Phone Rates Hike Request Is Delayed

Long Distance Calls Information Asked

City Council Monday night delayed action on a request for a telephone rate increase for Colorado City.

Truman Black, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. district manager, represented the company at the meeting and was asked for more information by the council.

Black presented the company's request for an increase of rates from $5 to $5.50 for straight line telephones and an increase from $10 to $11.50 on business telephones. No increase was asked for two or more party lines.

Such an increase, Black said, would allow the company a return on its investment of 1.72 per cent. He presented company figures showing that the present rate of return was 1.04 per cent.

Black also presented a cost trend chart showing the increase in costs to the company since 1940.

Councilman H. I. Berman replied to this, "Yes, your expenses are up, but how about you income — isn't it up too." Black replied he did not know.

Sam L. (Buzz) Majors, Jr. asked Black if the Council could get the income figures from local long distance calls from the company.

"I think I can get it, Black answered.

Black could not produce the income figures for long distance operation in Colorado City because it was figured on a state-wide basis and because the long distance exchange for Colorado City is in Sweetwater, he said.

Majors then asked Black to correct the present situation on long distance calls from Colorado City than makes them appear to be from Sweetwater. "All of our long distance calls are given to the

IN RESIDENTIAL SECTIONS

CITY LAUNCHES "CLEAN-UP" DRIVE

The City of Colorado City this week launched a drive to "clean-up" residential alleys.

The program, under the direction of the City Health and Sanitation Department, was opened as an effort to enforce the city's ordinance dealing with sanitation.

The drive opened with pamphlets attached to all April water bills mailed the first of the month. The pamphlets explain the ordinance and request each resident's cooperation in making the city a cleaner, more beautiful and healthful place to live.

Sanitation workers have also been placing "tickets" on individual garbage can violations of the ordinance. All tickets will be turned over to corporation court if efforts are not made in a reasonable length of time to correct the violations.

The drive stemmed from numerous complaints to city officials from almost all sections of the city that persons not complying with the health and sanitation ordinance were ruining the alleys of the city.

Department officials also stated that the 55-gallon drums frequently used as garbage cans were illegal according to the code and were a "definite health menace."

Tickets will be issued for the use of these drums also, but only as many as the supply of legal garbage cans is available from local merchants at one time, the officials said.

"This is not a 1-time thing," department officials stated. "It will be followed through until every residential section of the city is brought up to comply with the code set out in the ordinance.

AIR FORCE SCHOOL

Academy Accepts C-City's J. Haley

Jerry Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haley of 305 E. 11th St., was appointed to the Air Force Academy in Colorado Spring, Colo. this week.

Nineteen-year-old Haley, presently a freshman student at Lubbock Christian College in Lubbock, scored higher on entrance tests for the school than 10 other candidates nominated from this West Texas area.

U. S. Rep. George Mahon nominated Haley and 10 other candidates from the 19th Congressional District — instead of the one usual principle candidate — and Haley's high test scores won him the appointment.

Haley will report to the Colorado Springs school on June 26th. He underwent his physical testing at Roswell Air Force Base in Roswell, N. M. and his extrance tests were taken on the campus of Texas Tech College in Lubbock.

Haley is a 1960 graduate of Colorado City High School. He was an honor student at the local school and was named to honorable mention on the 1960 all-state basketball team. He also lead the Wolves' basketball team and the entire district in scoring his senior year as a cager.

He entered Lubbock Christian last September on a basketball scholarship and was the school's leading freshmen basketball squad member during the 1960-61 season.

He was Electronics major in the Lubbock school and will major in the same subject at the Academy, he said.

Haley plans to complete his Master Degree in Electronics

BUT NOT PERMANENTLY

4-Way Stop Signs Replacing Signals

Colorado City's downtown "burn-out" will cost the city—traffic lights went out Wednesday morning.

Four-way stop signs at all intersections left without traffic signals were soon installed by Colorado City Police Department.

The 4-way signs went into operation at 6:30 p. m. and soon had local motorists speculating as to whether the city was conducting a traffic experiment, permanently discontinued use of traffic lights, or if the new freeway construction north of town had brought about the change.

The truth of the matter was it was none of these things.

The city's traffic light system controller "burned out" early Wednesday and caused all the traffic lights to fail. The controller is the "heart and brains" of the system and contains all signal relays and timing devices.

Experiment or not, the blow to the unit.

Wednesday "burn-out" was the icing on the cake for numerous troubles the city has had with the approximately 23-year-old unit for the past several years.

The controller had been patched, repatched and re-repatched in the past few years, city officials reported. Wednesday's trouble was the death blow to the unit.

Such an increase, Black said, would allow the company a return on its investment of 1.72 per cent. He presented company figures showing that the present rate of return was 1.04 per cent.

Black also presented a cost trend chart showing the increase in costs to the company since 1940.

