POLITICAL MEDICINE MIXING

Praise For Jim by State Demo Committee Was To Be Expected.

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 27.—"I'll take Pat's word for it," said Jim Ferguson in the city of Waco, the home of the aforesad Pat. Ferguson was there to attend as a spectator the meetng of the democratic executive committee of the state. Pat Neff has been in politics for a long time. Jim threw his hat in the political ring years later. It is a remarkable fact that Pat has skinned in public debate many of the leading politicians of the state, but he has always overlooked Jim. It is another remarkable facts that Jim has skinned all the leaders of all political parties who did not take kindly to his policies, but has never been harsh in his handling of Pat.

* * * * *

IT is no secret that the enemies of the former governor who hails from Waco christened him Petrified Pat in the long ago. It is no secret that his political crisis christened the former governor who hails from Bell county Predatory Jim. Pat's enemies say that he is an ossified icicle; Jim's bitter political critics have always said that he was a walking bundle of srrogrance, cunning and other traits which do not becometh a follower of the meek and lowly. "I'll take Pat's word for it," was not a surprise.

"Pat freezes 'em; Jim smashes 'em."

Arthur R. Edson of Hamilton is the new chairman. This writer predicted as much when Mayor E. A. Berry of Houston was named as a member of the criminal court commission. Berry is a fighter and W. Elmer Pope was his political idol and chief in the first round of the balloting for governor last year. Berry is a native Texan, an able lawyer and a bearcat in a fight. Of course, the state committee adopted resolutions of praise for the stated administration.

* * * * *

STATE committees are usually named by the head of the state administration. Politicians always worship at the shrine of the rising sun; they always desert the shrine of the setting sun. Close to the throne of authority are the choice plum of office and the politicians or fair friends dearly love the spoils. Jim said to a reporter that "This was an off year politically and that there are things at this time more important than politics, including the drouth."

This is true. It is an off year in politics, but the politicians and the candidates for office in off years are engaged at their laboratories in mixing medicine for the campaign to come. All the politicians are mixing medicine now. All the candidates for governor or the receptive candidates are mixing medicine. Not in the open, but behind the doors, and in secret, and in secret conference with their friends.

* * * * *

THIS is why candidates who should not carry handicaps next year should avoid band wagon bumpers of the "Thou Shalt Not" tribe. The "Thou Shalt Not Tribe" are the politicians who would muzzle candidates on living issues, which the people hope will be uppermost. "Thou Shalt Not" advice has ruined many a bright man and blasted his future. "Thou Shalt" is the command of the people to the candidates for office who profess to be true to the people and loyal to the interests of the people alone. Now it is well to know that the "Thou Shalt Not Tribe" believes in going round the stump and ever avoiding the issues, mostly economic, which deal with taxation problems and ever advocate the loud publicity on the part of candidates of issues which are bunk or manufactured as smoke screens to hide the real issues of the campaign.

* * * * *

THOSE who are close to Thomas P. Love, a gentleman who was sent through two slaughter houses last year, and perhaps three, say that he has coined a platform for next year. "Thou Shalt Not Steal" is Tom's new platform. He hasn't copyrighted it. It is as old as christedom. Tom has reversed himself. Now his friends say he insists that an anti-klansman shall be the next governor of Texas; that all the children of Texas, in rural as well as large city districts, shall be given a high school education regardless of the edicts of the lawmakers or executives of the common wealth.

Tom's going on the road next year preparatory to the national campaign of 1928. He is ready to abrogate the two-thirds rule and to do away with the unit rule in national conventions. He was for the unit rule and willing to abrogate the two-thirds rule in 1924 and in 1920. Saul of Tarsus saw a great light and revealed himself in the twinkling of an eye. Tom did not reverse himself in the twinkling of an eye. It required three lickings and three slaughter house immersions to convince him that he should about front.

* * * * *

IN 1924 he insisted that all the delegates should be tied to the McAdoo chariot wheel and they were tied hard and fast and a pretty mess they made of things. It is to the credit of Pat Neff that he lead a forlorn hope against it, but time and the Madison Square Garden convention has vindicated his political acumen and

Cloudburst Comes Down From Mount Ararat; Takes Toll

ERIVAN, Armenia, June 27.—(AP)—Many lives were lost, property was damaged to the extent of millions of rubles and a panic was caused among the populace of Evrian by a terrific cloudburst which descended from Mount Ararat yesterday.

Several rivers in the neighborhood overflowed, inundating the country and leaving thousands homeless.

Every building in the capital suffered, but the quarters of the Armenian Red Cross and the Ervian state university bore the brunt of the damage.

Burkburnett Baby Expected to Die

BURKBURNETT, June 27.—The little 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bousleg living at the Tidal Western lease who was hurt Friday evening by a falling four-pound iron weight, is said to be in a critical condition in the Wchita general hospital.

The case is unusual as the accident was caused when the child, lying on his back, pulled a cloth from the top of an ice box or refrigerator on which was lying this heavy weight. It struck the little fellow in the stomach with such force as to rupture the intestines causing peritonitis. Slight hope is entertained for his recovery, it is reported.

NEFF OUT WITH NEW DENIAL OF REBUKE FOR MA

"ALL A FALSEHOOD"

Former Governor, Back In Texas, Vehement Against Press

WACO, June 27.—(AP)—Pat M. Neff, former governor today reiterated in a prepared statement addressed to "the people of Texas" his denial that he had given an interview concerning Texas politics and the Ferguson administration when in Chicago a few days ago. He returned from Chicago Friday night. His statement said in part: : :

"What I may or may not say or think in regard to the Ferguson administration I have not deemed it of any special interest to the people of the state." He continued: "I wish to say most emphatically that there was not one true thought, one true sentence, or one word of truth in the interview. No such interview ever took place in Chicago or elsewhere. It was a fabricated falsehood from beginning to end, without even one thread of truth to give it coloring.

Tried to Interview Him

"Some half dozen newspaper reporters in Chicago sought an interview with me. To each and all alike, as is my usual custom, I declined to make any statement about anybody or anything."

The statement added that one reporter said he had been a student in the University of Texas and seemed to be familiar with Texas politics. The former governor declared that he refused to discuss politics with him as he had with other reporters. What was said to this reporter, he declared, was said in about three minutes and in the presence of Miss Neff, his daughter.

In the five months since he left office he said he never had commented on any executive or political matter in Texas.

No Reason For It

"I have longed and hungered to be let alone politically, and have, therefore, studiously declined to discuss politics anywhere at any time, with either friends or foes. Certainly there was no reason for me to discuss Texas politics with a strange boy in a distant city."

The former governor said "I have never sailed the political seas under false colors" and stated he protested vigorously against the statements credited to him.

"When I have anything to say about Texas politics, I will say it as I have always done, in Texas, either on the stump or over my signature," he said.

He closed his statement with a request that all papers which published the "purported interview, will give publicity to this statement from me. In truth's name I ask this favor at the hands of the public press of the state."

French Finances Effective Today

PARIS, June 27 (AP).—M. Caillaux's financial measures, which were adopted by the senate this afternoon 273 to 111, will become law upon their publication in the official journal tomorrow. The measures had been passed by the chamber of deputies earlier in the day. They authorize the printing of 6,000,000 more paper francs, making a total of 10,000,000,000 francs within the last three months.

This inflation of the currency was scored by all the opposition speakers in the senate and even by Premier Painleve himself who, however, excused it as a measure to avert national peril.

Informal Operation Is Performed on His Tonsils By a Pistol

GRAY ELECTED TRUSTEE FOR GRISWOLD OIL

Bankrupt Oil Concern Is Placed in Hands Of Official

Appointment of D. G. Gray as trustee for the Griswold Oil corporation was agreed on Saturday noon by creditors of the organization at a bankruptcy hearing held before Walter Nelson, special master in chancery. Mr. Gray for the past two months or more has been engaged in handling affairs of the concern, and a referendum of all creditors of record revealed that he was acceptable to all of them as trustee.

An order is to be issued by the master empowering the trustee to make such disposition as he may see fit of the properties of the defunct company and place the proceeds for the benefit of the creditors. This will include all oil owned by the company and which is now in storage or in pipelines. It will be sold and the proceeds placed in escrow pending a final settlement of the case.

Another hearing on the case in which lines and priority claims will be presented is scheduled for July 10 before Special Master Nelson.

A $50,000 Nose Is Sniffing About In Airs of Manhattan

NEW YORK, June 27.—A $50,000 nose from Oklahoma City is sniffing the airs of Manhattan preliminary to the enjoyment of the tang of sea breeze.

Mrs. Blance Cavitt, before leaving home for a three-months tour of Europe, had her sense of smell insured for $50,000 at a cost of $400. She is a specialist able to detect the base of complicated perfumes by the odor.

With her husband, R. C. Cavitt, she leaves on July 4 for a three-months tour of Europe. Among other things she expects to have a sniff in Egypt at perfume 3,000 years old and to act as judge at an exposition in Paris attended by perfumers from all over the world.

Cal's Friends May Buy Him New Home

NEW YORK, June 27.—(AP)—A Swampscott dispatch to the New York Times said that friends of President Coolidge have pledged $125,000 to buy White Court for him.

Informed of their plans, the president, the dispatch says, remarked:

"I might not like it."

In case the president does not accept the gift, the dispatch continues, it is probable that he will not oppose congress making an appropriation for a summer White House.

MONKEYSHINES IN BAR DEBATE GRIP LAWYERS

Tennessee Association Expunges Anti-Evolution Law Speech

VOTE IS 86 TO 53

"When do We Eat" Greets Storm of Oratory As Crisis Reached

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27.—(AP) In a pitched battle where laughter, pleas and parliamentary tangles were the weapons, opponents of Tennessee's evolution law lost today to the Bar association of Tennessee.

The score was 86 to 53—the vote by which the associated voted to expunge from its records an address by Robert F. Keebler of Memphis, on "The Tennessee Evolution Law."

Mr. Keebler condemned the legislature which enacted the bill, characterizing the bill as an attempt "half pitiful, half ludicrous," to set up by legislation a form for science which in itself contradicted its asserted purposes.

Limited to Half Hour.

By agreement Mr. Keebler was limited at the start to 30 minutes. When the time limit was reached, and the speaker had but warmed to his subject, a storm of applause resulted in a motion for extension which was granted. Ten minutes later his extension was up and an indicated discussion for further extension was interrupted by a cry from the back of the room:

"When we do we eat?"

Despite efforts to restore order the convention's will to adjourn for lunch was maintained and Mr. Keebler's address, was concluded.

No sooner had the crash of gavel reassembled the association than the leaders of the opposition directed the attack. Elias Gates of Memphis, projected the meeting into a parliamentary tangle with a point of order that controversial subjects such as treated by Mr. Keebler were barred from the association's consideration by its constitution, the spirit of its meetings and the customs of its procedure.

Says He's Chagrined.

Attempted discussion of Mr. Gates' point of order was forestalled and President Lovick P. Miles announced his ruling. "I was chagrined and disappointed," Mr. Miles said, "when Keebler read a paper that instead of being confined to a legal question, discussed a religious issue."

What Keebler Said.

Tennessee's anti-evolution law was declared "a deliberate violation of the legislature of its fundamental duty to cherish science" in the address prepared for delivery before the State Bar association's annual meeting by Robert S. Keebler, Memphis lawyer.

The act, he said, "was inspired by religious zealots who believe in the literal inerrancy of the scriptures" and "its object is to set up the scriptural story of creation as against the universal teaching of science."

"If our constitution means anything," he said, "it means that science must be free to pursue its painstaking researches."

Declaring that lawyers, or whatever religious convictions or scientific beliefs, could not help but be profoundly interested in the legal aspects of the situation, Mr. Keebler indicated the anti-evolution law as "unconstitutional" upon the following grounds:

"It violates the solemn duty imposed by the constitution of the state of Tennessee upon the legislature to cherish science.

"It violates the 14th amendment to our federal constitution.

"Insofar as our university is concerned, it violates the solemn contract between the state of Tennessee and the United States."

The general doctrine of evolution is so pronounced, he said, "that the evolution of man from a lower order of animals is no longer regarded as a theory, but as a fact. Scientists differ as to the contributing factors that enter into this progressive evolutionary life."

Earth Tremor Sways, Rocks Wide Section

Jackson, Wyo., June 28.—(AP)—A recurrence of the avalanche in the Gros Ventre river valley of early this week took place tonight when another vast section of Sheep mountain rolled into the valley and damed the river about three miles above the lake caused by the first big slide. Earthquake shocks accompanied the moving mountain into the valley.

LIVINGSTON, Mont., June 27.(AP)—Two Milwaukee passenger trains and Northern Pacific passenger train number 235 are hemmed in by a huge rock slide near Lombard, according to a report to the Northern Pacific here. A special train was made up here and has just left for the scene of the slide.

Both the Milwaukee trains and the Northern Pacific trains are safe, according to the Northern Pacific's report.. The trains in each instance are hemmed in on all sides by the rock and landslide which was the result of the earthquake.

Two Shocks Came Early In Evening

Billings, Mont., June 27.(AP)—Nearly two-thirds of the state of Montana was shaken vigorously by two series of earthquakes early tonight, the first at 6:23 o'clock and the second at 7:05. Panic seized thousands of people in buildings in Butte, Anaconda, Great Falls, Missoula, Livingston and Helena and they rushed clear of buildings, fearing for their lives.

Although no loss of life was reported at first word that the tremblers had taken their toll in property damage soon began to trickle in. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul's electrified railroad line between Harlotown and Three Forks was reported put out of commission by the quakes and an avalanche of unknown proportions was reported at Lombard, Mont.

The walls of a hotel in Great Falls cracked under the upheaval but the building withstood the shock.

A severe earthquake was felt at Jardine, it was reported. It was feared the mines there had been damaged.

Yellowstone Tourists Are Panic Stricken

Livingstone, near Yellowstone park, reported a series of three tremblers, the first at 6:03, the second at 7:06 and the third at 7:15. The shock caused a panic among tourists in the big playground and park Superintendent Horace M. Albright ordered out the ranger forces to inspect all active formations.

Policement in Livingston said the tower of a high building swayed with an arc-like movement.

Many women fainted there.

Out of all the reports of panic and minor property damage there was none telling of any loss of life.

The slides probably are across one of three streams which join at Three Forks, Mont., and form the source of the Missouri river.

Two railroad cars were shaken from an overhead coal dock at Bozeman according to reports here ran wild down the steep incline. Both were loaded with coal. The wreck they made at the bottom of the incline blocked the Livingston houndhouse and engines cannot be taken out for regular trains.

Sub-stations along the Milwaukee's electrified line from Harlow town over the mountains were damaged.

Most of the damage is believed to be in the vicinity of Three Forks.

The earth was reported to be still trembling slightly at Livingston at 8:40.

Pen Gates At End Of Road Mother Love Trod To Help Her Children

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 27 (AP).—The tragic picture of a gray-haired mother who brought her son and daughter to a college town and found work in a department store that her children might have educational advantages she had missed, only to have the son jailed in a $50,000 extortion plot, was presented before a motley group of hangers-on in a dingy office at the hall of justice here today.

The mother was Mrs. Olivia Baker the 18-year-old daughter, Pauline, and 23-year-old son, Bliss, a University of California senior over whose head is hanging an extortion charge carrying a penalty of from one to five years in the penitentiary.

Gripped by a desire to enact a "perfect crime" the young university student, who recently won a scholarship entitling him to a year's study abroad ,today admitted that the accomplice whose name he first told the officers was "George Beeman," a "book agent," in reality was Russell Crawford, salesman for a vacuum cleaning appliance concern and attached to the company's Stockton office. Crawford was arrested late today at Redwood City, south of here, and will be returned here tonight or early tomorrow to face with Baker a charge of extortion in connection with an attempt yesterday to exact $30,000 from Colonel D. C. Jackling, multimillionaire mining man of Utah and San Francisco under threats of kidnaping and torturing Mrs. Jackling.

Pat Neff Boosts Moody To Fight

Writer Believes That Davidson Leads Field Now

MA BIG FACTOR

Jim, Ma, Lynch, Dan Are Called Outstanding Factors

AUSTIN, Texas, June 27.—Dan Moody has been projected into the foreground of the 1926 governor's race, regardless of the veracity of the now-famous purported Neff interview in Chicago last week, and irrespective of his intentions as to being an opponent of Earle B. Mayfield for the U. S. senate two years later.

This is the nearly-unanimous opinion which has been expressed in the floods of comment and gossip which followed the publication of Neff's purported statement that "Moody isn't the man" to beat the Fergusons, and Neff's flat denial a day later he said so.

Believe Ma Again.

The belief is crystallizing that the Ferguson executive partnership is to be represented again when time for the next race comes. Which one of the Fergusons is to make the next race will depend on the exegencies of the occasion, and the decision whether to let the amnesty statute come to acourt test.

But Dan Moody, the youthful attorney general, elected on the same wave of revision to klan politics which swept the Fergusons back into power, has been made a candidate whether he wants to be or not. That is, he has been put into a position where if he wants to be a candidate he has a running start, and in a position where only definite action by Moody himself wil eliminatte him from the race.

W. E. Pope of Nueces, the noted "retrencher" of two legislatures, and the firebrand foe of spending big sums to change from one text book to another every year, declared to the writer this week:

"Tell Lynch Davidson I am ready to start running when he does."

May Run Again.

They were opponents in 1924. Pope may be considering another race, and may run to pair off against Davidson in what appears likely to be a big field of individual pair races.

Joe Burkett is going to run again for governor, in case neither of the Ferguson is in the contest. This virtually comes from Burkett himself, though he holds himself in the position of not being committed.

Barry Miller may run and others may run, and several will undoubtedly offer the people a chance to elect them chief executive of nearly 6,000,000 Texans.

But the point is, there are only three names outstanding at this time; three indiciduals who must be reckoned with at all counts—three or their alternates—Lynch Davidson, who in the opinion of this writer is way out ahead of all other candidates in the race now; Dan Moody, if he becomes a candidate; and Ferguson.

In Run-Off Now.

Neff's widely-read flareback has focussed attention on Moody as the doubtful figure of the next governor's race. It is already the halfway mark between the primaries of 1924 and the primaries of 1926.

(Copyright, 1925, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Moody is conscious of the benefits which have come to him as to advantageous position; he is aware of the fact that he can make a splendid race for governor; he sees ahead a race for the U. S. senate with numerous candidates believing they can beat Earle B. Mayfield. He has not disclosed his intention of running or not running for either of these offices, and the exegencies, particularly the Neff publicity, have given him all the "position" without the drawbacks, of having done so.

FITZGERALD

his demand that the democrats of Texas should not be hog tied by bosses at home or elsewhere.

Jim Ferguson was not with the hog tiers in 1924. He couldn't be. Tom Love was the boss of the hog tiers, and Tom and Jim wouldn't sleep in the same political wagon yard, not if the lowly Nazarene came to the earth and advised them to become bedfellows.

The moral of this tale is for rising young democrats to avoid the "Thou Shalt Not Tribe" and to put in their best licks getting the people in behind them and permitting the spokesman of the people to direct their band wagons wherever drivers are necessary.

MacMillan's Boat Starts Toward Pole

SYDNEY, N. S., June 27.—(AP) Commander Donald B. MacMillan's American Arctic expedition continued to push northward today. He departed on the schooner Bowdoin which since Tuesday has been taking on fuel here after completeing the first lap of the journey from Wiscasset, Maine.

The steamer Peary, held back while her glass port holes are being covered as a precaution against ice jams, probably will follow the Bowdoin tonight.

The next stop for both ships will be Battle Harbor, Labrador, where native Eskimo clothing and boots for the naval aviators in the expedition will be taken on.

ECZEMA

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S.S.S. are really amazing!

MANY people imagine that eczema or tetter needs only some external application on the skin in order to get relief. This is because the attention of the sufferer is so violently directed to the intense burning and itching which accompanies this disease. Try as they may—permanent relief will never be theirs until the disease laden blood is thoroughly cleansed.

We know there is one thing that stops eczema and that is more red-blood-cells! S.S.S. builds them by the million! You can increase your red-blood-cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it. Skin eruptions, eczema, with all its fiery, skin digging torture, and its soul-tearing, unreachable itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting giants of Nature! S.S.S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1826.

S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body strengtheners known to us mortals! When you put these facts together,—then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S.S.S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs eczema, clears the skin, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, and gives you that more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger also is more economical.

Twenty-One Held in Ball Betting Raids

KANSAS CITY, June 27.—Twenty-one persons were arrested here today in what police said was an organized drive against baseball and race horse betting.

The arrests were made in ten cigar stores and soft drink places which were raided simultaneously.

William S. Shreve, chief of police, said that the evidence gathered by the raiders would be submitted to the grand jury now in session.

The men were held for investigation under $500 bonds.

SHEPHERD NOT TO BE TRIED AGAIN--CROWE

Second Murder Charge Not To be Pressed In Chicago

CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—William D. Shepherd, who was acquitted last night by a jury of the charge that he murdered his foster son, William M. McClintock, the orphan millionaire, today was assured the second murder charge that he killed McClintock's mother, would not be pressed by States' Attorney Crowe.

"There is no evidence that Mrs. McClintock was murdered and I will not press the charge," Crowe said.

A coroner's jury which heard testimony in connection with the death of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, her son and Dr. Oscar Olson after Judge Harry Olson, chief justice of the criminal court had onducted the examination of witnesses had ordered Shepherd held for murder in connection with the deaths of the mother and son. The coroner's jury also ordered Mrs. Julia Shepherd, defendant's wife, held. Mrs. Shepherd soon was vindicated when the grand jury returned a no bill in her case.

Judge Olson, who last night declared the states' attorney had not given his best efforts to the prosecution of Shepherd and who said several witnesses who were not called should have been used, was almost ignored by Pros.cutor Crowe in his remarks today, but he was plainly wrathful over the jurist's charges.

Grain

CHICAGO, June 27.—(AP)—Enlarged receipts in the southwest, together with a prospect that in Hutchinson, Kan., alone 300 car loads would arrive on Monday, did a good deal to knock support from under the wheat market today during the last half hour. Besides weather conditions northwest were ideal. Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 3 cents to 3¼ cents net lower, July $1.48½ to $1.48½ and September $1.46¼ to $1.46¼. Corn finished at 1c to 3c decline, oats ⅛c to 1⅛c off, and provisions unchanged to 12c higher.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. Weather conditions and crop advices were excellent.

Higher quotations on hogs lent firmness to provisions.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 27.— (AP) —After selling up to 24.03 for October contracts on a continuance of yesterday's buying movement, the cotton market today lost part of its advance under realizing. Selling otherwise was restricted and the close was steady, with October quoted at 23.83 and the general list showing net advances of 2 to 14 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 15 to 22 points on relatively firm Liverpool cables, dry weather news from the southwest and reports of a more active demand for cotton goods in the domestic markets.

All months made new high ground for the movement in early trading, July advancing to 23.97 and December to 24.16, or about 24 to 28 points net higher on active positions. These prices representing an advance of nearly 2½ cents per pound, from the low levels last month, attracted a good deal of week-end offerings were restricted by predictions for continued dry weather in the southwest over Sunday, although there were rumors of showers in some sections of Texas late in the morning. Last prices showed reactions of 18 to 20 points from the best, December selling around 23.94.

Liverpool attributed the advance there to buying on the critical position of the Texas crop.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 27.—The cotton market today was fairly active for a short Saturday session and the price trend was largely upward. The net gains at one time were 25 to 26 points. Most of the gain was lost in the final trading on week-end liquidation and evening up and the close showed net gains of only 4 to 5 points on all active months but March, which was 1 point net lower.

At the start Liverpool was much better than due, cables reporting active buying and covering there owing to the critical situation in Texas. First trades here showed gains of 13 to 22 points and prices advanced after the opening call, until October traded up to 23.46 and December to 23.63, or 23 to 25 points above yesterday's close.

Private reports of rain in south central and southern Texas caused a reaction towards the end of the first hour but when the map was posted showing no rains worth mentioning in the entire belt and particularly when the official forecast promised generally fair and warmer weather over Sunday in the west, prices rallied again and made new highs with October at 23.48 and December at 23.63.

Exports today, 8,139 bales.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, June 27.— (AP) —The precipitous retreat of an overcrowded short interest in American Can, which sent that stock up 10 points to a record high at 200 featured a brisk upward movement in today's brief session of the stock market.

The rapidity of the advance in many issues invited profit taking and short selling, but strong buying support was forthcoming and closing prices were generally higher.

American Can closed 2 points below the top. Recent buying of this issue had been based on expectations of a split up of the stock with increased dividend on the new shares.

Directors of the company meet here next Tuesday but there is a widespread difference of opinion whether a plan of recapitalization will be had at that time.

Strength of General Motors and Yellow Cab Manufacturing both of which attained record high levels was associated with Chicago reports of a $60,000,000 motor merger involving these companies. General Motors touched 85¼ and then eased to 84⅝, up ⅝ on the day, and Yellow Cab sold as high as 48⅝ and then dropped to 46½ for a net gain of 1½ points.

Rubbers forged steadily ahead in response to the announcement of higher tire prices. U. S. Rubber common attained a new maximum at 49⅞ and then yielded a point on profit taking. Lee Tire touched a new top at 16½ and Goodrich preferred at 104¼.

Nearly a score of issues broke through their previous top prices for the year, the list including Packard Motor, Wheel Corportation, Woolworth, Philadelphia company, United Cigar Stres, Robert Reis preferred, White Rock certificates and Metropolitan Edison preferred.

Armour of Delaware duplicated the year's maximum.

Rails lagged behind the rest of the list, although Rutland preferred was bid up 3½ points to 61 on a few sales. Southern Railway closed practically unchanged at 97, the announcement of the court decision against the preferred stockholders not being received by the financial district until after the market closed.

Sharp rallies in the French and Belgian exchanges featured the irregular foreign exchange market. French francs jumped nearly 7 points to 4.61 cents, and Belgian francs moved up 4 points to 4.56½ cents. Demand sterling eased slightly to $4.85⅝ and Italian lire sagged below 3.60 cents.

TENNESSEE'S FEUD CLAIMS 2 MORE LIVES

Search Given up For Men Who Disappeared On Signal Mountain

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 27.—Officers who had been pushing the search for Dr. W. D. Mason, veterinary surgeon, and Lawrence Bowman, aid of federal prohibition officers and alleged feudist, who disappeared on Signal Mountain Thursday night, returned to the city early today without trace of the missing men.

Finding of Dr. Mason's abandoned automobile, blood spattered, and the hats of the two men near the scene was taken as evidence that a fight had occurred and led to the belief that Mason and Bowman had been killed and their bodies carried into the forest and hidden. Bowman's straw hat was broken in and a heavy club which is thought to have been used by the assailants was found nearby.

Sheriff Tom Solman expressed the opinion that Mason and Bowman had been lured to the mountain by a fake telephone call, waylaid on the road and put to death. Bowman is the leader of a faction which has been at war with what is known as the Godsey clan since the killing of his brother, Ike Bowman, by Sam Godsey, several months ago. The feud is said to have originated because of differences between rival gangs of moonshiners, the Bowmans having been accused of "turning up" stills of the Godseys.

French Golfer Would Be a Good Pianist

PARIS, June 27.—Little Simone Thion de la Chaume has a grievance. She is the 16½-year-old French girl whose splendid golf recently forced Miss Glenna Collett, former American woman champion, to play 35 holes before winning when they met at the French championship match. She has been petted and pampered by the French sporting public even more than was Suzanne Lenglen when she also was a child prodigy.

At the end of her finals with Miss Collett some one asked Simone to state her greatest ambition. The questioner expected the reply to be "why, to win the golf championship." But, astonishingly, the answer was: "I would like to be able to play Beethoven's Sonata in B minor."

It appears that her efforts to learn to play the piano have never been crowded with the success attending her work with the mashie, driver and brassie.

Impressions That Last

The beauty of the table service is indicative of the general atmosphere of the home.

A silver tea set, graceful and gleaming, will do much to accentuate the charm of the tea hour—to make it linger a pleasing memory.

Every clever hostess knows that for those occasions when she wishes to impress her guests, the silver on her table will subtly, intangibly make an unfailing appeal.

Royal Boat Races in July Have Great Attraction.

LONDON, June 27.—The royal regatta which opens at Henley-on-Thames on Wednesday, the aquatic event of England's social season, is expected to attract visitors from all parts of England and some from abroad. Rowing enthusiasts from the Thames country and university and public school students with their women friends, however, make up the bulk of the fashionable crowd which visits Henley annually.

This year there are 82 entrees for the various events. The principal race is for the Grand Challenge cup, for which eight crews will compete, including one from Amsterdam.

The only event in which there will be overseeas competitors is the diamond sculls, so-called because of the jeweled trophy awarded the winning oarsmaan in the sculling event. There is increased interest in the race this year because of the presence in Henley of Walter Hoover, the American oarsman, who won the race in 1922.

In this race France will be represented by M. P. Detten, Australia by H. A. Montfiore and Great Britain by Beresford, Jr., the holder of the title; D. H. L. Gollan, S. E. J. Hart, L. K. Kent, M. K. Morris, R. S. Muttlebury and B. Pearson.

AMERICAN WOMEN UNLIKE.

French Woman Astonished at Attitude of Americans.

