Under NATO threat...

Serbs agree to withdraw heavy weapons

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — NATO ambassadors appeared close to approving a U.S.-French plan today giving Bosnian Serbs an ultimatum: Get rid of your artillery from around Sarajevo or face air strikes.

Bosnian Serbs, apparently feeling the pressure, agreed today to withdraw their heavy weaponry beginning Thursday at noon from around the Bosnian capital and put it under U.N. monitoring, said the U.N. commander in Bosnia, Gen. Sir Michael Rose.

It was unclear whether it was a tactical maneuver by Bosnian Serbs to avoid the threat of air strikes. Dozens of cease fires have been agreed to and broken in the 22-month-old conflict.

Under the U.S.-French plan, Serbs would be told to remove within a week or 10 days the more than 500 heavy guns that for nearly two years have been pounding Sarajevo. If they didn't comply, NATO would carry out the strikes.

NATO ambassadors were expected to decide later today. A senior NATO diplomat told reporters: "I heard nobody speak against the proposal for a fixed deadline."

Canada, he said, remained concerned about possible reprisals against its 2,000 peacekeepers in the region and was insisting on safety guarantees for its soldiers if air strikes were carried out.

Britain and Greece were hesitant about air strikes. But in Athens, Greek government spokesman Evangelos Venizelos said that Greece, which traditionally has been sympathetic toward the Serbs, wouldn't oppose a decision to carry out NATO air strikes.

Britain's stance remained unclear. In London, a spokesman for Prime Minister John Major said on condition of anonymity today that [illegible] emerges, it likely will have the support of all 16 NATO members, in indication Britain will go along with air strikes.

Britain has the most peacekeepers in Bosnia after France.

DCOS denies funds request

Development Corporation of Snyder directors Tuesday afternoon rejected an informal request for funding for a packaging operation that would initially employ six persons.

Citing current DCOS obligations as well as the need for more financial data, the board turned down the proposal from Mesquite Country.

The Abilene firm headed by John Taylor had sought to have its mesquite-wood products packaged in Snyder in the former location of General Medical Products. Also meeting with the board were Mike Kerley and Gaylon Boyd, partners in the now- closed kit assembly operation.

President Bill Seale presided at the meeting attended by Roy Baze and Miller Robinson. Dan Cotton and John Fagin were absent. Advisory committee members present were Pearlene Stewart and Max von Roeder.

SHS Tigers face tough foes in '95

The recent University Interscholastic League realignment may have taken Plainview off Snyder's football schedule, but the slate prepared by coach David Baugh for 1994 and 1995, won't be an easy one, even without the Bulldogs.

"It's a tough schedule," Baugh admitted. "But as tough as things get in our district, we have to play some good teams to get ready for them."

The Tigers will open the regular season with a Sept. 2 home game against perennial power Andrews, followed by a Sept. 9 trip to Monahans, which has never lost to a Baugh-coached Snyder team.

Wylie is slated to visit Tiger Stadium on Sept. 16, just before a road trip to long-time rival Big Spring on Sept. 23.

A final non-district game is still being sought for the Sept. 30 slot.

District 5-4A action begins for the Tigers at Levelland on Oct. 7, followed by a home matchup against Frenship on Oct. 14, an Oct. 21 visit to Lamesa and a trip to Lubbock to face Estacado either Oct. 28 or 29.

The season finale will be Nov. 4 here against Sweetwater, the newest member of the district.

Times for the games will be announced at a later date. The schedule will feature the same opponents in 1995, but the sites will be switched.

Underground water board gets info on taxes, services

Questions regarding taxation, services and need were addressed by guest speakers during Tuesday's meeting of the Rolling Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

David Stubblefield, Brent Murphy and Bill Eiland, who make up the temporary RPUWCD board, met with Lee Arrington, manager of the South Plains Underground Water Conservation District and Harvey Everheart, manager of Mesa Underground Water Conservation District.

The three counties that would make up the RPUWCD are Scurry, Mitchell and Borden counties. The object of the board is to attempt to organize and hold a public election to install an underground water conservation district for the three-county area.

Arrington and Everheart both spoke about the benefits of having a water conservation district and what is necessary to get a district activated.

Discussed was a cap of one cent per $100 in property valuation in order to fund the district. Arrington and Everheart said that when an election is held and citizens vote for or against having a water district a tax cap is also set. The cap cannot be raised again without another election.

A one-cent cap would amount to $10 per year for a citizen owning property with a value of $100,000. This would give the water district a budget of approximately $150,000.

By law, the maximum tax amount for an underground water district cannot be more than five cents per $100 valuation.

When asked what a person would receive for their tax money, Everheart said "service in the way of testing for quality of water and for bacteria, flow testing irrigation wells and helping landowners with their water problems." A water district can save a landowner an undetermined amount of money by testing water because the water district does not charge for its services, he said.

Arrington said that the purpose of the water district is to safeguard citizens' rights to their water. He said that with a water district in place no one can come in, such as a large city needing more water, and mine water out from under landowners.

Another reason given to establish an underground water district is to keep "bad" legislation from passing. People will be represented on a personal and local level and have control over their own water and property, the men said. Citizens can have a voice in Austin through the district manager and board of directors. Everheart also pointed out that managers and directors live in their own districts, not in Austin.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Rolling Plains Underground Water Conservation District may contact Van York at 756-4391 in Gail, Bobby Lemons at 728-5221 and David Stubblefield at 728-3622, 728-8031 or 235-7002 in Colorado City. All meetings are open to the public.

Unveiling, board overhaul discussed

Plans for the unveiling of a large white buffalo artwork and committee reorganization were key topics for the chamber's Tourism and Retirement Committee, which met Tuesday.

Unveiling ceremonies for the 10-foot tall white buffalo statue will be Oct. 8, committee member Jerry Baird announced. The artwork, crafted by noted bronze artist Dr. Robert Taylor, will be erected on the courthouse square, replacing the smaller buffalo.

