A Little About Everything
Not Much About Anything
By JAMES E. KELLY
(Opinions expressed in this column are the views of the writer and should be so interpreted).

WELL, US FATHERS ARE COMING into our own Sunday. It is a day that has been set aside to honor father. Mother had her day. I often wondered why they waited so long after a day had been designated Mother's Day, before they decided Father should have "his day in court."

It was in 1910 in Spokane, Wash., when the daughter of William J. Smart, circulated a petition getting people to support a Father's Day proclamation, that Father's Day came in to existence and has been observed ever since.

Why, without Dad there wouldn't be any mother, nor would there be any one on whom mother could unload her temper, go to for spending money, bawl out because he won't mow the lawn, carry out the trash, sleep too long, spill his smoking tobacco on the rug, scatter his Sunday newspapers over the floor, stay out late at night, doesn't like the shirt he wears, but as always, mother has the last word.

For example, the other day a policeman in an Eastern city was walking his beat along the river bank, when he noticed a man standing in the river with his clothes on. The policeman yelled: "What you doing in the river?"

The father replied: "My wife told me, oh, go jump in the river." Which goes to prove how accommodating father is to mother. So, as Sunday is Father's Day, mothers, give him a break. It's father that provides the living. I want to tell you, with the purchasing power of a dollar is worth little more than 50c on the dollar, income taxes to pay, county, state, school and city taxes to pay, utility bills, water and sewer bills, grocery bills, dry goods bills, expense of automobile upkeep, battling the worst drought in the history of West Texas, making a decision on what candidate to vote for in the county election, puzzled over who to support for President of the United States, whether there will be a World War III—mother, I want to tell you Father is in a hell of a fix, and if there ever was an individual that needs your sympathy and all the kind words—it's father. Turn him loose on this Father's Day. Wrap up all the unkind things you said to him the past year in a red necktie and present it to him Sunday. Just make mine a box of cigars, I have a red necktie.

THAT PESTIFEROUS, CARRION EATER carrier of germs—dog fly ones, too—the FLY—is back with us—if he has ever been gone—may I say, at this time of the season—he's here in profusion—and again, may I say—in picking Stanton, he selected a most luscious field to carry on his work. The fly is so filthy, whether or not he's to blame for laying low with that crippling disease—Polio—three patients from Stanton, two victims the past week, I wouldn't put it past the fly carrying around polio virus. Scientists carrying on their search to uncover the polio germ, point a stern finger of suspicion at the fly as the carrier of polio virus.

Two doctors from the Baylor University of Medicine, carrying on an intensive investigation in the city of Houston, have come up with the decision that was a direct slap at the fly. In their search they had captured more than 81,600 flies in Houston, and after careful examination of this group of "carion eaters" the researchers were convinced that flies carried in their bodies the polio virus, and were responsible for the spreading of this disease. Late June, is considered the season for the spread of polio, and Houston, having gone through a very wide spread of the disease last year, and to minimize its spread this year, the Baylor University of Medicine scientists were called in for an investigation, and the city of Houston is marshalling all of its forces to rid the city of flies.

Since Stanton has declared the week of June 9th to 14th, as a city-wide cleanup week, this department suggests every citizen arm himself with a fly-swatter, carry it with him, and swat the fly wherever one is in range. Cleanup the breeding places for flies and mosquitoes, and spread DDT over them, and too, make

CLEANUP DRIVE HITS FULL STRIDE

Stantonites Thursday had reached the 'mopping up' stage in their week long cleanup campaign—leaving the hauling away of collected trash and debris as one of the biggest jobs yet to be done.

For this phase of the campaign, Stanley Wheeler, chairman of transportation, has lined up more than twenty trucks and drivers.

It is the responsibility of the captain in each block to notify the city hall, telephone 62, or Drive Chairman A. W. Heckler, telephone 19, when he is ready for a truck in his area, Heckler said.

Wheeler estimated that more than fifty loads of rubbish had been carted away thus far in the drive.

Vocational Agriculture Instructor E. D. Steele has been furnishing a truck and labor in the campaign as has the Wheeler Motor Company.

Leaders agreed with A. Hane-man, Jr., Lubbock, state health department engineer, that the campaign should be on a continuing basis.

Heckler said it was expected that all committees named thus far would continue to serve on a permanent basis. The drive is co-sponsored by the City of Stanton and the Martin County Forum.

A method of dealing with the complaints received by the steering committee will be considered at a nearly meeting of the committee and the city council, Mayor Woodford Sale announced.

The committee has received reports of overflowing cesspools, unsanitary closets and numerous complaints on the inadequacy of the city's regular garbage pickup.

In connection with the latter, city garbage haulers say they are forced to pass up those places where garbage and rubbish are placed in the same container and especially when an attempt has been made to burn it.

The garbage truck has caught fire several times from smoldering rubbish.

Anyway, residents are required by city ordinance to provide separate containers for rubbish (trash, boxes, papers, etc.) that can be burned, and garbage (animal matter, cans, kitchen waste etc.) that should not be burned but rather should be placed in a covered garbage can for pickup by the city truck.

Mrs. Leo Turner, member of the steering committee and president of the Forum, this week released the names of the block captains. They include:

ROBNETT ISSUES STATEMENT OF CANDIDACY

"I wish to announce my candidacy for the Office of Martin County Judge and Ex-Officio County Superintendent, subject to the action of the Democratic Primaries.

"My decision to enter this campaign is based on my own personal desires and ambitions with full realizations of the responsibilities of such an office.

"I have been a resident of Martin County since 1943, and I am married to a native Martin County Girl, the former Dorlene Flanagan. We have two children.

"I am thirty-two years of age and a graduate of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas. Being a former school teacher I have served in Academic, Administrative, and Vocational capacities. For the past three years I have operated my own profitable business retailing Farm Supplies, Farm Implements, and Automobiles. This training and experience I believe will be valuable in such an office in meeting the problems which may arise.

"If elected to this office I will give my undivided attention to the performance of the duties as required to administer the affairs of Martin County, and I will strive to maintain, and conserve our economic stability which so long has been based on farming and ranching.

"I believe it is a duty and an honor for every voter to vote for the candidate of his or her choice, and that each candidate for this office will be given the fullest and most careful consideration.

"Due to the present illness in my family my campaign may be retarded, but I hope and intend to see every voter in the county and further acquaint myself with the problems at hand.

"With a promise of service to the best of my ability, I earnestly solicit your vote for the Office of Martin County Judge and Ex-Officio County Superintendent."—Ed Robnett.

POLIO INCREASES IN STANTON; THREE DEFINITE CASES

A third and possibly a fourth case of polio had been reported in Stanton Thursday.

Ed Robnett, Jr., three and one half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Robnett, has joined his sister, Nancy, six, as a polio patient in a local hospital. The latter is reported to be recovering nicely and is not expected to suffer any after effects of the disease.

A three year old Stanton girl has been placed in the isolation ward of a Big Spring hospital for observation of polio symptoms. Doctors would not say definitely whether she has polio until tests now being run are completed.

Jimmy Hamilton, president of the fifth grade in the Stanton schools, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hamilton, is reported to be recovering at the Polio Center in Plainview where he has been a patient for the last ten days.

C. A. Castleberry visited last week in Canyon with his brother Ed Castleberry, and sister, Mrs. Walter Zuskoki.

You're, every inch, A MAN!

ANSWER FILED IN JAIL FIRE DAMAGE SUIT

Alfred Moody's suit for $384,600 actual and exemplary damages against the city of Stanton, Martin County, and ten individuals, was answered here this week in a filing in district court by Attorney James Little on behalf of County Judge James McMorries, and County Commissioners Oliver Vaughn, D. E. Bloomer, Irven Welch, and Joe Froman, and Martin County as a political subdivision of the state.

The other defendants in the case, including the sheriff, chief of police and an employee of the city, have not yet filed their answer, according to a check of the records in the office of Mrs. Nobye Hamilton, district clerk. It is expected that Martin County Attorney Tom Adams will join Little in defense of the action.

Two Suffocate
Moody, an oil field worker, was one of two prisoners who survived a fire in the Martin County jail Dec. 21, in which Mrs. Lois Hudson and Richard Hanselman suffocated.

He contends that his health was impaired to the extent he has not been able to follow gainful employment.

Little indicated the defense of the county, county judge and commissioners will be that section 1041 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure provides specifically that these county officials cannot provide a watchman or matron for a county jail except in counties having a population of more than 40,000.

HUMBLE TO COMPLETE BLOCKER WILDCAT AS SMALL PRODUCER

By JAMES C. WATSON

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Blocker, Central Martin County wildcat, seven miles west and slightly north of Stanton, swabbed 55 barrels of new oil, plus 40 per cent formation water, in 24 hours and it is to install a pump and try to complete as a small producer and a discovery from the Spraberry.

The 55 barrels of oil came from two sets of perforations in the Spraberry. They are at 7,380, 7,450 feet and at 8,175-8,272 feet.

Both sets of perforations have been washed with mud acid and they also have been fractured.

If the oil recovery of this wildcat will hold up as well on the pump as it showed on the last 24-hour test, operator expects to complete it and put it on regular production.

No. 1 Blocker had shown a small production in the Dean sand—below the Spraberry—but that zone did not show for as large a petroleum yield as has been found in the Spraberry.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 10, block 37, T-1-S T&P survey. It is three miles northeast of Germania.

Pan American Oil Production Company, Forest Oil Corporation and Houston Oil Company of Texas, are preparing to perforate 5 1/2 casing at 12,139-145 feet and make production tests and complete their No. 3 Breedlove, as the third producer in the Breedlove-Devonian field of Northwest Martin County.

Five and one-half inch casing was cemented at 12,182 feet. Total depth of No. 3 Breedlove is 12,298 feet.

Pan American, Forest and Houston No. 3 Breedlove is 2,300 feet northeast of the near-end of the two completed oil wells in the field.

