INCH AVERAGE

Most Of County Shares In Welcome Rain

Welcome rains fell on the Howard County area today continuing the happy moisture condition which has made this year so vastly different from 1967.

By mid-morning nearly all parts of the county had received an inch average rain and some areas had gauged even more. Coahoma, for example, had 1.3 inches at 10 a.m. and it was still raining hard.

Began About 5 A.M.

The rains began about 5 a.m. and persistently pattered down through dawn and into the morning. There was little wind and no hail. The rain was described as ideal and nearly 100 per cent of the fall was being readily absorbed into the soil already well seasoned for the planting season.

With seeding time just a short time away, this particular rain, falling as it seemed to have fallen over the county, was in the words of the farmers "just what the doctor ordered."

The U.S. Experiment Station here had gauged .54 inch at 8 a.m., and by 10 a.m. the total was an inch. All over Big Spring the fall was on a par with that at the station, with some sections reporting even heavier falls in the earlier hours. At 11 a.m. unofficial measurement in town was .90.

Years' Total At 5.62 Inches

The .54 inch officially charged to the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today brought the year's total to 5.62 inches. The rainfall for the first 96 days of an average year, as recorded for the past 67 years, is only 2.64 inches. Last year for the same term, the total rainfall was 3.47.

Lake J. B. Thomas had measured .60 inch rain early today and it was still raining. An inch fell in Snyder and Lamesa. Some run-in had begun at the lake and at 10 a.m. the level had risen from 2240.17 to 2240.26 feet.

In the extreme southeast corner of the county, Chalk had half an inch at 8 a.m. and rain was still falling. Six miles northeast of town on the J. E. Fickling farm, half an inch was measured. Coahoma, according to Bill Read, bank president, had measured 1.30 at 10 a.m.

Still Pattering Down

Knott, Ackerly, Vealmoor, Elbow, Lomax, and Luther all had an inch of rain and more was still pattering down.

West of here, the Wilkinson ranch gauged half an inch early in the day and estimated that another half inch had fallen by 10 a.m.

Moss Creek Lake had from .75 to an inch and this time did not get the beating hail which that area had just a week ago.

The rain started at 6:30 a.m. in Colorado City. By 9 a.m. gauges showed .22 inch. At that hour the fall was heavy and increasing in tempo.

More Raids Threatened

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli military sources threatened Jordan today with more hit-and-run raids if Arab commandos continue their sabotage raids in Israel and areas the Israelis seized in the 1967 war.

The Israeli army said it exercised the right of hot pursuit Monday for the first time after troops caught a band of Arab commandos in the Negev Desert and chased them 20 miles into Jordan. Military sources said it was likely the Israelis would use the same tactics again if the occasion arose.

In Monday's action, helicopters flew the Israeli troops into Jordan to attack a commando headquarters. The Israeli army said its troops withdrew after inflicting a number of casualties and blowing up a house.

Jordan claimed that the Israelis attempted an invasion with armored vehicles and helicopter troops "covered by a thick umbrella of Israeli jets" but were chased back. An Israeli army spokesman said this was "ridiculous — there were definitely no armor or planes involved, only a few helicopters."

Sticky Driving

FORT WORTH (AP) — Motorists found the going sticky today on US 81 North in Fort Worth.

The road was gooey because of a leaky tanker truck. It passed by dripping part of its load of molasses.

For a 10-mile stretch, the sticky stuff dripped on the pavement. Mixed with a light rain, it is making travel rather hazardous.

City sanding crews rode to the rescue.

Child Injured

A 17-month-old girl is in satisfactory condition at Webb AFB hospital today after one of her fingers was severed when a motor scooter fell on her Monday afternoon.

Sandra Nienotka, daughter of 1st Lt. Raymond J. Nienotka, 106-B Gunter, was playing near the scooter when apparently the kickstand gave way and the scooter toppled over on her.

Heavy Rains, Hail Slam Across State

By The Associated Press

A massive thunderstorm system stretching from Abilene to Beaumont—a distance of more than 400 miles—left a vast section of Texas reeling today from rains of seven inches and accumulations of hail two feet deep.

Some light flooding hit parts of Southeast Texas as heavy rains continued after daylight.

Beaumont recorded 7.20 inches of moisture between 7 a.m. Monday and 7 a.m. today. In the hour before midnight, a staggering 4.24 inches fell.

ROOF COLLAPSED

Hail two feet deep collapsed the roof of a Salvation Army store in Abilene.

The hail and rainstorm hit Abilene shortly before midnight, dumping 1.25 inches of moisture. Some residents were in effect marooned in their homes by sheathes of hail setacked up one and two feet deep in driveways and on streets.

The emergency room at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in north Abilene was flooded for a time. A police car was submerged in an underpass.

Beaumont police reported numerous stalled cars in flooded streets but added that no major difficulties nor any injuries had been reported.

One line of storms after another formed and rumbled toward the east and northeast, starting Monday afternoon and continuing through the night.

Tornado funnels menaced several areas before nightfall but they disappeared without word of any damage. There were twister sightings near Round Rock and Bartlett in the Austin vicinity, and another dissipated as it appeared to be approaching Huntsvile from Richards, 24 miles southwest.

There also was enough turbulence to cause a severe thunderstorm alert for five counties in West Central Texas—Throckmorton, Shackelford, Callahan, Coleman and Brown—as a squall line sprang up along a line linking Breckenridge, Abilene and Bronte. It expired at 4 a.m. without report of any destructive blows.

Flood waters rose into a few homes in at least two areas of Southeast Texas where the downpowers were heaviest.

Near Hemphill, which measured seven inches of rain in 24 hours, a farm levee broke and rescuers helped half a dozen families to safety.

A few houses in low areas were affected as Ayish Bayou surged out of banks at San Augustine after a 4.5-inch deluge.

Water filled the streets at a number of Southeast Texas points and overflowed some highways in or near such places as Beaumont, Lufkin, Nacogdoches, Center, Crockett and Huntsville.

Weather Bureau observers attributed all the rains to a Pacific front stalled along a line from Texarkana to San Angelo and southwestward into the Big Bend country.

MOVING EAST

Thunderstorms dotted areas as far west as San Angelo, Abilene and Mineral Wells as the moisture kept traveling toward the east, continuing into the forenoon over many areas.

Forecasts promised occasional rain with a few thunderstorms through Wednesday for much of North Central and Northeast Texas, and at least scattered showers in all other sections of the state.

Johnson Fencing Over 'Talks' Site

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Johnson said today the United States is in touch with North Vietnam about alternative sites which could be convenient to both sides for preliminary peace talks.

"We are in agreement with our allies," Johnson added, "and are prepared for ambassadorial contacts just as soon as arrangements can be completed."

Johnson spoke to newsmen briefly after a breakfast conference with Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, and other senior advisers at Camp David near this town of 3,000 persons.

Johnson disclosed Monday an official response from Hanoi to his bid for direct contacts to get talks going between the opposing sides in the Vietnam war.

GENEVA

The United States originally proposed Geneva as the place for U.S. and North Vietnamese envoys to get together, while North Vietnam proposed Phom Penh, the capital of Cambodia.

Johnson did not disclose what alternative places the United States had suggested to Hanoi in the new U.S. exchange with North Vietnam.

Bunker, who arrived this morning at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., outside the nation's capital, flew by helicopter to the camp. He was accompanied by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In announcing the meeting Monday, Johnson disclosed the receipt of a formal reply from Hanoi to his expressed willingness to undertake preliminary diplomatic contacts with representatives of that Communist regime.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee, reversing its earlier opposition, today cleared the way for the House to act on the Senate-passed civil rights bill without change.

Opponents of the open housing provision in the bill still plan to try to block the final House vote Wednesday and send the bill instead to a conference with the Senate.

The bill passed a crucial test today, however, and its supporters say they have the votes to prevent further delay and send the bill to the White House by Thursday.

Thousands Outside Church As Funeral Held For King

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—An audience of America's famous said goodbye to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in formal funeral services today while thousands thronged outside.

