Hope Apparently Given Up For Further Relief To Those Surviving

At Least 7,700 American Prisoners Are Exterminated; Vengeance Demanded By Solons; More Similar Stories Hinted

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—This government, outraged by Japanese extermination of at least 7,700 American war prisoners, has given up hope of getting relief supplies to surviving prisoners of war in Japanese hands, the White House said today.

The documented story of Japanese brutality toward war prisoners in the Philippines was published by the Army and Navy last night. Today White House Secretary Stephen T. Early explained the timing of the release.

"The time has come," he told reporters, "to release factual, carefully authenticated reports on Japanese atrocities. The government can no longer expect to get further relief to American prisoners of war in the hands of the Japanese."

The Army-Navy report, based on sworn statements of two Army officers and a Navy officer who escaped from Davao after 361 days of suffering, dealth only with Japanese treatment of prisoners captured at Bataan and Corregidor. It was a story of deliberate starvation, torture and murder. Early's statement appeared to indicate that additional reports detailing similar horrors in other areas might be forthcoming later.

Further Exchanges Doubted

Early's statement, which followed close on congressional demands for ultimate vengeance against the Japanese, also caused speculation that there may be no further exchanges of civilian internees between this country and Japan.

It was pointed out that in the past supplies of medicine, clothing, and food war prisoners twice were sent to Japan aboard the exchange ship Gripsholm. This avenue of relief, in view of Early's statement, apparently has been closed.

The State department for some had been attempting to make arrangements for a third Gripsholm exchange, but Secretary of State Cordell Hull recently disclosed there had been little progress.

In any event, the Army-Navy report left no doubt that the Japanese government had brutally discarded all civilized rules in the treatment of prisoners captured in the Philippines.

Officials Greatly Aroused

The story aroused congressmen and government officials alike to deep anger which, many of them declared, can be quenched only by the visiting or retributive justice—if not now, after the war—against responsible Japanese from the emperor down.

There was little demand, how-

"BOMB JAPS TO OBLITERATION"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP) — A demand that the United Nations "bomb Japan out of existence" and hang the Mikado in retaliation for atrocities committed on American and Filipino prisoners of war was voiced today by Senator Clark (D-Mo).

A veteran of the first World War, Clark said the reports of the atrocities were the "most shocking thing anybody ever heard of and deserve the greatest punishment any nation ever had."

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) said it was almost incredible that any civilized nation could condone such treatment of war prisoners, adding:

"It puts the Japanese beyond the pale of civilization and will cause the deepest resentment on the part of people of every fair-minded nation. This outrage will confirm and strengthen the determination of the American people to destroy Japanese power."

The full and detailed story of Jap atrocities as perpetrated on U. S. service men captured in the Philippines and related by those who later escaped, is published on page 16 of this issue of the Journal.

Hull Says Data Being Listed

Punishment For Criminals Due

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary of State Hull said today that the United States has been gathering all possible information about the treatment of American prisoners held by the Japanese so that war criminals may be punished when the war ends.

At a news conference the secretary was asked whether this government was making a list of the Japanese officers in the Philippines directly responsible for the atrocities inflicted upon American and Filipino prisoners with a view of the punishment of war criminals.

He said he could not say specificially with respect to officers in the Philippines but that the government has been ascertaining all information possible.

Several Points Touched

In touching on several points of the situation disclosed by the joint Army-Navy report of the abuse, brutality and murder of prisoners taken after the fall of Bataan and Corregidor, Hull brought out that:

1. The United States will persevere in pursuit of what the secretary called a righteous undertaking to continue exchanging prisoner or civilian internees with Japan.

2. No one here has any accurate idea of how much chance there is of effecting such exchanges in the future.

No Word On Relief

3. The relief supplies for Allied prisoners held by the Japanese which were delivered by the Gripsholm to a Japanese vessel on the last repatriation exchange about two months ago have not been heard from since that time and Washington has been unable to find out whether they actually were delivered to the prisoners.

Secretary Hull authorized a direct quotation stating his views on the report of atrocities:

"According to the reports of cruelty and inhumanity it would be necessary to assemble together all the demons available from anywhere and combine the fiend-

Flu Incidence Over State Shows Drop-Off

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (AP) — The drop-off in incidence of influenza and pneumonia continued in Texas during the week ending Jan. 22, the state department of health reported today.

Incidence of all respiratory diseases, however, remained abnormally high. New cases of influenza reported totaled 10,060 compared with the median of 1661 for the week, and for pneumonia the figures were 799 and 292 respectively.

There were 384 new cases of gonorrhea and 576 new cases of syphilis, both in excess of last year's number.

LIQUOR IMPORTS HEAVY

McALLEN, Jan. 28. (AP)—Thirsty Texans toted almost half a million quarts of liquor across the border from Mexico during 1943 and paid nearly $150,000 for the privilege, Texas Liquor Control board figures disclosed here.

Texas Should Fight To Maintain Plants

HOUSTON, Jan. 28. (U.P.) — Dr. A. Coswell Ellis, consultant on adult education at the University of Texas, said today that the number of factories in Texas has more than doubled since the war began and urged that a fight be made to retain them after the war ends.

He declared that the state "must not let a few rich men buy them for dismantlement and resale to South America after the war is over."

That would result in Texas' becoming "a mere colony of the north," he asserted.

Mauled German Forces Are Hurled Back By Red Armies

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Jan. 28 — Mauled German forces in northwest Russia were being hurled back today toward a line extending through Narva (in Estonia), Luga and Staraya Russa by charging Red armies which had ripped to pieces their siege lines around Leningrad and captured the strategic railway junction of Volosovo and Tosno.

The Germans were fighting to keep Soviet troops from the streets of Lyuban and Chudovo, their only two remaining towns on the double-tracked Leningrad - Moscow trunk line. All but 30 miles of the railway is in Russian hands.

At the lower end of the northwest front, the Nazis were battling frantically to keep the Russians west of Novgorod and Lake Ilmen from rushing upon the Leningrad-Pskov and Leningrad-Vitebsk railways. Ski-men were but two miles from the Vitebsk line at midnight.

(Along the Baltic the Russians were reported within 39 miles of the Estonian border driving westward in the direction of Yamburg.

(The Germans reported heavy fighting near Kerch in the eastern Crimea and around Perekop at the north entrance to the Nazi-held Black sea peninsula. The Berlin communique claimed German gains in the western Ukraine southwest of Pogrebishche and said 234 Russian tanks had been destroyed yesterday).

Volosovo Excellent Base

The capture of Volosovo, 47 miles southwest of Leningrad, gave the Red Army an excellent base for a two-way operation west to Narva or southward down a spur line connecting with the Leningrad-Pskov railway.

Red Star, the Army newspaper, said the Germans were concentrating remnants of their defeated divisions in the Virtsa sector, indicating that a large force of Germans—probably up to 100,000—had been isolated northwest of Lake Ilmen.

Front reports said that the Nazis drove their soldiers into a hopeless battle along their segment of the Leningrad-Moscow railway, and that a great number were being killed or captured. Those surviving face almost certain encirclement or death in the wild, swampy lake country to the west.

HEAVY BLOWS DEALT TO NAZI COMMUNICATIONS

MOSCOW, Jan. 28. — Gen Leonid A. Govorov's forces, fanning out below Leningrad in a drive which has freed that city from siege, have dealt another heavy blow to German communications by capturing the strategically important rail junctions of Volosovo and Tosno.

Announcement of the new successes came last night as Leningrad's big guns sounded thunderous tribute to the Red army offensive which has rolled back the

Airmen Pound Marshall, Gilbert Islands In Heavy Campaign On Philippines Stepping Stones

BY MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

The Allies pounded the Marshall and Admiralty islands in intensified air attacks seeking to weaken the Japanese hold on the invasion-menaced stepping stones leading back to the Philippines and the tortured men of Bataan.

American bombers and fighters swept in over the Marshalls for the 21st day of the air offensive against the mandated group of coral islands lying halfway between Hawaii and the Solomons. Not a plane was lost as they completed a bombing week in which 282½ tons of explosives fell on Japanese installations.

Two Small Ships Sunk

Navy search planes sank two small ships in the first raid on Eniwetok at the northwest extremity of the strategic island chain, 300 miles and more north of the American-captured Gilberts. Seventh Army Air force fliers, on the same day, blasted Maloelap, Mili, Jaluit and Kwajalein, the latter with 35 tons of bombs.

The Japanese lost a total of 16 to 22 planes Wednesday as Army bombers hit Maloelap's Taroa airfield. Not only was this the scene of the only enemy air interception, but for the first time in the Marshalls campaign the enemy pursued the retiring raiders.

Four-engined Liberators, striking at the Admiraltys in the Southwest Pacific, dropped 120 tons of

Thousands Of Bombs Dropped Over Europe

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP) — Allied planes operating from bases in Britain and the Mediterranean have dropped 31,000 tons of bombs on Hitler's European fortress since Jan. 1, according to RAF estimates, thereby probably setting a record for a single month.

Of the total, 22,000 tons were dropped by the Allied Air forces based in Britain, and the remainder was loosed by Mediterranean fliers—mostly on Italy and the Balkans.

Three Held In Theft Of Grain

Two youths just out of juvenile age and a young Tahoka man, 23, were in serious legal difficulties this morning—tripped by a small piece of metal that had fallen from their truck.

Sheriff Tom Abel, Deputy Sheriff Raymond Land and a farmer, E. C. Hughes of near Acuff, arrested Odie McAfee, 17, of Sulphur Springs, R. J. Sessums, 17, of Dimmitt and Tahoka, and W. E. Owens, 23, of Tahoka, after the suspects had entered a truck with a broken radiator grill, and charged them in a joint complaint alleging theft over $50.

Hughes, looking over his field several days ago, found where a truck had hauled away some of his threshed grain. He found a piece of radiator grill. Investigation disclosed it came off a Chevolet truck.

Took Metal To Sheriff

He took the broken metal to Sheriff Abel. For several days, the sheriff, his deputies and other authorities inspected Chevolet trucks in Lubbock and in most surrounding South Plains towns.

At 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Hughes saw a truck with a broken grill, called the sheriff and found the metal piece fitted.

The three set up watch, and made the arrest at 10:30 o'clock.

The three dictated and signed statements this morning before Burton S. Burks, district attorney, and two of them made oral statements to Sheriff Ed Hofacket, of

Description Of New Jap Fighter Given

GUADALCANAL, Jan. 28. (AP)—A description of the Japanese fighter plane known as the "Tojo" was issued here today.

Fliers say it looks like the Army's P-47 Thunderbolt; that it's lighter than the P-47, the Navy Corsair or Hellcat, and possibly less powerful but very maneuverable. It has a radial air-cooled engine.

The Tojo first was encountered in the South Pacific by Major Gregory Boyington, missing Marine ace. The first Tojo definitely shot down in this sector was bagged over Rabaul Jan. 24.

CATHOLIC SISTER DIES

FORT WORTH, Jan. 28 (AP) — Sister Mary Peter McNamara, 88, teacher in Catholic schools of Texas for 50 years, died last night at Our Lady of Victory academy where she had taught for 12 years until her retirement two years ago.

Wounded Marine Tells Of Nine Japs Attacking American Tank

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC (Delayed)—From his hospital bed here, a wounded Marine told of nine Japanese on Tarawa who charged a tank with swords, knives and pistols, and died as they hacked, and stabbed at the hide of the metal monster.

The Marine, Platoon Sergeant Bruce Redman, of Route 1, Colorado City, Texas, is recovering from bullet and shrapnel wounds.

The Texan said he and a little band of volunteers set out at dawn on the second day, to clean out Jap pillboxes near the landing strip. They were aided by a tank.

"We'd sneak up close to a pillbox," he related, "and fire tracer bullets into it to spot the target for the tank. Then the tank would open up. We knocked out three pillboxes, and killed 50 Japs.

"Then I saw the funniest thing yet. Nine Japs charged the tank with a sword, a pistol and a small knife. They must have been crazy. . . .

"Then one, probably an officer, jumped on the tank's turret, and started yelling. While screaming, that Jap beat the tank with his sword. All the rest started yelling and pounding the tank with

Enemy Strikes With Fury In Rome Sector

Germans Suffer Greatest Aerial Defeat In Italy

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 28. — The German 10th army, backed by planes, struck with fury at the Allies' Nettuno beachhead but was repulsed by British forces in a battle near Carroceto, on the Via Anziate 10 miles north of Anzio and 21 miles south of Rome, Allied headquarters announced today.

At the same time the Germans suffered their greatest air defeat of the Italian campaign, losing at least 50 planes in 24 hours in sky battles over the beachhead and over southern France.

Nazis Use Armored Trains

Heavy German armored trains, backed up almost to Rome, shelled Allied troops in the fan-shaped beachhead area and correspondents' reports said 60-ton Tiger tanks were assembling along the fringes of the beachhead as the enemy recovered from his surprise and mustered resources for a fiery contest for the Italian capital.

But today's communique from advanced headquarters said Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army had enlarged its bridgehead and taken many German prisoners.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead, in a delayed dispatch, said the British and Americans had established by the end of the fourth day a wedge so strong that Rome now was menaced, and that optimism was running high among the troops, with men, guns, armor and supplies pouring into the area.

Fifth Extends Grip

The Fifth army has extended its grip up the coast to a point 12 miles north of Anzio, another report said, and Americans edged forward two miles in another sector yesterday.

At the time, the announcement said, French troops continued their advance on the main Fifth army front several miles north of Cas-

Slav Partisans Cut Important Railway

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP) — Yugoslav partisans, striking simultaneously, have severed the important Belgrade-Zagreb railway in six different sectors, Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) reported today, while dispatches from Cairo revealed that Yugoslav spearheads were fighting within sight of Belgrade itself.

Tito's communique, broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio and recorded by the Associated Press, said sharp fighting was continuing around Tuzla and Zvornik in eastern Bosnia and Cairo reported that German relief forces had been dispatched to that area from Danube river bases to the north. According to these reports, partisan bands hold commanding positions along the Drina and Bosna river valleys through which the enemy troops are marching.

Tuzla, which the Germans captured Tuesday after days of fierce hand-to-hand street fighting, is 90 miles southwest of Belgrade and 50 miles northeast of Sarajevogn the Bosninan capital.

Six Argentine Officials Quit Due To Opposition To Break

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 28 (AP)—Three cabinet ministers and three lesser officials all known for extreme nationalistic views have resigned because of their opposition to Argentina's diplomatic break with the Axis, it was learned today.

AMBASSADOR RESIGNS

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 28 (AP)—Gen. Arturo Rawson has resigned as Argentina's ambassador to Brazil as part of the upheaval in the Argentine government.

This development in the still fluid situation came as President Pedro Ramirez was sharply warning Germany and Japan to beware of any acts of reprisal against Argentine nationals or property, advising opponents at home to maintain silence "for their own tranquility," banning all commerce with the Axis, and suspending the newspaper Pampero, major Nazi mouthpiece here.

