COTTON SHORTAGE RAISES CROP VALUATION MANY MILLIONS

COTTON CROP VALUE SOARS WITH REPORT

WORLD IS PREDICTED AT 12,692,000 BALES FOR SEASON

PRICE JUMPS $10

GOVERNMENT REPORTS BOLL WEEVILS IN MANY SECTIONS

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—A government report indicating a yield of 12,692,000 bales, and a value of $110 a bale on the N. C. Cotton Exchange today. The report was cut to approximately 10,000,000 bales before the market closed. This figure as applied to government reports, reports an increase of $10 per bale over the crop of 1926 and if the price remained steady at $10 a bale, the value of the crop would be $100,000,000 more than last year's crop at an average price.

Maximum Fluctuations

Under the contract, which had a value of $100,000,000 at the time of the market, the price rose to $110 a bale under the influence of the report. The price fell to $100 a bale on the second day. This season the price has fluctuated between $100 and $110 a bale.

Traders Forecasting

Government report was received with excitement on the part of the traders, who had been pessimistic about the crop. The report was expected to bring the price up to $110 a bale, but it fell to $100 a bale on the second day. The fluctuation in price during the first time this season was $10 a bale.

Smith Killed Men, States L. Conatser

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—"Bill Smith shot and killed Sheriff Bob Smith and Deputy Jake Owens," declared Lloyd Conatser, who arrived here Thursday and was placed in the Dallas county jail.

Conatser was arrested in Columbus Miss. and is being held on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of the Fisher county peace officers.

"Had Nothing to Do With It," he said, "nothing to do with the shooting," said Conatser, when told he was charged with murder. "I only fled with Bill Smith because I feared I would be implicated and I succeeded when my uncle in Columbus told me to."

Honoring her daughter, Lessie Derue, on her eleventh birthday, Mrs. Fred A. Owens entertained Wednesday afternoon at her home in Morrisville. A number of the honoree's friends were invited for games, after which they were served cake and ice cream.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST—Chilled, a popo cream, corned beef, raisin cream, white bean, toast, milk coffee.
LUNCHEON—Chicken, ranking tomato and lettuce salad, cranberry sauce, chilled cornmeal milk tea.
DINNER—Baked sea bass, creamed green beans, cucumber and tomato salad, green peas, tart milk coffee.

Green Sage Tart

Two cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons shortening, 1 little spoon cold water, 1 cup sugar, green sage preserves.

Modern Shoe

Put flour and salt and rub in shortening. Divide in two parts having one portion larger than the other. Roll the larger into a thin sheet and line a deep baking dish with the paste. Spread over it a layer of any preferred preserve rubbed through a sieve.

Care must be taken that the top is free from lumps. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Remove from oven, spread with a thin coating of preserves and sprinkle with granulated sugar. This is the shoe. Press edge firmly together. Care must be taken that the top is free from lumps.

The Woman's Day

By Allene Summer

Modernists are so busy curling at the old-fashioned woman who asks nothing more of life than to be a good mother and wife and homemaker that they entirely overlook the fact that this old-fashioned woman is often downtrodden by the very modernists who uphold her life.

No living person today gets the raw deal that does the stay-at-home mother, and often on the part of members of her own family who neglect themselves on their bread-and-butter.

It's the old story of "the more you do, the more you may" and "give them an inch and they'll take a mile." Old-fashioned wives and mothers have never asked much of anything for themselves, have never expected anything always have been door-mats and imposed upon, and while they would not refuse proffered relief and fair play and "modern treatment," they would never think of asking for it.

I am thinking of the horde of wage-earning daughters who live at home, prattling much of their economic independence and paying a local currency estimated down to the last penny of the actual cost of their "keep" and including not one cent for their mothers.

It never occurs to them that because they have carefully figured out that what they eat and the electricity and gas they consume and their share of the fuel and phone is the 45 or 56 they hand over to mother every week, they are not doing everything admirable.

Smug in this conviction they hurt their silk undies and hose at mother to be washed, take their ironing and cleaning and pressing for granted, raise an awful uproar if she is not constantly on hand for their phone calls and deliveries and are, in short, simply monopolizing the life of another potential wage-earner without giving one penny in return—not even the pennies of respect and appreciation and gratitude.

Home-keeping women do "get it so in the neck" I am thinking of a betty I know who had the nerve to marry a $30 a week man not so long ago, "because we can have another big front room and she'll keep us both for $12 a week." Mother, by the way, deserted by her husband when her youngsters were 12, 15 and 3, has kept house for nearly a quarter of a century, raised and educated her brood, and now, nearing 60 sees no quarter.

Betty's baby is on the way, "and with all the expense we'll be having mother, you'll let us stay here for $8 a week, won't you?" asked Betty.

Wage-earning daughters who take their silk lingerie, violet corsets, $30 permanent waves, lobster salad and string quartet luncheons French perfume, taxi, $15 shoes, season opera tickets, $100 tailored suits, and a few other things just have a matter of course, are perfectly willing to abide the spectacle of further drudging for her "keep" and feeling wicked if she buys a can of chicken for her own lunch.

I feel very strongly that home-keeping women have the same right to convert their labor into wages and to be regarded as important, wage-earning members of society as have their selfish daughters who dole out from their $25 to $50 a week the bare coverage of actual expense they involve in the home.

Local Briefs

Miss Mary Alice Dagan, of Dallas, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Cone, 1229 Broadway.

A Champion Coaches Her Two Kiddies And They Show The Effects, She Says

The swimming Hoergers; (upper) Master Bobby, aged 11 months, exercises his lungs and legs in Lake Montauk; (insert) Mrs. Ruth Hoerger, champion swimmer and (right) little Ruth does stunt acrobatics.

By NEA Service
MONTAUK BEACH, L. I., Sept. 8.—It is easier to teach a child to swim than it is to teach him to walk.

Mrs. Ruth Hoerger, mother of three, made this assertion. She sat on the beach watching those three while she spoke.

All Do Stunts
Bobby, aged 11 months, was paddling from ten feet of water in Lake Montauk to his mother on the shore; his sister Mary, three and a half, was "talking" her doll in regulation coast guard fashion and Ruth Hoerger, four and a half, was making a perfect swan dive from a ten-foot board.

"I'm not afraid they will drown," was asked of Mrs. Hoerger, anxiously.
"Of course not," she declared with some degree of scorn. "I started teaching the children to swim when they were three months old. They have absolutely no fear of the water. They would rather romp in the water than have balloons or ice cream cones."

Mrs. Hoerger herself was brought up in the water. She is an expert swimmer, former Miss "Craving" Bismarck of St. Louis, Mo., the record holder for the three-mile swim of Biscayne Bay, from Miami to Miami Beach, Fla., a stretch she made in one hour and forty-eight minutes, in competition with strong man swimmers.

