MISSING DRY LEADER BELIEVED GANG VICTIM

Passenger Plane With Four Persons Aboard Missing In West Texas Hills

LINE OFFICIALS BELIEVE SHIP FORCED DOWN

Four Planes Scour Wild Mountain and Desert Area Futilely

PILOT IS VETERAN

Craft With Two Men From California as Fares Lost 12 Hours

EL PASO, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—Ira McConaughey, American airways pilot who took off from the El Paso airport late today to search for the missing American airways plane, reported to the El Paso office of the company by telephone at 8 p. m. that he had sighted the wings of a plane in the foothills of the Guadalupe mountains. No fuselage was seen, he said. McConaughey said he landed in the salt flats, 20 miles away. He obtained an automobile from a ranch house and proceeded to the scene.

DALLAS, Sept. 8. (AP)—An America Airways mail and passenger plane was missing tonight after it had left El Paso for the East this morning.

It was believed to be down in a thinly-settled country, possibly at some emergency landing field, near Salt Flats, about 100 miles east of El Paso.

Poor visibility with some rain and clouds prevailed in that section last night and this morning, but other American Airways planes flying east and west passed through without difficulty.

Two Passengers

The plane carried two passengers, reported by the Dallas office of the company to be G. A. Davidson of Richmond, Calif., and Victor Allman, or Elam, of Los Angeles.

The pilot was W. J. (Bryant) Roberts of Fort Worth, veteran flier with more than nine years' experience in flying. The co-pilot was Francis W. Briggs of Dallas.

Robbins was described as a man who had flown "every run in the Southwest" and all types of ships. He had 5,500 flying hours to his credit.

Four Ships in Search

Three army planes from Fort Bliss, near El Paso, and a company plane, also from El Paso, began a search for the missing ship this afternoon.

The plane was last reported at 9:47 a. m. when it passed over Salt Flats, where there is an emergency government landing field.

It left El Paso about 9 a. m. after being held there overnight on account of unfavorable flying conditions farther east. Its schedule had called for departure at midnight.

The regular westbound night plane similarly was held at Big Spring, taking off at 9:10 a. m. and arriving later in El Paso. Neither the delayed westbound plane nor the regular day planes reported sighting the missing ship.

Carries Radio

The plane was equipped with radio, but company officials said the radio might have been put out of commission in a forced landing.

The government airway route east of El Paso covers a rolling, sparsely inhabited country until it reaches the Guadalupe mountains, about 100 miles northeast of that city. It skirts El Capitan, the highest peak in Texas, which has an altitude of more than 9,000 feet.

From the Guadalupe range to Pecos, whence the route follows the Bankhead highway to Fort Worth and Dallas, the terrain is rolling and also is thinly settled.

Company officials in El Paso expressed opinion the plane was down somewhere just west of the Guadalupe mountains, either in the foothills or in salt marshes nearby.

Soviet Troops Fire On Workers Staging Riot

MOSCOW, Sept. 8. (US)—G. P. U. operatives (secret political police) and troops fired on workers at Ivanovo and Voznesenak rioting in protest against the Soviet-wide food shortage, it was learned here today.

Despite the censorship and isolation of the district, a textile center, word has reached Moscow of the serious disorders in which hungry workers looted and burned storehouses. Eye-witnesses reported the firing upon the workers by the G. P. U.

Iowa Senator Defends G. O. P. Protective Tariff

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 8. (UP)—A staunch defense of the party's protective tariff policy by Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, today brought the Republican presidential campaign to the mid-West.

"The Fordney-McCumber and the Hawley-Smoot tariffs saved the cattle industry by protecting its markets," Dickinson said in an address here. "They have given agriculture its highest rates in history."

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 8. (INS)—A resolution adopted today by the New Jersey State Federation of Labor at its convention endorsed Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for president and criticised President Hoover as "not sympathetic to labor."

Borger Society Editor Turns Aviatrix And Works Toward Transport Job After Trying Life In Alaskan Trading Post

BORGER, Texas, Sept. 7. (AP)—A Borger girl, Irene Irvine, once society editor in this oil town, wants to be a transport pilot.

She has Alaska to thank for that, and for the flying expefience that makes her look aloft for a career.

Witnessed Oil Boom

Miss Irvine, born Aurenea Sine Silma Laukki, came to Borger with her mother, Mrs. Esther Irvine, during the oil boom when there was adventure around every corner. For a time she was a society editor, but finally the romance of an Alaskan trading post called to her.

She saved enough money from her salary for transportation and obtained work through the influence of a relative.

The clerical job didn't appeal to the adventure-loving Miss Irvine half as much as aviation. So she became one of Alaska's first woman fliers.

Seeks License

She is seeking a commercial license and will apply for a pilot's position with a passenger line.

Miss Irvine has done some writing for magazines and has had some of her verse published. She was born in Boston when her father, Leopold Laukki, now teaching in the University of Moscow, was a professor in Harvard university.

Farmers In Oklahoma Form Holiday Association In Move To Hike Prices

Milo Reno Tells Farmers—At First Skeptical—They Have No Moral Right to Sell Produce Under Cost

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8. (UP)—Three hundred "dirt" farmers organized the Farm Holiday association in Oklahoma late today, agreeing with Milo Reno that "a farmer who delivers his goods for less than cost of production is no better than a burglar."

The smooth-spoken, forceful Reno, veteran Iowa agrarian leader, was cheered by an enthusiastic group of perspiring farmers who gathered in the crowded halls of the Bristol hotel.

They appeared to "go down the line" for the sellers' strike. Albeit some of their leaders dissented, threatening the ultimate success of the picturesque movement.

Strike Date Unset

Nevertheless, a holiday organization was formed, officers were elected and committees started the long and laborious task of studying what the cost of production of farm products is in Oklahoma. No date for start of the farmers' strike had been set.

Fatigued from an all night auto ride from Iowa so that he could aid in the organization move here, Reno aroused the somewhat skeptical audience to an enthusiastic pitch.

Applause followed his vitrolic attack on President Hoover and the administration of farm affairs.

"A man," Reno declared, shaking his shaggy head for emphasis, "who would crawl under his bed and permit a burglar to wreck his property is absolutely contemptible. The farmer who delivers his produce for less than production cost is just as contemptible."

"You haven't any moral right to do it. If you do, you are no better than a burglar—a thief that comes in the night.

Attacks Hoover

"We must withhold our products until society pays us just return on labor and investment. This holiday movement is not a pink tea affair. We do, however, regret the

PANHANDLE GAS WELLS CLOSED

Commission Orders Ceasing Of Production

AUSTIN, Sept. 8. (AP)—Gas wells in the eastern part of the West Panhandle gas field were ordered shut in by the Texas Railroad commission today until such time as the owners of the wells have a market which will insure ratable production and outlet.

The order pointed out that certain pipe line companies, which had a controlling market outlet for gas, refuse to purchase ratably and take any gas except from their own wells. This condition amounted to "confiscation" of the property of owners of wells that did not have pipe outlets, the commission order said.

The order was based on hearings held at Pampa and Amarillo, when conditions were discussed. Involved in the hearings were applications of Hagy, Harrington and Marsh and other independent owners of gas leases in the area, for permission to extract gasoline from their gas. They had complained that they had no market because the big pipe lines would not afford them an outlet.

The order stipulated that wells from which gas is being used for light or fuel in nearby towns would be exempted from the shut-down order. The exemption was made on the grounds of "public necessity, pending further consideration of the facts to determine whether such wells can also be shut, in."

Governor of Oklahoma To Ask Salary Slashes

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8. (AP)—Gov. W. H. Murray will ask the next state legislative assembly to reduce salaries of public officials, including his own. The chief executive, an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for president, said he would recommend that the legislature cut $500 annually from his compensation.

Roosevelt Encouraged Over Eastern Situation as He Prepares for Tour

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 8. (US)—Democratic prospects in New England and the industrial East looked decidedly improved to Governor Roosevelt today as he started preparing for his long western invasion.

Two factors impress Roosevelt. One is the ever rising hope of Democratic unity. The other is an anticipated increase in the Republican stay-at-home vote.

During his visit to the New York State fair at Syracuse and again yesterday in Vermont, Roosevelt was told by well-informed leaders that the Republican vote will run from 10 to 20 per cent below normal. This is exclusive of those who bolt and support the Democratic ticket.

The hope of unity, of course, was given a strong impetus by reports from New York that Al Smith will shortly end his period of political aloofness and declare his position on national politics. If Smith speaks at all, it is almost certain that he will endorse the Roosevelt-Garner ticket, perhaps promising to take the stump. Otherwise he would remain silent.

Roosevelt and his advisers have no intention of letting the East go by default regardless of the position taken by the happy warrior. From now on, the campaign will be marked by a rising tempo with much of the fire directed at President Hoover's straddle on prohibition.

When he returns from the West, Roosevelt will take a hand personally. He will deliver several speeches, one or more in New England.

HEARING TODAY ON FERGUSON ELECTION PLEA

Supreme Court to Consider Application for Writ Against Committee

LEGAL FIGHT SEEN

Sterling Asks Funds With Which to Battle 'Ma' For Nomination

AUSTIN, Sept. 8. (AP)—Partisans of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, and Gov. R. S. Sterling, contenders for the Democratic nomination of governor of Texas, were ready tonight to square off before the state supreme court in the first test of what promises to be prolonged litigation over the prize.

Mrs. Ferguson has asked the court for permission to file an application for writ of mandamus to compel the state Democratic executive committee and the state Democratic convention to certify her nomination in accordance with official returns from the primary voting of Aug. 27 last. A hearing on the application will be held tomorrow.

Both Claim Majority

In her application she said she had reason to believe partisans of Governor Sterling would attempt to influence the state committee and convention to disregard the returns as certified by the county chairmen in determining the nominee.

On the face of semiofficial returns Mrs. Ferguson was shown to have received almost 4,000 more votes than Governor Sterling for the nomination. Governor Sterling had refused to concede the nomination to Mrs. Ferguson and in a statement declared he had received a majority of the "legal votes cast." He said he would "be nominated and elected governor of Texas."

Governor Sterling renewed his charge today that "there is conclusive evidence that tens of thousands of fraudulent and illegal votes were cast in the Aug. 27 primary."

He said "their elimination will unquestionably change the result and show that I was nominated by a substantial majority."

Sterling Asks Funds

"Ferguson's frantic court move betrays his fear of the outcome," Governor Sterling said.

The governor appealed for funds to help carry on a contest of the election.

The Ferguson mandamus would direct the executive committee and convention to follow what Mrs. Ferguson claims is the law, by simply totaling the vote cast in each county and awarding the nomination to the candidate who received the most. The supreme court petition contended that under the law no hearing of charges of fraud or irregularities could be held before

Governor Sterling explained that some legal question had been raised with reference to those appointments and that he therefore was reappointing the four men and asking the senate for its confirmation.

Specter Of Bigamous Marriage Arises From Paul Bern's Past

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8. (US)—Did Paul Bern, self-slain film producer, unwittingly commit bigamy when he married beautiful Jean Harlow two months ago, because he did not know that a woman, occupying the status of a common-law wife, had the same legal rights in California?

Had he learned that a beautiful red-haired woman, still living and said to have been known to his friends for years as his wife, could legally oust Miss Harlow from any claim upon him, placing her in the position of the innocent victim of a strange marital entanglement?

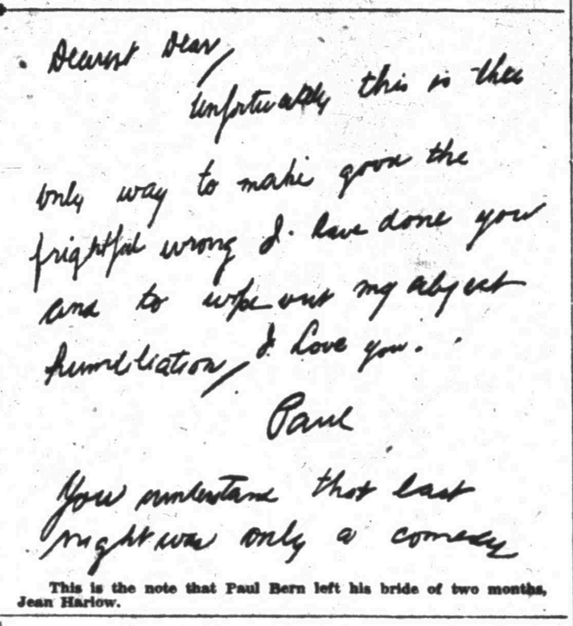

And was this what he meant, when he wrote to Miss Harlow just before he sent a bullet through his head early last Monday morning, that he could never atone for the "frightful wrong" he had done her?

These sensational speculations were thrust into the foreground of the Bern mystery today, as relatives, attorneys and friends of the dead producer sought to find an answer to the question:

"Why did Paul Bern, successful, wealthy, happy in his home, suddenly decide to take his own life?"

The possibility existed, it was believed, that there was a double motive back of Bern's suicide; his despondency over a physical condition which threatened to raise an insurmountable barrier in his quest for marital happiness; and the belief that he had married Miss Har-

RANGERS SIFT BOYS' DEATHS

Young Brothers Slain On Texas Ranch

SAN MARCOS, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—Texas rangers tonight began an investigation of the mysterious shooting of Arthur Morton, 15, and Harry Morton, 14, sons of a millionaire rancher, at their home near San Marcos.

The double shooting was discovered today, apparently only a short time after its occurrence. Harry was found, mortally wounded, on the ground about 25 yards from the building in which they had been sleeping. He had received three bullet wounds. He was rushed to a hospital, but died 10 minutes after arrival there.

The body of Arthur was in a sleeping room with a bullet wound in the head. A pistol with four cartridges discharged lay nearby. Both boys were clad in night clothes.

Justice of the Peace A. M. Ramsay went to the summer home, 10 miles north of San Marcos, and after an investigation, returned a verdict of accidental death.

Immediately afterward, the San Marcos News asked Adjt. Gen. W. W. Sterling to send rangers to conduct an investigation. Francis W. Faris, manager of the News, said Sterling promised to do so and a ranger reached here this afternoon.

High School Students

The boys were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunter Morton of San Antonio. They were students of Jefferson High school and had been spending their summer at the home near San Marcos. They had planned to return to San Antonio soon.

Their sleeping quarters were located about 75 yards from the $300,000 Morton summer home, which is on a 5,500-acre hill country ranch.

The long screened sleeping porch in which Arthur's body was found was splotched in places with blood. Investigators found a sheathed hand ax in the room. Its case was blood-stained and had been cut in one place.

Three bullet holes were found in the screen above a cot in the porch.

Actress Resting Easily After Blood Transfusion

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8. (US)—Another blood infusion was given Eva Tanguay, former vaudeville star, today and as a consequence she is resting easily, it was announced.

Miss Tanguay has been critically ill for some time and this was the third infusion operation performed. Sonny La Mont, 22-year-old vaudeville performer and friend of Miss Tanguay, has been the donor in the last two operations.

The board has written 28,000 letters in reply. These communications pertained to jobs, location of regional banks and loans.

Panama Canal Bank Slides Into Passageway

COURT FREES GIRL AND BABY

Young Mother Refuse To Give Up Child

LUBBOCK, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—Pretty Jimmie Lee Maynard and her 5 weeks' old baby, Raymond Eugene, tonight were on their way to Dallas where they are to stay until a divorce case brought by L. M. Maynard is heard.

The girl-wife, who says she is but 17, spent 24 hours in the Lubbock county jail, following her refusal to give up the baby on a court order when her husband, who filed the divorce case yesterday, sought custody of the child.

Her dismissal from the Lubbock county jail came late this afternoon following a hearing before Judge Clark Mullican. The judge had sent the girl and her baby to jail for contempt of court because she had refused to obey his order.

During a hearing in the chambers this afternoon Judge Mullican asked the young girl about her religious beliefs which, according to reports, caused her to "quit her husband for God."

"I believe in the Pentecostal religion," she said. "I want to serve God and my husband does not want me too."

Mrs. Maynard denied her religion believed in "free love" as had been testified to in an adultery case in county court Wednesday. She said she believed in marriage.

The court dismissed the contempt charge against her provided she agreed to go to Dallas and stay with her aunt, Mrs. J. D. Hays, and not leave the state.

Flood of Rio Grande Loses Most of Force

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 8. (UP)—The Rio Grande's great flood rolled almost harmlessly into the last 50-mile stretch to the Gulf of Mexico tonight, spreading southward into the Mexican lowlands.

This spread southward minimized damage to the American side, where levees in Cameron county protected the highly developed citrus fruit and truck crop sections.

Colonel Penick, His Daughter And Young Employe Rescued From Flood

'Human Chain' Succeeds in Saving Trio From Marooned House After 20 Hours of Battling Torrent

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, Sept. 8.—Col. R. L. Penick, his daughter, Lilias, and Charlie O'Brien were rescued this afternoon from the roof of a house on the Penick estate, near here, where they had been marooned since late yesterday by flood waters of the Clear Fork river.

The trio's removal from their precarious perch on the roof, was accomplished with a boat which was gradually worked to the prisoners by a crew of 20 men. The rescue party was constantly in danger as they made their way to the house, moving from tree to tree in the swirling water with the aid of ropes.

Deliver Food

Rescuers reached the three shortly after noon with food, the first Colonel Penick and his companions had eaten for 24 hours. However, the rescue was not effected until more than two hours later, when the party succeeded in bringing up a boat.

