

Collingsworth Harvesting Finest Wheat Crop in Years

Spray Program Sought to Fight Grasshoppers.

The critical grasshopper infestation that has developed in Collingsworth county, was put squarely before a group of farmers during the week end, as efforts got under way to secure state and federal help in poisoning operations.

Wheat damage up to $10 per acre has been reported already in the Wellington area, and cotton farmers are thinking ahead to the losses they will suffer unless the infestation is checked.

The combined state-federal program would provide for aerial spraying of pasture land at 40c per acre, but before the county can get this, there must be signed up 100,000 acres of grass, and no block under 500 acres will be sprayed for grasshoppers, county agent Bob Lynch announced.

Acreage signed up at this time falls far short of the required 100,000 acres, but ranchers and farmers who want their land sprayed should contact Lynch immediately, and it is possible for this acreage to be reached.

While this county's grasshopper infestation is less than that in the northern Panhandle, it is in the serious stage, Gene Culp, representing the Texas Department of Agriculture, told farmers in the Monday meeting.

Under the state Department of Agriculture NSDA program, the spraying is contracted to private companies, who use DC3 planes in the work. Total cost is 60c per acre, with 20c paid by the government, and the remaining 40c by the farmer or rancher.

Only grassland is sprayed, since that is the major breeding place of grasshoppers. Crop land is not sprayed, nor is wheat stubble.

Land planted to native or improved grasses is sprayed. Land in sorghum alum is considered grass land.

"The whole program depends on farmers working together to get as large an acreage as possible in their communities," Lynch said.

Culp said that a quick check of hoppers showed about 100 to 150 per square yard south of Wellington. Anything above 15 per square yard is considered a severe infestation.

"They're not in the stage to eat a lot now, but they will be," he warned.

The grasshoppers with which farmers are concerned now are the migratory type, and Collingsworth is only one part of the entire great plains where the infestation is critical.

He estimated there have been three hatchings of hoppers and there probably will be 3 or 4 more.

Since it was necessary to call the meetings Saturday and Monday on such short notice that only a few farmers could be notified, Lynch urged that farmers interested in the program contact him.

It is also urged that farmers take action against the grasshoppers on their own initiative, spraying turn rows, edges of fields, and along creeks or draws where there may be hoppers.

If the acreage signed up falls short of the required 100,000 acres for the USDA-state program, but if a sizeable tract can be had, it is possible that efforts will be made to contract with a private spraying concern, but the cost will be above the 40c per acre on the government program, Lynch said.

Fair Association Made Independent Group

Tentative Fair Events and Department Heads Listed

Setting up the tentative list of events for the Collingsworth county Fair and naming the chairmen of each division was announced this week by Dr. Chas. B. Jones, superintendent.

At the same time, further steps were taken to separate the Fair Association from its organizer, the Chamber of Commerce, making the former an independent set-up. The fair is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, September 5 and 6, at the National Guard Armory.

Events on the tentative schedule include a rodeo and barbeque. A Saturday night dance featuring a name band playing country music is planned, with Russell Yates in charge.

Zook Thomas was named to handle the Old Settlers Reunion. Produce and Livestock, probably the largest divisions of the Fair itself, are under the direction of County Agent Bob Lynch, while Miss Kathryn Potter, county home demonstration agent, heads the 4-H division.

Plans for an art exhibit and flower show were brought up last week, and this will be handled by the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

George Shadid will be in charge of advertising and booth space, the principal source of finance, for the fair.

The Fair Association is now studying the possibilities of horse racing, and drag strip and hot rod racing. N. M. Higdon, assistant fair superintendent and Chamber of Commerce manager, said.

Citizenship Training

Henry and Jackson Attend Boys State

Ray Henry and David Jackson are in Austin this week representing Wellington at Boys State.

Sponsored by the American Legion, Boys State is held each year to give boys who have completed their junior work in high school training in citizenship and the functions of state government.

These two were selected for the honor by the high school faculty on the basis of outstanding scholastic work, leadership, and their activities.

The two Wellington boys joined 35 others going from the 18th District, making the trip in a special bus.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry, while Jackson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson.

This year's Boy's State will close Saturday.

Expenses of one of the local boys is being paid by the Frank King Post of the American Legion, and the other by Dr. E. W. Jones, who now lives at Lubbock, and who is a member of the Boy's State Council.

Mrs. R. L. Young, Aged Samnorwood Woman, Dies Sun.

Mrs. R. L. Young, 84-year-old Samnorwood resident, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday, June 8, at 7 a. m. She had been active until only a few weeks ago, when she broke her right hip in a fall that occurred during a night-time thunder storm when there was a brief power shortage. She was walking in the darkness when the accident occurred.

She had lived at Samnorwood 15 years, moving there from Harde-man county.

Funeral services were held Monday at 1 p. m., at the Church of Christ at Samnorwood, with Minister Claude Walkup of Gould, Oklahoma, officiating. Burial was in the Quana cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Mrs. Young was born Martha Harris, December 11, 1873, in Giles County, Tenn. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. William Harris. She grew up in that state and was married in Giles County to R. L. Young March 29, 1895. They continued making that their home until 1921, when they moved to Texas.

She had been an active member of the Church of Christ since 1923. Surviving Mrs. Young are three sons and two daughters: Robert Young of Samnorwood; Jesse Young of near Wellington; and Mahlon Young of Stafford, Arizona; Mrs. Minnie Scott of Huntsville, Alabama and Mrs. Ethel Gray of Borger.

Mr. Young preceded her in death October 13, 1957.

At College Station

Nine County Boys in State 4-H Judging

Nine county 4-H boys, making up three judging teams, will participate in the state judging contests at College Station Wednesday, June 11.

