Conditions Favorable For State Park Here

State Park Board To Send Men Here To Inspect Park Site

Conditions are looking very favorable for the Weaver Park site recently donated to Lamesa by Col. and Mrs. F. M. Weaver of Ft. Worth.

A letter was received by local Chamber of Commerce officials Wednesday stating that the State Park Board was sending two men to Lamesa on Friday of this week to landscape the site and draw up plans that would be acceptable to the State Park Board.

It is hoped that Lamesa will be able to get a CCC camp here to do the improving of the site but if the State Park Board accepts this park to improve the labor will be furnished either by a CCC camp or get the park designated as a relief measure.

Improvements on this park of one hundred acres, which was donated the latter part of August, must be started within ninety days from the date of donation.

The site lies adjacent to highway No. 83 and north with the Sulphur Draw traversing it almost through the center. It is an ideal park site as could be secured within this distance of Lamesa, and it is hoped that there will be no delay in the improving.

Golden Tornado Schedule Completed

When the Tornadoes step out on the field Friday night for their annual tussle with the clawing Snyder Tigers it will not be the last hard game to confront them this season. One of the toughest schedules that can be arranged has been completed. One that would do justice to an experienced team, much less the green team that represents the school this year.

However, the boys and coaches are not crying over the schedule. They like them tough and are preparing to take care of the situation. The schedule is as follows:

Sept. 21 - Snyder Tigers at Lamesa
Sept. 28 - Hobbs Eagles at Hobbs mesa (Class A)

School Enrollment Now Totals 1098

The second week of the school continues to show an increase in the enrollment. Thirteen pupils were added to the Elementary school rolls on Monday and seven have been added in the high school. The total numbers now enrolled in the Elementary grades and high school are 730 and 368 respectively for the grand total of 1098.

The number of pupils from other school districts taking work in the upper grades of the Lamesa High School has reached 157. These pupils are taking advantage of the Free High School Tuition law which provides that they may be aided in transportation to an affiliated high school and have their tuition paid if their grade is not taught in the home school.

The total enrollment has now reached 164 more than for the opening last session.

The increase in enrollment comes at a time when the taxable values of the district have gone downward. The valuations are approximately $200,000 under that of last year which means a decrease of $2,000 in income for school purposes from local sources. The drop from the peak year has been approximately $1,500,000 in evaluations or $15,000 per year income.

It has been reported that the warrants issued in previous years have been paid thus enabling the district to begin the current year in better condition than for the last two or three years. It is also stated that the district still has a rather large amount due the district in current and delinquent taxes and the increase of fifty cents in the State Apportionment the district can meet its school costs for the year.

LAMESA HI-LIFE

The High School Band under the direction of Conway King played for the assembly program on Tuesday. The band showed the effect of summer training. The number of pupils now belonging to the band surprised most of the old timers. There has been added a large number of high school girls and boys which increased the membership to more than double the organization in former years.

Their program of college and university marches was evidently enjoyed if applause is any indication.

Rev. A. L. Dennis represented the Lamesa Pastor's Association, at the regular Wednesday morning assembly period. His remarks were appropriate to the season of school opening.

Miss Elizabeth Arnett was elected over a field of nominees for the position of yell leader of the local high school for the school year. Miss Arnett was the leader last session and is therefore elected to succeed herself in this activity. There are movements under way to increase the membership in the pep squad and rehearsals are being held daily to make ready for the opening of the football season with Snyder next Friday night.

The high school classes have been organized with sponsors and class officers as follows:

Mr. Adolph Nieman, high school building custodian, was ill for a few days last week.

Mr. Bearden and certain of the high school boys are making every effort to hurry along the development of the grass on the new football field. Those who have been paying attention to their efforts are glad to note the gradual improvement in the field.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatchett are the proud parents of a baby boy born Saturday in a local hospital. The young man has been named William Pinkney.

Rev. E. F. Cole is holding a meeting this week at Patricia.

Mother Of J. W. Smith, Sr. Passes Away

Mrs. Mary Katherine Johnston, aged 91 years, mother of J. W. Smith Sr., passed away at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mitchell early this morning (Thursday).