It is 1,980 feet from east and 2,300 feet from south lines of league 258, Briscoe County School Land survey. That makes it 13 1/2 miles northwest of Tazan, the nearest town.

ADVANCE PLANNING GOES LONG WAY FOR VACATIONISTS

A few hours of pre-vacation planning can save Stanton drivers needless headaches and delays on their summer vacations. B. F. White, your local Ford and B. F. Goodrich dealer pointed out today.

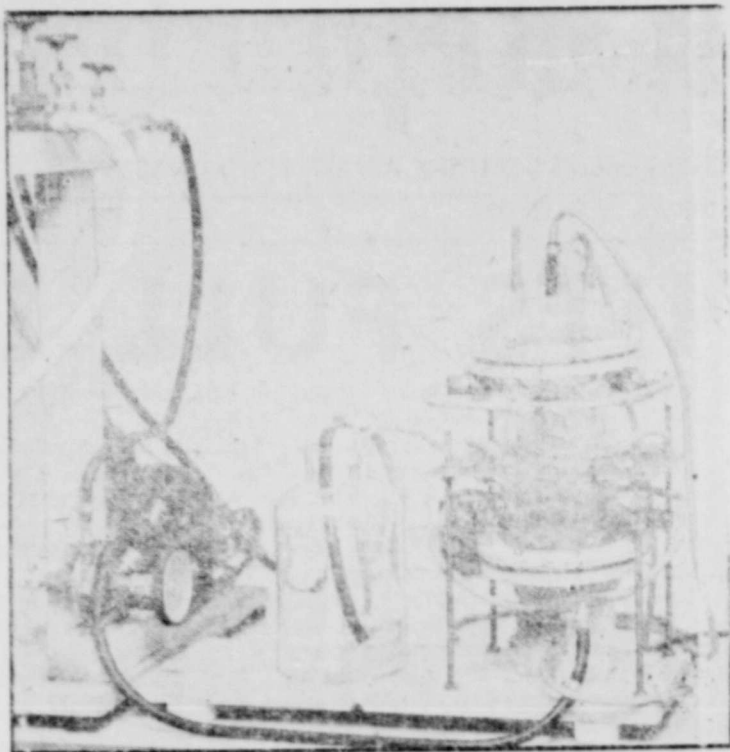

First of all, he suggested a complete checkup for the family car by a competent mechanic. Brakes, lights and ignition should be inspected. Tires should be examined carefully for cuts or breaks in the sidewall and tread, and, if they're the puncture searing tubeless types, all nails should be removed, "and", White added, "don't forget to check the spare."

He said that vacation-bound motorists might take the following simple precautions against possible trouble:

Put an extra fuse in the glove compartment. Carry a spare ignition key. Get a first aid kit and a small fire extinguisher. Have your car lubricated and battery checked at regular intervals. Write or wire in advance for reservations. Don't carry too much cash — use traveler's checks. Check tire pressure regularly all ways when tires are cool. Make sure the tool kit and some extra gas in a safety tank are in the trunk and that the jack is in working order.

The Ford & B. F. Goodrich Dealer suggested that vacationist familiarize themselves with state and local traffic regulations and check possible detours with local gas stations or tire dealers. He recommended that motorists plan reasonable daily mileage and warned about obstructing the driver's vision by loading the car carelessly.

Rossie Hay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hay, was a medical patient in a Big Spring hospital last week.

NEW ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY — A close-up view shows us the intricacies of the newly developed "Guarino Kidney," a unit which can be manufactured for as little as $400 to $500. Questions and Answers

Bill, and now I'd like to apply for a GI home loan, but I have lost them. What can I do?

A—Ask your branch service for authenticated substitute evidence in place of your original discharge papers.

Q—I've been taking a correspondence course under the GI Bill, and now I'd like to switch to a classroom course in the same subject. May I do so, even though the July 1951 cut-off date has passed?

A—No. Under VA regulations, you are not permitted to change from correspondence to classroom training after the cut-off date. But you may take advanced training in the same subject by correspondence, if you have enough entitlement and file a proper application.

Q—I know a veteran who broke two appointments in a row for VA outpatient treatment. He didn't give any advance notice; just failed to show up. Is it possible for him to get a third appointment?

A—If he had no reasonable excuse for breaking the appointments without notice, VA deems that he has refused Government treatment. No further treatment will be given, unless he makes a formal application and satisfactorily evinces a willingness to cooperate by keeping his appointments.

Q—I'm training under Public Law 16, and I've just had some large medical expenses, which my subsistence payments won't cover. Is there any source where I can borrow money for a short time?

A—Under the law, VA may lend you up to $100 from a revolving fund. No interest will be charged. But the money must be paid back.

STRICTLY FRESH

VACATIONS will soon begin and end for school children and their mothers respectively.

A race horse dropped dead at a Toledo, O., track's starting post. Bettors got their money back and probably avoided neighboring hamburger stands.

It looks as though college boys are "panting" for dismissal, judging from the recent outburst of raids on girls' dormitories.

An Oklahoma junior high school student received a four-year perfect attendance certificate and an hour later was sent home with measles. Perfect argument for daylight saving time.

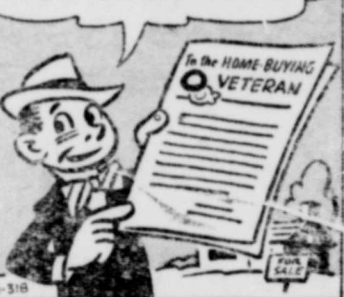

In St. Louis, embarrassed workmen were ordered to take out parking meters they'd installed in a safety zone, which forbids parking under penalty. A "fine" thing.

GILDED PACHYDERM—Lavishly decorated with solid gold, diamonds, sapphires and emeralds, this hand-carved elephant from India is part of the collection of the late Mrs. Sylvia Green Wilks, daughter of the fabulously wealthy Hetty Green. The unforgettable elephant and a mate, the two valued at $14,000, were auctioned off in New York along with the rest of Mrs. Green's jewelry collection valued at about $300,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Meredith of Mineola, Texas, pose with the portrait of Mrs. Meredith painted by Dmitri Vail of Dallas, Texas. The life-like painting will hang in the main hall of the "Daisy Meredith" cottage for girls on the Methodist Home campus in Waco, Texas.

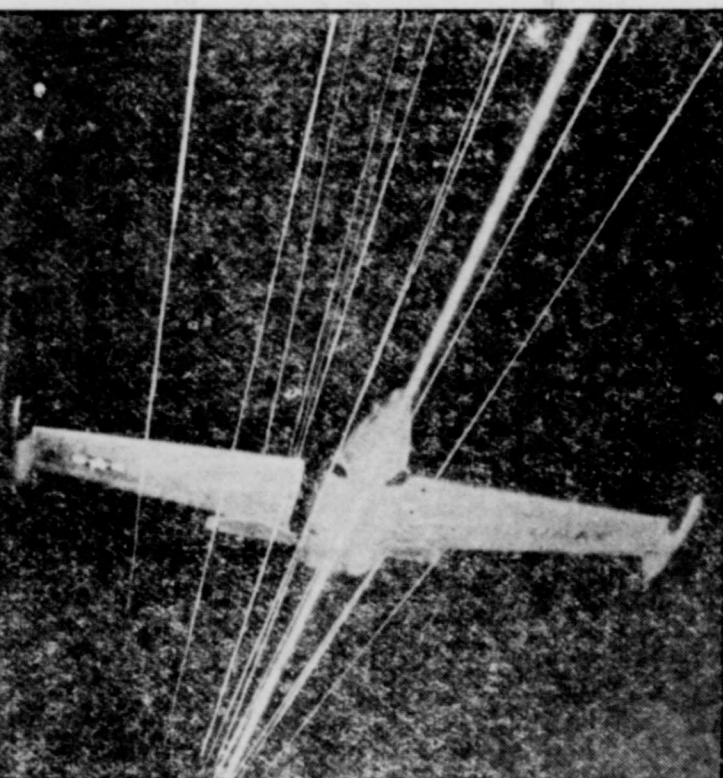

Pioneer Banker, Civic Leader Builds Home for Orphan Girls

"Uncle Harry" as Mr. Meredith is affectionately known to his boys and girls in Waco, is a pioneer in Texas banking history, having opened his Mineola State Bank in 1906. In 1933 he retired from active banking business and became Chairman of the Board of the First National Bank which position he continues to hold. Besides their active interest in civic and church affairs, the Merediths are enthusiastic and active members of the well known Little Sandy Fishing and Hunting Club.

Three years ago they donated $95,000 for construction of the

Meredith Home for Boys on the Methodist Home Campus in Waco, and commissioned Dmitri Vail to paint the portrait of Mr. Meredith which now hangs in the living room. Cost of the newly completed "Daisy Meredith" cottage is running close to $120,000.

Mr. Meredith wanted a Texas artist to paint the two portraits and selected the nationally known portrait painter Dmitri Vail, of Dallas, Texas. He says he had the portraits painted to hang in the cottage so that in twenty-five or fifty years from now the children might say: Those are the folks who gave us our home.

"FASTER" THAN ITS AMMO—Believed to be the first such night photograph ever taken, this picture shows an F-89 jet fighter apparently racing ahead of its own ammunition. Tracer streaks from six 20 millimeter cannons registered on the film before the plane was "frozen" by a powerful stroboscopic light flash which lasted less than 1/5000 of a second. The unusual picture was taken at Edwards Air Force base, Hawthorne, Calif.

A VERY BUSY MAN, INDEED, my friend Charley Roberts, the Senior Charley, of the Andrews County News, the guy who hangs around the News office, calls himself publisher, while his son, James W. Roberts, bends low under the heavy load of work connected with getting out the paper each week.

In his Drifting Sands column last week, Charley complained, that for that week's News, at least, he was having a laborious chore to write it. His think tank wouldn't work — if it did — it went in the wrong direction — anyway, it was a vacation he needed — so it's off to Houston and the meeting of the Texas Press Association, this weekend, for Charley Roberts.