Sunday Marks 80th Anniversary Of First Presbyterian Church

Sunday marked the 80th anniversary of Colorado City's First Presbyterian Church with special observance and a service that was set up as a program of worship, and thanksgiving.

The local church was organized in 1881 by Rev. O. F Rogers and seemingly quite odd, had it's first service in a saloon, the only place at that time with room for a congregation.

The Sabbath School was organized on the first Sabbath in April, 1881. Superindent for the school was W. J. Miller. About the second Sunday in May, a Presbyterian Church was organized (of which today's church is the outgrowth) with 11 members.

Miller was elected and installed as elder, as he had been ordained previously. The small church and few members were then placed under the care of Texas Central Presbytery.

All services — school, Sabbath School and church were moved into a tent which had been erected sometime in August of that same year. Organization of a prayer meeting was attempted but failed because of lack of material.

Dr. A. P. Smith of Dallas preached for the church several nights during it's stay in the tent. Next advancement from the tent was to a school house.

It is recorded that at this time, there were considerable accessions to the church. Among those new members were Mrs. Field and family, George McLin and family, and the Riordan and Sherwin families.

A re-organization was put into effect and McLin and Sherwin were elected elders and Riordan was elected Deacon.

Pastor of the first church, which was built and dedicated May 3, 1881, was Rev. J. H. Zively.

Present church sanctuary was constructed in 1925 followed by the present educational building in 1955. Church body consists of approximately 125 members.

Serving as pastor of the church is Rev. John Brand.

He and his family have lived in Colorado City for the past 2 years and make their home at 109 W. 9th St

Correction

The record erroneously stated in the Sunday May 7 edition that Charles L. Hubbard was the son of A. W. Hubbard. The statement should have read Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hubbard.

Wedding Date Set

The engagement of Miss Sue Ann Clevenger, above, to Charles Lee Hubbard has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Simmons of Midland. Prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hubbard, 504 E. 13th St. Wedding vows will be read June 10 at the Belview Baptist Church in Midland.

AT CARR COMMUNITY CENTER

Talk by Mrs. Rees Highlights Home Demonstration Program

Mrs. J. L. (Bill) Rees highlighted the program of the Carr Home Demonstration Club meeting Friday afternoon with a talk on the refinishing furniture workshop she attended recently.

Hostess for the meeting at the Carr Community Center was Mrs. F. A. Langley.

The speaker stated that the following materials were necessary for re-finishing a product:

Paint and varnish remover, No. 3 steel wool, triple 000 sand paper, 2-inch wide paint brush, 1 pint stain (color to be used in finishing), 1 quart wood sealer, old clothing or rag material; pair of rubber gloves for protection of hands.

She told members to remove the old finish by the paint or varnish remover and to rub the surface with a fine sandpaper or steel wool. She stated that penetrating wood sealers produce a natural, hard and durable finish. They are easy to apply and may be rubbed on with a nylon or rayon cloth and are quick drying and resistant to scratching. The sealer sinks into the wood and fills cavities of the wood cells. It becomes a part of the wood rather than building up a glossy coating of the surface.

After waiting 24 hours, the sealer may be applied over the stain, which should be bought intended for use with the sealer. Manufacturer's directions should be followed for saining.

Mrs. Rees added that the character of our furniture is judged by the material from which it is made. If it is of cheap material, the furniture will have a cheap appearance. The wood should be examined before purchasing furniture so that you will know what you are buying before you buy, she said.

Leading the recreation was Mrs. C. N. Adams and Mrs. Rees. Roll call was answered with "What I have used that I learned from demonstrations on sewing helps."

By The Way...

By PAULINE CORNUTT

How many of you have never had the chance to go west to California? From my viewpoint . . . if you haven't . . . you've missed a great experience.

Of course, I could be prejudiced since that's where I have been on vacation for the past two weeks!

In my opinion going through New Mexico and Arizona isn't much differen from traveling through points of West Texas. It has almost the same type of climate except that it is quite a bit drier and hotter. Also . . . you may not think this possible . . . but the wind blows even more than it does here.

One of the most interesting towns in New Mexico is Albuquerque. It's a city of the old and new with inhabitants from almost every country in the world. This is the home of the University of New Mexico and the campus can be viewed as one drives through the city. Albuquerque has grown year by year in size until it now covers an area of over 21 miles from one city limit to the other.

Traveling through Arizona; you see miles and miles of nothing but desert and wasteland but in many ways, even the desert has a unique beauty which cannot be matched. This is the home state of the Petrified Forest and the Painted Desert, attractions which draw millions of tourist each year.

You know, Texans may not believe too strongly in advertising . . . but one thing's for sure . . . natives of New Mexico and Arizona do . . . and they practice it. One of the biggest advertising attractions in these states, excluding newspaper and radio broadcasts, are signs. When you get within a 100-mile range of a business place or a tourist attraction . . . you know exactly where it's located and what to expect when you get there . . . because there have been numerous signs along the way . . . reminding you of it.

