Price Fixing Legal, High Court Rules

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 20. —The supreme court, in a decision upholding the bituminous coal act, ruled 88 to 1 today that Congress can constitutionally prescribe price-fixing, marketing controls and other regulatory remedies to cure "chaotic conditions" in the interstate industry.

The act was passed in 1937 after an earlier regulatory law, called the Guffey coal act of 1935, was ruled invalid. The aim of the legislation was to curb the "over-production and savage, competitive warfare" which, Justice Douglas said in today's majority opinion, had "wasted" the bituminous coal industry.

"Labor and capital alike were the victims," the opinion observed. "Financial distress among operators and acute poverty among miners prevailed even during periods of general prosperity. This history of the bituminous coal industry is written in blood as well as in ink."

Gunfire Fails To Stop Suspected Bootleggers

Gunfire and 50 to 75 mile-an-hour dashes through downtown Lubbock thoroughfares at their busiest time of the day—about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon—ended in a fruitless chase for Lubbock police who sought to arrest a young man suspected of bootlegging.

The hide-and- seek tactics with additional shooting was repeated in the northeast portion of the city minutes later in a second episode of attempted enforcement of liquor statutes, with other offenders.

Suspects in both cases had not been arrested at midnight, but city authorities continued a relentless search, identities of offenders in each instance believed to be known by the officers. The automobile of the first asserted offender was taken at a nightclub on the outskirts of the city a few hours after he had outdistanced the police in a two-to-three-mile dash that was described as the most dangerous imaginable in busy, crowded downtown streets.

Authorities had gone to the southeast portion of the city to make two raids which the suspect was flushed. In the party was C. P. McClain and Frank Mitchell, state liquor control board inspectors, and Harry Leach and Raymond Land of the Lubbock police department.

When the officers sighted the

Sailors Asphyxiated When Aboard Vessel

SAN PEDRO, Calif., May 20. (AP) —Two sailors aboard the U. S. S. California were asphyxiated in the ship's fire room Thursday as the battleship was en route here from Hawaii, Capt. H. M. Bemis disclosed on its arrival today.

The dead were Earl Phillips, 29, water tender 2nd class, next of kin his wife, Mrs. Eileen Ruth Phillips, of Pasadena.

Lincoln Peter Snider, 22, fireman 3rd class, next of kin his father, Genit Snider, Anchorage, Alaska.

They and two others, John Cochran Durham, 20, and Harold Edwards, 22, remained on duty in the compartment 15 minutes during and all-hands-at-stations drill, unaware that funnel gas of a carbon monoxide nature had been drawn into the fire room by a boiler not in use, Capt. Bemis said.

Damage From Quakes Continues To Rise

EL CENTRO, Calif., May 20. (AP)—Estimates of property damage by Saturday's earthquake in the Imperial valley, which took eight lives and threatens a serious water shortage, mounted today.

In Brawley, hardest hit of the rich agricultural valley communities, City Engineer Walter Hopkins said a survey of business buildings and residences there indicated the damage would be more than $2,000,000.

Loss in the other cities, El Centro, Calexico, Imperial, Holtville, and in Mexicali, Lower Calif., will add at least another $1,000,000.

Seminole Store Is Burglarized And Burned

Damage Estimated At $8,000; Nearly $200 Said Stolen

(Special To The Avalanche)
SEMINOLE, May 20,—Sheriff and city law enforcement authorities tonight continued investigation into the burglary and burning of the Jackson Horne Grocery store here early Sunday morning, which netted intruders between $150 and $200 in cash and caused an estimated $8,000 in damages.

Any clues available apparently were destroyed by fire.

Person or persons responsible for the crime entered the grocery by prying bars off a back window and "jimmying" it open.

Had Hid Money

According to those making the investigation, the large safe at the front of the store had been out of order for the past several days and the manager had been taking the store's receipts and hiding them in a small tin box in the back of the store, the warehouse portion of the building.

The burglars entered the store, took the money from the box, replaced the empty container in its original hiding place, then fired the building.

Checks Are Saved

More than $400 in checks had been sent to Hobbs, N. M., to be cashed the previous day and only the fact that the Hobb's bank was closed kept the loot from being larger, as the cash would have been returned to the store and in all likelihood hid in the little tin box.

Officers theorized that someone who had heard of the safe's being out of order or had been looking in the rear window had noted the hiding of the money and then planned the forced entry.

Building Almost Razed

The fire was discovered about 2:15 o'clock Sunday morning, the break-in occurring possibly 10 or 15 minutes earlier.

Except for the fact that the building was of sheetrock and tin construction on the walls and roof, the store would have been completely razed. Work of the fire department in keeping the blaze under control after its discovery was praised.

Had Closed Early

The store had been closed about 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Horne, who owns stores in Hobbs and Carlsbad, N. M., started his business here about two months ago.

Little more than two weeks ago, a flash hail storm caused damage of approximately $2,000 to the business. Temporary quarters have been set up in a new building on Highway 51.

Demo Convention In Waco Will Be Short

DALLAS, May 20. (AP) — A brief state Democratic convention in Waco Tuesday of next week that should complete its business by 5 p.m. was predicted today by State Democratic Chairman E. B. Germany.

The meeting will be called to order at 10 a.m. Requests had been made by leaders of the Dallas county and other delegations that the convention start at noon, in order that district caucuses might be held in the morning. Germany said a recess will be taken during the morning to allow time for caucusing.

Where the number of delegates from a county is larger than the votes which the county casts, seats will be provided only for the number of votes.

Dobbin Stops At Red Light

(By The Associated Press)
LIMA, O., May 20—Howard Carey's horse is a lot smarter than some automobile drivers.

While Carey was delivering milk, the horse became frightened and ran a block and a half, with Carey in hot pursuit. Then the horse came to a busy intersection. The traffic light was turning red. Dobbin slid to a halt on all four.

HE HOPES TO WALK AGAIN—Appeal was made Monday by friends of Lucian Thomas, pictured in the wheel chair, for funds to send him to Kirksville, Mo., and to pay for his hospitalization. Diagnosis and surgery, if specialists deem surgery justified, will be given free. Pictured with the youth is his sister, Virginia Browning. See story below.

Tech Student Whose Legs Are Paralyzed Has Hopes Of Receiving Treatment

A YEAR ago Lucian Thomas was a healthy and looking forward to his last year in Texas Technological college.

Today, his legs paralyzed, he is experiencing his 10th month as an invalid.

Even now, however, he is eagerly anticipating an event which he hopes will develop in the next few days.

He has the opportunity for diagnosis and possibly surgery by one of the country's leading orthopedic surgeons.

The diagnosis and surgery, if surgery is deemed advisable, will be given free at the Laughlin hospital at Kirksville, Mo. The hospital expenses and other incidentals while he is there and expenses for traveling to the hospital and back to Lubbock, however, will cost approximately $300.

Lucian Thomas has not asked for money. Dozens of persons have visited him and looked after his welfare since he was injured in an automobile accident last Aug. 6 and, realizing the significance of the opportunity offered him, they are seeking funds which will make it possible for him to go to Kirksville. His parents are dead.

Mrs. J. A. Barton, president of the Rebekah class of the First Baptist church, said approximately $150 already had been made available for Thomas' trip and hospital expenses and that $150 more was needed.

May Be Willing

Belief was expressed that other persons, realizing the money might aid the youth to recover normal use of his legs, would be willing to contribute to the fund.

It was requested that contributions be sent or brought to the Avalanche-Journal, marked "For Lucian Thomas."

Young Thomas should leave Wednesday in order to take advantage of the offer. Need is immediate for response to the request for donations.

The Rebekah class already has contributed $76 and several more dollars are expected. The T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church has contributed slightly more than $13; the Gleaners class, $13.50, and the Men's Bible class of the church, $4.41. Remainder of the fund of $150 already available is made up of money saved by Thomas and his brother, Jack Thomas.

Class Gives Meals

For several months, the Rebekah class has taken one meal a day to the youth. Thomas' sister, Virginia Browning, arrived recently and is helping care for her brother. Jack

Federal Pension Plan Outlined

(By The Associated Press)
BATON ROUGE, La., May 20 — Louisiana's new chief executive, conqueror of the late Huey Long's political machine, tonight proposed that the federal government "share the wealth" by assuming the entire cost for paying equal old age pensions the nation over.

Governor Sam H. Jones asked the state Legislature at a joint session that it memoralize Congress to bear the entire burden of a maximum $30 pension for needy aged.

Must Provide Funds

The governor declared that, until the government assumes this responsibility, it was the Legislature's duty to provide sufficient state funds for carrying out his administration's pledge of a full $30 pension for Louisiana.

"Economically this nation operates as a unit," Jones said. "We of the South have paid our toll and tribute to Wall street, and we are still paying it. If wealth must be centered in one section of the nation, then let the burden of financing the legitimate governmental activities of the whole nation be likewise so centered."

Body Identified As Beaumont Salesman's

ABBEVILLE, La., May 20. (AP)—The body of a man identified as J. E. Miller, salesman of Beaumont, Tex., was found today in a shallow ditch along the paved highway near Maurice in Vermilion parish.

Dr. Robert J. Young, coroner, said Miller died of a blow on the head and that the body had been in the ditch about four days.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Miller was murdered and his body hidden by the murderer or murderers," Dr. Young said.

Midland Woman Hurt In Auto Accident

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 20 (AP)—Mrs. F. A. Brooks, 23, Midland, Tex., suffered possible fractures of the pelvis and left knee and four other persons were hurt less seriously today in an auto collision here.

Mrs. Brooks was riding in a car driven by her husband when their automobile and another operated by Harry Smith, 45, Oklahoma City, collided near a filling station. Brooks and his two children, Jimmy, 3, and Lavena, 11, suffered cuts and bruises.

RFC Moves To Help Finance U.S. Defense

Manufacturers Of Aircraft Need No Aid At Present

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 20. — The RFC offered its credit facilities to industries which lack capital for expansion necessitated by the national defense program today, while on a conference on aircraft manufacturers came official word that for the present at least they needed no help.

Jesse Jones, the RFC chairman, issued a statement saying his agency was ready to cooperate with the banks in making secured loans for national defense purposes, by taking 75 per cent of such loans or underwriting 75 per cent, leaving the bank carrying 25 per cent of the advance.

Capital Sufficient

After conferring with the nation's aircraft builders in a hurriedly summoned session, Secretary Morganthau told reporters the industry had sufficient capital, and enough skilled workers to meet the present demands of the defense situation, without sacrificing labor standards.

The development came as a surprise to some officials who had been discussing the possibility of RFC loans for the purpose of building additional plant capacity, or of having the government build new plants directly, retain ownership, and lease them to private builders. This possibility apparently remained in the long-range picture.

Cooperation Sought

"The administration and the RFC hope to have the fullest cooperation from banks in meeting whatever credit demand there may be," Jones said in a formal statement.

Meanwhile, a Congress pushing the defense appropriations through at top speed heard from Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the Republican

Old Timers Of Dawson Meet

(Special To The Avalanche)
LAMESA, May 20.—Dawson county old timers gathered 500 strong here today for their annual reunion conducted in the city park.

W. K. Crawley, pioneer banker, who was unable to attend the celebration, was re-elected president of the association of Dawson County Old Timers, which includes residents of the county of 20 years or longer. In Crawley's absence, M. C. Lindsey presided over the day's procedings.

Cape Is Vice President

Nelson Cape was named vice president in the election of new officers and Mrs. Dixie Kilgore was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Talks, old fiddling contests, spinning of yarns of the present and past and a general get-together were the themes of the reunion which paid tribute to the old settlers of the area.

Two old timers who resided in the county when it was organized March 20, 1905, were present and fiddled for the crowd. They were Jim Glaze and Jim Winslow.

Principal address of the day, a tribute to the pioneer settlers and builders of the area, their work, hardships and eventual triumphs, was delivered by Representative Alvin R. Allison of Levelland.

Many out-of-town guests were present, large numbers of persons coming from Lubbock, Slaton, Tahoka and other suurounding South Plains cities.

Nazis At Narvik Get Ready For Last Stand

STOCKHOLM, May 20. (AP)—German troops defending the Norwegian ore port of Narvik from Allied attackers tonight were reported erecting fortifications along the Narvik-Kiruna, Sweden, railroad for a last stand.

Meanwhile, Sweden denied officially that the Reich had demanded permission to pass supplies and troops through northern Sweden to aid her Narvik unit.

ITALY PREPARES AT NEW HIGH SPEED

ROME, May 20. (AP)—Italy swung her war preparations into a new high speed tonight as the feeling grew stronger in many Italian minds that her entry into the conflict merely was a matter of time.

The war department ordered three days of air raid drill and blackouts in Rome province as well as at Terni, 65 miles northeast, where great arms and munitions factories are running full blast.

Military experts said the closing of schools May 31, two weeks ahead of schedule, would make buildings available for temporary barracks if needed.

riors created a huge "sack" in which they sought to close and trap thousands of Allied soldiers.

The German high command in a special communique declared that the German warflag "is flying from the citadel of Laon" and that the Germans had advanced to the canal connecting the Oise-Aisne rivers, 6 miles southwest of Laon.

Thus, with new ground gained on the eastern edge of the German pocket in France, the Nazis were headed toward Noyon, only 50 miles north of Paris. Both Laon and Noyon were held by the Germans during most of the World war and Noyon then was destroyed by heavy bombardments.

British Airmen Damaging Nazi Supply Bases

As The Allies Tell It

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, May 20.—Britain's airmen, outnumbered but claiming superiority, plane for plane and man for man, tonight were reported doing steady damage to supply bases and communication lines of the Germans driving to channel ports for an attack on England.

An air ministry bulletin said fighter patrols of one royal air force group had brought down more than 50 Heinkels, Dorniers, Junkers and Messerschmitts Saturday and Sunday, "with less than half that number of casualties to themselves."

Explosions Set Off

A detailed account of Saturday bombings of oil storage tanks near Hanover and railway junctions at Cologne, said a "strong formation" attacked oil tanks at Misburg, and roads and bridges behind the German lines at Gembloux, Givet, Dinant and Namur on the Belgian front.

The midnight attack on the oil tanks lasted two hours and the raiders reported "at one stage in the operations seven bombs were seen to fall diagonally across the target and three big explosions immediately followed. Several huge fires were seen to break out."

Oil Tanks On Fire

The raiders said that on their way home they saw the oil tanks bombed on Friday at Bremen still were "well alight."

In the railway junction attacks, 36 bombs dropped on one point, the account said, with "several direct hits . . . causing extensive damage."

One end of a bridge over the Sambre was destroyed by a bomb. German troops on the march near Gembloux were "machinegunned and dispersed."

The air ministry said British bombers last night scored a direct hit on a railway bridge at Roux, south of Brussels; wrecked rolling stock and the railway right-of-way in Belgium, and attacked troop and

German Troops Driving Toward English Channel

As The Allies Tell It

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

PARIS, May 20—Across the northern plains of France Adolf Hitler's men in rolling armor—60,000 strong in the advance guard — battered westward tonight on a new tangent, the English channel as their goal.

The shift of direction of this steel-plated spearhead of five mechanized divisions eased the threat to Paris after the vanguard had thrust to within 80 miles of the French capital.