The refugees reached Stamford late this afternoon and were taken to the home of Mrs. R. V. Colbert, Colonel Penick's sister. Tonight they were recovering from their experience and it was believed Colonel Penick, who is 74 years old, would suffer no ill effects from the wet and cold he had gone through.

Colonel Gets Haircut

In fact, Colonel Penick, who looks much younger than his years and is in excellent condition, insisted on going to a barber shop and getting his hair trimmed almost immediately on reaching Stamford.

Miss Penick and O'Brien remained in the Colbert home to regain their strength and change to fresh clothing.

When water from the river, some 200 feet away, first swirled into the Penick home, the colonel and Miss Penick at first believed they were in no danger, as they had experienced similar occurrences on previous occasions.

However, within a few minutes water was rushing into the house, of solid stone structure, and furniture was floating. When a heavy cedar chest, some three feet deep, was swirled about the room by the force of the water, they realized the serious nature of the situation and made their way to a raised porch, where they remained until about 5 o'clock.

O'Brien Joins Pair

O'Brien, who had been engaged to prune pecan trees on the heavily wooded 26-acre estate, made his way to the couple. With stout rope reinforced as best he could with fishing tackle he waded through water to his arm pits to the adjoining house, 25 feet away. Making a rope line between the two structures, he returned and assisted the two, one at a time, across, where the three ascended to the porch roof with the aid of an improvised rope ladder.

Here they remained until 3 o'clock

End of Special Session Saturday As Urged by Governor Is Doubtful

AUSTIN, Sept. 8. (AP)—Although legislation involving matters which Gov. R. S. Sterling asked the special session of the Texas legislature to consider as affording relief to tax payers tonight was near final passage it was problematical whether the law makers would finish their task this week.

Governor Sterling expressed a hope today the legislature could complete its work and adjourn sine die Saturday night. Some believed the chief executive's desire would be fulfilled, while others anticipated a prolonged session.

It was doubtful there would be a working quorum in either house next week during the period of the state Democratic convention in Lubbock. Many members of the legislature planned to attend the party conclave, since interesting developments were expected there over the tight race for the gubernatorial nomination btween Governor Sterling and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, woman former governor.

Governor Sterling announced he saw no reason why the legislature could not complete his proposed program of tax relief and adjourn this week. He said he did not intend to submit any more bills. He declared he would not accede to a joint request of the house and senate to open the way for consideration of adjustment of salaries of state employes.

TARRANT COUNTY AUDIT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8. (UP)—Tarrant county's first outside audit of county accounts and affairs was let today to R. Dewitt and company, who bid $38,000 for the contract.

SOCIAL WORKER ABSENT FOR EIGHT DAYS

Col. Raymond Robins Drops From Sight on Trip To Visit President

THREATS ON LIFE

Wife Believes Husband Is Held for Revenge By National Rum Ring

By SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE
(Copyright, 1932, by The United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Col Raymond Robins, noted social worker, is mysteriously missing, and his wife told the United Press tonight she believed he had been kidnaped in revenge for his activities against rum runners. He was last seen in New York on Sept. 1.

One of the outstanding figures in social work during the world war and an uncompromising advocate of prohibition, Robins had been invited to luncheon on Tuesday by President Hoover. He failed to appear at the White House and has not been seen by his friends since.

Threatened Life

At her summer home in Maine, Mrs. Robins revealed that her husband had been subjected to telephoned and written threats against his life for eight months.

The threats became particularly forceful in June, after the colonels' political activities in Hernando county, Florida, where he maintains a permanent home, had helped to oust a local administration he regarded as associated with rum-running activities.

Federal authorities were informed of the threats and given "all the details of the case," Mrs. Robins said.

Colonel Robins arrived in New York Sept. 1 on his way to Washington, and made his headquarters at the City club. Employes of the club declined to give information regarding his subsequent movements, but it was learned that his baggage is still at the club.

Inquiries at Hospitals

His failure to appear at the president's luncheon, where it is presumed he was to discuss questions of law enforcement, brought inquiries both in New York and at his summer home in Maine.

Colonel Robins' disappearance at once stirred his family to a recollection of the threats against his life. Every hospital in New York was investigated, but there was no trace of him.

"I am extremely worried," Mrs. Robins said tonight. "The colonel, I knew, had accepted the threats seriously, and frequently talked with me about them. The federal authorities were handling the case.

"Both he and I believed the threats to have come from what seemed to be a national organization."

Mrs. Robins said the first fear that her husband had been kidnaped was when he failed to appear as the guest of President Hoover.

"I can only wait and hope," she said. "The officials know all the details of the case, and they are handling all of the efforts to find him."

Wife Active for Hoover

Not only Colonel Robins but his wife have figured prominently in national affairs.

Mrs. Robins, the former Miss Margaret Drier of Brooklyn, took an active part in the first Hoover campaign, and was frequently mentioned as a possible appointee as secretary of labor in the president's cabinet.

Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney sent out a confidential report on his disappearance, but a low when he was not entirely free to do so.

LIFE SECRETS OF BERN BARED

Question of Bigamy Arises After Inquest

Close friends of Bern declared today that although he and Miss Harlow were married two months ago, they had never lived together as man and wife. This was not revealed until after Bern's death, it was said.

Miss Harlow is said to have declared that "their love for each other was so great, that they were happy, even under those circumstances."

Woman Located

Evidence piled up today, pointing to the existence of a woman said to have lived with Bern in Canada as his common-law wife; the same woman, presumably, as the one who was known as his wife to his friends in New York some years ago and who until last January lived at a hotel as "Mrs. Paul Bern" visited by the producer and receiving checks from him.

The woman, whose name was given as Dorothy Millette and who was said to have been an actress, was described today by several friends and former associates of Bern. She was said to have left New York early in January, presumably for San Francisco.

Her strange role in the tangled skein of Bern's life is made possible by the fact that although California law does not recognize that a common-law wife has any rights when such a union takes place in the state, it does grant legal status to a common-law union when it is recognized by the laws of the country where it occurred.

Will Discovered

And the laws of Canada, according to S. T. Hankey, legal adviser of the British consulate and a member of the Canadian bar, hold that a common-law wife—a woman permitted by a man publicly to assume the title of his wife and to be so known although there has been no legal marriage—has the same rights of inheritance and claim as if a marriage had taken place.

Therefore, if such a woman appears and establishes the fact that she was Bern's common-law wife in Canada, she will be entitled, it was said, to claim her rights. Reports from New York further complicated the matter today by stating that a will dated 1920 has been discovered, which leaves Bern's estate to "my wife, Dorothy Millette."

It was also revealed today that a few weeks ago Bern made a will, which is said to leave his estate to Miss Harlow. Attorney Oscar Cummins admitted tonight that he had drawn such a will at Bern's instructions and that it had been signed, but declined to divulge any details.

Such a will would presumably be invalidated, it was indicated if the common-law union is established and the platinum blonde film star would be left without inheritance.

Funeral Today

Irene Harrison, Bern's secretary, declined to say whether or not she sent checks to "Mrs. Paul Bern" in New York, but did state she had "handled all Mr. Bern's business." She said she could not discuss the Dorothy Millette report.

Funeral services for Bern will be held tomorrow afternoon at Grace chapel, Inglewood cemetery, and at the request of the family will be private.

Henry Bern, brother of the dead producer, conferred this afternoon with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio officials and representatives of Miss Harlow. He indicated that he would probably make a statement later.

While a coroner's jury after listening to a repetition of the already-told story of Bern's death, his nervous condition, his apparent domestic happiness, and the last hours that he was seen alive, agreed today upon a verdict of suicide from undetermined motives, new sensations broke from every angle.

From New York and from Colorado Springs came confirmation of the report that Bern had been previously married or, at least, permitted a beautiful blonde woman to be known as his wife.

Attorney Has Will

In New York, Attorney Henry Uttal admitted that he had in his office files a will signed by Bern on Aug. 30, 1920, leaving virtually all his estate to "my wife, Dorothy Millette."

Uttal said that he recalled the woman, a striking blonde, who was known to Bern's friends as his wife.

Other New York reports gave further details of a woman about 35 years old, who lived at a West Forty-fourth street hotel until early this year and who was known as Mrs. Paul Bern. She received checks from "Paul Bern" in Hollywood, and was visited by Bern about once a year, the last visit in October, 1931.

Hotel employes said that the woman seldom left her room and appeared to have few acquaintances. When she left, she said she was going to visit "friends in San Francisco."

In Colorado Springs, George Clarken, Los Angeles insurance man, declared that Bern was married 10 years ago to a woman now confined in a New York sanitarium for the mentally incompetent, and that he had placed a large sum with a New York trust company for her benefit.

FRIGHTENED THE BEAST

"Maybe she isn't much to look at now, but she most have been very attractive in her youth."

"What makes you think that?"

"Well, she told me that a horse ran away with her once."—Tit-Bits.

Senate Choices

One of these men will be U. S. senator from Colorado. Choice to Gov. William H. Adams to take the seat of the late Senator Charles W. Waterman lies between Col. L. C. Paddock of Boulder (top) and Walter Walker of Grand Junction (below). The appointive term expires next March.

SECRET SERVICE SEARCHES FOR SOCIAL WORKER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (UP)—Secret service agents of the federal government tonight intensified their search for Col. Raymond Robins, missing social worker as the White House revealed he had a tentative appointment with President Hoover last Tuesday.

"Colonel Robins said he expected to be in Washington last Tuesday morning," said Walter Newton, a White House secretary, "and that he would drop in to see the president. I told him I would arrange the appointment."

Newton said Robins had been a personal friend of Mr. Hoover for 20 years and there was nothing unusual about his coming to Washington this week.

"When he failed to appear Tuesday, I at first thought nothing of it," he said. "There was nothing urgent in his call, and nothing was said at the time.

Agents at Work

"However on Wednesday, when he still failed to appear or communicate with me, I became concerned. I then learned that Colonel Robins had left the City club in New York last Saturday afternoon. They did not know just where he was going, but he left a forwarding address in Washington.

"He usually stays at the Dodge hotel here but he has not appeared there.

"I was afraid he had been taken ill somewhere on the way and was perhaps at a hospital somewhere. It was very warm over the week-end and it occurred to me first that he might have been overcome by the heat."

W. H. Moran, chief of the federal secret service, told the United Press his agents had been at work for two days in the search for the missing social worker.

ELECTION TIFF BEGINS TODAY

Supreme Court to Hear Plea Of Mrs. Ferguson

the executive committee or convention. It said the law provided for the bringing of a contest in a district court.

The Ferguson court petition said claims of Sterling partisans that many illegal votes had been cast were concocted for the purpose of inflaming the minds of the executive committeemen and delegates to the convention for the purpose of confusing them in declaring a nominee.

Proposal Abandoned

The petition also complained that the Texas senate's proposal to authorize an investigation of alleged primary irregularities was initiated by friends of Governor Sterling to bolster his claim he had received a majority of the "legal votes cast," for the benefit of the party executive committeemen and the convention. The proposed investigation had been dropped, however, after several days of debate in the senate.

The executive committee will meet at Lubbock next Monday to canvass the returns preparatory to reporting the result to the state convention which will meet at the same place on Tuesday.

Governor Sterling today renewed his appeal to all friends of "good government," to attend the Lubbock convention. He cautioned those who might be thinking of empowering others to represent them that it was possible the convention would not recognize proxies.

The governor planned to attend the convention. Mrs. Ferguson and her husband and chief spokesman, James E. Ferguson, will be present. Politicians were expecting one of the most colorful Democratic meetings in the history of the party. Reservations had been made in the plains city for Frank Hamer, veteran Texas ranger captain, and a contingent of rangers.

"Jim" Makes Charges

James E. Ferguson, center of much political turmoil in Texas since he was impeached and removed from the governor's office in 1917, charged there was a movement on foot to have the state Democratic executive committee declare the run-off primary void.

"They are now scheming to bring political pressure to bear on the state executive committee and have them arbitrarily declare the whole primary election void and then attempt to name a candidate for governor other than Sterling or my wife," Ferguson said.

"Sterling may not know it but they are planning to throw him overboard just the same as they would like to do my wife."

disturbances in Iowa and do not encourage the same."

Reno asserted that Hoover never intended for the federal farm board to keep prices up for the farmer, a "thing that no one in the world can prove couldn't be done."

C. H. Hyde, vice president of the Oklahoma Farmers' Union, a veteran and influential farm leader, questioned the effectiveness of the holiday proposal.

"I will back anything good for the farmers but I cannot see how the strike would be successful here where conditions differ from those in Iowa," Hyde said.

"Butter, milk and eggs are the Oklahoma farmers' only cash products now. If he didn't sell them for a week he wouldn't have cash to buy the necessities of life. He would starve."

Opinion Brings Retorts

This opinion was held by several leaders but invoked bitter retorts from R. L. Rickford, Cold Springs, who was elected state president of the premanent organization.

"Its preposterous to say a farmer couldn't quit selling everything for 30 days and not eat. I've lived for months on fried mush and molasses," Rickerd replied.

Leaders were agreed that there should be no picketing in Oklahoma but that the move should take the form of passive resistance to selling. There was an undercurrent among some of the delegates from the 40 counties represented that demonstrations should be made and made forcefully.

Other than the election of Rickerd as state president, the convention elected the following officers: A. H. Hoeffer, Alfalfa county, vice president; E. O. White, Bryan county, secretary-treasurer; executive committeemen, district 1, M. B. Everhard, Pryor; No. 2, John M. White, Okmulgee; No. 3, Walter Colbert, Ardmore; No. 4, Henry Stillwell, Holdenville; No. 5, A. J. Leaverton, Stillwater; No. 6, E. B. Rust, Lawton; No. 7, Henry Worthington, Hester; No. 8, E. M. STALE GAS HANDCUFFS YOUR MOTOR

ONLY fresh GAS UNLEASHES FULL POWER

STALENESS steals the power of gasoline. Little by little the lighter parts—important "easy starting" elements—evaporate! Also a chemical change takes place—so that, as staleness increases, power decreases!

And the staler the gas, the more it knocks—and the stickier it is—more apt to foul a motor. The whole petroleum industry has long sought a way to stop gasoline deterioration. Now Gulf announces a system that assures every motorist of getting FRESH-MADE gasoline! How?

By making the best possible gasoline and refining out certain complex elements that have been found to cause fast deterioration. And by rushing this FRESH gas to you like some perishable food!

SPEED! The whole Gulf organization is geared to it. Huge Gulf refineries in many sections of the country put every Gulf filling station close to a source of FRESH gasoline. A vast fleet of tank trucks speeds FRESH gas to Gulf pumps every day.

Get FULL power for your gasoline dollar. Get FRESH-MADE gas—delivered FRESH. Get Gulf exclusively—and you'll have a motor that's faster. A motor that's cleaner. And quieter. Get a tank-full today!

HINDENBURG TO AID VON PAPEN

Hitler Back in Berlin To Organize Forces

BERLIN, Sept. 8. (AP)—While President Von Hindenburg was assuring Chancellor Franz von Papen today that he would support the Chancellor's government through thick and thin, Adolf Hitler, leader of the national Socialists, came back to Berlin to take personal charge of negotiations aimed at upsetting that government with a coalition of his Nazis and the Centrist party.

The chancellor visited the president, who has just returned to the capital from his east Prussian home, in preparation for Monday's session of the riechstag, in which only a small group of members support the present government.

Members of the government took heart from a speech made in Munich yesterday by Hitler. The Nazi leader said in this address that he would proceed to reshape the constitution on a legal basis and that, he cared nothing for titles or chancellorships so long as leadership was in his hands.

Government spokesmen interpreted these remarks as an indication that Hitler had relinquished all hope of becoming chancellor during the lifetime of President Von Hindenburg.

These same commentators expressed the expectation that after the reichstag has been dissolved and another election has been held the Fascists may be tractable enough to participate in the government in non-pivotal positions.

Although there has been no public announcement the Nazis and the Centrists have agreed on a coalition, the president will receive representatives of the two parties Saturday. Newspaper commentators predicted that this reception will be a mere formality.

The chancellor already has been equipped with a signed decree dissolving the reichstag, and he plans to promulgate it before the opposition has a chance to vote no-confidence in him.

Former U. S. Official Indicted For Fraud

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8. (UP)—Williamson S. Summers, former assistant United States attorney general, was arrested here today by government officers and held on bail of $10,000, on a charge of having defrauded persons in Southern California of $750,000.

Summers lives in Glendale. He was indicted by the federal grand jury yesterday. He assertedly persuaded several hundred persons to settle on lands in Los Angeles county on representation that the old Spanish land grants were faulty and that the land had been obtained by the government illegally, said Peter V. Davis, assistant U. S. attorney here.

He then charged them sums ranging from $100 to $500 for "legal services," the complaint set forth, on the representation that he would act as counsel and attempt to obtain title to the lands for them.

Summers also was formerly United States district attorney at Omaha, Neb.

He was arrested last June on a charge of failing to file an income tax return for 1931, and the case is still pending.

NEW ORE DEPOSITS SOUGHT

UMEA, Sweden, (UP)—An intensive search for new deposits of ore containing gold, silver and copper is being conducted this summer in Northern Sweden, under the auspices of the government geological survey. A personal inspection trip has been made by Axel Gavelin, head of the bureau, and he declares there is material for several years' work. Several ore bodies have been discovered in the neighborhood of the Boliden mine, which is now in full operation, but while prices on copper ore remain as low as at present, there is no economic basis for exploiting the new fields, states Dr. Gavelin. Only gold mining pays.