Crossing over the state line into California, I was slightly disappointed, as I had always heard that California was the land of green grass and growing trees. For a period of time . . . all I noted growing on the land was cactus and a type of tree that resembled a palm in many ways. However, as you travel deeper into the state where the growing climate is better, you see some fascinating sights to a Texan.

On both sides of the highway, even in this early part of the year, you see grape vineyards, orange groves and potato crops being harvested. The orange groves were one of the most interesting sights to me. I had never seen an orange tree before, much less one with growing fruit. As you drive along, the smell of orange blossoms envelopes you. In this state, water is plentiful and irrigation is common practice.

The freeways in California are almost enough to make you wish you were back home. For a range of miles and miles, there is one car directly behind the other and one wrong move or stop, and the whole bunch runs together. In fact, I had the misfortune of making one wrong turn on the freeway between Los Angeles and San Diego and went almost to Hollywood before finding the way back to the right road again!

San Diego is a city that everyone should visit! It is both huge and beautiful and most of the downtown area runs only a few blocks from the Pacific Ocean. On weekends, the docks ar almost a solid mass of ships and boats pulled into harbor.

By the way . . . I think the things I enjoyed seeing most on the trip were the California mountains, the ocean and the fruit orchards.

Having completed my vacation for this year . . . I think that eycryone should take time off for a brief period of and visit places of interest and see how people in other parts of the country live. It is an old true saying that travel broadens the mind . . . however . . . I can honestly say that after a round-trip of almost 3,000 miles and even with a broader mind . . . Texas and Colorado City looked pretty good!

TUMBLEWEED FESTIVAL, 1961

Colorado City's second annual Tumbleweed Festival ended Saturday night with Miss Sandra Cushing of Loraine being crowned Miss Tumbleweed of 1961.

Miss Cushing's crowning was a spectacular end to the 4 days of activities that made up the only festival of its kind in the world.

Miss Linda Chesney was ajudged first runnerup in the competition for Miss Tumbleweed and Miss Charlotte Nuckolls was second runnerup. The 2 runnersup were awarded trophies denoting their titles and Miss Cushing was awarded a modeling scholarship to John Robert Powers School of Modeling in Dallas along with her coming year of reign as Miss Tumbleweed of 1961.

Mrs. Ellen Thomas, of the John Robert Powers School of Modeling, and Weldon Owen, columnist for the Dallas Times Herald, were judges for the beauty pageant. Miss Cushing was their selection from 19 Mitchell County beauties entered in the contest.

The festival's end and the corwning of Miss Tumbleweed of 1961 came in the final big night of the annual celebration in Colorado City High School gym.

Appearing on program with the finals of the pageant were the nationally famous Four Aces. The pop-singing quartet presented their singing and jazz playing stage show between appearances by the beauty contestants.

The festival air rose to a fever-pitch Saturday afternoon in downtown Colorado City as thousands turned out to view the Tumbleweed Parade.

The parade featured more than 20 colorful floats constructed of tumbleweeds, area bands, a riding club, clowns and cars of dignitaries.

Brig. General Theodore Bedwell, Jr., commander of the Air Force's Aerospace Medical Center at Brooks Air Force Base in San Antonio, was among the dignitaries in the parade.

Bedwell told more than 300 at the dignitaries luncheon in Civic House at noon Saturday that the United States needs to make no apology for its caution in risking the lives of its fliers in its attempts for manned-space flights.

As guest speaker, he stressed that the Aerospace Medical Center which he commands was doing all it could to provide for the safety and cut the risks to fliers as the migration into space begins for the world.

The candidates for the Miss Tumbleweed title made their first appearance before the judges Friday night in the local school gym. Each was presented in both evening dress and bathing suits at each of the 2 nights of judging.