The new objective—besides the o -mentioned aim of bases for direct attack on the British isles — apparently was to drive an iron wedge between the main French forces defending Paris and the Brit- -Belgian-French armies in Belgium.

Would Isolate British

(Berlin reports estimated a successful drive to the sea might isolate 300,000 British soldiers on the Allied northern flank.)

Northern Allied armies were forced to drop back to intercept the threat, while the main body of French troops fought to stem the German advance. These movements recalled the "race to the sea" at the start of the World war which left the Allies in control of the channel.

Whether Germany definitely had abandoned the idea of striking at Paris remained uncertain.

(Reports reaching Basel, Switzerland, said General Maxime Weygand, new Allied generalissimo, apparently was shaping a powerful pincers counter-offensive from the

Enforcement Of Regulations Governing Livestock Transportation Soug

Means Of Combatting Thefts Of Cattle Studied By Association

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 20. (AP)—Rigorous enforcement of existing regulatory measures to control the transportation of livestock by truck, the operation of auction sales and inspecting of brands was indirectly recommended today by a special committee of the American National Livestock association as a means of combatting cattle thefts.

Releasing his report after weeks of careful study, a three-man coordinating committee of the association's committee on brand inspection and livestock thefts, said there were sufficient laws to govern the problem but that the enforcement of these regulations was "woefully lax."

"There are sufficient laws governing inspection and the movement of cattle," the report said, "but the evidence submitted indicates we are woefully lax in the enforcement of our live stock laws."

Lack Of Cooperation

"The lack of cooperation in brand inspection and livestock trucks moving interstate is decidedly in evidence.

"The industry is confronted with the rapid development of auction sales and the transportation of livestock by truck, both of which have materially complicated the regulation and control of livestock."

The coordinating group, headed by Howard Linger of Hooper, Colo., vice president of the Colorado Stock Growers association, made 15 recommendations to the full committee covering the regulation of livestock at markets, stock movements by truck, auction sales and the appointment and training of brand inspectors.

For the control of stock markets, it proposed that all brand inspection agencies be registered as a market agency under the provisions of the packers and stock yards act; that all states enact laws governing interstate movement of stock, and maintain joint or private inspectors at all public markets; that all states work for passage of uniform rules for the proper determination of ownership.

"It is apparent that not a single state has satisfactorily met the situation," he report said of the trucking problem.

As a result it proposed establishment of inspection points where the trucks would be required to unload their cargo for inspection; that state highway patrols check closer on trucks not having proper clearance; that a bill of sale from the recorded owner of the brand and inspection certificate be required, except where the owner of the recorded brand is moving stock in his own truck or accompanies a shipment in a commercial truck, in which event he must have proper inspection certificate; and that highway patrolmen and state officers be supplied with official state brand books and copies of livestock laws.

Auction sales are increasing "at an alarming rate," the report said.

In addition the coordinating committee, which represents the larger group of members from Wyoming, Montana, Nebraska, South Dakota, Nevada, Colorado, Idaho, Utah, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Washington, Oregon, Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas, also recommended:

The appointment of brand inspectors from lists submitted by state livestock associations; the provision for proper training of brand inspectors; the adoption by all states of a uniform system of compiling recorded brands; and a requirement that brands be recorded not oftener than once in five or ten years.

Child Returns Home After Eyes Removed

Minus either eye, 2-year-old Clinton Coker has been taken home from a hospital.

Glioma of the retina necessitated removal of the eyes. The baby was found to be suffering from the glioma, which is rare and found only in children, when seven weeks old. The right eye was removed in Dallas.

Following removal of the left eye, at St. Mary of the Plains hospital, radium was placed in the orbit in hope of destroying the malignant tissue. The child is recovering satisfactorily from the operation, but it cannot be determined how serious the malignancy might prove, said a physician.

Theater Steel Arrives Here

Two gigantic pieces of steel, one weighing 42,800 pounds and the other 23,000 pounds, arrived in Lubbock Monday for inclusion in the New Lindsey theater now under construction at Main street and Avenue J, according to W. G. McMillan, contractor for the building.

They were described by the contractor as being the largest and next to largest pieces of fabricated metal ever to be included in a building in this section of the state.

The larger of the two is a girder made of solid three-quarter inch steel. The girder is 73 feet long and six feet, six inches in height.

The other piece is a truss, also 73 feet long, made of 12 inch I-beams. It is approximately nine feet in height.

The truss, which was put in place Monday afternoon, will support the back of the theater balcony. The girder, which is to be hoisted into position this morning, will support the front of the balcony.

Both pieces were fabricated in Dallas. Two railroad flat cars, including one of extra-length, were required in the shipment of each of the two pieces.

Suits With Stripes For Stockholders In War Industries Are Proposed By Bishop

WASHINGTON, May 20. (U.P.)—Suits with stripes for stockholders in war industries "now launching a bloodboom," were proposed today by Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York, president of the peoples lobby.

He suggested this fashion note:

Those whose total stock holdings are under $1,000 should wear a pale pink stripe.

Those with holdings of $1,000 to $5,000 a pink stripe.

Those with huge holdings, a blood red stripe for every $1,000,000 of stock owned.

"We want to know who are privates and who are generals in the army of war profiteers," he said.

Lubbock Driver Is Honored For Safety

When leaders in the motor transportation field from the far reaches of Texas last week honored safe drivers, Ben Morris of Montgomery Transfer and Storage company, of Lubbock, came in for attention.

Morris, who competed in a contest sponsored by Texas Motor Transportation association, was given recognition at that organization's convention in Fort Worth for having driven 500,000 miles without an accident. He was one of 10 contestants who drove a total of 8,160,000 "safe" miles.

Winner in the truck division was B. F. Hardy of Waco, who had 1,350,000 safe miles. Joseph W. Powers of Uvalde was named Texas' safest bus driver, with 1,500,000 miles to his credit without a mishap.

Funeral Services For A. F. Roy Conducted

Funeral services for A. F. Roy, 59, who died Sunday night at the home of a sister, Mrs. Clarence Reed of 1820 Avenue M, were held Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Rix chapel with Rev. Jeff D. Welch, co-pastor of Central Baptist church, officiating.

Burial was in Lubbock cemetery.

Club Boys To Meet Friday

Four-H club boys of the county interested in feeding out dry lot calves for the 1941 South Plains Fat Stock show, are to meet Friday night in a district courtroom at 8 o'clock to make plans for securing calves, Monroe U. May, assistant farm agent and club leader, said Monday.

James W. Potts of College Station, assistant state club leader; K. J. Edwards, district farm agent leader; and A. L. Smith, extension service animal husbandman, are to be here and talk on feeding, May said.

Pictures taken of dry lot feeding work among club boys in this section several months ago by L. L. Johnson, club leader and Edwards, are to be shown. There will be two reels of film shown. The pictures will detail feeding operations from the feed lots to the sales ring, pictures of cattle sold at Kansas City, Mo., recently having been taken.

Agents To Attend

Agents and club boys from a number of nearby counties who are also interested in feeding have been asked to attend. Among them will be agents from Hockley, Crosby, Cochran, Terry, Yoakum, Lynn, Garza, Dickens and Kent.

May said that indications were between 20 and 25 boys or more would feed dry lot calves. A committee probably will be selected to look over calves and arrange for purchases. Should there be enough interest shown in the feeding of small groups of calves in dry lots, that plan may also be followed.

Yoakum Beer Election To Be Held Saturday

PLAINS, May 20—For the second time in a month, an election to decide on the sale of beer has been called by the Yoakum county commissioner's court and the second election will be held Saturday.

Question is on the sale of four per cent beer. At a previous election April 27, a proposal to sell 14 per cent beer was defeated.

The election was called by the commissioner's court on a petition presented to it asking for the election and containing the required number of legal signatures.

Changes In Army Of United States Cited

Capt. Frank A. Pettit, commander of the ROTC unit at Texas Technological college, told Junior Chamber of Commerce members Monday that the United States army had undergone vivid changes since it entered the last struggle in Europe.

Motorization and mechanization of forces along with the streamlining of divisions has made the army a more compact fighting unit, Pettit said. He said that for every man fighting in the field there are seven men in the service under the present setup.

In spite of the introduction of mechanized warfare, greater use of the airplane and other modern machines, the infantry always has been, is and will always be the deciding factor in any war, Capt. Pettit declared. No matter how much progress is made into enemy territory, he said, there must always be infantrymen there to hold the gains made.

Capt. Pettit discussed the European situation briefly, declaring that success of the German army depended upon rapidity of occupation of French territory and routing of the Allied army and that when the Nazis 'bog down' the tide is liable to turn as was the case in the World war.

A number of visitors and new members attended the luncheon. Out-of-town visitors included: Dick Tweed of Amarillo, H. L. Durloo of Dallas and Harry McKee of Beaumont.

Du Ponts Retire From Posts With Company

WILMINGTON, Del., May 20. (AP)—Pierre S. du Pont retired as chairman of the board and Lammot du Pont resigned as president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & company today at a session of the company's board of directors.

Lammot du Pont immediately was elected board chairman. Walter S. Carpenter, jr., a vice president was elected to the company presidency.

A company statement said Lammot du Pont had terminated his services as president because he had reached an age when he realized a younger man must soon succeed him and because he wished more leisure than the duties of the office allowed him.

WE ARE CALM

RUNNING all the way through Colonel Lindbergh's radio talk Sunday night was the warning for America to stop the "hysterical chatter of calamity and invasion that has been running rife these last few days." We suppose the tousle-haired aviator is describing a condition in the East. Ray Tucker told a Texas audience last week New Yorkers were so nervous one would think that already "Hitler was coming down the Hudson."

We wish Mr. Lindbergh could pay a visit to Lubbock. While the people we have talked to in the last few days have included military men, college professors, members of the national guard, young men of enlistment age, mothers and fathers, we have been impressed with the composure with which they discuss the future of our country. They don't fit into Mr. Lindbergh's picture.

In fact the problems that are confronting the Lubbockites at present have to do with vacations, sending little Susie and Johnny to summer camps, graduation exercises and buying wedding gifts. It seems a far cry from war hysteria although admittedly most everyone is at the radio for the latest news on developments in Europe.

COTTON MATERIALS

NATIONAL Cotton week brings to mind once more that cotton has long since come into its own as an attractive, cool and wearable material. That cotton is versatile in use as well as weave and design is illustrated in the many cotton play suits, evening frocks, sports wear, lingerie and shoes displayed in Lubbock stores.

Sports dresses are made from tissue gingham, dotted swiss, voile, lace and chambray. Lines for the frocks include pockets, tiny puffed sleeves or straight sleeves and full skirts. One blue chambray is woven to give a moire effect with a collar of white eyelet embroidery organdy.

Lacy patterns in the thinner materials give a cool feeling to the wearer. The old-standby, the shirtwaist, is seen in the cotton lace dresses.

A popular material for evening frocks is waffle pique. A vari-colored plaid jumper frock with long sleeved all-over tucked organdy blouse wins favor with the younger girls. For complete femininity a sheer seersucker of flowered cotton with ribbon trim is worn. The ribbon is run through beading around the neck.

As old-fashioned as a hack and as lovely as a summer night is the evening dress of white starched organdy with rows and rows of navy rick-rack. The neckline is square and the ribbon and beading trim is used.

White eyelet pique frocks with American trim, red, white and blue, are made on full-skirted lines with the waist high under the bosom.

Play suits are worn at the swimming pool, on picnics, to the grocery store and at home for afternoon naps. They are made with short skirts that come just above the knee and tiny tops that leave the midriff bare. Lastex material is used to make the lines more form fitting.

One suit has a wrap-around skirt that may be reversed from blue to rose. Blue and rose cotton sandals may be purchased to match this costume.

Stylists have not forgotten hats in this universal use of cotton. They are made of pique, sturdy gingham and have brims that tie at the back of the neck and no crowns.

Some are mesh snoods that have huge bows on top.

Lingerie in cotton with lace or eyelet embroidery trim, is washable and cool, as all the cotton costumes. This is one of the points in favor of cotton.

Housecoats have long since been been made of cotton. One model is designed with tiers for the skirt with rick-rack braid at each seam. Another is white organdy, this for a fussier dresser, with elbow-length sleeves and ruffles for trimming. Night gowns are made from floral materials and are grand for summer nights.

Knee-length shorts and slacks are not termed with play-suits. They are darker colors and are worn with vivid colored blouses. The newest is the knee-length slack which looks like last year's slacks with the cuff turned up inches higher.

Not only are mother, sister and daughter wearing cotton for morning, afternoon and night but father and brother wear cotton slacks for golf and picnicking.

As long as cotton is a crop of our state and nation and it furnishes such comfort women of America will wear it.

DEAR Woman's Angle: Usually when one gives a gift for a bride-to-be one does like some acknowledgment before a year or more has gone by. Such happened to me and my little gift to a quite sophisticated bride.

WORTHY CAUSE

WE'D like to call the attention of our readers to the story of Lucas Thomas on page 1. Last year prior to our vacation we read of the accident that left young Thomas, a promising agricultural senior, paralyzed. In the quick time that it takes a car to overturn, in that short an instant, was fate to step in and turn the trick.

This smiling young man, brave in the face of almost overwhelming odds, has not complained we have been informed by his friends. An orphan, he has not railed against his fate but instead has given courage to those who have associated with him.

He is not asking for funds to pay his expenses to Kirksville, Mo., where surgery that may enable him to walk will be performed without cost, if diagnosis shows it advisable. But his friends are asking for him. Somehow we believe that Lubbock that contributes to the Red Cross, to Flood relief, to foreign missions will in this hour come to the aid of a youth who is one of their own.

Episcopal Circles Are To Disband

Programs presented at meetings of women's church societies Monday afternoon varied from book reviews to Bible lessons, mission studies and devotional periods. St. Paul's Episcopal auxiliary met in units for the last time until fall. However, activities for the week for the women include a day of sewing at Seaman hall Wednesday and a rummage sale Saturday.

Fifty-nine women attended a meeting of the First Methodist W.M.S. at the church. Mrs. E. A. Tipton presided for the program which was a completion of the study of "Homeland Harvest" (Limonze).

Mrs. Jack Stone discussed "Friends and Assets." Mrs. Nathan White talked on "Unity in Action and Cooperation in Government Projects." Mrs. L. G. West discussed "In Black and White" and Mrs. Joe Bowman discussed the church unions since 1906. Dr. O. P. Clark gave echoes of the first general conference and pronounced a benediction.

Mrs. Mills Give Review

Mrs. R. A. Mills reviewed the current favorite, "How Green Was My Valley" (Llewelyn) at a luncheon meeting of the First Christian Woman's council at the church annex attended by seventy persons.

Mesdames J. H. Eubank and C. E. Wright sang "All Through the Night," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. T. L. Payne and Mary Sue Tyson furnishing violin obligato.

St. John's Circles

Two circles of St. John's Women's Missionary Society were reported. Mary Louella Dunn unit met at the home of Mrs. D. D. Cross with members of the Maud Keith Horn circle as guests. Mrs. C. E. Love led a devotion on "Strength Comes With the Task."

Mrs. J. C. Meredith, accompanied by Mrs. David S. Martin, sang "My Task." Mrs. C. C. Jobson discussed Methodist mission work in Manchuria.

Mrs. Luther Kirk on behalf of the circle presented gifts to Mrs. Meredith who is moving to Abilene and to Mrs. Donald Stevens who is going to Oklahoma City to live.