"Teach them young and teach them in salt water, if possible," is her advice to mothers. Her children all learned in Florida.

"When the children were three months old, I began to take them into a salt water swimming pool with me," she said. "I merely held them in the water just to get them used to a new sensation. Then I would splash a few drops of water in their faces. After a few days of this they began to like the sensation until I was able to duck their heads beneath the surface. This really is the important part of the training. They soon learned that there really is nothing to fear—that they will not choke. Then they will not choke. Then they will not choke. Then they will not choke."

They became at home in the water and I had a pair of water wings around them and let them play alone, watching them closely all the while, of course.

"A Ducking is Fun." She explained how, only the other day when she was standing clad in a deep-sea suit on a pier, holding Bobby, the youngest child, in her arms, one of the other members of the party fell into the water and in his unexpected descent pulled her and Bobby with him.

"We fell in about twelve feet of water—and went all the way to the bottom—but when we came up Bobby was smiling and unafraid, just as though it were part of the day's play," Mrs. Hoerger explained.

The children wear only a triangular strap about their waists during the majority of their water-hours of the day. They are as tanned as Amazons and the family doctor would die of starvation if he were dependent on their diet for his livelihood.

"Ruth is becoming a perfect diver and my ambition is that she will be the youngest Olympic games diver," said Mrs. Hoerger.

"though her chief aim is getting them in the water so early in life as to teach them to swim and make them healthy."

They are the youngest members of the Woman's Swimming association which has fostered no stars.

School Begins Next Monday

Next Monday the youngsters begin another school year, and mothers will be unusually busy in preparing for it. Here are just a few suggestions by way of being of assistance to them, and each item is a money-saver.

SCHOOL SUPPLIES. Every child requires a certain amount of pencils, rulers, tablets, etc., and we've made ample preparations for the school children's needs. Enormous buying power makes it self-felt again in the extraordinary low prices. School Frocks For Little Girls. Where else would you expect to see such value? Well made garments of an excellent quality washable material and wonderfully low priced 55c. School Shoes For Boys and Girls. Parents know how hard children are on shoes, but we're showing some that defy the hardest wear. Style has not been sacrificed and neither has the quality for the low prices they are marked. $2.48 to $2.98.

Boy's School Suits. What boy is there that wouldn't be proud to wear one of these smart suits? Wonderfully smart fabrics that give unusually good service in all sizes, some with extra pants priced at $4.95 and $6.95. THESE GINGHAMS MAKE SMART SCHOOL FROCKS. For the mother who prefers to make the girl's school frocks, we show an unusually high grade gingham in smart patterns, economically priced at 22c per yard. BOYS' BLOUSES. Here's a value that mothers will appreciate. Well made blouses, cut full from good materials and priced at 49c and 89c.

Boy's Caps. These caps are priced to make it easy on the parent's pocketbook. Made from sturdy fabrics in many different patterns and colors. Priced at 74c and 94c. Boy's Trousers. For coatless school days, these trousers are just the thing. Many patterns and colors, and made to give extra service. Priced at $1.29 and $1.79.

SO THINK WE

We think that this is certainly the season for expositions. Daily we read of fairs being held over the state.

We think that both the ex-champion and the champion of the heavy-weight fighters are of the opinion that they will win the fight two weeks from today.

We think that one good way for everyone to know about the South Plains Fair is for the local citizens to talk, write, and think about it.

We think that after this week most of the high schools over the South Plains will be in full swing for another year of study.

We think that the cotton farmer has a very prosperous season before him as the market jumped to the limit again yesterday.

We think that there is nothing that has as much to do with the market of cotton as the government estimate of production.

We think that the rising generation should be patrons of aviation schools.

We think that it is sometimes easier to step into another man's shoes than it is to walk in them.

We think that Lubbock will be the leading marketing center of the South Plains as it has been in previous years.

We think that there is no doubt to the fact that movie actors get high salaries for in a recent divorce suit one actor paid $500,000 for a divorce.

We think that if a penniless man has nowhere else to go he should go to work.

We think that when some men do you favors they pay, let you forget about it.

We think that a bragger by another name is still a thief.

OPINIONS

All labor expended in producing strong drink is utterly unproductive. It adds nothing to the wealth of the nation.—Adam Smith.

No thorough study of the (alcoholic) influence could warrant any other conclusion than that it is the most active influence present in our social life for the production of poverty, criminality, and physical and nervous degeneracy.—Report of the Commission to investigate the extent of feebly mindedness, epilepsy and insanity in Michigan, p. 28.

The men who try to do something and fail are infinitely better than those who try to do nothing and succeed.—Lloyd Jones.

The skillet and broom as training equipment for Pampa's flapper school kids are not very popular this season, according to reports, and it's too bad that the men of the city get all the breaks—and coaches. It is.—Pampa News.

TRAVELING PUBLIC DRESS "Would you like to buy some beautiful flowers? Let me show you a dandy little folding basket that every home needs." Perhaps you have heard these statements from the lips of rascals, dirty-faced little children as they go from house-to-house or from store-to-store pleading for sales "that they may use the money for their father who has broken his leg and for their mother who is in ill health."

In some instances these children represent people who are in need ing in the industry which he knows, and which he can depend on.

This farmer is setting an example which communities as well as individuals will do well to follow. Mineral industries are unstable. They enrich the country as long as the deposits are found in paying quantities, but when production is no longer profitable the communities and individuals must find other means of existing. When such a time comes, the communities or individuals are fortunate if they have made other plans.

PENSIONERS FROM OUR WARS

A report of the United States Commission of Pensions brings to light some interesting facts. We are surprised that there are still pensioners of the War of 1812. While there are no veterans of the War of 1812 now living, there are twenty widows of those soldiers drawing their monthly pensions. Their husbands fought one hundred and fifteen years ago. Since information is lacking, we shall suppose that these widows were young women who were married to old, old soldiers.

Of the war with Mexico, there are nine soldiers living. They are men whose ages range from ninety-six to one hundred and two years, and widows of the soldiers in the Mexican War number one thousand. The Civil War widows are 223,880. The surviving soldiers are 105,296.

The wars have on the present pension list 3,821 soldiers and 3,081 widows; the Spanish-American War has left us 122,182 soldiers and 17,871 widows. Besides pensioners of these various wars, there are, of course, a large number drawing stipends because of the World War. The total number on the pension roll is more than half a million.

It would seem that all persons who are due claims on account of service in the Civil War would long ago have had their names upon the list, but we are told that within the last five years more than two hundred claims have been handled. The average Civil War pension is $802.64 for soldiers and $378.86 to widows. The Mexican War pension is $399.30; the War of 1812, $370; Indian wars, $275.30; Spanish-American War, $211.05.