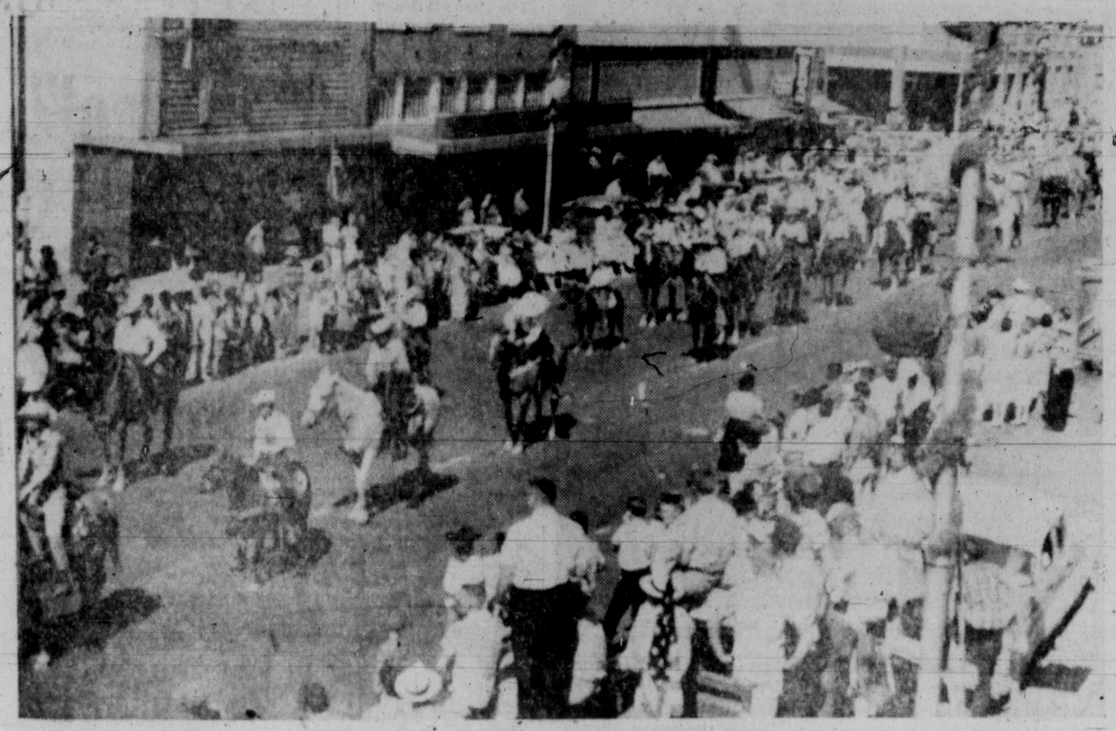

Homer and Jethro, the merry madcaps of Country and Western recordings, furnished the Friday night entertainment. Also on the program was the Colorado City High School choir under the direction of Curtis Baker.

The gala celebration got underway Wednesday as more than 20 Colorado City merchants opened Festival Shopping Days.

The sales promotion featured 4 days of special shopping buys for shoppers and a carnival and midway on the Texas & Pacific Railway parking lot.

The merchants also offered discount tickets for the carnival rides to all shoppers with each purchase of $1 or more.

answering party as 'Sweetwater'," Majors stated.

Black offered to correct the problem.

Under direct questioning, Black stated that the 2,937 telephones of Southwestern Bell in Colorado City brought in $184.00 a year to the company. That figure does not include long distance calls, but does include directory advertising, Black noted.

When questioned about the company making a compromise setting the rates on a equal basis with near-by cities, Black replied that it was up to the Council to set the rates.

"The new rates would only give us a return of 1:72 per cent—we're not asking much," Black said.

"An increase of $1.50 a month seems like a 'lot' to me," Majors replied.

Mayor Glenn R. (Bob) Robinson suggested that a compromise of new rates of $10.50 and $5.10 would put the local rates near the area average.

The suggestion was never discussed as most of the Council stated their desire to see figures on income on local long distance calls before further consideration.

"We'll talk this over with you again when you bring us the long distance information," Robinson said.

In discussion following the departure of Black, the Council agreed that a compromise increase would be its goal. There is "no sense" in getting our rates increased higher than the average for this area, Robinson said.

City Manager Earl Keaton told the Council that the telephone company is "making money in Colorado City," but that to bear in mind that the company could take the matter into court and, by law, would be allowed an increase to give a return of 6 to 7 per cent.

In other business, the Council:

Set a May 22 closed session to discuss new water department construction with an engineer;

Okayed Keaton's request for permission to accept bids on 2 new police cars;

Appointed Jay Craddock, Henry Billberry and R. B. Baker to the board of tax equalization;

And heard a report from Keaton on the Health and Sanitation Department's residential alley cleanup drive.

Texans Win First Game for Top Spot

The Texans jumped off to a lead in the Minor League division of 1961 Little League action here in Ruddick Park Tuesday night with a 12-8 triumph over the Eagles.

Clark, Talley and Garcia paced the Texans with 2 singles each as Texan pitchers Johnson, Molina and Williams held the Eagles to 8 runs on 9 hits.

Eagles starter A C Lujan allowed 5 runs and 6 hits in the first 2 innings, but the Texans teed off on Reliver Ridley for 6 more runs on just 4 hits in the last 2 frames.

Lujan struck out the side in the first for the Eagles, but was touched for singles by Clark, Molina and Garcia and added a while pitch of his own to allow 3 runs to cross the plate. The winners got 3 more in the second as a hit batter and singles by Talley, Kemp and Johnson added the punch.

In the big sixth saw the Texans get 5 runs on 3 hits singles by Clark, Garcia and Matthews.