We understand that Mrs. Johnston has been confined to her bed for the past several months suffering from old age and other complications.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon at the First Methodist church with Rev. A. L. Dennis, pastor of the Nazarene church officiating assisted by Rev. Jno. Eldridge, pastor of the Methodist church. Burial was made in the Lamesa cemetery.

The Courier joins with the family's many friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Warms Public Against Spurious CWA Checks

Austin, Sept. 18.—State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson today moved to protect the public against spurious CWA checks, which, he said he had been informed by government operatives, had been stolen from some of the county relief offices in Texas.

Johnson instructed county administrators to destroy all remaining blank CWA checks in the presence of witnesses after making a complete record of the serial number of these checks, which he said will be forwarded to him at once.

Civil works administration projects were halted March 29 and final checks to clients were made out on April 1. Scattered claims for materials and equipment have been made since that time, but these all have been paid from Washington.

"Merchants and the public generally should not cash checks represented as having been received in payment for work done on CWA projects," Mr. Johnson said.

To Present George Mahon With Suit

Lubbock, Sept. 20.—Voters of the newly created 19th congressional district who, by an overwhelming majority, gave George Mahon, Colorado the Democratic nomination for congress will have their first opportunity to hear their nominee speak to a district wide crowd here at the Panhandle South Plains Fair, Saturday afternoon, September 29.

A Texas Tech suit, similar to the ones presented to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Vice-President John Nance Garner, will be presented to this district's first congressman at the fair, September 29, with appropriate ceremonies.

Immediately following the presentation of the suit, Mahon will address the crowd at the fair. From fifty to sixty thousand people are expected to be here that day.

The suit will be made from wool and cotton produced on the Tech campus, where it is likewise refined and made into cloth.

Pup Thomas, local tailor, will do the tailoring of the suit.

SILK IS THE FABRIC OF THE WEEK

Silk—the "glamour girl" of the fabrics—reigns supreme this week in Lamesa. The luxury and practicability of silk will be demonstrated not only for many types of apparel but also for beautifying the home.

Because silk is the strongest of all fibers, weight for weight, it is remarkably durable. A silk thread is actually one third as strong as an iron wire of the same size. Silk is used for parachutes because it sustains a man's weight without breaking.

Tornadoes Clash With Snyder Tigers

The Lamesa High School Golden Tornadoes have been practicing for nearly a month in an effort to be ready for the Snyder Tigers who come here for the first game of the 1934 season on Friday night.

Those who have followed the games played by these two teams are aware of the fact that these games are hard played on all occasions. Snyder is usually the winner in their district and the Tornadoes are generally at or near the top in their district.

Snyder was the only team in West Texas to defeat the locals last season. Following the defeat by Snyder the Tornadoes went ahead to win a regional championship. Snyder has a team of veterans this year and are looking toward going places themselves. The Tigers are noted for speed and endurance. They have some of the best track and field men in Texas on the Tiger squad as ball toters and blockers.

The Snyder team has age, size and experience and the inspiration to defeat Lamesa at home (which Snyder has not done yet) to spur them on.

In addition the Tigers have played one game this season, with the Slaton team, winning by a score of 12 to 0, giving them an edge in experience for this year as the Lamesa team has yet to engage in conflict.

There have been changes in the local line-up. Several have graduated including Britt, Gresham, Johnson, Schmidt, Jude Smith, James Smith and then others have passed the age limit or have been too many semesters in school so that the Tornadoes will present many new players to the public in Friday night's game.

This will be the first game under the new flood lights which have been installed for several reasons the two principal ones being to give more people an opportunity to witness the games and to avoid loss of time from classes on Friday afternoons.

The seating capacity has been doubled with seats on both sides of the field. Parking space is available on both sides of the field and entrance for season ticket holders has been announced as the north gate.

The Golden Tornadoes are determined to make every effort to show themselves worthy successors to the realize the burden of being "Defending Champions" of Region No. One traditions of preceding teams. They and have a desire to avenge last year's defeat.

