Texas Democratic Committee Adopts Party Loyalty Pledge

Smith Forces Wreck Harmony Of Minnesota Demo Convention

Two Sets Of Delegates May Represent State At Chicago Meeting

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 9. (AP)—Minnesota's delegation to the national Democratic convention in June tonight was instructed to support Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for the party's nomination for president. Minnesota has 24 votes.

The instructions were issued at the state Democratic convention after a minority composed of supporters of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith bolted, organized a rump convention, and elected a separate set of delegates. Although formally uninstructed, this group announced it would support Smith if seated.

The bolting group declared for repeal of the 18th amendment, and many of the group then returned to the main convention and sought adoption of a similar resolution. Roosevelt supporters defeated the effort and voted instead for a plank urging a state-by-state referendum on prohibition.

With two sets of delegates claiming to represent Minnesota Democrats at the national convention next June, that body will be faced with the necessity of deciding which of the sets is to be recognized. Minnesota has 24 votes.

Smith supporters were led in their vote by a Minneapolis woman, Mrs. Ruth Haynes Carpenter, who was elected chairman of the rump convention. More than 200 delegates attended the gathering.

ROOSEVELT FORCES CHEERED BY VICTORY

WASHINGTON, March 9. (AP)—With New Hampshire's eight votes pledged to Franklin D. Roosevelt, supporters of the New York governor for the Democratic presidential nomination looked confidently to the West and South today for new delegations to continue.

The victory over Alfred E. Smith forces in the first presidential primary in New England pushed Roosevelt into the lead for the nomination with 24 delegates and spurred his adherents to predictions the movement to stop him had been defeated.

They clung to the belief that all or a majority of Minnesota's 24 votes would be pledged to the New Yorker, despite a controversy in that state's convention today between Roosevelt and Smith camps which resulted in a rump convention by advocates of the 1928 standard bearer.

Having been tested in the East, the Roosevelt candidacy will be put to its first trial in the Northwest

HOOVER DENIES HE NEGLECTED TO COOPERATE

President Strikes Back At Charge of Chairman Of Economy Committee

BYRNS RETALIATES

Chief Executive Declared He Instructed Aid To Expense Cut Move

WASHINGTON, March 9. (AP)—President Hoover struck back at and denied today a Democratic charge from Capitol hill he had neglected to cooperate with a special house economy committee in efforts to reduce federal expenditures.

The White House gave out a formal statement. Answering an assertion by Chairman Byrns of the economy committee that the president had offered his aid only through the press, the statement said "Congressman Byrns seems to be under some misimpression."

It was said on the chief executive's behalf he had instructed every arm of his administration to cooperate with the committee and that some cabinet members already had placed plans before it, while still other suggestions were en route.

"What the country wants and needs," the statement said, "is real results."

Tells Necessities

Yesterday, the president informed newspaper men that "further drastic economies" were necessary. He added, however, the limit of reductions by administrative action had been reached and that it remained for congress to authorize either reorganization of the federal government or a reduction of activities now required by law.

Promptly, Byrns issued a statement to the press in reply. He expressed "considerable surprise" Mr. Hoover had not submitted to the committee "information he was supposed to have when he forwarded his special message on reorganization to congress." He charged there had been no direct communication offering aid to his committee.

The White House statement of today was released after the chief executive had been closeted with one of his secretaries more than an hour. It said President Hoover was "glad" Speaker Garner had appointed the special economy committee to undertake a reorganization of government departments, even though he (the president) had suggested the task be left to him.

Jury Frees Amarillo Officer of Slaying

AMARILLO, Texas, March 9. (AP)—A district court jury tonight returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of E. R. Murr, former Amarillo policeman, on trial the past three days on a murder charge in connection with the slaying of Bill Elston, a Panhandle youth, at a local dance resort last summer.

Elston was slain, testimony revealed, when he fled from Murr and Sid Harper, another officer, who arrested him on a charge of alleged criminal assault upon a 15-year-old Amarillo girl.

Murr, on the stand this morning said he had not drawn his pistol, and denied having said "Stop, damn it, or I'll kill you," as was testified by a state's witness.

Imperial Potentate Of Shrine Honored In Day Of Activity Here

Order Must Continue as "Playground of Masonry," Houston Says in Warning Against "Too Much Seriousness"

Issuing a warning that the Shrine is losing sight of its fundamental purpose of serving as a playground for Masonry, Thomas J. Houston of Chicago, imperial potentate of the Shrine, declared the purpose of his trip of inspection was to get shriners to return to the original purpose of the organization in the principal address at a banquet in his honor at the Wichita club Wednesday night.

Mr. Houston reviewed the history of the shrine organized 60 years ago by a group of 13 New York Masons who felt that the seriousness of Masonry needed a relief outlet. "The Shrine today is the only organization in the world under three flags that is governed by one head. The Shrine extends from Panama to the Arctic circle and from Hawaii to Halifax," Mr. Houston said. He is the head over 158 temples in North America, representing 550,000 shriners.

China Presented

A beautiful set of china, selected by Mrs. Walter D. Cline and Mrs. Sydney A. Gaines, was presented to Mr. Houston by Past Potentate Guy Rogers and Potentate Guy Carlander of Khiva temple at Amarillo at the close of the address.

Potentate Sydney A. Gaines of Maskat temple presided at the banquet and visiting shriners and dignitaries were introduced by Director Kindel Paulk. Chief Raban C. A. Rogers introduced Dr. H. E. Sharrer who delivered a humorous

UNITED WELL TO TEST SAND

Chalk Hill Extension Has Good Prospects

The United Producers company No. A-1 L. F. Wilson in block 118, A. T. N. C. L. survey, in Archer county, encountered the 2200-foot Chalk Hill sand and will set casing to test.

The well, a wildcat approximately one and one-half miles southwest of the pool in which is located the Deep Oil Development & Lindsay deep producers, will be the means of extending this deeper horizon in a southwesterly direction from the original wells, and at the same time embrace a substantial scope of new and undrilled territory for further exploitation in an effort to pick up this productive pay.

In the event of a nice producer here, the United company will be the first concern outside the original company to bring in a well from this pay although on the surrounding tracts a number of tests were drilled but resulted in failures.

The test, which is also one and a quarter miles south of the L. T. Burns property and production, is 990 feet south and 990 feet east of the northwest corner of south 120 acres out of lot 3, block 118, A. T. N. C. L. survey. Interest in the test for the past few days has been of the keenest kind, and the outcome of bailing operations will be awaited with much concern by the greater portion of the district's operators.

Negro Prisoner Kills Two Officers In Jail Battle Before Being Slain

NEW ORLEANS, March 9. (AP)—Running amuck with pistols and a pump gun in the 12th precinct police station here today, Percy Thompson, 28, negro, held off 100 officers for an hour, shot and killed two policemen, wounded a third officer and a negro trusty and two hours later was slain while riding in a police automobile.

The dead men were Patrolmen Cornelius Ford and Corporal George Weidert. The wounded are Patrolman Albert Oestricher, with a bullet wound in the abdomen, and William King, the negro trusty.

Thompson was shot in the chest as he was rushed in his unlocked cell by a group of officers led by Harry Gregson, chief of detectives, and was disarmed and captured.

He was taken to a hospital for treatment of his first wound. There Thompson said he rebelled over a beating given him by officers with a rubber hose in the police station. He said he snatched Ford's pistol and shot him.

On being taken from the hospital to the first precinct station, Thompson was said by Officers Vick Swanson and James Smith, accompanying him, to have snatched at Swanson's holster in an attempt to get his revolver. Swanson shot the negro near the heart and Thompson died a few minutes later.

Thompson was armed with two pistols and a pump gun taken from the men he had killed and wounded.

HOUSTON WINS CONVENTION OF PARTY MAY 24

'Fealty' Requirement Firmly Inserted in Rules For State Voters

CONCEDE TO BOLTERS

Basis of Representation Changed to Welcome Truants Back

By J. R. WEAR
Associated Press Staff

FORT WORTH, March 9.—Insistence on party loyalty was quietly but firmly pronounced today by the Democratic state executive committee, at a meeting here which voted unanimously to hold the state presidential convention May 24 at Houston.

The committee voted without dissent to require all persons participating in precinct conventions to pledge their support of the party nominees for president and vice president. The resolution was offered by Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls and aroused little discussion.

1928 Bolt Soft-Pedaled

Scant mention was made of the fact that a large faction of "ultra-drys" bolted the party ticket in Texas in 1928 and voted for Herbert Hoover for president.

It was regarded by many as a concession to these "bolters" whom the committee wishes to welcome back into the party that it changed the basis of representation on the county and state conventions. It voted to allow each precinct one vote in the county convention for each 50 votes cast in the governor's run-off primary two years ago and each county convention one vote in the state convention for each 500 votes cast in the same race.

Hitherto, representation in the state convention was apportioned on the basis of one vote for every 300 cast in the previous presidential election.

The resolution was submitted by Sam C. Lackey of Cuero.

Congress Race Settled

The committee voted, 20 to 6, to certify candidates for congressman at large, according to place, for the three additional seats allowed Texas under the 1930 census apportionment, rather than permit them to engage in a free-for-all race.

The question aroused much discussion.

The Francis resolution, as adopted, bound the committee to certify the two highest candidates for each place from the July primary in the August run-off and each of the three candidates receiving a majority of votes for their respective places as the party nominees in the November general election.

Albert Sidney Johnson, committee secretary, submitted a legal brief relative to federal statute for

Allred And Moody Pitted In Oil Suit

AUSTIN, March 9. (UP)—Former Governor Dan Moody was pitted against Atty. Gen. James V. Allred here today in defending the $17,850,000 antitrust penalty suit brought by Allred against 15 major oil companies, the American Petroleum institute and the Texas Petroleum Marketers association.

When former Governor Moody, appearing for the Magnolia Petroleum company, quoted the farm cooperative marketing act as a block to prosecution of cooperative oil marketing, Allred twitted him with having signed the farm cooperative marketing act while governor.

The former governor was to continue his argument in 98th district court here tomorrow. He was preceded by Rhodes Baker of Dallas, attorney for the Simms Oil company. Baker also argued that the antitrust act is invalid because it is discriminatory.

ATLANTA, March 9. (AP)—A year's struggle to keep breath in the body of 4-year-old Clarence Hamilton was lost today.

Intermittently, the child had been a patient at Grady hospital.

Clarence suffered from tracoma, a closing of the bronchial tubes. For the greater part of the time since he was stricken he had breathed through a silver tube inserted in his throat.

Yesterday his mother brought him back to the hospital, suffering from the old trouble. The tube was inserted again but he was unable to withstand the shock and died early today.

Mr. Henry Pu-Yi, once king of all China for a brief time, was inaugurated as executive head of the new Manchurian state of "Ankuo." The republic was formed under Japanese tutelage after a military conquest early this year.

JAPAN SUBMITS NEW PROPOSAL

Henry Pu-Yi Installed As Manchurian Ruler

(By The Associated Press)

Japan submitted a new peace proposal at Shanghai today and at the same time pressed ahead with the movement of reinforcements and supplies to the front.

The new proposals, details of which were not made public, expressed Japan's eagerness to negotiate a truce because of the "imminent possibility that hostilities will break out afresh."

Japanese authorities at Shanghai said they were arresting two Japanese civilians who gave Miss Rose Marlow, missionary teacher from Williamsburg, Ky., a severe beating last Friday.

In Tokyo police announced they had discovered the existence of a small group of fanatical patriots, banded together to assassinate eminent Japanese leaders. The police blamed this group for the recent assassinations of Baron Takuma Dan and Junosuke Inouye, former finance minister.

In Changchun, Manchuria, Mr. Henry Pu-Yi was installed as ruler of the new Manchurian-Mongolian state at a ceremony featured by much kowtowing and weird music.

A drafting committee of the League of Nations assembly worked on a resolution to define the assembly's program in the Sino-Japanese conflict—a program expected to ask the withdrawal of the Japanese forces at Shanghai.

Sheriff John J. Burtschell of Lee county headed a posse that set out in pursuit from Giddings. State rangers also took up the chase. Burglary insurance protected the loss.

'Radio Psychology' Alters NBC Kidnaping Remarks

CHICAGO, March 9. (UP)—"Radio psychology" caused the National Broadcasting company to order its announcers today to say "The Lindbergh baby is still missing" in reporting absence of news about the child.

The announcers previously had said "The Lindbergh baby has not been found." Although the announcers stressed the word "not," many listeners ignored it, explained officials. They said psychologists held that people often hear only what they wish to hear, in this case news of the baby's safe return.

BANDITS MEET DISASTER IN BANK ATTEMPT

'Town Guard' Opens Fire, Kills One and Wounds Two, One Seriously

EMPLOYES FIRED ON

Slain Robber Identified As Former Oklahoma Deputy Sheriff

MILL CREEK, Okla., March 9. (AP)—While two robbers escaped with $7,000 at Skiatook, in northern Oklahoma today, the "town guard" of this sleepy south Oklahoma village "turned the tables" on a trio of bandits. One was killed, one probably fatally wounded and the third less seriously wounded and captured later.

Two men entered the First National bank of Mill Creek while the third waited in an automobile. After forcing three employes to fill a handbag with money, the robbers ordered the three to accompany them outside.

But the employes dashed into the vault. Enraged, one of the robbers fired at the vault door.

As the robbers fled from the building they met a withering gunfire from the vigilantes. The man in the car escaped in a hail of bullets as his companions dropped to the sidewalks beside the money satchel, containing approximately $800.

The dead man was identified as Fred Hamner, former Wewoka deputy sheriff who had appealed from a five-year sentence for automobile larceny. Luther C. Smalley of Seminole, who was shot down with Hamner as they emerged from the bank, was believed fatally wounded.

Adams Ritchie was captured in a pasture near town a few hours after the robbery. Suffering from bullet wounds, he offered no resistance.

"Ri-Ri" will be kept in bed for a month, recovering from parental neglect and then will be taken back to its birth place, the private zoo of coal dealer, George F. Getz at Holland, Mich.

Abductors Send Word 'Further Dealing Is Not Safe at Present'

Baby Alive and Safe, New Jersey Governor Hints in Statement; State Police Remove All Signs of Barring Private Negotiations With Kidnapers

TRENTON, N. J., March 9. (AP)—A belief the kidnaped Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., will be returned to his parents alive and well was expressed tonight by Gov. A. Harry Moore.

