Timetable Set By House

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON AP—House leaders have tentatively set aside Aug. 12 through 23 exclusively for debating and voting on articles of impeachment against President Nixon.

The plan is to keep the House in session from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and possibly Saturday, and to finish voting by Aug. 23. No other business is to be considered, except possibly emergency measures and final votes of legislation agreed on by House and Senate conferees.

The Senate trial, it is contemplated, would begin about a month later, giving time for both the House managers and the President's defense counsel to prepare their cases.

The contemplated timetable:

On Aug. 5 the Rules Committee will receive recommendations developed by the Judiciary Committee and leadership for ground rules to govern the debate.

These are expected to call for from 60 to 100 hours of debating and voting time. Allocation of time to individual members would be controlled by the topranking Judiciary Committee members from each party-Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., and Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich.

After the Rules Committee has approved the procedural resolution, it will go to the House for expected ratification.

By Aug. 5, the Judiciary impeachment inquiry staff is expected to complete the report accompanying the articles of impeachment. This will consist of summaries of the evidence and its conclusions. Individual members can add dissenting or supplementary views.

Each House member will get copies of the report.

The articles will be open to amendment by the House. Unless the rules are changed, approval of one article in its perfected form would assure a Senate trial of the President, whether or not the House goes on to vote other articles as well.

The leadership began this weekend clearing the legislative decks for the momentous debate. All committee chairmen were asked to report promptly any measure they think must be brought to the floor before Aug. 12.

It will be up to the Rules Committee, and then the House itself, to decide whether to permit television and radio broadcasts of the impeachment proceedings.

The leadership has taken no official position.

As the impeachment proceedings moved closer to the House, the Senate was quietly setting up procedures for a possible trial.

Two party policy committees and top Senate officers have been drawing up recommendations expected to include live television.

A trial would be expected to start in late September and take two or three months. A two-thirds vote on any one of the articles would remove the President from office.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said that if the House meets its timetable, the Senate will be able to finish by the end of the year; there has been controversy over whether the proceedings would have to start again once this Congress expired.

The Democratic leader says "there will be no appeal in any way from the Senate's verdict."

Second Impeachment Article Drafted Today

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee forged ahead today on a second impeachment article, this one accusing President Nixon of abusing his constitutional powers through misuse of government agencies.

Approval seemed certain despite Republican objections that the proposal "fails to state an impeachable offense under the Constitution."

The panel voted Saturday its first impeachment recommendation urging Nixon's removal from office for obstructing justice in the Watergate cover-up.

As soon as the committee clerk had finished reading a proposed five-section article charging Nixon with abuse of power, Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., declared that approving such an article would be "a step toward a parliamentary system of government rather than the constitutional system we now have."

Wiggins contended the question "is whether abuse of power falls within 'high crimes and misdemeanors.'" He said abuse of power "is an empty phrase having meaning only in terms of what we pour into it."

Rep. George E. Danielson, D-Calif., argued that "offenses charged against the President in this article are uniquely presidential offenses No one else can commit them ... Only the President can violate the oath of office of the President; only the President can abuse the powers of the President."

Rep. William L. Hungate, D-Mo., presented the redrafted article to the committee. It listed five itemized charges and a conclusion that:

"In all of this Richard M. Nixon has acted in a manner contrary to his trust as President and subversive of constitutional government to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States."

The five charges were that Nixon:

—Acted personally and through subordinates to get confidential income tax information from the Internal Revenue Service.

—Misused the FBI and Secret Service by directing or authorizing them to wiretap for purposes unrelated to national security.

—Established the so-called Plumbers unit "financed in part with money derived from campaign contributions which unlawfully utilized the resources of the Central Intelligence Agency."

—"Failed to take care that the laws were faithfully executed by failing to act when he knew or had reason to know that his close subordinates endeavored to impede or frustrate lawful inquiries by duly constituted executive, judicial and legislative entities concerning the unlawful entry into the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee."

—Misused executive power by interfering with the FBI, Watergate special prosecutor, criminal division of the Department of Justice, and CIA "in order corruptly to impede the due and proper administration of justice."

Recess Precedes Charter Deadline

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Maneuvering in the Constitutional Convention became almost oriental in its intricacy today as the historic six-month attempt to write a new state charter neared its end.

Convention President Price Daniel Jr. had predicted, even invited, legislator-delegates to move to reconsider packages that previously had failed.

But when no motions were made, he gaveled through a motion shortly after 10 a.m. to recess until 1 p.m. — four hours before what Daniel claims is the practical deadline for getting a new constitution out of the convention and to the people.

Labor-oriented liberals claimed this was a play to push through a package containing a proposal—bitterly fought by labor—that would make union and agency shop contracts unconstitutional. Such labor-management agreements—already prohibited by law—require employes to join or pay agency fees to the unions that represent them.

The packages that could be reconsidered include three compromises with labor that would take out the union shop proposal in exchange for adding such proposals as a ceiling on taxes and a welfare limit.

Daniel told reporters "it is too late" for compromises. He said the recess was called "because we don't have anything else to do" until the latest package which has his blessing can be printed.

A package that fails after it is reconsidered automatically dies, unless two-thirds of the delegates vote to revive it again.

Daniel grew testy when Rep. Ron Waters, D-Houston, a labor-liberal delegate, asked why he couldn't use his influence to speed up the printing of the resolution Daniel favors.

"I will take questions from the press, but not your rudeness, Mr. Waters," Daniel said.

Waters later told reporters, "I just got a call from a friend of mine in the printing room that Price had just sent down orders to hold that thing (the new package) until he tells them to send it up. He wants to hold it until we have defeated all reconsideration motions. Great leadership he's got—he can't even get anybody to move to reconsider."

Daniel denied the allegation, and a call to the print shop elicited the answer, "They're not ready yet."

ON FIVE COUNTS

John Connally Indicted Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally was indicted today by a federal grand jury on charges of bribery, perjury and obstructing justice.

The indictment said Connally accepted $10,000 in cash from a milk fund official, Jake Jacobsen, in exchange for recommending that federal milk price supports be increased.

Jacobsen, an official of Associated Milk Producers Inc., also was indicted on a charge of giving an illegal payment to a public official.

In all, the grand jury cited Connally, a Texas Democrat turned Republican, on five alleged violations of federal law.

The maximum possible penalties for the five counts total 16 years in jail and fines of $30,000 for Connally.

The indictment charged that between May 14 and Sept. 24, 1971, Jacobsen gave Connally the $10,000 in exchange for Connally's recommendation to the secretary of agriculture that the milk price supports go up.

Although the money actually went to Connally, the indictment said that Connally and Jacobsen both agreed to testify before the grand jury and the Senate Watergate committee that the $10,000 was intended for political candidates or the "Democrats for Nixon" group headed by Connally in 1972.

The indictment charged that both men were prepared to testify that Connally turned down the offer from Jacobsen.

The milk-producing industry did win a price support increase in March 1971, and President Nixon has acknowledged knowing beforehand about a $2 million political pledge from industry officials.

The investigation of Connally and today's indictment are a separate matter from that, however.

The obstruction of justice count, in which Jacobsen was named as an unindicted co-conspirator, indicated that he had talked freely to the prosecutors.

Under the bribery charge, however, Jacobsen can be sentenced to a maximum two years in jail and fined $10,000.

Connally is the fourth former member of President Nixon's cabinet to be indicted by a federal grand jury. One of them, former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge in the ITT case.

The grand jury, which first convened last August 13, spelled out a series of attempts it said Connally made to give back the $10,000.

The indictment said that twice while the matter was under investigation on Oct. 29, 1973 and again on Nov. 25, 1973, Connally gave Jacobsen $10,000.

Hostage Leaps To Freedom

By JIM BARLOW
Associated Press Writer

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — One of 15 hostages leaped through a glass door and stumbled down a series of prison building ramps to safety today while three armed convicts watched but did not shoot.

Henry Escamilla, 40, one of four prison inmates who had been held with the other captives since Wednesday, broke out about 5:30 a.m. CDT, just before daylight.

Escamilla was rushed to surgery at a hospital, bleeding profusely from lacerations on the head, shoulders and arms. Doctors repaired cut tendons in his arms and said his prognosis was excellent. He was under heavy sedation and unable to immediately talk to prison officials.

