Two major TxDOT projects slated for area

Construction projects to begin soon

The Texas Department of Transportation is about ready to begin a $4.7-million Interstate 20 repaving project from just west of Colorado City to the Howard County line.

A pre-construction meeting with Price Construction Co. of Big Spring was canceled Tuesday, but a TxDOT spokesman said the company will start work in three to five weeks.

Meanwhile, Willis Electric Co. of Abilene is preparing to install traffic lights on the north and south sides of I-20 on Hwy. 208.

TxDOT office manager David Elmore in Big Spring said Willis Electric will start work in late June or early July on the $147,489 traffic lights contract.

Asked why the I-20 reconstruction is being delayed, Elmore said, "They were not prepared to go to work. It will be three to five weeks before they can get started.

"We like to have the preconstruction meeting right before they begin so it will be fresh in everyone's mind. It's usually three to five days before, and sometimes it's the same day."

Elmore said Price Construction will probably work into September or October and return next May to put the final inch of paving on the 15.8 miles of highway from FM 1229 to the Howard County line.

The amount of the contract is $4,669,481.

Elmore said it is not uncommon for electrical contracts to be delayed these days because manufacturers are backlogged.

"It won't take them long to do that," he said, noting that the length of Willis Electric's contract is 40 working days.

In yet another Mitchell County highway project, J. H. Strain & Sons of Abilene will be sealcoating selected areas of I-20 from Hwy. 208 east about three miles to the end of the business route near FM 1899.

The half-million-dollar contract calls for the company to sealcoat on I-20 in Nolan and Howard counties as well.

Elmore said workmen for the third contract should be in Mitchell County by the end of this week.

Odessa boy drowns in area lake

A 12-year-old Odessa boy died Saturday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock despite heroic efforts to save him and a revived heartbeat after 10 minutes underwater late Friday afternoon at Lake Colorado City State Park.

Nathan Kreutzer was found by another boy in about six feet of water at 6:45 p.m. Friday 150 feet west of the south pier in Dorn Creek Cove, said Game Warden Randy Bullard.

An adult with the church group that young Kreutzer was with, the First Word of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints of Odessa, immediately began cardio-pulmonary resuscitation.

Then a volunteer firefighter who happened to be nearby, Linda Mathis, and EMS personnel who were called to the scene took over the CPR.

Lake Patrolman Gordon Crawford and Police Sgt. Richard DeLaCruz were also at the scene.

The boy was taken to Mitchell County Hospital and flown by helicopter to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Game Warden Bullard said the CPR revived a faint heartbeat, but the victim never regained consciousness or breathed on his own.

The officer said young Kreutzer was wading on sandstone rock below the surface and he apparently stepped into a hole.

"He could dog-paddle and float, but he was a poor swimmer," Bullard said.

"Any time you have somebody who faces the possibility of drowning, they get a mouthful of water, push the panic button and fear takes over. It can even happen to a good swimmer sometimes."

DAY CARE BUILDERS Roger Davidson, top, and Jody Jones of D&D Construction Co. of Abilene were working Tuesday on a large new day care center on Ninth Street in eastern Colorado City. The project is being sponsored by the City of Colorado City and People for Progress Inc. of Sweetwater. It will have 10,000 square feet of floor space and is expected to be completed within three months.

Fire dept. is given used truck

Volunteer firefighters will convert a county dumptruck into a firetruck to replace one that was destroyed in a May 5 accident.

Mitchell County commissioners voted Tuesday to donate a 1985 Ford F-700 truck from Pct. 2 Commissioner Carl Guelker's precinct as the replacement.

Commissioner Guelker said the truck has not been being used because its engine is worn out, and Fire Marshal Billy Ray Williamson said the engine will be replaced and the truck outfitted with a tank, pump and other firefighting equipment.

Marshal Williamson said it should be ready for service within four weeks.

Veteran firefighter Pat McKinney died in the accident west-northwest of Colorado City on Lake Road North.

Marshal Williamson said insurance money from the wreck of the 1979 GMC firetruck, after wrecker and salvage expenses, amounts to $15,203 and the new truck's conversion will probably cost about $1,000 more than that.

The commissioners court agreed to cover the extra cost.

Other business in the 9 a.m. regular meeting included approval of an $11,572 bid from the Lydick-Hooks Co. of Abilene to re-roof Mitchell County Library.

Librarian Nancy Mayo said that was the low bid among offers from four contractors with whom she had talked.

Sheriff Patrick Toombs won approval of a resolution sought by the Denton County Sheriff's Office for statewide legislation pertaining to the reimbursement of counties by jail inmates.

Sheriff Toombs said inmates

Local mother trying to locate daughter

Elfie Ratliff of 1711 College St. wants her daughter back.

Ms. Ratliff last saw her daughter, 26-year-old Daytina Hulslander of Greenwood, early on Monday, April 27, when she left for home.

The mother of five children, she took her three boys to school that morning, and when her husband Alan came home that afternoon, she was not there.

She has not been seen since.

"She was at my house Sunday night and left Monday morning," Ms. Ratliff said. "She was in good spirits, happy and ready to go home.

"She was supposed to call me Monday afternoon. She had some meetings to go to. We don't know what happened yet.

"But for her to walk off and leave her babies, it just didn't happen, not unless something was desperately wrong."

Ms. Ratliff contacted the Midland County Sheriff's Office, whose officers searched the countryside south of Greenwood on foot, horseback and helicopter to no avail.

Texas Ranger talks about Ft. Davis stand-off

Two things can happen when you get a cult backed into a corner -- Waco or Ft. Davis.

Speaking before the Noon Lions Club Friday, Texas Rangers Capt. Barry Caver of Midland reviewed his handling of a stand-off involving eight armed militants of the "Republic of Texas" in April and early May last year near Ft. Davis.

"There were times I wondered if we would get it resolved at all, much less peacefully," Capt. Caver said.

He said he and Snyder-based Texas Ranger Sgt. Johnny Billings, who accompanied him here, were both at the Branch Davidian crisis near Waco in the spring of 1993 and he saw similarities between Davidian leader David Koresh and Republic of Texas head Richard McLaren.

While Koresh quoted the Bible in response to many questions, McLaren quoted early Texas law and referred to the state's 1845 annexation to the United States, which he said was illegal.

"We felt the whole thing was a blunder to begin with and we didn't want to be there," Capt. Caver said of the Waco stand-off. "It was just a bad, bad situation.

"At one point I heard Koresh ask to speak to the Texas Rangers, but the FBI wouldn't let us do anything.

"I would have liked to try."

The Waco stand-off began with a shoot-out in which four federal officers were killed and several wounded and ended with a fire in which Koresh and 88 other people died.

Caver said Attorney General Janet Reno in Washington directed the FBI not to intervene at Ft. Davis "because after Waco and Ruby Ridge, they couldn't afford another blunder."

Ruby Ridge is a place in the Idaho mountains where tax protester Randy Weaver's wife and baby were shot by an FBI sniper prior to the Waco fiasco.

Caver, who was placed in overall command at Ft. Davis by Gov. George W. Bush, said he was gratified that Gov. Bush called him when the siege was over to congratulate him and the other officers.

"We felt like McLaren himself didn't have guts enough to make a stand against law enforcement," he said, explaining that officers were more worried about his followers and outside supporters.

He said officers stopped seven people who were trying to get weapons and supplies to the Republic of Texas militants.

When McLaren and most of his followers gave up and there were still two men at large in Jeff Davis County, in far West Texas, the officers called on the Texas Department of Criminal Justice to look for them on horseback with tracking dogs.

TDCJ Warden Rodney Cooper of Colorado City, who also took part, said the terrain was so rough that horses could not traverse some of it, and he said the fugitives "had the advantage" at one point because they could lay bombs and set traps for their pursuers.

"You know that we don't like to quit when we have someone running, but that one day I was glad when you called it off," Warden Cooper told Capt. Caver during a question and answer session with about 30 Lions Club members at the Civic Center downtown.

One fugitive, Mike Matson, was later cornered in an elevated area where he killed one dog, wounded another and fired at a Department of Public Safety helicopter in which a Texas Ranger was riding.

"One shot hit him in the elbow and he dropped his gun," Capt. Caver said. "He picked it up with his left hand and was aiming at the helicopter again when he was shot through the back and killed."

A TDCJ officer fired the fatal shot.

The siege lasted five days before McLaren finally surrendered, and the last fugitive, Richard Keyes III, who was caught last September north of Houston, was scheduled to go to trial this week in Ft. Stockton.

Capt. Caver said Sgt. Billings was on top of a nearby mountain during the surrender phase and saw Matson and Keyes fleeing out the back with his binoculars.

Sgt. Billings commented during the question and answer period that while the FBI has to get Justice Department clearance on even minor matters during a siege, the Texas Rangers take command and make all decisions at the scene.

Capt. Caver said the state and county officers felt that the public was behind them because area residents brought hot food, set up portable restrooms and made their feelings known to the officers.

"Everybody pitched in, and it all came together," he said.

He said the episode cost the Department of Public Safety, which includes the Texas Rangers, more than $1 million.

McLaren and his chief lieutenant, Robert Otto, were convicted or engaging in organized crime last October and sentenced to state penitentiary terms.

His other followers, Greg and Karen Paulson, have been convicted of burglary in connection with the siege.

Capt. Caver joked at the beginning of his address that he would go ahead and answer the questions he hears most often -- "Do you know Chuck Norris, and what position do you play?

"Yes, I know Chuck, and I don't play baseball," he said, referring to Norris' television series in which he portrays a Texas Ranger and the professional baseball team in Dallas with which the law enforcement agency shares its name.

said the deputies even tried infrared surveillance equipment but found no clues.

"We get missing person reports quite often, but usually after a few hours of searching, we're able to locate the person," Sgt. Lowe said.

"In the last 20 years, we've had two other cases where we were unable to locate the subject."

Ms. Hunslander's three sons from a previous marriage, 8-year-old Dakota, 7-year-old Aaron and 5-year-old Todd, are with their grandmother in Colorado City.