Senators, governors, civil rights leaders, religious figures and others—all led by Vice President Humphrey, representing the White House—came to Ebenezer Baptist Church.

INVITATION

And as the invitation-only audience of 1,300 persons listened to the quiet, dignified services inside, a crowd estimated by police at 50,000 stood outside for blocks around.

Occasionally they had cheered when such notables as Mrs. John F. Kennedy and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller arrived, being escorted through the pressing crowd by police.

Even as the service continued, State Adjutant General George J. Hearn announced that National Guardsmen from throughout Georgia were being airlifted to the Atlanta area. "We intend to be ready" for trouble, he said, adding that none was expected.

But inside the church the mood was one of solemnity and peace, with only an occasional hint of the world's troubles outside—as one minister prayed that "this country will not be rent asunder by the black masses" in King's name.

WIDOW, CHILDREN

Mrs. King, surrounded by her four children, listened with composure to the services, which included the 23rd Psalm and passages from the New Testament.

It was in Ebenezer, the church that the 39-year-old Nobel Peace prize winner co-pastored with his father, that King was baptized and ordained—a fact pointed out in the services by the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, new head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Long before the service was over, a funeral march had started from the church, its thousands weaving past the State Capitol where the flag waved at half staff.

Later the march would include King's casket, resting on a farm wagon drawn by two Georgia mules. For a time the crowd was so dense that the faded old green mill cart couldn't get to the church.

Locke Bringing Campaign Here

Eugene Locke, regarded as one of the major candidates for governor of Texas in the May Democratic primary, will bring his campaign to Big Spring with a brief visit Wednesday.

His campaign office has announced that Locke will arrive at the Howard County Airport at 1:45 p.m. An open invitation has been issued to all those who want to meet Locke or confer with him to be present at the airport.

Plans call for him to make a brief trip through the business section Wednesday afternoon. He plans to depart Big Spring about 3 p.m.

This will be Locke's first visit here.

DEATH TOLL AT 28; 1,600 INJURED

Large Force Standing Guard

By The Associated Press

Some 61,000 National Guardsmen and Army troops were deployed in the nation's trouble-wracked cities today to curb the spasms of violence that have shaken the urban centers since the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

An additional 1,900 federal troops dispatched to Baltimore Monday helped hold a steadily tightening grip on the city today. Fires and looting diminished but an outbreak of sniping added new worry.

ADD TO LIST

Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes sent some 1,800 guardsmen to Cincinnati and Youngstown as the two cities were added to the growing list of areas hit by racial turmoil.

In Cincinnati a white college teacher was dragged from his car and stabbed to death Monday night at the height of rioting in several Negro sections of the city.

The death brought to 28 the number of known dead in five days of rioting in dozens of cities. All but five of the dead were Negroes. More than 1,600 have been injured and more than 10,000 arrested.

The death toll included 11 in Chicago, 6 in Washington, 5 in Baltimore, 2 in the Detroit area and one each in Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Memphis and Tallahassee, Fla.

Relative calm existed today in Chicago, Pittsburgh and Washington with heavy troop patrols enforcing the uneasy peace. Arrests for curfew violations soared in the nation's capital.

The nationwide deployment of 61,000 troops was apparently the largest such force ever turned out for a civil emergency in the United States.

Baltimore police said they had confirmed five separate sniping incidents Monday night at locations around the heart of the city. No one was hit. It was the first outbreak since the start of burning and looting Sunday.

The additional troops raised to 10,000 the military force occupying the city and Lt. Gen. Robert H. York ordered rigid enforcement of a 4 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew.

The number of arrests rose rapidly, passing 3,600 for the duration of the disturbances. Authorities contended the peak had been reached in the violence with Mayor Thomas D'Apesandro saying, "We're over the hump. I'm encouraged."

A state of emergency remained in effect in Wilmington, Del., today after a night of sniping, firebombing and looting in a Negro neighborhood. Twelve persons were injured, one seriously.

City police controlled the situation but there were 50 state policemen and 1,200 National Guardsmen standing by to aid them if needed. Minor trouble broke out about noon then erupted full scale at night.

FLURRY

In Youngstown some 400 National Guardsmen and police patrolled three sections after a brief flurry of gunfire and firebombings that left three men wounded, including two policemen.

Racial violence also was reported Monday night in Benton Harbor, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids and Lansing, Mich.; Trenton, N.J.; Jacksonville and Pompano Beach, Fla.; St. Louis, Mo.; East St. Louis, Ill.; Gallatin, Tenn.; Brooklyn, Uniondale, North Merrick and New Cassel, N.Y.

Buffalo, N.Y., appeared calm after a night of sporadic destruction by hundreds of Negroes. The disorder broke out Monday following a peaceful march.

Riot Report

By The Associated Press

WILMINGTON, Del.—A state of emergency remains in effect following a night of looting, firebombing and sniping in a Negro section.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio—Teams of police and 400 National Guardsmen patrol after a nighttime flurry of gunfire wounds three, including two policemen.

WASHINGTON—Arrests on curfew violations soar as 14,000 federal troops guard against fresh disturbances in the Negro slums.

PITTSBURGH — Authorities order 1,000 more National Guardsmen to augment the 3,000 already in the city enforcing the peace after renewed violence.

CHICAGO—A second day of peace with heavy police, guard and troop patrols.

Allied Operations Near Saigon Ends

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the end of five Allied operations in the provinces around Saigon and said 3,336 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed. Meanwhile, the war slipped into another of its period lulls amid peace maneuvers by Washington and Hanoi.

REDS REGROUP?

The Communist command may be regrouping and refitting its troops or waiting to see what comes of the peace moves. But senior U.S. officers said they saw no signs that the enemy command was de-escalating.

These officers said the termination of the five Allied operations also did not necessarily mean a de-escalation by the allies.

"From time to time we close out and begin new operations," one senior officer on Gen. William C. Westmoreland's staff said.

In the five operations, some of them begun last year and others launched as recently as a month ago, 183 Americans were killed and 1,358 wounded, the U.S. Command said, while South Vietnamese, Australian and Thai troops suffered light casualties.

Among the operations was the biggest Allied offensive of the war—Quyet Thang, or Resolved to Win, in which some 50,000 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops combed the jungles and villages in five provinces around Saigon to prevent a renewal of the Tet offensive against the capital.

CASUALTIES

The operation accomplished that, but most of the more than 13,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops that had been reported in the area eluded the searching force. U.S. headquarters said 2,658 enemy were killed in the month-long operation and 994 weapons were captured.

Reported Allied casualties were 105 Americans and 193 South Vietnamese killed, and 922 Americans and 472 South Vietnamese wounded.

Only small-scale skirmishing was reported around the Marine fortress of Khe Sanh, in South Vietnam's northwest corner. The Leathernecks roamed the area around the base, looking for North Vietnamese, while elements of the Army's 1st Air Cavalry Division took over the bunkers which had sheltered the Marines during their 77-day siege.

SEVEN RAIDS

U.S. B52 bombers flew seven raids Monday night and this morning, six of them against suspected North Vietnamese troop concentrations, truck parks, bunkers and gun positions in South Vietnam's Ashau Valley. The seventh raid dumped bombs 14 miles southwest of Hue, not too far from the valley, which lies along the Laotian border.

B52 strikes in the Ashau sector for the last four days suggested that either a new allied ground thrust was in the offing there or a new North Vietnamese buildup had been detected.

Receives 50-Year Pin

A. D. Brown, left, Ackerly, recently was presented a pin by J. Clay Trashe, grandmaster of the AF&AM in Oklahoma, for 50 years' membership as a Mason. Brown, who was accompanied to Frederick, Okla., for the ceremonies by his wife and by his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Shelby G. Read, was accepted by the Davidson Lodge No. 320 Dec. 27, 1917, and took his fellowcraft work April 9, 1918, and his master Mason degree Aug. 3, 1918. The Davidson Lodge was consolidated Dec. 6, 1966, with the Frederick Lodge No. 240.