Seventeen women were present.

Mrs. Peticolas Teacher

Mrs. W. M. Peticolas taught a Bible study at a meeting of the Calvary Baptist Minnie Moore circle with Mrs. Joe Cooley, 1515 Twenty-seventh street. Thirteen women were present.

Episcopal Units Meet

Unit 1 of St. Paul's church met with Mrs. Raymond Shook with nine present. Mrs. Raymond George presided for a business session. Plans were made for the rummage sale.

Mrs. Roscoe Wilson was hostess to Unit 2 with ten in attendance. Mrs. E. L. Richards presided for a business meeting. Mrs. M. V. Gray discussed church altars and Mrs. C. C. Crenshaw, jr., described the Washington cathedral.

Two Asbury Circles

Kitty Bonds circle of the Asbury Methodist WMS met with Mrs. Arch Harper for a business session presided over by Mrs. W. D. Kelly. A picnic for families was planned for June 21 at Mackenzie State park. Fifteen members were present.

Mary Martha circle met with Mrs. M. L. Eagle with eight members and four visitors in attendance. Mrs. E. M. Lovelace led a devotion. Later the circle joined other groups at the church to present Mrs. Bert Powell with a shower of miscellaneous gifts.

First Baptist Circles

First Baptist WMS circle meetings were reported as follows:

Elsie Clor, Mrs. Creek Brown, hostess: Bible study completed; six members present.

Ann Judson, Mrs. J. H. Wise, hostess: six members and one visitor present; Mrs. J. F. Hankins taught Bible lesson.

Lottie Moon, Mrs. W. E. Twitty, hostess; six members present; Mrs. C. P. Edwards, teacher.

Louise Langston, Mrs. J. A. Fortenberry, hostess, four present; Mrs. W. L. Pattillo taught Bible lesson.

Christine Coffee, Mrs. G. R. Kennedy, hostess; nine members and one visitor present; Mrs. C. F. Litton taught Bible study.

Annie Jenkins Sallee, Mrs. J. W. Mallory, hostess; 12 present; Mrs. Herbert Ralls taught lesson.

Have Double Study

Elizabeth Truly, Mrs. Morris Cox, hostess; seven present, including two new members; Mrs. W. I. Pittman taught mission lesson and Mrs. Jackson West directed Bible study; covered dish luncheon planned for June 6.

Lucile Reagan, Mrs. J. A. Barton, hostess; Mrs. G. V. Pardue taught Bible lesson.

Elkin Lockett, Mrs. J. A. Mullins, hostess; four present; Bible study taught by Mrs. J. K. Miller.

Blanche Groves, Mrs. A. W. Jackson, hostess; six present; Mrs. Claude Key teacher for Bible study.

Lilly Hundley, met at activities center; nine present; Mrs. William Lowrimore taught Bible lesson.

Blanche Rose Walker, Mrs. R. J. Williams, hostess; nine present; Mrs. W. H. Trice taught Bible lesson.

DRAMATIC PRINT—Winged air mail letters in column formation pattern this striped rayon dress. It's one of the new Sky Flight Prints dramatizing aviation motifs; the perfectly simple sort of dress that serves as backlog for a summer wardrobe. Turban and bag are in matching print.

Mrs. Barnes Talks To Club Women, Girls

"Personality Through Clothes" was the theme of a talk given by Mrs. Dora Barnes of College Station, extension speciality in clothing, at the First Baptist church Saturday afternoon.

She said personality is the quality of being somebody or is leadership which is built day by day. Using the letters in the word "charm," Mrs. Barnes explained personality as being cheerful, courageous, courteous, honest, happy, healthy, having hobbies, being ambitious, appreciative, having ability to do things, being reliable, having manners and morals and being desirous of making "the best better."

Before making a clothing purchase, she suggested that one should ask herself the questions, "Am I buying satisfaction?" "Am I buying style?" and "Am I getting my money's worth?"

Thirty-four 4-H club girls and 32 home demonstration women were present.

Jerline Wallace Weds At Home Of Sister

Miss Jerline Wallace, daughter of Mrs. W. M. Wallace of Frederick, Okla., and Wilford T. Pratt of Seagraves were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. T. C. McCall, in Slaton.

The altar was decked with pink sweetpeas and smilax and at either side were floor baskets of gladioli. Pink larkspur and mock orange blossoms were placed about the house.

The bride wore a blue redingote suit with dusty rose accessories and white carnations. Her attendant was her niece, Miss Betty McCall of Slaton. George Holton of Slaton was best man.

Out-of-town guests were the bride's mother and Miss Velois Wright of Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Williams of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Sid Clark.

After a short trip, the couple will be at home in Seagraves where Mr. Pratt is in the insurance business.

DAR Has Installation And Program Hour

Nancy Anderson chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Robert W. Wright, 2522 Twenty-second street. Mrs. R. E. McDonald presided for installation of the following officers.

Regent, Miss Margaret Turner; vice-regent, Mrs. O. D. Hargis; secretary, Mrs. M. B. Hilburn; treasurer, Mrs. R. T. Bucy; historian, Mrs. W. M. Craig; librarian, Miss Elizabeth West; registrar, Mrs. Clyde P. Elkins.

Officers and committee chairmen gave reports. Mrs. Leroy T. Patton, retiring vice-regent, presided in the absence of Mrs. Clarence S. Mast, who is visiting relatives in Ohio.

Mrs. Wright lectured on the American way in amusements and conducted a quiz in which Mesdames William Dingus, Bucy McDonald, Robert J. Allen, Craig and Roscoe Wilson participated.

Mesdames J. S. Penney and R. V. Kimmel were co-hostesses with Mrs. Wright during a social hour. Twenty women were present.

Miss McGlasson Is To Marry Jim Norman

PLAINVIEW, May 20, (Special)—Miss Margaret Ann McGlasson and Jim Norman, both of this city, have planned their wedding for June 22 at the First Baptist church with Rev. Walter P. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. The date was told at a tea given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. H. V. Tull, jr., Mrs. Virgil Winn and Mrs. Lowing officers:

Miss McGlasson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McGlasson and is a former student of Texas Technological college where she was majoring in business administration. She was an officer in Ko Shari social club.

Mr. Norman, son of Mrs. Fannie Norman of this city, is court reporter for the 64th Judicial district.

Ko Shari Club Has Sunday Luncheon

New members of the Ko Shari social club at Tech college and pledges entertained with a luncheon Sunday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock at Hotel Lubbock as a courtesy to other members.

Spring flowers were featured in table decorations and place cards. Each new member sat next to her "big sister."

Favors were small silver loving cups inscribed with "K. S., 1940."

Program Is Given

Talks were made by Miss Virginia Kennedy, last year's rush captain, and Miss Frances Gary, secretary. Graduating members gave a program and pledges sang club songs.

Special guests were the sponsors, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Holden, Mrs. John E. Harding and Miss Dorothy Rylander.

Members present were Misses Elray Lewis, Ruby Nell Smith, Pauline Barrier, Freddie Boswell, Jeanette Cole, Jeanne Draper, Mary Gaither, Doris Lee Gore, Winnie Jo Hooser, Vondee Lewis, Emily Ann Mack, Evelyn Patty, Mary Louise Tinkler, Janice Thompson, Patsy Wharton, Agnes Rowley, Brunette Beard, Merle Sellers, Gary, Elizabeth Sears, Marguerite Brannen, Jane Brownfield, Mary Louise Butcher, Jimmie Faye Compton, Milton Joyce, Peggy Lovelady, Virginia Pearson, Ruth Tinkler, Mary Helen Vestal, Beverly Wade, Mary June Walter, Georgia Sue Wharton, Vivian Wharton and Nancy Vyola Wood.

Pledges attending were Misses Nettie Belle Batton, Doris Brotherson, Joanne Cox, Frances Gordon, Earlene Jones, Lucille Kirkpatrick, Ruth Loflin, Aurelia McDonald, Jerry McElheny, Wanda June Williams and Helen Rosenquest.

Emmarie Gibbs Is Wed To Advertising Man

ABILENE, May 20 (Special) — The marriage of Miss Emmarie Adine Gibbs, graduate of Texas Technological college and airway hostess, to David Harvey Echols, both of Dallas, took place Saturday afternoon in the Abilene Woman's club. Rev. C. A. Long of St. Paul's Methodist church read a ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, C. A. Gibbs, and her attendant was her sister, Chestine Gibbs. Dr. Douglas Edwards of San Angelo was best man.

Mrs. Echols is an honor graduate of Texas Technological college where she was voted a college beauty. She has been a hostess with the Braniff Airways for the past year. Mr. Echols who is vice-president of the Grant Advertising company is a graduate of the University of Texas where he was affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

The couple will be at home in Dallas.

Showers Are Reported On Plains Sunday

Light cotton showers were reported Monday as falling over the weekend, most of the rainfall being to the north and east.

Hale Center received the heaviest amount, three quarters of an inch. The moisture is expected to help wheat where it fell but the territory covered was not large. Wheat is at a critical stage according to grain men, and needs good rains in order for heads to be well filled.

State experiment sub-station here reported .33 of an inch before 7 o'clock Sunday morning, which, added to .17 of an inch Friday night, made the month's total a half inch. May average rainfall is 2.35 inches. Sunday maximum temperature was 77 degrees, with minimum of 50 degrees Sunday and Monday.

Santa Fe dispatchers gave rainfall as follows for the week-end: Tulia, eighth or an inch; Kress, sixteenth; Plainview, half; Floydada, quarter; Hale Center, three quarters; Abernathy, half; Idalou, tenth; Ralls, quarter; Crosbyton, quarter; Anton, quarter; Littlefield, half.

Fort Worth & Denver City reported a shower at Sterley and a heavier fall at Plainview.

Reservists Are Called To Colors By Eire

DUBLIN, May 20. (U.P.)—The Eire government said today that it had called certain classes of reservists to the colors over the weekend because "in the present circumstances the government decided that this action was necessary to strengthen the defense forces."

It was disclosed that yesterday police found a group of men drilling between Castle Connell and Newport on the county limerick-county tipporary border. They arrested 40 or 50 who were carrying firearms.

Wage-Hour Division's Subpoenaing Rapped

CHICAGO, May 20. (U.P.)— Montgomery Ward and company today challenged the authority of the federal wage and hour division to subpoena records at the firm's Kansas City, Mo., plant to check possible violations of the wage-hour enactment.

In arguments before the sixth U. S. circuit court of appeals, counsel for the company labeled the subpoena as "unreasonable and unconstitutional."

Lubbock Shriners To Attend Amarillo Meet

L. D. Thomas, Lubbock trip chairman for the on-to-Amarillo delegation from South Plains Shrine club to Khiva temple's silver anniversary celebration today, said approximately 30 Shriners from this section would go.

R. P. Fuller is one of three candidates for the annual ring award. His campaign is being managed by Thomas.

The South Plains Shrine club's drum and bugle corps will have a special place in the parade tomorrow afternoon. Fred Higbee, director, said the following members planned to make the trip: Ed Allen, Fred Ellison, L. R. Rampy, R. W. Amick, Warren Mauldin, C. R. Duncan, Louie F. Moore, W. E. Lavender, R. H. Chipley A. D. Montgomery, Guy Casey, I. A. Stephens, Vernice Ford, and W. O. McCullough.

Other Lubbock Shriners planning to make the trip include: Morris Levine, Roy McAllister, Parker Prouty, Chas. A. Guy, DeWitt Landis, Homer Grant, Sam C. Arnett, A. B. Brown, C. E. Maedgen and Wm. H. Meador.

Thomas asked that any Shriner who did not have a ride to Amarillo may get one by calling his store at 1011 Main street early this morning. A large number of the Shriners will leave from Thomas' store.

The Christian Endeavor society was founded in Portland, Me., in 1881.

Recruiting May Be Begun Soon

Recruiting of men for practically all branches of the U. S. army is expected to be open the latter part of the week and meantime the Lubbock recruiting office is accepting men and sending them to Fort Bliss for concentration until actual work is announced, Sgt. E. O. Slater said Monday afternoon.

Men are wanted to fill expected vacancies in the cavalry, infantry, field and coast artillery and air corps, as well as quartermaster and clerical positions.

Kept At Post

Excellent opportunities will be available for men in the air corps, Slater said. Last fall more than 130 men enlisted through the Lubbock office for that branch of the service and a number of them have made rapid advancement in the service since then.

There is a need for men with mechanical experience. Opportunities for learning radio, photography, welding and machine work of many kinds, and other technical work in aviation are to be had.

Formal order to open recruiting is expected at any time. Men who arrive at Fort Bliss prior to the time of the order's receipt will be kept at the army post until they complete their enlistment.

CREDITS RECOMMENDED

PLAINS—Four and a half additional credits of affiliation with the state department of education have been approved for the Plains high school by E. Esten Day, deputy state superintendent of schools. One credit each was for general mathematics, bookkeeping and commercial law and one and a half for vocational agriculture.

Hubbers Bow To Pioneers, 1-4 To Open Series

(Special To The Avalanche)

CLOVIS, N. M., May 20.—A pitcher named Hewitt sawed the Lubbock Hubbers off with four hits here tonight as the Clovis Pioneers took the champions, 4 to 1, in the series opener.

Lefty Andy Sandretto pitched airtight baseball for Lubbock except in the sixth and seventh innings, giving up two runs in each frame.

Engle Doubles, Scores

Lubbock marked first, getting its lone run in the second inning when Manager Charley Engle slammed out a two-bagger, advanced on Catcher Johnny Richards' short single, scored on Sandretto's single.

Otherwise, Ben Drake's double constituted Lubbock's hitting for the evening.

Clovis scored in the sixth when Johnny Stone tripled, came in on Hack Harrison's single which he stretched to two bases. Steiner singled, scoring Harrison. In the seventh, Powell singled, moved to third on Hunt's single. Adkins walked, moving up Hunt, and Stone lined out a bingle to score the runners.

The teams conclude the series Tuesday night.

Women's Southern Medal Goes To Carolina Matron

MRS. ESTELLE LAWSON PAGE . . . . captures Women's Southern medal at Fort Worth.

By FELIX B. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, May 20.—Genial Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page burned par and an illustrious field in a wind-harried round of 74 to capture medalist honors of the Women's Southern golf association here today.

One under par and unlucky at that, the Chapel Hill, N. C., woman, holder of the National title in 1937, finished two strokes ahead of National Champion Betty Jameson of San Antonio, and again started pursuit of a title she has never won.

Calm, deliberate play that branched into the spectacular because of split-the-pin iron shots enabled Mrs. Page to card 36-38—74, one under women's par. A magnificent start, four consecutive pars and a grand eagle three on the 450-yard fifth, gave her the momentum to a round marred only by an out of bounds shot on the thirteenth.

Betty Jameson Falters

Over the fifth the North Carolinian belted two great shots to the green and cooly dunked an eight foot putt for her eagle. She missed the seventh green on her iron second to register a bogie five, but then parred the eighth and ninth for her 36.

A hooked tee shot sent her out of bounds on the thirteenth, but she recovered for a bogie five and then took up the slack by dropping a birdie two on the fifteenth. Only once was she out of the fairway off the tee.

On four different occasions Mrs. Page's putts from six feet and less refused to drop.