Shortly after the escape, the leader of the armed trio, Fred Gomez Carrasco, said he could have shot Escamarilla but didn't. He did not explain why.

Escamarilla had been sitting on a bookshelf in an entryway leading to the glass door in the prison library. Carrasco has rotated his hostages during the six-day ordeal, always keeping one in front of the glass door to deter any sniper attempts by prison sharpshooters outside.

The predawn dash broke the calm from an overnight lull in negotiations between prison officials and the armed convicts. Carrasco said previously the standoff could end today in freedom for the rebels.

Negotiations between Carrasco and prison officials were to resume about 10 a.m. CDT, following breakfast.

Connally, Partner Deny All Charges

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Treasury Secretary John Connally said in a statement today he is innocent of any wrongdoing alleged in federal indictments returned against him today in Washington.

"I deny again that I am guilty of any wrongdoing and I am confident that I will be completely vindicated of these charges," Connally said in a statement ready by his Houston law office.

Connally himself was not reachable at once.

"For months there have been leaks, rumors and speculation concerning my role in the milk support price increase in March 1971," the statement said. "The matter is now in the open where it can be dealt with honestly and fairly."

Connally's Houston law partner, Leroy Jeffers, called the five-count indictment against Connally on charges of bribery, conspiracy and obstructing justice "an outrage ... not based upon any credible evidence."

Jeffers said Connally had been at his ranch home in Floresville, Tex., over the weekend. He said Connally was returning to Houston, but Connally's Houston office said the former Texas governor was "out of the city ... until next Monday."

Jeffers, past president of the State Bar of Texas, said "this firm has utter and complete confidence in the integrity and veracity of John Connally.

"This is simply the most extreme instance imaginable of the hatred and hysteria that now grips the legal processes in the District of Columbia.

"It is an extremely dangerous thing to the American people."

Reaction to the Connally indictment by Jeffers was not the first instance of Jeffers' coming to Connally's defense.

Over the July 4 weekend, Jeffers introduced Connally to the State Bar of Texas convention meeting here.

At the time Jeffers said Connally's "figure will stand tall and untarnished in the Texas sunlight of truth long after the tongues of slander are in silence."

Three Nations Reach Agreement On Cyprus

By The Associated Press

The foreign ministers of Greece, Turkey and Britain agreed early today on a "provisional solution" to end the military confrontation on Cyprus. But the Turkish government balked, apparently at provisions concerning the Turkish invasion force on the Mediterranean island.

The Turkish cabinet met at dawn and discussed for nearly three hours the proposal telephoned from Geneva. Premier Bulent Ecevit said the Geneva negotiations "are in the final stage," and "if there is going to be an agreement, we will know today."

But he said his cabinet decided it will not even discuss the presence of Turkish armed forces on Cyprus and their right to reinforcement and supply.

He said certain other problems which have arisen during the Geneva talks could be taken up later.

Ecevit said he relayed the results of the cabinet meeting to Turkish Foreign Minister Turan Gunes in Geneva. The premier also talked by telephone with British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan, and Callaghan immediately went into session with Greek Foreign Minister George Mavros.

Mavros announced the agreement of the three minister after an all-night negotiation session at the Palace of Nations in Geneva. Its provisions were not made public immediately. But he said Turkish approval would clear the way for a second round of talks in about a week.

Turkey submitted a stiff set of new demands earlier Sunday and threatened to quit the negotiations unless they were accepted by midnight. But Gunes did not carry out the threat after Premier Ecevit met for two hours in Ankara with Greek Ambassador Dimitrios Cosmodopoulos.

The Turkish demands included maintenance and reinforcement, if necessary, of its invasion force on Cyprus until the peaceful future of the Turkish Cypriot minority is assured; autonomy for the Turkish Cypriots until a political solution for the island is reached; acceptance of Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Denktash as a negotiating representative equal in status to President Glafcos Clerides of the Greek Cypriot majority, and acceptance of Turkey as the guarantor of the rights of the Turkish Cypriots.

Greece said the Turkish demands were "unacceptable and non-negotiable," promising an open-ended occupation of Cyprus that could last for years and partition of the island between the two ethnic communities.

Athens announced Ecevit had proposed that Premier Constantine Caramanlis of Greece meet with him. The United States was said to be urging the conference, but Mavros told newsmen in Geneva that it was too soon to say whether the meeting would be held.

Greece and Turkey traded charges of new cease-fire violations.

The Turkish embassy in London said the Cypriot National Guard had killed at least 331 Turkish Cypriot villagers since the guard's Greek officers ousted President Makarios two weeks ago, and the final toll was expected to be much higher.

Wishes she'd been born sterile

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that some women are just not cut out to be mothers?

Unfortunately, because of inadequate birth control methods, I find myself stuck with two kids. Before I had them, I had a job I really enjoyed, and I was free to come and go as I pleased without being at the mercy of baby-sitters.

My husband and I are drifting apart. He still has all the freedom he wants, but I can't go with him. A lot of resentment has been building up inside of me these past four years. Sometimes I actually hate my children for robbing me of my carefree life.

You would think that any normal mother would love her children dearly, but if I had only one wish, it would be that I had been born sterile.

Wouldn't it be nice if all the women in the world who want kids and can't have them could change places with those women (myself included) who don't want kids and could have a dozen?

I'm not a child abuser, but I still resent my children. I'm not writing for advice because nobody can help me. It's just something I'll have to live with. After all, it's not their fault that they were born. It's mine.

If there were a book entitled "How to Learn to Love Unwanted Children" it would be just what I need.

NAMELESS IN GA.

DEAR NAMELESS: You are not alone, but most mothers who share your feelings would not admit (even to themselves) that they feel that way. It would make them feel too guilty.

Your letter makes an excellent case for birth control. Every child deserves to be a wanted child. You can't possibly feel this way without communicating your resentment to your children. (You may not abuse them physically, but you are depriving them—emotionally.)

To quote the late Lord Brain: "When, wherever you live in the world, you can have children only when you wish, that will be a revolution with more far-reaching effects on the pattern of human culture than the discovery of atomic energy."

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was recently married at a lovely church wedding. It was her first marriage, but Billy had been married briefly before. (The marriage was annulled.)

The bride and groom received a beautiful sterling silver tray from Billy's aunt and uncle. The following card was enclosed: "This tray is not monogrammed, but if you are married a year from now, and you take it to Hudson's jewelry store, they will monogram it for you free of charge.

Love,
Aunt Peggy and Uncle Clifford"

Well, Abby, what do you make of that?

INDIGNANT MOTHER

DEAR INDIG: It's a pretty good bet that Aunt Peggy and Uncle Clifford sent Billy a wedding gift for his first time around, and because it was monogrammed, it was unreturnable. And they wanted to make sure history didn't repeat itself. (It's practical, but poor taste.)

DEAR ABBY: In reference to that Ph.D who claimed he had traveled all over the world and had been in the company of ambassadors, etc., and that he didn't know what R.S.V.P. meant: Everybody knows it means "Rented suits very proper."

C. FELTON, ALHAMBRA, CAL.

51% Want Nixon Impeached

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Fifty-one per cent of the persons responding to a recent survey by the Gallup Poll say President Nixon should be impeached by the House of Representatives.

However, there is a 5 per cent drop from the number approving of impeachment by the House to the number wanting Nixon's removal from office by the Senate, the latest Gallup Poll shows.

The House Judiciary Committee, which on Saturday approved one article of impeachment by a vote of 27-11, returns today to consider more.

The Gallup survey, taken in mid-July of 1,555 adults, showed the public 51 to 30 per cent in favor of the House voting impeachment. Nineteen per cent offered no opinion.

In the survey, 46 per cent responded yes, 38 per cent no and 16 per cent had no opinion to the question, "... Do you think Nixon's actions are serious enough to warrant his being removed from the presidency, or not?"

The public's view on both the House impeachment and Senate removal from office questions has not varied much in the last four surveys, according to the Gallup organization.

Reinecke Sentencing Set Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, convicted of perjury for his testimony before a Senate committee, was under court order to meet with probation officers today for a presentencing interview.

Reinecke remained free without bond after the U.S. District Court jury returned the verdict against him Saturday. He characterized the trial as a gross miscarriage of justice and said he will appeal.