From the assertion he made in his column, I take it that Roberts believes never to allow business interfere with pleasure. If there is a choice to be made between the two, Roberts' motto: "take the pleasure," business can wait. Anyway, Roberts, is a candidate for Representative to the State Legislature from the district in which Andrews is included. The time is here for the Andrews County newspaperman to do something about campaigning for the office. He plans to marshal his forces by loading up a group of his supporters in automobiles and with campaign literature strike out and shell the cactus over the district for votes. But as he admitted in his "Drifting Sands," his political campaign can wait until he returns from Houston.

IF MARTIN COUNTY IS GOING to provide a liberal amount of its water resources to aid outside communities, I have in mind a project for right here in Stanton that could consume many more million gallons of water daily to carry on its operations, and I know of no other project that would be more appreciated by the public during the summer months of the year than this one would be. I'm speaking of a swimming pool. Stanton is provided with an abundant supply of water, (at present), ample enough to provide a swimming pool full of fresh water every day that would cover an acre or more of ground. I know of no other town in the radius of 200 miles around that has as much underground water under its thumb to turn into a swimming pool. Were this pool in operation this year there would be folks from many miles around coming here to take advantage of the facilities of the pool. The enterprise could be made into an entertainment feature that would draw the leading swimmers and other aquatic artists from over a wide area of the state and outside of the state. The occasion could be made into an annual affair, and it would be a grand drawing card for Stanton.

While it's possible for outside communities to come in and pipe out Martin County water for their use, why not Stanton get in on the water consuming business on a larger scale, and when the underground water reservoir goes dry, we'll all go dry together, but we'll all have had our fun while it lasted.

Why, even over here in Andrews County, Andrews boasts of having a swimming pool, owned by the county. It cost the county $125,000, and the pool holds 400,000 gallons of water — all that in a space of 30x90 feet. The depth of the pool ranges from 42 inches to 10 feet. Recent examination by a representative from the State Health Department, found the sanitary conditions excellent and praised the county on "having one of the top pools in West Texas as far as sanitary safety was concerned," the health representative said. Andrews is the home of that progressive newspaper, the Andrews County News, behind which Charley W. Roberts, Sr., publisher, and his son, James Roberts, editor, provides the power.

NOT NECESSARY YOU READ this tall-end squib, but at that it has meat in it. I read somewhere, last week, and it was not on any page of Diamond Dick, either, where a prominent dentist said: "Humane teeth were developed in mankind for the purpose of tearing raw meat off a carcass." To my way of thinking that's another nail driven into the argument by some of the ancient historians, that our ancestors hung by their tails from trees.

ONLY TIME WILL TELL

Once again the West and Russia have come to a crisis in the not-so-cool "cold war." It is, perhaps, the most serious crisis yet, and what ultimately results from it will have a tremendous influence on the future of all the world—communist and anti-communist.

The Bonn peace treaty, which is to pave the way for the restoration of full national sovereignty to West Germany, was an essential and risky step in the huge task of unifying the Western powers. So was the signing of the six-nation military pact, which followed at Paris immediately after the Bonn meeting. It was inevitable that Russia would oppose these acts with every resource at her command, short of war. The great question is whether, if means short of war are not enough, Russia will go the whole way. Those who are in the best position to know think she will not. But such opinions can only be educated guesses and time will provide the right and final answer.

In any event, Russia's strategy now is to prevent, if she can, the ratification of the peace treaty by the respective parliaments. And to forward this strategy she is using her familiar techniques.

A no-man's line was at once set up in East Germany, whose government is as responsive to the Kremlin as Charlie McCarthy is to Edgar Bergen. Telephone and telegraph lines between the West Berlin and Western Germany were cut. Very severe new travel restrictions between the east and west zones were imposed. In short, a partial blockade was clamped down, bringing back memories of the days when only the amazing American air lift saved West Berlin from starvation and capitulation.

If these moves are not a preparatory step to war, they can have only one main significance: to create fear, to make it seem to peoples that the Soviet might is overwhelming and that safety lies in acquiescence to Soviet policies, to break down confidence that a really powerful Western alliance, with all the troops and planes and weapons that security demands, can be brought to fruition.

Now the problem is whether this strategy will succeed. Russia has effective tools to work with. A great many West Germans are against the peace treaty for one reason or another, and there will be strong opposition in their parliament when it is offered for ratification. France deeply fears the possibility of German rearmament—history has taught her what that could mean. This will be a big factor when the French parliament considers the treaty. And in both France and West Germany there are strong, tautly-disciplined communist groups which are trained to the hilt in the techniques of creating dissension and disorder.

On the credit side is the fact that the treaty, after long months of arduous preparation, has been signed at Bonn by the responsible representatives of the governments concerned, and so has the implementing military pact. We must now wait to see how far the Russians are ready to go. In the meantime, a view which is very widely held in this country was well-expressed by the Portland Oregonian, when it said, "Our own course must be strong and consistent, and we must demand that our European allies fulfill their agreement to the letter."

"WHY NOT A 'NO WORK' WEEK?"

"The thought occurs that possibly a specially designated 'no work' week—or month—might be fitted into the general scheme of things are made applicable to all employed persons—however essential their activities may appear to be.

"Strikes accomplish this for some workers—to the detriment of others—and in order that there be no partiality it would appear reasonable that some specific time be designated for a general shutdown—with temporary suspension, of course, of all professional services as well as those associated with business, transportation, communication, entertainment, and the like. . .

"If it is within the power of organized minorities to leave their jobs, on order of their leaders—as is being done so frequently of late—why shouldn't a period be designated for everybody to take a week or a month off at the same time, so that there would be no need for picketing or violence—just an entire nation at leisure—AND WITH TIME TO THINK!

"THINK, for instance, of—all of a sudden—finding yourself and family without water, gas and electricity in your home . . . and without phone service, of course, as all of these require work by some people—and remember, there's to be no work.

"Patients in hospitals would receive no attention from nurses or physicians, and, in the event of deaths there could be no burials during the 'no work' period. . .

"No mail deliveries, no newspapers—none of the so-called conveniences, or even 'essentials' to which people have become accustomed—just a stoppage of everything at the same time.

"FANTASTIC? Yes, perhaps, but no more so than some of the things this country has been undergoing—and possibly giving a hint at urgent need for correction of quite obvious weak spots in the operation of government under present auspices." MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL.

Bible Comment:

Through Evil Times Israel Kept Spark Of Good Burning

IN the history of the Jewish people from the time of their return from bondage in Egypt to the establishment and downfall of their kingdom in Palestine, we can see the laws and forces that wreck mighty nations.

It is as true as it ever was that "righteousness exalteth a nation," and the dictum of Scripture applies to nations as it does to individuals. "Be sure your sin will find you out."

But our heritage from ancient Israel is very much more than is found in example and warning. Out of the life of Israel, despite wars, peril, suffering, waste and destruction, has come the richest literature that the world has known—the Scriptures upon which Our Lord was nourished, and which, He said, He had come to fulfill.

It is the spiritual miracle of history that out of times of ruthless war should have come the magnificent dreams of peace, recorded in such passages as Isaiah 2 and 35. The times were crude and full of danger. The perverse and evil-minded set up altars of idolatry. There were false prophets as well as the patient, suffering prophets of the Lord.

Some kings themselves were false leaders doing evil in the sight of the Lord. But there were gentle souls, being led through green pastures and beside still waters, singing the songs of hope and faith.

In days of darkness there were not wanting those who found the word of God a light unto their path. And in evil days there were courageous rebukers of iniquity, and prophets such as Micah, who defined in clear, simple terms the eternal realities of true religion, the substance of what God requires of man, and of what man needs for a happy, prosperous life among his fellows.

And in these days of the 20th century, when millions have been destroyed and other millions have been suffering from ruthlessness, let us not forget that it is to Jews we owe that heritage. What return is the world making to them for all they have given to the world?

Philosopher Says: Gov't Should Hire Rain Gauge Emptiers

Dear editor:

For some time now I've had a rain gauge out here on my Johnson grass farm in Martin County and it's a handy gadget, but there's one thing wrong with it.

After each rain, when it does rain, you have to go out there and empty it, and a man with the problems of the world on his mind and already three years behind with his plowin' ain't got time to do it.

What I want to know is why don't the government hire

Rural Rain Gauge Emptiers, give each one a regular route, and take this burden off us farmers? You might say it's a small job, emptying a rain gauge, any farmer ought to be able to do it, but after you consider all the other things he has to do, it adds up. A man can go just so far and no further.

The fellow that gave me this gauge said he gave one to another farmer and after a rain one time he asked him how much it measured and he said three inches, when everybody knew it hadn't rained near that much.

"Did you empty it after the previous rain?" he was asked, and he said naw, didn't know he was supposed to.

Well, I got sense enough to know I'm supposed to empty the thing, but I also got sense enough to know I'll make better crops if I keep the weeds and grass out, just as I've got sense enough to know if I do the latter I'll have to work harder. Thinkin' is a great thing but sometimes it just leads you in a circle and you get right back where you started from.

But back to these rain gauge emptiers. A lot of people say times are so good it's a hard proposition to find anybody who wants to work three days, but I've never seen a job remain unfilled very long if it had two drawin' cards: good pay and little effort. I will be glad to help work up a route through this area for a government rain gauge emptier, but I'm not an applicant for the actual job, I won't have time. I got the Presidential election on my hands, not to mention Korea, Europe, and my wife's naggin.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

We are happy to have Mr. Simpson as an active member and wish for him much success in his business undertaking.

JO JON HALL, one of our outstanding sub-debs, is in College Station this week. Inasmuch as she holds the honored position of President of the El Paso District of the 4-H Girls, Jo Jon went a few days earlier in order to help arrange programs and plans for the State Round-Up of the 4-H. When she returns, Jo Jon will go to McCombs and will preside at the District meeting of all 4-H Clubs in the District which includes all clubs from Stanton to El Paso. Other local girls attending include: Beany McCoy, Mary Henson, Mary Beth White, Yvonne Orey, Lorene Burns, Mary Lynn Hamilton and Eula Bell Mott. Mrs. J. C. Mott will go as leader. The boys attending are: James Rhodes and Homer Lee Hull with County Agent Ray Hastings as leader.