"I have absolute confidence," he said, "that the baby will come back alive and safe. I don't know when, but whenever it is I feel sure he will be in good health."

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9. (AP)—Although Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has taken every possible step to negotiate directly and confidentially with the kidnapers of his son, it was learned tonight in an apparently reliable quarter the abductors have informed him they did not feel it yet safe to deal with him further.

The two notes he received Sunday are reported to have contained the information that when the child-stealers considered the time "proper and safe," they would let the famous flier know how he would communicate with them.

Neither these two notes nor the ransom demand left pinned to the window sill of the nursery a week ago last night contained specific information about where and how the parents could reach the kidnapers to bargain with them.

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 9. (AP)—Any hint of police interference with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's private efforts to recover his kidnaped son was swept away tonight by the simple statement of the head of the state police that Mrs. Lindbergh's health would not permit it.

Secret negotiations being pressed under direction of the famous flier are "strictly personal," Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf said, and "the condition of the health of Mrs. Anne Lindbergh is such that we cannot interfere in these matters."

He barred all questions about what he meant referring to the mother's condition by saying that "matters pertaining to the private affairs, the habits and the health of the Lindbergh family will not be given out."

Progress Unknown

There was no intimation of how far the separate, under-cover activities of the family had progressed, or if return of their child seemed imminent.

It was made clear by Colonel Schwarzkopf that authorities had not concluded their investigation of Henry (Red) Johnson, seaman-suitor of the Lindbergh baby's nursemaid. Johnson is being held in Newark.

The New York Evening Post said it had been informed by a person in touch with the Lindberghs the aviator-father had known for several days where the baby was hidden, that he opened the negotiations with the kidnapers Sunday night, and that he child is being kept on a boat.

Colonel Schwarzkopf said there was nothing to indicate the truth of the boat theory. He added in answer to another question that Johnson already had been questioned as to his association with sailors or officers of small craft which might have been used in the kidnaping.

It was disclosed in the evening press conference there apparently are two Betty Gows. The one who has figured in the case is the baby's nursemaid, who discovered he had been stolen from his sickbed. The other is a woman reported by State's Attorney Hugh Alcorn, Hartford, Conn., to have been deported two years ago and to have served six months in England.

The police said they "seemed to be" different persons, but added they had not concluded their investigation of this phase of the case.

Sunday the Lindberghs received two new notes, which handwriting experts agreed were from the kidnapers. They based this belief on the similarity of the writing with that of the first ransom demand left pinned to a window sill of the nursery.

Search Renewed

The hilly country surrounding the Lindbergh home was being searched today by picked state troopers.

Their renewed hunt for the baby boy in the Souriand countryside spread over an area 25 miles square.

Efforts still were being made to identify the kidnapers' ladder as having been made from material left over from a construction job at the Skillman state home for epileptics.

The Lindberghs are known to have the aid of some of the most expert private detectives in the East, the advantage of underworld "go-betweens" if they need them, and the advice of sagacious friends.

Since employment of the private detectives there has been no indication of what clues they are working on or what the result of their confidential investigation has been.

There has been a similar lack of news about the movements and progress, if any, made by Salvatore (Salvy) Spitale and Irving Bitz, the

EAST TEXAS FRUIT, TOMATO CROPS KILLED

Norther Swings South And Inflicts Heavy Losses On Farmers

Shortly after midnight Wednesday the Wichita Falls temperature had dropped to 22 degrees.

(By The Associated Press)

Frost caused severe losses last night to agriculturists of Texas, especially in the northern and eastern portions, where fruit and vegetable crops were hit hard.

The cold wave which the weather bureau had predicted would bring snow to all of North Texas veered off to the east and sidetracked the snow.

Lowest Temperatures

Nevertheless, it brought the coldest weather of the winter to Northeast Texas and sub-freezing temperatures of most of the state. The Panhandle had .01 inch of snow and suffered losses to grain crops and stockmen feared they also had been affected.

To the south the freeze was felt clear to the gulf coast. Damage from frost in Nueces county was in excess of $200,000. Cucumber and bean crops were ruined and early cotton was nipped badly.

The coldest weather of the state was experienced in the Panhandle where the mercury fell to 12 above zero. At Dallas it was 20. Other points in Northeast Texas had readings in that range.

East Texas Fruit Killed

From Jacksonville, in Cherokee county, it was reported that practically the entire tomato crop was wiped out, with only a few plants that remained in hot beds saved. It was believed the entire peach crop was killed. Onions set out in fields were reported damaged as much as 50 per cent.

From Omaha, Morris county, the largest Elberta peach growing center in East Texas, came reports that most if not all of the fruit in that vicinity had been killed.

Smith county reports said fruit crops were damaged 95 per cent, tomatoes 75 per cent and that early vegetables and strawberries were almost totally destroyed. At Troup, Smith county, loss of tomato plants in cold frames and of fruit was estimated at 80 to 90 per cent.

TEMPERATURES RISE SLOWLY IN NORTH TEXAS

Indications of slowly moderating weather were seen here Wednesday as temperatures climbed 17 degrees after equalling the low mark for the season during early morning.

Wednesday's high temperature of 37 degrees is the highest of the past two days. Both Tuesday and Wednesday morning temperature here registered 20 degrees, the low mark for the current winter.

Over this entire section the mercury was below the freezing point during the greater part of the day.

NEW YORK, March 9. (US)—In a verdict directed by the court, Thomas M. Farley, whom Governor Roosevelt removed as sheriff, today was acquitted on a charge of stealing $118.75 interest on funds entrusted to his official care.

The evidence was "insufficient" to sustain the charge, General Sessions Judge Freschi ruled. When informed the state had presented its stronger of two cases, he dismissed a second, similar, indictment of second degree grand larceny involving $125.

Explosion Of Gas Tank Takes Toll Of 14 Lives At New Jersey Plant

CAMDEN, N. J., March 9. (UP)—Fourteen men were killed and four others seriously injured today when a gas tank in which they were working exploded with a roar heard throughout the city.

Six of the men were regular employes of the Republic Service Electric and Gas company, owners of the tank. The others had been chosen from the city's rolls of unemployed—fathers of families happy to get a day's work. Five of the dead are negroes.

One of the 19 men engaged in cleaning the big tank saw a blue flame creeping along the metal side of the "box," and ran away. He was about 100 yards from the tank when the blast came, knocking him to the ground. He was the only one to escape. The four injured men were on top of the tank.

"This is the worst thing I have ever seen in my experience," said Coroner Benjamin H. Denny. "It was a ghastly and horrible sight."

Preliminary investigation indicated that the vent at the top of the tank had not been opened sufficiently to ventilate the enclosure, and that an inrush of oxygen started spontaneous combustion. Police, fire department and private gas company investigations were in progress tonight.

Although the explosion took place at 7 a. m., it was not until five hours later that a checkup could be made of the casualties.

Body of Famous Bandmaster Lies in State

WASHINGTON, March 9. (AP)—The body of John Philip Sousa lay tonight in a flag draped casket in the marine barracks whose spacious halls during his lifetime often had been filled with the pulsing melody he created.

As a chubby faced lad of 13, Sousa first began to play in the marine barracks. That was in 1867. Later, his talent undisputed, he led the marine band there.

Despite unusual cold, people, some known to many and some to few, went in little groups throughout the day to pay tribute.

Congress laid aside legislation to honor the bandmaster. The senate adopted a resolution of tribute.

It provided that Vice President Curtis name a senate group to attend the funeral tmorrow at 3 o'clock and the Republican and Democratic leaders, Watson of Indiana and Robinson of Arkansas, respectively, McNary, Republican, Oregon, Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico, and Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, were chosen.

Capt. Frank B. Goettge of the marine corps was designated by President Hoover to represent the White House.

In the house, the Democratic leader, Rainey of Illinois, called him the greatest composer of "martial music who ever lived in the world."

Carrigan Gives Talk on Nature of Government

Members of the Optimist club Wednesday heard an address by Joe B. Carrigan, local attorney, upon "The Nature of Government."

Governmental institutions are the result of individual grants of leadership to other individuals, the speaker said. Leadership, he pointed out, is inherently present in some persons, and inherently recognized in others, so that when even two persons get together, one is the leader.

Criticism of government, Mr. Carrigan said, should be tempered by the realization that government is of our own making. He declared that rights and liberties of individuals today are being curtailed by the creation of increasing numbers of bureaus, which in many instances are allowed to create their own laws.

R. E. Shepherd sang several solos accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd. It was announced that the annual election of officers will be held on Wednesday, March 23. W. R. Hyer arranged Wednesday's program.

J. H. Sims of Electra Dies at Hospital Here

J. H. Sims, 69, of Electra, died in a Wichita Falls hospital at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He was admitted to the hospital Sunday. The body was taken in charge by Totten Brothers of Electra, pending completion of arrangements.

A false alarm at 12:45 o'clock Wednesday afternoon took a city fire fighting unit to the Wichita Cleaners and Dyers plant at Tenth and Austin.

'Perfect Type' Of American Beauty

Although Al Jolson is considered the star, the producers of "The Wonder Bar," the European musical comedy success to be shown at Memorial auditorium Friday night, have not stinted in their desire to surround him with a cast of the highest caliber.

Claire Windsor, who has a stellar role in the "Wonder Bar," and is renowned as a movie celebrity, has been declared the most perfect type of American beauty.

"The Wonder Bar" arrives in Wichita Falls Friday at noon in its special train of eight cars from Amarillo, and will show at the Dallas Fair Park coliseum Saturday night. H. C. Cheshire, the local producer, stated that indications are for a crowded house Friday night. The show is declared to be a riot of comedy from the first curtain and with a cast of 74 people plenty of action is promised. The downtown ticket sale will remain at the Renfro Drug store Friday night until 6 o'clock, and will then be moved to the auditorium. The curtain has been announced for 8:15.

Police Remove All Doubt As To Plan Giving Kidnapers Chance To Deliver

two underworld characters named by Colonel Lindbergh as his "go-betweens."

Colonel Lindbergh has not met newspaper men since he began directing his own negotiations.

Talked to Reporters

Colonel Schwarzkopf, who has been directing the coordinated police investigation from the Lindbergh estate, spoke directly to reporters today for the first time since immediately after the kidnaping.

He said the system of the press sending lists of questions five times daily to the Lindbergh home and getting answers from police there, if and when police chose to answer, would be continued.

In Boston Mayor James M. Curley said he had been informed by a New York broker whom he declined to name that the Lindbergh baby had been returned to his home by the kidnapers after the parents had agreed not to notify police for 72 hours.

Police at the hilltop home stated flatly the baby was not in either the Lindbergh or Morrow homes and said they knew nothing of the report.

"Do you expect the return of the child within any definite period; how long; why?" State police were asked in one of the press conferences of the day.

"We do not know," was the reply.

"Is the progress of late yesterday continuing?"

"Yes," came the answer from police stationed at the Sourland estate.

Refused to Answer

The officers refused to answer a question as to whether "Colonel Lindbergh, Col. Henry Breckenridge (his attorney) or any other agent of Colonel Lindbergh's has been in communication with the kidnapers during the past 12 hours."

While Henry (Red) Johnson, seaman-suitor of the Lindbergh baby's nursemaid, still was being detained at Newark, authorities were asked if any witness had been found who placed him or his car near Hopewell the night of the kidnaping. The answer was "no."

But they reiterated a statement that they have made nearly every day since Johnson's arrest last Friday night in Hartford, Conn.—that they are unable to answer most questions about that phase of the case because "our investigation of his movements is incomplete."

Fingerprints Found

Official silence greeted a question put in the late afternoon press conference—whether police had located any hide-out within spyglass range of the Lindbergh home that might have been used by the kidnapers while plotting the crime.

It was disclosed for the first time by authorities that finger prints had been found on a chisel picked up four feet from where the kidnapers had left the ladder. The prints, however, were "smeared beyond identification when found," a press conference answer said.

Police in Niagara Falls, N. Y., said that at the request of New Jersey state police they were searching for J. Norman Beck, dog race promoter, and a possible companion named "Archie." They said New Jersey authorities wanted to know the whereabouts of the pair at the time of the kidnaping.

Message Received

At the late day press conference the following question was put:

"Is it true a man known only as 'Archy' said to be a former employe of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow is being sought?"

"We know nothing of this," came the reply.

At New Haven, Conn., police appeared convinced Tony Meslo, contractor held in jail since Monday night, knew nothing of the kidnaping. A woman had said she heard him and two companions discussing the baby 10 months ago.

West Virginia cabins were searched by police on the strength of a note which read:

"Fly 32 miles south of Elkins, W. Va. Lindbergh baby in log cabin. Come alone. Out of food."

An aviator in Cumberland, Md., told police there a man in a mud-splattered automobile handed him an envelope containing the message printed on a piece of a road map.

MAYOR DENIES HE REPORTED BABY'S RETURN

BOSTON, Mass., March 9. (UP)—Mayor James J. Curley today denied he had made definite statements regarding the reputed safety of the Lindbergh baby, and blamed "a newspaper friend" for spreading a report which he later relayed to other friends.

The mayor was reported to have said in conversation that he understood the baby had been returned Sunday, and that by agreement with his kidnapers, no news would be given out "for 72 hours."

Investigation of the report resulted in an official denial by the mayor that he had made a definite statement. Curley said he was merely repeating, in confidence, a report he had received from a reporter.

but according to dispatchers of the Fort Worth and Denver and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas lines temperatures were milder than those registered Tuesday.

A light north wind continued throughout the territory Wednesday night, with temperatures to the northwest ranging from 31 to 35 degrees. To the north, in Oklahoma, conditions were slightly colder, with 26 degrees registering at Woodward at 5 p. m. Skies were clear at all points, except in the vicinity of Vernon, where it was slightly cloudy.

(By The Associated Press)

While two ships struggled helplessly in angry waters off the Atlantic seaboard, landlubbers felt the sting of a belated winter yesterday.

Temperatures were at their lowest points of the winter in eastern and southeastern states, most of them whitened by snow, in some cases many feet deep. Trains and buses still yielded minutes and hours to the deep drifts.

The 34 men aboard the collier De Bardeleben, rolling in the heavy seas 270 miles southeast of Nantucket lightship, held their posts from necessity rather than desire. For more than two days, they have kept steerage way by keeping the engines pounding incessantly. The heavy seas have prevented life boats being lowered. The passenger liner Adriatic still stood by as the coast guard cutter Ossipee drew slowly nearer.