The conviction on a single perjury count carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Prosecutors had charged that Reinecke lied to the Senate Judiciary Committee in April 1972, about an offer from International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. to provide $400,000 to underwrite the cost of the Republican National Convention that year.

Reinecke, a 50-year-old Republican, told the committee he never discussed the offer with then Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell until September 1971, two months after the Justice Department consented to an out-of-court settlement of an antitrust case against ITT.

However, he later acknowledged and repeated at his trial that he actually informed Mitchell about the ITT offer in three telephone ionversations during May and June 1971, while the antitrust settlement was being negotiated.

Panel Decision Is Supported

By The Associated Press

President Nixon "allowed the rule of law, the very cement of our civilization, to slip under the boots of arrogance, oppression and abuse," says one of the six House Judiciary Committee Republicans to recommend impeachment.

For that reason, and despite Nixon's significant and lasting contributions to world peace, the decision is one "I will be able to live with for the rest of my life," Rep. William S. Cohen, R-Maine, said Sunday.

Cohen, 33, spoke to a statewide television audience in Maine the day after the committee recommended 27 to 11 that Nixon be impeached for obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up.

He was one of a handful of Judiciary Committee members to return home for the short break. The panel was scheduled to resume its consideration of articles of impeachment today.

Six Republicans joined all of the committee's Democrats in voting to recommend impeachment. All those opposed were Republicans.

Those who returned to home districts said they found response from constituents favorable.

"There is overwhelming support in my district for impeachment," said Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y. Rangel, who kicked off his re-election campaign in Harlem Sunday night, said his mail was running 20 to 1 for removal of Nixon from office.

Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., said she expects her Brooklyn constitutents to support her in the difficult decision.

The Maine Sunday Telegram said Cohen's Washington office had received 397 communications from Maine in the 48 hours after the committee opened public discussion on articles of impeachment on Wednesday. The paper said 281 of the communications favored impeachment.

Rep. Joseph J. Maraziti, R-N.J., on the other hand, said he surveyed about 300 persons attending an Elks clambake in Clinton, N.J., on Sunday and "about 98 per cent were in support of my vote." Maraziti voted against impeachment.

Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., who also voted against impeachment, told about 40 staff and supporters in Atlantic City he still maintains there is insufficient evidence of wrongdoing to impeach Nixon.

But Sandman said, "I am not here to defend Richard Nixon but the Constitution of the United States as I understand it."

Sandman predicted the House of Representatives would vote to impeach the President by a slim margin. Maraziti said he couldn't forecast the House vote—"It will definitely be very close either way."

Rep. Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa, who voted against the article of impeachment, said he had not sampled constituent opinion since the committee action.

But in a statement, Mayne declared, "My vote on the first article of impeachment Saturday night was the most difficult I have ever cast. There is no question about what serious crimes have been committed by the President's closest assistants.

"But there is still no clear and convincing evidence to support the charge that he personally planned the Watergate cover-up and obstructed its investigation."

Printers Ink Eleven Year Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — The printers union has approved an extraordinary 11-year contract with The New York Times and The Daily News, allowing the two newspapers to move ahead unimpeded toward automated typesetting.

The printers, members of typographical Union No. 6 of the International Typographical Union, AFL-CIO, voted 1,009 to 41 Sunday to accept an agreement reached late in May after more than a year of bitter off and on negotiations.

"We're at that point now where we got everything we could get without going out on the street," said Bertram Powers, president of the local. "We're going to see more changes in the next 10 years than any workmen men have ever seen."

In fact, the printers did take to the streets during a work stoppage at The Daily News in May, but the newspaper continued publishing, using automated typesetting, although it sustained heavy losses in advertising pages.

The new contract, which expires March 30, 1984, gives the 1,400 regular printers and 385 fulltime substitutes virtual lifetime job security with bonuses and other incentives should they choose to retire or work elsewhere.

The contract provides for a 3 per cent wage increase each March 31 and cost-of-living protection based on metropolitan area statistics.

THP Probes 2-Car Mishap

Highway Patrolmen investigated a two-car collision 2.8 miles southeast of Snyder on U.S. 84 at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Involved were the 1971 Model Chevrolet of Lester A. Bonner, Route 4, Bowie, and the 1972 Model Chevrolet of Andrew Charles Finelli of Abilene. Neither motorist was hurt, and there was only moderate damage to their vehicles.

Officers said Bonner was crossing U.S. 84 on a paved county road and Finelli was going northwest on U.S. 84 prior to the mishap.

SAYS ROBERT C. BYRD

Chances Growing Daily On Senate Conviction

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd says chances are "growing daily" that the Senate would convict President Nixon in an impeachment trial later this year.

Byrd said on ABC's "Issues and Answers" Sunday that if Nixon failed to heed a likely Senate demand for tapes he has refused to give the House, it "would sound the death knell for the President so far as some senators are concerned, my vote being one."

Byrd gave his assessment as Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield prepared today with his Republican counterpart, Sen. Hugh Scott, to formally launch plans for an impeachment trial.

"The line of demarcation has been reached," Mansfield said after the House Judiciary Committee approved Saturday an impeachment count charging Nixon with obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up, assuring the matter will reach the House floor.

The Montana Democrat had said earlier Saturday that if the committee did approve impeachment articles against Nixon, "I don't think we'll have any other choice" but to formally launch preparations for an impeachment trial.

Under the Senate's impeachment rules, it would meet the day after the House approves an impeachment resolution to receive notice of the action. But any formal trial probably would not start for at least a month.

Mansfield conceded that he and other senators had been doing considerable preparation for the possibility of a trial. Top Senate officials also have been drawing plans covering physical layout of the Senate, television coverage and allocation of seating in the galleries.

Mansfield hopes he and Scott can agree on procedural measures. Once any bill of impeachment is received, he said he will call a closed meeting of all senators to discuss the procedures.

However, it will be up to a majority to make the final decision.

Byrd said he expects the Senate leadership "will do everything it can to expedite" any Senate trial so the matter can be settled this year.

He said the broad support for the impeachment provision in the Judiciary Committee, including the backing of four Southerners and six Republicans, convinces him the House probably will vote to impeach Nixon.

Asked about the situation in the Senate, where 67 votes would be needed for conviction, he said the votes would not be there for conviction if the decision came now but added, "the possibilities for conviction are growing daily."

Byrd said he personally hopes Nixon does not resign, adding he wants the constitutional process to be followed to its conclusion.

Debbie Thomas, 2112 Thirtieth Street, called at 8:48 a.m. Saturday to report that someone had thrown a rock through her car window. Ollie Peek, 3007 Austin, also reported a rock was thrown through his car window. He called at 1:21 p.m. Saturday.

Minor Mishap

Minor damage resulted from a one-car mishap in Towle Park at 8:15 a.m. Saturday.

City Police said the 1968 Model Pontiac of Burt Smith, 101 Elm, was in collision with a utility pole. Damage to the pole was placed at $200.

Passage Of Charter Doubted

AUSTIN (AP) — There was little optimism today about Texas getting a new constitution as delegates gathered on the next to last day of the Constitutional Convention.

"Not under the present circumstances," said Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, when asked by The Associated Press if he thought the Convention would send a proposed new constitution to voters on Nov. 5.

"In fact, if it remains as its is this afternoon I have agreed to co-sponsor a resolution to adjourn sine die (finally).

"I'm still an optimist," said Sen. Max Herman, D-Amarillo, chairman of the important Style and Drafting Committee. "There is bound to be some ground on which we can get together."

"It is doubtful at this point," said Rep. George Preston, D-Paris, a member of the Submission and Transition Committee that has been attempting to arrange compromises.

"I don't think there will be any," said Rep. R.C. Nichols, D-Houston, prominent labor leader opponent of any right-to-work provision in the new constitution. "They don't want a compromise anything. All the president wants to do is blame organized labor for killing it."

"I have been for it (a new constitution) all along," said Sen. H.J. Blanchard, D-Lubbock. "But I rather doubt now we will get one. Too many special interests are involved and there have been too many attempts to placate minorities. Looks like it will be impossible to ever write on that the people will accept.

"I am convinced there is a very slim chance of passing one," Blanchard said. "I'm afraid it is gone."

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — We want to take off the wallpaper in one of the rooms of an old house we have just bought, Can you tell us an easy way to do it?