"It is really beautiful piece of work," said Baird. "It is very impressive."

A white buffalo committee is planning a large celebration for the occasion. To offset costs, the group is also planning several fund-raisers, including selling 12-inch by 6-inch engraved granite blocks, which will be placed on three sides of the statue.

The group will announce further fund-raising information following its next meeting, set for 3 p.m. Monday.

During Tuesday's meeting, G.A. Parks Jr., head of the Historical Survey Committee, offered his committee's assistance in helping with the celebration from a historical standpoint. Baird readily accepted the offer.

Nelda Huddleston briefed Tourism Committee members on the need to reorganize. She sug-

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Nobody doubts the ability of experience as a teacher, but the tuition is steep."

At this point in our life, we expected to be rich and famous. "Friend" Jack Denman claims there is only time left to reach one goal and he suggested a third alternative — infamous.

No doubt we think we could have been President, or at least a White House advisor. We're still awaiting a summons from the governor. And we wonder why the networks don't call.

Just a few weeks back, things looked bleak for sportscaster John Madden. His network, CBS, has lost its contract for NFL games. But Madden chalked a few diagrams and signed a four-year, $32 million contract with Fox. Shoot, we'd even settle for half of the $1.5 million a year that Madden's sidekick, Pat Summerall, will get from switching from CBS to Fox.

Not bad for working some 20 Sunday afternoons.

It's big business. Sports is anything but peanuts.

Not only is there big bucks in sportscasting, there is big bucks in stadium beer. You may remember that major league baseball recently was deadlocked over the issue of revenue sharing among rich clubs and financially disadvantaged ones.

Those in favor of revenue sharing were the Kansas City Royals and its chairman, David Glass, who is also CEO of Wal-Mart. Another in favor were the SF Giants and Houston Astros. Chairman of the Giants is chairman of Safeway Stores and owner of the Astros is Drayton McLane, second largest Wal-Mart stockholder.

Against revenue sharing was August A. Busch, chairman of the St. Louis Cards and head of Anheuser-Busch. According to baseball insiders, a few phone calls were placed to the brewery chief who eventually offered a compromise that was accepted.

While all claim there was no intimidation, everybody knows that a lot of cold stuff is sold at all major league ball parks.

How to cope with patient's anorexia

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 7-year-old grandson is a carrier of Cooley's anemia. He has no appetite, and never eats meat. Is there anything that can be done to stimulate his appetite?

DEAR READER: Cooley's anemia (thalassemia major) is an inherited defect in the formation of hemoglobin, the oxygen-carrying pigment in red blood cells. Patients with this disorder manufacture improper hemoglobin, leading to anemia, enlarged spleens, ulcers on the legs, delayed growth, jaundice, and iron deposits in various body tissues, including the heart and liver.

There is no treatment. Transfusions must be avoided because of the risk of iron-overload, which can cause cirrhosis and heart failure. Most patients learn to live with their chronic anemia, modifying their activities (because of fatigue and poor stamina) as needed.

Loss of appetite (anorexia) is a frequent consequence of thalassemia and is difficult to treat. This can often be substantially overcome by allowing such patients to eat what they want, or by preparing attractive meals with varying menus. Your grandson's pediatrician (or hematologist) can offer specific advice about this particular case.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Blood — Donations and Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I suffer from essential lymphedema, so-called Milroy's disease, which is aggravated by implant radiation I underwent 15 years ago. From the waist down, my body is twice its normal size and occasionally my lower legs will flare up with an allergic reddish irritation. Please tell me about this affliction.

DEAR READER: Lymph, the clear fluid that forms in blisters, is derived from the blood, circulates through the body in a special system of channels, and occasionally escapes into tissues, where it causes swelling called "lymphedema."

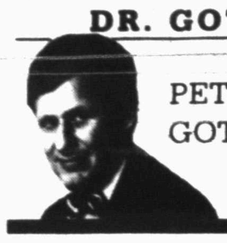

In Milroy's disease, large quantities of lymph leak into tissues, causing pronounced swelling that is, however, not hazardous to health. The cause is unknown.

Other afflictions may also lead to lymphedema — notably any factor that impedes lymph circulation. For example, blocked lymph nodes (strategically spaced filters in the system) may enlarge from infection or cancer, causing lymphedema. Radioactive implants, small devices to treat certain forms of cancer, can aggravate the situation, as in your case.

I'm sorry to say that nothing can be done to correct this phenomenon. Nonetheless, you might be helped by using pressure sleeves on your legs. You have to be measured for this product, which, when applied, forces the lymph out of the extremity, back into circulation. In essence, these sleeves work by applying external pressure to overcome lymph-leakage. Ask your doctor about this.

Silver Haired Legislature vote set May 24

Senior Texans, 60 years of age and older, have an opportunity of becoming or electing their own representative to the Texas Silver Haired Legislature. Election day for the fifth Texas Silver Haired Legislature is May 24.

Filing deadline for candidates is Feb. 28.

There are 116 members of the TSHL elected to represent regions of the state. Scurry County is one of eight surrounding counties in District III of the West Central Texas Council of Governments, Area Agency on Aging. The other counties are Knox, Kent, Stonewall, Haskell, Fisher, Mitchell and Nolan. As yet, no one has applied to represent District III, according to Norma Laywell, assistant director at the Snyder Senior Citizens Center.

Representatives meet in Austin to debate issues which impact the seniors of Texas. Then they take priority issues to the Texas Legislature for legislative consideration.

The record of the first four TSHL's speaks for itself. Texas Legislators recognize the value of the informed members of the TSHL and frequently call on them to attend hearings, committe meetings, and provide testimony on vital issues. Approximately 70 percent of the issues which the TSHL have presented have been addressed by the Texas Legislature.