Altus Officers Recover Money Taken In Kangaroo Trial After Long Search

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Sept. 8.—Members of the Jackson county sheriff's force were rewarded this week for a game of hide-and-go-seek (mostly seek) with prisoners in the county jail when they found one $100 and two $20 bills stuffed in cracks in the jail cells.

The money was taken from a man more than one week ago when he was placed in the jail on a drunk charge for the night. A total of $200 was stolen, the man told county officials, but they have been able to recover only the $140.

The three bills recovered were stuffed between rivets where the rail on the bunks are fastened. So tight were the bills stuffed into the crack that they were torn when they were pulled out with a small wire. A concentrated search is being made for the other three bills.

In connection with this case Salonius Birdwell has been re-arrested. Birdwell was released from jail last Saturday on a two-year sentence to Granite, which was suspended on good behavior, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary in the second degree before District Judge Frank Mathews.

Fuzz Hailey was also arrested for assisting in taking the money. Hailey was released on a $500 bond the latter part of last week on a charge of car theft.

The indictment against Smith charged 19 ovart acts. Indictments against all grew out of wire-tapping disclosures here. It was alleged information reached bootleggers as to when enforcement agents' activities were expected.

Oklahoman Kills Woman And Ends Own Life

CUSHING, Okla., Sept. 8. (UP)—No inquest will be held into the deaths of Buford Sharum, 40-year-old wealthy Ripley man, and Mrs. E. U. Moore, 35, wife of a Ripley barber, County Attorney Ernest Jenkins said today.

Early last night Sharum drove to Mrs. Moore's home, called her from the house, shot her and then turned the .32 caliber automatic pistol upon himself. Both died instantly.

"It obviously was a murder and suicide, the apparent result of an affair between the two," the prosecutor said, explaining why he would not investigate further.

The shooting occurred at Ripley, 11 miles northwest of here. Sharum is survived by the widow and two sons. The bodies were held at mortuaries here and at Stillwater pending funeral arrangements.

Mail Pilot Dives Ship To Sound Fire Alarm

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 8. (AP)—Criticisms of an unidentified airplane pilot who awakened west-end residents by doing power dives in proximity to their roofs Tuesday night turned to praise today when it was learned that the performer was Gene Brown who flies the night mail between Richmond and Atlanta for Eastern Air Transport, and that he probably prevented a disastrous fire.

A resident was awakened by the roaring engine and going to a window to investigate saw flames shooting from a residence nearby and telephoned an alarm which resulted in the fire being extinguished with damage estimated at less than $300.

Brown had taken off from Byrd airport at 3:54 a. m., and as he was passing over the city on his regular course he discovered the fire and executed two roaring dives to give the alarm.

Penicks Saved From Drowning

this afternoon. The density of pecan trees prevented the rescue party from sighting them on the roof until rescuers reached the house. Efforts had been made since last night to reach the marooned persons.

Upon being removed from the roof, the three were placed in a boat and moved some 250 yards distant to ground not covered by water.

Form Human Chain

In getting food and later the boat to the house rescuers were forced to form a chain of their 20 members in order to avoid drowning.

Water, sweeping out of banks from the river, was of such force that a man alone could not stand. The crew linked together would pull any falling member to his feet by the force of their numbers. The leader would make his way from one tree to another. If the current swept him off his feet, the rope attached to his companions would prevent his being swept away.

Miss Penick told a Record News representative of her experience and said that after she and the other two reached the roof on which they spent the night they felt no fear for their safety. Before this, however, she admitted they felt some anxiety.

After gaining the roof, she said, their only fear was of falling off their cramped haven. With clothing wet and temperatures lower than at any time in many weeks they suffered great discomfort from the cold.

Rescues Furniture

Miss Penick described how O'Brien climbed to a nearby tree as he saw a pressure cooker floating toward him. As it swirled under his perch he fished it from the water. He also rescued a lunch kit and other articles the flood had swept from the Penick home.

Heavy damage was caused by the flood to the contents of the Penick home. Books, some of them rare, from the well-stocked library were swept miles down the stream. Other articles, including furniture, were swept from the house through windows broken by the force of the water, which was so powerful that a door was cracked, although holding shut.

Colonel Penick is one of the pioneers of this section and founded Stamford's first business establishment.

A SOBER TERM

Mrs. Smith: Well, you can try 'im, but so far there's been only one man who's been able to keep my husband off the drink for any time.

Visiting Parson: Ah, and he was a clergyman, too?

Mrs. Smith: No, he was a judge. —Smith's Weekly, Sydney.

U. S. BUILDING PLANS READY

President to Announce Projects in Few Days

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—Formal announcement of the huge public buildings program provided in the Garner-Wagner relief act will be made by President Hoover within a few days.

Treasury officials are busy completing details of the program, slashed from $100,000,000 to $90,000,000 under Comptroller General McCarl's interpretation of the economy act. However, they considered today asking for a new decision to permit the use of the entire amount by cutting only the limit of cost on individual projects by 10 per cent, permitting the money saved to go toward other works.

At the comptroller's office it was said reconsideration of the decision probably would be given in view of the treasury's opinion that congress intended the entire $100,000,000 to be expended to increase employment.

Secretary Mills said announcement of the detailed program rested with President Hoover. He declined to say whether he had certified to the president that the undertaking was too large for the treasury at this time. This is an alternative allowed him by the relief act.

While McCarl's ruling applied only to the $100,000,000 public building program, Mills said he was advised that the same ruling would apply for the entire $322,000,000 public works section of the relief act. This would slash $32,200,000 of the building roads, flood control and other projects included in the whole program.

Dancing Controversy Stirs Church Meeting

CLINTON, S. C., Sept. 8. (AP)—A recent decision by the board of trustees of Presbyterian college to allow dancing on the campus drew fire at today's session of the Presbyterian synod of South Carolina and resulted in a recommendation that the decision be reversed.

A motion which sought enaction of a rule forbidding students of the college to dance anywhere was tabled and another which would have banned dancing among all members of the Presbyterian church in South Carolina was defeated, but not without considerable discussion.

Varied Program Being Completed For Western Oklahoma Fair This Month

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Sept. 8.—With the opening date for the Western Oklahoma fair drawing nearer, the committee in charge of the program for the fair is daily announcing the signing of new features for this sectional event. The event in which a large number of Jackson county persons are expected to contest, is to be held in Elk City.

The last few days saw acceptance by Senator T. P. Gore of an invitation to speak. He will address the crowds on Roosevelt-Garner day, Sept. 17, during the afternoon.

Rogers to Speak

Representative-elect Will Rogers, who defeated a field of well known politicians in the congressman at large race in Oklahoma this summer, will speak on Sept. 18 and Rev. Father Cos and Dr. V. C. Tisdal, president and vice presidential candidates of the Independent party also will speak to western Oklahoma folk on this date.

Sunday, Sept. 18, will probably see the largest attendance at the fair. Both horse and auto races will be run during the afternoon and the grandstand attraction for the evening will consist of songs by a chorus of a hundred voices. Four singers from every town in the area sponsoring the fair will be included in this chorus.

Premium List Ready

The past week saw contracts signed with the All-American shows for midway attractions, they having six rides, a number of shows and 15 concession with their aggregation. The Hammon Indians have also agreed to take part in the exhibition.

Catalogs giving the premiums offered for exhibits are being circulated over the fair territory this week and it is believed the number of entries in the various departments will be impressive.

Future Farmers of America, 4-H clubs and home demonstration clubs have an important place in the exhibit department. Indications are that the exhibits in the education department of the fair will be both large and meritorious.

Where There Ain't No Ten Commandments

By ROSITA FORBES

UNDER THE TRICOLOR

A girl . . . young and pretty . . . alone on the desert with two French officers who had not seen a woman in a year. The heat - soaked sands . . . the blistering sun . . . the unbearable loneliness . . . cracked through the veneer of western civilization . . . ripped down all barriers . . . and left the author with nothing to defend herself but a pair of nailed heels.

"Bareheaded, I stumbled into the sun . . ."

TEN REAL-LIFE STORIES

of love and life and sometimes death in the far corners of the world. Written by Rosita Forbes, noted woman explorer, author of "Conflict" and "Promise That You Won't Marry Me." These are travel articles with the appeal of fiction and the impact of truth. They are full to the brim of human interest. Read every one of them.

ARTICLE I

"Isn't that the woman who sleeps with Sheeks and things?" asked Princess Jane San Faustino, when she saw me —in pyjamas—at the Lido.

Like most Americans, she imagined the desert full of lawless and good looking horsemen just waiting to make love to the first white woman who happened over their horizon!

The Arab can be counted on for most things, war, courage, cruelty, patience, fanaticism and treachery, but not for love. In the black tents of his tribe, women are to be had for the asking and love doesn't come into it at all.

But things do happen when you get off the edge of the map, unexpected things that are pretty terrible when you're right up against them under a torrid sun with a few hundred miles of sand on each side of you. The sun brings out odd kinks in a white man's nature, especially if he hasn't seen a woman for a year or two. The commandments wear a bit thin in a temperature of 120 Fahrenheit and men forget they have any future beyond the torment of the next sunrise.

A few months ago I slipped over the Kurdish frontier and not being particularly anxious to advertise my presence, for I had been watching—without a passport or any other official justification—the battle between Turks and Kurds for Mount Ararat, I wanted to get away before somebody took it into his head to accuse me of spying.

The Arab owner of a Chevrolet which looked like wreckage from the Ark, offered to drive me into Syria. We bargained fiercely. I stipulated for the whole car to myself. He swore that nothing would interfere with my comfort.

When, after endless delays, we ploughed our way out of the village, there was an old man with his entire family piled among dozens of watermelons in the back and two small boys mixed up with the gears in front. An aw-struck crowd trotted beside us urging: 'If you are in a hurry, take donkeys—this devil's machine is not safe for decent people."

I can't remember how many hours we spent in that car. The first day wore itself out in such a blaze of heat that my eyeballs felt as if they'd been seared with irons. We stopped at frequent intervals to replenish the radiator from goatskins hung outside. By sunset most of our drinking water had gone into it. During the night the old man prayed in a loud voice, and the driver slept, his head on the wheel. When I kicked him awake he expostulated: "Never in my life have I slept—I do not need sleep. I can drive for 72 hours without blinking." Within five minutes his head was on my shoulder and the tassel of his fez bobbed an accompaniment to the snores of the family among the watermelons.

It was towards noon next day that I noticed a growing uneasiness among my companions. Scraps of paper, thumb-marked and stained, were produced from the innermost recesses of the woolen garments which the Arab wears one over another, winter and summer alike. From these I learned that plague had broken out in Mesopotamia and the French had instituted a sanitary cordon across their frontier. Nobody could pass without an inoculation certificate.

"You shall wear some of my daughter's clothes," suggested the father of the family, who looked exactly like the pictures of Abraham in my childhood's Bible. "They will not dare to examine a veiled woman"; but his voice was doubtful.

Still discussing the matter, we bumped across a ridge and there half a mile away was a small mud fort like a pill box surrounded with barbed wire. We were still a day's journey from the Syrian frontier, but this triangle of desert had been recently ceded to France and the tricolor above the pill box denoted her determination to occupy it.

Before we'd decided on any plan, a gigantic Nubian barred our passage. Two Senegalese with rifles ranged themselves behind him. Nobody might pass. The doctor would come out when it was cooler. No, he could not leave his post—a flat rock where he had been basking like a lizard —so no news of our arrival could reach the fort.

For an hour we argued, pleaded and threatened. Bribery was useless. Under the canvas hood, we felt as if we were being fried in our own grease. The old man leaned back in a corner, breathing in such stentorous gulps that I thought he was going to have a fit. We had no water to give him. I offered one of the Senegalese several years' pay to fetch some from the fort. He shook his head.

At last, under the leveled rifles, I disengaged myself from the mass of damp humanity, all talking at once, and set off—more boldly than I felt—towards the distant fence. The Nubian shouted. The Arabs joined in composite reproach and prayers. A Senegalese fingered his trigger, but he did not fire. Round the first rock I quickened my pace and then, all at once, I found myself running. Half blinded by the glare, with sweat trickling down my throat, I scuttled through the barbed wire and almost fell over a sentry who was so amazed that he directed me without protest to the doctor.

In a whitewashed hut, three men were eating a tinned lunch and washing it down with cheap, red wine. None of them was shaved. Their kepis were thrust back from foreheads seamed with dust and moisture. Their khaki shirts were open over chests flayed by the sun. They were bare-legged as I was, but in place of my nailed shoes, they wore sandals.

"Ten thousand devils," exclaimed the captain, and his mouth remained open while I hurried out by explanation, one sentence tumbling over another. "That Arab will die unless you send him water," I finished, and the youngest officer, who was scarcely more than a schoolboy, slouched to the door. Leaning against the post he called to the Senegalese.

Meanwhile, the doctor was explosive: "Mon dieu, the sense of these blacks! I tell them not to let any one pass and they hold up a motor and let this woman walk right in on us! And the sentry? Of what use is he?" I suggested that perhaps he was unaccustomed to the sudden materialization of a European woman.

The doctor's eyes narrowed. "Have you got an inoculation certificate?" he asked.

I shook my head and instantaneously a gleam leaped from one pair of eyes to another.

"Take off your hat, Madame," suggested the captain. "We have not seen a woman for years. In this sacre dunghill we have almost forgotten what she is like."

They became jocular. The captain offered me meat out of a tin and the doctor shouted for some more wine.

"We must see what we can do," they said. At first it seemed as if they shared something amusing and secret. Then, as one offered me a cigaret and the other lit it, there was a flash of hostility. Both men leaned forward as if they wanted to impress themselves upon me and each ignored the other. The doctor's voice was harsh. "You must come to my tent, Madame, I will arrange that certificate for you."

"Madame is tired," interpolated the captain. "She must rest first—in my room."

Suddenly, they were like two animals growling at each other over a piece of flesh, but the boy propped in the doorway took no notice of them. There was something inhuman in his detachment.

A glass upset as the doctor pushed back his chair and the wine ran over my skirt. My eyes wouldn't focus for I faced the glare which came in from the yard like a stream of molten metal, but I felt that safety lay in the open. So I went out and the boy smiled in a curiously detached fashion as if I were part of a dream which did not concern him at all. "My tent is just over there," said the doctor, hurrying after me. We passed a guard room full of scarlet fezes and the sun was a blade driven into the back of one's neck. Inside the tent the flies were like a curtain. On a wooden case lay stained instruments. There was a basin half full of dirty water. Over everything lay a film of sand and dust.

"I am not settled yet. I have not really unpacked," said the doctor, fumbling with the ropes of the flaps. "I've been out on trek for months and seen nothing but rotten Bedouin with their loathsome diseases. My God, I tell you one dare not drink their coffee and as for touching their women, faugh!"

He spat on the unclean sand. It was already littered with cigaret ends and torn scraps of cotton wool.

The flap fell shutting us into a mellow gloom and all the flies rose with a buzz that would have done credit to an orchestra.

"You don't want to be inoculated, do you?" asked the doctor, rubbing a chin which bristled between the beads of sweat. Perhaps he wished he had shaved.

"Of course not," I said, eyeing the litter of septic instruments and wondering how I could avoid blood-poisoning.

"That's all right. Then we understand each other," he chuckled, and seized me round the waist. For a second I was pressed against a hirsute chest which smelled like the hide of an animal. A shock of dusty hair was buried in my neck. Lips closed on my flesh and—well, it was just luck. I threw myself backwards and my nailed heel came down on the bare toes of my assailant. He let go of me so suddenly that I fell across the bed. Now he will kill me, I thought to myself, but pain had a sobering effect on the doctor. He lurched across to a packing case, slumped on to it and regarded his foot, which was a nasty sight.

"I'm sorry," I began doubtfully.

"It doesn't matter," he muttered and between spasmodic attempts at staunching the blood with a dirty khaki handkerchief, he burst out with: "This is no life for a man! Two years of it, I tell you, with nothing but the sun, and a gramophone which drives us mad because it reminds us of Paris. We sit there, staring at each other across that infernal hut. The whole place is foul with insects. We drink to avoid thinking and every day we watch each other cunningly to see what's happening, and each man says to himself: 'I'm stronger than the others. I shall stick it out long after they've gone under.' But all the time he is afraid, deadly afraid. Men go mad here in this sun." Suddenly he was on his feet, tearing at the flap. "Look here. Look at it, I say."

There was nothing but blinding white desolation.

With a grunt, he threw himself at my knees. "There is a girl at home, whom I wanted to marry, but she couldn't wait. You are all the same, you women. . . ." His hands were on my shoulders, forcing me back. His mouth found mine and I felt none of the proper emotions, only an intense physical sickness that robbed me of initiative. The man was immensely strong. I felt as if I were struggling with something primitive and uncomprehending, but when a hand touched my face I bit it with all the strength left to me. By this time I was crying and my breath came in great sobs which hurt my chest, but I remember the taste of the blood.

"Sacre Diable," swore the man, shifting his grip, and while he hesitated, I wrenched myself from his arms. My hat was somewhere under our feet. My belt had gone. Stupidly I stared at my assailant and at that moment, while I was only conscious of the figure which blocked my escape, a dreadful, congested figure with bloodshot eyes and a torn shirt, the captain burst into the tent. "Grand dieu, what is this? Twice have I sent for Madame. . . ."

The doctor turned on him and there was as much joy as rage in his voice. "Get out of my tent, you. . . ."