AND SPEAKING OF JO JON, her mighty fine dad, Morgan Hall, presented the office with one of those new, super operating ball point pens. "How pretty she writes." We were badly in need of one of these pens, but just delayed in getting one — so

SOMETIMES it pays to wait. Thanks, a million Morgan, we're really giving this pen a good "hop test."

WE HAD QUITE A NICE EXPERIENCE one day last week. As you know, Alma De Noen is our new office assistant, so her husband, Nelson, prepared dinner for us, cooked without any directions from his wife. The dinner was lovely, and was served attractively, and if Nelson ever wants a recommendation as to his culinary knowledge, all the has to do is to call on me—we'll really endorse him. Thanks, Nelson, for a mighty fine dinner.

WHEN THE HAND BILLS were delivered over Stanton the other day, we had some very efficient boys to visit our office. They were Robert Whitaker, Eddy Avery, Jerry Wayne Graham and Jimmy Sale. These boys were taking their work seriously, and were about as courteous in every way as we could have desired. Boys, we're betting on you! Come back some time!

TWO OF OUR VISITORS LAST week were from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. They were Alden Cathey, Manager of the Public Relations Department, and Loran H. Walker, Manager of the Agriculture and Livestock Department. We enjoyed their visit very much, and especially were happy to meet Loran, as he is the newly elected manager of the Agriculture Department. Alden has been with us many times before and conducted a clinic for the Martin County Chamber of Commerce when we first organized. We always feel a little more at home when their staff members pay us a visit.

IT IS A MIGHTY FINE FEELING to know that the chairmen of committees recently appointed by S. W. Wheeler, our efficient President, are interested in their committee work. Most of the chairmen attended the Board meeting last Thursday night, and presented the names of their committees. We feel that these men will do much for our organization this year. We are definitely proud of each and every one of them.

Colorful Paper Plates Ease Duties of Summer Hostess

BY EDNA MILES

TO entertain with the least effort and the greatest results is the aim of almost every woman during the hot summer months. She wants her guests to have a good time. But she doesn't want to spend long, hot hours in the kitchen before they arrive nor does she want to return to the kitchen for another session when they've gone.

One of the simplest and most pleasant forms of party-giving is the buffet using paper-plate service. It leaves the hostess free to enjoy her own party, to talk to her guests and to eat without feeling hurried.

As the buffet moves out-of-doors for warm weather, the hostess may utilize almost any open space, from a small terrace in a city apartment to a back porch or a lawn.

Color, in a buffet, can be gained through the striking pastel shades of the paper plates—joniell yellow, avocado green, paradise pink and blue—or in patterns on white grounds. The hostess can use a dark cloth for contrast or she can let the wood of the table top set off the plates.

Table decorations need not be elaborate to be attention-getting. Flowers in an unusual arrangement, an interesting candelabra, a functional relish ferris wheel—any of these will turn the trick.

When the buffet is over, neither guests nor hostess need feel obliged to ruin the balance of the evening by doing dishes. The paper plates and matching paper napkins can be thrown out, thus getting rid of most of the clean-up work.

Gay paper plates add to the friendly atmosphere of the outdoor buffet. Hostess relaxes, free from visions of stacks of dishes. Note relish "ferris wheel" at left.

Cattle Spraying Kills Pests, Prevents Re-Infestation, Says Agricultural Chemist

Horn flies are one of the most serious pests of beef cattle—as well as dairy herds—during the summer. Usually, these small pests, clustered on the backs and under the sides of animals on pasture, appear late in spring. The best time to spray to rid cattle of these pests is when the horn flies average about 25 to 30 per adult animal. It is highly recommended the sprayings be repeated at 3 to 4 week intervals to control the pests until cool weather, after which spraying may be discontinued.

The best and simplest system to control flying and crawling pests is to knock out the infestation on the animal—and on the premises—and to prevent re-infestation. According to Bernard F. Beaver, research chemist for the Ralston Purina Company, spraying at regular intervals does both.

"A good fly spray to control horn flies, house flies, lice, biting gnats, mosquitoes and stable flies on beef cattle is made with a spray powder containing 40% DDT with 1% lindane," Beaver says. "The DDT gives long residual life to the mixture and the lindane gives quick-killing effect on the DDT-immune house flies. There is not, however, sufficient lindane in this formula to control mange mites."

Normally, a mixture of 8 pounds of the spray powder, Beaver explained, with 90 gallons of water can be applied at the rate of a half-gallon per adult animal. On the average, the cost of using a fly spray of this quality is about 3c per animal, per application.

"A good commercial stock spray," he continued, "while more expensive to use, will rid beef cattle of horn flies, lice, biting gnats, mosquitoes and stable flies as well as ticks and sarcoptic mites. The stock spray should contain 45% DDT plus 2 1/2% lindane, the powerful insecticide especially effective against mange mites and DDT-resistant house flies. This solution is a fast-acting agent.

"This stock spray should be used 10 pounds of the powder to 100 gallons of water for horn flies, lice and ticks. Apply from a half to a gallon per adult animal to control flies and ticks, and from a gallon to one and one-half gallons for lice. Using a spray this powerful will cost approximately 11 to 12c per gallon. For stable flies, house flies and mange mites, use 20 pounds of the powder to 100 gallons of water.

"Unless the cattleman is certain there is a mange mite or tick infestation, the fly spray will be sufficient, providing of course, he sprays at regular and frequent intervals."

On a cost-per-head basis, Beaver pointed out, the cattleman can spray 4 times with the fly solution for the cost of a single application of the more powerful and quick-acting stock spray.

Beef cattlemen are urged by agricultural chemists to set up a program for fall spraying—just before the first cold snap. This fall application will tend to keep the lice under control during the winter.

An adequate, planned spraying program, Beaver concluded, is essential to fast, efficient gains and for profitable milk production. Research authorities agree the program should be put into operation in the spring when the first signs of infestation are evident and be continued at regular and frequent intervals until the cold weather prevents further application.

"Good Neighbor Policy"

Remember one time when I told about the old loose-stone wall that separated Easy Roberts' property from Handy Peterson's?

That was when they decided they really didn't need the wall between them in the first place—so they simply stopped repairing it.

Now I hear where a fellow, who bought the old Johnson place, wants to buy all those stones. It seems he figures a stone wall is just what's needed on his property.

From where I sit, if that fellow wants to build himself a stone wall, that's his business. But if it's not really serving any useful purpose he may sooner or later discover—just like Handy and Easy did—that he'd be just as well off without one. Even some old-fashioned walls of prejudice are disappearing—like those that would deny a person's right to a friendly glass of beer now and then. Most Americans are learning that "walls" can get in the way of the persons inside as well as the persons outside.

OIL NEWS

ian field, is bottomed at 12,238 feet in lime and shale and has been plugged and abandoned.

The only shows of oil it reported was in a drillstem test at 12,220-242 feet. The tool was open one hour and 15 minutes.

Recovery was the 1,800-foot water blanket, 380 feet of free oil, 450 feet of sulphur water and 90 feet of sulphur water cut mud.

That was not a sufficient show of oil to make a well—particularly with the water also having appeared in the same thin section.

After running that test the prospector deepened to 12,338 feet in lime and shale. It found no other shows of oil or gas in going to that level, and operators have ordered it plugged.

Location was 660 feet from north and 5,940 feet from east lines of league 255, Briscoe County School Land survey.

It was 12 1/2 miles northwest of Tarzan. Top of the Devonian in No. 4 Breedlove was 12,025 feet. That was 85 feet low to the same marker in the Breedlove-Devonian field opener.

Plymouth Oil Company No. 1 Morris, Southeast Martin County wildcat, one and one-half miles northeast of Stanton, had reached 7,062 feet in Spraberry sand and was drilling deeper. So far it has not found any possibilities of production.

Location is 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 7, block 35, T&P survey.

Stanford Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Cowden, Southwest Martin County wildcat, 10 miles northwest of Midland, is drilling below 10,414 feet in lime.

It is due to drill to 14,000 feet or a test of the Ellenburger at a lesser depth.

This development had some interesting shows of possible production in the lower Spraberry.

It is 30 miles west of Stanton and 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 10, block 40, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Stanford is drilling below 7,145 in shale and lime on its No. 1 Marion Flint, a 14,560-foot wildcat in Central-West Martin County.

It is located 28 miles north of Midland and 24 miles southwest of Stanton. Drillsite is 5,025 feet from east and 6,000 feet from southlines of section 248, Hartley County School Land survey.

The project also spots 660 feet from south and west lines of labor 12, league 258, Hartley County School Land survey.

The scheduled destination of 14,000 feet is calculated to take the wildcat into the Ellenburger.

DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc., No. 1 Kitta Belle (Mrs. Richard H.) Knox, scheduled 12,500-foot wildcat in Northwest Martin County, is drilling below 10,777 feet in lime and shale.

It is 11 miles north of Tarzan and 660 feet from north and 2,777.7 feet from west lines of league 253, Ward County School Land survey.

Argo Oil Corporation is drilling below 11,267 feet in lime and shale in new hole on its No. 1 Brown, failure in North-Central Martin County. Operator is to go on to test the Ellenburger. That formation is expected around 12,000 feet.

The project was plugged on total depth of 10,606 feet in November, 1931. The project was re-entered in December of the same year and the Spraberry, Dean and Strawn sections were re-tested without developing commercial production.

Location of No. 1 Brown is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 15, block 38, T-1-N, T&P survey and 17 miles northwest of Stanton.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1-C Schar (Scharbauer Cattie Company), Southwest Martin County wildcat, 13 miles north of Midland and 19 miles west and slightly north of Stanton, is at plugged back depth of 8,880 feet and is swabbing to test on perforations at 8,820-8,870 feet in the Spraberry.