A. — No. There is no easy way if it's ordinary wallpaper. But if you are lucky and there is only a single layer of paper, it won't be as difficult as if there are two or more layers. Some paper will yield to hot water and a sponge, soaking small sections at a time. A wallpaper remover is more effective.

In either case, scraping with a putty knife is necessary. The scraping must be done while the area being worked on is still wet. The more layers of paper there are, the more soaking and scraping will be required. If the paper has a plastic coating, you may have to slice the paper at various places so that the water or remover can get underneath to soften the old glue.

The job can be hastened somewhat by using a rented steamer. Steam emanating from the portable unit softens the glue, but here too, the difficulty of the job is determined by the number of layers that must be removed. It must also be pointed out that the steam that comes out of the machine will fill the room or even the house with water vapor, so it is important that there be as much ventilation as possible while the project is in progress.

Note that at the beginning of this reply it was said there is no easy way "if it's ordinary wallpaper" that must be removed. The one time removing wallpaper can be relatively easy (not always, but most of the time) is when the paper is the heavy type made with fabric or other material with a special backing, the kind often used in kitchens. This type usually can be peeled off much as you might take off adhesive tape.

Two extra tips: (1) if the wall is wallboard rather than plaster, go easy on the amount of water used and be extra careful handling the putty knife; (2) consider the possibility of putting the new paper over the old if the latter is soundly attached and in good condition.

Q. — Where should louvers be located in an attic?

A. — At both ends of the house as high in the attic as possible. Figure out the square footage of the attic floor. Take the figures to the louver dealer and ask him for the proper size for an attic with that much square footage.

"Ego-Life" Is Urged For Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women pursuing careers often have problems stemming from traditional roles which have kept them from the business world. The biggest of these problems is usually a lack of self-confidence.

Jinx Melia, a career counselor and instructor at Georgetown University's School for Summer and Continuing Education, advises women to give themselves a kind of "ego-lift" as they approach the job market.

Her methods for confidence-building include knowing your own abilities and skills, developing "support systems" to boost morale, and facing adjustments that must be made in home life when both spouses work.

McDonnell Douglas Man Makes $100 Million Sale

By JACK LEFLER
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $100 million sale would be any salesman's dream.

It came true for Bob Baird of McDonnell Douglas Corp.

He sold four DC10 jetliners to Varig, the Brazilian airline. Two of the planes were delivered recently. One will be delivered later this year and another in 1975.

It took 5½ years for Baird to make the deal, so he found great satisfaction when the keys to two DC10s were turned over to Capt. Carlos Homrich, chief pilot and director of operations for Varig.

Baird, 45, directs the McDonnell Douglas sales program in Mexico and Central and South America.

Since production of DC10s began in January 1969, he has sold eight of the $25 million aircraft, including two to Aeromexico and two to Viasa, the Venezuelan airline. He also sells DC9s and used airplanes.

The DC10's basic price is $19 million, but extras bring it up to $25 million.

"We don't have one-cent sales or special deals if you buy a bunch," Baird said.

"Every deal is different. No two airlines come up with the same DC10. The internal configuration — the seating arrangement, the galleys — the electronic gear, navigation equipment all are according to customer specification.

"Another 7 per cent to 20 per cent of the basic price is spent by airlines on stocking initial parts. Like buying a car, by the time you get done with the extras, the price is considerably higher than the basic price.

"Only, of course, when you buy a car you don't buy spare parts needed in the months and years ahead.

Did Baird make a whopping commission on the sale? No. He's on straight salary.

Cabbies Give Free Rides

LONDON (AP) — Sympathetic cabbies are giving free rides around town to families and companions of those wounded in the Tower of London bombing 10 days ago.

The blast inside London's major tourist attraction killed one woman and wounded 37, about half of them children. Most of those injured were foreigners. Four were Americans.

"It made me sick to think that it had happened here," said cabbie Barrie Dollimore.

"I felt that people in London should do something to show them we were not all animals," Dollimore said. "It seemed we could help best as taxi drivers by donating our time to help their families get from place to place."

The 150 members of the Licensed Taxi Drivers' Assn. donated their privately owned cabs and set up a special telephone line.

Four Counties Removed From List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Effective today, one Texas county and three in Oklahoma will be removed from the list of areas certified significantly free of cattle brucellosis or controlling it.

The Agriculture Department is adding those counties of Shannon County, S.D., on the restricted-movement list because adequate actions are not being "taken to eliminate brucellosis from suspicous and affected herds."

The announcement also restored "modified-certified" status to Freestone, Leon and Milam counties, Tex.; Cherokee, Okla., and Sullivan, Mo.

Those going off the list are Garvin, Jefferson and Dewey counties, Okla., and Chambers County, Tex.

Raft Says Reputation Unearned

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I've never been locked up, I've never taken a drink, I never hurt anyone, and I gave all my money away. So how come I got this bum reputation?"

George Raft was speaking in momentary pique at the knocks he has taken in the press and from the law during his long and colorful career as a movie tough guy.

Still dapper at 78 but slowed down by emphysema, he wonders why his screen reputation has been transferred to his private life.

"I suppose it started because I danced in the New York night spots during the 1920s," he reflected. "The guys who owned those places were mobsters like Owney Madden.

"But they were the bosses, the hosts, and anybody who worked in those joints had to deal with them."

Over the years, Raft's name has been mentioned in investigations of the underworld, but he asserts he has never had any connection.

In the new book "George Raft" by Lewis Yablonsky, Raft admits his friendship with Benny Siegel, the high-living hood shot down in his Beverly Hills mansion. But Raft adds Siegel "was accepted by everyone because he was Broadway and Hollywood and he was interesting to be with."

Raft feels the toughest blow of all came in 1967 when he was barred from England as an "undesirable." He had been fronting for a London casino, his last full-time employment.

"The worst part is that they never accused me of anything," he said. "If I was guilty of something, why didn't they tell me what it was?"

Raft has been getting a flurry of publicity because of appearances to publicize the new book. He seems to enjoy the attention, although he complained mildly that interviewers' questions usually focus on his alleged gangland connections.

In the book, Raft tells about his rise from New York's Hell's Kitchen to vaudeville as "The Fastest Dancer in the World," then to films, scoring first as the half-dollar-flipping killer in "Scarface."

Throughout the 1930s and 1940s he was one of Hollywood's highest-paid leading men. In 1946 his earnings were $450,000.

Then film styles changed, and Raft began playing cameos in films like "Around the World in 80 Days," "Some Like It Hot" and "Ocean's Eleven."

The money vanished, partly because of Raft's 45-year support of his estranged wife. They had met and married in vaudeville but soon drifted apart. She would never divorce him.

He said he paid Grayce Mulrooney Raft more than a million dollars by the time of her death in 1970.

Junior Editors' Quiz on DOGS

QUESTION: Is a dog color blind?

ANSWER: Research conducted on the optic system of the dog indicates that the dog is color blind, or nearly so. If there is any sensitivity to color, it is in the change of tone from pale to dark, rather than the colors themselves.

The sight of dogs seems to be weaker than humans. They are poor at distinguishing immobile objects a considerable distance from them. When an object begins to move, then the dog notices it instantly. It is thought that dogs see shapes instinctly and do not perceive detail. At night, dogs see much better than humans. Dogs have a habit of staring when they are attempting to see some object.

Nearsightedness is common in dogs. Bulldogs, Pugs and other dogs with protruding eyes are usually more myopic than other breeds. A dog's sense of smell and its hearing supplement its vision.

Snyder Girls Win State Championship

Wadleigh Wins City Crown

Wadleigh Star Builders clinched the mens city softball championship for the second year straight Thursday night by blanking Lee "66" 6-0 behind the 1-hit pitching of Guy Sullivan.

Poncho Woner, Pat Smith and Jerry Sullivan contributed key hits enroute to the victory. Danny Stokes spoiled the no-hitter with a 7th inning single.

The win gave Wadleigh a league record for the second half of 8-1 with one game remaining on the schedule. They posted an 8-2 record in the first half for a season record of 16-3 with the one game remaining for the season.

Next week's action will wind up the season with second place at stake and three teams involved in the race. There will also be a balloting for the All-City team to be comprised of 15 players and selected by the players themselves.