Those reported to have quit their posts were Dr. Gustavo Martinez Zuviria, minister of justice and public instruction; Gen. Luis Cesar Perlinger, interior minister; Gen. Diego Mason, minister of agriculture; Gen. Basilio Pertine, mayor of Buenos Aires; and

Daylight Attacks On French Areas Resumed Today

Twelfth Major Assault Carries German Capital Nearer Obliteration; Well Over Half Of City's Factories Are In Ruins

BY PHIL AULT
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The biggest force of Lancaster bombers ever sent against Berlin pounded the German capital with more than 1,500 tons of explosives last night, leaving it a raging inferno from which towered five-mile high smoke columns, the Air ministry reported today.

American heavy bombers and swarms of other planes took up the resurgent aerial offensive a few hours later, hammering the French invasion coast in an all-day procession across the channel.

Military observers estimated that the new bombing that battered Berlin carried the knock-out campaign against the city almost to the two-thirds mark.

The raiding fleet consisted of a record number of Lancaster four-motored bombers for a Berlin raid, though previous forces teaming Lancasters and Halifaxes were larger.

Lasted 20 Minutes

The attack began at 8:25 p. m. and lasted 20 minutes, the bombs falling at an average rate of 75 tons per minute. The airmen saw three separate columns of smoke rising well over 15,000 feet.

Referring to Berlin's "winter of death," observers said that seven hours of actual bombardment since Nov. 18 must have brought it perilously close to the end of its existence as a city.

In 12 major attacks the Royal Air force has dropped 18,000 to 19,000 tons of bombs on Berlin, so concentrated that they fell in a total of less than seven hours.

Big Fires Raging

Speedy RAF Mosquito planes raced in over the blazing city about an hour after the giant bombers had completed their mission and found big fires raging through a vast area of Berlin.

Stockholm dispatches quoted private advices from Berlin as saying that the RAF hit the city between 8:30 and 9 p. m., concentrating their blockbusters on the industrial outskirts.

The raid lifted to between 18,000 and 19,000 tons the weight of explosives heaped on Berlin in the past two months, against the 30,000-ton figure which air experts have predicted would wipe out the city as a functioning industrial and administrative center.

Three German Airdromes Hit

Twenty-One Nazi Planes Destroyed

(By The Associated Press)

U. S. 15TH AIR FORCE BOMBER BASE in Italy, Jan. 28. — Flying Fortresses and Liberators battered three German airdromes in the Marseille-Montpelliar area of southern France yesterday, and left their objectives a mass of flames, although some 50 German fighters pitched into the large formations of bombers and escorting P-38 fighters.

The Germans tried everything in the book to break up the raiding formations but when the hotly contested battle was over at least 21 enemy planes were destroyed.

While the big bombers attacked the airdromes, other formations smashed and probably blocked the important Appian Way road junction of Velletri, some 30 miles southeast of Rome in direct support of American and British troops pushing inward from the Nettuno beachhead.

Four Other Planes Hit

In addition to the 21 enemy planes believed destroyed in the air battles over France, returning Liberator crewmen said they believed they hit four others on the Istres le Tube airport north of Marseille. They also plastered hangars and airfield installations and set off an ammunition dump there with well placed bombs.

Anti-aircraft fire was intense and one Liberator was lost over the target.

German fighters did not annoy the Liberators, but saved their strength for a vicious attack on Flying Fortresses over Salon de Provence airdrome, 25 miles northwest of Marseille, and the Montpellier airdrome to the west.

Hangars Are Hit

At Salon de Provence airport hangars around the field were hit and the center field pitted with bomb craters.

The Fortresses and their escort were greeted by 30 German planes which dived on them from all sides and bored in persistently be-

Taxpayers' Group Yells "Enough" On Baffling Tax Laws

HOUSTON, Jan. 28. (U.P.) — The taxpayers association of Harris county yelled "enough!" today and forwarded to the Texas congressional delegation in Washington a copy of a resolution labeling present tax laws and return systems baffling, complicated and serious.

The resolution stated that income, inheritance and gift tax laws "have become so complicated that tax experts and lawyers can not understand them, much less the average citizen" and "returns are so baffling that serious economic loss is involved in undertaking to make them out."

It suggested amendments to the tax laws, with "statutory restraint upon bureaus and agencies in requiring citizens to make out such complicated returns."

Tax Provision To Be Repealed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP) — Tax bill conferees agreed today to repeal the controversial "second windfall" provision of the pay-as-you-go tax law.

The provision, declared somewhat cumbersome in operation, essayed to collect additional taxes from war-swollen incomes by levying on the excess over a "normal" year's earnings, as measured by 1938, 1939 or 1940 income, plus $20,000.

The House and Senate conferees have cleaned up nearly all disputed matters in the bill, except the proposed amendments to the war contracts renegotiation act and the freeze of the social security payroll tax rate.

Amendment Rewritten

They rewrote an amendment originally introduced by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) permitting duty-free importation of lighter-weight and smaller-size newsprint than now is allowed to enter the country free of tariff.

Bowing to the House, the Senators agreed to remove an amendment inserted at the request of Senator Walsh (D-NJ) which

J. D. Wynne, 58, pleaded guilty of liquor law violation and was fined $100 and court costs by County Judge G. V. Pardue this morning. Liquor board officials had said they confiscated 12 fourfifths quarts and two pints of alcoholics from him Thursday night.

The "taking ways" of Willie Surgis, 23, a negro, drew a $50 corporation court fine. He stole crutch tips, inhalators, screwdrivers and chewing gum, among other odds and ends, from Lubbock stores Thursday—and didn't even get to chew a stick of the gum. "All property recovered," police said. Not so Willie, who remained in jail in lieu of satisfying the fine. Police said a purse containing $30, a watch and ration books had been stolen from 1200-block Texas avenue, from S. E. Black.

A 32-year-old negro was held this afternoon by police for investigation into theft of a radio. A camera valued at $30 was taken from a car at 2322 Sixth street.

Firemen said a shack residence in 400-block East Thirteenth street was damaged by fire at mid-morning. Furniture in one room was destroyed.

Nazis Claim Sinking Of More Allied Ships

LONDON, Jan. 28. (AP) — The Berlin radio asserted today that German submarines had sunk four destroyers and seven ships totaling 5,100 tons in the last few days in attacks on Allied convoys.

The broadcast did not specify the locale of the sinkings, which were not confirmed by any Allied admissions of shipping losses.

Of all the new people hired in west coast aircraft factories in a month, less than 6 per cent have had any previous airplane building experience.

Party Is Held For Husbands

Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, 602 Avenue W, gave a party for 1934 Needle club members and husbands Thursday night. After dinner, games of forty-two were played.

Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Jesse Chinn, O. H. Allen, Lloyd Nelson, U. S. Allen, Buel Hall, Pascal Peek, J. A. Hall, G. W. Jones, Mesdames Ralph Mills and John L. Sullivan and Mr. G. C. Bishop.

Future Homemakers Give Program This Morning

Future Homemakers of Texas of Junior High School presented a program during the regular club meeting this morning at 9 o'clock, having the Future Farmers of America and the Dramatic club as their guests. Billie Jo Stevens, president, presided.

Opening the presentation, Mary Lou McGowan announced a three scene play entitled, "Every Day Manners." The first scene was "Examples of Manners at Home;" second scene, "Manners at the Dining Table;" and third scene, "Manners on the Street." Characters were portrayed by Ludonna Berry, Alice Gibson, Mary Frances Settle, Jo Bumpass, Marvin Lorenz, and Betty Sue Tippet.

A vocal trio, Patsy Felty, Norma Jean Yuzbick, and Miss Stevens sang "Sunday, Monday or Always," and "Smiles." Special numbers following were a reading, "We Get Ourselves a Permanent," by Miss Tippet; piano solos, "Home on the Range," by Joyce Bentley, and "Coming in on a Wing and a prayer," and "Shoo Shoo Baby," by Marie Ingle; and a reading, "Just Nut'n," by Romona Runkles. Norma Sue Burkhalter led the group in singing "Victory Polka."

Future Homemakers of Texas will have a Valentine party, February 11, the club sponsor, Mrs. J. C. Bateman, announced.

Seven Talks Are Given At Monroe Club Program

"The Robe," a novel by Lloyd C. Douglas, was reviewed by Mrs. George Hunter at the semi-monthly meeting of the Monroe Home Demonstration club Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Clem Clutter on the Plainview Highway.

Discussions highlighting the program were given by Mrs. J. H. Barnett, "Taking Care of Your Shoes;" Mrs. E. W. Smith, "Do Your Shoes Fit;" Mrs. L. L. Watson, "Good Foot Work;" Mrs. W. O. Fortenberry, "Making Stockings Wear;" Mrs. A. T. Biggers, "Good Hand Work;" and Mrs. Clutter, "Proper Care of Gloves."

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and coffee were served to nine club members. Mrs. J. W. Van Story was introduced as a new member.

Meeting in the home of Mrs. Walter Emory Feb. 10, the discussions for the program to be led by Miss Clara Pratt will be "Our Foreign Policy," and "Peace Plans."

Surgical Dressings Are Folded By Club Members

Mesdames L. H. McCrummen and Rudolph Peel were hostesses to the Junior Sunshine Study club Thursday afternoon in the home of the former, 2407 Twenty-eighth street. Members folded dressings at the Red Cross earlier in the afternoon.

Mesdames Cloyce Tune, Raymond Painter, June Roberts, Lester Cooper, Carl Kight, Gordon Sanders, O. A. Bruton, Richard Walter, Arch Harper, John H. Portewood, John Nugent and Maurice Cowan were present.

HONOR DORIS GRIGGS

Doris Griggs, 7, was honored on her birthday when her mother, Mrs. Frank Griggs, 2627 Twenty-fifth street, entertained Thursday afternoon.

First grade pupils of Roscoe Wilson school were guests. Others present were Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal of the school, Mrs. George Pilley, teacher, and Mrs. John Darden from Pampa.

Hot chocolate, cake and candy were served.

Tribute Paid To Founder

Rebekah lodge members paid a tribute to the memory of the founder of Odd Fellows, Thomas Wiley, Thursday evening in a mock radio skit presented by Mesdames M. A. Sanders, G. C. Heatley, Troy Pierce and Harold Burdett at the IOOF hall.

Wiley and his four brothers organized the first IOOF in Baltimore, Md., in 1819 and he served as charter noble grand. Growth of the brotherhood organization at first was slow and confined to English imigrants. Wiley gave his life to its development, offering his home as a meeting place, giving freely of his money and traveling from state to state to help organize chapters. In the 42 years in which he served he saw the IOOF grow from five charter to 200,000 members.

In the radio skit it was brought out that Odd Fellowship has been completely disrupted in Europe where once it was so strong. However, in the United States there are 800,000 Odd Fellows and 700,000 Rebekahs, it was added. And it is up to these men and women to assume responsibility for furthering the "fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man in order that friendship, love and truth" will conquer the evil forces.

After the program, cake and coffee were served from a table laid with a lace cloth and centered with sweetpeas. Hostesses were Mesdames Clyde Jones, J. L. Tims, J. F. Richardson, J. C. Brown, N. M. Gosdin and Miss Margaret Mallard.

Mrs. Roberson Is Club Hostess At Residence

When S. O. W. club members met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Melvin Roberson, 1920 Twentieth street, they planned a luncheon for Feb. 9 at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. M. Copp, 1608 Twenty-third street.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames Elmer East, E. E. McCleskey, Warren Henry, E. C. Pool, L. H. Hobbs and J. B. Mack. New members were Mesdames W. S. Jones, V. C. Walden, George Howe and C. L. Boyd. Mrs. Fletcher Mack was a visitor.

Eaker In Command Of New Air Organization

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 28 (AP) — Creation of the "Mediterranean Allied Air forces," under the command of Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker has been announced by Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean.

The new organization, replacing the old Mediterranean air command headed by Air Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder and the Northwest African Air forces commanded by Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, will be made up of the U. S. 12th and 15th Air forces and RAF forces based at Malta and in the Middle East.

Deputy commander of the MAAF is Air Marshall Sir John Slessor, while Air Marshal Sir Keith Park is RAF commander in the Middle East under Eaker. Maj. Gen. Nathan F. Twining heads the U. S. 15th Air force and Maj. Gen. John K. Cannon the 12th.

Steel Discontinued For Cartridge Cases

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 28 (U.P.) —The use of steel for the production of artillery cartridge cases is being discontinued Maj. A. H. Gardner, jr., commanding officer of the Lake City ordnance plant, said today, now that brass in sufficient quantity again is available for that purpose.

Major Gardner said that the switch back to brass was expected to increase artillery ammunition production 30 per cent and result in a saving of $100,000,000 in 1944.

Shallowater "Over Top" In Bond Drive

Shallowater is the first of the Lubbock county school districts to go "over the top" in the Fourth War Loan drive and the folks in the district declare they are not through yet.

County School Supt. Roy Boyd, in charge of the campaign in the rural areas, reported Thursday that Shallowater had exceeded its $55,570 quota by $8,305. The committee there expects to continue work until a total of at least $70,000 has been reached, he added.

V. J. Farris, E. R. Evans, J. R. Murrel, George Leftwich, E. B. Teague, L. L. Anderson, Henry Mahoney and L. E. Baker make up the Shallowater committee. The group voted its thanks to all Shallowater residents for their co-operation and especially singled out for commendation Miss Opal Chastine, assistant postmaster, for "long hours of work typing bonds and doing other checking."

Behavior Of Yanks Is Said Exemplary

MELBURNE, Australia, Jan. 28 (AP)—The behavior of American servicemen toward native women in the Pacific islands is indeed exemplary, remarked the bishop of Melanesia, the right Rev. Walter Hubert Baddeley, of the Church of England, in a speech.

The bishop has continued his work in the Southwest Pacific islands throughout the war, and said he had seen American servicemen kneel with natives in their prayers and hymns.

Americans have proved to the natives that they worship the same God, he added; and it has been a great contribution to good will.

Tech Enrollment For Semester Is 1,437

By special permission, four additional students enrolled at Texas Technological college Thursday, making a total of 1,437 who had obtained registration permits for the 1944 spring semester at Tech.

Of this total, 502 were men students and 931 were women. By divisions, the enrollment is: arts and science, 526; commerce, 281; engineering, 292; home economics, 245; and agriculture, 93.

Wednesday was the last day in which a student could register, unless done by special permission. Registrar W. P. Clement was "pleased" with the final enrollment, and stated that it "was more than expected."

Capital Furious Over Atrocities

ever, for an eye-for-an-eye policy toward Japanese in American hands. As of Jan. 7, the War department said, only 377 Japanese fighting men had been taken prisoner since the start of the war. Indicative of American treatment of war prisoners is the fact that none of the 377 Japanese prisoners has died.

Chairman Andrew J. May, (D., Ky.), of the House military affairs committee, commenting on the atrocity disclosures, said "we ought to quit fooling around with islands and outposts and steam right into Tokyo and blow it into hades. This shows the kind of barbarian enemy we are fighting."

Rep. Clair Engle, (D., Calif.), said the disclosures of Japanese bestiality confirm the opinion of west coast residents that Japanese "are nothing but a savage, uncivilized people and not just 'sun-burned Yankees'."

