Two Youths Nabbed After Dallas Chase

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Dec. 5—Officers arrested a fourth Bonham youth tonight for questioning about armed robberies in west, north, central and southeast Texas—and all four were charged in armed hold-ups recently at Lubbock and Crosbyton. Charges in other robberies over the state also had been filed.

The arrests of the men began early Monday morning when James Scrivner, 21, and William Robert Leeman, 22, surrendered quietly after a running gunfight in Corsicana and a 90-mile-an-hour chase through Dallas. The two men were driving a 1950 Studebaker at the time. It had been hit by several bullets.

After questioning them, a Texas Ranger went to Bonham and brought back Talmadge Bonham, 17, a halfback on the Bonham High school football team.

Ranger Makes Arrest

Another Ranger arrested Billy Mann in Bonham tonight, Dallas Chief of Detectives Will Fritz said. He did not know Mann's age. Fritz said Mann was being brought to Dallas and probably would arrive around midnight or shortly afterward.

Meanwhile, Scrivner and Leeman were taken to Corsicana tonight and lodged immediately in the county jail. Reporters were not allowed to talk to them. They were to be taken before Justice of the Peace W. H. Johnson tomorrow on an armed robbery charge, then returned to Dallas after bond was set.

Scrivner, Leeman and Bonham were charged with armed robbery of a Crosbyton dry goods store on Nov. 26. The store owner, A. W. Wallace, 45, was shot twice in the robbery. A total of $152 was taken at Crosbyton, Wallace refusing to open a safe reportedly holding approximately $4,000.

(The three men who robbed the Wallace Department store in Crosbyton about 10 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 26, reportedly left the scene in a 1950 Studebaker in which they abducted Wallace. The store owner was beat about the head with a pistol and shot in the arm during a wild ride east of the city, then shot in the back of the head as he walked away from the car on a country road. His wounds were not serious.)

Lubbock Charges Filed

Leeman, Bonham and Mann were charged with armed robbery in Lubbock. The charge against Mann was filed in Lubbock tonight by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin. He was named in the charge as Wayne Mann, alias Billy Mann. His age was not given.

(Crosby County Sheriff Foy Addison, Lubbock Sheriff Grady Harrist and Ranger Captain Bob Crowder of Lubbock all were in Dallas tonight aiding in the investigation. Charges against the men were rushed from Lubbock to Dallas by plane.)

Court Sets Hearings On Tideland Suit

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. — The Supreme court fixed Feb. 6 for the start of arguments in two suits filed by the government to get possession of oil rich submerged lands off the Texas and Louisiana coasts.

In another ruling, the court upheld the right of a state to enact a law forbidding the use of force to keep workmen from their jobs.

In the tidelands case, the court in effect rejected requests by Texas and Louisiana that it dismiss the suits at once. It also turned down a request from Louisiana for a jury trial and one from Texas for naming a special master to hear testimony.

Ruling Is Sought

The Justice department is seeking a declaration by the high court that the government has full ownership of the so-called tidelands or full power and dominion over them. The distinction has never been made fully clear.

The court held in 1947 that the federal government has "paramount rights" in and full dominion and power over California tidelands.

In the labor case ruling, attorneys for the CIO had attacked a law enacted by Arkansas. They called it a violation of the federal constitution's guarantees of freedom of speech and assembly.

Decision Unanimous

But Justice Jackson said for a unanimous eight-man court that the Arkansas law does not penalize any peaceful assembly at the site of a labor dispute "nor does it infringe the right of expression of views in any labor dispute."

The high court carefully refrained from passing upon whether a state has the right to punish a person for mere presence in a group at which unplanned violence is precipitated by another.

"We are not called upon to decide whether a state has power to incriminate by his mere presence an innocent member of a group when some individual without his enactment or concert commits an act of violence," Jackson said.

"It will be time enough to review such a question as that when

Early Start Upon Air Raid Warning System Is Planned

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. — An early start on a vast air raid warning network was promised tonight by the Air Force. It said it has canceled or curtailed other projects to raise $50,000,000 for the first phase of the enterprise.

The radar system for the United States and Alaska was authorized at the last session of Congress. Its total cost has been estimated at $161,000,000 of which $42,500,000 represents existing equipment.

Congress authorized $85,500,000 for construction. But it stipulated that expenditures this year should not exceed $50,000,000 and that money for the initial phase should be obtained by diverting appropriations made for other Air Force activities.

Coal Owners Defy Lewis' Pact Demand

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Southern coal producers voiced defiance today to John L. Lewis' contract demands unless the United Mine Workers' chief surrenders his "willing and able" power to throw the industry into a three-day work week.

At the same time, Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers association, criticized the government's "left-handed" approval of the present three-day week.

Miners Go Back

Lewis' 480,000 soft and hard coal diggers trooped back into the pits today for the second time on the short week basis as their chief tightened the production screws in his attempt to reach a 1949 work agreement.

The abbreviated scehdule will reduce the country's coal output to about 60 per cent of normal. The miner's weekly pay checks will carry about $42 instead of the normal $70 under the 1948 contract terms.

The SCPA's board of directors, mously approved two vital changmeeting in Washington, unanies in that 1948 pact before they will sign with Lewis:

1. Elimination of the "willing and able" clause by which Lewis can call out the miners without violating the contract. The operators contend the UMW president has "abused" this provision.

2. Eliminate the "blank check" power of the UMW welfare fund trustees on spending the money, and, instead, spell out the rules by which the fund will be operated.

Moody told newsmen that the SCPA "is not willing to bargain on control of production." He condemned the three-day week practice as "a clear illustration of the reasons why we do not intend to bow to dictation, which, if continued, can only wreck the entire coal industry."

Moody added that the resumption of contract talks is up to Lewis, whom he accused of refusing to talk about revision of either the "willing and able" clause or the welfare fund.

The SCPA head asserted that

Wallace Accused Of Pushing Shipments

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The State department officially disclosed today that almost 1,500 pounds of atom materials were sent to Russia in 1943 and a radio commentator charged that the shipments were made at the insistence of Henry A. Wallace as vice president.

Commentator Fulton Lewis, jr., charged that Wallace, then head of the Bureau of Economic Warfare, "overruled" Major Gen. Leslie Groves, who helped develop the A-bomb, and "ordered" uranium sent to Russia under wartime lend-lease.

Wallace Denies Charge

Wallace immediately issued a categorical denial in New York and branded the charges as "the sheerest fabrication." He said his job as BEW head "had nothing to do with any shipment to the Soviet Union."

Groves, wartime head of the Manhattan project which developed the A-bomb, acknowledged at his Darien, Conn., home that he had protested shipments of uranium to Russia in 1943 and 1944 but refused to say to whom he protested.

Groves declared, however, that his protests were not made to Wallace. The general explained that "Wallace was not in my chain of command."

Shipments Revealed

The State department made public a memorandum it gave to the un-American activities committee June 11, 1948, disclosing that almost 1,500 pounds of uranium and uranium products were sent to Russia under export licenses in 1943.

The memorandum said the licenses were granted after consultation between representatives of the War department, the Foreign Economic administration, and lend-lease.

The State department memo revealed that in addition to uranium products the Russians got 1,000 grams of heavy water, a material used by German scientists in an attempt to create an atom bomb.

May Have Aided Reds

Jordan told a news conference that by expiditing uranium shipments to the Soviet Union he "may have been a party" to Russian development of the atom bomb. He added:

"It wasn't until President Truman announced that the Russians had the A-bomb that I realized that I had been a party to it."

The ex-officer added that "not until recently, when the word uranium began appearing in the news" did he become suspicious of the lend lease shipments to Russia he had handled while he was stationed at Great Falls.

Earlier, two other ex-Air Force officers backed Jordan's story that uranium and other atomic materials were shipped to the Soviet

Man Charged With Murder

ZENO Green, 35, Slaton negro, was charged Monday in Lubbock with murder with malice in connection with the death of another negro who died at Bryan on Nov. 25 after being stabbed twice on Nov. 13 at Slaton.

Lubbock county officers were informed Monday of the death of Emmett McPherson, 49, who had been released from a Slaton hospital on Nov. 22, apparently out of danger.

The complaint against Green was sworn by Charles D. Yates, Slaton constable, before E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, and filed in the court of C. E. Lynn, justice of the peace.

Bond Set At $2,500

Bond was set at $2,500, but Green remained in Lubbock county jail last night in lieu of bond.

In a signed statement before officers, Green said he stabbed McPherson twice with a knife after an argument over about $12. Green said McPherson had been playing cards with him and took the money when Green left the table for a moment.

"After he wouldn't give me my money that's when I stuck him with my knife. I stuck him up on the left side of his face and again on his left side along about the ribs," Green said in the statement.

Was Under Sentence

Green said that he was under a five-year suspended sentence for firing a gun into a house in 1943.

McPherson's home was at Wellborn, near Bryan. He was working on a farm near Slaton prior to the Nov. 13 stabbing.

Elsewhere on the crime front, a series of thefts were reported to local law enforcement officers.

Top Czech Official Resigns U.S. Post

By LEE FERRERO
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.— Dr. Ladislav Hynko resigned today as Czechoslovakian consul general in Chicago and sought to remain in the United States "where I can live a quiet life away from the yoke of Communism."

Hynko petitioned Secretary of State Dean Acheson for political asylum "so I can try to begin a new life under a free, democratic government."

Hynko's action made him the first Communist-appointed Czech diplomatic official to resign in the United States.

Two Women Resign

Two women employes of the consulate also resigned.

They are Miss Elaine Bezdek, 21, an American, and Miss Myra Svec (Myraslov Svecova) 22, who came to the U. S. in 1947.

The Communist-dominated Czech government had recalled Hynko and Miss Svec. Hynko said he and Miss Svec had decided to defy the recall "because we are both non-Communists and because my personal philosophical, economical and religious views, opinions and convictions do not conform to the principles of dialectical materialism."

The walkout by Hynko and his assistants left the Czech consulate in the hands of Vice Consul George Setinsky, 30, who recently arrived from Europe.

Hynko is married and has two children.

Officials of "Democrats for Free Czechoslovakia" viewed the resignation as the first of what might become a wholesale walkout by

(By International News Service)

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 5—An heroic merchant seaman who is "all muscle" saved the life of a cab driver today but failed to rescue his "buddy" when all three were trapped in a taxi cab that plunged off a pier into 35 feet of water in the Oakland estuary.

Victim of the freak accident in which the cab apparently jumped a guard rail at the end of the pier was Clarence Myers, 37, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Rescue Attempt Fails

Then he dove back and brought Myers to the surface, leaving him hanging from a crossbar below the pier apparently safe. Myers, however, slipped off and was drowned.

Jorgensen, meanwhile, dove again despite his exhaustion and brought the 200-pound cab driver, Allen A. Fain, 34, to the surface. The seaman, who weighs only 150 pounds himself, had to knock Fain unconscious when he threatened to drag his weakening rescuer under.

By this time, Jorgensen had only enough breath left to call for help. A watchman on the pier responded.

Warmer Weather Is Predicted For Area

Today's temperatures on the South Plains will climb higher than Monday's, the Weatherman said last night, but are due to drop again Wednesday.

The U. S. Weather Bureau station at Municipal airport said last night that skies will be mostly cloudy this morning, but should be almost entirely clear sometime this afternoon. Brisk southerly winds also are in store for the area this afternoon.

Monday's high temperature was 59, while early-morning temperatures dropped down to 24.

An early-morning low of 40 is forecast for today, while this afternoon high temperatures are expected to reach the mid-60's.

Solon Favors Atom Secrecy

By GLENN M. GREEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. — Sen. Johnson (D-Colo), a member of the Joint Congressional Atomic committee, declared today that weapons account for "99.9 per cent" of America's use of atomic energy.

Johnson made the statement in commenting on a proposal by retiring Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the Atomic Energy commission that the government lift the secrecy covering peacetime atomic developments.

The senator said he would agree to this provided a way could be found "to separate weapon uses of atomic energy from peacetime uses." He added:

"The weapons use accounts for 99.9 per cent of the use of atomic energy. If you use it to make power, at the same time you are making bomb material."

Lilienthal said the U. S. pursuit of atomic knowledge is being retarded because the atom is "pictured as a mystery" and "has become the political stock in trade for a few jumpy gents who have scared most everybody else about anything atomic."

Johnson recently precipitated a storm over the secrecy issue when he told a television audience that the U. S. now has a bomb six times as powerful as those exploded on Japan.

The senator at that time also said the U. S. has made progress on a hydrogen-utilizing A-bomb which would be "1,000 times" as powerful.

Shortly afterward, President Truman instructed Attorney General McGrath to tighten up security regulations on atomic matters and study particularly the application of those regulations to mem-

China's Latest Capital Menaced

HONG KONG, Dec. 5. (AP) — Chinese Red troops in a great burst of speed today were reported only 100 miles or so from Chengtu, temporary and fearful Nationalist capital in western China.

The flight of government officials took on more urgency, reports declared. A defense line was thrown up 30 to 50 miles from the city.

Press accounts said the fast-traveling troops of Red Gen. Liu Po-Cheng had pushed on beyond Neikiang. That city is the midway point on the 210-mile road between Chungking and Chengtu.

Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa, in Chengtu, had reported only 24 hours before that the Communists were at Jungchang. That city is 40 miles east of Neikiang.

Officials Assembled

The newspaper Sing Tao Min Po said in a special dispatch from Chengtu that a considerable number of government officials were being urgently assembled at the air field to be taken to Formosa, Nationalist island stronghold.

This squared with Moosa's report that many of them were leaving for Formosa by way of Hainan island off China's south coast.

Premier Yen Hsi-Shan's mobile government, however, is scheduled to leave for Sichang, 225 miles to the southwest.

When it will depart is not known. When the capital was set up at Chengtu only last Tuesday it was predicted generally that

Trial Of Cowboy In Big Spring Rodeo Slayings Transferred

BIG SPRING, Dec. 5. (AP) — Judge Charles Sullivan today ordered the trial of Herbert Frizzell, rodeo cowboy, for murder, transferred to Midland for the first week in February.

Frizzell is charged with the slaying of rodeo Judge Henry Preston (Buck) Jones and a bystander, Carl Myers, Abilene, Hardin-Simmons student. The two were slain in a rodeo arena here last Aug. 4.

Judge Sullivan said he ordered the transfer on the court's own motion because of wide publicity and the sensational nature of the case.

Lucas was in East Texas with his brother-in-law, Noble F. Yates of Panhandle, on a lumber buying trip. He was alone in the truck at the time of the accident.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. R. F. Cheatum, and a sister, Mrs. Yates, both of Panhandle.

Two Men Charged In Burglary At Lamesa

LAMESA, Dec. 5. (Special) — Two Latin-American farm laborers have been charged with burglary in connection with the theft of approximately $1,000 worth of merchandise from the Collins Dry Goods store here early Saturday morning, according to County Attorney Vernon D. Adcock.

Charged are David Gonzales, 22, of Beeville, and Vincente Vargas, about 30, of San Antonio. Bond has not been set late tonight.

Adcock said that Gonzales had signed a statement confessing the crime. Gonzales revealed that entry was made through the store's skylight. All of the stolen goods, consisting of overcoats, sports coats and a suitcase, were recovered, Adcock stated. Vargas refused to make a statement.

The merchandise was found hidden under a culvert on the highway to Big Spring, 13 miles south of Lamesa.

Both of the men were arrested Saturday afternoon. Gonzales was picked up at a local rooming house by Deputy Sheriffs Sam Floyd and Lawrence West. Vargas was caught in O'Donnell by Sheriff Roy King, Deputy John Mowell and Emmett Crecilius, city policeman.

Child Burns To Death In Home

(Special To The Avalanche)

POST, Dec. 5—A two-and-one-half year old negro girl burned to death shortly before 3 p.m. today when flames swept through her home on the Hardy Smith farm, six miles north and four miles west of here.

Three other children, ranging in age from 4 to 8 years, fled to safety as flames whipped through the five-room frame house and took the life of Mary Louise Whitley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie James Smith.

Parents In Field

The parents were pulling cotton in a field a mile from the house when the fire began, and were unable to reach their home before the flames, whipped by a strong southwest wind, had taken over.

Playmates of the dead child, a brother and two cousins, said one of them had given a match to Mary Louise, who struck it and set fire to a window curtain.

J. D. King, justice of the peace at Post, made an investigation at the scene and ruled "accidental death by burning."

The charred body of the child was found near one window, and by the remains of a bed. Attendants from Mason Funeral home in Post removed the body.

Statehood For Hawaii Is Seen

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5 (INS)—Gov. Ingram M. Stainback of Hawaii declared today that "it is only a question of time" before the mid-Pacific territory becomes a state.

At the same time he declared that he will root Communists out of public life in the islands to the last man.

The governor arrived in Portland today to speak before a business men's organization.

Stainback told reporters at a news conference that Hawaii is entitled to statehood. He added:

"I don't attempt to prophesy when it will come. That's in the hands of Congress."

Probing Group Formed

As for Communists in the isles, he expressed belief that a newly-appointed investigating committee will help root them out, and said:

"Publicity is good medicine for that kind of activity."

Stainback said the islands are making "rapid progress" in recovering from effects of the long strike of CIO longshoremen, but said:

"The strike was really a blow below the belt.

"We'd have been hard hit and there would have been much unemployment even without a strike. The federal government reduced its spending sharply in

Four-Year Oil Supply Claimed Still In Wells Considered Dry

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 5—America has a four-year supply of oil in wells already considered dry which it can use if the primary supply runs out.

Albert E. Sweeney, Oklahoma City, director of the Interstate Oil Compact commission, told members of that group at its annual convention here today that the four year supply can be tapped whenever needed.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said there is plenty of oil in his state that could be brought to the surface by proper recovery methods.

Methods of recovering this secondary reserve got top attention at the commission's opening session.

"We have been using the water and gas injection system to bring this oil up," Shivers said.

Sweeney said the United States is currently producing five and a half billion barrels a year and will probably have a 30 billion barrel reserve—about a five year supply—as of Jan. 1.

Added to this is the secondary reserve—that left in "dry" holes—which boosts the total known reserve to about nine years supply, Sweeney indicated.

"It has not been until recent years," he said, "that oil men paid any attention to recovering these

Federal Agency Reports Slight Drop In Nation's Unemployment

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. — The number of Americans regularly employed rose 517,000 in November.

Reporting this today, the Census bureau said unemployment declined 167,000.

Sec. of Commerce Sawyer said. "The job picture in November was perhaps more favorable than at any previous time this year."

The Census bureau explained that the drop in unemployment was smaller than the rise in employment because of "an increase in the number of seasonal workers looking for jobs."

The bureau's report showed employment totaled 59,518,000 in November compared with 59,001,000 in October and 59,893,000 for November, 1948.

The number of jobless was listed as 3,409,000 in November compared with 3,576,000 in October and 1,831,000 in November, 1948.

Under the bureau's statistical methods anyone who has a regular job is counted as employed whether or not he is working at his job. Coal miners on strike, for instance, are counted as employed.

House Group Studies Report On Deluge Of Washington Lobbyists

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (U.P.)— The special House committee investigating lobbying today was studying a special report which found that Washington is "literally deluged with lobbyists."

The report, prepared by the legislative reference service of the Library of Congress, will be used by the special committee as the groundwork for hearings to start in mid-January.

It reported that there are more lobbyists in Washington than people generally believe.

Lobbyists By The Score

"There are dozens of them, scores of them, hundreds of them," the report said. "The statement that has often been made, that there are as many lobbyists as there are congressmen, is a gross understatement of fact.

"There are actually not twice as many but three times as many lobbyists who registered during 1947 and 1948 as there were members of the Senate and House of Representatives combined."

Under a 1947 law, lobbyists are required to register with Congress.

State Side Considered

The Library of Congress report said many who do not consider themselves "lobbyists" in the usual sense have registered to be on the safe side. Others have not registered although it would appear that they clearly fall within the scope of the law, it added.

W. Brooke Graves, author of the report, noted that Washington representatives of many of the larger corporations have registered but have said they didn't believe they would be violating the law if they didn't register.

"It would appear," he wrote, "that all of them sit in their offices or in their hotel rooms and meditate, thinking pure thoughts, bu never for a moment descending to anything so common and ordinary as lobbying."

Lady Doth Protest

Their view, he said, reminded him of the line from Hamlet: "The lady doth protest too much, methinks."

"Part of these protestations are a pose; many of them are obviously exaggerated, if not actual distortions of the truth," he said.

Graves reported that he also was impressed by the large number of registrants who said that even though they do a little lobbying they don't do any harm.

"These many protestations of virtue and innocence begin to make one suspicious," he said.

Man To Face Murder Charges In Barroom Killing Of Couple

WHIPPANY, N.J., Dec. 5. (U.P.)— Ralph Coolack, 35, charged with killing his childhood sweetheart and her husband in a local tavern, said today she jilted him after frittering away $1,500 he sent her while he was overseas in the Army.