American women seem to be passing through a crisis in restlessly attempting to solve many problems, according to the obeervation of Madame Avhil de Sainte Croix, head of the French delegation at a recent woman's conference at Washington.

"I notice," seh said, "that women's educational institutions such as Vassar and Wellesley are giving quite different instruction from that of a generation ago. American women seem eternally to be discussing ethics and platforms."

She was astonished at the first question asked her in America refarding her attifude upon the question of birth control.

"I beg to be excused," she said. "That question is never discussed in France, where a hight rate of natality is needed."

Madame Sainte Croix said she found Mrs. Coolidge, the wife of the president, most affable and that she enjoyed greatly a reception given her at the White House and another at the French embassy. She expressed her delight at the hospitality shown her in various cities of the United States and Canada.

POLITICAL SILENCE SINGER.

PARIS, June 27.—Feodor Chaliapin, the great Russian tenor whose voice has enthralled millions of opera lovers, in South and North America and Europe, in the course of his long operatic career and whose wonderful vocal organs have interpreted the most difficult music of the great master, can find no accents with which to speak of politics. When the word is mentioned the sound of a repl- dies in his throat.

Chaliapin remsined in Russia throughout the bolshevik upheaval. He suffered great privations and at one time it was reported he might never sing again. He is now making his home in Paris, and recently was interviewed by a music critic here.

The two men chatted pleasantly of art, literature and music for more than an hour. Suddenly and ill-advised the journalist mentioned the Russian situation and asked Chaliapin, "what do you think of the political aspects?"

The face of the amiable giant, before illuminated with pleasure at a conversation about his favorite subjects, assumed a stern and forbidding expression. He hesitated, looked about as if in pain, and then, rising gently, escorted his interviewer to the door.

"I have enjoyed our talk so much Good bye," he said.

AUSTIN, June 27.—(AP)—Writ of habeas corpus was granted Elmer Renfro of Fort Worth and the order of the trial judge for contempt of court was declared void and he was discharged by the supreme court today. Renfrom was fined $100 when George B. JEWEL TROVE OF RUSSIAN NOBLE FOUND

Fidden Wealth Estimated At $3,000,000; Goes To State

MOSCOW, June 27.—(AP)—Soviet government agents today discovered a secret treasure trove valued at $3,000,000 hidden away in the former home of Prince Felix Youssoupoff, member of one of the oldest and wealthiest of Russan royal families. The Prince recently gained wide public notice in the United States by a suit to recover two rembrandts which he smuggled out of Leningrad (Petrograd) in 1919.

The Youssoupoff treasures found today were carefully concealed in a steel vault behind a brick wall. They consisted of hundreds of gold, silver and platinum articles of great beauty, many of them adorned with diamonds, pearls, sapphires and rubies. The riches were hidden by the Youssoupoff family prior to their flight from Russia following the revolution, say soviet officials.

Among the articles found were two gorgeous necklaces weighing a pound and a half each and consisting of a multitude of diamonds and rubies. Several similar discoveries of hidden jewels have been made since the revolution and the soviet authorities say that undoubtedly many more such stores of wealth will be brought to light.

All such articles, it is stated, become state property and will be turned over to soviet museums.

DEPUTY SHERIFF IS LOST.

Party Misses Affair Between Eastland and San Antonio.

SAN ANTONIO, June 27.—A lost deputy sheriff of Eastland county was the subject of an inquiry at the Bexar county sheriff's office Saturday morning. He is believed to be "somewhere between Eastland and San Antonio."

The deputy, W. F. Whaley, was a member of a party en route to San Marcos. Other members of the party arrived in San Antonio Friday night and camped at Brackenridge park, the rendezvous designated. Saturday morning they left for San Marcos, leaving word at the sheriff's office for Whaley to follow.

RAINS COOL OFF TEXAS.

DALLAS, June 27.—Recent cooling rains showed their effect in lowered temperatures throughout Texas today. While last week 100 and over was common, in the 24 hours ending 8 a. m. today the recorded temperature was 98, registered at Paris, Lampasas and Henrietta. Brownsville registered the coolest with 82. Galveston had 86 for its high and 78 for low. Many temperatures went down to the cool stage, Amarillo for instance registering 62 for the low and Lubbock 58.

NO one can justly say he makes the most of his opportunities to get ahead in the world if he knows how to save money and then lets it lie idle—producing nothing—instead of investing it and making it earn MORE money. Isn't that the logical, sensible thing to do? Teach your dollars to have more cents. INVEST YOUR SAVINGS.

You will be entitled to receive $105 a year if you invest in only 15 shares of Southwestern Power & Light Co. Preferred Stock. In only 12 months the dividends earned by your shares would amount to $105. YOU would not have to do a tap of work for that $105. Your savings, invested in the stock, would have done the work and turned the wages earned (the $105) over to you. Investing is an up-to-date progressive way of making money. Do not confuse "investing" with "speculating." Lots of folks don't realize the difference. "Speculating" means taking chances; running risks; subjecting your hard-earned dollars to perils and hazards—what many people call "stock gambling." INVESTING does not consist of plunging or blindly taking chances. Investing means putting your money to work in some firmly established business where your dollars will be SAFE and where they will steadily and surely earn more dollars for you. And that is just what happens when you buy shares of—

TURGEON HITS HOMER; MARTY POLES TRIPLE

Golvin Slaps Pinch Single In Fourth to Send In Pair

HOUSTON, June 27.—Bob Osborn pitched the Spudders into their second straight victory today over the Buffs, Wichita Falls taking the two-game series final, 7 to 2.

The Spudders routed Goodwin in seven innings, being the second defeat registered against the Houston pitcher-manager in 13 starts. Wichita Falls connected for 11 safe hits in all and bunched these blows to good advantage.

Big Fourth Inning.

Both teams scored one run in the second, but the Spudders got to Goodwin in the fourth for three, sewing up the game. Turgeon opened the second with a single down the third base line. Golvin struck out and Turgeon was thrown out attempting to pilfer second. Then Dorman doubled to left. Query sent him home with a single to right, but was thrown out himself trying to stretch the clout into a two-bagger. The Buff run came by virtue of Gainer's double and single by McCurdy.

In the fourth round Bodie led off with a single past third. Fitzgerald beat out a bunt, sending Bodie to second. Turgeon hit to the box, filling the bases when Goodwin threw low to second. Golvin then followed up with a single to right, scoring both Bodie and Fitzgerald. Turgeon went to third. Dorman fouled out to first. Turgeon scored when Query grounded out to Gainer unassisted. Osborn grounded out to third.

The Spudders scored another in the fifth when Bodie doubled to center, and came home on Powell's muff of Fitzgeralds fly ball. There were two out when the run was scored.

Cal Triples.

Turgeon hit his homer in the sixth. He was leading off. The visitors counted again in the seventh. After Osborn had fouled out, Tanner singled down the third base line and came to the plate on triple to center by Callaghan. Callaghan was out away at the pan when Bodie hit to second. Bodie stole second and Fitzgerald struck out.

The other Houston marker was scored in the ninth. McCurdy opened with a single to center. Fuller forced him at second. Hollohan, batting for Burns, was walked. Kane grounded out to first, both runners advancing. Gallagher singled to left, scoring Fuller. Powell grounded out to short.

Wolff Captures Trans-Mississippi Golf Title, 2 and 1

OMAHA, Neb., June 27.—(AP)—Clarence Wolff, St. Louis, today won the trans-Mississippi golf championship at the Omaha field club by defeating Arthur Bartlett of Ottoumwa, Iowa, 2 and 1.

To win title, Wolff set a course record of 70 for the reconstructed links and gained a lead of 7 up in the forenoon round, only to see his large margin vanish momentarily while Bartleet made a new record of 69 in the second round. The contest furnished probably the most spectacular scoring that ever marked the finals of any major championship and it was only by returning to better than par that Wolff managed to nose out a victory.

The match disclosed no really poor shots during the whole 36 holes. Wolff half topped a couple of shots and he shanked his approach once but he more than made up for these few slight errors by sinking putts from all over the green, on a dozen holes.

Bartlett was slightly out-driven most of the time, but his chip shots were deadly most of the way. The result hinged almost entirely on the putting and at this Wolff had slightly the better of the argument. There were only two sixes, Bartlett geeting six on the 432 yard fourth in the morning and Wolff the like on the same hole in the afternoon.

Broadway Jones Victor By Neck In Latonia Derby

King Nadi Races Second, But Flying Ebony Has No Show

LATONIA, Ky., June 27.—Fast, plucky and ridden with marvelous skill Broadway Jones of the Idle Hour stables won the Latonia derby from a field of the best in eastern and western stables. It was a race during which 30,000 track fans—a colorful and lustry throng—shouted and yelled as first one and then another horse took the lead. Broadway Jones had run the mile and a half in 2:31, just four fifths of a second under the record, to win by a neck from King Nadi.

At the barrier Captain Hal took the lead, closely followed by Broadway Jones, King Nadi, Flying Ebony and Millwick with the rest of the field strung behind.

On the first dash past the judge, stand Swope held a half length advantage with Captain Hal, Step Along, Broadway Jones and the others trailing. Step Along went up in front at the mile. Swope held in restraint was second and Broadway Jones was nursing along in third. Step Along and Swope fell out on the back stretch, where King Nadi began going strong, falling into second place with Broadway Jones at the rail in front.

King Nadi running hard under the whip came up to within a neck of the winner. From here on it was a sprinting duel. The king slowly crept up until at the eighth pole he apparently was about to catch the leader. Jockey Meyer gave his colt the gun and they came in under the wire not a neck apart. It was a thrilling finish between these two.

Flying Ebony, the winner of the Kentucky derby running under top weight of 126 pounds, did not have a show to win the $5,000 bonus offered to the horse winning both the Kentucky and Latonia derby.

Hennessey And Casey Advance In British Meet

WIMBLEDON, June 27.—With the last eight of the men's singles fairly well known after a week of the annual all-England tennis classic interest centered today in the doubles where two Americans advanced to second round.

John Hennessey of Indianapolis and Ray Casey of San Francisco beat the Australians, A. R. Taylor and R. W. Heath, 6-4, 8-10, 6-3, 6-2, and Lucien E. Williams of Chicago and J. B. eFnno of Boston defeated J. R. Sherwell and H. C. Eltringham, 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 7-9, 8-6.

Louis B. Dailey Jr. of East Orange, N. J., paired with the youn, English player, F. H. Jarvis, defeated the veteran English international, O. G. N. Turnbull and J. B. Gilbert, 7-5, 5-7, 6-0, 5-7, 6-3.

J. O. Anderson of Australia defeated Jacques Brugnon of France 3-6, 7-9, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen moved along serenely on her way to the finals of the woman's singles, swamping Mrs. Beamish of England, 6-0, 6-0.

Casey and Hennessey played with their usual dash and fire and while they had some difficulty during the first two sets in the end they left no doubt as to their superiority over the Australians. Both Americans played the net game whenever their opponents allowed them to get into inner courts. The Australians seemed unable to anticipate the effects of Casey's terrific vollies.

San Antonio's Bears Grab Wierd Affair From Sports, 12-11

BEAUMONT, June 27.—Beaumont's cellarites captured one game and tied the other of a fast played double header with the champion Cats here Saturday aftrnoon, winning the first, 11 to 3, and knotting the count in the second, four-all, the last game going the full nine innings, when it was called so the Cats could catch their train. The Exporters pounded Head and Kemner hard in the first fray, amassing 15 hits and 11 tallies, with Leach leading the field with two doubles, a triple and a single in five trips to the plate. The Cats rallied in the sixth inning to chase Oran O'Neal to the showers and tie the score. Walkup and Foreman finished the game, both southpaws hurling great ball.

WACO, June 27.—Curley Brown could not stop Waco today, neither could Jack Tesar, while Lyle stopped Dallas after Bill Gould and Joe Gleason had failed to do so. As a result Waco won the slugfest by a score of 9 to 7. Bill Gould and Brown both starred at the bat even though they were not successful in the box, Gould hitting a homer with two on in the fourth, while Brown hit a double and a homer. Manager Pratt led the Waco attack, enjoying a perfect day, while Hack Miller was Dallas' leading hitting star with two doubles, a homer and a single. Cohen and Foss starred in the field. The score:

Hornsby Latest Wonder Leader

For a young man to step into the fight of the National league as manager of a team that had been moribund, and lift that team from last place to fifth place in 18 days, is churning up the surface of the old organization until it is covered with whitecaps, writes John B. Foster, editor of the Spalding Guide.

That is what Hornsby's famous yeast has done.

Only last Decoration day morning, the St. Louis Nationals were in last place, feared by none and admired by few. The older managers of the circuit had already counted up about so many victories over St. Louis.

In half a month the Cardinals were in fifth place, something like 150 points higher than they had been, and one eastern manager had gone out of St. Louis with a lot of respect for the team, and another had been driven to fight over his defeats.

If that isn't the highest standard of travel and progress that has been set in the National league in the last 15 years or so, what is?

There have been times when folks in the National and friends of the National have complained about the depressed condition of the circuit in which one club has predominated for so long that the other seven have phobia whenever New York is mentioned.

Maybe it is going to be cured. We imagine we see a remedy. The St. Louis club is being favored for the moment, but wouldn't it be a good idea for the National if Hornsby's yeast could be spread around

GREEN BILLED WITH DUKE ON FRIDAY SLATE

Levine Meets Rodrigues In Eight Round Bout

Probably the fistic card which will draw more glove enthusiasts to the ringside than any other program put on by the maulers so far this year is billed for Friday night in the American legion arena at Eleventh and Ohio with Duke Trammel, sturdy young Fort Worth welter, meeting Bobby Green, San Antonio veteran, in a 12-round main event.

Green, it will be remembered by closer followers of things fisticuff, is the walloper who probably has come the nearest to turning back the king of them all at his weight, Mickey Walker, the slashing welterweight champion.

Green Tough One.

For seven rounds last year in his embroglio with Walker, Green beat the champion but finally succumbed to the terrific attack for which the Irishman is famous.

If the veteran has not slipped a great deal over the past several months, and from press reports he has not, Trammel may find the traveling exceedingly difficult.

The youthful Fort Worth mug masseur, the boy who packs the meanest sock of any in his class over the southwest and possibly the south, has been training carefully, according to Promoter Wofford, and will be in the condition which will be required to cope with Green, who rates as the most experienced and toughest opponent that has ever been carded for him.

Big Crowd Expected.

Green, ever a great drawing card and a hard fighter, may be expected by many to defeat Trammel, and any time you can get Duke licked you're going to have a packed house there to see it done. For this reason, the legion expects the biggest crowd of the year. It's not because Trammel is unpopular, but because a defeat here for him ranks as the extraordinary. In fact, the Fort Worth lad probably has a larger following than any fighter who has ever appeared in a Wichita Falls ring.

Green was wired transportation Saturday and is expected in Wichita Falls tonight. He is to train at the legion hall the rest of the week until the day before the fight.

Tabby Levine, Wichita Falls bantam, and Blas Rodrigues, Torreon flyweight, are matched for an eight-round semi-final. Quite a bit of interest is attached to this bout.

Has Jawn's Luck Broken? Certainly Looks That Way

Has John McGraw's luck turned? asks Joe Vila in the New York Sun For many years the famous leader of the Giants went through championship seasons with practically everything breaking in his favor. His star players seldom were seriously injured and critics in hostile cities insisted that his numerous triumphs were due more to good fortune than to first class performances on the field.

"The Giants always play under a lucky star." That was the comment whenever the Giants won ames away from the Polo Grounds, particularly in the west, where McGraw's men invariably were panned and ridiculed. But from the way the Giants now are fighting under various handicaps, it would appear that McGraw no loner is able to avoid the jinxes that play important roles in the national pastime.

Four straight defeats just sustained by the Giants in Pittsburg were largely due to the enforced absence of Frisch, Lindstrom and Groh. With a makeshift infield, the National league champions couldn't stand up against the splendid playing of the Pirates. McGraw, in addition to having several pitchers nursing lame arms, was forced to discipline Virgil Barnes for breaking the rules of discipline.

Incidentally, Barnes, a capable boxman, may be laid up with a sprained ankle during the period of his suspension. But in spite of the baleful influence of a mysterious hoodoo, the Giants still are in the thick of the fight and are expected to pull through as soon as their crippled stars again are in good trim.

Construction Of Muny Courts To Start This Week

Listen, netsters!

Work will begin this week on Municipal club tennis courts, according to announcement made at the club Saturday.

The courts, three of them, are to be placed where the eighteenth green is now situated, just a short distance from the club house. The green will be moved up on the hill southeast of its present location, making a dog leg hole.

This announcement should prove one of great joy to a number of Wichita Falls racqueteers, for the netmen have been flooding the Record News with queries as to when construction of the courts probably will begin.

THIS WEEK'S CARD

Twilight league: American Refiners versus Wichita Falls Electrics this afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock. Security Nationals versus Texhomas, Tuesday. Ludlam and Riggs versus Monroe's Travelers, Thursday.

Sunday School league: First Presbyterians versus First Christians, Monday. Grace Methodists versus Floral Heights Methodists, Wednesday. First Baptists versus First Methodists, Friday.

The outstanding features of the past week were the more or less surprising victory by the Texhoma crew over American Refiners Monday in a playoff of tie for first half honors, and the advance of the Security National bank team into a tie with the Americans for the league leadership.

Race All Mottled.

Texhomas were not doped to beat the Americans nor had many suspected the Bankers of being powerful enough after their mediocre showing in the first half of the race to climb out front simultaneously with the splitting of the season. The two upsets have changed the entire aspect of the Twilight race. Texhomas, of course, will be in the play-off at the close of the season instead of the Americans providing the Americans don't win the last half. And there's a chance of Rabbit Gordon's outfit winning the second half. On the other hand, Hugh Cotner's Bankers have taken a new lease and are bidding strongly to step out and leave the rest of the pack behind. The Refiners are still a source of misery for the five other teams, and Monroe's Travelers who finished the first half running with a stiff spurt that took both the leaders, Texhomas and Americans, into camp, although losing to Security the past week, 4 to 0, still packs a potent threat.

Four Teams Have Chance.

The outlook from this angle igves any one of four teams a good chance to grab the last half gonfalon. Ludlam and Riggs and the Electrics apparently are out of it, but, of course, there always is possibility of the tail-enders slipping up and giving the leaders real trouble.

That titular combat staged Mon-Americans and Texhomas netted day at Spudder park between the The Record News milk and ice fund a tidy sum. League President L. O. Landon turned over a check to The Record News Saturday, the proceeds of the game, amounting to $73.25. Admissions was 25 cents a head.

President R. O. Harvey of the Spudders turned over the park to the Amatuers gratis, and J. Will Gray, club secretary, saw to it that everything was in shipshape order for the Twilighters. There were no expenses incurred by the league in using the park, although offers were made to the Spudder moguls to cover any possible item of cost that may have cropped up.

COTNER TALKS.

Hugh Cotner, treasurer of the Twilight league and business manager of the Security Nationals, advances a number of weighty arguments against Twilight league players participating in Sunday School league games. Cotner's aim in bringing up the subject at this period is to slowly turn the league in favor of such a move and then at re-organization of the league next year vote for such an appendage to the constitution.

Cotner points out that competitive spirit is injured to an extent in that players from, say his team, and players from, let us say, the Texhomas join hands on a Sunday school nine. After playing together on one team when they clash as members of two other teams in another league the fighting spirit is not there as much as it would be had not there competing athletes fraternized week in and week out as members of a Sunday School league club. That's one point.

Give Youngsters Chance.

The Sunday School league is made up partially of younger players than those who participate in Twilight league games. The older players, when they drop down in the Sunday School league, are knocking out any number of youngsters from playing, says Cotner. For every veteran Twilight league player in the Sunday School league, no doubt, avers Cotner, some younger athlete could be picked up and be given a chance. As it is, the youngsters are finding it difficult to break into organized amateur pla. Keep the Twilighters out of the Sunday School league and it will benefit both leagues in the long run. As the Twilighters get older and retire from baseball there will be more experienced young players to take their places, thereby keeping up the standard of the league. Whereas, many of these youngsters will be knocked out of gaining lots of experience as long as the older players compete in both leagues.

Works Hardship.

In some cases, especially with the pitchers, Twilight teams at times will be forced to come up short-handed because their players worked over time in a Sunday School game the day before. And still more if the leagues were not interlocked, that is, teams in each organization using the same players, there could, should the Sunday Schoolers feel strong enough, be an annual "world series" for the city championsh/ That's something that could not possibly be undertaken with the present system of play.

Boiled down, Cotner's plea is: "Give the youngsters a chance. Speed up Twilight league play." And as for practice games, the Twilighters could arrange any number of contests with outside teams on off days.

The Security team, by the way, with the possible exception of Curren Brown who may not be able to make the trip, will journey to Davidson, Okla., today for a game there this afternoon.

Harold Lesley was missed from the Baptists' lineup Friday, causing quite a bit of comment. One fan advanced the theory that the Sunday School leaguer's new $15 "sport model" Ford had managed to get the best of him.

Peyton Joins Texhomas.

"Pap" Peyton, former Texas university athlete and, by the way, captain of the 1923 Longhorn cage quintet, has joined the Texhoma pitching staff. Peyton recently came from Houston to Wichita Falls where he burned up one of the Bayou City amateur leagues.

Wichita Falls isn't the only place O'Dell McDuffy can pitch good baseball. The Texhoma and First Methodist star heaver went down to Olney Friday and beat the Loving club by a 4 to 3 score. He allowed Loving only six bingles.

Jimmy Shipley is still having trouble with ankles which were injured recently in a game with the First Methodists when he collided with Johnny McMahon on the third base line, then later in the same game fell over first base in going after a bad throw.

Everett Blue has signed up with the Grace Methodists in the Sunday school loop. Brooks is highly elated over the landing of the Wichita Falls Elecericompany's player and says he will be used in the Methodist lineup as a regular. Blue celebrated by slamming out a home run in the first game with the Methodists Monday against the Presbyterians.

Electrics Lose Johnson.

The Wichita Falls Electrics have lost first baseman Elmo Johnson, who recently returned to Fort Worth, his home town. Johnson was playing the bag in great style and was fast coming through in his hitting. The loss of Johnson was a severe blow to Skipper Norwood's hopes.

THEM STARS.

Hood Kizziar has been making a great showing at third base for Texhoma and Shadie Hale has been going as well at short. This change seems to have boosted Texhoma's fielding ability to a great extent. Shadie and Hood are putting a lot of weight into their blows and are hitting right along at a merry clip. Both are also coming through frequently in the art of pilfering the cushions. Hood stole three Thursday, and three the game before. Although Shadie was held to the bases Thursday he has been climbing on the league leader, Red Belcher.

Clothiers Still Hustle.

Ludlam and Riggs are trying to build up a ball team that will get into the fight and stay in there. They have opened a place for C. R. Ward, Texhoma utility player, and are trying to land him on the nine. They have also signed up Freddie Boone.

Shep Joins Texhomas.

Shep Cannon is now listed as the 16th member of the American Refinery club. Shep followed Hoop into the American lineup and will probably pitch Sunday against the Wichita Falls Electrics.

Ought to Be a Southpaw.

McDUFFY FLASHES.

To O'Dell McDuffy, First Methodist chunker, goes the honor of pitching the best game in the Sunday school loop of the last half. Mac tossed the game against the Christians last week and held them to one hit. A walk and a pair of errors netted a run in the third inning. For the first two he set them down in order. Curren Brown's grounder in the fourth bounded up and dazed Skipper Boone for a moment and went for the only blow of the Christians. McDuffy then fanned Nichols, McConnell, and Bailey in succession to retire the side. Ralph Walker pitched the fifth inning and turned 'em back three up and three down.

Buster's Versatile.

Captain Buster Morgan, of the First Baptists, may well be termed the utility player of the club. Friday Buster started at short, Temple Shell was hammered fro mthe box and in the shifting of the lineup Buster found himself in centerfield. Later he went behind the bat when Leggett was shifted to center.

Herb Brown and Don Faichney, a pair of the local sandlotters, are going down to Fort Worth for the Fourth of July. Herb will visit with a sister while in Cowtown. Both intend to see the Spudders and Panthers hook up in the double bill scheduled for Fort Worth on that date.

Maybe Oonly a Rumor.

It is rumered that Dub Davis has been sent to Texhoma to help Vernie Ross handle the Texhoma heavies in the last half.

Henry Shaw has come back with Ludlam and Riggs and will be again in his place in the infield. Shaw checked out with them some time back and is now back with the team in their latest shift up.

Wortham is second the Woodbine pool, with 35,800 from 319 wells, a loss of 1,090 barrels.

ATHLETIC CLUB PLANNED FOR WICHITA FALLS

Beattie Announces Boxing Card July 4 in New Arena

Plans are under way, announces Sam Beattie, for the organization of a Wichita Falls business men's athletic club, and application has been made to the state of Texas for a charter. The purpose of the organization will be for the creation and maintenance of a gymnasium in Wichita Falls, says Beattie.

Board of directors will be appointed this week, according to Beattie, and a boxing program will be staged the night of July 4 in an arena which is to be erected at Eleventh and Indiana.

Corbett and Varner.

Pat Corbett, Oklahoma City welter who has fought in Wichita Falls several times, has been matched to meet Walter Varner of Fort Worth in a ten-round main event.

Kid Granite, who has appeared at Lake Wichita in several bouts, has been booked for a return match with Jack Denton, the Tahoka lightweight. The Tahoka cowpuncher lost to Granite on a technical kayo in their former engagement. Denton has been training hard, and believes he can stay in with Granite this time. The bout is to be over the eight-round route.

Kid Hayes, Wichita Falls lightweight who has been fighting on the coast the past several years, has been matched with Olin Hearn, Wichita Falls printer-fighter, in a four-rounder.

Club Seeks Name.

Billy Clark, the Dallas welter, meets Jess Byrd of Wichita Falls. The number of rounds for this fight has not been arranged.

The card is to be completed with a battle royal, all black.

In addition to the boxing programs, other entertainments will be offered in the arena, according to Beattie.

The person offering the most satisfactory name for this club will be given a season pass to the club and all events connected with it, announced Beattie.

All such names are to be submitted not later than next Wednesday. Letters can be addressed to Beattie at 905 Denver street or the Record News.

U. S. Polo Team Loses to India

LONDON, June 27.—(AP)—East met West at polo in the somewhta neutral field of Hullugham this afternoon and the West, represented by the champion United States army team was beaten, 13 goals to 3 by the famous Indian four of the Maharaja of Jodphur.

Staleness after their recent matches against the British army team in which the Americans retained the military championship won at Meadow Brook last year was largely responsible for the defeat today. Having beaten the British twice it was unnecessary for the third match, scheduled for today to be played so the crack Indian aggregation was sent against the victorious invaders from across the Atlantic.

Lamprecht Grabs College Golf Title

MONT CLAIR, N. J., June 27.—(AP)—The portals of college fame unfolded today to admit a new golf champion—George F. Lamprecht of Cleveland—representing Tulane university, who only two years ago was eliminated in the first round.

Lamprecht was brilliant in his early combats but he exceeded himself in the last two days when he drove Steve Berrien of Wesleyan to defeat, 11 up and nine to play. And then in the final round today actually romped away with the verdict over the great little western star, Jack Westland of the University of Washington, nine and seven.

Sensational golf which at times bordered on the miraculous, was furnished by the big, light-haired son of the mid west in the 29 holes necessary to his conquet.

Oklahoma Fishermen Must Wear License In Middle of Backs

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 27.—No more can Oklahoma anglers recline against the saplings along the water's edge as they while away the warm hours with rod and reel.

Beginning today every person who fishes in Oklahoma must display squarely in the middle of his back the state license without which he cannot drop artificial bait before the eyes of hungry fish.

The last session of the state legislature decided that game wardens had a right to expect this much cooperation from the men they are set to watch. The new law provides that the license must be pinned or sewed in the center of the back of the fisherman's outer garments.

MUNY GOLFERS PLAN PAIR OF TOURNAMENTS

Nafziger Qualifying Rounds This Week—Flag Play July 4

Qualifying rounds in the Nafziger cup tourney will be in order this week at the Municipal golf club, announces J. T. Yeargin, club manager. Players will have until next Sunday night in which to turn in their scores. The cup must be won twice in succession for permanent possession. Yeargin won the tournament in 1923, the first year the trophy was put into competition. Frank Collier captured a leg on the trophy in 1924.

In all probability there will be several tournaments this summer for the cup, said Yeargin, unless, of course, either he or Collier win a second time.

Announcement was made Saturday that showers and lockers in the new club house are ready for use and that the entire building probably will be finished up by the middle of the week. Screens will have been placed on the windows by that time, and the painters are expected to be through by about ednesday.

The grand opening day is scheduled for July 11, at which time an elaborate program will be held. Plans have not advanced far enough as yet for details of the program to be announced.

There is to be a huge flag tournament July 4 as part of the club celebration. Plans for other events and a program are being made.

TEXAS OIL CO. POSTS BETTER FIGURES THERE

BIG BUYS MADE

Barney Carter District Blows Up; Big Lake on Rampage Once More

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 27.—Yielding to the producer under pressure of a declining light oil production is seen in the action of the Texas Pipe Line company in posting a prive of $2.25 a barrel for 42 and above in the Woodbine district of East Central Texas last Friday. It was a new grade, Texas having paid $2 for Currie and Richland crude, and Humble maintaining the same price.