This TSHL will be the fifth group elected. Terms are for two years. Expenses for meetings in Austin are the responsibility of the TSHL member with one exception: expenses for the orientation and training session, which will be held August 2-5 in Austin, are paid by the Texas Silver Haired Legislature Foundation. The Legislative Session of the TSHL is scheduled Sept. 12-16 in the Capitol Building.

For additional information, contact the Area Agency on Aging of the West Central Texas Council of Governments, (915) 672-8544, or contact Norma Laywell at the local Senior Citizens Center, 573-4035.

Female parolee shot to death during robbery

HOUSTON (AP) — A female parolee was shot to death by a Houston police officer when a car containing two people caught in a car burglary sting operation attempted to run down another officer, police say.

Undercover officers said the woman had removed a bag from a decoy vehicle left in a parking lot.

Daphney Simone Fox, 30, was shot once in the head and died shortly after arrival at Ben Taub Hospital Tuesday.

Officer Darin Davis, 31, said he fired at the car after the male driver had struck Davis' partner. Davis, a 12-year Houston police department veteran, had both legs broken in 1986 when a drunken driver crashed into his patrol car.

Houston police spokesman Joe Gamino said numerous complaints about daylight car burglaries prompted a tactical team to plant a vehicle in the parking lot of a state parole office.

A bag was left on the front seat and the vehicle's windows left open on Tuesday afternoon, Gamino said.

A car entered the parking lot and Ms. Fox and the driver got out and began looking into vehicles, he said.

They then walked along the office building looking in windows and looked out onto the lot, as if checking to see whether they were being watched, Gamino said.

The undercover officers saw Ms. Fox take the bag from the planted car, then get back into the auto with her companion.

As they were driving out, an undercover police truck drove in and blocked their exit, stopping with its front bumper a few feet from the suspects' car.

The driver first tried to back up, witnesses said.

As Sgt. Chris Andersen exited the undercover vehicle and approached the suspects' car, it accelerated forward, bumping Andersen, Gamino said.

DEAR ABBY: I challenge your advice to "On the Spot," the 60-year-old journalism student whose professor asked him to write an essay on the first time he made love.

If he doesn't parlay this opportunity into an "A," he doesn't deserve to write for the local newspaper.

As a 60-year-old retired college professor and aspiring writer, I would advise "On the Spot" to create an essay that would shock, daze and leave Miss Overactive Libido in a sweat, clamoring for the sequel. I would also show it to my wife so she, too, could enjoy a laugh.

If questioned regarding the truthfulness of the story, he should reply: "Of course it's true; if you don't believe me, ask my wife. She was there!" (When I wrote it, that is!)

A CREATIVE WRITER IN L.A.

DEAR CREATIVE WRITER: Meet a Floridian with a cute sense of humor:

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column about a teacher who asked her students to write an essay on the first time they made love. A pupil — a 60-year-old male — told her it was so long ago, he could hardly remember the first time.

Well, my grandson, who is now 15, asked me the same question when he was 9 years old.

My reply: "Rusty, I am so old, I can't even remember the last time."

HAROLD T. JACOBS, BONITA SPRINGS, FLA.

DEAR HAROLD: Mercifully, the memory is the second thing to go.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem that may seem trivial, but on a daily basis the situation is annoying. At our place of employment we have an employees' break room where many of us eat lunch. It is a short lunch break for most of us, so we like to have some pleasant conversation and enjoy our lunches. Most of us bring our lunch.

We have a woman with whom we work who talks incessantly about food. No matter what we bring, when we heat it in the microwave she says, "Mmmm, that smells good. What do you have today?" Frequently, she asks for details concerning what is in the food. Abby, this is absolutely every item we bring!

Some of us have even stopped going to the break room or stopped eating lunch. We hate to be rude and not answer her, but she is actually rude to continually ask us about every detail of our food. Please do not use our names or city. Just sign us ...

FED UP IN THE BREAK ROOM

DEAR FED UP: For you and your co-workers to stop going to the break room (or eating lunch) for this reason is childish. Why don't you simply tell this woman that you find her incessant talk about food irritating, and to please curb it?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Did you make any New Year's resolutions for 1994?

NOSY IN FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ.

DEAR NOSY: No. Last year I made only one: I resolved to make no more New Year's resolutions.

Profit up

DALLAS (AP) — Profits for Dr Pepper-Seven Up Cos. Inc. rebounded in the fourth quarter as sales rose 8.2 percent, the soft-drink maker said Tuesday.

For the three months ended Dec. 31, the company earned $21.3 million, or 32 cents per share, on sales of $167.2 million. During the final period of 1992, the company lost $63.3 million, or $1.78 per share, on sales of $154.4 million. The loss for 1992's fourth quarter included a $56.9 million debt restructuring charge.

John Albers, chairman and chief executive officer, attributed part of the growth to increasing popularity of Dr Pepper. He also said the successful resolution of a lengthy dispute with the Federal Trade Commission, which restored 7Up distribution to the New York City metropolitan market, boosted sales and profits.

Dr Pepper-Seven-Up stock closed at $25.12½ , up 12½ cents, in trading Tuesday on the New York Stock Exchange. The company, the third-biggest U.S. producer of soft drink concentrates, began trading on the exchange in January 1993 at an initial price of $15 a share.

For all of 1993, Dr Pepper-Seven-Up earned $77.9 million, or $1.21 per share.

Area Agency on Aging now has new director

ABILENE — Nell Baldwin, longtime employee of the West Central Texas Council of Governments, has been named director of WCTCOG's Area Agency on Aging, announced Brad Helbert, executive director of WCTCOG.

The appointment was effective Feb. 1. Most recently a program specialist with WCTCOG's information and assistance program for older persons, Baldwin has worked in all facets of the Area Agency on Aging, according to Helbert.