Police said Coolack confessed killing Arthur Poole, 30, and his 29-year-old bride, Irene, in a fit of rage when he met the couple by chance in the barroom Saturday night.

He was also accused of wounding bartender Homer Luhman, 44, who tried to halt the tragedy by throwing a bottle at him. Luhman was struck in the back and shoulder with bullets from Coolack's war souvenir Mauser pistol.

Police said Coolack brooded over his broken romance and demanded that the couple return his money when he encountered them in the tavern next door to the police station.

Coolack said the husband told him to "get out of here or I'll get my gang after you" whereupon he pulled out his pistol and began shooting. Pool and his bride of 15 months fell with bullet wounds in their heads and died several hours later.

A bystander disarmed Coolack, of Morristown, N. J., and police charged him with two counts of assault. He was held without bail for grand jury action.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—I'll bet Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder wishes he could step into the shoes of Prince Rainier of Monaco.

The prince, who has just succeeded his grandfather as sovereign of the land that boasts the fabulous Monte Carlo Casino, has no budget problems.

Snyder has nothing but budget problems. The secretary, who knows a lot about money and banking, has been up on Capitol Hill spilling out his troubles. He says the government will wind up spending something like $43,500,000,000 this fiscal year. At the same time, Uncle Sam's going to gather in only $38 billion. That'll leave Snyder with the job of writing checks for about $5,500,000,000 which he hasn't got, and us tax payers haven't either.

Prince Still Snickers

Prince Rainier, who is only 26, is snickering while he can.

The job of making ends meet is no job at all for him. He rules over something like 370 acres, which compromise his entire state.

According to information in the files of the National Geographic society, Monaco gets almost every cent it needs from taxes on cigarets and matches, from the sale of postage stamps to foreign dealers and from the concession fees on gambling tables at Monte Carlo.

You'd think the residents of Monaco get most of this revenue back, but actually they don't. Prince Rainier really rules over some 22,000 people. Only about one-sixth of them, however, are citizens.

Rules Limit Number

The original planners of the state fixed that. Only those families who can show and prove four generations of residence can lay claim as citizens. That cuts out a lot of people.

But brother! Once you are a citizen of the utopian state, the benefits are worth sticking around for. You have no income tax to pay, and you never have to worry about going to war for citizens never are conscripted.

If you don't belong, in Monaco, you just don't belong.

Non-citizens and visitors, who kick up the kitty at Monte Carlo, pay the taxes. Their money goes into a fund which takes care of upkeep for the principality's exotic gardens and the world-famed oceanagraphic museum, which was opened almost 40 years ago.

Museum Pays Way

The museum is a thing of rare beauty, and pays its way—as you know, if you've ever been there and paid the fee to see it.

The Monte Carlo casino is, of course, something special in its own right. It's about to finish its ninth decade.

Oddly, it's operated by an outfit which uses the name of the "Sea Bathers and Foreigners Club of Monaco, Inc."

Also oddly, the casino is seeing thin times right now—some of the few since the first wheel was turned at the roulette in the long ago.

Dice Tables Added

Some think it might be a sign of the times. The casino is beginning to cater to us common folk—instead of millionaires. It's even adding dice tables.

At any rate, Prince Rainier, who is just now taking over the reins of the tiny state, isn't worried. If the budget doesn't balance, he knows how to balance it. Up the tax on cigarets, and matches.

Not that this is an open letter to Mr. Snyder!

Battle For Sight Of Portland 'Last Eye' Girl Nears Success

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 5. (AP).— A long battle for the sight of 12-year-old Mary Hope Hodgdon neared success tonight as doctors at the Elks' Eye clinic said she is recovering satisfactorialy from a delicate operation.

The plucky girl, who already is blind in one eye, is the daughter of a blind couple.

Mary Hope sat up in bed today as she continued to wear pinpoint goggles which prevent her from looking anywhere but straight ahead. They are meant to keep her from moving the eyeball from side to side needlessly.

World Federalists Score VFW Leader

DENVER, Dec. 5. (INS).— Officers of the Denver chapter of United World Federalists said today that the national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars doesn't know what he is talking about.

They referred to a talk last night in Denver by Clyde A. Lewis, commander in chief of the VFW. He said the veterans organization "is unalterably opposed to a world government or any other form of world federation which would take from the American people one iota of their sovereignty."

Lewis signaled out the United World Federalists as backers of a proposal to make the United Nations a form of world government.

Wayne Williams, chairman of the VFW Denver chapter, had this to say today:

"Lewis gave Denver a refresher course in jingoism. He attacks the World Federalists with great fervor and little knowledge and charges that the federalists would destroy United States sovereignty and would commit its fortunes to a world parliament dominated by small nations and orientals."

Williams noted that if Lewis had bothered to read the official policy of the World Federalists he might have avoided some of his errors. He said:

"He would have learned that the federalists propose that the United Nations be made strong enough to assure peace, with the nations giving up only the amount of sovereignty necessary to achieve this vital purpose.

Boy Walks 30 Miles To Safety After Becoming Lost On Ranch

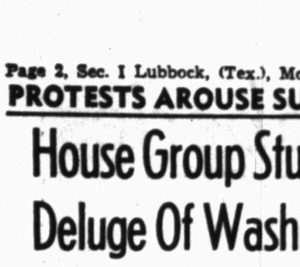

UVALDE, Dec. 5. (AP)—A 10-year old boy, lost in the rough brush country near here, walked 30 miles to safety yesterday while mounted parties and air observers searched for him in vain.

W. W. Ousley and son, Butch, were hunting on the 19,000-acre Turkey Mountain Dunbar ranch 30 miles west of here. The boy went out alone at 9 a. m. with a .410 gauge shotgun to shoot birds. When he failed to return two hours later Jack Pickens, owner of the ranch, and Ousley started a search. Before it was over 50 cowboys from the ranch and neighboring ranches were searching as was a chartered plane and state Patrolmen L. L. Akers and Joe Kinder.

A disaster signal over the Uvalde fire department at 7 p. m. brought additional assistance and radio appeals added to the searching party.

Finally at 9 p. m. the boy walked into Laguna, 30 miles from his starting point, and reported who he was.

He had lost his coat and was scratched, wet and cold but was otherwise unhurt.

To the Man Who Is Worried About His Friends ...

OCCASIONALLY, we encounter a man who hesitates to buy a Cadillac for fear his friends might think him ostentatious.

For all such people, we have the most reassuring news: The experience of Cadillac owners would indicate that your fears are without foundation.

True, the world has long since recognized that a Cadillac car is a fine and distinguished possession—but most people understand that quality is not a luxury, and that distinction is the offspring of goodness.

The facts in support of Cadillac's practicality are so convincing that the mere recital of just a few should be sufficient reassurance for the most hesitant buyer.

Take, for instance, the matter of cost. There are eight other makes of cars which actually have certain models that are priced above the lowest-priced Cadillac.

There is long life, for example. Four Cadillacs, of the 1942 Series, ran a total of 2,599,000 miles in a test recently concluded by a great tire manufacturer—almost 650,000 miles per car. All four were then sold into private service—and are still going strong!

Then there is economy. Innumerable tests show that the 1949 Cadillac actually approaches the lowest-priced popular cars in gasoline economy.

And, finally, there are the dependability records—which prove that the car's freedom from the need of repairs is just as unusual as its performance and beauty!

Yes—if you are ready for a Cadillac, come in. You will never make a more sensible purchase—or one of which your friends will more heartily approve.

PHEASANTS RAISED, SERVED

Anniversary Gift To Lubbock Couple Starts Unusual Hobby

L. O. Armstrong goes home to one of Lubbock's most unusual hobbies, a flock of ring-necked pheasants, those highly-colored and high-strung birds that are in such great demand on gourmets' tables the world over.

He has become fascinated with the creatures, and it is probably a mixed blessing that they have such expensive eating habits, for otherwise it is doubtful that he could ever bring himself to serve one up on the family platter.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong have re-christened their home at 1640 Forty-fourth "Armidge Pheasantry." a name taken from his nickname "Army" and Mrs. Armstrong's nickname, "Midge."

Birds Multicolored

It's appropriate that they both should be so interested in the hobby, for it came about as a direct result of a wedding anniversary.

The Armstrongs and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright of Plainview have celebrated their wedding anniversary on the same date—Dec. 21—for years together.

About eight years ago Wright gave Armstrong a pheasant cock for an anniversary present. Armstrong was so taken with the beautiful bird—with colors ranging through the spectrum, from bright red to orange, green, golden brown, purple and white—that instead of having him for dinner, they bought some hens to match.

That was the beginning of a pastime that has grown and grown, until this year Mr. Armstrong has raised 265 of the birds in his pens. He even has his own incubator, in which he hatches the tiny eggs about half the size of a hen's egg.

The pheasant, he will explain, is a creature of strange habits. One of Mrs. Armstrong's contribution to the hobby is gathering the eggs four or five times a day during the laying season from the middle of April to the first of August.

She has to, because otherwise the nervous birds will peck their own eggs and ruin them. And the laying season is so regular that you could use their habits for a calendar. They lay prolifically in season, and the Armstrongs sometimes use surplus eggs for cooking purposes, two eggs doing the work of one hen's egg.

Require Greenery

Since they are such nervous birds they require a lot of greenery, and Armstrong plants maize and kaffir in their pens every year. They are amazingly clean, their pens showing little of the waste one sees with chickens. They eat a special, high-priced 26 per cent protein feed.

The birds are alert at all times, and usually occupy themselves running aimlessly back and forth across their pens. When a hawk or other bird flies over, they all stop and look intently skyward, murmuring among themselves, as if speculating on its identity.

When Armstrong shows up in the afternoon dressed in his usual conservative clothes, they don't pay much attention. But if he's wearing something "flashy," or another person comes along, they become excited and immediately start flying straight upward, crashing their pretty heads against the wire net covering.

Trouble With Cats

Armstrong has had trouble with stray cats. When they come around, the pheasants are desperate in their efforts to fly away straight upward ,and several have broken their necks in the attempt.

In the mating season in the spring, the cock puts on a show. He drops one colorful wing to the ground and circles around a hen like a Mexican hat-dancer, murmuring sweet nothings into her ear. The hen, incidentally, is drab by comparison, a mottled brown in color.

When the family life begins, the strange habits really show up. A pheasant hen will lay her eggs anywhere, then depart unconcerned. Neither does she cackle after an egg appears.

Like Cold Weather

The birds need no roosts, nests, or weather protection. They seem to enjoy sleet and snow more than hot summer days, possibly a result of their origin, thought to be Mongolia. Since they are not native American birds, Armstrong must get an annual game bird license in order to keep them, and keep records of how he disposes of the birds.

As might be expected, the Armstrongs have pheasant frequently. They like it fried, baked, smothered and stewed, but Armstrong's favorite is barbecued pheasant.

He says the skin is tenderer than chicken, making the feathers harder to pick. He gets around that by having a poultry house dress them. The birds have all-white meat.

A bird usually weighs two and three-fourths to three pounds when he heads for the chopping block, and about two and a half pounds dressed for his engagement with the oven.

Oklahoma Meteor Brings Reports Of Plane Crash

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5 (UP) The highway patrol thought it might have an airplane accident on its hands for a while last night.

Reports of a flaming object were received from the areas of Pawhuska, Ponca City and Clinton.

But the object turned out to be a meteor — not an airplane—the Civil Aeronautics authority later reported. Highway patrolmen at Elk City and Weatherford also described the object as a meteor.

The meteor was seen from Oklahoma City north to Emporia, Kan., the CAA said.

Youth Expected To Escape Murder Trial In Killing Of Brother

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5. (AP)—A "Cain and Abel" case was headed today for Tarrant county juvenile court, with only delinquency charges in prospect for Gabe Tatum, jr., 14, who killed his brother, Raymond, 18, last night.

The younger boy ignored the entreaties of his parents and outdistanced his brother to fire the fatal shot from a .32 special rifle which he stole last month. The brothers had fought earlier in the day.

Murder To Be Cited

Chief Probation Officer Lyan Ross said Cabe, jr., could not be charged with murder in criminal court until he is 17. However, murder will be cited in the delinquency charges to be filed in Judge Robert B. Young's court, Ross added.

Cabe, jr., in a statement made at the district attorney's office last night said he, Raymond and Ray Rawdon, 23, a neighbor had left the Tatum farm home, five miles from Arlington on the Arlington-Mansfield highway, to see a movie in Arlington.

Boys Begin Quarrel

They begin to quarrel over the sale of a milk bottle for money to buy a ticket for Raymond. Then these events occurred, Cabe, jr., told a Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter:

Raymond struck Cabe, jr., with his fist, and the younger boy broke the bottle over Raymond's head. Raymond tried to hit Cabe, jr., with a tire tool, which the latter seized. He struck Raymond with the tool on the right temple, and jumped from the car.

Raymond tried to catch him, but Cabe, jr., eluded him. The younger boy returned home and retrieved the stolen rifle from a field where he had hidden it.

Parents Fail In Effort

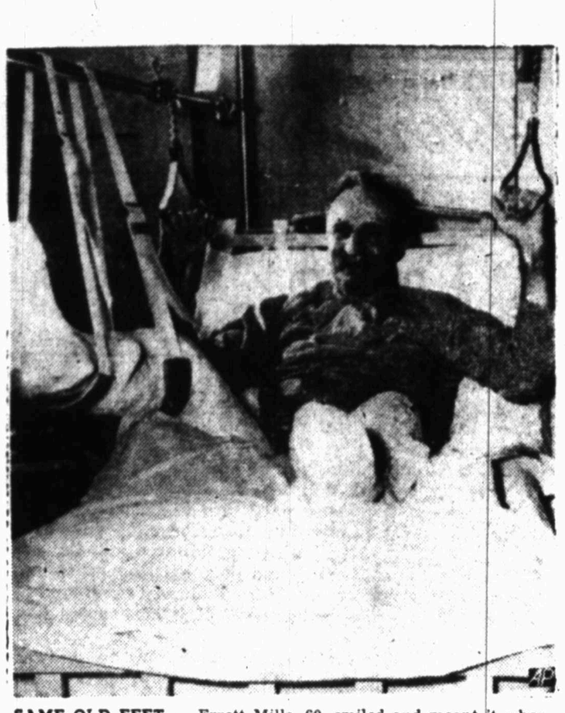

"When I heard Ray's car drive up I started for the door, pushed past my parents who tried to block the door, and swung the gun toward Ray's car," he said.

"It was dark and I couldn't see Raymond distinctly when I swung the gun and shot toward Raymond from my hip.

"Ray called out that Raymond had taken off running up the road, so I ran a little way up the road and fired one time—into the air, maybe straight up."

At their home today the young killer's parents wept as they told of the shooting.

U.S. Supreme Court To Decide Citizenship Issue For Aliens

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—The Supreme court today agreed to decide whether citizenship should be open to a man who is unwilling to serve in any capacity in the armed forces.

The court has ruled previously that an alien willing to serve only as a non-combatant is eligible for naturalization.

The question is whether this ruling should be expanded to include persons who are not willing to go into military service of any kind.

The court will schedule arguments soon and later hand down a written opinion.

The question arose when Martin Ludwig Cohnstaedt, a Quaker of German birth, applied for naturalization in May, 1947, in the district court of Barton county, Kans. Cohnstaedt, who teaches agricultural subjects at Sterling (Kans.) college, entered this country in 1937.

The law requires that candidates for citizenship be "attached to the principles of the constitution of the United States and well disposed to the good order and happinses of the United States."

Edinburg Man Charged With Murder In Shooting Of Two

EDINBURG, Dec. 5. (U.P.)— A Sunday afternoon shooting in Edinburg left a 26-year-old Latin-American dead and a Mexican bracero seriously injured. An Edinburg resident, Daniel Dinnett, was charged with murder.

Killed almost instantly in the shooting was Guadalupe Mata, a Navy veteran. His companion, Andres Moreno, jr., (of Villa de Reyes, San Luis Potosi, Mexico) was seriously injured and at noon today remained in a critical condition. Moreno said he was the son of the mayor of the town of Villa de Reyes in Mexico.

District Attorney Jack Ross said that Dinnett yesterday picked up Mata and Moreno whose car had stalled on a side road near Edinburg. He invited them to his home for a cup of coffee and it was there that an argument developed and the shooting followed. Mata was shot through the chest and died almost instantly. Moreno was hospitalized.

"CLOAK AND DAGGER" CAR IN ARIZONA

WHAT'S GOING ON AT FORD

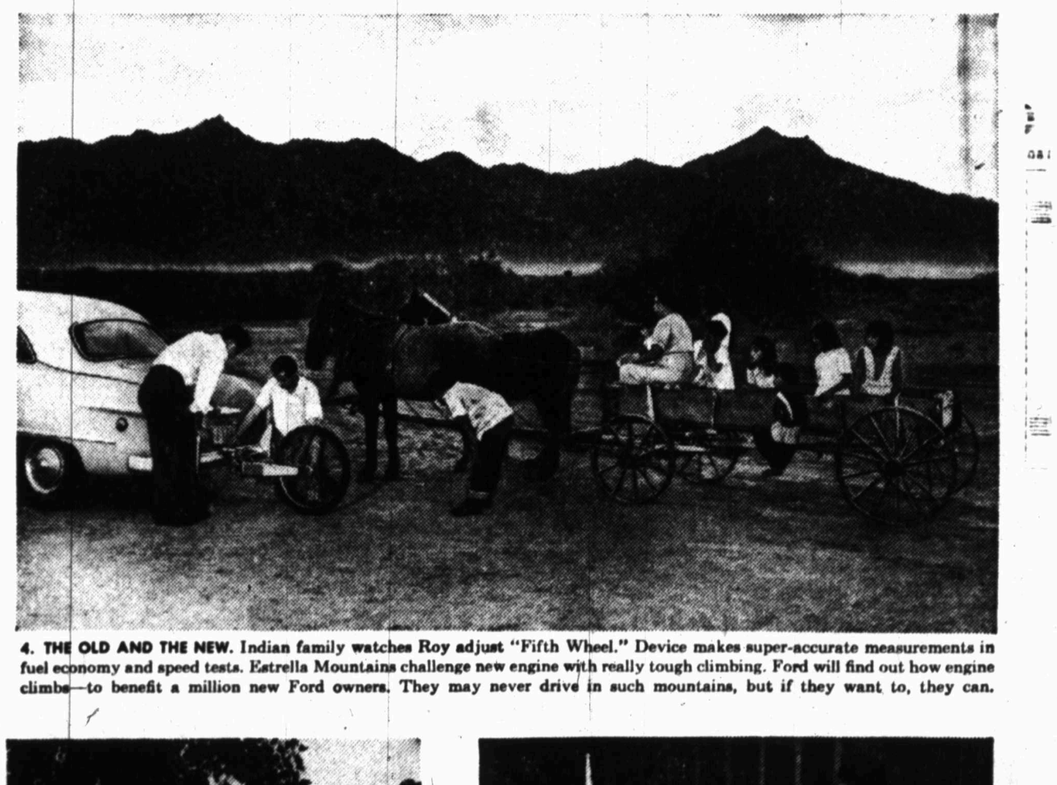

RIGHT NOW, somewhere on the sands near the Estrella Mountains in Arizona, an innocent-looking car is secretly testing a whole collection of new automotive features.

Why? Unusually high temperature there, plus primitive road conditions and corrosive alkali dust can be counted on to duplicate in just a few weeks, the effect of years of ordinary driving.

This research brings better Ford products, and it goes on continually, not only in Arizona but everywhere else in the U.S.A.—in the city, in the mountains, in the depths of man-made "blizzards"—with Lincolns and Mercurys as well as Fords.

For almost half a century, Ford, Mercury and Lincoln cars and Ford trucks and tractors have been giving outstanding service all over the world—from Alaska to Zanzibar. They have won a world-wide reputation for dependability. Continual testing helped create that good reputation, and is helping to increase it today. Ford experience, skill, and ingenuity build better products. Ford testing proves them.

It's part of the Ford way of doing business . . . making the best possible products in the best possible way . . . to benefit producer, consumer, and the nation as a whole.

4. THE OLD AND THE NEW. Indian family watches Roy adjust "Fifth Wheel." Device makes super-accurate measurements in fuel economy and speed tests. Estrella Mountains challenge new engine with really tough climbing. Ford will find out how engine climbs—to benefit a million new Ford owners. They may never drive in such mountains, but if they want to, they can.

2. ENGINEER'S "DREAM STUFF." Looks like enough instruments to fly the Atlantic—but they're all necessary to Roy's report. Every feature must be "road-tested" under severest conditions before it can go into new model Fords. Ford wants—and gets—the facts. Ford knowledge, skill, and imagination produce new features. Ford testing proves their worth.