It was in 1790 that the United States government began pensions, and since that time it has distributed more than seven billion dollars in pensions. It paid out last year two hundred million dollars. The pension bill of the Civil War to date has amounted to $6,784,920,604. The Revolutionary War account amounts to $70,000,000, the war with Mexico more than $57,000,000, the War of 1812 to more than $46,000,000, and the Indian wars $29,000,000.

And still the list goes on. Long before the list made from the previous war is exhausted along comes another batch. This time it is a long list of splendid young men who went across the seas to fight for right, and to keep might from getting control of the world. This list is a large one—men who fought in the world conflict—the men who stopped the onslaught of the Germans. These men who are crippled and disabled, are to be taken care of by the government, and none of us are unwilling that they be taken care of, and the only regret of many people is that they are not taken better care of than they are, and many hundreds who are getting no care at all from the government who should. Outside of the great army of men who are wounded and disabled is a larger army—the wives and children of these men, who are in need of help.

The American Legion is trying to do this as best they can and it is a very worthy organization. The men who compose that organization are men who are for law and order. They are among the very best men of the community, and they are men who should be given attention when they ask for things in their community, for you may depend upon it that they are not asking anything that is not right, and is not needed.

On the 26th of this month the local Post—Allen Brothers will have here Evangelist Will Hogg who will deliver a lecture and the entire proceeds are to be given to the Allen Brothers Post to start a building fund, whereby the Post here can erect a building suitable for a meeting hall. The sale of tickets is now going on, and every red-blooded American, who possibly can should buy one of these tickets.

Some one has said that he who receives a good turn should never forget it and he who does a good turn should never remember it.

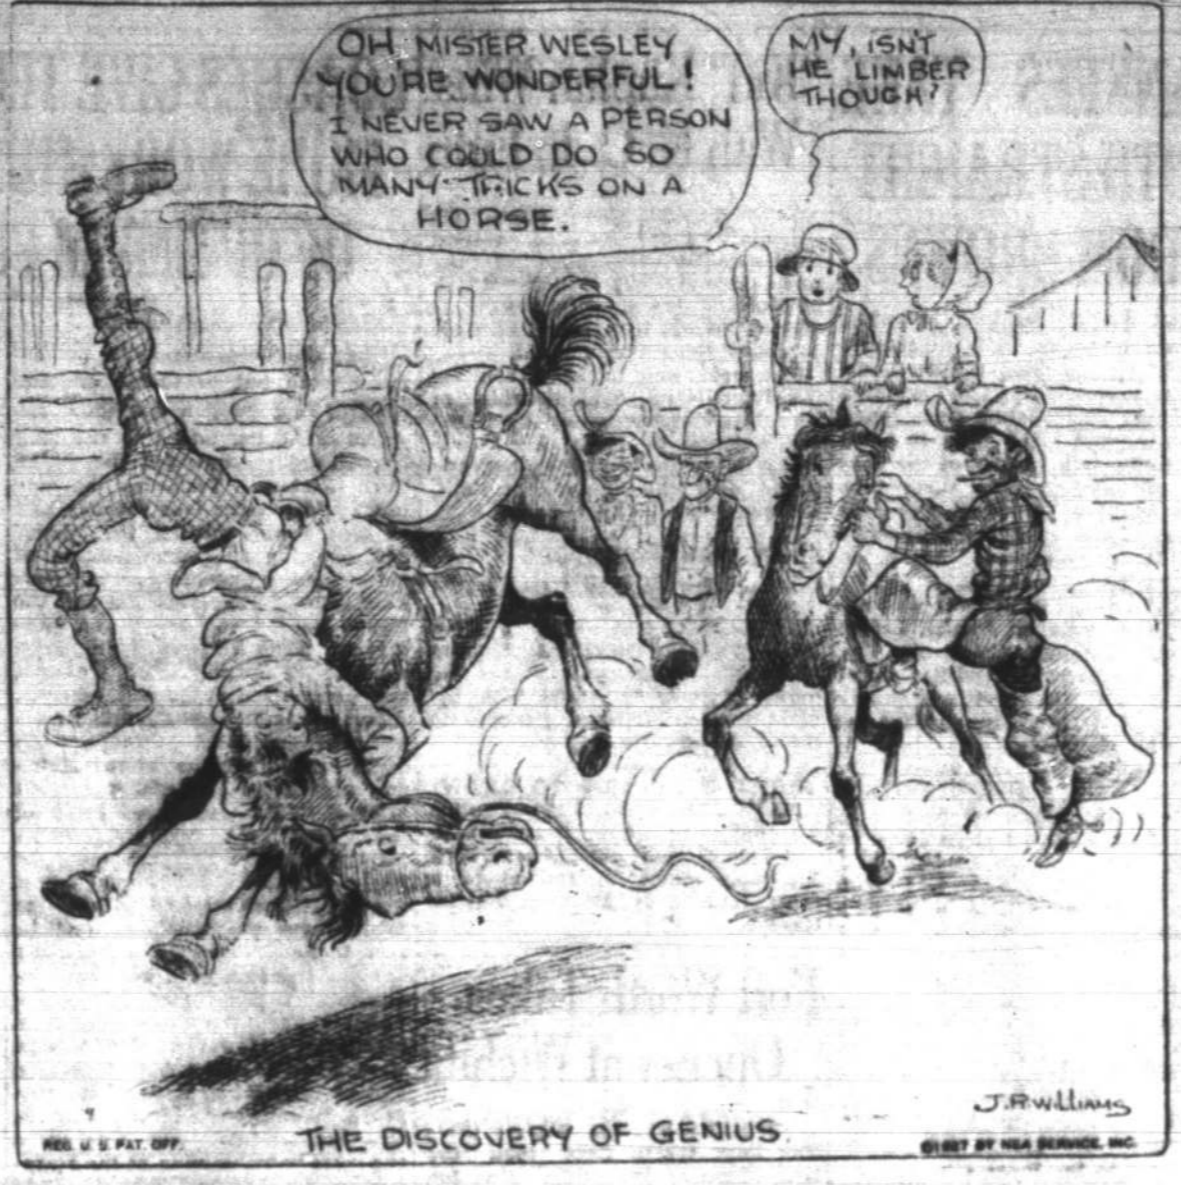

Satan is behind a lot of folks, but he is pushing them along to greater speed.

Texas has not gotten so bad yet that the preachers have to close their churches to let the men folks play golf on Sunday, but some times we think it is fast drifting in that direction, unless the preachers choose to preach to women only at the morning hour.