The epithet was like the crack of a pistol.

The captain's face went white. "Am I in command here or you . . ." he sputtered before his fury mastered him. The case with the instruments on it went over like a dead tree before the charge of a herd. In another second the two were at each other's throats and their hands were deep-gripped, their eyes ecstatic. For how many weeks and months they must have longed for such an opportunity!

Bareheaded, I stumbled into the sun. My feet belonged to somebody else. They ran without purpose and I couldn't see where I was going. In such fashion I blundered against the youngest officer. "Not that way," he said, and took me by the arm. I struggled feebly and protested. "Let me go. I want to get away. . . ."

"So you shall," he said. "I've got the car here. We'd better be quick"; and he bundled me—almost without volition—across the blistering yard, round a corner and into the Chevrolet.

The driver slammed in his gear. "But what will happen—they'll all kill each other," I gasped, leaning out over the melons and the small boys, by this time inextricably mixed.

The young officer shrugged his shoulders. "God alone knows," he said, and I saw that his eyes were opaque like those of the opium smokers I had seen in Persia. He did not turn when a flustered black raced across the yard. In another minute we were away, with the wheels skidding in the loose sand and all the Arabs crouching forward as if they expected a volley.

There was a crash somewhere behind us. The car jolted over the rough ground and the descending gears screamed.

"Out of range," muttered the driver at last, and "Praise be to Allah," said the old Arab, "that He has delivered you from the hands of savages."

G. O. P. Senators Quake And Change Strategy As States Switch To Demos

Growing Fear That Hoover More Interested in His Chances Causes Establishment of Senatorial Campaign Fund

By CHAS. S. HAYDEN
Record News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—There is a growing conviction in well informed political circles that nothing less than a Republican landslide in November will save control of the senate for that party in the next congress. This has created something very like a panic among the distinguished statesmen who are up for re-election and the feeling that perhaps President Hoover is more interested in his own election than in theirs has prompted a change in campaign strategy. The Republican senatorial campaign committee, for the first time since 1918, has decided to wage the battle independent of the Republican national committee, with which it has been merged in recent campaign years.

Hard Fights Ahead

The senate as now constituted consists of 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats, one Farmer-Labor and one vacancy, created through the recent death of Senator Charles W. Waterman, Republican, Colorado. Of this number there are 32 whose terms expire next March and of these 17 are Republicans and 15 Democrats. It so happens, however, the Democrats either will be re-elected or succeeded by some other Democrat, since they hail from states concededly Democratic this year. Most of the Republicans, on the other hand, must fight and the issue will be in doubt for them until the day of election. Two already have met defeat in party primaries, Brookhart of Iowa and Shortridge of California. Of the Democrats Morrison of North Carolina was defeated for renomination while Hawes of Missouri did not seek another term, the nomination having been won by Bennett C. Clark, son of the late Champ Clark.

Casting up accounts it appears the Democrats who stand to face the hardest fights this year are Bulkley of Ohio, Clark of Missouri, McGill of Kansas and Wagner of New York. Among the Republicans the following either have expressed alarm or their friends have indicated it for them: Bingham of Connecticut, Davis of Pennsylvania, Glenn of Illinois, Moses of New Hampshire, Oddie of Nevada, Smoot of Utah, Steiwer of Oregon, and Watson of Indiana, while it is known that Tallent Tubbs, who won the nomination from Shortridge in California, will have trouble in defeating William Gibbs McAdoo in that state. The three Republicans who appear most certain for re-election are Blaine of Wisconsin, Nye of North Dakota and Dale of Vermont, which isn't a particularly comforting thought for the old guard.

Plans Changed

In furtherance of the plan to conduct a separate campaign Senator Henry D. Hatfield, West Virginia, chairman of the senatorial committee, has filed his first report with the secretary of the senate. This shows the committee has made collections of $15,800 and still has a balance of $7,204. In former years the entire $15,800 would have been turned into the treasurer of the Republican national committee and allocations would have been made for those states where money was needed.

The Democrats this year are following a somewhat similar plan with reference to the conduct of their senatorial and congressional campaign committees. This, however, is not so unusual with them as they have heretofore maintained separate entities during campaign years. Usually they have been housed with the Democratic national committee but this was more for convenience than anything. This year, however, even this will not be attempted and their committee headquarters are to be set up in Washington, probably about Sept. 15.

NEW 'ULTIMATE PARTICLE' SEEN

Scientist Identifies Light Electric Charge

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (AP)—Identification of what may be a new ultimate particle of matter was announced tonight by Dr. Carl D. Anderson, associate of Dr. Robert A. Millikan of California Institute of Technology.

It is an extremely light positive charge of electricity, seemingly about 1,800 times less in mass than previously observed positive charges.

The accepted "ultimate particles" of matter have been the electron, a light negative charge of electricty, the proton a positive charge 1,850 times more in mass than an electron, and the neutron, a particle with no electrical charge whatever.

"Up to the present," Dr. Anderson states in Science, a "positive electron has always been found with an associated mass 1,850 times that associated with the negative electron.

"In measuring the energies of charged particles produced by cosmic rays some tracks have recently been found which seem to be produced by positive particles but if so the masses of these particles must be small compared to the mass of the proton."

These queer particles resulted from splitting up atoms with a bombardment of cosmic rays. Their "tracks" were trails made in vapor and record photographically.

Dr. Anderson discusses the meaning of these photographed trails stating that while there can be other interpretations, the most plausible one is the strangely light weight positive particle.

Stone Defends Farm Marketing System

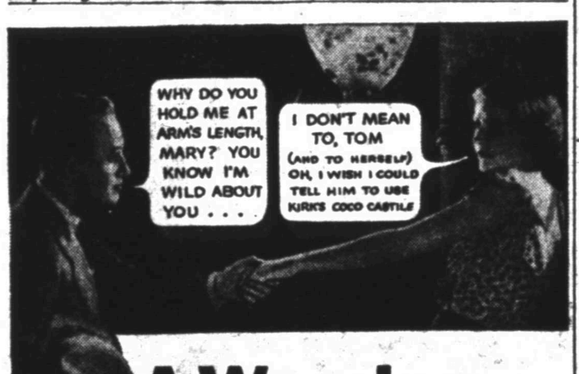

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 8. (AP)—Cooperative marketing, in the opinion of James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board, offers the only permanent solution for the farmer's problems.

Addressing the annual farm dinner at the New York state fair last night, Chairman Stone urged New York farmers to fight for the cooperative plan. "The attack on it," he said, "has just started."

Stone defended the federal agricultural marketing act and the farm board, which administers the act, against what he said had been unjustified criticism.

Stone said that in three troubled years the farm board has made loans to farmers' cooperative organizations of $1,019,000,000. This, he said, in turn encouraged further credit from private sources.

Miss Lucile King Honoree At Another Lovely Party

One of the prettiest parties given to honor Miss Lucile King, a charming bride-elect of Saturday evening, Sept. 10, was a bridge and miscellaneous shower in which Mrs. Irvin J. Vogel was hostess at the Wichita club. The dainty colors chosen by Miss King were stressed in the orchid and yellow motif of the flowers and other appointments.

A shower of miscellaneous gifts was presented in a clever fashion, when little Jimmie Kerr Stodghill, dressed in overalls and straw hat, pulled in a miniature farm wagon with a unique cover of grain, the body loaded with gifts. The wagon was chosen as symbolic of Mr. Morris' work as a farm experiment agent.

Mrs. D. O. McKneely received a crystal compote for high score prize in the games; Mrs. L. V. Abernathy was given a dainty dinner bell as winner of second high and a deck of cards was awarded to Miss Reva Rae Brown as cut prize. All trophies were presented to the honoree.

The delicious refreshment plate was served to the honoree, and to Mesdames Floyd Randel, J. T. Gant, Clifford Deaton, James Maxwell Jr., Van Littleton, Temple Williams, D. O. McKneely, John Ebner, Marconi Hobbs, John Akin, C. V. Reynolds, Seth Moore, Henry Ford, Lindel Stone, L. A. Reid, L. V. Abernathy, Walter Caldwell, T. A. Smith, C. C. Randle, T. L. Wheeler, Allan Montgomery, Melvin Hobbs, B. F. Campbell, M. K. Cross, William E. Young, C. V. Stodghill, Leslie Neill, Dishman, and Misses Reva Rae Brown, Doris Brown, Louise Kay, Ellen Hooker, Isabel Stone, Adeena Kouri, Laurie Burns, Lena Fisher, Sadie Fisher, Marietta Hunt, Artie Neva King, Elizabeth Carrigan, Margaret Morgan, Roberta King and Mildred Presley, and the hostess, Mrs. Vogel.

Playlet Given by Lamar Baptist Group

Intermediate G. A. members were in charge of the program when young people of Lamar Baptist church met Wednesday evening in the usual session. L. H. Hood led the songs with Mrs. A. E. Stanley at the piano and Mrs. S. F. Martin presided in a business meeting. Dr. R. W. Rutherford gave the opening prayer.

Plans for a library were discussed after the usual reports were given and Mrs. J. M. Tanner gave an interesting report on the recent encampment at Prescott farm.

The Intermediate G. A. program opened with song followed by an inspiring devotional by Mrs. A. A. Foster. Miss Miriam Lowe was in charge of the program and Mrs. S. F. Martin led in prayer.

Following a duet by Misses Lavaughna Roberts and Juanita Allred, a clever playlet was given with Mrs. E. A. Stanley, Misses Lavaughna Roberts, Juanita Allred, Faye Powell, Ima Loy Stone and Mr. L. H. Hood took part.

A song by the G. A. group and prayer by Mrs. Nicholson closed the meeting.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We talked of books, my friend and I. We remembered the clean and interesting stories we read as girls and compared them with the girl's stories written today. Perhaps you, too, have read and remember Louisa May Alcott's stories.

It may be that "Little Men" and "Little Women" would be too simple for 12 to 14 of today, but they spelled enchantment for us. "Jo's Boys," and "Eight Cousins" and "Rose in Bloom" were quite as enthralling. We do not know exactly what it was that kept us reading them over and over again, unless they were an ideal of the cheerful child life that was our ideal. Someone in "Rose in Bloom" used to pronounce pneumonia "pewmonia," and that was excruciatingly funny to us.

Then "Robinson Crusoe" and "Swiss Family Robinson." Are they read today? We laughed at our friend's tale of her brother's passion for "Swiss Family Robinson." "He read it over and over," she said, "and we laughed at him so much that he got in the habit of crawling under the bed where he would lie on his stomach and push the springs up with his feet. We would see the mound in the bed and look under it and find him with his nose buried in the book."

Finally one day she grew so tired of seeing him read it that when she found it on the table, she burned it, and great was the howl. We believe she feared the root of adventure was being too deeply imbedded in his mind.

We had each Christmas a volume of "Chatterbox," which must have been a magazine bound at the end of the year and issued in that form. We remember vaguely a thriller that ran through it, "Six Girls." We wish some day we might find a Chatterbox and read a page or two to find if it would touch us now.

"Tom Brown at Rugby" and "Tom Brown at Oxford" were other favorites of ours. Somehow they have never appealed to any of our children. We remember a character in the latter book who got drunk at a college party and when his friends discovered him, he was digging a hole to "bury the college silver for poshterity." That sentence of his was quoted and requoted by us as about the funniest sentence we ever heard. What a sense of humor we had.

Then later on came the Henty books; our home was filled with the series. The "Five Little Peppers" were classics and when our children began to choose, the books to which they turned their attention were these and the Miss Minerva series. The first novel we ever read was "Jane Eyre" and the second, "Mill on the Floss." The former has lost its gruesome fascination for us; we think we will sample the latter some day.

But leaving the books of this day and of a past day for further consideration, we want to tell you something that may make you laugh as it did us.

One of our friends has had to have some removable bridge work done lately and was somewhat troubled by the bridges. Finally after so long a time, he went up to the dentist's office and was asked, "Well how are the bridges?" "Just fine," said the boy; "I couldn't tell I had them in my mouth." "Let's take a look," said the dentist, then as he leaned over to look in the opened mouth, he gasped, "Well where are they?" The patient remembered he had left the bridges in a cup of water in his room.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

FAMILY RECORDS

It is usual to smile at family records. Smiles aside they are very useful things. It all depends of course, on what you keep them for and of what use you make them. The record of births and deaths in the family Bible are useful for reference. They may embarrass the people who forget to count birthdays occasionally, but otherwise they are handy to have when they're needed.

The records I have in mind are those kept for the children. I think a baby book is a fine idea. A good stout blank book is best for the purpose. In it the mother enters everything she considers of importance about the child. His date of birth, his gifts from admiring friends and relatives, his first smile, first tooth, a record of his development day or week or month—as it happens to show.

When the child is older, along about 5, things begin to be complicated. He begins to show traits of character, his conduct takes on color and action. Some of his habits, or expressions, are undesirable. Some faults that must be corrected show themselves. Set these down as they come. Write the date, the statement of the point you noted, and whatever particular concerning them you can bring to mind.

Say the child has a temper tantrum. Note the time of the day, who was in the room, what they had been saying or doing, what you said or did, and how it all ended. These points are important. If you make a report on the child's habits frequently in this fashion you will soon have enough material to help you interpret the child's behavior. If you can see the cause of his difficulty the cure is half complete.

If you note that the child has had a temper tantrum every time his great uncle visited the house you will know that the next time he comes the child is going to be absent. If the record shows that every tantrum, or most of them, came along about 11 o'clock in the morning you arrange his morning so that he will not be completely fagged out by 11, or whatever hour his fatigue curve dropped to the bottom. Give him a period of rest. He won't want it, no child ever does. The more he needs it the less he seems to want it. Don't talk about it. Don't tell him he is cross because he is tired. Let the tantrum pass in silence if possible but arrange the next day to avoid it by changing the program.

All anniversaries are to be noted; all sicknesses, and their characteristics; all high spots; all the failures and the successes. If you do this you will find that you are learning a great deal about this child. You will soon feel that you are one speaking in authority, the authority of apt knowledge.

These records are to be strictly private. Keep them where nobody can see them.

Emily Post Discusses Rules Of Sportsmanship

By EMILY POST
Author of "Etiquette, the Blue Book of Social Usage."

Since sportsmanship exacts the highest attributes in the entire range of etiquette, let us see what sportsmanship means. In competitive sports, there are two types of players—both admirable. The first is the stoic, by which I mean one who plays with what is known as a poker face, an expression which betrays not a glimmer of information or triumph or chagrin. The second is the spontaneously natural player whose sportsmanship is of such perfection that no poker mask is necessary, because he has nothing to hide. In other words, the highest type of sportsman lets the entire audience see his pleasure or disgust, because both are fleeting and neither for a second expresses temper, exultation or conceit.

Poker Faces

For the beginner it is usually necessary to learn the rule of safety, which is to assume the expression—or lack of it—of a wooden Indian. That is, if John Brown is likely to feel smug or overpleased with himself if he wins, and resentful or angry or sulky if he loses, then John Brown is one who must train his features to express nothing of what he feels. To learn perfect self-control so as neither to smile or frown—to play like a machine exactly—is the pattern that most beginners must follow until hatred of unfairness and contempt for the whining loser and the crowing winner becomes so deeply ingrained in their natures that they need never be other than as they are.

The ideal player is always one whose amiability and fair-mindedness and a certain detached attitude towards his own play meet every situation with easy grace. Apparently one might say he breaks all rules because he dares to show chagrin and he dares to show delight. But those who watch him carefully notice that his smile is sometimes happy when he has made a particularly good play, and that he perhaps makes a grimace at a bad one, but it will also be noticed that he never looks triumphant when his opponent makes a bad play or disappointed when his opponent makes a brilliant one. His expressions, in short, are merely light-hearted smiles of amusement or shrugs of regret at trivial points. And in the championship matches such men and women are precisely those who are the idols of the public. Every player of games, whether it be golf or tennis, bridge or backgammon, must learn amiability and casualness in either winning or losing. He who has any difficulty in self-control must hold tight to the mask of safety, with never relaxing intensity.

The definite rules for acquiring perfect sportsmanship include the following: Keeping your attention fixed on the game and play the best you know how, but don't think about what others may be thinking of your skill or its lack, or whether they are admiring you or the contrary. One of the principal rules of sportsmanship, and one of the fundamental traits of a gentleman, is not to be a gloating winner. A crowing winner is even more disliked than a complaining or protesting or sulking loser. Take your defeats light-heartedly, good-temperedly, and your winnings casually—or perhaps briefly is the better word.

Forget It!

If you win or lose a game of cards, or backgammon, what of it? If you win a long-drawn contest, such as the local golf or tennis championship, it is natural to feel elated, and quite proper to show your elation for the barest moment of time. Grin as broadly as you feel like grinning when you are congratulated, smile broadly when the cup is presented to you. You would not be human otherwise, but after it is over, don't boast or keep on talking about how well you played. On the other hand, when you lose don't explain at length why you lost—and above all, don't give as the reason that you were not feeling well. I add this purposely because it is the outstanding flaw in many women's sportsmanship. In short, whether you lose or whether you win, forget it!

And now let us turn for a moment to the onlookers at games. There is no advice to give about watching tennis because the onlookers are not very near. But in following a golf match, one must keep well back and give the players plenty of room; one must not laugh or speak or move while any one nearby who is about to play is addressing the ball. A woman playing with a man should hire her own caddy. If there is no caddy available she puts at most two clubs in his bag and carries a third in her hand and leaves the rest behind.