Her background after graduation from West Texas A&M University included tenure as director of volunteer services for Lubbock State School. Baldwin also has worked in aging program case management with the Texas Department of Human Services, and in nursing home licensing and surveying with the Texas Department of Health, both in Abilene. Baldwin is a Clarendon native.

"Ms. Baldwin brings to her new role as Area Agency on Aging director considerable experience, both with WCTCOG and with state agencies with which WCTCOG does business", said Helbert. "As our older population is changing, needs for services are changing. The ways WCTCOG provides services to these persons likewise will continue to change," Helbert added. "We are excited about her assuming this new leadership role with WCTCOG."

The Area Agency on Aging administers services for older persons, including senior centers and congregate meal programs, throughout a 19 county area in West Central Texas. In operation since the early 1970s, the Area Agency oversees Older Americans Act programs for the Texas Department on Aging.

Practice makes better

Gary Player works very hard on his golf game. Once, when he was practicing bunker shots and getting every one within a couple of feet of the hole, a spectator observed, "Gee, are you ever lucky!" Gary looked up and replied, "Yes, and the more I practice, the luckier I get."

When playing a bridge hand, we should try to make the contract without requiring any luck — especially without needing any successful finesses.

In today's deal, when the spades fail to break 2-2, it looks as though declarer needs the club finesse to make his slam. However, as you can see, it is losing. So South went one down, right? Wrong! He saw there was another possibility to make the slam. The club finesse could wait.

After West's weak two-bid, South's balancing double and North's cautious three clubs, South rebid three spades. As this showed a very strong hand, North cue-bid four hearts to signify a good raise to four spades. South needed no further encouragement.

After winning the first trick with dummy's heart ace, declarer made a farsighted play: he ruffed dummy's heart two in his hand. Then he drew two rounds of trumps, getting the bad news. South continued with a diamond to dummy's queen and ruffed the last heart in his hand. Next, he cashed the club ace and A-K of diamonds. With his preparations complete, South exited with a trump to East's jack.

East had to lead a club into dummy's K-J tenace. But if he had had a diamond left, declarer would have ruffed and tried the club finesse.

Lady Cards claim district cage crown

HERMLEIGH — The Hermleigh Lady Cardinals used a second-half rally and a 12-point effort from Brandi Bates to claim the District 21-A basketball championship Tuesday with a narrow 33-30 win over Highland.

The Lady Cards, 16-7 on the season and 8-1 in loop contests, trailed, 17-11 at halftime, then came back and went on a 14-9 third-quarter run and outscored the Lady Hornets, 8-4, in the final period to claim the victory and the district crown.

"The girls played real hard," said coach June Watkins, in her first season at HHS. "It was a tough, close game.

"We [illegible] and coach (Wayne) Poehls and I took them in the lockerroom and just told them they had to turn it up a notch in the second half. We left and the girls stayed in there and, I assume, they talked it over among themselves. But they came out and played a great second half."

Sheri Sandefur added 10 points to the HHS attack, Connie Payne contributed six and Michelle Roemisch put in five.

The Lady Cardinals will play Bronte, District 22-A runner-up, in the bi-district round of the playoffs. The game will probably be played Friday, Feb. 18. A site and time will be announced.

"I've really been plessed to get this particular group of girls," Watkins said. "They won a lot in junior high and we're real fortunate they have the attitude that it takes to win. They worked hard all season and they deserve (the district title)."

Highland, still with a shot at a playoff spot, slips to 14-8 and 6-3, tied with Ira for second place.

The Lady Cardinals will visit Loraine in the regular-season finale Friday. Highland will visit Westbrook

The Cards, led by Chris Lambaren's 21 points, needed every one of their six points in the extra period to slip past Highland.

The Hornets, who have clinched a playoff spot for the district, were led by Brett Miller, who drained a game-high 28 points. Ricky Sutton put in eight and Clint Stewart added seven.

Trailing Lambaren for scoring honors for Hermleigh were Chris Roemisch and Ricky Sosa, who scored 10 apiece, and Michael Breitweiser and Joey Sanchez, who had eight each.

The win drops Highland to 7-2, a game behind Loraine in the loop title chase. The Hornets are 16-7 on the campaign.

Hermleigh improves to 6-15 and 4-5.

Boyd leads Mats past Tigers

LUBBOCK — It's tough to say how Estacado will attack.

Sometimes they'll fly at you and shoot the lights out from the perimeter.

Boyd hit nine baskets to lead the Matadors to a 59-52 District 2-4A basketball win over Snyder Tuesday at EHS.

The Matadors started fast Tuesday, bolting to a 16-6 first-quarter surge. Estacado held a 33-18 halftime advantage, before the Tigers' 14-7 third-quarter run closed the gap to 40-32.

However, EHS iced the win with a 20-19 edge in the fourth.

Snyder post Ricky Post led the Tigers with 17 points against the Mats. Adrian Sneed was good for 13 and Jimmy Henry added eight.

Trailing Boyd for scoring honors for Estacado were Rodrick Davis and Derrick Phillips, who chipped in 12 apiece.

Free throw shooting was a problem for both teams. The Tigers, who have had problems from the line lately, hit just 10 of 20 attempts, while Estacado converted only five of 13.

The Mats became the fourth team in the district to record a 20-win season, going to 20-7 overall. They are tied for second in 2-4A with Levelland, 24-6 overall, and Frenship, which carries a 23-6 slate, with a 5-3 mark in loop games.

In other district games Tuesday, No. 3 Plainview, which has already clinched the loop crown, ripped Lamesa, 82-54, and Levelland trimmed Frenship, 47-46, creating the three-way tie for second with two games to play.

Snyder falls to 15-12 and 1-7 with the loss.

Snyder will host Lamesa, 12-20 and 0-8, in its home finale Friday at SHS. The Tigers will close the season on Tuesday at Levelland.