Lubbock people may not be very much excited over the prospects of finding oil in this section, but there is one thing pretty certain they are always awake to the best interests of the Texas Tech, and they are all looking forward to the opening of the College with much interest. We are all glad that the time for the coming of the large number of boys and girls, back to enter school is not far away.

YOUR HEALTH

YOUTHFUL SUICIDES SHOW NO UNUSUAL INCREASE

Editors Note—This is the third of a series of five articles on suicide. Tomorrow: Causes of Suicide.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Recently newspapers carried much agitation relative to the suicide of persons approaching college age. Actually, the suicide rate per persons of this age has not varied greatly for many years.

In ten years, from 1911 to 1920 there were reported in the United States only six cases of child suicide, including four boys and two girls from five to nine years of age. From the ages of ten to fourteen there were 185 boys and 145 girls.

Love Disappointment. In the next age period however, from fifteen to nineteen years of age, there were 1855 women and 1414 men. Women at this particular age are likely to be disturbed by disappointment in love, the expectancy of illegitimate child-birth and similar sex problems.

From the ages of twenty to twenty-four there were 4985 men compared with 4255 women; at the ages of thirty-five to thirty-nine, 8125 men as compared with approximately 5600 women. The greatest number of women commit suicide between the ages of twenty-five to twenty-nine, whereas the largest number of men between the ages of thirty-five to thirty-nine.

As Concerns Marriage. Suicide in old age is relatively infrequent as compared with that in middle life. While the figures are not absolutely dependable, they appear to indicate that married people commit suicide less frequently than do the single, the widowed or the divorced.

In all of the groups concerned the divorced commit suicide most frequently.

LAUGHS

High Finance "A dime? What do you want a dime for?"

"Not do I want a dime for? Well, mister, I'll tell you, I've got nine hundred and ninety-nine thousand, nine hundred and ninety-nine dollar and ninety-nine cents, an I'd just love to make it a million."

Birth of a Sprinter "What steps would you take if you saw a dangerous lion on the campus?"

"Long one."

Only An Appetizer "Wife—"I can't find my last year's bathing suit." Husband—"Probably a moth ate it."

Get His Wish Judge—"What have you to say for missing the traffic light?"

"Prisoner—"I said I was where there are no traffic cops to mess up."

Qualifications The young miss was filling out an application for a position in one of the city offices.

One of the questions was: "What is the length of your residence in the city?" She answered: "About 140 feet."

Another question was: "Any physical defects?" She answered: "Only freckles."

Today's Poems

IT'S A MAN'S JOB. It's a man's job to be cheerful. In the face of grief and care. Any weeping can be tearful. And a victim of despair. But it takes a man to swallow All the bitter in the cup. And to live for what may follow Without ever giving up.

It's a man's job to be kind. It's a man's job to be true. None only that his eyes and blindly Try to journey this life through. And not see the wrong about him Or the hazards in his way. There are times when fate will tempt him. And his feet will go astray.

Not in foolish and certain creature. Are the worthy virtues found. Not on black and white pages. Do the cheerful smiles abound. He who in his best is living. And for truth and honor stands. And is cheerful in his grief. Has a man's job on his hands.

To be kind and thoughtful ever. To be strong in times of need. To put all your best endeavor In an effort to succeed. And to fall and keep on trying. And not lose your cheerful ways. Is a job, there are no freeways. For a real man's job today.

It's a man's job to be true. None only that his eyes and blindly Try to journey this life through. And not see the wrong about him Or the hazards in his way. There are times when fate will tempt him. And his feet will go astray.

SHIPPERS PROTEST DELAY IN RULING

PETITIONS OPPOSING RAIL REQUEST POUR IN TO I. C. C. IN NUMBERS

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Shippers and receivers of freight in Texas and Oklahoma joined in a deluge of petitions to the Interstate Commerce Commission today seeking rejection of the request of the railroads in that territory for a sixty-day postponement of the effective date of the class and commodity rates which the commission prescribed to take effect next December 5 in the southwest.

These opposing petitions included the Oklahoma corporation commission; chamber of commerce of Miami, Muskogee, Okmulgee and Okfuskee; all of Oklahoma; the Oklahoma Cottonseed Crushers' association and the Tulsa-Creek-Bureau. They declared the railroads had had several months already to prepare the new tariffs and that no delay beyond December 5 was warranted.

Petitions of the Dallas and other Texas interests called attention that the commission's orders had been readjusted only a few commodity rates and that it appeared from the carrier's petition that it was their intention to readjust all of these rates "regardless of whether or not the commission found a reasonable basis for application therefor."

"Such wholesale change is not warranted by any suggestion or any part of the commission's order," they asserted, adding that "certainly no postponement should be granted for an such reason."

SATURDAY, SEPT. 10TH

3 pounds Granulated Sugar FREE with each 3 pound can Pecan Valley Coffee at all grocers Friday and Saturday, September 9th and 10th.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water.

Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and is introduced in liquid change and helps stimulate them into activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, makes a delicious afternoon drink, water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

The field to be taken between this date and October 1 in the presence of operators and pipe line representatives. A new gauge of the field will be taken on the first and fifteenth of each succeeding month. No wells drilled in will be taken into account except at these gauges. No limitation on the drilling of wells is contemplated in the plan, that being left to each individual operator and his neighbors to work out. Expressions heard at the meeting indicate that little further drilling is contemplated, since the potential production of the field already is far in excess of the outlet in sight. No wells will be shot to increase production, nor will air lift be employed.

Companies represented at the committee meeting included, beside Marland: Humble Oil and Refining company, Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company, McMan Oil and Gas company, California company, Pure Oil company, Roxana Petroleum corporation, Simms Oil company, Phillips Petroleum company, Tidal oil company, Sholly Oil company, Wheelock and Collins, Independent Oil and Gas company and Trans-Continental oil.

Contemplate Pipe Line

Plans of interests identified with the Trans-Continental oil company to build a pipe-line outlet to the Yates pool containing buildings to a point on the Southern Pacific probably Sanderson, some time next year, according to information from a source believed reliable. Possibility of building from that point on to Tidewater, probably at Corpus Christi, will depend on future developments in the field, railroad rates, and ability of other pipe lines to care for future production from areas in which Trans-Continental has interest. These plans, which were first reported several weeks ago, are substantially unchanged as a result of recent conference of Trans-Continental officials and bankers in the east. It is understood.

SEA FLIGHTS

managing editor of the New York Daily Mirror, and flight manager for William Randolph Hearst. Three ships still were combining the sea today for Old Glory, but none knew where to look for the Carling. Since no report had been had from her from the time she passed out over the sea, it was impossible even to estimate the probability of her return in his disaster, if disaster there was.