Each team will compete with approximately two dozen other teams from all parts of the state, and they will be among 2,000 boys and girls taking part in the annual contests and 4-H Club Roundup, County Agent Bob Lynch said.

Teams are land judging, made up of Linvell Black, Roger Painter and Kenneth Norman of Dodson; poultry, Herbert Duncan, Kirby Campbell and Terry Bouchelle of Wellington; and dairy judging, Travis McGuire, Teddy Gentry and Jimmy Peters of Quail.

Trusten Thomas accompanied the boys as their sponsor.

Wednesday, following the contests the boys will participate in a workshop program, where the latest developments in their field will be taught.

A Chuck Wagon feed will close the roundup, and the group will return Thursday.

Sponsoring the group from Dodson were the J. C. Howell Grocery, Davis Gin, First State Bank and Farmers Co-op Gin. The Wellington State Bank sponsored the two groups from Wellington.

ROYCE DAVES

Royce Daves Dies In Electrical Accident Tuesday

Royce Daves, 38, line superintendent for the Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc., died about 6 a. m. Wednesday, June 11, in the Groom Hospital from injuries he received when he came in contact with a 440-volt electric wire Tuesday afternoon.

The accident occurred at the Fraser Elevator at Boydston, 6 miles east of Groom. He had gone there to check electrical installations made by Greenbelt. According to men with him, he was standing on a ladder about 20 feet from the floor when he came in contact with the live wire. He was knocked to the concrete floor, receiving a severe skull fracture and other injuries.

Lyle Robinson, working with Daves, gave artificial respiration and oxygen. Robinson is an employee of J. B. Payne and Associates, consulting engineering firm of Enid, Oklahoma, retained to check all REA installations. He did not see the accident occur.

No funeral arrangements have been made, but these will be announced by Kelso Funeral Home.

Daves had worked with Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative since 1945, living at Wellington except for a period at Wheeler. He returned here as line superintendent in December 1954.

Before joining the Greenbelt staff, Mr. Daves farmed at Quail, where he lived for a number of years.

Active in community life, he was president of the Wellington Kiwanis Club, and in April he was elected a member of the Wellington school board. He and his family were active in First Baptist Church.

He devoted much time to boys work, and was Scoutmaster of

More Uniforms Needed

80 Youngsters Eager to Play In Kid Baseball Program

Approximately 80 Wellington boys from 8 to 14 years old have said they want to play baseball this summer — and everyone of them will be a player if about 25 more uniforms can be had. Men came along with the boys and volunteered to act as coaches and managers.

In an organization meeting Sunday, June 8, at Marion Airpark, one Pony League team, two Little League and two Pee Wee teams were set up. A colored team made up of boys 8 up to 14 years was organized earlier and already is playing and winning from any team that will meet it. County Judge Templeton, who is co-ordinating kid baseball, said.

"It's never too late for any boy to start playing," Judge Templeton said, pointing out that youngsters who were not at the organization meeting still may get on a team.

Pony Leaguers practice every day this week at 4:30 p. m., but after next week are due to practice two or three times a week. They play at Marian Airpark field.

The Little League teams practice Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 6:30 p. m. and the Pee Wee teams Tuesday and

150 Cars Delivered with the Crop Approximately One-Half Out

Collingsworth County's finest wheat crop in history is being harvested, a crop that compares to none in the memory of the oldest settlers.

Within one week from the day the first load was brought to Wellington, 159 cars of wheat had been delivered in Collingsworth county.

Wellington has become a focal delivery point, handling all grain shipped on the Wellington division of the Katy railroad, from Victory, Oklahoma, to the end of the line here.

There may have been years when Collingsworth had a little more total production, but in the last 7 days, 318,000 bushels have been cut from only 16,826 acres! If not another bushel were cut this is an almost 20-bushel per acre average. The harvest is estimated at from one-half to two-thirds over and when it is finished, growers and grain men believe the average will be close to 30 bushels.

Tests have been the best in recent years, all of the wheat running from 61 to 64. The moisture content is unusually low. This year's crop is above average in protein content, and this may mean 2c or 3c per bushel differential to local growers, Ed Crowder of the Dodson Farmers Co-op said.

A. M. Saunders has reported the top yield so far, 60 bushels per acre on a measured tract a mile and a half northeast of Wellington. This was dry-land wheat. Some believe this is the record per acre yield in the county's history.

A considerable amount of 40 to 47 bushel wheat has been delivered at Dodson and some yields up to 50 bushels are reported from Wellington.

With weather ideal, no crop has been harvested quicker, and cutting has now started north of Salt Fork River.

Thirty-three cars of wheat have been loaded at Dodson and eight more are on the ground.

"I think we'll have an average of 35 bushels when we're through," Ed Crowder of the Farmers Co-op said. He estimated harvesting about 75 per cent finished.

Almost all wheat is going in the loan.

Approximately 45 cars have been shipped from Wellington and around 75 cars are on storage now at Singers Mill and Elevator and Warlick Feed Store.

Both local buyers and the Katy railroad report they have been so covered up they do not have an accurate total of what has come in.

What may be the Katy's last wheat harvest is one of the richest in recent years. E. C. Franklin, assistant superintendent of the MKT, Dallas, is in Wellington during the wheat rush, and said Wednesday morning that 526 cars of wheat have gone out of here, representing shipments on the Wellington division, (this side of Victory).

"Everyone I've talked to says it's the largest crop and best wheat they've ever seen." Every place east of here has wheat piled on the ground," he said.

Monday night, five diesel engines pulling 124 empty cars, came into Wellington, and the same night a train of 112 loaded cars pulled out.

Millard Brown of the county ASC office said there were 16,826 acres of measured wheat in Collingsworth county. The 1958 allotment was 26,518 acres. Most of this nearly 10,000 acres went in the soil bank, but there also was a small amount of allotted acres that was not planted.