Miss Jameson, definitely on her game again after a lapse which has brought defeat in eight of the nine tourneys she has played since winning the National title, was a study in accuracy until the final two holes. Needing two pars to tie Mrs. Page's 74, Betty took three shots from the edge of the seventeenth and then trapped her third shot on the 444-yard eighteenth, blasting out for a bogie six.

Mrs. Goldthwaite Off Form

The finest comeback and the best nine-holes of the day was recorded by slender Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta, Ga., youngster with the sound swing. Out in 42 after straying far and wide in the rather brisk wind, she carded six pars and three birdies for 35 on the home nine and her third ranking 77.

Defending Champion Marion Miley, bothered constantly by a unruly driver that sent tee shots sailing to the right, struggled with her long game and finally finished with 38-42—80. But she was two shots better off than the hometown favorite, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, who was shockingly off her game on her home course with 42-40—82. She bruised her hand on the twelfth hole when her follow through on a difficult shot out of the rough on the twelfth hole sent her hands into the bark of a tree.

Hury Shoots 85

Tomorrow's first round matches gave the favorites easy going in most instances. The veteran Mrs. Dave Gaut, who today made a gallant comeback on the final nine holes to score an 85 and make the championship flight, starts her twenty seventh consecutive Southern tournament in a first round match against Mrs. Robert Monsted of New Orleans, a young and promising player, who scored 88 in the medal round.

Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio, the attractive blond with the tremendous wood game who only two weeks ago lost the Texas title to Mrs. Goldthwaite, was paired against Polly Riley, brilliant teen age prospect from Fort Worth. Mrs. Hury wandered far and wide on the final nine today and finished with 85.

Gold Sox Thump Loboes, 5 To 2

(Special To The Avalanche)

AMARILLO, May 20. — Lefty Millispaugh, last year Gold Sox in the early part of the season, walked six men which coupled with an error and an infield out with the bases full gave Amarillo three runs on no hits in the first frame here tonight.

And although the Loboes got excellent relief hurling from the veteran Red Lucas, the Gold Sox went on to win the ball game, 5 to 2. Pulenwider, Sox centerfield, hit a homer for Amarillo in the fifth with none on.

Chester Hill hurled great ball for the winners, not a hit being made off him until the sixth inning when Beeler beat out an infield grounder. He gave up three singles in the eighth, the inning in which Lamesa scored her runs.

Helwig Shoots Ace In Tourney

Regardless of any pre-tournament favorite, Bill Helwig, a veteran shot-maker from the Lubbock Country Club, is the current championship favorite in the annual Texas Tech Faculty golf tournament now in progress at the Meadowbrook course. Helwig thundered into the spotlight yesterday when he blistered the course with a 37-33—70 to eliminate Maurice J. Erickson, 4 and 3.

Follows Ace With Birdie

Not only did Helwig shoot even par to erase Erickson but he tossed fear into the other championship contenders by shooting a hole-in-one. Helwig made his ace on the 185-yard, par 3, 12th hole. He used a No. 4 iron and spanked the shot into a stiff wind. The ball hit within inches of the cup, rolled over, peeped in, and then fell in. Just to prove he was hitting his shots, Helwig got a birdie three on the 13th. By this time he had Erickson swinging on the ropes and out.

In the other championship match played yesterday, Cecil Horne entered the semifinals by eliminating C. A. Galbraith, 5 and 2. Horne was hotter than a Big Bertha with his drives and chip shots. He moved along in par figures.

Davis Beats Heineman

In the semi-final matches, Helwig will meet Bill Parker and Horne will battle F. L. McRee.

In the first flight yesterday J. W. Davis beat E. R. Heineman in a close one-up match that was determined on the final green.

Pairings Announced For "Ladies Day"

Mrs. Gordon Cranmer is to be hostess for "ladies day" activities at Lubbock Country club tomorrow, and all women of the club who plan to attend the 12:30 luncheon are asked to telephone her, or Mrs. Charles Akey at the club, by 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Prize will be awarded for outstanding putting on the back nine of the Country club course, play to begin in the afternoon. The golfers are to play in threesomes, as follows:

Mesdames E. A. Henry, M. M. Brown and Charles Akey; Lee Hubby, T. E. Patterson and P. L. McRee; C. L. Dean, W. L. Morrison and W. P. Eisenberg; Homer Hall, Fenner Tubbs and M. L. Waldrop, Jr.; George Pierce, Bob Crawofrd and M. K. Dean; Guy L. McAfee, Wright Kerr and J. W. Heilhecker; Gordon Cranmer, Cliff Widener and C. E. Dean, and one twosome, Mrs. W. P. Helwig and Miss Ruth Ford.

Cleveland Turns On Yanks For 10-2 Win

CLEVELAND, May 20 (AP) — The Indians turned loose to the southpaw jinx on the New York Yankees again today in the person of Al Smith and scored their second straight triumph over the world champions 10 to 2. Smith shut out the Yanks on one hit till the ninth when he gave two more. Jeff Heath made two homers to lead a 17-hit tribal barrage. The defeat returned the Yanks to the American League cellar.

Hank Hausman Wins Texas Trapshoot

HOUSTON, May 20 (AP)—H. A. (Hank) Hausman of La Grange won the singles championship of the Texas Trapshooters association when his score of 199 stood up under the assault of the last few squads of shooters today.

Hausman finished the 200 singles yesterday but the field was so big the event had to be carried over today.

Forest W. McNeir of Houston was second with 197. He won the event by forfeit, as R. A. King, sr., of Wichita Falls, who also had 197, left for home yesterday, and thus passed up the shoot-off.

The high over-all professional was H. F. Ehler of San Antonio with 682.

THIS WAS BACK WHEN—IT'S ALL OVER NOW—What was generally thought to be one of the "perfect romances" has come to an end. Today's news that Jack Dempsey, hero of millions and Mrs. Dempsey, the former Hannah (Cheerful-Little-Earful) Williams, had separated, constitutes a sort of a "major upset" in the sports world and vernacular. Above picture of the Dempseys was made about the time Jack Dempsey came to Lubbock to referee a boxing card in 1934. At the time he was so busy anticipating a blessed event—first of two for the Dempseys—and praising the mother-to-be that boxing was farthest from the Manassa Mauler's mind.

Broadway's "Ideal" Marriage On Rocks; Jack Dempseys Separate

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—Jack Dempsey and his third wife, the former Hannah Williams, one-time musical comedy star, have parted and the "Cheerful Little Earful" may sing again on Broadway.

The announcement of the formal separation—normally a prelude to divorce action—was made late in the day by Mrs. Dempsey's attorney, Moses Polakoff, with the remark; "I guess incompatability would cover it."

He added that affairs were being adjusted "amicably," and that all arrangements would be made after the return to New York next week of the former heavyweight boxing champion.

Back To Spotlight

Nothing was said as to custody of the two children—Joan Hannah, 5, and Barbara Judith, 3—to whom Miss Williams used to sing the song that made her famous, "Cheerful Little Earful." She herself was not available, but acquaintances said it was likely that she would resume her career as a night-club singer.

In the seven years since her marriage to Dempsey in Elko, Nevada, shortly after her divorce from Roger Wolfe Kahn, she had made no public appearances save for a two-week period in the musical "Hooray For What" and perhaps two or three microphone talks with her husband.

The marriage was long celebrated along Broadway as "ideal" because of its apparently assured success. Miss Williams, who for years had seemed content to leave the spotlight for good, once remarked that her hopes were centered about the possibility of bringing up four children.

Dempsey himself now has wide business interests.

Harry Jeffra Takes Featherweight Title

BALTIMORE, May 20 (AP)—Harry Jeffra of Baltimore settled his personal grudge with Joey Archibald tonight by belting out a 15-round decision over the Providence, R. I., fighter in a bout billed as a battle for the world's featherweight championship.

Jeffra scored by a wide margin and won a unanimous decision that was cheered loudly by a capacity crowd of 4,500 in the Coliseum. Jeffra weighed 123 1-2 and Archibald 122.

The Maryland and New York boxing commissions recognized Jeffra, former bantamweight champion, as the new king of the featherweight division.

Sixto Escobar, Puerto Rican who took the bantam crown from Jeffra, challenged the winner. Escobar is now campaigning as a featherweight.

National Open Parade Of Golfers To Begin Monday

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—A total of 1,136 golfers will tee off next Monday at 25 sites in the 36-hole qualifying round of the National Open tournament, and by nightfall the list of eligibles will have been reduced to 139, plus the 31 players automatically exempt from the sectional trials.

The entry list of 1,167 is the sixth largest in history. The tournament proper will be held June 6-8, at the Canterbury club near Cleveland.

Players exempt included the 30 low scorers and ties for 30th, plus the home club pro. Thirty-two were eligible for exemption this year, but Denny Shute, loser in a playoff for the title last year, is out of competition because of a wrist operation.

The number of entries in each section, with the number of qualifying places included: Oklahoma City, 33-4; Fort Worth, 49-5.

New Nazi Weapon Is Doubted By Experts

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP) — Brigadier General L. D. Gasser, deputy chief of staff, declared today that the war department was quite satisfied Germany had no secret weapon such as a "nerve gun" or other device.

His statement was made to the House military committee in response to an inquiry inspired by the German high command's recent report that a new type of weapon had enabled the Nazis to capture Eben Emael, described as the strongest fort in Belgium's liege defenses.

Neutral military attaches at Berne, Switzerland, expressed belief subsequently that the new weapon claimed by the Germans might be a gas which affected the nerves of those inhaling it and produced lassitude.

Road Program May Be Dropped

AUSTIN, May 20 (U.P.) — County officials and citizen-delegations here in large numbers today to ask for road projects were told by Texas Highway Commissioner R. L. Bobbit that the 1942-43 road program mapped for Texas may have to be dropped.

Bobbitt said that all federal funds that have been authorized for Texas have been covered completely by programs already adopted by the highway department and will be placed under contract by August 1, 1940.

"If Congress makes the appropriation as approved by past legislation we will have available approximately $13,000,000, all of which has been earmarked to specific projects," Bobbit said. "We should have these projects under contract by Feb. 15, 1941. Unless Congress passes additional legislation for federal aid to highways, we will not have a federal program for 1942-43."

Bobbitt said the Texas commission was willing to face such a situation if needs of national defense require it.

Some prospect of military roads was held out. Bobbitt said Texas has more military training camps than any other state and these with its long international boundary may result in military road appropriations.

Red Army Given Savage Beating

LEESVILLE, La., May 20. (AP) — Major General Walter Krueger's game but outnumbered red army today took a savage hammering from the opposing blue army, defending Louisiana in the army's greatest maneuvers.

The last big battle of the third army's mock war began before daylight. Outnumbered three to one, as red army headquarters put it, General Krueger's troops threw everything they had into the fray trying to halt the 45,000 men on the other side. Six- and three-inch guns, airplanes, tanks, mechanized cavalry and thousands of infantrymen were engaged in the effort to stop the westward advance of the enemy.

Demolition of roads and bridges with simulated TNT was carried out.

Generals Look On

Watching Krueger's tactics against the superior force were ranking generals of the army, wanting to see what highly-mechanized and motorized troops such as the red corps can do against superior numbers.

The visitors included Lieut. Gen. John L. DeWitt, commanding the fourth army and the ninth corps area, San Francisco; Brig. Gen. Philip B. Peyton, commandant of the war college, Washington; Maj. Gen. W. S. Key, commanding the 46th division of the Oklahoma National guard; Brig. Gen. L. A. Ledbetter, adjutant general of the Oklahoma guard, and Brig. Gen. H. H. Richardson, adjutant general of the Colorado National guard.

The battle in progress may not be decided for several days.

Thirteen Casualties

Camp Beauregard, La., May 20 (AP) The twelfth and thirteenth fatalities in connection with the army maneuvers were recorded today.

Private Andrew Kasarda, of Throop, Pa., died of injuries received when a car overturned Friday night.

Private Eugene Flauraud, Fort Totten, N. Y., drowned yesterday while in swimming.

Speakers For Cotton Congress Announced

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP) — Texas cotton leaders announced today that four agriculture department officials, among them assistant Secretary Grover Hill, had agreed to speak at the first annual cotton research congress, to be held in Waco, Tex., June 27, 28 and 29.

Selection of the dates and speakers was made by Burris Jackson of Hillsboro, Chairman of the Texas state-wide cotton committee, which is sponsoring the congress, and Mayor L. T. Murray of Waco, who also is manager of the Texas Cotton association.

Besides Hill, others to speak will be Dr. Henry G. Knight, chief of the bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering; Dr. H. W. Barre, chief of the cotton division of the bureau of plant industry; and L. A. Wheeler, director of foreign agricultural relations of the department.

SIDEWALK PROGRAM

LEVELLAND—The City of Levelland is sponsoring a sidewalk building program for residents that is expected to result in a great improvement for the town. Cost will be approximately 40 cents per front foot.

Dean, Bryant, Gomez Seek Arm Treatments

BALTIMORE, May 20. (AP)—Three big-league flingers, their baseball careers threatened by ailments affecting their salary whips, were in Baltimore today to find out what Dr. George Bennett could do to put them on the come-beak trail.

From the Chicago Cubs came Ol' Dizzy Dean and Clay Bryant and from the New York Yankees was Lefty Gomez.

Dr. Bennett said it would be several days before he would complete his examination.

New Mile Record Is Set In AAU Meet

DENTON, May 20 (AP) — Joe Wood of Buckner's Orphans home, Dallas, Texas Interscholastic mile champion, was clocked in 4 minutes, 26.5 seconds over his favorite distance in the junior division of the District A.A.U. track and field meet here tonight. It was the fastest mile ever run in Texas by a high school boy.

The senior division competition is scheduled for tomorrow night under the supervision of Coach Choc Sportsman of North Texas Teachers' college.

BROWNFIELD RANKS HIGH

BROWNFIELD—The Brownfield postoffice ranked 96th out of 220 second class postoffices in Texas in total sales of postal savings for last year, James Harley Dallas, postmaster, said. Amount sold was $17,006.25.

SET REUNION DATE

CROSBYTON.—August 15 and 16 are the dates set for the annual West Texas Old Settlers reunion at Hank Smith park near here. Many thousands of persons are expected. Plans will be started at a meeting in Floydada May 28.

New Trial For Texas Negro Under Sentence For Criminal Attack Indic

Confession Is Under Probe

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP) — The Supreme court indicated today that Bob White, Polk county, Tex., negro, under sentence to die for criminally attacking a white woman, would be granted a new trial.

After counsel for the state had concluded argument in support of the jury's verdict and death sentence, Chief Justice Hughes said the court would not hear further argument from F. S. K. Whittaker of Houston, Tex., counsel for the condemned negro. Such action by the court usually means victory for the litigant who is not further heard.

Only One Question

Whittaker earlier had related details of the crime and the arrest of White, asserting the assault victim had failed to identify him.

Lloyd W. Davidson, appearing for the state, insisted the only question before the court was whether a confession had been obtained improperly. Only in such event, he said, could there be any constitutional question of due process involved.

The high court reversed White's conviction last March 25 after previously denying a petition for a review on November 13. Texas then sought a rehearing of the reversal.

The negro was found guilty by a jury in the Montgomery county district court.

New Strategy For Allies Seen

By LOUIS P. KEEMLE
United Press Cable Editor

Appointment of Gen. Maxine Weygand to the Allied high command and Winston Churchill's speech to the empire indicate the new course of Allied stratedy.