In fact the stage is set for the public to enjoy an excellent and colorful football game and there is plenty of room for all to come.

ROBBERS' ROOST

By ZANE GREY

COPYRIGHT W. N. U. SERVICE

ready to strike. And your Mr. Hays looked for all the world like a giant cobra with a black sombrero on its head. Wasn't that silly of me?"

"Not silly. An instinct. Self-preservation," returned Jim, sternly.

She passed that by, but only perhaps because she caught sight of the ranch-house up the slope. Here her enthusiasm was unbounded. Herrick stood on the porch steps with his dogs. He wore high boots and a red coat. He waved.

Presently Jim reined in the sweating horses before the steps. He was most curious to see the meeting between brother and sister. She stood up.

"Bernie, old top, here I am," she said, gayly.

"Yes, here you are, Helen," he replied, and stepped out to help her alight. "Did you have a nice trip?"

"Ripping—from Grand Junction in." They did not embrace or even shake hands. Jim, coming to himself, leaped out and began removing the bags. Barnes, whom he had totally forgotten, jumped out on the other side.

"Barnes, carry the bags in. Jim, hurry the blacks down. They're hot. You must have pushed them."

"Yes, sir. Stage was late, but we made up for it."

"Helen's where's that Wells-Fargo package?" queried Herrick.

"Here in my satchel. Oh, Bernie, it's good to get home—if this can be home."

"Come in and take off that veil," he said, and with his arm in hers led her up on the porch.

Jim let Barnes take the team, while he crossed the bench and made his way down the steep, rocky declivity to Hays' cabin. Happy Jack was whistling about the fire, knocking pans and otherwise indicating the proximity of supper.

"Howdy, Jack. What's tricks for today?" asked Jim.

"Glad you're back, Jim," declared the cook, cordially. "Anyone'd have thought you was goin' to dish the outfit—judgin' from Hays. He's been like a hound on a leash. Smoky rode in today full of ginger, news, a roll of long green that'd have choked a cow. But even that didn't ease the boss."

"What ailed him, Jack?" inquired Jim, not without impatience.

"Dinged if I know. It had to do with your goin' to Grand, a darned sight more than Smoky's."

Heavy footfalls outside attested to the return of Hays. Without more comment Jim stood up and away from the table, to face the door. Hays entered. He was not the genial Hays of other days, yet it was hard to define the change in him, unless it consisted in a gloomy, restless force behind his stride. Smoky followed him in, agreeable by contrast.

"Hullo, were you air. I waited at the barn," said Hays gruffly.

"Howdy, boss. I took a short cut down," replied Jim.

"I seen Barnes an' had a word with him. So your trip come off all right? You shore made them blacks step."

"It wasn't as pleasant a drive as you'd imagine," returned Jim, darkly.

"How! You must be one of them women-haters. Outside of that side of it, what happened to jar you?"

"Nothing to concern you or your outfit. Smoky saw me yesterday before I got a line on him. He ducked off the road. At Grand Junction nobody paid any more attention to me than I'd expect."

"Ahh. That's good," replied Hays, and going over to the pack beside his bed he rummaged about to return with a packet, which he slapped down upon the table.

"There you air, Jim. On our first deal."

The packet unrolled and spread out—bills of large denomination.

"What's this for?" queried Jim.

"Quick action. That's how we work. Your share. Smoky fetched it."

Jim did not care to give the impression that he was unused to this sort of thing. Straddling the bench he sat down to run through the bills.

"Five thousand six hundred," he said, as if to himself, and he slipped the money inside his pocket. "Much obliged, Smoky. Now I'll be able to sit in a little game of draw."

"Jim, ain't you got any news at all?" inquired Hays, searchingly. "A feller with your ears an' eyes shore would pick up somethin'."

"Miss Herrick fetched a Wells-Fargo package to her brother," rejoined Jim, slowly.

"Then it's come," said Hays, cracking his hands. "Herrick was expectin' money last stage."

After supper Smoky was the first to break silence:

"Boss, now Wall is back you can make up your mind about what I'd like to do."