Beam Injures Shoulder in Fall

Cameron Beam received a dislocated right shoulder Sunday morning, June 8, when the horse he was riding stepped in a prairie dog hole and stumbled, throwing him off.

The accident occurred at Beam's pasture in the Needwood community, as he was hunting a lost calf.

With him at the time was his brother-in-law, China Smith of Iowa Park.

We Have a County Fair Coming Up; Let's Make It a Good One

With prospects good for a bumper crop, this is probably the best year the Chamber of Commerce could have chosen to begin the County Fairs again, after a lapse of nearly 30 years.

For seven years we faced realistically how poor our crops were, yet many farmers won prizes with their livestock and feed and produce in surrounding fairs. It is well that we show now with the same realism how good our products can be. There is no better showcase than a county fair.

The Wellington event will not lessen one bit our participation in regional fairs and the state fair, and it should improve what we exhibit in them. But the place where Collingsworth products should get their greatest emphasis is in Collingsworth. This is the only place where a majority of the people will ever see them displayed.

County fairs have long been known for their part in spurring farmers to improve the quality of their crops and livestock. Friendly competition of neighbor against neighbor can do much to help both grow a better crop.

But this county fair is not for crops alone. That is only one part, although an important part. There will be the livestock division—on a limited basis this year—the women's department, boys and girls work, the flower show, and if the Chamber of Commerce has its way, an old settlers reunion, rodeo and possibly a barbecue—a big celebration for anybody's town.

To do this creditably, we must go to work now. Two and a half months is a short time in which to prepare for a fair. The Chamber of Commerce deserves and must have, the co-operation of each of us. If we give this co-operation, and work hard and unselfishly, there is no reason why our county fair cannot be one of the best advertisements Collingsworth county has, and a focal point for our entire year.

* Since the Soviet satellite launchings startled us, we have heard much groaning in this country about our lag in science education. If anything however, we're even worse in the matter of foreign language training.

Half of America's high schools offer no modern foreign languages at all. And only 15 per cent of all U. S. high school and college students study any language but their own.

A list of 36 countries scaled according to the number of years their public schools teach foreign languages finds the United States at rock bottom—No. 36. Most of the listed nations make such study compulsory.

In Russia, all students in the basic 10-year schools must study six years of language. University students are directed, as an extra, to study a language native to Africa or Asia.

Our poor performance smacks of smugness. At a time when more Americans than ever are fanning out over the globe, it vastly limits the value of our contacts abroad. And it blocks us off from vital knowledge we need if we are to understand this world and play a greater role in it.—St. Joseph Gazette.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex. — During coming months Texans will ponder and argue the wisdom of adopting sweeping changes in election procedures.

If adopted, the changes recommended by Gov. Price Daniel would alter campaign procedures more drastically than anything since the Terrell election law became effective over a half century ago.

Governor Daniel's proposals are (1) to abolish precinct conventions and, instead, elect county convention delegates at the first primary and (2) to hold primaries in May and June instead of July and August.

Such ideas are grist for mills that grind slowly. They'll be debated, pro and con, at the party conventions this summer and, probably, again by the Legislature next year.

At the June 9 meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee, the resolutions subcommittee will recommend support of the changes. Subcommittee members announced they agreed with the governor that a direct primary vote in the precincts would insure wider participation and do away with the "ugly contests, rump delegations and bitterness" that have characterized Texas party politics all the way to the national convention.

Support from the State Committee was to be expected since a majority of its members are friendly to Governor Daniel.

Opposition is anticipated, down the line, from people who regularly participate in precinct meetings. They—or at least some of them—contend the neighborhood gatherings provide the citizenry with a sort of democratic "town hall" experience. Others object to earlier elections on the grounds they would prolong the "lame duck" period for defeated incumbents.

Defenders of the anti-precinct convention plan declare it's the next logical step in a long-range trend. Before the adoption of the Terrell election law, state officials were nominated by political parties at their state conventions. Beginning in 1907 voters were given a more direct say by the use of one primary and a convention vote if no candidate received a primary majority. In 1918 this was amended to provide the present two-primary system.

"CODE" FORTHCOMING — SDEC's resolutions committee also promised to meet DOT's challenge for a code of ethics for conducting party conventions.

The Committee said it did not feel privileged to dictate procedures from the state level, to precinct and county officials, "the overwhelming majority of whom can be trusted to function... with the highest ethical considerations." But it said it would recommend a "declaration of principles which will insure... majority determination" at state conventions.

A "fair play code" has been a rallying cry for the liberal Democrats of Texas led by Mrs. Frankie Randolph of Houston.

ANTI-TRUST INQUIRY — When a city or county needing supplies or equipment gets sealed bids identical to the fraction of a cent, there's a possibility the bidders got together beforehand and agreed on a jacked-up price.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson says that his office has had several reports of identical bidding. He is making an intensive investigation. Suits will be filed after evidence is complete, probably within six to eight weeks.

Contracts under study involve sales of electric transformers, chlorine for swimming pools, and lime and oyster shell for street topping.

A conspiracy among bidders to raise prices can cost taxpayers in the multi-millions, Wilson commented.

Dear Editor:

We had a nice Memorial Day out our way. Lots of folks took off from work, some to remember the boys who bought our liberty and some to go fishing.

My home-skittish neighbor went all out to honor his lost son and other national heroes with a three-day motor boat frolic.

Says we are too apt to forget, and ought to have a Memorial Day off with pay every couple of weeks. Figures this way he could learn to water ski by the end of the summer.

Have you been noticing the new styles in ladies' shoes, with the 10-penny heels and the gimlet toes?

My roughshod neighbor says these are so long-pointed they are going to be a hindrance to romance, on account of with all the girls wearing this style, a fellow can't get close enough to one of them to see if she is tame without stepping on her toes.