Lady 'Dogs top WHS to stay in playoff race

WESTBROOK — Ira's Lady Bulldogs remain in the District 21-A playoff race, thanks to their 57-46 win here Tuesday and Hermleigh's 33-30 victory over Highland.

"We're still in the thick of things," said IHS girls' coach Tim Mebane. "We've got to take care of business Friday though."

The Lady 'Dogs will host Blackwell in their regular-season finale Friday.

The Lady 'Dogs trailed, 27-24, at halftime Tuesday, before going on a 33-19 second-half tear that kept their post-season hopes alive.

Jody Rankin hit a team-best 16 points for IHS, followed by Jennifer Rankin's 12, nine from Jennifer Northcott and Kasey Calley's eight.

Westbrook's Tammy Hudman wound up with 16. Teammate Sheila Hale added 11.

The win lifts Ira to 12-12 on the year. Westbrook slips to 6-13 overall and 5-4 in league outings.

Tuesday's victory, coupled with Highland's loss, leaves the two squads tied with 5-3 district records. Hermleigh clinched the league crown Tuesday.

If Ira and Highland, which hosts Westbrook, both win Friday, they will meet at a neutral site to determine the district runner-up.

Coy Henderson of Ira and Westbrook's Greg Conaway each canned 35 points in the boys' game Tuesday, won by the Wildcats, 75-72.

Westbrook outscored the Bulldogs, 40-38, in the last two quarters, after holding a slim 35-34 margin at halftime.

Cory Beltz added 10 and Ronal White put in eight for Ira.

Jay Browne contributed 29 to the 'Cats' cause.

Snyder girls end season with 63-38 hammering of Estacado

LUBBOCK — Snyder seniors Meriah Worthen and Annie Ragland made sure the Lady Tigers ended the season with a bang.

The two combined for 37 points, including five threes, in Snyder's 63-38 District 2-4A basketball win over Estacado Tuesday.

Worthen, who led all scorers with her 19 points, hit two long-distance connections and added a team-best 11 rebounds from her point guard spot.

Ragland, a four-year standout for the Lady Tigers, hit 18 and scored three 3-pointers in Snyder's second-highest offensive output of the year.

The Lady Matadors made it a four-point game late in the third period, but a team of all seniors led the Snyder girls on a 22-2 fourth-quarter game-breaking explosion.

"We called it our Smurf Patrol," said SHS coach Steve Qualls. "Annie was the tallest one out there, she goes about 5-6, and it dropped off quick from there."

The seniors on the floor in the decisive fourth [illegible] Ragland, Worthen, Kerstin Claborn who finished with three points, Marissa Barrera, who nailed a bucket, and defensive specialist Olivia Madrid.

"Those five really gave Estacado fits," Qualls said. "They weren't able to run their offense, at all.

"The girls were having fun, knowing it was their last game together. They were spreading the ball around and playing great defense."

The Lady Tigers wound up Qualls' first season in charge with a 9-18 overall record and a 2-8 mark in District 2-4A.

"There were some things we wanted to get done this season that we didn't," the coach said. "But this was a great way to end the season."

Estacado winds up the campaign with a 1-26 mark and was winless in 10 loop starts.

Frenship, who claimed a playoff berth with its win over Snyder Friday, will advance to postseason play as the loop runner-up.

Snyder Shopping Center...

New chiropractor sets up practice

Dr. Michelle Wiggins, DC, formerly of Big Spring, will officially open her chiropractic clinic today at 3413 Snyder Shopping Center.

Dr. Wiggins said she entered the field at the suggestion of her father. She had originally planned to be an OB-GYN but changed her mind, she said, once she saw the similarities involved in becoming a chiropractor and the good they do.

Dr. Wiggins is a 1993 graduate of Parker Chiropractor College in Dallas. She said she is required to have virtually as much education as a medical doctor. She has a four-year college degree and three years of chiropractic school.

Dr. Wiggins offers a variety of services in conjunction with manipulations that are therapeutic to the body or an injured area.

Ultra sound is a therapy for acute injuries, such as sprains, that reduces swelling, heals tendons and muscles and also relieves muscle spasms brought on by stress.

Massage and acupressure is a therapeutic working of muscles and pressure points to relieve spasms.

When a body is injured, muscles tense up to protect it and take over for the injury. Electrical muscle stimulation fatigues the muscle so that it will relax and also wards off atrophy until injured nerves can heal, she said.

In some cases, traction is used when the type of injury suffered is a compression. These types of injuries may occur from a fall. Traction stretches the muscles and allows bones to realign, she said.

Dr. Wiggins also plans to learn acupuncture as another means of helping her patients.

Dr. Wiggins said she is glad to be in Snyder because she feels at home here, but more importantly because she wants to help her patients in any aspect of their chiropractic needs.

Her hours of business will be from 9 a.m. until noon and 2-6 p.m. Monday through Friday. She said special appointments can be scheduled for anyone who cannot come in during regular office hours.

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison sits in a Texas courtroom fighting for her political life, her colleagues will be debating a slew of issues from education reform to a balanced budget amendment.

The Texas Republican's trial on criminal charges that she misused her former office of state treasurer for political gain will keep her away from Senate duties for weeks.

Attorneys on both sides have predicted the trial, in which jury selection began Tuesday in Fort Worth, could last a month or more.

Asked by reporters whether missing Senate business concerns her, Mrs. Hutchison replied, "Oh, of course it does. It makes me feel terrible that I'm going to miss votes."

She didn't miss any roll call votes Monday, as senators debated a school-to-work package and education reform. The Senate did vote on a variety of measures Tuesday as it considered the Clinton adminstration's Goals 2000 education bill, which sets national education goals.

In the weeks ahead, the Senate is expected to tackle disaster assistance for Los Angeles, the GOP alternative to the Brady bill and national competitiveness legislation.

But the constitutional amendment to balance the budget is shaping up as the issue where Mrs. Hutchison's presence - or absence - could be felt the most.