3. 120 DEGREES—NO SHADE. Such heat is ideal for testing carburetor and radiator. Sand and alkali dust quickly put years of wear on vital parts. Fords, Mercurys and Lincolns are punished to improve new models.

5. "A WONDERFUL TRIP," says Roy, as he brings back 35 pages of facts gained on 26,000 miles of traveling. Results show up in Ford cars for 1950, '51 and years to come. Ford testing pays off in better cars for millions.

6. 55 BELOW ZERO. At test track, Roy's car gets "Arctic Test," goes through water-bath tests, races for hours over all kinds of roads, brakes hundreds of times. Result: only proven features go into new models. That's the Ford way of doing business.

MAIL EARLY

POST office clerks have asked us to help them in their plea that you mail your Christmas packages early.

Here are some suggestions:

Place the address on one side only.

Wrap and address the package well in either ink or indelible pencil.

If you use a seal of any sort (such as scotch tape) use the regular parcel post labels, which may be bought at any five and dime, or the package will have to be sent first class.

THE Sunday school class was composed of two year olds. The teacher was reviewing last Sunday's lesson. She asked:

"Do you remember who St. Matthew was?"

There was silence.

"Well, does anyone remember who St. Mark was?"

Still there was no answer.

"Surely some of you remember who Peter was?"

The little faces were full of interest but the room remained quiet. Finally a tiny voice came from the back of the room.

"I fink he was a wabbit."

LETTER FROM SANTA

CEDRIC Adams in his column in the Minneapolis Star tells of a stunt offered by Pan American World Airways system for parents of tots who still believe in Santa Claus. According to Adams, you follow this simple procedure:

First, you write a letter to your youngster and sign it Santa Claus. Place that letter in an airmail envelope addressed to your boy or girl. Don't forget to put six cents in postage on that letter. And allow plenty of room on the left hand side of the envelope for Santa's picture which will be stamped on by the airline. Put that letter in another envelope and address it to Pan American World Airways, Seattle, Wash., and mark it "Attention Santa Claus."

Your letter must reach Seattle not later than Monday, Dec. 12. The airline will then fly the letter to Fairbanks, Alaska, and mail it at the Fairbanks postoffice which has been designated by Santa Claus as the postoffice closest to the North Pole. If the child is still a skeptic, get out a map and show the reindeer route from the North Pole to Fairbanks. If the skepticism still persists, the older kids have gotten to your tot and you'd better give up.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner:

I wonder if you would help me by running a small item in your column?

On Monday morning, Nov. 21, I was involved in a collision at Ave. T and Seventeenth. A passing motorist picked me up and took me to St. Mary's hospital, but at the time I failed to obtain his name. Since then I have been unable to get the information. I thought if a notice was put in your column his wife might see the request and get in touch with me. I would like to pay him for the trip and to express my appreciation.

Yours very truly,

Compulsory School Attendance Law Cleared By State Official

AUSTIN, Des. 5. (AP)— A child who reaches the age of 16 before the opening of school is not subject to the compulsory attendance law, the attorney general ruled today.

A child who reaches the age of 16 after school has opened is subject to the law for that school year with one exception. That is a child who has finished the ninth grade and whose services are needed to support a parent, the ruling held.

The opinion, by Assistant Attorney General Chester E. Ollison, was requested by Jack Altaras, county attorney of Johnson county, Cleburne.

Give Yule Gifts That You Make In Kitchen

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Nothing's sweeter to tuck into Christmas packages than a little jar of homemade jelly or a box of cookies. Make a batch early, wrap the containers attractively. You'll be mighty glad to have these holiday packages ready well in advance.

ORANGE SPEARMINT JELLY

Ingredients: 2½ cups orange juice, 6 cups sugar, green coloring, ½ bottle fruit pectin, ½ to 1½ teaspoons spearmint extract.

Method: To prepare the orange juice, grate rind and squeeze the juice from 6 medium-sized oranges. Add the juice to the rind and let stand about 10 minutes. Press juice through small cloth. Measure 2 cups into a very large saucepan. To make the jelly, add the sugar to the juice in the saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and, while mixture is coming to a boil, add green coloring to give desired shade. As soon as mixture boils, stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim. Add flavoring and pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 8 six-ounce glasses.

For some of your other gifts how about cookbooks? I find there's always one that's "just right" for a particular friend. Cookbook formats are so attractive these days they're most appropriate for Christmas. If there are men on your list who like to cook you might consider one of the following books—all by men!

Gay as can be in its magenta, black and silver binding "Rector's Naughty '90s Cook Book" by Alexander Kirkland (Doubleday and company, New York) might be just the right choice for a friend who's particularly interested in the Victorian era. Here are recipes culled from Mr. Rector's files as well as amusing Victorian memorabilia.

"The Unprejudiced Palate" by Angelo Pellegrini (MacMillan, New York) is a recent book about cookery from which a lot of men will get a great lift. Written by an English literature teacher at the University of Washington it's interesting, has an original point of view, and some fine recipes.

"Food is a Four Letter Word" by Eliot Elisofon (Rinehart, New York) is a new cook book by a well known photographer who writes beguilingly about food. As Gypsy Rose Lee says in her foreword Mr. Elisofon is a strictly "meat-and-potatoes guy" who got switched over to the gourmet side. What I particularly like about this book is that the author make good cooking seem so easy. It's partly the casual way he writes, but maybe more his excellent taste in choosing dishes that do not take too much preparation but are fine in flavor. Then, for a cookbook collector, there's the recently published "Delights for Ladies" by Sir Hugh Plat, reprinted from the original 1609 text with an introduction by G. E. and K. R. Fussell (Transatlantic Arts, New York). This is one of the earliest cookery and household recipe books.

Grand Jury Summons Dallas Man Whose Wife Died In Blast

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Herbert Noble, Dallas man whose wife was killed last week in an apparent underworld attempt on his life, has been summoned to appear before the Tarrant county grand jury here Friday.

Noble's wife was killed last Tuesday when a bomb attached to the car her husband normally drove exploded as she started the vehicle in front of their Dallas home.

Dist. Atty. Stewart Hellman said Noble would be questioned by the grand jury about an attempt on his life near his ranch near Grapevine last September.

Noble was wounded at that time during an exchange of gunfire with occupants of another car which he said passed his vehicle near the ranch.

An ex-convict, G. R. (Jack) Nesbitt, has been charged with assault to murder in connection with the September affray.

Independence Seeks Culprit Who Jumped Gun On Ceremony

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Dec. 5. (AP) — President Truman's home town wants to know who unveiled—prematurely—its new statue of Andrew Jackson.

The statue was presented to Independence by Mr. Truman.

It was placed in front of the courthouse, concealed with muslin, to await the official unveiling.

But a prankster evidently got the jump on Independence officials. The muslin was set afire and burned off Friday night, scorching the statue's granite base.

The statue will not be covered again.

Fate Of Prize Hereford Left Up To Farm Youth Of Nation

Official of the Dearborn Motors company, purchaser of the animal for a record price of $13,000 at the 50th annual International Livestock exposition in Chicago, said the steer "definitely won't be slaughtered at the present time."

"We aren't sure yet what eventually will be done with Judge Roy Bean, but he'll be exhibited at livestock and 4-H club shows around the country," a company spokesman said.

President Frank Pierce has asked America's 2 million 4-H club members to suggest how the company "can best shape Judge Roy Bean's future."

Hundreds of letters, telegrams, and telephone calls already have asked appearances of the steer at shows, Pierce said.

A special crew of herdsmen was assigned to care for the champion during his two-day stay at the Edward P. Fisher farm here. The steer will be exhibited Wednesday at a junior livestock show at the State Fair coliseum in Detroit.

While a boarder at Fisher's Hi-Point farm, which houses one of Michigan's best Hereford herds, the steer will be fed a diet of corn, oats, bonemeal, and "special proteins."

Tulsa Policeman Disarms Man Holding Cocked Pistol

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 5. (U.P.)—A Tulsa policeman who wrote a book on hand-to-hand combat yesterday disarmed a gun-waving special officer who allegedly had threatened to kill his wife and several neighbors.

Patrloman Wayne Martin—author of "Americanized Hand-to-Hand Combat"—kicked in a front door at the home of Walter Orville Smart and grabbed a cocked revolver from Smart's hands.

Smart's wife said her husband had chased her from the house and followed her to a neighbor's yard with the gun pointed at her.

"When I ran to a neighbor's house he yelled for me not to take a step or he would kill me," she said. "He just stared at me a few minutes, pointing the gun, then went back into our house."

She said he had suffered violent headaches and hallucinations since his skull was fractured in an automobile accident several years ago.

Japan has been ordered to prevent registration of trade-marks there "confusingly similar" to well known foreign trade-marks.

Burglar Nabbed With $2,000 In Gems After Telephone Call

EDCOUCH, Dec. 5. (U.P.)— It may have been a bad connection for a burglar found with $2,000 worth of jewelery in his possession, but a call received yesterday by the local telephone operator was a lucky break for police.

The operator, Charlie Mae Hansen, said she heard a signal from the Clifton jewelry store's telephone, answered the call, and heard a man's voice say, "What about meeting me at the jewelry store in about 15 minutes."

She said she would, having already decided Constable M. C. Cowan should fill the date instead. She called Cowan, who went to the shop and discovered it had been entered and ransacked.

One block away, he arrested a man carrying the jewelry. He was jailed in Edinburg.

OTHER WOMEN BECOME INVOLVED

Shirley Temple Granted Divorce From Actor Husband John Agar

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5. (AP)—Shirley Temple won a divorce today, testifying her husband, actor John Agar, drank to excess, romanced with other women and even drove her to thinking of suicide.

Composed, but tearful, the 21-year-old actress who enchanted millions as a child star, told the court:

"About five months after we were married he began not coming home nights for dinner. First it was 8 o'clock, then 10 o'clock and finally 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning."

"What was his condition when he did come home?" asked her attorney.

Actor Claimed Drunk

"Very often intoxicated," she replied. "When I was about two months pregnant he came home about 4 a. m. with lipstick all over his face. He was very intoxicated."

"Did his conduct become worse?"

"When I was about five months pregnant, at 1:30 a. m. he brought a girl into our bedroom and said 'Let's all go out on a party.' Of course, I didn't get up. He left and returned about 4 a. m.

"One night Jack came home drunk again, very belligerent and called me names. After dinner I jumped in my car. I was going to drive over a cliff, or something, but instead drove to the doctor."

Husband Arrives Late

She said that two weeks after her baby was born the doctor told her she could have a night out. She bought a new dress and waited for her husband to come home and take her out. He finally arrived, she said, at 2 a. m.

At one point she quoted Agar as telling friends: "You can't have fun with Shirley. She won't get drunk or even take a drink."

Her former school chum, Mrs. Sidney Franklin, testified she heard Agar tell Shirley: "You're repulsive; why don't you let your hair grow long?"

Miss Temple said that once he left a party, whispering to a friend, "I've got to see my girl," and another time he became enamored of an unmarried girl.

Couple Continues To Dance

"He danced half a dance with me and said 'Oh, you're too short,'" she testified. "Then he danced all night with this girl and kissed her on the dance floor. We ended up at our house and he danced a couple of hours with this girl in the playroom. He was kissing her. It was pretty sickening."

Agar, 28, former Air Force sergeant, did not contest the divorce. He is now in Buffalo. His attorney told the court Agar had "acted like a gentleman and did not seek publicly to air their marital troubles."

Superior Judge Roy L. Herndon granted Miss Temple the decree, which becomes final after a year. He also restored her maiden name, ordered Agar to pay $100 a month support for their child, Linda Susan, 22 months, and gave her custody. A property settlement said there is no community property and stated the Agars had established a trust fund for Linda Susan.

Couple Married In 1945

Shirley and Agar were married Sept. 19, 1945, in a Beverly Hills setting like a movie mob scene.

Fan adulation was nothing new to Shirley, of course. She was an actress at four, a star at five, winner of four straight academy awards for best performance by a juvenile, the nation's top box-office attraction from 1935 through 1938.

She became a wife at 17, a mother at 19. Today she became a divorcee at 21.

Plans To Abandon Oklahoma Dormitory Okayed Before Blaze

NORMAN, Dec. 5 (U.P.)—University of Oklahoma officials disclosed today that only four days ago plans were approved to move all students out of the frame dormitory that burned to the ground here Saturday.

This was revealed as a resolution prepared for the state legislature, meeting at Oklahoma City, asking a House-Senate investigation of the tragic blaze that killed three students and injured 70.

Survivors Attend Classes

Meanwhile, the survivors went back to their classes today, many of them clad in borrowed clothing, and campus organizations pushed a full-scale relief program.

It was only two days before the fire that Dr. George L. Cross, O. U. President, approved recommendations of a faculty housing committee to take the 349 men students out of the former naval bachelor officers' quarters—last barracks-type building used as a dormitory on the campus.

The plan was to send co-eds housed in Robinson and Rester halls to the women's quadrangle, and the two women's dorms would be turned over to about 250 men from the BOQ. Another 90 or more would have filled vacancies in other men's dorms—all brick.

Early Move Intended

The program was scheduled to be completed in time for the second semester starting in February.

At Oklahoma City, State Sen. James C. Nance, whose district includes Norman, said a resolution calling for a joint committee to look into the fire would be introduced, perhaps today.

"An investigation is very much in order," he said. "I am sure it would be welcomed by Dr. Cross."

Speaker Walter Billingsley said an investigation is "a moral duty we cannot shirk."

A coroner's jury ruled yesterday there was no evidence of negligence in the fire. Its origin still has not been determined.

Nearly $2,000 had been collected at noon today by "the student fire relief organization," set up to receive contributions from campus groups and the public.

The fund was started by coeds in Sanger house, who collected money at the university basketball game, local theaters and churches over the weekend. Fraternity and sorority houses also joined the drive.

Mexico To Develop Uranium Deposits

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Mexico plans intensive development of her known uranium deposits, a prominent Mexican scientist declared today. But, the scientist, Dr. Nabor Carrillo, said the development will not come until after the United Nations reach agreement on atomic energy control.

He indicated that Mexico does not plan to enter any atomic arms race, being chiefly interested in the industrial applications of atomic energy.

"Mexico does not have the economic, human and material elements for widespread economic investigation," he said.

"This nation will be able to exploit her radioactive resources 'under barter agreements' once the great powers reach an agreement on atomic power in the United Nations.

"Our country would be able to exchange raw materials for isotopes and other elements which could be applied to our industrial and other problems."

Dr. Carrillo represented Mexico at the Bikini atom bomb tests in 1946.

Mexico has several known uranium deposits. The government reportedly is studying the possibility of a new law to control exploitation of radio active materials. It would make failure to report discovery of uranium deposits a federal offense.

Annual Cowboy's Chrismas Ball Scheduled At Anson Dec. 21-24

Fashions of the 1880's will be the style when the annual Cowboy's Christmas Ball is staged in Anson's Pioneer Hall Dec. 21-24.

The ball is commemorative of the social life of a West Texas village in 1885, so participants in the folk dances on two nights, Wednesday and Friday, Dec. 21, 23, will be required to be dressed in fashions of that day.

For the women it will be full, long skirts, Polonaise, basks, ruffles, laces, hoops or overskirts. For the men it will be checked blouses, red bandannas and boots. However, boots are not essential dress.

Also in style for the men will be the high white collars and suits that men wore at the original dance.

Dances of the original dance will be repeated with the callers on the floor with the sets. Dances will include the schottische, heel-and-toe polka, old waltz and the Virginia Reel.

Wildcats Go Against Ballinger

Teams Meet At Odessa Friday

ODESSA, Dec. 5. (Special)—West Texas' two top Class A grid powerhouses will tangle here Friday when Littlefield's Wildcats and the Ballinger Bearcats meet in the quarterfinals of the state playoff.

A crowd of at least 5,000 fans is anticipated for the clash which matches two of the state's strongest running attacks.

Kickoff time will be 2 p.m. at Broncho stadium.

Ballinger crashed into the quarterfinals Saturday with a resounding 33-7 triumph over favored Wink. Trailing by 7-6 at halftime, the hard-hitting Bearcats put on an amazing last-half rally that turned the game into a rout. During the final two periods, Wink invaded Ballinger territory only one time.

Ballinger Unbeaten

Littlefield had moved into the quarterfinals Friday with a convincing 26-6 win over the Lefors Pirates at Amarillo. The Wildcats punched over two quick touchdowns in the closing minute of the first half, and were never seriously threatened as they completely outclassed the scrappy Lefors eleven.

Ballinger is unbeaten in 12 games this year, but was tied by Coleman, 13-13. Littlefield lost its first game to Dalhart, 14-0, then started its current 11-game winning streak. One of the Wildcat wins, however, was via the penetration route. It came against Sudan, which held Littlefield to a 7-7 scoring tie.

Complete season records of the two quarterfinal teams are:

LITTLEFIELD — Littlefield 0, Dalhart 14; Littlefield 34, Roscoe 0; Littlefield 39, Morton 6; Littlefield 53, O'Donnell 0; Littlefield 47, Brownfield 7; Littlefield 48, Muleshoe 0; Littlefield 66, Sundown 0; Littlefield 7, Sudan 7; Littlefield 20, Levelland 13; Littlefield 47, Slaton 0; Littlefield 47, Spur 14; Littlefield 26, Lefors 6.

BALLINGER — Ballinger 27, Seymour 7; Ballinger 46, Roscoe 13; Ballinger 34, Dublin 13; Ballinger 46, Stamford 12; Ballinger 13, Rotan 7; Ballinger 34, Haskell 6; Ballinger 14, Brady 7; Ballinger 35, Lake View 14; Ballinger 13, Coleman 13; Ballinger 58, Winters 0; Ballinger 6, Ranger 2; Ballinger 33, Wink 7.

Williams Decisions Dawson In Title Go

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5. (INS)—Lightweight champion Ike Williams won a unanimous but unpopular decision over Freddy Dawson of Chicago tonight to retain his 135-pound crown.

There was not a knockdown in the entire 15 rounds.

Dawson, a slippery, darting type of fighter, bore in constantly and after a poor start appeared to pick up steam in the late rounds. Many of the spectators greeted the announcement of the decision with a thunder of boos.

Dawson, weighing 134, seemed extremely cautious in the early rounds. He spent much of the time dancing about the ring, darting in occasionally to throw a flurry of left and rights.

The dusty, hard-hitting champion—far off his form of two years ago—held the role of the pursuer for most of the battle. In the main, however, the bout lacked the calibre expected of a championship match.

Two judges—Harry Lasky and Frank Knaresborough—gave Ike eight rounds and Dawson seven.

But the speedy challenger's late rallies apparently led the crowd of 10,389 to believe that Dawson had come back sufficiently to capture the championship.

Williams, weakened by an extended drying out process in order to make the 135 pound limit, tired badly in the last five rounds.

Lubbock Boys Club Turns Back Crawford Electric Quint, 54-50

Lubbock Boys club turned back the Crawford Electric basketball team in a City Recreation department game, 54-50, last night, with Jackie Cook's 14 points pacing the winners.

Stan Barkowsky pitched in 17 points for the losers for scoring honors.

Lubbock Barber college won a forfeit victory from the Lubbock Cowhands, in what was to have been a curtain-raiser league game, when the Cowhands failed to appear.

STRADER HEADS STARS

Five Top Minor Circuits Pay $231,650

Cardinal Farms Dominate Minor Loop Player Draft In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Dec. 5. (AP)—Alert officials of the St. Louis Cardinals' far flung system dominated today's unprecedented minor league draft in which the five top minors paid $231,650 for baseball players.

For the first time, the minors selected their men directly from the convention floor. Always before they wired or mailed their picks to the National Association headquarters.

Taking their cues in reverse order from their teams' finish in the 1949 races, the Cardinal brass was still drafting long after the others were finished.

Cards Pick Catchers

Columbus of the American Association, Rochester of the International League and Houston of the Texas League each picked four men for a total of 12 representing an outlay of $49,400. Another $50,000 and they could have had one of Branch Rickey's surplus Dodgers at a markdown.

The Cards' need for catching strength was apparent in their farm chief's selection of three receivers. They also grabbed five pitchers an dfour outfielders.

Bill Sarni, a heavy-hitting catcher from Shreveport in the Texas League, was first pick of the Card system. He moved to the Columbus farm. Later the Rochester Red Wings of the International loop collared catchers Ralph Caldwell from Williamsport, Pa. of the Eastern League, who hit .271 at Furham, North Carolina and 21-year-old Joe Montalum from Vicksburg, Miss., of the Southeastern League who didn't see much action last summer at either Scranton, Pa., or Roanoke, Virginia.

Triple A Gets 27 Men

In all, the three triple A leagues —Pacific Coast, International and American Association—drafted 27 men for $136,650 as compared to 15 for $87,000 a year ago.

The Southern Association and Texas League—Class Double A—also helped themselves by taking 28 men. Last year they took only 19 for $69,000.