In addition to the city championship, the Wadleigh team has been successful in outside competition, winning the Snyder invitational championship, placing second in the Sweetwater invitational softball tournament and third in the Sterling City invitational tournament. Their only losses in both the Sweetwater and Sterling City tournaments were to San Angelo, the eventual champion of both tournaments.

Three Race Drivers Are Burned

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Three race drivers were being treated early today for severe burns suffered in a spectacular 13-car pile-up on the Kansas Fairgrounds' dirt racetrack.

Aaron Madden, 46, Midwest City, Okla., was in critical condition at the Hillcrest Burn Center, Tulsa, Okla.

Conditions were not immediately available at the University of Kansas Medical Center burn unit for Jack Petty, 38, Wichita, Kan., and Jerry Soderberg, 28, Dodge City, Kan.

The three were flown from here Sunday night by military helicopters after being examined at a local hospital.

One other driver was injured in the fiery series of collisions, which left five cars charred ruins and eight others damaged. George Armstrong, 33, Tulsa, was treated and released.

A race official said the wheels of two cars appeared to lock as they began the fourth of 50 scheduled laps on the half-mile track. They separated and, as they headed into the south turn, one of them flipped over.

In rapid succession, following cars began piling into that car and each other.

"Cars just kept going everywhere and hitting everywhere," said Tom McNeil of Wichita, a fan. "They were all huddled up and they just kept hitting and exploding."

Federal Mediator Slates Meetings

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a new referee in the 29-day old National Football League Players Association strike, and before the conflicting parties start talking to each other, they'll be talking to him.

In the first step toward renewing collective bargaining Tuesday, W.J. Usery, the nation's top mediator, asked that the NFLPA meet with him at 4 p.m. EDT today at his federal office in Washington.

He requested a session with Theodore Kheel, chief counsel for the 26 team owners, Tuesday morning and then across-the-table bargaining between negotiators for the NFLPA and the NFL Management Council Tuesday afternoon.

If Usery's efforts are successful, it will be the first meeting of the warring parties since talks collapsed last Monday after owners walked out the day before.

"A continuation of this conflict can only bring hardships to the parties directly involved and those caught in the middle ...," Usery said in a telegram to both sides Friday.

He also asked both sides to come to his office "fully prepared to enter into good faith collective bargaining, with the expectation of reaching a fair and equitable agreement."

"We said all along all we want is an agreement," a spokeman for the owners said Sunday night. "I've seen in the press that the union says they're modifying their demands. I hope so. Up to now, the union hasn't abandoned any of its original demands, but if there is a modification—it's a good sign."

Contract negotiations began March 16 when veteran players submitted 90 demands, later condensed to 63. After 10 fruitless sessions, talks broke off and the 1,200-member NFLPA struck July 1, picketing training camps as they opened for rookies and free agents.

Owners say they subsequently have sweetened their offer by $4 million, but the players are seeking more freedom from the owners—which the owners have refused to yield.

The strike forced cancellation of the All-Star game earlier this month in Chicago between the best in the college ranks and the NFL champion Miami Dolphins. And only three veterans were available for the Hall of Fame game in Canton, Ohio, Saturday between the Buffalo Bills and St. Louis Cardinals.

The NFL Management Council said that as of Sunday night 209 veterans—57 of whom were starters last year—had reported to their teams, leaving about 1,000 members of the NFLPA still to be appeased.

The most notable crossovers Sunday were quarterback Craig Morton and wide receiver Golden Richards of the Dallas Cowboys; quarterback Ken Anderson, and recievers Chip Myers and Bruce Coslet of the Cincinnati Bengals; quarterback Pat Sullivan of the Atlanta Falcons, and linebacker Bill Bergey of the Philadelphia Eagles.

ABILENE—The Snyder Minor League Girls All-Star softball team won the Minor League State Championship here Sunday afternoon with a 9-6 triumph over Abilene South Red.

Connie Weber, who was named the most valuable player of the tournament, pitched a 1-hitter for the Snyder girls in the championship game. The only hit off her was a single by Kim Smith in the 7th inning that drove in two runs. Abilene also scored two unearned runs in the 1st, one in the 5th and one more in the 7th.

Abilene had a chance to tie the game with the tying run at the plate in the 7th inning. But Connie bore down and struck out the batter for the third out.

Snyder tallied five runs in the 2nd frame, one in the 4th and three in the 6th. Connie Weber aided her own cause with two singles. Martha McAnelly stroked two doubles, and Suzanne Fisher, who also was named to the All-Tournament team, hit two singles. Martha Womack, Belinda Fuentez, Billie Owens and Pat Halford each stroked a single. Snyder had a total of 10 hits.

Snyder qualified for the finals by beating Abilene South Blue 24-4 at 10 o'clock Saturday night while Abilene South Red beat Midland Red 26-4 to gain the finals.

Suzanne Fisher and Latricia Pevehouse combined forces on the mound in the semifinals game, limiting Abilene South Blue to only five hits while Snyder was socking two different hurlers for 20 hits.

Snyder scored in every inning, getting two runs in the 1st, six in the 2nd, two in the 3rd, 10 in the 4th, three in the 5th and one in the 6th. Abilene South Blue got two runs in the 1st and one each in the 3rd and 4th frames.

Connie Weber sparked the Snyder attack with five hits, including four doubles. Belinda Fuentez stroked three singles, Carrie Hernandez and Suzanne Fisher each hit two singles, Pat Halford doubled, and Pam Gray, Kim Harlin, Norma Garcia, Latricia Pevehouse, Martha McAnelly, Stacy Stuard and Vicky Kincheloe each hit one single.

Snyder flailed Odessa West in the second round Saturday afternoon, 22-5. Connie Weber again was the winning pitcher, holding the Odessa team to only three hits. Snyder rapped 19 safeties, scoring two runs in the 1st, two in the 3rd, eight in the 5th, five in the 6th, and five in the 7th. Odessa got all five of its runs in the 5th.

Connie Weber and Belinda Fuentez each collected four hits. Two of Belinda's hits were triples while Connie socked a triple and a double. Norma Garcia clouted a home run and two singles, and Vickie Kincheloe stroked three singles. Suzanne Fisher, Martha Womack and Kayla Weems each slammed a double, and Carrie Hernandez and Martha McAnelly each hit a single.

The Snyder girls hit well against every pitcher they faced in the tournament, and their poise in the field was outstanding. In a word, they played like champions. It was a great team effort.

In the first round Friday night, the Snyder girls flailed Dallas' Red Devils 39-6.

Other girls who were named to the All-Tournament team included Kim Varana of the Dallas Red Devils, Sherry Byrd of Big Spring, Tonya Brooks of Abilene North, Anna Sanchez of Midland Red, Sharla Brown of Odessa East, Rebekah Gibbs and Christi Carter of Abilene South Red, and Rosa McKenzie of Odessa East.

Word 'Impeachment' Is Puzzling Russians

By FRANK CREPEAU
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Many Russians are puzzling over a new word cropping up in the controlled Soviet press and newscasts: "impeachment."

Russian is a rich language. But the Soviet media, in their delicate and fragmentary reports on impeachment proceedings against President Nixon, have resorted to the borrowed English word. Probably not one in a thousand Russians knows what the word means, and it's not in any Russian dictionary.

That's not the only way the Soviet media has been unclear about the Watergate scandal.

For a long time, the press ignored President Nixon's difficulties, concentrating instead on detente between Moscow and Washington.

Now, the brief and vague articles about Watergate—called the "so-called Watergate affair" in the Soviet press—provide few details. Readers have never been told frankly what impeachment involves or that there is a possibility Nixon could be removed from office.

Last week, however, the careful Pravda reader saw a brief report saying the President would turn over certain tapes and documents after a Supreme Court decision. And Vice President Gerald R. Ford was quoted as saying giving up that material would rally public opinion to the side of the President "to fight against attempts of the Congress to remove him from office."

That apparently was the first time the possibility of removal from office was mentioned in the Soviet press, and it was not directly linked to the impeachment process.

The Soviet leadership has a stake in Nixon remaining in office to continue the detente policies worked out at three summit meetings. It probably also is a bit awkward for the Kremlin leaders to explain to the Soviet public that the President of the United States can be removed from office by the legislative branch.