At one time it was necessary merely that poor, meaning slow players, should allow expert players to pass, but today the courses are so crowded that is is necessary to let the next players play through whenever there is a clear hole ahead. In fact it is correct that they ask it.

One last word, if you play a match, the word of the umpire is final. To protest against the decision of an umpire or a judge is in worst taste, and remember that whenever a question arises, a true sportsman always gives his opponent the benefit of the doubt.

Impressive Rite Honors Member Of Auxiliary

Members of the auxiliary to the David McCaleb chapter, Spanish War Veterans, met at the Memorial auditorium Thursday afternoon and paid impressive tribute to one of their members, Mrs. Mary Pearl Bailey, who recently died at her home in Vernon.

Mrs. Della Stroud, pianist, played a stately funeral march while the color bearers escorted Mrs. Lillian Frazer, the chaplain, to the charter, which she draped for Mrs. Bailey. Resolutions of respect and sympathy were read by the chairman of the committee appointed, which included Mesdames Anna V. Dalton, Alice Miller and Mary A. Rogers. It was voted that a copy should be spread on the minutes and one sent to the family of the deceased member.

Mrs. Miller, who went as a delegate to the national convention held in August in Milwaukee, made an interesting report of the proceedings. The pass word for the next six months was given the members in the short business meeting, when plans for the autumn and winter were discussed.

Prayer and the usual impressive ceremonies closed the meeting.

Jubilee Fashion Show Will Contrast Changing Styles

Arrangements for one of the major social events of the 50th anniversary celebration in Wichita Falls, Sept. 26-28, were tentatively planned Thursday afternoon calling for a style review of fall and winter fashions at the Memorial auditorium the night of Sept. 27, when styles of past days will be contrasted with modern models.

The plans were discussed by representatives of the Woman's Forum, the fine arts department of the forum and the executive committee of the retail merchants division of the chamber of commerce. The plans are subject to the approval of Mrs. Guy Rogers, forum president, who is out of the city and will return Saturday when final plans will be worked out.

Committees will be named to handle the various details of a colorful production of trends in women's wear with a background of music, dancing and singing entertainment. Solo and ensemble numbers are planned for presentation by the fine arts department of the forum with a continuous theme of instrumental numbers for the changing scenes.

Tickets for the occasion will be handled by the retail merchants of the city and will be free to the public without obligation. The production is expected to make an especial appeal to women throughout the Wichita Falls area and every effort will be made to invite the style-shopping public of the entire section.

Mercolized Wax Keeps Skin Young

DO you know that just beneath that soiled, discolored, faded or aged complexion is one fair to look upon? Nature causes the normal skin to peel off in tiny, unseen, flour-like particles, a little each day, renewing the complexion of youth naturally, but there comes a time when this skin shedding slows up. Worry, overwork, sickness, inactivity are reasons that cause the face to be blotchy, discolored, rough and old looking. The thing to do, if you wish to look your prettiest at all times, is to assist nature in the process of absorption by using pure Mercolized Wax. Get an ounce at any drug store or beauty counter and use as directed. It gently but surely peels away the outer scarf skin, removing freckles, blackheads, oiliness or a muddy complexion. The under skin is then clear, pink, fresh and velvety, and the face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty. Powdered Saxolite quickly reduces wrinkles and other age signs. Simply dissolve one ounce of Powdered Saxolite in one-half pint witch hazel and use as an astringent lotion.

ALTUS CANNING KITCHEN BUSY

4,000 Cans Preserved With Community Canner

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Sept. 8.—Four thousand cans of fruits and vegetables were preserved in the Altus community canning kitchen which has just closed after operation of the past three months in this city for persons of all Jackson county.

Large quantities of vegetables were donated by Jackson county farmers to be canned by persons who did not raise vegetables this year. A large supply of food for needy persons of this county was secured at a very small cost.

There was no expense for operation of the kitchen after it was first installed. Use of the building as well as the lights, water and gas, was furnished without charge. Local business firms assisted in installing the equipment.

A toll of two out of every one dozen glass jars canned was retained at the kitchen for the use of the equipment. This food will be used to assist in caring for needy persons here this winter.

Wichitan to Prosecute Henrietta Murder Case

Cedric Taylor, Wichita Falls lawyer, has been named as special prosecutor in the trial of N. W. Threadgill on a charge of murder before Judge Vincent Stine in the 97th district court at Henrietta on Sept. 19.

Earl Hall, county attorney-elect, has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of William Glasgow, deceased, but is disqualified to prosecute the Threadgill case because he had served as attorney for the defendant in the past.

Threadgill, formerly a resident of Wichita Falls, is charged with killing Ray Wood with a pistol about six miles south of Henrietta last Jan. 26. Both men were Clay county farmers at the time.

Frank Bunting of Henrietta has been employed by friends of the deceased as a special prosecutor.

Texas Suspect Held By Illinois Officers

EFFINGHAM, Ill., Sept. 8. (INS)—A man arrested here last week for "investigation" today was identified by fingerprints forwarded here from Washington, D. C., as James D. Masion, 26, of Houston, Texas, who is wanted for bank robbery at Olla, La., and jail breaking at Marksville, La., state highway police announced.

At the time of the man's arrest here a woman, giving the name of Mrs. J. E. Kerns, 25, of Beaumont, Texas, who was accompanying Masion was also taken into custody. She is still held for "investigation." State highway police took them into custody for driving an automobile with only one Texas license plate. Police reported two guns were found in the automobile.

Civic Groups Complete Budget Considerations

Deliberations of representatives of Wichita county chambers of commerce on the county budget were completed Thursday afternoon and will be presented to the directors of the chambers for approval before Monday, when the report will be presented to the commissioners court. Chambers of commerce making the study met at C. B. King's office at the Panhandle building.

The interested chambers include the Wichita Falls, Wichita Falls Junior group, Burkburnett, Iowa Park and Electra.

WARNING! Don't Let This Go Too Long

Hair in your comb is a warning of approaching baldness. Don't ignore it. Get a bottle of antiseptic JAPANESE OIL and massage it into your scalp every night. If your hair roots are not dead, it will stop your hair from falling out and grow new hair on the thin and bald spots.

JAPANESE OIL is the scientific method of correcting hair and scalp troubles. It helps Nature feed starved hair roots by stimulating the circulation in the scalp. It removes dandruff, stops itch and promotes the growth of thick, healthy hair. Mr. H. Johnson, 5309 Sixth avenue, Brooklyn, New York, writes:

"My hair began falling out very badly. I was told by a friend to try JAPANESE OIL and have used it for several months. My hair has stopped falling and I can recommend JAPANESE OIL to those troubled with falling hair and dandruff."

JAPANESE OIL, the antiseptic medicine for the hair and scalp, costs $1 at any Rexall Drug Store or other good druggists.—Adv.

Burk Pioneer, 54 Years In County, Recalls When There Was Real Falls In Wichita Falls

Half Century in Wichita County

Churn Was Big Attraction For Comanche Tribe

Game And Fish Abundant Over Entire Section

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dodson of the Burkburnett community and longtime residents of Texas. Mr. Dodson accompanied his family to the banks of Red River 54 years ago. Mrs. Ella Dodson, herself a member of a pioneer family, recalls the hardships of the frontier days. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Smith.

A panorama of Wichita area history has unrolled before the eyes of A. Dodson of the Burkburnett community covering a continuous residence in this county of 54 years. Mr. Dodson has resided longer in Wichita county than any other living resident, although he is several years younger than many old timers.

Mr. Dodson's sister, Mrs. May Belle Pitcock of Devol, Okla., was the first white girl baby born in what is now Wichita county. He has resided here since the age of 2 years, coming with his family from Lamar county in the fall of 1873.

His father, Monroe Dodson, was a native of Tennessee and resided in Wichita Falls eight years prior to his death Feb. 24, 1927.

The Dodson family's fortunes were none the best after the long wagon trek across the prairie and wore almost totally wrecked shortly after their arrival when horse thieves took their two horses. However, the head of the family secured another team and the family lived in a dugout on the banks of Red river, two miles north of Burkburnett, where Mrs. Pitcock was born.

Recalls Burnett's Aid

There were no neighbors in many miles of the Dodson homestead and S. B. Burnett's 6666 ranch lay to the west. Mr. Burnett assisted Mr. Dodson in every way possible and supplied him with numerous jobs of carpenter work. Mr. Burnett was frequently worried over the welfare of the Dodson children and one day told the father to catch every wild cow on his range he could to secure milk for the youngsters. Assisted by his eldest son, Mr. Dodson roped and milked the range animals regularly.

The nearest railway connections were Gainesville and Fort Worth and the entire Wichita area presented a paradise of wild game. The wild grass on the Red river valley grew to great lengths and a horseman could hardly be seen riding through it, Mr. Dodson recalls.

Wild deer, antelope, prairie chickens, turkeys and other game abounded and Mr. Dodson remembers seeing his father take an old rifle, with the hammer gone, firing it with a rock into a flock of turkeys and killing two.

The elder Dodson was employed by a Mr. Thompson during his first year's residence here to assist in gathering buffalo bones in the Vernon area for hauling to Gainesville. Mr. Dodson's father often recalled his first visit to Wichita Falls before the railroad arrived.

An enterprising settler had developed a horse ranch in what is the northeast portion of the city on the south bank of the Wichita river and conducted a small store located about where Lee street is now.

When the Fort Worth and Denver railway first began construction the elder Dodson took his family for a short stay two miles west of Fort Worth, working on the contract for "mile No. 2" on the new road. Mrs. Dodson cooked for 35 men on the section at the time.

Mr. Dodson's father bought 200 acres at $1.75 per acre when he moved to Wichita county and later sold 100 acres at $2 per acre to enable the family to stay on their frontier land.

Destruction of Falls

Mr. Dodson has seen the organization of Wichita county, Wichita Falls, founding of Burkburnett, all railroads now here build in and out of the city. He recalls the four-foot-high falls on the Wichita river just east of the Ohio street bridge and the destruction of the falls.

A rock dam was built across the river in a plan to harness the water power suggested by the falls, but the dam went out with the first head rise and the rock and force of the water leveled the falls. The Dodson family frequently forded the river below the falls in the early days and a few times a ferry boat was used in making the crossing.

Settlers in the Red river valley used a third-class road running almost in a straight line from the present site of Burkburnett to Wichita Falls. As the county became more settled farmers fenced off the road and erected gates along it. Mr. Dodson remembers opening and closing nine gates, 18 for the round trip, on a visit to Wichita Falls. As more farmers moved in all the valley group would register displeasure declaring their road was being ruined.

The formal opening of the Ohio street bridge was a gala occasion and staged on a Fourth of July. Mr. Dodson said. A band of 1,500 Comanche Indians were imported from the Oklahoma territory for the occasion and camped near the Dodson home en route to the party.

During the celebration the Indians were packed on the bridge for the novelty of the occasion, but many Wichitans remarked at the time the tribesmen were used to test the strength of the new structure. The tribe camped on the south bank of the river between Indiana and Ohio streets and Wichitans donated several beeves for their food and Mr. Dodson remembers standing by, awed, as the redskins crammed down the raw meat.

Churn Drew Indians

Mr. Dodson knew the late Quanah Parker, Comanche chief, well and the Dodson home was frequently visited by Quanah's tribesmen. While Mr. Dodson was a youth at home the Comanches would gather around while he churned the family supply of buttermilk, having never previously viewed a churn or dash in action. The Indians would laugh at his work and would reach out and wiggle the dasher when he stopped work.

The Indians were fond of the family watermelon patch that it was Mr. Dodson's duty to keep up. Melons were taken frequently by both Indians and cowboys and a trail was beat out across the patch. The elder Dodson decided on a ruse to protect the melons and it worked.

He took an empty strychnine bottle and carelessly tossed it under the fence where the trail entered the melon patch. The patch went undisturbed by prowlers thereafter. The poison had been used by the Dodson boys in trapping skunks, coyotes and 'possums for their furs. The suggestion of poison served to frighten both Indians and white people away.

The Comanches flocked to Hardin's store at Burkburnett to trade their furs for supplies and large quantities of Jamaica ginger, containing a per cent of alcohol. The Indians would crowd into the store trading Mexican fashion—buying and paying for one article at a time—keeping Mr. Hardin busy. Some of the tribesmen would watch for an opportunity and take some of the furs from the store, returning a few minutes later to resell them to the proprietor.

First School

The first school attended by Mr. Dodson was held in a dugout and taught by a young woman from Tennessee. The school teacher was terrified at thought of "injuns" and refused to let the pupils—accustomed to the Comanches—leave her sight during recess periods. The school dugout was located near the old S. P. Hawkins place.

The elder Dodson was one of the organizers of the first church in the area a few years after the school was opened, but for many years only an occasional roving preacher was obtained for services.

Mr. Dodson recalls the first funeral in the community when a 15-year-old boy named Judie Pitts was buried a few days after he was injured when a horse threw him.

Mr. Dodson's father assisted in the slaughter of a bull buffalo in the northwestern edge of Henrietta during the early days when the community was small. The buffalo had strayed into a farmer's cornfield and a "death warrant" was sworn out. The animal was skinned and the meat distributed among the group figuring in the kill.

Plenty of Fish and Game

The Dodson family menus often revealed a variety of wild game. The rivers and streams of the area were alive with fish—large ones too—and there was no closed season. The season was equally open on prairie chicken and Mr. Dodson remembers seeing a covey estimated at over 2,000 near his home.

While a youngster of about 12 years he witnessed a large cattle drive by his home with the clouds of dust raised by the herd remaining on the horizon all day. The herd was placed at 15,000 head and was being trailed from South Texas to pastures further north and west.

Mr. Dodson was in school at the time.

As a youngster about home Mr. Dodson recalls the M. Gilbert tract east of his home which the Gilbert family settled in 1855 but moved out during the Indian trouble following the Civil war. Mr. Gilbert had dug a large ditch about his 10-acre patch to keep the buffalo out of his crops and Mr. Dodson as a child played about the ditch.

With the organization of Clay county and the later organization of Wichita county and the Wichita Falls town lot sale the people flocked to the western territory and development was rapid in comparison with the first few years of the Dodson family's residence.

Mr. Dodson is trustee for a 2,200-acre estate on Red river today and resides in a comfortable home on the estate. He is a leader in the monthly Burkburnett rodeo events and presents a colorful figure on a handsome paint pony—white with sorrel spots—in the rodeo parades.

11 BILLED BY GRAHAM JURY

Young County Inquisitors Make Report

Eleven indictments were returned by the Young county grand jury this week at Graham after two days of investigation, according to District Attorney Sam B. Spence, who returned from Graham Thursday.

After the grand and petit juries had been impaneled Monday by Judge Allan D. Montgomery of the 30th district court, the judge delivered a brief address congratulating the citizens of Young county upon the completion of their imposing new courthouse.

One defendant indicted by the grand jury, T. G. Binkley Jr., entered a plea of guilty Wednesday to a charge of theft over $50 and was given a two-year suspended sentence.

The other indictments were as follows: Orvil King, rape; E. N. Brock, two cases of theft over $50; Tom L. Brusenhan, theft over $50; Allen Cearly and Bill Long, refusing to aid an officer in executing a warrant; Mrs. Ed Langford, possession of whisky for sale; W. D. Cribbs, possession of whisky for sale; Lloyd Mayes, horse theft; Dennis Beard, driving while intoxicated; Jack Bolton, driving while intoxicated.

All criminal cases were set for trial the week of Sept. 19, with the King assault case specially set for Sept. 22. Frank Beard was foreman of the grand jury.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food don't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your headaches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. Sle at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON.—It was sad news for a lot of folk when word came from both Republican and Democratic national committees that the 1932 presidential campaign would be run, financially speaking, on less than a fifth of the 1928 scale.

WALTER NEWTON

The prospect of campaign jobs of all sorts, with fat pay envelopes attached, has been buoying the hopes of many a veteran of past presidential battles.

Yet if the Democrats are to stay within a national campaign fund of a million and a half and the Republicans, as Treasurer Nutt indicated, possibly scale that down a quarter million, it is going to be a mighty lean year for that company of political worker professionals which turns out so enthusiastically every four years.

News?—Where Was It?

The first major White House campaign conference produced very little "spot" news despite the big men of the hour gathered in that pow-wow.

The reporters even had difficulty getting an official confirmation that there had been such a campaign strategy board council, although they actually saw National Chairman Sanders, Treasurer Nutt, Senator Hebert, eastern campaign manager; George Akerson, Henry Allen and others as well as Secretaries Mills, Hurley and Hyde, Postmaster General Brown and Walter Newton, Mr. Hoover's official political secretary, assemble for the conference with the president.

About the only thing said by Newton later as to what had been discussed was that three national hook-up radio reservations had been made for Hoover speeches, but with no definite decision as to where or when the speeches would be delivered.

Aside from that a suggestion that the president was going to be too busy considering economic problems to have time to worry much about his re-election.

His campaign, it was implied, was to be a sort of "spare time" affair.

And that idea of Mr. Hoover's presidential pre-occupation seems quite likely to be the answers made in his behalf by Mills, Hurley, Hyde et al. as to why he ignores Governor Roosevelt's thrusts.

A Likely Topic

On the day of that White House conference, however, Nutt in New York indicated what the limit of campaign fund might be and also spoke of the slow returns as yet from contributors.

So it seems reasonable to suppose that finances was the major theme with the Republican war council, as it had been earlier for Governor Roosevelt and Chairman Farley.