There has been a consistent decline in the Woodbine district since Wortham touched its peak of 167,000 barrels January 16 last. The entire group of six pools there, including the new one with two wells, produces but 82,000 barrels at present. Contrast this with the total production during Wortham's peak amounting to about 240,000 barrels, and it may be seen what the light oil production has lost. Again, one year ago Powell alone was doing more than 82,000 barrels and the remainder of the group sent the total well past 125,000 barrels.

Woodbine Sand Falls Off.

The Woodbine sand pools are probably at their lowest point since before Powell was discovered. These pools supply refineries on the Gulf coast, as well as Atlantic seaboard refineries, as when their output is down, there must be heavy drafts on other sections of the country. Not even the Big Lake field of Reagan county can offset this loss.

It is stated in the announcement of the advance that the new grade is to take care of the producers in the new Richland-Currie district, where the oil tests as high as 4 dgravity. There is some oil in the old Currie and Richland pools, though very little, that will come under the new grading.

It is doubtful whether the posting indicates a rising market. It does, however, reveal the present strength o fthe crude market, when refiners are demanding every bit of oil they can get and the big companies are going out into the open market and buying any and all oil producing properties offered.

Buy It in the Ground.

Realizing that the independent refiner will lure the independent producer to his pipe line with premiums, the big companies are determined to reinforce their own position by owning every barrel of production their own refineries require.

The last month has seen a multitude of sales, the total of which each week is more than a million dollars, and the end is not yet. Besides those reported, it is known that there are other sales pending which, in some instances, involve production of more than 1,000 barrels daily.

Last week the Midwest Exploration company, subsidiary of Midwest Refining company, paid $250,000 cash and $500,000 in oil for 1,375 acres in Wheeler county, whose total oil production is about 75 barrels, and part of that from a granite wash pay.

Barney Carter a Bloomer.

The Barney Carter district eight miles north of Ranger in southern Stephens county is a bloomer. Its total recovery will be nil compared to smaller pools and its sole hope lies now in the Ranger, or McCleskey, pay 200 feet lower than the Lake Eastland sand, latter at 3,525 feet.

Dry holes in the Lake sand now limit the pool to the southeast, the southwest and there is only a narrow outlet to the south. It will not go very far north, northwest or northeast as the discovery well found the pay 40 feet lower than the highest well in the field, a wide margin in that territory. There are three wells which are to seek the Ranger pay. The older wells in the pool are down almost to nothing. Wells of 2,500 initial there are making barel, 200 barrels, and not two months old.

The subsidiary of the Billsby interests (Chicago), Deep Rock Oil company, will get its first wildcat in West Texas under way within the next two weeks. Location has been made near the center of the southeast of section 88, W. & N. W. survey, southeastern Howard county, for No. 1 Hyman ranch. It is a wildcat country, but there are three other tests drilling or starting and two prospective ones within a ten-mile radius. The district is about 14 miles south and west of Westbrook field, Mitchell county, West Texas.

Take Over World Well.

The World well was taken over by Humble Oil & Refining company and Marland Oil company of Texas last Monday after Chester R. Bunker of Fort Worth and associates get their $350,000 check, with $1,050,000 in oil to come when the oil is produced. It made 10 barrels by swabbing from Monday to Tuesday, 116 next day and then shut down for a new boiler.

The Big Lake field, which started it all, was more or less defined to the northwest when Big Lake Oil company No. 29, southeast corner of section 25, block 9, university lands, filled up with oil but refused to flow in the regular sand at 3,021 to 3,040 feet, indicating that a location north there would be a dry hole.

Texon Oil & Land company No. 13, center of the northeast of the southwest of section 35, block 9, is flowing 95 barrels an hour at 2,968 to 2,986 feet, an inside well.

Texon made four new locations for group one last week and one for group two, latter an eastern offset to Big Lake No. 29, while Big Lake Oil company made two, for Nos. 47 and 48. Group one numbers were 26, 27, 28 and 29.

The new Richland-Currie district yielded its second well last Monday when Graves & Cammack No. 1 Stubbs, Boren survey, made 75 barrels of oil and 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas at 2,991 feet, indicating that pool to be very treacherous. It is three locations east of Barkley & Meadows No. 1 Hillburn, Boren survey, which has settled to 150 to 175 barrels at 2,991 feet. There are about 16 locations, derricks, rigs and drilling wells in that district.

No. Texas Has Eventful Week

Emerging once more from a more or less peaceful lethargy North Texas oil development broke into the important column during the past week with several outstanding features. Prominent among them was the discovery of a new pool in Central Archer county, the completion of a big well in Southwest Baylor county, a wildcat completion of major importance to North Montague county, grouping of activity in several newly discovered districts in South Archer county, and two big production sales.

Production Sales Put More Oil Into Big Company Hands in Wichita Area

Murchison and Fain sold a number of their properties in North Archer, and in the Litchfield and Gambrell pools, some 1,600 barrels a day production of better than 300 acres for a reported consideration of $1,200,000. Magnolia was the buyer. Dyson et al are reported to have sold their 60 acres in the Noble area with one well making better than a hundred barrels a day from an 1,800-foot stratum to the Humble for a consideration reported at $165,000.

The two big buys, following upon the heels of others not so remote mark just another lap in the race to obtain the loose production in North Texas. The eventual effect on the small refiner in this territory is of more than passing interest in Wichita Falls.

The markets, both refined and crude, remained steady, with little flurry in any commodity to create any excitement. The crude situation is regarded as stronger than in months by producers and an increase in prices is expected. Generally speaking in town as well as in the field the hot weather is proving a big deterrent to real activity. Many operators are away on vacation and little can be expected until September.

What may be looked upon as Archer's new pool came in Barkley and Meadows' No. 1, Wilson, sw of the NE of NW of block 88, ATNCL, north of Archer City, showing for a 150 barrel well and going on the pump, one-foot of sand at 1,524 feet. The well is a half mile away from some old small wells which have never amounted to much. T. G. Lomax is offsetting the well to the west and Freeman and Hampton are starting up in the northeast corner of block 1008, ATNCL, block 85, still further west.

Bridwell-Heydrick Make Extension To Oil Investment Company Pool

Southwest of this pool Bridwell and Heydrick have effecaed a substantial southeastward extension to the 1,000-foot sand in the old Oil Investment company pool in their No. 1, Oil Investment company, in the northwest corner of a small tract in the southeast corner of the John Richards survey, block 125, standing with a hole full of oil from sand at 1,437-39 feet and recokned as a 60-75 barrel well.

The Kentucky pool at this writing is promising much more in the No. 3, well of Burns and Maxson in the southeast corner of lot 1, block 75, ATNCL, coring sand at 1,405-07 feet, the level, accounting for 61 feet difference in surface elevation, meaning a rise of about ten feet over a distance of about 2,000 feet. Casing will be set to test.

On the east end of the Harmel area core-drilling by Marland and the Murchison and Fain Oil company proved its worth when the first of a group of three wildcats on the east line of block 2405, TE&LCO survey, was completed and placed on the pump for 60 barrels from sand at 1,266-78 feet. No. 2, just north is a fishing job on the sand at 1,266 feet, while the No. 3, just south is on the sand and drilling in at 1,263 feet. Gulf is offsetting No. 1, on the Morrison. The three wildcats were drilled with the findings in a core-drilling job nearby the basis for the work.

Southeast Baylor County Shines And Then Flickers As Area Is Defined

About two miles west on the other end of the Harmel area Humble is threatening to extend production a location on the Brom land in block 1582 with its No. 2 well, on sand at 1,386 feet. County Oline Oil company's offset to their No. 1, on the Stampfl-Roberts is a 150 barrel well on the swab from sand at 1,397-00 feet.

SE Bayor Co.

The big completion of the week came following rather disappointing development in the new southeast Baylor county pool. About two locations east of the discovery well Maeg and Staniforth have been swabbing their No. 2, Mills, NW corner of the E50 acres of the SE 1-4 of block 2428 at a rate better than 300 barrels a day from sand topped at 1,419 feet, ten feet higher than in the discovery well. Water broken in, however, and the well is a 75 barreler.

The pool as it now stands shows two dryp holes, a northwest offset by Gulf, andt he Maer-Staniforth No. 1, Mills, 600 feet south of the big well and just a little southeast of the discovery. Texas company's west offset to the discovery is drilling past 1,300 feet while the Shaw-Rathke north offset has been saved from abandonment by the discovery of a little oil in the hole from sand at 1,452 feet, considerably deeper than was expected. Any scope that the pool may attain is seemingly now limited to the northeast with small possibilities for the southwest. The pool is not considered an extension to the ald Cranfill area at all now.

Norday Area.

The Norday area north of Swastika shows a number of drilling wells grouped around the discovery, about half of which should be in this week. Empire is drilling three, Cullum one, Norday two.

Marland-Humble Are Dry in Krupka Wildcat Due East of Swastika Area

East of the Waite Phillips Wolfe pool Anderson-Jeffers-Pritchard are on an oil sand at 1,350 feet in their No. 1, Wolfe, Hutton survey, but have a fishing job.

The new pool north of Olney shows two dry ones, Murchison and Fain on the Hausler and the Texas Unity No. 1, Hausler, north and west of Humble's big well of last week.

Marland and Humble are dry on their No. 1, Krupka, in the center of the north two-thirds of the J. Scott survey, east of Swastika, a real duster, dry and abandoned at 1,342 feet.

NW Olney District.

In the northwest corner of Olney where the ball park marks the northern limit to the city itself Murchison and Fain Oil company and Humble are drilling past 800 feet on their No. 1, Bloodworth, center of the west line of the SW quarter of block 157, TE&LCO survey, and due on the sand the first part of the week. A successful completion will start Olney townsite drilling.

Wichita county was quite with Texhoma scoring a new small pool south of Fowlkes Station in its No. M-1, Burnett, S&MGRRCO survey, section 8, abstract 270, a 75 barrel well from a 1,500-foot sand.

Nocona has a new light oil district opened in the Humphreys No. 1, Hinton, Alexander Coates survey, which at once opens a new area a mile and quarter from production there, is the deepest well in the county, and takes north Montague from the heavy oil class and puts it potentially in the light.

Wilbarger County Enjoys Flashy Week With Two Wildcat Discoveries

Wilbarger county had a flashy week too. There were two important wildcat strikes and a sale of production to liven the seven days. In the southwest of the southeast of the north-east of section 45, H&TCRRCO survey, block 4, north and west of the Noble-Dyson wells, Prairie Oil and Gas company has an oil well of some sort from a sandy lime at 2,322 feet. A lime was topped at 2,299 feet and drilled to 2,322 feet before it showed any oil. There is some dispute whether the pay is lime, sandy lime, or sand. The well has made several flows. Tankage is being erected and boilers moved back at this writing to prepare for further drilling with everything pointing to a nice well.

In the northwest of the southwest of section 47, H&TCRRCO survey, block 4, Beatty et al, had a well of sorts at 2,223 feet, but are drilling now at 2,240 feet in shale with some 500 feet of oil in the hole.

Dyson et al sold Humble 60 acres wit hone well making better than 100 barrels a day for a consideration of $165,000, reported. The area is between the Noble well and the Prairie well, and looks as good as anything else for the 2,300-foot sand.

May Be Big Well.

It is a noticeable thing that are comparatively few failures in the deep or 2,300-foot sand. The stratum may b espotted as elsewhere, but it is easily possible from what little is known of the horizon now that a large pool or so will be uncovered before development of the county is finished.

The Waggoner estate started its own drilling campaign during the week wit hthe first two of six tests to be drilled at its own expense on the pasture with cable tools. This is a distinct departure from the Waggoners.

Rainbow Bend Had Little Value Once

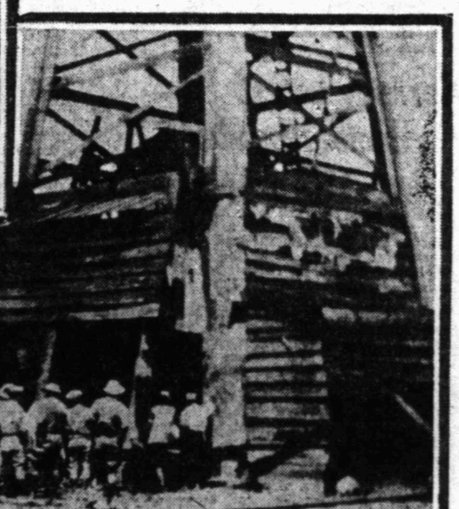

An interesting sidelight o. how oil values can change is recalled now that the big Wait-Phillips deal is off. When the Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company first bought the Burbank and Northern Oklahoma properties of the Waite-Phillips company, the Rainbow Bend leases were held, but not deveoped. They were offered in the first deal at a valuation of $12,000, but the Mid-Kansas rejected them as worthless, because of the early-day saying that "Cowley county is a graveyard of oil men's hopes."

From a valuation of $12,000 wth no takers to $12,000,000 is the value of the Rainbow Bend. today, and all within the span of two years.

The Rainbow Bend preoperties of the Waite Phillips company are easily its greatest producing asset. This pool was discovered late in 1923 and reached its first apex in 1924 and after a slump was given a great come-back. The Waite Phillips company sold one-half of its interest there to the Independent Oil and Gas company for better than $500,000 and the Okmulgee concern, which moves here July, in turn sold one-half of its one-half to the Marland Oil company for a similar sum.

Where Humble Paid a Million for a Wildcat

Crockett County Discovery Showing Off Before Company

The discovery well in West Texas' newest field is shown below. The upper picture is of the well flowing; the bottom shows a crowd typical of the first few days when it was still an unknown quantity.

Humble paid the World Publishing Company of Fort Worth more than $1,000,000 for the well and the holdings. Marland also has a half interest in the deal. The well was drilled by a company which obtained its capital through selling ten-dollar subscriptions to a Texas oil weekly, and was purely a promotion affair. It is located near Best in Crockett county, several miles southwest of the Big Lake field.

NORTH TEXAS OUTPUT DROPS 3,498 BARRELS

Throckmorton and Baylor Counties in Column Now

A decline of nearly 3,500 barrels in the daily average of North Texas oil fields and the inclusion of two new counties in the production column, Baylor and Throckmorton, are the two features to the production report for the Wichita Falls oil district this past week. Every area in the district, with the single exception of the Iowa Park sector showed declines, ranging from sharp cuts in the figures in Archer and Young to smaller decreases in other sections.

A detailed report follows:

Section—	Last Week	Week Before
Electra	16,820	17,110
Burkburnett	14,200	14,740
Iowa Park	4,220	3,885
Archer county	36,225	38,346
Clay county	455	469
South Vernon	8,970	8,993
Montague county	120	170
Young county	9,790	10,575
Jack county	.....	33
Throckmorton county	55	.....
Baylor county	60	.....
Totals	90,915	94,413

Decrease, 3,498 barrels.

Oil Gossip

Report in Wichita Falls yesterday had it that the Texas Pipeline company's increase of 42 degree gravity and above at Currie and on the fault line applied to north Texas also. The increase, a 25-cent raise, applied only to those districts however, and the local offices of the Texas Pipeline company denied throughout the day that there had been any change in north Texas.

C. R. Ward, Office manager for the Shamrock Oil company, is back in Wichita Falls with a tanned and swarthy skin after a month's vacationing at the Roosevelt dam in Arizona. The fishin's fine, he says.

L. M. Shadbolt hails from Cisco now. Not the deep stuff with a smile of disdain at Barney Carter, he hastens toe xplain, but the shollow Putnam and Cross Plains district where a thousand dollars drills a dry hole. Mr. Shadbolt reports increasing setivity in that area with a large number of operators coming in for tests and protection on the acreage.

He and associates are interesting themselves in something like a dozen wells to be started there shortly

Electra Becomes Real Oil Town As Texaco's No. 289 Is Completed

ELECTRA was officially christened an oil town this week with the first semi-completion of an oil well on its townsite property in the Texas company's No. 289, Waggoner, going on the pump now with the expectation of making a 100 barrel well or better from sand at 1,966-72 feet. The well is an offset to a Gulf producer on the Douglas, offsetting the Electra townsite to the east, that is pumping about 15 barrels a day from the same sand. Tubing and rods were being run in the well yesterday to set it to pumping.

Townsite drilling by the Texas company at Electra has a history all of its own. The Texas company held the leases on the townsite as a part of an original contract with the Waggoners; the Waggoners at the time sold Electrans their property retained the mineral rights, leasing this to the Texas company. When production on the Douglas farm east of the townsite approached the city limits the Texas company made preparations to drill their townsite leases.

The preparation was met with an ordinance prohibiting drilling within the city limits. The Texas company carried the question to the higher court at Fort Worth, where it was decided that they might drill all they pleased, that the leases were theirs, and their the ordinance under fire took no cognizance of Texas company property rights

The well drilled this past week is the first to be drilled by the Texas company since the decision was passed in their favor. Royalty on anything in the townsite reverts to the Waggoner estate.

News of the Fields

Throckmorton Test

E. M. Jones has made a location for a test just northwest of the town of Throckmorton. Throckmorton county, to be located 660 feet south and west of the northeast corner of section 275, B. B. B. & C. Ry survey.

Cooke County

Goodley Oil and Gas company No. 1 Florence, northern Cooke county, northeast of Gainesville 15 miles, was 3,425 feet and drilling in sticky gumbo at last reports, nearing the contract depth of 3,500 feet. It is located 180 feet south of the north line of block 63, Fanin county school lands.

Burns-Maxson, Tuberville

Burns and Maxson are pulling pipe to g odeeper after getting salt water in a sand at 1,052-43 feet in their No. 1, Turbville, located in the center of block 46, due east of the Major pool, Jefferson county school lands, south of Archer city, Archer countp.

Carter, Fletcher

Carter et al No. 1, Fletcher, located in the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of block 124 between the Oil Investment company stuff and the first Waite Phillips pool, is drilling again below 1,300 feet after fishing for several days at about that depath.

Grayson County Test

The Texas company's No. 1, Cannon, a mile north of Tioga, Grayson county, is a salt water well at 2,667 feet, and going deeper. The well created some excitement a few weeks ago when guards were put around the lease, the hole standardized and company officials put an air of mystery over it

The hole is being drilled on the basis of a good oil showing in another abandoned hole nearby.

Texhoma, Burnett

Texhoma Oil and Refining company has a derrick up for its No. 1, Burnett located 150 feet south and 150 feet west of the center of the north line of an eighty acre tract, the south half of the southeast quarter of section 2, HT&BRRCO survey, abstract 507, south of Fowlkes Station, south Wichita county. The lease is located just west of the "E" Burnett lease.

Consolidated, Cotton Co.

The Consolidated Oil company and Phillips Petroleum company are drilling deeper past a depth of 2,100 feet on its No. 1, Henderson, 26-4s-10w about six miles south of Temple, Cotton county, Okla. The hole has shown plenty of dry sand, some solid, some broken, from 500 feet on down, but nothing to justify setting casing to test.

Beatty, Waggoner

Beatty et al have about 500 feet of oil in the hole and are drilling past a last reported depth of 2,240 feet in shale in their No. 1, Waggoner in the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 47, H&TCRRCO survey, block 4, across the road from the Zacaquiesta ranch house, eastern Wilbarger county. The the well had about four feet of sand at 2,223-27 feet.

Simms Oil company has completed and placed on the pump its No. 2, Cheeves, located in the southwest corner of the south portion of its

THIRD SAND LOOMS

Federal Petroleum Company Gets Extension Well In Third Pay

By D. H. BANCROFT.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 27.—Smackover heavy oil production's excursion down the toboggan slide and the stationary attitude of storage figures were not long in producing results, a 10-cent raise posted during the week by Shreveport-El Dorado pipeline and Atlantic Oil Producing companies. It is believed to be the forerunner of further advances effecting the heavy grade in the immediate future and the lighter grades later on. The latter, however, may not be affected so soon, depending entirely upon how the new third sand pays off. Development of this stratum tapped two weeks ago is beginning to show results and within another two weeks its completions will be liberally scattered among Smackover's list.

North Side Booms.

The north side of the second sand area, in Ouachita county, appears most numerously in the last week's completions, showing a slightly better crop of wells than last week—not so many but larger. On the Union county side eight of the completions showed up badly cut by salt water and three of the north side completions were similarly cut. This reduced the average initial production per well beyond what it would have been, but even under this handicap Smackover completions this week as a whole were better producers than those of last week. There were no light oil completions save two in the new deep stuff, and the average for the 32 new wells was 1,094 barrels compared with 1,050 barrels for 51 completions last week.

Completions in the Shreveport district for the week totaled 49, nine less than last week, of which 41 were producers, 10 less than last week. Total new production was 35,441 barrels, a drop of 18,811 from last week. There were three gassers with 36 million feet capacity, two in the Waskom district of Harrison county, Texas, and one in the second sand in Smackover. El Dorado south pool showed up after a long absence with one completion for 110 barrels; Smackover registered 35 completions, 32 wells, one gasser and two failures, one of them junked. The second failure was one of the deepest holes in the field, Gilliland Oil company B-5 Myar estate in 30-15-16, far out on the western edge of the district in Ouachita county. The 32 new wells in Smackover had a total initial production of 35,002 barrels.

In Louisiana Cotton Valley had four completions, two of them cut so as to make a deep impression on their average.

Third Sand Play.

Chief development in the third Smackover sand was an extension of approximately four miles east of completions of the Federal Pet. Co. No. 7 Ballard in 10-16-15 making 900 barrels of oil at 2,650 feet. The oil, however, is accompanied by 2,100 barrels of salt water. On the west side of third sand pay as at present defined, Gulf Refining company got 40 barrels in No. 1 J. H. Fogg, 7-16-15, at 2,650 feet, the fourth third sand completion. It was followed late in the week by promise of a third sand completion two miles northeast of the discovery well in 31-15-15. The probable extension is Houston Oil company 3 Reynolds in 27-15-15 with casing set at 2,569 feet and test scheduled for next week. Should it pay off commercially, it will give the third sand a stretch of approximately six miles northeast-southwest.

Louisiana Quiet.

Even So—and Notwithstanding

If there are reasons for pessimism in the oil industry they are not apparent.

The flood of heavy Smackover crude has been easily digested. Once again production is on the decline and consumption, domestic and foreign, is heavily and continuously increasing.

Crude Oil is increasingly valuable.

Only the most approved Lease Tanks should be used thus conserving all the oil and all the gravity.

NEW BUILDINGS IN CITY SHOW GOOD HEADWAY

Two Office Buildings And Hospital Going Up Rapidly

Good headway was made last week on this city's major building operations which include two six-story office structures and two new hospitals. Considerable progress was also reported from numerous smaller projects under way in the business section.

Brick work was almost finished on the new Harvey-Snider building behind the City National bank, and another two or three days will see the exterior in a completed state. A vast amount of work remains to be done on the interior, however.

On the Perkins-Snider building at Ninth and Indiana forms have been set for pouring the sixth floor concrete and this will be concluded by Monday or Tuesday. Laying of the brick side walls will then start at once, it is presumed.

The first floor forms for the new four story hospital being erected by Drs. Jones, Lee and Keil at Eighth and Bluff have been set and all foundation work finished. Considerable work has also been done on the Hargrave, Walker and Graham hospital, going in at Eleventh and Grace.

Judge Is Told That Clara Kimball Young Wears Cheap Jewelry

LOS ANGELES, June 37.—While Clara Kimball Young remains in California she must set aside $1,400 of her weekly salary of $1,500 to satisfy a judgment of $60,000 registered against her here in March, 1924, according to an order issued in superior court yesterday.

The judgment against the former film star, now a vaudeville actress, was obtained by Robert W. Brownson, Detroit lawyer, for legal services. Miss Young was hailed off the stage in a local theatre yesterday and brought into the superior court, where the presiding judge attempting to determine the living costs of Miss Young learned:

That the ring she wore, apparently a two-karat diamond, was just an imitation costing less than five dollars.

A necklace that appeared to be a string of pearls was valued at $15 or $20 by Miss Young.

The ermine coat she wore on the stand was her most expensive article of apparel, Miss Young said. It cost $300.

SOL WINS DAY'S DECISION

Temperature Climbs to 103 Mark Again.

After a five round lapse in which he geve his weary and panting adversary a breathing spell, Old Kid Sol rushed from his corner again Saturday, beat a gasping Wichita Falls all around the ring and had him hanging on the ropes when time was called at darkness. The sun got a 103 degree decision during the day.

After a period of cool winds, partially cloudy skies and temperatures of less than 95, the blistering heat of Saturday was especially oppressive. Little or no wind stirred during the day and the rays beat down with wilting ferocity.

No immediate relief was held out for Sunday which, according to weather bureau reports, will be fair and warmer.

To Sell Land West Of City for Gardens

Announcement that a large tract of land on the Seymour road west of the city was being subdivided into small plats capable of irrigation and would be sold as garden sites was made Saturday by Welch, Richardson and Kemp, local real estate dealers who are handling the deal. The land, it is said, is of a fertile variety that, with proper irrigation, will be of high productivity.

SWIFT JUSTICE DEALT OUT

CONCORDIA, Kan., June 27.—(AP)—Swift justice was dealt out today to Charles B. Davies, prominent local man, who today pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to kill his wife. He was sentenced to from one to ten years in the penitentiary. He was started immediately by automobile for the Kansas penitentiary at Lansing.

CITIES SERVICE UTILITIES SELL 541,249 LAMPS

Cities Service Public Utility subsidiaries in February, March, and April sold to 312,214 consumers a total of 541,292 electric incandescent lamps representing a gross load of 33,292 kilowatts. In part these sales were for replacement of damaged or burned out lamps, but it is to be noted that, whereas the avereage lamp in use in the United States is of 40 watt capacity, according to a survey made by a large lamp manufacturer, the average lamp sold by these Cities Service subsidiaries was 61.4 watts.

Every day sees more and more leaving on their vacation, finishing up wells, and quitting torrid north Texas for the cool breezes in Colorado and western United States.

Travis, Bowie, Crockett Look On As Couple Is United In Sacred Alamo

SAN ANTONIO, June 27.—Love smiled Friday above the altar of Texas liberty. The heroic spirits of Travis, Bowie and Crockett bent in benediction above the heads of a boy and girl as they pledged's life's troths in the sacred precincts of the Alamo, hallowed by the immortal dead, renewing the faith of the Texas matrys "till death do us part."

As the lengthening shadows fell across the city and a brooding tender quietness stole softly within the walls of the old church, Walter A. Bowers and Miss Gertrude Cone repeated the vows that made them man and wife in the presence of Rev. Arthur Moore, pastor of the Travis Park Methodist Episcopal church.

The brief ceremony was held in the alcove just to the right of the main chancel of the historic mission and was witnessed by only two or three intimate friends of the bride and groom.

The groom is the son of a Y. M. C. A. official of Chicago and has been in the city since Tuesday. The bride is a popular belle of Mission, Texas, and arrived in San Antonio just a day before the wedding, stopping with friends here. The couple left Friday night on their honeymoon en route to Chicago via Houston, Galveston and New Orleans.

OSAGE STOCKS

the southwest of 15-25-2w, to the north, had black lime at 3,986 feet where it was expected to have sand and this continued to 3,990 feet, followed by shale to 3,992 feet, with more lime at 3,297, and then back into shale to 4,003 feet.

Unless it picks up the Wilcox soon it is possible that it may not be productive, in which event it would prove that the Alcorn-Thomas structure does not extend due south, but possibly trends from the northwest to the southeast.

Operations in the Alcorn-Thomas pool show 41 rigs up, including four producing wells and three rigs standing; rigging up at four locations, and five new locations.

The new 2,600 foot sand there found by Marland in No. 1 Turk is estimated as a 75-barrel well as it stands.

Garber Falls Off.

The greatly touted 2,300 foot sand in the Garber field is not holding up as nicely as production experts imagined it would do. The Garber field for th past week did 10,197 barrels from 567 wells, a loss of 1,100 barrels. The one 4,400 foot well is still making 1,891 a day; the 15 wells in the 2,300 foot pay are accredited with 4,137 and the 539 shallow sand wells 4,169 barrels.

In the Wilcox sand play there are 10 rotaries drilling below 3,000 feet, the Crew Heirs Oil company No. 18 Fee, in the northwest corner of the southeast of the southwest of 19-23-3w, leading below 3,600 feet. It plans to set the 8 1-4 inch casing at 3,750 feet, just below the known water sand there. The Carter Oil cmopany in No. 52 Dively, in the northeast of the northeast of the northwest of 24-22-4w, drilled out the cement plugs after standardizing at 3,102 feet.

Present plans of Sinclair Oil and Gas company, Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation and Marland Oil company are to cement through the 3,300-foot sand while the Crew Heirs Oil company, Healdton Oil and Gas company and Champlin Refining company plans to go as far as possible before standardizing around 3,700 to 3,800 feet.

Geologists and engineers of the Sinclair company are plaing the east side of the Garber field, and have leased six 40-acre tracts around sections 14 and 23-3w, for around $25 an acre.