Her two daughters, 3-year-old Corienna andd 18-month-old Caitlyn, are with their father, a driller, at the Hulslander home about 10 miles south of Greenwood.

Ms. Ratliff works daily to solve her daughter's disappearance, having put up posters in Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Colorado City and other places.

And she talks by telephone to Daytina's friends in Big Spring, Midland and Snyder.

"I'm not going to give up until I either have her here in hand at home or I have her body," she said.

The missing woman grew up in Snyder and dropped out of Snyder High School in 1991 as a junior to get married.

She graduated from a cosmetology school in Big Spring but never practiced that profession.

She has an older brother, Todd White of Wink.

Ms. Ratliff, whose maiden name was Mahurin, was a cook at the Villa Inn and managed Skinny's convenience store on East Second Street downtown for four years, until about two years ago.

Ms. Ratliff graduated from Snyder High School in 1961.

DROWNING

Bullard said he was impressed with the response of the emergency personnel, and he commended them for being able to keep young Kreutzer alive until they reached the hospital.

He said the youth might have survived even 10 minutes underwater if the water had been colder.

"I have to commend everybody that worked on him," he said. "Just to get a heartbeat, just to get a pulse was real good after him being down that long.

"They worked feverishly on this kid."

Young Kreutzer's funeral was at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Sunset Memorial Gardens in Odessa under the direction of Frank W. Wilson Funeral Directors in Odessa.

He is survived by his parents, Gerald and Leslie Kreutzer, three brothers and a sister.

Mitchell County Sheriff Patrick Toombs sent Deputies Mike Redwine and Felix Pantoja to the lake and met the ambulance at the hospital here.

Sheriff Toombs said Tuesday that it had been over two years since a drowning at either Lake Colorado City or Lake Champion or in the Colorado River.

Sheriff Toombs said there was at least one drowning a year for several years and then there were none in 1996 or '97.

would not be required to pay if they could prove indigency, and he said a repayment of part of jail expenses such as 30 percent or 50 percent would greatly help sheriff's offices with their budgets.

Sheriff Toombs asked the commissioners if they want to continue the Drug Awareness Resistance Education (DARE) program after the recent resignation of DARE Officer Tommy Dill from the sheriff's office and the withdrawal of Loraine schools from the program.

"I think it would be a good time to drop it," said Pct. 4 Commissioner Bill Preston.

However, the commissioners agreed to make a final decision during annual budget workshops next month.

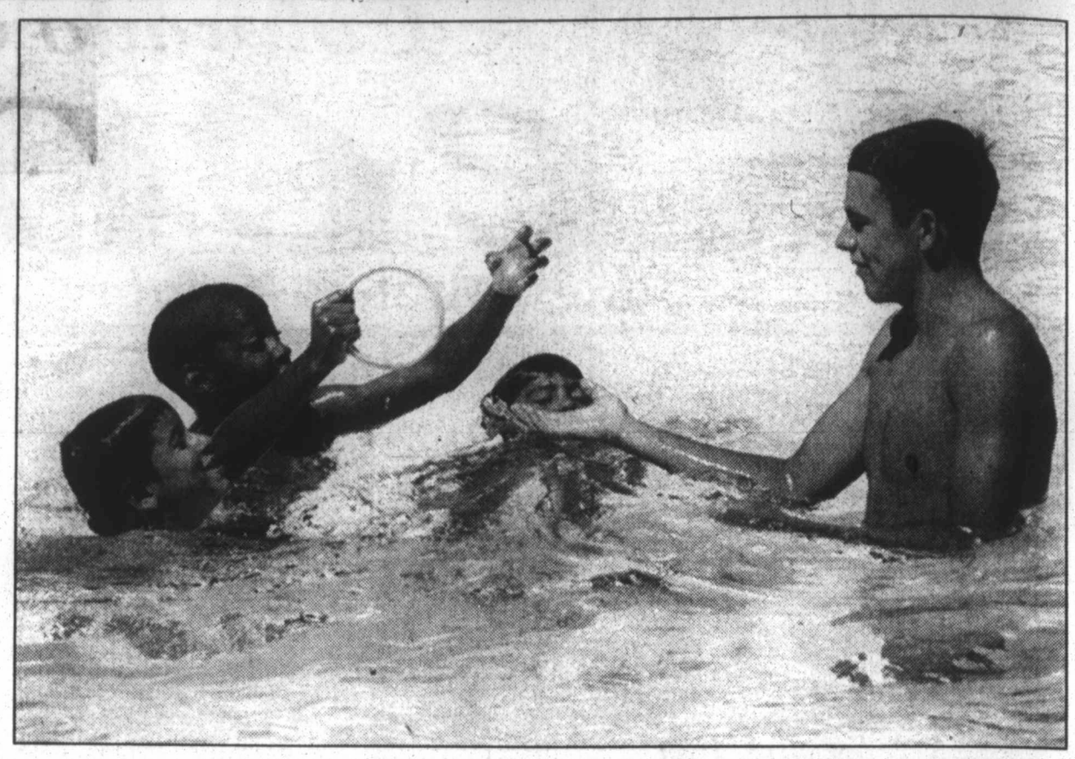

Deputy Dill resigned to join the Knox County Sheriff's Office.

Commissioner Preston was authorized to begin looking for a used belly dump trailer for his eastern Mitchell County precinct.

Commissioner Preston said the trailer will cost less than $15,000.

County Auditor Susan Buckalew asked to replace a computer in her office that she said recently "went down," and she was authorized to spend about $280 for a new IBM unit.

The meeting ended at 9:36 a.m. with all members present.

COLORADO CITY YOUNGSTERS Stuart Ponko, left, Haneef Abdur-Razzaaq and Cheyenne Alvarez were having fun with their swimming lesson Tuesday with instructor Ty Wood, who was throwing rings for them to retrieve at the city swimming pool at Ruddick Park.

ELIZABETH AND L. B. ELLIOTT will celebrate their 79th wedding anniversary on June 22. He is 100 years old and she is 97. They are natives of Loraine.

L.B. Elliott's celebrate 79th wedding anniversary

Mitchell County's longest-married couple will celebrate their 79th wedding anniversary on Monday, June 22.

He's 100 years old; she's 97.

How did they do it?

With love.

L. B. Elliott of 404 E. Fifth St., owner of Michell County Abstract Co. and former longtime owner of Colorado City Savings & Loan Association, is an amazing man.

He lost the ability to walk a few years ago, but he can still see and hear well and his wits are still sharp.

His wife Elizabeth has not been so lucky.

She had a stroke about three years ago, cannot speak and spends a lot of her time sleeping.

Elliott still pays a lot of attention to her, though, smoothing her hair and once taking time out from an interview to lean over and kiss her forehead.

They have known each other since the early 1900's, when they were students at Loraine High School.

Elliott joined the Army before graduating when World War I came along, and he served throughout the conflict as a medical assistant at a hospital in Nogales, Ariz., that Gen. John J. Pershing had established during the war with Pancho Villa.

The couple married in 1919, lived in Nogales and moved here in January 1920.

They had five children, three of whom survive -- Frances Godwin of Colorado City, Ruth Cooper of Lake Colorado City and Esther Brewer of Carrollton, along with 14 grandchildren and a large number of great-grandchildren.

Juanice died at age 13 of rheumatic fever, and Shirley Wilkinson of Houston died at age 50 of leukemia.

They are members of the First United Methodist Church.

Elliott's father, J. L., a Cumberland Presbyterian minister, moved the family to Mitchell County from Sweetwater in 1905.

Elliott proved adept at business and ran an insurance agency for 22 years along with the abstract company and the savings and loan, which he began as Colorado City Federal Savings & Loan.

He figured it was time to retire in 1983 and sold the savings and loan to First Western Savings & Loan, which later went out of business.

"When I had it, it was as clean an operation as there ever was," he said.

The business operated for many years in the same building that Mitchell County Abstract is in today at 120 W. Second St. and then was moved to the 1900 block of Hickory Street.

In the old days an abstract company made actual abstracts, or histories of properties' ownership dating back to when the land was first deeded, but now its primary business is handling title insurance, he said.

He was president of the Texas Land Title Association in 1954-55 and attended statewide conventions of the organization in Fort Worth, San Antonio, Galveston, Mexico City and other cities.

Elliott gets around in a wheelchair, but he still attends meetings of the Noon Lions Club and works a little each day in the metal building behind his house.

He keeps up with two rental houses and the mostly undeveloped L. B. Elliott Addition, from 18th and Eastover St. north to Interstate 20.

He reads, writes a little and surfs the Internet on his computer.

He will be 101 on Sept. 1, but he doesn't plan much of a celebration after the memorable 100th birthday party that friends and relatives gave him last year.

You can bet that he and Elizabeth will have some type of special observance of their anniversary, however.

Asked the secret of their longevity as a couple, he asked, "Is there really a better word than love?"

Seat belt usage by children not good

Safety belt use by Texas adults has increased steadily over the past decade, but usage rates for children lag far behind, according to recent studies.

A mandatory seat belt law was passed in 1985 requiring drivers and front seat passengers to use safety belts. Since that time seat belt use has jumped from 14 to 76 percent, but the statistics are less encouraging for children.

In spite of steady increase in child restraint usage since the 1985 law, only 63 percent of children (infants to 4 years olds) in urban areas are being buckle up. That means one out of three children are not restrained in compliance with Texas law. These and other trends are illustrated in the findings of a study funded by the Texas Department of transportation (TxDOT) and conducted by the Texas Transportation Institute (TTI).

Even though Texas safety belt use ranked among the top ten in the nation in 1996, officials at TxDOT say the usage rate is not high enough. Terry Pence, traffic Safety Programs Director of TxDOT, says if belt use could be increased by 15 percent in Texas, nearly 400 lives would be saved each year and more than 4,000 moderate to severe injuries would be prevented.

"Drivers and passengers in Texas are exposing themselves and their children to serious injury and even death, simply because they are not buckling up," Pence said. "Every hour someone in the U.S. dies in a crash simply because they were not buckled up."