Southern California, Nevada Residents Jolted By Quake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California and parts of Nevada rode out Monday night a potentially damaging earthquake that apparently centered in the sparsely populated San Diego Mountains.

The shocks jolted in varying degrees all of Southern California's 10 million residents and were felt in and beyond Las Vegas, Nev., and on the borders with Arizona and Mexico.

BUILDINGS SWAY

Tall buildings swayed in Los Angeles, power poles toppled in scattered locations and lights at Mexicali, Mexico, went out.

Seismographers in California elsewhere recorded the worst shock variously between 6 and 7.25 on the Richter scale. The devastating San Francisco earthquake of 1906 hit 8.25.

Seismologist Charles Richter, who devised the quake scale, placed the shocks' center between San Diego and California's Imperial Valley, east of San Diego.

ROCK SLIDE

Richter said the first quake hit at 6:28 p.m., followed by the sharpest shock a minute later. Lighter aftershocks were reported more than a half hour later.

The duration of the sharpest quake was reported from 20 seconds to more than one minute.

A rock slide covered California 74 between Palm Desert and Idyllwild, temporarily closing the road.

Lights were out for seven minutes in Imperial County and telephones were dead throughout the big Imperial Valley, officials said. A brick wall reportedly crumbled in Imperial County.

IN RIOTS' WAKE

W. Texans Stiffen Opposition To Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. — West Texas congressmen grimly stiffened opposition to the civil rights bill today in the wake of fires, looting and rioting which had hit the Capitol Saturday. They were in no mood to be pressured by House leadership in the wake of events arising from the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, civil rights leader.

BURLESON

Rep. Omar Burleson of the 17th District said he did not plan to hear the President's message, which he contended would be a pressure speech to take the civil rights bill or leave it.

"Tragic as all this business is, it doesn't change my mind one iota on the rights bill. If I were for it, which I am not, I wouldn't act on the bill under this kind of duress," said Burleson, adding that acceptance of the Senate bill without debate would be "taking a pig in the poke."

Rep. O. C. Fisher, San Angelo, said "no sensible relationship exists between passage of the bill and the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr." Violence cannot be taken as a sympathetic reaction to the killing of King, but "was an excuse for thousands of Negro thugs and hoodlums to burn and steal rather than to work for a living," he said.

Rep. George Mahon, Lubbock, cautioned again about a vast outpouring of federal funds as an answer to all problems. He had sounded this view in reacting to the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

"Greater emphasis must be placed on the maintenance of law and order," he said. "No progress can be made in an atmosphere of chaos." He also noted that international pressure against the dollar dictated fiscal restraint.

Rep. Bob Price, Pampa, lone Republican member from West Texas, said he regarded the open housing section as violating a constitutional principle that allows a person to own and dispose of property as he sees fit.

NO STAMPEDE

"I am not going to be stampeded into relinquishing this right to appease the lawlessness that has taken place in this country," he observed.

Rep. Richard C. White, El Paso, said he would reach his decision on the bill when it gets to the House floor, but that he did not "intend to make an emotional decision. He called for strong law enforcement measures and "equal application of the law to stem any new outbreak of violence."

Ballinger Firm Awarded Levy Job

By perhaps the narrowest margin of any contracts in the 17 year history of its operations, the Colorado River Municipal Water District today awarded a levee construction job to Lyles and Lyles of Ballinger.

The bid for construction of a 75,000-foot long earthen levee in a horseshoe bend of the Colorado River just above Colorado City was for $339,935.24. This was less than $75 below the $340,010 bid by Luce Construction Company and Heber-Brantley Co. of Vernon. The other six bids ranged up to a top of $613,345.

The structure is to impound a side storage of mineralized water to be taken from the low and flush flows of the Colorado River. It involves about three-quarters of a million yards of dirt.

Earlier the district awarded bids for lift pumps, but the clear well into which waters of the river will be drawn and the motors and pump controls will be contracted later as will a five-foot channel dam across the river.

Only routine business otherwise occupied the board. O. H. Ivie, general manager, said that progress on the various projects was being made satisfactorily. A request by the Midland Country Club for water from the district's main supply line was referred to the City of Midland.

Town Plays It Real Safe

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — This mountain town snuggled near President Johnson's Camp David retreat can't keep up with the nation's capital in headline-provoking violence. But it has a curfew.

"Probably the main reason," explained Mayor C. Ray Weddle Jr., "was that we figured we were going to try to stop trouble before any arrived."

Thurmont—population about 3,000—has no Negro residents and no history of rioting, Weddle acknowledged. But he said some troublemakers reportedly had moved down from New York and Pennsylvania into Frederick, Md., 17 miles away.

So along with Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Chicago and some other major population centers, Thurmont cracked down with a dusk-to-dawn curfew and was well pacified by the time a throng of White House correspondents descended to cover the presidential visit.

The mayor said the ban was first ordered Sunday, before it was known Johnson would arrive at Camp David from riot-hit Washington, where a curfew has been in effect five days.

Midland Firm Stakes Wildcat

HMH Operators, Midland, have staked the No. 1 J. L. Overton as a Glasscock County wildcat location 16 miles north of Garden City.

Operator is to drill to 2,500 feet to test the Seven Rivers, Queen, Grayburg and San Andres fields.

Location is 467 feet from the south and east lines of section 25-33-2s, T&P survey, and 11½ miles southeast of the Howard-Glasscock multi-pay region.

Licensing Age Is 17 Years

Youngsters who are 17 and believe they do not need a state fishing or hunting license are in error, according to K. W. Lunsford, state game ranger stationed here.

Lunsford said a great many persons think that 18 years of age is the earliest a person must have a fishing or hunting permit. The law says 17 years, Lunsford points out.

He pointed out that hunting and fishing licenses are important and should be on the sportsman's person at all times he is in the field.

Under Texas law, he said, a person can fish without a license within the confines of his own home country, provided he fishes with a cane pole on which no reel or winding device is attached. If the fisherman angles outside of his own county, he must have a current year's license.

And the age he must have such license is 17 — not 18 — years.

Stereo Stolen

Troy Fraser, Coahoma, reported to police Monday that car stereo and tape valued at $100 was taken from his locked car between 7-8:30 p.m. Monday while it was parked at the YMCA.

2-Year Hitch Announced

A chance to enlist in the Regular Army for two years, instead of the usual three - year "hitch," is part of a new enlistment opportunity announced today by SFC Joe A. Welch, local U.S. Army recruiter.

Expansion of the Regular Army enlistment program is designed to permit young men to choose a two-year enlistment in order to satisfy their military obligation.

In order to be eligible for the special enlistment program, applicants must be between 18½ and 26 years old, registered with Selective Service, but have not yet received orders to report for induction. Applicants also must meet the required mental and physical standards, Sgt. Welch said.

While three-year enlistees are permitted to have only one dependent, there is no restriction on the number of dependents a two-year volunteer may have.

Young men interested in the two-year enlistment program may contact Sgt. Welch for full details. He also has information on other programs which permits individuals to choose their training and receive a written guarantee of acceptance before enlistment.

Sgt. Welch may be contacted at the U.S. Army Recruiting Station, Big Spring, telephone 267-8940 or 263-2892.

Peak Tornado Season Is Near

AUSTIN — C. O. Layne, state coordinator of Defense and Disaster Relief for the Texas Department of Public Safety, reminded Texans today that the peak tornado season is approaching.

"Statistics from the United States Weather Bureau's State Climatologist indicate that Texas again led the nation in total tornadoes last year, with an all-time record of 232, Layne said.

A circular of tornado safety rules has been prepared by the Department of Public Safety and is available through local city and county Civil Defense directors.

Sooner Protests Bid By Wallace

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An official protest to the presidential candidacy of former Alabama Gov. Wallace was filed Monday with Secretary of State John Rogers.

Rogers set a hearing for April 15.