But he thinks the new shoes may restore prosperity to some businesses, and what he would like to have right now is a good rich corn plaster mine.

My wolf-eyed neighbor reports he went to see a moving picture which they would only let in adults, or children with 65 cents, where the main features of a girl named Brigitte Bardot were on display.

Says he is in his second childhood but they let him in anyhow, although he don't hardly know whether it was worth the money.

Says the scenery was just standard, and not much more inspirational than what can be enjoyed for free at any public swimming hole.

My fretting neighbor says he hears that President Ike has ordered everybody to buy more, so as to undermine the depression.

But he has bought so much government lately, and some folks he bought other stuff from are still wanting their money, so he is a little short of buying material right now.

Says it looks like it will take some bayonet-bearing paratroopers to come down here and reason with the storekeepers who by shutting off his credit are forc-

From the military points of view, it seems that being run through with a bayonet is not as serious as it sounds, if no vital organ is hit. Lt. Jim Cochran, publicity man for the National Guard unit, tells this: A year or two ago, a young soldier at summer camp was accidentally bayoneted, and was taken down to Fort Hood hospital, where an exploratory operation was performed. Doctors found nothing of interest from the bayonet wound, but they did find a bad appendix. Then and there, the guardsman got an appendectomy free of charge.

I see where a big news magazine took a survey and found out lots of school teachers are afraid of their pupils, and especially of the ones who carry knives, chains and other mayhem toys.

Which my ex-teacher neighbor says proves the intelligence level is pretty high among teachers, on account of it is smart to be afraid of junior grade hoodlums, and a disgrace only if you let them get away with it.

He thinks teachers ought not to be licensed any more until they have passed a stiff course in Judo and paddology.

My worrying neighbor is now upset over how the doctors are learning how to handle nearly all kinds of disease except speeditis, so as to make us all live longer.

He says they are liable to keep us around here so long that we will have to help pay off some of the National Debt ourselves, whereas we had figured on leaving same for posterity to take care of.

On the other hand, nobody has threatened to start paying on this account yet, so maybe a longer life span will just give us better opportunity to teach our grandchildren how to live rich off their grandchildren's credit.

One of the town's newest grandmothers, Lucille McMillin, has been getting almost a day-by-day photographic account of young Dudley Mark McMillin's life at Big Spring, as the father, Keith, is photographer for The Big Spring News. These pictures have one disadvantage. They are the 10 x 12 size, and Lucille does not have a single one she can carry in her billfold to show folks.

And Clay Beam, after listening to a discussion of grandchildren, spoke up, "You with one grandchild. I've got 10." Levonia Doneghy, expecting a young nephew for a visit, hung favorite photographs of his family in the room he'll occupy, a familiar note for a very small boy 500 miles from home.

He says he won't be disappointed if his team doesn't win a single game this first season. He, Oneta, and the children moved last week.

Let me tell you what I saved when I drove a new Plymouth...then bought one!

Just like a lot of other people, I was putting off buying a new car... even though we sure needed one. Then I found out what my Plymouth dealer was offering in the way of low prices and really big trades.

Mister, when I saw what I saved I knew there was no use putting off any longer! Got more for my old car than I believed possible. (Plymouth dealers need used cars and can sell all they get!) Got a terrifically low price on the new Plymouth... and choice of models besides... hard-tops, sedans, convertibles, wagons.

And I saved a cool $140 on the ride alone! Plymouth's top-luxury ride, Torsion-Aire Ride, is standard at no extra cost, while you have to pay up to $140 for the top ride of competing "low-price 3" cars.

What's more, I got the car that proved it can save me gasoline, by winning the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run. A car with Silver Dart Styling that is so far ahead right now it will still be worth more when I trade. With the kind of easy handling that makes every minute of driving a downright thrill! The stamina to stand up without nagging adjustments and big repairs... a car as much better built as it is better looking!

Any wonder I quit waiting? Take my tip... get your Plymouth bargain right now.

Today's best buy...tomorrow's best trade... Plymouth

"To Get a Vision of What Can Be Done"

CUBAN PASTOR STUDIES CHURCH METHODS HERE

The Rev. Daniel Rodriguez, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Consolacion del Sur, Cuba, is the guest of the First Baptist Church in Wellington this week, one stop in his study of Baptist Churches in Texas.

"I am trying to get a vision of what can be done in the churches," he said, explaining his tour. He added that although his church already has a good building, it will enter into a building program within a short time. But he is studying other phases of church organization also.

Rev. Rodriguez is already familiar with West Texas, for he received his college education at Wayland College, Plainview. "I could speak very little English when I arrived," he commented—in fluent English.

The Baptist Church, he explained, has been organized in Cuba 56 years and always has been affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention. His own church is a mission church. Besides the 130 Sunday School enrollment, it sponsors five other mission Sunday schools, with a total enrollment of approximately 225.

Rev. Rodriguez was ordained 10 years ago June 16, at Calvary Baptist Church in Cuba, one of the largest Spanish speaking Baptist Churches in the world.

In addition to his pastoral work at Consolacion del Sur, he has done missionary work in Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, Mexico, and with Spanish-speaking peoples of Texas.

He also does translation work, adapting articles from Baptist publications into Spanish for publication and circulation throughout the Spanish speaking world.

Evaporation of Water May Be Near Solution

ABILENE, Tex.—Recently conducted tests on a chemical used as the base of many cosmetics may provide an effective solution to West Texas' water evaporation problems, an article in the November issue of "West Texas Today" says.

The chemical, hexadecanol, has proved effective in reducing water evaporation by as much as 45 per cent, the article in the monthly publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce says.

Tests conducted by the Southwest Research Institute in San Antonio, under the auspices of the Southwest Water Evaporation Research Council, have shown the chemical to be highly effective when spread over the surface of a lake or other reservoir to form a "lid" that prevents evaporation.