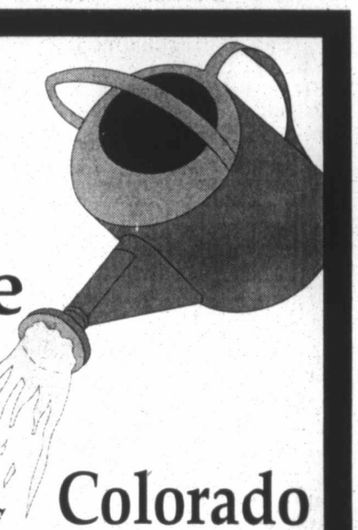

There is a national goal to reduce child passenger fatalities 15 percent and to increase overall seat belt use to 85 percent by the year 2000. Increasing safety belt usage to 85 percent would not only spare thousands of Texans pain and suffering, but also save them $600 million each and every year in the cost of insurance administration, as well as medical, workplace and legal costs.

The TTI study also showed that:

- Children are more likely to ride unrestrained in pickup truck than in cars.
- Restraint use is ten percent lower for pickup truck drivers than for car drivers.
- Female driver safety belt use is ten percent higher than that of male drivers.
- Restraint usage increases as age increases The restraint usage rate for drivers over 60 was 82 percent compared to 58 percent for passengers in the 5-to-14 age group.
- There is a strong association between driver and passenger restraint use. If the driver is restrained, the passenger is retrained 82 percent of the time. However, if the driver is not restrained, the passenger is not retrained 69 percent of the time.

Horse Identification Program to begin soon

Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association's new Horse Identification (HIP) program will be up and running by June 15 says association President C. Coney Burgess.

"Our members identified this program as a priority during TSCRA's April convention, and we have focused all of our resources into getting it operational at the earliest possible date," says Burgess. "TSCRA is committed to providing the same exceptional theft prevention and investigation services for our members' horses as we have for their cattle for more than 120 years," Burgess promises.

"The value of a rancher's hours is measured by dollars and sense," says Burgess. "A horse is an essential working partner who develops a lot of cow sense and responds intuitively to act as one with a rider." That same bond exists with horses used for recreation--a $1.7 billion industry in Texas.

Cornerstone of HIP will be the horse identification database at TSCRA's Fort Worth headquarters. A special form has been developed to describe the identifying characteristics of each horse. Included are the type--horse, burro, mule or donkey; sex--mare, stallion or gelding; breed; color; age; weight; height; markings on face and legs; brands tattoos or electronic identification. Members may also send a quality 3"x5" color photo of the horse to be digitally scanned into the database for reference.

If the horse is reported as stolen, this information will be faxed to slaughter facility, listed in the TSCRA Theft Bulletin and made available to TSCRA's inspector force and other law enforcement agencies.

Critical to the recovery process as TSCRA's Brand Inspectors who are stationed at the two horse slaughter plants in Texas. These inspectors record information on each animal that passes through the plants and transfer the information to the headquarters database.

Horse owner identifying horse with "HIP" program.

"Prompt reporting of a mission animal is crucial, declares Burgess, "to ensure that the descriptive infraction is in these inspectors' hands before the thief gets the horse to market."

Members will receive wallet-size cards with information on how to report theft of a horse which has been entered into TSCRA's Horse Idetification Program database. Contact your local TSCRA inspector as listed in The Cattleman magazine as soon as possible. If you are unable to reach the inspector immediately, contact TSCRA headquarters and have the following information available to give to the person taking the report:

- TSCRA membership number (this number is the reference number for horse entered into the database).
- Police report number from your local law enforcement agency.
- Data of theft.
- Location of theft.
- Details of theft.
- List of any physical evidence left at the scene.
- Possible suspects or suspect vehicles.
- Any available witnesses.
- Others items taken/in addition to horses.

Burgess emphasizes that TSCRA may investigate only if the horses -- reported stolen meet the criteria of theft as defined in Section 31.03 of the Texas Penal Code or Title 21, Sec. O.S. 1716 of The Oklahoma Penal Code. Horses on which there is a question of ownership due to civil dispute of civil litigation will not be considered stolen by TSCRA and will be held only pursuant to a court order which must be in the possession of a TSCRA inspector o other law enforcement agency having jurisdiction.

A TSCRA horse industry membership will cost $80 per year--the same as a minimum TSCRA membership, says Burgess. The membership includes scanning of one horse picture; pictures of additional horses may be scanned for $5 each.

Burgess says several horse safety and theft prevention clinics are being planned to provide opportunities for ranchers in Texas and Oklahoma to have digital pictures made of their horses, fill out descriptions for the HIP database, have their horses freeze-branded and have the brands recorded. The clinics will also include freeze-branding demonstrations and horse safety training.

Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association s a 14,000-member trade organization based in Fort Worth, Texas, which employs a unique group of law enforcement officers stationed throughout Texas and Oklahoma. Thirty-three of these "Field Inspectors" are commissioned as Special Rangers with the Texas Department of Public Safety and/or the Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation. They work closely with other law enforcement agencies in both sates to educate members about theft prevention and to help recover stolen property.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

We would like to send a special "Thank You" to the sponsors of the 10 and under Mitchell County Girls Softball All-Star Team: Sheets Eye Clinic, Fuller Foods, Kathy Daniels and Pat Ridge, Lone Wolf Autoplex, City National Bank, Cold Spot Cafe, Big Country Motors and everyone who purchased our raffle tickets.

Without your support it would not have been possible for the team to participate in their district tournament.

They represented Mitchell County to the best of their ability and were rewarded by coming in second place and qualifying for the State Tournament in Temple, Texas, to be held June 19-21. We're not sure if any Mitchell County girls softball team has even reached the State level. We are very PROUD of them.

Unfortunately, due to lack of money and the short time to prepare for the trip, they will not be able to participate in the State Tournament.

If you see them around town just let them know how proud you are of them. Members of the All-Star team are: Krisha Arispe, Michelle Arispe, Kayla Carrillo, Francis Dawson, Brittany Hill, Kinsey Kirchner, Jeanny Moore, Kelly Morris, Paige Newby, Kateshia Russell, Karter Ziegler and Crystal Stewart.

The proud coaching staff of the 10 and under

Dear Editor,

We would like to thank the people responsible for the walkway around the City Park in Loraine.

The students of Loraine School, with the help of Mrs. Elizabeth Redwine and other faculty members obtained a grant. Matching, funds were given by several businesses and individuals. A lot of work was done by city employees Ricky Bailey and Ruben Garcia.

Also, Commissioner Bill Preston and the county were instrumental in supplying materials, equipment and labor for the project. We appreciate Warden Cooper for allowing the inmates from the Wallace Unit to help with this.

It is being put to good use-early morning, late evening and night.

Thanks again,
Doris Henderson

Stenholm approves of bill to punish sex offenders

Congressman Charlie Stenholm today hailed the House of Representative's approval of a bill to increase the punishment for sexual predators who use the Internet to target children. The bill was approved by a virtually unanimous vote before being sent to the Senate for consideration.

"The Internet is a great source of information, education, and communication," Stenholm noted. "Unfortunately, some adults are using the Internet for ill rather than for good. That's why we needed to respond with stronger punishment for this abhorrent behavior."

The Child Protection & Sexual Predator Punishment Act increases federal penalties for sexual for predators and is intended to protect children from Internet-based sex crimes. Using telephones, mail or the Internet for purposes of encouraging sex with a minor would result in punishment of up to five years in prison

Current law already has made it a federal offense to persuade someone to cross state lines to engage in illegal sexual activity. The bill would impose a mandatory minimum three-year penalty for using a computer to coerce a minor to cross state lines to engage in illegal sexual activity.

In addition, the bill would establish a mandatory life in prison sentence for three-time rapist.

"Children shouldn't be restricted from the great potential of the Internet, and parents shouldn't be afraid to let their children 'surf the net,'" Stenholm remarked. "That's why I'm happy to see the government do all it can to keep the Internet a safe place for kids to learn and play."

Home ownership now easier

By Steven A. Carriker,
State Director, USDA
Texas Rural Development

If anyone has reason to celebrate National Home Ownership Week this week, it's Beverly Johnson and her two daughters.

Beverly (not her real name) was locked in an abusive marriage, but one day decided she could stand no more and fled to a shelter for abused women.

She escaped with nothing but her children and a suitcase.

Beverly had been living in a public housing project and needed food stamps to support her family. But she had a strong desire to create a better life for her daughters, enrolled in a community college and graduated with honors.

She now has as full-time job and is full of hope for the future.

Despite this remarkable comeback, owning a home seemed like an impossible dream until she heard about the Mutual Self-Help Housing Program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

USDA provides grants to non-profit housing organizations which acquire land and hire a construction supervisor to work with groups of eight to 12 low-income rural families.

They perform at least 65 percent of the labor on their homes, and no one moves in until all the homes are completed.

Beverly signed up for this "sweat equity" program and was soon learning to frame walls and hang drywall.

As a result, she and her children will be moving into an attractive new three-bedroom home in a rural community in the Mid-Atlantic region.

"To think of where I was just three years ago -- it doesn't seem possible," she said.

Beverly is far from alone as a single mother in pursuit of a home to own. And like her, many others are succeeding.

In the United States today, 51 percent of all homes are owned by female-headed households.

Nor is one's income level the barrier that many think. Indeed, half of all homeowners nationwide earn less than the median family income.

In Texas in the past year, 2,042 rural residents became homeowners thanks to USDA Rural Development programs.

Through its Single Family Guaranteed Loan Program, USDA works as partners with local lenders to provide a federal loan guarantee of 90 percent on a home loan, in effect co-signing for the borrower.