South Garfield, Logan, Kingfisher and nearby counties are coming in for a very active wildcat leasing play this summer and some drilling deals are reported being made that will determine the potentialities of that sector. Much of this work is around Crescent in 17-4w, where the Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation has been active, with the Prairie Oil and Gas company, Carter Oil company and Gypsy Oil company checkerboarding the nearby blocks.

It is reported that the Roland Oil company of Bristow, will drill 4,500 foot tests, on a 9,000 acre block near Cashion in eastern Kingfisher county.

Drawing on Storage.

Chief news from Burbank district of Osage county was that operators are still withdrawing oil from storage. The past week the withdrawals totalled 153,924 barrels, leaving in storage 11,295,946 barrels, and 3,885,054 barrels of unfilled storage. The Phillips Petroleum company took out 74,481 barrels of which 57,055 barerls was shipped to the Vacuum Oil company, and 17,683 barrels to the Atlantic Refining company, both via tank car to Texas City, and steamer thence to Atlan tic coast refinery. The Phillips company has storage room for 6,609,000 barrels in the Burbank and with the above withdrawals its present storage oil totaled 4,835,286 barrels.

Sinclair Oil and Gas company took out 117,088 barrels, leaving 1,160,687 barrels. Two companies ran oil to storage—the Carter Oil company, which ran 51,296 barrels, and the Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company, which stored 7,763 barrels.

Disappointment was experienced by the Gypsy Oil company in its quest for a southwest extension at Burbank, in No. 1, in the southwest of the northeast of 24-26-5. The Gypsy will now try to find the Burbank sand in the northwest of the southeast of 11-25-7, where it has a block.

The Burbank field for the past week did 57,245 barrels from 1,756 wells, a decrease of 743 barrels and with one new well in. The Osage area did 46,570 barrels from 1,560 wells, and the Kay county extension 10, 75 barrels from 196 wells.

CRUDE RAISE

H. Tarver, trying to get production 10 miles northeast of original Red river territory in the Abington-Lenzburg-Crichton district, tested dry and abandoned the hole No. 1 Willett in 1-14-10 at 1,215 feet and is preparing to drill again a mile northwest on the Meadows land in 2-14-10. Similarly L. M. Emlet in 8-7-12 Sabine parish has quit trying to fish three bits out of No. 5. Bowman-Hicks Lumber company skidded his derrick 25 feet and is getting ready to drill No. 6.

Claiborne parish recorded its third failure this season when Claiborne-Lincoln Syndicate finally gave up trying to make a well out of No. 1 Fields in 22-19-5. Several months ago a show of oil was reported but it is abandoned at 2,850 feet on account of salt water.

Another of the series of wells being drilled by the Humble in southwest Arkansas for geological information as much as for immediate hopes of production, was abandoned during the week, the company's No. 1 Traylor in 11-15-22 Nevada county, eight miles southwest of production.

Texas Leads Three States in Drilling

There were 5,339 field operations under way at the first of the past week, so a survey of Oklahoma, Kansas and North, East, West and Southwest Texas disclosed.

Of this total the Lone Star state led with 2,949; Oklahoma was second for 1,802 and Kansas third with 587. The table follows:

District	Location	New Rigs	Drilling Wells	S. D. Tests	Completions	Total

Jersey Standard May Absorb Humble

The Wall Street Journal in a current issue carries the following item in its column, "Broad Street Gossip" of some local interest:

A report that Standard Oil of New Jersey would take over Humble Oil on a basis of two for one has been in circulation for the last several days. New Jersey already owns a majority of Humble's capitalization. The question is, would this transaction receive the endorsement of the state of Texas where Standard Oil of New Jersey is not permitted to operate?

"Wild Oil" Is Oil For Anybody—Court

SAN ANTONIO, June 27.—"Wild" oil, escaping from its owner may be compounded by owners of adjoining leases and retained under an opinion handed down in the fourth court of civil appeals Friday afternoon. It must be shown, however, that there was no connivance on the part of the impounder to lure it from its original home.

The opinion was handed down in a suit involving two oil companies in the Guadalupe county field. The owner of a lease granted the right to a company to impound the waste oil. The original leasee dug tanks to impound his own oil, ousting the second leasee. The suit was brought by the owners of an adjoining lease to recover oil he claimed had flowed from his wells into these tanks.

The higher court reversed the judgment of the lower court, holding that defendant was entitled to the oil as the "first lawful taker after abandonment."

Simms, Cassidy

Simms Oil company was repoarted drilling past 1,000 fet and looking for a sand yesterday in its No. 1, Cassiday Southwestern Commission company located 1,447 feet east and 150 feet north of the southwest corner of their 166 acre tract in lots 89, 87, and 88, Jefferson county school lands, about two and one-half miles north and east of the Maor pool, south of Archer City, Archer county.

Kent County Test

Marland Oil company of Texas—C. F. Greenwood et al., No. 1 Kuteman, southeastern Kent county, about 18 miles southeast of Post and the same distance southwest of Clairemont, West Texas, encountered another water sand Wednesday after setting six inch casing through a similar formation.

The test is shut down repairing boilers but will underream to lower the six inch casing past the water sand at 3,015 feet.

Howard County

Deep Rock Oil company, subsidiary of the Shaeffer and Billsby interests of Tulsa and Chicago, which entered Texas in May and opened headquarters in Fort Worth, announced their first wildcat test yesterday.

It will be in southeastern Howard county, some 20 miles south and west of Westbrook, Mitchell county's oil field, and located near the center of the southeast of section 88, W&NRRy survel, barely in Howard, near the Mitchell county line, on the Hyman ranch.

It will spud within two weeks. There are three other tests within a ten mile radius, all in Mitchell county.

New Mexico

The Artesia oil field of Eddy county, Southwestern New Mexico was extended three miles to the east by the completion of the D. C. Cheesman well in 35-18-28, which bailed 100 barrels after a 180-quart shot at 2,175 feet. The hole had been drilled to 2,500 feet and was plugged back. The oil is coming through a bridge, accompanied by a good gas pressure and should make a good well when completed.

C. E. Braden and M. F. Breens in their test in the northwest corner of the northeast of 27-16-28e, six miles north of the Artesia pool proper is drilling below 900 feet. The formations are running high and checking closely to the Artesia logs.

FRANKLIN

ONLY $450. DOWN $100.00 PER MONTH

AFTER TRIAL

If you act quickly, you can secure, after trial, for the amazingly low price of $1,450—a superb Franklin Sedan that will give you quality motoring for years to come. Thoroughly re-conditioned; better finished than many new cars. Tires good for 8,000 to 10,000 miles.

This—remember—is the FRANKLIN—the car that year after year sells over 60 per cent of its total output to old Franklin owners—the car with the wonderful air-cooled motor that will perform perfectly under conditions which would stop any other motor made—the car that is famous for its high gasoline mileage, its high tire mileage, and its freedom from trouble; in fact, the lowest-priced car per mile in the world.

75 per cent of all the Franklins built in the last 22 years are still in service—think what that means! For less than you would pay for some new car lasting only 3 or 4 years, you can get this splendid used Franklin which was built to last 10 years and more.

When you purchase a Franklin from us, you know exactly what you are getting. We cannot afford to let any Franklin leave our hands till we are sure that it will live up to the long-established Franklin reputation.

Don't Delay—Come in Today!

Come in at once, while we still have this one car, and take a long ride in it over any route you pick. You will say: "It is the smoothest and easiest-riding car I ever sat in." If you can't possibly come in today, better phone us. BUT ACT IMMEDIATELY!

Dillow Funeral Is Held in Burk

BURKBURNETT, June 27.—The funeral of S. N. Dillow, aged 55, took place this morning in the Devol Methodist church following his death Friday afternoon in his home in that city just across Red river from Burkburnett. The burial was in the Devol cemetery, directed by Collier Brothers.

Mr. Dillow was unmarried and spent his life caring for his blind and aged mother, Mrs. Sarah Dillow who survives him with three other sons, S. S. Dillow of Fort Worth, Dan Dillow, Spearman, Texas and T. C. Dillow of Devol, Okla.

The latter is a prominent elevator man of this city while other relatives are connected with the bank there and the family is prominent in the community.

Stone Altar Yields Valua ble Remnants Of a Vanished Race To Tulane Party

NEW ORLEANS, June 27.—Discovery of a stone altar weighing approximately ten tons, composed of one solid block of rock and a subterranean tomb which yielded valuable remnants of a vanished race, were reported here today by the Tulane university expedition to Mexico and Honduras which returned to this city recently.

Dr. William Gates of Tulane, who described the exploration work undertaken by the expedition, expressed the opinion that the work accomplished by the party forms the greatest individual contribuation to knowledge of Maya civilization made thus far.

The altar, of prodigious size and still in a fair state of preservation, was found, he said, in a swampy, alluvial territory together with numerous small pyramidlike monuments, 60 miles from the nearest stone deposits.

The tomp yielded a section of a relief carving of a life sized figure, the head slightly bent forward, the eyes downcast. Nine other similar figures were taken from the tomb.

A Maya ceremonial mask, not unlike a carnival mask of modern times in appearance, but vastly different in material, was unearthed. This was formed from a composition resembling stucco and stands 18 inches high.

Wearing Apparel Long Since Antiquated On Display By P. B. M. Co.

An interesting window display of antiquated wearing apparel was presented by the P. B. M. Co., Saturday evening, and will remain on exhibition in center show window of the store until Sunday evening, as a feature of the thirty-second anniversary celebration in progress there. Gowns, shoes, beads, trinkets, dresses and garments of all sorts, in the fashion of long ago have been loaned for the display by Wichita Falls citinzens.

Of greatest interest, perhaps, to those who view the collection, is the tiny green velvet kilted skirt and the black and white tucked blouse with the sailor collar which were purchased from the first opening store stock of C. J. Barnard, present owner of P. B. M. Co., years ago, and worn by Jack Barnard at the age of two and a half years, who is now part owner and store manager for the company. The little garments illustrate the fine quality of merchandise offered by the store since it's first days, for though well worn, they are in good condition.

1842 Wedding Dress.

A handsome wedding dress of black Skinner's satin with white lace was loaned by Mrs. Jewell Kimberlin, and was made in 1842 by a New Orleans modiste. A rich silk shawl, heavily fringed and embroidered, accompanies the dress. A gown of 1840, fashioned of green and rose taffeta is made on similar lines, with tiny waist and flowing skirt, the sleeves timmed with deep lace. The taffeta gown, together with a linen napkin from Austria, hand woven, and 150 years old, are the offerings of Mrs. E. Sauer for the exhibit.

A string of choker beads in black and amber in quaint design worn in 1835, are loaned by Mrs. S. E. Avers. A pair of white kid wedding shoes, worn 83 years ago by Grandmother Woodhouse are owned by Mrs. J. E. Hartman.

A lovely concert gown of black net with beads and spangles over white satin as worn by Mrs. Fred C. Barron in 1900 forms an interesting part of the collection, as does a natural color silk shawl, heavily embroidered and fringed which was made 135 years ago in 1790, and which is worn today by its owner, Mrs. F. C. Brown.

Copper toed shoes worn 50 years ago have been loaned by Mrs. Mamie Dale Brown of Electra, and a beautiful hand made christening robe, finely embroidered, was sent in by Mrs. M. H. Simms with a date of 1875.

Latest Opera Going.

"Harper's Bazaar" for February 14, 1874 shows very clearly the latest styles for opera gowns of that day, with suggestions as to material, design and color. The rare old magazine was loaned by Mrs. W. A. Johnson. A huge hand woven quilt of linen and wool bears the words "Portage, Ohio, 1840," and was made from flax gathered and prepared by the mother of F. C. Uts who loaned the heirloom. From Germany came a silk embroidered belt with jewelled buckle, 90 years ago. They appear on a dress of brocaded silk worn in 1900, and loaned for the occasion by Mrs. E. W. Nicholson. A small green and gold studded album carries tintypes of life in 1866, the age of small waists, long hair, and beards.

In the collection also are other antiques, and a priceless picture of the late Theodore Roosevelt standing by his horse, which was taken one afternoon late in the nineties when Roosevelt was in Texas on a hunt. The picture, tinted and framed, is owned by D. P. Taylor, who took it. Miss Frances Oeschner has loaned an old Chinese coat of silver brocade and silk, with silver coins for buttons, which was made in 1703, and a Hindu urn, 1,900 years old, used for burning incense during the worship of sacred animals, is among the relics loaned by Jules Ehlers.

The unique display will be removed from the windows after Sunday, to make way for further anniversary sale offerings, in spite of the large crowds attracted Saturday evening by the collection.

REALTORS SIT IN COOL ROOM; WELTY SPEAKS

Irrigation Engineer Is Speaker Before Board

In an ice-cooled room that made living a comfort at the Kemp hotel, members of the Wichita Falls Real Estate Board listened yesterday to an address on "Subdividing Property Under Irrigation," delivered by P. A. Welty, chief engineer of the Wichita irrigation project.

Mr. Welty spoke at some length on correct methods of dividing land designed for irrigation and stressed among other things the laying off of subdivisions with regard to the contour or topography of the land, rather than according to geographic divisions. He cited a number of instances where this was now being done rather than dividing land on a section-line basis.

The speaker recalled one case in the locar project where a man had bought a large tract of irrigable land, erected a fine home and made other heavy investments, only to find that an expenditure of $5,000 or more would be necessary to get water on his land. The tract is arranged so that canals can only cross to him from the ditch over land owned by other parties.

Several other features of irrigation subdivision were touched on by the speaker.

The real estate men, after a slant at the burning heat outside, arranged to have their dining room fixed up in approved fashion. Several large blocks of ice were carried into the room in proper receptacles and large electric fans set to drive breezes just over the tops of the ice. The result was a remarkably rapid lowering of temperature.

Fairview School To Be Re-built

Replacement of the Fairview high school building northwest of Burkburnett, destroyed by fire early Friday morning, will probably be started at once, it developed Saturday with the return from Austin of W. T. White, principal of the school. The board of trustees of the district will probably order new buildings to take the place of the high school proper and the teacherage, both of which were burned to the ground. The manual training and domestic science buildings were not hurt by the blaze.

Temporary arrangements will be made for accommodating school students this fall and it is hoped to have the new structures ready for use by December.

Officials of the district are still at a loss to explain the origin of the disastrous fire. They denied reports that it was caused by defective electrical wiring, stating that meters had been removed and all wires leading into the building cut when school closed for the summer.

Chick Conventions Here During Fair

Shree state poultry convention will be held in Wichita Falls during the Texas-Oklahoma fair, October 3 to 8 inclusive. A national meet of one of the standard breeds of poultry will probably be held here during fair week, according to Ira D. Brown, superintendent of the poultry department of the exposition.

The poultry show at the fair is growing each year. It is ranked as the second poultry show of the southwest. The American Poultry association rules and regulations will be the basis under which the show will be conducted this year.

The poultry display will be held this year in the building where the county agricultural show was held in 1924.

In 1923 more than 1200 birds were entered in the poultry show, and last year more than 1,500 were shown. This year the total is expected to be in the neighborhood of 2,500.

Many added features of interest to bird fanciers will be included in the poultry show this year. Trophies and medals from the leading clubs of the standard breeds will be offered. Sweepstakes and grand champion ribbons will be awarded the best birds of each class.

Cops Getting Ready For Big Annual Ball

Elaborate arrangements are being made by executives of the city police department for the big policemen's ball and revue to be staged Wednesday night, July 8 at Lake Wichita for the benefit of the police relief fund.

The principal feature of the evening will be a dance, although many other entertainment features are to be given. Music will play an important part, with the Market Temple Shrine chanters heading the list.

BANK TOTALS SHOW EFFECT OF HOT WEEK

Weather Causes Slump In Clearings for Seven Days

Hot weather began to have a telling effect on Wichita Falls business during the past week, as shown by the clearings in the four Wichita Falls banks. Justine Home Burns; Loss Is Over $1,500

Loss of approximately $1,500 was sustained at 4 o'clock Saturday morning when fire of undetermined origin broke out in the residence of Walter Justine, Giddings and Avenue H. The flames started in a clothes closet and it was suggested matches in the pockets of a coat may have been responsible. This could not be learned definitely, however.

ACTUAL WORK ON ROBERTSON HOME TO BEGIN

Everything in Readiness For Beginning of New House

Construction work will start Monday morning on the new Hattie A. Robertson home, it was announced Saturday by the trustees of the Robertson home building fund. Plans have been drawn for the building, a lot acquired at Seventh and Van Buren streets and everything put in readiness for the work. It is hoped to have the building complete and ready for occupancy within 30 days.

The new home is being erected with money contributed by friends out of sympathy for Mrs. Robertson, mother of Elzie Logan Robertson, who was shot and killed on the night of February 14 by former Mayor Frank Collier. Mr. Collier is under a three-year prison sentence and his wife under a ten-year sentence for the murder of the boy.

Labor on the building is being donated and a large part of the material is also being supplied without cost. It has been found, however, that about 500 more is needed to cover all obligations to be incurred in the project so that it may be turned over to Mrs. Robertson free of all debt.

Additional contributions should be sent to the trustees of the Robertson home fund, care Wichita State Bank and Trust company.

Chinese Furor In Its Fifth Week

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27 (AP).—The current of anti-foreign movement in China entered its fifth week today with every indication that it would continue indefinitely. Starting with a student demonstration in Shanghai, May 30, that ended in a fatal riot, the agitation against foreigners, principally against British and Japanese, has spread the length of the China coast and resisted all attempts at settlement.

REPUDIATES A CONFESSION.

Palestine Man Denies Statement That He Murdered His Wife.

PALESTINE, June 27.—An alleged confession of Winnie Anderson, on trial here charged with murder of his wife on March 4, which was read to the jury yesterday was completely repudiated by Anderson himself, who was placed on the stand today. In answer to a direct question by Attorney Greenwood, defense counsel, Anderson declared he did not kill Mrs. Anderson, adding that he never struck her in his life and that their relations had always been amicable.

Opportunity may knock at the Bank's Door First

It wasn't entirely A. E. K.'s cash in the bank that enabled him to "make good" when his big business chance came along.

It helped, of course, but the big thing in his favor was the splendid recommendation given him by the banker. "We've watched his account for years," the cashier said, "A. E. K. always had more than enough for his current bills.....but better than that, he seemed to feel the need for a substantial surplus. Figured, I guess, that some day he'd want a good word from us."

Many men haven't A. E. K.'s foresight. They don't realize how little their bank can say in their favor if their balance at the bank has always been very small.

EVERY Man, sooner or later, faces a business opportunity where the cash he happens to have isn't nearly as important as the consistency of his financial record over a long period of time. Only a banker can know that. The good, substantial balance you've had with him may save the big deal when your day of opportunity comes.

Wichita Color Seen In Cobb Short Story

WICHITA FALLS has again proven an attraction for the fictionists, and in the current issue of Good Housekeeping, a novel by Irving S. Cobb makes frequent mention of this city.

Wichita Falls is first mentioned when a cop stops the cowboys and asks where they're from.

"We're from Texas—between Wichita Falls and Amarillo," and then they explain in some detail what Wichita Falls is not in Kansas, as the limb of the bowry law supposed, but "in the good old Lone Star state."

The story has the typical humor and charm of the inimitable Cobb and is well worth an hour's reading.

Wichita Falls was given some more national advertising last week when a squibb appearing in the Record News was printed in the Topics in Brief columns of the Literary Digest.

Mr. Gates also is a graduate of the Wichita Falls high school and he attended the University of Colorado at Boulder, where he and Miss Jenkins became engaged. Mr. Farabee is from Alabama though he has lived here for some time.

Many pretty parties and showers were given both brides before their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Gates are spending the summer in Colorado while Mr. and Mrs. Farabee are spending a few weeks in California. Both young couples will make their home in this city in the fall.

Session Will be Held At Waco July 6 Says Recent Announcement

MRS. IRENE SCOTT DICKLOW, president, state federation business and professional women's clubs has called a meeting of the state executive committee to meet in Waco, at the Raleigh hotel, Monday, July 6, at 9:00 o'clock. The convention is called for 10:30, and there will be some business for attention.

Mrs. Dicklow extends a cordial invitation to all unaffiliated business and professional women's clubs to attend this convention and says a place has been set aside on the program for those in attendance. It is hoped to have a large group of those interested in this work attend this convention.

"Reservations are coming in slowly," sid Mrs. Margaret Conger, president of the Waco club, "but it is anticipated that more than one hundred women will be in attendance." Dallas is sending a most enthusiastic delegation, as is Fort Worth, Temple, Beeville, McAllen, Amarillo, Abilene, Quanah and Galveston. All sections of the state will have representatives. Huge Estate Left By Stark's Mother

AUSTIN, June 27.—The state inheritance tax on the estate of Mrs. F. A. Lutcher of Orange, late grandmother of H. J. Lutcher Stark, chairman of the board of regents of the University of Texas, will approximate $175,000, it was announced today by Comptroller S. H. Terrell following receipt of the final report of appraisement.

The estate is valued at $3,578,744, of which the principal part goes to her daughters, Mrs. E. M. Brown and Mrs. W. A. Stark, both of Orange, and to other relatives, the residue to go to Lutcher Stark, who is named executor.

Man Buys Town And Plans to Blow Up Lots for Farming

ROBSTOWN, June 27.—Seldom, even in these days of huge realty transactions, does one man purchase an entire town; but Anton Fritz, a South Texas-Gulf Coast farmer living near Robstown, recently completed a real estate deal by which he became the controling owner of the little city of Bentonville.

Fritz owns approximately 300 of the residences and building lots in Bentonville.. He has no intention of starting a realty boom, he said, as preparations are under way to plow up all of the lots and plant them in cotton.

C. C. Frazee Takes Charge of Work In Wichita Parks

Mrs. J. S. Pittman Also a Leader in City Park Recreation

WICHITA FALLS, first experiment with organized playground work attained remarkable success last week, reports from the various city parks indicated Saturday. Supervisors scattered throughout the park citizen united in declaring interest at a high pitch with prospects of even greater accomplishments awaiting their efforts in days to come.

Frazee Takes Charge.

Starting with last Monday, the city parks were turned over to C. C. Frazee, an experienced physical educational and recreational worker; and a corps of student assistants who are organizing and directing a systematized series of contests, games, musical hours and story telling periods. The work has been authorized by the city council and is being carried out with the assistance of the park department, although Mr. Frazee and Mrs. Pittman are attending to all details.

The start of the program Monday found from three to five youngsters in each park, while Saturday's aggregation saw from thirty to forty assembled for the instruction and fun awaiting them. In connection with the week's program, two instruction meetings were held at the First Presbyterian church Monday and Tuesday. At one of them about 30 children from the day nursery were present for the songs, games and action stories. Another instruction meeting will be held Monday afternoon of this week at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church with Mrs. Pittman and Mr. Frazee in charge.

May Leave Children.

Those interested in the recreational program are pointing out that under the arrangements as now make for each park, mothers may leave their children in any supervised park with perfect assurance that they will be carefully watched, guarded from any harm and at the same time given instruction and entertainment of an educational nature.

It was announced Saturday that for the coming week supervisors would be stationed in the following parks: Catherine Douglas at Monroe street, Thelma Bridges at Marshal and Elizabeth streets, Fay Goss at Sixth street, Audrey Fay Darby at Kemp library, Marion Goss at Buchanan.

Story telling, basket weaving, picture cut-outs, pant mine games, folk dances and general supervision for the coming week will be in charge of the ladies under the follow schedule: Monday, Wednesday and Friday all children under 12-years of age Bellevue, Monroe street, Marshal and Elizabeth street and Kemp library parks. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday teachers will be at the following parks at the same hours: Sixth street, North Side Community, Grant street and Bluff street. At parks where no shade is available during the heat of the day, the youngsters will be taken to some nearby home where the games and story telling periods will be held.

Park Notes.

High-powered shower baths for the kiddies will be available this week through the courtesy of Utilities Commissioner P. B. Curd and Fire Chief J. L. McClure. The fire chief has supplied Mr. Frazee with a length of fire hose and a plug wrench and Mr. Curd has agreed to the use of the water, so Mr. Frazee will visit various parks during the sweltering hours, connect up the fire hose and turn a cooling deluge on all those anxious for and dressed for the soaking.

The park will co-operate with the Texhoma Oil and Refining company in the staging of the latter's big employees picnic to be held here July 4. The company is arranging a huge all-day affair for its workmen and their families, and with the help of playground directors will stage a number of games, contests and other events. Baseball games, all kinds of races, pie eating contests, horse shoe pitching games, etc., are to be included on the program.

Four life guards who also act as swimming instructors are stationed each evening at the municipal swimming pool by the Seventh street fire sation, and the park department urges that any one wishing to learn how to swim simply apply to one of these men who will be glad to give expert instruction. This pool is being used by approximately 200 persons every day and under the watchful eye of firemen on duty there has run thus far without an accident of any kind.

A flag raising will be held in all city parks equipped with flag poles on the morning of July 4, it has been announced. The Boy Scouts are to be asked to assist in the enterprise, which will be held at sunrise, and all Wichitans interested are also requested to be present and take part.

Mrs. Edna Vogt and Miss Thelma Pross of this city are to leave July 1 for a two weeks vacation tour through Yellowstone National park and other points of scenic interest in the northwest.

DANCER FILES A SECOND SUIT AGAINST HEIR

Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitnew Claimed to Be a Father

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 27.—Evan Burrowes Fontaine, dancer, today filed a second breach of promise suit in the Westchester county court against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney.

Notice of a motion was filed simultaneous by counsel for Whitney, seeking a change of venue from Westchester county to New York on the ground that both were residents of New York City, the case therefore being out of the jurisdiction of the local court.

The dancer's original suit for $1,000 000 damages against Whitney was thrown out of federal court, last year after Miss Fontaine and her mother were indicted for perjury growing out of the suit. They were charged with having fraudulently secured the annulment of the dancer's first marriage, but the Brooklyn supreme court later upheld the annulment decress.

A baby, which Miss Fontaine claimed to be the son of Mr. Whitney, figured prominently in the suit.

JAZZ STIMULATES MUSIC.

Foreign Composers Believe It Is Good for Real Music.

BERLIN, June 27.—"Old King Jazz" unquestionably enriches and stimulates modern artistic music, both in the realm and sound and rhythm, in the opinion of Max Von Schildings, general manager of Berlin's state opera and composer of "Mona Lisa," which has been given at the Metropolitan opera house in New York.

"What fascinates a European musician in learning American jazz music in its present form is its conciseness and precision of form," Herr Von Schillings observes. "This music is without long preparatory themes or long extended conclusions. The sound complexes created by jazz undoubtedly point the way to new orchestral possibilities.

"Rhythmic forms, too, have been enriched by it."

TAX RATE CUT TALK PRECEDES BOARD MEETING

For First Time in Five Years Talk Rife About Cut

AUSTIN, June 27.—Rumors of a possible cut in the state ad valorem tax rate, for the first time in five years, are preceding the annual meeting of the automatic tax board, which is to be held "within five days after July 20."

Texas property valuations will swing up again slightly this year, it is expected, after the deflation period and slowed oil operations reflected themselves in assessed returns for the past two years. With a valuation of approximately three billion six hundred million dollars, from which the state is to derive its property tax for support, it is thought possible Governor Ferguson, at the head of the automatic tax board, may cause the rate to be cut from its present constitutional limit of 36 cents, for the first time since Gov. W. P. Hobby reduced it from 25 to 23 cents in 1919-20.

The total state tax rate is now 75 cents on the $100 property valuation, of which 35 cents is for support of the government, 35 cents for education and 5 cents for confederate pensions. The pension tax has been raised to 7 cents by constitutional amendment and enabling act, though the first additional benefits to the veterans will not be received until next year.

Frederick Finances Said To Be Good

FREDERICK, Okla., June 27.—Indicating that the finances of the city of Frederick are in the best condition that they have been in many years, the city council has decided that there would be no general fund levy for the next fiscal year, and has also taken definite action toward the lowering of the light and power rates of the city.

Recent financial surveys that have been made reveal the fact that Frederick has taken in the year past approximately $22,000 more than was anticipated last year. Eighteen thousand dollars of this amount was distributed in a supplementary appropriation made in May, and approved by the excise board.

The general fund levy last year of 7.1 mills brought into the city treasury $18,806.95. This amount checked against the excess of $22,000 over the anticipated expenditures leaves a $4,000 margin on which to work.

The only city tax that will be levied for the next year, according to city officers, will be a tax to care for interest and sinking fund on city bonds.

ADOPT AMERICAN FARMING

Argentine Agrarians Gradually Coming to Use Our Methods.

BBUENOS AIRES, June 27 (AP)—American methods in the development of crops and mineral resources are being rapidly introduced into Argentina, which formerly looked to Europe for instruction. The national and provincial governments now have in their service no less than nine technical experts who are either Americans or have gained their knowledge in the United States.

Argentina's infant cotton industry is being developed under the technical advice of two American experts, Ernest L. Tutt, former chief of the cotton section of the textile division of the department of commerce, and Dr. N. E. Winters, a cotton geneticist, formerly of Clemson college, South Carolina.

Potash and Perlmutter

"Compelling Citizens on That Day To Report To National Guard Armories, Understand Me, Ain't Exactly What You Would Call Reminding Them That They Are Free and Independent."