England Waiting

CROYDON, England, Sept. 8 (AP)—Colored searchlights will flash all night in Croydon field and all landing lights are burning in hope of guiding the Sir John Carling should it manage to reach the London area. Hope that the Canadian plane will reach its destination is slight as the visibility is miserable, with low hanging clouds and much rain. Only professional fliers, air ministry officials and reporters are keeping vigil on the rain swept field in the hope that the Carling may weather the storm.

Optimism faded tonight

even among airmen who had expected to hear that the Carling had made a forced landing even if it managed to reach Ireland or England, there was some speculation among fliers as to whether the light from light-houses were bright enough to guide the plane through such gray weather.

JONES DEFENSE

about the slain Attorney Crenshaw said yesterday afternoon. A suit for divorce and asking the recovery of certain properties which she claimed were due her, was filed last month by Mrs. Zatloukal and was to have been heard by Judge Mullican tomorrow. Mr. Crenshaw revealed. The suit charged the defendant with cruel treatment, physical attacks against his wife and further claimed that he had acquired a large part of the estate left her by her first husband at his death, which properties Zatloukal was appropriating for his personal use. Mr. Crenshaw said that out of a comfortable fortune left her by her first husband, a prominent Georgetown physician, Mrs. Zatloukal had left only a farm and residence in McLennan county, the balance having been acquired by Zatloukal.

Self defense will constitute the plea of Jones. Senator Hedges said. His counsel will attempt to prove that Zatloukal, after arriving in Lubbock either Wednesday night or early yesterday, phoned Mrs. Zatloukal at the Jones home Thursday morning and alarmed her with threatening words; that he sought out her son, Tom Jones, after she had told him not to do so; and that when approaching Tom Jones he made a significant move, as if to draw a weapon, immediately before he was shot. Police Sergeant J. E. Immon, however, who searched the dead man's pockets, said last night that no manner of weapon had been found about his person. Mrs. Zatloukal, afraid of her husband, had refused to grant him a personal interview when he telephoned her. Mr. Crenshaw said. When her son came home for the noon meal she advised him of her worries and shortly after his return to his office the tragedy occurred.

About 12:45, as Jones stepped from his office, on the ground floor of the Lubbock Hotel building, to the Avenue K sidewalk, he saw Zatloukal coming toward him just outside the Avenue K entrance to the Hotel Grand store. It was then that the dead man is claimed to have made the threatening move which brought on the shooting.

A bystander hastily summoned Doctors D. D. Cross and O. W. English, of the Elwood hospital, by the time they could arrive Zatloukal was dead. The body was removed to the Powell Mortuary, 1213 Texas avenue, where Dr. J. W. Helle, city physician, performed an autopsy at the request of District Prosecutor Durwood M. Bradley. Doctor Helle found that Zatloukal had been shot twice, one bullet entering his left breast, just above the heart, and tearing out of his back, just under the shoulder blade. The other shot struck him in the back of the head, near the top, and crushed out his mouth. The latter wound is now in the hands of Sheriff Johnston. It is a mangled, double action, .33 caliber Colt's and when turned over by Jones had two empty shells, three loaded ones and an empty chamber.

Defense attorneys believe that the case will come to trial during the present term but would not attempt to name a probable date for its calling. Zatloukal, a big man weighing in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, was not known in Lubbock. He was a Bohemian.

Jones has been in Lubbock for more than two years, has his office in the Lubbock Hotel building and heads the concern operating as Tom Jones Realty company. Associated with him is J. G. Hall. Jones is a world war veteran. A member of a leading fraternal order and a widely known neighborhood. He came here from Georgetown.

MORE ROAD WORK IS LET BY STATE

CONSTRUCTION TOTALLING $658,069 IS ORDERED ON HIGHWAYS

AUSTIN, Sept. 8 (AP)—Road improvement for eight Texas counties were ordered by the state highway commission today when it let construction contracts totalling $658,069.

Maintenance contracts which will run to around $500,000 were scheduled to be let but tabulation of bids was not completed in time and awards will be made tomorrow.

Commissioner C. C. Johnson said that he has noticed a disposition by the state engineering force to advertise for alternate bids on certain work "with apparently preconceived notions of what is better," and declared that in that case, calling for alternates is "useless and possibly unfair to bidders."

Contracts Let

Contracts let: Muller and Roberts, Hitchcock grading, constructing drainage structures and concrete 8.4 miles of highway number 10 in Galveston and Harris counties $248,711. (the commission on its own motion withdrew from federal aid the section of highway on ground that bids were taken up, claiming that cost would be little more, that part of highway hereafter will be aided solely by the state).

Tidwell Brothers, Wichita Falls, grading and constructing gravel approach to Burkhardt bridge on highway number 30 in Wichita county, $5,972.

Thibbets Construction company Fort Worth, grading and constructing drainage structures on six miles of highway number 10 in Montgomery county, $20,775 Sullivan and Davis Granger, culverts and bridges on same project, $12,912.

C. H. McClellan, Wichita Falls, grading and constructing drainage structures on 14 miles of highway number 23 in Carson county, $37,440.

H. B. Zachary, Laredo, grading and constructing drainage structures on 12.4 miles of highway number 12-A in Webb county, $24,812.

Thibbets Construction company Fort Worth, grading and constructing drainage structures on ten miles of highway number 12 in Wharton county, $62,948.

H. K. McCollum, Fort Worth, constructing of bituminous macadam surface on 13 miles of highway number 20 in Baylor county, $102,618.

The commission let contract for grading and small drainage structures on 15 miles of highway number 31 in DeWitt county to E. B. Lull and company, Luling, on his bid of $48,123, and awarded contract for large drainage structures on the same project to Walsh Burney and Moore, San Antonio, for $77,235, both awards on the condition that the federal approval of the project be obtained or already obtained before approval before letting contracts.

season and halting the rise on the first day. WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Boll weevils ravaged the cotton crop during August, the present damage to squares and bolls being very great, the department of agriculture announced today in its September cotton report which forecast this year's crop at 12,622,500 equivalent 500 pound bales. Indications are that production will fall to an estimated 11,000,000 bales less than last year's record crop. Prospects declined to the extent of 500,000 bales since the August forecast when indications pointed to a crop of 12,622,500 bales.

Wet Weather Helps

Wet weather over much of the cotton belt was decidedly favorable to the increase of the boll weevil and infestation increased materially in all infested sections. Weevil damage is much worse in North Carolina than in previous years, the department said, while the weevil are sufficiently numerous to prevent any further cotton being made during the rest of the season. There was continued weevil damage in South Georgia and the area of heavy damage extended northward during August.

In Alabama weevil infestations were reported as the heaviest since 1923, but the crop is earlier and more cotton already has been made than in former years of heavy damage. Infestations is now quite general in Mississippi and Louisiana. Texas reported heavy deterioration of the crop in August, except in the northwest and southern districts where slight improvement occurred.