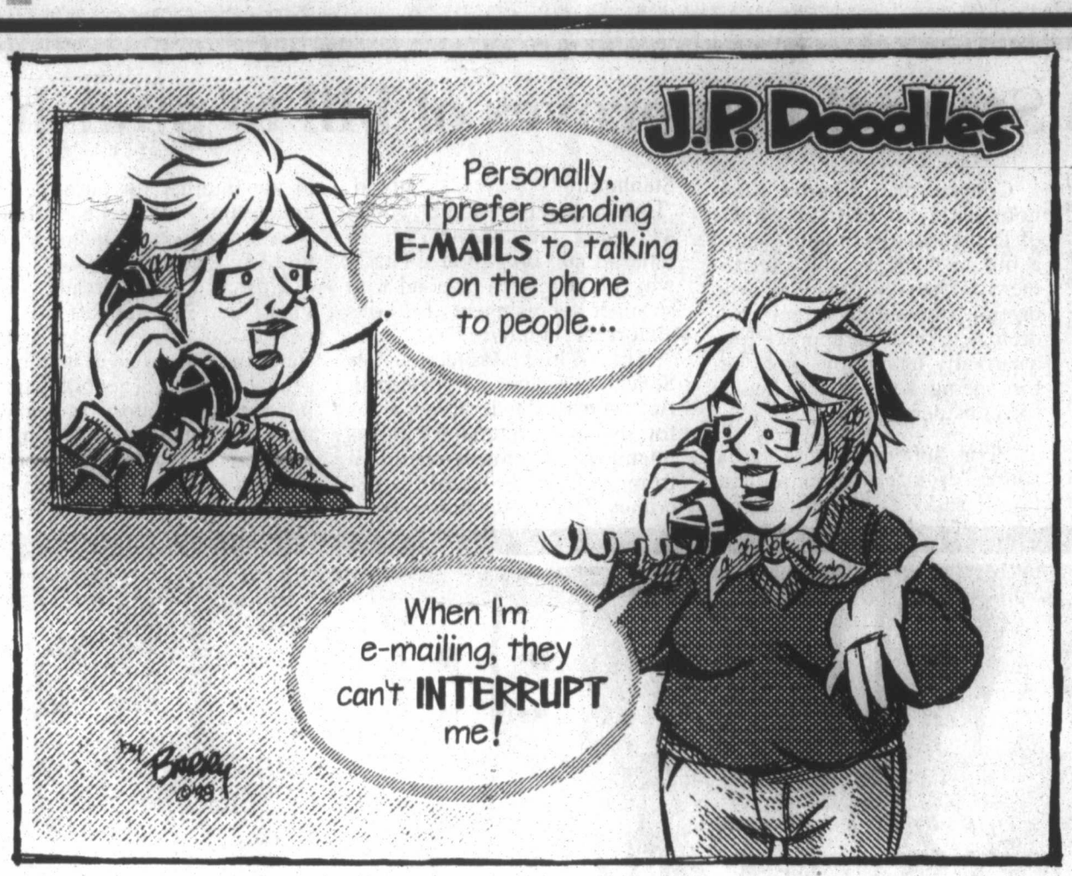

The buyer pays closing costs and a guarantee fee, but no down payment is required.

In the past year, 798 rural Texans have purchased homes through this program.

USDA rural housing programs also help existing homeowners. Low-income families can receive repair loans of up to $20,000 to make their homes safe and sanitary.

Celebrate National Home Ownership Week June 6-13 by contacting your state USDA Rural Development office at 254-742-9770 for more information.

Greeting Cards for Truckers

By Tumbleweed Smith

Vicki Scofield of Amarillo weighs 110 pounds. She was in college in 1992, but wasn't getting the satisfaction she was looking for. She dropped out and enrolled in truck driving school. Soon she was steering a huge 18 wheeler across the country.

She came to appreciate the sacrifices truckers have to make. They are frequently away from home on holidays and special occasions. They sometimes spend Thanksgiving or Chidstmas in a truck stop cafe. They miss celebrating birthdays and anniversaries with their families.

She fell in love with truck driving and looked forward to the day whent she could tell her grandkids about some of her experiences on the road. Vicki met a truck driver named Stan. They got married and became a truck driving couple.

Vicki got accustomed to using the CB Radio, talking to truckers late at night or early in the morning. "You develop a special bond," she says. "We know we're out there, sometimes driving alone with just our thoughts. The CB Radio keeps us from feeling so lonely."

Vicki has always written poetry. Occasionally, during some of those dark lonely hours, she would read one of her poems over the CB Radio. Truckers would respond, wanting copies of the poem they just heard. Vicki started taking copies with her on her trips, and when someone said they wanted a copy, she would give them to truckers at truck stops.

Soon she had so many request she decided to make some cards.

She was suprised to see her husband Stan turn into super salesman. Vicki, who calls herself a shy person, sometimes would find Stan talking to a truck stop manager, trying to presaude to take on Vicki's line of cards.

She calls her business Rambling Prose.

"A lot of men have trouble telling their wives how much they appreciate what she is going threw at home, raising those children with him out on the road says Vicki .

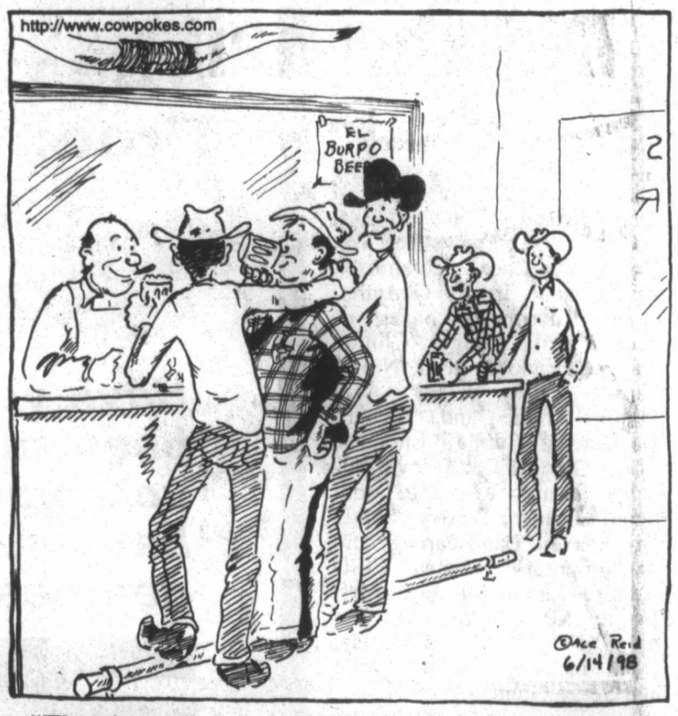

At first, Vicki would write the verse on a typing paper, fold the page in half and make sample cards. "I thought it looked very amateurish, like a kindergartener, but Stan was proud of them and would show them off and brag," says Vikki.

Vicki's cards are now in 43 states. She has a distributor. "We put out 26 diffrent types of cards the first of the year," says Vicki. "We pulled a couple that didn't sell the way we wanted them to and reprinted the ones that were selling. My first card, written for the truck driver's wife was a big hit. We had trouble keeping it stocked. It sold ten thousand copies in less then nine months."

That card was titled "The First Trucker's Wife." Vicki says the stereotype image of a truker is macho, "but they're really sentimental and sweet when it comes to their wives and children."

Vicki spends most of her time these days writing greeting cards and telling others how they can start their own business by finding a need and filling it.

Heat-related illnesses can be avoided if you are careful!

You need a cool head to cope with hot weather.

Foreknowledge about what it takes to survive and thrive in 100 degree-plus temperatures and plans about how you will meet the day and its demands are the keys.

According to a hot weather bulletin issued this week by Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene, there are 11 different factors that you need to consider --

Sunburn, heat exhaustion, heat cramps, heat stroke, fluid replacement, diet, lifestyle, acclimatizing yourself, shade, "cool tools" and smart scheduling.

If you're a native West Texan and used to the heat, you might think you already know about most of these.

There are subtleties, however.

The first thing to know about fluid replacement is that thirst is not a very good indication of when your body needs fluids.

"If you're exposed to sunlight outdoors, your body needs cool, non-alcoholic, non-caffeinated, non-carbonated drinks like water, lemonade and sports drinks," Dyess medical officers said.

That means beer, coffee and soft drinks won't help you much.

The officers recommend eating fruits and vegetables instead of heavier foods like mashed potatoes, gravy and fried chicken, and they say adequate sleep and routine exercise will help your body handle the stress that heavy heat puts on it.

Needless to say, if you're not from Texas and just moved here, you'd better be very careful in the heat until you get more used to it.

If you have to be outside, use common sense and stay in shade as much as possible.

You are getting really wise if you go to a sporting goods store or an industrial supply shop and outfit yourself with some "cool tools" -- vests that hold frozen liquid, icepacks to be worn under protective clothing or canteens and water bladders that you can wear like a knapsack.

And of course it just makes sense to do your more strenuous work in the early morning or very late afternoon.

People sometimes joke about other people getting sunburned, but sunburns run in different degrees just like burns from a fire and can be medically dangerous.

Dyess Capt. Phillip Goff and Master Sgt. Marc Main warn that outside workers should take care to guard against it, keeping their sleeves rolled down and using sunblocking lotion with a protection factor of at least 30.

"Remember, a tiny, exposed patch of skin can burn, too, and be a painful reminder of the spot you forgot!" they said.

Heat cramps, or muscle cramping brought on by heat, must be attended to quickly because they precede heat exhaustion.

Heat cramp victims should be moved to a cool place and given cool fluids and moist towels or cloths on the forehead and affected muscles.

An emergency medical service (EMS) should be called if the symptoms do not subside.

The two most serious conditions are heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

"Heat exhaustion is a dangerous ailment caused by a lack of fluids and prolonged exposure to heat, humid weather and increased activity," the Dyess officers said.

"Signs can include weakness and fatique, pale, clammy skin, profuse sweating, muscle spasms, low to normal body temperature, nausea and possible vomiting.

"The best treatment for heat exhaustion is prevention -- hydrate, hydrate, hydrate."

Hydration is drinking fluids.

"Otherwise, remove the victim from the heat, give him cool liquids, loosen his clothing, apply cool, wet towels to the head and neck and make him rest in the shade," the medical spokesmen said.

"In severe cases, or if the case persists, activate the EMS."

Heat stroke is as bad as it sounds because it can be fatal.

Symptoms are loss of consciousness or mental confusion, hot, dry skin because the body has no more fluids to sweat out, high body temperature and a rapid heat rate.