The Eagles got 3 in the bottom of the first as Davis, Don Lujan, Patterson and Hale all singled. They added 2 more in the third on Patterson's single as a Texan miscues afield.

The Eagles took the lead in the fourth with 3 runs as a walk and singles by D. Lujan and Patterson led the way. Only 2 other Eagles got on base after the fourth.

PIRATES, YANKS BATTLE TO TIE

Dodgers, Indians Topple Tigers, Giants in Little League Openers

The Phillips 66 Dodgers and the VFW Indians won opening Little League games Monday night to move into a first place tie for the league's top spot.

The Bums handed the Co-op Tigers a 13-7 defeat and the Indians toppled the City National Bank Giants by a 13-6 count.

The Methodist Men's Pirates and the Col-Tex Yankees played to a 15-15 tie in 3 innings Tuesday night in an error-filled game called no contest. It will be rescheduled later in the season.

The Tigers never really challenged, the Dodgers as Russell went all the way on the hill for the winners to take the victory, tossing a 3-hitter. K. Jones started and lost for the Tigers — he was relieved by Corbell.

The Bums used singles by Stevens, Russell, Haggerton and L. Campbell to combine with a hit batter and 2 walks to score 4 in the first frame. They were never overtaken by the Cats.

B. McGee doubled in the first 2 Tiger runs in the fourth and later scored himself in the same inning. The other 4 Tiger runs came in the fifth when a double by Wood and a single by M. Garrett was aided by 3 walks.

Russell continued his batting barrage in the second for the winning Dodgers as he hit a 3-bagger to drive in Stevens, who had singled, and Ramage, who had walked. Haggerton singled home Russell and James singled home Haffer Haggerton.

James drove in 2 more Bum runs in the fourth with a single. One run had already crossed the plate on an error. The Dodgers really got to the Tiger pitching in the fifth when White opened the frame with a home run. Russell followed that with a triple and Hoyle drove him in with a double.

Russell of the Dodgers led the game's hitters with a single and 2 triples in 4 appearances at the plate. Garrett's 2 singles led the Tiger hitters.

Green went all the way on the mound for the Indians and aided his own cause with a third inning homer. He allowed 9 hits.

Craig started and lost for the Giants. Kayler did the relief duties.

The Injuns scored 6 in the third and 5 in the fifth for their big innings. Green's homer and singles by McAdams, Stockton and Grubbs combined with an error and 2 walks in the second frame. In the fifth, Perda, McAdams and Adams singled and Stockton doubled to go with 2 walks.

All of the Giants' runs came in the bottom of the fifth as they made a determined effort to pull the game out of the fire.

Doubles by Taylor and Lewis and singles by Kayler, Wilson and Steck were the big blows. The Indians helped the Giant cause with an error and a walk. Only 1 of the Giant runs was unearned.

Bowling Tips —FROM— MARK LANES

Keep backswing level
FOR LEVEL BACKSWING

The pushaway leads to the back swing. At its highest point, the ball never goes higher than shoulder level. If reaches this point as you finish the third step.

Adjust the pushaway so that ball always is at height of backswing at the proper moment. Anything else spells trouble.

Final point on backswing: keep arm straight all the way.

Highway Observance Points Up Problems

Highway Week in Texas was officially proclaimed today by Governor Price Daniel, and will be observed May 21 - 27 in conjunction with National Highway Week.

Numerous citizens and groups interested in better highways are cooperating in the observance of Highway Week in Texas — and throughout the nation — following a proclamation of the week nationally by President John F. Kennedy.

State Highway Engineer D.C. Greer called Highway Week "not a week of appreciation but of challenge."

He said Highway Week "is not to brag on what we have done, but to bring more clearly before the public eye the inmense highway problems that now confront us."

Foremost among Texas' highway problems, he said, are these:

More than one - third of the total Texas highway mileage is obsolete, or about to become so. This is the 25,000-mile system of U. S. and State Highways, which is "almost totally antiquated by the enormous increase in traffic."

The 33,000 - mile system of Texas Farm to Market Roads is still expanding rapidly — but there is not enough money to maintain what is built. Statute permits us to spend a certain amount of money annually building new FM Roads, but none of this money can be spent to maintain what is built, and there isn't enough money to go around.

"Our highway dollar is being stretched thinner and thinner," the engineer said, "and it is being constantly bombarded by attempts to divert highway dollars to other purposes."

Greer speaks wisely when he says we cannot get by with horse-and-buggy highways in the space age that he hopes that Highway Week in Texas will bring these problems more into the open so that with public support we can meet — and solve — the demands.

Surplus Could Be Shortage

Nuclear fallout reality hangs over the head of the United States like a sword of Damocles. The problems of defense are awesome indeed. Questions are many. One of those disturbed is Edmund F. Buryan, a Minneapolis industralist. He asks whether in our national planning we have properly considered the food and supply requirements to meet the awful possibility of such a calamity or other emergency.