With the nation's focus on the deficit, the balanced-budget debate has gained new weight. To pass the measure, supporters need two-thirds of the Senate. But the powerful chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, West Virginia Democrat Robert Byrd, has been working overtime to rally opposition - making the outcome difficult to call.

Mrs. Hutchison's spokesman, David Beckwith, said the senator might consider asking Judge John F. Onion Jr. for a temporary halt to the trial if it appears her vote on the balanced-budget amendment would be pivotal. She is a supporter of the amendment.

"Quite frankly, the balanced-budget amendment is the one time we've looked at on the schedule that looks as if her vote is going to be important," he said. "I don't want to say what she would do, but it's certainly something she is aware of and concerned about."

The Senate's Republican leader, Kansan Robert Dole, hasn't asked Mrs. Hutchison to be on standby to return for any votes, Beckwith said. "But if an exceptional circumstance presented itself, she would certainly consider asking for permission to come," he said.

Mrs. Hutchison might not be missing too much of importance in the weeks ahead, said veteran Capitol Hill observer and political analyst Charles Cook.

"Most of the really big issues are coming up later in the year," Cook said Tuesday. "It's never a good time to be gone, but as things go, this is probably as good a time as any."

"When you don't want to be gone is the tail end of the session when there's a mad rush to move legislation through and there's a dozen votes in a day," Cook added. "That's when it would be awful to be gone for a month or two."

No accident, autopsy shows...

Baby's body recovered

AUSTIN (AP) — A baby boy whose body was found near Temple did not die accidentally, and capital murder charges were being prepared against the babysitter accused of kidnapping him, the sheriff said today.

An autopsy early today found that 3-month-old Brandon Bush suffered a severe skull fracture, said Travis County Sheriff Terry Keel. "The severity of the injuries is inconsistent with any kind of accident theory," he said.

Keel said capital murder charges would be filed against the babysitter, Cathy Lynn Henderson, who had disappeared with Brandon Jan. 21. She has been in custody since last week on kidnapping charges.

Law officers using a map drawn by Mrs. Henderson found the baby's body late Tuesday northeast of Temple, which is in Bell County, between Austin and Waco.

A state judge on Tuesday had ordered Mrs. Henderson's lawyer, Nona Byington, to turn the map over to a grand jury.

Lawyers also released a statement Tuesday that was obtained by authorities in Kansas City shortly after Mrs. Henderson's arrest last week in Independence, Mo.

In the statement, Mrs. Henderson said the baby fell and struck his head while she cared for him at her home near Pflugerville, an Austin suburb.

Mrs. Henderson said in the statement that she tried for an hour to revive the baby, then fled, burying the child's body outside of Waco before going on to Missouri.

"I want to emphasize this was an accident and that I am truly sorry for Brandon's death. I panicked," said her statement.

One of Mrs. Henderson's lawyers, Linda Icenhauer-Ramirez, said the statement was written down by an FBI agent, apparently based on what Mrs. Henderson told him.

"I think it's the account the FBI agents believe because it's the last account they received, and they stopped talking to her after that," said Ms. Icenhauer-Ramirez. "I can't tell you what she has told us."

Travis County sheriff's spokesman Andy Saenz said Mrs. Henderson had given authorities "several different stories," including telling officials in Kansas City that someone else had taken the baby from the house.

'Schindler's List' nominated 12 times

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — "Schindler's List," Steven Spielberg's searing Holocaust drama, captured a leading 12 nominations today for the 66th Academy Awards, including best picture and director.

"The Piano" and "The Remains of the Day" earned eight nominations each, including best picture. The other best picture nominees were "The Fugitive" and "In The Name of The Father."

Best actor nominees were Daniel Day-Lewis for "In The Name of The Father," Laurence Fishburne in "What's Love Got to Do With It," Tom Hanks in "Philadelphia," Anthony Hopkins in "The Remains of the Day" and Liam Neeson in "Schindler's List."

The actress nominations were Angela Bassett in "What's Love Got to Do With It," Stockard Channing in "Six Degrees of Separation," Holly Hunter in "The Piano," Emma Thompson in "The Remains of the Day" and Debra Winger in "Shadowlands."

Jane Campion became only the second woman to be nominated for best director for "The Piano." In addition to Spielberg, she faces Jim Sheridan for "In The Name of The Father," James Ivory for "The Remains of the Day" and Robert Altman for "Short Cuts."

Miss Thompson and Miss Hunter were each nominated for supporting actress, the first time in academy history two performers have received two nominations in the same year.

Miss Hunter was nominated in the supporting category for "The Firm" and Miss Thompson for "In The Name of The Father." Also nominated were Anna Paquin for "The Piano," Rosie Perez in "Fearless" and Winona Ryder in "The Age of Innocence."

Leonardo DiCaprio was nominated for best supporting actor for "What's Eating Gilbert Grape," joining Ralph Fiennes in "Schindler's List," Tommy Lee Jones in "The Fugitive," John Malkovich in "In the Line of Fire" and Pete Postlethwaite in "In The Name of The Father."

Spielberg, the most popular director in Hollywood history, received his fourth nomination for directing. He has yet to win.

In 1986 he received an honorary Oscar but has been snubbed for such hits as "E.T. — The Extra-Terrestrial" and "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

Among films with multiple nominations, "The Fugitive" earned seven, as did "In the Name of the Father." "The Age of Innocence" collected five nominations, tying it with "Philadelphia."

The awards will be presented March 21 with actress Whoopi Goldberg as host.

Selected for original screenplay were "Dave," "In the Line of Fire," "Philadelphia," "The Piano" and "Sleepless in Seattle."

Adapted screenplay nominees were "The Age of Innocence," "In the Name of the Father," "The Remains of the Day," "Schindler's List" and "Shadowlands."