Before the final session Wednesday the total is almost certain to surpass the 105 men drafted for $349,500 by mail and wire last winter.

The Majors, staged this year's bumper draft Nov. 17 when they gleaned 21 of the best of the minor league crop at the Cincinnati meeting. They, of course, are not allowed to draft here except through their farms.

LILLARD LEADS KEGLERS

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 (AP)—William Lillard, 22-year-old Dallas, Tex., clerk, regained the lead in the ninth annual National All-Star Individual Match Game Bowling tournament. Lillard posted an 18 game total of 3,725 after four of the seven 24 men squads had competed in the third block.

BELL PRAISES GALLANT SMU TEAM

Walker, Justice Opponents In Senior Bowl Tussle January 7

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 5 (AP)—Doak Walker and Charlie Justice, most publicized All-America backs since the war, will be football opponents for the first time in the Senior Bowl here, Jan. 7.

Walker of Southern Methodist will captain a team of college seniors from the southwest, west, midwest and east. Justice of North Carolina will head the rival team made up of seniors from the south and southeast.

They were the first players announced for the game, which promoter Jimmy Pearre of Nashville says will include all the best seniors in the nation.

Along with Walker and Justice he revealed the names of four other players today.

North Carolina ends Art Weiner and Kenny Powell will join Justice to keep intact the passing combination that rated the Tarheels among the best teams in the country for three straight years.

Walker will have SMU teammates Dick McKissack, a back, and Jack Halliday, a guard, with him on the "Yankee" squad.

BELL PRAISES TEAM FOR SHOWING AGAINST IRISH

DALLAS, Dec. 5 (AP) — Matty Bell paid tribute to his 1949 Southern Methodist university football team tonight for having "the greatest spirit of any team I ever coached."

In a husky voice (not all caused by a sore throat), the headman of SMU football praised the team for its magnificent fight against odds in fighting mighty Notre Dame to the last ditch Saturday.

He spake at the annual dinner of the squad at the Cipango club here.

Dan D. Rogers, admittedly a Texas Christian university fan all the way (he's chairman of the board of TCU), told the gathering he was pulling for Southern Methodist "with every ounce" Saturday as the Methodists made their gallant fight against Notre Dame.

The final speaker was Doak Walker, the All-American quarterback who missed Saturday's game because of a leg injury.

The Doaker tried hard but he finally had to give it up as he wept on these word: "It was a great honor to be a captain of a great team like this . . ."

Picador Quintet Drops Ramblers

Two games last night were played in the Major League and two in the Commercial League sponsored by the City Recreation Department with Texas Tech freshmen, Thomas Tinkers, Westerner Drive-In and Anton American Legion coming out on top.

The Picadors beat the Mason Ramblers of Levelland 67-46; Tinkers beat Reese Air Force Base 70-12; Westerner Drive-In beat Rigney Auto 52-31; and Anton Legion licked the Mims Ranglers 83-6. The first two games were in the Major loop.

Virgil Johnson, former independent team star and Lubbock High school ex, paced the Tech freshmen to their victory with 24 points. Grady Cooper had 16 for the losers.

Jake Broyles, tennis star, led the Tinkers to their walloping of the airmen with 22 points. J. L. Houser had 16 for Tinkers. Lt. R. E. Englebretson had four points for the losers, who were held to three field goals.

W. C. Self scored 24 points in leading the Drive-In to its victory over Rigney Auto, which was led by B. J. Godwin and Gene Taylor, each of whom had eight points.

Horace Baines pitched in 20 points and Bill Wood collected 18 to pace the Anton Legion five. Elrdige Freeman had four points on two field goals for the Ranglers.

Henly's Hornets Drop Lorenzo VFW In Independent Cage Game

LORENZO, Dec. 5 (Special)—Henly's Hornets dropped Lorenzo VFW, 54-49, here tonight in a hotly contested independent basketball contest which saw the winners come from behind a 31-28 halftime score.

Pat Clepper led scoring for the Hornets with 17 points, and pressing him were Charles McNally with 15 and Buster Wiley with 13. T. Smith's 16 topped the Lorenzo scoring.

Bulldog Five Meets Locals

Seeking its fourth win of the season, the Lubbock Westerners basketball team moves into Plainview at 8 o'clock tonight for a return match with Plainview's Bulldogs.

In the previous meeting between the two schools last week, Lubbock took an easy, 54-24, victory and will be favored to repeat tonight.

Lubbock's "B" team will play at 6:30 o'clock, also having a victory over the Bullpups on its record.

Turner, Reeves Back

Coach David Cook sent his regulars through a shorter workout than usual Monday, and the boys seemed ready for tonight's conflict.

Several additional prospects reported for training from the football squad. Back from last year's cage team are Morris Turner and Garnet Reeves, two boys who saw lots of action on that Westerner quintet. Also suited out for basketball now are Bobby Day, Wayne Noland, Jerry Van Pelt and Dean White.

Probable starters for the Westerners are Jimmy Sexton and Tom Cheatham at forwards, Jim Wilson at center, and Carl Ince and Richard Allen at guards.

Gridders on Team

Completing the Westerners squad making the trip by bus from Chapman field at 4:30 p. m. are Bill Williams, Bob Wassom, Jimmy Hamilton, Charles Rand, Williard Newton and Bobby Sexton.

The "B" team squad, under Coach Dee Alexander, is holding daily workouts at the high school gym, and approximately 50 boys are working out. Starters for the "B" team game have not been selected.

Planiview's squad is composed largely of players off the football team. Expected to start are Lee Dye and Wayne Taylor, forwards; Otis Ratliff and Jock Howard, guards, and D. Harris center.

Wolf Resigns As Florida's Coach

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 5.(INS)—Coach Raymond (Bear) Wolf's resignation as head football coach of the University of Florida 'Gators was announced late today by President J. Hillis Miller.

Dr. Miller said the resignation followed a Sunday meeting between the state board of control, university officials and Wolf.

Wolf's teams have won 13, lost 24 and tied two since he took over the coaching job in 1946.

In Southeastern Conference play, Florida won two, lost 17 and tied two. The 'Gators '49 record was four won, four lost and one tie.

Wolf resigned with one year to go on his contract.

Florida sports scribes predicted after the tie with Auburn—the 'Gator's third game this fall—that Florida alumni would demand Wolf's contract be broken at the end of this season.

No announcement was made concerning the former Texas Christian university star's successor.

However, speculation is rampant on the East and West coasts that UCLA Coach Red Sanders will take over the Florida post with a contract calling for approximately $18,000 a year.

Seven Bowl Games Scheduled In Texas During December, January

Cotton Bowl Tops Post-Season Tilts

DALLAS, Dec. 5 (AP)—Bowl games? Texas has them, as usual. Starting Friday, seven will be played in Texas in less than a month.

Not only that, but four—and possibly five—Texas teams will go into other states to play post-season contests.

One already has been held. It was Nov. 25 when Austin college licked East Central State of Ada, Okla., 27-6, in the Texoma Bowl at Denison.

This week there will be four bowl tilts in which Texas teams will participate, two of them in Texas.

Lamar In Memorial

Friday Lamar college of Beaumont, co-champion of the Southwestern Junior College Conference journeys to Jackson, Miss., to meet Pearl River Junior college of Poplarville, Miss., in the Memorial Bowl. Friday night Wharton County college, champion of the South Texas Junior College Conference, meets Leesamcrae of Banner Elk, N. C., in the Junior Sugar Bowl at Moncoe, La., and Panola County college, champion of the Texas Junior College Conference, plays McNeese Junior college of Lake Charles, La., in the Gas Bowl at Carthage, Texas.

December 16 Lamar plays its second Bowl game in two weeks, taking on Georgia Military in the Spindletop Bowl at Beaumont, Texas.

December 17 Trinity university goes to Mexico City to play an All-Star Mexican team in the Silver Bowl.

Tech In Raisin Bowl

December 31 Texas Tech, champion of the Border Conference, goes to Fresno, Calif., to play San Jose State in the Raisin Bowl.

There will be four bowl games in Texas in January. The big one is the Cotton Bowl at Dallas where Rice plays North Carolina. Texas Western entertains Georgetown in the Sun Bowl at El Paso; McMurry, champion of the Texas Conference, clashes with Missouri Valley in the Oleander Bowl at Galveston and Prairie View negro college plays Fish university of Nashville, Tenn., in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston. The Prairie View Bowl is the oldest in Texas. It has been operated for 21 years.

Still another bowl game is scheduled for a Texas team if a field can be found on which to play it in California. Baylor, runner-up in the Southwest Conference, will meet unbeaten College of the Pacific December 26 if suitable arrangements are made.

Petersburg All-Star Quint Defeats Olson Redheads, 23-22

PETERSBURG, Dec. 5. (Special) Petersburg All-Stars defeated the famed Olson Redheads here tonight in a loosely-played exhibition basketball game, 23-22.

Harold Rhodes was the top Petersburg scorer with six points, while Thurber had nine for the girls team. A crowd of 600 entertained fans watched the game.

The Redheads had a 19-11 lead at the half and Petersburg barely won in the closing moments of the game. It was an entertaining exhibition by the clever girls, who clowned through most of the game to the delight of the crowd.

Four-Game Road Journey Opens

Red Raider Cagers Face Rice Tonight

A 12-man Texas Tech basketball squad left Lubbock by T.N.M.&O. bus yesterday on the start of a four-game road trip that will open tonight in Houston with the Red Raiders meeting the Rice Owls.

Coach Polk Robison herded his squad and Charlie Campbell, manager, into the bus for the trip, which will take the Raiders to Houston, San Antonio, Waco and Brownwood. They will play Trinity at San Angelo, Baylor at Waco and Howard Payne at Brownwood.

Sophs Make-Up Team

Included on the travelling squad were four forwards, four centers and four guards. Forwards include Chester Jackson, J. R. McAnally, Charles Pinnell and Doral Sandlin. Centers are Gene Gibson. Verdell Turner, Jim Eddins and Irl Brown. And guards are Jack Alderson, Ted O'Neil, Weldon McClure and Jim Sharp.

Tech will be running into another sophomore-laden team in Rice. The Owls have two transfer junior college players, one three-letter senior, one senior with one letter and a non-letterman senior. Two juniors are lettermen and there are five sophomores on the squad.

Principal figure the Raiders will have to watch will be Capt. Warren Switzer, a six foot two senior from Houston who is the most experienced player the Owls have and one of the better players in the Southwest Conference.

Other Owl players the Raiders will face are Tommy Hudgins, Ray Hilton, Joe McDermott, Jim Gerhardt, J. D. White, Charlie Tighe, Ralph Grawunder, Leonard Childs, Marion Froelich, Tom Whatron and Hal DeMoss.

Hudgins, McDermott, Gerhardt and Tighe each have earned one letter at Rice. White is a transfer student from North Texas Agricultural college. Hilton is a squadman who didn't letter and Grawunder, Childs, Froelich, Wharton and DeMoss are all sophomores.

Rice has played two games so far, beating Sam Houston State, but losing to Southwestern Louisiana Institute. Tech also has an

Graziano, Horne Headline Boxing Show In Cleveland Arena Tonight

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5. (INS)—Rocky Graziano, former middleweight boxing champion who is working for a crack at Jake La Motta, tops a star-studded Cleveland News toyshop boxing show tomorrow night in the arena.

The Rock will meet Sonny Horne of Niles, O., in one of the headline 10-round bouts which are expected to draw more than 13,000 fans who will pay about $80,000.

Another ex-champ, Sandy Saddler, who dropped his lightweight title in a rematch with Willie Pep, tangles with up-and-coming Orlando Zulueta in a 10-rounder with the junior lightweight crown at stake.

The other top bout pits rugged Dick Wagner of Portland, Ore., against Cleveland's Chuck Hunter in a light-heavy match, also over the 10-round route.

Graziano originally signed to meet Rocky Castellani on Dec. 16 in New York's Madison Square Garden but had the bout set back in January so he could meet Horne tomorrow night.

In two previous battles with Horne, The Rock was able to come through with no better than decision wins in 10-round affairs. The last mixup between the pair in Washington had ringsiders disputing the Graziano verdict.

An upset win by Horne would put a serious dent in Rocky's comeback effort and possibly rule out a title match with La Motta in New York next summer.

Saddler plans to take off for South America after his fight with Zulueta and hopes to battle Pep again next summer. Zulueta dropped a split decision to Saddler in a previous meeting.

Wagner, scheduled to meet Nick Barone of Syracuse in a return match at the Garden Dec. 30, has kayoed Black Jack Billy Fox and Artie Levine twice in Cleveland appearances but has not shown in New York as yet.

Hunter has flashed hot and cold in his Cleveland fights but his boxing finesse is coupled with a hard right hand which may give the Portland windmill a tough night.

Wagner's handler, the veteran Ray Arcel, who also is training Horne, believes the fight card will lead a revival of boxing interest in Cleveland and elsewhere in these days of devaluated heavyweights.

"Certainly," Arcel said, "This is the best card put together anywhere in the country so far this year."

The program will be rounded out with a 10-round lightweight bout between Clevelander Eddie Marcotta and Lino Garcia and a five-round prelim between Earl Sagotin and Leo Pietros in the heavyweight class.

Junion Cagers Beat Five Fools

A determined last quarter drive by the Fancy Five at Boys club Monday brought the Junior basketeers a 32-21 victory over the Five Fools.

Paced by Mikey Brady, who scored 18 points during the basketball contest, the Fancy Five poured 20 points through the hoop to overcome a 12-21 deficit. Preston Wolf with nine and Gene Seward with eight topped scoring for the losers.

In the other Junior league game the Sorry Lot outpointed the Hornets, 27-25, with Bobby Tollison scoring nine points for the winners. High game scorer was Don Washington with 13 points.

The Seventh Street Thugs stunned the Unconscious Five, 47-33, as J. R. Bradford made 12 points. For the losers Billy Presley also counted 12 in the Senior contest.

The Midget Eagles trampled the Palominos, 36-20.

High scorer for the Eagles was Jerry Shipp with 16 makers, and he was closely pressed by Wesley Houston with 15 points. Dale Ball's 13 was tops for the losing team.

In Pee Wee competition the Maulers stomped the Stampeders 18-4, with Paul Sikes continuing to lead his teammates and scoring eight points. Pacing the Stampeders was Kenneth Marmaduke with all four points.

Today's games have the Golden Gophers vs. Dirty Demons in the Senior play; Basketeers vs. Sorry Lot in Junior play; Galloping Ghosts vs. Raiders and Palominos vs. Alley Rats in Midget Play; and Roughies vs. Buffaloes in Pee Wee play.

Cage Rules May Change

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (INS).— The National Professional Basketball Association today took action to cut down huge scoring in which points frequently soar over the 200 mark for one game.

The executive committee of the league recommended to the board of governors the following changes in the rules:

1. During the last five minutes of a regulation game and during the entire overtime, if any, there shall be a jump ball after each successful free throw; in the case of two free throws, after the second, if successful.

The jump ball shall take place between the two players involved, the player committing the foul and the player fouled, at the circle where the free throw was made.

2. The present rule permitting opposing players to occupy spaces now designated by the figures H and V alongside the free throw lane shall be charged so that these two places shall be occupied by two players of the defensive team wiht the other players alternating on both sides of the free throw lane.

3. For adoption on an experimental basis for the period Dec. 15 to Jan. 15, a change in the rules widening the free throw lanes from the present six feet to 12 feet so that the lines bounding the free throw lanes shall terminate at the extremities of the free throw lane.

It is generally agreed that most of the fouls in professional basketball are deliberate. And these changes are an attempt to eliminate fouling.

It is felt that the trailing team now has too little opportunity to get back in the game in the closing minues under the current rules. Of course, such fouls as blocking, charging, holding and tripping still will be fouls under any rules.

The appointment had previously been approved by Jerry Feille of San Antonio, N. B. C. Texas state commissioner.

District tournaments and affiliated leagues throughout Texas will qualify leaders in the 15th annual Texas state tournament which tentatively has been scheduled for San Antonio.

"What happened to the Lubbock Westerners?"

That's the question of the week, and it seems that everyone in town has his own special deluxe explanation of Lubbock's stunning loss to Austin High at El Paso Saturday.

Some of the answers amaze me even more than the unexpected Westerner defeat. A few, in fact, are so far-fetched — and vicious — that they don't even merit a formal denial. Just let it be said that a few fans are popping off regarding a situation in which they are not even faintly atquainted with the facts.

When you analyze the situation closely, there really isn't anything so terribly baffling about Lubbock's loss. If you'll stick with me for a few paragraphs, I'll attempt to explain what I mean.

First, and perhaps foremost, Lubbock was beaten by a red-hot, hustling ball club that fully deserved to win.

True, Austin's season record was only so-so. But last Saturday afternoon, the Panthers were a fired-up gang who would have given any schoolboy team in Texas plenty of trouble. I think anyone who saw the game will back up this statement.

Unfortunately, Lubbock didn't have a "good" day. The Westerners' timing and deception was faulty, and they simply weren't driving as hard as the Austin boys.

Neither did Lubbock play a particularly poor game. In fact, I believe the locals played as well as they did in edging out Odessa earlier this year. But this Austin team, in my opinion, was far above the Odessa of Nov. 11. The speedy Panthers ran hard, passed well, blocked and tackled viciously, and had heady quarterbacking. In short, it was "their day," and they certainly made the most of it. Only a superb performance by Lubbock—say, for example, like that which crushed Amarillo—would have beaten back Austin.

The chief cause of Lubbock's mental "flatness" was that the Westerner players didn't properly respect the under-rated Austin team. They thought (and I thought, and you thought, and the El Paso fans thought) that Lubbock could win in a walk. But the Austin players did not think so.

By the time the Westerners finally "woke up" they were five minutes deep in the fourth quarter, and too far behind, and too stunned to come back.

Another major factor in the Austin triumph was that the Panthers came up with a neat series of T-formation plays which kept Lubbock off balance throughout the afternoon. Austin apparently adopted the series for this particular game, because the plays had not been used in earlier Panther tilts scouted by Lubbock. (P. S.—Don't be at all surprised if this series turns up in the Westerner catalog next season. It's a lulu.).

The dry El Paso heat didn't help the Lubbock cause, either. Austin employed a two-platoon system. Toward the end these substitutions paid off, as the Lubbock regulars tired.

At the outset of the season, Lubbock Coach Pat Patison said (and was quoted in this column) that his squad lacked sufficient first-line reserves. This shortcoming was never more apparent than in Saturday's game. Tackle Joe Brock and Guard Freddie Gray were used sparingly because of knee injuries. Curtis Roberts, Brock's replacement on defense, was sidelined early in the game by a severe hip bruise. Mac Taylor, a top backfield sub, missed the game because of scholastic ineligibility (Taylor had missed an English examination, and his ineligibility was not discovered until it was too late for him to have full opportunity to take a "make-up" examination).

Contrary to a current rumor that's bouncing around, the Lubbock team was not affected by dissension. I was with the players on the field before and during the game, for several hours after the game, and all day Sunday en route home. Never was there the slightest indication—spoken or implied—of any disagreement that could have affected the team's play.

Another wild story making the rounds is that Lubbock players "whooped it up" in El Paso (or Juarez—take your choice!) the night before the game. Actually, the Westerners went in a group to a suburban movie Friday night, and were in bed at an early hour.

Boiling all this down, I believe a Lubbock team that wasn't at its best was shellacked by an Austin team which was. Whether Austin can remain at this "fever pitch" will be disclosed when the Panthers go against Wichita Falls. It's difficult for me to imagine a team "keyed" that high for two consecutive weeks.

Regardless of earlier performances, Lubbock wasn't a great team Saturday. Day in, day out, the Westerners quite possibly are better than Austin. But this is football, not baseball, and it's the first meeting that counts in the playoffs.

Austin had it; Lubbock didn't.

But even in defeat, the Westerners have nothing of which to be ashamed—unless it is that common schoolboy fault of over-confidence. In 1947, Odessa suffered a similar fate; in 1948 it was Port Arthur; and now, you can add Lubbock to the list.

The Westerners were a fine football club—not great, perhaps, but hustling, explosive and spectacular. They gave us same splendid exhibitions this season, and they continued the school's climb up the football ladder. I just hope their many achievements—and not just the lone occasion on which they blissfully walked off into an open manhole—will be remembered by the public.

Thomas Named Top Back In Big Seven

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 5 (INS) Oklahoma's high-scoring halfback, George Thomas, today was voted the outstanding back of the 1949 season in the Big Seven-Missouri Valley Conference area.

He was accorded the honor in a poll among the 115 members of the midwest chapter of the Football Writers Association of America. Bob Busby of the Kansas City Star and president of the midwest chapter announced the results.

Thomas scored 117 points in the Sooners' ten games this season. He also established a record for the Big Seven Conference. Oklahoma meets Louisiana State at New Orleans in the Sugar Bowl January 2.