The secretary said he believed Wallace's American Party has complied with state law and he knows of no legal reason for refusing to place the party on Oklahoma's ballot.

Wallace supporters have filed a petition bearing 23,519 signatures to have the party recognized in Oklahoma.

The protest was filed Monday by state Rep. Archibald Hill.

Hill, one of four Negroes in the legislature, said he plans to help circulate a petition protesting Wallace's candidacy for president. He predicted riots "if Wallace comes to Oklahoma."

"The only reason we haven't had any riots," Hill asserted, "is that we haven't had any extremists—black or white—coming in here and preaching hate. This man will come in here and preach hate."

Reuel Little, a Madill oilman and chairman of the Oklahoma movement for Wallace, declared Wallace "has never been associated with any violence that I know of."

The bill, amended sharply by the House last week, now goes back to the Senate for consideration of changes.

DEATHS

Dr. David Hunt, Rites Wednesday

Funeral rites for Dr. David G. Hunt, 40, president of Galveston Community College and brother of Dr. W. A. Hunt of Big Spring, will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Moody Memorial Methodist Church in Galveston. Bishop Lance Webb, Springfield, Ill., his brother-in-law, will officiate.

Graveside rites will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in Abilene where he will be buried beside the grave of his father, Dr. J. W. Hunt, founder of McMurry, and his mother.

Dr. Hunt, who had fought a battle with cancer for several years, died unexpectedly of a stroke about 8 a.m. Monday. While he had been critically ill a fortnight ago, he had been feeling better and had attended church Sunday night. Last week he was at the Texas Association of Junior College meet in Austin.

Born Oct. 4, 1927, in Abilene, he was a 1944 graduate of Abilene High School and a 1948 graduate of McMurry College. He served in the U.S. Naval Air Corps (V-5) 1945-46 and did classified duty for the Army from 1952-54. In the meantime, he had taken his master's degree in history in 1950 at SMU. That same year he joined the staff of Greenhill High School in Dallas and in 1956 was made its assistant director. The following year he qualified in secondary administration with the Texas Education Agency.

It also was in 1958 that he joined the faculty of Odessa Junior College, and the following year he was named chairman of social studies. Taking a Kellogg fellowship in 1960 at the University of Texas, he earned his Ph.D. degree in college administration in 1962.

He served as program development director for the junior college division for TEA for a time, then in 1964 became director of higher education for the college facilities act in Texas. Less than two years later he was elected to be the first president of the newly created Galveston college.

Surviving are his wife, Gloria Martin Hunt; twin sons, Richard and Robert, 12, and a daughter, Carolyn Kay, 8; two sisters, Mrs. Lance Webb, Springfield, Ill., and Mrs. R. J. Jones, Abilene; two brothers, J. W. Hunt, Odessa, and Dr. W. A. Hunt, Big Spring, president of Howard County Junior College.

'Lifer' Stabs Self In Front Of Tulsa Jurors

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A Tulsa man stabbed himself Monday night in front of a district court jury that had just sentenced him to life in prison.

James Alfred Rochford, 32, was reported in serious condition. He stabbed himself in the right side with a two-inch blade of a small knife.

Rochford, charged with the 1961 murder of his wife, Joann, sat quietly through the trial until the verdict was announced.

He then produced the knife groaned and pitched forward onto the floor near the defense table.

Rochford had claimed he was innocent because of insanity. He had confessed to the shooting death of his wife, 23, in 1961 and had spent six years in Eastern State Hospital.

He was released from the hospital last December, after officials judged him sane.

Sunrise Service Site In Case Of Bad Weather

In case of inclement weather on Easter Sunday, the annual community Easter sunrise service will be held in the First Baptist Church, 701 Marcy, for the convenience of area residents.

The First Baptist Church has been named in years past as the location in case of bad weather because of its large sanctuary and its nearness to the City Amphitheater, where the service is planned.

Dr. Lance Webb, bishop of the Methodist Chruch from Springfield, Ill., will be the featured speaker, and a number of local residents will have parts in the program, which will begin with a trumpet call at sunrise, 6:19 a.m.

A color guard from Webb AFB, comprised of Airman 1.C. Frank D. Harper, Sgt. Louie J. Hunt Jr., Airman 1.C. David W. Gardner and Airman Michael P. Brown will present the colors.

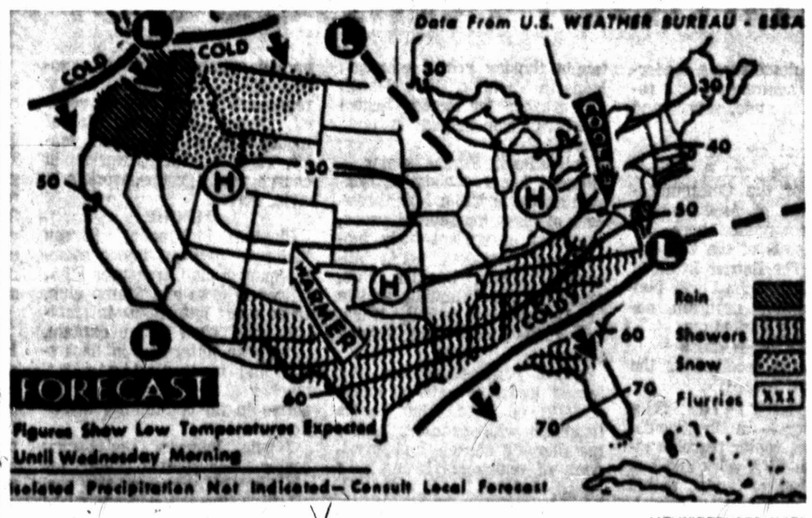

Rev. Homer Rich, pastor of the First Assembly of God and outgoing president of the Big Spring Pastors' Association, will give the call to worship. Dr. Milton Talbot, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor Arnold Marshall will word the Scripture reading.

The high school band, under the direction of Bill Bradley, will play several selections, and the combined choirs of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College, led by Kenny Sheppard, will present "Easter Anthem."

Rev. John Beard, pastor of the First Christian Church, will offer the benedictions, and there will also be congregational singing.

The Big Spring Garden Club Council, other Garden Clubs in Big Spring and Mrs. O. S. Womack have been instrumental in decorating the amphitheater with spring greenery and other finery for the occasion.

Last year's observance was highlighted by several Big Spring ministers recalling their experiences in the Holy Land.

Honor King

A huge crowd fills the square in front of Memphis' city hall during a mass march Monday in honor of Martin Luther King Jr., who was killed last Thursday.

Memphis Marchers Turn Out 19,000 Strong Monday

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Some 19,000 marchers came from many places to parade silently along Main Street Monday to honor Martin Luther King. They stood under overcast skies on the plaza in front of the new city hall and heard his widow challenge in slow tones to "see that his spirit never dies."

And they heard the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, King's close friend and successor, promise to return to Memphis with Mrs. King to help the garbage strikers whose plight had first drawn King to the city.

"It was a beautiful march," said a young lady Monday as she returned along streets strewn with posters reading "Honor Dr. King, End Racism." Police estimated 19,000 marchers.

Eight abreast, the slow procession wound from the littered streets near Clayborn Temple, deep in the Negro slum area, past the smashed windows of Beale Street, testimony to the violent end of King's last march the week before, and into the modern, marble world of downtown Memphis.

A portion of the 5,000 National Guardsmen quartered here guarded the march route, some in the turrets of M-48 tanks, the first time such vehicles have been used to keep the peace in Memphis.

"How many men must die before we can really have a free and true and peaceful society? How long will it take?" asked Mrs. King from the speaker's platform at City Hall.

"My husband was a loving man, a man who was completely dedicated to nonviolence," she said. "We want to carry on the best we can in the tradition which we feel he would want us to carry on. . .

"We must carry on, because this is the way he would have wanted it."

Negotiations over the seven-week-old garbage strike, where union recognition is a key factor, were recessed Tuesday to permit both sides to attend King's funeral in Atlanta, his home.