The German freighter Harburg, at a point about 180 miles off Cape Sable, N. S., also was endangered by a broken rudder. It sent an SOS, which was picked up by the liner President Harding along with the reassuring message that the steamer Vincent was nearby and steaming to the Harburg's assistance. The German vessel carries a crew of 35.

Snow as deep as three and a half inches lay in places in South Carolina, which had enjoyed the warmest winter in 40 years.

In upstate New York, where the winter had been similarly mild—temperatures dropped as low as zero. Fresh snowstorms raged in western New York. Two persons were in hospitals suffering from exposure. A youth was found frozen to death near Harrisburg, Pa. Fifty automobiles and two buses were freed by highway crews after being marooned more than two days. Three more buses remained snowbound in the same section.

Ousting of Judge Is Sought in 'Honor' Slaying

HONOLULU, Hawaii, March 9. (US)—Disqualification of Circuit Judge Albert Moses Cristy as presiding judge in the Massie "honor" killing case, was sought today in an affidavit filed by the defense. The trial was recently set for March 28.

The affidavit charges that Judge Cristy coerced the grand jury into returning second degree murder indictments when the sentiment of the jury was to present a "no true bill" in favor of Mrs. Granville R. Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and two navy enlisted men charged with having killed Joseph Kahahawai, a Hawaiian, on Jan. 8.

Reduction Of Tax Burdens Vital To Progress, Hoffman Tells Club

Pleas for a concerted movement on the part of individuals to bring about reductions in governmental expenses were renewed by Luther Hoffman in an address before members of the Lions club at the Wichita club Wednesday noon.

More than 45 members of the club were present, and took occasion to extend an ovation to Hank Severeid, Wichita Falls Spudders' manager, who was a guest of the club. Severeid thanked the club and city for its reception and enthusiasm on behalf of the ball club.

Expenses of government have been far too high in all governmental units, Mr. Hoffman said, with the result that a heavy tax burden has been shouldered by the citizenship. Combined efforts of the public to effect a lowering of such costs must be maintained, the speaker continued, for "the natural tendency will be to forget high taxes in another year or so when we all start making money again."

"The situation is really serious. We are having difficulty in paying our teachers. Last year the county went in debt. The city has greatly reduced its budget and may have trouble in getting by in spite of that. State warrants are not being paid as they are issued.

"One way to cut the tax burden would be to reduce the number of public officials. The government, both federal and state, is trying to do many things for the citizen which the citizen should do for himself. Texas is even trying to regulate barbers and is telling the man who cuts your hair every time he must get out a clean towel.

"Many courthouse offices could be consolidated and increased efficiency would result. County, city, state, school and other taxes should all be assessed and collected out of one office. Other consolidations would be the county and district attorneys, the county auditor and county treasurer and the county judge and the judge of the county court at law."

Roy J. Mann, president, was presented with a key from the Lions International organization for having been the first member of the local club to obtain two new members. Presentation was made by H. J. Bruce.

Tap dancing by Misses June Louise Young and Jean Ruth was included in Wednesday's program. Accompaniments were played by Miss Mildred Anderson. Visitors included Newton Huff, Hank Severeid, Arch Dawson, Harry Maricle, and Raymond Tillman.

nomination of congressman at large.

Court Action Planned

He said that several candidates had advised him that regardless of which plan was adopted, a mandamus action would be filed before the state supreme court to compel the committee to certify one candidate's name in the other way.

Committee members agreed that such action would be welcome, as a prompt court ruling would preclude the possibility of an election error that might cost the Texas Democratic party three seats in congress.

The committee elected John B. Guinn of Jacksonville in the place of Frank B. Guinn of Rusk, who died recently. It also elected E. M. Bramlette of Longview in the place of W. C. Hurst of Longview, whose membership was voided by his recent appointment as district judge.

Although there was no discussion of candidates there was a salvo of handclapping when one speaker mentioned Speaker John N. Garner, saying, "it will be a great day for Texas if he is nominated in Chicago and elected president."

Mayor Walter Monteith presented Houston's plea for the May 24 convention and it received 16 votes on the first ballot, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Austin, and Dallas winning only scattering votes. Houston then was unanimously selected.

CANDIDATES TO TEST POWER OF DEMO COMMITTEE

LA GRANGE, Texas, March 9. (AP)—L. J. Sulak and Ben F. Harigel, both of La Grange and both candidates for congressman at large, plan to test the power of the state Democratic executive committee to force candidates to file for places on the ticket.

Sulak conferred with his lawyers in Houston relative to injunction proceedings against the committee.

Asserting the committee has too much power, Harigel indicated he would question its authority and with other candidates would seek to restrain enforcement of the ruling relative to filing for place.

Interesting Topics Are Studied At Club Meetings

Interesting topics including lessons on foreign countries, the people and social customs, and delightful book reviews were enjoyed by members of Wednesday Study clubs at their weekly meetings.

Mrs. C. L. Baum was hostess to the Standard club when the first study of Australia furnished the topic, and a fitting program on the subject was furnished by P. M. Lenbke, brother-in-law of the hostess who has made his home in that country for several years where he owns a sheep ranch. Mr. Lenbke sent four exceedingly instructive papers to the club on Australia treating of its history and migration to settlement, government, aboriginees, social life and customs. Mesdames O. P. Maricle and Houston Rogers read the papers, and preceding this, Mrs. Baum gave an illustrated talk using a map of the country.

In the business session, Mrs. C. W. Brides-To-Be Given Advice By Emily Post

By EMILY POST

Brides-to-Be

The ever thrilling subject of weddings dominates my mail this morning.

W. K. J. writes: "My family is in mourning and I am having the smallest possible wedding. Will you kindly tell me under these circumstances to whom, and when, and how, the wedding announcements should be sent out?"

Wedding announcements are always sent to the complete visiting lists of both families, including also acquaintances living at a distance as well as those at home. Also, they are always addressed and stamped beforehand and taken to the postoffice immediately after the wedding. (The same day, or at latest, the morning after).

When to Give Gifts

B. L. D. asks: "Is it now considered proper for a young woman to have her silver and linen marked with her prospective husband's initials?"

Many years ago silver given to a girl before she married—that is, her wedding silver—was marked with her maiden initial, as was also her household linen. But as it was very uncomfortable to live for life with everything marked "S" when the family name was Jones, it became customary about 25 years ago, to mark Mary Smith's silver and linen with a "J" for Jones. My third question:

"Is it necessary to give a gift upon receiving an announcement of a wedding?"

No obligation of any sort is entailed by the receipt of a wedding announcement—if the wedding was one of any size. If no one but the immediate family was present at the marriage, and the bride is an intimate friend, you would probably send a present—not because you received an announcement but because some one you care for is being married.

Fathers Night Observed At Junior College

A large enthusiastic crowd enjoyed the interesting program presented by the High School and Junior College Parent-Teacher association at the Junior college auditorium Tuesday evening when "father's night" was observed.

The program was opened with a group of songs by the boys' glee club directed by Mrs. Hermione Stewart Vaughan, and this was followed by a clever reading entitled "The Woman of Long Ago, and the "Modern Woman of Today" given by Miss Dorothy Nolen.

Mrs. Harry ten Brink, the president, presided at a brief business session when it was announced Mesdames Warman, Ed Peterson and A. B. Maples were selected to name new officers.

The topic for the program for the evening was "Ethical Character and Good Citizenship as Means of Developing an Enriched Program for School and Home," and the basic points of character building in the school were discussed by Miss Pauline Shirley, who said, in part: "If we do not teach our pupils ideas and ideals beyond those found between the cover of textbooks we shall have fallen short in the tasks we have assumed. Along with the scholastic training, an effort is made to encourage higher standards of citizenship among the boys and girls.

"Some traits which we stress and by which we measure citizenship are dependability, reliability and trustworthiness in all phases of school life; respect for rights, privileges and property of others; care of school property; punctuality and regularity in attendance and in the perfomance of all school duties; good habits of health and personal cleanliness; and every day practice of fairness, generosity, honesty and courtesy to all."

Roy J. Daniel discussed the basic points of character training in the home and in his usual masterful manner told of the requirements necessary to proper child training by the parents.

Miss Mamie Raborn discussed the subject in the school curriculum which emphasizes good citizenship, and gave the parents a clear insight to the work being done in the schools on this important phase of life, and stressed that parents must cooperate with the teachers in order to produce good future citizens.

Before the meeting, those attending were invited by Dean Rider of the Junior college and high school to visit the manual training, art, mechanical drawing and biology departments of the school.

Cleverly illustrated programs made by students of the art department were distributed, and hosts and hostesses for the evening were Messrs. and Mesdames Fred Sehmann, Ed Peterson, Ed Napier and Dean and Mrs. Rider.

Here's Something Not One Wife in 50 Knows About Coffee .. Say Domestic Science Experts

You May Try 20 Different Brands And Get the Self-Same Coffee In All . . .

Almost 70 Per Cent of All Coffee Sold Comes From One Country . . . It's Just Put Up In Different Packages . . . That's All.

DO you know WHY changing your brand of coffee hasn't made the coffee you serve any better?

It's because almost 70 per cent of all coffee sold in stores today (according to U. S. Imports) comes from one country. It's all the same taste. In fact, it's all practically the same coffee—except for the names on the packages.

Not one person in 50 knows this, domestic science experts say. And scarcely 1 in 20 ever has a chance to taste any of the finer coffees, that come from other regions.

Here are 20 Different Brands but the Coffee Inside is the Same in all. Grown in the same producing country and having just the same taste. That's why you note so little difference when you change brands.

Would you like to try some of these choice coffees? Then ask your grocer for Folger's. It's not just a different brand, but coffee from a different producing country.

From Central America

From tiny mountain districts along the West Coast of Central America we procure coffees that are different in flavor and quality from any you've ever tasted before.

They have a rare winey tang, and a rich full body, that experts concede are not duplicated by any other region in the world. These are the rare coffees that you taste in Folger's. And packed in the latest type vacuum tin they come to you always exactly as fresh as they left the roaster.

We don't want to tell you how good this coffee is. We want you to try it yourself and see.

A 3-Day Test

To compare Folger's flavor, order a pound of this coffee today. Drink it tomorrow morning. Next morning drink the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folger's again. And remember, if you do not choose Folger's, your grocer will gladly refund the full purchase price. We pay him. That's fair, isn't it? 131

SHOALS BILL STARTS AGAIN

Senate Committee Approves Old Measure

WASHINGTON, March 9. (AP)—The Norris Muscle Shoals bill for government operation, which was vetoed by President Hoover at the last session of congress, was approved today by the senate agriculture committee.

The controversial measure, which deals with the government's $150,000,000 plant on the Tennessee river was started on its long legislative journey once more by almost a unanimous vote.

Every member of the committee voted for it except Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, who voted present.

The committee favored the bill introduced by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, over the bill introduced by Senator Kean, Republican, New Jersey, to carry out the recommendations of the commission appointed by President Hoover and the governors of Tennessee and Alabama.

Norris and other sponsors of his bill contend that it will permit the president to carry out the commission's recommendations for operation of the nitrate plant by a farmer organization for the production of fertilizer.

The bill provides that the president shall have a year in which to negotiate a lease for private operation of the nitrate plant.

If no lease has been negotiated at the end of the year the government would operate the plant for experimental manufacture of fertilizer.

The bill was approved by the committee as presented to President Hoover near the end of the last session.

LOVED TO EAT, AND NOW SHE CAN!

Much of the suffering from so-called "indigestion" or acid-dyspepsia could be avoided if everyone could know what thousands like Miss Lillian Ralston have learned. This New York City business woman, who lives at 1160 Park Avenue, says:

"I suffered from headaches and heartburn after meals; couldn't sleep like I should; never felt right.

"For five years I experimented with medicines and treatments, until I learned about Pape's Diapepsin. I have used three packages now; have gained five pounds, and feel fine."

If you, too, suffer from sourness, gas, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, or pain after eating—either regularly or just at times, get a box of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist. Then you need never worry again about what you eat.

Guards Increased At Embassies In Moscow

MOSCOW, March 9. (INS)—Police guards around foreign embassies and legations were generally reinforced today as the contention grew in official circles that the recent attempt to kill Dr. Fritz von Twardofsky, counsellor to the German embassy, was a plot against the life of the German ambassador, Herbert von Dirksen.

It was pointed out that the counsellor was traveling in an official German car, the same as would have been used by the ambassador, over the same route and at the same hour as Von Dirksen used to travel.

It was believed the attacker was inspired by forces which may seek to stir further trouble throughout the world by similar attacks upon other foreign representatives. The plot upon the life of Ambassador Hirota of Japan was recalled in this connection.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Three Minute Relief From Periodical Pains

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—Adv.

How Doctors Fight FAT

Medical science finds that lack of a certain gland secretion is a great cause of obesity. Food that should create energy goes to excess fat. People slow down and gain weight. Now doctors the world over supply that lacking factor. Instead of starving people, they combat the cause of fat. Abnormal figures, in late years, have been disappearing fast.

That modern method is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Now almost everyone has friends who know and show the delightful effects of Marmola.

If you overweigh, go try Marmola. All druggists supply it, and a book in each box tells you all about it. Start Marmola now and watch results.

Sol Schlegel, wrestler, knocked himself out and lost a match at Topeka, Kan., by striking his head against a ring post.

Nerves on edge. A head that throbs. You can't stop work, but you can stop the pain—in a hurry. Bayer Aspirin will do it every time. Take two or three tablets, a swallow of water, and you're soon comfortable. There's nothing half-way about the action of genuine aspirin. If the box says Bayer, you will get complete relief.

These tablets should be in every shop, office, and home. Ready to relieve any sudden ache or pain, from a grumbling tooth to lumbago. Don't suffer with that neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatism, etc; or lose any time because of colds or sore throat. Get some Bayer Aspirin and just follow those proven directions for instant relief.

Get the genuine tablets, stamped with the Bayer cross. They cost very little, especially if you buy them by the bottle. Any doctor will tell you they are harmless. They don't hurt the heart. They don't upset the stomach. So take them as often as you have the least need of their quick comfort. Take enough for complete results.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Senator George Norris of Nebraska has talked so often of retiring from public life only to bob up again at election time with another victory that most observers discount his pre-election ideas on the subject. Yet when he has to face the problem again he will be 75 or so.