"I see, Mawruss, where there's a proposition to combine the Fourth of July and National Defense Day and run them off together," Abe Potash observed to his partner Morris Perlmutter.

"I suppose they intend to call the combination — holiday Independence Day and they'll celebrate it by reading the first two paragraphs of the Treaty of Versailles," Morris remarked, "although, Abe, to my way of thinking, if Mr. Coolidge is going to start in his Thrift campaign by cutting down the number of holidays, it seems to me that he should ought to begin with some of the newer holidays and leave an old established holiday like the Fourth of July alone."

"For instance, Abe, it might be a good plan to try out combining Columbus Day and Lincoln's Birthday and holding both on Labor Day under the title of Lincoln-Columbus-Labor Day," Morris continued, "and they might even shorten it to L. C. L. Day in the same way like they call gunpowder T. N. T."

"Sure I know," Abe said, "but some people are never satisfied, particularly them people which have cranky ideas and want to force them on somebody else, and the first thing you know, Mawruss, there would be a movement on foot to combine Chrismas and Thanksgiving and hold them both on Election Day, and not only would the Christmas trade of department stores be ruined, but there would also be a terrible slump in the turkey and cranberry market."

"For that matter, Abe, Christmas shopping is fast becoming a warm weather amusement like surf bathing on account of the slogan Do Your Christmas Shopping Early in the same way that the slogan Safety First killed the fireworks business around the Fourth of July," Morris said, "and as for turkey and cranberry sauce, Abe, that's getting hit by the slogan Eat And Grow Thin, with the consequences, Abe, that it ain't going to be long now, before the family will gather at the old home for Thanksgiving Dinner where each member of it will be served with one slice gluten bread equal to seventy calories, one slice lean meat one hundred and sixty grams, green vegetables and fruit cooked without sugar, enough to make a total of 1738 calories, and that'll be a typical American Thanksgiving dinner."

"Say! People aint going to give up old fashioned customs like Thanksgiving dinner so easy as all that, Mawruss," Abe declared.

"Ain't they? Morris retorted. "Why only the other day, Abe National Defence become so mixed up with the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act that a society lady nearly got arrested for naming a torpedo boat by breaking a bottle of champagne on it.'

Champagne or orangette for christening battleships.

"I should think that the Government would encourage people to break bttties of champagne on torpedo boats and use it as a lotion instead of a beverage," Abe observed. "After all, Mawruss, pouring champagne over a new battleship is practically treating it as rubbing alcohol, aint it?"

"The Anti Saloon League didn't think so," Morris replied. "The Anti-Saloon League prefers that new battleships should be named with chocolate nut sundaes or Orangette the Renowned California Orange Drink made of orange peel, orange boxes and Orange, N. J., City water, artificially flavored and containing not more than one tenth of one per cent benzo-oxalic acid Or if there ain't a soda fountain handy to the Navy Yard, Abe, the new Government Regulations probably read that if a battleship is launched on Monday, a bottle of grade B milk shall be used, pasteurized not later than Sunday, and that if a deposit of ten cents is required on every bottle, the bottle shall not be broken, but shall be returned to the dairy company after the milk has been poured over the boy of the battleship.

"Well ,after all, a battleship is a battleship whether it gets named with champagne or frosted sarsaparilla, Mawruss," Abe said.

"But some people still think that a launching ain't a launching unless champagne goes with it, Abe," Morris replied, "in the same way that a whole lot of others think that the Fourth of July ain't Independence Day unless fireworks and a good time generally goes with it. Which I may be old fashioned, Abe, but to me, y'understand, the Fourth of July is connected with Freedom, Independence and Liberty, and compelling citizens on that day to report to National Guard armories, understand me, ain't exactly what you would call reminding them that they are free and independent."

"But it's their duty to defend their country," Abe said.

Why Not Combine Independence Day and Income Tax Day?

"And it's also their duty to pay their income taxes," Morris retorted "but if the Secretary of the Treasury had the same sense of duty as the War Secretary, Abe, and suggested that the Fourth of July should ought to be annexed to the Fifteenth of March. y'understand, and made a combination-celebration of American Independence and American Income Taxes, understand me, that wouldn't add to Mr. Mellon's reputation as a financier neither."

"Then it's your idea that an American citizen ain't no fonder of defending his country than he is of paying his income taxes," Abe suggested.

"Not at all," Morris said, "but duty is one thing and amusement another. Abe, and theayter managers recognize this to be true by not having extra matinees on Income Tax Day. Duty always interferes with amusement, and while it's the duty of a father to have his child vaccinated, understand me, he don't attend to this duty on the child's birthday or on Christmas morning. In fact, Abe, when duties compete with amusements, Abe, either the one or the other is bound to suffer, understand me, and the idea of celebrating National Defense is so new as compared to the idea of celebrating the Fourth of July, that a certain number of National guardsmen will be bound to muster at ball grounds and bathing beaches instead of at the armories."

"However, Abe," Morris continued, "there will be much more national guardsmen in the armories than the ball grounds or bathing beaches, but this won't prevent the backers of National Defense Day being just as sore as the proprietors of bathing beaches and ball grounds, so my idea is that if National Defense Day is going to be celebrated on the Fourth of July y'understand, then Independence Day should ought to be celebrated on the Fifth of July or even the Sixth."

"But don't you know that the reason we celebrate the Fourth of July on the Fourth of July is because America became free on the Fourth of July 1776, and not the fifth of July, 1777?" Abe asked.

"Certainly I know it," Morris concluded, "but a little difference like that won't matter to a nation which names a battleship with orange phosphate instead of campagne."

Felt hats, eighteen inches in diameter, of grass green and coral, and which may be carried in a handbag are being worn by English women.

HELPS MAN; TAKES POISON

SAN ANTONIO, June 27.—With the thought of a good deed still fresh in her memory, a pretty young woman, 25 years old, tried to end her life in a local hotel Friday night.

Other guests in the hotel, hearing her groans, forced open the door to her room and found her on the floor, a half empty bottle of poison by her side.

One of the first to reach her was an elderly man who arrived in San Antonio Friday without a cent. "She is the best woman in the world," he told officers. 'I came in here today broke and hungry and she gave me money."

The young woman had left no note telling her reasons for the act, but on her table officers found a list of telephone numbers. They proved to be the numbers of her mother and a few close friends and relatives.

She will recover, physicians say.

ESCAPED CONVICT IS CAUGHT.

VICTORIA, Texas, June 27.—Henry Geffert, who with Lonnie Lindberg was given a life sentence here in 1921 in connection with the murder of Alexander Lind, jitney driver, and escaped from the penitentiary over a month ago, was captured at Floresville by Sheriff A. B Carnes of Wilson county and returned to the penitentiary.

VIEWS OF AN EXPERT

Twenty years ago Guy E. Tripp of Boston was a frequent visitor to Texas. He was a representative of Stone and Webster and their vast interests. Texas twenty years ago was the greatest agriculture and cattle raising district in the world.

Now Guy E. Tripp is chairman of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, one of the big men of the east. He paid a flying visit to Texas last week. He said many things which should interest Texans of the progressive kind. First he declares the state on the eve of great development. He emphasized the lignite fields of the state, and that they could be used to give fuel for power plants close to the fields which supply the raw material and where power can be distributed wherever necessary.

More capital will come here, he said, which will attract still more capital, until Texas finally will come into her own as a state completely balanced in agriculture and industry. He pointed out that much of the development will be due to the tendency to build industries close to the supply of raw materials, provided fuel and power are available, and he declared that Texas had both.

In addition to this he said higher values for raw material resulting from establishing the industries in Texas will increase prosperity. He sounded a warning in these words, "you have created an agriculture empire, you must now so order your economic affairs that all your people will secure the maximum prosperity and comfort from your great resources, because those who live on the soil here or elsewhere will not long be content to be underpaid hewers of wood and drawers of water for the rest of the people."

Guy E. Tripp, although of Boston, knows his Texas. He knows of the vast beds of lignite, of the underground lakes of natural gas and reservoirs of petroleum. He knows that Texas is the greatest producer of cotton and wool of any other American state. He believes that Texas is on the eve of great development.

And this is what this newspaper has been preaching for, lo, these many years.

A VAST COTTON ACREAGE THIS YEAR

A total of 45,381,000 acres has been planted to cotton in the United States in the current year, the largest acreage planted to this product in the history of the country, according to an estimate compiled by the New York Commercial and Financial Chronicle.

The total represents a gain of 2,740,000 acres or 6 per cent compared with the revised figures covering the acreage planted to cotton last year. With reference to the outlook for the crop for the current year, the Chronicle states that everything will depend as in other years, upon weather conditions from now on. And it says on that point one man's opinion or a guess is as good as another.

The Chronicle says the crop is well advanced every where except in Texas, and starts under extreme favorable conditions, conditions are rarely equaled in the past. This is the conclusion of the extimate, "this is a decided advantage, but is it conceivable that it might all be lost under the trying weather of July, August."

In the year 1924 according to the record, 42,641,000 acres were planted to cotton in the United States, and the yield was 13,619,000. Now what will the yield be this year with a gain in acreage of 2,740,000.

HENRY FORD ON DECK.

Are you a reader of the Dearborn Independent? If so read the current issue. Big business has been warned by Henry Ford to be-ware of the Sherman anti-trust law. The Coolidge administration is ready to check any tendency toward a renewal of trade combination that were in vogue before the enactment of that legislation.

This is the written opinion of the Michigan billionaire.

He asks in his newspaper, speaking of the recent supreme court decision, "Are we to be only so wise in our service as the law compells us to be? If that is the program to be adopted by business men, it will certainly result in the next law being ten times stronger and not quite so easy to nullify."

Henry Ford is a wise man. He knows the pendulum swings first to one side and then to the other. If big business is wise, it will take the Ford advice. If it isn't wise, then the pendulum will swing toward radicalism in the near future.

"BIGGEST THEATER IN AMERICA"

New York boasts the biggest theater in America, if not in the world. It is the Hippodrome, and it was sold the other day for $6,000,000 to E. F. Albee, known as the vaudeville king.

Not many years ago vaudeville shows were given in shacks the country over. It is different now.

John W. Gates was one of the builders of the Hippodrome. This was twenty years ago. John W. Gates introduced barbed wire into Texas. This was more than twenty years ago.

John W. Gates had something to do with the building of Port Arthur and in the years to come Port Arthur promises to be one of the seaport cities of the South Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

New York has a $6,000,000 playhouse and if Bishop Manning has his way, he is going to have in the years to come a $15,000,000 cathedral. There's nothing too big for America.

BLANTON ON ECONOMY

This excerpt is taken from a Congressional Record speech made by Congressman Thomas L. Blanton concerning the heroic attitude of Congressman Thomas L. Blanton on economy. "My record here on this question is well known. I fought here almost daily from the floor of this house for economy. I have fought against waste. I have fought against extravagance. I have fought against creating so many large salary positions. I have fought against creating new positions. I have fought for same retrenchment in governmental expenditure. In no other way will congress ever reduce taxes." An ungodly and extravagant lot, these colleagues of Congressman Blanton, who refused to see the light and almost vote him down.

A VAST COTTON ACREAGE THIS YEAR

A total of 45,381,000 acres has been planted to cotton in the United States in the current year, the largest acreage planted to this product in the history of the country, according to an estimate compiled by the New York Commercial and Financial Chronicle.

The total represents a gain of 2,740,000 acres or 6 per cent compared with the revised figures covering the acreage planted to cotton last year. With reference to the outlook for the crop for the current year, the Chronicle states that everything will depend as in other years, upon weather conditions from now on. And it says on that point one man's opinion or a guess is as good as another.

The Chronicle says the crop is well advanced everywhere except in Texas, and starts under extreme when comparison is made with other states of the nation. Texas is destined to become a great manufacturing state, but Texans will never adopt an amendment to the constitution providing for tax exempt mills or factories. It would not be fair to the legitimate industries of Texas. It would be grossly unfair to the hundreds of manufacturing enterprises already established.

As it is, Texas has a wealth of water power. Texas has stupendous deposits of lignite. Texas has millions of tons of soft coal. Texas has an almost inexhaustible supply of natural gas and Texas is producing more than a hundred millions of barrels of petroleum every year. In addition to all these, Texas is the greatest producer of cotton and wool and mohair of any American state. Why tax exempt factories?

PURE FOOD WILEY ON THE ROAD.

Pure Food Wiley, known to fame as Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, was chief chemist of the federal department of agriculture for years. He was the author of the pure food law which was framed by congress under his guidance. He was known as old Borax in the days of his activity.

Now he says the pure food law is no longer administered in the spirit in which it was enacted. He says there is in existance a conspiracy of food manufacturers which was organized to defeat the purposes of the law. He has urged President Coolidge to make an inquiry with a view to a stricter enforcement of the law aimed at food adulteration.

Many of the provisions of the law have been ignored according to old Borax, and embalmed beef is on the market again. Alum is not used in the making of bread, and deleterious preparations are used in the preservation of pickles and other like products.

When it comes to pure food the enemies of old Borax say he is fanatical. Old Borax says that he is saving the stomachs and preserving the health of the American people. He has the tenacity of a bulldog, and he is going to make life miserable for senators and representatives next winter unless something is done for the enforcement of the pure food act.

MORE PUBLICITY FOR HENRY

State Revenue Agent W. J. Miller of Mississippi filed suit to impose and then recover $12,000,000 penalties against the Ford Motor company for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws of that state.

Governor H. L. Whitfield was stunned by the action of his revenue agent but when he came out of his trance he ordered Miller to dismiss the suit, and issued a proclamation saying that he wished the world to know that the suit did not reflect the attitude the state of Mississippi toward legitimate business.

Governor Whitfield is a former college president. He would like to see Mississippi a manufacturing state. He would like to see Mississippi financially strong instead of economically weak.

Governor Whitfield is not a hillybilly and neither does he stand for hillybilly politics and laws. If publicity is the thing, then the flivver maker gets it a coming and a going. If publicity isn't the thing, why should the flivver maker worry, it doesn't cost him a cent.

QUEENSLAND COTTON CROP

Queensland is a long way from the cotton manufacturing district of the world. A foreign exchange says it is estimated that the cotton yield in Queensland will be between 10,000 and 14,000 bales this year. Queensland cotton growers are about to establish ginneries.

They are going in strong for sugar production. They expect the yield will be 468,000 tons this year. John Bull is doing his best to induce his colonials to embark in the cotton growing business on a large scale.

He needs cheap cotton, cotton below 10c per pound, but white labor will never produce it. In the long run he will have to rely upon Sudanese slaves and East Indian peons.

WHAT IS A FLEA.

What is a flea? An animal or an insect. This is what the house of commons of England is attempting to solve. One friend of the flea says that a flea can jump thirty times its own height and display the greatest alacrity in rising from a given place. Then a flea must be a jumper. Again, it is said the flea can pull eighty times its own weight. Then the flea must be a tractor as well as a jumper.

THEY ARE GUESSING AGAIN

And now the cotton sharps in the city of Washington are guessing again. They are predicting a larger world crop this year. They say it will go to 24,700,000 bales exclusive of linters. Not many moons ago they said that the world crop for 1924 was less than 20,000,000 bales. As usual these guessers are looking for large crops in foreign countries. Why not wait until next fall and all the returns are in.

DR. COOLIDGE AND ECONOMIST

There is a surplus of $300,000,000 in sight in the treasury and Dr. Coolidge, the economist is going to recommend the national lawmakers in December another deep cut in the income tax schedule. Moreover he is going to insist that the tax payers get the benefit in 1925. Dr. Coolidge is a very eminent physician. Also, a very shrewd politician. He is going to give the American tax payer the elixer of life, the right kind of medicine.

CLOSING THE GAPS

Now it is announced that the federal enforcement officials are ready to tighten the lines against smuggling liquor over the Canadian and Mexican borders. Law enforcement is not a job when Uncle Sam grows ugly and demands action on the part of his agents. President Coolidge, never a radical pro, demands action, and he is placing men on the firing lines who are ready to obey orders.

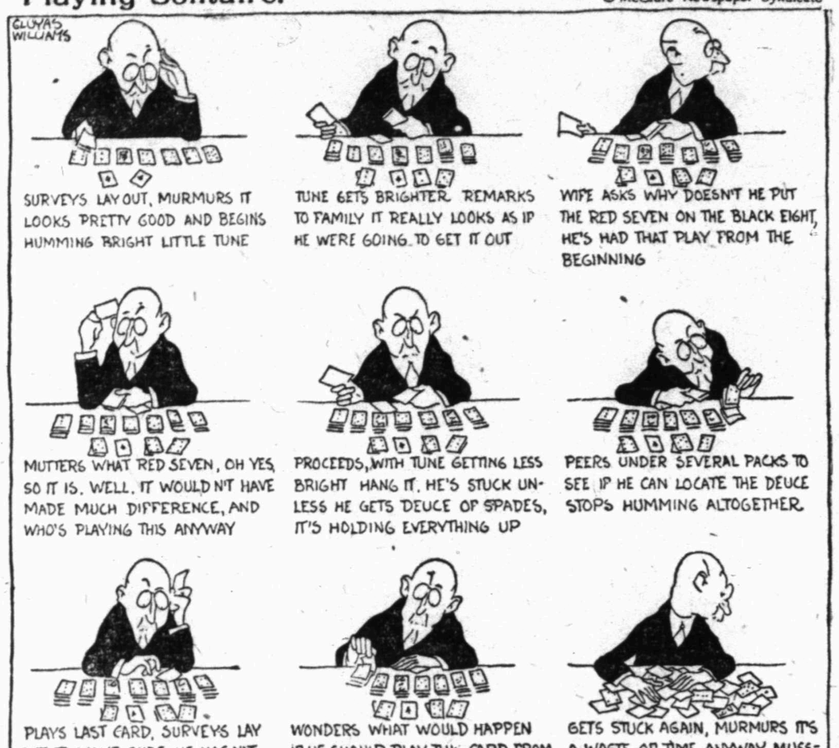

SWEEPING VICTORY FOR THE PACKERS

Now, a federal judge has fully suspended the famous packers decree and the big five may now handle food products other than meat. Big business is back.

LAND'S END--By William Almon Wolff

"Yes," said Crocker. "If you can drop around to my office on Monday—say about 3 o'clock—I'll have the rest of the papers ready."

"Simple enough!" said Pete. That was when they were in the street again. He looked at his watch. "Lord—nearly 1 o'clock! We won't get in many dances, Bet—"

She shrieked, feebly.

"Dances!" she cried. "Pete, I'm so tired you'll have to carry me upstairs I didn't realize it until just now! I suppose I was excited, before. It must have been 10 o'clock when we had dinner!"

"Good thing we didn't know it—we mightn't have had the nerve to go and see the old boy," said Pete. "All right—I'll take you home. I say, Bet—let's go down and look the place over again pretty soon. Shall we?"

"Of course," she said. "Take me home now, though, Pete—I'm dead."

* * *

Pete was tired himself, for that matter, when he came to think of it. It has been a crowded day. He attributed a good deal of his weariness though, to the presence of Denny. He had never spent so many successive hours in Denny's company, and it seemed to him singularly difficult to imagine doing so again, voluntarily.

He regarded Elizabeth curiously as he said good night to her, he wondered if she had ever seen quite so much of Denny before. On the whole, he thought, concentrated doses of Denny ought to be good for her, heroic though the remedy was.

He put up his car, and walked home, practically asleep. He felt in his letter-box mechanically, but he was much too tired to open any of the letters it contained. He dropped them all on his desk, and concentrated on keeping awake long enough to get undressed. Then his eyes fell on a piece of paper that lay on top of the pile of letters. Necessarily, he read what was written, or rather, printed upon it. His eyes grew wide. His sleepiness fell away. For he read:

"If you know what's good for you you won't buy that house at Montauk."

"I—will—be—damned!" said Pete. He was still in the argumentive mood that sleepiness produces. "But I have bought it!" he insisted.

The telephone rang. Pete answered it.

"Mr. Ashe?" it was a crisp, noncommittal voice; the sort of voice most business men try to cultivate. "Mr. Ashe, I am speaking in your own interest. I advise and urge you very earnestly to go no further in any contemplated purchase of Mr. John L. Crocker's property near Montauk Point."

"Why—who the devil are you?" Pete asked. Amazement was giving way to anger.

CHAPTER XII
More Warnings.

"I am afraid I cannot answer that question," said the voice. "I assure you, however, that I know whereof I speak. You will be well advised to abandon any idea of purchasing that property at this time."

"But—look here—damn it—I've bought it already!"

"Impossible!" it said. "There hasn't been time—you were in Amagansett this afternoon—"

"Yes—and I was in Mr. Crocker's library, writing him a check, tonight! Put that in your pipe and smoke it! Look here—who the devail are you? Are you the sneaking, slab-sided, cock-eyed hyena that was snooping around down cellar this afternoon?"

Click! Frantically Pete jiggled his receiver up and down. There was a buzz in his ear; the sound of distant waters; a hum of many voices; finally: "Number, please?"

"I don't want any number!" he yelled. "I want to know who called me up just now!"

"Do you know the number of the telephone they were calling from?"

"Of course I don't! If I did why should I ask you!"

"I'm sorry, sir. No record is kept of incoming calls. I'll give you the manager's office. Click. Buzz. Buzz. "Manager's office." And so, all over again. Acknowledgement of defeat at last. Pete walked up and down. Again the telephone rang. Furiously he dashed to it: viciously shouted: "Hell-o!"

"Pete Ashe, don't you dare use that tone to me!" It was Elizabeth. "Who on earth have you been talking to at this hour of the night. I've been sitting here for ages—and they kept saying your line was busy! Pete—the most extraordinary thing; A man called me up to tell me to make you give up buying that place—"

"What?"

For two minutes they exchanged experiences. When he hung up the receiver at last Pete looked grim and determined "We'll see about this," he said to himself. "By George—if a man can't spend his own money as he likes!

He wasn't sleepy any more, and he was reminded that he had better make an entry of the check he had given Crocker, and see how much money he had left. He wasnt rich any more, of course, but he didn't care. And he was only relatively poor, anyway. A few minutes of figuring revealed something extremely interesting. His purchase from Crocker had brought his expenditures, since his inheritance, to a sum slightly in excess of the draft the lawyers had sent him.

Yet he had eight hundred or more dollars in the bank, and checks coming, for work done and delivered, to the tune of about twenty-four hundred more. He didnt' owe a cent in the world. At any time before his legacy he would have regarded his present estate as one of almost shameful affluence. He shook his head. Life was queer—damned queer!

He knew exactly what he was going to do. He and Elizabeth had settled upon that—she was just as furious at the voice over the telephone as he was. He was, first, going to wait until Monday, and eliminate any possible legal technicalities by getting a deed from Crocker, and having it recorded—whatever that was, and wherever and however you did it. Then he was going down to camp out in the house and find out what the devil all this sculduggery meant.

Elizabeth had said that she was going too, but, of course, he wouldn't let her. You never could tell; this sounded like plain idiocy, all this business of printed warnings and mysterious telephone calls, but these birds might mean mischief, and he wasn't going to let Elizabeth take any chances.

When you came right down to it, he was just as conservative and old-fashioned and reactionary as Denny himself, about some things. He wondered how Denny felt, and grinned. He had had colds himself, in the days when he was still living at home, and subject to home discipline and remedies.

Sunday passed uneventfully. Pete worked all day: apparently you had to keep on going, when you once got started. He called up Crocker's office Monday morning and asked him to hurry things along, and Crocker, sounding puzzled, asked him to come down town at once.

"Can you account for this, Mr. Ashe?" he said. He showed Pete a typewritten, unsigned letter, in which he was warned on no account to sell his property to Ashe.

Pete stared; then exploded.

"Astonishing!" said Crocker, when he had heard Pete's story. "I am completely as a loss. However, if you prefer not to go on with the deal, in view of this, I shall be glad to return your check and tear up our contract."

"Hardly!" said Pete. "I'm going to take this thing apart and find out whats inside. No—let's get the thing finished as soon as we can. I have to get this deed recorded, dont I?"

"Yes—at the Suffolk county seat, Riverhead," said Crocker. "I've a man there who looks after such things for me—I own a good deal of Long Island property besides this. I'll be glad to have him do it for you."

Pete went round to see Elizabeth that evening—being reasonably sure that Denny wouldn't turn up. He had had no more warnings, but Elizabeth had; some one had called her up at her office, urging her to use her influence to keep Pete away from Long Island.

"Swell chance," said Pete. "I'm going down tomorrow morning."

"What time?"

'Bet, you're not going. I won't have it."

"I certainly am!"

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE.

Gemini.

Today's planetary aspects are quite adverse, and fail to indicate the benign influence that should be associated wit hthe "Day of Rest." A morbid feeling is liable to be sensed, and analyze situations too critically, or a there will be present a temptation to tendency towards excessive introspection. Doubts will assail and disappointments will prevail. Mountains will be created out of mole hills, unless a strong efofrt is made to establish normal poise and to exercise self-control. The conditions that rule on a day o fthis nature, and which often tend to give birth to disagreement and acrimonious differences, can only be overcome by the resolution and determination of the individual to rise superior to unfavorable influences.

A girl born today promises to escape most of the vicissitudes of childhood, and to naterialize into a healthy and wholesome maidenhood. It will possess a compelling and attractive personality, and while not unduly prim or prudist, will never become flighty or flirtatious. It will, at a very early afe, take a serious view of life, and be fully alive to its responsibilities whilts jealous of its privileges. A boy, however, born on this date will suffer much from illness during infancy, and, on attaining normal physical conditions, will be rather peevish in disposition, and too much centered on himself o command the loyal support of friends. He will be industrious, and the probability is that he will attain a large measure of material success.

If today is your birthday, your disposition is both affable, and amiable. Your temper is very even, your impulses are kind, and your motives are generous. It takes a great deal to arouse your anger, and then only with justification. You, however, never harbod resentment, and are great to forgive.

You possess a fair degree of intelmechanics, and even if you do not Your natural inclination is towards ligence, and show steady application follow this line as an occupation, you should develop the inherent gift as a hobby.

You are very keen witted, and enjoy a verbal battle with others similarly gifted, while you wind special pleasure in a bright social environment. You can always chase away the shades of either gloon or despair, and your company is eagerly sought by friends and associates.

The Married Life of Helen And Warren

"Feel more like a hike after I've had my breakfast!" Warren's cane signaled a bus.

Closed shops, strolling couples, and absence of business traffic. The leisurely Sunday atmosphere.

Again without a maid, Warren had insisted on going out for breakfast. Having slept late and wasted time in getting off, it was now almost ten.

"Dear, there's the Saunter Inn," glancing down a side street. "Let's try that."

"Now no tea-room! Started out for the Baronet—not goin' to be sidetracked."

As the "Baronet" was the latest and most exclusive Park avenue hotel, Helen would have preferred a less extravagant restaurant.

But Warren's Sunday morning breakfast was always an important meal—not to be hurried or skinted.

Through the satinwood foyer and lounge to the semi-circular dining room—an achievement of the decorators' art.

A super head water ushered them to a table with a "Reserved" placard

Why this favor when the place was almost empty?

A silencing scrowl from Warren who rarely ate strawberries and never took kindly to a waiter's unsolicited suggestions.

"Now I can give the order!" exploded Warren. "Got any baked apples? Fresh baked? No ice box hold-overs. And some boiled scrod, Graham toast, and coffee."

"Cream with your baked apple, sir?"

"No, but plenty of it with the coffee."

"I'll just have a Spanish omelette, rolls, and coffee," was Helen's economical order.

"You like strawberries—why don't you have some?" urged Warren. "No? Well, hustle that along—and have that scrod well done."

"Dear, these prices are the worst yet," resented Helen.

"Pretty stiff. But don't mind if they give us good grub. Not doin' such a land-office business," glancing around.

"I suppose they have Sunday breakfast in their rooms. Aren't these curtains attractive? Changeable taffeta—mauve and gold. Like that dress I got in London. Dear, we need new curtains for the library—would you like taffeta?"

"No, makes it too dark."

"Oh, I forgot to ask for a footstool," always an essential to her comfort. "Dear, ask the head waiter when he comes by."

"Huh, might as well flag him now—won't have any peace till you get it."

"Yes, sir?" the head waiter approached at his signal. "A footstool? Sorry, sir, but we have no footstools."

"Then get a box—telephone book—anything!"

The baked apple, a dwarfed anemic specimen, was now ostentatiously served.

"Tastes like the ice box!" growled Warren. "Never get a decent baked apple at any hotel. Here, we ordered two coffees!" as a solitary silver pot, flanked by one cream and one hot milk, was brought on.

"That is for two, sir," now placing the cups.

"It is, eh? Well, not for us! When we drink that, you'll bring more."

"And, dear, they haven't brought my footstool yet! Surely they can get something—a box from the kitchen or a telephone book."

"What 'bout that footstool?" the the head waiter again responded to his curt summons. "What's that? Well, I told you to get something—and get it now!"

"Sh—eh, dear, not so loud. Never mind then, let it go."

"No, we'll NOT let it go! We'll have what we want here—or know the reason why! Soak us enough."

The footstool was not supplied But only Helen noticed the omission as Warren was soon diverted by the serving of his scrod.

Again the maximum of silver for the minimum of food.