The Allies are out not only to stop the Germans in their tracks in the present furious blitzkrieg, but for the first time to take the offensive against Hitler and drive him back.

Britain's fighting prime minister expressed it in these words:

"The armies must cast away the idea of resisting attack behind concrete lines or natural obstacles and must realize that mastery can only be regained by furious and unrelenting assault."

Hatred For Britain

Churchill knows that Hitler's hatred is directed primarily against Great Britain. Since the start of the war, Hitler has been trying to drive a wedge between the two Allies and to wean France from Britain.

The furious drive for Paris of the last few days suggests the plan Hitler may have in mind. If it succeeds, and the French are facing ultimate defeat, he might offer France a separate armistice.

Then he could serve an ultimatum on Britain, calling for surrender under threat of a frightful mass bombardment of her cities. The British have information of the amazing strength of Hitler's air force, which has been shown only in part in operations so far.

France, however, has shown not the slightest inclination to compromise or to abandon Britain. Churchill apparently has tried to make that doubly sure in consultations with French leaders. He said in his speech:

Assurances Received

"I have received from the chiefs of the French republic, and in particular from its indomitable prime minister, M. Reynaud, the most sacred pledges that, whatever happens, they will fight to the end, be it bitter or be it glorious."

The appointment of Gen. Weygand, considered France's greatest military technician, was heartening to England. His first step was to throw more tanks, artillery and mechanized units into action in a strong counter-attack. Paris reports that the drive southwestward towards Paris has been stopped, at least for the time being.

Weygand is the "spiritual heir," of the great Marchal Foch, to whom he was like a son. He is credited with devising many of the tactical maneuvers that brought victory in the World war.

Forces Built Up

His genius was illustrated in 1920 when he halted the Polish rout and showed the Poles how to drive back the red Russian army. The Russians were at the gates of Warsaw and it looked hopeless for Poland when Gen. Weygand arrived in response to the appeal to Foch for help.

He rapidly sketched out a complete plan which Marshal Pilsudski followed and the Russians were driven back in confusion. It took only five days.

Weygand is 73 but does not look it and his energy is boundless. In the last ten years he built up the strong French army which now faces the Germans. He also built up the efficient Allied force now in the Far East.

British Air Force

tank concentrations in the Aisne sector in France.

The British said 14 of their fighters and two bombers were missing after the raids.

Swinging north of the fighting front, the British airmen attacked oil refineries in northwestern Germany and started seven fires in the airdrome at Varnes, north of Norway's German-held port of Trondheim.

The British troops in Belgium were reported dropping back because of the westward drive by the Germans in northern France.

A military official described the western front situation as "grim" and said the British were retiring in Belgium to keep the German St. Quentin wedge from driving a wedge between the British-Belgian troops and the French army.

Youngster Stumps His Toe So Others Will Think He Was Shot Like His Little Sister

By H. TAYLOR HENRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, May 20. (AP)—This is the story of 11-year-old Charles Ferrand, who stubbed his toe on a rock and "bandaged it big" so everyone would think he had been machine-gunned by the Germans like his little sister.

I met Charles at a Belgian village near the French frontier in the foothills of the Ardennes mountains, with a group of other peasants from his village.

Charles was just a grubby, barefooted youngster who couldn't bear to have anything happen to little sister that hadn't happened to him.

I opened the conversation with a bar of chocolate, and after that we were firm friends.

"Aw, you know," he said (in the French equivalent, of course). "I didn't really get machine-gunned. Nothing ever happens to me."

"Nothing"—except that he had seen his native village burned.

"Nothing"—except that his group had been bombed and machine-gunned by German planes three times in a four-day march.

"Nothing"—except that he had seen 12 peasants from his village killed by an attack in which his eight-year-old sister, Marie, suffered an arm wound.

I looked meaningly at his big toe.

"Well," he said with a blush, "that wasn't hit.

"Sister was getting all the attention, so when I stubbed my toe, I just bandaged it big so people would think I had been shot, too."

Dallas Highway To Be Studied

AUSTIN, May 20. (U.P.)—A delegation of ten prominent North Texans was promised by the state highway commission here today that state highway engineers will be assigned to study the Dallas-Lancaster road for possible curve and hazard elimination.

W. B. Marsh, chairman of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce highway committee, asked highway commissioners for approval of a project to straighten and improve the stretch because of the heavy traffic moving on the artery.

Members Named

Other members of the North Texas delegation were: County Judge Ben Fly, I. O. Garrison, King Duggan, and W. R. Lindsey, all of Dallas; Buck Frank, Garland; G. T. Hall of Waxahachie; J. C. Edwards, L. L. Henry and J. O. McShan, Lancaster.

Assurance was given also that hazards on U. S. 175 through the Trinity river bottoms on the route to Seagoville will be remedied after Commissioner Harry Hines had told the gathering that this stretch of road is subject to overflow and so narrow that a stalled automobile creates a serious traffic menace.

tized citizens, who would report any suspicious incidents to state police headquarters which in turn would inform proper federal agencies. Richardson added that some "key men" in the plan have been chosen already.

Although unverified, there have been recent reports that state police, particularly Rangers, have been especially active along the Texas-Mexican border.

Garrison and Maj. Howard said they would confer in Washington with Federal Bureau of Investigation, secret service and immigration officials, and offer complete cooperation with the federal agencies.

To Visit Bureau

Howard also planned to visit the National Guard bureau and possibly discuss details of the Texas National guard's proposed maneuvers in conjunction with regular army troops this summer.

While the guard's function is a military one, Maj. Howard said the organization would cooperate fully with the public safety department in any plan evolved to observe and suppress un-Americanism.

Worker's Death Is Blamed On Drowning

FORT EDWARDS, N. Y., May 20. (U.P.)—Police reported today that Leon P. Chazz's death was due to drowning—on his kitchen floor.

They said the 60-year-old paper mill worker was planning to wash clothes. He lit the gas water heater, tripped, and struck the heater, knocking himself out. In falling he broke the water pipe.

Water rose two inches on the floor, enough to cover the unconscious man's nose and mouth.

Wallace Announces Higher Wheat Loans

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP) — Acting for the second time in three days to bolster wheat prices which last week made the most sensational plunge in modern history, Secretary Wallace announced today that the government loan rate on the 1940 wheat crop would average one cent a bushel above last year's.

The agriculture department chief said the rate on this year's crop would average about 64 cents a bushel, compared with 63 cents last year.

Together with a parity payments of 19 cents a bushel, Wallace said, the loan value would assure a return at the farm of at least 83 cents a bushel for wheat producers who compiled with the Agricultural Adjustment program. (Parity payments are sums intended to give farm products as much purchasing power as they had in the 1909-14 period.)

U. S. Defense

House leader, an inquiry as to "how the administration intends to finance these new demands."

In reply, Rep. Rayburn of Texas, the Democratic leader, said that serious consideration was being devoted to that problem and that a recommendation would be made by the executive departments. He added a belief that the American people were "willing to pay" the bill.

The plane makers met while appropriations to cover the president's defense program were pushed along in Congress with a speed born of a widespread feeling of emergency. With scarcely two hours discussion, the Senate appropriations committee approved a bill providing $1,820,941,000 for the army, including $545,770,364 of the extraordinary $1,182,000,000 program requested by the chief executive.

Bombers Needed

The measure contained a total of $265,886,418 in cash for the air corps, plus authority to enter into $103,300,000 of contracts for the corps. The bill stipulates that of the sum appropriated and the contracts authorized, not less than $123,741,994 shall be used to acquire new planes and equipment for them.

Administration leaders arranged to call up the measure for debate in the Senate tomorrow, with the expectation that it would go speedily to the House and probably be ready for Mr. Roosevelt's signature by the end of the week.

The House military committee and an appropriations subcommittee worked on the program also. Before the former, Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, announced plans for establishing four new pilot training centers, with a capacity for 1,200 students each annually. And, speaking of aircraft types, he said "the power of the bomber is what we need most."

New Warplane Motor Bared

NEW YORK, May 20. (U.P.)—Aviation Manufacturing corporation announced today the development, in cooperation with the U. S. army air corps, of a "revolutionary" new "flat" type of motor designed to fit into airplane wings. The corporation said aircraft engineers claimed that the new motor would increase speed 10 per cent and cruising range 15 per cent because of "its low frontal area over radial types of comparable horsepower."

Produced by Lycoming, a division of Aircraft Manufacturing corporation, the new motor has 12 cylinders and develops 1,200 horsepower. It weighs 1,325 pounds and is liquid-cooled. Its horizontal construction has held it height to 37 inches at the highest point.

First Of Kind

"The tremendous increase in speeds of aircraft during the last decade has been achieved by two methods," Harry Woodhead, president of aviation manufacturing, said in the announcement. "First, by increasing power and efficiency of airplane engines; second, by eliminating as far as possible all external aircraft components which tend to cause drag or wind-resistance. This new type of engine concealed in the wing marks the latest contribution to aeronautical science in this direction, and is extremely timely in view of world conditions."

The announcement said the new engine is the first of its kind to be produced in this country.

Mexican Candidate Is Against Totalitarians

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico, May 20 (U.P.)—Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, candidate for president of Mexico, was on record today "against all totalitarians, red or black."

Almazan told 20,000 persons at a rally yesterday that he would not tolerate Communist or other agitators if he were elected.

"Though I am for labor and agriculture," he said, "if elected I will not tolerate such agitators as Vicente Lombardo Toledano and Graciano Sanschez, present labor and agricultural leaders, or any other red agitators.

"I am for democracy and the democratic form of government, and against all totalitarians, red or black, including Stalin and Hitler."

A concert by the Lamesa High school band, under direction of Conway King, was on the day's program.

Taking the place of the usual barbecue, typical of former reunions, the group conducted a huge basket picnic, replete with "son-of-a-gun," coffee and "the trimmings."

Check Delivered To Oil Company

WASHINGTON, May 20. (U.P.) — Ambassador Francisco Najera today delivered the Mexican government's check for $1,000,000 to Col Patrick J. Hurley, representing the Consolidated Oil corp., parent company of the Sinclair Oil group, as the first installment in settlement of the company's expropriated properties.

"I think this proves Mexico will and can pay to the Consolidated Corp. in accordance with the agreement," the ambassador said.

Najera said the total settlement of $8,500,000 will be paid in a series of installments with the final payment occurring in 1942.

Hurley expressed the appreciation "of Mr. Sinclair and his companies to Ambassador Najera for his intelligence, good faith and courtesy" during the negotiations. He also expressed appreciation for Mexican President Cardenas' part in the settlement.

M. J. Gosney, treasurer of the Consolidated Oil Corp., presented a receipt to Najera. Jerome Heff, an attorney for the Mexican government also attended the ceremony.

"May I add that our prayers in Texas are that divine guidance through you as our president may continue to keep the United States out of foreign wars and that we Americans as free people may continue our pursuit of happiness and prosperity as a great free democracy.

"W. Lee O'Daniel, Governor of Texas."

Drive Is Launched

Simultaneously with announcement of the Washington mission, O'Daniel launched a drive for using state police and Texas Rangers "to make sure that all un-American activities within the borders of our state be properly investigated and handled."

"I shall appreciate any and all information that any of our citizens can give me concerning any specific cases of un-American activities they know about or surmise," he declared.

"I will ask that all reports be submitted in writing and signed, but the names of the senders will be held confidential if so requested."

Suggestion To Candidates

O'Daniel issued a typewritten statement which included the following:

"I shall also invite all politically minded state officails and employes to restrain themselves as much as possible from using the international war crisis for political purposes, and submit their ideas for solving the World war problems to the proper authority which is our president, who is commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States, and submit same to him through the regular military channels established within our state.

The whole world is now facing the worst crisis in its history and it is now time for serious thought, sincere cooperation and fervent prayer.

"(Signed) W. Lee O'Daniel, Governor of Texas."

Canada To Attempt To Raise Division

OTTAWA, May 20. (AP) — Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King announced in the House of Commons tonight that Canada would undertake the raising of a third division of the Canadian active service force and that Parliament would be asked to approve a new ministry of national defense for air.

The prime minister said the Canadian war effort would cost $2,000,000 a day for the current fiscal year.

Cleanup Drive Is Completed

Although Lubbock's annual campaign to garner the "cleanest city in Texas" title for the eleventh successive year was completed Monday, officials urged residents of the city to continue their cleanup, paint-up campaign.

Dr. W. B. Irvin, city school superintendent and chairman of the drive, said that it would be several months before final tabulations on this eleventh drive would be available from Washington headquarters. Some sort of city tabulation may be available in several days.

Returns Satisfactory

"However," he added, "the percentage of returns and the work itself appears to be much better than in any previous campaign. Especially was this true in the schools.

"Although the drive officially is concluded, we would like very much that the work of cleaning up and painting up should continue," Superintendent Irvin said.

Monday morning's inspections were made by members of committees representing 15 women's clubs of the city, final checks of front yards and vacant lots being made. The afternoon was directed to final inspection of back yards and alleys by Boy Scouts.

young man, he was just pulling out "in a hurry." Land and McClellan gave chase, firing two shots at the suspect's tires when he failed to stop for red lights or observe other traffic rules. City officials had filed charges against him Monday night of running red lights, speeding past 50-miles-an-hour—"75 if he was doing a mile," said one official—turning left out of an alley, and reckless driving.

Six shots were fired in the chase of the two other men in the northeast city melee. One of the men was surprised by Officers John Truly and Walter Whorton and two cases of beer were taken. Later, the second person was sighted but also made his getaway, in a hail of bullets directed at his tires.

Otherwise Quiet

Officers explained that though shots were taken at the speeding cars in both instances, those wielding the guns were very careful to aim so that deflected bullets would not strike anywhere near bystanders.

Other than the two episodes in the opposite portions of town in the eastern part of the city, the police blotter was not so crowded.

Petty Thefts Reported

At midnight, officers were searching for a negro man who allegedly whittled his wife's face severely when she threatened "to walk out on him." Lubbock sanitarium released the woman after emergency treatment. The carving took place at 1905 East Avenue A.

W. A. Rush, Acuff, asked police to look for two new 6.00x16 Lee tires which were taken from his pickup here. Ted Andrews of Plainview reported theft of his 1932 Ford sedan. The license number on the car is 517-384. A Watch belonging to H. Kliegman was recovered from a man charged with theft of jewelry, officers said. Pete Rice reported theft of a 22 Remington automatic rifle, 1916 model.

German Drive Shifts

Valenciennes and Rethel areas—opposite sides of the German "bulge" into France.)

Forced To Withdraw

From St. Quentin, abandoned by the French after a see-saw battle of tanks, and from the Le Cateau-La Fere sector—30 miles wide across the German "bulge,"—it is roughly 100 miles to the channel port of Calais, which is directly across from Dover, England.

Bost of the armored columns and aerial striking forces were concentrated in the Le Cateau-La Fere sector, where they reached the west bank of the canal running from the Oise to the Sambre river.

The charge forward continued there, forcing the French to withdraw from St. Quentin—80 miles northeast of Paris—but 11 days of titanic struggle on the western front, with constant fighting, mangling of roads by machines and lengthening lines of communication, appeared to be slowing down the German advance. (Here 20 words were censored.)