The tests were started over two years ago in an effort to reduce the evaporation that causes a loss of nearly as much water each year as is used in domestic and industrial consumption.

Explaining that the evaporation process occurs when water molecules become highly active, as a result of a rise in the temperature of the water, and finally move so rapidly that they leave the reservoir, the SwRI scientists state that the chemical cover acts as a "lid" to prevent the molecules from escaping in the form of water vapor.

When spread over the water's surface at a thickness of about one ten-millionth of an inch, hexadecanol becomes completely tasteless, odorless and colorless, the article says. The Public Health Service has certified that the chemical is harmless to human beings and experiments have proven it to be harmless to plant life, animals and fish.

Water which would otherwise be evaporated by the sun can be saved at an estimated cost of half a cent per thousand gallons, researchers say.

If the film is spread apart by a boat, swimmer or wave action, it almost immediately rejoins to continue preventing evaporation.

Grass Fires Come Thick and Fast

The fire department has been called out several times during the past week.

On June 4, a grass fire was started at 1200 East Ft. Worth St., which is a vacant lot.

Hugh Painter's wheat field caught fire Thursday, June 5, at Dodson.

A fire was started in Cliff Campbell's wheat field, west of Highway 88, by a back-fire of a truck. Two fires were set before it was discovered how the fires were started.

There was a fire west of War-rick Feed grainery on a vacant lot one day last week.

A grass fire was caught by trash on fire at 802 11th St., at the Harrell's Apt., Saturday, June 7.

June 9, a grass fire on a vacant lot behind Paul Bell's home was set into flames by a trash fire. Also there was a fire three miles east of the city along the Katy Railroad. This fire was one half mile long.

"I Cut 2,190 Tons of Ensilage From 104 Acres of Maize"

Leo Bezner, Bushland, Tex., says: "I put down 80 pounds of Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia pre-plant on 104 acres of irrigated maize land. I cut 2,190 tons of ensilage, or slightly more than 21 tons per acre. I use Phillips 66 Ammonia to help increase yields on all my cash crops."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that the 82% nitrogen in top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them to get more profit per acre, through higher yields and lower production costs.

They have found that, by using Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia, they get more cotton that grades out higher at the gin; yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased; more marketable vegetables are harvested, and profits on wheat are increased through better forage, and higher yields of grain.

SALT FORK SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Ponds

Albert Oldham, Salt Fork Soil Conservation District co-operator, in the Dozier community, is constructing a tank this week. When full it will cover 4.8 surface acres and hold 41.1 acre feet of water. That's over a million gallons! The dam will be 14 feet wide at the top and will have a fill height of better than 22 feet.

Other co-operators of the district are constructing dams under the Great Plains Conservation Program. John Coleman and L. A. Gilmore have constructed three ponds for livestock water.

Coleman's tank has an 8- and 10-inch draw down pipe through it to keep from working the spillway except during heavier rains.

Gilmore has built two ponds 3 miles west of Wellington for livestock water under his Great Plains conservation program.

Up to date, the Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the Salt Fork SCD have laid out and approved 11 farm ponds this year, with some 8 or 10 yet to be completed.

Vetch

Co-operators who had vetch this year have been unusually successful. Lynn Carter, Fred Bourland, H. J. P. Field and Drury Lacy have all gotten good growth from vetch. This not only adds organic material to the soil, but also puts nitrogen into the land.

Lynn Carter planted his vetch in his cotton while it was still green. He used the district's inter-row seeder and fertilized the vetch with super-phosphate at the same time. Lynn Courtney, SCS technician, assisted Carter in starting this practice.

Carter says he gets about one-fourth bale increase in cotton following vetch. This is on his irrigated land.

Lacy sows rye and vetch together and this year it got shoulder high before he turned it under.

Waterways

Wayne Reynolds of Kelley community recently constructed a waterway to carry excess water through his field without causing erosion. The waterway is wide and flat, so as to keep the water shallow and non-erosive.

He plans to drill native grass in that part of the waterway that he shaped to design specifications of the district.

Reynolds also turned under a large acreage of rye. He is mulching this stubble into the soil and will follow it this fall with wheat.

Brush Control

Brush control work is underway on ranches of Dan Henard, John Henard and L. J. McMurtry.

The Henards are bulldozing mesquite out of the grassland, so the grass will get full benefit of the moisture. It takes twice as much water to grow a pound of mesquite as a pound of grass.

They find, too, that the pot-hole left where the mesquite trees are bulldozed out collect water.

Letters from the People

(The Wellington Leader does not usually print unsigned letters, but it believes that this word of praise to City Manager Bura Handley and city employees is in order.)

June 3, 1958
Wellington, Texas.

Dear Sirs:

Some of us boys that love tennis want to thank the city for fixing the city tennis courts. We don't know who the men are that did it, but whoever it was did a grand job. Not only are they a great improvement on the old courts but they are even better than the school courts.

Thank you.
Please print this letter in The Wellington Leader.
Thank you.

Polling Places for June 20 Wheat Referendum Set

Voting places for the June 20 wheat marketing quotas referendum for the 1959 crop were announced today by Travis McGuire, chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

All communities south of the river except Dodson, will vote at the County Courtroom in Wellington with Shelton Nunneley, chairman of the referendum committee; J. C. Hartman, Jr., vice chairman; James Doneghy, member and J. B. Killian, alternate.

Dodson Community will vote at Farmers Co-op Gin office, Walter Camp, chairman; Tom Birchfield, vice chairman; E. C. Alexander, member and Rufus T. Jameson, alternate.

Dozier-Sammorwood community will vote at Dozier in the Church of Christ, Pat Bradley, chairman; Gus Gooch, vice chairman, Dee Kincannon, member and Jim Ray, alternate.