Under a napkin nestled two attenuated rolls and three invalid squares of crustless toast. Certainly the "Baronet" specialized in delicate portions.

"Yes, and more toast—and more coffee—and more cream!" exploded Warren.

"You'll have an extra coffee and another order of toast?" taking out his pad.

"I'll have nothing of the kind! I ordered two coffees and we got the same size pot you served that man over there!"

"When that is served for one, sir, it is only half full."

"It is, eh? Well I've my doubts about that. Now you bring us more coffee—and it don't go on the bill!"

"Sorry, sir, but that is what we serve for two. If you wish more, I must charge you extra."

"You charge ninety cents for coffee for two. And another cup is another forty-five—that right?"

"Yes, sir."

"Send the head waiter here!"

"Now, dear, don't make a scene," pleaded Helen, as his voice boomed out in the almost empty room. "Let it go—we don't have to come here again."

"You bet we don't! And I'll see nobody we know ever gets stung at this joint. Craig spoke of stopping here next time he came on. Well, I'll tip him off."

"What is it now, sir?" the head waiter more arrogant with each summons.

"Is that the coffee you serve for two?" glowering at the small pot.

"Yes, sir, that holds a little over two cups."

"Well, it's a damn little over! And about a tablespoon of cream! Now I want more coffee and more cream—and I don't intend to pay for it!"

"Are you a house guest, sir?" with a covert sneer.

"No, I'm not! What's that got to do with the coffee Now I want——"

"Bring another coffee and don't charge it," was the head waiter's order, as he turned away with a disdainful shrug.

"Oh, dear, why did you?" flushed Helen. "We won't enjoy it now."

"Well, this's luck!" beamed Mr. Jordan. "Thought I was in for a lonely breakfast," motioning the waiter to bring him a chair.

Apparently Mr. Jordan was a favorite guest. The head waiter himself took his order—peaches and cream, cereal, bacon and eggs, coffee, and gluten toast.

With amused resentment Helen noticed their own status had risen. As friends of Mr. Jordan the disdainful attitude of the waiters changed to respectful solicitude.

Their extra coffee and cream were promptly forthcoming.

But Warren was not so easily propitiated. After the first exchange of "shop" news, he demanded abruptly:

"How d'you like it here, Jordan? Don't know 'bout the rooms—but we're not keen on this beanery. Robber prices and microscopic portions. Just had a run-in about the coffee. Ninety cents—and hardly a cup a piece."

"Yes, you're up against that here. Have to shell out to the head waiter. Peel off an extra five now and then—and you own the place."

"But not when you drop in—just for breakfast?"

"Don't know how you work it for a single meal?"

"Well, I'll not work it at all! Not stand for any such strong-arm methods. Don't mind givin' a good tip when I got good service, but I'm not goin' to—Huh, I thought so!"

"Why, dear, that's Mr. Jordan's coffee! What're you doing?"

"Full up!" Warren peered into the brimming pot. "Caught em red-handed! Same size they served us! Just what I said—we got coffee for one!"

"Sh—sh, dear, you're not going to say anything more?"

"No, might make it unpleasant for Jordan. But makes me darn sore to buck up against a raw game like that."

"Go ahead, put up a kick," grinned Mr. Jordan. "I'm in solid."

"No, I blew out and got what I wanted—but I don't understand how they figure it. Here we breeze in—the place is empty. Nothin' doing at this hour. Think they'd be glad of a little extra business. What's the idea?"

"Dear, I know! You remember when the head waiter gave us this table it was marked 'reserved'! He expected something then—and you didn't give it to him."

"You bet I didn't! Why should I? Not goin' to butter any head waiter for a single breakfast. Reserved table!" with a snort. "I'll cough up for that when a place is crowded—but not when there're fifty other vacant tables just as good!"

"Oh, dear, he heard you!" as the head waiter, fumbling with the silver at a nearby table, turned away, his neck brick red above his smart winged collar.

"Time somebody showed up these insolent pirates! New York spoils 'em rotten. Before we went to Europe, I used to think insulting patrons was part of a head waiter's job! But after the service you get over there—you see red when you knock up against these surly cusses."

"Guess that's so," grinned Mr. Jordan. "And over there they're satisfied with ten percent of the bill. When I think of what I have to shell out here—"

"Yes, and it's suckers like you who spoil 'em!" exploded Warren. "You admit you've got to pad this flunky or you couldn't eat here. I tip for good service when I get it. But I'll be hanged if I bonus any head waiter for givin' me a 'reserved' table when the whole bloomin' place is empty!"

COMEDY AND DRAMA THIS WEEK

Good Week For Movie Goers Is Promised By Shows

Another good week of film offerings are promised Wichita Falls theatre goers beginning today with all theatres showing the best movies obtainable.

A week of comedy that is comedy is ushered in today at the Olympic with the beginning of "Merry Me," featuring Florence Vidor and Edward Horton, and an egg.

The setting is in a small town, while Florence Vidor plays the part of a young school teacher who falls in love with a man she meets while on her vacation. The man proposes and before she has time to name the date she is called home by the illness of her aunt. She writes the date her lover may expect to marry her on an egg and gives it to the cook with instructions to serve it to him the next morning. The cook forgets instructions and in the course of time the egg finds its way into a cold storage house. The lover thinks his girl has deliberately gone away, the girl goes home and waits for her lover to return for her.

Egg After Five Years.

Five years later the egg turns up again, and the action that follows offers a plot that is seldom equaled Laughs galore are thrown in and with the romance of the girl and the egg turning out right, everything ends happily.

Thursday the Olympic will start its second comedy. A pure farce comedy that is guaranteed to get laughs and laughs will be shown in "Stop Flirting," featuring Al and Charles Christie. These two popular comedians claim to have played their masterpiece in the show and pre-release reports show that the film is one of the best comedies shown on the screen this year.

Natalie Joyce plays the star feminine part of the girl who loves a man but flirts with other men to keep her fiance in his place. The fiance determines to get even and hastens a speedy marriage so he and a friend wor kout a plan whereby they hope to win out. Whether they do or not is seen in the film that is gaining attention for its speedy action and laughable incidents.

The Strand offers a melodrama of love that is taken from life in its display of home devotion. "Love of Women" stars Helen Chadwick with Lawford Davidson playing opposite her. In the supporting cast are numbered Montague Love, Mary Thurman, Maurice Costello, Marie Shotwell, and Frankie Evans.

The plot centers around the humdrum life of a girl who has run away with a man in face of direct opposition of her mother who favors her marriage with another man. The only tie that binds the couple together is the two children.

Letters Are Sold.

The man becomes infatuated with another girl and writes her a number of compromising letters. He at length breaks up with her but the letters are sold to a former lover who sends part of them to the girl and the other part to the newspaper.

A divorce is refused until six months have passed a wise judge who sees that the two are still in love. The story of how they are brought together again offers a film that is unusual for plot and acting and popular for its portrayal of a theme that is always interesting.

The film will run until Wednesday.

A drama of the streets is the offering of the Mission theatre for the first four days of the week beginning today. "Lilies of the Streets," has been advertised as a powerful drama of the streets that includes in its scope the story of the New York underworld and the home of the higher ups in society.

The plot is the ever new story of the neglect of parents for their children until too late when they realize their mistake. The father in the story is concerned only with the lure of gold while the mother is busy with "her own affairs." The girl is left to herself and gradually grows into an outlaw. The climax comes when the brisk police sergeant calls up and tells the unbelieving parents that their daughter is being held for murder. The manner in which the story is worked out to a satisfactory end offers a story that is seldom equaled.

Actual Experiences.

The film is based upon the actual experiences of the social workers in New York and other bigger cities of the country and is calculated to show parents the ends to which thousands of girls come every year. The picture shows the well dressed girl crook of today as she infests the cities and plies her trade among the fashionable set as well as in the low cafes of the underworld.

The Palace opens the week featuring their new air cooling system installed during the past week and now operating full run, sending 20,000 cubic feet of chilled air through the theatre every minute.

Today "The Meddler" will show, featuring William Desmond. This show is a blue Streak Western with plenty of thrills for everyone, with some romance intermingled. Jack Hoxie will also star in the serial "Lightning Brice."

The Garden of Mirth Musical comedy will begin their third week in Wichita Falls tomorrow. This comedy troupe is one of the best that has ever had an extended run in the city and the theatre is showing to consistently full houses.

Monday and Tuesday Bill Patton will be here in "The Sage Brush Gospel" Wednesday and Thursday Percy Marmount will star in "The Legend of Hollywood." Friday and Saturday William Fairbanks will show in "South of the Rio Grande."

The Garden promises a real western picture today and tomorrow in the "Sign of the Cactus" featuring Jack Hoxie. The story was filmed in the Sierra Nevada mountains and offers local coloring that does much to make the picture true to life.

The story is that of a party of westerners who claim that they have been deprived of their natural rights by an irrigation company that comes into the country using up much of the land. The fight that follows and the romance mixed in that ultimately settles the question offers some real adventure and drama.

A MISSION OFFERING

Jack Hoxie Showing At Garden Theatre Today and Monday Only

Towering mountain peaks and brawling rivers from the scene background for the rapid action of "The Sign of the Cactus," Blue Streak Western, starring Jack Hoxie and to be shown in the Garden theatre Sunday and Monday. The picture was filmed in the Sierra Nevada mountains, the company making its headquarters in Sonora, a little city nestled in that section of California made famous by Bret Harte.

The story told by "The Sign of the Cactus" is that of the struggle of ranchers who contend that they have been deprived of their natural water rights by an irrigation company that induced them by unkept promises to place themselves at the mercy of the company. Inspired by personal reasons, the fact that as a boy he saw his father killed in the dispute, the charafter impersonated by Hoxie becomes the self-appointed knight errant of the ranchers and preys upon the irrigation company.

The situation becomes complicated by the fact that Hoxie falls in love with the daughter of the head of the irrigation company.

A STRAND FEATURE

"Marry Me" At the Olympic Today, Is Laughing Comedy that Pleases

Characterizing, not caricaturing, American rural people was the task performed by James Cruze in filming his newest Paramount production, "Marry Me!" starting at the Olympic today, for which a small town locale serves as a background.

Cruze, the master of "human humor," has met with unvaried success whenever called to put on the screen a representative of rural American life. The secret—only common sense, is to show people as they really are.

According to the man who made "The Covered Wagon" and dozens of other outstanding photoplays, to caricature rural characters would serve to weaken a picture because it would rob it of accuracy and realism.

"People in small towns, at least, realize there is an outside world," pointed out Cruze, "and it is surprising how down to the minute their knowledge of outside affairs is. On the other hand, a large percentage of our population in our largest city, New York, is convinced that the world is bounded by the east and Hudson river

Cruze always demands naturalness and in "Marry Me" he exacted it from every member of the company. The result is that the various players interpret their roles with an earnestness, a sincerity and spontaneity that leaves no room for any criticism.

"Marry Me," was adapted from the popular comedy stage play, "The Nest Egg," by Anne Caldwkell. It mirrors in delightful style the many humorous complications in which a lovely little school teacher becomes involved when she fools her home town into believing that she is going to be married.

Florence Vidor, whom some one has aptly termed "the patrician of the screen," plays the part of the romantic school teacher; Edward Everett Horton has the leading male role; and Helen Jerome Eddy and John Roche complete the quartet of featured favorites.

Unique Adventure in "The Meddler" Showing At the Palace Today Only

Sunday: William Desmond in "The Meddler," also Jack Hall in "Lightning Brice."

Monday and Tuesday: Bill Patton in "The Sage Bush Gospel" and our going comedy.

Wednesday and Thursday: Percy Marmont and all star cast in "The Legant of Hollywood."

Friday and Saturday: Wm. Fairbanks in "South of the Rio Grande" and special comedy.

Playing the part of a fascinating bandit who never steals anything but seems to get immense satisfaction from perpetrating holdups for the mere pleasure of the feats, William Desmond plays the most interesting roles in his screen career in his latest Blue Sreak Western, "The Meddler," which is coming to the Palace theatre today.

On one occasion circumstances forced him to keep the cash box stolen from the stage but the next day he stopped the stage again and gave the box back. The frightened driver hurried away leaving his only passenger, a beautiful girl in the power of the bandit.

The bandit and the girl talked a long time until the sheriff's posse found them, forcing the outlaw to retreat. The mystery of the bandit's actions was not explained. Shortly after, he overheard a plot to kill the girl's father, steal his cattle and kidnap the girl. His warning to the rancher was laughed at and he found it necessary to carry out another holdup to save the two from the rustlers. This he did and the girl in her attitude fell in love with the bandit.

But the bandit was in reality an eastern millionaire whose financee's jibes as his colorless life. She drives him to desperation in an attempt to make him the kind of man she wants. Returning to the city, he finds the fiancee married to a naval officer. Relieved, he hurries back west and claims the rancher's daughter.

Thirty Degrees Is Difference Inside Palace and Outside

"Thirty degrees cooler inside than out," is the boast of the Palace theatre management. The reason is seen in the new cooling system installed in the building and put into operation for the first time yesterday.

Washed air, sent through a canvas sheet, chilled to one degree above freezing and then sent through the theatre at the rate of 20,000 cubic feet per minute. That is how the new system works and the chilled temperature inside the show Friday evening proves that the system will provide at least one cool spot for Wichitans to seek during the days when the thermometer is soaring to 115 in the shade for tuen it will only be 85 degrees inside the theatre.

Speed Boat Can Go Mile In 55 Seconds

PLAQUEMINE, La., June 26.—(AP)—Capable of making a mile in 55 seconds, "Miss Plaquemine," a hydro-speed boat constructed by Henrp N. Sherburne, of Plaquemine, is believed to be one of the fastest boats ever built in this section.

"Miss Plaquemine," with the eight other members of the fleet is the result of the need of Mr. Sherburne, its inventor, for a rapid means of transportation over the bayous of Louisiana in visting his various business enterprises scattered along these channels. It has no under-water propellor, being driven by a 90 horse power Curtis air plane motor mounted on the stern, using a propellor of the type mounted on planes for driving power. The boat is 20 feet long and seven feet wide and when travelling at full speed draws only two inches of water, while at slow speed she draws six inches.

"Miss Plaquemine" accommodates three passengers and a pilot, who controls the boat from a steering post similar to an automobile. With a full load the boat will attain a speed of more than 60 miles an hour and its inventor claims that it will maintain an average speed of 50 miles an hour throughout a day without injury to the motor.

"Stop Flirting" Is Purest Of Farce Comedy At Olympic Thursday

With the great number of comedies of such high calibre as "Charley's Aunt," and "Hold Your Breath," to their credit, Al and Charles Christie might well set themselves up as dictators of what does or does not constitute good comedy.

"Stop Flirting,' 'the latest Christie offering, which is now playing at the Olympic theatre where it will remain for the next four days, presents a new angle on the so-called social whirl of high society, according to Al Christie.

Musical Comedy.

The film is a picturization of a popular musical comedy and while the locale of this version will be virtually the same as it was in the play, that of the luxurious seaside home of a young man of wealth surrounded by a gay and firtatious crowd of pleasure seekers, the thing which will make the Christie comedy different will be the presentation of this sort of life from the farce comedy angle with no problematic or melodramatic worries to insinuate themselves into the action of the comedy.

In other words it will be a comedy and hilarious laughter. "Laughing episodes and hilarious laughter. Laughing entertainment only" is the slogan which Scott Sidney, the director, adopted for the filming of the picture

Good Character.

All the characters in the big cast have been selected because of their ability to capably interpret farce roles John T. Murray, former vaudeville and revue star, heads the cast. Opposite him is Wanda Hawley who scored heavily in "Reckless Romance" and "Let Women Alone."

Jimmie Adams, noted for his work as star in two reel comedies, makes his debut in features in "Stop Flirting", in which he assumes the role of a flirtatious Italian baron. Jack Duffy, who scored a personal success as the old grandpa in "Reckless Romance" portrays the funny butler character and David James is the aviator.

Interesting Situations Seen In "Love for Women" At the Strand

It is a charmingly human story, beautifully screened and convincingly enacted, and deals with the marital difficulties of Cynthia and Ernest Herrick. Altho very much in love with each other, the young couple, through the interference of outsiders, land in the divorce court. In spite of the incriminating evidence against Ernest the judge feels that the pair really care for one another and that perhaps time may bring about a reconciliation, so instead of granting an absolute decree of divorce, he gives an interlocutory one. The day before the signing of the final papers the Herrick's little boy is severely injured At the suggestion of the doctor Cynthia sends for the boy's father and the long watch throughout the night by the bedside of their child makes the parents realize that death alone should part them. The next morning they announce to the judge that they don't want a divorce and sally forth on a second honeymoon.

Helen Chadwick portrays Cynthia Herrick with a restraint and delicacy which add much to the reality of the play. Lawford Davidson, who plays opposite to her, also, gives a finished and sympathetic portrayal of the husband, who has been led astray.

Montague Love and Maurice Costello live up to the reputations as capable actors and no one could be more seductively vampish than Mary Thurman. Credit for good work should be given, also, to Marie Shotwell and little Frankie Evans.

Truth Is Basis for Film of Girls In Underworld At Mission Today

While the story was written expressly for the screen by Elisabeth J. Monroe, it was based on actual experiences of Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton, New York's first and famous polivewoman. Practically every happening in the picture was culled from some case that has come under investigation of the New York police and the whole has been deftly welded in to a motion picture drama that for strength of story, virility of drama, vividness of characterization and all around interest has seldom been equalled.

There are very few of us in this everyday world that would believe the things told in this story actually happen. It's hard to believe that there are men and women so vile as to conceive plots so cruel, so far-reaching in their evil effects, as are shown in this picture. Yet here they are, before our eyes, their authenticity guaranteed by actual statistics.

Another thing this story proves is that for women or girls to be foolish is sometimes more dangerous than to be criminal. Two women in this picture, a girl and her mother—both of them good at heart—find themselves perilously near the rocks of mental and moral disaster because they are foolish.

A splendid cast, headed by Johnnie Walker and Virginia Lee Corbin, has been engaged to portray the various roles in the picture. Joseph Levering directed.

Music Over Phone Precedes Robbery; Police Are Baffled

SAN ANTONIO, June 27.—Weird music transmitted to her over her telephone as a warning that an attempt would be made to break into her home, has caused a San Antonio woman to ask police for protection.

The music was played again for her Friday night when she lifted the receiver of her telephone in answer to a ring. Remembering another such occurrence, the woman reported the matter to detectives who made several trips to the vicinity of her home throughout the night but saw no signs of prowlers.

The first time she was so strangely serenaded the woman said, was several months ago. The telephone rang one night and when she answered it, all she heard was music.

That night, when the neighborhood was wrapped in darkness, she was awakened by a man trying to cut his way through the screen.

The telephone rang and the woman answered it. At first, she said, all she could hear was mumbling. Then a voice she had never heard before said distinctly:

The words, he woman said, struck her motionless, and as she stood at the telephone, unable to hang up the receiver, she heard again the soft, distant strains of music.

Detectives are baffled by the case.

SAN ANTONIO, June 27.—Ability as a porch climber netted Deputy Sheriff John B. Subira $50 and the hearty commendation of Sheriff Jim Stevens Friday afternoon. But there is a San Antonio woman who will not feel so kindly toward him.

Sheriff Stevens was handed a citation in an important civil suit with a reward of $50 to the deputy who served it. Several tried. Always the woman was away from home. Then it was given to Subira.

SIX LANGUAGES AT LEAST NEED IN EUROPE NOW

Merchants Must Know Many Languages if They Would Sell

ROME, June 27 (AP).—The linguistic attainments of policemen, taxi-chauffeurs, hotel employes and other workers who have to cater to the needs of Italy's vast tourist population have been severely taxed this year—sometimes beyond the breaking point—by the influx of Holy Year visitors.

Hotel managers, porters and valets who once were able to satisfy their clients by a passing acquaintance with Italian, English, French and German now are frequently reduced to conversation by eloquent gestures. Hotel notices and other tourist information posters which until this year had been printed in three or four languages, now in some cases boast of as many as six or seven.

And even the expert philologists who boast of being able to make themselves understood in Russian, Serbian, Rumanian, Hungarian and all the other Central and Northern European languages are often confronted with a more baffling difficulty by the presence here of peasants from remote sections of their native lands, particularly Italy and Germany, who know no tongue other than their respective regional dialects.

New Chrysler Four Is Announced By Lloyd Weaver Company

MAXWELL CAR GIVES WAY TO POPULAR AUTO

New Cars Said to be One Of Best Four Cylinder Cars on Market

Chrysler today announces a new four-clyinder line, in response to a public demand for another car bearing this name which has become recognized as one of the most distinguished in the motor car industry.

The new Chrysler four, offered in touring car, club coupe, coach and four door body sedan styles, priced from $895 to $1,095, f. o. b Detroit, is built for the benefit of the thousands who desire in a four-cylinder car the same comparative superiority embodied in the Chrysler six.

This new car is the product of the same engineers and manufacturing executives who, in the Chrysler six revolutionized motor car design and construction. Motor car authorities who have seen the new model consider it equally as notable an achievement in its field as its famed companion. It is built to the same close manufacturing limits and of the same high quality of materials.

"The new Chrysler four is the outgrowth of research, design and test which first resulted in the conception of the Chrysler six," is the comment of Walter P. Chrysler, head of this organization who has become one of the dominant personalities in the automotive field, on his newest achievement. "Adaptation of the results achieved in the six to our four cylinder model has been going on since the appearance of the six."

Sets Record for Power.

According to the S. E. A. formula, the horsepower of the new four is 21.03. It actually delivers 38.5. Uniform fuel distribution to all cylinders, complete combustion, perfect valve action, highly efficient operating temperature, ample capacity of cooling system and generous water jacketing of cylinder walls and valve ports are factors that make this noticeable general efficiency possible.

"You can drive this car all day under heavy load or at top speed and the engine will not overheat or lose power," Mr. Chrysler continues.

Engine lubrication is by positive, full-forced feed, sending a continuous flow of oil under pressure to all main bearings and, through drilled passages in the crankshaft, to all connecting rod bearings. A cushion of oil at these points is called well worth the extra cost by engineers, rather than having the metal-to-metal contact and rapid wear common to splash oiling.

Free From Vibration.

The entire car is called remarkably free from vibration. Elimination of it is due to balancing all rotating and reciprocating parts; short, heavy and rigid crankshaft in conjunction with light pistons and connecting rods; dynamic balance of all parts that revolve such a crankshaf, clutch hub and flywheel; and matching of connecting rod and piston assemblies to the fraction of an ounce.

"But the engineers have not stopped there in disposing of vigration," Mr. Chrysler continues. "One of the most unusual features is the method by which the engine is isolated from the frame to prevent the disturbances of road irregularities from being transmitted to it through the chassis. The engine front end is mounted on a floating platform spring. Its usual rigid bolting to the chassis frame at the front end is entirely lacking. Fastenings of the rear engine arms to the chassis have rubber bushings and pads interposed, eliminating the destructive contact of metal with metal. Thus the engine is literally cushioned on rubber at that paint. The combination of these two unusual practices means complete insulation against vibration in the chassis frame."

This ingenius arrangement, Mr. Chrysler says, gives no opportunity for rumble or tremor to reach the body of the car or its occupants. It promotes an unmistakable smoothness to engine and chassis operation particularly, he says.

Chassis is of unusually study construction. Added to the customary design of strong, stiff cross members is a stout torque tube at the front, and a wide, strong integral brace of heavy gauge metal at the rear. Frame weaving and distortion—the two actions which loosen body bolts and set up squeaks—are thus largely overcome. The radiator is also bolted rigidly to the chassis frame side members.

Another indication of Chrysler bearing rather than the cutomary progressiveness is the fact that the new four is the lowest priced car ever offered with the option of Chrysler locked four wheel brakes, which have gained so much popularity on the six-cylinder models.

The body design combining compactness for easy handling on the road, easy parking and economy, with generous roominess, so distinctive of the six, is also to be found in the new four. In this new model the motorist is given a greater roominess than in many cars that have longer wheelbase.

All closed bodies are by Fisher, with one-piece vision-ventilating windshield, rapid acting window lifters and high qualty upholstery and hardware.

"The Chrysler organization is equally proud of this new four as of the Chrysler six, "concludes Mr. Chrysler. "It is in every way modernly engineered and designed—and the soundest and thoroughly modern expression of the four cylinder principle.

"Its abilities include gasoline economy of 25 miles per gallon, acceleration from practically a standstill to 25 miles and hour in eight seconds, and a speed range remarkably adapted for unusual power and hilly country."

Brakes—Drums 12 9-16 inches in diameter 1 1-2 inches wide. Emergency drum 7x2 iuches (Chrysler-Locked hydraulic four-wheel brakes optional at extra cost.)

Engine—L. Head type cast on bloc, integral with crankcase. Removable head. Bore 3 5-8 inches, stroke 4 1-2 Displacement 185 cubic inches. Three point suspension—14 leaf semi-elliptic spring in front, special enclosed rubber mounting at rear. No metallic connection between engine and from at any point.

Here Is How the New Chrysler Four Looks

The latest thing in four cylinder cars is announced today by the Lloyd Weaver Company. The Chrysler sixes have gained so much popularity in the past year that a new four is placed on the market. The company at the same time announces the discontinuance of the Maxwell cars. Above: The new Chrysler Four Sedan, now on display at the Lloyd Weaver Company's sales rooms.

OLDSMOBILES STAND UP IN MOTOR TESTS

High Gears Only Left In Demonstration Auto

Why automobile manufacturers go to the trouble and expense of equipping a car with low and second speed gears became a pertinent question today after witnessing the performance of the Oldsmobile Six that made the record run from New York to Los Angeles in high gear in October, 1923. The demonstration was made under the direction of Birch & Gates, local Oldsmobile dealers, and was witnessed by hundreds of automobile enthusiasts of Wichita Falls.

Big Crowds Inspect.

On schedule time the record Olds arrived at the local Oldsmobile dealer's store where it was inspected by a large crowd. The transmission case was opened to show that the car was operated by direct drive only, the low, second and reverse gears having been removed. In fact, the car was in the same condition as it was when it made its record transcontinental run.

Every test that could be devised was tried and accomplished by the car. The steepest grades that could be found were successfully negotiated. The descent of these grades was equally interesting, showing the good balance and excellent braking powers of the car.

Drives through the principal streets demonstrated that it was possible for a car in high gear to successfully cope with any traffic conditions. In fact, this type of wriving, which is usually accompanied by almost constant shifting of gears, was one of the high points of the demonstration.

The entire performance was a striking picture of the strides made by the automotive industry during the past few years. If automobile manufacturers continue at the same rate to perfect their product, building better and stronger and utilizing every advancement of science, what the car of 1930 will be cannot be imagined.

Olds Guests of Honor.

Since making its record transcontinental run and performing speed and stamina tests on the Pacific coast, the Oldsmobile "high-geared" car has been touring the country, the guest of honor at automobile shows.

Besides giving demonstrations, the tour was also intended to thoroughly test out the car under the most trying conditions. Factory officials have ordered that no adjustments or repairs be made other than oil changes and such work as it is necessary to keep any machinery in operation. The car must be run in exactly the same condition as when it left New York on its transcontinental run in October, 1923. It is planned that by midsummer the car will have covered more than 100,000 miles under the control of many different drivers and all sorts of roads, traffic and weather conditions. It is felt that this test will clearly show the capabilities of the car.

The present trip of the car is under the personal supervision of C. Scott Thomas of the Olds Motor works, Oldsmobile distributors for Texas at Dallas.

NEW OVERLAND FIXTURES GAIN PUBLIC FAVOR

Both Makes of Cars Have Gained Popularity This Year

One of the most important features in the new line of six cylinder sleeve-valved cars is the specially designed curtain compartment for the touring models, located in the back of the front seat. A finely finished interior, covered with fine cloth, encased the curtains, keeping them free from dust and dirt, and providing a safe compartment with its fine lock. Strong straps hold the curtains securely in place, eliminating the usual crushing and breaking of curtain windows, and providing an easily accessible compartment so that occupants need not leave their seats to install the storm protectors.

Specially fitted compartments in the front door, likewise provided with a strong and serviceable lock, contain the tool equipment for the Willys-Knight open models. There is no fumbling around for the tools, no lifting of seat cushions nor loss of tools by theft with these unique arrangements, and women drivers are particularly enthusiastic over the convenience of this equipment.

Ditch Lamp Action.

Full and complete action of the ditch lamp, or auxiliary road driving light, is obtained by a simple manipulation on the steering column. This device, exclusive on the Willys-Knight Sixes, is giving fine service satisfaction to hundreds of owners n night drving. A simple turn of the wrist and the light is instantly and directly focussed at the right height or angle on the side of the road.

Other special features included in the equipment for these Willys-Knight Sixes are an air-filter on the carburetor which removes all impurities in the air mefore it is drawn into the carburetor for the mixture; an oil rectifier which reduces crank case dilution and insures good engine oil at all times; full sized one-piece windsheld giving greater vision and safety advantages in driving, and patented Willys-Knight four-wheel brakes of positive action and ease of control.

The man is alleged to have passed many worthless checks in Austin, Waco, Dallas and Houston as well as in this city.