Peronne Is Touched

French military advices said an extreme advance German motorcycle squad touched Peronne—15 miles northwest of St. Quentin and westernmost point reached by the Nazi force — yesterday but withdrew at nightfall to avoid being cut off from main lines far to the rear.

(Here 15 words were censored.)

Germans attacked at two points in the Rethel sector on the southern flank of the "bulge" (here five words were censored) and crossed the Aisne river, where the new French lines defending the capital had been erected.

The French in converging counter-attacks reported, however, that they had blasted away the German bridgeheads and captured two "detachments" of prisoners.

Attack Launched

Another German attack was launched farther east in the Montmedy sector — where the so-called "Little Maginot" line facing Belgium joins the original Maginot line — with heavy artillery preparation followed by waves of infantry.

Contracts Awarded For La Ventana

Awarding of 1941 La Ventana yearbook engraving, printing and photography contracts and appointment of associate Toreador editors occupied the Texas Technological publications committee meeting Monday.

A new paid position, that of assistant editor of La Ventana, college yearbook, was created by the committee. An appointment to fill the new office will be made early next fall.

The engraving contract for next year's annual was awarded Southwestern Engraving company of Dallas. Economy Advertising company of Iowa City, Iowa, was given the printing contract, while Daniels Studio of Lubbock was awarded the photography contract.

Panibeth Harris, junior journalism major from Garland, was named associate editor of The Toreador, semi-weekly newspaper, to assist Ed Kidd, elected by popular student vote recently. The Toreador assistant business managership was filled by L. D. Whiteley, junior arts and science student from Wheeler.

Willkie Would Be Candidate

NEW YORK, May 20 (U.P.)—Wendell L. Willkie, utilities executive mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, last night issued a statement expressing disapproval of "raising a fund or creating an organization designed to convince the country of my personal worth." At the same time, he would, "of course," accept the nomination if it were offered.

"It is obvious that I owed a measure of protection and cooperation to those friends, who, sometimes at considerable personal sacrifice, have worked voluntarily on my behalf," Willkie said.

Cooperation Asked

"I am particularly concerned with the obvious possibility which has just been brought to my attention that these sincere persons may be misled by others seeking to capitalize for their own ends the discussions regarding me.

"Some time ago, Mr. Russell W. Davenport of his own volition and in spite of my urging to the contrary resigned his position as managing editor of Fortune (magazine) to coordinate to some extent the activities of such disinterested persons as Mr. Oren Root, jr., the volunteer mailing committee, the various clubs that have sprung up throughout the country, and those associated with them. From now on I would appreciate it if everyone who is carrying on any activity on my behalf would keep in close communication with Mr. Davenport and his associates."

Hopes For Recovery

Thomas is working days and helping at home nights.

They are living in an apartment at 1812 Tenth street.

Dr. E. H. Laughlin, sr., will make the diagnosis. If it is found surgery might correct cause of the paralysis, Dr. George M. Laughlin will perform the surgery. The diagnosis and possible surgery will be given during an 18th annual graduate school session for doctors in which Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery is to participate.

Has Many Visitors

Thomas is not downcast concerning his condition but has been consistently cheerful. He has been the recipient of much attention the last few months.

A wheel chair, radio and dozens of bouquets of flowers have been taken to him. Among his visitors Monday afternoon were Mrs. J. N. Nislar, a leader in caring for him, and Mrs. W. T. Milam.

Friends are investigating to learn what method of travel to Kirksville would be best for him. There is a possibility he will be taken by airplane.

Thomas is optimistic concerning prospects for his complete recovery. He is planning to continue his study in college and hopes, before many months, "to walk down and shake hands with some of the persons who have helped me."

A Quirk Of Fate

He was injured through a quirk of fate a few minutes after he had "thumbed" a ride to return to his job with the Soil Conservation service in Clovis, N. M. He had been to Lubbock to make arrangements for working during the 1939-40 college session. The car overturned and he suffered compression fracture of his fourth and fifth dorsal vertebrae.

He would have been a senior in the plant industry department at Texas Tech.

Agronomy is the line of work he plans to follow but, he said Monday, he would not mind being a doctor if doctors can cure cases such as his.

"How can I ever repay everyone who is helping me," he asked a friend.

"You don't need to repay them. Just do something for someone else after you get well," he was told.

vanced pillow, the French reported, the German attackers were beaten off by the crumbling of the Maginot line, leaving their dead piled high in front of the main forts.

SHADE UNDER WATER

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP) — The stock market tried for a sizable rally today but many leaders, including steels, backed away in the final hour and finished just about where they started or a shade under water.

While there were several soft spots among aircrafts and elsewhere, the Associated press average of 60 stocks managed to hold a scant gain of .2 of one point at 40.6. Some caution was engendered by the fact that volume lagged appreciably in the morning upswing. Transfers of 1,337,760 shares were the smallest for a full session since May 9.

Steels lost their climbing power at the finish. U. S. Steel was unchanged, Bethlehem off a shade and Republic and Youngstown up slightly.

Douglas and United Aircrafts eventually dropped nearly two points each, Modest improvement was retained by Boeing, Glenn Martin, Sperry and Curtiss-Wright. On the upside were General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Western Union, American Smelting, duPont, American Telephone, Santa Fe and Great Northern.

Losers included Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Philip Morris and Standard Oil of N. J.

Low-yield corporate bonds skidded, but a fair amount of advances appeared in other loans departments. Most commodities put on a brisk forward spirit.

In the curb gains of fractions to 3 were maintained by E. W. Bliss, Jones and Laughlin, Mead Johnson, Electric Bond and Share, Hammermill Paper, Niles-Bement-Pond, Humble Oil and Puget Sound Pulp. In arrears were Chesebrough, American Cyanamid "F" and Pantepec. Turnover here was around 224,000 shares compared with 337,000 last Friday.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 20. (AP)—The average price of middling 15/16-inch cotton at ten designated Southern spot markets today was 35 points higher at 9.76 cents a pound; average for the last 30 market days was 10.37. Middling ⅞-inch average was 9.56 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—Cotton futures rushed up 27 to 37 points today in a decisive reversal of last week's violent decline.

Dealers mentioned several reasons for the rally:

Establishment of minimum prices for wheat at Chicago and subsequent sharp improvement in the grain.

Three-day suspension of cotton trade at Liverpool, evidently a precautionary measure to prevent further declines there.

The belief held by many traders there will be a new cotton loan.

Foreign selling, however, which played an important part in the recent drop, contracted. Some traders declared last week's waves of liquidation had cleared the list of any trace of inflated prices, thus leaving the market in a much improved technical position.

Exports Saturday 6,971 bales; season so far 6,666,701. Port receipts 3,788. Port stocks 2,634,696.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 20 (AP)—Cotton futures gained $1.50 to $1.85 a bale here today on reports that the Allies apparently were checking German advances. Closing prices were steady, 27 to 36 points net higher.

Brief Bits Of Local News

Kleta Belle Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Holt of Idalou, has been announced as junior class favorite of Abilene Christian college. She was elected last fall but results of the election were not revealed until this week, when the Prickly Pear, college yearbook, appeared on the campus. She was given a full page picture in the book.

Allen Hill, chairman of the board of stewards of First Methodist church, has called a meeting of that body for 7:30 o'clock tonight in the church. Some important matters are to be discussed, Hill said in making the announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Mount of rural route 1 are the parents of a son born Sunday night at 10:25 o'clock in the family home. Mount is a city employe. The boy weighed 8 1-4 pounds. Stewart and Benson clinic reported the birth.

Funeral service for Mrs. Ora Ovilla King, 49, of 313 Eighth street, who died Sunday morning in Lubbock sanitarium, were held Monday morning at Plains Funeral home. The body was taken to Artesia, N. M., for burial Monday afternoon. Her husband, E. R. King, died several years ago. Five sons and two daughters survive.

A two weeks revival at Calvary Baptist church was concluded Sunday night with baptism of 20 new members. Thirty-eight additions were made to the church during the event conducted by Rev. George A. Dale of Tahoka. Directing the music for the revival was D. C. Hamilton, educational director of the church. Miss Gertrude Schantz was pianist for the meetings. Rev. C. J. McCarty is pastor of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Culver F. Austin of route 1 are parents of a daughter weighing 9 1-4 pounds, born at the residence early Monday. The infant was named Terressa Ann. The father is a farmer.

Crosby county oldtimers and former residents will meet Memorial day at Old Emma, former county seat, for an all-day reunion. On the program will be R. L. Travis of Ralls, Mrs. J. J. Spikes of Cone and others to be named. Several hundred persons attended last year's first annual reunion of the group.

Baccalaureate sermon for McMurry college in Abilene Sunday morning will be preached by Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor of Lubbock's First Methodist church. The announcement was made by Dr. Frank L. Turner, McMurry president.

On June 12, Andrews county commissioners will dedicate a new courthouse. A barbecue has been planned. Lieut. Gov. Coke Stevenson, Highway Commissioners Harry Hines and Robert L. Bobbitt and other notables have been invited.

Commencement address for Spur high school seniors will be made tonight by Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of Texas Technological college, in the C. A. Jones memorial stadium.

John D. Mitchell of Lubbock and Odessa and Martin Crews of Childress and others have received a charter for establishment of a state bank at Seminole. Seminole business men have subscribed for stock.

R. M. White of Dallas, state president, spoke when Lubbock Association of Life Underwriters met at noon Monday in Hilton hotel. Sam Henry is president.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Shinkle left Monday on a three-weeks vacation trip to Cincinnati, where relatives live, and New York City. Shinkle is a member of the chamber of commerce staff.

O'Daniel Talks To Publishers

MINERAL WELLS, May 20. (AP)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel told the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association convention today that he intends to recommend that the next legislature submit to the people a constitutional amendment requiring the state government to operate on a cash basis.

O'Daniel made the remark while explaining to the newspaper executives his belief that Texas is the state best-suited for development in every line." He said that the state should offer no "bonus" inducement to attract new industries to the state, because it would be unfair to industries already here.

Should Watch Contracts

But, he said, the state government ought to protect industries by operating on a cash budget. O'Daniel said that he will ask the next legislature to submit a constitutional amendment "making it mandatory for the state to pay as it goes" and forbidding any appropriation for which there is no money in the treasury. The state now has a deficit of nearly $20,000,000 in the general revenue fund and is repaying a loan for previous old age pension payments.

"Democracy is being tested now," O'Daniel added. "America must prove to the world that democracy will work. The press should assume the responsibility for bringing to the people the truth about government activities."

Adolph Shelby Ochs of Chattanooga, Tenn., SNPA president, told members to pay particular attention to their labor contracts.

Dies Committee Is Attacked By Reds

MOSCOW, May 20. (AP)—Pravda, Communist party newspaper, charged today the Dies committee investigation of un-American activities in the United States was marked by "false testimonies and fake documents." It called the committee the "American doghouse."

The newspaper also hit at capitalism, declaring "Wall street with all its might strives to involve the United States into war." American capital invested in England and France was cited.

Peace Talks In China Reported

SHANGHAI, May 20 (U.P.)—Chinese quarters said today that peace conversations, regarded as "strictly preliminary," were proceeding between Japanese representatives and envoys of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek at Hong Kong.

The Japanese terms were described as acceptable. It was said that the deciding factor in the negotiations would be the extent of economic cooperation on which Japan would insist.

The Japanese, it was reported, had agreed to evacuate central and South China. They demanded the right to maintain garrisons along the Peiping-Suiyan and the Peiping-Tsingtao railroads.

DENIAL MADE

CHUNGKING, May 20 (U.P.) — A Chinese government spokesman denied today reports from Shanghai that representatives of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek were engaging in preliminary peace negotiations with Japanese representatives at Hong Kong.

The Chinese government, the spokesman said, rather is intensifying plans for continued resistance to Japan and increased industrial development.

Sweden Stands Firm Against Nazi Plans

STOCKHOLM, May 20 (AP)—Usually well informed circles declared themselves convinced today Sweden had made plain to Germany that she could not permit transit of Nazi troops and supplies across this nation to help lift the Allied siege against German-held Narvik, Norwegian ore port.

Authoritative quarters, however, steadfastly denied rumors that formal demands for transit facilities had been received.

The rumors coincided with reports indicating that surrender of the small German force at Narvik was imminent and that only by quick reinforcements could Germany now hope to prevent defeat there.

No Invasion Of America Seen

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP) — America need not fear invasion, in the opinion of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, "unless the American people bring it on through their own quarreling and meddling with affairs abroad."

Declaring that "a definite policy of defense" is the first necessity, the famous aviator called in a radio broadcast last night for an end to "hysterical chatter of calamity and invasion."

"We are in danger of war today," he said, "not because European people have attempted to interfere with the internal affairs of America, but because American people have attempted to interfere with the internal affairs of Europe."

Alone Again

Lindbergh, an army air corps reserve officer, asserted that America needs "a greater air force, a greater army and a greater navy," but added:

"Until we have decided upon a definite policy of defense, the mere construction of large numbers of aircraft will not be adequate for our national safety."

Lindbergh spoke on the eve of the 13th anniversary of his famous solo flight from New York to Paris. Last night, he was alone again as he went to the broadcasting studio, but a small group of onlookers applauded him as he left after his speech.

Plainview Company Is Low Bidder On Work

Low bidder on construction of a sanitary sewer system for Seminole was Shook-Owens Construction company of Plainview, said Harry N. Roberts of Lubbock, consulting engineer for Seminole.

Bid was announced as $41,129.85 for approximately 45,000 feet of sewer lines, and the disposal plant. The concern is expected to begin preliminary work next week, Roberts added.

"Construction of the system will fill a great need that has existed for a long time," Roberts said. "Seminole, with the system completed, ought to begin to make some rapid growth."

Bids were opened by the city commission at Seminole Friday afternoon, after having been advertised. A number of construction firms submitted figures, including Panhandle Construction Co., of Lubbock.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Let's Force Redistricting!

THIS area is vitally interested in efforts of the West and South Texas chambers of commerce to obtain legislative redistricting.

The whole theory of our democratic system of government is that each member of the legislature shall represent approximately the same number of people. On that theory, each member of the lower house of the Texas legislature should represent 40,000 to 45,000 people.

Yet in our own South Plains 119th district of nine counties there were more than 100,000 people according to the 1930 census. Today the number probably exceeds 150,000. Contrasted with that are single counties with less than 20,000 population with their own representative.

There has been no legislative redictricting in Texas since 1920. During that time, the population trend has been toward West Texas. As its population has gone up, so has the proportion of taxes it pays. Yet the balance of power in the legislature has remained in the North, East and Southeast Texas counties which, with rare exceptions, either have remained static or gone backward.

They are the reason why West Texas can't get its share of the improvements to be paid out of taxes. They are the reason why such institutions as Texas Technological college have to grovel for pennies while others in decadent sections luxuriate in nests feathered with the tax dollars from West Texas.

The condition is one which is not going to be improved without a fight. It's about time for West Texas to start fighting.

We Don't Need Him Here

CONGRESS should not require very long for debate before passage of a measure approved in the House Immigration committee the other day to deport Harry Bridges, California radical labor agitator, to his native Australia.

The time has passed when this nation can safely ignore trouble-makers of his stripe. He has done more than admit that he espouses those causes which are declared enemies of our government. He has bragged about it. He has boasted of his leadership in labor troubles on the Pacific coast which approximated civil war in bloodshed, which brought a complete paralysis to shipping.