Cotton Season at Sunset Opens Early This Year

Special to The Record News.

SUNSET, Texas, Sept. 8.—The cotton ginning season opened at Sunset this year on Sept. 3, two days later than the opening season last year. The first bale this year was brought in by J. A. Holloway. It weighed 480 pounds and was sold to Layton & O'Brien, gin operators for eight and one-half cents a pound. The first bale last year was brought in by Jim Mosier, on Sept. 1. It weighed 565 pounds and was sold to Layton & O'Brien for seven cents a pound.

There seems to be no available correct estimate of the cotton crop here this year, but probably the number of bales may not reach above 1,000. The chance is against a top crop. Boll weevils are increasing in numbers and they have almost stopped cotton from blooming. There is a fair bottom crop of bolls on cotton that had a fair chance to make. Only a little of the crop has opened yet.

Hambone's Mediations

A "statesman" says that the depression will be over when Average Citizen starts to buy. He might simplify that by saying the depression will be over when Average Citizen gets money so he can buy.

Illinois Wesleyan college has announced it will accept farm produce in payment of fees. That may be all right to pay the faculty members with, but we'll bet the football team will demand cash.

Tax cuts have benefited the farmer greatly. Last year he was $200 short of having enough to pay his $200 tax bill. This year his tax bill is only $150 and he's only $150 short.

Nicoa Tesla, inventor, is trying to get a response from Mars and other planets. If he is successful, the Democrats might try asking him to get a response from Al Smith.

A Broadway chorus girl got $25,000 because one of the waving combs she bought exploded. That's what you might call a "permanent" award.

A writer tells us that Russian women now enjoy complete equality with the men. American women would never stand for such a backward step.

Now that so many parents have movie cameras to take pictures of their children, the spoiled ones are ruining everything by standing still.

Motorists who go speeding across the country miss a great deal, an auto club booklet says. And sometimes they hit a great deal, too.

A "ghost" was shot recently in a Canadian cemetery. Which may mean that the cemetery will now be haunted by the ghost's ghost.

In Scotland, a tax collector was chased for two miles by a cow. Now they're thinking of making the cow the national animal.

A story from Chicago says that Mr. Dawes has at last discarded his pipe. Maybe his best friend finally decided to tell him.

The girl who said she would marry only a man who knew life and its sorrows must have been talking about a widower.

What Price Civilization?

A RETURNING traveler from the far-off South Pacific landed in San Francisco the other day with news of Dr. Frederick Ritter and Frau Hilde Koerwin, formerly of Berlin, who have been living a Robinson Crusoe existence in a remote little island in the Galapagos group for the past two years, and are still quite happy about it.

They told him that they have no intention of quitting their tiny paradise, of which they are the sole inhabitants, and that they expect to live to be 100 years old in the contentment and solitude that is theirs. They have established their home in a rude open-air shack among the trees and live very comfortably, since the equatorial climate never varies.

It is difficult to understand why Dr. Ritter, once a prominent Berlin physician, and his pretty married nurse (undivorced, by the way) should choose to give up civilization and hie off to a far corner of the world to live like Adam and Eve on a tiny island all to themselves. But why worry over trying to understand it? It is entirely their own affair.

YET, one can't help believing that Dr. Ritter and his companion are just as happy as they say they are. They may have lost a lot of the attractions that civilization has to offer, but likewise they have gained a lot—for civilization, after all, has its price.

Far from the world's beaten path, they have escaped many things. They have no nosey neighbors eager to pry into their affairs, or always ready to bother by borrowing sugar or coffee; if Dr. Ritter chooses to come home slightly tipsy at night (although goodness only knows where he would be coming from) he need not worry, because there is no one to see him; he is free from worries about pay cuts or losing his job, never bothered by thoughts of the depression, immune from having to crawl out of bed and hustle off to work when the alarm clock rings in the morning, never troubled with the problem of paying bills on the first of the month, exempt from both house rent and taxes, never has to listen to the weary speeches of politicians or read about the scandals of Hollywood movie stars.

Frau Koerwin has her freedom, too. She doesn't have to worry about trying to make ends meet in running the household, washing dirty dishes, getting ready for bridge parties, re-making last year's dress to conform with the new fall styles or entertaining boresome guests who drop in at the most inopportune times and stay much longer than they are wanted.

Yes, there's a lot to be said in favor of a solitary existence on a desert island. So much so, in fact, it's liable to make one wonder when the next boat leaves for the South Seas and how much a ticket costs.

Free Speech Still Supreme

PRESIDENT HOOVER deserves commendation for the prompt manner in which he ordered the reinstatement of Ben H. Kerr, a world war veteran and clerk in the postoffice at Gary, Ind., who had been fired by a politically-minded postoffice department for daring to express his personal approval of the soldiers' bonus in a manner contrary to the views of the administration.

Mr. Kerr, as you doubtless read, introduced a resolution in favor of the bonus at a meeting of his local American Legion post. All this happened after his day's work at the postoffice was done, and it is very clear that he acted merely in his capacity as a private citizen. He was dismissed on a flimsy charge that he had violated a rule which prohibits government employes from "playing politics."

If Mr. Kerr's dismissal had been permitted to stand it would have set a precedent that would have muzzled the free speech of every employe in the government service. Unless he cared to risk losing his job, no government employe could have dared to express his personal opinion on the bonus, prohibition or any other national issue—if such personal opinion ran contrary to the views of the administration.

Nothing could have been more regrettable, or more unjust, in a land where freedom of speech is our oldest and most cherished tradition, the right of which is guaranteed by our constitution.

SO THEY SAY!

There is no sound reason why things should not get better. Everything went to a subnormal basis. The main thing we lacked was confidence and confidence is fast being restored.—Samuel M. Vauclain, chairman of the board, Baldwin Locomotive works.

Activities of the farm board during the past three years have been prejudicial to the cotton market and have contributed to a large extent to the low price level.—Oscar Johnston, cotton planter who operates 50,000 acres at Scott, Miss.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

(As if that mattered!)

That Ulysses Simpson Grant, general and president, could recognize only three melodies—"Yankee Doodle," "America" and the "Star-Spangled Banner."

(That's nothing! Many of our successful song writers today find themselves in the same rut!)

That U. S. currency was once printed by private companies.

That 54 different dialects are spoken in Shanghai, and that there are certain clans of Chinese living 14 miles apart who are unable to understand each other.

(And over here there are a lotta fellows who can't understand the woman who lives in the same house with them.)

That the Syrians considered it an omen of good luck to bring the word "five" into a conversation.

(Borrowing or lending?)

That flies have parasites.

(Well, why don't they use screens?)

That seven major laws govern the entire civilized world.

That a group of schoolboys, addicted to transposing first letters of words, gave the butterfly its name. The words used in the transposition were "flutter by."

That Massachusetts was the first state in the union to have a savings bank.

(But, why bring that up now?)

That in China the real name of Confucius is so sacred that it is a statutory offense to pronounce it.

That, among other things, the dead letter office of the postal department contains incorrectly addressed and poorly wrapped opium pipes, centipedes, coffin plates and chameleons.

(What! No report of incorrectly addressed rye?)

That while Africa speaks, Hawaii sings and barks. The sands on the beaches of Kauai do one or the other incessantly, depending on the seas.

That in ancient Egypt gold and iron rings were used as coinage.

That Maurice Proctor of Mineral Point, Iowa, received the smallest check on the U. S. mail service records . . . For seven years he received one cent per annum for carrying the mails on his coach from one town to another.

(It's fellas just like Mr. Proctor they fine for making unavoidable errors in their income taxes.)

That when General Butler was a lawyer he never failed to take a few sandwiches and a bottle of beer to court.

(If you took a bottle of beer to court today, you'd be accused of trying to bribe the jury.)

That, according to Harry Richman, the old saying, "Let us be gay" is now uttered as "Let us beg, eh?"

That less than a generation ago Wales boasted many professional "sin-eaters" who officiated at funerals and who were paid by the deceased family to eat bread and cheese off the bosom of the corpse . . . It was believed that in this way all sins would be devoured and the souls of the dead would rest in peace.

That Eskimos consider the kiss not as affection but as a prophylactic.

(If there's any truth to this, those honeymooners in the next apartment are plenty antiseptic.)

That the French instrument of execution named after Dr. Joseph Guillotine was not invented by him, and that the illustrious humanitarian grew prematurely gray because the device bore his name.

That Queen Christine of Sweden cursed like a musketeer, preferred to dress in mannish clothing and spoke 11 languages.

That Lord Byron refused to dine with his wife because he claimed it offended his sense of fastidiousness to see a woman eat.

(I wonder if I could get away with that excuse!)

That in Worcester, Mass., last July, a man was fined $1 for overloading a bicycle.

That President Andrew Jackson had to have most of his official speeches corrected for spelling.

(That should be the only difficulty of some of our recent presidents.)

That Lord Chesterfield, ever proper, spoke his last words to his valet, saying, "Give Dayrolees a chair." Dayrolees, a friend, was standing grief-stricken near the death bed.

That in Java the newly-wed couple pay respects to their respective in-laws by kissing their feet at the wedding.

That a house-breaker's easiest job is opening your door, and those new steel doors are even easier to open.

(They'll never get me. I've moved into a vault.)

That William Pitt was never known to answer a letter.

(That's what all my creditors will remember me for, too.)

That when Grover Cleveland was elected president, he insisted on residing in a private hotel suite and only moved into the White House after heated arguments with his associates.

That certain tribes in Africa practice substitution as punishment for murder. If you kill a man, his wife may compel you to take his place and immediately you lose all claim to your family, estate and identity.

(Boy, hand me a gun and show me Marlene Dietrich's husband.)

Altus Ships Five Cars Of Hides to Shoe Plant

Y., during the past six weeks, according to a check which has just been completed here. There has been practically no sale for hides for several months the past few weeks.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE FLOWER CLOCK—The "Blumenuhr" is situated in the midst of the famous Kurpark of Interlaken, a highly cosmopolitan resort in the Swiss Oberland. The park is very famous for its profusion of flowers. While I drew the clock on the spot last year a Swiss friend proudly pointed out to me that everything in the Kurpark is of flowers, even the clock.

A MOST DISTINGUISHED CAREER—Joseph Branch (1782-1863), famous American statesman, made his first appearance in public life as a state senator of North Carolina in 1811, and was re-elected to that office six times. In 1817 he was elected governor of the state of North Carolina, being re-elected to the office twice, 1818 and 1819. In 1822 he was elected as United States senator from North Carolina and re-elected in 1828. Before he completed his second term as United States senator he was appointed United States secretary of the navy in the cabinet of President Jackson. After resigning he was elected as congressman in 1831. He was defeated in running for re-election as governor in 1834. Ten years later, 1844, having in the meantime moved to the Territory of Florida, he was appointed governor of the territory by President Tyler. Florida became a state in 1844, and Branch automatically succeeded to the position of acting governor of the new state. He declined to run for governor of Florida again for the reason that in his long career he had already "sounded all the depths and shoals of honor."

How One Woman Lost 47 Lbs of Fat

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C. "P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks cost but a few cents.

When reducing attention to diet will help—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat.

To take off fat harmlessly and safely, take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning—don't worry—it's the safe way to reduce.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at Allison's Drug Store or any drug store in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back.—Adv.

Lubbock, Demo Convention City, As Far From South Texas As Florida

Houston Delegates and Newspaper Men Discover They Must Do Considerable Traveling to Reach Plains Town

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Sept. 8.—Houston newspaper men and delegates, whose senator, Walter F. Woodul, was instrumental in sending the Democratic state convention to Lubbock, are just figuring out that it would have been as near for them to have held it in Pensacola, Fla.

It wouldn't have been any longer trip to have set the convention over in Montgomery, Ala. Points are nearer in Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi, Florida, Kentucky, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, and Illinois isn't but about 50 miles more distant than the auto travel mileage from Houston to Lubbock.

Great Lakes as Near

They found, for instance, that a Rio Grande valley resident, could as easily go from Lubbock to the Great Lakes as he can return home from the convention.

This was the first Democratic state meeting to be sent to the Northwest Texas country, and nobody begrudged it. But just now, delegates and the "working press" are finding it will take about 24 hours by any travel except airplane to get there.

From Houston, one will go by automobile up through East Texas to Dallas, then to Fort Worth, then to Wichita Falls or to Abilene or Sweetwater, then turn north for a distance greater than the width of Louisiana, to finally reach the hub city of the plains.

Travel by train will require 19 hours from Austin—24 hours from Houston.

Several Routes

From Austin the alternative routes of 500 miles by Fort Worth or slightly over 400 miles by way of Brady and Coleman are accessible for travel if it doesn't rain too hard.

Chairman Polk Shelton has estimated a large delegation from Austin. Former Gov. James E. Ferguson will go Friday night to Lubbock. Gov. Ross S. Sterling will leave Saturday night.

An estimated 40 to 60 members of the Texas legislature—enough probably to break the quorum in both houses Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, are to go from Austin, if the legislature remains in session next week.

LEGION TIRED OF CRITICISM

Chief of Vets Contemplates Action Against Critics

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 8. (UP)—The American Legion is getting "sick and tired" of criticism of unfair opponents and critics of the organization, and his annual report will contain an important policy that may include court action for irresponsible slanderers, a statement from Henry L. Stevens Jr., national commander of the legion, said today.

The report of the national commander, now being prepared, will be distributed to the delegates at the first session of the convention and will read in part:

"There has been a decided effort this year, on behalf of many organizations, including among which can even be found certain instances of other veteran organizations, who have attempted to break down American Legion prestige by curtailing American Legion membership in the hope their own organizations might profit by the loss.

"We should answer all statements that tend to degrade and lessen the influence of our legion leaders, and, in certain instances perhaps go so far as to institute proceedings calculated to prevent a recurrence of slander and libel."

Commander Stevens viewed with regret, he said, "the infiltration of our opponents and critics into our very ranks."

Ragged Greek Peddler Reveals Bankroll On Arrest

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (UP)—George Karnavalos, 73, had 21 patches on his pants when he was arrested for peddling pies without a license but he had also a $7,516 bankroll hidden in his ragged garments.

When the bankroll was counted in the police station, two $500 bills were missing and Patrolman John Fry who made the arrest was suspended today pending investigation of the shortage.

Meantime under the guidance of the Greek consul, Karanavalos purchased the pie-selling license he had insisted he was too poor to buy. He also put the remainder of his money in a bank.

GREEK PREMIER QUITS, RETURNS

Venizelos Weathers Another Political Storm

ATHENS, Sept. 8. (AP)—Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, who has been in and out of office numerous times during the last dozen years, weathered another political storm today by surrendering the premiership for a few hours.

In response to a demand by the Royalist party that he be removed from office, he presented his resignation to President Zaimis. The president refused to accept it, and thereupon M. Venizelos announced that things would go their normal course until the partiamentary elections Sept. 25.

The attack on the premier was made by P. E. Tsaldaris, Royalist leader, who accused him with working with a military group in his pre-election activities.

On Tuesday M. Tsaldaris asked the president to appoint a premier who would insure uninfluenced voting.

M. Venizelos was in Crete at the time and action was held up until his return.

The regular quadrennial election is to be held late this month.

CALL OF THE WEST

by R.G. MONTGOMERY

WHEN STAN BALL, two-gun rider of the plains, undertook to prove that the powerful Delo Lumber company was robbing the Blind River ranchers there was trouble ahead—trouble for Ball and for the timber men, trouble that led to more than one killing and a long and bitter man hunt. There was trouble for pretty Dona Delo too. How she was kidnaped, rescued and later defied a mob bent on lynching a victim are highlights of "Call of the West," the thrilling new serial by R. G. Montgomery.

Here is a "western" especially written for the folks of Texas and Oklahoma. Montgomery, former cowboy, who has ridden the deserts and mountains of Montana, Colorado, Wyoming and Idaho, is attracting wide attention by his books and magazine work. He has produced a serial teeming with action and including a strong love story.

CHICAGO ADDS TO LEAD BY EVEN BREAK WITH BOSTON CREW

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Time to Go

Beginning next Monday, the Coyotes will take their drills in the open for only two more weeks. The last week of the training season Coach Ted Jefferies intends to take his boys behind closed doors in the final drive to prepare for the opening game of the season with Ardmore, Okla.

The school is offering a free pass to the opening game to all fans able to select the starting Coyote lineup. Already scores of Coyote boosters have been to the practice field to size up the squad as a preliminary to making their choice. This is to remind Coyote followers that they have only two more weeks in which to look 'em over.

Coach Jefferies and his assistants, Charlie Lindsey, Bill Morris and A. D. Beck are working with a squad of about 60 men now. So far all the talk and the work has concerned football. With the opening of school a few days hence Jefferies is going to add another subject to his list of lectures. And that is scholastic eligibility.

Coach Ted has a pretty fair squad to work with and he hopes to keep it intact. The only way it can be kept intact is for every man to use his noodle in the classroom, and study hard. The Coyotes have been bothered no little in the past by some star showing up with failing marks in enough of his courses to bar him from an important game. Since a new regime is starting at the high school in a coaching and football way, the squadmen had just as well start a new regime scholastically and start studying hard the very first day of school.

On the Other Hand

While some of the lads find it much easier to score a touchdown against Pampa than it is to pass an algebra test, other members of Coyote teams in the past have been too derned smart. This, we believe, has been one reason for the Coyotes' poor showing on the football field in recent years.