Despite a facade of elections and parliamentary process in the Soviet Union, its leaders are chosen by a small group that runs the Communist party and everything else in the country.

When the House Judiciary Committee recommended Saturday night that President Nixon be impeached, the Soviet news agency Tass reported the vote briefly. It reported that White House spokesmen said Nixon is confident the full House of Representatives "will not decide on impeachment, for there is no ground for that."

The official Soviet line has been that those in the United States who oppose detente with the Soviet Union are among those pushing impeachment proceedings.

Cooperation Of Turkish And Greek Questioned

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the wake of near-war over Cyprus, U.S. military analysts wonder whether Turkish and Greek forces will be able to cooperate effectively in the future as the southern anchor of the NATO alliance.

Taking a hopeful tack, they suggest the ouster of the Greek military junta blamed for fomenting the Cyprus coup may lead to a more stable situation, assuming the completion of successful negotiations between the new Greek government and the Turks.

But these analysts acknowledge the Turkish landing on Cyprus and other strains growing out of the crisis have inflamed a centuries-old Greek-Turkish enmity.

Some pessimists say the threat of war between Turkey and Greece, along with what they describe as a clumsy performance by Turkish forces on Cyprus, laid bare the weakness of NATO's southern flank.

"If I was the Russian commander, I'd cut my forces facing that flank by about 50 per cent," said ne U.S. general.

Some optimists say they believe the Greeks and Turks would pull together and fight well if they were defending their own home soil against a Communist attack.

The Turkish operation on Cyprus was rated disappointing by many U.S. military professionals, after more than two decades of American training and advice and about $3 billion in American arms designed to build Turkey's forces into a strong bulkwark against any Soviet threat in that quarter.

"The Turks didn't do as well as one might have expected," said a senior staff officer. "They may have underestimated their problems, even against the Cypriot national guard.

"Their planning, launching and landing were reasonably well done. But after they got ashore, they didn't move quite as vigorously as they should have. Perhaps they needed bigger forces to achieve their military objectives quickly."

American officers criticized the Turks for failing to take the port at Kyrenia early in the invasion. As a result, they said, the Turks were able to get ashore too few tanks and armored personnel carriers.

Another failure of the Turk operation, U.S. officers said, was in their inability to capture the key airport at Nicosia. This, too, was attributed to lack of speed and aggressiveness.

Some U.S. officers found fault with Turkish failure to resupply their fighting units speedily.

The sinking of a Turkish Navy destroyer by Turkish Air Force planes caused perhaps the most pained headshaking among U.S. Air Force officers.

"I guess we taught them to bomb well enough, but they are obviously not very good at identifying their own ships," said one Air Force general.

Probers Find Wheat Sale Error

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators have characterized the massive 1972 wheat sale to the Soviet Union as a $300 million error in judgment by top officials of the Agriculture Department.

In its final report Sunday on the controversial deal, the Senate investigations subcommittee said the sale resulted in sharply higher food prices for Americans, caused a shortage of farm products and brought a virtual halt to freight movements in some areas.

The grain sale, largest in U.S. history, was part of the Nixon administration's policy of easing tensions with the Soviet Union. The subcommittee said, "A federal policy aimed at improving international relations cannot be termed successful if it causes hardship in domestic affairs."

Subcommittee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said in a statement accompanying the report that "the Russians and the large grain companies reaped the major benefits of the sales." The government funneled $300 million to six grain trading firms in the form of export subsidies.

The sale involved more than 700 million bushels of grain, including 440 million bushels of wheat.

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, ranking Republican on the subcommittee, said the deal should provide a lesson for U.S. trade negotiators. "We need to be certain that officials representing this nation in trade negotiations with a foreign power appreciate and represent overall American interests while avoiding any real or apparent conflict of interest," Percy said.

Astronaut Injured

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Don Lind, a scientist astronaut, was injured today when his bicycle was hit by a car, authorities said.

Lind, 44, a native of Midvale, Utah, was taken to nearby Clear Lake Hospital for X rays and observation.

Thunderstorms Stretch Over Wide Area

By The Associated Press

Widely scattered thunderstorms stretched from the Southwest to the Northeast today and haze and fog blanked out much of the rest of the nation.

Only the South and the Northwest to the Upper Mississippi Valley had clear skies.

In Cordes, Ariz., 1½ inches of rain fell in half an hour. The same amount hit Dalhart, Tex., in two hours along with winds gusting to 42 miles per hour.

Golf ball-size hail pelted Jefferson, Ill., and hail half that size fell near Grand Rapids, Mich.

Haze reduced visibility to less than one mile in some parts of the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys and fog crept along most of the Pacific Coast.

Temperatures ranged from 50 at Saulte Saint Marie, Mich., to 101 at Needles, Calif.

Other temperatures and weather conditions:

Anchorage 59 partly cloudy, Atlanta 71 clear, Boston 67 cloudy, Buffalo 68 clear, Chicago 75 clear, Cincinnati 70 clear, Cleveland 69 clear, Dallas 85 clear, Denver 59 clear, Detroit 69 partly cloudy, Honolulu 78 partly cloudy, Indianapolis 68 clear, Kansas City 78 clear, Los Angeles 68 partly cloudy, Louisville 66 thunderstorm, Miami 80 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 64 clear, Nashville 73 clear, New York 73 cloudy, Philadelphia 73 cloudy, Phoenix 97 cloudy, Pittsburgh 65 clear, St. Louis 75 clear, San Francisco 58 cloudy, Seattle 70 clear, Washington 76 cloudy.

Senate Eyes Trade Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is resuming work on a trade-reform bill that would give U.S. negotiators a weapon in the battle against worldwide inflation and shortages.

But even though the Senate Finance Committee is back at work on the bill after several weeks' delay, there is no solid indication that the issue of Soviet emigration, which has held up action on the measure, has been resolved.

And Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said in a weekend interview that, unless the measure can be brought before the Senate by early September, it may collide with a possible impeachment trial of President Nixon.

Elsewhere on Capitol Hill today, the House planned final action on a compromise $22.1-billion military procurement authorization bill for the current fiscal year. The measure is $1 billion below the Nixon administration request and includes $1 billion in military aid to South Vietnam.

The House votes on Tuesday on authorizing $800 million in operating subsidies for mass transit this year.

On Wednesday the House could complete congressional action on a $25.2-billion education bill that limits court authority to order busing for school desegregation.

But Southerners may press an attempt to reject the Senate-approved compromise in favor of stricter busing curbs.

The Senate continues debate on a bill establishing a federal consumer-protection agency, despite President Nixon's veto threat. The first attempt to cut off conservatives' filibuster against the bill will come Tuesday.

New Engine Saves Gas

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. says it can achieve a 25 per cent gasoline savings with a new stratified charge engine, but can't build it unless future pollution rules are relaxed.

Ford President Lee Iacocca said today the firm is "more optimistic than ever" about the stratified charge engines, which spread combustion over a longer period of time to obtain a more efficient burn.

"These engines have two rather important characteristics: They can meet current emission standards, and they can deliver a fuel-economy improvement of up to 25 per cent, compared with current engines," he said.

The experimental engines, however, cannot be tuned to meet the scheduled 1978 limits on emissions of nitrogen oxide exhausts, Iacocca said in remarks prepared for the 1975 Lincoln-Mercury preview.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Sometimes you may want a television, stereo, movie projector, or other appliance for a particular occasion and not wish to buy it. Or maybe you want to try out such equipment before purchasing to make sure it's what you want.

Many stores offer "rental-purchase" plans to accommodate such customers. These plans allow consumers to rent items and apply any rental payments to the purchase price if they decide they want to keep the merchandise.

Some merchants aim their advertising at certain groups such as college students or persons in a lower income bracket. They may emphasize that credit ratings are unimportant, or that credit checks are not even necessary for such rental agreements. This can be reassuring to someone who has not yet established a credit record, or to someone who perhaps has a bad credit record.

Information from the Federal Trade Commission indicates that a few businesses offering rental-purchase plans with such "easy credit" terms actually do require past credit experience or a favorable credit rating contrary to their advertising. Some stores may require a person to produce credit cards, along with some identification such as a driver's license, before a rental-purchase contract can be completed. A few stores that have been reported to promote such rental-purchase plans by advertising easy credit, low monthly payments, free delivery and service, and the right to apply rental payments to the purchase price tack on a large deposit charge.