Mrs. King, top SCLC staff members and close family friends returned to Atlanta by chartered plane for funeral services today.

Officials Admit Racial Violence

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Officials at the Camp Gary Job Corps Center said Monday there has been violence "definitely along racial lines" but that rumors have been the biggest trouble since the death of Dr. Martin Luther King.

The statements came after a McAllen youth told San Antonio officers he had run away from the center because of widespread racial trouble including knifings, beatings and a rumor of a hanging.

NO BIG RUMBLE

The youth, Jose Angel Avila, 16, told the San Antonio officers he fled because "all the Negroes were after the Mexican-Americans and Anglos."

Col. Louis Button, the Camp Gary public relations director, said there has been violence "definitely along racial lines" at the center during the past few days but said that Avila's account was "very exaggerated."

"I am not denying that we have problems, but I think his story is all out of proportion," said Button. "All that it was was just a few fist fights. No knifings, no hangings and no big rumble."

Dr. O. J. Baker, executive director of the center, said that rumors have been the biggest problem.

FOUR INCIDENTS

"There is an uneasy atmosphere here just as there is in other towns and cities across the nation but we have had only isolated incidents of trouble involving a very small number of corpsmen," Baker said.

"Rumors of stabbings and rioting at the Gary Center are so far without foundation," he said.

A check of staff and hospital reports by a newsman from Radio Station KCNY in San Marcos showed four incidents since the assassination of Dr. King last Thursday.

Two corpsmen have been hospitalized, one for an elbow injury and one for facial bruises and cuts resulting from a fight.

Gary has an enrollment of 3,000 men. Approximately 57 per cent are Negro, 23 per cent Latin-American and 20 per cent Anglo-American, Baker said.

Black Power Activist Rap Brown Back In Jail

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Black power activist Rap Brown was in jail today after losing another round in a battle with the federal courts.

Brown appeared Monday before U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Merhige in a bail-bond hearing that left Brown on no better legal ground than he was at the onset.

Lawyers William Kunstler and Philip Hirschkop argued that revocation and forfeiture of the bail bond was beyond Merhige's authority.

FUGITIVE WARRANT

Reno Harp, assistant Virginia attorney general, noted that Merhige had granted bail while Brown was fighting extradition to Maryland and then when Brown violated terms of the bond the court had the authority to order forfeiture and remand him to custody.

The extradition hearing had followed Brown's arrest in Virginia on a fugitive warrant from Maryland where he was charged with inciting to riot and to commit arson following a racial conflagration at Cambridge.

Merhige upheld the contention of the State of Virginia that Brown was subject to bail revocation and forfeiture of a $10,000 bond because he traveled beyond the geograpical limits laid down by Merhige last September.

MUST BE OBEYED

The 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals already has agreed to hear appeals on the bail revocation and the habeas corpus proceedings.

Merhige refused to be rushed during Monday's hearing and said he wouldn't free Brown merely in the interest of racial harmony.

"The law must be obeyed," the judge said. "I'm not going to be bullied by kooks on one side or the other."

Network Execs Snip Free-Wheeling Gags

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It may have escaped general notice, but Monday night's "Rowan and Martin Laugh-in" on NBC was a little shorter than usual.

Network executives had snipped out about 3½ minutes from the tape—a couple of gags and a comedy sketch. Between the time the show was shot and the time it was broadcast, they had ceased to be funny.

RACIAL JOKE

The excised skit had impressionist John Byner playing King George IV but speaking in an unmistakable Texas accent about "the colonies," in obvious reference to Vietnam. One of the ommitted lines had comedian Flip Wilson making a joke referring to racial differences.

The program was made three or four weeks ago, before President Johnson announced he would not seek re-election, before Hanoi responded to peace overtures and before the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"The program had the approval of our continuity acceptance people," said a network executive. "The omissions were made in the light of events in the name of good taste."

NOT FUNNY

Action had been taken quickly too about Sunday night's "Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour" on CBS. A year-old Easter program was substituted for the scheduled show because the latter—a rerun of a more recent program—contained a sketch with pointed, satiric racial references that under the circumstances would not have been funny.

This has been a season when topical comment, often tart and sometimes bitter, has attracted special attention to some variety programs. The onrushing events of the past nine days have not only demonstrated the extreme fragility of topical humor but caused some network executives to wonder if it is wise to use much of it.

One high executive predicted that there would certainly be some "serious rethinking" about the free-wheeling gags that have enlivened some programs and startled some viewers.

Minor Wrecks Investigated

Three minor accidents were reported to police Monday.

At 1904 E. 25th, the parked cars of Lt. Guy D. Ogan and Lt. Charles Dennison, of that address, were involved in a mishap with a car which left the scene. The accident occurred Saturday.

At the City Amphitheater Monday, Benny R. Kilgore, Box 445, who was driving a 1967 model truck owned by the City of Big Spring, backed into a utility pole.

Richard Lee Patterson, 407 Edwards, and Russell Ray Kennedy, 504 E. 17th, were involved in an accident at Ninth and Scurry.

Awards Made

Joe Price, E. H. Phillips and Al Trent received awards in the Easter program sponsored by the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Monday.

Price received an Easter bonnet; Phillips, a gift certificate; and Trent, an Easter corsage. Mrs. Joe Horton was in charge of the program, assisted by Mrs. T. A. Harris.

C-City Budget Given Okay

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Council Monday approved a $442,342 budget for the new fiscal year, an increase of $3,259 above the current year budget.

City Manager J. A. Sadler said the property tax rate is reduced by five cents, as pledged when voters okayed the sales tax last December. The new rate is $1.60 per $100 valuation, based on 45 per cent of actual value.

The budget also includes an incentive plan for employes, giving them $1 per month for each year of service, after the initial five years.

The council took no action, after City Attorney John Worrell said the city cannot legally pay membership in the chamber of commerce.

In other action, a cleanup campaign was announced to begin April 29; the city's lake park was named J. F. Merritt Park, for the former city manager; Dr. John Chinn was re-elected mayor, and Skeet Harkins was named mayor pro tem.

A Devotional For The Day

The teachers of the Law and the chief priests tried to arrest Jesus on the spot, . . . but they were afraid of the people. Luke 20:19, TEV)

PRAYER: O God, deliver us from craftiness of mind that seeks to destroy what is good and redemptive. Purify the desires of our hearts that we may not sin against Thee in our thinking and doing. In the Savior's name we ask these things. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

We Couldn't Lose

One suggestion that has come from the Chamber of Commerce committee concerning itself with a more attractive Big Spring is that efforts be beamed toward designation as an All-American city.

This involves a lot more than a periodic cleanup. But the city has several notable projects under way, several of them a logical extension of Operation Sparkle, which earned the city a top spot in its population classification, in the recent West Texas Chamber of Commerce contest.

Why not try to become an All-American city? We couldn't do anything but win, regardless of whether we earned a designation. Perhaps the mapping of specific targets and goals will stimulate us to action and help us involve every geographical segment of our city.

To The Victor — The Problem

Security is now, as it has been in the past and will be in the foreseeable future, the chief preoccupation of Israel. Born in violence, even as the United States, the Israeli nation seems destined to live in violence with its Arab neighbors.

Within the leadership of the nation, though, considerable thought is already being given to a two-part dilemma: (1) How can the security of Israel be maintained without holding a substantial part, if not all, of the Sinai Peninsula and at least a part of Jordan, including the Golan Heights which command Jerusalem? Yet (2) how can the Jews maintain their identity in a larger Israel which seems almost certain to become predominantly Arab?

As far as the first part of the dilemma is concerned, Arabs insist that Israeli-occupied territories must be returned to Egypt and Jordan. In the absence of any peace, with mounting waves of sabotage, subversion and terror, the Jews know as well as any people the difficulty of coping with an underground movement. It was the work of the Jewish underground which made possible the creation of a Jewish state.