Victims should be sprayed with water after their clothing is removed and cool, camp compresses are applied to their skin.

Attendants are also encouraged to cool the victim with a fan or newspaper.

Bitner participates in Navy exercise

Navy Airman William D. Bitner, son of Debra L. Crawford of Colorado City, Texas, recently participated in the Atlantic Joint Task Force Exercise while assigned to Helicopter Anti-Submarine Squadron 15, homebased in Jacksonville, Fla.

Bitner was one of more than 10,000 Sailors, Marines and Airmen who participated in the U.S. Navy Second Fleet exercise off the southeastern coast of the United States. The exercise involves the USS Dwight D. Eisenhower Battle Group and the USS Saipan Amphibious Ready Group with the 22nd Marine Expeditionary Unit embarked. Both groups are scheduled to deploy to the Mediterranean Sea and Arabian Gulf this summer.

The exercise focused on preparing naval forces for contingencies they may encounter during the six-month deployment. During the 17-day major training exercise Sailors and Marines from Bitner's squadron received training in operations which included strike, mine, amphibious, undersea and surface warfare and maritime interception operations.

The 1997 graduate of Colorado High School of Colorado City, joined the Navy in June 1997.

Bell attends Science Symposium

Colorado High School junior Patrick Bell was among 400 Texas high school juniors who heard a report on the exploration of Mars at the recent 38th Annual Texas Energy Science Symposium in Austin.

Young Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bell of 1421 Chestnut St., heard a scientist who helped build the device that explored the surface of Mars, analyzed samples from the red planet's surface and sent a television picture back to Earth.

The students also heard a report on nuclear-powered electrical generating plants and nuclear waste disposal.

Longtime science teacher Walt Staats said the symposium has always been valuable to CHS students during the 15 years he has been taking them there.

The June 2-5 event is staged on various parts of the University of Texas campus, and students stay with students they have never met before in the 14-story Jester Hall dormitory.

"They see some of the college professors putting on demonstrations in chemistry and physics, electricity and how it is made, math and things like that," Staats said. "Patrick was in chemistry and physics.

"They had a lady who was involved with putting the little rover on Mars. She was one of the people who helped put that thing together, and it was real interesting.

"She had a lot of pictures about what went bad and what went good and how much it cost."

Staats said the symposium is varied from year to year on the basis of suggestions from the public school science teachers who bring students there.

He said each group's itinerary is planned along areas of interest that they indicate on paperwork before they go.

"They get to see a college, and a lot of the kids have never been to one," the teacher said.

"They have a dance, pizza, a big ice cream deal in the evening, movies, the kinds of things you run into at a college."

The symposium is sponsored by TU Electric Co., Lone Star Gas Co., the University of Texas and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

Staats, a CHS teacher for 20 years, said going through the UT campus and seeing the laboratories and expensive science-related equipment has often helped students decide what field of science they are most interested in.

He said students may also aspire to work for one of the sponsoring companies.

COOK'S CORNER

The month of June brings lots of things - hot weather, lots of weddings and, of course, Father's Day. My dad's favorite thing is a homemade coconut cream pie and warm pecan pie comes in as a close second.

We wanted to suggest some recipes which we think most dads would enjoy. I know these are some of my dad's favorites. If you have a father who likes sweets, try making one of these desserts for him on his special day.

Coconut Cream Pie

1/3 cup flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups milk
4 tablespoons sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup coconut

Separate eggs, beating whites until stiff. When ready to put egg whites on top of pie filling, add 1/2 cup sugar gradually.

Combine flour, sugar, eggs, vanilla and coconut and cook on medium heat until it thickens. Lower heat and continue beating until thick and free of lumps. If you have an electric mixer, beat on low speed until smooth. Pour into a baked pie shell. Then place beaten egg whites on filling and brown in oven at medium heat, checking often so not to brown too much, too soon. Place on cabinet to cool before serving or refrigerating.

Blueberry Delight

1 1/2 cup all purpose flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup coconut
1/2 cup walnuts, finely chopped
1 (8 oz.) package cream cheese
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup Comstock blueberry pie filling
1/2 cup walnuts, coarsely chopped

In small mixing bowl, combine flour, brown sugar and butter; add coconut. Add finely chopped walnuts; mix well. Reserve 1/2 cup of mixture and press remaining in bottom of 9x13 baking pan. Bake 15 minutes in 350° oven. Beat cream cheese until fluffy; add remaining sugar, eggs and vanilla. Spread over baked layer; bake 10 minutes more. Spread pie filling over cheese layer. Sprinkle top with coarsely chopped nuts and reserved crumbs. Bake additional 15 minutes. Makes 12 to 15 servings.

Lemon Icebox Pie

graham cracker crust
1 can sweetened condensed milk (Eagle Brand Milk)
3 egg yolks, beaten juice of 3 lemons or 1/2 cup lemon juice concentrate

Combine lemon juice and Eagle Brand milk. Add egg yolks; pour into crust. Chill thoroughly. Top with whipped cream; serve.

Pecan Pie

1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter
2 eggs
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup white syrup
1 cup pecans
pinch of salt

Cream sugar and butter. Add beaten eggs, flour, salt and syrup. Stir well, then add pecans and pour into unbaked pie crust. Bake at 350° until pie is set.

Hollis Gainey honored

By Sandy McSpadden

It started many years ago with a game called Wolf-Over-the-River played by the boys at Hutchinson Elementary School in 1947, and for Colorado City native Hollis Gainey it concluded with his selection to the Texas Football Hall of Fame in 1998.

During a Monday morning telephone interview, Gainey recalled how Hutchinson Elementary Principal, Mrs. A.D. Barry, and fourth grade teacher Louise Hardison went to the superintendent, Ed Williams with the idea of starting fourth and fifth grade football teams. The superintendent and the school board headed by Dr. Dave Bridgford went for the idea, and up jumped the Pee Wee Bowl.

The Bowl lasted for six years and the young men played organized football against Loraine, Roscoe and Sweetwater.

Orville (Woot) Hampton recalled the first time he saw Gainey run. "It seemed like two lines came together. A mass of bodies seemed to be tangled up, and out of the pile came this long, stick of a kid who ran 65 yards for a touchdown. He did it three more times that day," Hampton recalled.

This was the beginning for a lot of kids. The Pee Wee's were coached by Colorado High School Head Coach, Clarke Prather, and two excellent high school players, quarterback Corky Brown and halfback, W.H. Barker.

The Gainey saga began for the tall, slender, blonde as he continued to excel in football through the eighth grade. "We didn't run track except in class competition, and we ran on an old, dirt track on the south side of town. If I was fast, I didn't realize it then. "Woot" Hampton could outrun me sometimes, and heck, David Bridgford outran me, too," Gainey reminisced.

Gainey remembered his ninth grade year in 1952, playing football on the "B" team and running track with the varsity. "The only place to run was the varsity. In those days you just ran against whoever showed up. It could be Midland, Odessa, Loraine, Roscoe, Sweetwater or anybody. We didn't have a "B" team in track and I don't guess anyone else did either," he said.

That season, Gainey placed in the 220 yard dash at the district track meet in Snyder. "That 220 seemed like a mile run to me then. I got a yellow ribbon for fourth place. I still have the ribbon. Of course, it's turned white now. A kid from Hamlin named Burkhalter won that dash in a 23.7," he continued.

Gainey explained how he got his now retired #31 for the 1952 football season. "Back then Coach Jerome Buxkemper had each starting back in even numbers. Their backups wore an odd number. Don Maynard was the starting halfback and somehow he wanted #13 and he got it. This took the starting back field out of the even numbers, so when they turned Maynard's number around I became #31.

I remember our first varsity football game really well," the Football Hall of Famer continued. "We opened with Roscoe and the score was tied in the fourth quarter. Maynard got hurt and Coach Buxkemper didn't want a green sophomore carrying the ball, so he moved Rex Howell over to Maynard's position. It was a sad, happy situation for me. I wanted to go in and play my position, but on the other had I was kinda glad I wasn't going in. About two plays later Howell got injured and I went in the ball game. Jay McCollum was our quarterback and right off the bat, he called my number on an off tackle slant. I thought to myself, you got to be kidding, but he repeated it again which was customary in the huddle. My heart beat was pounding out 400 when I got the ball, but I saw a little crease in the line and got through it. I found myself behind a couple of blockers and ran about 60 yards for a touchdown. So on my first varsity carry, I scored a touchdown," Gainey laughed.

Jay McCollum remembered the situation and had this to say, "He was the fastest man on the fields and I felt that if he could get through the line that he could make some yardage. What do I remember the most about Gainey? He was so darn fast! Maynard might have been a little faster at the time, but Maynard was a senior and Gainey a sophomore." Gainey would only be use sparingly in the next nine games in the 1952 football season, but he would never look back.

In the spring of 1953, the Buxkempter led, thin clads won the district championship with Gainey winning both the 100 and 220 yard dashes in 10.3 and 23.1 respectively. he came back to win both events in regional and placed sixth in the 220 at state, clocking a 23.0.

The 147 lbs. speedster began to make the headlines in 1953-54 both in football and track . Bob Reily was the head track coach and Gainey refers to him as an excellent psychologist. "Coach Reily had us running a lot of 550's and 330's. We had no idea where he was going with this. We hadn't done it before, but it made it easier for me to run the 100 and 220. He made it enjoyable for us," Gainey stated.

The sly Reily was putting together a mile relay team. It would be a first for Colorado City. The team consisted of Charles Small, Don Flite, Frank Mackey and Gainey on the anchor leg. "The first time we ran it, I ran a 50.0 leg; but when we won regional. I timed out at 48.4," said Gainey.

A case of mumps would cost the Wolves a state championship in the spring of 1954. Gainey had the state's fastest 2AA time in the 100 and 200, Small was the state leader in both hurdle events, and the mile relay team had the best time in the state after winning the regional meet in Brownwood. Small came down with the mumps on Sunday morning, one week prior to the state meet. Scratch Small and for all practical purposes scratch the mile relay (they did finish fifth in the state contest). Gainey would win both dashes and Colorado City would finish in second place.