When a consumer decides to enter into such an agreement the FTC notes that some of these merchants may assure the consumer that he will own the appliance after a certain number of payments, but that such stipulations are not included in the contract.

The agency also calls attention to the practice of some unscrupulous merchants who allow or even encourage consumers to miss payments, or to make late payments, early in the rental-purchase contract period. Then, when ownership of the merchandise is about to pass to the consumer, the merchant may point out a clause in the contract stating that payments cannot be late and repossess the merchandise.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys recommend that consumers check several things before entering into a rental-purchase agreement:

1. If you know in advance that you want to buy an item instead of renting it, check several local stores for prices on the equipment. You may find that the price paid under a rental-purchase plan in considerably higher.

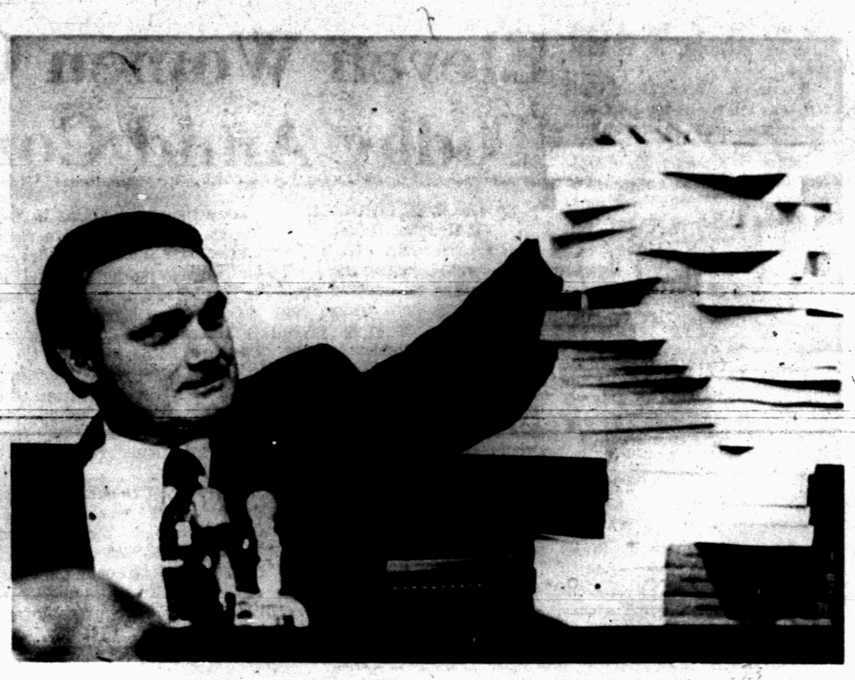

2. Do not be swayed by offers of easy credit.

3. If you decide to rent an item with the idea of trying it out and perhaps buying it, be sure that your contract states that rental payments can be applied to the purchase price. Any reputable merchant will be happy to have his promises written into the contract.

4. Note carefully if the rental-purchase contract requires that each payment on the merchandise be made by a certain date. If it does, be sure your payments arrive on time, or you may risk having the merchandise repossessed later.

5. And, finally, deal with merchants who have the reputation of providing good products or service at a fair price.

If you have a problem with a rental-purchase agreement or need other consumer information, contact our Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

AMA Publishes Plea To End Ban On DDT

By C.G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Journal of the American Medical Association published today a plea to end the ban on use of the insecticide DDT. Ecologists were quick to criticize the request.

The article by Dr. Thomas H. Jukes, a medical biochemist at the University of California at Richmond, says the decision by the Environmental Protection Agency in 1972 to ban use of DDT was "political rather than scientific."

"Let us hope that DDT will find its place again as a public health measure for uses that are essential in the control of noxious insects," Jukes wrote.

There are eports the EPA is reassessing its DDT ban and soon may recommend a more liberal policy for its use.

Dr. Barry Commoner, an ecologist from Washington University at St. Louis, said Jukes overlooked scientific evidence about the harmful effect of DDT on humans.

"It seems to be that the AMA is irresponsible if it chooses to inform the large segment of the public represented by the patients of its members by means of grossly oversimplified opinion rather than the facts regarding the DDT problem," Commoner said.

"We don't exist on this planet in a vacuum," said, Dr. William R. Niering, an ecologist from Connecticut College at New London.

In the article, Jukes acknowledged that DDT is toxic to crustaceans, fish and sometimes birds.

Jukes cited an AMA study that found handlers of DDT suffered no ill effects despite long exposure.

Jukes claimed that over the past three years gypsy moths have denuded East Coast forests and tussock moths have destroyed forests in the West. But the EPA refuses to allow the use of DDT to fight the moths, he said.

Other scientists report, however, that natural predators—birds, other insects and mammals—helped in stemming the infestation by damaging the moth eggs.

Niering said the outbreaks of gypsy moths are expected periodically and other, safer chemical compounds are effective against them. Spraying forests with DDT reduces natural predators, he added.

Niering said serious public health problems might necessitate limited use of DDT, but he opposed widespread use.

Drownings Help Swell Violent Death Toll

By The Associated Press

Hot weather which drove sweltering Texans to beaches and pools also contributed to an upsurge in the number of drownings during the weekend.

The violent death toll from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday went to 30, and there were 10 drownings along with 17 traffic fatalities and three homicides.

These were among the victims:

Three persons drowned just off Galveston in the Gulf of Mexico Sunday when they were caught in an undertow near a rock groin. They were Cynthia Ruth Gaines, 19, and Mellony Ann Green, 18, both of Houston, and Fred Grimes, 53, of Galveston.

Clarence D. Edinburgh, 53, of Houston died Sunday afternoon when his car hit a tree just west of Flatonia.

Robert Earl Hightower, 23, of Huntsville, was killed Sunday when his car ran off the road and struck a tree west of Huntsville.

Greg Piper, 18, died Saturday after his bicycle was hit by a truck in East Dallas. A companion was injured.

A head-on crash about a mile south of Bonham killed two young motorists and injured four others Saturday. Those dying in the collision were Jeffrey Carver, 19, of Dallas and Charles Williams, 17, of Randolph.

Thomas E. Cobbs, 18, of Chilton, was killed Sunday in a one-car mishap south of Waco.

James W. Cheadle, 39, of Dallas, drowned at an apartment swimming pool after apparently hitting his head on the bottom during a dive.

A Houston youth, Glenn Cobb, 15, drowned at Huntsville State Park Saturday. Park officials said it was believed he suffered an epilepsy attack while swimming with a church group.

Eleven Women Ordained Today Amid Controversy

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Amid wide controversy, 11 women are to be ordained Episcopal priests here today, the first of their sex to be given that clerical rank in the church's history.

The ceremonies at Philadelphia's Church of the Advocate were set in defiance of the denomination's long-time practice and regulations.

But in the view of the bishops conducting the services — as well as that of Philadelphia's strongly disapproving Bishop Lyman Ogilby — the ordinations will stand as theologically valid, although irregular.

The officiating bishops declared they were acting in obedience to the spirit of a risen Christ who summons believers to "walk in newness of life" in seeking freedom, liberation and dignity. The bishops added:

"Hearing His command, we can heed no other."

Their course of action came in spite of a plea from the church's presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. John M. Allin, that they abandon their rebel maneuver.

The women become the first in the western world to be ordained through the so-called "apostolic succession" — a chain of authority traced back to Jesus' apostles by laying-on of hands from one generation to the next.

This line is maintained in the Roman Catholic Eastern Orthodox and Anglican churches, of which the 3.1-million-member Episcopal Church is the American branch.

Often called a "bridge church," it embraces both Protestant and Catholic traditions. Ordaining women in it constitutes a historic breakthrough in the male dominance of the priesthood.

"Our primary movitation is to begin to free priesthood from the bondage it suffers as long as it is characterized by categorical exclusion of persons on the basis of sex," says a joint statement by the 11 women.

The women, ranging in age from 27 to 79, have completed their theological training. They've been serving as deacons, a preliminary step to the priesthood.

Most of the bishops of their home dioceses, however, have warned that their ordinations would subject them to disciplinary action, either suspension from their work or prohibitions against filling any priestly role.