The second part of the dilemma is a potential source of great anguish. For what would it avail the Jewish people to create a nation, only to have it submerged by multiplying Arabs in their midst? It is not inconceivable that Arabs, as with Chinese, can absorb any conquerors in the long view of history.

At the moment Israel is too busy defending itself to spend much time contemplating long-range dilemmas. Yet they are there. Someday they will arise to haunt the Jewish people.

Cowboys' Special Feast

Back in the old days when folk ate food because they liked the taste of it and did not worry too much over vitamin content, calories, and minerals, I used to enjoy watching cowboys visit the crossroad stores which dotted these parts.

NEARLY EVERY little store counted on the custom of the cowboys and catered to their needs.

These stores sold nearly every simple item imaginable. They dispensed clothing, shoes, boots, nails, lard, bacon, horseshoes, beans, patent medicines, horse liniment, and canned goods, among other items.

It was the rule for each storekeeper to allot a segment of his grocery counter — usually at the far rear of the store — to the purpose of furnishing his cowboy visitors a place to eat.

THE MENUS on the ranches or fence line camps were anything but extensive. Bacon, beans, coffee, sourdough bread, potatoes and onions generally made up the pantry list.

So when the puncher came to town —which was to say, to the general store — if he had the funds, he enjoyed splurging for a special banquet.

The space at the rear counter was usually covered with wrapping paper, generally spotted with grease and never quite clean. On the paper was a cancutter, a couple of tin spoons, a fork or two, a pair of knives and several granite-ware bowls.

THE HUNGRY visitor craved special foods — like a can of sardines, or perhaps a can of salmon. Since beans were staple food, and he was so used to them, he usually would order a can of these. A box of crackers and a slab of rat-trap cheese helped to boost the sumptiousness of the feast.

The diner was free to make use of the counter with its spotted paper cover, the granite bowls which he sometimes bothered to rinse out at the waterbucket. He was also welcome to the cancutter and the "silverware."

The bowls were not needed very often since the diner was prone to scoop his food directly from the can rather than dish it out in delicate portions into a serving dish.

I DO NOT remember ever seeing one of these patrons bother to wash the knives or forks or the spoons. Apparently, he was not concerned over who had made use of them last, or who would use them next.

When he had waded solemnly through his salmon, the beans, the can of sardines, the crackers and cheese, it was time for the crowning feature of his meal — dessert.

Cowboys favored canned peaches, and, when they were available, green gauge plums. Here again the can served as the serving bowl and the spoon, which had just worked its way through the beans, was called back into duty.

A COUPLE of swigs from the store waterbucket making use of the communal dipper, and the diner had really left satisfied as if he had been at a banquet.

Sometimes, he seemed to feel that he needed just one more special luxury. He would gather up the stray crackers left from his meal and buy a big sack of lemon stick candy. He would depart the scene munching happily on the candy and following each bite with a mouthful of crackers.

King And Gandhi

WASHINGTON — In a violent world Martin Luther King Jr., the apostle of nonviolence, died as did his hero and exemplar, Mahatma Gandhi.

Gandhi was assassinated by a Moslem fanatic in 1948 as Indian independence had grown out of the Mahatma's campaign of massive civil disobedience. When King visited India in 1959, fulfilling a lifelong dream, he stood for many minutes in silent prayer before the national shrine marking the spot in New Delhi where Gandhi was struck down.

IT WAS A poignant meeting between East and West. The course of events in this country since King became a national leader underscores the profound and ironic difference between civil disobedience in the Indian subcontinent and civil disobedience in the United States.

A handful of whites in colonial India were the target of Gandhi's sitins. The whites were lost in a vast sea of brown people who could bring the country to a standstill. Here at home, and this is a bitter truth that at times King seemed to acknowledge, the blacks are a small minority surrounded by a ruling white majority constituting at least 80 per cent of the population. Whether in view of this overwhelming fact civil disobedience is workable lever for peaceful change was a question troubling King's latter years.

THE STRUGGLE to hold his leadership against the loud demands of black power advocates, some of whom were openly calling for violent overthrow of the white power structure, was the tragedy of the last phase of King's career. The climax had come with the civil rights march on Aug. 28, 1963. From the steps of the Lincoln Memorial King addressed 250,000 marchers, 60,000 whites among them. His "I have a dream" called on the Bible, the Constitution, the national anthem to unite all people in peace and freedom.

THEREAFTER HE confronted the unyielding face of the power structure, and the dream, as he seemed to say in his last speech on Wednesday night in Memphis, was obscured by the tragic fate of the dreamer. King had complained that FBI agents, themselves white Southerners, failed to protect civil rights workers striving to implement Federal statutes guaranteeing voting rights to all citizens.

IN CHICAGO'S vast and squalid slums King sought to establish a new movement patterned somewhat on the successes he had had in the South. Peaceful demonstrations and Operation Breadbasket, intended to bring the economic pressure of the Negro to bear to obtain jobs, were organized.

He wanted to believe that a transformation was possible with broad support from the ghetto dwellers. But he had reckoned without the highly organized youth gangs that were not about to surrender their power to an outsider and one whom many Negroes derided with the ultimate scorn of Uncle Tom.

HE WAS DISCOVERING, too, that the ghetto was ringed around with white communities of varying ethnic origin bitterly resenting and hating the Negro. Within the ghetto Mayor Richard Daley's police were geared to suppress the first sign of disorder with mass arrests and the arrested held in jail for months or weeks with high bail.

KING'S HERO-MARTYR, Gandhi, died from an assassin's bullet with the belief that he had achieved a peaceful transition from colonial authority to independence. There followed after the partition of the subcontinent one of the most terrible blood baths in history, with Hindus and Moslems engaged in a slaughter taking a million to a million and half lives. In his last months King can hardly have had the illusion that Gandhi cherished.

Billy Graham

I have been a Christian for many years, but I am concerned because as far as I know, I have never directly led a person to Christ. I am a teacher in Sunday school, and perhaps my gifts are along this line, rather than personal work. L.F.

If you have taught the Gospel of Christ through the years, how can you be sure you have never led a person to Christ? You cannot know the impressions you have made upon your class, and the indirect influence you have had for Him. If you are a true servant of Christ, I dare say your life has been fruitful, though you may not be aware of it.

Three thousand people were added to the church on the day of Pentecost. Peter preached the sermon, but backing him up were 120 people filled with the Spirit of God. Could one really say that these were all Peter's converts? In reality, they were God's, as are all true converts. Paul wrote to the Corinthians saying, "I have planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the increase." Regardless of the human instrument, it is God who gives the increase. You have faithfully taught the Word, and your pastor has preached it, but if any have been brought to Christ, it is the work of God through you and your pastor.

Of course I believe we all should be more outspoken for Christ, and bear witness for Him. But, sometimes an indirect witness is as fruitful as the direct. The main thing for you to do is to be faithful in the circle of responsibility where the Lord has put you.

Church Going Made Easy

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Twelve Carlsbad churches, representing virtually all denominations, have prepared a "church map" of this southeastern New Mexico community of nearly 25,000 persons. The churches, and their locations, are listed on the map.

Dr. John Carpenter of the First Methodist Church said the maps will be distributed by motels and restaurants "as a service to the traveling public."

The Fine Art Of Girl Watching

NEW YORK (AP) — Girl watching has always been a major industry in the American business office, but the arrival of the miniskirt turned it into a fine art.

You can tell a person's character—or lack of it—by the way he gazes at the gams that pass his desk during what is referred to, sometimes laughingly, as the work day.

SOMETIMES he will demonstrate more real acting skill than goes into the winning of the average Motion Picture Academy Award.

If you look around your own office, you may note some of the following familiar types of miniskirt viewers:

THE GLUTTON—This guy ogles any femme that moves—young or old, tall or short, fat or slim. "Oh boy, oh boy, oh boy," he keeps gurgling. His day would be made if even Lassie sauntered by in a miniskirt.

HAMLET—To look or not to look, that is the question with the old-maidish office bachelor. He knows he wants to but thinks he shouldn't. By the time he settles this soul-searing issue by taking a look, the girl is just disappearing through the door. For the next hour and a half he sits and silently broods in disappointment.