In the fall of 1954, the Dillard Adair-coached Wolves with Gainey at the throttle, posted a 10-0 record. The fourth game of the season, in a 20-14 win over Andrews, the Wolves came home physically beaten up. Fullback Bud Windham broke the heel bone I his foot and he would play the next eight ball games in that condition.

"Windham had to be the toughest athlete that I ever knew. We didn't know his foot was broken until the season ended and he was having a great year before the injury."

The Wolves knocked off Seymore before meeting Phillips in the regional contest at Jones Stadium in Lubbock. After the Andrews game, quarterback Billy Williams was also suffering from a bad ankle, wingback Billy Bruce Bridgford had a bum knee, and backup fullback Tommy Jamison had a bad back.

"Our dimensions offensively were taken away from us," Gainey said. However, four plays into the game, the fleet-footed Gainey broke through a hole on the left side of his line, stumbled momentarily and put his left hand to the ground to righten himself, and then dashed 44 yards for a Colorado touchdown. The Wolves would lead at half-time, 14-7, behind Gainey's rushing.

The second half was a different story as the balmy, November Saturday afternoon turned cruel for the Wolves. A blue-norther hit the stadium at half-time forcing wind gusts up to 55 mph. It was Colorado's luck to go into the wind in the third quarter. Wolves' punter, Bud Windham, kicked from his 42 yard line and watched the ball sail up in the air and go backwards to end up on the Colorado 20 for a 22 yard loss. Phillips would sore three times during the third period disaster. In the fourth Gainey jigged for one more touchdown for Colorado but Phillips put it away 34-21.

It was a loss that the late coach Adair would lament for the rest of his life. About Gainey, Adair repeatedly said, "He was the best running back I've ever seen. Hollis had great balance and was hard to tackle unless you could get him at the line of scrimmage and stay in front of him. He ran so loose and easy, most defenders would hit him and bounce off." Adair appropriately retired Gainey's #31 at the 1955 football banquet.

Gainey would repeat as the state champion in the 100 and 220 yard dashes in 1955 and go on to a lucrative career as a trackster for the University of Texas. He ran against the fastest in his day. On one occasion when Abilene Christian set a record in the sprint relay; Texas with Walley Wilson, Eddie Southern, Bobby Wilden and Gainey broke the record the following Saturday afternoon. This same group broke the world record with a 39.9 in the Kansas Relays. In his senior year at UT, the team broke their own world mark with a 39.6 and set an NCAA mile relay record of 3:08. Gainey and Southern ran on the mile relay along with Drew Dunlap and Ralph Alspaugh.

About tough track competitors Gainey had this to say, "James Secrest from Bangs always pushed me during high school. You know Secrest won the class B state title in 1955 by himself," Gainey mentioned.

"Abilene Christian had great track teams during that period. Bobby Morrow, Secrest, Bill Woodhouse and those guys were hard to beat. Nobody could beat Bobby Marrow in his prime," Gainey stated flatly.

Gainey is modest, Gainey is shy, but according to teammate Billy Bruce Bridgford he was just plain bashful. "Hollis can make a good speech now, but in high school he was so bashful you couldn't make him get up to make a speech."

Another stat that Brigford remembered was that when Gainey was chosen to the Super All-State team, statistics showed he averaged 16.1 yards every time he touched the pigskin whether it be pass, rush, kickoff or punt return.

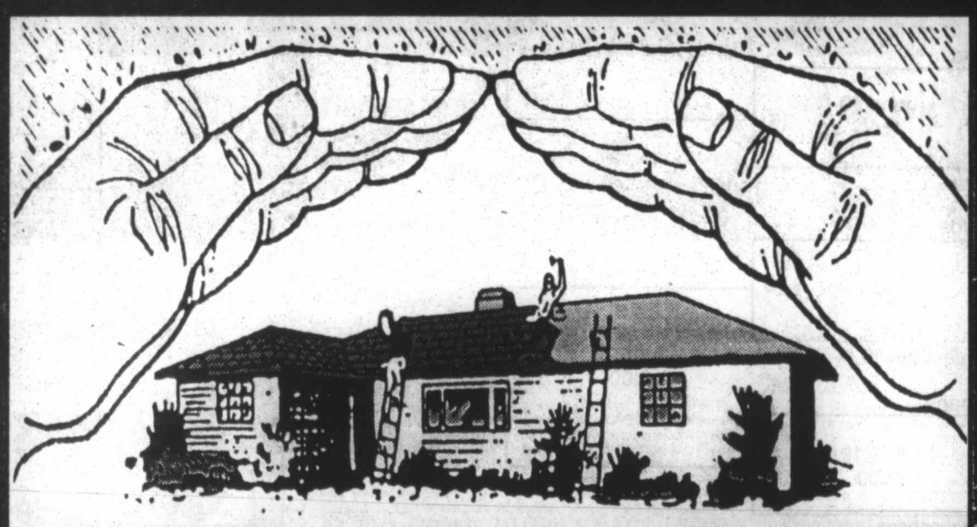

Maybe the yards and a little white hair have made the great athlete a little more adroit, but don't look for an eloquent speech when he accepts his plaque at the Hall of Fame banquet in Waco. What Gainey says will be short---but it will be worth hearing.

It's great for athletics, it's great for Gainey and it's great for Colorado City to see a nice guy finish first again.

Coahoma man wins bass tournament

A Coahoma man went home to Howard County happy after winning $2,336 in last weekend's Fisherman's Appreciation Black Bass Open Tournament.

Brad Milliken won the $2,000 top prize for his 6.67-pound bass and a first place $336 award in the fishermen's Calcutta pot for the top two fish.

Ben Roberts of Forsan took the second place Calcutta prize of $224 with his 5.33-pound fish and $144 for the fourth-best stringer with the fish.

Both of the top fish were caught at Lake Colorado City.

After an off-year following a heavy rain last year when fewer than 90 fishermen entered and only three fish were turned in to be weighed, 114 fishermen took part this year and all 20 places offering prize money were awarded.

All but two fishermen put $5 each into the Calcutta pot.

Windi Fuller, manager of the sponsoring Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce, said it was "one of the most successful tournaments that we have had in the past few years.

"The fishermen were really happy and seemed to have a good time," she said. "That's the main thing."

Ms. Fuller said the fishermen divided about evenly between Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion in the competition that began at 6:30 a.m. Saturday.

Second through 20th place were for the heaviest stringers of up to three fish.

Registration started Friday afternoon, and the fish were weighed in beginning at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Railhead Trade Days Center at First and Elm Street.

Byrle Chapman of Colorado City turned in the second place stringer with 7.28 pounds and won $360.

Other top fishermen were Jerry Aulds of Andrews, third place, 7.18 pounds, $180.

Maxey Ware of Westbrook, fifth place, 5.2 pounds, $115.

James and Eldon Veal of Sweetwater, sixth and seventh places, 5.06 and 4.69 pounds, $97.92 and $97.04.

Jim Cogburn of Colorado City, eighth place, 4.3 pounds, $85.60.

Faron McCain of Sweetwater, ninth place, 3.12 pounds, $78.75.

James White of Big Spring, 10th place, 2.77 pounds, $71.66.

Marty Whetsel of Forsan, 11th place, 2.77 pounds. $64.49.

DeWayne Murdock of Snyder, 12th place, 2.36 pounds, $57.40.

Billy Joe Darden of Big Spring, 13th place, 2.34 pounds, $50.57.

Randy Caddell of Andrews, 14th place, 2.32 pounds, $43.94.

Chris Willis of Plains, 15th place, 2.26 pounds, $37.79.