"Jim, listen to this: Smoky an' the other fellows, exceptin' Hank, want to make a clean sweep with this next drive. What you think?"

"Clean Herrick out?" asked Jim. "That's the idea."

Jim pondered a moment.

"It'd be harder work, but save time, and perhaps our bacon as well. These cowboys are going to find out pretty soon that the cattle have thinned out. If Smoky drives a couple thousand more, it'll be sure to be found out, sooner or later."

"See thar, boss. Wall sees it just as I do. There's plenty of water along the road an' feed enough. . . . Let's make it one big drive."

"Wal, it'd mean leavin' Star Ranch sudden," cogitated the robber chief.

"Shore. An' that's good."

"But I don't want to pull out of here sudden," declared Hays.

"Why not, if we get away with ten thousand head?" queried Smoky, astounded.

"Ten thousand won't close the deal I'm on."

"What've you got up your sleeve, Hank?"

"That's my business. Yours is drivin' cattle."

"You mean to rob the Englisher? Hank, don't be a hawg!"

"Hays, if you'll excuse me, I'm thinkin' Smoky talks sense," interposed Jim, quietly.

"My mind's made up. We'll stick to our first idee. You fellers make drive after drive, goin' slow. . . . they'll give me time—"

"Ahh. So you'll risk goin' agin' the whole outfit," interrupted Smoky, with a curious gaze at his superior.

"Wal, yes, if you put it that way," replied Hays, and he stalked out.

"Smoky, will you start the second drive tomorrow?" asked Wall.

"I'll lay it up to my outfit. Wal, so long. See you soon, one way or another."

He went out. Jim heard a few sharp words pass between Smoky and Hays, and then silence.

Next day he went back to work on the new barn. A subtle change in Hank Hays augmented his suspicion of that individual. Jim let him alone.

Herrick was around as usual, interested in every detail of the building. Hays had gone off with the cowboys across the valley to put them upon some job there, which no doubt was a ruse to keep them away from Limestone Springs, where most of the stock grazed. And the day had ended without one glimpse of Helen Herrick.

At breakfast the following morning Hays surprised Jim.

"Was the Herrick girl out yesterday?" he inquired.

"Didn't see her."

"You didn't say what kind of a looker she was?"

"Oh, that," laughed Jim. "I forgot or didn't think you were interested."

"Wal, I'd like to see her once before our deal's off here."

Hays had his wish fulfilled next day. He was at work on the new barn, on the far side from where Jim was occupied, when Miss Herrick came down with her brother. Jim stared as if his eyes deceived him. An English riding habit was known to him only from pictures. She looked queerly. Jim did not look at her face. Besides, he wanted most to see the effect upon Hank Hays. That worthy's hawklike head was erect, but Jim could not see the telltale eyes, Hays stood transfixed.

Herrick and his sister walked toward Jim's side of the barn.

"Good morning," she said. "Bernie told me how you shot bob—no, Jack rabbits—from the saddle. I want to see you do that. And I want to learn how. Will you show me?"

"I'd be pleased, Miss Herrick."

"Tomorrow, then, you will ride with me?"

"I'm at your service."

"Wall, you'll oblige me by riding with my sister when it suits her," said Herrick.

"Yes, sir," returned Jim, gazing across at the statue-like Hays.

The couple moved off toward the open yard, where mounted cowboys were leading out saddled horses.

"I seen her, Jim," Hays said, as if the event were epic. "She walked right by me."

"What if she did, Hank?"

"Nothin'. What was she sayin' to you?"

"It seems Herrick told her about my shootin' jacks from my horse, and she wants to see it done."

"You're goin' ridin' with her?"

"The luck of some men!"

"Hank, shall I tell Herrick you'll go in my stead?"

"Nix, much as I'd like to. I can't hit jumpin' rabbits."

Volatility

is the most important quality in gasoline ... say Authorities

WHAT does it take to make a gasoline "great"? Four oil experts tell you in their statements at the right.

They emphasize volatility . . . and Phillips 66 is famous for high volatility. Besides, this volatility is scientifically controlled, month by month, to make this greater gasoline a star all-weather performer.