Sen. Norris

Not many men who take their senatorial labors as seriously as Norris does would care about another hitch at that age. So it seems reasonable to expect the long talked of Norris retirement to become a fact when his term expires in 1937.

Making Sparks Fly

Wherever Norris has been during his three decades of life in the house or senate the political sparks have been flying.

How would he estimate today the accomplishments of that stormy political life? It would be very interesting to know. The question is inspired by the fact that at least one windmill at which Norris has persistently tilted is now in a fair way to be toppled over.

It has taken him more than seven years to get his pet aversion to "lame duck" legislation presented to the states in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment abolishing short sessions of congress and moving presidential inauguration time up from March to January.

Norris hammered that project through the senate seven times. The thing grew in the process into a general revision of the constitutional methods of electing presidents or vice presidents under certain contingencies not now clearly provided for.

It grew to be a senate habit to pass the resolution. Norris long ago talked it threadbare in debate. It was the house where the bogging down process occurred.

And even in the house there was no debate meat left on its bones when the vote was taken. It was not discussed at all. So much for the persistence of George Norris.

Up to the States

After adjustment between house and senate on minor differences the proposal will go to the states with seven years for ratification.

Yet so controversial an amendment as the prohibition resolution went through in two years. There is certainly reason to expect that the anti-"lame duck" move started by Norris will have been ratified before his term ends.

Even so, however, neither President Hoover's present term nor possibly that of his successor could be reduced. The effective date of the change would be Nov. 30 of the year following that in which the proposal actually is ratified.

So that Norris, father of the plan, may not be himself in congress to see it brought into operation.

Abandonment of Public Works Threatens Jobs

WASHINGTON, March 9. (INS)—A million men are threatened with unemployment owing to the abandonment of normal construction programs by municipalities and states throughout the country, John P. Hogan of New York, member of the consulting board of American engineers, told a senate committee today.

Urging immediate enactment of the La Follette $5,500,000,000 prosperity bond issue to finance a gigantic public works construction program, Hogan told the Metcalf subcommittee on education and labor unemployment was bound to get worse instead of better unless construction work was revived.

BABY FATALLY BURNED

SAN ANTONIO, March 9. (INS)—Eugene Johnson, 14-month-old negro baby, was burned to death today when fire swept the dormitory of the Ella Austin negro orphanage here. Thirty other children were away at school. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

Dollars and Lives

THERE is no sense whatever in getting vexed with the authorities of the National Zoo because they called in expensive specialists and apparatus to save the life of their baby gorilla when it got pneumonia.

The gorilla was a valuable bit of property, and it was their duty to preserve it. There may have been something extremely vexing in the sight of this ape getting all kinds of high-priced attention at a time when thousands upon thousands of American children aren't even getting enough to eat, but that isn't the fault of the people who run the zoo.

The fault, as a matter of fact, lies with all of us. That, indeed, is true of nearly all of the troubles that are making current times so unpleasant; and while the idea is not an easy one to swallow, we shan't move ahead very rapidly until we have made ourselves gulp it down.

This gorilla, you see, got better medical attention than lots of American children will ever get when pneumonia comes their way, simply because we have the kind of society which occasionally will put a higher value on the life of a prize ape in a cage than on a human life.

A prize ape costs money. The cost of a human life isn't readily measured by present-day standards. Much pain, much sacrifice, infinite hopes and heart-breaking longings go to the purchase of it, but such things have no dollars-and-cents value; and somehow we find it hard to appraise things by any other measuring rod.

We all share the blame. We have put up with this kind of society for a long time, now; when times were good a lot of us thought that it was the finest society on earth. Only now, when times are far from good, are we beginning to wonder about it.

All of this, of course, is just another way of saying that we have been content to put material values ahead of human value. We hurry to rescue the suffering dollar much more enthusiastically than we hurry to rescue suffering men and women—and children. A sick gorilla can seem a more pathetic sight, a more "deserving case," than any number of sick and hungry human beings.

Smedley Butler

ANNOUNCEMENT that Gen. Smedley Butler is going to run for the Republican nomination for senator in Pennsylvania against Senator James J, Davis insures Pennsylvania and the rest of the country of at least one contest that ought to be exceedingly interesting to watch, no matter which way it goes.

Just what chance the doughty general has of ever getting to the senate, and how good a senator he might make if he got there, are matters with which we needn't concern ourselves at this moment. The thing that occurs to us first of all is that it ought to be a lively, old-fashioned, rip-snorting campaign.

General Butler was never noted for taciturnity or for pussy-footing. Judging the future by the past, one imagines that here is one senatorial contest that will be enlivened by plenty of plain, forthright speaking.

The New Amendment

THE first constitutional amendment submitted to the states since 1924 has now passed congress, and awaits action in 48 state capitals. It is the so-called "lame duck" amendment, which would move ahead from March 4 to Jan. 20 the date on which a newly elected president takes office, and from March 4 to Jan. 3 the date on which sessions of congress begin.

It is up to the voters, now, to see that their state legislators take action on this amendment as soon as possible.

To pass it would mean the elimination of a lot of lost motion in the government machinery. There is not one good reason for opposing it, and unless the various state legislatures simply forget to act on it, it is bound to be ratified. The voters must let it be understood that they want action.

Things I Never Noodle Now
(Give a Look and Have a Learn!)

That the government itself vouches for the honesty of those employed at the bureau of printing and engraving (in Washington, D. C.), yet these same employes may not go out to lunch!

That Mayor Walker appeared in a television studio and when his image appeared on the sets—he was seen with a mustache.

That all the phone booths in New York City have doors—except those in the subway stations where you need 'em most.

That Juliet was Romeo's second love.

That the signers of the Dec. of Ind., thus put a price on their heads. So J. Hancock put down his name in bold script—as a defy to King George, but Carrol, another signer, added his address!

That Peter the Great cut off the head of his wife's lover, pickled it and placed it on her mantelpiece as an ornament.

That Swift willed all his coin to lunatics (gimme, gimme!).

That Spinoza, the greatest intellectual of his day, derived his greatest enjoyment watching spiders.

That more saps keep drinking likker to warm up in cold weather, when booze actually lowers your temperature.

That Holland males wear engagement and wedding rings.

That Kay, Hargreaves, Crompton and Jacquard, who invented textile machinery to save laborers from back-breaking toil, all fled for their lives—from the angered workmen!

That Balzac chirped: "None but simpletons can delight in talking about actors and repeating their sayings." (Oh, fooofff!)

That Dave Perry, of North Platte, a flyweight, whenever he felt like it, would pick on and beat up—Buffalo Bill.

That the Prince of Wales, more often than is known, has dolled himself up in feminine attire at frolics. (Wonder if he knits?)

That certain law-an-order keepers in Italy cannot marry unless they are titled officers. (What fun is that?)

That there were 15 presidents before Washington.

That New York honored Lincoln with fresh wreaths for his Union Sq. statue. A bigger honor would have been to wash it.

That some congressmen pay their secretaries more than the $10,000 salary they receive themselves.

That August Strindberg, in a jealous fit occasioned by a puppy love affair, slit his throat—at the age of 8.

That the oldest drug store in America, established 1805, is located at No. 6 Bowery, N. Y. C. (Ah, there, newsreel editors!)

That while all dictionaries straddle the definition of the word "few" . . . it means eight. Then see Peter, 3rd chapter, 20th verse: "Few, that is, eight souls were saved by water."

That the most sophisticated audiences are found in the 80s and Broadway sector, yet suggestive situations there are taboo.

That Lincoln told "blue" jokes. Proof? See his own statement to that effect in Col. McClure's "Lincoln's Own Stories," p. 125.

That typewriting machines are not patented. They are copyrighted like songs, books, shows, newspapers, and so forth.

That the Federal Pen, at Leavenworth, where Uncle Sam feeds over 3,000 men daily, the only decoration in the dining room is the American Eagle, an emblem of freedom.

That if you apply early enough in Pennsylvania for your auto plates, you can have your initials put on them gratis.

That there once was a lake called "The Collect" on the present site of the Tombs prison in New York City.

That an electric company in Brooklyn paid its employes an annual bonus—only on the condition that they lived there.

That the de luxe magic lantern theaters will shortly ruin what is left of the legit theater with a new stunt . . . They've already contracted to use the stage version of "Lysistrata" as a curtain-raiser for Ann Harding's "Prestige" chinema. Hah've y'been, Dr. Zerovich?

That the congressman has decided to challenge George Jean Nathan and that Winchelloafer before the house and over the razzio (I'm the best press agent he ever had, the ingrate!)

That you can check it with the Dep't. of Finance. That in 1800 there was but one millionaire. In 1830 there were 28,700.

That on March 12 at a Brooklyn theater a wedding will take place. The bride and groom will have red hair, so will the groom's brother (best man), also have red hair, as will the bridesmaids.

And that the Winchell Continuation school in Chicago (this is the worst slam yet!) is for backward boys!

Oh, yes—and that I read the saddest book last night. It seems that she dies—and he has to go back to his wife!

What! With No Lights On?

He is a young artist in New York and his name is Hugh Troy. He can sit thru the spooky flickers and come away unmoved. "Frankenstein" and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" are practically sissies so far as he is concerned.

For he carries his grandmother's bones around with him in one of those Boston bags: It seems that his grandma's grave was right in the path of a new road, and the authorities notified him to move it elsewhere. So he conceived the quaint notion that he'd like to have her bones around the house. They rest at night at the foot of his bed.

There! Try and go to sleep!

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE GREATEST FATHER OF HIS TIME—Rameses II, who ruled Egypt for 66 years (1298-1232 B. C.) was the most illustrious of the Pharaohs and his reign is described as the culminating glory of ancient Egypt. He took great pride in the accumulation of gold in the royal treasure houses, in the magnificent structures he erected, in his military exploits, and in the prodigious number of children his queens and concubines bore him. The bas reliefs of the famous subterranean temple of Ipsamboul and again of Wady es Sebua disclose the names of 111 sons and 51 daughters, inscribed on the walls. He lived to see most of his children reach maturity and die around him. Mernephta, his 14th son who married his own sister, Rameses' daughter No. 6, Nofrit, is said to be identical with the Pharaoh of the Exodus. The mummy of Rameses was found in 1886, and is now on exhibit at the museum in Cairo.

THE METROPOLIS BUILT IN A DAY—Anchiale, a great maritime metropolis of the Assyrian kings, was situated in Cilicia. The founder of the city was the redoubtable Asur Bani Pal (Sardanapalus) who, according to Strabo, was buried in Anchiale. The royal tomb was surmounted by a statue of the great king in the attitude of snapping his fingers, and an inscription in Assyrian characters upon it recorded the fact that at the royal behest the city had been built in a single day.

CHAPTER XLVI

This little arrangement so skillfully engineered by Eleanore Durand and Mrs. Morse was causing not a little trouble already. The next most logical place for it to be the cause of a scene besides the Durand residence was the Morse family circle. Mrs. Morse had broken the news to Sybil the night before so that the shock would not prove fatal to her when she saw her picture in the paper.

Sybil had received the news almost hysterically. Her mother could scarcely believe she was the child whom she had mollycoddled all these years, and who had accepted her word as final.

"But mother," Sybil exclaimed, in a horrified tone, "you can't do anything like that. Not after what I told you. Bruce isn't even interested in me. Why, he didn't even as much as mention anything like an engagement to me."

Her mother took Sybil's hands firmly into her own.

"Sometimes," she said, as though she were speaking to a 10-year-old child, "children like Bruce do not know what they want. Sometimes it is better for them to have things decided for them."

Sybil broke away from her. "But you can't do anything like this, mother. Bruce won't stand for it, I know. And even if he would, I wouldn't."

Her mother stared at her. "Are you crazy, Sybil?" she demanded sternly. "Do you mean that you would turn down a perfectly good chance to marry Bruce Durand?"

Sybil nodded, "I mean just that."

Her mother took hold of her shoulders and shook her just a little.

"After all I've done to try to find some one to marry you," she said disgustedly, "you stand there and tell me that you won't marry Bruce Durand?"

Sybil lowered her eyes. She was embarrassed and hurt. She wished that she had the courage to run away. She dreaded feeling that she was being a burden to her family and that was exactly the way her mother was making her feel.

"I don't see how you can ask me to do a thing like that, mother," Sybil protested. "Honestly, I don't. Neither of us, forced into a marriage, would be happy. I should think you would understand that."

"You love Bruce, don't you?" Her mother's voice was low.

Sybil knew that her mother was aware of the fact that Bruce was her choice. But Sybil wouldn't play the fool—even for her mother—any more. Now that this absurd arrangement had been made she had begun to realize that her mother had done many other things that had been foolish. For instance, the time that her mother insisted on Polly Dunn coming out with her from New Hampshire during the holidays. Polly had not been a close friend of Sybil's. She tried to make her mother understand that. But the Dunns were prominent socially in the East and Polly had a brother who was eligible material for marriage. Mrs. Morse, therefore, brought Polly out for the holidays. The result had been a disappointment all the way around.

Sybil saw through some of these things now. Her mother was meddlesome, too eager to manage the lives of others. Sybil wondered, as she stood there, so obviously opposing her mother, why she hadn't observed prior to this that her mother had been the guiding hand that had so misguided her down through the years.

Sybil felt, suddenly a spirit of resentment toward this woman who had just finished saying that she had "found some one to marry her." She didn't need any one to do that. There wasn't anything wrong with her. If her folks merely let her alone she would be all right. She had never been able to have a thought of her own since she could remember. Even while she was at school her mother had written her explicit orders as to the dresses she must wear and even how often she must send out her laundry.

"But you can't do anything like this, mother. Bruce won't stand for it."

Sybil felt that she didn't desire any sympathy. She didn't desire her mother to believe she were bound by duty to find a husband for her. No girl relishes that. It hurts. It is embarrassing.

Sybil's mother stood there observing her, waiting for her answer. Finally Sybil spoke. "No, mother, I don't love him. I thought I did. I tried to for your sake. But I know now that I didn't. I never could love anyone who didn't love me in return and Bruce Durand doesn't care enough about me to even take me out to the country club. You know that."