Lutie-Aberdeen communities will vote at Red's Shop at Lutie, Everett W. Fain, chairman; Jack W. Lowry, vice chairman; Ernest Tate, member and Tom Whitson, alternate.

Eligible voters may cast their ballots at their local polling places any time between the hours of 8:00 A. M. and 7:00 P. M. on June 20, the Chairman said. Wives of eligible producers may vote also, McGuire said.

Farmers who are eligible to vote in the referendum are all those who in 1959 will have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain on a farm, except those who are participating in the 1958 feed wheat program. Feed wheat participants are permitted to grow up to 30 acres of wheat for use only on the farm where grown, without being subject to marketing quota penalties.

If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote approve the quotas, they will remain in effect for 1959-crop wheat and price support will be available to farmers who comply with their farm wheat allotments at a national average of not less than $1.81 per bushel, or 75 per cent of parity. Farmers who exceed their allotment or 15 acres, which ever is larger, will be subject to a marketing penalty of 45 per cent of the wheat parity price on their "excess" wheat. If the excess is not stored or delivered to the Secre-

FM Right of Way Work Progresses

Almost all right of way for the proposed FM road in the Fresno community has been secured, County Judge R. L. Templeton announced Monday, June 2, and work is under way on the right of way for the FM road in the Aberdeen community.

The Fresno road will begin at a point three and a half miles southeast of Wellington and extending south three and three-fourths miles. Securing the right of way are Durant McInnis, Jim Wood and Sid Elmore.

The Aberdeen road will begin at a point on FM road 1439, five miles east of Lutie and extend north two miles.

Judge Templeton said that the highway department will use the present city right of way on the road across the west end of town. This work is being handled out of the office of the district highway engineer at Childress.

INSTALL THE All Electric YEAR 'ROUND AIR CONDITIONER

Scientists have known for years that enough natural heat exists in outdoor air, even in the coldest weather, to heat every home in the world. If this heat could be extracted... concentrated... and brought indoors—what a solution to everyone's heating problem!

But that's just what a summer air conditioner does... in reverse. It extracts and concentrates indoor heat and moves it outdoors.

The All Electric Heat Pump Air Conditioner is an air conditioner that can reverse itself automatically to cool or heat as needed to maintain indoor comfort at an even level. An improved reverse-cycle valve, sensitive to indoor temperature changes of even a few degrees, switches from cooling to heating and back again automatically... to maintain the comfort level at which you set the thermostat.

COMPLETELY AUTOMATIC

The Electric Heat Pump is completely automatic. During changeable weather, even if it is within the hour, the Heat Pump will switch from heating to cooling and or back again as the temperature changes require.

You do not need to change the temperature dial, you just set the thermostat for the temperature you desire and forget it. The Electric Heat Pump is the ONLY completely automatic Air Conditioner.

From Congressman WALTER ROGERS

Political Parties — Two or Twenty

For a number of years it has been argued in this country that there is a need for more political parties or a complete realignment of the two controlling political parties we now have. Some argue that there is a definite need for a third party to counteract certain philosophies now present in both the Republican and Democratic. Others argue that we need a complete realignment of the two major parties so that the so-called conservatives will all be in one party and the so-called liberals in the other. Still others argue that we need a group of political parties—each representing a particular political philosophy—in order to have a true expression of sentiment on a pure democratic basis.

I discuss this matter at this time because I feel that much history is being written at the present time in France concerning this particular issue. The tragic political difficulties in France did not come as a surprise to students of politics. The surprise was that France had been able to avert the present crisis for so long. The 4th Republic was built on political sand. It would seem that the architects of that Republic concerned themselves too much with the philosophy that everyone be allowed to do as they pleased with a total disregard as to how such action might interfere with the rights of others and create a chaotic conflict that would result in complete impotency of France as a nation. Instead of two or three well-balanced political parties with the strength to fully debate issues, to provide for the bringing about of a final decision, and for the subsequent enforcement of that decision, France found herself with a large number of splinter parties made up of subscribers to every conceivable philosophy known to mankind. The governing body—the National Assembly and the Senate—became infiltrated with these different groups, some of which would be joined by lesser groups in political issues that came up. The result was that France had a government in name only. It had a parliament in which all of the issues could be thoroughly debated, but in which no final decision could be made with any degree of potency. Under the circumstances, the government was wholly impotent insofar as enforcing any controversial decisions. France floundered for a number of years under this loosely knitted scheme of things, and the 4th Republic was able to survive only because of help from French allies including its major benefactor, the United States. However, I feel that the situation which has developed over recent years in France has made a major contribution to the science of government. The advance of civilization has been by trial and error. The political situation in France has furnished us with a most valuable source of information on governmental questions.

I think that it has definitely proved the merit of our system in this country of two major political parties, with both parties being well-balanced, and counting among the membership of each students of divergent political views. A system by which issues can be threshed out, thoroughly considered and acted upon. A system wherein independents are free to move into either party or to cast their votes solely as independents. And probably most important, a system wherein the possibility of the military taking over is at a minimum.

Unknown Soldiers

Last week the nation paid tribute to all the brave and valiant men who gave their lives for their country in the Korean War and in World War II. The last remains of two servicemen, their identity known but to God, were interred in Arlington Cemetery alongside the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

The flag-draped coffins lay in state in the Rotunda of the Capitol from Wednesday morning until Friday afternoon, Memorial Day, where thousands of Americans paid their respects. At the Capitol, the caskets rested on the same bier on which the body of Abraham Lincoln lay in state after his death in 1865. On Memorial Day, they were borne to their final resting place.

Mrs. Charley Shipley of Hereford spent the weekend with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tisdale.