No guages on the swabbing tests have been reported.

This prospector was drilled to 9,006 feet. It set and cemented 7-inch casing at 9,000 feet. The cement inside the casing was drilled out to 8,938 feet and the pipe was then perforated for the Spraberry testing.

It is 1,320 feet from south and 6,888 feet from west lines of league 324, LaSalle County School Land survey. It is four and one-half miles north of the discovery well of the Glass-Spraberry field and it is four miles east of the Mabee-San Andres field. Tom D. Fowler of Midland and associates are pumping at the rate of two barrels of fluid per hour in the Grayburg at 4,050-4,330 feet in their No. 1 Tant Lindsey, Southwest Martin County wildcat.

The fluid being recovered is cut from 10 to 90 per cent water.

This possible shallow field opener is 660 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 16, block 38, T-1-N, T&P survey.

It is 14 miles west and slightly north of Stanton and approximately the same distance north-east of Midland.

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 G. T. Hall, wildcat to 10,900 feet to explore the Ellenburger in Northwest Glasscock County, is drilling below 2,321 feet in shale and anhydrite.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 6, block 34, T-2-S, T&P survey.

James H. Snowden and Associates of Fort Worth have asked the Railroad Commission of Texas for discovery allowable rights and a new field designation for its No. 2-12 Hale, project in the Germania field of Northeast Midland County.

the Spraberry for a flowing potential of 351 barrels of oil. Production fell off and operator plugged back and perforated from 3,940 to 3,960 feet opposite the Grayburg. Operator reported a 24-hour gauge from that interval of 37.41 barrels of oil after a 500-gallon acid treatment and a 1,500 gallon fracture treatment.

The project is located at the center of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 12, block 37, William Glendening survey, T-2-S.

What's the big idea of DYNAFLOW DRIVE?

6-passenger Super Convertible.

THERE are all sorts of "drives" and "shifts" on the market.

Some still operate entirely by hand. Some depend on shifting gears, but do this automatically. Some feed the power through oil, but use a lock-out device at cruising speeds.

But we still think that Dynaflo* is the best of all for this simple reason:

The big idea of Dynaflo Drive is to make life easy for the driver.

In traffic, you can start and stop, slow down, accelerate with complete and infinite smoothness—because no gears have to shift, ever, in Dynaflo Drive. So there's no lurch, buck or bobble. Dynaflo always feeds power with a steady, willing swoop—at 3 miles an hour or 30—or as high as it's legal to go. On hills, you get the same sure, steady, unfaltering power-feed for the same reason. No gears ever shift.

On a long day's drive, you can ride with wonderful freedom from tension—your foot relaxed on the throttle—because you always drive through oil.

And at any speed you get a smoother ride, in part because Dynaflo Drive provides such a smooth and gentle linkage between that mighty Fireball 8 Engine and the rest of the chassis.

But this is not all. Our service records show that Dynaflo also makes life easier for your bank account. It saves wear and strain on the engine, banishes the cost of clutch repairs, saves strain on the transmission and even on the rear tires.

There are a lot of other good reasons for buying a Buick—its style, its room, its ride, its power, its thrift, its durability—and its price.

When you can get all this—plus Dynaflo Drive—why be a holdout? Come in and give Dynaflo a try today.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Chili Contest Is New State Fair Feature

An attraction that will really be hot stuff has been set for the 1952 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 4 through 19.

A world championship chili contest will be held on Sunday, Oct. 5, during the fair. James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager, has announced.

Chairman of the chili contest will be Joe E. Cooper of Dallas, author of a definitive book on chili called "With or Without Beans," to be published in the fall.

Rules of the state fair contest stipulate "no beans." This is so the chili can be judged on its own merits alone, Cooper said.

Connoisseurs

Cooper will head a panel of distinguished chili connoisseurs who will judge the contest. Although the chili contest will be held under the auspices of the fair's Women's Department, many more men than women are expected to enter.

"Every Texan has his own idea about how to make good chili," Cooper pointed out, and we expect to be prepared with entries and recipes.

The contest will be open to the world. Amateur cooks and professional chili chefs alike may enter. Contestants must furnish for judging one quart of chili—without beans—and a recipe must accompany each entry.

Prizes Listed

First prize will be $50; second prize, $30; and third prize, $15. Ribbons will be awarded through seventh place.

The recipe awarded first place will become the official chili recipe of the State Fair of Texas.

Entries will be judged on flavor, appearance, aroma and proportion of basic ingredients.

"One purpose of the contest," Cooper said, "is to restore chili's lost prestige in things gastronomic, not to mention the re-establishment of public confidence in this glorious victual. The noble institution of a bowl of chili must not be abandoned to perish on the vine."

"Real, sure-enough, Texas-style chili," Cooper avows, "must have the strength to chin itself and possess the authority of a Marine buck sergeant."

Association Seeks Raise In Teacher Pay

AUSTIN, Texas.—A minimum beginning salary of $3,000 instead of the present $2,403 for public school teachers will be asked of the next legislature by the Texas State Teachers Association.

"The profession must be made more attractive and Texas faces a critical situation in its schools unless that can be accomplished," Charles H. Tennyson, executive secretary, said.

The average salary for all Texas professional public school personnel is $3,185, but that of the average classroom teacher is only $2,980. The first-year teacher who holds only a bachelor's degree gets $2,403.

In comparison, the average for all employed people in the United States, including laborers, is $3,390.

A Little About Everything
Not Much About Anything
By JAMES E. KELLY

Opinions expressed in this column are the views of the writer and should be so interpreted.

WELL, US FATHERS ARE COMING into our own Sunday. It is a day that has been set aside to honor father. Mother had her day. I often wondered why they waited so long after a day had been designated Mother's Day, before they decided Father should have "his day in court." It was in 1910 in Spokane, Wash., when the daughter of William J. Smart, circulated a petition getting people to support a Father's Day proclamation, that Father's Day came into existence and has been observed ever since.

Why, without Dad there wouldn't be any mother, nor would there be any one on whom mother could unload her temper, go to for spending money, bawl out because he won't mow the lawn, carry out the trash, sleep too long, spill his smoking tobacco on the rug, scatter his Sunday newspapers over the floor, stay out late at night, doesn't like the shirt he wears, but as always, mother has the last word. For example, the other day a policeman in an Eastern city was walking his beat along the river bank, when he noticed a man standing in the river with his clothes on. The policeman yelled: "What you doing in the river?" The father replied: "My wife told me, oh, go jump in the river." Which goes to prove how accommodating father is to mother. So, as Sunday is Father's Day, mothers, give him a break. It's father that provides the living. I want to tell you, with the purchasing power of a dollar is worth little more than 50c on the dollar, income taxes to pay, county, state, school and city taxes to pay, utility bills, water and sewer bills, grocery bills, dry good bills, expense of automobile upkeep, battling the worst drought in the history of West Texas, making a decision on what candidate to vote for in the county election, puzzled over who to support for President of the United States, whether there will be a World War III—mother, I want to tell you Father is in a hell of a fix, and if there ever was an individual that needs your sympathy and all the kind words—it's father. Turn him loose on this Father's Day. Wrap up all the unkind things you said to him the past year in a red necktie and present it to him Sunday. Just make mine a box of cigars, I have a red necktie.

THAT PESTIFEROUS, CARRION EATER carrier of germs—deadly ones, too—the FLY—is back with us—if he has ever been gone—may I say, at this time of the season—he's here in profusion—and again, may I say—in picking Stanton, he selected a most luscious field to carry on his work. The fly is so filthy, whether or not he's to blame for laying low with that crippling disease—Polio—three patients from Stanton, two victims the past week, I wouldn't put it past the fly carrying around polio virus. Scientists carrying on their search to uncover the polio germ, point a stern finger of suspicion at the fly as the carrier of polio virus.

Two doctors from the Baylor University of Medicine, carrying on an intensive investigation in the city of Houston, have come up with the decision that was a direct slap at the fly. In their search they had captured more than 81,600 flies in Houston, and after careful examination of this group of "carriers" the researchers were convinced that flies carried in their bodies the polio virus, and were responsible for the spreading of this disease. Late June, is considered the season for the spread of polio, and Houston, having gone through a very wide spread of the disease last year, and to minimize its spread this year, the Baylor University of Medicine scientists were called in for an investigation, and the city of Houston is marshalling all of its forces to rid the city of flies.

Since Stanton has declared the week of June 9th to 14th, as a city-wide cleanup week, this department suggests every citizen arm himself with a fly-swatter, carry it with him, and swat the fly wherever one is in range. Cleanup the breeding places for flies and mosquitoes, and spread DDT over them, and too, make

Stantonites Thursday had reached the 'mopping up' stage in their week long cleanup campaign—leaving the hauling away of collected trash and debris as one of the biggest jobs yet to be done.

For this phase of the campaign, Stanley Wheeler, chairman of transportation, has lined up more than twenty trucks and drivers.

It is the responsibility of the captain in each block to notify the city hall, telephone 62, or Drive Chairman A. W. Heckler, telephone 19, when he is ready for a truck in his area, Heckler said.

Wheeler estimated that more than fifty loads of rubbish had been carted away thus far in the drive.

Vocational Agriculture Instructor E. D. Steele has been furnishing a truck and labor in the campaign as has the Wheeler Motor Company.

Leaders agreed with A. Haneman, Jr., Lubbock, state health department engineer, that the campaign should be on a continuing basis.

Heckler said it was expected that all committees named thus far would continue to serve on a permanent basis. The drive is co-sponsored by the City of Stanton and the Martin County Forum.

A method of dealing with the complaints received by the steering committee will be considered at a nearly meeting of the committee and the city council, Mayor Woodford Sale announced. The committee has received reports of overflowing cesspools, unsanitary closets and numerous complaints on the inadequacy of the city's regular garbage pickup.

In connection with the latter, city garbage haulers say they are forced to pass up those places where garbage and rubbish are placed in the same container and especially when an attempt has been made to burn it.

The garbage truck has caught fire several times from smoldering rubbish.