"Get Down To Business"

"I am glad the Army and Navy have finally seen fit to let the American people know what type of enemy they are fighting so we can get down to business and get this thing over with," Engle added.

New Zealand Minister Walter Nash communicated with Hull after reading the atrocity report. Later he told reporters:

"It is one of the cruelest things I ever heard of in history."

A similar reaction was voiced by Sen. Charles O. Andrews, (D., Fla.), who said:

"It's the most gruesome thing I can imagine. It makes even more certain that we must fight this war to the finish. Japan will have to understand that to live in this world it will have to live up to accepted standards of civilization, in war and in peace."

Sen. Warren R. Austin, (R., Vt.), called for "that extra effort necessary to get our boys out of prison as quickly as possible."

Racial Uprisings Feared

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, (D., Colo.), hoped "this is not going to be the springboard for a wave of racial uprisings" against the thousands of civilian Japanese in this country.

In Denver, all military and civil police were placed on the alert to present any demonstrations against the large number of persons of Japanese ancestry in that area.

The three escapees who brought back the report of beatings, starvation, outright murder, forces labor, and death marches from the Philippines were Cmdr. Melvyn H. McCoy of Indianapolis, now on duty in this country; Lt. Col. S. M. Mellnik of Dunmore, Pa., now on duty in the Southwest Pacific, and the late Lt. Col. William E. Dyess of Albany, Tex., recently killed in a fighter plane crash at Burbank, Calif.

"More Work To Do"

In Seattle, McCoy announced that he has "work to do yet in the Philippines" and wants to go back there "to square accounts" with the Japanese. Mellnik already is getting back at the enemy as an artillery officer under Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The State department would make no immediate comment, but this government, presumably, had long and insistently sought satisfaction from Japan over her refusal to abide by the conventions of decent nations in the treatment of war prisoners.

Representations Fail

Representations through Switzerland, the power protecting United States interests at Tokyo, presumably had failed to produce results, or the tale of Japanese atrocities would not have been told at this time.

The Army-Navy story, packed with verified instances of Japanese brutality and barbarity, was based on sworn statements by two Army officers and a Navy officer who managed to escape from a prison camp on Davao after 361 days of hell.

What these men had to tell aroused Congress to an unprecedented pitch of rage. Chairman Sol Bloom, (D., N. Y.,) of the House foreign affairs committee said:

"Let these Japanese know in plain and no uncertain terms that we're going to hold them responsible for this nasty, damnable, despicable business.

"We'll hold the rats—from the emperor down to the lowest ditch digger—responsible for 1,000,000 years if necessary."

New Blow By Reds

German invader a distance of 40 to 60 miles from the Soviet union's second city.

More than 700 towns and villages have been recaptured in the two-week-old drive, an order of the day, signed by Govorov and Andrei Zhdanov, secretary of the Leningrad party committee, declared. It added that Leningrad was now entirely free from any threat of siege and safe from any further shelling by the enemy.

Nearing Estonian City

Capture of Volosovo placed Govorov's troops within 39 miles of the Estonian city of Narva. Fifty miles east of Volosovo, Soviet forces stormed into Tosno, western terminus of the Narva-Reval railway where it meets the Leningrad-Moscow trunk line 30 miles southeast of Leningrad. Most of the Tosno Garri on was killed in the attack, and the remainder threw down their arms, a communique said.

Pushing south, the Russians completely cleared the Moscow line and the adjoining highway for a distance of 20 miles to the outskirts of Lyuban, where they engaged the Germans in heavy fighting. The Nazis now hold only the 30-mile stretch of the railroad between Lyuban and Volkhovo, and troops of Gen. K. A. Meretskov's Volkhov army already have flanked that point.

Two Miles From Railway

Meretskov's forces pushing west from Lake Ilmen, 100 miles below Leningrad, were within two miles of the Leningrad-Vitebsk railroad at a point 13 miles south of Batetskaya junction, the war bulletin reported, while other columns swept into Verky Prykhon, eight miles northwest of Shimsk, severing the Shimsk-Pskov highway and jeopardizing German positions in the Staraya Russa salient south of Lake Ilmen. The Leningrad-Vitebsk line is the next to last one out of the Leningrad area left to the Germans. The last one is the Leningrad-Luga-Pskov-Warsaw railway, a branch of which runs from Pskov to Riga, on the Latvian Baltic coast.

Towns captured by Meretskov's troops included Zbolotye and Dekhovo, 25 miles northwest of Novgorod, putting his spearheads about 55 miles from the advance units of Govorov's army smashing south from the Krasnogvardeisk-Tosno sectors. The day's fighting on the Leningrad front cost the Germans 3,800 casualties, the communique said.

Violent fighting was reported in the Novosolniki sector 230 miles below Leningrad where another 1,500 Germans were reputed slain as the Soviet forces repelled an all-day series of counter-attacks.

Far to the south in the lower Ukraine the Nazis continued to force the pace, hurling large tank forces against the left wing of Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's First Ukrainian army pushing toward the Odessa-Warsaw trunk railway. More than 3,000 enemy troops were killed in this sector, the communique reported.

Stock Market

SWITCH TO RECOVERY SIDE

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP) — Spurred by selective demand for steels, rails and specialities, the stock market averages switched to the recovery side today after four successive declining sessions.

The tide was turned at the opening when Bethlehem Steel came out on a 1,300-share block, up 1½, in response to a surprisingly favorable profits report. While there were a few wide swings among the liquors, advances generally ranged from fractions to a point or so near the close. Volume on the comeback was a bit disappointing, transfers for the full proceedings running to around 600,000 shares, among the smallest for a 5-hour stretch this month.

Touching new 1943-44 peaks were Park & Tilford, Superior Oil (Cal.), United Merchants & Manufacturers, Engineers Public Service and General Bronze. Ahead most of the time, besides Bethlehem, were U. S. Steel, Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Chrysler, General Motors, American & Foreign Power preferreds, Goodyear, Douglas Aircraft and Woolworth.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP) — Extreme gains of 55 cents a bale lifted March cotton futures to a new four month high level today. Anticipation of government purchases of raw cotton in the open market and reports of an improved spot demand from southeastern mills, spurred price fixing activities by trade interests. Hedge offerings were limited and held to a scale up basis.

Futures closed 15 to 20 cents a bale higher.

New "Luxury" Taxes

would have allowed taxpayers to make quarterly payments of the unforgiven portions of their 1942 income taxes due March 15, 1944, and March 15, 1945.

Senate-House conferees on the $2,000,000,000-plus tax bill approached their most controversial ground today after approving rises on more than $1,000,000,000 in excise taxes and postal rates.

Only a few miscellaneous points remain to be resolved before the committeemen tackle the amendments modifying the war contracts renegotiation act. Those sections aroused the greatest heat when the bill was being drafted.

"Luxury" Rates Approved

Stiff wartime "luxury" rates were approved in yesterday's fast-moving closed session. Here are some samples:

Cabaret and night club checks, 30 per cent in place of the present 5 per cent.

Cosmetics and toilet articles, 25 per cent instead of 5.

Admissions to theaters, ball parks, etc., 1 cent for each 5 cents of charge. The present rate is a cent per dime.

Furs and jewelry, 20 per cent instead of 10. (Silver-plated flatware is excluded from the jewelry tax.)

Luggage, now bearing a 10 per cent manufacturers tax, becomes subject to a 20 per cent retail rate. Wallets, ladies' hand bags and toilet sets, not taxed at present, become subject to the 20 per cent rate.

The tax on pool tables and bowling alleys was doubled.

The conferees did not have to bother with a long list of rates on which House and Senate were in agreement. These included a rise in the liquor tax from $6 a gallon to $9, sharp boosts in the levies on beer and wines; an increase from 10 to 15 per cent in the tax on local telephone service, and the same percentage boost in the tax on railroad, bus and airplane fares.

The committee also voted to increase air mail postage from 6 cents to 8 for each ounce. Locally delivered letters would have to carry full 3 cents postage, same as other first class mail.

A proposed 5 per cent tax on pari-mutuel wagers, voted by the House and removed by the Senate, still is open for consideration.

The Senate's schedule of invested capital credits for computing corporate excess profits taxes was retained.

Women's Committee On School Laws Set

AUSTIN, Jan. 28 (AP) — A committee representing the Texas Federation of Women's clubs has been selected to meet with the joint legislative committee currently recodifying the state school laws, Miss Ethel Foster of Sterling City, federation president, announced here.

Members are Mrs. James Goodman, Midland; and Mrs. Willis Sauer, and Mrs. Bob Barker, Austin.

Miss Foster said the state board meeting here also voted to consider establishing a permanent Latin-American scholarship fund, recommended by Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville, federation chairman on international relations.

Allies Tighten Down On Spain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP) — Spain faced today the necessity of redefining her position toward Germany and the Allies as a result of American suspension of her main oil supplies.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government was forced to confront the possibility of a profound crisis in Spain's entire economy.

The United States, it was learned on highest authority, has stopped scheduled February oil shipments to Spain from the Caribbean area, virtually Spain's only source of supply.

Secretary of State Hull is expected to announce the move today.

The limited amount of oil Spain has been getting from the Caribbean in her own ships is so tightly calculated that expert observers said the loss or delay of even one tanker's cargo would have extremely serious results.

Seven-Nine Tankers Involved

Seven to nine tankers were said to be invoked in the orders prohibiting planned shipments next month.

The action was understood to be part of a general reexamination of American policy toward the key neutral.

For some time the United States and Britain have made representations to Spain on the following requests:

1. Release of a number of Italian vessels from internment in Spanish ports.

2. Thorough-going restrictions on activities of Nazi spies and saboteurs, especially on Spanish territory near Gibraltar.

3. Reduction of Spanish exports of vital war materials to Germany.

The American action came at an especially delicate time for Spain, already deeply impressed by Argentina's severance of relations with the Axis.

Theft Of Grain

Levelland, who had received complaints of several grain thefts in Hockley county. Hoyt Hammil alone had lost $265 worth of grain, another farmer from 1,000 to 12,000 pounds of grain valued at $2 a hundred pounds.

Four Men Charged

Hofacket said he had charged four men arrested Thursday in Hockley county with theft of grain, but that amounts taken in separate transactions qualified only for county court jurisdiction.

Grain thefts are becoming more serious each day over the South Plains, officials announced. Farmers, facing problems of manpower and hauling facilities, must leave high-priced grain in roads and fields. Thieves are taking advantage of their plight.

Charges will be filed in Hockley county against two of those held here, Hofacket said. Lubbock officials said they were uncertain whether more charges would be filed here.

The complaint filed here, in the court of J. T. Inmon, justice of peace, for grand jury attention, alleged the three had stolen 9,770 pounds of grain from Hughes.

There had been no arraignment early this afternoon.

Officials said the men admitted having sold threshed grain recently at Big Spring, Lamesa and Sweetwater.

Pacific Fighting

bombs on the islands used by the Japanese as a staging area between their Truk bastion to the north and besieged northern New Guinea to the west. It was the third consecutive air assault on the enemy's base in the Bismarck sea.

New Blows Are Struck

Other blows struck the Nipponese as the governments of both the United States and Britain disclosed that thousands of American, Filipino and British military prisoners had been starved, tortured and murdered by the enemy. Foreign Minister Anthony Eden solemnly told the House of Commons:

"Let the Japanese government reflect that in time to come the record of their military authorities in this war will not be forgotten."

Several hours earlier, the Tokyo radio had quoted Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu as demanding an improvement in treatment of the Japanese interned by the United Nations.

Australian troops advancing up the coast of New Guinea pushed north of Sio to narrow the gap of approximately 40 miles between them and the Americans who landed at Saidor Jan. 2 in a direct threat to the big Japanese base at Madang. In a pre-dawn attack Wednesday, U. S. destroyers poured shells into both Madang and nearby Alexishafen.

Western Beachhead Expanded

American Marines captured Natamo point in the Borgen bay area of invaded Cape Gloucester to expand their western New Britain beachhead a full mile and a half. South Pacific fighter planes flew over Rabaul, the enemy's chief base on the northeastern tip of the island, for 35 minutes without drawing a single Japanese interceptor.

In the Solomons, American forces advanced their Bougainville beachhead on the northern side of Empress Augusta bay beyond the Torokina river. The island has proved of little value to the Japanese since aerial bombardments knocked out their major airfields.

The Southeast Asia command announced that the Japanese suffered heavy losses when American-trained Chinese troops drove them from an area northeast of Taro in the Dalu river valley of northern Burma. Successful attacks in the northern Chin hills sector also were reported at New Delhi.

Secretary Hull

ishness which all of them embodies in order to describe the conduct of those who inflicted these unthinkable tortures on Americans and Filipinos as reports cite."

Since the beginning of the war, Hull said, the United States has been protesting through the Swiss government all cases of brutality or mistreatment on which information has been received. He implied that similar action had been or would be taken in this case.

Juvenile Burglars Arrested In Seymour

SEYMOUR, Jan. 28 (Special)—Sheriff L. J. Blackburn of Baylor county disclosed this morning how a ring of three juvenile burglars from Oklahoma had been broken by "most fortunate arrest."

The boys, 14, 15 and 16, he said, were on the highway 10 miles south of Vernon. Along came Raymond Waters, Texas ranger of Lubbock district headquarters. The boys flagged the ranger to a stop and climbed in his car.

"What's your name?" Waters asked one of the boys, who showed momentary hesitancy and incited suspicion.

When Waters reached Seymour he turned the three over to Sheriff Blackburn. "Shaken down," it was noticed that the boys had "an equal amount of greenbacks" and a bunch of pennies, dimes and nickels.

They made statements admitting burglaries of a Martha, Okla., bank and drugstore, the postoffice at Elmer, Okla., and four other places.

"We were going south and meant to knock over everything that looked easy," one of the youngsters said.

"They almost made me arrest them," Waters told Sheriff Blackburn.

Kaiser Shipyards Set Remarkable Record

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 28 (AP)—One of the brightest construction records in merchant ship history — one that may well have turned the battle of supply for the United States — ends today with the launching of the Peter Moran.

The Moran, named for a pioneer Seattle, Wash., shipbuilder who died in 1941, is the last Liberty freighter from the Henry J. Kaiser's Oregon Shipbuilding corporation — the 322nd ship in just 32 months.

There is nothing like this record in previous history. Even Edgar F. Kaiser, Henry's son and general manager of the yard, didn't think the feat possible.

When the 11-way yard was started in 1941, he estimated it would take 2½ years to build the yard and deliver 32 ships. That was the established pace for conventional shipbuilding.

According to Canada's 1941 census, an average of 4.3 persons live in a household.

Third Dance To Be Held At Cotton Club In Paralysis Drive

A third dance was added today to the annual Crippled Children's benefit balls Monday night when it was announced that Crager's orchestra would play at the Cotton club on the Slaton highway. Anyone purchasing a ticket for the dances, may attend any of the three. Other dances will be staged at the Lubbock and Hilton hotels.