As long as we felt safe from attack by enemies outside our boundaries, we ignored the enemies who were boring from within. We can't do that any longer. Congress should do more than get rid of Bridges. It should provide the means for instant protection against all un-American malcontents. It should provide the means of deporting them if alien born, of putting them behind bars if they are the homegrown type.

Mr. Hoover Is The Man

PERHAPS it was because the "breaks" were against him, but the prevailing opinion in the nation seems to be that Herbert Hoover isn't the type of man cut out to be a good President.

However, there won't be dispute with the wisdom of his selection to head the Belgian Relief commission. He stands alone as the man best fitted in this country for the dispensing of any funds raised in the United States for relief in Europe.

His work in a similar capacity during and after the World war was one of the fine and noteworthy achievements shining out of that terrible conflict. If a similar job is to be done again, he is the man to do it.

A university freshman gave up his seat to Mrs. Roosevelt in a transcontinental plane, thus permitting her to make connections on her way to the west coast from New York. He probably figured that trying to delay her would be like standing in the way of a planet in motion.

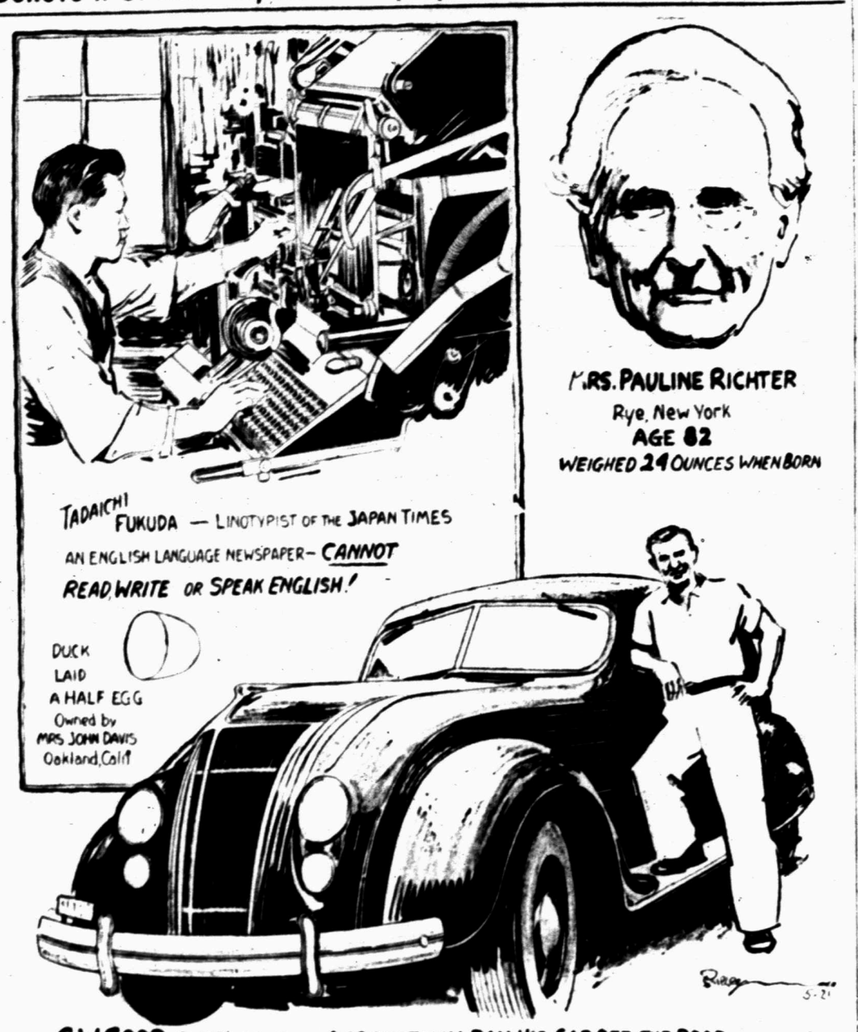

Chamberlain warns neutral countries to be cautious about trading with the Reich. After all, it is very unneutral to be giving aid to the enemy.

LITTLE SPITFIRE

YESTERDAY: Affairs on The Street are taking an odd turn. Judge Harper holds Brenda responsible for a silly love letter written him by Maud Van Ness, and Ned Barrow is so interested in botany that he has dropped the idea of marrying Alaine.

Chapter 25

Mysterious Malady

There was something the matter with Adelaide.

She had returned from her visit neither rested nor refreshed though she was voluble over the kindness shown her by her hostess. She seemed not to notice the changes Isobel had made in the arrangement of furniture she was entirely uninterested in reassuming the household reins; worst of all, she was indifferent to the health and happiness of her entire household.

"And that means something is very wrong indeed." Isobel said worriedly. "Adelaide is the kindest soul on earth. Ordinarily her first question when she's been away from us for so much as a day is how we have fared."

"Do you thing she is ill?" Eric demanded. He had come down dressed to go out but attracted by the conference being carried on in low tones by his fellow housemates, he had joined them. "She looks better than usual to me. She actually had a little color in her face at dinner."

"But she hardly touched her food," Brenda contributed. "Isobel had her favorite lemon pie on purpose and Adelaide just dabbled her fork in it; didn't eat a single bite."

Mac spoke. "She is ill. I'm perfectly sure. I happened to touch her hand just before she went upstairs and it was hot. Flu, perhaps. there's a lot of it about."

But the next morning Adelaide seemed better though languid and still unlike herself. She had no temperature as Brenda ascertained by the simple proc of producing a thermometer and firmly bidding her landlady keep it in her mouth for the necessary length of time.

"Normal." Brenda sighed with relief.

"Of course it's normal, you ridiculous child." Adelaide spoke almost peevishly. "I'm not ill. Can't a person be a little tired from a train trip without everyone wanting to wish an illness on her?"

The two girls exchanged significant glances. Adelaide—to talk like this!

Out in the hall Brenda murmured: "Has she any close relatives? Could she have had bad news of them while she was in Springfield?"

"No," was Isobel's reply. "Practically her whole life is bound up right in this house."

"Money losses, then?"

"It might be, of course, but it isn't like Adelaide to get edgy over a thing like that. No, I still think she's ill in spite of not having any temperature."

By noon Adelaide did have a temperature; not a high one but enough to duplicate the misleading flush in her cheeks of yesterday. She refused her luncheon, fell into a heavy sleep from which she wakened unrefreshed.

"Adelaide, do let us call a doctor!" Brenda coaxed. "It may be flu—it may be some little digestive disturbance! but certainly something is the matter. Isn't it wiser to find out what, and correct it?"

But she had touched upon the one obsession of Adelaide's easy-going life. She had no use for doctors, and less for hospitals. Her husband, it developed, had died on the operating table. All the stubbornness of her character concentrated itself on this point. She sternly forbade the worried girls to call in a doctor; she refused the simple home remedies Isobel offered her.

By night she was able to dress herself though the ominous color still burned in her cheeks, and her eyes were too bright.

Mac, informed privately over Miss Ormond's telephone as to the situation, made short work of her.

"Look here, Adelaide. I'm going to call a doctor. No, I don't want to hear what you think of them—I don't want to hear anything, as a matter of fact. Do you realize that that the state of your health isn't entirely your own concern? You do keep a boardinghouse, after all. The people who live under your roof have a right to protection. It isn't fair. You may have something contagious, you know," he finished firmly.

It was the one argument which bore weight with her. For the sake of her beloved family she would submit to anything—or at any rate, to the calling of a physician.

"But promise me one thing," she said, seizing Mac feverishly by the wrist. "Promise me, no matter what the doctor says, you'll not send me to a hospital. I'd die—I'm perfectly sure I'd die—if I so much as went through the door of a hospital. Mac, promise!"

"I wish I could, dear," he replied. "And I do promise this: that if it's not strictly necessary you shall not be moved."

Her usually soft eyes glared at him. "The consent of the patient must be obtained before——" she began.

"We won't talk of it now," he soothed her. "I haven't an idea you will have to go to a hospital. It's probably just a touch of flu, or something like that. A few days in bed, and the right medicine, and you'll be as good as ever."

As he started toward the telephone she called to him. "Not Dr. VanNess, Mac! I won't have him! Not a neighbor, a friend! If I must have someone listening to my heart and lungs I want it to be a stranger!"

So Mac called a young physician whom he knew; and while Dr. Stern was busy with his rebellious patient upstairs, Adelaide's family waited anxiously downstairs for the verdict.

"I can't tell yet," he said when he joined them. "I'm having some blood tests made tomorrow. It looks like a low form of typhoid. But where on earth could she have got typhoid here?"

In concert they all started to tell him of the Springfield visit; then stopped abruptly and allowed Isobel to complete the tale.

"The woman she visited lives just out of town. I don't even know whether there was city water there, or not. She just got back yesterday, you see, and has been too unlike herself to tell us anything about it."

Eric asked: "Shouldn't she be in a hospital?"

"Of course she should, but the very mention of it throws her into hysterics," the doctor said with impatience. "In her present condition, and without her consent I have no righ to order her there. Well, we'll see tomorrow!"

Not Much Wiser

But they were not much wiser when the reports of the blood tests came in. They were slightly positive on several counts; undulant, typhoid, malaria.

"But she can't have them all!" cried Brenda.

"She doesn't in fact, have any one of them," the doctor informed them gloomily. "This simply means she's been running a temperature for a long time so it's simulating any number of things. There's infection, of course. I'll have more tests made and we'll soon locate it."

But Adelaide's illness proved to be one of those unaccountable cases which baffle medical science. Try as he would Dr. Stern could find no focus of infection. Yet the fever rose daily, nausea and weakness persisted and Adelaide roused only to full consciousness when the word "hospital" was spoken in her hearing.

Brenda shoved her cardboard with its neatly drawn squares under her bed, and installed herself as nurse. Isobel had her work to do. Both th men helped at nights. Even Brenadine could be trusted now and then to sit by the bed and see that Adelaide's few wants were supplied.

And presently Brenda received reinforcements. Miss Ormond came over the third day of Adelaide's illness.

"I may be too old to teach but I'm not too old to help care for the sick," she announced grimly. "You look tired out, Brenda, child. Go take a good long nap while I stay with Adelaide."

Kindly Dr. VanNess came over every evening to hear young Stern's report. He said he understood perfectly that Adelaide might prefer a stranger to a friend in her illness. Maud came, too, and tried to take her turn at nursing but she spilled the entire bottle of alcohol over the patient when she tried to give her a rub, she could not pass the bed without bumping into it, and altogether Brenda concluded that Maud could be of more help outside the sickroom than in it.

"If you'd plan the meals for us and sort of superintend Grenadine now and then," she suggested.

One of the greatest surprises — though Brenda said afterward there were so many it was hard to grade them—was the efficiency of Mrs. Arnold's Dorothy. She came late one evening and insisted on sitting up with the patient during the night. She was so altered in appearance that Brenda's tired eyes had to look twice to recognize her. Her heavy hair had been cut and thinned, and the permanent was an accomplished fact. It was not becoming to her, as her benefactor never tired of pointing out. But to Dorothy herself it was the equivalent of a magic robe, and beauty since its attainment.

And she was an excellent nurse.

Poppy Poster Contest Is To Be Conducted

With May 27 set as deadline for receipt of entries, rules for a poppy poster contest to be sponsored by the America Legion auxiliary were announced Monday.

In addition to submitting the best posters in national competition, the local auxiliary is offering a first prize of two dollars and second prize of a plaque in three classes: First, pupils in fourth, fifth and sixth grades; second, students in seventh, eighth and ninth grades, and third, students in tenth and eleventh grades.

The contests are carried on under supervision of art teachers in the Lubbock Public schools. Judging scale is by appeal, artistic ability, originality and neatness.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

FEW YEARS ago Louis Johnson's pugnacious demands for preparing the United States for war threatened to land him in the presidential doghouse. But events have borne him out so completely that his role as first prophet may at least earn him the post of Secretary of War if conditions necessitate a shift of the mild Harry Woodring to some other post.

Mr. Johnson was frequently denounced as a "war monger" when he declared at the time of Munich that the United States needed the finest air armada in the world—possibly 20,000 planes. The blitzkriegs in Poland, Norway, the Low Countries now convince many people that he was conservative. He ran into powerful opposition when he asked Congress for millions to finance a start on his industrial mobilization plan—for more millions to buy critical materials like tin, rubber, quinine, etc. But the spread of war has forced an overnight, and possibly a wasteful, move in both those directions.

The big, bulky West Virginian may have been playing in luck, but he also named the date when Hitler would attack Holland and Belgium. So now the bigwigs listen when he talks, and he is invited to national defense conferences at the White House, while Mr. Woodring bends over his desk a mile or more away.

ASSETS: The audacious and disturbing argument that the "founding fathers" were not responsible for the Bill of Rights or the Constitution has been advanced by Rep. Hatton Sumners of Dallas, the nearest approach to a political philospher on Capitol Hill and so recognized by Supreme court members. His contention is contained in an article he has written for a new magazine entitled "The Bill of Rights" and sponsored by distinguished New York lawyers, including Elihu Root, jr.

Long before the "founding fathers" assembled, Mr. Sumners points out, the principles they embodied in the Constitution had been incorporated in several states' codes, notably Virginia's. Before that, however, they had been enshrined in the English Bill of Rights of 1701. But long before that document was fashioned, they "had been fixing themselves in the notions, opinions and convictions and purposes of the people. These provisions inhere in the nature of things from the beginning."

"It is a fact," continues the Texan, "and it ought to be a very instructive fact, that no basic provision of our Bill of Rights or of the rest of our constitutional structure, state or federal, can be traced to any individual, or to any convention, as its originator in any creative sense. They each go back so far historically and spread out so broadly that not one of them adds to the legitimate fame of any human being as its originator."

TRUTH. Applying his analysis to the present-day world, Mr. Sumners believes that the New Deal system of government has resulted directly from the historical error he deplores and seegs to correct. The Roosevelt administration, in his opinion, places too much dependence upon men and not enough on broad, basic principles. He warns:

"We must know, and know soon, if we are to escape the doom of other free governments in the world that our Constitution, including the Bill of Rights, is not a thing given to us in a creative sense by human beings but that our Constitution has come to us down through the ages, a living thing, fashioned as a part of the great economy, with natural laws, great principles governing it, laws which men operating such a system of government must understand and obey. . . . Many peoples have borrowed our Constitution, but they have not been able to operate a system of government under it because with them it was only a document. It had not grown up out of and was not rooted in the governmental concepts and instincts of their people."

The Sumners doctrine has caused a stir among lawyers and legislators. In a world beset by dictators and benevolent manipulators of governmental processes, it reaffirms an old but forgotten and needed truth by which men must live and be ruled and die.

CHAMPION: The emergence of John J. Dempsey, of New Mexico, as a national figure through this crusade for the Hatch bill has in it the elements of a political romance. Indeed, it might be described as the second act of a drama which has an ancient civilization for a setting and the late Senator Cutting for an invisible member of the cast. Here is the plot:

A member of the wealthy and socially prominent Cuttings of Long Island, a graduate of Groton and Harvard, Mr. Cutting settled in New Mexico and through discreet use of his money, became the behind-the-scenes boss. He was a rather effeminate individual, but his lisp and Harvard accent could not hide the fact that he used fighting words in a Senate debate. He devoted his wealth and his vast ability to worthwhile and idealistic ends. He became a generous patron of political liberalism.