Anyways, residents are required by city ordinance to provide separate containers for rubbish (trash, boxes, papers, etc.) that can be burned, and garbage (animal matter, cans, kitchen waste etc.) that should not be burned but rather should be placed in a covered garbage can for pickup by the city truck.

Mrs. Leo Turner, member of the steering committee and president of the Forum, this week released the names of the block captains. They include:

ROBNETT ISSUES STATEMENT OF CANDIDACY

"I wish to announce my candidacy for the Office of Martin County Judge and Ex-Officio County Superintendent, subject to the action of the Democratic Primaries.

"My decision to enter this campaign is based on my own personal desires and ambitions with full realizations of the responsibilities of such an office.

"I have been a resident of Martin County since 1943, and I am married to a native Martin County Girl, the former Doralene Flanagan. We have two children.

"I am thirty-two years of age and a graduate of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas. Being a former school teacher I have served in Academic, Administrative, and Vocational capacities. For the past three years I have operated my own profitable business retailing Farm Supplies, Farm Implements, and Automobiles. This training and experience I believe will be valuable in such an office in meeting the problems which may arise.

"If elected to this office I will give my undivided attention to the performance of the duties as required to administer the affairs of Martin County, and I will strive to maintain, and conserve our economic stability which so long has been based on farming and ranching.

"I believe it is a duty and an honor for every voter to vote for the candidate of his or her choice, and that each candidate for this office will be given the fullest and most careful consideration.

"Due to the present illness in my family my campaign may be retarded, but I hope and intend to see every voter in the county and further acquaint myself with the problems at hand.

"With a promise of service to the best of my ability, I earnestly solicit your vote for the Office of Martin County Judge and Ex-Officio County Superintendent."—Ed Robnett.

POLIO INCREASES IN STANTON; THREE DEFINITE CASES

A third and possibly a fourth case of polio had been reported in Stanton Thursday.

Ed Robnett, Jr., three and one half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Robnett, has joined his sister, Nancy, six, as a polio patient in a Midland hospital. The latter is reported to be recovering nicely and is not expected to suffer any after effects of the disease.

A three year old Stanton girl has been placed in the isolation ward of a Big Spring hospital for observation of polio symptoms. Doctors would not say definitely whether she has polio until tests now being run are completed.

Jimmy Hamilton, president of the fifth grade in the Stanton schools, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hamilton, is reported to be recovering at the Polio Center in Plainview where he has been a patient for the last ten days.

C. A. Castberry visited last week in Canyon with his brother Ed Castberry, and sister, Mrs. Walter Zuskoki.

ANSWER FILED IN JAIL FIRE DAMAGE SUIT

Alfred Moody's suit for $384,600 actual and exemplary damages against the city of Stanton, Martin County, and ten individuals, was answered here this week in a filing in district court by Attorney James Little on behalf of County Judge James McMorries, and County Commissioners Oliver Vaughn, D. E. Bloomer, Irven Welch, and Joe Froman, and Martin County as a political subdivision of the state.

The other defendants in the case, including the sheriff, chief of police and an employee of the city, have not yet filed their answer, according to a check of the records in the office of Mrs. Nobye Hamilton, district clerk. It is expected that Martin County Attorney Tom Adams will join Little in defense of the action.

Two Suffocate Moody, an oil field worker, was one of two prisoners who survived a fire in the Martin County jail Dec. 21, in which Mrs. Lois Hudson and Richard Hanselman suffocated.

He contends that his health was impaired to the extent he has not been able to follow gainful employment. Little indicated the defense of the county, county judge and commissioners will be that section 1041 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure provides specifically that these county officials cannot provide a watchman or matron for a county jail except in counties having a population of more than 40,000.

HUMBLE TO COMPLETE BLOCKER WILDCAT AS SMALL PRODUCER

By JAMES C. WATSON

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Blocker, Central Martin County wildcat, seven miles west and slightly north of Stanton, swabbed 55 barrels of new oil, plus 40 per cent formation water, in 24 hours and it is to install a pump and try to complete as a small producer and a discovery from the Spraberry.

The 55 barrels of oil came from two sets of perforations in the Spraberry. They are at 7,380, 7,450 feet and at 8,175-8,272 feet. Both sets of perforations have been washed with mud acid and they also have been fractured.

If the oil recovery of this wildcat will hold up as well on the pump as it showed on the last 24-hour test, operator expects to complete it and put it on regular production.

No. 1 Blocker had shown a small production in the Dean sand—below the Spraberry—but that zone did not show for as large a petroleum yield as has been found in the Spraberry.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 10, block 37, T-1-S T&P survey. It is three miles northeast of Germania.

Pan American Production Company, Forest Oil Corporation and Houston Oil Company of Texas, are preparing to perforate 5 1/2 casing at 12,139-145 feet and make production tests and complete their No. 3 Breedlove, as the third producer in the Breedlove-Devonian field of Northwest Martin County.

Five and one-half inch casing was cemented at 12,182 feet. Total depth of No. 3 Breedlove is 12,298 feet.

Pan American, Forest and Houston No. 3 Breedlove is 2,300 feet from east and west lines of the two completed oil wells in the field.

It is 1,980 feet from east and west lines of south lines of league 258, Briscoe County School Land survey. That makes it 13 1/2 miles northwest of Tazan, the nearest town.

The project topped the Devonian pay at 12,092 feet, which is 20 feet low to the top of the pay in the same operators' No. 1 Breedlove, the field opener.

Cores through the section showed that it would produce in commercial amounts. It encountered formation water below 12,183 feet.

The No. 3 Breedlove drilled and cored ahead to a total depth of 12,295 feet in the top of the Fusselman. No shows of oil or gas were found in any section of that formation penetrated.

Pan American, Forest and Houston No. 4 Breedlove, one-quarter of a mile south of the opener of the Breedlove-Devonian—(continued on back page)

City Softball League To Be Organized Here

If flood lights are installed in time, recreation committeemen of the Chamber of Commerce expect to open city league softball play here Tuesday night. Jess Burns is chairman of the committee.

More than thirty players and sponsors attended an organization meeting Monday night in the high school gymnasium. Assistant High School Coach Melvin Robertson has been employed to supervise the play.

Indicating they will enter teams in the city league are Stanton Implement Company, Stanton Walgreen Agency Drug, Bentley's, High School, Stanlind Oil Company, White Auto Store, Farm Equipment and Supply, and Jim Webb's Grocery. Others are expected.

ADVANCE PLANNING GOES LONG WAY FOR VACATIONISTS

A few hours of pre-vacation planning can save Stanton drivers, needless headaches and delays on their summer vacations. B. F. White, your local Ford and B. F. Goodrich dealer pointed out today.

First of all, he suggested a complete checkup for the family car by a competent mechanic. Brakes, lights and ignition should be inspected. Tires should be examined carefully for cuts or breaks in the sidewall and tread, and, if they're the puncture sealing tubeless types, all nails should be removed, "and", White added, "don't forget to check the spare."

He said that vacation-bound motorists might take the following simple precautions against possible trouble:

Put an extra fuse in the glove compartment. Carry a spare ignition key. Get a first aid kit and a small fire extinguisher. Have your car lubricated and battery checked at regular intervals. Write or wire in advance for reservations. Don't carry too much cash — use traveler's checks. Check tire pressure regularly always when tires are cool. Make sure the tool kit and some extra gas in a safety tank are in the trunk and that the jack is in working order.

The Ford & B. F. Goodrich Dealer suggested that vacationist familiarize themselves with state and local traffic regulations and check possible detours with local gas stations or tire dealers. He recommended that motorists plan reasonable daily mileage and warned about obstructing the driver's vision by loading the car carelessly.

Rossie Hay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hay, was a medical patient in a Big Spring hospital last week.

Herdsmen's Course To Be Offered At Tech Field Day

LUBBOCK—The animal husbandry department at Texas Tech introduces a herdsmen's short course to go with the 1952 West Texas Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association Field Day. The third annual field day, scheduled for July 11, will be preceded by a two-day short course for persons interested in fitting and showing beef cattle and the problems associated with purebred herd management from the herdsmen's standpoint.

Ray Mowery, head of the animal husbandry department, welcomes others who are interested in good beef cattle and the problems of the herdsmen to attend the course.

Some 400 persons are expected to attend the field day, sponsored by the West Texas Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association.

Questions and Answers

Bill, and now I'd like to appeal for a GI home loan, but I have lost them. What can I do?

A—Ask your branch service for authenticated substitute evidence in place of your original discharge papers.

Q—I've been taking a correspondence course under the GI Bill, and now I'd like to switch to a classroom course in the same subject. May I do so, even though the July 1951 cut-off date has passed?

A—No. Under VA regulations, you are not permitted to change from correspondence to classroom training after the cut-off date. But you may take advanced training in the same subject by correspondence, if you have enough entitlement and file a proper application.

Q—I know a veteran who broke two appointments in a row for VA outpatient treatment. He didn't give any advance notice; just failed to show up. Is it possible for him to get a third appointment?

A—If he had no reasonable excuse for breaking the appointments without notice, VA deems that he has refused Government treatment. No further treatment will be given, unless he makes a formal application and satisfactorily evinces a willingness to cooperate by keeping his appointments.

Q—I'm training under Public Law 16, and I've just had some large medical expenses, which my subsistence payments won't cover. Is there any source where I can borrow money for a short time?

A—Under the law, VA may lend you up to $100 from a revolving fund. No interest will be charged. But the money must be paid back.

STRICTLY FRESH

VACATIONS will soon begin and end for school children and their mothers respectively.

A race horse dropped dead at a Toledo, O., track's starting post. Bettors got their money back and probably avoided neighboring hamburger stands.

It looks as though college boys are "panting" for dismissal, judging from the recent outburst of raids on girls' dormitories.

An Oklahoma junior high school student received a four-year perfect attendance certificate and an hour later was sent home with measles. Perfect argument for daylight saving time.