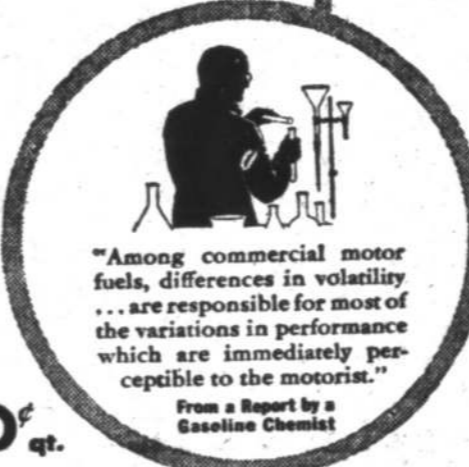

Your engine always runs better, because the gas you get at a Phillips pump is correctly "tailored" for the particular weather you are having. You actually feel the difference in your motor . . . in increased speed and power . . . peppier pick-up . . . reduced noise and no-knock . . . plus extra mileage in every gallon.

We invite you to try a tankful, to see for yourself the outstanding improvement given by extra volatility, at no extra cost, at any Orange and Black 66 shield.

HOT BED CAMPAIGN FOR DAWSON COUNTY

Since so few vegetables have been raised for canning purposes this year it will be to the advantage of every family to build a hot bed which will provide fresh vegetables through out the winter months.

For producing winter vegetables a bed 6x18 or 6x24 is a desirable size. A bed 6x6 is large enough for producing plants for resetting in the spring. It is advisable for every family to prepare a hot bed large enough to produce vegetables through out the winter months.

After frost and ice have killed most vegetables in the outside garden the hotbeds may be planted and such vegetables as lettuce, onions, radishes, spinach, and mustard may be grown successfully.

Both the 4-H girls and women will launch a hot bed campaign for the winter. Demonstrations on the preparation of the hot bed will be given in October.

CLUB REPORTS RATE 100 PER CENT FOR AUGUST

According to reports received from College Station, Home Demonstration Club reporters for the month of August rated 100 per cent. Dawson county was the only 100 per cent county in District 2.

Clubs who have neglected sending in reports should strive to keep up our 100 per cent reputation. For the month of September we hope to receive the same rating.

SEVENTEEN WOMEN'S CLUBS IN DAWSON COUNTY

Seventeen different groups of women from various parts of Dawson county have organized Home Demonstration clubs. The clubs, because of their locations, represent the whole of Dawson county.

Since June, tile for sub-irrigation has been put down in 35 gardens. Over 3000 feet of tile has been made for these gardens. The tiling program has been carried out through the work of the Home Demonstration clubs.

Members of Home Demonstration Clubs feel it their responsibility to pass on to others the knowledge that they gain.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Trench silos may be the answer to the feed shortage problem. W. C. McClain who lives near Stanton in Martin county is putting up maize stalks that have suckered heavily and will make good silage whereas they would make tough and unappetizing hay.

Flat breaking the land before planting has so often produced at least twice as much as nearby land that was not so prepared that Mr. Joe Gruy of Hebronville has about decided to make this practice a part of his rental agreement.

Fifteen 4-H club members who were furnished Hampshire gilts last fall in San Jacinto county are reporting the arrival of good litters of pigs. A general raising of the standard of hogs in the county is expected from this work.

Cooperative selling and improved dairy practices based on keeping a dairy demonstration record on her herd has enabled Mrs. H. Huntington of Alta Loma in Galveston county to change from loss to profit in her business.

Celery seems to have come to Maverick county as a permanent crop. F. O. Weyrick has five acres of it already transplanted which is in fine condition and compares favorably with that grown as a demonstration last year by Theodor Katakas.

Calhoun county women who came to the 1934 Short Course must have reported favorably because one home demonstration club in that county promptly gave a "barn party" and made $30 to pay the way of delegates to the 1935 Short Course. The guests were dressed "tackily" and enjoyed games. Tamales, coffee, ice cream and cake were sold and several donated cakes were auctioned off.