American Business club members have charge of the sale of tickets and Chairman J. E. Maisen distributed tickets at the club's luncheon today noon at the Hilton hotel. Tickets are one dollar each, tax included.

C. A. Rogers and his band will play at the Lubbock hotel and Ross Edwards' orchestra will furnish music for dancers at the Hilton.

FEATURING QUALITY FOODS!

Breakfast Should Be Enticing Meal

IF they boo at breakfast, it's time to try persuasion—but not the talking kind! Why not set a snare to catch the early birds? Let's make breakfast so good they'll be as eager to eat them as they are your other meals. Truth is, breakfast can bog down to pretty humdrum fare unless you watch it, plan for it, like lunch and supper. There's not a good reason in the world why breakfast should be boring since the cereal breakfast foods alone come in more than 60 different kinds, every one a treat in taste and texture.

Take a new tack on breakfast! Try these ten good ways to win over reluctant breakfasters:

1. Stamp out "sameness."

2. Plan breakfast menus ahead with as much care as your lunch and dinner patterns.

3. Vary the fruit. Use fresh fruit cut attractively. Serve stewed fruit and baked fruit like apples and pears. Some mornings serve fruit to top cereal. Don't forget fruit juices.

4. Vary the cereal. Ready-to-eats come shredded, flaked, kerneled, puffed, biscuited in many different flavors. Cooked cereals range through different textures and colors from creamy white to tawny tans. Make every morning different.

Vary Ways Of Serving

5. Vary the way the cereal's served. Cooked cereals go pudding-fancy with toppings of brown sugar, raisins, nuts, blended milk and honey, or chopped cooked apricots. Ready-to-eats talk to the appetite with toppings of fresh or stewed fruit ranged in circles or star patterns. Serve two different ready-to-eats in same bowl for cereal fun.

6. Serve meat or egg occasionally in addition to cereal.

7. Cut time in the morning by serving tray breakfasts. Arrange silver ,fruit, cereal bowls, beverage, bread, milk, sugar on big tray —tote it all in at once!

8. Introduce new breakfast treats like scrambled eggs cooked with crispy cereal, fried mush with syrup, sunny-side-ups baked in crispy cereal cups that line your muffin tins.

9. Set as gay a table for breakfast as you do when company's coming to dinner. Make breakfast a happy get-together, a time to anticipate, like your other family meals.

10. See that breakfast follows the good breakfast nutrition pattern so the family will actually feel the extra good they're getting from their first meal. For breakfast to carry its rightful share of the day's food values (one-third to one-fourth the day's nutrition total) it should include; fruit, cereal breakfast food with milk and sugar, buttered or margarined bread, beverage.

You'll find ways to put these good rules to work in these good breakfast menus:

Variety Meats Liven Up Your Meals; Brains One Of The Most Pleasing Of These Meats

START the year out right with a big change in your menus! Liven up the meals by using those variety meats you've never tried and don't know how to serve. Make it a point to try kidneys, sweetbreads, tongue, brains and heart. Try them at least once and your family will insist upon having them again and again. Not only are they delicious, but what's more, they'll do much toward building good health!

Brains are one of those variety meats that most people don't know how to prepare or else they've never tried them . . . and they're really missing a treat! We know some very tempting recipes that you'll find easy to prepare and simply delicious!

Should Be Precooked

Brains are very tender meat, soft in consistency, and they have a tasty, delicate flavor. They're sold in pairs and one pair will make two ample servings. The first thing you should do in preparing brains is to soak them in cold water for 15 minutes, then precook them. This precooking should be done in water to which 1 teaspoon of salt and 1 teaspoon of vinegar or lemon juice is added for every quart of water used. After simmering the brains for about 20 minutes, remove them from the water and dip them in cold water. This precooking and cold water plunge gives them firmness, keeps them white and also improves their keeping quality. Remove all the loose membrane and keep them in the cold water until used. The cooked brains are now ready to be "dressed up" . . . to make them attractive for servings that will tempt everyone!

Brains are extra-special when prepared so they're crisp and crusty on the outside. After the precooking, dip them into beaten seasoned egg, then cracker crumbs, and fry them in a small amount of fat until a delicate golden brown. Serve them with broiled halves of tomatoes onto which a spoonful of tartar sauce is placed the last minute. Everyone will like them!

Brains can be cut into small pieces and added to cream sauce for serving over toast points or added to eggs for scrambling. Either way they're elegant fare: They can be combined with mushrooms or tomatoes in rich sauces, used in salads alone or with chicken, and they can be dipped in melted butter and broiled for a quick delicacy!

Don't forget that good to eat brains are good for you too! All the variety meats are rich in vitamins and minerals, and brains excel in their supply of iron and phosphorus. Use them often . . . and here are ways to do it . . . .

BREADED BRAINS

2 pair calves brains
1 egg, beaten
½-1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
1 cup cracker crumbs

Soak brains in cold water for 15 minutes, then simmer for 20 minutes in 1 quart boiling water to which 1 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon vinegar or lemon juice have been added. Drain. Remove as much of the membrane as possible and keep meat in cold water until used. Combine beaten egg, salt and pepper. Dip brains in egg then cracker crumbs. Fry in hot shallow fat for 3 minutes or until well browned on all sides.

SCRAMBLED EGGS & BRAINS

1 pair calf brains (about 1 pound)
3 eggs
2 tablespoons top milk
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Prepare brains as above, keeping them in cold water until used. Break brains into small pieces and mix with beaten egg, milk, parsley, onion, salt and pepper. Let fat melt in frying pan then pour in mixture and stir gently until eggs are set. If desired, the parsley may be omitted. Serve on toasted buns. 4 servings.

BRAINS A LA KING

½ pound calf's brain
¼ cup chopped onions
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1 pimiento cut in thin strips
1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce

Wash brains thoroughly and remove as much of the membrane as possible. Soak ½ hour in salted water. Drain and simmer 20 minutes in water to which 1 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon vinegar or lemon juice have been added for each quart of water used. Drain and cool. Cut brain into small pieces. Brown onions in butter and add flour and salt. Add milk gradually and stir until thick. Add remaining ingredients and serve on toast points. 4 servings.

Peanut Stuffing For Roast Chicken

½ cup dried celery and celery leaves
2 tablespoons minced onions
1 cup water
4 cups bread cubes
½ cup chopped roasted peanuts
¼ tablespoons margarine or butter, melted
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 teaspoon minced parsley or cress (optional)

Simmer, covered, for 20 minutes, celery, onions and water. Uncover and boil 2 minutes to reduce the bulk. Pour over rest of ingredients. Mix lightly with a fork to prevent a soggy heavy stuffing. Lightly stuff the fowl.

Salted peanuts can be used and in this case omit the salt called for.

Some chopped olives and sweet or sour pickles added to cole slaw give an interesting new flavor. Serve with fish, meats or fowl.

Pecan Pie

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup dark cork sirup
1 teaspoon vanilla
2-3 cup pecans
1 unbaked pie shell (about 8 inches in diameter)

Blend sugar with flour and salt. Add eggs, sirup, vanilla and pecans. Pour into the pie shell. Bake 10 minutes in moderately hot oven — two hundred. Lower heat to moderately slow—three hundred and bake 40 minutes. Serve, cut in small pieces. For extra flavor in pecans, toast them by heating 10 minutes in a moderately slow oven.

Make up leftover pastry crust into shallow tart cases. Cool and fill with creamed boiled custard and top with berries or sliced peaches.

MEAT EXTENDER

Shortages in the family diet are teaching homemaking to prepare meals that make the most of the available food supply. Meat rationing means less meat, but to make up for this shortage Jessie Alice Cline, home economist, suggests dishes that extend the full flavor of meat to bland foods. Here's a typical recipe:

1 egg
1 pound ground pork
½ clove garlic
2 cup chopped parsley
1 cup cooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon papper
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons lard or drippings

Cut garlic finely into water. Soak one hour. Strain. Combine garlic liquid with all ingredients except the drippings. Drop by tablespoonfuls into hot drippings. Brown on both sides. Cover and cook slowly 20 minutes. Uncover the last few minutes to crisp. Serves 6.

CRANBERRY-ORANGE RELISH

Contents of ¼-oz. package Dehydrated cranberries
1 orange
½ cup sugar
½ cup water

Cut orange in quarters, remove seeds. Put pulp and rind through food chopper. Mix with dehydrated cranberries, sugar, and water. Let stand several hours before serving to permit berries to absorb moisture. Delicious with any meat.

The cotton plant can survive drought better than most plants because it stops growing in dry seasons, resuming growth when rains return.

Public Work Program Set

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP) — Secretary Ickes told President Roosevelt today the Interior department has blueprinted a vast public work program, much of which could be launched within 30 days after the victory is won.

In his annual report, Ickes said power and irrigation projects planned by the department would keep 480,000 war veterans employed for 3 years—225,000 of them at construction sites and 255,000 in the plants and factories that would provide materials for the jobs. He said these projects, upon completion, would open farm settlement opportunities to 165,000 families.

War Activities Listed

The secretary listed war activities of his department for the fiscal year ending last June 30, including development of hydroelectric power, discovery of mineral ores, production of radio insulators and helium, production of more food in the west, and the drawing of maps.

Stating the department has kept in mind "the huge contribution which the United States will have to make to replenish the world's war-depleted larder," Ickes said it is prepared to extend irrigation to 6,000,000 additional acres, and to supplement the water upply which now irrigates 9,000,000 acres.

Dies Committee Plans More Investigations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP) — Granted a new appropriation of $75,000, Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the House committee on un-American activities today set out on a program of investigations that calls for inquiries into the CIO, the "peace now" organization, the United States Civil Service commission and the Japanese.

Dies said he wanted to find out in the near future what the CIO "political action committee" has in mind.

The CIO group, he said in an interview, has raised a fund approaching $2,000,000 "to defeat members of Congress."

The investigation of "Peace Now," an organization advocating negotiated peace, already is under way, Dies disclosed, as is an inquiry into practices of the Civil Service commission.

During the past year, the committee has devoted most of its time to checking up on Japanese activities in this country.

BIG ALLOTMENT DUE

HIDALGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—Clemente Ramos, 37, farm worker who goes into the Army Feb. 1 as a draftee, will leave behind him a wife and eight children. Under present dependency pay allotments his family will receive $220.

The highest clouds are 50 miles above the earth.

Hookey-Playing Pays For Once

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28 (AP) — Robert Mulnick, jr., and Norman Burns, each 9, will be awarded a $50 war bond apiece at a school assembly today.

Probably no mention will be made of the fact that they played hookey last Friday.

That's when they were walking along a railroad track and spotted an open switch. They notified Harold Hauflaire of the nearby Airco Corp. plant, who informed the railroad. An approaching freight train was flagged down; if it hadn't been, it might have jumped the switch and crashed into the war plant.

POWDER PLANTS CLOSED

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 28 (AP)—Hercules Powder Co. said today in its annual report that "production schedules now are being reduced and some plants have been closed."

When you go home tonight... think of a boy who never will...

THINK OF HIM—and ask yourself this question: Which of you—this boy or yourself—could more truthfully have said today: "I'm sorry—I've done all I can"?

To that, there is only one answer. For no sacrifice any of us made this day can ever begin to measure up to his final and supreme sacrifice—his very life.

So, when we're asked to buy an extra $100 War Bond this month—over and above what we'd been planning to buy—how can we find it in our hearts to say, "I'm sorry—I've done all I can!"

Think it over—and help get this war over sooner by doing your share.

Buy an extra $100 War Bond, tomorrow! At least $100. Better $200, $300, or even $500. You can afford it.

Jap Barbarians To Pay For Atrocities

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Prediction: When this war is over we shall be able to identify many of the Jap officers who tortured our Bataan heroes to death. Then the mikado's barbarians shall pay!!

Nazi Germany generally works by indirection in its efforts to sow seeds of dissention among the United Nations, but Argentina's rupture with Hitler has brought into the open none less than Foreign Minister Joachin von Ribbentrop — one of the dozen most dangerous men alive today.

Yesterday Von Ribbentrop, posing as one more in sorrow than in anger, flung a two-barbed spear into the Allied camp. It wasn't Germany who was the loser by Argentina's action, he said, but the Argentine itself and poor old England. "The Argentine government is not master of its own decisions any longer," and Britain which already "has been compelled to sacrifice the major part of her Central and South American interests to the United States ally," now "is going to lose her position in Argentina."

Solicitude Is Touching

Von Ribbentrop's solicitude for England is touching. He lived long in Britain and Canada and speaks English so flawlessly as to be accused of talking German with an English accent. Yet something embittered him against the British so greatly that he foreswore use of the tongue. He even refused to employ it in conversation with United States Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles when the latter was in Berlin in 1940.

Von Ribbentrop's propaganda yesterday is a perfect example of the use of the weapon upon which Hitler is gambling desperately to save his skin. While the Nazi armies fight a suicidal delaying action on all fronts, der fuehrer strives to cause a split among the Allies.

Von Ribbentrop fancies that his own importance will give weight to his words. However, in this case he has made a statement which to the Argentine or Briton or American is the essence of absurdity.

No Desire To Intrude

Argentina knows that she hasn't surrendered anything to the United States, and she knows that this country has no desire to intrude. There is a friendly rivalry between British and American business interests for trade in Central and South America — and why not? So far as concerns the Argentine, however, it happens that Britain and the big South American nation have mutual trade interests. England wants Argentine products, including the greatest of all — meat — whereas the United States raises all the meat we need. England in turn has manufactured goods which the Argentine desires.

This trade will find its own level, and there's nothing Von Ribbentrop can say that will alter that natural law.

W. C. O'Mara Elected Red Cross Chairman

Lubbock Red Cross chapter Thursday night elected W. C. O'Mara chairman for 1944, in an annual election of officers in the Chimayo room of Hilton hotel.

O'Mara, local manager for Sears, Roebuck and Co., had been acting chairman in the absence of Dr. Sam C. Arnett, jr., who went into Naval service several months ago.

G. P. Kuykendall was elected vice chairman; Mrs. Morley Jennings secretary; R. B. Luker, treasurer; and Roy Furr, Mrs. Ivy Savage, C. H. Hamilton and Glen Hess, members of the board of directors. A vice chairman of the chapter from Slaton will be elected next week, it was said.

A. C. Jackson and Mrs. C. E. Slaton are retiring directors. Holdover directors are: Rev. H. G. Gantz, J. E. Maisen, J. D. Hassell, jr., Dr. Allen T. Stewart, J. Ray Dickey, Mrs. Wesley Read, Neil H. Wright and C. W. Ratliff.

Plainview, Lubbock Renew Feud Tonight

A And B Teams To Clash Here

The Plainview Bulldogs will invade the lair of the Lubbock Westerners tonight at 7:30 for a pair of games that promise plenty of fireworks from both the A and B teams. The Westerners have already clinched the south half championship, but the Bulldogs will be out for revenge for the three straight losses suffered against the Lubbock lads.

At the same time, the Plainview B team will be shooting the works to make it three out of four over the Lubbock B team in their sensational battle of close scores.

Coach Dixie White said Thursday night that he planned to start the same lineup in the B game tonight, and expressed confidence that his lads would even the score with the Plainview five.