Flower Show Brings New Classes of Work

By Mrs. Henry Vaughan

Approximately 150 people viewed the first Spring Flower Show staged by the Wellington Garden Club June 7th in the newly air-conditioned community building, coming from Paducah, Childress, Andrews, Hollis, Memphis, Hereford, Perryton, Dallas, and Shamrock, besides Collingsworth county communities. A religious theme was carried out.

Musical entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Lowell Wells, Miss Nancy Elliott, Miss Vada Bell and Kern Pigg.

Mrs. J. M. Strong's display table of potted Rose-leaved Caladiums was a perfect foil for the refreshment table, centered with an arrangement of Pinks and Bells of Ireland. Mrs. Ernest Harwell, Mrs. Ross Wilkerson and Mrs. Willie Smith alternated at the punch service.

Perhaps the focal point of the show was a mass arrangement of "Fashion" roses which had been cut from the Garden Club's rose bed in the park May 27th and kept in "dry storage" until Flower Show time. The method used was reprinted in a recent issue of The Wellington Leader and the flowers were not entered for judging but to demonstrate the dry storage method as a means of preserving roses for a week or ten days for show purposes.

In the class for containers over a hundred years old, Chester Fires used a hand corn planter which belonged to Mrs. Fires' maternal grandfather, J. P. Glasscock. It contained ears of corn and striped cane leaves. A lantern used by the late Judge A. J. Fires, containing Ivy was also displayed as an antique. Other interesting antiques were: crystal bowls, baskets, handpainted plates, silver spoon holder, Pewter caster, and even a ladies purse, containing flowers, with gloves and fan as accessories.

Picture boxes made by the Club members were used for the first time. Mrs. R. W. Brantley won first place. Her theme was "The Silver Chalice". Mrs. John Harper won 2nd on a vacation theme and Mrs. Chester Hunter was 3rd on a patio scene in miniature with furniture, planter boxes, lamps, even tiny pillows all handmade.

Another new feature of the show was the art class, stressing the correct use of accessories for oil paintings, water colors or charcoal drawings. Judging was on the suitability of the accessories only. Mrs. Wayne Cudd won first on her oil paintings of a mountain and lake scene with two tiny deer of brown glass as accessories. The first place winner in the arrangement class used an oil of "The Thoroughbred" ins shades of brown, with an arrangement of brown roadside dock and red trumpet vine blossoms in a bowl made of different woods, mounted on a wooden base, all in various shades of brown. Second place was awarded to Mrs. Willie Smith for a group of dessert scenes done in oils, accented with a tall cactus plant. Mrs. Lawrence Warrick received third place for her snow scene with a Madonna planter holding Ivy. The blue cast of the snow was repeated in the lovely coloring of the figurine.

Rev. John Ferguson won first place in "Let Man Have Dominion", using an open Bible and ceramic of praying hands, indicating that tho' man is given dominion, he is in need of guidance.

The show was judged by Meses. G. F. Givens, J. F. Powell and A. B. Biddy of the Paducah Garden Club.

First place winners were: Meses. Rene Slay, John Henard, J. T. Slay, A. L. Nowlin, Weldon Cleveland, Bob Stephenson, W. R. Franks, J. C. Whisenant, Verna Light, C.R. Fires, Henry Vaughan, John Harper, L. B. Bratten, Dick Sweat, R. W. Brantley, E. F. Bartlett, Edd Henard, and Wayne Cudd. Men's Division winners were: Rev. John Ferguson, Chester Fires, Henry Vaughan, A. L. Nowlin and Weldon Cleveland; Junior division: Stanley Bratten won the Rosette for most ribbons with other blue ribbon winners: Larry Henard, Jim Henard and Johnny Henard. Two Blue Bird groups, the Cardinals and Busy Bees won first and second respectively in the arrangement classes.

Second place winners: Mrs. John Harper, Mrs. Chas. D. Slay, Mrs. Chester Fires, Mrs. Henry Vaughan, Mrs. J. T. Slay, Mrs. W. R. Franks, Mrs. Woodrow Wood, Mrs. R. W. Brantley, Mrs. Bob Stephenson, Mrs. John Henard, Mrs. E. F. Bartlett, Mrs. C. E. Killingsworth, Mrs. Willie Smith, and Mrs. J. C. Whisenant. Men's division, second place: Rev. J. R. Ferguson, Chester Fires and Henry Vaughan. Junior Division, Stanley Bratten and Busy Bee Bluebirds.

Third place winners: Mrs. Chester Hunter, Mrs. Lawrence Warrick, Mrs. E. F. Bartlett, Mrs. John Henard, Mrs. J. C. Whisenant, Mrs. J. T. Slay, Mrs. John Harper, Mrs. Chester Fires, Mrs. Henry Vaughan, Mrs. Walter Franks, and Mrs. A. L. Nowlin. Men's division:

Stan Musial and Progress

It would be interesting to know what the crowd reaction would be if the official scorer at Busch Stadium in St. Louis, home of the St. Louis Cardinal National League baseball team, recorded Stan Musial's batting average at .287. Every baseball fan knows that Musial's average today is near .500 per cent. However, if the official scorer averaged out the nine men in the lineup for a recent Cardinal and Milwaukee game, the average for each player would be .287 — including Musial.

That would mean the scorer would take more than 200 percentage points from Musial. He'd take a few percentage points from the other leading Cardinal batters and spread them out among the less capable. Every player on the St. Louis roster would be equal — so far as the averages were

A. L. Nowlin. Juniors: Johnny Henard.

In the Educational Class (not for competition) 4-H girls had a display on "Safety". The Campfire group, Tan da under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Allen had a display, and the following Blue Birds entered displays for educational purposes: Cardinals, leader Mrs. J. B. King; Busy Bees, leader Mrs. John Holton; Orioles; leader, Mrs. David Armstrong; and Woodpeckers, leader, Mrs. Charles Caldwell Jr.