Only priests can consecrate the elements at holy communion for the church's central service of worship.

The women are Merrill Bittner, 27, of Webster, N.Y.; Alla Bozarth-Campbell, 27, and Jeannette Piccard, 79, both of Minneapolis; Alison Cheek, 47, of Annandale, Va.; Emily Hewitt, 30, of Newton Centre, Mass.; Carter Heyward, 29, of New York City; Suzanne Hiatt, 37, of Philadelphia, Marie Moorefield, 30, of Topeka, Kan.; Betty Schiess, 51, of Syracuse, N.Y.; Katrina Swanson, 36, of Leawood, Kan., and Nancy Wittig, of Warren, N.J.

HomeEconomist In Business

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I am a high school senior planning my career. I've enjoyed my home ec courses very much. What careers might there be for home economists in the business world (not teaching)? -- P.C., Worcester, Mass.

Were we to turn an imaginary career kaleidoscope, "business world" patterns would fall into 3 broad groupings: the home economist in business, in communications, and in consumer affairs. There's much variation within groups, and a position often can be classified in more than 1 group.

THE BASIC REQUIREMENT for a home economist is a bachelor's degree in home economics, or a related field (such as combining a minor in home economics with a major in journalism, education or consumer affairs). Some positions require graduate study. (There are paraprofessional jobs in the home economics field which don't require a bachelor's degree, but we're not talking about these today.)

MANY HOME ECONOMISTS still enter traditional business fields, such as working for an electric or gas utility, or working in a test kitchen, but thousands are going into expanded opportunities in such businesses as supermarket chains, hotels, and even banks. In general, these women (and men, too) develop new products and services . . . represent their employer through personal contact, guest appearances in stores and on the media, and at conventions . . . write educational materials . . . advise employers on merchandise selection . . . or work to provide information to consumers, or handle complaints.

Here's a brief – certainly not conclusive – sampling:

1) A home economist who evaluates merchandise for a large department store chain. Working with technical personnel, it is her job to test all toys on safety, performance and quality before they're put on sale to the public.

2) A home economist who works for a bank is concerned with the crunch of customers on a busy pay day. Knowing that people get unhappy when they have to spend a large part of their lunch hour in a bank, she helps establish information centers that dispense useful banking and consumer information.

3) A washing machine manufacturer has a home economist who demonstrates the care of new fabrics in department stores, shows store personnel how to merchandise her firm's products, and travels to sales meetings. She also works with engineers to develop special features on a washer that is designed to be used by the handicapped.

4) The director of education and consumer information for a large pattern company helps the design staff keep up with fashion trends and learn what customers want. She also produces educational materials for schools.

5) A freelance home economist specializes in food photography – preparing food layouts for magazines and TV.

6) A home economist in a supermarket chain prepares low-cost recipes and writes materials (some of which appear in the chain's newspaper ads) which advise consumers on the best buys and good nutrition.

Many of the best jobs are found in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Miami, but there are opportunities in every large city and many smaller ones for home economists in business, communications and consumer affairs.

GMWorkers Vote To Go Back

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — Nearly 5,000 workers at General Motors' Guide Lamp Division plant here have voted to ratify a new contract and go back to work.

Bud Miller, president of Local 663, said 95 per cent of the members who attended the meeting Sunday voted to ratify.

The workers, members of United Auto Workers Local 663, walked out Friday when contract talks stalled over wage issues.

The plant makes headlights for all GM car and truck divisions.

UAW strikes at GM plants in Lordstown, Ohio, and St. Louis, Mo., continued today.

The strike begun June 28 by 5,700 workers in St. Louis shut down assembly lines that make Corvette sports cars, Chevrolet light trucks and the Chevy Impala and Caprice.

Talks were being resumed today at Lordstown, where a strike is in its third week. Production of the Chevrolet Vega and van trucks there is at a standstill.

GM says the Lordstown strike is costing it a daily loss of 1,600 Chevrolet Vegas and 500 trucks.

The company and union declared a news blackout on the talks and neither side has said if there has been any progress.

Lordstown Local 1112, which has been without a local contract since September, struck July 12 in a dispute over a new contract covering 7,800 hourly workers.

About 2,150 workers have been laid off at supplier plants because of the Ohio walkout.

Peanut Stock Is Up 16%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stocks of peanuts held in commercial facilities at the end of June totalled 661 million pounds, up 16 per cent from the year before, the Crop reporting Board says.

But millings of farmers' stock peanuts in June were down 18 per cent from the year before. Peanuts crushed for oil and cake were down 44 per cent, for edible products down 8 per cent.

Safety Week Is Proclaimed

AUSTIN—Governor Dolph Briscoe has proclaimed the week of July 25-31 Farm and Ranch Safety Week in Texas.

"Although the farm and ranch environment contains many hazards," the governor said in his proclamation, "experience has shown that caution, common sense, skill and protective equipment can counter these hazards and keep accidents and injuries to a minimum. Texas farmers and ranchers, their families and employees need to dedicate themselves to the task of safely producing the commodities needed by an entire nation."

The proclamation is part of a statewide farm and ranch accident prevention campaign being conducted by the Texas Safety Association, Texas Farm Bureau, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America and Young Farmers of Texas. The week also concurs with National Farm Safety Week under the cosponsorship of the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

State Health Department figures show that there were 214 fatal accidents on Texas farms during 1973. That number is up 16.9 percent over 1972. The highest ranking fatal farm accidents in 1973 were those involving firearms (42 deaths), drownings (41 deaths), tractors (26 deaths), fires and burns (24 deaths) and falls (20 deaths).

This year's national campaign is focusing on the fall with the theme, "ABC's of Avoiding Falls—Alertness, Balance, Care."

Joe Smetana, TSA vice president for farm and ranch safety, offered some basic suggestions for preventing falls:

—Watch your step. Survey your path to spot slipping, tripping hazards.

—Wear shoes and boots with slip-resistant soles and heels. Clean them before climbing, mounting farm equipment, or walking on hard, smooth surfaces.

—Keep walking surfaces free of ice, snow, manure, loose grain, etc.

—Never permit children to ride on farm equipment. Establish a "no riders" rule—no one should be on farm equipment other than those necessary for work operation or for instructional purposes.

—Use hand holds or rails when climbing off and on machinery. Use handrails on stairs.

—Inspect ladders before each use. Repair or replace if unstable or faulty. Set ladders on firm footing. Set straight ladder base out one foot for each four feet up. Don't overreach. Stay off tall ladders on gusty days.

—Keep buildings maintained. Fix broken flooring, steps, etc.

—Have a storage place for everything; put things away when finished. Good housekeeping is a falls prevention "must."

-Don't block your view when carrying large items.

—Look for hidden hazards when walking in weeds, tall grass, etc.

—Provide plenty of light so you can see there you're going and what you're doing.

—Take time to be safe.

Nuclear power may provide the ultimate energy solution.

Cool Front Eases Southward

By The Associated Press

A weak cool front eased southward through the Panhandle-Plains sector and raised hope for limited relief from Texas' protracted heat wave today.

Scattered showers and occasionally heavy thunderstorms spread through areas on each side of the frontal system, which had advanced past Childress and Lubbock by daylight.

Some of the storms reached as far south as Odessa and Snyder by that time. There also were light showers around El Paso.

Skies were generally cloudy behind the new front but it was still clear and hot nearly everywhere else.

Early morning temperatures dipped to 65 degrees at Dalhart and 67 at Amarillo in the Panhandle while thermometers registered 80 at Del Rio and Palacios, and 81 at Childress.

Top marks Sunday afternoon went as high as 104 at Cotulla, Dallas and Del Rio.

Official observers looked for the cooler air to drift slowly toward the southeast, touching off more showers and thunderstorms as it progressed, and to reach Central Texas by late Tuesday. Clear to partly cloudy skies and more hot weather were promised other sections.

Lamb Crop Down 8%

WASHINGTON (AP) — With lamb prices having fallen from August levels, although otherwise still above 1973 so far this year, the crop is estimated to be 8 per cent below last year's, the Statistical Reporting Service says.

At the start of the year, the number of breeding ewes are down 7 per cent. The lamb crop was estimated at 10.6 million head, with the wool clip expected to be down 8 per cent also.