THE CONNOISSEUR—"I can't be bothered with run-of-the-mill views," he says. He refuses to become interested unless the girl meets his exact specifications—blonde, aged between 19 and 24, wearing pale violet fishnet hose and a miniskirt at least seven or more inches above her kneecap. Then he closes one eye, puts a magnifying monocle in the other eye, and nods in calm artistic approval.

THE OLD-TIMER—"Too much is too much," he remarks reminiscently. "These miniskirts have turned the office into a public beach. It was more fun in the old days when the girls left more to a fellow's imagination.

THE BORN LOSER — Joe is near-sighted. "Boy, here comes a real beauty," whispers the fellow at the next desk. "Where? Where? Where?" asks Joe desperately. By the time he switches to the right pair of glasses and focuses in, the girl has turned a corner and gone.

THE PEEKER—Roscoe prefers the worm's eye view. Whenever a miniskirt looms on the horizon, he pretends to drop something on the floor, so he can bend over and glance up. "Just as I thought—she's wearing her cerise garters," he announces later to an all-male audience in the washroom.

THE PURITAN — He can't help staring at the girls, but it bothers his conscience terribly. After looking at three miniskirts in a row, his guilt bothers him so much he phones his wife and says, "Darling, I love you, I love you, I love you. I think about you all day long."

THE ROVER—To Rodney the grass is always greener in the other pasture. "The birds in our office are all dogs," he declares. So, when there are no executives in sight, he moves his swivel chair to the window, takes a pair of binoculars out of his desk, and stares at the girls in the skyscraper across the way.

MR. BIG HIMSELF—The boss thinks the new girl in the stenographic pool is wearing a miniskirt that is simply too scanty to fit office standards of propriety. "Twice last month I called her in to bawl her out or fire her," he tells a pal at lunch. "But, heck, after all, I'm a leg man at heart myself. Each time I just sent her back to her typewriter with a $2.50 merit raise."

Tax Hike Pressure Builds

WASHINGTON (AP) — National and world conditions seem to be creating a more favorable atmosphere in Congress for a tax increase.

The economy, the Vietnam war, the balance-of-payments deficit and the gold crisis have already been cited by government experts to back their appeal for adoption of the 10 per cent tax surcharge.

NOW, RACIAL violence has swept American cities and is expected to produce a new presidential call for help to the Negro slums. This could increase pressure for higher taxes, at least indirectly.

There has been speculation that to pay for slum programs, President Johnson could ask for a surcharge in excess of the 10 per cent he requested last August, but government sources see little chance of this.

The administration, however, has already said that conditions before the racial violence required a tax increase of at least 10 per cent.

OFFICIALS SAID the violence is likely to have a greater direct impact on congressional efforts to cut spending in programs affecting the Negro.

In submitting his budget to Congress last January, President Johnson singled out six selected areas for spending increases—manpower training, model cities, programs to control the rising crime rate, family planning and health care for mothers and infants, air and water pollution control, and education.

SOME KEY members of Congress have suggested holding spending in the next fiscal year to the current level, thus negating any increase in these programs.

How Much Caffeine In A Cup Of Coffee?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told that if one drinks more than four grains of caffeine one may suffer ill effects.

How much caffeine (grains) is there in a cup of coffee? A cup of tea? Cola drinks? Et al.? — J. L. E.

There's a whale of a difference between "may" and "will" and, for most of us, that four-grain figure doesn't make much sense.

A cup of coffee — let's take a cup containing five fluid ounces — will contain 18 milligrams of caffeine per ounce, or about 1½ to 2 grains per cup. This depends on the strength of the brew and, naturally, the size of the cup.

Tea runs about the same — again depending on how strongly it is brewed.

Therefore, four grains of caffeine would represent somewhere between two and three cups of ordinary coffee, and that amount is not likely to cause any trouble for most of us.

The cola drinks range from 3 to 4.6 milligrams of caffeine per ounce of liquid, or one-sixth to one-fourth the strength of coffee, per ounce. However, I suppose some people may drink more cola at a time than coffee.

The Food and Drug Administration limits the caffeine content of these drinks to 1.2 grains per 12-ounce bottle, but as you see from the figures in the preceding paragraph, most of the cola, as actually produced, stays well below that top limit.

Cocoa contains only a trace of caffeine, and I don't know what else you might want to know in your "et al" unless it's stay-awake pills which may be caffeine tablets with a dab of flavoring and some binder to hold them together.

I checked one nationally advertised brand, and found that pill contains the caffeine equivalent of an average cup of coffee. Or if you want it exactly, 100 milligrams, which is 1.543235 grains.

I'm talking, of course, of the stay-awake pills in which caffeine is the active ingredient, not the "pep pills" of the amphetamine type, which are quite a different matter.

Dear Dr. Molner: Since cooks aren't usually diagnosticians, might they unwittingly prepare and serve meat from an animal that had a cancer? Could the cells get into a person's blood stream? This may sound stupid but I worry about it. — Mrs. M. G.

A "cancer" is a group of cells which have, for reasons unknown, decided to go wild, reproducing rapidly but imperfectly.

Some brave volunteers have allowed cancerous tissues to be implanted in their bodies. Result: if the person did not have cancer already, the implanted cancer cells simply died.

In addition, the food we eat does not go directly into the system. By cooking and-or digestion the food is broken down into its chemical constituents, after which the body absorbs what it needs. Thus we eat steak, but our bodies consist of human flesh, not beef. So don't worry about it.

Political Irony In Johnson Career

WASHINGTON — Always it is irony that gives the piquancy to life. Lyndon Johnson lost his first bid for the national ticket because he was indeed too strong a personality. He lost his most recent one because he was judged too weak a one.

The beginning was at Chicago in 1952 when Adlai Stevenson refused to have LBJ as a running mate. Senator Johnson was Senate Majority whip at the time. It is now hardly remembered that he came to the Democratic Convention in support of the candidacy of Senator Richard Russell, the favorite and champion of the Southern bloc to which Johnson himself belonged in those distant days.

AFTER STEVENSON, President Truman's man, had the nomination wrapped up, Russell tried to promote his Texas friend as Vice Presidential nominee. Johnson would have been useful to Stevenson who anticipated defeat, but fancied the idea of becoming titular head of the Democratic Party which he planned to make over along more liberal lines. Adlai couldn't afford to be outshone by a running-mate. To make sure of getting most of the Southern states, however, he chose a safely non-glamorous man, Senator Sparkman of Alamaba. LBJ lost out by being too vivid a character.

THE IRONY of the tale persisted. In '52 he had a tough decision. With Shivers and Daniel on the Texas side of the Tidelands question, and Stevenson on the opposite side, what was Johnson to do? If he played it as a political animal, he would "Hunker down" like a jackrabbit in a hailstorm, as he like to say, and stay out of Stevenson's company. One the other handle if he played it like a party man, he would openly support Stevenson. Johnson played it with the party.

TO HEAR IT TOLD today by the Johnson circle, it was this ascendancy of the party man over the political animal that encouraged Robert Kennedy to enter the Presidential race in March of this year. Bob, not counting on any such luck as the President's withdrawal, needed to have assurance that Johnson would support a Kennedy ticket in Texas and elsewhere if it won at the Convention.

All the snap judgments and loose talk about Johnson's political animality declared that he would be deadly if crossed. But the record — the Johnson circle says that Bob Kennedy went by this record — declared that Johnson would play the loyal party man, come what might.

IT HAS TURNED out that way thus far. The President agreed to meet with Kennedy on party unity. By all accounts Johnson will not be a stop-Kennedy man, and will support the Convention's nominee. The animal attributes popularly ascribed to LBJ just aren't there.

In Johnson's case we all saw it happen, and most of us still find it hard to believe. That vivid personality, too strong for Stevenson, was too weak for the people. Johnson, the Peerless Leader on Capitol Hill, could not lead on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Visit The Good Old U.S.A.