In St. Louis, embarrassed workmen were ordered to take out parking meters they'd installed in a safety zone, which forbids parking under penalty. A "fine" thing.

GILDED PACHYDERM—Lavishly decorated with solid gold, diamonds, sapphires and emeralds, this hand-carved elephant from India is part of the collection of the late Mrs. Sylvia Green Wilks, daughter of the fabulously wealthy Hetty Green. The unforgettable elephant and a mate, the two valued at $14,000, were auctioned off in New York along with the rest of Mrs. Green's jewelry collection valued at about $300,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Meredith of Mineola, Texas, pose with the portrait of Mrs. Meredith painted by Dmitri Vail of Dallas, Texas. The life-like painting will hang in the main hall of the "Daisy Meredith" cottage for girls on the Methodist Home campus in Waco, Texas.

Pioneer Banker, Civic Leader Builds Home for Orphan Girls

"Uncle Harry" as Mr. Meredith is affectionately known to his boys and girls in Waco, is a pioneer in Texas banking history, having opened his Mineola State Bank in 1906. In 1933 he retired from active banking business and became Chairman of the Board of the First National Bank which position he continues to hold. Besides their active interest in civic and church affairs, the Merediths are enthusiastic and active members of the well known Little Sandy Fishing and Hunting Club.

Three years ago they donated $95,000 for construction of the

Meredith Home for Boys on the Methodist Home Campus in Waco, and commissioned Dmitri Vail to paint the portrait of Mr. Meredith which now hangs in the living room. Cost of the newly completed "Daisy Meredith" cottage is running close to $120,000. Mr. Meredith wanted a Texas artist to paint the two portraits and selected the nationally known portrait painter Dmitri Vail, of Dallas, Texas. He says he had the portraits painted to hang in the cottage so that in twenty-five or fifty years from now the children might say: Those are the folks who gave us our home.

"FASTER" THAN ITS AMMO—Believed to be the first such night photograph ever taken, this picture shows an P-69 jet fighter apparently shooting at its own ammunition. Tracer streaks from six 20 millimeter cannons registered on the plane was "frozen" by a powerful stroboscopic light flash which lasted less than 1/5000 of a second. The unusual picture was taken at Edwards Air Force base, Hawthorne, Calif.

a careful search of your premises for the lurking rat, that carrier of a flea that hops off his back and bites you, laying you low with undulant fever, and maybe a case of polio.

A VERY BUSY MAN, INDEED, is my friend Charley Roberts, the Senior Charley, of the Andrews County News, the guy who hangs around the News office, calls himself publisher, while his son, James W. Roberts, bends low under the heavy load of work connected with getting out the paper each week.

In his Drifting Sands column last week, Charley complained, that for that week's News, at least, he was having a laborious chore to write it. His think tank wouldn't work — if it did — it went in the wrong direction — anyway, it was a vacation he needed — so it's off to Houston and the meeting of the Texas Press Association, this weekend, for Charley Roberts.

From the assertion he made in his column, I take it that Roberts believes never to allow business interfere with pleasure. If there is a choice to be made between the two, Roberts' motto: "take the pleasure," business can wait. Anyway, Roberts, is a candidate for Representative to the State Legislature from the district in which Andrews is included. The time is here for the Andrews County newspaperman to do something about campaigning for the office. He plans to marshal his forces by loading up a group of his supporters in automobiles and with campaign literature strike out and shell the cactus over the district for votes. But as he admitted in his "Drifting Sands," his political campaign can wait until he returns from Houston.

IF MARTIN COUNTY IS GOING to provide a liberal amount of its water resources to aid outside communities, I have in mind a project for right here in Stanton that could consume many more million gallons of water daily to carry on its operations, and I know of no other project that would be more appreciated by the public during the summer months of the year than this one would be. I'm speaking of a swimming pool. Stanton is provided with an abundant supply of water, (at present), ample enough to provide a swimming pool full of fresh water every day that would cover an acre or more of ground. I know of no other town in the radius of 200 miles around that has as much underground water under its thumb to turn into a swimming pool. Were this pool in operation this year there would be folks from many miles around coming here to take advantage of the facilities of the pool. The enterprise could be

Once again the West and Russia have come to a crisis in the not-so-cool "cold war." It is, perhaps, the most serious crisis yet, and what ultimately results from it will have a tremendous influence on the future of all the world—communist and anti-communist.

The Bonn peace treaty, which is to pave the way for the restoration of full national sovereignty to West Germany, was an essential and risky step in the huge task of unifying the Western powers. So was the signing of the six-nation military pact, which followed at Paris immediately after the Bonn meeting. It was inevitable that Russia would oppose these acts with every resource at her command, short of war. The great question is whether, if means short of war are not enough, Russia will go the whole way. Those who are in the best position to know think she will not. But such opinions can only be educated guesses and time will provide the right and final answer.

In any event, Russia's strategy now is to prevent, if she can, the ratification of the peace treaty by the respective parliaments. And to forward this strategy she is using her familiar techniques.

A no-man's line was at once set up in East Germany, whose government is as responsive to the Kremlin as Charlie McCarthy is to Edgar Bergen. Telephone and telegraph lines between the West Berlin and Western Germany were cut. Very severe new travel restrictions between the east and west zones were imposed. In short, a partial blockade was clamped down, bringing back memories of the days when only the amazing American air lift saved West Berlin from starvation and capitulation.

If these moves are not a preparatory step to war, they can have only one main significance: to create fear, to make it seem to peoples that the Soviet might is overwhelming and that safety lies in acquiescence to Soviet policies, to break down confidence that a really powerful Western alliance, with all the troops and planes and weapons that security demands, can be brought to fruition.

Now the problem is whether this strategy will succeed. Russia has effective tools to work with. A great many West Germans are against the peace treaty for one reason or another, and there will be strong opposition in their parliament when it is offered for ratification. France deeply fears the possibility of German rearmament—history has taught her what that could mean. This will be a big factor when the French parliament considers the treaty. And in both France and West Germany there are strong, tautly-disciplined communist groups which are trained to the hilt in the techniques of creating dissension and disorder.

On the credit side is the fact that the treaty, after long months of arduous preparation, has been signed at Bonn by the responsible representatives of the governments concerned, and so has the implementing military pact. We must now wait to see how far the Russians are ready to go. In the meantime, a view which is very widely held in this country was well-expressed by the Portland Oregonian, when it said, "Our own course must be strong and consistent, and we must demand that our European allies fulfill their agreement to the letter."

"WHY NOT A 'NO WORK' WEEK?"

"The thought occurs that possibly a specially designated 'no work' week—or month—might be fitted into the general scheme of things are made applicable to all employed persons—however essential their activities may appear to be.

"Strikes accomplish this for some workers—to the detriment of others—and in order that there be no partiality it would appear reasonable that some specific time be designated for a general shutdown—with temporary suspension, of course, of all professional services as well as those associated with business, transportation, communication, entertainment, and the like. . .

"If it is within the power of organized minorities to leave their jobs, on order of their leaders—as is being done so frequently of late—why shouldn't a period be designated for everybody to take a week or a month off at the same time, so that there would be no need for picketing or violence—just an entire nation at leisure—AND WITH TIME TO THINK!

"THINK, for instance, of—all of a sudden—finding yourself and family without water, gas and electricity in your home . . . and without phone service, of course, as all of these require work by some people—and remember, there's to be no work.

"Patients in hospitals would receive no attention from nurses or physicians, and, in the event of deaths there could be no burials during the 'no work' period. . .

"No mail deliveries, no newspapers—none of the so-called conveniences, or even 'essentials' to which people have become accustomed—just a stoppage of everything at the same time.

"FANTASTIC? Yes, perhaps, but no more so than some of the things this country has been undergoing—and possibly giving a hint at urgent need for correction of quite obvious weak spots in the operation of government under present auspices." MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL.

Bible Comment:

Through Evil Times Israel Kept Spark Of Good Burning

IN the history of the Jewish people from the time of their return from bondage in Egypt to the establishment and downfall of their kingdom in Palestine, we can see the laws and forces that wreck mighty nations.

It is as true as it ever was that "righteousness exalteth a nation," and the dictum of Scripture applies to nations as it does to individuals. "Be sure your sin will find you out."

But our heritage from ancient Israel is very much more than is found in example and warning. Out of the life of Israel, despite wars, peril, suffering, waste and destruction, has come the richest literature that the world has known—the Scriptures upon which Our Lord was nourished, and which, He said, He had come to fulfill.

It is the spiritual miracle of history that out of times of ruthless war should have come the magnificent dreams of peace, recorded in such passages as Isaiah 2 and 35. The times were crude and full of danger. The perverse and evil-minded set up altars of idolatry. There were false prophets as well as the patient, suffering prophets of the Lord.

Some kings themselves were false leaders, doing evil in the sight of the Lord. But there were gentle souls, being led through green pastures and beside still waters, singing the songs of hope and faith.

In days of darkness there were not wanting those who found the word of God a light unto their path. And in evil days there were courageous rebukers of iniquity, and prophets such as Micah, who defined in clear, simple terms the eternal realities of true religion, the substance of what God requires of man, and of what man needs for a happy, prosperous life among his fellows.

And in these days of the 20th century, when millions have been destroyed and other millions have been suffering from ruthlessness, let us not forget that it is to Jews we owe that heritage. What return is the world making to them for all they have given to the world?

Philosopher Says: Gov't Should Hire Rain Guage Emptiers

Dear editor:

For some time now I've had a rain guage out here on my Johnson grass farm in Martin County and it's a handy gadget, but there's one thing wrong with it.

After each rain, when it does rain, you have to go out there and empty it, and a man with the problems of the world on his mind and already three years behind with his plowin' ain't got time to do it.

What I want to know is why don't the government hire

Rural Rain Guage Emptiers, give each one a regular route, and take this burden off us farmers? You might say it's a small job, emptying a rain guage, any farmer ought to be able to do it, but after you consider all the other things he has to do, it adds up. A man can go just so far and no further.