Mr. Buryan's position is that along with plans for strategic reserves of oil, tin, molybdenum, opium, castor oil and feathers, and other "essentials," we must also plan for a "strategic food reserve."

Moreover, he points out, history clearly states that a would-be aggressor can be discouraged from attacking a nation with an adequate food and supply reserve.

Consequently, Mr. Buryan questions whether the United States has a surplus of agriculture or suffers from over abundance. In fact he suggests that our much publicized food "surpluses" could become shortages overnight.

He points out that on a number of items we consume most of what we produce. Sugar and dairy products are good examples of such. With cotton and oats, we have on hand only a six-month supply. With wheat, while supplies appear to be adequate, the figure could suddenly be sharply reduced.

Mr. Buryan takes the thoughtful position that until our government establishes a strategic agriculture reserve figure, the so-called surplus is very much open to question. He thinks the country cannot make a final judgment until the President's National Security Council examines figures on what would be needed to feed our allies and ourselves in an emergency or following a major attack.

"Nuclear fallout," he points out, "may make the Great Plains — the very heartland of America — useless for production possibly up to two years." We can rebuild structures of stone and wood. We can fabricate new machine tools and erect factories. But the winner in any conflict will be the nation that has a vigorous people after the worst attack.

The ultimate victor will be the population that survives — and it must eat to survive.

Strength For Life

Religious worship is necessary because things happen at a church or synagogue that happen nowhere else. God seems to bestow His blessings more abundantly upon those who share the experience of prayer with their fellows.

Many years ago Robert Barclay put it succinctly: "As when many candles lighted and put in one place do greatly augment the light and make it more to shine forth — so when many are gathered together into the same life, there is more of the glory of God, and His power appears to the refreshment of each individual, for each partakes not only of the light and life raised up in himself, but in all the rest."

The circuits of divine energy not only run from God to man but also from man to man, and group fellowship results in an overflow of power for each individual.

Legislation Slowing as Time For Session's End Approaches

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

From here on the Legislature must make every minute count if it is to wind up essential business before the regular session ends on May 29.

Despite the dwindling time, filibusters, postponements and disagreements have slowed progress on tax-raising and other "must" legislation.

The House-passed 2 per cent sales tax faces 2 ultimatums. Gov. Price Daniel said he could not allow it to become law unless the total money-raising program puts more of the tax burden on business and less on individuals. Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio said he would filibuster against the sales tax if it came up in the Senate.

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert estimated the House sales tax bill would raise in excess of $150,000,000 a year. This is higher than other estimates and would provide enough or nearly enough to meet estimated revenue needs. Calvert, by law, has the final and official say-so on tax yield estimates.

Governor Daniel's veto threat chilled earlier optimism about an early wrap-up of money problems and turned House members to thinking again in terms of compromise and "package bills."

* * *

SPENDING — A 10-man conference committee is at work ironing out the differences between House and Senate versions of the general appropriations bill.

House bill would cost about $16,000,000 more than the Senate's. Committee's task of striking a balance between the 2 is expected to take three weeks.

Senate members of this important committee are Senators Ray Roberts of McKinney, A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo and Wardlow Lane of Center.

House members are Representatives James Cotton of Weatherford, Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, B. H. Dewey of Bryan, J. W. Buchanan of Dumas and Malcolm McGregor of El Paso.

* * *

TEACHER PAY — Advocates of higher teacher salaries are pushing to get their bill position for quick final action once the money-raising and general appropriations measures are out of the way.

House Appropriations Committee approved and sent to the floor a bill that would provide the full $800 a year salary increase sought by teachers.

Goal is to get a pay raise bill passed in both house, then send it to a conference committee to work out differences. Then at the strategic moment, it would be ready for final adoption by both houses.

* * *

METHODS — House members are pressing for speedy action for a measure that would require less emphasis on "how" and more emphasis on "what" in public school teacher training.

Rep. Henry C. Grover of Houston, a teacher on leave, is sponsor of the bill that would reduce required education (teaching method) courses from 24 semester hours to 12 for junior and senior high teachers. For grade school teachers the maximum would be reduced from a possible 60 to 24 semester hours.

One supporter observed that the late Albert Einstein wouldn't have been eligible to teach mathematics in a Texas high school. House voted to instruct the Education Committee to report on the bill immediately.

TAYLOR - MADE

"CARE TO pit your wits against ERMA, the Bank of America's electronic bookkeeping wizard?"

That was the challenge thrown at San Francisco residents recently.

The residents were offered a chance to match wits with the machine and vie for a $100 savings account offered to the one who could best match the mathematical marvel.

* * *

THE WINNER is unknown — but the important thing is that one of Mitchell County's own native sons could probably have walked off with the top prize if he had made an appearance and competed for the savings account. Who is he?