FARM NOTES

By Joe C. Williams, County Agent

Cotton Program

Quite a lot of argument on both sides of the question about whether a tenant can stay on a farm in defiance of the landlords orders to move. The following article was taken from the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman in regard to the matter:

"In answer to our inquiry from the A. A. A. Office in Washington, here is what we received:

"There is as you know no legal authority by which the A. A. A. can say to a land owner that he must retain the same identical tenants on his farms as heretofore. To do so would interfere with the usual and normal relationships between land owners and tenants.

"But there can be no argument over the right of any owner for reasons sufficient to himself to change tenants, in making the change the new tenant will of course agree to carry out the reduction contract on that farm, and to receive the same benefits as the old tenants of 1934.

"Many renters seem to think that since the contract calls for two years on the farm that they have the right to stay on such farm during 1935."

Wheat Planting
Any farm under Corn-Hog contract or cotton contract is permitted to plant what for pasture only unless that farm had wheat for sale during the year 1932 or 1933, in that case the farm would be permitted to plant the same acreage of wheat as his contract showed he had planted during the years mentioned.

As the contract signers agree not to increase their acreage in any basic commodity offered for sale over what was offered in 1932 or 1933, which includes hogs as well as crops.

Wheat may be planted for grazing in any amount regardless of whether the farm is under contract or not.

"Barley is not a basic commodity crop and as far as I know there is no restriction on the acreage that may be planted to barley.

Cotton Certificates
Cotton Certificates or Exemption called bale tags by most people are expected in a very short while as Mr. Hackney has been in the State headquarters since September 8, working on the certificates.

Compliance Certificates
The second checks of many farmers of the county will be delayed as they have not had their landlords sign the compliance papers yet and naturally those men whose compliance sheets have not been signed will not be in line for payment until all papers have been signed by all parties necessary.

Copy of Petition . . . Read It
Hon. Henry A. Wallace, Secy. of Agriculture Washington, W. C.

We the undersigned cotton producers of Dawson county, Texas, do hereby earnestly and respectfully request and urge that provisions be made whereby persons holding surplus Tax Exemption Certificates, when such surplus is due to drought or other natural causes, may be permitted to secure a loan, available immediately, of not less than four cents per pound of lint cotton, represented by such certificates, from the Government.

Producers who secure loans shall agree to the sale, on a pro rata basis, of a sufficient number of certificates to supply the demand for certificates from counties where more than the allotment of cotton is produced.

The National Pool as now being put into operation does not provide any immediate relief.

There is imperative need for such a plan to partially meet the emergency which has been created by the following conditions:

1. Reduced cotton crop of 1934 because of drought. The latest Government estimate of cotton production for Dawson county sets the 1934 crop at 3000 bales as compared with a five year average of 40,865 bales. The allotment of Exemption Certificates for 1934 is 24,278 bales.

2. The feed crop in 1934 will not exceed three per cent of the normal crop.

3. To date the local Emergency Feed and Seed Loan Office has received over 1000 applications for loans. Every indication is that these applications will become more numerous as winter comes on.

Seventeen hundred farmers will have surplus Certificates to sell due to excessive drought.

McCORMICK-DEERING FARM MACHINE HEADQUARTERS

"Men may come and men may go, but I go on forever". These words from the old school books come to mind as you look on the sound and permanent position of the McCORMICK-DEERING DEALER - today - 1934. Like the farmer himself, this firmly established friend of the farmer is weathering through to better times.

When times are good, or when it is "high" time for them to change for the better, distributing agencies with shallow roots spring up every where. Promises of service and permanence are liberally given at every crossroad. Anybody can get away with it for awhile or in the peak of prosperity. But where are they when the "going gets rough" and the "hard times" strike? Like all mushroom growths they fade out when the "test" comes. They are blown away by the winds of "hard-times", drouths, and other un-foreseen disasters that hit a community. Their activity comes to an end; the machines they sold and the customers who bought them are abandoned like orphans of the storm.