Snow, ice plague N. Texas

by The Associated Press

Old Man Winter extended his grip into most of North Texas this morning, dropping a sheet of ice that wreaked havoc on rush-hour traffic.

The front was moving into south-central Texas, where a chance of sleet and snow was possible later today. Parts of the region are under a winter weather advisory.

"The roads are terrible," said Kelli Harrison, communications supervisor for the Cooke County Sheriff's Department in Gainesville. "Matter of fact, my highway patrolman told me it's a solid sheet of ice any way you go out of Gainesville."

Ms. Harrison reported a few minor accidents and stranded motorists and said all schools and the courthouse were closed.

At the Gainesville Truck Stop, manager Lonnie Ing reported a doubling in business and a parking lot full of 18-wheelers.

Truckers, who began pulling in Tuesday night, have been ordering cups of coffee, playing video games and watching weather reports on television, Ing said.

Traffic in the Dallas-Fort Worth area was slow and a number of accidents were reported on overpasses, but roads for the most part were clear.

At Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport today, at least one airline reported de-icing delays averaging 30 to 40 minutes.

Overall, the effects of the winter weather were not as bad as Tuesday, when flights were canceled because of airport closures in New York and Washington, D.C., American Airlines spokesman Tim Smith said.

American's first flights out of the northeast region were canceled today because aircraft weren't available, Smith said.

Otherwise, he said, "We're doing better so far."

A winter storm warning was in effect in the north-central Texas region along a line from Montague to Weatherford to Dallas to Paris.

Selection of jury continues

FORT WORTH (AP) — Most potential jurors in U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison's criminal ethics trial say they have heard of the case, and some say they believe the charges are politically motivated.

But nearly all of the 40 people questioned during jury selection maintained they could be impartial if chosen to sit in judgment of Mrs. Hutchison.

Jury selection resumed today, with Mrs. Hutchison's lead attorney, Dick DeGuerin, asking the group if they had any problem with a state law that says an official's conduct is justified if they believe it was authorized by law.

On Tuesday, both sides asked potential jurors if they could treat the Republican senator the same as any other defendant.

The committee also heard a report from Carolyn House, chairman of the Snyder Beautification Committee. House outlined plans for a walking path along Deep Creek, as well as other projects the committee is working on. She also asked Ricky Fritz, chamber manager, to research whether it would be possible for hotel/motel tax funds through the chamber to be used to purchase benches to place along the creek.

Board members present Tuesday were Baird, Huddleston, Bernhard Bartels, Jay Wesson, Gay Hickman, Roy Carter and Tom Scappicchio. Also present were House, Fritz, and G.A. and Aline Parks.

The residence was the scene of a fire which occurred at 1:50 a.m. Tuesday. The blaze, which is under investigation as a possible arson, caused heavy damage to the living room and part of a bedroom, and smoke damage to the rest of the residence.

Billie Jackson contacted sheriff's deputies at 8:23 p.m. Tuesday in reference to the theft of some items. Deputies filed a report for theft.

At 3:20 p.m., Billy Gober notified police that someone had damaged his 1994 Chevrolet Camero. A report for Class A criminal mischief was filed.

Officers worked a two-vehicle accident at 12:29 p.m. at U.S. Highway 180 and El Paso Avenue. Involved were a 1968 Ford pickup driven by Billie Allen of 844 Buffalo Lane and a 1988 GMC pickup driven by Marlin Terrell of 3000 El Paso. A pole owned by TU Electric was also struck.

Phone records released

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards' aides say they've pieced together nine of 32 months of destroyed long-distance phone records, and remain convinced they've done nothing wrong.

"Stripped away from all political rhetoric, there's no allegation of illegal activities in this office," said John Fainter, the governor's chief of staff, as he made the records public Tuesday.

"The only charge that has been made is that we misinterpreted a rule regarding destruction of phone records. If we made a mistake, we regret it. We have now done everything we know how to do to rectify the situation," Fainter said.

Assistant District Attorney Claire Dawson Brown wrote the governor's office a letter saying the public integrity unit will look into the phone records and has asked for Richards' cooperation.

Last week, Richards aides acknowledged that long-distance records from her first 32 months in office were destroyed in August 1993.

The governor's office phone records were destroyed a few weeks after Travis County prosecutors raided the state Treasury and seized records of Republican Kay Bailey Hutchison.

Now a U.S. senator, Mrs. Hutchison is standing trial in Fort Worth this week on state ethics charges stemming from her tenure as treasurer.

Fainter has said there was no connection between the timing of the Treasury raid and his decision to destroy the phone records.

State rules call for such records to be retained for three years.

Fainter said the phone records released Tuesday were reconstructed from computer tapes found during an extensive search for the information. They are the only months for which records could be located, he said.

But the Texas Republican Party chairman accused Richards, a Democrat, of not taking seriously the questions surrounding the missing phone records.

"These are very serious allegations of major misconduct," said GOP chairman Fred Meyer.

"For the governor of the state of Texas to continue to brush aside these serious ethical and legal violations as just politics is alarming misconduct on the part of the governor," Meyer said.

Fainter said Richards' long has maintained a separate, privately funded political office to handle personal and political business.

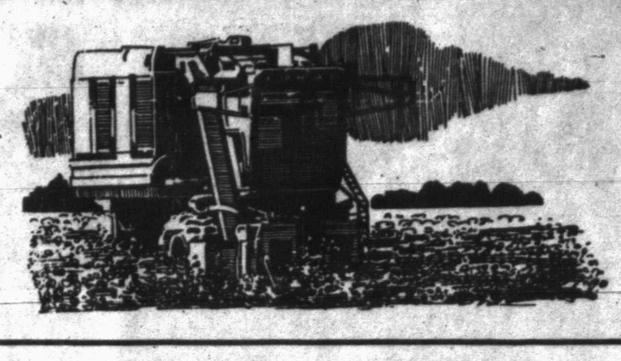

"She keeps that office open so that political and nonpublic aspects of her life can be kept apart from her public office," he said.