Thomas will be presented an award Saturday at Norman by Hal Middlesworth, sports editor of the Daily Oklahoman and national president of the Football Writers Association.

Backs who trailed Thomas in order were: Darrell Royal, Oklahoma; Bill Weeks, Iowa State; Dick Braznell, Missouri, and Lindell Pearson, Oklahoma.

Rote, Berry Tops In SWC

DALLAS, Dec. 5. (AP).— Kyle Rote, Southern Methodist's mighty man, and Lindy Berry, Texas Christian's "busiest man in football," were double champions in the Southwest Conference this season.

Final statistics issued by James H. Stewart, Conference secretary, show Rote to have won the ball-carrying title with 777 yards on 142 runs and to have topped the punters with an average of 44.4 on 22 kicks.

Berry was the total offense leader with 1702 yards on 350 plays and paced the passers with 106 completions out of 220 throws for 1,445 yards.

Rote, who won the ball-carrying title in his last game of the season — against Notre Dame — was followed by Geno Mazzanti of Arkansas, who made 743 yards on 123 runs.

In punting, Rote was almost three yards per boot ahead of teammate Doak Walker, who averaged 41.7 on 23 kicks.

Adrian Burk of Baylor had more completions than Berry in passing, showing 110 out of 191 throws, but was 17 yards behind the TCU ace.

Bobby Dillon of Texas led the punt returners with an average of 19.0 yards on 11 runs. Berry was second with 17.6 on 19.

In pass-receiving, Ben Procter of Texas topped the field with 43 catches for 724 yards and five touchdowns. Morris Bailey of Texas Christian was second, taking 37 for 502.

Burk finished second to Berry in total offense with 1347 yards on 221 plays.

Texas led in team offense with 362.4 yards per game. Rice was second with 353.5.

John Kimbrough Sues Pro Dons For Full Payment Of 1949 Salary

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5. (AP).—John Kimbrough, grid fullback fined by the Los Angeles Dons last August 1, today sued the professional football club for full payment of $13,500 as his salary for the 1949 season.

Kimbrough, one-time star with Texas A&M, said an agreement he signed with the Dons July 2, 1948, was to remain binding for the 1949 season in the event of injury if he gave the club notice within 10 days after such injury. He asserted that he was discharged after a practice injury despite the fact that he gave the required notice within 10 days.

HERE'S THE PITCH—Sammy Baugh gives instructions to his sons, Todd, left, eight, and Davey, six. The youngsters saw their famous father in action for the first time when the Washington Redskins defeated the New York Bulldogs in Griffith Stadium, Washington, D. C., 38-14 Baugh threw four touchdown passes in that game. Lest Redskin fans worry about future passers, there are two more little Baughs back home at Sweetwater, Tex.

Red Raiders

even break in two games, losing an exhibition to West Texas State and beating McMurry.

The Raiders have been going through scrimmage sessions since their game with McMurry last Wednesday night with Coach Robison attempting to find a combination that clicks with consistency. His probable starting lineup tonight and for the other three games will be Jackson and Pinnell, forwards; Gibson, center; and Alderson and O'Neil, guards.

U. S. Officials Admit Uranium Shipped To Russia During War

through Great Falls. They were Lt. Col. George F. O'Neill of Los Angeles and Lt. Ben L. Brown of Cincinnati.

Jordan said he placed a phone call to the Russian embassy in Washington on request of Col. A. N. Kotikov, Soviet liaison officer, who wanted to expedite a uranium shipment.

The ex-officer said:

"Kotikov talked for a while, then handed the phone to me and said Hopkins had some instructions for me. I talked with Hopkins and he instructed me to expedite the shipment."

Certain Of Identity

Jordan declared he was certain that he actually had talked with Hopkins. He said he identified the man as Hopkins because the latter made a reference to assignment of ferry pilots at the Great Falls base. He did not explain how this established Hopkins' identity.

The witness said he had never talked to Hopkins before and never again talked with the White House confidant of the late President Roosevelt.

Jordan told the committee that when he opened a shipment of suitcases consigned to Russia in 1944 he found in a folder marked "Oak Ridge" a note supposedly written on White House stationery by Hopkins.

Note Addressed To Red

He said the note was addressed to a "Mr. Mikoyan," described by a Russian officer as "one of the three most important men in Russia." Jordan repeated his earlier assertion that the note said:

"Had a hell of a time getting these away from Groves."

Before Jordan took the stand, committee investigator Louis Russell inserted in the record a letter from Maj. Leslie Groves, head of the wartime Manhattan A-bomb project, declaring:

"I have reason to believe that uranium materials were flown to Russia in a lend-lease plane."

The "Mikoyan" referred to presumably was Anastas Mikoyan, member of the Politburo and until recently Russian minister of foreign trade.

Purchases Disclosed

The stage was set for Jordan's apperance as a witness by Russell's disclosure that Soviet agents made uranium purchases in the U. S. in 1943.

As the committee questioned Jordan on the "Hopkins angle," Russell said that the name of another "prominent government official" has entered the probe. Russell asked that the name be disclosed only in secret session.

Jordan said that when he became alarmed over the large number of mysterious black suitcases going to Russia he insisted on opening them though he was rebuked by superior officers. He said:

"I was told that higher authorities were passing on these things and that it was my duty to expedite them and not stir up a ruckus."

The ex-officer added:

"I got the impression that the State department thought I was being too officious and that I would be better off if I stopped stirring up trouble."

Reported Suspicions

Jordan said that he had reported his suspicions to a State department official he identified as John Hazard.

The witness explained that the reason he believed the mysterious note about Groves, signed "H. H." was written by Hopkins, was that when he inquired as to Mikoyan's identity, Col. A. N. Kotikov, the Russian liaison officer at Great Falls, told him:

"Mikoyan is one of the two or three most important men in Russia."

Jordan testified that the mysterious suitcase shipments came through Great Falls in lots of 50 "usually every three weeks."

He said the shipments always arrived "in the middle of the night" and that he determined to inspect them despite Russian protests that they were under "diplomatic immunity."

Other Names Found

Jordan disclosed that he found names of other U. S. officials in data in the suitcases. He said he would reveal the names in secret session.

The witness told the committee that American airmen informed him the mysterious suitcase cargoes were delivered at the Washington airport in "a black limousine from the Russian embassy."

In Los Angeles, David Hopkins, Harry Hopkin's son, denounced Jordan's charges as "completely incredible." Young Hopkins insisted that his father "never signed anything H.H.'" and that the elder Hopkins was "critically ill and almost inaccessable" during much of 1944.

Wallace Blamed

Lewis, who touched off the sensational string of developments last Friday night when he had Jordan tell his story on the air, told the ex-officer tonight that it was Wallace, not Hopkins, who overrode Groves and insisted that the uranium be sent to the Russians.

The commentator declared:

"The individual who overruled Gen. Groves' blockade and ordered the atomic materials sent to Russia in spite of him, was the then vice president of the United States, and the head of the Bureau of Economic Warfare, later . . . candidate for president of the United States—Mr. Henry Agard Wallace.

More Records Available

"There are specific secret records available if and when the proper authorities see fit to let the public in on them, and those records reveal exactly who that individual was."

The commentator said he has talked to Col. Roy B. Gardiner, of Mansfield, Ohio, Jordan's former immediate superior in the lend-lease expediting outfit and was informed that his experience at another base at Newark, N. J., paralleled those of Jordan at Great Falls.

Mrs. Gordon Bean of Meadville, Pa., the WAC sergeant who was Jordan's chief clerk at the Great Falls base, appeared with Lewis tonight to corroborate Jordan's story which earlier received the support of two other ex-Air Force officers.

Two Officials Testify

Lt. Col. George F. O'Neill, of Los Angeles and Lt. Ben L. Brown of Cincinnati, supported Jordan's report which he repeated under oath today.

Mrs. Bean identified the diary which Jordan said he kept of the incidents at Great Falls and which he turned over to the House group during his appearance today.

Jordan said tonight he had given his story to Lewis after the latter had promised to turn the matter over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and that the FBI had questioned him on it.

Lewis and Jordan tonight again referred to suitcases of State department papers which the Russians carried through the lend-lease airlift which bore the notations from "X" and "Y."

Lewis said "X" and "Y" were high officials at the time in the State department, but that he was not revealing their names at present.

Lewis said that he talked to Gardiner this afternoon and that his experiences with the Russians paralleled those of Jordan at Great Falls. He added:

"Every time the Russians were dissatisfied with the way things were going—which was frequently — they would get on the telephone with the embassy in Washington, and have the embassy contact Mr. Harry Hopkins, and all the difficulties would be straightened out immediately.

"I asked Col Gardiner how he knew it was Mr. Hopkins who did the job, and he said that it was common information . . . the Russians referred to it, so did everybody else . . ."

Mrs. Bean said that she served under Jordan at Great Falls for 12 months as chief clerk and was in charge of the office operations.

Mrs. Bean declared that the major many times "became very much concerned" both at the "quantity and the nature of the stuff going through Great Falls on the lend-lease pipeline to Russia."

Theft of a watch valued at $85 was reported by Mike Dooley of 1922 Thirty-second street. He said the watch was taken from a dressing room in Wilkison Radiator Shop, 915 Ave. H, about 6:30 p. m.

Theft of a box camera valued at $12.50 was reported to police by Jim Key of 406 Ave. X. He said the camera was taken about 4 p. m. Monday from a car parked at Main street and College avenue.

second-grade deposits."

Raymond B. Hamilton, Shreveport, district manager of the States Conservation department, said Louisiana has just formed an advisory secondary recovery committee to study the question for the state.

The Texas governor said he will introduce a resolution here calling upon the federal government to relinquish control of tideland reserves. Shivers introduced a similar resolution at the Southern governors' conference at Biloxi, Miss., recently.

In addition to Shivers, four other state chief executives were expected to attend the convention. Gov. John W. Bonner of Montana arrived last night and Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana was expected. Others to attend are Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas and Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

Texas Loses Revenue

Earlier in an interview, Shivers said Texas was losing about $600,000 a month because oil allowables partially based on oil companies' estimates of crude purchases—had been drastically reduced.

He cited the Texas company's announced plan of closing three Texas refineries and opening one in New Jersey to refine foreign crude, as a blow to Texas economy.

Sixty-two per cent of the state's revenue comes from gas and oil, he pointed out, and the state keenly feels the loss in taxes.

Farmers Study 1950 Farm Program At Shallowater Meeting

SHALLOWATER, Dec. 5. (Special)—More than 250 Lubbock county farmers met here at the Shallowater clubhouse tonight for the first of eight meetings planned for the familiarizing of area farmers with the 1950 farm program.

The meeting, sponsored by the Lubbock County Production and Marketing association and the Texas Extension service, was under the direction of D. W. Sherrill, county agent; Glen Hackney, president of the Lubbock County Farm bureau; and Walter Y. Wells, administrative officer of the Production and Marketing association.

Training Film Shown

Sherrill showed educational films on livestock management and soil conservation during the meeting.

Hackney explained how the Farm bureau helps area farmers and what its advantages are.

Wells explained the cotton acreage allotment program and marketing quotas for 1950 to those at the meeting and urged that every cotton farmer vote in the referendum to be held throughout the state on Dec. 15.

The farmers' general reaction to county quotas as displayed at the meeting, Wells stated, was favorable. "Of course, it is natural that some were opposed to the quotas but no dissension was voiced at the meeting," he said.

Refreshments Served

Refreshments were served at the meeting by the Homemaking class of the Shallowater High school. The refreshments were furnished by the Farm bureau.

Other meetings will be held at the Idalou clubhouse Tuesday, Cooper school in Woodrow Wednesday, Tech stock judging pavilion in Lubbock Thursday, New Deal school Saturday, Frenship school at Wolfforth Dec. 12, Slaton school Dec. 13, and Roosevelt school in the Acuff community Dec. 14. All of the meetings will start at 7:30 p. m.

Unemployment Drops up 350,000 in November, reflecting the pickup in factory operations which had been slowed in October by effects of the steel and coal strikes.

Non-farm employment at a total of 51,640,000, was "back to the 1949 high recorded in the late summer months," the bureau said.

It was, however, nearly 30,000 below November, 1948, just as unemployment was close to double the figure of a year ago.

Farm Employment Gains

Farm employment itself scored a gain of 168,000 in November, a month when the number of farm workers usually declines.

"Good weather in the early part of November in most areas permitted completion of harvesting operations which last month had been delayed by heavy rains," the bureau reported.

Bureau figures were based on a sample survey taken in the November 6-12 period. The October figures were taken in the first week of that month.

The bureau noted that the Armistice Day holiday during the sample survey period caused it to appear statistically that "unusually large numbers of persons were working part-time in the November survey week."

It estimated there were about 1,500,000 persons with full-time (35 hours weekly or more) jobs who were on a part-time basis in the November week because of "slack work, material shortages, job turnover, and similar factors.

In addition, it said, there were about 1,000,000 persons working at part-time jobs who "preferred and could have accepted full-time employment."

He will renew recommendations for such legislation as repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law and restoration of the original Wagner act, the Brannan farm plan, broadened social security, civil rights and national health insurance.

The economic and budget messages will follow the state of the union message to Capitol Hill within a week.

Rangers Join Probe In Assault On Girl

ORANGE, Dec. 5. (AP)—Texas rangers took an interest today in a rape-shooting committed here early Sunday because of a similarity with unsolved cases at Texarkana blamed on a "phantom slayer."

Capt. M. T. Gonzaullas said in Dallas he had checked with Orange officers on the crime here in which a 16-year-old girl was raped and one of her companions, an Orange high school athlete, was shot and critically wounded.

Gonzaullas worked on the Texarkana crimes in which five persons were slain in 1946. The crimes still are unsolved. He said ranger activities in the Orange crime would be directed from Austin.

Orange is more than 300 miles south of Texarkana, which is at the northeast corner of Texas. But Ganzaullas said the rangers were interested because the crimes were similar.

The man who made the attack here was described as about 25 years old and wearing khaki clothes. Officers said he surprised two couples parked on a lonely road.

He raped one of the girls after shooting Don Hulsopple, a high school boxer, when the youth got out of the car and struck at the man. Hulsopple's condition was improved today, though still serious.

Two Texarkana crimes were committed in the same manner. A young couple was shot to death March 29, 1946. A few days afterwards another couple met the same fate.

Later a young farmer was shot to death as he listened to a radio in his home. His wife escaped by fleeing to a neighbors' home.

Since then a number of arrests were made but all suspects were released after presenting airtight alibis.

Orange business men started a reward for the capture of the man. A roofing firm started it off with $50.

The Orange Leader said it would recommend Hulsopple for a Carnegie medal for heroism in trying to protect his companions.

Dr. Ladislav Krno, who resigned in 1948 as Czech consul general and was succeeded by Dr. Hynko, said:

"There is a new purge of non-Communist elements underway in the Czech foreign service, but the democratic underground had sensed the move and advised diplomatic representatives in the ministry of foreign affairs to leave the service immediately.

"This immediate break was urged as a demonstration of their democratic sympathies.

"This message was sent to all officials, including Chicago."

Miss Evec said she is seeking political asylum in America "because I cannot return to a country where I feel I would be persecuted for my democratic convictions."

Miss Bezdek added that she had considered quitting her job because she found it "very unsatisfactory from a democratic standpoint to continue working for a Communist-dominated country."

it is asked by one who occupies such a status."

The court refused to rule today on the constitutionality of a loyalty test set up by the Los Angeles board of supervisors for county employes.

It requires, among other things, that workers take an oath to support the federal constitution and state laws and to swear that since Pearl Harbor they have not belonged to any organization which advocates forcible overthrow of the government.

The court declined to act now because it said state courts have not determined whether the county has the right to discharge workers who do not comply. It said such a case is now pending.

Specifically involved in the Arkansas case was the conviction of two negroes, Roy Cole and Louis Jones, for their activities during a 1945 strike at the North Little Rock plant of the Southern Cotton Oil Co.

Two Under Sentence

One striker was killed in a melee between four strikers and five non-strikers. Cole and Jones were each sentenced to a year's imprisonment.

After declaring that the Arkansas act does not infringe upon peaceful assembly or freedom of expression during a strike, Jackson said:

"Quite another question is involved when one is convicted of promoting, and encouraging and aiding in, assemblage the purpose of which is to wreak violence.

"Such an assemblage has been denominated unlawful by the Arkansas legislature, and it is no abridgement of free speech or assemblage for the criminal sanctions of the state to fasten themselves upon one who has actively and consciously assisted therein."

The Smith farm where the Whitley's lived is located one and one half miles south of the Pleasant Valley community in Garza county.

Sheriff E. M. Bass of Post, who also went to the fire scene, said the house burned to the ground, destroying clothing and household articles owned by the family.

Bass said the Post volunteer fire department was called to the fire, but it was far out of control before they received the alarm and arrived at the scene.

The nearest house to the Whitley home was more than half a mile away, Bass estimated. The other children playing with Mary Louise apparently were too frightened to aid her when the fire began, and seconds later, when the fire raged through the house, were powerless to help.

Armed Robbery Suspects Held

Castles charged Scrivner and Leeman with armed robbery of a drive-in grocery.

In Houston, charges of robbery by firearms were filed today against a man named as James Thomas Schrivner and Leeman.

Officers said one or more of the trio had made oral statements about robberies in Dallas, Denton, Sherman, Commerce and Houston.

Denison and Greenville officers said they believed some of the youths would be charged with robberies in their cities before the questioning ended.

Lubbock Store Held Up

(In addition to the Crosbyton robbery, the Economy Department store at 811-13 Broadway in downtown Lubbock, was held up by three men in a daring foray Saturday night, Nov. 19, about 9 p.m.

(Approximately $300 was taken in that holdup and Archie Skibell, 43, an official of the store and owner of another store in downtown Lubbock, was kidnapped and taken on a wild ride before being freed about seven miles east of Lubbock on the Lubbock-Idalou highway. He was not harmed.

(A foreign make pistol was used by one of three men in that robbery. The men caught in Dallas Monday morning had in their possession a 9 mm. Italian Beretta pistol and a snubnose revolver.)

Crosby May Get Custody

Officers who came here for the questioning scrambled to see which county would get first custody of the youths. Fritz said tonight it was likely Sheriff Foy Addison of Crosbyton would get to take them to Crosby county on the South Plains.

"We know how to give them a speedy and fair trial out in my country," he said. "It won't take us all winter long and besides they shot a man out there. In fact, they shot him twice."

"You've got a couple of mighty good points there," said Fritz.

The Crosbyton charges were prepared by Crosby County Attorney Mike Wicks, jr. Lubbock complaints were prepared by Croslin. The charges were being flown to Dallas.

Oral Statement Made

Fritz said one of the two men arrested here made an oral statement about the Corsicana robbery.

Last night two men drove up to a Cabdell's drive-in store at Corsicana. Employes B. B. Cowart and Billy Malone said the pair held guns on them and forced Cowart to open the cash register. One of the men stuffed the money in his overcoat pocket. They took $133.

Just as they were leaving Corsicana Police Sgt. W. D. Thedford, off duty then, and his wife drove up. Cowart told him what had happened and Thedford zoomed off in pursuit.

Shots rang out. The men fired at Thedford through raised window glasses. He fired back, putting bullet holes in the pair's car and wounding one slightly. But the pair escaped.

Speeding Car Spotted

About 2:30 a. m. two Dallas patrolmen cruising along a street in East Dallas, spotted a speeding car. They chased, pulled alongside it and then noticed 10 bullet holes in the side and glass. The men surrendered without incident.

They were in a 1950 model Studebaker.

Last Saturday night two men with revolvers went into the Wong Fong food market at Houston and forced an employe to open the cash register. They took $1,000. Henry Less, co-owner of the store said they fled in a late model Studebaker.

Saturday night, Nov. 26, three young men walked into the Wallace drygoods store in Crosbyton, near Lubbock. They shot Wallace, store owner, in the arm after he refused to open his safe. Officers said they scooped $152 from the safe and left in a 1950 model Studebaker, taking Wallace with them.

Firemen Make Five Runs To Calls Here

Lubbock firemen answered five alarms Monday afternoon within a time period of slightly more than four hours, but all were reported as minor blazes or no fire at all.

Most unusual fire was one at 1:45 p. m. at the residence of A. R. Carrigan, 204 Sherman street. Firemen said the blaze was started by rays of the sun focused through a glass jug full of water. A garden hose was used to put out the fire.

The first call was at 12:38 p. m. to a residence on the Shallowater highway where a kerosene stove was blamed for a minor fire. Feed bundles burning at Twenty-seventh street and Denver avenue brought firemen to the scene at 1:38 p. m.

At 2:30 p. m., firemen answered an alarm to Fourth street and College avenue to put out a fire on a cotton truck driven by Cline Jordan.