Sullivan's Hardware had a table display in the Commercial Class, showing Garden Supplies and aids.

concerned. But would the fans stand for this? I think not. Musial is a great hitter. They take pride in his high batting average. They go out to the stadium to watch this outstanding hitter crack the horsehide.

Ability Pays Off

Musial gets paid on the basis of his batting and his other outstanding abilities. His salary naturally is much larger than that of any other Cardinal player. If the official scorer daily took away part of Musial's batting percentage and spread it out among the other players, and the Cardinal management established an "average" salary for all players, regardless of ability, determination, spirit and personal industry, the profession of baseball would lose its zest for most of the players — and, I imagine, for the fans, too! Any rule or philosophy of "equality" when applied to personal ability — among a group of people — sooner or later has a smothering effect on incentive, and ultimately it breaks down the normal dynamic impulses which are inherent among free people in a competitive society. It lowers the productive rate of any group; it holds back progress.

Useful Functions

Organized labor unions were created to perform useful services in our American economic system. Collective bargaining by a group of employees with their employer is one of these basically useful services. Constant work toward the improvement of the employees' working conditions and income is another. However, some labor unions have fallen into the hands of Communists whose primary objective is to foment constant strife between employer and employees; and some labor unions have been dominated for years by leaders dedicated to achieving a Socialist America.

The policies and practices of some of the non-Communist, non-Socialist labor leaders have not always been wise. One of the fundamental flaws in much of the organized labor movement today, in my opinion, is the insistence in many unions that everybody is "equal" in ability on a given job. Some unions are on record for instance, as opposed to wage incentives. In an industrial plant, to them, there can be no Stan Musials or Ted Williams, no major leaguers batting and running the bases and showing a competitive spirit.

An Unwise Policy

One Collective Bargaining report says that incentive pay "creates friction between workers," that it is based "on the notion that workers will not perform an honest day's work unless they are 'bribed' by the promise of extra money." Incentive pay is based on no such notion. Every activity involving human nature is governed by a natural force, which Emerson called the law of compensation.

Our whole free society is based on the foundation of rewards and punishments... rewards for merit, punishments for transgressions. By holding back natural ability and productivity of individual people the nation's progress and everybody's prosperity is hampered. Certain collective bargainers say: "When workers are paid according to their individual efforts, the union's function of securing high guaranteed wages for all workers becomes more difficult." This is an untenable motive for imposing upon the American workmen and the American nation a policy holding back national progress and individual attainment.

Mildew on Roses Now Prevalent

Numerous local rose growers are reporting powdery mildew on their bushes, county agent Bob Lynch reported this week.

This is a white powdery mass of spores on young shoots, buds and leaves, sometimes causing swelling and distortion. It is caused by the rainy weather this spring, he explained.

The recommended control is any good grade of dusting sulphur, or a mixture of sulphur and ferbam or this can be bought as a commercial mixture under the name of rose dust, the county agent explained.

Only the male cicada is capable of making a noise.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Rep. Grainger McIlhenny met with a group of Farm Bureau members Tuesday to discuss various problems in which the local Farm Bureau is vitally interested.

The agenda included:

1. R. E. A.—Regulatory legislation.
2. Farm to Market roads
3. Extension service and experiment station — appropriations for adequate research.
4. Precincts — redistricting
5. Taxes (new) present position for natural resources.
6. Education—permanent school fund.
7. Relation of water rights to deeded property rights.
8. Natural gas for agriculture uses.
9. Animal health — Bucellousis — inspection for out of state shipment.

I really enjoyed all of the meeting and Rep. McIlhenny's very frank answers to the questions he was asked. I also learned one bit of information that I never knew before. Darrell Crooks was talking about the need of a law requiring inspection of out of state cattle, against Bucellousis, or Bangs disease, as most of us commonly call it. As an aside he happened to remark that some states will not allow even pastured milk to be shipped out of Texas at this time. I said well I seem to be learning something. Do you mean to tell me that pasturization does not weed out the danger of infection from Bangs disease in the milk people drink just as it does remove the danger of infection from T. B. "That's right," he said, "it does eliminate the danger of infection from TB, but it does not prevent the danger from Bucellousis."

Another interesting matter concerned farm to market roads. In the last legislature an attempt was made to cut down on the amount of money to be spent on farm to market roads. This effort came from large cities that want to build more express ways. As I listened to the talk I could not help but think of the tremendous amount of money it is costing the state to build that minor free way south of Amarillo, which I passed over last week on my way to Friona. More money is being spent on that one project than has been spent in Collingsworth County on federal, state and farm to market roads in the last fifty years. I have no objections to these super roads in and around large cities, but I am opposed hardly to them being built at the expense of a reduction in the farm to market program. The farm to market road program should be increased and not decreased for the good of the state as a whole.

The per acre wheat yield in the Wellington area is the best that has ever been recorded provided that all of it can be harvested. The wheat growers are literally sitting on needles and pins waiting for the combines to get to their lush fields. Some yields have been reported as high as 55 bushels to the acre.

I give up and bow to modern trends. For quite a while I have been very proud of both my wife and my son because I considered them individualists who would exercise their own individual tastes regarding behavior, clothes, hair cuts, etc., and not bow down under the dictates of the mob.

But Tuesday morning Cicero Gulley phoned up the Wellington Leader in alarm knowing my opinion about crew hair cuts, GI hair cuts and any other such hair cuts as that. He was not about to trim it in that manner unless he had my permission or Henry's mother's. I was not in the office at the time, but I received the message a short time later. I rushed home to consult with Louise about this very drastic change in our boy's life. There I found out the horrible truth. She had given 100 per cent permission for the hair cut since all of his playmates had had them from one to three years. I looked at her with sadness and regret and said well just go ahead and get one of those chemise things yourself and all three of us will look ugly at the same time.