Mrs. Morse winced. She didn't see how her daughter could speak so frankly about Bruce disliking her. Didn't she have any pride? What on earth had got into the girls nowadays. They talked about anything that came into their heads. Why in her day, she reflected, a girl would no more have admitted that a boy didn't like her than she would have admitted things about her own personal life. It was the smart thing to have every one think that all the boys were crazy about one. Mrs. Morse even recalled telling Mr. Morse when she was going with him great tales of other men who courted her—tales that were far from being true. But every one did that. It caused men to appreciate one.

"Well," Sybil's mother said decisively, "you're still my daughter. And you're still living at home. While you're doing that I have the right to tell you what to do and what I think is best for you."

Sybil looked at her mother questionably. What would her mother do? Was she going to force her to go on with this ridiculous situation, embarrassing both herself and Bruce and lord knows how many more people? Oh, she couldn't! She wouldn't dare to do anything like that!

"Mother, what do you intend to do?" Sybil defied.

"I won't go back on my promise to Mrs. Durand," Mrs. Morse replied steadily. "She desires you and Bruce to marry just as badly as I do. Don't you see dear, I couldn't disappoint her?"

"What do you mean, you couldn't disappoint her?" Sybil demanded, hysterically. "You seem to have lost sight of the fact that Bruce and I are the ones who are to be considered in this affair, if anybody is. We are the ones who would have to live together, not you and Mrs. Durand."

Mrs. Morse held her ground. "I know what is best, Sybil," she said firmly.

The maid broke in on their conversation.

"Some one to talk to you, Miss Sybil," she said.

Sybil walked over to the desk and picked up the 'phone.

"Hello." Sybil tried to control herself.

It was Roberta Parker. She had called to tell Sybil how "perfectly thrilled" she was over the news of her engagement.

Sybil looked at her mother a moment. Then her lips became firm as she gave her reply. "It's all a mistake, Roberta," she said coldly, "there isn't anything to it at all."

Defiantly, Sybil laid the phone back into the cradle.

COUNTIES IN BOUNDARY SUIT

Question of Surveys Taken To Texas Supreme Court

AUSTIN, March 9. (AP)—The Texas supreme court has undertaken a task of unscrambling differences that have developed among nine counties in the Plains section over county boundary lines.

The trouble started when Garza county entered suit against Lynn county to determine the true lines along the northwest corner of Garza county and the northeast corner of Lynn county. Cross actions and answers to the suit brought into the dispute additional counties as follows: Lubbock, Crosby, Hockley, Terry, Yoakum, Cochran, and Kent.

Cases Appealed

The court of last resort took hold of the litigation today when it granted writs of errors in cases involving the litigation which were styled Lynn county vs. Garza county, Lubbock county vs. Crosby county, and Yoakum county vs. Garza county. The cases were appealed from Taylor county.

The higher court took submission of the case of the state vs. C. W. Bradford and about 700 other defendants, involving constitutionality of the stream bed validating law enacted by the legislature over the veto of Dan Moody, governor at the time. The bill was sponsored by Senator Clinton C. Small.

The case involved title to the bed of the north fork of the Red river in Gray and Wheeler counties. Both the Travis county district court and the court of civil appeals at Austin held the Small bill valid. The law gave title of beds of streams to original purchasers from the state of land traversed by the streams, where the streams were not actually navigable. Previous to enactment of the Small bill streams 30 feet or more wide were regarded as navigable and surveys could not cross them.

Writ of Error Granted

After the supreme court granted a writ of error, deciding to review the case, it was argued before the commission of appeals. The supreme court later withdrew it from the commission and decided to hear it direct.

F. O. McKinsey, assistant attorney general, made the chief argument for the state, which seeks to reserve title to stream beds to the school fund. Oil has been discovered on some of the property involved in the suit and the school fund is contending for royalties. Thomas B. Love of Dallas, former state senator, appeared amicus curiae to argue against validity of the Small bill. He was a member of the senate when the law was passed and opposed its enactment. Senator Small was present in court during the arguments and a number of attorneys appeared in support of its validity.

Pioneer Of Munday Dies With 61 Members Of Family At His Bedside

Special to The Record News.

MUNDAY, Texas, March 9.—Practically all of his 61 immediate survivors attended funeral services here today for Jesse W. Wallace, 81, pioneer resident of this section who died suddenly Monday after a brief illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were believed to have been married longer than any couple in the section. It was definitely known that Mr. Wallace was head of the largest family group in Knox county, and probably of any in this part of the state.

He and Mrs. Wallace would have been married 62 years had he lived until next Sept. 13.

Services were held at the home of his son, Jack Wallace, west of Munday. Elder J. M. White of the Church of Christ officiated.

A native of Arkansas, Mr. Wallace removed to Texas in 1870, and to Knox county in 1898. He had lived in this community 34 years. Although he was too young to participate in the civil war, Mr. Wallace often recounted events of that conflict, which he remembered as a boy. He was the chief support of a widowed mother during the reconstruction period after the war between the states.

Surviving are two sons, Jack and Dan Wallace of Munday; two daughters, Mrs. Felix Franklin of Munday, and Mrs. D. K. Gray of Houston; and 33 grandchildren and 24 great grandchildren.

Garden Club Formed By Quanah Women

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, March 9.—The organization of a Garden club was perfected in Quanah at a recent meeting held at the city hall with George Sager, manager of the chamber of commerce, acting as temporary chairman.

Inspired by the approaching Texas centennial, the West, the East, and the South Texas Chambers of Commerce are urging the organization of garden clubs in each town, and suggesting that they start immediately on a civic beautification program which can be carried out in the next five years. The suggestion has met with a hearty response here and the recent meeting was the outgrowth of much work done by a committee composed of Mrs. T. D. Frizzell, O. S. Whitehurst, Mrs. R. R. Gilliland, Mrs. Mason Harwell, and Mrs. J. A. Thompson, who were appointed by Frank Kennerly, of Quanah, director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Collaborating with the committee, Mr. Sager lent every aid possible toward the organization of the club.

Production of New Ford Will Start Today

DETROIT, March 9. (UP)—Mass production of the new Ford V-8 is scheduled to begin tomorrow, it was learned today.

The 69-year-old manufacturer personally stamped the number "1" on the first engine of the new series this morning at a simple christening ceremony attended by Edsel Ford, Charles E. Sorenson and a small group of workmen.

Photographs of the scene were taken and advertisements will appear in practically every newspaper within the next week.

Ford now is employing approximately 70,000 men at the River Rouge plant and plans to have 100,000 at work by June 1.

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is, in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon straightened out when they get this prescriptional preparation of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup pepsin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.

COUGHS

Don't let them get a strangle hold. Fight germs quickly. Creomulsion combines the 7 best helps known to modern science. Powerful but harmless. Pleasant to take. No narcotics. Money refunded if any cough no matter of how long standing is not relieved. Ask your druggist for Creomulsion. (adv.)

"The fact that shriners have forgotten to play and encourage good fellowship has resulted in a loss of membership. The depression may have helped, but Shrine roles reveal most of those who have dropped out have been paying dues for 15 or 20 years. They left the Shrine because they felt the Shrine allowed its real purpose to be superseded by seriousness," Mr. Houston declared. "We want the old members to return and to bring back the old ideas of the organization."

In discussing hospitalization work of the Shrine, Mr. Houston said the organization 10 years ago felt that an opportunity was offered in a new field in opening hospitals for crippled children who would not otherwise secure proper medical attention. This move has taken the Shrine into big business, incorporated in Colorado and valued at $14,000,000. In the 10-year period over 35,000 children have been given treatment restoring or benefitting them, Mr. Houston said.

"Although the revenue of the Shrine is below normal, the organization will continue to carry on its hospitalization program," the speaker declared.

A dance following the banquet and program was opened by a drill of Maskat patrol.

Travels by Plane

Mr. Houston arrived from Oklahoma City traveling in a 10-passenger airplane at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. He went directly to the Holt hotel where he met members of the Shrine and distinguished visitors before a parade through the business section of the city. Mr. Houston was accompanied from Oklahoma City by Walter D. Cline, past potentate of Maskat temple and captain of the imperial guard; Sydney A. Gaines, Maskat temple potentate; and Dr. J. H. Fletcher.

Imperial Potentate Houston was accompanied by Dr. H. E. Sharrer, his secretary and personal physician. A welcoming committee in charge of Recorder Al Ellis of Maskat temple met the party at Kell field. Out-of-town visitors in Wichita Falls to confer with Mr. Houston were Recorder Ward Collier and Clarence Kraft, chief rabban of Mosiah temple in Fort Worth; Potentate Guy A. Carlander of Khiva temple in Amarillo and H. S. Wilburn, second ceremonial master and George Stapleton, recorder and past potentate, both of Amarillo.

Dr. W. B. Adams was in charge of the luncheon tendered Mr. Houston, a feature of which was the presentation of a portrait of George Washington by Emil Hermann. The portrait is a reproduction of Gilbert Stuart's work and was presented by Mr. Hermann on behalf of the Shrine luncheon club.

Mexican Tour

Mr. Houston will leave Thursday for a visit to Heila temple at Dallas and will continue his trip south to Mexico City on an official visit and as the guest of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico.

Entertainment for Mr. Houston and other Shrine visitors Wednesday afternoon included a tour of the city and an open house at Mr. Cline's residence.

In discussing business conditions, Mr. Houston pointed out that a definite move forward was in evidence with Shrine hospitals advancing to new high points. "The business man has little chance of bringing back prosperity without the working masses spending their money for what the merchant offers. When the public begins to open its pocketbook to secure the things desired, we will see business quickly return to a normal basis," Mr. Houston declared.

General arrangements for Mr. Houston's visit were in charge of Mr. Cline, assisted by Ed Peterson. Other committees include:

Official Escort—S. A. Gaines, W. D. Cline, Ed Peterson and Guy Rogers.

Water Board Slashes $45,000 From Budget And Orders Suits For Taxes

District No. 1 Directors Act to Secure Collection of Delinquent Accounts; All Work Restricted

A slash in the 1932 budget of approximately $45,000 and an order that suits for collection of delinquent taxes be instituted at once featured a session of the directors of water improvement district No. 1 Wednesday afternoon.

The budget for the current year was set at $61,092. The 1931 budget was $106,000. No new work of any type will be attempted by the board for the current year and every phase of the work will be cut, with only necessary maintenance work provided in the new budget.

Salaries Cut 35 Per Cent

Salary reductions alone represent a saving of 35 per cent of the former salary scale and one board member estimated the saving would amount to $8,000 or more. No single item in the new budget amounts to more than $6,000 and the entire appropriation will be spread over maintenance and operation necessities, board members said.

A resolution was passed requesting the district's attorney to proceed at once in filing suits in cases where taxes have been delinquent for any extended period. Many taxpayers are delinquent several years, but no further notices will be given. "The next notices will be issued by the sheriff's office," members of the board agreed.

Suits are to be filed indiscriminately with the attorney instructed to include a large group of taxpayers.

The board also passed a resolution asking directors of district No. 2 to meet jointly with the district No. 1 board at each regular session. In view of the situation under which the No. 1 board controls administration by handling two-thirds of expenditures, it was agreed that the No. 2 board should be equally as responsible and should vote with the district No. 1 board.

FORCES OF 'F. D.' TAKE COURAGE

New Hampshire Victory Gives Confidence

next week in the primary in North Dakota where Governor Murray of Oklahoma will be his opponent for the 10 votes.

Senator Wheeler of Montana left Washington late in the day for Fargo, N. D., where he will speak for Roosevelt Friday night.

While the Democrats were hailing the Roosevelt victory in New Hampshire, President Hoover, whose renomination is forecast by administration leaders, made his first formal bid for delegates by consenting to have a slate run pledged to him in the Ohio primary, May 10.

Mr. Hoover already has bagged all 53 Republican delegates thus far selected and his political managers believe he will take Ohio's 55.

Roosevelt's third test will come in the South March 23, in the Georgia primary where he will oppose Judge G. H. Howard, who has pledged his support to Speaker Garner. Garner still is out of the picture as an active candidate, but his friends are pushing him strongly, not only in Georgia, but in other southern states and Nebraska and California.

Z. T. Malaby, state chairman of California, came out for the Texas today in San Francisco with the statement:

"Garner is the man to reunite Democracy."

Meanwhile, Representative Sam Rayburn, national representative of the Texas Garner-for-president committee, announced he would confer with that group in San Antonio March 21, to consider future plans.

F. D. EXPECTED TO SEEK MASSACHUSETTS VOTE

ALBANY, N. Y., March 9. (US)—Obviously pleased by his smashing victory over former Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the New Hampshire primaries, Governor Roosevelt is expected to give the word shortly to enter his name in the Massachusetts primaries.

The governor radiated good humor today, but steadfastly declined to make any comment in relation to his capture of the eight delegates to the Democratic national convention from the White mountain state.

However, his closest advisors viewed the victory as helping his chances for the Democratic nomination as no other thing has done so far, and believe it will have a far-reaching effect on contests in Massachusetts, Vermont and Pennsylvania.

Up to now the governor has been hesitant to have his name entered in Massachusetts, where concededly Smith is expected to have his greatest strength in the eastern industrial states.

Roosevelt's closest political advisors have counselled against a test of strength with his predecessor in that state, although Mayor Curley of Boston has assured him he stands more than even chance of getting a majority of the delegates.

Smith supporters, on the other hand, are confident he will score in Massachusetts with a decisiveness almost equal to the Roosevelt victory in New Hampshire.

Roosevelt retired shortly after last midnight and only after he had received telephone calls from Robert Jackson, national committeeman of New Hampshire, assuring him of his victory over Smith. Roosevelt has the support of the Democratic state organization in that state.

Toes are coming out with a manicured effect

Even toenails reveal themselves, and assume new fashion importance, Julia Foster discovers ★ Julia Foster, whose news flashes tell you what's what in beauty culture.

THEY CALL IT THE GANDHI SANDAL . . .

And Madame Condos, the Chicago beauty specialist, says this new shoe fashion (see the photograph) is going to require greater care of the feet. Use an olive and palm oil soap for your footbath. And—for evening wear with sandals—lacquer the nails with a high-color polish. Otherwise you can't get away with "no stockings"—or the 100-gauge chiffons that are so smart.

THEY'RE SCULPTURING HUMAN HEADS NOW...

The "sculptured" curl is newest, smartest of innovations in hairdress . . . and here it is as carried out in a lacquered wig, by Pierre, of Saks-Fifth Avenue in Chicago. No, maybe you and I won't apply lacquer to our only heads of hair . . . but this idea has taken hold among many fashionables of the New York and Paris smart sets.