The last call in the series came at 4:50 p. m. It was a false alarm run to a house in the 3800 block Twenty-eighth street.

Lilienthal asserted that the present security measures have "resulted in a blanket of secrecy over things that are no more secret than the rising of the sun."

Happy Fans Welcome Fighting Irish Home

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 5 (INS)—Twenty-thousand wildly cheering fans jammed the downtown area surrounding South Bend's shoreline station tonight to welcome the Notre Dame football team on its return from Texas.

The fans swarmed over the three block area around the station so tightly that members of the squad which defeated Southern university, 27 to 20, Saturday were unable to leave the three cars of the electric train which brought them from Chicago's loop.

The Notre Dame band added color to the occasion and 4,000 members of the student body joined the other South Bend residents in staging the reception. Members of the team finally were carried from the train on the shoulders of the crowd.

Captain Leon Hart and several other stars addressed the gathering briefly. Assistant police chief, Richard Gillen, estimated the size of the crowd at better than 20,000.

Three Virginia Colleges Admit NCAA 'Sanity Code' Violations

BLACKSBURG, Va., Dec. 5. (U.P.) Three Virginia colleges admitted today that they are among the NCAA's "suspect seven," and said they would fight the sanity code regulations accusations rather than plead innocent to violations.

The NCAA announced Saturday that seven schools have been accused of violating recruiting provisions of the code, and that all seven face expulsion at the association's annual meeting in January.

The NCAA announcement did not identify the colleges. But three of them — the University of Virginia, Virginia Military Academy and Virginia Tech — voluntarily owned up today.

OTHER INVESTIGATIONS PLANNED

'Five Percenter' Probe To Be Resumed By Senate Committee

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Chairman Hoey (D-NC) said today his Senate investigating committee will resume its "five percenters" probe after Jan. 1 in hope of quizzing three star witnesses.

Hoey identified them as David E. Bennett, whose perfume firm paid for deep freezers that went to Mrs. Harry S. Truman and other Washington notables; James V. Hunt, one of the so-called Washington "five percenters" and William Helis, of New York, identified as a contributor to Democratic party finances.

Other Probes Planned

The senator disclosed also that his committee may launch three new investigations early next year.

He said the staff is looking into possible excessive government payments for new boats including a super liner, "Kickback" on Marshall plan aid to European countries and Army-Navy- veterans hospitals.

Hoey said "it should not take long to finish up the five percenter probe."

The sensational investigation last summer brought Maj. Gen. Harry S. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, to the witness stand. He said he interceded with other officials in behalf of various persons but stoutly denied he ever did anything unethical.

Health of Witnesses "Bad"

Hoey said he hoped Bennett and Hunt can be questioned but, he added, this will depend on whether their health will permit them to testify.

Bennett is president of the Varley Perfume company, and the former employer of ex-White House intimate John Maragon. It was Bennett's firm that paid for deep freezers which went to the President's wife, Chief Supreme Court Justice Vinson, Vaughan and others.

Testimony was given the committee that Vaughan made it possible for Bennett and employes of his firm to obtain difficult transportation to Europe immediately after the war when, it was said, private firms were racing each other to re-establish business contacts.

Helis, whom Hoey said he also hoped to call, was described as a wealthy race track figure. Vaughan testified that Helis contributed $3,700 to Democratic party coffers in the 1946 elections.

Open Hearings Studied

Hoey said that the three new probes which he listed would entail open hearings if facts unearthed by committee investigators warrant them.

He said he wants to see if new ships for which the government is footing more than one-half the cost are really necessary to national defense in view of the World War II boats "tied up all over the country."

The senator explained that the law authorizes the government to subsidize one-third of the cost of new ship construction. He said the government can pay more if the ships are needed for national defense. He added:

"We have some cases where the government has paid one-half or more than one-half of the cost. We want to know if this is within the letter and spirit of the law."

Hoey said the committee is probing charges that trade agents of European countries have demanded "kick backs" from American firms from which they obtain Marshall plan goods.

He disclosed that the third probe now under way involves use of Army - Navy - Veterans hospital beds. He said that consolidation of equipment may make it unnecessary to build new veterans hospitals.

Student Faces Murder Charges In Hammer Slaying Of Girl

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 5. (AP)—Murder charges were filed here late last night against Franklin Thomas Slay of Griffin, Ind., in connection with the hammer slaying of 16-year-old Mary Ellen Harmon, Evansville, Ind.

Christian County Attorney W. E. Rogers said the murder warrant was turned over to state police and was expected to be served on Slay at Evansville today.

Slay, a 22-year-old law student at Florida State university, is being held at Evansville, where he confessed the slaying of his Evansville high school sweetheart who he said had entreated: "Let's die in each other's arms."

The body of the pretty Mary Ellen, five months pregnant, was found beneath leaves and bushes in a deep sinkhole near Hopkinsville.

Evansville authorities came to Hopkinsville and were joined by Kentucky state police.

Slay drew a map so accurate that searchers went directly to the spot where the body of the girl had lain since her head was split open on the afternoon of Nov. 26.

CAA Officials Seek Location Of Unreported Soldier Fliers

PALESTINE, Dec. 5. (AP).— Civil Aeronautics administration officials are contacting airports throughout East Texas in an effort to locate two Soldier pilots unreported since leaving here Sunday.

They were flying a rented plane, a green Cessna. One said he was assigned to Carswell Air Force base, Fort Worth.

Better Race Relations Reported In State; Good Neighbor Movement May Get Boost

Authority for the report is the executive secretary of the Texas Good Neighbor commission, Thomas C. Sutherland.

He made the statement in Fort Worth today at an executive session of the commission. The session concluded two days of commission activity that was highlighted by the visit of four Mexican governors.

Service Refusals Cited

Discrimination appears most frequently in form of refusal of service in public places, Sutherland said.

"It no longer is a big problem but continues to be an annoying one", he said.

The commission adopted various plans of its subcommittee to improve relations between the two nations and to eliminate discrimination. Plans include letter-writing to Latin-American organizations in Texas, foreign relations committees of chambers of commerce and other groups to explain the commission's objectives.

The commission adopted a resolution by Dorrance Roderick, El Paso publisher, to seek Governor Allan Shivers' aid in keeping alive the "border project", a plan originated between El Paso and its Mexican municipal neighbor, Juarez, to work hand in hand in the sociological field.

Also adopted was a resolution by Guy Warren of Corpus Christi to urge all Texas communities to promote teaching of Spanish.

Ramon Guerra, commission member from McAllen, told the group that pending national legislation would provide for an exchange of battle flags of the two countries with appropriate ceremony.

His resolution that the commission urge that the exchange be performed in connection with the Rio Grande valley's "charro days", early next year, was adopted.

The commission was told by Governor Raul Sanchez of the Mexican state of Coahuila that "we have received with greatest sympathy a proposal to organize a similar commission (good neighbor group) in the northern states of Mexico.

"We shall bring the proposal to the consideration of the national government in order that the government may by the proper procedure determine the way for putting such a noble project into practice".

Illegal Segregation Suit To Be Filed Against State Board

AUSTIN, Dec. 5 (AP)—A negro lawyer says a suit will be filed within a week against the State Parks board, charging illegal segregation in state parks.

U. Simpson Tate, regional attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, claimed negroes are excluded fro meach of the 31 state parks.

Tate spoke yesterday at a statewide negro youth meeting sponsored by the Council of Negro organizations.

Another speaker, A. Maceo Smith, state secretary for the NAACP, said the organization intends to file 32 segregation suits during the next year. These, he said, will be filed in junior colleges, elementary and second school cases and many others where "we have a just cause."

The meeting, which ended yesterday, was attended by students from 21 Texas negro high schools and colleges.

Wreck Victims Are Recovering

One of the persons seriously injured in area accidents Sunday was off the critical list late Monday night and two others were discharged from hospitals.

Mary Genevieve Klein, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Klein of 2414 Twenty-seventh, who suffered head injuries, temporarily loss of vision, and partial paralysis in a two-car collision four miles southwest of Justiceburg Sunday afternoon, was considered much improved late Monday night by attendants at Snyder hospital. Her right leg is still paralyzed, however, but she has recovered the use of her eyes and her right hand and arm.

Parents Still Hospitalized

Her father remained in the hospital there tonight with broken ribs and her mother with cuts and bruises suffered in the accident. The three plan a move to Lubbock hospital today if their condition permits, relatives revealed.

Charles Gunter, 21, of Wink, one of the occupants of the vehicle that collided with the Klein automobile was discharged from Lubbock Memorial hospital Monday but his companion, Ray V. Britton, 32, of Kermit, remained for further treatment.

Still in a critical condtion at Lubbock Memorial hospital late Monday night was Clara Pinson, 27, negro, who suffered a broken neck Sunday night when the car in which she was riding overturned on the old Slaton road.

Shah Ignores Screen Beauties To Inspect Airplane Factory

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5 (INS)—The Shah of Persia ignored Hollywood's screen beauties today and had a date with an aircraft factory instead.

The 30-year-old monarch rejected "with regret" invitations to meet such luminaries as Rosalind Russell, Dorothy Lamour and Ann Miller.

He went instead on an inspection tour of the Lockheed Aircraft plant and stayed there for luncheon with President Robert E. Gross.

During the morning while members of his party toured the Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer studios, the shah stayed at his hotel and received 50 local Iranians.

He urged those who are attending American schools to return to Iran after they have completed their courses to participate in their country's seven-year program of industrial expansion.

The Shah will stay an additional day in Los Angeles, leaving on Wednesday for Sun Valley.

Upon his return to the East Coast he will enter the Johns Hopkins hospital in Balitmore for treatment of a sinus condition.

Union Of Southwestern Bell Workers Receive Strike Ballots

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 5. (AP).— Strike ballots were being mailed today to local unions representing 50,000 workers of Southwest Bell telephone company.

Worker sentiment was being obtained because of a lag in contract talks between the company and division 20, CIO Communications Workers' union.

The ballots, which would permit union officers to take strike action if necessary, are to be returned to the union's headquarters here by Dec. 22.

The union seeks wage increases and improvements in working conditions for employes of six states.

Bowles Names Former Partner To Fill Vacant Seat In Senate

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 5 (AP) Governor Chester Bowles and William Benton, who used to be partners in an advertising agency, formally became political partners today when the governor named Benton to be a United States senator.

Unlike the governor, Benton is not a registered Democrat, but he announced that he would "of course" sit on the Democratic side of the Senate.

President Truman, wiring "hearty congratulations" to Bowles, called the Benton appointment "good news for all who believe in progressive government. I am sure Benton will justify all expectations, and that in him the national legislature will find a wise counselor who by voice and vote will always support the public interest."

"I hope that I will be known as a liberal legislator," said Benton, successor to Republican Raymond E. Baldwin.

The latter has resigned, effective December 17, to accept a Bowles appointment as an associate justice of the Connecticut supreme court.

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Tuesday, December 6, 1949

NO FOREST FIRE, BUT—There's a fire hazard just the same, as this picture plainly shows. D. C. Jordan of Tyler, who is working on the Frank Gray farm west of Lubbock, was driving this truckload of cotton to the gin about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon when a cigaret or match flicked out of a window by a passing motorist landed in the cotton and became ignited. Another passing motorist, a woman, stopped Jordan and told him the cotton was afire. City Patrolman N. H. Lassiter radioed the fire department, who were spreading foam on the blaze when this picture was made, at Fourth street and College avenue. (Staff Photo.)

Promise Made At Mass Meet

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 5.—Congressman Ed Gossett promised today that he would try to get the cotton acreage allotment law changed.

The meeting was featured by criticism of the present allotment system in the manner of acreage distribution at county levels.

The group adopted and passed on to Gossett a resolution asking an amendment to public law number 272, which provides for 1950 cotton acreage allotments.

Proposal Outlined

The proposed amendment provides that "allotments for any farm shall not be less than 75 per cent of the acreage of cotton planted in 1947 or 1948, whichever is larger, or 35 per cent of the tilled acreage adjusted."

"We are convinced that such an amendment will have the effect of reducing the acreage planted to cotton in 1950 and 1951 by a percentage comparing favorably with the state and national reduction necessary to prevent additional surpluses," the resolution read.

The resolution also asked that the amendment provide for acreage distribution among "bona fide farmers," with allotments to non-cotton farmers being withdrawn.

Bob Murdock of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting. James Zetszche, secretary of the Montague county PMA, served as secretary.

Attending the meeting were representatives from Baylor, Clay, Cooke, Denton, Jack, Montague, Wise, Young and Wichita counties.

In South Texas, the Coastal Bend Farm Bureau cotton committee complained directly to Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture committee. Cooley said areas faced with what they believed to be unfair reductions can discuss their problems at a meeting of production and marketing administration officials in Memphis, Tenn. A special session on cotton acreage allotments is scheduled Wednesday. The coastal Bend group is sending Truett Barber as their representative for the meeting.

Notice to individual farmers of their 1950 allotments will be mailed about Dec. 10, state PMA officials say. Cotton producers will vote in a referendum Dec. 15 on acceptance of the quotas.

Tech Student Is Shot To Death

SHAMROCK, Dec. 5. (Special)—Funeral services are pending here for Edward Lee Briggs, 19, a Texas Technological college freshman who was found dead about 11 a. m. today in the basement of the Shamrock First Methodist church. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Briggs of Shamrock.

Justice of the Peace John Templeton meanwhile said he will withhold a verdict in the case pending further investigation into the circumstances surrounding the youth's death, caused by a .22 caliber gunshot wound above his right temple.

Minister Finds Body

Briggs' body was discovered by Rev. S. M. Dunnam, pastor of the church, who notified police. The boy's father had contacted police a short time before after receiving a call from a person whom he identified as his son. Before the father or police could locate him, however, the youth was dead.

It was learned Briggs had withdrawn approximately $200 from his account at a local bank an hour before he bought the gun. Bank employes said they believed he left the bank alone.

At the request of the boy's father, authorities are withholding a verdict until approximately $100 can be accounted for. They found about $10 in the young man's pockets and can account for ap-

OFFICERS NAMED AT BANQUET

Top South Plains Scout Honor Awarded Lubbock, Slaton Men

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

Silver Beaver awards—the highest award that can be given to Boy Scout workers in the South Plains Council of the Boy Scouts of America, last night were presented to L. B. Hagerman of Slaton and Tom A. Everheart of Lubbock at the twenty-fourth annual banquet of the South Plains council.

The awards were presented by K. N. Clapp, council commissioner of Lubbock, who holds the Silver Antelope award, highest honor in regional scouting.

Both Hagerman and Everheart have long been active in scout work of the South Plains council. Hagerman has served as a scoutmaster, troop commissioner, district commissioner, and district chairman, and has been a member of the Executive board of the council for seven years.

Everheart began Boy Scout work in Lubbock in 1926 in a troop of which Clapp was scoutmaster. He holds 86 merit badges.

Clapp also presented roses to wives of the two awardees, and to Mrs. F. B. Malone, wife of the council president.

Toastmaster for the banquet was Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of Texas Tech. Invocation was asked by Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church of Lubbock.

Principal speaker at the dinner was Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State college, Canyon, who declared that "we Americans, in our attempt to see that our young people get the best of everything, have overlooked the fact that strength of character frequently comes as a result of hard work and earnest endeavor.

"Boy Scouting," he declared, "is a ready-made antidote for this."

In line with that idea, Dr. Cornette said that democracy as we in America know it will face the gravest test it has ever been faced with in the next quarter cen-

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—Counties may not donate funds to public libraries, but they may contract for library privileges to be paid from their general funds.

Opera Recital To Be Presented Tonight

Arias from famous operas will be presented at the Lubbock High school auditorium at 8 p. m. today as the Texas Tech Artists course presents Licia Albanese, Metropolitan soprano, in recital.

Tickets for the recital may be purchased at the door only for $1.80. Tech students holding even numbered activity receipts will be admitted, in accordance with a system followed this year whereby half the students are admitted to one Artists course presentation and the other half the next time.

Mme. Albanese joined the Metropolitan Opera company in 1940, after coming to America from her native Italy. She has since made numerous tours in connection with her career and became a United States citizen in 1945.

Able to speak French, Italian, Spanish and English, the singer is expected to sing in all four languages on tonight's program. Such operas as Pagliacci, Carmen, Faust, Othello, Don Giovanni and La Traviata are among her repertoire.

DR. MOREY IS GUEST CONDUCTOR

By JIMMIE HENLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

Violinist Robert Pipkin and Pianist Mary Lou Colvin spotlighted the Lubbock Symphony orchestra's second performance of the season last night as they thrilled approximately 900 persons gathered in the Lubbock Senior High school auditorium.

Also featured was guest conductor Dr. George Morey, director of the North Texas State college orchestra and composer of "Music for Brass Choir and Tympani, Chorale and Fanfare."

Conducted Brass Section

He conducted the brass sections of the orchestra in playing his composition, which was completed in April, 1948.

But it was the music of Pipkin and Miss Colvin that evoked the greatest applause from the audience. Pipkin led off with "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso" by Saint-Saens, who was a friend of and influenced in his music by Paganinni-Liszt, composer of "La Campanella," which Miss Colvin gave as her second encore.

Miss Colvin, a scholarship student at NTSC from Tulia, masterfully played the first movement "Moderato" of Rachmaninoff's "Concerto No. 2 in C Minor" and the audience demanded more. Her first encore, "Rondo Capriccioso" by Mendelsshon wasn't enough for the group either.

Most outstanding number by the orchestra was Tschaikowsky's "The Enchanted Lake Ballet Suite," his first attempt at ballet being the second part of that number, "Dance of the Swans."

Short Numbers Offered

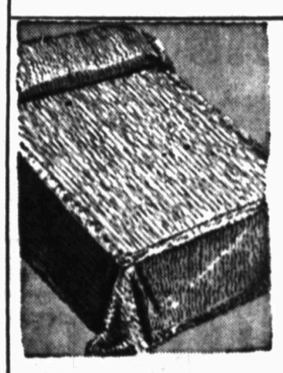

Among the short numbers of the group was "Ave Maria" by Schubert. Bobby Robbins, member of the Texas Tech band, gave the trumpet solo part of the composi-

TEXAN SPEAKS AT CONVENTION

By JAMES RUSSELL
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 5.—Some of America's leading investment bankers were warned today to guard against "complacency" that might give birth to "the social welfare state" in the United States.

Hal H. Dewar, of San Antonio, retiring president of the Investment bankers Association of America, told his constituents that "adequate public control of monopolies" is all right but said "competitive processes should be fully protected."

Dewar spoke to some 1,000 delegates and guests attending the IBA's 38th annual convention, which opened today in Hollywood.

He suggested that the association work to spread security holdings among more people as a bulwark against "the various 'isms'."

He said:

"It is reasonable to assume that a citizen with a stake in the free enterprise system through the direct ownership of securities is going to be a protagonist for that system."

Dewar issued a stern warning against the influence of what he called "social schemes that can only end in undermining our national character." He said some public officials are apparently being led "gradually and blindly" into such schemes.

He added:

"The insiduous thing is that these changes are so gradual that we will not realize the sum total of their effect until it is too late."

The IBA president asserted that "it is by such processes that the social welfare state is born."

Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador to the United States, told the convention that British economy is on the rise and England has recently noted a trend toward a "buyer's market" and away from a "seller's market."

He also reviewed the world financial picture of the last year and declared that Economic Cooperation administration funds are being well spent.

Eugene R. Black, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, announced that early in January the bank intends to redeem its $100 million, ten-year 2 and 1/2 per cent bonds which are due July 15, 1957.

Black said payment will be made about 45 days after a formal call is made.

The bank then will offer a $100 million issue of serial bonds to be sold at competitive bidding.

Black said he believes savings banks and commercial banks will buy most of the issue. He explained he did not know what effect competitive bidding will have on the price of bonds but added he "hoped" for a "better price."

May Begins Serving Sentence For Fraud

ASHLAND, Ky., Dec. 5. (INS)—Aging former U. S. Rep. Andrew J. May slipped past newsmen today and entered the Ashland Federal Correctional institute under cover of early-morning darkness.

May, in order to avoid waiting reporters, entered the prison hours ahead of the time he was to begin his eight to 24 month sentence for wartime bribery and conspiracy.

He was convicted of helping to build up the paper empire of the Garsson brothers, Robert and Murray, also under federal sentence.

The former powerful head of the House Military Affairs committee was believed to have been brought to Ashland from Prestonburg by his son, Robert, some time during the night and to have spent at least part of the night with U. S. Marshall John Moore.

May has made no appearance since yesterday when he dropped out of sight at his home. Although he is a Sunday school teacher, he failed to attend either Sunday school or the morning service at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist church in Prestonburg.

FORMER COWBOY CLAIMED

ARLINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)— G. W. Moore, 79, former cowboy and retired Church of Christ evangelist, died at his home here today after a long illness. Moore formerly lived in Erath and other West Texas counties. A cowboy before he entered the ministry, he traveled West Texas and New Mexico by horse-back, preaching to cowboys and early-day settlers.