DISPUTE IS NEAR END

Meet Today is Likely to End Coal Miners' Wage War With Owners

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—Prospect for settlement of the coal miners' wage dispute was seen here tonight in the arrival of John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers to confer with the Illinois mine representatives.

All today the joint sub-committee composed of two operators and two officials of the Illinois Mine mine workers deliberated without apparent result, and adjourned to meet again tomorrow. Members of the miners' committee of thirty interpreted the lack of news from the sub-committee as indicating a compromise had been proposed, acceptance of which was deferred until the international president might be consulted.

Luncheon to Sponsor New Form of Government; Mayor Speaks at Meeting

(Special To The Avalanche) LAMESA, Sept. 8.—The Lamesa Luncheon Club took a definite step toward securing for the City of Lamesa a City Manager form of Government here in its regular weekly session to adjudge Carl H. Morrow presented many adjustments of such a change in the City's charter among the most outstanding being the City Manager form of government. He pointed out many savings that would accrue to the City by this plan.

The President of the Club Walter H. Culline appointed a committee to draft a charter for the approval of the club. Nine business men were appointed by Carl Morrow chairman. Among the most distinguished visitors of the club were H. W. Hays, President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and D. M. Oldham, Sr. of Abilene. Hays spoke on the action the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was now taking in the Water Rights fight pledging his organization to do what it could to conserve West Texas interests.

LAKE VILLA, Ill., Sept. 8 (AP)—Refreshed by two days of respite from the sticky heat that has settled over the Cedar Crest Country club, Gene Tunney will resume his labor tomorrow to fit himself for defense of the heavyweight championship against Jack Dempsey at Soldier Field on the night of September 22.

The cut inflated in Tunney's eye by Chuck Wiggins in a sparring bout Tuesday has now healed. More news that Tunney shows through the eyeshadow. During the six rounds of boxing planned for tomorrow, Gene probably will wear an eye protector of special design to guard against re-opening the wound. The champion, as a rule, never wears the customary leather helmet of the training ring.

Stribling Fined For Framed Fight

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 8 (AP)—William L. "Young" Stribling, the Georgia peach, had what he said was a "rough break" this afternoon when he was fined $100 and costs for participating in an alleged framed fight Tuesday night with Lou Diabell of Oklahoma City.

Diabell drew the same penalty and said he would never fight in Oklahoma again.

"A" Stribling first paid his opponent's fine but later changed his mind and posted a $300 bond. Diabell paid his fine and was released. It is understood that Stribling will appeal if he wins his case before the state boxing commission in Lincoln tomorrow.

French Net Star Loses to Tilden

SHERMANTOWN, CRICKET MEET, PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 8 (AP)—Widening an earlier lead, just as he ever has flashed in international tennis competition, "Big Bill" Tilden turned the tables on his French rival, Henri Cochet, today and enabled America to take the lead with France in the first round match of the Davis cup championship.

Diabell, with an attack of dizziness, outstruck and out-paced Cochet in four thrilling sets by scores of 6-4; 3-6; 6-2; and 6-2 after the match-like game had been with France in the first round match of the Davis cup championship.

JAMES R. DOW

The Westerners, thirty-two of them, are working hard on the Merrill Park lot each afternoon to prepare for their first contest with the Floydada Whitebirds during the South Plains Fair. Del Morgan, old teamate of Henry Frank's, is assisting the Westerners mentor in the preliminary workouts. Morgan formerly coached the Quanah eleven and created an excellent machine. Frank's assistant is working with the Westerner backfield material.

Looks like "Dope" White will not be with us. Circumstances have arisen down in Cleco that are keeping the scintillant Matador a long way from appearing here for the camp. In case these matters are cleared up "Dope" will come to the camp. In a telephone conversation yesterday morning with Grady Higginbotham the Matador told that he had the fever plenty bad and wished that it was possible that he could be here with the boys.

Clayborn "Bule" Bullock has entered into the Matador training camp. Bullock is a husky six footer and weighs over 200 pounds. His experience consists of high school training and two seasons with the 26th Division of the A. E. F. "Bule" is well known to the pioneers of Lubbock and he will likely make "Big Un" a fair line man.

Grady and Vic carried the boys through some neat foot work yesterday. They ran the backs and ends through a series of hurdling exercises and side-stepping plays. Plenty of shifting of the "boys" and body is seen ahead of the lads that will work in the Matador backfield this year.

"Red" Moore, Cleco bright light and a fleet backfield man is expected to join the Matador forces today. Moore comes to the Matador camp as no stranger as the coach of the Tech, have seen the lad in action and know pretty well of his ability.

The big roller was out on the Matador gridiron part of yesterday and the field is certainly looking good. The Matador playing field is thought to be one of the best in Texas.

Work is getting along pretty fast on the new stands along the west side of the gridiron. The 4,000 seat stand will add much to the Matador gridiron.

Each business in Ralls gave a nice prize to the lucky person. Everyone reported a very enjoyable time for the day.

VARIOUS ACTIVITIES SHOW AN ERA OF EXTENSIVE GROWTH FOR LOCKNEY

(Special to the Avalanche) LOCKNEY, Sept. 8.—Building permits in the city of Lockney are soaring the million dollar mark as the end of the year approaches. Food and cotton prospects were never brighter as farmers say that the insects and worms are damaging the crops very little. These two things coupled with an unexpected wheat yield and a large following of diversified farming has attracted foreign capital and the development of the Lockney section proceeds at a very rapid rate.

Growth Spurt As a matter of fact, Lockney has grown more during the past eight months than in any other period in its history. Although the Port Worth and Denver South Plains has nothing but its grade built through this section, more building has been done in this city this year than in any other five year period. The Lockney Cotton Oil plant, reputed to be one of the most modern in the state, is well under way with a 400,000-gal main building practically finished and construction begun on three other buildings. Brick and structural steel are the type of construction used in this plant.

Gas in City. The Texas Gas company, in their South Plains extension, are now at work laying the distribution lines in the city. Practically every residence and industry will be served as well as much unimproved property, where the lines are not at the present necessary. Business men state that before the end of the next day it will be necessary for the gas company to extend their mains in order to take care of the development that is now taking place.

Much Building. P. E. Shick, local agent for the Pierce-Petroleum company has just completed one of the most modern small filling stations in this section of the Panhandle. Shick had already one filling station in operation and the new one makes the second that is now under his control. He states that with the advent of several months he expects to have at least four filling stations operating in the city of Lockney.

Many new residences and business buildings have been constructed or are now under construction in the city, the result of a period of development and at this time there is a shortage of residences and rent property with a need that is increasing very rapidly.