Tests Show That Good Drivers Can Use Car Brakes In Quick Time

In the old days of the wild West it was proved in very conclusive fashion and on very many occasions that some men are "quicker on the trigger" than others. That there is an equally wide difference in drivers as to being "quick on the brake" has recently been proved by the bureau of standards at Washington in a series of very interesting tests with a wide number of individuals as to how quickly they responded with their brakes when a dangerous situation suddenly presented itself.

"The result of the tests showed that some people responded as quickly as a third of a second," says Harry Sperl, president of the Sperl Motor Car company, Rickenbacker distributors of Los Angeles. "The average was a little over half a second. Some people took as much as a second and a half before they could apply the brakes.

"That means that if a car is going 30 miles an hour the quickest driver will have his brakes on inside of 15 feet, while the slowest will travel about 65 feet before he even begins to apply the brakes. It was found that there was no great amount of difference in the reaction time of men and women or young and old, but everything seemed to depend upon the individual. It was noticed, however, that experienced drivers were consistently quicker than the inexperienced.

"At 30 miles an hour, according to the Thermoid charts, a car equipped with four-wheel brakes will stop in 55 feet. If you add the 15 feet which even the quickest drivers required, it will take you about 70 feet to come to a complete stop from the instant you first perceive danger. If you have only two-wheel brakes, however, and are slow to react, it will take you 65 feet before you apply your brakes and over 83 feet to come to a stop then. This is a total of 148 feet, as compared with 70, and is a vivid comparison of the difference between the chances of avoiding accident that the two types of drivers and cars possess."

NEW BROUGHAM IS ANNOUNCED BY HUDSON CO.

New Closed Car Said To Be Latest Thing In Line

Announcement that Hudson which has specialized in closed cars only for many months—producing nothing but coaches and sedans in both Hudson and Essex lines—had brought out a de luxe model brougham, drew hundreds of visitors and buyers during the last week to all distributors.

There they found a car which, for its surpassing beauty and fineness of construction, is said to have amazed even the most optimistic among buyers of cars and members of the dealer fraternity.

A four-door model with rear quarters of leather, the general lines are typical of Hudson construction, but with an augmented effect of striking smartness and style. The construction is all-aluminum.

These cars are custom-built by one of the oldest and best known manufacturers in America," explained Mr. Conner of the Wichita Hudson-Essex company. "The trimming and general details are the same standard as the Hudson sedans in the seven-passenger size."

The feature which seems to have impressed all visitors the strongest, however, is that Hudson once again has made a point of high quality at lowest possible price. Since all the factory costs are distributed over a very large volume of business, this is possible with all models—the ... broughams, as well as the sedans and coaches.

The New CHRYSLER FOUR
Walter P. Chrysler's Latest Achievement
Now Ready!

Walter P. Chrysler's full conception of what a four-cylinder car should be has now become a reality.

Mr. Chrysler announces the new Chrysler Four, companion car to the Chrysler Six. It is here, ready for your inspection.

Whether you are a car owner or not, by all means see this new Chrysler creation. Ride in it. Get to know the latest Chrysler achievement which the master car builder identifies with his own name.

It will amaze you, for it is our firm conviction that the new Chrysler Four represents a better and finer combination of power, speed, fuel mileage and charm of appearance than any other four in the world today.

For four years Chrysler-created products have steadily advanced to the very forefront of the four and six-cylinder fields.

Chrysler engineering, Chrysler manufacturing quality and Chrysler value eclipsed all previous production records for cars that might be considered comparable.

Every step of that irresistible advance was part of the process in preparation for the production of the new Chrysler Four answering the insistent public demand for another Chrysler.

$895 Touring Car F.O.B. Detroit, Tax Extra

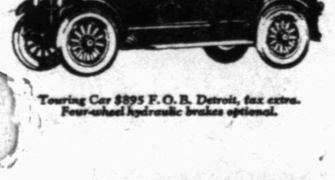

The basis for the beauty of the new Chrysler Four is the dynamic symmetry which Chrysler engineers were first to translate into beautiful motor car design in the Chrysler Six.

The wonderful riding qualities of the new Chrysler Four cannot be described. You must experience them to know what an advance has been made in the four-cylinder field. It is enough to say that a ride will amaze and delight you.

And when you ride you'll notice the absolute quietness of the four-cylinder engine, you'll find no rumble or tremors in the body of the car.

Here is a car you can truly drive all day without fatigue. It is hardly ever necessary to shift gears, except for starting from a dead stop. When shifting is necessary it is made clean and noiselessly by the matched transmission gears and easy clutch action.

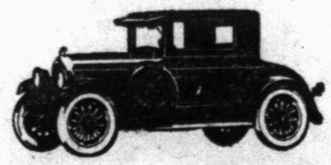

There has never been the like of the new Chrysler Four at anywhere near its price. Be prepared for a great revelation.

61,000 VISIT PIERCE-ARROW PLANT YEARLY

Huge Number of Visitors Reported at Factory Every Year

Over 16,000 visitors during the past year inscribed their names in the big visitors' register found in the reception hall of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car company's offices at Buffalo. Many of these visitors, of course, were persons who had business with the various departments, but a large number were there for the sole purpose of going "sightseeing" through the great Pierce-Arrow chassis and body plants.

The register is interesting for it contains the names of many people from foreign lands. Many of them are owners, who have driven Pierce-Arrows along the dust choked loads of Australia, have wound through the slippery streets of Oriental cities or mounted the skyline trails that lead to the high Alps. Among the names found on the register are those of travelers from South America, China, Japan, England and its colonies, Belgium, Russia and other countries of the globe.

Many of the visitors at the Pierce Arrow factory are engineering students who come to Pierce-Arrow to study the problems of manufacturing and plant management in the making of automobiles, such as Pierce-Arrow. One student recently came from as far west as Leland Stanford university, while the University of Kentucky sent a party of 40 a short time ago to study the plant.

Another interesting visitor was a native of India, with snowy turban, who, having gained a knowledge of Pierce-Arrow products during his residence in the United States, desired to become a dealer upon his return home.

Army officers, especially those in the air service, find the factory a profitable place to visit, being especially interested in gasoline engine development.

Nature Amphitheatre Opened in California

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., June 27 (AP).—A capacious and probably unique, natural amphitheatre, distinctive in its setting 7,000 feet above sea level in the wooded heart of the San Bernardino mountains, on what is known as the "Rim of the World," was opened recently with a musical program novel in itself.

This huge out-door theatre can accommodate an audience of 50,000 persons or more. The seating arrangements include everything from the natural pine needles, collected to form a seat, to cushioned chairs.

Instead of one stage there are many. They are composed of platforms of table-shaped rocks artistically placed by the hand of nature about the large amphitheatre. On one, hundreds of feet above the audience, a violinist standing in the shafts of coored lights blended with the moon-beams through the branches of great trees on the mountain side above him, rendered music fro mthe masters of long ago. From another, across a ravine on a precipitous mountain side, a string quartet played softly while choruses sang from half hidden caverns.

Vari-colored lights playing about the amphitheatre created a fantastic effect.

Memorial Coins Are Going Fast, Report

Sale of certificates for Confederate Memorial coins, minted by the United States government as a tribute to the "valor of the soldier of the south," is progressing rapidly in WichitaFalls according to Oral Jones, cashier of the City National Bank. Actual coins are to be released to holders of certificates throughout the nation on July 8.

Reports reaching local bank officials indicate the greatest interest in the memorial coin in all parts of the south. Mississippi is using the coin to celebrate "Jefferson Davis week," beginning July 3.

In Virginia, Governor Lee Trinkle has designated the week of June 8 as "Virginia week," during which it is expected a total of more than 200,000 coins will be sold.

Tennessee, following the volunteer tradition established during the war between the state, has through Governor Peay, summoned 50,000 workers for "volunteer week," which begain June 8.

In Georgia, Governor Clifford Walker has announced that he will award to the first county reaching its quota of memorial coins the choice of a special carload of German war trophies taken in the Argonne, soon to be received in Atlanta.

COTTON BEING IRRIGATED.

Iowa Park Section Not Yet in Need of Much Water, Is Report.

IOWA PARK, June 27.—Though cotton in this section does not yet appear to be suffering from lack of water, farmers are opening the lock gates and allowing the irrigation water to flow into their fields. Unless rain comes soon it will be necessary to irrigate to a great extent within the next two weeks.

SOUTH TEXAS CROPS NOT SO GOOD, AVERS ELECTRAN

ELECTRA, June 27.—After a visit of more than three weeks through the southern part of Texas and the Rio Grande valley, D. T. Cross of this city says that Electra still looks good to him. He stated that the lack of rain has proved a serious handicap to farmers over that section of the state. It was his opinion that the farther north you came the better the cotton looked.

CORN IN NEED OF RAIN.

Condition of Crop in County Is Said to Be Poor.

ELECTRA, June 27.—Condition of corn in this county is reported much below normal, while other grain is said to be in fair condition. Rain is needed, however, for the corn crop and many farmers say that if rain is had within a week the crop will still be good.

North Dakota Offers a Varied and Wonderful Scenery to Motorists

One of the many attractions of motor touring through North Dakota is the picturesque rugged country in which the great Theodore Roosevelt sought health and happiness in his rough-riding days. The log cabin that was his home during his historic life at the Chimney Butte ranch in the bad lands and in which he wrote many of his books is open to all visitors on the state capitol grounds at Bismarck, N. D.

North Dakota has 2,000 miles of completed federal aid earth roads, 000 miles of completed federal gravel roads and many miles of paved roads. The state highway system includes 6,000 miles of earth and gravel roads.

From East to West.

The Red Trail known also as the National Park highway, traverses the state fro'meast to west and is probably more interesting to tourists than any other highway in the state .

It begins at Fargo on the North Dakota-Minnesota line, goes through Valley City in the beautiful valley of the Cheyenne river and then along the James river to Bismarck, the state capitol. Old Fort Abraham Lincoln is two miles from Bismarck. Just west of Bismarck is the great highway bridge spanning the Missouri river which cost more than a million and a half dollars to build. Near Mandan, six miles from Bismarck, is the Northern Pacific's park in which is found the famous bronze statue of Theodore Roosevelt, the rough rider.

Continuing west, the tourists comes to the bad lands. The scenic beauty of these bad lands in indescribable, gorgeous in coloring, rugged and fully as interesting as the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. Yet they are quite accessible and almost any portion of them may be visited by automobile or on horseback.

Wonderful Scene.

About three miles beyond Sully Springs on the same Red Trail is the burning coal strata just underneath the surface of the earth. As the coal burns, the clay above brakes into a reddish "Scoria" and the surface of the earth settles to the depth of the burned coal strata. This is a wonderful scene and gives one a concrete idea of how the bad lands have been formed.

In the Little Missouri river in the heart of the bad lands one can visit the beef-packing plant built in the early eighties by the French noblemen, Marcus de Mores. Chateau de Moreas has been preserved in its original condition and is open to visitors. Five miles up the river from Medora the ranch Roosevelt made famous. New York may have been his home but here it was that he came to build up the rugged strength of mind and body that made him the great world figure he was destined to become. The stratified Buttes are as an open book to the geologists, each representing an area of events in the world's history.

No difficulty in motor-touring along this historic route will be experienced if the tourist carries his non-skid chains—preferably of Weed type. According to T. G. Plomasen, maintenance engineer of the state highway commission, North Dakota's roads are generally in good condition, except in wet weather, and immediately following rains when the motor traveler will need non-skid chains to travel without difficulty. These will be needed from 6 to 24 hours after rains.

It is proposed to create out of the bad lands country a Roosevelt National park, a place for the collection of the government's vast herds of buffalo, elk, deer and antelope where they may graze unmolested where tourists may see them amid their natural haunts.

Portable School Is Given Much Praise

"From all over the country where the portable school of the Oakland Motor Car company has held sessions, the factory is receiving favorable comment upon the good work accomplished," says J. L. McElreath of McElreath Motor Co., local Oakland distributor. The school served to educate the sales and service men into a proper understanding of the relation of a motor car to every-day life. In other words it sought to show the men how to be of greatest service to the buyer."

CHEVROLET CO. REPORTS HUGE SALE INCREASE

The Chevrolet Motor company shipped 52,853 motor cars and trucks during May, which displaces April as the second highest production month in the history of the company. The April production was 52,236 cars and trucks. Of the May production, 42,783 units were for domestic sale and 10,070 were for Canada and exports. Production in both April and May closely approached October of 1923, the boom year, when Chevrolet production reached its highest point.

Retail sales during May were 48,176, this being the fourth largest delivery month in the company's history. April of this year was the largest delivery month, exceeding May only by 5,107 sales.

Olds Upholstering Made of the Best Angora Goat Hair

Goat raising is an industry which has been materially benefited by the automobile. These goats are Angoras, the elite of the species, and their hair is used in making the mohair plush used to upholster Oldsmobile sedans, and in fact, practically all of the better class closed cars.

For years the cultivation of Angora goats was limited to Asia Minor where strict laws prevented their exportation. It is less than 390 years ago that they were brought to this country, and today there are thousands of herds grazing in north and southwestern states.

The chief difference between Angora goat hair or mohair and sheep wool is that the latter has a kinky appearance and its outer surface is covered with barbs and natural oil, whereas mohair is usually wavy but not kinky and its outer surface is smooth, glossy and dry. It also has a channel through the center which carries the oil in the same way as human hair. This latter characteristic is the reason why mohair retains its luster after scouring, as the soap and water do no remove the lifegiving oil. Mohair is about two and one-half times stronger than wool.

These advantages of strength, long wear and perpetual silky appearance make it a fabric that was quickly seized upon by automobile manufacturers as ideal for closed car upholstery. Olds Motor works, which is the oldest automobile company in the world, was among te early users of mohair.

As the use of closed model automobiles has kept increasing each year the demand for mohair has increased. The raising of Angora goats in this country has kept pace with the demand until today the United States vies with Asia and Southwest Africa, two other chief locations engaged in this industry, in volume of output.

No where in the World will you find a car that meets the universal demand that Ford does. In the streets of our largest cities —in the most remote country lanes you will always find it's a Ford, for Ford gives more motor car value, for the money expended than any car in the World.

The Fable of Doing Just As You Please

By GEORGE ADE.

Once there was a Desk Serf who longed for a Sniff of the Great Out-Doors. He was tired of looking out from his High Windows and seeing nothing for Miles and Miles except Radio Antennae. Often he wondered if he had forgotten how to walk on Grass. He supposed that somewhere the slanting Rays of early Sunlight caused the Dewdrops to sparkle like Rhinestones, and the Birds were color-aturing overhead, and the Air was congested with something other than Speed Cops and Carbon Monoxide.

Unfortunately he had dribbled away his Vacation and would have to wear the Leg Chain for Months to ensue, so his only Chance to break away from the Reservation and sit in Nature's Lap was to grab a little Outing for the Week End. At least he could escape from the Roar of Traffic and the raucous Street Cries and the endless Parade of high-heeled Stenographers.

His Name was Vassle and originally he came from a blessed Region where one might obtain Apples from Trees instead of Greeks. He felt, even though the Expression may have been used before, the Call of the Wild. Sometimes he dreamed of purling Brooks and Grape-Vine Swings and light Biscuits drowned in Gravy. One might wonder why he had left the Calm Beautitudes of a Farming Region to come up to the City and make just enough to keep himself in Clothes and Movies, One might.

The Liberty Hall Gag.

He was employed by the great Firm known as Doobie and Kittle which specialized on making Money and then some. Mr. Vassle had become pleasantly acquainted with the present Doobie of the House, a middle-aged Boy who had learned the useful Lesson that Business should never interfere with Anything Else on the Program. He had a Town House and a Country House and a House Boat in Florida and two Lockers at the famous Golf Course and a Garage full of long, low rakish Speed Wagons. A true Sport, who could wear Spats without frequently looking down at his Feet.

It cannot be denied that Mr. Vassle almost keeled with joy when the one and only Doobie casually invited him to come out and spend Sunday at his Country Place which bore the very seductive Title of "What Ho!" Mr. Vassle began getting out his Whites and his most passionate Shirts and wondering if he could hold up his End in discussing Art Literature and History with the House Guests. It was enough to throw the Trembles into one of the Plain People. He was about to stand near enough to the Nobility to feel the Current.

It sure was a Privilege to beat it to a Quiet Spot where he could get the Kinks out of his Nerves and listen to the Breeze humming a soft Lullaby through the Boughs and take a good old-fashioned Relax.

As they rode out on the Parlor Car, surrounded by important-looking Overweights who kept glancing around suspiciously, as if some one might sneak up from behind and try to borrow Money or start a Conversation, it was then that Mr. Doobie reassured Mr. Vassle. He pulled the Old Stuff about Liberty Hall.

"We make it a Rule to let our Friends do as they darn please," said he. "Just cut loose and have a Good Time in your own Way. If you don't get what you want, holler for it. Everything is very Democratic and we don't put on any Swank. I'm sure you'll cotton to all of our Friends Then don't care whether School keeps or not. What you might term the Salt of the Earth. Everything goes except Formality. You'll fit right in because I can see that you are a Bird who is very broad-minded."

They motored from the ivy-clad station at any easy Clip of 90 miles an Hour to a Baronial Castle where Mr. Vassle, for the first time, saw his Almost-Leather Suit Case being unpacked by a distinguished-looking Foreigner who had a rectangle of Side-Whisker in front of each Ear, the same as a Bull Fighter.

He looked out of the Window at a landscape which had been manicured and given a Skin Treatment and seemed to smell of Perfumery. Nature was all dressed up but still trying to smile through the Rouge.

Van Beer

A Landscape Which Had Been Manicured and Given a Skin Treatment.

Silent Golf.

Just then his Host came in and said, "Now, Kid, you can do whatever suits you, but we are all going to buzz over to Bill Burleigh's for Tea. I think you will be amused. The only difference between Bill's Place and a Road House is that Bill's Place stands farther back from the Highway."

Of course the Visitor said he would be glad to go along. He wanted to get in a Boat and row out all by himself and drift, but who ever heard of a House Guest going out in a Boat by himself?

When they pulled up in front of the Tea Party they found Two Acres of Cars. Mr. Vassle feared that he might feel embarrassed in a Strange Crowd. When an Old Lady, whom he had not met, came up and mussed his Hair, he knew that everything would be all right. Only, as he strode away with that Section of the Menagerie provided by Mr. Doobie, he recalled that he had seen only one Cup of Tea and no one had tried to draw him out on Literature, History or Art.

After Mr. Vassle had hung around the Hallways and various Verandas until the Hour of the Evening at which he usually sought the Feathers, the Members of the House Party showed up and began to talk about getting a Running Start in the Direction of Dinner.

Very late in the Evening several Menials crowded around Mr. Vassle and showed him enough Food to relieve the Distress in Armenia. Then, while he was planning a Sneak, some one said of course he played Bridge and it would just even up the Tables. So he fought it out until 2 a. m., losing the Income for Three Days and getting a lot of Dirty Looks.

He thought that Sunday morning in the Land of the Idle Rich would be a Cinch. He promised himself that he would hibernate until High Noon. But soon after Jocund Day had come over the Hill-Tops, there was Friend Host sitting on the Edge of the Bed in his flowered Robe, once more fixing it up for Mr. Vassle to do just as he pleased.

"We have so many Players on Sunday that you want to get an Early Start," he explained. "I've picked you out a Set of Clubs and phoned old Mr. Wickleby because you can turn him even if you have played only twice, on a Public Course. Don't take him on unless you want to, but he will be here in twenty Minutes to pick you up."

So that is why the Refuge from the City, who was looking for some vast Solitude, found himself far out on the undulating Fairway suffering the Torments of Hell in the Presence of two Hard-Egg Caddies and a weasel-faced Antique who never spoke after they left the First Tee.

Weeks and Weeks elapsed and then Mr. Vassle dragged his dying Airdales up to the Club House just in time to be told by Mr. Doobie to hurry, hurry, as they were all going down to the Beach for a Swim. Mind you, Mr. Doobie did not insist on Mr. Vassle going. He simply said the Thing to do was to take a little dip before luncheon and Everybody Else was going but, of course, if Mr. Vassle didn't want to go they could send him Home in the Car and then wait for the Car to come back. It could be arranged. Whereupon Mr. Vassle began to No and said Yes he would be tickled to go into the Water.

A Morning Call.

So they borrowed a large Suit for him and he was ghastly White, whereas all the Others had that rich Coat of Tan which can be acquired only by Life-Savers and those who get their names into the Sunday Papers. In addition to the Cramps he got the usual case of Sunburn and bruised his Foot. Otherwise he was O. K.

It seemed that the Members of this Recreational Colony had Luncheon along in the Afternoon. If he could have gone to bed right after this Luncheon and slept through to Monday morning, he might have saved his Life. When he timidly suggested a Nap all of his jolly Companions gave him the Hoot.

They reminded him that he would get a lot of sleep in the Cemetery and, besides, no one can shoot Craps while lying down. They told him he could be a Quitter, if that was the Way he felt, but if he retired to his Room he certainly would miss many a Touch of high-life. Whereupon Mr. Vassle assured them that he had just been fooling and that they couldn't make the Jumps too high for him.

He was working at a Trade he never had learned, but he tried to be Game. He discovered that Social Life out in the Country consists of speeding madly from one palatial Hut to another and ordering up Refreshments, no matter who owns the Place. If he came out from the City to meet a lot of Friendly Folks he got his Wish.

Along about 8 p. m., while he was hanging on the Ropes, it came out that the Nightingales with whom he was caged were all going out to Dinner and the Hostess needed another Man and it would be nice of Mr. Vassle to come along, because he would be thrice Welcome and if he didn't come it would destroy the Seating Arrangement and all the Place Cards would have to be changed, but, of course, that was all up to him and he could consult his own Selfish Pleasure. Mr. Vassle was too far gone to Pike or Stall. He went.

He never learned the Name of his Hostess and to this Day he couldn't tell you where they all went to get a little Dancing, shortly after Sunday had merged into Monday. He does recall that at 3 a. m., while they were miles out in the Country somewhere, some one flagged all the Cars and said it was the mere Shank of the Evening and wouldn't it be a lot of Fun to go over and call on Frank. There were loud Cries of Approval but the Voice of Vassle was not lifted in the general Tumult.

By getting away from Frank's soon after the Bacon and Eggs, Mr. Vassle succeeded in catching the Early train into Town.

The Girl who took his Letters happened to glance up and there, in front of her, was a haggard Wreck.

"I have been in the Country, resting," said It. "Open all the Mail, and answer the Calls until Thursday. I will be in St. Bedelias Hospital."

MORAL—People born in the Country never know how to use it.

King Lear—For the Movies —By James J. Montague

It is a mistake to think that the moving picture people do not read plays sent them, or do not know good material when they read it. A lot of stenographers and elevator boys who write scenarios regularly get this impression, but they are wrong. A friend of mine had it too, and he bet me ten dollars one day that he could send a Shakespeare play to a producer, and if he got any report on it at all, it would be rejected as worthless. I barred Hamlet and Othello and a few others from the offerings he was to make, but gave him absolute freedom outside of that. So he copied and sent in "King Lear." And inside of a week he got this letter.

OPEN SPACES PRODUCTION CO.,
WESTVILLE.

Mr. John Smith,
Dear Sir:

Your script duly to hand and has been turned over to me for reading and report. Would say in reply that it is a good script and in spots original and might be turned into a good scenario with certain changes I have taken the liberty to make, I would advise you to get together with a professional on this job, as it is plain you have had no experience in script writing. But if you and he will follow the lines I have laid down it is quite possible that your scenario might be considered.

Now in the first place as I have said the idea is good. Having an old man thrown down by his family is human nature, and that makes the whole world kin. But you've got to get a lot more action in the piece and you've got to cut out the insanity stuff, because that leaves a bad taste in the public mouth, and would never get by the censor.

What you want to do is to make this old party not a king but an oil baron, and have a lot of oil field stuff with derricks and everything to show how he made his pile. You could have the girls climbing up and down the derricks to get quick interest, and show how fond of them their father was by letting one of the derricks get afire while girl you cal Goneri was at the top of it, and having him climb up through the flames to get her down. That would establish the fact right away that he would do anything for his children, and it would make it all the tougher when she gave him and her sister the air.

Then you'd have to take the family to New York, so as to get the big town atmosphere and introduce a snappy young hero who was a U. S. district attorney engaged in running down oil scandals. He'd have to think at first that the oil man was crooked, and get on his trail, but pretty soon he'd discover his mistake, and he and the old fellow would get to be good friends, and the hero would get engaged to the daughter you call Cordelia, though I think Molly would be a lot better name, having enough Irish in it to go big with a big town audience.

After you get the old man in New York you can have him get the idea of giving his money to the girls, but make one of the bad pair suggest it to him, pulling a lot of sob stuff about not being able to get married right because she hasn't got the money in her own name. Then have the Molly one come in and bawl out the other two girls, and say she doesn't want any money but will get a job as a stenog or something so as to have independence.

That will make the old man think she is weak-minded—a girl not wanting money, so he will get sore on her, and she will run off with the young prosecuting attorney and go out of his life for a while.

Then as soon as the two girls get all the oil stock in their own name they will have the old man committed to an asylum, not because he's crazy, but because they have a pull with some judge, on account of lending him money at the horse races or something.

Of course you can't have any sad ending like you've got now, for that would spoil everything. What you want to do is to have the old man make his get away out of the asylum, and go into Wall street, where a man with his ability can clean up in a little while. As soon as he has made four or five hundred millions he organizes an oil combination, and they put down prices till the stock he has given the girls isn't worth anything and they are busted.

Then he starts out on a trip around the world with a lot of private detectives, and he finds Molly and her husband working in a hotel on the Riviera, the husband having lost his job as prosecuting attorney because a political boss he had refused to knuckle down to had brought charges against him, proved them with a lot of fake evidence and had him removed.

Of course after that the rest is easy, as you can see for yourself. The old man hire's the husband as a corporation attorney, and pretty soon he gets back into politics and is elected governor. And then the other two girls come around and want to break back, but the old man won't have anything to do with them, and finally they have to go into the Follies, but don't make a hit and are last seen working as chambermaids in a swell hotel where the old man and Molly and the son-in-law are spending a week-end. The hotel might be in Florida if it was winter or in the White Mountains or Canada if it was summer.

With all the money you would have at your disposal in a scenario such as I suggest you could make it easy for us to get up big swell sets. In closing I want to compliment you on your ingenuity. You certainly have a live idea in that ingratitude business, and one which will go right home to a lot of people. As you will see the changes I have made in it, while slight and not at all interfering with the development of your story will be of great help.

Yours sincerely,
JAMES BROWN.

The Eighth Deadly Sin

By Rupert Hughes

One of the ghastliest ironies that ever rebuked one of the silliest fanaticisms that ever raged, was the pitiful fact that poor Lucy Gaston Page, after devoting her life to fighting the cigarette as a sin, had to die of a cancer of the throat.

The ancients had seven deadly sins and Gautier said that, for all our vaunted progress, we have never invented a new one.

But while we say not have invented a new one we have discovered that one of the most highly esteemed virtues has all the while been the deadliest of all the deadly sins. And that is the vice of picking on other people's personal comforts, calling them sins, and trying to make laws against them.

Sometimes I think that the most unbelievable things in the world are not the miracles and legends of the past, but the things we see all about us every day.

I have to pinch myself to assure me that I am awake and not dreaming a foolish nightmare when I realize that there are actually people in these United States who have the infernal impudence or the pitiful imbecility to cal lsmoking a sin, and to try to make it a crime.

There are doubtless people who are not benefited by smoking as there are people who are thrown into a state of violent itching when they take quinine, or break out into alarming red spots when they eat berries. But nobody has yet been found to denounce berry-picking as immoral, and so far as I know not a state has a law against it. There was a time when quinine was preached against as a devil's herb, but that was long ago.

But there are societies and legislative lobbies fighting the cigarette incessantly and they have succeeded in passing laws in several states against anybody smoking cigarettes. The cigar and pipe have not been forbidden by legislation.

This is simply infamous in a republic. The worst of it is that these pernicious snoopers, meddlers, and minders of other people's business hold their heads up as moral leaders and plume themselves on the good they are doing.

They are doing just as much good as the thug who sandbags a man and leaves him with a head full of pain and pockets full of emptiness. Nobody has any more right to take my cigarette or cigar away then he has to enter my house and burgle.

If anybody is going to be sued for criminal libel it should be these long-nosed, poky-fingered busybodies who throw nasty names at the gentlemen an dladies who are wise enough to enjoy a good smoke. They not only falsify statistics and tell malicious lies, but they bandy the unpleasant word "immoral" with a criminal carelessness.

Surely nothing on earth could be less immoral than rolling up some chopped leaves and setting them on fire. It is ill-bred to blow one's smoke in the face of a person who does not like it, but so it is ill-bred to make faces at other people's personal idiosyncrasies. It is ill-bred to pick one's teeth in public or make audible criticisms of one's neighbor's clothes, but there is no need of laws in either field. It is ill-bred to wear yellow shoes with one's evening clothes, but we don't need any legislation in the matter.

I have known old-fashioned people to grow scarlet in the face and bellow that no gentleman would insult a lady by appearing in her presence after dark in a short-tailored coat with a black tie. But even they did not say that it was immoral.