Through good years or bad years, dry years or wet years, this permanent Home Owned Institution, sells Time Tested and Proven McCORMICK-DEERING FARM EQUIPMENT and maintains, year in and year out, a Reliable and Efficient REPAIR SERVICE for the users of McCormick-Deering farm equipment and FARMALL TRACTORS. Our large stock of Repair Parts, maintained permanently in Lamesa is your assurance that whenever you need a part for your plow or tractor, that you can make replacement with shortest delay in your farm work.

Contract Let On No. 9 In Lynn County

Commissioners Waldo McLaurin and L. M. Nordyke returned from Austin late last Tuesday after being present at the letting of the grading and drainage contract for Highway No. 9, and both gentlemen believe that work on this part of the state highway project will begin immediately, probably next week.

We were unable to get in touch with Mr. McLaurin before the Index was published last week, but he has kindly furnished us with quite a bit of information this week.

Contract for the grading and drainage structures on the highway from the south part of Tahoka to the Lynn-Dawson county line was let to Hanpah & Hall Construction Company of Houston, and called for 15.7 miles of grade.

As has been previously stated, this contract calls for the loop through O'Donnell. It will be recalled that the commissioners were unable to get the highway department to agree to route the new highway through O'Donnell on account of having to cross the railroad twice, and that they finally agreed to give the right-of-way just west of town provided the department would pave a loop through town. This loop will cover practically the same route as the present highway, but turning west from the business section to again join the new highway.

Mr. McLaurin asks that the Index especially emphasize the fact that LOCAL LABOR IS TO BE USED. It has been rumored, he said, that imported labor is to be used, but the assurance of Mr. W. R. Ely, of the State Highway Commission, was that home labor will be used altogether.

35 Tsp. 5 North; Thence North along the East boundary line of Sur. 6 to a point that would intersect a projection of the North line of South First Street of Lamesa, Eastward to said Section line; thence West along the North line of South First Street to the S. E. Corner of said Court House Square; Thence North along the East line of Square to a point opposite the center of the Square.

Thence West to the center of the Court House Square the place of beginning.

Be it ordered that Sparenberg Voting Precinct No. 12 be re-established and hereafter described by metes and bounds as follows:

Beginning at the northwest corner of section number 18 in Blk. No. 35 Tsp. 4 North; Thence along section lines in an easterly direction to the northeast corner of section No. 17 Blk 34 Tsp. 4 North; Thence in a southerly direction along section lines a distance of three miles to the northeast corner of section No. 32 same block; Thence west a distance of two miles along section lines to the northeast corner of section No. 36 Blk. 35 Tsp. 4 North; Thence in a southerly direction along section lines to a point where the east line of Section No. 1 Blk. 35 Tsp. 3 North intersects the south boundary line of Dawson county, Texas; Thence west along the south boundary line of Dawson County to a point where the east line of section No. 37 Blk. 36 Tsp. 4 North if extended would intersect the south line of Dawson county; Thence in a northerly direction along section lines a distance of about 5 miles to the northwest corner of Section No. 18 in Blk 35 Tsp. 4 North for the place of beginning.

Fences are already being set back, and it is believed that real work will begin sometime next week, starting on the Tahoka end of the road. When this gap is closed, No. 9 will be practically complete through Texas, as projects are now under way to pave McCulloch, Concho, Dawson, and Howard counties to the south of us and Swisher county to the north. —O'Donnell Index.

"How many legs has a calf?" Abraham Lincoln once asked a caller.

"Four," said the visitor.

"But suppose we call his tail a leg, how many legs will he have?" Lincoln persisted.

"Five," said the visitor.

"No, sir!" retorted Honest Abe. "He'd still have four. CALLING a tail a leg doesn't make it a leg."

... And CALLING a tire burst-proof doesn't make it proof against blow-outs. ... CALLING it a mileage marvel doesn't make it wear longer. CALLING it a masterpiece of tire building, doesn't make it so.

Seiberling Tires are built and sold on the four legs of fact. F. A. Seiberling, builder of good tires since 1898 and responsible for more major tire inventions than any other man, believes that car owners want tires that WEAR well—not that just READ well.