On account of the period of expansion now underway, the municipal government of the city have made extensions to the amount of $12,000 on the water system and the citizens have voted favorably on a bond issue of $25,000 for the installing of a sewer system. With the above equipment, the city is enabled to furnish water at the lowest rate on the plain and provide conveniences in the way of gas, water, lights, and sewer service, a drawing card for any city with twice the population.

PENNY PRINCESS

By Anne Austin

BEGIN HERE TODAY

VERA CAMERON permits her maid to be transformed from a plain business girl into a beauty by MISS MACKEY, her house-keeping manager of Peach Blossom Cosmetics Co. Jerry falls in love with Vera, also called Vee-Vee, and his love persists even when he learns she consents to the transformation only because she can't stand the fall in love with SCHUYLER SMYTHE, whom she despises.

Vera spends her vacation at Lake Minnetonka because Smythe is there. Smythe and other guests mistake her for VIVIAN CRANDALL, ex-princess who after a three months' absence in hiding, Vera emphatically proclaims her true identity but is not believed.

The Crandalls, learning of their supposed daughter's whereabouts, send detectives to the Minnetonka. They arrive at night. Vera and Smythe flee in a stolen car. Smythe confesses his love and insists they be married at once. Vera tells him the truth about her identity. Smythe is furious, proving himself a fortune-hunter. They are stopped by two masked men. Vera is kidnapped and taken to an airplane in a shack in the mountains where Vivian's ex-husband, PRINCE IVAN, awaits them.

He and Vera are horrified when the men announce the prince's kidnapping. The insufficient care that they will be held for a ransom from the Crandalls. Vera convinces the prince, who is furious at his discovery of her identity, that they must play the part. For if the men learn she can not draw a ransom they may murder her and the prince.

In New York Jerry's stenographer tells him she saw Vera that morning and gave her an advertising booklet with her pictures in it. Jerry gets a phone call and going to a given address finds the real Vivian whom the stenographer mistook for Vera. She agrees to help him find Vera, and tells him of the shack in the mountains and her husband's interest in it.

Meantime at the shack Vera solicits the aid of HAPPY, one of the kidnapers who honestly admires her, to protect her from the advances of the prince. Satisfied, the other kidnapers, returning from New York in an airplane, crash on a hill near the cabin and is killed. Happy, in fear, flees, leaving Vera and the prince alone. Vera runs and hears Jerry's voice calling after her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

When Vee-Vee heard Jerry Mackey's voice she stopped as suddenly as if she had been shot, stretched out her arms, whited blindly as if searching for him, then sank a crumpled heap to the mat, flush across which she had been speeding toward freedom. Jerry had come!

She was murmuring those words, brokenly, when his arms went about her, lifted her, held her close against his breast.

"I knew you'd come, oh, I knew you'd come," she told him over and over, sobbing against his breast like a child waking from a night-mare.

"Poor Vee-Vee!" He held her so close that she could feel the thumping of his heart. But he did not kiss her, although it required every ounce of his strength to keep his lips from that adorable, quivering mouth that was so near his own. He did not want a kiss of gratitude given in a moment of reaction.

"Aren't you curious to know how I found you?" he asked gently.

"Not much," she confessed sighing with profound contentment. "But—how did you find me?"

"I knew you would," she added childishly, as if she could not say the words often enough.

"Your roughneck boss has been hounding me with a witness and an attorney worth 40 million dollars. He's grinned down at me. As a matter of fact, the princess and I are the best of friends. We go driving together before dawn."

"Jerry," she cried, lifting her head from his breast and staring into his blue eyes incredulously. "Vivian Crandall came with you?"

"Not her, Jerry."

"If you're going to use grammar like that I'll have to fire you and get a new private secretary," Jerry laughed booming. "Yes, ma'am, Miss Vivian Crandall in person, not a movie, she's walking in my car on the road below. I told her in better till with the prince privately the way, where is he?"

"I looked him in the cabin, after—after—" Vee-Vee shuddered.

"Judas Priest, child!" Jerry roared. "Don't you ever go to the movies? Don't you know you spoiled my big scene? I was all set to tear you from the villain's arms and give him the beating of his life, and then you go and rescue yourself! Now, I ask you, is that nice? Is that the way a helpless heroine behaves—stealing the hero's thunder?"

"I'm sorry," she stammered helplessly. "I stabbed him, too, with a can opener, and he's probably in a rotten temper. Have you got a gun?"

"How can you ask me that?" Jerry chuckled, shifting her in his arms so that he could take a small automobile from his coat pocket. Then his face became suddenly serious, as he demanded: "You're sure he didn't harm you? I'll kill him if he did, and leave his blue-blooded carcass to rot in that shack he fancies as a reprieve."

"He didn't have a chance to harm me," Vee-Vee told him, color flooding her cheeks. "My friend, 'Happy,' one of the kidnapers, punched me last night. The other one is dead," she added simply, and pointed to the twisted mass of wreckage snuggled in the tree trunk above them.

"Miss Crandall and I saw that and guessed what had happened," Jerry said soberly. "In fact, we investigated and found the poor devil was dead. So the other one lit out, did he?"

"That simplifies matters a whole lot. We have only the prince to deal with now, and I rather imagine Miss Crandall can make short work of him. There she comes now! Look at her. Vee-Vee! She's not a princess, she's a queen!"

Vee-Vee was too bewildered to speak. The one person in all the world who had legitimate cause to hate her and reproach her had come personally to rescue her. Of course Jerry Mackey had explained and had congratulated her. Vee-Vee told herself, but why had Vivian Crandall done that for her? Of course the real Vivian had returned to her parents, had atoned the lie to the story of her kidnapping, and by this time the papers were full of the bizarre story of the girl who had impersonated a princess. But why had she come—alone—with Jerry?

"Miss Crandall, this is Miss Cameron, Jerry's voice broke in on their dazed speculations. "Well, now, what do you two think of each other? Do you think you'd get mixed up in a room together?"

The two women who looked so startlingly alike confronted each other for the first time. Green eyes gazed deeply into green eyes. Two white hands met and clasped, and in that moment, without explanations, without questions, Vivian Crandall and Vera Cameron became friends.

"I'm awfully glad we found you, Miss Cameron," Vivian Crandall spoke as matter-of-factly as if the also girl had met in a drawing room. "I hope you can find it in your heart to pardon me for having caused you so much trouble by my thoughtlessness in disappearing. Of course I had no idea that I possessed a double."

Vee-Vee tried to speak, but tears choked her throat, and she turned helplessly to Jerry, who put his arms about her again.