At random we take one example, young Bill Huff. Now Bill played a great game against Quanah last year. He was one of the finest tackle prospects ever developed. But he had not gone past the prospect stage when bingo, he graduated at the age of 16 last June. If Bill had managed to flunk out in four or five courses, and all the eligibility rules had been kind to him, he would have made a great tackle for the Pack this year.

Another example is young Malcolm Vordenbaum, also a lineman, also 16 years old, and also, alas, a graduate. What makes it worse, is that Vordenbaum could have "busted" one course last term and returned to the squad this year as an eligible player.

Many players in other high schools of Texas have done such things. However much the school team may suffer, it is good to know that Coyote players live up to higher standards of conduct.

News From Graham

The class B districts have been re-arranged to beat the band. We haven't yet received the official line-up from the interscholastic league bureau, but we have it on good authority that the winner in the Graham district will not meet the winner of the Olney district in the bi-district game this year.

This is a blow, because Graham and Olney have always been great rivals.

The new schedule, however, has not interfered with Graham and Olney planning their annual game this year. According to Bob Lindsey and D. H. Bolin, prominent Graham citizens and football boosters who were in town yesterday, the Graham and Olney teams will clash in a non-conference game on Sept. 30 at Olney, and Graham is looking forward to that battle as probably the best on the schedule.

The Graham gents bring in glowing reports of their home town prospects. A squad of about 34 members is now encamped on the Brazos river near Eliasville, and there Head Coach Fred Knieff is putting the boys through the paces. He has about 12 letter men returning and the Graham eleven should be plenty tough.

Coach Knieff is being assisted in the training of his squad by none other than Delcambre (I've forgotten his initials), who was S. M. U.'s star center last year. Delcambre is whipping Knieff's line into shape.

Graham had a good team last year and everything went rosy until the Masonic Home boys came to town. That ended Graham's hopes for a district title. But they're not down yet.

Holt and Buck Nines Win Playground Games

After a long idleness the Merchants Indoor Baseball league got back into action Friday afternoon with Holt Hotel stopping the Wichita Mill and Elevator company team 9 to 4 while W. L. Buck company handed the Panhandle Longhorns an 8 to 3 drubbing. Some great pitching by Starr Keller was responsible for the Holt Hotel victory, while six errors by the Mill workers helped the cause along.

Yanks Win In 14th From Tigers, 6-4
Teams Battle To 7-7 Tie In Second

DETROIT, Sept. 8. (AP)—In the most hair-raising pair of games seen here recently the Yankees took a 14-inning curtain raiser from the Tigers, 6 to 4, today, and then battled to a 7 to 7 deadlock in a slam-bang nightcap that was called at the end of the seventh inning because of darkness.

Babe Ruth's illness brought Sam Byrd into the first game and he proved a worthy substitute, hitting two home runs and three singles to drive in the first four Yankee runs.

Except for length, the second game was just as much a thriller. The Yankees found Whitlow Wyatt no particular puzzle and scored four runs in the first four innings. Scores:

ALL-CITY GOLF MEET PLANNED

Tourney Starts Sept. 17 At Country Club

The Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, host last week-end and the first part of this week to its fifth annual invitation golf tournament and to its first annual tennis tournament, will begin preparations at once to handle the all-city golf championship tournament starting Sept. 17, it was announced Thursday.

The all-city tournament alternates each year between the Weeks park course and the country club course. Last year Fred T. Couper defeated L. T. (Bobby) Burns in the final of the tournament held on the Weeks park course.

The tourney is open to all golfers of the city, whether members of the two clubs or not. The only restriction is that the participant must live in this city.

The competition annually attracts a splendid field of the city's best shots, and the same is expected this year. Over 100 entries probably will compete.

Qualifying rounds will be played over a period of two days, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 17 and 18, according to J. E. Gill, country club president. A committee composed of T. J. Waggoner Jr., chairman, T. P. Duncan and E. W. Marriott, will be in charge. Match play will be spread over a period of about three weeks, with a Saturday and a Sunday being available for disposition of all rounds except the first. An entry fee of $1.50 will be charged, this entitling the golfer to use the course for two days prior to the opening date in practice rounds.

Steers Maintain March To Second Half Flag

TYLER, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—Dallas defeated Tyler 10-2 today and continued the march toward the second half Texas league championship.

George Murray allowed Tyler nine hits but kept the situation under control most of the way. Wilbur Hubbell started for Tyler but was plucked from the box in the third after Sam Langford hit a homer with a man on. Lefty Chambers finished, giving up 12 hits and six more runs.

Zeke Bonura of the Steers hit a home run with one on in the ninth and Tex Jeanes followed with another. Score:

SHIPPERS 5, BUCS 4

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—What little chance the Exporters have of winning the second half pennant was nearly blasted here this afternoon when the meek and lowly Buccaneers carried the Shippers 10 innings before dropping a heated 5-4 decision to the Baker boys. Twice the Exporters had to come from behind and overtake the Pirates to win their third straight from the islanders. Reiber's pinch triple in the 10th starting a two-run rally that netted the Shippers victory after the Bucs had scored in their half. Trailing 2-1 in the seventh, Fritz smacked a home run over the right field fence with a man aboard to put the Exporters out in front. The Bucs tied up in the eighth and went one ahead in the tenth. Reiber, hitting for Newsome, kissed a triple to right and scored on Herring's fly to Frey with the tying run. Holley walked, stole second and scored on Tauby's slow roller to shortstop when Parma tried to make the play at first instead of home. Holley slid under Rowland. Lefty Darrow and Sandy Herring fought it out all the way. Both were in trouble in every inning, but snappy fielding saved them on numerous occasions. Score:

In doing so, he batted in five tallies and enabled the Houston Buffs to nose out San Antonio, 6-5. In the seventh, Peel's viciously socked double against the left field wall cleared the cushions.

RUTH MAY NOT NEED KNIFE

Appendicitis Attack Is Pronounced Slight

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (UP)—Babe Ruth, famous home run swatter of the Yankees, has slight symptoms of appendicitis but may not need an operation, his physician, Dr. Edward King said tonight after a thorough examination of the baseball star.

Ruth arrived here this afternoon from Detroit, where abdominal pains compelled him to abandon his team just as it opened its final western tour.

After examining Babe at his apartment, Dr. King declared that he feels certain the baseball slugger will be able to play in the world's series in the event his team wins the American league pennant.

Malone Beauties Play Cleaners Saturday

The Malone Beauty shop's girls' indoor baseball team will hook up Saturday night under the lights at the Brook and Ardath street diamond with the De Luxe Cleaners nine in a return scrap. ESTEP WINS

The Estep Pharmacy won another indoor ball game Friday afternoon on the Tankers' diamond by drubbing the Floral Heights Pharmacy, 4 to 1, in a practice game. MASSED BANDS GIVE CONCERT

City Vaudeville Season Ends With Program

Band musicians numbering approximately 175 and representing Iowa Park, Electra, Burkburnett, Grandfield, Okla., and Wichita Falls were massed on the west lawn of the Memorial auditorium Thursday night for a concert which featured the closing vaudeville program of the summer given by the city park department for the public.

The impressive ensemble presented Thursday night was assembled by the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma Band Teachers association, assisted by Directors Paul Seeds of Wichita Falls, Karl Goetze of Iowa Park and Electra, Barton Dunning of Grandfield, and E. L. Nichols of Burkburnett. As an added feature of the meet, Col. Earl D. Irons of Arlington directed several numbers and made a short talk to the audience of more than 6,000 persons present.

The speaker commended the enthusiasm which he said always has supported good bands in this city, and which produced here Thursday night the largest massed band ever heard in the city. Colonel Irons is teacher of music and band director at North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington.

Each of the directors present Thursday night took turns with the baton in presenting a varied program.

As the concluding number of the vaudeville bill, the old-fashioned square dance again proved one of the most appealing numbers of entertainment provided during the summer. The complete program of entertainment was as follows:

Violin solos, Jeoffrey Brown; tap dance, Cecelia Quinn; songs with guitar, Earl Perkins; songs, Mrs. W. H. Garner; dance, Anna Marie Menke and Jack Campbell; instrumental quartet, Leon Gibbs, Will Guyton, Joe Marley, Wallace Marley; tap dance, Faith Galmiche; songs with guitar, Lloyd Wright and George Taylor; tap dance, Gela Tabble; songs, Jake Avis; adagio dance, Florence Mooring and Dick Allen; accordion solos, Jack Krauss; dance features, Miss Maurine Adams; old-fashioned square dance, Elmer Loving, caller; Jeoffrey Brown, violin; Bill Wade, guitar.

Crash Victims Reported Improving at Hospital

The confined trio includes George Killough of Clinton, Okla., Ernest Herndon of Waterboro, S. C., and John R. Jones of Lynchburg, Va. The fourth is Lloyd Harrell of Dill, Okla. They were thrown from a touring car in avoiding a three-way collision.

Wichita C-C to Vote In Transportation Referendum

A referendum to determine the policy of the United States Chamber of Commerce as regards city transportation problems will be participated in by the Wichita Falls organization. A copy of the proposed recommendations of the national body has been received here.

The growing problem of transportation in population centers is recognized in the suggestions, 11 of which are listed. Particular interest in the vote has developed in view of the 10-cent taxi problem in Wichita Falls and cities throughout the nation.

NEW DISCOVERIES CONFIRM VIRTUES OF BRAN IN DIET

Supplies "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation; Also Iron for Blood

For ten years, now, millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe, pleasant way to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from this condition.

Recent laboratory tests show that ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as beef liver.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Think how much better it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to take endless pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases with every meal—are usually sufficient. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Junior Cowboys To Be 'Shown How' By Rodeo Star In Class Saturday

Ropes, particularly lariat ropes, of varying lengths will be at a premium Saturday morning at 9 o'clock when the Junior Cowboys association of Wichita Falls will be launched at the Memorial auditorium and the first lesson in handling a lariat will be given. A trick roping contest will be announced.

All young Wichitans of grade school age are invited to attend the organization meeting when Leonard Stroud of Rocky Ford, Colo., will give an exhibition of trick roping, followed by detailed instructions in the handling of the major equipment of the open range—the lariat.

Mr. Stroud has held the world's championship title of all-around cowboy for six years and is an expert with the lariat. He is particularly interested in developing expert trick ropers among the youthful citizens of Wichita Falls and a contest to select champion junior rope artists will be held with the winners to appear at a performance of the golden jubilee rodeo here.

The contest is sponsored by The Record News, Times and Mr. Stroud. The hour for the demonstration Saturday has been moved up to avoid conflict with the Mickey Mouse club meeting.

Youthful feminine Wichitans are invited to attend the demonstration and to take part in the contest as cowgirls are important features of rodeo performances. Cash awards and rules for the contest will be announced at the meeting Saturday.

SPANISH WAR VETS

Reports on the national convention of the Spanish-American war veterans at Milwaukee last month will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Miller and W. R. Duke at a local chapter meeting Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Memorial auditorium.

BAYLOR ROAD BIDS CALLED

Puckett Receives Notice Of Advertisement

Notice of advertisement of a contract letting on state highway No. 23 in Baylor county—from Mabelle across the Lake Kemp dam to the Wilbarger county line—was received Thursday by Division Engineer D. M. Puckett of the Wichita Falls highway division.

The contract calls for 10.701 miles of grading and drainage structures for letting Sept. 20. The plans do not call for consideration of the mile-long dam. The crooked nature of the dam crossing will be eliminated in the future by a cut-off highway below the dam with a bridge across the Wichita river. The highway will run in an almost straight line from Mabelle to Vernon when completed.

The project has attracted wide interest in this section as it will furnish an all-weather route to the major fishing center of the Wichita area. Highway 23 is the Texas section of an international route from Winnipeg, Canada, to Corpus Christi, and has been designated as federal highway No. 283.

Wichita County Asks Relief Loan

A request from Wichita county for emergency unemployment relief funds totaling $8,300 has been received by Gov. Ross Sterling at Austin, according to news dispatches received here Thursday night. The money would be used for the rest of 1932 under the direct state aid loan passed by the last congress.

"The county judge advised Governor Sterling, in requesting that he ask for the federal money, that the county estimate its relief total for 1933 will be $75,000 but will not need any outside help except flour promised by the federal government," the dispatch continued.

County Judge John Marrs was out of the city Thursday and Commissioner M. A. Bundy of Wichita Falls said the matter had not been presented before the commissioners court, although a remark was made at a recent session that if the money is available Wichita county ought to get its share.

Niece of Judge Huff Dies in Chattanooga

Word was received Thursday by Judge R. E. Huff and J. N. Huff Sr., of the death of their niece, Mrs. Sidney Hackworth of Stephenson, Ala. Mrs. Hackworth died early Thursday in a Chattanooga hospital. Her husband and a dughter survive. Mrs. Hackworth had visited several times in Wichita Falls and had many friends here. Funeral arrangements were not announced Thursday.

HURLEY FLIES TO CONVENTION

Secretary of War Attends Legion Conclave

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (US)—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley will take off by plane tomorrow for the American Legion convention at Portland, Ore., on what is believed to be one of the most delicate missions of the Hoover campaign for re-election.

Secretary Hurley asked President Hoover for the permission to make the trip and it was granted him. To avoid criticism he is chartering a private plane at his own expense, instead of using an army machine. He held a long interview with the president today and told him frankly that he would make the trip, either as an administration spokesman, or on his own account. As he left the White House, Hurley said:

"I have never missed a legion convention and do not intend to miss this one. I know most of the boys and am sure that I will be given a most courteous reception. I expect to make an address. At least you can say that I will be there if my plane will go through."

Secretary Hurley will stop off at Tulsa, Okla., and leave there in time to arrive at Portland Monday morning when the convention opens.

The war secretary is making the trip against the advice of his personal friends in the service and administration leaders. Reports reaching the White House and war departments make it plain there is a strong undercurrent of feeling among the legionnaires against the policies of the Hoover administration. Hurley refused to run away from the anticipated fight.

Reports said that Walter W. Waters, leader of the bonus marchers, is to be in Portland to plead the cause of his followers who were forced to leave the capital at the point of bayonets. Secretary Hurley is credited by the former service men with a large measure of responsibility for this. He is to contend that he merely carried out orders.

It was learned that he expects to make a speech and is on the program as one of the four principal orators. The others are Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans bureau administrator; war-time Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels and Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent.

Government Cotton Crop Estimate Proves Higher Than Private Figures

Department of Agriculture Places 1932 Production at 11,310,000 Bales; Much Below 1931 Total

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—The domestic cotton crop for this year was estimated by the department of agriculture today at 11,310,000 bales and market prices which had been rising steadily for weeks slumped $5 a bale.

Although the indicated production was 5,786,000 bales below the 1931 crop, the fact that it was 4,000 bales above the Aug. 1 forecast and several hundred thousand bales above private estimates turned the market bearish. Many private traders had figured the September indications below 11,000,000 bales.

Ginnings High

Simultaneously with the production forecast, the commerce department reported ginnings to Sept. 1 at 865,000 running bales, compared with 565,753 bales a year ago and 1,879,919 two years ago.

The condition of the crop was placed at 56.6 per cent of normal, against 65.6 per cent a month ago and 68.0 per cent a year ago. The crop reporting board figured the indicated yield at 147.8 pounds per acre as compared with 149.6 pounds last month and 201.2 pounds produced last year.

Of 37,290,000 acres which the department reported were planted in cotton this year, as contrasted with 40,495,000 in 1931, it estimated that 36,611,000 acres remained to be picked Sept. 1. This was an abandonment of 1.8 per cent since July 1, while the average abandonment for the last 10 years was 3.1 per cent.

Texas-Oklahoma Gains

"The decline in prospective yield per acre during the month was entirely offset by the fact that abandonment of acreage is estimated to be somewhat below average," the department said. . . . "During August prospects declined in practically all states in the eastern and central portions of the belt, where weevils have been quite active and weather conditions were mostly unfavorable to the crop.

"The forecasts for Texas and Oklahoma are considerably above the forecasts of Aug. 1, due largely to favorable moisture conditions in the western portions of these states."

PRESENT CARDS FRIDAY

Officers of the U. S. army post at Fort Sill, Okla., who were scheduled to receive guest cards to the Wichita club here on Wednesday will be presented the pasteboards Friday afternoon. A delay was occasioned by a special printing job for the cards and a late change in the inking order. The presentations will be made by Club President T. J. Waggoner Jr. and Assistant Manager Wilburn Page of the chamber of commerce.

STORM LASHES EAST COAST

200 Pasengers Stranded On Excursion Boat

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (UP)—A howling wind brushed the Atlantic seaboard today, plunging temperatures downward from midsummer heat to early winter chill and kicking up a storm at sea which stranded 200 passengers for 13 hours on the excursion boat Steel Pier.

The gale which buffeted many small boats along the coast and cost at least one life, threw the excursion vessel off its course at 4 a. m. and prevented it from docking at Atlantic City after a voyage from New York.

All day the captain and crew of 25 struggled against high waves and wind, vainly attempting to make port, while many of the passengers feared the boat was about to founder.

The passengers, weary after an all-night and day vigil crowded along the rail while coast guard boats stood by. The Steel Pier fought on down the coast through high waves to Delaware bay. Here it found calmer water and proceeded up the Delaware river to Camden, N. J.

At 4:50 p. m. the passengers landed, praising Miss Katherine Smith, the ship's hostess, and the leaders of the two orchestras aboard. At the height of the storm Miss Smith and the musicians entertained the passengers and diverted their thoughts from the towering waves.