BATHE AWAY WEARINESS . . .

Melt a cake of Palmolive (by shaving it, then heating in 4 cups of water till the soap's dissolved); pour this liquid balm into a tubful of warm water. Step in. Let yourself relax completely. Now massage the body with lather from another cake of Palmolive. You'll want to step out, go places, do things! See if you don't!

And look! The news is out! Here's the amount of olive oil in every cake of Palmolive Soap

JUST look at this test tube—you women who value complexion beauty. You who know full well the priceless cosmetic effect of olive oil. Here the camera shows you the exact amount of olive oil that goes into every cake of Palmolive. This is why women consider Palmolive as more than a soap—a priceless beauty treatment. Blended with this olive oil are oils from palm trees—just enough to give a thick, rich, workable lather. No other fats whatsoever!

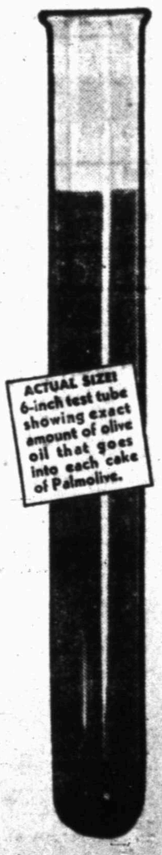

Every cake marked

Do other soaps offer you this? Do other soaps stamp, right on the cake, in plain letters, the re-assuring words "made of olive and palm oils"? Palmolive does! Its very color is the natural green of olive and palm oils—nothing else. No artificial coloring.

Too often soaps have a heavy scent that quarrels with the odor of your favorite perfume. But Palmolive is pure! Sweet! Naturally fragrant! Wonderfully refreshing for the bath as well as the face!

Advised by beauty experts

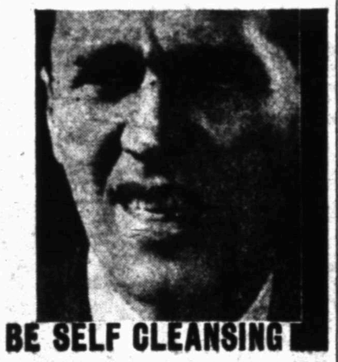

All this explains why over 20,000 beauty experts have recommended Palmolive Soap as the ideal way to keep complexions lovely. Do, please, use Palmolive if you are seriously interested in keeping your skin young, fresh, radiant!

Calcium

Every tissue of the body contains organic calcium, which is also known by the name of lime. The hard tissues, such as the osseous or bony structure, and the firm tendons and ligaments contain the largest proportion of this valuable element, but no cell of any other part of the body can live for very long unless calcium is included in its mineral composition.

Calcium gives solidity to the bone structure, and a deficiency results in deformity, develops humpback, decaying teeth, tuberculosis, rheumatism and obesity. Large quantities of this element are found in cress, lettuce, spinach, cabbage, Swiss chard, turnips, lemons, oranges, milk, cottage cheese, asparagus and strawberries.

The blood is predominantly alkaline, and death ensues as soon as this alkaline balance is lost and the blood becomes overcharged with acids. Judging health as 100 per cent, if the blood contains only half as much alkali as it should, the health of that individual so deprived of alkaline bases is certainly not over 50 per cent of the normal. Calcium stands as the greatest source of this blood supply of alkaline salts.

Efforts are being made by chemists to develop some method of supplying this lime to the tissues through artificial means, but their efforts have so far completely failed and we are forced to fall back upon the natural source so obvious at all times. This natural supply can come only from the use of food which is high in calcium and which has not been de-mineralized by too much preparation and changing by food merchants.

Whole grains include calcium in their chemical composition, but this element, as well as many others, is almost completely lost in their roller-mill process used in making white flour.

Cows need the whole grain to remain in health and give life to their calves. If fed on white flour, they sicken and die within a few weeks. This is because of starvation for the necessary organic minerals of the whole grain. If the cows are only fed partly on white flour, their calves will be born dead, or live only a few hours. What chance do human mothers have to be healthy or bring into the world vigorous offspring when over 50 per cent of their diet duing the gestation period is composed of victuals made from bolted flour? If a sufficient supply of the leafy green vegetables is used, the loss of the whole grains will not be felt, but if only excess of highly starched foods are used, the blood will be robbed of its reserve of calcium and the cells must suffer from such loss.

People who use an excess of decalcified foods will always complain of being "run down." If they ever expect to "run up" again, this can only be brought about by the use of unrefined foods which will "run up" their calcium units in the cells.

Calcium starved patients cannot digest food properly, as this element is indispensable in making the digestive ferments, without which the chemistry of digestion and assimilation cannot take place.

If you have enough calcium in your blood, when a wound is accidentally made, the blood will coagulate quickly in the wound; whereas, those known as "bleeders" show an evidence of being calcium starved.

The use of overrefined foods of any kind is the direct cause of decaying and crumbly teeth.

Resistance to disease is also made less and less as the alkaline balance of the blood is lost and the tissues develop a more acid reaction.

You cannot get your lime out of the rocks, as the plants do, but you have always for your use the vegetables which have converted the mineral lime into organic calcium to be used by the body as nature intended.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Soda as a Laxative

Question—Mrs. Veronica N. writes: "I have been taking a heaping teaspoonful of soda for about six weeks. I find that it takes the place of a purgative; in other words, my elimination is good. I take it in a glass of hot water the first thing in the morning. A friend of mine insists that it isn't good for my stomach, so I'm writing to ask your advice."

Answer—The use of soda has very much the same effect as the saline laxatives as some of it combines with the hydrochloric acid in the stomach, producing a salt. The part which is not combined with hydrochloric acid produces an alkalinity. Soda is doubtedly a good temporary remedy for acidosis, but it is not as stable in the blood as an alkalinization from organic compounds as found in the alkaline forming foods.

Cooked Oils

Question—T. Q. writes: "I notice that when I eat oils that have been cooked my stomach hurts, and, when I eat raw oils like olive oil and butter, this does not occur. Is this because uncooked fats are better than the others?"

Answer—When fatty foods are overheated, fatty acids are sometimes released. These will sometimes irritate the stomach and intestines and are probably what you noticed when eating the fried foods.

Nausea Caused by Olive Oil

Question—V. R. D. writes: "I am unable to use olive oil on account of the nauseated condition it causes for several hours after taking the same with grapefruit juice for liver trouble."

Answer—The nausea that you experience after taking olive oil and grapefruit juice is really a favorable indication, because it indicates that the liver is stirred up to produce a large quantity of bile. If, however, the nausea is too great, just take the grapefruit or tomato juice for three or four days, then repeat the olive oil and grapefruit juice regimen.

Prevent Falling Hair

Question: Mr. Ernest R. T. asks —"Will you please advise a remedy for hair falling out?" Is bear grease food for the hair?"

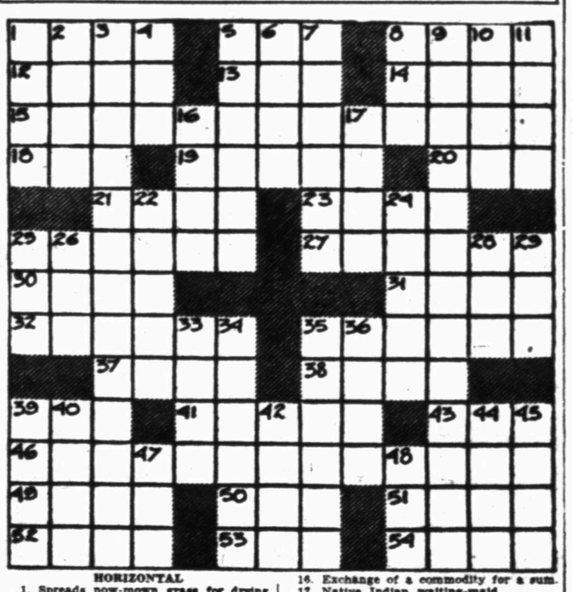

Answer—The best remedy to improve the circulation of the scalp is good vigorous rubbing and massage. This increases the circulation near the roots of the hair. I have also found that the ultar violet light is healthful in many cases. The diet should be rich in fruits and vegetables. It is good to rub some kind of animal or vegetable oil on the scalp during massage. Bear grease is as good but no better than other common types of grease.

Seasickness

Question: Miss Theresa G. writes —"I want to take an ocean voyage next June, but am afraid to do so because I get seasick so easily. Is there any way to prevent this distrestful complaint?"

Answer—If your seasickness is caused from biliousness, the fruit fast will be helpful, if taken just before starting on your voyage. If you become seasick because of defective vision, you must secure proper glasses. If you always get sick and remain so all during your trips, it is doubtless because of the lack of balancing fluid in your back and keep in a horizontal position until you reach land.

TOLERANCE OF PRESS IS TOLD

Anti-Bigotry Group Hears Two Addresses

WASHINGTON, March 9. (AP)—Advocates of tolerance and amity heard today the part of the American press plays in allaying religious perjudices and friction.

Robert B. Ashworth, editor of The Baptist; Byron Price, chief of the Washington bureau of the Associated Press; Michael Williams editor of The Commanweal, and Alfred M. Cohen, editor of B'Nai B'rith magazine, cited before the national conference of Jews and Christians what has been accomplished to end bigotry and charted future courses.

"There is need of a press service to supply material of an inter-racial and inter-religious character," Ashworth said. "When we started as editors of The Baptist we circularized other religious bodies, asking them to send us items of general interest. The response was practically nil. We should try to report the best that other religious bodies are doing."

Price expressed the belief that the influence of the press is swinging more and more heavily to the side of tolerance, neighborliness and cooperation.

"Modern newspaper influence," he said, "is based on the amount of information printed. There is less preaching and more dissemination of facts today than in former years. Newspapers help to eliminate misunderstandings by telling people more about their fellows. Any one we know better, we are likely to like better."

He used the Associated Press as an example of cooperative organization interested only in publishing facts, without partisan coloration or editorial bias.

Hearing On Lumber Rates Being Held

GULFPORT, Miss., March 9. (AP)—The second of a series of hearings before C. B. Gray, examiner for the United States shipping board, in which Lake Charles, Gulfport, Beaumont and Mobile have joined in protest against a marginal trackage charge of 1½ cents per 100 pounds imposed by the Gulf French Atlantic freight conference on hardwood lumber shipments in these ports and which is not effective at New Orleans, was in progress at Gulfport today.

A hearing was held at Lake Charles March 7 and other hearings are scheduled for Mobile March 11 and New Orleans March 14.

Gulfport is represented at the hearing by Lee Clark, port director; W. B. Garner, traffic manager of the Waterman S. S. corporation; F. M. Stevens, general counsel of Waterman corporation, and John Wacker, resident agent of the corporation.

City of Waco Sues Pipe Line Engineers

WACO, Texas, March 9. (AP)—The city of Waco today filed suit in district court for $418,000, the cost of a pipe line which carries water from Lake Waco to the city mains.

The suit was against O. N. Floyd and J. L. Lochridge, Dallas engineers who designed the pipe line; the Callahan construction company, which laid the pipe line; the U. S. Pipe and Foundry company, which furnished pipe; and the Fidelity and Deposit company, of Maryland, sureties on the construction.

It was alleged that pipe provided in design was insufficient in the first place and that pipe actually laid did not come up to specifications, resulting in numerous breaks in the line since it was accepted by the city.

World Bankers Predict England May Pay Off Balance Of Bank Debt

NEW YORK, March 9. (AP)—International bankers who say they have been surprised as much as any one else by the sudden rise of the English pound sterling to this year's highest price level, expressed belief that England might pay off the $50,000,000 balance of its American banking credit this month.

The spectacular upward sweep of the pound, which has surpassed any movement of its kind by a foreign currency since the early postwar days, has provided an excellent means for Great Britain to raise dollar balances for further debt payments, they said.

While bankers who have been associated with past financing in America for the British account continued silent on British plans, it was pointed out elsewhere that the greater buying power of sterling might readily influence the British treasury to pay off the credit balance in the present rising market.

The British treasury obtained $400,000,000 of credits, divided equally between the United States and France, on Aug. 28, last, for the purpose of supporting the pound. Early this month, the British government paid off $150,000,000 of its American banking credit, leaving a $50,000,000 balance. The credit does not come due until next Aug. 28.

In listing the encouraging developments which have stimulated the rally of the pound sterling, thus aiding British plans for a financial comeback, the readiness of the British public to submit to heavy taxation was cited as an important factor.

Leghorn Hen Sets Record With Egg Measuring 8 By 6

At least one Leghorn hen in the Wichita Falls district has not been deterred from a full discharge of duty by untoward behavior of the weather.

The prevalent "cold snap" was chosen as the proper time for bringing forth the largest of all in a series of mammoth eggs. The over-sized "hen-fruit" in this instance was brought to a local merchange Wednesday morning by S. B. Lawrence, a poultryman living near Charlie.

This egg would contain, in terms of volume, a large lemon. Or, to the doughboys of 1918, it is easily large enough to contain a hand grenade. With the measuring tape, it reveals a lengthwise circumference of eight inches, and Humpty-Dumpty's waistline measures 6 9-16 inches. On the scales it boasted a reading of 4¼ ounces.

The hen credited with production of this, and several prior bumper eggs, is one of about 260 Leghorn hens now comprising Mr. Lawrence's flock. He is gathering about 12 dozen eggs daily, even during the present winter season, he said.

FARMERS HOLD MORE WHEAT

Government Estimate Shows Big Increase

WASHINGTON, March 9. (INS)—The farmers held 207,323,000 bushels of wheat in their bins on March 1, or 23.2 per cent of last year's crop, as compared with stocks amounting to 161,442,000 bushels on the same date a year ago, the crop reporting board announced today. This estimate relates to the total quantity of wheat on farms for all purposes and includes the amount being held for seeding of spring wheat, for which purpose there has been utilized from 23,000,000 to 27,000,000 bushels annually in recent years.

Stocks of corn on farms March 1 were estimated at 1,102,691,000 bushels. Following the small corn crop of 1930 stocks on farms last year were only 703,529,000 bushels. The mild winter in most of the important corn producing states, together with low corn prices, has resulted in the holding on farms of a relatively high percentage of last year's crop.