The two teams have played three games to date, the Plainview boys winning twice by one point, and Lubbock winning one game by two points after an overtime period. In the three games, the score between the two clubs is tied, and their battles have provided fans with real thrills.

The Westerner A team swept three games from Plainview, but have had no picnic in doing so and a real battle is expected in the finale. The Plainview lads are reported to be ready to shoot the works to get revenge for the trio of losses.

Coach White said Thursday that he planned to start Cope and Crawford at forwards, Manderson at center, Moore and Brewer or Moyers at guard.

A check of the Westerner scoring records showed that Bill Cope took over the scoring lead for the club with a season's total of 95 points to 84 for Manderson, who had paced the club for most of the year.

Neither Angott Nor Jack Risking Title In Tonight's Bout

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—They say you can't have your cake and eat it but Sammy Angott and Beau Jack know better.

The respective lightweight champions of the NBA and New York State Athletic commission swap punches tonight in a 10-rounder at Madison Square garden and when they get through they'll have over 60 per cent of an estimated $70,000 gate and their titles. Man has yet to devise a sweeter solution.

With both boys coming in over the 135-pound limit, the fans will "enjoy" the unique sensation of watching two titleholders of the same division collide without a crown being dented. The faithful don't seem to mind and 16,000 are expected.

Jack, the Augusta, Ga., shoeshine boy, is a slim 5 to 6 choice in a brawl that has the boys in the back room on the anxious seat. The Beau looked anything but a champ as he fanned the breeze in easing out a close-cut decision over Lulu Costantino in his last outing. But he's a good puncher and a tireless worker even if he isn't a picture style of boxer.

Angott, who hails from Washington, Pa., by way of Louisville, Ky., has not been a garden crowd pleaser with his clout and clutch formula but has been a consistent winner. It's possible that the NBA king might be Mr. Big in all the precincts if he hadn't "retired" suddenly in 1942. The mystery of what made Sammy run still hasn't been cleared up to the satisfaction of the paying customers.

Railbirds at Stillman's gym report both in excellent condition.

Al Milnar Is Due To Be Inducted Soon

CLEVELAND, Jan. 28 (U.P.) — Pitcher Al Milnar, who was traded by the Cleveland Indians to the St. Louis Browns near the close of the 1943 season, said today he expected to be inducted into the armed forces on or about Feb. 27.

The 30-year-old lefthander, a father of two small children, said he was now on a 30-day furlough granted by his selective board to permit him to settle his private affairs before reporting for induction.

Milnar, part-owner of a bowling alley here, is a product of the Cleveland sandlot. His entire seven-year major league career was with the Indians until he was traded last season.

BILLY HERMAN 1-A

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., Jan. 28 (U.P.)—Billy Herman, Brooklyn Dodger infielder, has been reclassified 1-A by his New Albany, Ind., draft board and expects to be called soon for induction, President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers announced today.

SPAAF Five Downs Tech

"Stormy" McCloud Leads Victors

Leason "Stormy" McCloud was in the form that brought him All-American honors and a Madison Squad Garden scoring record when playing with Colorado in 1940 in the Lubbock basketball league game at the Texas Tech gym Thursday night, and he led the point a minute South Plains Army Air field cagers to a 63 to 45 victory over Texas Tech.

With the victory went undisputed first place in the Lubbock Basketball League standing and extended the South Plains Army Air Field winning streak to seven games in a row.

McCloud flipped the ball into the meshes 13 times and toed the foul line for three more to amass 29 of his team's points in the game against the Kids. He didn't show much choice on where he shot from, and he made his baskets from near and far, and from all angles.

Texas Tech made it a ball game for a little while, and held the lead twice in the early minutes of play, but the relentless attack of the Army wore them down and the soldiers took the lead at 6 to 4 and were never behind again.

But twice the Red Raiders stormed back to tie the score in the first half. The Raiders reached an 11-11 tie on a field goal by Weeks and a few minutes later, Tex Wallis tied the score at 13-13. But the old jinx number seemed to be the stumbling block for Coach Robinson's kids, and the soldiers pulled on to a 19 to 13 lead before Don Grove got them off the "13" with another field goal.

The SPAAF lead at the halftime intermission was 29 to 19, and through the last half they held the lead and were never seriously threatened, but the Techsans never quit battling and were still trying hard to reduce the lead when the final gun sounded.

The game started slowly with Ragland getting the first basket to give Tech its first lead, then McCloud tied the count at 2-2 but Bechtol pulled Tech back into the lead with another goal, but Kline tied the game, then Conley sent the soldiers ahead.

SPAAF built up a lead of 10 to 4 as McCloud dropped in two in a row, then Grove dropped in two free throws, Weeks fired in a field goal and Grove hit another free pitch to pull within one point.

McCloud made the score 11-9 with a field goal, then Weeks delivered the tying goal. McCloud fired again for a 13-11 lead then Wallis countered to tie it, then tech stuck on the 13 and were never threatening again.

Scoring honors for Tech were close between the three tall scoring leaders of the club with Weeks nosing out Grove for the honors with 12 points to 11 for Grove. They were runnerups to McCloud in scoring, with Conley of the Army close behind with 10.

Rice, Texas Cagers Invade North Texas

FORT WORTH, Jan. 28 (AP) — Rice and Texas invade North Texas in top Southwest conference basketball games of the week-end with four being played within 30 miles of each other.

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs meet Rice here tonight while Texas is at Dallas battling Southern Methodist.

Tomorrow night things will be reversed as Texas moves to Fort Worth to play T. C. U. while Rice goes over to Dallas to clash with S. M. U.

Baylor and Texas A. and M. are idle but Arkansas will be in Oklahoma playing nonconference tilts with Oklahoma A. and M. and the Phillips Oilers.

Comedian-Pilot Casey Stengel Resigns

Boston Braves' Directors Are Deliberating On New Manager

BOSTON, Jan. 28 (AP) — Freed from possible embarrassment by the unsolicited resignation of the droll Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengel as their manager, the serious-minded director of the recently reorganized Boston Braves baseball club today were deliberating about his successor.

"Whenever a new group purchases control of a corporation, they have the right to dictate the policy," Stengel, now en route east from his Glendale, Cal., home, wrote President Bob Quinn yesterday, adding, "and in order that there be no embarrassment, I hereby tender my resignation."

It was accepted immediately by Quinn and the three directors who recently acquired enough additional shares to control the club, Joe Maney, Guido Rugo and Louis Perini, all wealthy Boston contractors.

Gained Sizeable Fortune

Stengel, who gained a sizeable fortune in oil and real estate, has kept his baseball associates chuckling for more than 20 years. Many of his pranks and witticisms have become legends, such as, while managing the Worcester Eastern league club in 1925, first selling himself to the higher Toledo American association club as a player and then resigning as an executive.

A player for the Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, New York and Boston National league clubs, Stengel also managed the Toledo club before succeeding Max Carey as Brooklyn pilot in 1934. The inimitable Casey was ousted from the latter berth a year before his contract expired and one of the most hilarious of his many amusing baseball reminiscenses centers about him being paid more for not managing the Dodgers in 1937 than Burleigh Grimes, his successors, received for doing it.

84th Beats 495th To Remain Undefeated In LAAF Cage Loop

The 84th Post Headquarters Squadron remained unbeaten in the Lubbock Army Air Field squadron basketball league race Thursday night at the LAAF gym, beating back the second place 495th Squadron five, 48 to 34, in the feature game of the night.

The league leaders led all the way, but Elrod, star of the 495th club staged a game battle to keep his team in the thick of the race and came out with top scoring honors with 21 points. Prior, of the winners, was the runnerup, with 15, followed by Dixon of 84th, who dropped in 10 points.

The 1017 Guard Squadron broke into the win column for the first time by winning the second game of the program over the Medical Detachment, 38 to 32, in a closely contested battle. The Guardsmen were never behind, but the score was tied four times during the games before the Guards could nose out the victory.

Janda High Point Man

Janda, of the Guards, copped the high point honors of the night with 13 points while Foll and Hanson of the Medics were tied for runnerup honors, each with 10 points. Enson of the winners finished with nine points to share in the honors.

In the opener, the 498th Squadron romped over the Finance Department cagers for a 54 to 23 win that found Harris setting the pace for the winners with 17 points, McNelly was high for the losers with eight points.

Norman Volz, former Texas Tech star, was the hero of the game, and his close guarding of Reese, the Finance Department's high scoring ace, held Reese to only four points in the game. Volz also contributed 10 points to the cause of the winners.

Draft Bears Down On Dodgers; Kids To Be Given Break

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., Jan. 28 (U.P.) — A frank admission by President Branch Rickey that he would attempt to fill Brooklyn Dodger selective service vacancies with 'teen-aged youngsters and 4-F draft rejectees stirred hopes in the hearts of youths all over the land today that they might become big leaguers overnight.

Rickey said he understood that draft boards had been ordered to clarify the 3-A dependency deferments of all baseball players and that unless physically rejected, "they must either get into the Army or remain in jobs essential to the war effort."

Referring to the reclassification and imminent induction of infielder Billy Herman, Rickey said he belived the Dodgers would lose at least three or four more similarly valuable key players.

"Nevertheless we will carry on," he said. "I expect that National league clubs will average about 20 players a team, which is more than enough to complete the schedule."

Rickey told newspapermen, who came here to inspect the Dodger spring training facilities, that he had signed Howard (Vanilla) Wafer, 21-year-old right handed pitcher who has received a medical discharge from the Army Air Corps.

"We may have to rely on others like him," he said. "He is such a fine prospect that I believe that even in an ordinary year he might not have required minor league experience. He had a brilliant high school and semi-pro record in Texas before going a year to Baylor university."

The Dodger president was provoked at his manager, Leo Durocher, for being absent from the inspection trip.

"I have attempted in vain to contact him in Miami," he said. "It can't be possible that he doesn't know I've been trying to reach him. I can only assume that he is no longer in this country."

Rickey apparently referred to a proposed overseas trip by Durocher and Actor Danny Kaye to entertain troops. Durocher, in Miami, reportedly had cancelled plans for the trip because of failure to secure travel priority and assurance that he could be back in the States before the baseball season began.

MUNGO IS CALLED

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 28 (U.P.) —Van Lingle Mungo, New York Giant pitcher, was the latest major league player today to report to nearby Fort Jackson for his pre-induction physical examination. Mungo, 32, has been pitching professional baseball for 16 years. He is married and has three children.

What Readers Of The Evening Journal Say—
The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are welcomed at all times and on all subjects. However, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication, and all letters belittling, or impugning the motive of any individual, firm or corporation must include for publication, the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge of whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them).

STUDENT RATES

Dear Plainsman: I would like to call to your attention the fact that some local theaters have discontinued the practice of giving Tech students a discount on attending their shows. I am not doing this in the attitude of trying to demand any "rights" or "just dues," but in the attitude of a complete bewilderment and wonder as to why they feel that action necessary. In the past 12 to 18 months the admission prices have advanced from at least 15 per cent up on regular attendance and I wonder why they feel that this step is needed.

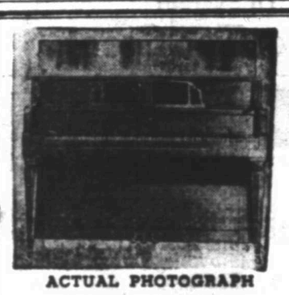

In the course of a year it will amount to a great "chunk" of the limited budget which most of the students of the college have to live on. There seems to be one point which they have overlooked in taking this action. The theaters and other businesses of the city would not have been nearly so far advanced had it not been for the college and the expenditure of its patrons. I am not trying to pat the present student body on the back for the presence of the college in Lubbock, but I am trying to point out that the attitude and activity of the present body of students will have a lot of bearing on the progress of the college and the city in the future.

I would sincerely like your opinion on this subject and also any official information which you might pass on the subject. As a student I feel that the action will cause some of the students to be deprived of one of their main sources of pleasure on many occasions and I would like to see a return of the former policies.

Respectfully yours,
James Carter,
Lubbock.

(Dear James: I'm sorry, but I have neither the time nor the inclination to call all the picture show managers in town and ask them. "Why, after years of giving Tech students a 'break', have you found it necessary to start charging them just like anyone else?" I can guess why, though, and here is my guess: (1) It costs more to run a picture show now than it ever did before; (2) In the past, theater men have had more trouble with Tech students draping their feet over seats, whistling, talking loudly, etc., than with all the rest of their patrons combined; (3) The show owners can fill all the seats they have at regular prices. Tech students who are working are making more than they ever made before. Those who are not working can get jobs in a minute if they wish to augment their spending money. Frankly, I don't see any more reason for a theater owner to give a student a special rate than for a cafe man, a druggist, a newspaper, or a department store to do so. I have no more desire to tell a showman how much to charge students than I do to tell a grocer how much he should get for bread. Incidentally, during the years some shows here did give students reduced rates. I never received a letter expressing appreciation for the theater men. Maybe I'm cockeyed, but it seems to me the showmen should be commended for their generosity of past years, instead of condemned for deciding that, under current conditions, students are like other civilians. Very truly yours, The Plainsman.)

That Girl on Broadway says even the most credulous woman refuses to believe her mirror or her birth certificate.

That Man on Avenue Q says it's exceedingly hard to keep your chin up without sticking your neck out.

AMONG the many other innovations the was has brought is a new method of launching big ships. And if you've never seen a "side launching," you ain't seen nuthin'! It has the oldfashioned method of sending the boat down the ways length-wise beat all hollow.

It's no small trick to pull a "side launching," either. The task calls for split-second, and split-hair, precision. If the boat isn't slid toward the water in a straight line—that is, if bow and stern aren't released at exactly the same moment—somebody, or a lot of somebodies, might be killed. And the ship, itself, might be badly damaged.

At the big Brown Shipbuilding company's yards near Houston the other day, The Plainsman saw the U.S.S. Samuel Butler Roberts launched side-fashion. He had a place of vantage on the official reviewing stand where he could see the whole shooting-match, and here's the way it was:

The Roberts, a 300-foot destroyer escort vessel about as high as the Conley building, was let down slowly from its jacks onto the ways which border the ship channel. That left the big, steel boat held only by four big hausers and a couple of clamps. At a given signal, the hausers were cut simultaneously by four automatic cutters which are, to all intents and purposes, small guillotines. Then, at another signal, two men with compressed air pumps forced the clamps as the christener swung the bottle of champagne against the ship's bow.

Fully released, the ship slid lengthwise down the ways, gathering speed and force until, at the end of the ways, she literally leaped into the air and plopped from 15 or 20 feet into the water.

The noise from the splash was terrific. It sounded like a million sticks of dynamite going off all at once. The big ship rolled onto its far side—tilted so much that it looked like she might take water onto the deck. Then she righted and it was all over.

Another nail was driven into the Hitler-Tojo coffin and goose pimples raced up and down our spine as the band played "Anchors Aweigh!"

It was a great sight and a great experience, for a landlubber, anyway.