Dr. Byron J. Bennett, son of Mrs. Lily Bennett of Loraine and a graduate of Loraine High School — that's who.

* * *

BENNETT would have probably won the prize because he was one of the chief figures in the development of the huge bookkeeping device.

Bennett was manager of the computer laboratory at the Stanford Institute for 4 years during the time the lab developed the intricate data processing system.

Bank of America now has 12 centers using ERMA to do all the bookkeeping for more than 2 million checking accounts carried in its 600 branches.

Bennett presently is head of the electrical department of Montana State College in Bozeman, Mont. He has also started his own electronics firm, Montronics.

* * *

TAYLOR - MADE here would have a hard time building a machine to gauge the amount of rain Colorado City had in April — and it didn't have "nary 1 drop."

* * *

WHILE offering congratulation to Dr. Bennett — Taylor-Made would also like to offer the same to the following:

* * *

BOB REILY, for sending each member of my family a birthday card on his correct birthday date — but forgetting Taylor-Made's. Don't you know, Bob, that I buy the insurance?

* * *

BILL ERWIN, for being the first local Jaycee secretary that ever caused the club to consider bonding its secretary.

* * *

MRS. GUS CHESNEY, for living through the Miss Tumbleweed beauty pageant.

* * *

* * *

MRS. ORBIE RAY (JEAN) LINDER, for the funniest remark ever made at a movie. The Shadow knows — but doesn't dare tell what.

TEXAS AGRICULTURE

Cottonseed is Now Important Product

By JOHN C. WHITE
Agriculture Commissioner

Cottonseed, once a waste product of the cotton industry, has become an important agricultural product, which contributes to our economy in the form of human food, animal feed and other valuable products.

The competitive market position of cottonseed has been improved by major developments in processing along with improvement in cotton production. In 1959 the Texas cotton crop was valued at atmost 737 million dollars at the farm level, and cottonseed accounted for over 72 million dollars of this total. Seed normally contributes 10 to 15 per cent of the total value of the cotton crop.

More seed go to the crushers every year and fewer seed are returned to the farm for feed. The modern cotton producer prefers to feed cake and hulls and to plant certified seed.

Cotton gins are practically the only market available to farmers for their cottonseed. The prices which gins receive from cottonseed oil mills presumably determine the price farmers receive from the gins for their cottonseed. However, the margins between the mill prices and prices paid farmers are affected by the operating methods of the gins and their buying and selling practices, which in turn affect the costs of handling cottonseed.

A recent study by the department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology at College Station shows that seven factors in the cottonseed buying and selling practices of cooperative gins affect the gross margins on cottonseed. Four of these factors affect the margins directly and two are minor or contributing factors at all gins; one factor affects only cooperative gins. Seasonal price changes, purchase weights, mill grading and transportation allowances affect margins directly. Seasonal movement of cottonseed is correlated with seasonal price change. Harvesting methods contribute to gains or losses in the purchasing weights at the gins. At cooperative gins, the oil mill patron dividend on cottonseed purchase affects the margin.

By evaluating these factors, ginners should be able to improve the efficiency of operations, thus lowering costs and enabling the gins to pay a greater proportion of the mill price to farmers.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Better Advertising Holds Local Dollars

By MADGE BELL
Record Staff Writer

"Too often we don't locate customers because we don't know who our competitors are . . ." A furniture dealer speaking to fellow merchants at a convention recently expressed this opinion.

"We are not so much in competition with other furniture dealers as we are with other types of firms," he said.

The speaker cited the potential purchases of a young married couple. "There was a time, when the first big purchase would be for good furniture. However, now if a young couple has any savings it may go to any of a dozen different places," he said.

Some of the competitors of the local furniture store, or any other local store, may be hundreds or thousands of miles away, the dealer pointed out.

"The couple may decide to spend their whole pile on a tour of Europe and spend their first year sitting on apple crates. They may buy a second automobile manufactured abroad. The young wife may order a fur coat from a Manhattan department store," he said.

"All of these businesses are advertising in my hometown and your hometown in magazines, television, and regional newspapers. They are getting a large share of the buisness which we used to take for granted. They are our chief competitors — not the dealer down the street.

"Rather than fighting one another, our best answer to this challenge is more and better advertising of our own which will keep this money in the local market," the speaker said.

Strictly Fresh

Those who are intent on advertising their troubles should be told that there is no market for them at present.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

There's No Answer To Cuban Problem

Editor's note: The Shinnery Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek discusses ignorance this week, a subject on which he claims to have first-hand knowledge.

* * *

Dear editor:

Although I don't think the fate of the world rests on Cuba — as a matter of fact, I don't know what the fate of the world rests on, maybe nobody, at least there's nobody I can put my finger on — everybody is pretty generally agreed the United States pulled off a diplomatic flop in connection with that country, but that's not wha I've been thinking about.