The merchantable quality of the 1931 crop was placed at 84.3 per cent, the highest percentage shown since 1923, when it was 88.3 per cent.

9 WAYS TO USE A TELEPHONE

Your name in the telephone book

When Mr. Arthur, the contractor, was awarded that rush job on the hospital, he needed help in a hurry.

He called up seven bricklayers the next morning.

But he didn't call Henry Jones. Henry's name wasn't in the telephone book.

Henry lives with his brother-in-law, M. J. Black, and the telephone is in Black's name. Yet, for 25 cents a month, Henry Jones could have had his name in the directory . . . and perhaps had the job!

The directory would have listed:

Under the B's:

Black M J 3913 Sprue.....3-1399

Under the J's:

Jones Henry 3913 Sprue.....3-1399

Perhaps an additional directory listing will help friends find you.

Just call the business office.

Listings are money getters

Business men find it valuable to list members of the firm, or salesmen, in the telephone book. It helps prospects find you. For instance:

Under the A's:

Adams Johnson & White Inc 3913 Euclid.....3-1399

Under the J's:

Johnson Thomas Inc 3913 Euclid.....3-1399
residence 4093 Fillmore.....5-1890

You can list office hours, numbers to call when you're not in, nicknames, and so forth.

Just call the business office.

House or home?

Some folks live in houses. Some folks live in homes.

It's the little things that make the difference . . . little comforts that make a house a home.

A reading lamp by a deep comfy chair. A writing desk in a cozy corner. A flicker of wood-fire on the hearth. And telephones conveniently placed for ease in making and answering calls.

An extension telephone costs only about two or three cents a day.

Living-room, bedroom, kitchen, basement, garage . . . how many places are there in your house where an extension telephone would save time and steps, and help make it a home?

Just call the business office.

Visit CHICAGO from your home for $1.65

Station-to-station after 8:30 p. m.

CHICAGO . . . towering buildings . . . roar of the Loop district . . . beautiful Lake Shore Drive . . . friends who live in this colorful city . . . business associates there. And it's all as near as your telephone!

Just ask for "Long Distance" . . . and you're there.

Fast. . . you're usually connected while you hold the line.

Clear . . . as a local call.

Low in cost . . . you can call at reduced rates after 8:30 o'clock at night.

Use the fast voice highway between here and Chicago for three minutes tonight . . . or any night. Call a friend. Call a relative. Call a business acquaintance. See for yourself how much pleasure and profit long distance can mean to you.

Long Distance easy to use

Just lift the receiver. Ask for "Long Distance", or dial the "Long Distance" operator. Tell her you want to speak to anyone at the home of Mrs. Blank, or give the out-of-town number if you know it. And she'll have them for you in a jiffy, usually while you hold the line.

You can talk for three minutes to a friend 100 miles away after 8:30 p. m. for 35 cents (station-to-station).

Station-to-station service is recommended when it is unnecessary to talk with a particular person, or when you are reasonably sure that the person with whom you wish to speak is near the called telephone.

Rates reduced at night

Call up an out-of-town friend tonight. It will cheer you up. And don't you think he will appreciate hearing your voice?

Sample of the inexpensive rates after 8:30 p. m.

The best reason for having a telephone, as one telephone user says, is not having one. Here are some incidents that prove the point:

Little Bobby fell downstairs. He was hurt and mother was frightened. But she wasn't too frightened to know what to do. She called up the doctor . . . and he was there in a few minutes.

It was only a stray cat in the basement, the policeman said. Mrs. Clark laughed . . . a little nervously. But what a comfort it was to know the telephone would bring help so quickly!

Jim Mulvaney's back at work again . . . after two months. Last night the Boss telephoned: "Jim, we landed a big contract. Be on hand first thing in the morning."

Mary thought he seemed interested, when she met him at the party. But when Jack tried to call, he couldn't find her name in the telephone directory. Moral: a telephone in the home has helped many a young person to wholesome companionship.

What else can you buy that every member of the family can use . . . that will be a source of safety in case of fire, sickness, emergency . . . that will be a convenience always?

Monthly Telephone Rates

FOUR-PARTY LINE	$2.25
TWO-PARTY LINE	$2.50
INDIVIDUAL LINE	$3.00

Just call the business office.

Advantage of an individual line

A party-line subscriber does not always find his telephone available for instant use . . . and persons calling him will sometimes get "busy" signals. For the average party-line is used by several persons at each residence.

An individual line, of course, is never "busy" unless you or someone at your residence is using it.

Choose the class of service that fits your needs. But bear in mind that in each case the higher grade of service gives extra value for the small difference in cost.

Think it over! Perhaps you need an individual line.

CLEVELAND SKIPPER EXPECTS STRONGER TEAM THIS YEAR

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

A New Contest!

There is quite a bit of discussion about the all-time, all-star Spudder team. But I know something that will make you have some real arguments. Try to pick an all-time, all-punk Spudder team!

Oh, it's so easy, huh? Well, go after it and name your man for each position. Trying to pick the worst of all possible baseball players from a club that has had nine first division clubs, including one pennant winner, in 12 years is not half easy.

The Rambler didn't get acquainted with the Spudders until 1929, and hence would make a poor contestant in his own contest. It may be remarked, however, that from 1929 to 1931 inclusive I saw only two players perform who could, without the least doubt, qualify for extermination, so far as playing baseball is concerned.

Be that as it may, one of the two players I have in mind doubtless would win first, second and third prizes, all by himself. Yes, you know who I'm thinking of. It's . . .

But since the Rambler's corner is sponsoring this great contest, it might seem unfair for the Rambler to grab all the prizes. So we withhold our one-man, all-time, all-punk Spudder aggregation from the lists and invite our customers to have at it.

The rules of the contest have not been prepared as yet, but you may rest assured they will be as vague as possible, so you might as well go ahead and compete without waiting for 'em.

You don't have to arrange your team in a batting order. That would be superfluous on an all-punk team, because none of the blokes could hit no matter where you put 'em.

If you want to put a pitcher in the outfield, or an outfielder in the pitcher's box, go right ahead. No doubt in the past you wanted to put him out of the park.

The Rambler's corner will not publish, for the guidance of the contestants, the batting averages of players in the various positions during the history of the team who might come within the scope of this contest. The reson is that for the most part they didn't have any.

Fielding averages likewise will be omitted. We consider this item extremely unnecessary. If an outfielder in a championship game dropped an easy one, allowing three runs in and losing the game, it probbly would take more than a fielding average to keep him off an all-punk team.

The Prizes

Now we come to the really interesting thing about this contest. The fan naming the most horrid combination of players will have the privilege of being head counsel for this newspaper when it is sued for libel by the various players named on the all-punk teams submitted.

The fan naming the second most atrocious team may be assistant to our head counsel.

The fan running in third place will have the privilege of paying our fine.

A Real Veteran

"Ancient John Picus Quinn," remarks the Associated Press in a recent news story "has been in his middle forties for a number of years. . . ."

And yet the old boy carries on for the Brooklyn Robins. He is ready to take his turn on the mound, just as he always was. The other day, the news story says, he traveled four innings in an intra-club game at the Robins' camp in Clearwater, Fla. That was longer than any pitcher had gone at that time, the story adds. And in those four innings, Ancient John allowed only four hits.

Nowadays fans are apt to consider a baseball player a veteran as soon as his age hovers around 30. Certainly not many players could keep on going at Quinn's age, but his case at least proves that it can be done if the player has the ambition. Ambition in the "middle forties" may seem odd, but apparently Ancient John Quinn thrives on it. We wish the old fellow a good season in 1932.

'PECK'S' NEED IS SHORTSTOP

They're Born, Not Made, Says Tribe's Chief

By RALPH WHEATLEY

NEW ORLEANS, March 9. (AP)—"My kingdom for a shortstop" wails Roger Peckinpaugh, manager of the Cleveland Indians and one of the greatest shortstops in his day the game ever has known.

For four years, Peck says he has been looking for a shortstop but can't find one.

"What, a shortstop like you can't develop one?" he was asked.

"Boy, you don't make shortstops. They have to be born. You don't hear of Walter Johnson bringing out any second Walter Johnsons, do you?"

He's Raising One

So Peckinpaugh has decided to raise one. He expects his 16-year-old son, now burning up the sandlots at short, to take over the tricky post for the Indians some day.

Manager Peckinpaugh expressed satisfaction with the rest of his teac and believes they have good prospects of climbing to important places in baseballdom this season.

Under present plans, the Indians of 1932 will be the same Indians in name as those of 1931 with perhaps about four young pitchers added to the roster. In name only, however, because this young fighting team should develop this year into a stronger aggregation with the added experience and team work.

Peckinpaugh believes Eddie Montague will be a better shortstop this season than last and might develop suddenly just as Joe Cronin did. Joe and Eddie were boyhood playmates out in Frisco and during the winter Joe has been telling Eddie all he knows about being a shortstop.

Hurlers in Limelight

Right now four minor league pitchers are attracting attention at the camp and on the Indian mound might be found Monte Pearson and Howard Craghead, from the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league; Oral C. Hildebrand, from the Indianapolis club of the American association, and Belve Bean of the New Orleans club of the Southern association.

The Indian chiefs would like to Bolster their infield if finished material could be found but they admitted today they had not seen any so far.

Training Camp Chatter

SAN ANTONIO INDIANS

SAN ANTONIO, March 9. (AP)—Twenty members of the San Antonio Indians including Manager Claude Robertson, had their first workout of the spring training season in League park this afternoon under a clear sky and the final gusts of a dying norther.

Announcement was made today that Catcher Jack Heath has been released outright.

BOSTON BRAVES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9. (AP)—Wally Berger, Boston Braves' slugging outfielder, slammed out his first homer of the season today when the Tribesmen defied wet grounds and extremely cold weather to go through a seven-inning practice game, which ended in a 2-2 tie.

BOSTON RED SOX

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 9. (AP)—Freezing weather blocked the Boston Red Sox's training today for the second time this week. It was so cold that Manager "Shano" Collins ordered his athletes to stay away from the golf links. Not a tap of baseball was attempted.

PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 9. (AP)—Dick Bartell, star backstop of the Philadelphia Nationals, and Barnet Friberg, veteran utility man, arrived in camp today to break the monotony of a cheerless day that threw the training schedule for a loss.

The Phils now are at full strength, with 33 players in camp.

PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 9. (UP)—Rain today forced the Athletics to abandon their scheduled six-inning scrub game. Heavy downpours during the night and morning made the field unfit for play. However, the batterymen went through an hour of exercise on the sidelines in the afternoon. Mickey Cochran, who sprained his wrist slightly in Monday's game with the St. Louis Cardinals, reported it all right today.

NEW YORK GIANTS

LOS ANGELES, March 9. (UP)—Despite the fact that the New York Giants regulars had their line-up intact for the first time this season, they lost a six-inning practice game to the reserves, 9 to 4, today. Turner and Schumaker pitched for the regulars and Bill Walker and Planeta for the yannigans.

Frank Hogan, who injured his knee 12 days ago, caught for the reserves.

CHICAGO CUBS

AVALON, Catalina Island, March 9. (UP)—A nine-inning game with veteran pitchers on the slab featured a hard day of practice for the Chicago Cubs. The regulars won, 2 to 1, with Root and Bush pitching. Grimes and Malone hurled for the second squad.

Woody English slammed out a home run to tie the score in the sixth, then drove in the winning run with a single in the eighth.

A light practice at noon tomorrow will wind up the stay of the Cubs on Catalina island.

REDS 7, CARDS 0

BRADENTON, Fla., March 9. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals presented only a powder puff attack again today and the Cincinnati Reds handed the world champions their third defeat of the Grapefruit league 7 to 0.

Dizzy Dean, who started for the Cards, was the losing pitcher, the Reds pounding him for five hits and as many runs in three innings.

BROOKLYN ROBINS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 9. (UP)—For the first time this spring unfavorable weather interrupted the Brooklyn Dodgers' training and today's scheduled workout was called off by Manager Max Carey.

NEW YORK YANKEES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9. (UP)—Although Huggins field was too heavy for the practice game today, Manager McCarthy did not give the entire Yankee squad a day off. With Art Fletcher and Cy Perkins assisting, Mac put the pitchers through a fielding drill in which the handling of bunts and covering of first base was stressed.

CHICAGO WITE SOX

SAN ANTONIO, March 9. (UP)—The Chicago White Sox today braved a temperature of 35 degrees to engage in their first practice game of the season. The regulars beat the Goofs, 6 to 3.

TEXAS LEAGUE VET RETURNS

Walter Morris to Be Sports' Business Manager

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SHREVEPORT, La., March 9.—A well-deserving pillar of the Texas league has returned. Rotund Walter Morris spent 23 years in the Texas circuit. After almost four years on the outside wishing he was on the inside, he has returned, happy that baseball is again his business.

It was in 1902 that Morris started his Texas league career as a shortstop at Corsicana. In 1903 he switched to San Antonio, in 1904 he wore the uniform of Beaumont. In 1905 he returned to San Antonio. In 1906 and 1907 he played with Savannah in the South Atlantic league. He started the 1908 season with the same club, was purchased by the St. Louis Cardinals and finished the season under the big top. He went back in the South Atlantic with Knoxville in 1909.

He joined Fort Worth as a player in 1910. Before the season was player, manager, secretary, business manager, ground-keeper and general handy-man. He remained at Fort Worth from 1910 to 1915 when he was called to a higher office—that of the league president. He held this office until 1921. He was also president of the West Texas league in 1920 and 1921.

Leaving the league's presidential office, he connected with the Dallas club in 1922 and served as part owner through May 29, 1928, when he sold his interest and retired from baseball.

When the Shreveport franchise was put on the block, Morris was a prime instigator in organizing a stock company to purchase the Sports from O. L. Biedenharn. He was rewarded by being elected business manager.

"How can you say I was intoxicated last night, my dear, when my footprints up to the door are perfectly straight?"

"Those are the footprints of the man who carried you in."—The Humorist.

Severeid Awaits Good Weather Before Reducing Ranks Of Spudder Players

Despite the fact he is pressed for room at Athletic park, what with more than half a hundred ball players on hand, big-hearted Hank Severeid does not intend to start the distribution of pink slips until he has had one and possibly two more looks at the youngsters, he said yesterday.