Rather, Fainter and other Richards aides said, the itemized listings of calls from the governor's office were destroyed in confusion over how long such material should be kept.

The governor's office now is keeping such records for three years, Fainter said.

Millions of youngsters who will be on their own at home after school could benefit from a few food safety rules to prevent foodborne illness.

Children usually prepare their own snacks when they return from school. Parents can help prevent foodborne illness by reviewing the following list with children:

—Deposit books and book bags somewhere besides the kitchen. They can harbor many harmful germs.

—Throw away any left-over perishable foods brought home from a carried lunch. An exception to this might be unopened cans of foods that are shelf-stable and don't require refrigeration, such as canned fruits and canned meats.

—Always wash hands before touching food.

—Use only clean utensils.

—Keep cold foods refrigerated. Always put milk, meat, cheese, etc. back in the refrigerator immediately and be sure the refrigerator door is closed tightly. Take out only what you plan to eat and refrigerate leftovers from any cans that are open.

—Don't eat any food that looks or smells "funny."

—If you are going to allow children to use a microwave, or any appliance for that matter, teach them to use it safely. Teach them to always use potholders and warn them about burning steam from popcorn or any closed container in the microwave.

Play it safe to keep youngsters safe and free of foodborne illness.

Denies report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rose law firm where first lady Hillary Rodham Clinton was a partner shredded documents last week relating to Whitewater Development Corp., The Washington Times reported today.

The paper cited as its source an unidentified Rose employee who said the documents included material showing the involvement of President and Mrs. Clinton, along with James B. McDougal and his then-wife Susan, in the Arkansas real estate venture.

Special counsel Robert B. Fiske Jr., appointed Jan. 20 by Attorney General Janet Reno, is looking into — among other things — whether McDougal improperly diverted funds from the Madison Guaranty Savings Loan Association, which he controlled, to Whitewater and Clinton gubernatorial campaigns.

The Times said it was not clear whether the reported shredding would violate sate or federal laws.

In Little Rock, Ronald M. Clark, managing partner of the Rose firm, today called the report "totally false."

Arson ring leader enters guilty plea

DALLAS — The leader of an arson ring blamed for destruction of $4.3 million in business property and vehicles has pleaded guilty in federal court, prosecutors say.

Anthony Wayne Elrod faces a minimum of 20 years in federal prison without possibility of parole after entering his plea, U.S. attorney Paul E. Coggins said Tuesday.

An indictment in November of 1993 accuses Elrod and five coconspirators of setting the building and car fires in order to collect illegal insurance profits and to damage and destroy a competing carpet cleaning business.

Elrod was indicted for the August 1992 burning of his own business, Dallas Fort Worth Carpet Services Inc.

Socks mourns loss of congressional cat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's first feline is mourning the passing of the beloved congressional cat.

Tuesday's mail brought a missive — on White House letterhead — to Texas Congressman Charlie Wilson from Socks, lamenting the death of Khyber last November.

"I know how difficult losing such a good friend must be for you," Socks wrote in the letter, which like an accompanying photo was autographed with a paw print.

"As a former homeless cat, I also know that by adopting Khyber from an animal shelter, you gave him many wonderful years that he otherwise might not have had."

The part Himalayan Khyber took up residence in Wilson's Capitol Hill office in 1986 and was joined a year later by Eteawon, a Birman. The cats were famous fixtures on Capitol Hill, lazily lounging on the furniture in Wilson's office.

Eteawon is now top dog, so to speak, in Wilson's office and is teaching the ropes to newcomer Winston Churchill Wilson, a Himalayan who goes by the less ponderous "Bubba."

The White House letter marked the first contact between Socks and Wilson's office. Socks had cooly ignored an earlier attempt at communication by Khyber and Eteawon.

As the 2nd District's feline representative, Khyber had sent Socks a congratulatory letter when President Clinton was sworn in, offering to give the Clinton cat an orientation to the dog-eat-dog town. Nary a reply was received.

But, apparently, prompted by news reports of Khyber's passing, Socks ended the silence this week. Perhaps a busy schedule accounts for the faux paw.

"As First Cat, I was working hard to promote goodwill and to provide a safe and friendly environment for cats across America," Socks wrote Wilson.

Jury in Bastrop convicts man of multiple slayings

BRENHAM — A Bastrop jury has convicted a man in the brutal slayings of his 4-year-old son and five other Somerville residents, and two other defendants are also scheduled to stand trial for the deaths.

Prosecutors said they will seek the death penalty against Robert Earl Carter when the five-woman, seven-man jury begins considering his punishment Wednesday afternoon.

Jurors deliberated less than two hours Tuesday before finding Carter, 28, of Brenham guilty of capital murder in the Aug. 18, 1992, slayings. His case was moved to Bastrop because of extensive pretrial news coverage.

Carter's wife, Theresa, and Anthony Graves, a Brenham native who had been living in Austin, have also been accused of involvement in the slayings of Carter's former mother-in-law Bobbie Joyce Davis, 48; her 16-year-old daughter, Nicole; and four of Ms. Davis' grandchildren.

The youths, ranging in age from 4 to 9, included Jason Davis, Carter's son. The victims' bodies were found in the elder Ms. Davis' Somerville home by firefighters responding to an early-morning blaze.

Autopsies later showed that five victims had been fatally stabbed and the sixth shot to death before the blaze was set in an attempt to cover up the slayings.

Testimony began last Wednesday. Prosecutors in closing arguments Tuesday said medical examiners found a total of 66 stab wounds in the victims, with Ms. Davis beaten severely with a blunt instrument and her daughter shot six times in the head.

The slayings came just days after Carter was told a paternity lawsuit was pending against him for more child support payments for his son.