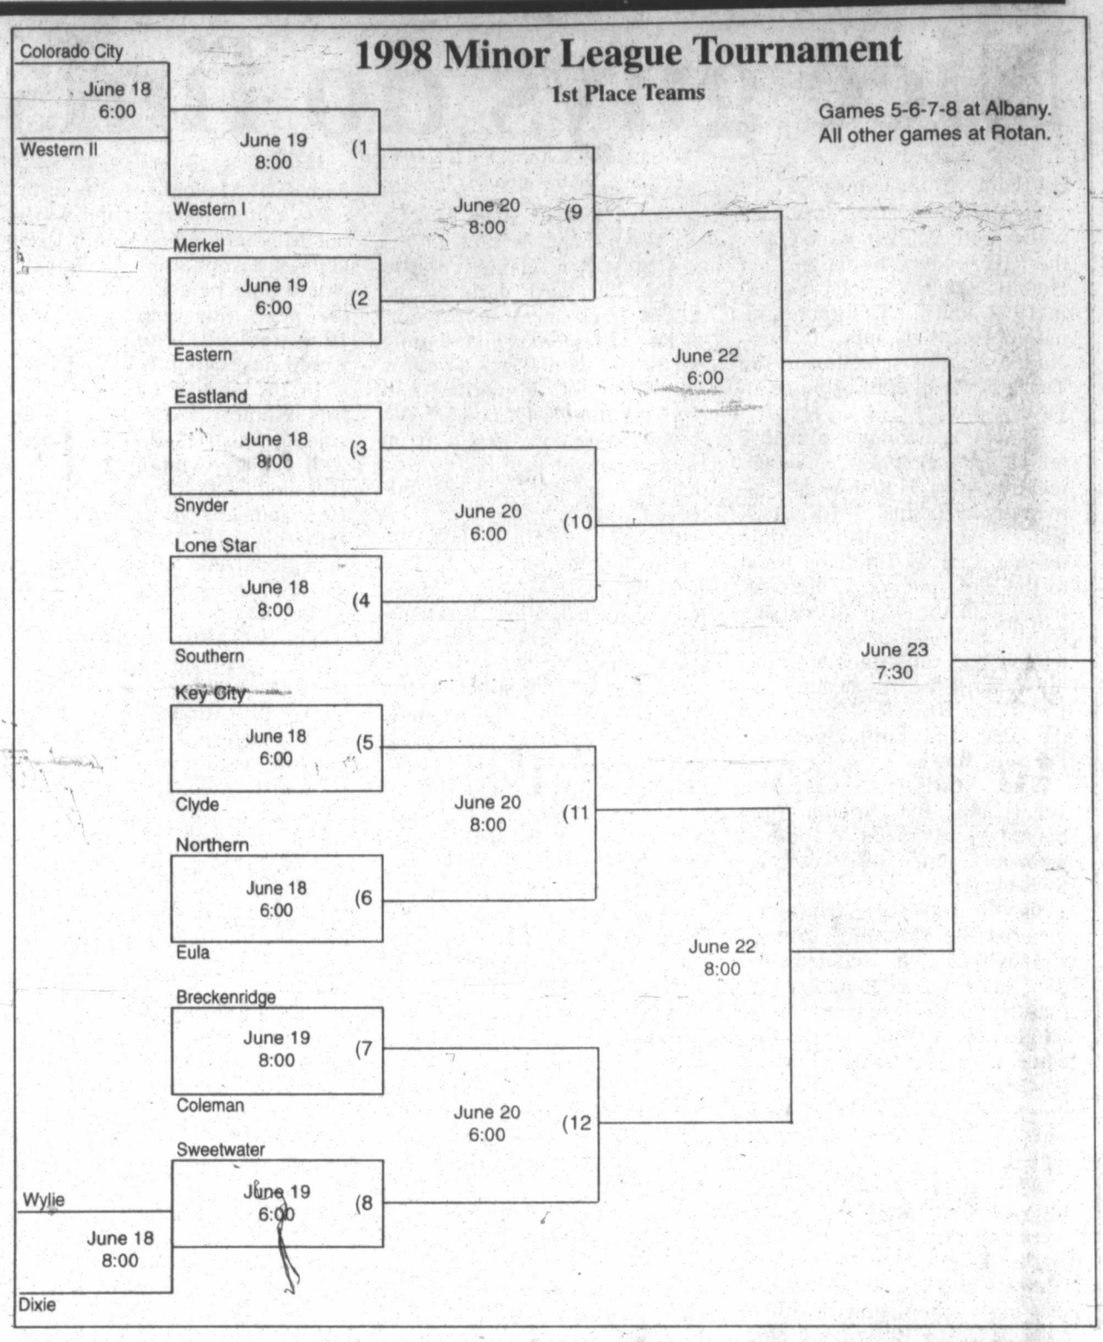

Allen Phares of Colorado City, 16th place, 2.15 pounds, $32.12.

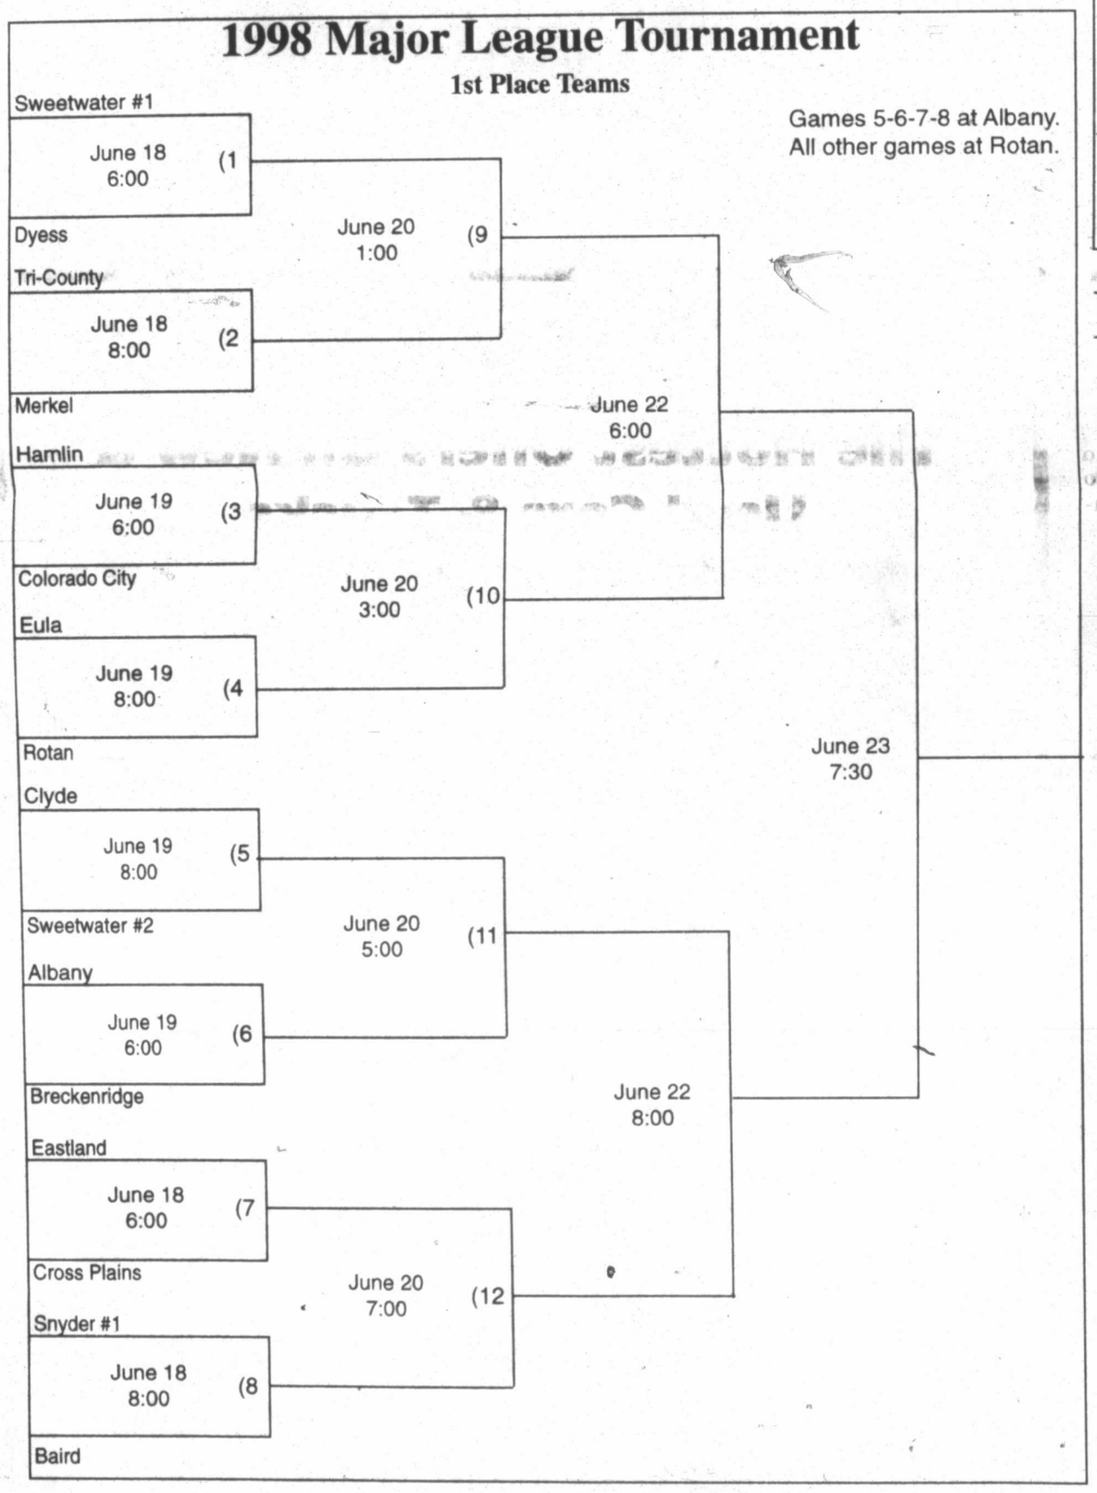

Alan Riney of Maryneal, 17th place, 2.04 pounds, $26.98.

Roger Proctor of Colorado City, 18th place, 2.04 pounds, $26.98.

Charlie Roland Jr. of Blackwell, 19th place, 1.98 pounds, $26.98.

And Gayla Proctor of Colorado City, 20th place, 1.93 pounds, $26.98.

loraine news

By Bessie Ann Vaughn

Greetings to you. We hope you had a good week while staying well and cool. I sorta agree with the old mountain man who said "It ain't the hot that's so turrible. But when the Humility joins it. It's dang pittifull."

It's getting to be a chore just finding something to blame this erratic weather on: El Nino, Humidity, La Nina, El Centro, Roscoe, The Nina, The Pinta, or the Santa Maria, or whatever works!

June Barron, Rita and Andrew Faulks went to south Texas recently to a Dude Ranch. They had a great time swimming, riding horses and ate good western food. The week stay was a lot of fun, June reported.

Our condolences go out to John Evans as he recently lost a daughter. We also have concerns for Trudie Wheeler Richburg. She has been having health problems.

Homer and Dorthy Nance surprised Juanice Butler last Saturday morning with a stop over in Loraine to visit awhile.

The Nance's were on their way home to Midland from Abilene. Dorothy is one of many nieces of Juanice's.

Jimmie Jacks has moved back to Loraine. She is now a reisdent at the Taylor Witta Apartments. We hope she is happy in her new home.

We have concerns for Mary Coffee and for Raymond Hackfield. Both reside at Loraine Manor and have been hospitalized. Also our friend James Jarratt is not feeling well at all just now, but he is at home. Good and better health to all.

Nell Doyle, our official weather watcher, reports that we had .75 of an inch of rain within a two-day period last week.

Royal aan Dottie Vaughn visited with me last Sunday. They reside in Irving, TX. In their part of the country, it has rained much more than here.

J.A. Sadler said the reason we've only had sprinkles and not a nice slow rain is because the Chief Government Meterologist is a Methodist. Look out Sadler!

Coming to Mitchell County to spend time with their parents were Ray and Peggy Harmon of Greenville. Peggy's mother Elba Evans lives in Loraine and Ray's mother is Neva Lee Harmon of Colorado City.