If cigarettes are not harmful to grown people, they cannot be immoral and are not a matter for legislation. The laws anyway should be confined as nearly as possible to the prevention of infringement in other people's life liberty and pursuit of happiness.

There is no possible excuse for making laws for the sole purpose of limiting other people's liberties and methods of pursuing happiness.

The lies that have been told about smoking are appalling. And how can a man or woman criticize other people's morals when the criticism itself is founded on a vicious lie?

If Lucy Gaston Page had been a cigarette smoker, we should have had tons of printed matted and balloons ful of windy exclamation on the evidence that smoke causes cancer of the throat. But she never smoked. Therefore—therefore what

In the same paper that announces an enormous increase in the sale of cigarettes, I find a brief story from New Jersey about a man aged seventy-nine who claims to be the cigar champion of the world. He began smoking cigars at the age of twelve, and at present is smoking twenty-four six-inch cigars a day.

Of course, the reformers may say that if he had never smoked at all he would now be one hundred and fifty-eight years old, perhaps his life would have seemed that long, anyway. But as for me who am in my poor weak way a conscientious smoker, I must say to this New Jersey chimney:

"You're a better man than I am, Gunga Din."

In order to make an impossible thing twice as impossible, these tobacco hoboes say that while it is wrong for a man to smoke a cigarette, it is simply heinous for a woman to puff one.

What kind of mind one must have, to get so indignant with such insanity at so harmless a pastime?

I feel tempted to start a counter-movement and try to pass a law compelling everybody who slanders the cigarette to eat a dozen a day.

In Switzerland when the Protestants ousted the Catholics from political control, John Calvin had a law passed compelling everybody to eat meat on Friday. To eat fish on Friday was made a crime.

That is the perfect model for reducing meddlesome laws to a sublime ridiculousness.

It would be no more unreasonable for the rapidly increasing hosts of tobacco-consumers to take revenge on the tobacco-haters by passing laws making it a misdeameanor to be seen in public without a bit of lighted tobacco.

Laws have been made forbidding women to go about bareheaded. Laws are in existence in many places forbidding women to go into the ocean barefooted. Why should we not pass laws forbidding women to appear in public naked of a cigarette?

A law was actually proposed in Florida recently to compel all cows to wear tail-lights after dark. I propose a law compelling all women not to go out after dark without a lighted cigarette or cigar in her face.

Think of the moral protection. What man would think of kissing a woman who had a lighted cigar in her mouth?

The first steps in this direction have recently been taken in New York and other places where ordinances have been passed permitting women to smoke on street cars.

This is a glimmer of a dawn. Yet it was only a few years ago that a policeman arrested a woman for smoking in her own automobile while waiting outside the home of a friend. The judge before whom she was taken set her free and told the policeman that there was no more law against a woman smoking on the street than against a man's doing the same thing. The poor judge would never have dared say anything else and expect to go home again, for, as I happened to know, the judge's own wife smoked at least fifty cigarettes a day. And a fine woman she was, too, a splendid mother, a friend to poor newsboys, stray animals and all the unfortunate as well as a superlative minder of her own business.

Of course, as soon as the judge's decision was published in the paper, a thousand purveyors of patent virtue rushed forward with laws forbidding women to smoke or buy tobacco.

But now the law has recognized their right to smoke publicly if they will. Some of the transcontinental trains have special smoking compartments for women, and facilities are offered everywhere.

Not so many years ago, even in the most free-and-easy restaurants, a waiter would rebuke a woman who lighted a cigarette. Today I know of no respectable hotel or restaurant where a waiter or a guest would dare lift an eyebrow at the sight of a young girl or a white haired grandmother smoking.

Some years ago I read a story of the great Mrs. Astor being asked by one of her guests if she would object if a gentleman asked permission to smoke in her presence. She is reported to have answered witheringly that no gentleman had ever asked her such a question.

If she were alive today she would doubtless smoke constantly. Nowadays no gentleman thinks of helping himself to a cigarette without offering a cigarette to every lady present.

The pious old Puritan ladies smoked and you can read in the diary of a minister's wife who was captured by the Indians in the raid on Deerfield, Mass., how she suffered for her tobacco. When her husband got in touch with her he sent her tobacco to console her until she was released.

The opposition is dying down rapidly but the thunder of the retreating storm is still heard in the distance, and an occasional stab of lightning still reveals the brutality of the black cloud of haters of the pleasures of their fellowmen.

The cigarette is really a virtue-encouraging, helpful institution. In China the American cigarette-makers have built tremendous factories and the cigarette is driving out opium as well as bringing a little luxury within the reach of the appalling poor multitudes over there.

In the late war, the cigarette was the one comfort of the poor mud-smothered, cootie-tortured soldiers. They would trudge miles to buy them and billions of them were given away. About the only thing the Y. M. C. A. accomplished in France that pleased the soldiers was to distribute and market cigarettes.

In Japan, where pauperdom is harrowing in its extent, the number of cigarettes smoked has increased in ten years from seven billion to twenty-three billion.

In the United States the tobacco statistics for the year have just been issued. Owing to the tax on them and the stamps required it is possible to keep a pretty accurate account of them.

Ten years ago only seventeen billion cigarettes were manufactured every year in the United States. This year the number will total seventy-three billion. The tax paid on them amounts to $3.12 per capita and totals $345,000,000. This is actually more revenue than all the sources of internal revenue in the country amounted to before 1914.

The tobacco crop brings in more money to farmers than any other crop except corn, hay, cotton, wheat and potatoes. I think however, that the hay crop is perhaps underrated, as a good deal of it seems to be sold as tobacco, along with part of the hemp and leather crop.

What would happen if the anti-tibacconists had their way and passed a law forbidding Americans to buy, sell or smoke cigarettes. If we may judge by the success of the Volstead law, the consumption of cigarettes would immensely increase, the government would lost $345,000,000 of revenue and would be put to an expense of twenty-five or thirty million dollars a year, trying to prevent smuggling and bootlegging; the courts would be full of cases against infamous flouters of the majesty of the law, and the jails full of cigarette inspectors who had been careless enough to get caught accepting bribes. Also the cigarettes would cost from ten cents to a dollar apiece, and be made out of every imaginable substitute for tobacco. Also people would smoke who never smoked before.

When the influenza plague held the nation in terror, and in many cities people had to wear gauze masks even on the street, an elderly and intensely respectable gentleman who liked his little cigarette, told me that he used to sneak up an alley like a school boy, light a cigarette, lift his mask and sneak a few puffs while he watched anxiously for a policeman.

The gauze mask was proved to be a useless precaution, but if the cigarettiacs could put over an amendment to the constitution in memory of poor Lucy Gaston Page, we should doubtless find our alleys crowded with cigarette-tipplers, and policemen would grow so rich in bribes that they would all hire substitutes.

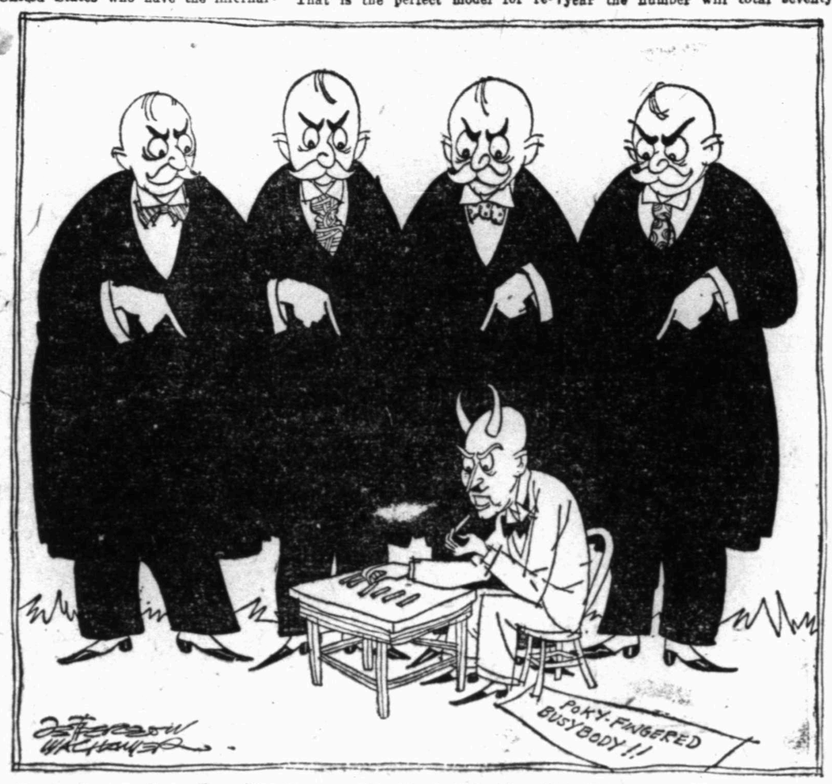

Not so long ago a woman would have felt as grossly insulted if she were asked if she smoked as if she were asked if she were unfaithful to her marriage vows. A little later a few women would confess that they were not above a puff or two in their bathrooms, where they could gargle away the traces before bubby came home. Then certain brazen creatures smoked estentatiously and affectedly, to gain an ill-repute as reckless sports.

Now the number o fwomen who smoke openly and as a matter of course has increased to millions. It is the rushr of womanking to tobacco that has caused the immense enlargement of the cigarette output.

Tomorrow the fanatic who opposes tobocca for women on moral grounds will be as rare as the pasenger pigeon. Not long ago the passenger pigeons were so numerous that they blackened the sky and brought on evening at noon. Today the bird can only be found stuffed in a museum.

Stuffed in a museum is the place for the tobacco-denouncer—alongside the dodos who used to croak that if women got the vote, they would all go to the bad—and next to the herds of buffalo that trampled over the women who wanted to learn to read and earn their own livings.

As old Scipio never ended a speech on any subject without adding the words "Carthage ought to be destroyed," so I feel like never ending an article about women without a prayer that they should remember the thousands of years they endured under the tyranny of idiotic laws and prejudices and should use their new found votes exclusively for the destruction of fool laws and never for the addition of more fool laws.

MARMON HEAD STATES AUTO SELLING FAST

Huge Increase Is Noted Over Sales in Two Months

The upward trend of Marmon shipments continued during May, shipments showing an increase of 146 per cent over shipments in May, 1924, according to an announcement by E. S. Gorrell, vice-president of Nordyke & Marmon company. The demand has been steady and has exceeded the supply despite the fact that production has been pushed to the limit.

The Saturday afternoon holiday for factory employes has been suspended and night and holiday shifts are at work in the factory.

The week end of Memorial Day marked a great driveway of Marmon cars, probably one of the largest since the announcement of the new models, although the cars did not leave at the same time. For the convenience of dealers and purchasers who were in Indianapolis to see t he 500 mile race May 30, the cars for driveway were given to the downtown branch of Nordyke & Marmon where they were claimed when the dealers and owners left the city. Among visitors at the factory and at the Indianapolis branch were dealers and Marmon owners from distant points. Frank Hambly, foreign representative of Nordyke & Marmon and M. Favrot, Marmon dealer in Paris, France, arrived from France several days before the race and visited the factory.

June schedules call for capacity production. Many unfilled orders remain on the company's books and it is certain that the capacity production activity will continue through the summer. The demand has increased steadily since the first of the year.

German Architects Startled At Ability of Construction Workers

BERLIN, June 27.—Nothing so impressed the German delegates to the recent international convention of architects in New York as the sight of construction workers throwing red hot rivets and bolts to each other as they worked many stories high in the air, says Prof. Hugo Wach, who represented the Berlin college of technology.

Prof. Wach also was impressed by the methods employed by the American architects for insuring lightly constructed buildings against both dampness and fire. American architecture, in his opinion, has been largely influenced b the Ecole des Beaux Aarts of Paris.

NEW TAXICAB SERVICE

Berlin Is Inaugurating New System for Quick Service

BERLIN, June 27.—A new system of calling taxicabs is to be introduced in Berlin. Forty pillars, equipped with telephones, will be erected at the principal taxicab stands. A person desiring a taxi will ask for the central station of the taxicab association on an ordinary telephone. The central station will pass the call to the telephone pillar nearest the desired address. The cost of the new system will be defrayed by the taxicab association.

BULGARIA AGAINST "REDS."

Counts Assess Heavy Penalties On Communists.

SOFIA, June 27.—(AP)—Bulgaria's determination speedily to crush communism in this country is shown by verdicts returned by three courts martial in the last 24 hours. Two provincial courts imposed 12 death penalties and five prison sentences. A tribunal in Sofia sentenced 30 to various terms of imprisonment. The prosecution had asked that 17 of these defendants be sentenced to death.

"State Can Do No Wrong" Is Echoed Sentiments In Text Suit Against Texas

This echo of the divine right of the soverign king of olden days, sounded before the supreme court of Texas in the textbook litigation of this month.

Attorney C. L. Black, representing free textbooks—something probably unthought of by the monarch who proclaimed "L'Etat, c'est moi," and "I can do no wrong"—used the expression in his briefs. Though opposing the state's officials, and seeking to compel state officials to carry out what had been accepted by the publishers as contracts, Attorney Black pointed out any turning aside would be by the agents of the state, but not by the state itself. He said:

"Counsel has argued that we would place the state of Texas in the attitude of a law breaker. We emphatically deny that any such inference may be drawn from our argument. We affirm that the state of Texas is not and cannot be a law breaker. The state of Texas can do no unlawful act. it is 'an ideal person, intangible, iqvisible, immutable,' (Virginia Coupon Cases, 114 U. S. 290) Whatever wrong is attempted in its name is imputable to its agents, 'and not to the state, for as it can speak and act only by law, whatever it does say and do must be lawful;' and that which is unlawful because made so by its law 'is not the word of deed of the state, but is the mere wrong and trespass of those individual persons who falsely speak and act in its name.'

"The act of the state board of education, in prematurely announcing that it will not respect these contracts and that it will not perform the duties outlined in the statutes we have discussed is not the act of the state. It does not constitute a breach of these contracts by the state, and it does not place the state in the attitude of a law breaker."

NASH MOTOR SALES PASS ALL RECORDS

Greatest Amount Ever Attained in Month Is Report

Word received from the Nash Motors company states that May Nash sales and production were the greatest ever attained in a single month since the founding of the company and surpassed the figure set by May 1924 by a full 187 per cent. In speaking of this record-breaking' achievement E. H. McCarty, Nash general sales manager said, "the new high mark set by May is of interest in another way too, as it was the fifth month since October 1, 1924 to break all previous records for a month's business.

"Also May was the ninth consecutive month to surpass the highest total on our books for any previous similar month in the history of Nash Motors. And an analysis of the increases shown month by month during the nine-month period ending May 31 reveals the further fact that the average monthly gain to date over and above the same nine-month period of a year previous is 68 per cent. On the other hand a compilation of the monthly business done by the entire industry throughout this stretch of nine months shows the average monthly sale of all cars has been substantially below the average monthly sale of the corresponding months a year ago.

"And latest reports from Nash distributors and dealers all over the country provide sound evidence that the national Nash demand my be expected to strike even higher during the month to come. In fact there is every good reason to believe that the second six months of 1925 will exceed even the wonderful Nash sales record of the first half year."

SEEKS INCREASE IN PENSION.

Wisdom of French General Unable to Meet Expenses.

PARIS, June 27.—Gen. Antoine Eugene Alfred Chanzy, one of the few French generals who scored any real success against the Germans in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, refused the baton of Marshal of France when it was offered to him in 1874, saying: "Any French general wanting the baton of a marshal should go and fetch it from across the Rhine."

The general little thought that fifty years later his sally would necessitate the passage of a special bill by parliament in order that the pension to his widow might be increased, but that has been the development.

In June, 1992, Madage Chanzy was given a pension of 12,000 francs per year by the French government. It now means less than $50 monthly and the widow of the distinguished general, finding it impossible to meet her living expenses, requested an increase to 18,000 francs, which is the amount of the pension paid to the widow of Marshals of France. A special bill has just been introduced in parliament asking authority to place Madame Chanzy upon a pension of that amount, although her husband refused to be made a marshal.

President Believes New Studebaker Co. Policy To Aid Sales

Inauguration of a no-yearly-model policy by the Studebaker corporation announced last week will result not only in a tremendous saving to the automobile buying public for the future, but will result in Studebaker cars having a greater resale value because of their consistent up-to-dateness, according to Frank Keim of Keim Motor Co., local Studebaker distributors.

"Discontinuing the policy of yearly models, Studebaker has taken the greatest forward step that has been made in the automobile industry in several years," Mr. Keim said. "Firt of all it enables a man or woman to buy a Studebaker car now, knowing that when the times comes which heretofore has been marked by very radical changes in body and motor design in motor cars, that the Studebaker will not be affected.

"The announced policy of Studebaker, however, does not mean that there will be no changes at all in the cars. On the other hand, improvements and new ideas which the engineering staff of Studebaker find after thorough reseach and experiment that are suited to the Studebaker car will be adopted just as fast as they are developed. But it is an accepted theory in the automobile industry today that the gasoline-driven automobile faces few more changes for the future."

AUBURN PLAYS BIG PART IN SHRINE FILMS

Big Car Used to Drive Photographers to Their Scenes

Motion pictures taken of the parades and ceremonials incident to the the recent Shrine conclave in Los Angeles, which are said to represent the most comprehensive record ever obtained of a national gathering, owe their excellence in a large part to the flawless performance of the motor car. Results when motion pictures are taken "Wh[illegible] we were de[illegible]nated as t[illegible] from a moving motor car."

official motion-picture photographers of the Shrine convention we were confronted with several problems," said H. B. Schultz, member of the firm of Krieg & Schultz, widely known Los Angeles producers of special motion-picture films. "One of these was quick, reliable transportation for ourselves, cameramen, and equipment, and the other a car that we could work from with our cameras at a pace of anywhere from two miles to twenty miles per hour with an entire absence of vibration.

"That the Auburn eight-eighty-eight roadster with which we were provided by Mr. Fuller of the White Auto company, met every requirement was amply attested by the pictures we obtained. The finished negative includes 2,400 feet of film without the least indication anywhere in it of 'jump,' which almost invariably results when motion pictures are taken from a moving motor car."

PUBLIC IS BUYING ITS UTILITIES
That the public utilities of America are rapidly passing into the ownership of the people they serve is evident from the reports on the subject now being made public.
The number of stockholders in gas and electric light and power companies has more than doubled since 1918, and 815,955 more people are now enrolled as stockholders than there were in that year.
This increase in the number of stockholders shows that the stocks of these companies are generally regarded as good investments, but it shows more than that. It is evident that instead of the control of public utilities being in the hands of a few financiers, as it will be before long—perhaps is now in many cases—in the hands of the consumers. That means, does it not, that the public utilities will be run even more in the interests of the general public.
In fact, progressive utility men have long desired just this sort of partnership, when these enterprises will have no other interest to serve. Many of them—we think most of them—have already recognized that the interest of consumer and corporation are identical, and have been conducting their business with the public as an active partner.
On that basis, the utilities that prosper most are and will remain the utilities that serve the best.

Ring Dopes Out New Golf Lingo, 12 on a Par 4 Is a Hoot Owl—New Club Showers Offer Inducement for Heretofore Unabated Members. —By Ring Lardner

To the editor:

All I know is what I read in the papers and we ain't been getting none lately on acct. of the lady news dealer at Great Neck having a peculiar idear that you ought to pay for them once in a wile. So this wk will half to try and satisfy you with a few of my personal experiences in regards to matters that concerns only myself and what I lovingly refer to as my Long Island public and I realize it may not maybe be interesting to you so don't stay away from church or lodge to read this article.

Well in the first place it seems they was another benefit show the other day for the Authors League of America which I am one of them through a slight misunderstanding but any way this show was to be put on at a place called Jackson Heights which you can't avoid passing it when you drive in to N. Y. city from where we live and the boys in charge put up big posters all over Long's Island saying who was going to be in the show and my name was amongst same and between you and I dear reader I hadn't never been consulted and don't never appear in shows except a little pantomime once in a wile during the few minutes it takes me every 3rd day to shave.

Didn't Hurt Fairways.

So I didn't pay no tension only to wonder what and the he—ll and at noon time one the day the show was coming off the phone rung and her who I always think of as the madam answered the phone and it was George Creel on the other end of the wire and my madam talked to him civilly on acct. of he being Blanche Bates's husband and he exclaimed that he was in charge of the show and wanted to know if I would be sure and show up. So the madam said why my husband ain't never been informed that he was to take part in no show and Mr. Creel said realize that and the reason we are him up so late is because we that if we took him by surhe might consent to take part. Well it was a well thought out and the only trouble with it was at by that time I was over in Philphia spearing hazel nuts so I The show must of been a flop at least I have seen several people since that was in attendants and they all looked just the same as ever.

club which after you have paid the initiation fee to same, why you don't half to worry no more about where you are going to go for the summer because you ain't going no place. The Lakeville club has got a club house as big as the Yale bowl or Gene Buck's living room and if you go in the front entrance and from there to the caddy house to get your clubs, that counts for nine holes and you only half to play nine more. The showers is so attractive that a great many of the members that never took a bath before has been strongly tempted to try it and in time this is expected to work towards a better and cleaner Great Neck.

In regards to the golf course itself I was only over it but managed to make a few changes in it though as a rule I left the fairways alone. They have got a great time saving device on the first hole. On most golf courses when you slice your drive of of the first tee it takes a long wile to find out where did it go to. On this course they have imported one of the Great Lakes to catch these kind of drives and you can keep on playing without no doubt in your mind in regards to the whereabouts of your tee shot.

The Missing Link.

The first gleam of hope for a golfer of my calibre occurst at the fourth hole which seems to be the first hole that wasn't laid out by Nurmi. I come within two strokes of making a birdie on this hole and speaking about birdies, why I and the funny looking golfer I was playing with was disgusting the question of why do they talk about birdies and eagles and if so, why don't they delve further into the archives of the Audubon society and pick out some nicknames for the kind of golfers we are.

Like for inst. suppose they's a hole that the par for same is 4 and you make it in 5. You might call that a parakeet which in Brazil means par (par) akeet (not quite). If the hole is a par 4 and you take 12 shots without getting towards it and finally you pick your ball up, that would be called a hoot owl on the grounds that if you kept on you might make it during the night.

That is about all the news except that the other evening it sprinkled which means that the electric lights went out and so did the telephone and of course that happened to be the night when I was planning to read a few chapters of the old testament to say nothing about expecting a call from the White House but instead of that had to set down to the piano and no luck and see how many of Irving Berlin's songs I could remember.

And oh yes I rec'd. another one of these chain letters which says if you will keep up the chain you will have good luck and it met its final resting place in my house namely the waste basket. Let them send me a letter that guarantees good sense and I will act different towards it. It don't

Rare Collection Of Astrolabes In Oxford

OXFORD, England, June 27.—The 63 astrolabes given to the university by Dr. Lewis Evans, brother of Sir Arthur Evans, the archaeologist, when taken with those now in the possession of the colleges, form the mose complete and representative series of this rare and ingenious instrument.

The astrolabe appears to have been invented in the second century before Christ by Hipparchus, who measured theexact length of the year, the distance to the fixed stars, the time of revolution and eclipse of the moon, and invented trigonometry and the system of locating points on the map by latitude and longitude. It is a flat dial with a sight across it and a number of hands which can be set against the numerical tables around the circumference. It suse is to measure the altitude of the sun and the stars.

The astrolabe is one of the few scientific instruments saved from the wreckage of Greek civilization. The Arabs, who in their great day were among the most enthusiastic scientists knowns until the present scientific developments in America and Germany brought the instrument to a high standard of perfection and used it generally for navigation.

To Norris there was something so lovely to the soft little beat of Ethelinda's throat as she sang that it could bring TEARS to his Eyes.

Dear little IMPRISONED NIGHTINGALE of his—it was worth doing odds and ends of night-work accounting so that he could scrape together the money for her vocal lessons.

Those were years of DRIFTING. Norris took no thought of the fruition of the lessons that were enriching Ethelinda's voice.

Then—the eyes of the three wise men of the great world of grand opera were focused upon her. And then came her CHANCE. And a GOLDEN HORSESHOE rose to its feet to do her homage.

Norris was about to lose Ethelinda—but he LOVED HER BETTER THAN HIMSELF.

TO Norris there was something so lovely to the soft little beat of Ethelinda's throat as she sang that it could bring tears to his eyes.

The sense of the melody imprisoned there, pressing against the warm white slimness, could hurt him, even as he thrilled to it.

Suddenly, so it seemed to Norris, after the fifth year of their marriage, Ethelinda's voice took on the rich tropical warmth that made passersby pause beneath the window to listen and brought the sting of tears against his eyes.

Dear little imprisoned nightingale of his, trilling her days away in their tiny apartment, while his days were full of the roar of lower Manhattan and the bang of traffic as it crashed into the mercantile office where he shared the assistant's half of the accountant's desk.

It was worth eking out of their tiny income, and doing odds and ends of night-work accounting for odds and ends of small firms, the six dollars a week for Ethelinda's vocal lessons.

At that, there were special concessions from the master, who conceded this low price because of the unusual glory of Ethelinda's voice.

Whole weekfuls of evenings Norris used to sit in the little golden oak parlor of the uptown flat, not daring to puff at his pipe, for fear of the fumes in Ethelinda's voice, and listening to the lovely fluted flights of her singing.

He could scarcely take his eyes off her. This lovely soaring creature whose voice jammed up the flat with beauty and whose sweet white throat beat so when she sang.

And then, when Ethelinda's back hurt from the long hours before the stuffy oak upright piano, the joy of holding her tight in the cradle of his arms and kissing the white throat where it had beat with melody and the eyelids that were a little purplish from fatigue.

Those were just years of drifting, Norris working three or four nights a week at the odds and ends of accounting work, but with no particular thought ahead as to the fruition of the lessons that were enriching Ethelinda's voice—until finally it came to bang against the four little walls of the room as if it would batter them.

It was just enough that occasionally a passerby stood rapt and with cupped ear listening to the cascading of arpeggios or that the neighbors crowded in evenings rather than attend the movies.

And Ethelinda was prodigal. She never saved her voice. She sang far into the nights. She did housework to its thrilling. Washed the breakfast dishes to it. Rub-a-dub-dubbed at the sheer little, pink little, cheap little underthings she wore to an aria from a golden opera.

The eyes of three wise men of the great world of grand opera were already focused upon her.

Well, Ethelinda had her audition and sang badly. So badly that twice the glorious voice, that soared so against the narrow walls of her flat, stuck in her throat, and Norris, sitting down in the great, dark, empty auditorium, ground his fingernails into his palms in agony; and when Ethelinda finished his collar lay in pulp about his neck from nervousness.

Ethelinda sang badly, but even with her voice full of the tremolo of nervousness and her upper register sliding off key, six wise men of the world of grand opera met in solemn conclave, and within an eightmonth Ethelinda was singing "bits" in two or three operas and understudying two prima donnas.

Ethelinda was rushed in on five minutes' notice.

It was one of those rare nights of operatic history that every decade or so loves to claim.

A Golden Horseshoe rose to its feet. Corsages torn from the breasts of women hurtled at Ethelinda's bewildered little figure, standing there in the folds of velvet curtains that were as vast and as dark as night.

Norris, with his two fingers tearing at his pulp of collar as if to give himself more air, saw and heard it from his seat in the top gallery where he crouched, to be able to test the carrying power of Ethelinda's voice.

Afterward, there was his Ethelinda in a white fur coat some one from one of the first-tier boxes had thrown over her shoulders, surrounded, lauded, applauded. Impresarios fought their way to her. Men in great U's of shirt-bosom kissed her hand. The company jammed her in with their plaudits.

Nothing would do but carry Ethelinda off to a supper. The owner of the white fur wrap and her party and two or three of the impresarios and a banker of international fame.

Norris was asked, too. But to begin with, Norris had no evening clothes and his collar was a limp rag and his exhaustion from the excitement kept his legs trembling, and so Ethelinda was hustled off without him; and finally Norris, back in the flat waiting for her to come home, realized something.

Norris was about to lose Ethelinda.

Norris had made Ethelinda into one of the supreme songbirds of her day; made her literally by the sweat of his brow over the account books; and now Norris would lose her.

Of course, Ethelinda would be sweet about it. Ethelinda would not be to blame. Circumstances were stronger than Ethelinda. But sitting there rasped, choked, shuddering with pain, Norris began to realize. Norris was about to lose Ethelinda.

She came home. Beautiful. Excited. Tossed. Ringing like a bell with the glory and the fulfilment. Full of her lovely self and with eyes that seemed to burn right through and beyond her Norris.

"Dearest," she said, looking through and beyond him, "this is the beginning!"

"Yes," said Norris, looking at her with his bleeding, beseeching eyes that knew he was about to lose her, "this is the beginning." And to himself he added, "The end."

"I will go far, Norris."

"Yes, dearest, you will go far," said Norris. Sadly, so sadly that his voice fell like a little pebble right down into the pool of his heart.

Her scarf had fallen from her shoulder leaving her bare shoulder exposed to draft. A draft that might kill so precious a frailty as her voice.

For a moment Norris let the bare shoulder gleam there, almost with a ray of hope in his eyes. The hope that the voice which was about to defeat him might be destroyed.

Norris was about to lose Ethelinda, but he loved her better than himself.