What I've been thinking about in the past week I've read articles by dozens of columnists, experts, statesmen, etc., and while every one of them can tell you what we did wrong about Cuba, and a one of them can tell you what we should have done that would have been right.

Everybody seems to be outraged at how we could have pulled such a blooper, and everybody keeps on harping. Why don't we do something about the Cuban situation? But when you ask them what, they shrug and say that's Washington's job.

The editorial writers of this country are first rate at telling us what we did wrong, but when it comes to telling us what we could do right, they've moved on to the next crisis and what we did wrong about that.

Now you might think this is a criticism of the editorial writers and columnists, but it isn't. The reason they don't tell us what we ought to do about Cuba is that they don't know either.

What a lot of people don't understand is that there are a lot of problems in this world to which there ain't no answer.

If you're looking to me to tell you what the answer to Cuba is, I'll tell you just as soon as I figure out what the answer is to the farm problem, tomorrow's weather or the city problem, family squabbles the value of the dollar, teenagers, middle-agers, old people, earth quakes, tidal waves and why my tractor won't start. Don't wait around for an answer, if you've got any work to do.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

"The Department wishes," Morris said, "to encourage patrons to provide boxes which will protect the mail."

Boxes which are not properly erected, or not kept in good serviceable condition may slow delivery of the mail and expose it to the weather and possible damage or loss, he said.

"Rural patrons are required to provide mail boxes of the standard approved type," he said. "Names of the box owner should be placed on the side of the box, visible to the carrier as he approaches or on the door if boxes are in a group."

Each rural route box has a number, which may be placed on the box if desired. Patrons who do not know their box number can obtain it from their rural carrier. Boxes and or state traffic regulations to serve them, Morris concluded.

How working couple saves time and steps, gets more done with extension phones

By DON DAVIS, Telephone News Writer

"My favorite phone is the Princess," says Ted Treadway. "The light-up dial's great. Also, the phone's handy for emergency calls."

"My green kitchen phone comes in real handy while dinner is cooking," says Norma Treadway. "I can make and receive calls while keeping an eye on things."

Junna Lynn Treadway, a third-grader, likes the phone in an alcove because she can sit on the floor and talk with friends.

What can extension telephones do for you?

Perhaps you can get some ideas from Ted and Norma Treadway. A working couple, they both take part in a large number of outside activities.

They have three colorful extension phones in their five-room home. These phones save them time and effort and give them more privacy. And the Treadways' bedroom phone gives them a comfortable feeling of security at night.

Why don't you see what extension phones can do for you? Just call the telephone business office or ask any telephone serviceman. Cost is low.

Five-year service pins were presented to board members Gene Baird, Bruce Byrne and Dr. Joe Terry.

Each board member was also presented a certificate of appreciation by Loraine School superintendent J. B. Cushing. Members are Baird, Terry, Alfred Hackfeld, Royce Mahon, Loyd Brame, Byrne, and Harold Johnson. Rae Furlow, former member who resigned earlier this year, was also awarded a certificate although not present.

Cushing gave the welcome to the 65 special guests. The response was given by Miss Wilkerson, Elementary School principal. The invocation was given by Dickenson.

Cold Weather And Disease Harm Cotton

In many instances, cold, wet weather gets the blame for loss of young cotton stands when seedling disease is the real cause, says Mitchell County Agent Jack Burkhalter.

The value of seed treatment to prevent seed rot has been known for many years. However, seed treatment does not prevent all seedling disease.

This disease, more commonly known as "soreshin" or "damping-off" each year takes its toll of cotton seedlings and thus reduces stands and yields later in the year. It is caused by fungi which live in the soil and attack young seedlings from the time of germination until plants are several weeks old. Nub-root and lack of normal tap root development, result of seedling disease, may damage cotton throughout the growing season, he said.

In 1954 research was started by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station on the use of fungicides in the furrow and covering soil at planting time. From this work, a method of control for seedling disease was developed.

The method helps reduce risks and helps take guesswork out of cotton farming. Cotton growers treated 66,000 acres in 1960 compared to 19,000 acres in 1959. They found the practice permitted earlier planting and this, in turn, enabled more cotton to make before root rot and other diseases occured.

The purpose of using in-the-furrow fungicides at planting time is to provide disease protection for the young sprout before and after it comes through the soil, he said. A combination of captan, zineb and PCNB wettable powder is suggested for general use in all areas. This combination can be applied as a spray or dust. Liquid nabam is applied as a spray and can be used where soils have a PH of 7.3 or below.

Burkhalter lists other practices which are also helpful in reducing seedling disease. Plant high quality seed which has been properly treated; plant in a good seedbed at proper depth and rate for the area; use recommended fertilizer placement, and plant when soil temperature and moisture are favorable.