LIKE the state in which it is located, the Brown Shipbuilding company does things in a big way. It isn't hide-bound. It refuses to be badgered by seemingly insurmountable handicaps. It has a lot of ships to build and is building them—building them so quickly and so well, in fact, that the yard has been singled out for praise by the U. S. Navy department.

Funny thing about the Brown outfit is that its owners and operators, George and Herman Brown, of Houston, never built even a rowboat before the war began. The Browns were—and still are—highway and general construction contractors. They got into the ship-building dodge by one accident, and into the building of destroyer escort vessels by another.

But accidents, or no accidents, the Brown boys and their employes which number into many, many thousands (the exact number cannot be told for reasons of security) are making a miraculous record. Last year, they were given a quota (another secret) which looked impossible to fill. But Brown company brains and Brown company brawn reached the quota—and passed it. This year, the quota is larger still. But a Brown foreman, speaking for the workers at the launching we attended, said, "We'll fill this one, too—and then some!"

Only one of Houston's three shipyards having a drydock, the Brown concern expects to remain in the shipbuilding business after victory.

It won't be making as many ships as it is now. It may not be making any, because Uncle Sam's coming out of this global disagreement with more ships than Carter has liver pills.

But the Brown company figures that if there are lots of ships there will be lots of ship repair work all the time. And the company is going to be ready to get its share.

HOUSTON'S BROWN brothers don't have what generally is called "labor trouble." They operate an open shop concern, where some employes are union and some are not.

Every effort is made to give workers a square deal and to keep them satisfied in their spare time by various athletic and entertainment programs.

The workers are well paid, but not—as we saw the picture—exorbitantly so. Lowest paid man draws 67½ cents per hour; highest among the actual workers gets around $1.40, but he is a foreman who directs the work of 10, or a dozen others. The Brown yard runs two shifts of 10 hours each per day and night, does not operate on Sundays. They used to run three eight-hour shifts, but found that the two 10-hour tricks were better for the Navy, the workers and the company. The extra four hours of each 24 are spent in making repairs and on odd but necessary jobs by special crews.

There has been a great deal said about the high cost of labor in war industry; about workers loafing on the job; about "feather-bedding"—which is nothing more or less than a system of slow sabotage in which workers stand around with tools in their hands, but do little or nothing; about hoarding labor so an industry can have more people than it actually needs as "insurance" against a manpower shortage.

Since The Plainsman was only in the Brown yards about half a working shift and is not familiar with the details of running such an establishment, he can bear no witness on whether there is, or is not, an appreciable degree of loafing, feather-bedding, or hoarding. But from a standpoint of cost of labor and of absentee-ism, we did pick up some information.

The Brown absentee problem is not great. Its record stands at about 4 to 6 per cent, which is low for war industries and is especially low in view of the fact that nearly all its workers live a dozen miles away from the plant, in Houston, and the transportation problem is vexing.

AS to wages paid, it seemed to us that for the type of work done, and in view of the yard's production record, the workers are not being over-paid. In fact, as we watched the various operations we thought of some of the more vocal critics of war industry wages and wondered if any of them would be willing to try to do the same work at twice the wage scale paid. We couldn't think of a one who would.

For instance, we watched a crew of blow-torch operators smoothing up the outside of a steel hull. That is uncomfortable work. It is hard work. But while those torches were being played on the outside of the hull, in compartments on the inside were other workers, banging away in close quarters and at very uncomfortable temperatures—harder work, and more inconvenient. Further, both tasks require skill and training. Not just everyone can do it.

Add to these facts the more important one that we must have ships and more ships, and get them made right and in the least possible time, and it may be said these people are not overpaid for what they do and under the conditions they do it.

There's a good deal of personal danger involved in shipbuilding, too.

There are first aid stations everywhere; hospital and doctoring facilities on the ground; signs reading "emergency litters" at every turn.

Day before we were out there an explosion injured 17 persons, many of whom were burned, two seriously. A great many workers wear metal helmets to guard their noggins from falling tools, nuts, bolts, etc.

Shipyard work, and, we are sure, many another war work, is no picnic.

IF the war has done nothing else, it has succeeded in putting a very large proportion of the U. S. feminine population in pants. Long pants, we mean.

Included in the multiple thousands working at Brown are many, many women and they appear to be doing almost every type of work.

Some are store-keepers, some handle blow-torches, some cut the patterns, some are bicycle messengers—in fact, they seem to be doing everything.

We asked about the women workers, and were told they are very similar to their male counterparts. Some are excellent, some good, some fair—and some plain lousy. Sex seems to have left the Brown yards with the deep feeling that every adult American—especially those of us living away from industrial areas — should have an opportunity to see a great war plant in action. If such were possible, the home front would become more conscious of the size of the job, the cost of it—and the great contribution being made to the war effort by those who toil.

Blood Runs Cold

BY ANN DEMAREST

(Copyright, 1944, By The Associated Press).

YESTERDAY: Christine Howarth feels there is something definitely wrong with the house. She sees a hand on her window-pane, overhears Mr. Kimball's niece in a restaurant saying, 'I'm afraid,' and when she knocks on the girl's door later, there is no answer.

Chapter Three

MURDER

There was nothing I could do but go back to my own room, without an electric light bulb. As I turned back I had the uncomfortable feeling that someone was watching me from the stairway leading to the third floor. I made myself look up. "After all," I thought, "this is a New York apartment, not a haunted house."

The light was so dim I couldn't make out whether it was a man or a woman crouched near the top of the stairs. But there was someone there. As I leaned forward to see better the person moved quickly up to the third floor hall. And somewhere upstairs a dog barked shrilly. I knew one thing. It wasn't a dog I'd seen.

Feeling more bewildered than frightened, I stumbled back to my cold, dark apartment. After a few minutes distracted search, I found my cigarette lighter and, holding it in one hand, I tried to lock the door with the other, but whether it was nervousness or in the excitement I chose the wrong key, I don't know. Anyway the door wouldn't lock. Then I was scared. I could hear footsteps on the stairway and finally Mr. Kimball calling to me from the hall. I jerked open the door so quickly that Mr. Kimball, with a lighted candle in his hand, nearly fell over.

"I seem to be giving you a lot of trouble this evening," he said apologetically. "The fuse burned out and it wasn't until a moment ago that I remembered your apartment was on the same circuit as the hall. I've been in the cellar trying to fix it, but I'm about as handy at that as with the furnace."

"I was frightened out of my wits," I admitted.

"I've called the company," he said. "They'll send a man around right away."

I took the candle, forgetting to mention that the door wouldn't lock. Mr. Kimball said good night and went downstairs.

The room was so drafty that the flame flickered and before I got into my pajamas it blew out.

Intruder

After I crawled into bed I lay there with my eyes wide open, too tired to sleep. The studio windows loomed large and bare without curtains and beyond the window at the head of my couch I could see the shadowy outline of the fire escape. That fire escape! My eyes were glued to it. I expected at any moment to see someone or something climb in, and I was afraid to get up and lock the window.

But my fears about someone entering by way of the fire escape were unfounded; the person who burst into the room came from the hall.

It wasn't the sound of the opening door that caught my attention. It was the faint streak of light across the room that made me sit bolt upright, my scalp tingling and a good old-fashioned chill running up and down my spine.

"Who's there?" I managed to gasp.

"Oh, my God!" came a man's startled exclamation.

The door slammed shut and I heard hasty steps down the hall and then the sound of knocking. Well, I lay there frozen to the bed. To save my life I couldn't have moved a muscle. After a minute or two of silence loud voices came in from the hall, a man's and a woman's, and they seemed to be quarreling. I didn't move. I just huddled under the bedclothes afraid even to see if the lights were on; and never taking my eyes from the door, I waited for morning.

All night long it seemed to me that people were going up and down the stairs, passing the door. Finally I must have dozed, because it was broad daylight when I wakened, still feeling cold, and conscious of someone screaming outside my door.

I jumped out of bed and ran to the dresser for my watch. It was half-past eight. I could hear someone in the hall now, so I slipped into my mules, pulled my robe over me and went to the door, opening it cautiously. A girl in a dark dress and blue gingham apron, apparently the maid, was lying in the hall flat on her back. A woman was bending over her. A short, stout woman in a green and yellow bathrobe, with her hair down her back in a gray wispy braid. As I came into the hall the woman jerked upright, her eyes bulging.

"Who are you?" she shrieked.

Hastily I tried to explain and the woman, though seemingly slightly mollified, still regarded me with a dubious eyes.

"Bring water," she said. "There's been murder."

"Murder," I echoed, looking down at the white face with a shiver.

"What was that?" She cupped her hand to her ear.

I stared at her. "Is she dead?" I asked, and motioned towards the girl.

"Not her," she said in a matter-of-fact voice. "The other one, in there."

She pointed towards the open doorway of the apartment next to mine.

I clung to the banister and my bones turned to water.

Last night I'd knocked at the door of that apartment. I'd tried to get into a room where someone had been murdered.

Then I thought of the man who had rushed into my room and I got cold all over.

The woman, still kneeling on the floor beside the girl, looked up at me. "Bring water," she said. "She's fainted."

Stumbling back to the apartment, I filled a glass with water, but my hands were shaking so badly that by the time I got back to the hall the glass was almost empty. I just stood there, staring, as the woman moistened a handkerchief and put it on the girl's forehead. My mind was in such a turmoil I couldn't speak.

"Pull yourself together," the woman said heavily without looking up. "We can't have everyone fainting."

With tremendous effort I straightened, but when I tried to tell her I was all right the words were lost in my throat. Perhaps this woman had exaggerated, I thought wildly. Anyway, how did she know it was murder? There must be something I could do.

I was scared to death, but I walked over to the open door of the apartment. When I first glanced around there was nothing out of the ordinary. The room was terribly cold—one of the windows was open—and the curtain was blowing about, wet and bedraggled. A little drift of snow lay on the rug under the window and I realized vaguely that the blizzard must have kept up all night.

Holding my breath, I walked in a few steps and forced myself to turn to the far end of the room. There is a mirror was a reflection, a ghastly reflection of a girl in a coral dressing gown. It was Mr. Kimball's niece, sitting rigidly in a small chair in front of the dressing table.

ARGENTINA QUITS THE AXIS SHIP

Naturally the United Nations approved the action of the Argentinian government in severing diplomatic relations with Germany and Japan.

The action has strengthened a weak spot in the wall of doom which already surrounded the Axis. It bespoke the conviction by a nation which has been entirely too friendly with our enemies that the Axis cannot escape crushing defeat.

However, this does not mean that the Argentinian government will or should be accepted as a full-fledged friend at the United Nations' fireside. It does not mean that the prejudice which Argentina has aroused against itself in all the United Nations quickly will be forgotten. It does not mean that suspicions will be quieted that, even now, the nation's protestations of friendship for the Allies cannot be accepted at face value.

The best that can be said for Argentina, as result of the diplomatic break, is that it is on probation so far as people in the United Nations are concerned. If they are to redeem themselves in the eyes of the United Nations, it must be by convincing actions. Words are peculiarly empty so far as the Argentinian government is concerned.

Of course, if Argentina is sincere, it might help a little in hastening the downfall of the Axis. But the help that nation can give is negligible and, for the present, they must be content with the status of rats who have deserted the sinking Axis ship.

ON BROADWAY

(Copyright, 1943, For The Journal)

NOTES of an Innocent Bystander — The Premieres: Sonja Honey, the hottest attraction in the ice and show business, couldn't even muster a full quota of drama sentinels to her first performance. The regular aisle-squatters surrendered their pews to the sports oracles, and they responded nobly to the event, throwing orchids and kisses all over Sonja's show. The Trib's Edwin Denby found the revue refined, the chorus girls lovely and the spectators very entertained. . . . That was all for the new week, except the pre-holliday boom returned to load the temples with standees. Even the weak sisters played to capacity houses, giving the game wardens in the balconies the week off. Mike Todd, the Coal Oil Johnny of the impresarios, returns with an extravagant musical named "Mexican Hayride." It is reported so rich that some of the ladies in it are better dressed on the stage than off.

The Magic Lanterns: "The Lodger," a classic among blood-curdlers (based on the sinful Jack, the Ripper), loses none of its shudders in its transfer to the screen. . . . "Higher and Higher" is a pleasant song-and dance film. It brings Prof. Sinatra into focus. He'll never get as many girlish squeals for acting as he gets for paper-dolling, but he gets by okay. J. Haley, Michele Morgan and the Hartmans help considerably. . . . "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" is wild waggery, a direct slap at Pop Dionne. Eduardo Bracken is a pranky parent, and Betty Hutton jumps out of her skin from time to time. . . . "Where Are Your Children?" deals with juvenile delinquency. It skips the preacher angles and assumes its audience is more than 11.

THE Radioafs: An announcer on Mutual promised that one of the night's delights would be "Henry" James' orchestra. Personally, I like "Ebenezer" Goodman's crew. . . . The AP reports that the Horst Wessel song has come off Berlin's Hit Parade, reserved for special occasions. It seems, like Germany's "We're Sailing Again England," the Horst anthem breeds too many embarrassing parodies. The Nazi ditties, it also appears, are not scored for bombs so close to home. . . . Sunny Skylar, who barytones late in the eve'g, comforts the ears. Too many others aim at the teeth, putting them on edge. . . . Patrolman Drew, accused of consorting with such no-goods as the indicted alleged seditionist, was recently "cleared" of those charges. He went on the air to explain his side of it. His act was rapped not so much because of himself but because of his allegedly subversive sponsors. Drew has never denied the charges. But he sort of apologized. . . . A fool makes an apology, and a bigger fool accepts it.

The Magazines: Clement J. Wyle lists some curious motives for murder in Esquire (is it still legal to mention it?). In his piece, "Crime and Loco Motives," Wyle mentions one party who turned slayer because his wife turned on a radio program that irked him. Since when's that an unusual motive? . . . H. Ickes, who can write rings around his baiters, supplies an arsenal of squelchers for the "bureaucrat" parrots. Ickes' salty article was in the N. Y. Times mag. . . . The forthcoming Look has a fine feature (helped by Richard Condon, Inc.) on postwar planning and execution. . . . The Collier's piece recently by Runyon offered this deft description: "Marie wept and wailed as all bims do when they get flustered." . . . Life's recent survey on the Peace Now movement didn't even skim the surface.

QUOTATION Marksmanship: The Oskaloosa Tribune: Buyers once did business over the counter. Now they do it over the ceiling. . . . Ladies Home Journal: No one is entirely useless. Even the worst of us can serve as horrible examples. . . . Fletcher Henderson: Middle age is that time in life when you'd rather not have a good time than recover from it. . . . M. Lincoln Schuster: Warning to tyrants and dictators: Americans are famous for their sense of humor, but they cannot take a yoke. . . . Geo. Santayana: A fanatic is a man who redoubles his efforts after he has lost sight of his objectives. . . . D. Green: The stork brought Frankie a little Son-atra. . . . G. Brownen: Her clother fell in little silken puddles.