Except for the contrast in background and personality, Mr. Dempsey may reenact the Cutting role. Born a poor boy in Pennsylvania, he quit school at the age of 12. But he had an indominable fighting spirit, also great business ability, and he was a multi-millionaire at middle age—vice president of the B.M.T. in New York, later an oil man and asphalt manufacturer. He, too, settled in New Mexico, and has devoted his recent years to politics with the same effort and purpose as Senator Cutting. And some day soon this advocate of "clean politics" and a "break" for the underdog may occupy the seat from which his Harvard predecessor lisped the same philosophy.

STEADFAST: Frequent mention of Rep. James W. Wadsworth as a possible dark horse in the GOP Presidential derby recalls the year—1926—when he tossed away a chance to become President of the United States. Jim denies he made such a sacrifice, but here are the historical facts:

The time was April of that year, and prominent wets—Mr. Wadsworth, Al Smith, Jouett Shouse—had organized the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. New York drys denounced Mr. Wadsworth, and threatened to run their own ticket simply to kill him off unless he recanted. Instead of backing down, the then Senator prepared a long, detailed statement of why he hated and opposed prohibition. Friends begged him to "pusyfoot", as so many politicos were doing, but he refused to be a hypocrite. Issuance of the statement cost him reelection. Bob Wagner defeated him by about 125,000 votes, while the drys' nominee polled 250,000, most of which would have gone to the Senator if he had kept silent.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

RECENTLY Assistant Secretary of State Breckenridge Long, administrative offer of the State department, summoned the chiefs of all divisions, sections and units in that department into a secret session in the State department building. To the assemblage he read an executive order, signed by the President, not then or yet made public, directing the Secretary of State in very forceful language immediately to take such steps as might be necessary to stop all leaks of State department information and activities to the public through other than controlled channels.

This was not an ordinary routine appeal for increased executive efficiency. The tone of the order itself and the oral interpretation given to it by the Assistant Secretary made clear that it was prompted by Presidential determination to block the mounting volume of public criticism directed at his war intervention policies. As in The American White Paper, the point was made very clear that foreign policies are no concern of the public until they have been decided by the so-called "cable readers."

Another interesting feature of this meeting was that the implied penalties of instant dismissal—and other prosecution as dire as it was vague—for failure to obey the order to the letter are to be applied if the public becomes aware of the existence of the order or the remarks pertaining to it by the assistant Secretary. The individual responsible for the leak would be determined at all costs. It is possible that a leak or two might serve the administration's interests in providing "due" cause for peremptory dismissal of a few officials who have the temerity to disagree with administration foreign policy.

CONCENTRATION camps in totalitarian lands reminds that a fence and armed guards is not a new idea in prison creation. There was one in East Texas in the later years of the War Between the States to harbor Union prisoners of war.

Perhaps few living Texans remember it, and Andersonville was too overshadowing for Northern people to hear of the relatively small prison, Camp Ford, in the Texas wilderness. But some of its history is recorded in the memoirs of Robert Henderson, captain of Company G, Sixth Kansas volunteer calvary, who was captured in action near Fort Smith, Ark., and in an ancient book now found only among collectors items, "Prisoners of War and Military Prisons."

No Pleasant Prison

"Camp Ford," this book relates, "was located about six miles east of Tyler, Texas, and about 100 miles due west of Shreveport. The first detachment (of prisoners) of some 600 men camped in the open woods. Afterward a stockade was built, enclosing two and one half acres."

As more prisoners arrived the enclosure was enlarged to six acres and when the prisoners numbered 8,000 the area had expanded to 12 acres. It is related that no shelter was furnished the men. Only bare walls gave shadow from the summer sun and shelter from winter cold until the prisoners contrived rude huts from tree limbs held together with mud.

Around the stockade was a "dead line," an imaginary zone extending some ten feet from the palisade. Sentries were the sole judges of distance and prisoners crossing the line measured by the sentry's eye hazarded being shot summarily.

CAPT. Henderson's reminiscences, written for the Kansas State Historical society, say that arrival of Union prisoners was a spectacle for the citizens who were "quite demonstrative." On ope occasion, Henderson relates, a blood-thirsty chap wanted to exterminate all of the prisoners, but the guard pushed him away and told him to go to the front "where he could get a live Yankee for breakfast every morning."

Many of the prisoners became ill, but Henderson attributed preservation of his life to "a little quinine and extract of wild camomile," adding "some gruel, a little meat and some flour also aided rapidly."

Finally, he said, Confederate money ... buy some butter, ... potatoes from ... about the place.

New Terms Of Court Launched

Action in 99th and 72nd district courts and in Lubbock county court continues today. Regular May terms in each got under way Monday.

Approximately 45 felony complaints were laid before a 22nd district court grand jury impaneled by Judge Daniel A. Blair, said Burton S. Burks, district attorney.

All dockets were called by Judge Blair with the exception of his appearance docket which will be read this morning.

Jury Is Selected

Those impaneled for grand jury service include E. T. Pope, Neil H. Wright, Altus Sansom, Bob Crump, George Eklund, W. L. Buckman, Douglas Pounds, Fred Kveton, Curtis Boyd, S. S. Allcorn, S. N. Gentry and Bailey Guess. Door bailiff, by lot, is L. D. Pendleton. Riding bailiffs are Cap Moore, Grady Harriet, John Lemond and Charles Yates.

In the 99th district court, selection of a jury in the civil action of First National Bank of Rotan against H. G. Lawson, suit for conversion, was completed Monday afternoon approximately two hours after the venire was called at 1:30 o'clock. Testimony in the case was begun and will continue this morning, said court attaches.

Those selected on the jury included Sam Hampton, route 1; W. W. McCoy, route 1; Garland A. Nystel, Lubbock; L. D. Phillips, route 1; W. A. Martin, jr., route 5; F. P. Young, Lubbock; C. S. Wales, route 2; Leo Konesko, Lubbock; J. E. Stovall, Slaton; Joe Telford, J. V. Powers, Lubbock; W. W. Lewis, route 1.

Judge J. J. Dillard of county court opened his May term by calling dockets. One judgment filed in county clerk's office showed a plea of guilty by Mrs. Howard Kimble on a charge of swindling. A jury was waived. Costs and fine of $1 were assessed by Judge Dillard.

Hull Urged To Seek U.S. Entry In War

RICHMOND, Va., May 20. (U.P.)—In an open letter to Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist church today urged Hull to use his "great influence with the president and Congress to declare war against Hitler and his fellow monsters."

"If the United States would today repeat the cowardly neutrality act and declare war against Germany because of the restriction of our rights by her barbarous submarine warfare, there would instantly be a great change in the attitude of the nations of the world," he said. "Instead of fear there would be hope, and I believe that there would be no menace that the sword-rattling Mussolini would enter the war."

Amendment To Airline Request Is Sought

American Airlines, Inc., has filed application with the Civil Aeronautics authority in Washington for permission to amend its proposal to establish a route serving Lubbock, it was announced Monday.

The application now pending, it was explained, proposes to establish a line from Oklahoma City, present western terminus of American, through Lubbock, Albuquerque, N. M., and Phoenix, Ariz. to San Diego, Calif.

Under the newly filed amendment, according to information received here, the company proposes to extend service from Oklahoma City through Lubbock to El Paso.

In El Paso, company officials advised, the line would connect with American's present transcontinental line through Phoenix, Tucson and Douglas, Ariz., to Los Angeles.

In Oklahoma City, the report continued, the line would connect with services to Dallas, Memphis, Tenn., and cities in the north and east.

American is one of several lines seeking permission to establish air service through Lubbock. Hearing dates have not been set by the civil aeronautics authority on the applications.

THE NEWEST GIFT IDEA FOR THE GRADUATE

"Starter Sets"

IN LUGGAGE

WEST TEXAS' MOST COMPLETE LUGGAGE DEPARTMENT

One of the newest and best ideas for a graduation gift is to give Her (or Him) a "starter set" in luggage . . . that is, give them one piece (or more) of a matched set of luggage . . . and later you or the recipient can add to the set until they have completely matched set . . . and when could there be a better time to start a set of luggage than at graduation time?

FOR THE GIRL GRADUATE

For instance you could select one or more pieces from this set of Dobby Checked travel goods by Hartmann . . . then when she completed her set she would have a "lifetime" set of luggage.

18 inch O'Nite Case 13.50
22 inch Skyrobe Hanger Case 22.50
18 Hat and Shoe Case 22.50
29 inch Trip Robe Case 35.00
29 inch Pullman Tray Case 27.50

FOR THE MAN GRADUATE

There are many sets you could "start" for the Man graduate . . . we would suggest a set of Hartmann's cowhide "manly" luggage.

24 inch Gladstone . . . . . 5.95 to 12.50
18 inch Pilot Case to match . . . 7.95 to 16.50
18 inch New Type Gladstone . . . 16.50 to 25.00
Hartmann's famous Bondstreeter 2-suiter hanger case . . . . . 25.00 to 30.00

SELECT AS MANY PIECES AS YOU WISH . . . THEN ADD TO THE SET!

Hemphill-Wells Co.

HAVE YOU TRIED THE NEW "VELURE" VANISHING HAND LOTION BY BAUER & BLACK . . . IT CLEANSES, SOFTENS AND PROTECTS THE SKIN . . . NON-STICKY . . . QUICK DRYING . . . WILL NOT DULL NAIL POLISH . . . VERY ECONOMICAL . . . ASK ABOUT IT . . . TRY IT . . . ONLY 59c

Hemphill-Wells Co. Notes

NEW . . . the "Playmate" sport hat for misses . . . with a snood in the back and a visor in front and no top on it at all . . . a gay bow ribbon to hold it together . . . yours for sun-shading flattery . . . in white pique 1.95

Dial Telephones Recommended

In a letter to Mayor Carl S. Slaton, J. B. Patterson of Fort Worth, commercial manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., advised that he had recommended that dial telephones be installed in Lubbock.

The letter added that in Patterson's opinion, the information submitted with the recommendation justified the change here which, the city commission was told, would cost approximately $600,000 and would require 18 months to two years for installation.

Decision In Near Future

Patterson indicated that a decision on the recommendation should be forthcoming within 30 to 60 days.

The commercials manager promised that he would make the recommendation as to dials about 10 days ago when the city commission passed a resolution granting the company's application to increase rates on business phones in Lubbock by 50 cents per month and on residence phones by 25 cents.

City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley, who was not present when the resolution was passed, later ruled that state law required that any such approval had to be given by ordinance. The resolution then was changed to an ordinance which was passed on second reading by the commission Friday to make the rate boost "legal." The increase is to be effective June 11.

The new rate schedule will be $6 for business telephones, $2.75 for one-party residence, $2.25 for two-party residence and $2 for four-party residence. No four-party service is now available here. A condition of the increase was that a 15-cent charge for hand-set phones be removed.

Brock Will Attend Rail Hearing Today

When a hearing is conducted today in Amarillo by the railroad commission on application of Panhandle & Santa Fe railroad to take off two passenger trains operating between Amarillo and Lubbock, Lubbock Chamber of Commerce will be represented by J. H. Brock.

Hearing is to open at 9 o'clock in Herring hotel. The railroad seeks authority to abandon trains 94 and 95, between the two towns.

Plainview and Tulia, according to reports, plan large delegations to oppose the train removal.

No. 94 leaves Amarillo at 7:25 p. m. arriving here at 10:10 o'clock and reaches Fort Worth at 7:10 a. m. No. 95 leaves Fort Worth on the Texas & Pacific at 10:20 o'clock at night, arriving in Lubbock at 8:20 in the morning, and arriving in Amarillo at 11:30 o'clock.

Overnight sleeping service is had from Amarillo to Fort Worth and vice versa. Railroad claims are that between Amarillo and Lubbock the cost of operating the trains is between $80,000 and $85,000 a year above receipts. Besides passenger receipts, mail and express are carried.

Sales Managers Will Hear Kuykendall

Semi-monthly meeting will be conducted at 7:15 o'clock tonight in Lubbock hotel by Lubbock Sales Managers club.

George P. Kuykendall will speak.

President Ralph Penney will preside over the session. The group is composed of sales managers of Lubbock concerns. A dinner will be served in connection with the program.

Court Proceedings May Be Broadcast

Because of conditions existing worldwide, a naturalization proceeding to be held either May 28 or 29 likely will be broadcast from federal district court here.

Vaughn E. Wilson, president of Lubbock County Bar association, said the bar had voted to sponsor the broadcast. He had asked for a vote this morning at conclusion of docket settings in 72nd district court.

Wilson took action after he had received a request from Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson of Dallas that "all persons in Lubbock 21 years old" be asked to attend the naturalization proceeding.

Mrs. Olive Fluke, United States commissioner, said petitioners for naturalization had been asked earlier to appear the morning of the 29th, but that she had written Judge Davidson to learn definitely on what date the proceedings would fall.

Webb Will Speak At School Exercises

PLAINS, May 20.—Joe H. Webb, superintendent of schools at Slaton, is to deliver the commencement address for the Plains High school graduating class Friday night, Supt. Elliott announced.

R. P. Moreland will welcome the visitors; Earl Bryson, class president, will speak as will Cilisdean Weaver, valedictorian and Mabel Ameen, salutatorian.

Baccalaureate service was held Sunday night with Rev. J. E. Anderson, Baptist pastor, preaching.

Prisoner Of "Iron Lung" To Be Father In September

CHICAGO, May 20. (U.P.) — Fred B. Snite, jr., who has been a prisoner of "iron lungs" since 1936, expects to become a father in September, his father announced today.

Fred and his bride of last August, the former Teresa Larkin of Dayton, Ohio, are at Miami Beach, Fla., and plan to return to the palatial Snite home at River Forest, Ill., next month.

Announced In Paper

The 29-year-old infantile paralysis victim made his announcement in "Back Talk," a mimeographed newspaper which he publishes periodically for the benefit of his many correspondents.

Snite, sr., announcing "this makes me very happy," said that Fred revealed the impending arrival this way:

Noting that two Notre Dame classmates were expecting to become parents soon, he added:

"The two-legged bird is expected by Freddy and Tessie in September."

Has New Shirt

Snite was stricken April 1, 1936, at Peiping, China, while making a tour of the world. For months he spent his time in a reclining position in a 900-pound respirator tank. Early in 1937 physicians said he could not live more than five minutes outside the lung. But by delicate massage, the best of medical care and encouragement from family and friends, he made so much progress he soon was able to leave the lung for periods of from 25 to 30 minutes.

With the aid of a new "breathing" shirt, 100 times lighter than the massive "boiler" outfit, he became able to sit up and recently has spent as much as three hours at a time outside the heavy lung.

HEADS LOCKNEY SCHOOL

LOCKNEY — G. D. Tate, high school principal here for six years, has been elected superintendent by the board of trustees. He succeeds J. W. Jones who resigned to accept a place at Denver City. Tate has been with the system for 11 years. He holds a degree from Texas Technological college.

NEW IRRIGATION RATE

LOCKNEY, — City officials have announced an irrigation rate of $1 for 3,000, next 12,000 gallons, $1.