"I've explained the whole situation to Miss Crandall and she does not blame you in the least," Vee-Vee, he assured her. "Now if you'll listen a minute, and quit crying like a blessed baby, I'll tell you how Miss Crandall happened to get in touch with me and how we found you. Don't worry about the prince, Miss Crandall. This intrepid heroine has locked him in the cabin and he'll stay there until we get good and ready to let him out."

"I've always hoped that my disesteeming little prince would find his match and he seems to have done so at last," Vivian Crandall said. "But suppose we sit down on that old well top over there and be comfortable while we spin fairy stories for each other. I imagine Miss Cameron can make our adventures seem tame, Mr. Mackey."

Jerry seated on the edge of the settling well-top, with a green-eyed copper-haired girl on each side of him, told his story first.

"So no one knows, you had us and the prince that I'm not Vivian Crandall?" Vee-Vee demanded, amazed by doubting when Jerry had finished.

"No one," Vivian Crandall assured her. "Now tell us your story, please. It was Ivan's whole little scheme, of course. But tell us how he managed it and how the kidnapers happened to be mixed up in it."

Vee-Vee narrated her adventures as briefly as possible, but she was frequently interrupted by exclamations of pity, incredulity and anger from both her hearers. When she had concluded, Vivian Crandall rose and came to her impulsively, stooping to kiss her cheek.

"My dear, you were unwittingly doing me a very real service," Vivian Crandall said softly. "Didn't it occur to you to wonder where I was all the time, why I didn't come forward when detectives were searching for me?"

"Of course it did," Vee-Vee smiled quiveringly.

"The truth is that I was impersonating you."

"I don't understand!" Vee-Vee gasped. "You had never seen me, any more than I had seen you."

"Let me explain," Vivian sat down beside Vee-Vee and took her hand, which she stroked caressingly as she talked. "You have had a brief experience with fortune-hunters. You know what it means to fall in love with a man and find that he is thinking only of the money he thinks you have. I have had a lifetime of what you have gone through in one week—so far as fortune-hunters are concerned. I went on, 'I had lost all my faith in men and love. I had never even had the great good fortune to be in love. Every time I was in danger of losing my head and my heart, the man betrayed himself and showed that he was worshipping the golden image and not the flesh-and-blood girl."

"And yet you are the most lovely woman I have ever seen," Vee-Vee interrupted her.

"You are a real girl, Vivian Crandall told her, her hand tightening its clasp upon Vee-Vee's cold fingers. "And you will never know how lucky you are that you are a penny princess and not a dollar princess—that you can love and marry whom you please, sure that the man loves you for yourself alone and not for a golden crown."

"That might have been true—last week," Vee-Vee confessed miserably. "But now—who will have the courage to love a girl who has been so unfortunate and so foolish as to get herself into the scrape that I am in? Tomorrow, the whole country will read my story, and laugh at me and scorn me—the Cinderella who played princess for a week—and was caught because she did not leave when the clock struck twelve."

Jerry Mackey and Vivian Crandall exchanged a long, significant smiling look, then the woman who had been a princess asked a startling question in her cool, sweet voice:

"Would you like to be the Princess Vivian for a little while longer, Vee-Vee—for my sake?"

Vivian Crandall unfolds a strange story and a stranger plan. Read the next chapter.

DAILY MARKETS

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8 (AP)-Publication of the government second crop report of the season, showing an increased yield of 12,000,000 bales, about 500,000 bales less than the trade expected, caused cotton prices to jump to maximum limit of 200 points today. December trading was suspended to receive the report, went to 224 1/2.

On the resumption of trading October 1927, the market opened at 214 1/2, 195 points off from the top, but later in the full limit of 200 points. The October option right after the call also reached limit trading to 241 1/2. Profit taking in the later trading was absorbed on declines of 65 points and the market rallied to 227 1/2 for October. The close was steady at 225 for December. These were the prices ruling when the report was issued.

After the call when all months reached the maximum limit, heavy profit taking set in but the offerings were absorbed, and a decline of 45 points. The market later rallied to within 5 to 11 points of the top but turned away again in the late trading and declined 10 to 34 points on additional realizations.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)-Delivery of largely by choice of installation spring wheat, suitable for export from Washington and by unfavorable weather in Canada, wheat prices today topped 200 points. Houses with foreign connections were buyers of future deliveries here, and Sir John Muller, financial agent of the British government and of the Bank of England, who was a visitor today on the Chicago Board of Trade, said that owing to a wet harvest conditions Great Britain would be probably a good purchaser of wheat on this side of the Atlantic.

Wheat closed firm, 3-1/2 cent to 4-cent net higher, corn 1-1/2 cent to 1-3/4 cents up, oats showing 1-1/2 cent to 7-8 cent advance and provisions varying from 17 cents decline to a rise of 20 cents.

Corn developed notable strength, the corn crop outlook in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois formed the basis of a good deal of buying. Frost before the average date in Ohio and Indiana were said to prevent heavy damage, and it was unofficially predicted, 1927 only about 40 per cent of Illinois corn would escape frost. Oats were steadied by the action of corn and wheat.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to the course of cotton and of hog values.

NOT GOING SO WELL

Emil Yde, Pittsburgh pilot, has been used as a starting hurly only a few times this season.

COTTON GOODS STRONG

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)-Cotton goods and fabrics were strong today following the government report on raw cotton. Burlaps were more active on news of very small shipments from Calcutta in August to this continent. Raw silk was steadier.

COTTONSEED OIL ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)-The cottonseed oil market was extremely active and excited today, the volume of sales and extent of fluctuations being the largest since the World War. There was general and heavy buying after the publication of the government crop report indicating a yield of 12,682,000 bales and all active positions advanced to new high records for the season.

Heavy profit taking sales brought about a reaction of about one cent in price from the top, but late in the day there was renewed buying and the market closed steady, with net gains of 59 to 67 points after having shown earlier gains of 55 to 104 points. Total sales for the day were 74,000 barrels. Prime crude 1927, prime summer yellow spot 1150; September closed 1187; October 1164; December 1217; January 1222; March 1226.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON, Sept. 8 (AP)-Principal activity in territory lines of wool is on finer grades, including half blood. Business is spotty, but some concerns report sales of fair volume on the active grade sales include original bag and grades from last week's sales. There is no tendency to mark up stock of territory wool just now.

NEW YORK COFFEE

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)-Coffee futures opened today at an advance of 1-1/2 to 2 points, further covering and a little trading, which may have been promoted by talk of a slightly steadier tone in the cost and freight situation. December sold up to 114 1/2 and closed at 114 1/2, the general market showing net advances of 1 to 2 points. Sales estimated 2,100 bags, including quotations: September 12.35; December 11.54; January 11.69; March 11.59; May 11.45; July 11.39; September (1928) 11.28.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8 (AP)-Generally steady trading conditions prevailed in all divisions of the live stock market here today.