Leila Beaty enjoyed having her daughter LaJoyce Sheppard visit with her recently, and while here LaJoyce also spent time with her aunt Laura Stewart, other relatives and friends. A friend from Corpus Christi came with LaJoyce, Lynn Buford, also from Corpus.

Barbara and Bill Long, daughter Ronda and granddaughter, Kelsea, will be in town this Thursday to spend this next week with their mothers and grandmothers Annie Belle Jones and Irene Kidd. The children live in Savannah, Georgia.

Tharon and Doris Henderson and Pauline Smiley joined the Brad Henderson family from Midland on a trip to Dallas. Morgan Henderson, 6 yr old daughter of Brad and Penny Henderson had a doctor's appointment in Dallas. While in Dallas the group attended a Ranger game and went to Hurricane Harbor for a fun time. Monday, Morgan received a last good checkup by her doctor at Scottish Rites Hospital in Dallas. We are pleased to learn this.

J.A. and Yvonne Sadler's children "Pat" and "Pat" (not a misprint) Sadler, along with daughter, Brittany, have moved to Andadorka, OK. J.A.'s car will be headed for Oklahoma, often, don't you think?

Bobbie and Wanza Graham accompanied Zelma Crenshaw to Paris and Clarksville, TX over the weekend. Zelma visited her son, David Crenshaw and family of Paris. They all went to the Ross, Nunn, Miller reunion on Sunday at Clarksville.

Condolences also go to the Moreno family as Mr. Antonio Moreno passed away recently.

Senior Center

A nice crowd congregated at the center last Wednesday, not only for the good food but because the Snyder Swing Band came over and entertained us. If you ever liked Bob Wills music then you would like this group as we do.

For a fundraising effort, tickets are being sold for a drawing on a floral swag. The winner will be decided next Wednesday at Birthday Party day.

Heather Lucas sang for us on Monday with accompaniment on piano by Vida Mae McDaniel. It was very entertaining and we thank them both.

Visitors recently were Fay Hamilton, John Evans and Eloise Crawford.

"Just in Fun"

From the society column of the Clearwater Florida Sun!

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hartwick of Tampa will entertain at Open House Sunday from three until tight.

From a Petersburg, VA paper: The doctor felt the patients purse and admitted that there was nothing he could do.

Item in the Grand Rapids Herald: "Miss C____ H____ reported to police the loss of $20 today. She said the money was concealed in her stocking, and the loss was discovered soon after the departure of a vacuum cleaner salesman who had been demonstrating his line."

Take care and see you about town.

Ballard named director of TDCJ parole division

Veronica Ballard, a former parole officer who has risen through the ranks of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, has been named director of TDCJ's parole division which supervises 76,000 paroled felons in Texas.

Ballard, 40, was promoted from division deputy director to head up the agency's 1,100 parole officers who work out of 68 field offices across the state.

"Veronica Ballard's experience and proven leadership ability make her well-suited to manage parole's challenging mission in a continually changing world," TDCJ executive director Wayne Scott said in making the appointment.

TDCJ's parole division supervises released offenders according to terms and conditions set by the Board of Pardons and Paroles. The division also does the administrative work of processing parolees who violated parole and are subject to being returned to prison by the Board.

Ballard had a major role in 1995 in establishing TDCJ's first intensive supervision program for high-risk releases experiencing readjusting to life in the community. That first effort, where releases reported in as often as twice a day to a "day resource center," was started in San Antonio and Houston and is now used statewide.

The day resource center was the forerunner for the "super intensive supervision" program now used by the parole division in which problem releases can be monitored 24 hours a day both electronically and by parole officer visits to their homes, jobs and treatment sites.

Ballard has bachelors and masters degrees in criminal justice from Louisiana State University. She became a parole officer in Texas in 1982 and earned promotion to hearing officer, district supervisor and regional supervisor before becoming deputy director for administrative services in 1995.

She has had articles published in the Journal of Criminal Justice and Justice Quarterly. She was nominated last year for the Outstanding Women in Texas Government Award and in 1993 received the Chairman's Award from the National Association of Blacks in Criminal Justice.

The parole director's position has been vacant since last summer when director Melinda Hoyle Bozarth was reassigned to head up a variety of projects in TDCJ's Programs and Services Divisions, including victims rights services, inmate rehabilitation, federal funds and strategic planning.

Farmers urged to protect their lives

The nation's farmers (or family members) are being killed at an alarming rate going to and from their fields. They are now being urged by police, safety and educational groups to protect their lives and equipment with new slow moving vehicle (SMV) emblems and reflective tapes.

Ten times brighter than current materials, the new Reflexite brand tapes reflect automobile headlights back into driver's eyes - warning them of slower moving farm vehicles in the road ahead. Daytime visibility is boosted with brighter, longer-lasting fluorescent SMV emblems which resist fading for many years.

According to Dr. Tom Bean, Ohio State University Extension Safety Specialist and a recognized authority on the highway use of agricultural tractors and equipment, "The new retroreflective and fluorescent materials available today are the latest in passive marking technology. Every farmer should participate in the FARM (Fewer Accidents with Retroreflective Equipment) Program. Each kit contains enough material to retrofit one slow moving vehicle emblem and mark one piece of equipment. Upgrading SMV emblems could save many lives."

Also urging farmer participation is Elizabeth Burns, Project Director of the Illinois Easter Seal Society, who said, "Combining the talents of dedicated people, the latest technology and the best materials, the FARM Program has emerged as one of the leaders in rural highway safety."

Dave Patton, an Illinois Farm Bureau executive, said that, "Fading SMV emblems found on most farm equipment won't provide early warning to motorists. Replacing them with new materials for higher visibility both day and night is a very important safety measure."

Assembled by SMV Technologies of Oddessa, Florida, the new safety kits provide farm vehicles with a bright fluorescent emblem (for daytime rear visibility) along with a dozen red, yellow and orange headlight reflecting tapes for the four sides of the vehicles (or darker conditions).

Also urging farmers to use the new high brightness materials are the Illinois Sate Police, Country Companies (a farm insurer) and the National Safety Council.

Officer Brian Benoit of the Illinois State Police points out that during the 1988-1995 period 2,633 accidents occurred involving farm equipment, with 1,130 injured and 50 killed. Benoit claims that, "half of the fatalities occurred under low-light conditions which accounted for only 25% of the accidents - providing low vehicle visibility is a major factor."

The American Society of Agricultural Engineers (ASAE) has recently issued a performance specification upgrade calling for the new tapes.

The nearest distributor of the new SMV Farm Safety Kits can be located by calling a toll-free number: 1-877-768-8324. Further information can be obtained from Betty Thorp, SMV Technologies (813) 372-1512, or FAX: (888) 327-6768.

TNRCC recycling slated June 23rd

The Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission is offering rural Texans the opportunity to dispose of empty plastic pesticide containers, used motor oil, and lead acid batteries free of charge. The Snyder Area Rural Recycling Event will be conducted at the Snyder-Farmer's Co-op Gin, 3 miles east of Snyder on Highway 10. Collections will take place from 8 a.m. until noon on Tuesday, June 23, 1998.

Empty plastic pesticide containers must be clean, triple-rinsed to be accepted. No tires or hazardous waste will be accepted. Local agricultural producers as well as home owners are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to dispose of these materials that need to be disposed of properly to ensure environmental safety.

For more information contact the Mitchell County Extension Service at 728-3111. Educational Programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, age, religion, disability, or national origin.

Mitchell County producers can now graze CRP land

Livestock Producers in Mitchell County have received authorization to graze CRP acres due to the continued drought conditions in the county.

Producers interested in grazing may request approval from the Mitchell County FSA Office, obtaining a modified conservation plan from the local NRCS office. Producers approved to graze must leave at least 25 percent of each field or contiguous field, or graze no more than 75 percent of this stocking rate as determined by NRCS.

Producers who do not own livestock may rent or lease the grazing privilege to an eligible livestock producer located in Mitchell County. CRP participants who rent the grazing privilege to an eligible livestock producer must inform the county office of the producer's name and identify the acreage to be grazed.

Producers that request grazing of CRP acres will be charged a rate of 25 percent of the per acre rental rate, which may either be pre-paid or deducted from the annual rental payment that will be issued in October. Grazing of the CRP acres shall be until September 30, unless conditions improve as determined by the Mitchell County Committee.

If you have any questions please contact the Mitchell County FSA Office.

America buckles up

Although Texas backroads often have the most beautiful landscapes, taking the "scenic route" may not be the safest way to travel.

Though rural residents account for only 20 percent of the state's population, traffic crashes in rural areas account for 60 percent to the state's traffic fatalities. In a recent study of safety restraint usage in 26 rural Texas communities, it was discovered that 50.2 percent of drivers and passengers do not wear their safety belts.

Why?

"I think this is because people do not perceive the risk to be as great if they're not on a major freeway or in a lot of congested traffic," said Janie Harris, a Texas Agricultural extension Service passenger safety specialist.

Thirty-four percent of the vehicles observed were pickups. Fifty-eight percent of the drivers and passengers in the pickups were not wearing safety belts. This figure is significantly higher than the rate of passenger vehicles.

Texas will join a nationwide effort to promote usage of safety belts May 17-25.

"Buckle Up America is a campaign that is endorsed by the National Traffic Safety Administration. In Texas patrol officers are being encouraged to increase education about safety belts and issue citations to those who break the law," Harris explained.

Buckle Up America promotes safety restraint awareness and shows people the correct way to wear their safety belts.

"Many people will wear their shoulder belt under their arm and that could be very deadly if they are in crash because the strap can crush their ribs and their vital organs," Harris said. She added that of all persons killed in passenger cars, trucks and buses during 1996 in Texas, where safety belt usage was known, 56 percent were reported as not wearing seat belts when the fatal crash occurred.

Texas Department of Public Safety statistics show the chance of being killed in crash during 1996 as more than nine times greater for persons not wearing seat belts.

Harris added that the death rate on Texas highways for 1996 was the highest since 1990.

"It might make us stop and consider if speed is an indicator or a factor in this increase," she said.

Buckle Up America week will also feature a national press conference as well as frequent television appearances by Vince and Larry, the crash dummies.