He should have had the squad at least cut in half several days ago, he pointed out, but the interference of cold weather, which kept all hands idle again Wednesday for the third consecutive day, has prevented the young fellows showing what they have in them.

So in order to satisfy both himself and each of the players, the Spudder skipper is making no immediate plans for reducing the squad.

One good spring-like day, however, might find pink slips flowering in profusion at Athletic park.

Such a day is what Manager Severeid hoped for yesterday. In fact his desire to get back to work was almost violent.

"If it's even a shade warmer Thursday morning than it was Wednesday, we'll suit up and resume practice; but if it remains as cold as it has been all week, of course there will be no use trying. It would do us more harm than good," he said.

There were no new arrivals yesterday and there is not likely to be any until next week, when the remainder of the regulars are due to report.

'Shorts' for Women Tennis Players Are Disapproved

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9. (AP)—Shorts for women on the tennis courts is a style of dress that will have to worry along with the approval of America's two greatest players, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Miss Helen Jacobs.

At her home here, Mrs. Moody rounded up her disapproval of "shorts" by describing them as "ugly."

Miss Jacobs, attending the University of California, at Berkeley, took time from classes long enough to observe that "tennis would be more like a burlesque than a competitive sport if women took to wearing shorts."

Close Games Mark A. A. U. Tournament

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 9. (UP)—A basket ball tournament may be a dead affair for the first few rounds. Or it may not. The national A. A. U. meet is not.

When three games out of four are decided on a one-point margain, the fans are getting their money's worth. And the folks who saw the battles here today watched just that kind of a program.

The afternoon started out in a one-sided way, and the St. Louis Sugar Creek players eliminated Bethany college from Lindsborg, Kan., 28 to 19, in the first game of the day.

But after that the fighting got hot. The Oklahoma City Hupps defeated the Young Men's Institute from San Francisco, 27 to 26; Schuessler A. A., of Chicago knocked out the Tulsa Oilers, 17 to 16; and Dakota Wesleyan eliminated the Pasadena Majors, 39 to 38.

Pollution of streams from sulphite pulp mills depends upon the kind of wood, the size of the wood particles, the species of fish, and the rate of the flow of the stream, together with the amount of the material entering the stream. The greatest damage results from the action of the soluble parts of the wood, and for this reason the dust is more harmful than the chips. Since such material can quite conveniently be placed in piles on land, pollution from this source appears to be quite unnecessary.—U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

CISCO RULING IS DEFERRED

Hearing on Oil Belt Grid Protest Held

AUSTIN, March 9. (UP)—Executive committee men of the State Interscholastic league deferred a decision after a hearing here today on the proposal of Breckenridge that Cisco be barred from competitions for alleged violation of eligibility rules.

Cisco was charged specifically with using Fred Hightower in a football game in which Breckenridge was defeated last fall. Breckenridge asserted that Hightower had not been transferred from Tyler to Cisco long enough in advance of the game to be eligible.

Cisco was given a hearing today. At the conclusion, Director Roy B. Henderson said that there is conflicting testimony and the committee desires to make further investigation before ruling. No further hearing is likely, he said.

Approximately 30 Wichitans are planning to attend the conference, leaving Friday by air and automobiles.

One more compromise

TO forestall any possible criticism we hasten to state that this couple is married—and what's more, happily married. The photograph, we feel, interprets rather beautifully a thought we have wanted to express for some time. Has it ever occurred to you that a successful marriage requires one compromise after another? From the altar on through life, when you consider it, real happiness demands a generous spirit of give and take between husband and wife. Each must overlook the other's faults with loving patience.

It so happens that the young woman shown above freely forgives a persistent neglect. Her husband is not particular about shaving. How can his caresses be thoroughly welcome when his face is rough with bristles! Yet her patient attitude betrays not a hint of criticism. She is tolerant and gracious, as ever.

Most men, you will agree, are fairly regular in their shaving habits. But we all know that a man can shave without being clean shaven. And surely no man can look his best with even a faint trace of stubble. It is our firm belief that today's Gillette blades are positively unequalled for shaving tender faces smoothly. These phenomenal blades get all the stubble and give you a degree of comfort quite impossible to describe.

We urge you to let today's Gillette prove its worth. Buy a package and try a blade or two on our guarantee. Every shave must be cleaner and finer than any you have ever experienced before—or return the package to your dealer and get your money back.

THE GILLETTE BLUE SUPER-BLADE

The $2 Kroman De Luxe blade has been withdrawn from production and replaced with the sensational Blue Super-Blade—far superior to the Kroman. You pay only a few cents more for the Blue Blade than for the regular blade and get unmatched shaving comfort. The Blue Blade is of extraordinary quality—without reservation the finest blade ever produced. Colored blue for easy identification—it is contained in a blue package, cellophane wrapped, and is made by a distinctly different process. Distribution is not yet complete—so if your dealer hasn't the Blue Blade, ask him to get it for you, which he can, quickly.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 9. (AP)—A further early advance in sterling led to additional adjustments of differences between New York and Liverpool which caused more or less irregularity in cotton during the first hour of trading.

Business tapered off after the close abroad and the market was comparatively quiet later with price movements restricted. May contracts after selling off from 7.02 to 6.99 rallied to 7.04 and closed at 7.02, with the general market closing steady, net 1 point lower to 2 points higher.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 1 point with orders quite evenly divided. Houses with Liverpool connections again had orders here on both sides of the market, but were credited with selling on balance during the early trading.

Prices eased off a few points right after the opening with active months selling about 2 to 4 points below the previous day's closing quotations. Trade buying was more in evidence around or just below the 7-cent level for May, and prices rallied from 7.36 to 7.43 for October making net advances of about 1 to 4 points.

Futures closed steady, 1 lower to 2 higher. Spot steady; middling 7.05.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 9. (AP)—Today's session in the cotton market was one of the quietest experienced lately. For a good portion of the day, prices were stagnant with both buying and selling interest very limited. Throughout the period all active months traded within a range of 3 to 4 points. The closing was steady with active positions one point down on the day, May 7.02 and July 7.18, the only months which were active at the close. Unfavorable weather over the belt aroused interest which failed to reflect the market.

The market opened quiet but steady with first trades unchanged to 1 point down.

An hour before the closing of the market, May stood at 7.03; July at 7.18 and October at 7.37, unchanged to one point down on the day and unchanged to one point above the opening figures. Late in the afternoon, prices worked moderately lower as stocks sold off, May declining to 7.01, July to 7.18 and October to 7.37.

Futures closed steady at net decline of 1 point.

Stocks Suffer Losses While Bonds Continue Climb With Added Strength

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 9. (US)—The major encouragement from the security markets today was derived from the movement of bonds, in which the upward tendency was continued to new high levels. As to stocks, there seemed a dearth of bullish ammunition and as a result the constructive groups were left dependent upon the whims of a still-skeptical public.

Net losses were general among stocks, but not to such a degree as to suggest any great importance, except perhaps that which might be attached to the inability of the list to move forward without frequent interruptions.

The railroad department more specifically has established this fact. Actually, the sluggishness of the rails has been a depressing influence, in that it is difficult for the bull leaders to have genuine faith in their own prospects while the railroad section of the market fails to participate even in the recent moderate upturns.

A reversal of trend in the rail group would provide immediate stimulus to the entire bullishly-inclined speculative element. Yet, to the fundamentalists, sustained betterment in bond quotations is infinitely more satisfying than a spurt in stock quotations.

The most satisfying news of the day concerned the Chicago and North Western railroad, whose president stated February net operating income increased $250,000 above January. More gratifying was the disclosure that most of the enlarged volume of traffic resulted from an upturn in manufacturing activity in the road's territory. Certainly such news cannot be compared with the efforts of pool managers to capitalize unknown prospects.

The problem the constructive interests face in seeking to capitalize such genuinely encouraging items is the repeated evidence that the railroads apparently failed to learn their lessons even during 1931 when the depression and market deflation was well under way.

None of the major systems have yet denied the reports that they added to their interests in subsidiary or allied carriers. Thus, the Pennsylvania is supposed to have enlarged its holdings of Norfolk & Western; the New York Central is credited with having bought more Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; the Baltimore & Ohio is reported to have added to its Reading interest, and the Chesapeake & Ohio to its holdings of Pere Marquette & Erie. Yet many of these roads are applicants today for loans from the reconstruction finance corporation.

Even the most ardent friend of the market concedes it is anticipating business improvement, rather than reflecting any visible evidence of such a development.

But the bull pools, now in greater number than in many months, are continuing aggressive, and in some instances have been able to induce a fair degree of public participation. But the frequent setbacks to price confirms the impression that the pools are proceeding gingerly.

There were rumors throughout the day that Auburn would be subjected to a short squeeze, but unless some better excuse can be uncovered for advancing prices, the market obviously will encourage a revival of intense skepticism.

The Socony-Vacuum operations for the advance were delayed and other oils lost fractions as the general list sold off. The Ohio oil pool, however, managed to close its favorite firm.

A new group was reported formed in Timken, which showed a fractional gain on suddenly increased turnover. American & Foreign power turned weak and was responsible for discouraging some contemplated bull activities in utilities. Radio sold off nearly a point on stories that the General Electric-Westinghouse affiliation may be severed and their holdings of R. C. A. disposed of.

The big stocks such as steel common and telephone were generally lower. Steel failed to make any response to the election of a new president, who is recognized as an operating executive. Steel corporation unfilled tonnage statement tomorrow may show an expansion but unless it is sizeable this would be interpreted merely as reflecting the low state of operations.

There is more general agreement with the statement made here that the market currently is reflecting bull activities almost to the exclusion of any important bear operations.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 9. (AP)—Corn from the United States leaped into the export field today, and prices for that cereal scored almost a cent a bushel advance.

Rural offerings of corn broadened out on the bulge in values, however, and most of the rise was lost.

Traders put a bearish construction on the government report issued after the day's trading was over. Stocks of corn on United States farms were officially estimated as 34,000,000 bushels in excess of private forecasts, with domestic farm reserves of wheat 32,000,000 bushels above trade expectation.

Corn closed unsettled, ⅛@⅜c higher than yesterday's finish, wheat at ⅛@⅜c decline, oats unchanged to ⅛c up, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents advance.

Oats followed corn.

Provisions were responsive to hog market upturns.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 60¼@⅛c, 61½c; July 62@62⅛c, 63¼@⅜c; Sept. 64c, 65¼c. Corn, May 40@40⅛c, 40⅞@⅜c; July 42⅛c, 43⅛@⅛c; Sept. 43⅞@⅛c, bids.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, March 9. (US)—Farm stocks of wheat estimated at 207,000,000 bushels or 28,000,000 bushels above the average of the private estimates, were construed as bearish upon release of the government report at the close. Only twice in 34 years have farm stocks of wheat exceeded this figure on March 1.

Figures on corn were not considered either bullish or bearish. While slightly higher than the private estimates, the 1,103,000,000 bushel stocks are about in line with the averages over a period of years.

A better demand for domestic wheats is resulting at the seaboard as the market continues to improve its relationship with Winnipeg and Buenos Aires.

Weather news is not expected to have much effect on the market until growing weather returns. At that time the effects of near-zero temperatures on the wheat crop can be determined.

300 TO ATTEND LIONS PARTY

Burkburnett Club Host At Meeting Tonight

Approximately 300 persons, including about 70 from Wichita Falls, are expected to assemble at the First Methodist church in Burkburnett Thursday night at 8 o'clock for an inter-city meeting of Lions clubs in this area, according to Roy Mann, president of the Wichita Falls club.

Julian C. Hyer of Fort Worth, president of Lions international, is to be the guest of honor and principal speaker at Thursday night's rally.

Entertainment has been planned by the Burkburnett, Iowa Park, and Wichita Falls clubs, it was said. K. C. Spell has represented the local Lions club in preparing the program, and has announced that Miss Margaret Bone, soprano, and John Phillips, tenor, of this city will present musical numbers. Mr. Mann is scheduled for the response to greetings to be extended visiting Lions.

The affair is being given for Lions clubs of Wichita, Clay and Wilbarger counties, members of those organizations being invited to bring their wives or lady friends. Mr. Mann predicted that at least 35 members of the Wichita Falls club will attend the Burkburnett meeting.

Worry, Worry, Worry! Mayor Spikes Rumors He Forgot To Pay Poll Tax

Reports to the effect that Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. has not paid his current poll tax have in some manner become extant in the city, according to information given The Record News by the mayor Wednesday.

"It has come to my attention recently," Mayor Nelson said, "that one or more local citizens have circulated a report that I did not qualify as a voter by paying poll tax this year.

"This report is untrue, and if any citizen desires assurance on that point, he will examine the tax collector's records and find that poll tax receipt No. 12,087 was issued to me on Jan. 20."

Mayor Nelson is a candidate for re-election on April 5, having served one term in that office.

Readers' Opinion

BOB COOK QUOTES LATIN PHRASES

Editor Record News: In Tuesday's Record News is an article telling of a big meat show at Floydada.

In describing the entries you can almost eat the paper upon which it is printed, but these curers of home-made delicacies had better not undertake to sell any of it, because it has not been "government inspected." I understand a Wichita Falls grocer bought some nice country cured hams near Alvord and offered them for sale. A government man came along and said, "You can't sell 'em, they have not been inspected." Alvord is in the sandy land. It is a clean country with clean and prosperous people who should know if a hog is in the proper condition for the block. With their experience they are willing to feed their families on their home killed meat but evidently under the law they can't sell their surplus unless inspected. If they do they are just as guilty of violation as any ordinary bootlegger who sells corn whisky.

The farmers of Floyd county had just as well dispense with county demonstrators, pressure cookers, and smoke houses, unless they make some arrangements to corner a government inspector "Vox populi, vox Dei," "Sic semper tyrannis," which means, where are we at and where in the Harrold are we going?

Activity at the office of D. J. Hunt, deputy collector of internal revenue, has reached a peak for the income tax paying period of the year, Mr. Hunt indicated Wednesday. Little change in the volume of income tax returns being filed here as compared with 1931 is noticeable, Mr. Hunt said.

Income tax returns must be made between March 1 and March 15. Requirements for making returns are unchanged from last year.

Single persons receiving $1,500 or more annually and married persons receiving $3,500 or more must file returns. However, a credit of $400 is allowed for each child under 18 years of age, Mr. Hunt said. Mr. Hunt emphasized that all corporations and partnerships must file returns regardless of a gain or loss during the year.