Small Boy Insists On Right To Give Uncensored View

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5. (AP)—The small boy and the telephone operator had a slight misunderstanding.

She couldn't catch the number he wanted. Finally, he exploded:

"You operators are so dumb."

Fifteen minutes later, a woman's voice said "just a minute, please."

"My mother wants me to apologize to you for what I said," declared the small boy.

A half hour later—the small boy and the operator of the phone again. The small boy:

"My mother just went out of the house. I still think you're dumb."

North Texas State Student Appears On Jaycee Program

Two piano solo numbers were presented to the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday at a luncheon meeting in the Hilton Hotel by Miss Mary Lou Colvin of Tulsa.

Miss Colvin, a senior student at North Texas State college at Denton, was introduced by Bill Harrod, conductor of the Lubbock Symphony orchestra, with whom she will make an appearance tonight. Jack Blankenship was program chairman.

The second part of the program was a speech on the Hoover Commission report by County Attorney Waggoner Carr, a member of the club.

He said "the Hoover Commission report doesn't eliminate benefits and services to the American people but eliminates waste, duplication of effort and corruption in our government."

He was introduced by Clifton Haynie. R. S. Wilkinson presided and Harold Banks gave the invocation.

Trial Of Former Comal County Sheriff Rescheduled For Jan. 9

NEW BRAUNFELS, Dec. 5. (AP)—The bribery trial of W. A. "Doc" Scholl, former Comal county sheriff, was called in district court today and reset for Jan. 9.

Also reset was a case against W. O. King, former deputy sheriff, under indictment in connection with the alleged bribery of Scholl.

The indictment against Scholl charges him with having accepted a $2,500 bribe to be absent when a cattle theft case against E. O. Smith of San Antonio and his three sons came to trial.

Large crowds are attending the Lindsey Theatre to see Alano Dass, master mentalist and psychologist who is appearing in person on the stage. Mr. Dass completely captivates and mystifies his audiences with his amazing mental tests and his psychic ability to answer questions correctly. Tomorrow will positively be his last day at the Lindsey Theatre and tomorrow afternoon he will present his sensational show for ladies only. Every lady attending this special matinee may submit a question, and the ladies who have very personal and delicate questions will have the opportunity of consulting Mr. Dass privately.

W. F.—When will I see R. D.?

A.—I realize that you had hoped to see him this month, but he won't be able to get off in time to come here for the holidays. It is my impression that you will see him during the first week in February.

C. C.—When will I get a position?

A.—It appears to me that you made a trip to San Antonio about three weeks ago to see about a position. I feel that your brother will help you and that you will get the desired position, but there will be just a little delay.

I. R.—Will I get the promotion I have been expecting?

A.—Yes, Irwin, you will be made manager about the 15th of January. The present manager will be transferred to Eastern Texas.

Mrs. T. H.—Mr. Dass, you answered a question for me at the Lindsey Theatre and it came true today. I received a letter and a check from my brother this morning and he wrote that he will send more money soon. I'm so happy and want to ask you another question. Will my son get work soon and will he be able to help me?

A.—I'm very happy to help you again and I have more good news for you. Your son, who is in California, will be working before the end of this week and he will be sending money to you very soon. You will also get help from several sources this month.

J. P.—Will there be a marriage for me to E. or C.?

A.—I have to say no to this question. E. isn't free to marry you and C. isn't sincere.

A. C.—Mr. Dass, what should I do about F.? I'm terribly worried and I wonder if I should leave Lubbock.

A.—This question is entirely too personal and too complicated to be answered before a mixed audience. If you will attend my special matinee for ladies only tomorrow afternoon at the Lindsey Theatre, I shall be happy to discuss this problem with you personally and I believe I can give you some helpful suggestions.

V. L.—Did C. tell me the truth about the trip last month?

A.—I think you know the answer as well as I, but I'm going to say that he did not. He had planned everything in advance, and I suggest that you not become too serious with him.

K. B.—Will I ever marry H. J.? If so, will there be happiness for us?

A.—As I see it, H. will never give up his wife for you, and I think you are making a mistake by seeing him. If I were you, I would discontinue this friendship at once. Your sister has given you good advice about this affair.

Remember you have only tonight and tomorrow to see Alano Dass at the Lindsey Theatre. Don't fail to see this talented man and let him help you with your problems, and remember, ladies, tomorrow afternoon is the big show presented especially for you at the Lindsey Theatre.

Chinese Reds May Seek Pretext To Extend Drive Through Asia

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Communist China's warning to other countries not to harbor fleeing Nationalist forces may mean the Reds are already working up their pretexts for extending their campaign into southeast Asia.

Peiping's foreign minister Chou En-Lai told France and other countries that "any country which gives shelter to the Kuomintang reactionary armed forces must be held responsible . . . for the consequences." He added specifically that the Nationalists hoped to find refuge in Viet Nam and other such places, but that it was Communist policy to wipe them out.

Reds May Link Forces

Observers could only guess at whether this meant the Communists were planning to enter northern Indo-China to join up with the forces of Ho Chi Minh which are fighting the French.

Ho's agents have insisted that he doesn't want any Chinese Communist assistance in his fight against the French and the puppet government of Bao Dai. But he might get such help without asking for it.

One deterrent might be the risk of war with outside nations, which the Communists probably don't want. But with a pretext they might try to get away with it. Experienced observers have long believed that the Chinese Reds—perhaps even some direct agents of Moscow—are in contact with Ho, who is himself Moscow-trained.

There is a possibility that the Nationalists will not provide the pretext. They might seek to hold an enclave farther north rather than face the enmity of the Vietnamese.

By Allied agreement, Nationalist troops occupied the Viet Nam (Tonkin and part of Annam) when the Japanese were driven out. The British helped the French return to the southern half of Indo-China.

The Chinese occupation force systematically looted the local population and frequently humiliated even the French. The Chinese exchanged their virtually worthless money for Indo-China piastres at ruinous rates after the bank of Indo-China had kept up the piastre value at great expense.

Dickens Voters Okay Proposal On Hospital

DICKENS, Dec. 5. (Spl.).— By a final unofficial vote of 540 in favor to 213 against, Dickens county voters have approved a proposal to build a $250,000 county hospital, County Clerk L. J. Varnell, jr., said today.

The county approved a $125,000 bond issue for the purpose in an election Saturday. This morning six boxes had been brought in, and six small boxes remained out. The six brought in totaled 514 votes in favor of the hospital, 178 against. These included boxes at Spur, Dickens and Afton.

The state will match the fund dollar for dollar, it is expected, thus enabling the county to erect a 25 or 30-bed hospital with all facilities.

County Judge A. C. Sharp and Commissioners Roy Ward, E. J. Offield, Arner Watson and G. C. Pierce have not selected an architect yet, but expect to go ahead with planning soon. Location of the hospital is also stil lto be decided.

Manager Of Milner Hotel In Fort Worth Dies Of Attack

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5. (U.P.)— Ralph C. Pollitt, 70, manager of the Milner hotel here, died in a Fort Worth hospital today after being admitted a few hours before for treatment of a heart attack.

He suffered the attack in his room at the hotel, and a clerk came to his aid after Pollitt apparently pushed the phone receiver off its hook.

Cotton Control Law

WHEN the law was passed under which cotton acreage controls may be restored next year, no one expected it could be applied to the satisfaction of everyone affected. Practical cotton men recognized that any plan of determination of 1950 acreage allotments would operate unfairly in isolated instances.

The South Texas coastal area appears to be one of these. The farmers in those counties grew little cotton during 1947 and 1948, which have been adopted as the base years for allotting 1950 acreage —provided, of course, farmers vote 2-to-1 for controls in an election December 15.

Under the allotment formula announced, coastal area observers claim their cotton acreage will be only 15 to 20 percent of their prewar average. They contend, with truth, they were urged during the war to plant most of their land in crops other than cotton—chiefly food crops. They carried that plan of planting over into 1947 and 1948, but shifted back to large scale cotton production this year.

Their complaint appears to have merit. They probably should be treated more generously than the announced formula will allow. If existing law forbids an adjustment which will increase their acreage allotment, then it should be amended as soon as Congress convenes in January, so as to give them, and any other areas with just and legitimate complaints, equitable treatment.

But the apparent need for equalizing amendments does not condemn the law as a whole. It merely confirms the expectation that the actual application of acreage allotments would disclose flaws and inequities which could not be anticipated in advance.

On the whole, the measure retains the appearance of an excellent and well-designed piece of legislation. This impression is strengthened by the fact that complaints, because of the manner of its proposed application, have been so few.

His Crown Slipped

FURTHER weakening of the iron rule of John L. Lewis over the United Mine Workers has been evidenced by events of recent days.

During more years than most people can remember, Lewis has been the absolute dictator of the coal miners. Criticism of him by one of them, anonymously or otherwise, has been almost unheard of. Their loyalty bordered on the fanatical. The explanation was, of course, that the coal miners have benefitted tremendously under the Lewis leadership. They owe a great deal to him.

But when he ordered the miners to strike last week, ending a brief truce, the signs of bitter dissatisfaction were instantaneous. The men obeyed, but with mulish reluctance. They criticised Lewis bitterly, although anonymously. It was significant that they insisted upon anonymity in their criticism because of frank fears, if their identities were known, of physical violence by the hoodlums who were and are still obedient to Lewis.

The reaction of the miners was so vehement and so unmistakable that Lewis speedily backed up—one of the very few times in his career he has retreated in a labor controversy. He ordered the miners back to work on a three-day-a-week basis, which quieted some of the indignation.

It was a action to justify curiosity, as to whether the end of the Lewis dictatorial dynasty may be approaching. Certainly there are signs to indicate that the power he has exercised so ruthlessly and so wholly without challenge for so long has begun to crumble.

Inflation is growing in a certain South Sea island, where the price of a wife has recently been upped to a whole carton of cigarettes.

The Cameo

By VIRGINIA TEALE
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: Charlie Reddy, a young lawyer who is investigating the murder of Martin Falter, has called upon Stephanie Smith, employed by Hagar Blair in running a gift shop. Reddy learns about a valuable cameo which is a key clue in the case and which he thinks is missing, but it has been found and is in Stephanie's possession. Stephanie is worried about Hagar not returning from a meeting with Neil O'Neill, who claimed ownership of the cameo. They go to Hagar's house, where Stephanie lives, and find the studio door open.)

XX

CHARLIE REDDY walked around examining several completed sculptures. He looked longest at a stylized madonna carved from myrtle wood, then turned, smiling, to Stephanie:

"Do I know the model for this piece? It looks like you."

She didn't answer and he saw that her eyes were fixed on a large figure with a soiled cloth draped over it. Eyes wide, she turned her white face toward him and pointed a shaking finger:

"That. Over there. Haggar doesn't have a piece that large."

"Look!" she whispered. "Look down below, on the floor!"

The edges of the drape were stained dark red, and the floor beneath was wet dark red. You couldn't mistake that color, he thought woodenly. It wasn't paint.

Stephanie had covered her face with her hands and was sobbing jerkily, "Oh, it couldn't be Hagar! It couldn't be Hagar! Oh, please!"

He forced himself to plod over and lift up the cloth. He had placed his body between the quiet figure on the chair and the sobbing girl who stood rigidly in the center of the room. He looked down at the face which was tilted back and seemed to be staring up at him with enormous sightless eyes. He lowered his eyes and drew the cloth back over the head.

She stood a few seconds, then slumped into Reddy's arms.

SOME minutes later, Charlie had carried Stephanie back to the house, revived hed and started the coffee dripping. She was on the divan, her hands clenched, trying to think, to feel. He dragged a chair close and sat down.

"I suppose you're afraid it might have been Hagar Blair who punctured Mrs. O'Neill. But, forget it, it just isn't logical, she'd have no reason." He eyed her intently, "She wouldn't have a reason, would she?"

Stephanie pressed his handkerchief to her face, muffling her words: "I think she might have. And it's my fault!"

He leaned forward. "Stephanie! It's important that you tell me what you know about this! There are two murders now, and that means there's great danger for everyone who's even remotely involved in this."

She was looking vaguely at the ceiling. Reddy made his voice more urgent:

"Listen, Stephanie. When someone commit. a murder, he or she is not necessarily a dangerous person. The crime could result from an intense momentary emotion — fear, anger, jealously, any number of things. But when the murderer kills a second time, things take on a very ominous aspect. And we're almost sure both of these deaths were caused by the same person, because of the weapon used."

Stephanie's tears had stopped and she was giving him her attention.

"You may think," he went on, "that what you know—I'm assuming you know something—is not relevant. But, believe me, anything may be relevant. And I promise that if you confide in me, I'll keep your confidence insofar as I'm able in the interests of justice. You can trust me, Stephanie. And you must, you may be in danger. Just as your friend Hagar is in danger!"

AT the mention of Hagar's name Stephanie sat up and swung her feet to the floor. Her blue eyes were wide and very dark:

"Charlie! I'm scared! Where is Hagar? Where could she be?"

He opened his mouth, but there was a sound of liquid meeting flame out in the kitchen and he jumped up and raced toward it.

When he returned, he carried a small tray with cups, sugar and coffee pot which he set down on the low table in front of the divan.

He poured. "Can you drink yours black?" Better for you."

She nodded, her eyes on his face wonderingly: "How can you be so calm when there's a — when Nellya is — ?"

He grinned faintly. "Calm? Who's calm? Uusually I can pour a cup of coffee without splashing half of it into the saucer." He mopped it up with a paper napkin. "Here now, take this."

She took the cup and smelled the steam appreciatively.

He settled back in his chair: "I'll have to call the chief pretty quick about this, but first I wish you'd tell me everything, anything, you know." He gave her an encouraging grin, "Better confide cozily over the coffee cups than down in our cold, gray bastille."

Stephanie stared into her coffee, than took a trembling sip. She looked somewhere beyond him as she started to speak:

"The first thing you ought to know, I guess, is that my name once was Serenov." Her eyes begged his understanding. "But I am an American, I was born in Chicago. My parents were Russion. And Nellya was my mother's sister."

Reddy stopped drinking his coffee. He put the cup and saucer carefully on the tray. He set his back firmly against the cushions of the chair and folded his hands across his stomach:

"Go on, please," he said.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

YOU have heard — and entirely too much—about WARMONGERS during the past couple of years.

BRANDEIS

Now let us talk a little about FEARMONGERS

A few days ago General Dwight D. Eisenhower was awarded the Achievement Plaque by the Advertising Club of New York.

In his acceptance speech he said:

"Why with all our assets, do we admit defeat?

"Why don't we say 'how do we solve it?' instead of 'The world is going to hell in a hand basket?'

"With optimism, I don't see how 140 million people can be whipped . . ."

That's the spirit!

That's the way all of us ought to think and to act.

Almost every day at some formal luncheon or dinner somewhere in this country, a FEARMONGER in dinner jacket or striped pants gets up and tells us how we are liable to be wiped out in five minutes by an atomic bomb.

These fellows talk about the inevitability of war—and the inevitability of defeat.

They tell us we should disperse the Government in Washington. We must construct underground factories. We must have radio-active-proof bomb-shelters in our back yards.

As far as I am concerned that's just a lot of hogwash.

Do you remember that wonderful song of the last war "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition?"

Do you know why that song was so immensely popular?

Health Plan Delayed

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The builders of the "welfare state" around the White House have given recent signs that they do not think it wise to press enactment of President Truman's national health insurance program at the session of Congress opening next month. Their reasons are practical and political.

TUCKER

Tipoff on the delay lies in the current European tour of Oscar R. Ewing, Federal Security Administrator, a top political adviser and a leading advocate of what he does not regard as "socialized medicine." On his trip he will make a detailed, first-hand study of the operation of this system in England, and of similar social reforms in the Scandinavian countries.

It seems clear, and so Mr. Ewing has informed friends, that if he and Mr. Truman were entirely satisfied with the health insurance setup as they submitted it to Capitol Hill, he would not be making a field survey of the problem at this late date.

PRECIPITOUS: Mr. Truman's experts on this complicated and controversial question have received information on England's experiment that suggests further consideration of the question. Since the data came from people highly sympathetic to the general scheme, it cannot be attributed to political enemies.

It was well-meant advice from a friendly source, and to the effect that hasty action might discredit the whole works. They reported that British politicians and Labor Party medical aides now wish they had been less precipitous in plunging into the medical aid-to-all experiment.

DELAY: It will be far easier, they report, to inaugurate the plan slowly and carefully, even if it necessitates delay, than to make major changes after it has been put into operation.

Once the beneficiaries become accustomed to medical care and treatment subsequently found to be unnecessary or wasteful, it is impossible to persuade them to do without.

Politically, the delay will permit the Democrats to whoop up this issue in the 1950 Congressional elections, especially if the G.O.P. has not devised a satisfactory counter-program of its own by that time.

LEERY: Two ultra-liberal, Democratic Senators were partially responsible for the Administration's now tacit admission that it had brought out a political rather than a professionally and actuarially sound national health insurance scheme.

Although head of the radical Americans for Democratic Action, which spearheads the movement for the "welfare state," Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota conceded that the health provisions had not been "sufficiently thought out" for action at the next session. He subsequently recanted in part, but it was too late.

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, whose sympathy for the health proposal cannot be questioned, is also leery about the original Administration plan. He recommends a scheme under which federal aid would be extended only to individuals and families whose lives might be wrecked if suddenly stricken with prolonged and costly sicknesses.

REPRIEVE: Although he has advanced no details, he suggests a limited obligation on the part of the government. Others have proposed, though indefinitely, that a family's financial status — income, ordinary expenses, savings — be made the test of the amount of medical aid which they would receive in time of grave illness. Still others would restrict any government assistance to very low-bracket incomes.

The upshot of recent discussions seems to be that nobody is yet satisfied with the program which President Truman has formulated, including himself.

Proposed delay gives a reprieve to the medical profession in opposition to federal subsidies and to the Republicans. It gives the doctors a chance to get together and frame a program that will reduce medical costs for the worthy sick, and one that will prevent the problem from becoming a political issue.

And if the Republicans are smart, they will also put on their thinking caps, if any.

OPPONENTS: President Truman's winter vacation trips to Key West, Fla., frequently improve his political as well as his personal health. As Franklin D. Roosevelt did at Warm Springs, Ga., the President uses the naval base as a hideout to cultivate Southern Congressmen and politicians who oppose him publicly.

Mr. Truman frequently says that "I don't hate anybody," and it is equally difficult even if his enemies to dislike him personally. There has never been the bitterness toward him that there was toward his predecessor. The opposition to the present White House occupant is mainly anonymous, impersonal and political.

Mr. Truman has lately conferred high favors on two Southern opponents, who fought him desperately on Civil Rights legislation. Although Senator Richard Russell of Florida masterminded the Southerners in the filibuster against the Civil Rights program, his brother was recently named a federal judge by the President.

TEARS: Senator Tom Connally has also gone off the reservation on this issue. But that did not prevent Mr. Truman from placing his son on the federal bench, bringing tears to the eyes of father and son. It will be difficult for Messrs. Russell and Connally to fight the boss except on the single question of his anti-segregation and fair employment practices proposals.

ELECTION YEAR PRESSURE HINTED

Change In Spending Policy Seen

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — There used to be a phrase around here in the early Franklin D. Roosevelt era — "zig and zag" — to describe the shift of policy periodically from New Dealism toward conservativism and back again, depending on the political necessities for which Mr. Roosevent had a very sensitive feeling.

From time to time there would be talk of "and end of reform" and there might be a temporary let-up, though not for long. From time to time, too, there were announced intentions to "balance the budget" when it looked as if the depression might finally be over, but it never was found possible to do it. Then, when the war came on, everything of that sort had to be forgotten because of the staggering costs for which congress had to appropriate. That debt has now been saddled on future generations.

STOKES

Budget Again Unbalanced

Finally, three years after the war was over, the government was able to balance its budget for the first time in years. But now it's come unbalanced this year, due to the terrific cost of the continued "cold war," with a prospective deficit of some five billion or more.

Which brings us to Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder's declaration that the budget should be balanced next year. While this is a normal position for the government's housekeeper, which is what the Secretary of Treasury is, does this also reflect the barrage which is being laid down now on all sides about continued spending and high taxes, which the Republicans are making more and more of a political issue, along with some prominent and influential conservative democrats?

THE Treasury secretary declined to specify how the balance should be accomplished, whether by cutting government expenditures or increasing taxes, referring such questions to President Truman, who already has answered it by advocating an increase in taxes. Mr. Truman has promised a budget for next year trimmed to the essential, for which, of course, we'll have to wait and see, always remembering, too, that what are "essentials" is a highly debatable question.

This undoubtedly indicates a sensitivity to the Republican attack on spending, with an election in the offing next year. And, with an election in the offing, it is not very likely that Congress will vote an increase in taxes. It never has in election years, except during wars.

