extra point was not successful.

Just before the half, Max Brown intercepted a Rocket pass and raced 99 yards for the first Hollis score. The try for extra point was no good and the teams were tied up 6-6.

On the kickoff, the Rockets started a drive that was stopped on the Tiger 2-foot line, then Keith Cunningham drove over for the second Rocket tally.

Later, a pass from McCutchen to Walter O'Neil set up the third Rocket touchdown. O'Neil reached the Tiger 3-yard line, and the Rockets were held there for three plays until McCutchen went over for the score. The Rockets led 18-6.

In the final quarter with about a minute to go, the Tigers scored on a screen pass. Their try for point was good, and the game ended with a 18-13 score.

The lineups are as follows:

Sleeping Sickness Spreads in State

COLLEGE STATION—A warning to stockmen about sleeping sickness among horses came from the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service this week.

Dr. E. A. Grist, Extension veterinarian, warned that from now until the first frost, sleeping sickness is a threat to farmers and ranchmen. In Louisiana recently, the disease reached the epidemic stage, with official reports showing 3,713 cases in which horses were stricken.

While only 52 cases of the disease have been reported in Texas this year, Doctor Grist said, vaccination is still in order up until cold weather sets in.

Account on cases of sleeping sickness and other livestock diseases reported in Texas is kept by Doctor Grist, making possible timely warnings and recommendations for disease control. County agents and veterinarians report outbreaks to him monthly.

Gospel of Christ (Rom. 1:16)

A QUESTION ANSWERED
Jesus said in Mark 16:16, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." That statement from the Lord should satisfy, but many ask the question, Why does that save?

The answer according to the Bible is that in baptism we:

(1) Die with Christ. "We are buried with him by baptism into death . . . knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed." (Rom. 6:4, 6)

(2) We are buried with Christ. "We are buried with him by baptism." (Rom. 6:4)

(3) We rise with Christ. "We are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we should also walk in newness of life." (Rom. 6:4)

(4) We sit with Christ. "God hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus." (Eph. 2:5, 6)

The Lord, not man, fixed this, and according to the Record, if a man can be saved without baptism, he can be saved without death to sin, burial into Christ's death, resurrection into newness of life, and without sitting with Christ in heavenly places.

Good Variety Wheat Pays Off

COLLEGE STATION—Charles Sheldon, Panhandle wheat farmer, went to Fort Worth to sell wheat off his Moore county farm and came home with a story which County Agent J. B. Waide, Jr., thinks every Texas grower ought to hear.

The story gives a good answer to the question: why plant high quality wheat seed?

Sheldon, contacting a big Fort Worth mill, was told by the manager that the mill wasn't too interested in buying Moore county wheat. It seems that there were several carloads of wheat in the railroad yard at the time, all of it from a county near Moore, but none of the millers would bid on it because of its poor-baking qualities.

The manager then took Sheldon through a laboratory where the mill had installed a considerable and costly amount of equipment recently. In order to meet competition, the manager said, the mill had to run baking tests on each car of wheat to see that the quality wheat was always detecting making domestic flour. The company also had wheat experts who were able to identify wheat varieties and who were trained elevator operators in grain identification. Sheldon was told that poor quality wheat was always detected and that the only outlet for it was the export trade. The company had its own figures on Moore county, and the manager told Sheldon that 15 per cent of the wheat in his county was of poor milling quality.

Fortunately, says County Agent Waide, Sheldon's wheat was not among the 15 percent, and he got a good price for it.

Dairymen Urged to Put Up Silage

COLLEGE STATION—In a very short time, Texas dairymen will be up against winter-time feeding conditions.

Realizing what the feed situation is likely to be, many dairymen are looking for ways to avoid the high-price slap that seems to be coming.

Extension dairymen at Texas A. and M. College, looking back over the years they've seen dairy farmers face the same situation say that a first and wise step will be to see that each pound of feed is used to best advantage. Every dairy herd of any size has some cows that need culling out, because they won't be producing when the feed load is the heaviest.

During the few weeks before frost, there will be the opportunity to put up more hay and silage, and every pound of good roughage will come in handy this winter, the dairymen say. So, between now and frost, a good job of harvesting hay and silage crops is No. 1 on the list of dairy forming chores.

Because of dry weather, it was not possible to get enough small grain pastures planted in early September. This should not, however, cancel all plans for planting winter grains, the dairymen say. The feed situation is such that planting through most of October will be worth the time and expense. With costs as they are, $1 spent for small grain pasture should return more than $16 worth of grazing.

Gilmore Locker Plant Has First Anniversary

Open House will be held at the Gilmore Locker Plant Saturday, October 25, in honor of its first anniversary of business in Wellington. Refreshments of doughnuts and coffee will be served to people visiting the plant during the day, and everyone is invited to inspect the plant whether they use its services or not.

The Gilmore Locker opened its doors a year ago to offer the people of the county the benefit of a slaughtering, processing, and storage unit. During the year 1,000 hogs and beef animals have been slaughtered by the slaughtering department and processed by the plant, and many more animals have been brought in for the processing alone.

L. A. Gilmore, owner and manager of the plant, first had the idea of building a frozen food locker while he was in the service. "There are two reasons why I decided on this sort of business," he said. "In the first place I talked with the people of the county and found that it was what they wanted, and secondly this was one type of business that didn't have one like it on every corner."

The plant offers a slaughtering department with a lot to turn animals into and a complete killing floor where the animals are dressed in a very sanitary manner, chilled, cut into specified sizes and packaged in family size pieces.

Pork curing by the hickory smoke method and the dressing and processing of poultry are services that are also offered to the people who rent the lockers. Preserving of vegetables and fruits can be done by the quick-freeze method and then they are ready to be placed in the lockers.

Commenting on his year of business, Mr. Gilmore said, "Business has been up 100 percent with us during the year. We have 801 lockers; they are all rented and we have a waiting list."

"Animals are brought in alive, and the people don't have to bother with them any further," continued Mr. Gilmore. "We slaughter, process the meat and put it up in family size packages. The meat is put in the lockers, invoiced, and the owner checks the meat out of his locker the way he checks money out of the bank."

Mr. Gilmore stated that the plant does not buy and sell, but merely handles the products of the people who rent the lockers. However, the services of the slaughtering department are open to anyone who needs them.

"After a year's experience, we feel capable of offering satisfaction," declared Mr. Gilmore. "The plant is going to keep up to date on all processing methods and equipment, and I feel that anyone who makes conscientious use of his locker can save from $10 to $30 on his food bill a month."

Mr. Gilmore has been a resident of Wellington since 1932. Before he entered the armed services, he operated an automobile wrecking service. Employed in the plant besides his wife who manages the office are Ed (Deacon) Jones, Howard Jackson, Pat Smithhart and Clyde Wisdom.

"Take Pen in Hand"

This column has been running for so long that its readers, in towns like ours all over the country, are beginning to "take pen in hand" and write us what they think.

Some of them take me over the coals for what I say—like the column I ran on planting alfalfa. Others write, "I liked your column yesterday, but..." All of them have different points of view.

From where I sit, that's the way it should be. Everybody's entitled to an opinion—and it's those very differences, and friendly criticism, that make for tolerance and better understanding—whether it's ideas on planting alfalfa or choosing between beer and cider.

The more folks air their differences right out in public, with a neighborly respect for the other person's liberties and point of view, the closer we are to the American principle of individual freedom—whether it's in a choice of crops or beverages.