When Spring Comes to Russia

Principal Turnover Of Fighting Pilots Is Due To System

Risks Of Airmen In Italy Are Not Too Great

BY ERNIE PYLE

Journal War Correspondent

IN ITALY, Jan. 28 (By Wireless) —The A-36 dive-bomber squadron that I'm with is living well now but that hasn't always been so. In fact this is the first time they've been in a building since they went into combat six months ago.

They have flown from 10 different fields in those six months. They have lived in tents, under trees, and in foxholes. They have lived in mud so deep the planes had to be towed to the runway, and in dust so thick they had to take off by instruments.

ERNIE PYLE

They have flown from fields so close to enemy lines that they could fly a bombing mission and be back in 10 minutes. So close in fact that ground crews could stand on the field and watch their own planes going into their bombing dives.

Once, here in Italy, the air over their field was so full of wounded planes from other stations that the squadron commander had to get out and act as traffic manager, deciding himself which planes were in greatest danger and should be allowed to come in first.

Statistics Worked Up

The turnover of pilots is high in any combat outfit—partly due to casualties but mainly due to the system of relieving pilots after a certain number of missions. It would be unusual for a combat airman to be overseas more than a year, at the present rate.

Take this squadron of Invader dive bombers, for instance. They came into combat just six months ago, yet today only three of the original 50 pilots are left. Twelve have been casualties, and the rest have finished their missions and gone home. The three originals will be homeward bound in a few days.

These dive-bomber boys have compiled some statistics about their operations. They find that a new pilot, starting in to build up the required missions for going home, has about a 75% chance of coming through safely, and if shot down he has almost a 50-50 chance of becoming a prisoner.

A DOZEN times, during my stay with this squadron, pilots have voluntarily brought up the subject of how wonderful the enlisted men are. The men take a terrific personal pride in their planes and they work like dogs keeping them in good shape.

The enlisted men of this squadron are an extremely high-class bunch. Being trained technicians, they are mostly at least 25 at the beginning. You could put officers' uniforms on half of them and never know the difference.

While I was on the field they pumped me about conditions and politics at home, and about the end of the war and the peace, as though I were an information bureau. They are certainly one group of soldiers who are doing some thinking about the war.

Ground Rivalry Is Keen

These mechanics are fully conscious of three things about their jobs—that their life is immeasurably better than that of the infantrymen and that they should be grateful; that the pilot who flies out to battle is the one of their family who really takes it; and that pilots' lives often depend on their work. The result is that they work with a great conscientiousness.

When a favorite pilot fails to come back the enlisted men take it as hard as the officers do, and a mechanic whose plane has been shot down is like a boy who has lost his dad.

The ground crews have quite a spirit of rivalry. Recently two ships were running a neck-and-neck race for the most missions flown. Then one of the ships came back so badly damaged it had to be worked on for several days and it fell way behind in the race. It almost broke the crew chief's heart.

HERE are two little examples of the zeal with which the enlisted men work:

1. As the planes were taxiing out one day for their daily mission, it was discovered that the tire on the tail wheel of one was flat. Ordinarily it would just have been left behind. But the crew came running, other crews pitched in to help, and they had a new wheel on the plane by the time the next-to-last ship of the squadron was taking off.

2. Often, during hot times, the squadron will fly two and three missions a day.

One day a plane came in full of holes, but not basically damaged. Usually it would take a day to patch the holes, but in their excitement and pride of accomplishment the crews had that plane patched and ready to go on the next mission an hour and a half later.

Discovery Of Faint Star Is Announced

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 28 (U.P.)—Discovery of the faintest star yet known was reported to Harvard observatory today by Dr. G. Van Biesbroeck of McDonald observatory at Fort Davis, Texas.

The new star, as yet unnamed, is 19½ light years, or approximately 114,465,559,600,000 (trillion) miles, from earth, and is a companion of the star known as BD plus 4 degrees 4048. The nearest star to earth is Alpha Centauri, which is about 4 1/3 light years distant.

No fish or animal is more famous for his strength, stamina, and power than the shark. He draws his tremendous store of vitality and power from the sea in which he lives. Today, this same food-rich sea provides the animal proteins, minerals and vitamins which your poultry and livestock must have to be healthy, fast-growing and productive.

STANTON'S 18% LAYING MASH

brings these vital elements from the sea and puts them to work in your poultry yard. This fine feed, milled right here in Lubbock, contains ManAmar and B.G Plus, Blended with local-grown grains into a feed especially adapted to the needs of West Texas feeders.

B-G PLUS

is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash.

MANAMAR

in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials — fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "Complex."

ManAmar and B-G PLUS have been developed and are produced in the laboratories of Philip R. Park, famed livestock nutrition authority. These laboratories have also approved the formula for Stanton's 18% Laying Mash. Let the records of users tell the rest of the story. Get all the facts today.

Berlin Blasted Again By RAF

observers said, the RAF may be able to complete the knockout within the next six weeks.

34 RAF Planes Lost

Thirty-four RAF planes were lost in the night operations, which included diversionary raids on Helgoland, western Germany and northern France, and mine-laying in enemy waters.

The big bombers thundered out around nightfall in two formations, each hundreds strong, and converged over the battered German capital after sweeping wide in two different directions to throw off the enemy fighter opposition.

Radio Berlin said the bombers made a "terror attack" on the German capital after feinting at Helgoland bay, apparently in an attempt to confuse the Nazi defenses. The broadcast said night fighters and antiaircraft batteries shot down a large number of the raiders.

First Recent Attack

It was the first attack by British heavy bombers on Europe since they dropped 2,240 short tons of explosives on the German industrial center of Magdeburg and smaller forces hit Berlin and northern France the night of Jan. 21.

Bombers and fighters also shuttled back and forth across the English channel during the night for new raids on the French invasion coast.

Berlin last was hit in a major attack the night of Jan. 20, when 2,576 tons of explosives were dropped in an assault equalling in weight the heaviest ever made on the capital.

Last night's raids brought an almost complete radio blackout over Germany and western Europe. The Berlin transmitter was off the air for three hours.

Military Services Held For Lt. Waid

Military funeral services were conducted at the post chapel at Lubbock Army Air field this morning for Lt. Peter Hamlin Waid, 22, an instructor at the field, who was killed late Tuesday when his training plane crashed approximately 10 miles north of the field. Aviation Cadet John Kendall Hobkirk also was killed in the crash.

The services were conducted by Rev. John A. Winslow, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church Lt. Waid's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Waid, of Scarsdale, N. Y., his bride, who lives at 1901 Tenth street, Lubbock, and an aunt attended the services along with the members of his organization.

The body will be shipped Sunday to Washington, D. C., for burial in Arlington National cemetery. Arrangements were with Rix Funeral home.

Lt. Waid graduated from Lubbock Army Air field with class 42-H. He recently returned to the field as an instructor.

Angelina County Is Over Quota In Drive

HOUSTON, Jan. 28 (AP) — Angelina was the first county in the 39-county East-South Texas region to exceed its Fourth War loan quota, the Regional War Finance committee reported today.

The county's quota was $1,168,-000 and this was exceeded in a one-day, county-wide drive this week.

Meteors whip through space at 10 to 60 miles a second.

Bailey Pays $1,000 Assault Charge Fine

Fine of $1,000 and court costs of $93.11 were paid into the registry of 99th district court at noon by W. L. Bailey, Lubbock cotton broker who Thursday night was convicted of aggravated assault growing out of the Nov. 11, 1942, knifing of C. N. Hoffman of O'Donnell.

Bailey had been indicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder. Judge J. E. Vickers, to whom the jury of which J. H. Williamson was foreman reported at 11:30 o'clock, had charged the jury to define by its findings whether Bailey's culpability if any, should be defined as assault with intent to murder, aggravated assault or simple assault.

Maximum fine was assessed for aggravated assault.

State called five witnesses: Dr. J. T. Krueger, W. D. Massey, John Williams, Chief of Police Don Reeder and Hoffman; the defense used eight: Mike Aura, Roy McCallum, J. A. Goodwin, Jim Bragg, Joe George and Bailey, all of Lubbock, and H. M. Sledge of Abilene and Maurice Goodwin of Afton.

Evidence was completed late Thursday afternoon, and arguments were over at 10 o'clock.

Bailey claimed self-defense, which the state controverted.

Nazis Strike Back

sino, driving forward despite difficult terrain and stiff enemy resistance.

The Germans still are counterattacking in their sector in an effort to slow the French advance, the bulletin disclosed.

Between Cassino and the coast American troops west of the Rapido river scaled one mountainous height under heavy fire from the Germans' prepared positions and made progress toward several others.

Action on the Eighth army front on the eastern side of the Italian peninsula was limited again to patrol skirmishes.

Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's Italian headquarters reported the beachhead was at least five miles deep at all points now, generally six miles deep, and much deeper at some points.

While Allied tank destroyers and columns of infantry flowed inland in a steady stream, special German troops had been raced by truck into the flat, almost treeless country and posted in farmhouses with machineguns in a desperate effort to bar the path to their vital communications.

Elements of two German divisions, the Hermann Goering armored division and the 29th armored grenadiers now had been identified in assaults on the bridgehead.

Heavy Losses Exacted

Heavy losses were exacted yesterday by the British who met the 29th and took more than 100 prisoners.

The desperate sky tangles in which burning German planes fell at the outskirts of Rome also showed that the Germans were making a desperate bid to seal off the Allied threat to the Eternal City.

Meanwhile, captured German prisoners said Adolf Hitler had given orders to the Tenth army to hold fast at all costs to the Gustav line on the old front to the south.

The bitterest opposition offered to American and French troops attacking north and south of Cassino during the past 24 hours plainly told that the orders were being carried out.

One Mountain Scaled

The Americans on that front, after plunging across the Rapido above Cassino in a flanking stab at the gateway to the Liri valley, scaled one mountain height and made progress against others.

Although the Americans were pouring across the Rapido in increasing numbers, the Germans introduced a new and dangerous obstacle to their progress by sowing mines in the bottoms of all irrigation ditches which lace the area.

The French, farther to the north, were driven off two hardwon ridges on Mt. Belvedere by a desperate German counterattack. But the French beat off a second thrust and balanced their loss somewhat by making small gains to the southwest of Belvedere.

British Also Gain

Along the Garigliano, south of Cassino, the British also gained, although the fury of battle slackened there somewhat.

Allied naval forces supported this sector by shelling German coastal positions near Formia regularly for the past two days and nights.

Only patrol activities marked the Eighth army sector along the Adriatic with the Canadians again making a slight advance. A full Canadian corps under the command of Lt. Gen. H. D. Crerar is now with the Eighth army there, it was stated.

GOP Senators On Spot In Vote Row

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28—President Roosevelt appeared today to have put Senate Republicans in the spot of accepting a federal ballot for soldier voting or placing themselves in the light of being opposed to any voting by servicemen.

Some Republicans were willing to admit that the President won a major round in the soldier vote fight when he denounced as a "fraud" the state-ballot measure pending in the House of Representatives.

"The President put us in a hole," commented one Republican senator. "He made it look like a vote for anything but the Lucas-Green bill is a vote against giving the soldier a ballot."

GOP Not Giving Up

The Republicans, however, were not ready to give up their fight for a state ballot, which would bear the names of the candidates, instead of the Lucas-Green proposal for a blank federal ballot that they contend would offer an undue advantage to President Roosevelt as a fourth term candidate.

Out of a party strategy huddle came a new proposal by Sen. Joseph H. Ball, (R., Minn.,) to permit state ballots only for members of the armed forces whose home states have failed to enact satisfactory absentee ballot laws.

Ball introduced it late yesterday after showing it privately to several of the southern Democrats who joined with 18 Republicans on Dec. 3 to pass the state-ballot measure now before the House.

Ball said there was "considerable sentiment" for his measure among both Republicans and southern Democrats.

There was little likelihood that Ball's proposal would be acceptable to the administration, however. It would place the initiative on the soldier by requiring him to mail home a postcard asking for an absentee ballot.

The absence of many senators to attend funeral services at Indianapolis today for the late Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, (D., Ind.,) definitely delayed until Monday a vote on any of the half dozen pending amendments to the Lucas-Green bill.

Administration leaders still were confident that when the vote finally does come they will be able to override virtually every amendment which would materially change the Lucas-Green bill.

Livermore Talks On South American Trip

A lot of money is being wasted in administering the good neighbor policy in Latin-America, but through it we've brought temporary friendship, Geo. P. Livermore, Lubbock oil man, declared in a talk before members of the American Business club today noon at the Hilton hotel. Livermore recently returned from a 14,000-mile trip to South America and his talk was in a manner a travelogue on his trip.

'If we hadn't spent this money, I'm afraid we'd be spending lives down there by this time," Livermore said. . . . "The countries were in such a balance that it was a question which way they would go. . . . It's questionable whether we'll still have this friendship when it is all over."

Livermore cited the fact that approximately 70 per cent of the populations of South American countries do not care what kind of a government they have. Ten per cent are the workers, ten per cent the 'in' politicians and ten per cent the 'out' politicians. "A revolution isn't much more than a cheap election," he declared.

Livermore said U. S. spending on air bases, highways, industrial plants and the like has created a big boom and the good neighbor policy is getting over in a big way as a result.

He described briefly various countries along the route and little incidents at various points which were typical of the traditions and customs of the peoples. He was introduced by Guy Wheatley, program chairman.

John W. Wilson was introduced as a new member of the club. Out-of-town guests at the luncheon were Rev. W. F. Ferguson of Slaton and Bill Gibson of Abilene.

Two Texans were credited with downing German planes. They were Sgt. Rudy Gonzales, San Antonio, a Fortress gunner, and Second Lt. Daniel Darnell of Dallas.

Mrs. Amanda Stewart To Be Buried Today

Graveside services will be conducted at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Lubbock cemetery for Mrs. Amanda Lee Stewart, 78, who died in Breckenridge Thursday. Rev. Floyd Dawson will officiate with Sanders Funeral home directing.

Mrs. Stewart, a former resident of Lubbock, is survived by three sons, J. A. Stewart of El Monte, Calif., John W. Stewart, Breckenridge, and Joe B. Stewart of Lubbock; two daughters, Mrs. E. E. McDonald, Tyler, and Mrs. E. A. Jeter of Breckenridge; and two sisters, Mrs. S. A. Cox, Midland, and Mrs. M. J. Wright, Tyler.

"Buy A Plane" Campaign To Be Started At High School Monday

A "buy a plane" campaign will be launched at Lubbock High school at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon with a program in the school's auditorium as a boost to the Fourth War Loan drive and a challenge to guidance classes of the school to buy war bonds and stamps.

The guidance class buying the most war bonds and stamps by March 29, will be deemed the winner. The prize will be a picture of the entire group in the Westerner World, school annual.

The student council will sponsor the drive and stamps and bonds will be on sale at all times in the office.

In order to buy the plane, a PT-19B training plane, a total of $20,000 in bonds and stamps must be purchased by students and teachers during the campaign. It was announced that $5,000 had already been pledged before the campaign gets underway.