The fellow that gave me this guage said he gave one to another farmer and after a rain one time he asked him how much it measured and he said three inches, when everybody knew it hadn't rained near that much.

"Did you empty it after the previous rain?" he was asked, and he said naw, didn't know he was supposed to.

Well, I got sense enough to know I'm supposed to empty the thing, but I also got sense enough to know I'll make better crops if I keep the weeds and grass out, just as I've got sense enough to know if I do the latter I'll have to work harder. Thinkin' is a great thing but sometimes it just leads you in a circle and you get right back where you started from.

But back to these rain guage emptiers. A lot of people say times are so good it's a hard proposition to find anybody who wants to work three days, but I've never seen a job remain unfilled very long if it had two drawin' cards: good pay and little effort. I will be glad to help work up a route through this area for a government rain guage emptier, but I'm not an applicant for the actual job, I won't have time. I got the Presidential election on my hands, not to mention Korea, Europe, and my wife's naggin'.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

IT'S A PLEASURE TO PRESENT another new member! This week we present the Simpson Furniture Store owned and operated by Harold K. Simpson. Mr. Simpson came to us from Big Spring, and established this new business enterprise several weeks ago, and has made Stanton his home. His merchandise consists of all types of home furnishings in the way of furniture, and a large variety of lamps for every room. We are happy to have Mr. Simpson as an active member and wish for him much success in his business undertaking.

JO JON HALL, one of our outstanding sub-debs, is in College Station this week. Inasmuch as she holds the honored position of President of the El Paso District of the 4-H Girls, Jo Jon went a few days earlier in order to help arrange programs and plans for the State Round-Up of the 4-H. When she returns, Jo Jon will go to McCombs and will preside at the District meeting of all 4-H Clubs in the District which includes all clubs from Stanton to El Paso. Other local girls attending include: Beany McCoy, Mary Henson, Mary Beth White, Yvonne Orey, Lorene Burns, Mary Lynn Hamilton and Eula Bell Mott. Mrs. J. C. Mott will go as leader. The boys attending are: James Rhodes and Homer Lee Hull with County Agent Ray Hastings as leader.

AND SPEAKING OF JO JON, her mighty fine dad, Morgan Hall, presented the office with one of those new, super operating ball point pens. "How pretty she writes." We were badly in need of one of these pens, but just delayed in getting one — so

WE HAD QUITE A NICE EXPERIENCE one day last week. As you know, Alma De Noon is our new office assistant, so her husband, Nelson, prepared dinner for us, cooked without any directions from his wife. The dinner was lovely, and was served attractively, and if Nelson ever wants a recommendation as to his culinary knowledge, all the has to do is to call on me—we'll really endorse him. Thanks, Nelson, for a mighty fine dinner.

WHEN THE HAND BILLS were delivered over Stanton the other day, we had some very efficient boys to visit our office. They were Robert Whitaker, Edy Avery, Jerry Wayne Graham and Jimmy Sale. These boys were taking their work seriously, and were about as courteous in every way as we could have desired. Boys, we're betting on you! Come back some time!

TWO OF OUR VISITORS LAST week were from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. They were Alden Cathey, Manager of the Public Relations Department, and Loran H. Walker, Manager of the Agriculture and Livestock Department. We enjoyed their visit very much, and especially were happy to meet Loran, as he is the newly elected manager of the Agriculture Department. Alden has been with us many times before and conducted a clinic for the Martin County Chamber of Commerce when we first organized. We always feel a little more a-kin to the Regional Organization when their staff members pay us a visit.

IT IS A MIGHTY FINE FEELING to know that the chairmen of committees recently appointed by S. W. Wheeler, our efficient President, are interested in their committee work. Most of the chairmen attended the Board meeting last Thursday night, and presented the names of their committees. We feel that these men will do much for our organization this year. We are definitely proud of each and every one of them.

Colorful Paper Plates Ease Duties of Summer Hostess

BY EDNA MILES

TO entertain with the least effort and the greatest results is the aim of almost every woman during the hot summer months. She wants her guests to have a good time. But she doesn't want to spend long, hot hours in the kitchen before they arrive nor does she want to return to the kitchen for another session when they've gone.

One of the simplest and most pleasant forms of party-giving is the buffet using paper-plate service. It leaves the hostess free to enjoy her own party, to talk to her guests and to eat without feeling harried.

As the buffet moves out-of-doors for warm weather, the hostess may utilize almost any open space, from a small terrace in a city apartment to a back porch or a lawn.

Color, in a buffet, can be gained through the striking pastel shades of the paper plates—jonquil yellow, avocado green, paradise pink and blue—or in patterns on white grounds. The hostess can use a dark cloth for contrast or she can let the wood of the table top set off the plates.

Table decorations need not be elaborate to be attention-getting. Flowers in an unusual arrangement, an interesting candelabra, a functional relish ferris wheel—any of these will turn the trick.

When the buffet is over, neither guests nor hostess need feel obliged to ruin the balance of the evening by doing dishes. The paper plates and matching paper napkins can be thrown out, thus getting rid of most of the clean-up work.

Gay paper plates add to the friendly atmosphere of the outdoor buffet. Hostess relaxes, free from visions of stacks of dishes. Note relish "ferris wheel" at left.

Cattle Spraying Kills Pests, Prevents Re-Infestation, Says Agricultural Chemist

Horn flies are one of the most serious pests of beef cattle—as well as dairy herds—during the summer. Usually, these small pests, clustered on the backs and under the sides of animals on pasture, appear late in spring. The best time to spray to rid cattle of these pests is when the horn flies average about 25 to 30 per adult animal. It is highly recommended the sprayings be repeated at 3 to 4 week intervals to control the pests until cool weather, after which spraying may be discontinued.

The best and simplest system to control flying and crawling pests is to knock out the infestation on the animal—and on the premises—and to prevent re-infestation. According to Bernard P. Beaver, research chemist for the Ralston Purina Company, spraying at regular intervals does both.

"A good fly spray to control horn flies, house flies, lice, biting gnats, mosquitoes and stable flies on beef cattle is made with a spray powder containing 40% DDT with 1/4% lindane," Beaver says. "The DDT gives long residual life to the mixture and the lindane gives quick-killing effect on the DDT-immune house flies. There is not, however, sufficient lindane in this formula to control mange mites."

Normally, a mixture of 8 pounds of the spray powder, Beaver explained, with 96 gallons of water can be applied at the rate of a half-gallon per adult animal. On the average, the cost of using a fly spray of this quality is about 3c per animal, per application.

"A good commercial stock spray," he continued, "while more expensive to use, will rid beef cattle of horn flies, lice, biting gnats, mosquitoes and stable flies as well as ticks and sarcoptic mites. The stock spray should contain 45% DDT plus 2 1/2% lindane, the powerful insecticide especially effective against mange mites and DDT-resistant house flies. This solution is a fast-acting agent."

"This stock spray should be used 10 pounds of the powder to 100 gallons of water for horn flies, lice and ticks. Apply from a half to a gallon per adult animal to control flies and ticks, and from a gallon to one and one-half gallons for lice. Using a spray this powerful will cost approximately 11 to 12c per gallon. For stable flies, house flies and mange mites, use 20 pounds of the powder to 100 gallons of water."

"Unless the cattleman is certain there is a mange mite or tick infestation, the fly spray will be sufficient, providing of course, he sprays at regular and frequent intervals."

On a cost-per-head basis, Beaver pointed out, the cattleman can spray 4 times with the fly solution for the cost of a single application of the more powerful and quick-acting stock spray.

Beef cattle are urged by agricultural chemists to set up a program for fall spraying—just before the first cold snap. This fall application will tend to keep the lice under control during the winter.

An adequate, planned spraying program, Beaver concluded, is essential to fast, efficient gains and for profitable milk production. Research authorities agree the program should be put into operation in the spring when the first signs of infestation are evident and be continued at regular and frequent intervals until the cold weather prevents further application.

"Good Neighbor Policy"

Remember one time when I told about the old loose-stone wall that separated Easy Roberts' property from Handy Peterson's?

That was when they decided they really didn't need the wall between them in the first place—so they simply stopped repairing it.

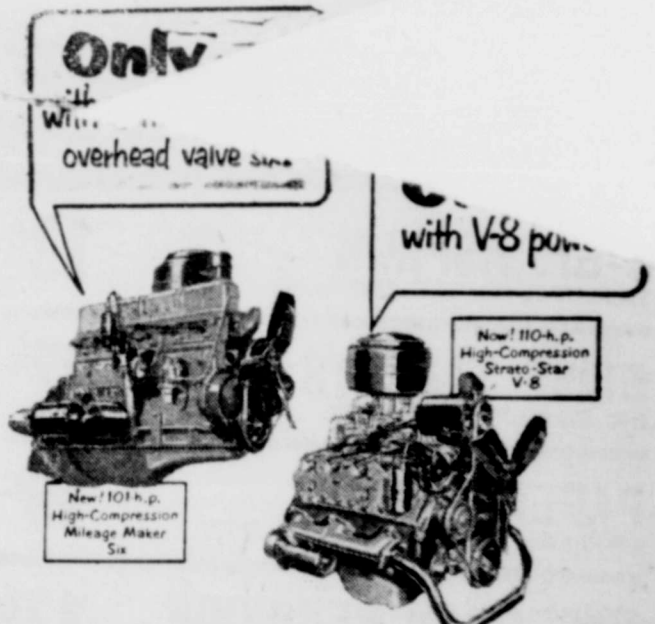

Now I hear where a fellow, who bought the old Johnson place, wants to buy all those stones. It seems he figures a stone wall is just what's needed on his property.

From where I sit, if that fellow wants to build himself a stone wall, that's his business. But if it's not really serving any useful purpose he may sooner or later discover—just like Handy and Easy did—that he'd be just as well off without one. Even some old-fashioned walls of prejudice are disappearing—like those that would deny a person's right to a friendly glass of beer now and then. Most Americans are learning that "walls" can get in the way of the persons inside as well as the persons outside.