All of this poses quite a dilemma for the Truman administration which is partly political, but not altogether so by any means.

Politically involved is his social welfare program, which has its voter appeal among rank and file. The President knows, as does any old-timer around Washington, that this is the first target of big interest crusaders for economy and a balanced budget, and it is that which they mean when they talk about "spending." It is, of course, very minor in the total of government expenditures.

Small Amount Involved

Senator Douglas (D-Ill), chairman of the joint Senate-House subcommittee on fiscal policy, which is exploring the whole subject of expenditures, explained to representatives of the National Association of Manufacturers that only 24 percent of the budget is for all civilian purposes, which includes social welfare functions.

If there is to be any substantial relief for the taxpayer it must come from our military budget for past wars, the current "cold war," and prospective future war. Fixed charges about which nothing whatever can be done — five billions interest on the debt and six billions for veterans care — are more than all the regular civilian costs of government, which total about 10 billions.

THE REST — five billions for Marshall Plan aid, a billion for arming our Western European allies, and 15 billions for our military establishment — are also in the nature of fixed charges for the time being under our present foreign policy. They relate to our national security and, while some shaving could, and might, occur here, not much can be expected while the world maintains its present armed truce.

That is the real dilemma for all of us, and not much seems to be done about that.

It is the inevitable high cost of the bankruptcy of statesmanship—all over the world.

DEFENSE LAUNCHES ATTACK

Struggle Looms Over Background Of Bridges Perjury Trial Witness

By CONSTANCE HITCHCOCK
INS Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—The defense slugged away today at a government witness in the Harry Bridges perjury trial who has testified the longshore leader attended many Communist meetings.

Defense Attorney James Martin Macinnis, in an attempt to weaken the testimony of ex-Communist Henry Schrimpf, accused him of being an "undercover agent" for the government and of harboring animosity toward Bridges.

Schrimpf is a 53-year-old, barrel-chested longshore walking boss and a member of Bridges CIO International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's union. His testimony supported that of a "key" witness who said Bridges was a card-carrying, dues-paying Communist.

Witness Denies 'Hate'

He refused to admit that he "hated" Bridges because of his defeats in running for union office against the Bridges faction.

He admitted that at one meeting Bridges "vilified me" and called "me everything but a good union man" but even then he said, there was nothing personal in his opposition to Bridges.

Macinnis cited a number of times in which he said Bridges opposed Communist participation or meddling in union affairs but Schrimpf was vague and said he couldn't recall the incidents to which the defense attorney referred.

The defense said it would keep Schrimpf on the stand "all week, if necessary."

Perjury Proof Sought

The government is attempting to prove the 48-year-old Bridges was lying when he applied for citizenship in 1945 and swore he had never been a member of the party. Two of Bridges' aides who supported his controversial testimony at that time are on trial with him.

Associate Defense Attorney James Martin Macinnis announced after the proceedings opened today that he will subpoena records of Schrimpf's 1943 naturalization hearing in an effort to impeach him.

Macinnis says he wants to find out whether Schrimpf, who like Bridges was born in Australia, denied his Communist party membership at that time. The government says it will fight any effort to examine that phase of Schrimpf's background.

Witness Denies Question

Under questioning by Macinnis, Schrimpf admitted telling immigration authorities in 1937 that he did not know whether Bridges was a Communist. He denied being asked if he himself was a member of the party.

Macinnis charged that since 1937 Schrimpf has been an "undercover agent" and he pressed the witness as to his knowledge of an alleged remark by the then Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins that she was not going to "take any stock in charges (Schrimpf) was making."

Schrimpf denied Macinnis' accusation that it was a "fact you made a deal with the Imigration department that you would be spared if you gave information."

The government proposes to call two more witnesses to support testimony Bridges was a Communist before producing a third "key" man whose identity is still a "close secret."

Tech Student Shot

(A check at Texas Tech in Lubbock Monday afternoon revealed that Briggs had attended a movie Sunday afternoon with two friends Bryan Close and Clifford Johnson. The two said that after the movie Briggs told them he was going home to Shamrock and that he left on the 5:45 p. m. bus from Lubbock.)

Officers stated the .22 caliber pistol from which the death shot was fired was purchased this morning from a downtown store, where Briggs left $40 to pay for a Christmas gift for his mother. He told the salesman he was leaving town.

Verdict Delayed

Justice of the Peace Templeton said he would not render a verdict right away—"at least not for three or four days." He said he was conducting an investigation into the death to see "if there might not be additional evidence which is not yet before us."

Briggs was described by officials at Texas Tech as having a pleasant personality, well-balanced emotional control and of superior dependability. He was a member of the college frsehman football squad this fall. Officials said they were stunned to learn of his death.)

The 270-pound youth was an all-district tackle for Shamrock High school last fall, graduating in June of this year. He lettered three years in that sport and also played three years of baseball here, receiving second team all-district honors last spring in that activity.

He is survived by his parents, both of Shamrock, one brother, Donald, enrolled at West Texas State at Canyon, and one sister, Cora Frances, Shamrock.

STOCKS TAKE NEW ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)— For the fifth straight session the stock market advanced today and maintained prices at the highest average level in 13 months.

The high volume of trading at 1,820,000 shares was surprising considering the definite lack of direction for the market pricewise. The total was the third highest of the year, exceeded by the 2,020,000 shares traded last Friday and again by the volume on March 30.

Of the 15 most active stocks all but three are selling below 15, and 6 of that number are selling below 8.

There were 1,144 individual issues traded, of which 474 advanced and 416 declined.

Ninety-seven stocks reached new highs for the year as compared with 117 new highs reached Friday. Only 2 new lows were touched.

Rails were on the backward side today and declined for the first time in a week on average. Leaders lost fractions to more than a point with the exception of Nickel Plate which gained 3½ at 90½.

U. S. Gypsum gained 2 points at 106 and Allied Chemical was up 2⅜ at 204⅜.

Steels and motors were narrowly mixed. Packard was the day's most active issue ending unchanged at 3⅜. U. S. Steel was seventh most active and added ⅛ at 25½.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained .1 of a point at 69.4, a new high for the year and the best since Nov. 1, 1948. The industrial component of the average was up .2 of a point, rails lost .1 of a point, and the utility component was unchanged.

Among stocks going higher by a small amount were Standard Oil (NJ) 69½, Barnsdall 53⅛, Warner Bros. 15½, American Telephone 148, Kennecott Copper 51⅝, Dow Chemical 53⅝, Du Pont 60¾, American Can 100⅛, Westinghouse Electric 29⅝, Philip Morris 54, General Motors 69, Goodyear 42⅜, Sears Roebuck 43¼, and Zenith Radio 30⅝.

Lower were Celanese off 1⅛; at 33½, Philco 1 at 29¾, Santa Fe 1⅛ at 96, Standard Gas and Electric $4 Preferred 1⅜ at 50½, and some down by fractions included Bethlehem Steel 31, Youngstown Sheet and Tube 70⅛, Studebaker 24½, International Harvester 27⅝, Boeing 23½, Emerson Radio 16½, Phelps Dodge 48, General Electric 40⅝, American Woolen 25⅝, International Paper 67½, Union Pacific 82¾, Southern Pacific 48⅝, Texas Co. 62, and Celotex 19⅛.

The curb market was narrowly mixed. Trading amounted to 440,000 shares as against 520,000 shares Friday. A little higher were Eastern States Corp., Fairchild Camera, Kaiser-Frazer, and Louisiana Land. Lower were Aluminum Co. of America, Central States Electric preferred, Cities Service, Creole Petroleum, Cuban-Atlantic Sugar, Electric Bond and Share, Segal Lock, and Standard Power and Light.

Rail bonds were up in an otherwise quiet bond market. U. S. government securities in the over the counter market were unchanged to higher.

FORT WORTH REPORT

Oats No. 2 white 83½-84½.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. 2.32-37.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 (AP) — Grains did not get very far in either direction on the board of trade today. They had to absorb a little profittaking, which was not very heavy considering the extent of the advance over the past several weeks.

Grains did not appear to be attracting much new buying. Commission houses were cautious buyers.

While the market backed and filled throughout the day, a few new seasonal highs were eked out by small margins. In this category were all wheat deliveries. May and July corn also reached new tops during the day. July oats equalled its former high.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1⅛ higher, December $2.22½-⅛, corn was ½ lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.30⅛-¼, oats were ½ lower to ⅛ higher, December 77⅛, rye was 1¼ to 2 cents higher, December $1.44⅝, soybeans were ⅛ to 1 cent higher, December $2.35⅝-½, and lard was 5 to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $10.42.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP) — Cotton futures were firm today on aggressive mill and export covering which carried old crop deliveries into new seasonal high ground. The market subsequently reacted partially as profit taking and hedging. Volume of trading dried up on the decline.

Washington advices said that new ECA cotton credits announced last week and a few additional ones pending soon will bring total current appropriations to about $310,000,000. Another $150,000,000 may eventually be issued for cotton purchases by ECA countries, the advices said.

Officials To Study State Border Rivers

DALLAS, Dec. 5 (AP)—Texas' Interstate Compact commissioner said today studies would be made of the three rivers that mark part of Texas' boundaries with other states.

E. V. Spence, compact commissioner on the Canadian, Red and Sabine rivers, said he expected in the near future to meet with commissioners appointed by the other states concerned and "agree on a series of river operation studies on the respective rivers under various conditions."

"This method of approach," he said in a speech before the Dallas branch of the American Society of Civil engineers, "was found to be very effective in arriving at certain conclusions in connection with the recent negotiations for an interstate compact between Texas and New Mexico for the allocation and administration of the waters of the Pecos river."

Spence complimented the press for keeping the subject of water conservation before the public, "thereby stimulating action so that something worthwhile may be accomplished toward statewide storage of our flood waters, a large percentage of which now flows into the ocean unused."

Four Russians Plead Guilty To Espionage

SARAJEVO, Dec. 5. (INS)—Four more defendants pleaded guilty at the White Russian spy trial today and one admitted spreading rumors of a Soviet invasion of Yugoslavia as part of a Cominform plot aimed at overthrowing Marshal Tito.

Those who admitted guilt were Vasilij Kostrukov, 55-year-old doctor's assistant; Peter Sokolov, 23, George Olshevski, 25, and Vadim Gesler, 33, a law student. In all, nine have pleaded guilty, at least in part, to charges of espionage and subversive activity against Yugoslavia in behalf of the Russian bloc and one had pleaded not guilty.

Kostrukov told the people's court trying him and nine other defendants on charges of spying for Russia and carrying on subversive activity against Yugoslavia that he worked as an agitator in Bosnia for the Cominform, which ousted the Yugoslav Communists.

Kostrukov said that soon after Marshal Tito broke with the Cominform he spread the rumors that the Russian troops would occupy the country in three months.

He said he received orders for this type of agitation for the Cominform from Pavel Eliseyev, an official of the Soviet embassy in Belgrade.

Yoakum Well Slated To Tap New Horizon

The Honolulu Paul Cobb No. 1 in Eastern Yoakum county is set to complete as a new producer to open an entirely new horizon for the territory lying between Slaughter field and the Wassom Pool.

Present depth is 7,745 feet and the well is scheduled to bottom, set pipe and perforate to producing levels. When completed it will be a two horizon producer from the Upper Clear Fork be tween 6,144-6,169 feet and the Lower Clear Fork between 7,702-7,745 feet.

In drilling, the Honolulu Oil corporation found traces of oil in the San Andrews. However it went below this level and tapped oil in the Upper and Lower Clear Fork stratas.

There are about 400 oil refineries in the United States, located in 30 states.

Fatal Auto Accident Results In $6,000 Damage Award Here

A 99th district court judgment against Francis Lee Jackson, 21 of Dimmitt, was on file Monday, calling for payment of $6,000 and court costs in connection with a suit filed after the August death of Rex Melton, 36, of Plainview, in a traffic collision north of Lubbock.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Zanita Melton, widow of Melton, on behalf of herself and her two minor children, Milton Dion and Sharon Deanne Melton.

Melton died in a Lubbock hospital on Aug. 13, the day after he was injured. Jackson was named as driver of the car which collided with the Melton car.

The judgment filed by Judge G. V. Pardue awarded $5,000 and court costs to Mrs. Melton, and an additional $1,000 and court costs to be divided between the two children.

Time Of Ward Departure From Mukden Uncertain, Army Says

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 6. (AP) — Informed Army circles reported today that a partially garbled message from U. S. Consul General Angus Ward said he himself did not know whether he would leave Mukden tonight, or tomorrow — the Communist-set deadline.

And there appeared a possibility that, once out of Manchuria, Ward might face another delay before getting permission to leave Tientsin in China proper.

The Chinese Communist deadline for Ward and his party to leave Red Manchuria is 8 a. m. tomorrow (6 p. m., tonight CST). Ward and his party were ordered expelled from Manchuria by the Communists after they convicted him and four aides of beating a consulate messenger.

State department sources here said they had heard nothing new concerning Ward's plans.

The Army message originated in a telephone call from Mukden, presumably to Peiping, and a telegraphic relay. The connection was poor—and details were not available.

Nine per cent of the pedestrians killed in cities have been crossing intersections diagonally or against traffic signals.

BUST, BOOM PROSPECTS EQUAL

U. S. Business On Middle Road With Future Trends Uncertain

By SAM DAWSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—Business is in the middle again. Businessmen all over the country feel the pull of both inflation and deflation, forces that appear closely matched just now.

Winter resort owners in Tucson, Arizona, are asking if inflation is in the cards—meaning easy and plentiful money back East, and more customers for winter resorts.

A secretary in San Francisco asks if inflation is on the way back—meaning rising prices for the things she buys, while her own pay rises much more slowly, if at all.

Answer Still Unknown

It may be spring before we know: Whether we're headed for another boom; whether we're in for a sharper bust than last spring; or whether we somehow or other have achieved the unexpected—an almost painless retreat from postwar inflation to a lower but still prosperous plateau of business activity.

Perhaps more persons think that inflation is the stronger force just now. They cite the pickup in orders which revived backlogs in such industries as paperboard, shoes and textiles. They list the rise in prices, here and there—such as, tires up seven per cent in a month, Du Pont's four per cent hike in rayon viscose yarn over the weekend, and coffee prices bumping the sky.

Evidence Supports View

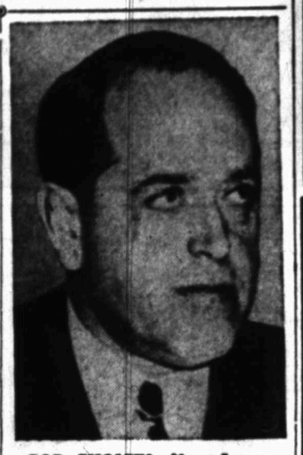

Supporting the view that inflation is coming is the quick rebound of steel production after the strike, and the word today that Jones & Laughlin, the nation's fourth largest steel producer, expects a hike in price on this basic product. Other items are the easing of the threat of a coal shortage and the prospects of labor peace; the building boom; the slowly mounting cost of production in many industries; and the steady climb of installment buying to record highs.

On the other hand, many observers cite their own list to show that deflation may still have quite a way to go yet, and that the recent upturn in business may be temporary.

Spending Slows Down

Businessmen themselves have slowed down their own spending for new plant and equipment. The building boom reflects largely governmental and institutional construction, and the revived boom in home building, spurred by the high marriage rate. But the expansion of production facilities is slowing down.

Also, farm income is falling and the government predicts it will fall further. Food prices are weakened, at the farm level at least, by surpluses. Some even question the ability of the government to support prices if another bumper crop next year piles up additional surpluses in government bins.

GOP CHOICE?—New Jersey labor commissioner Harry C. Harper, above, is reported to be the choice of New Jersey Republican leaders for the House seat held by Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, in the event Thomas resigns. Thomas' decision not to fight government charges of pay-roll padding and "kickbacks" caused speculation that he will resign from the House.

Looking At Life

Certainly we should be prepared.

Certainly we should not be ostriches.

But never let us be afraid. Let us be so full of faith and so full of ammunition that no enemy will dare to come within the sound of our prayers and within the reach of our guns.

IN the United Nations one of our delegates said the other day—and the British delegate echoed it—that we arm ourselves because of FEAR of the Russians.

They should have said that we arm ourselves because we believe in the Lord and because we know that "the Lord helps those who help themselves."

Let all those who have evil designs on us know that we fear No body because we have Faith—Faith in the Lord and Faith in ourselves.

Nobody has ever expressed it better than Joe Louis, the champion. "We are on the side of the Lord," he said.

There is no better ally than that, particularly when reinforced with plenty of ammunition.

Let the FEARMONGERS crawl into their holes. Let us others stay above ground, but ready to face ANYTHING that comes along.

Neighbors, Police Provide House For Bedridden Girl

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Bedridden 13-year-old Rosemary Gentry had a brand-new house today, thanks to a couple of cops and a host of generous neighbors.

The tiny multiple sclerosis victim, in a plaster cast since last July, smiled with joyous surprise yesterday as she was carried across the threshhold of the brightly-furnished little house in suburban Pacoima.

"I'm a lucky girl," Rosemary beamed as well-wishers crowded into the house with gifts of groceries, canned preserves, blankets, sheets, pots and pans, candy fruit and even a vacuum cleaner.

"I've got everything I want for Christmas. And maybe by then I'll be able to walk again."

Motorcycle Officer John P. Grant, father of three young girls, found the child and her unemployed mother, Mrs. Nellie Gentry, living in squalor two weeks ago. Their shack had no windows, doors, lights or sanitary facilities, and they depended on the county for necessities.

Bolivia's new Minister of Finance Parada plans to stimulate private enterprise and give it the guarantee which other countries grant.

23 Cases Heard In County Court

It was a busy Monday in the county court of Judge Walter Davies as 23 cases came before him—all but one involving intoxicating beverages in one form or another.

Five persons pleaded guilty of drunk driving. Each was fined $75, court costs and deprived of his driver's license for six months.

Defendants were Henry Lemons, 42, of Shallowater, Helen McLendon, 30, of Levelland, Raymond Winfred Thompson, 21, of Lubbock route 7, Patricia M. Valquez, 29, of Floresville, and Ernest Rogers, 28, of Fort Worth.

Bonds Set In Cases

Bonds of $500 each were set by Judge Davies for seven persons charged with liquor law violation.

Five of those charged were Slaton negroes. They were Callie Fisher, 44, Hattie Mae Wilborn, 21, Willie Hardwick, 39, Winnie Wynn, 54, and Mattie Eva Shedrick, 23,. Others were Bernice Fantroy, 29, and Jimmie Hawkins, 36.

Eight persons were fined $5 and court costs in connection with charges of violating the liquor curfew law.

They were Harry LeMaire, jr., 23, Lawrence Ward, 41, a negro, and Johnnie Payne, 24, all of Lubbock; Manuel Hernandez, 19, Max Martinez, 17, Max Vargas, 32, and John Corona, 42, all of slaton; and Duke Howard, 46, Corsicana negro.

Alonzo Bradley, 37, a negro, was fined $200 and court costs and entering a plea of guilty to a charge of liquor law violation. Another negro, Reuben Williams, 20, was released on bond after being charged with liquor law violation.

The only non-liquor case was that against Freddie Melvin Barnes, 28, Lubbock negro, fined $10 and court costs for failure to leave information at the scene of an accident.

Four Couples, Married On Same Day, Celebrate Golden Weddings

TYLER, Dec. 5. (AP).— Fifty years ago, back in 1899, four young men and four young women who were close friends chose Dec. 3 for their wedding day. They all lived in the Murphy community about 10 miles east of Tyler.

This month, the same eight persons are commemorating their golden wedding anniversaries.

A mass celebration had been planned, but since one couple now living in Arkansas was unable to make the trip to Tyler, separate observances were planned by each couple.

Two of the couples held open houses yesterday. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Perdue of Tyler, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hance Emmons, who live near Arp, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Allen of Mt. Vernon, Ark., celebrated but held no formal reception.

The fourth couple, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Martin, who also live near Arp, will have an open house Sunday, Dec. 10.

Oklahoma Drys Open New Drive To Get Local Option On Beer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—United Drys made a new bid for local option on beer today, charging that four brewers are "violating the law."

The drys carried their drive to individual legislators, meeting in special session here to vitalize this state's $36,000,000 building bond issue.

Dave Shapard, attorney for the drys, mailed each lawmaker a pamphlet containing results of an "impartial" test by the Oklahoma testing laboratory of Oklahoma City. The test, the pamphlet said, showed that four out of seven brands of beer exceeded the 3.2 percent alcoholic content prescribed by law.

The pamphlets also contain statements from law enforcement officers that most of the arrests made in Oklahoma stem from beer drinking.

Release of the pamphlets, also mailed "generally" over the state, was the dry's thrid attempt to force action by the special session on local option.