Ben Wells has been appointed chairman of the drive, Lawrence Stone, vice chairman and Mary Ann Dykes, secretary. Students on the guidance committees are Andy Murrey, Juanda Lee Lynch, Buddy Boles, Mack Dickinson, Jerry Smith, Don Williams, Jean Lindsey, Mary Jones, Hillery Thibodeaux, Mary Ann Dykes, Pauline Lokey, Bill Felty, Mike Sellen, Charley Sturges, Bob McDonald, Buzz Parkhill, Jackie Lewis, Harlan Turner, Lawrence Stone, Bates Witt, Ernestine Snider, Nora McMurry, Nancy Rea, Mary Manderson, Edward Richardson, H. Sickening Jap Atrocities On Heroes Of Philippines Told WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP) — A pent-up story of atrocities perpetrated by the Japanese army on the captured heroes of Bataan and Corregidor was released by the United States government today in sickening detail.

A joint report by the Army and Navy broke at last the rigid censorship maintained by the high command on the almost unbelievable reports that came out of the Pacific, to tell what happened to the men whose valor slowed and delayed the tide of Japanese conquest.

Compiled from the sworn statements of officers who survived the starvation and torture and escaped, it catalogued the infamy of a brutal enemy, and wrote in shocking terms the code of the Japanese warrior—to subject 36,000 gallant soldiers to deliberate starvation, to shoot in cold blood the thirsty who seek water, to watch sick men writhe and deny them medicine, to horsewhip those who help their fallen comrades, to beat men with two-by-fours, to behead those who try to escape, and to bury tortured men alive.

Three Lived To Return

The three who lived to return and tell of the agony they endured were Commander Melvyn H. McCoy, USN, of Indianapolis, Lt. Col. S. M. Mellnik, Coast Artillery corps, of Dunmore, Pa., and Lt. Col. William E. Dyess, Air Corps, of Albany, Tex. Dyess is dead—killed in a fighter plane crash at Burbank, Calif., recently while preparing to return to duty in the Pacific. Mellnik is with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Southwest Pacific, McCoy on duty in the United States.

"Their sworn statements included no hearsay whatever, but only facts which the officers related from their own personal experience and observations," said the official report.

Statements Verified

"The statements have been verified from other sources.

"The three officers stated that several times as many American prisoners of war have died, mostly of starvation, forced hard labor, and general brutality, as the Japanese have ever reported.

"At one prison camp, Camp O'Donnell, about 2,200 American prisoners died in April and May 1942. In the camp at Cabanatuan, about 3,000 Americans had died up to the end of October 1942. Still heavier mortality occurred among the Filipino prisoners of war at Camp O'Donnell."

The calculated campaign of brutality began as soon as the exhausted American and Filipino soldiers on Bataan collapsed under the overwhelming weight of the enemy assault. What was in store for them was to begin with 'the march of death" and Dyess reported that, beaten and hopeless as they were, they never would have surrendered if they had guessed what lay ahead.

Thousands Herded Together

Thousands of prisoners were herded together on the Mariveles airfield at daylight April 10, within earshot of the still defiant guns of Corregidor. Some had food, but were not permitted to eat. All were searched, their personal belongings seized. Those with Japanese money or tokens were beheaded.

Then, in groups of 500 to 1,000, they began the terrible six-day march, along the national road off Bataan toward San Fernando in Pampanga province, the "march of death" so hideous that it would make the black hole of Calcutta sound like a haven of refuge.

A Japanese soldier took Dyess' canteen, gave the water to a horse, threw the canteen away. In a broiling sun, the prisoners were herded through clouds of dust. Men recently killed lay along the road, their bodies flattened by Japanese trucks. Patients bombed out of a field hospital were pushed into the marching column. At midnight the entire group was penned in an enclosure too narrow to allow any of them to lie down. They had had no water—a Japanese officer finally permitted them to drink at a dirty carabao wallow.

Still Not Given Food

Before daylight the next day the march was resumed. Still no food for any of them — water at noon from a dirty roadside stream. Another bullpen at night. When exhausted men fell out moaning, no one was allowed to help—those who still marched heard shots behind them.

On the third day "we were introduced to a form of torture which came to be known as the sun treatment. We were made to sit in the boiling sun all day without cover. We had very little water; our thirst was intense. Many of us went crazy and several died. Three Filipino and three American soldiers were buried while still alive.

"Along the road in the province of Pampanga there are many wells. Half-crazed with thirst, six Filipino soldiers made a dash for one of the wells. All six were killed. As we passed Lubao we marched by a Filipino soldier gutted and hanging over a barbed-wire fence.

Packed Into Small Car

"Before daylight on April 15 we were marched out and 115 of us were packed into a small narrow-gauge box car. The doors were closed and locked. Movement was impossible. Many of the prisoners were suffering from diahrrhea and dysentery. The heat and stench were unbearable. At Capiz Tarlac we were taken out and given the sun treatment for three hours. Then we were marched to Camp O'Donnell.

"I made that march of about 85 miles in six days on one mess kit of rice. Other Americans made 'the march of death' in 12 days, without any food whatever."

The prisoners taken at Corregidor did not experience that march, but 7,000 Americans and 5,000 Filipinos were packed for a week with no food on a concrete pavement 100 yards square. There was one water spigot for the 12,000—the average wait to fill a canteen was 12 hours. They got their first food—a mess kit of rice and a can of sardines—after seven days.

Virtually No Water

At Camp O'Donnell there were virtually no water facilities. Prisoners stood in line 6 to 10 hours to get a drink. Clothing went unchanged a month and a half. The principal food was rice, varied twice in two months with enough meat to give one-fourth of the men a piece an inch square. A few times there were comoties, a type of sweet potato, but many were rotten and the prisoners themselves had to post a guard to keep their starving comrades from devouring the rotten vegetables. There was an occasional dab of coconut lard, a little flour, a few mango beans. But there was a black market — those who had money could buy from the Japanese a small can of fish for $5.

There was a hospital—a dilapidated building with no facilities, no medicine. Hundreds lay on the bare floor without cover. The doctors had no water to wash the human filth from their patients. After one week, the death rate was 20 Americans a day, 150 Filipinos; after two weeks, 50 to 500 respectively. The sick as well as the merely starving were forced into work gangs, and worked until they dropped dead.

About June 1, the Americans were removed from Camp O'Donnell to Cabanatuan, where Dyess joined Mellnik and McCoy, who had come in from Corregidor. Conditions there were a little better. There was adequate drinking water, it was possible to bathe in muddy water; but the diet did not improve. And the brutality continued—men were beaten with shovels and golf clubs, "men were literally worked to death."

Three Officers Caught

Three officers who tried to escape were caught, stripped to their shorts, their hands tied behind them and pulled up by ropes fastened overhead, and kept in this position in the blazing sun for two days; periodically the Japs beat them with a two-by-four; finally one was beheaded and the others shot. By Oct. 26, when Dyess, McCoy and Mellnik left Cabanatuan, 3,000 of the American prisoners had died.

The three officers were taken, with 966 other prisoners, to a penal camp at Davao, Mindanao, and put to hard labor. Food was slightly better there, but "the salvation of the American prisoners of war," Dyess reported, was the American and British Red Cross supplies, both clothing and food, that finally began to arrive, months late. The beatings, the murder, the studied mistreatment and humiliation continued. By April 1943, there were 1,100 of the 2,000 prisoners at Davao still able to work.

This was the life from which McCoy, Dyess and Mellnik escaped April 4, 1943. The account is based solely on their official reports, but the Army and Navy said at least four others were known to have escaped from the Philippines — Majors Michiel Dobervitch, Ironton, Minn., Austin C. Shofner, Shelbyville, Tenn., and Jack Hawkins, Roxton, Tex., and Cpl. Reid Carlos Chamberlain, El Cajone, Calif., all of the Marine Corps.

City Votes On Bond Purchase

City commissioners in regular session Thursday afternoon voted to buy an additional $200,000 in war bonds and Treasury certificates in the Fourth War Loan drive opening next Tuesday, thus boosting total bond purchases for the City of Lubbock to $583,953.

Half of the $200,000 will be invested in series G bonds and the remaining $100,000 in 7/8 Treasury certificates. In addition the commissioners voted to sell $160,000 in certificates now held by the City and due to mature April 1, to the Citizens National bank so that the same amount could be invested in Treasury certificates during the war loan drive. The new certificates will be due Feb. 1, 1945.

Fire Fighting Equipment

The commissioners also took steps to purchase additional fire fighting equipment to insure the city adequate protection in the future. City Manager Marlin R. Smith was instructed to start negotiations for the purchase of an additional 750-gallon pumper and another panel booster wagon if available.

Other matters of more or less routine nature disposed of in the meeting included adoption of a resolution calling for extension of city bus service from East Nineteenth street and Avenue D to East Twenty-third street in the negro section; the appointment of A. B. Davis as an official representative of the city at hearings in Washington before the Civil Aeronautics board on American Airlines, Continental Airlines and Braniff Airways for airline service through Lubbock; and approval of a report of a committee which said the situation in the negro section at the present time does not justify the employment of additional police for the area.

Sewage Pump Sold

Sale of a used sewage pump to the City of Pecos for $1,357.08, 60 per cent of its original cost was approved. Refund of $10 to Plamore Lanes Bowling alley and $30 to Cotton Row Bowling alley for overcharge on licenses was also approved. Contractor's bond for John T. Glover, gas fitter's and public works bonds for Roche Newton & company and Dick Rountree and an insurance policy for Lubbock Bus company were also approved. City warrants from 845B to 1015B were also approved.

In purchasing the bonds and Treasury certificates, the commissioners voted to take the money from the general fund and streets and improvements funds, the bonds in each purchase being earmarked for the various funds. A total of $155,000 was taken from the general fund and $45,000 from the streets and improvements fund.

Mayor Carl E. Slaton presided. Commissioners W. B. Price, J. O. Jones, Hub Jones, City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley, City Manager Smith and City Secretary Lavenia Williams were in attendance.

Two LAAF Men Die In Training Crash

Second Lt. Peter Diener and Sgt. Eino Peter Wiitala, aviation student, were killed late Thursday afternoon about 10 miles west of Lubbock Army Air field. This was the second fatal accident to hit LAAF this week.

Lt. Diener, who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Diener of Portsmouth, O., was an instructor. Sgt. Wiitala is survived by his mother, Mrs. Alma Wiitala, Hibbing, Miss., route 1. Neither man was married.

The fliers, who were engaged in a routine training flight, were killed instantly, according to Col. Ralph E. Holmes, LAAF commanding officer.

The crash occurred about 5 o'clock 10 miles west of the field.

Jimmy Stewart Takes Promotion To Major

A U. S. LIBERATOR BOMBER BASE, England, Jan. 28. (AP) — Former film star Jimmy Stewart, leader of a liberator bomber squadron, now has been advanced in rank from captain to major.

The promotion was announced only a day after friends had quoted him as declining an increase in rank "until my junior officers get promoted from lieutenant." Presumably his superiors had urged acceptance.

"False Alarm" Fire Call Laid To Negro

A young negro who has a habit evident over the last six months of turning in "false alarms" sent firemen on a "water haul" Thursday afternoon to 2700-block Avenue G.

Firemen coupled with the announcement a warning that they are "on to the kid and will catch him yet."

He has a habit of calling once or twice a week and giving emergency alarms at addresses that more than likely do not exist.

A new member of fire personnel answered the alarm Thursday —so didn't recognize the caller's voice.

Britain Warns On Atrocities

LONDON, Jan. 28. (AP) — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today that thousands of British troops had died as prisoners of the Japanese after being compelled to live "under tropical jungle conditions without shelter, clothing, food or medical attention."

Britain, he warned, will not forget in time to come Japan's misdeeds, in this respect.

Eden's statement came in the wake of a U. S. Army disclosure in Washington that the Japanese had tortured, starved and wantonly murdered many of the 36,000 American and Filipino soldiers captured at Bataan and Corregidor.

The foreign secretary charged that Japanese authorities had dictated postcards and letters received from prisoners giving the impression they were in good health and well-treated.

"The information which has just reached the government no longer leaves any room for doubt that the true state of affairs is a different one so far as the great majority of prisoners in Japanese hands are concerned," Eden said.

Then solemnly he voiced this warning:

"Let the Japanese government reflect that in time to come the record of their military authorities in this war will not be forgotten."

Japs Refuse Inspection

Pointing out that the Japanese government had refused permission for neutral inspection of their prison camps, Eden said, "for some time past information has been reaching his majesty's government regarding the conditions under which prisoners are detained and work in some of these areas, and as it was of so grave a character as likely to cause distress to relatives, his majesty's government felt bound to satisfy themselves that it was authentic before making it public."

Referring to the "many thousands" of British prisoners held in Thailand alone, he said:

"Our information is that their health is rapidly deteriorating, that a high percentage of them are seriously ill, and that there have been several thousand deaths. The number of such deaths reported by the Japanese to us is just over 100."

Army Status Without Pay For Draft Board Members Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (U.P.) — The local draft board member, as anonymous an individual as ever served the republic, would sort of like a little recognition.

He doesn't want any money, mind you. He has been working without pay since 1940, and he's used to it by now.

Still and all, Rep. Samuel Weiss, (D., Pa.), said today, the local draft board members would be grateful for some small token of his country's appreciation.

Want Army Status

Weiss said he had talked to many board members, most of them veterans of the last war, and that they wanted Army status in connection with this one. So he suggested, in a House bill, that draft board officials be given "inactive commissions," starting with a second lieutenancy for members with one year of service. They would be automatically stepped up a grade each year through lieutenant, captain and major to lieutenant colonel after five years.

No draft board officers, however, would be eligible for Army pay, allowances, pensions, mustering-out pay or other service remuneration. But at the end of the war they would be eligible for membership in World War II veterans' organizations.

In the meantime, they could wear their uniforms, complete with bars or oak leaves.

New Texas Residents Warned About Gas

AUSTIN, Jan. 28 (U.P.) — Temporary residence in Texas of thousands of people from places where natural gas is not used as fuel, today prompted Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, to issue a warning to them against sleeping in closed rooms or apartments with a gas stove burning.

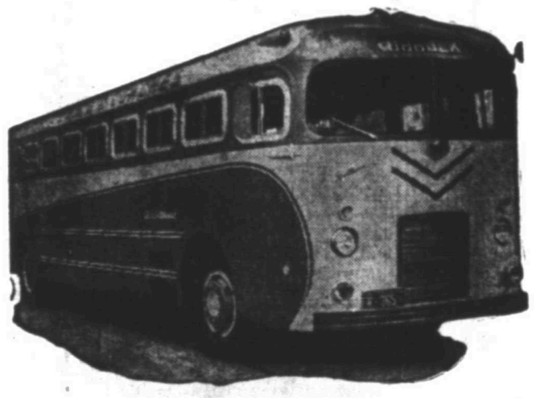

"When occupying a room in which gas is burning, be sure always to have at least one window or door open to admit fresh air," Dr. Cox warned. "If the weather is too cold to permit leaving an open window in the room occupied, then play safe by opening a door into an adjoining room which is properly ventilated."

"Even if there is no gas leak," Dr. Cox said, "air in a closed room soon become vitiated and harmful fumes will be inhaled."