The Steel Pier was returning from a voyage which started at Atlantic City and took the excursionists up the Hudson river. It ran into a violent storm, apparently blowing up the coast from the southern area where tropical winds have been threatening for a week.

Capt. Charles Lund was unable to dock at Atlantic City because of the storm and was proceeding south to Cape May. The storm continued and, ploughing through high seas, the vessel went down the coast to the Delaware breakwater.

The first death in the storm was reported by the coast guard, which towed a small yawl into quarantine. It contained a drowned man, and two other men who had been rescued.

A sloop, carrying M. Wagner and his wife, also was taken in tow by coast guards after it had been blown about at sea all night.

Rainfall Ceases After Four Days of Moisture

For the first time in four days the report of the Texas Electric Service company weather bureau Thursday did not include rainfall, after precipitation totaling 1.17 inches since Sunday. The temperature reached a maximum of 83 degrees Thursday, with a low of 63 degrees early in the morning.

The atmosphere remained cool with a west breeze reaching a velocity of eight miles per hour and the skies cloudy for a major portion of the day.

Auto Taken By Hijackers Found

City Detectives Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson recovered Steve Fette's Chevrolet coupe early Thursday morning on the Wichita river at the Indian Heights bridge, about 200 yards from the point where it was taken in a hijacking at 11:50 o'clock Wednesday night. The car was recovered undamaged as was other property of the victims.

The two masked bandits, who rushed the car as the driver killed the motor in making a turn, obtained a total of $22 from Fette and El Eberhart, both of Muenster, who were riding with their girl companions at the time. A curiosity to look over the scene of the robbery led to the recovery of the car when Mr. Roberson accompanied Fette to the place Thursday morning.

Tracks of a car which had climbed a steep incline led to the machine on the river bank and other tracks revealed the bandits had left in another automobile after rifling the purses of the four victims.

Atlanta Mayor In New Assault On Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (INS)—A new verbal assault on prohibition was launched today by Mayor James L. Key of Atlanta, Ga., who created a sensation some time ago at a brilliant French dinner party by branding the 18th amendment as a failure.

Key's first onslaught against the dry regime was made when he and other American mayors were touring France. Following his return home, ultra-dry elements in Atlanta forced a recall election in an effort to oust him from office. The effort failed.

"Everything that has happened since confirmed what I said in France," the mayor declared.

"I said prohibition was a failure but I wasn't quite correct. It has been a big success to the bootleggers, the moonshiners, the liquor runners, the thugs and gunmen and the Anti-Saloon league racketeers.

"The people in the South and over the nation are in revolt against the fraud and sham of this miserable experiment. They have been buffaloed and bull-dozed long enough. It is time for reason to reassert itself."

"I am a strong believer in temperance," Key asserted, "but the 18th amendment and its enabling laws do not promote temperance."

"Easy enough—his wife eats first and he takes what's left."—Pathfinder.

Sunset News

Special to The Record News.

SUNSET, Texas, Sept. 8.—A 60-day drouth was broken here this week by showers of rain. The showers have all been light and have soaked into the ground as they fell. More rain is needed but the amount that has fallen is very beneficial to most of the field crops and is sufficient to enable people to start the planting of fall gardens. Quite a number are planting Irish potatoes, beans, turnips and other products. There is need for more rain on June corn, late feed crops and stock pastures.

A 10-day revival meeting was closed at the Union Hill Baptist church, southeast of here, Monday evening. The meeting was conducted by the church pastor, Rev. C. D. Mullins of Burkburnett, assisted by Rev. C. D. Droomgole of Waurike, Okla. Reverend Droomgole has been called to the pastorate of the church to succeed Reverend Mullins.

Rev. G. N. Stone of Nocona will be here to fill his monthly pastoral appointment at the Sunset Methodist Protestant church Sunday morning and evening.

Members of the Turkey Creek singing class are expecting a large number of visitors to attend their song service at the Turkey Creek Baptist church next Sunday afternoon. Singing will begin at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McGaughy of Burkburnett visited here in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. McGaughy, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Cancellations and adjustments regarding errors should be telephoned to the Classified Ad department between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

DO YOU NEED REVENUE?

That set of unrented office rooms is "eating its head off." It's a part of your business overhead which includes takes, interest charges, etc.

An unrented house, either business or residence or a spare room, offers the same problem to the home owner. You have no justification in assuming they can't be rented until you have put your problem up to Want-Ad Headquarters. If they can be rented at all, Daily Times-Record News Classified Ads will do the work at the lowest cost—two papers for the cost of one.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (AP)—A break of more than $5 a bale followed publication of the government crop estimate in the cotton market today.

December contracts closed at 8.05, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 97 to 104 points.

The market showed considerable strength during the earlier trading in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and a continuance of trade buying and covering.

There was a rush of selling orders when trading was resumed after the report, the first effects of which sent prices off 78 to 109 points from the best levels of the morning, and while this was followed by rallies of some 15 or 20 points, the market weakened again later under renewed liquidation.

March sold at 8.23 in the late trading when the general list showed declines of 120 to 130 points from the highs of the morning and losses of 99 to 107 points from yesterday's closing. Last prices were within 2 to 5 points of the lows for the day.

The government report placing the indicated yield 11,310,000 bales or about 4,000 bales above the August indication was only 56,000 bales above the average of recent private reports, but over 500,000 bales the average expectation of New York cotton exchange members as indicated by the recent canvass. The indicated yield per acre showed a slight decline for the month being placed at 147.8 pounds against 149.6 but abandonment of acreage since July 1 was estimated at only 1.8 per cent, compared with the 10-year average of 3.1 per cent allowed for the August report. Exports today 19,922 making 631,131 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,310,482.

Cotton declined further late in the day under renewed heavy liquidation which grew in volume as the day drew to a close, futures closing barely steady, 97-104 lower. Spot quiet; middling 7.95.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8. (AP)—It was bureau report today in the cotton market today and trading was feverishly active from start to finish, with the trend precipitately downward. The government crop forecast of 11,310,000 bales as compared with 11,306,000 a month ago was much larger than expected and prices which had advanced 19 to 20 points before the report declined 124 to 125 points from the early highs, reaching the lows of the day near the end. The close was easy at net losses of 101 to 104 points for the day or a little over $5 a bale. The ginnings totaled given to Sept. 1 of 862,232 was considered heavy, but little attention was paid to it.

Manchester cabled the cloth and yarn markets were unsettled and buyers were cautious pending the bureau report.

When trading was resumed after the government estimate, prices dropped within a few minutes to 8.15 for October and 8.20 for December, down 97 to 109 points from the earlier highs. Near mid-session there was a recovery of 30 points from the lows, but in early afternoon the market had to absorb a fresh and heavy wave of liquidation which forced prices to new lows for the day at 7.88 for October and 8.04 for December or 124 to 125 points below the highs of the morning. Prices rallied 1 to 2 points at the end, but the close was called easy with October at 7.90, down 103 points net for the day and December at 8.05, down 104 points net.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 18 to 20 penny points down.

Port receipts 18,894, for week 112,704, for season 584,451, last season 344,430. Exports 13,180, for week 113,606, for season 642,256, last season 304,678. Port stock 3,293,266, last year 2,767,523. CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (AP)—Cotton prices declined more than $5.00 per bale today. The government estimate making the cotton crop at 11,310,000 bales against 11,306,000 a month ago, was disappointing to the trade and caused the market to break 85-100 points when the figures were posted. A rally followed, but prices weakened again in the afternoon and closing was 100-107 points net lower on the board of trade. Showers fell in western Texas and eastern North Carolina. The forecast is for generally clear weather over the belt.

Transactions Pass 5,400,000 Mark But Stock Prices Drop With Cotton

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (US)—Traing in stocks continued at a furious pace today, finally bringing about a sudden and stiff reaction which was still in progress at the close of the market.

Transactions swelled to above a million shares an hour pace, to build up a total of 5,400,000 shares, exceeded this year only by the session of Aug. 8, when the trading aggregated 5,461,000 shares.

Speculation for the rise continued unabated until a drastic break in the cotton market upset the serenely sailing stock market. December cotton dropped $6.50 a bale from the day's peak price, when an unexpectedly bearish cotton crop forecast was issued by the government.

The commodity recovered only temporarily from the shock, which was all the more disturbing because of the general confidence in the trade that another favorable report was in progress. December cotton closed off more than $5 net on the day, final quotations being very close to the absolute lows of the session.

Other commodities, however, were not materially affected by cotton's slump, although grains closed lower for the day.

There was no disputing the influence of cotton on the stock list. But to conservatives the stock market's rapid upward pace, and the indiscriminate speculative buying which had been maintaining the uptrend, had become rather alarming. This feeling had also begun to seep into official Washington channels, according to reliable information. The fear there, and elsewhere, has been that a disorderly retreat from the peak price levels would bring in its wake a renewal of disturbing influence on the general industrial situation. The lack of a substantial short account also tended to create nervousness over the widespread speculation.

Even without the cotton news, the market was fully entitled to a reaction which, as foreseen by cooler heads, would develop suddenly. The reaction of cotton to the adverse news demonstrates how unprepared various markets have been for sudden shocks. Throughout the industrial world and in the market, the feeling had been growing that a straight upward march back to prosperity was in progress, as if all the major problems arising out of the depression had been settled overnight.

Before the reaction, the average prices of leading industrials and public utilities had attained new peaks for the entire year. The railroad shares had joined the advance early in the day, finally achieving a new high for the present recovery, but still falling short of the best levels of the year.

To many of the more conservative speculators this failure of the rails to "confirm" the performances of the two other major groups had induced greater caution. Most speculators, however, were ignoring all signs, either technical or actual, in their enthusiasm.

During the day intimations were available that the change to be reported in U. S. Steel's unfilled tonnage will be modest, in whatever direction is disclosed. Wildly bullish estimates had been made of the "increase" to be reported.

General Motors' for August reported total sales foreign and domestic of 30,419 cars, compared with 36,872 in July, and 70,078 in August last year. The corporation's sales to United States dealers alone were 24,151 cars, against 31,096 the previous month, and 62,667 in August, 1931.

Pools in General Motors stock, in Chrysler and other motor shares tried hard to read a bullish interpretation into the figures. Packard was among the few stocks to show a net advance for the day, and even here exceedingly aggressive pool activity was responsible.

Stocks reacted only momentarily in the initial shock of the cotton slump, but later in the afternoon share prices dropped sharply. It was noticeable, too, that for the first time in weeks the ticker ran behind transactions during a slump. Furthermore, brokers reported substantial public buying on the price setback, which very frequently represents pool liquidation.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8. (AP)—Demand continued fair on the Fort Worth cash grain market Thursday. Offerings were light.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat No. 1 hard according to protein and billing 57⅜@59¾c. Barley No. 2 nominally 32½@33½c. Sorghums No. 2 milo or kaffir per 100 pounds, nominally 45@60c.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn No. 2 mixed 41½@43½c; No. 2 white 46½@47½c; No. 2 yellow 48@49c; all prices nominal.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats No. 2 red 24@25c; No. 3 red 20½@21½c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (AP)—Jolted by cotton market tumbles and by enormous rural deliveries of wheat in Canada, grain values suffered material setbacks today.

Rallies in wheat because of evening up for the government grain crop report due tomorrow failed to hold. The downturns carried wheat to 3¼ cents a bushel under Tuesday's high point.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅝@1 cent below yesterday's finish, corn ⅝@⅞c down, oats ¼@½c off and provisions varying from 12 cents decline to a rise of 22 cents.

Late weakness of securities contributed to unsettlement of wheat.

Canadian country marketings of wheat were more than triple those of a year ago. Domestic receipts of wheat northwest were also large, 688 cars today against 337 the corresponding time last year. It was in vain that bulls showed port stocks of wheat all through western Europe were small, and that private estimates put Germany's wheat crop 10 per cent less than official figures. Heavy selling of wheat was in progress at the last, principally from houses with connections east.

Liberal receipts of corn had a bearish effect on corn and oats.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Dec. 55⅞@56, 57⅞@⅝; May 61@61⅛, 62⅝. Corn, Dec. 32⅝, 33⅛; May 37⅜, 38.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (US)—Many pit observers look for the government crop report tomorrow to show heavy deterioration in corn. Firing has been reported from scattered areas and in many places long delayed rains, when they appeared, were excessive, adding further to the damage.

Broomhall reports that harvesting in France is practically completed but offers of native wheat are scarce as farmers are holding for higher prices. Milling demand is small and trading in foreign wheat is very quiet.

The London Times reported the Italian crop at 266,400,000 bushels, which is believed official. This is higher than recent private estimates and compares with the 1931 total of 247,920,000 bushels.

Continued increases in the open interest here indicate an expanding public participation. On July 1 the open interest was 101,000,000, on Aug. 1, 121,000,000 and on Sept. 1, 156,000,000. It is now about 10,000,000 higher than the later figure.

The corn market continues to show considerable resistance to selling pressure. Little improvement in eastern shipping demand has appeared but country offerings are smaller and are firmly held above the market. Local industrial demand is excellent.

RODEO TO SHOW AT BALL PARK

Jubilee Attractions Are Being Worked Out

Athletic park at the east end of Seventh street will assume an air entirely foreign to the purpose for which it was constructed, starting Friday with erection of corrals, feed pens, pick-up pens and delivery chutes for the golden jubilee rodeo Sept. 26-28.

Rodeo Promoter Leonard Stroud let a contract to J. M. Hair of Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon for construction of the rodeo pens and boxes where once Texas league heroes of baseball entertained Wichitans.

Livestock Secured

Mr. Stroud has contracted for all livestock for the rodeo. The Brahma steers secured to test riding abilities of the world's best "rough" riders combine the best in fighting and bucking animals that can be obtained.

The Brahma is a cross between the sacred animals of India and the Mexican or Texas longhorn variety. The steers have short hair and offer little assistance to the rider. Mexican or Texas longhorn steers are used for rodeo bulldogging purposes due to their longer horns and rangier necks, allowing better opportunity for handling in the arena.

Other details for the jubilee attractions are rapidly being completed by the various committees and chairmen.

Plan Style Show

The retail merchants division of the chamber of commerce Thursday launched plans for a historical style show in cooperation with the Woman's Forum which will also depict the latest styles as exhibited by Wichita Falls stores.

Lester Jones of the historical exhibits committee announced the opening of an exhibits office at 913 Eighth, Thursday, where articles for exhibition may be taken. The office is in charge of A. W. (Jake) Avis who will arrange to secure additional items and owners are requested to call him at 4444. Receipts will be issued for each item.

Director Zack Hurt announced prizes totaling $200 and a silver loving cup award for the champion string band, not exceeding five pieces, in the Wichita area. Daily elimination awards of $25, $15 and $10 are offered with a final grand prize of $100 and the cup planned.

The fiddle bands will be judged on waltzes and breakdown music. Public concerts will be given downtown each day, as well as numerous KGKO broadcasts.

Business Men Invited To Junior C-C Luncheon

ROTARY HEARS RODEO PLANS

Stroud and Featherston Speak at Luncheon

Assurances of a thrilling and first-class rodeo in connection with the coming golden jubilee of Wichita Falls were given Thursday before Rotary club members by Leonard Stroud, who is to conduct the event.

After telling of experiences with rodeo and other performances in the past, Mr. Stroud told of the impressive list of riders and horses which has been arranged for the jubilee performance here.

Operations of an automobile finance corporation was discussed by Charles H. Featherston in a classification talk. Concerns of this kind now number about 850 in this country, he said, and have loaned at the peak as much as $202,000,000. The R-F Finance corporation here has handled about 25,700 loans with the loss of but six cars, he stated. Mr. Featherston said that in this country 62 per cent of automobiles are bought on the time payment plan.

Dick Lindsey announced that next Thursday's meeting here will be conducted by visting Rotarians from Duncan, Okla.

Violin solos by William L. Donnell, accompanied by Miss Mary Elizabeth Donnell, entertained those present.

J. C. Hunt was named by the board of directors to serve as director during the unexpired term of Paul Putty, resigned, who has moved to Fort Worth.

'Anniversary Ambassadors' Leave on Publicity Trip

More than a score "anniversary ambassadors" of the Junior chamber of commerce left early Thursday for a publicity trip through the Wichita area announcing the golden jubilee, Sept. 26-28. The group of young business men will cover every city and community in a 100-mile radius of Wichita Falls in Texas and Oklahoma with posters on the 50th anniversary celebration.

Personal invitations are issued city and county officials, heads of business organizations, schools and other community leaders. The trips will be continued Friday and Saturday.

COLLEGE SIGNS 80 STUDENTS

Officials Optimistic for Registrations

Preliminary registration of the Wichita Falls Junior college Thursday listed 80 students and school authorities are optimistic for prospective enrollment. No comparison with the figures of last year are available as the registration is being handled in a different manner. The college enrolled 223 pupils for the 1931-32 long session.

The college registration will continue through Friday with classes opening Monday. Out-of-town high school pupils were also being enrolled Thursday but no figures are available. The Zundelowitz and Reagan junior high schools listed 20 and 19 pupils, respectively, Thursday, who had not previously attended a local junior high. Principal T. W. Brumbalow is in charge of the work which will continue through Friday.

A meeting of all principals of the Wichita Falls public schools has been called at the office of Supt. H. D. Fillers at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon to discuss plans for the opening of classes Monday.

Instructors in the white city schools will meet at the Reagan Junior high school at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and the negro teachers at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Washington school.