WASHINGTON — Dear Visitor From Abroad,

This is your invitation to visit the USA in 1968, otherwise known as The Land of Bonnie and Clyde.

To make it easier for you, we will answer some of the questions that foreign tourists keep asking us.

Is it dangerous to visit the United States?

OF COURSE NOT. Americans are a gentle people who abhor violence. What little there is can be seen on television or in the movies — every night. We have cowboy films, cops and robbers pictures and children's cartoons. If that isn't your cup of tea you can tune in one one of our news shows. We not only show people being killed, but villages being burned, GIs being wounded, enemies being tortured or anything else that suits your fancy. Of course, these shows have no effect on Americans because they know it has nothing to do with them.

What should I wear?

AMERICAN FASHIONS this year are all modeled after the Bonnie and Clyde look, and everyone wants to dress like a gangster. This trend is tongue in cheek, because everyone knows we don't admire gangsters, even though we all consider Bonnie and Clyde a gas.

What can I buy in the United States that I can't buy in my own country?

Guns, for one thing. We have no laws about buying guns. You don't even have to go to a store. You can order them by mail from newspapers and magazines.

YOU CAN BUY shotguns, rifles, hand guns, pistols, revolvers and practically any kind of weapon you want. Of course, we only use guns in the United States for hunting. That's why the American Congress in its infinite wisdom won't pass any gun control laws. They know anyone who would order a gun by mail or buy one in a store would never use it except to shoot game.

WHAT ABOUT VISITING American cities?

It's perfectly safe to visit any American city in the country, providing you don't go out after dark or during certain parts of the day. The best thing is to ask your hotel clerk at the desk. He'll indicate what streets are safe and when you can visit them. Americans pride themselves on law and order and would never do anything to disturb the peace.

WHEN IS THE best time to come? Any time is a good time to visit the United States, with the possible exception of the long hot summer which starts in the middle of March and goes through October. At this time people are irritable and not as friendly toward tourists as they might be at Christmas time.

I hope this answers most of your questions. So forget your cares and see Americans at work and at play. Watch a truly civilized democracy in action and meet a people who love each other and live in harmony.

MANSFIELD PLANS TO PUSH LEGISLATION AIMED AT SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Demo Leader Sees No Early Cure For Riot Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield forecasts no early Capitol Hill cure for problems reflected by the violence that has wracked the nation in recent days.

Mansfield said in an interview he'll push a post-Easter drive to pass legislation aimed at meeting major social problems. But he conceded it is unlikely to reach the roots of ferment that exploded into violence after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

He listed for early action a so-called "safe streets" bill, a juvenile delinquency measure and legislation to give the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission power to enforce its orders.

Mansfield voiced hope the House will act this week on a Senate-passed civil rights bill, which includes an open-housing provision.

But beyond that he said he thinks it will be wise to have members of Congress test reaction back home in a week's Easter recess beginning Thursday before acting on any new proposals that may be aimed at the core of discontent in city slums.

Mansfield urged his colleagues Monday not to act impetuously in the aftermath of King's murder. He said greater responsibility by individual citizens, rather than new legislation, is "vitally necessary to regain our self-respect."

Mansfield said President Johnson, in discussions with congressional leaders, had not outlined any legislative proposals he might make.

Mansfield was noncommittal about when the Senate will act on a supplementary money bill from which a Senate-House conference committee deleted $100 million for summer poverty programs.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said in a statement he will oppose final approval of the bill unless the funds are restored.

The "safe streets" bill would provide for federal grants to improve state and local police forces, curb handgun sales, authorize wiretapping by law enforcement officers under court orders and remove Supreme Court restrictions on police questioning of criminal suspects.

A Senate Labor subcommittee has approved legislation authorizing a $250 million outlay over the next four years to revive a program of prevention and rehabilitation among juvenile delinquents.

The administration has been unable to pry out of the Labor Committee a measure to give the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission power to enforce its orders against job discrimination.

Business leaders have contended this would put the federal government in a position to tell them who to hire.

Although national labor leaders support the measure, many individual unions oppose it on the ground it would open their membership rolls to persons they regard as unqualified.

CINCINNATI, OHIO

Pulled From Car, Stabbed To Death

CINCINNATI (AP) — A white college teacher was pulled from his car and stabbed to death Monday night during the height of rioting in several Negro sections of the city.

Gov. James Rhodes sent 1,400 National Guardsmen to help police restore order. City officials asked for the troops.

Police said the city began returning to normal early today when a curfew imposed at 7:17 p.m. Monday night was lifted.

Arson, looting and window-smashing occurred during the 2½ hours of rioting that police said started after a rumor spread that a white policeman shot a Negro woman.

The victim of the shooting incident was a Negro woman killed accidentally by her husband, police said.

About 20 persons were treated for riot-connected injuries. About 150 arrests were made, mostly for loitering, disorderly conduct and violation of the curfew.

During rioting in the Mount Auburn area, Noel Wright, 30, an art instructor at the Universith of Cincinnati, was yanked from his car, beaten and fatally stabbed. Police said five Negroes attacked him. Wright's wife, Lois, 28, was beaten by three Negro girls and sent to a hospital, but she was not seriously injured.

Police and guardsmen patrolled streets strewn with debris overnight, with the citywide curfew in effect until 6 a.m.

Five judges heard rioters' cases far into the night. Some were sentenced to jail and fined up to $500 within a few hours of their arrests.

The outbreak was the first major disturbance since rioting twice last summer.

The night started off peacefully with memorial services for Martin Luther King Jr. White persons were asked to stay out of the area.

All city bus service was halted when the curfew was announced. The curfew also closed various businesses, including restaurants.

Patty Mae Smith, 36, was the victim in the shooting incident. Police said the shot was fired by her husband, James, 29.

Police said that several men tried to get into the Smith apartment, and the husband got out a shotgun but one man grabbed the barrel of the gun and it discharged, striking Mrs. Smith.

BALTIMORE, MD.

Sniping Outbreak Adds New Worry

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Fires and lootings broke out today under the steadily tightening grip of more than 10,000 federalized troops, and an outbreak of sniping added a new worry as Baltimore entered the fourth day of civil disorders.

Five separate sniping incidents were confirmed by police Monday night at locations ringing the heart of the city. No one was hit. It was the first such outbreak since the start of looting and burnings Saturday.

The first flare-ups involving whites and Negroes also came Monday. Two incidents were quelled by troops without serious results.

With crowds ransacking stores and setting fires at a steady pace in predominantly Negro areas throughout the day, authorities brought in an additional 1,900 federal troops, raising to more than 10,000 the military force occupying the city.

The reinforcements were from the 197th Infantry Division at Ft. Benning, Ga.

With his beefed up forces, Lt. Gen. Robert H. York ordered rigid enforcement of a 4 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew. The number of arrests climbed rapidly, passing the 3,600 mark for the duration of the rioting.

City police said more than 1,700 looting incidents had been reported since Saturday and the number of fires was placed at about 800.

Five persons have died in the violence and more than 500 persons, about 40 of them policemen and firemen, have been injured.

Disorders flared out from the heart of the city during the daylight hours Monday in areas populated mostly by Negroes. The downtown businesses and shopping district remained unscathed.

Despite the violence, authorities contended the peak had been reached.

"We're over the hump. I'm encouraged," Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro said Monday night.

WILMINGTON

Emergency Is Declared

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A state of emergency remained in effect in Wilmington today following a night of sniping, firebombing and looting in a Negro neighborhood.

Twelve persons were injured, one seriously, in the outbreak of violence which was concentrated in a 12-block area of the West Center City section. At least two persons suffered gunshot wounds.

Police said 51 persons were arrested, many of them for violating a curfew which went into effect at 10:30 p.m.

City police controlled the situation before midnight, although some 50 state policemen and 1,200 National Guardsmen stood by in police barracks and armories.

There were eight sniping incidents, 19 reported lootings and at least 13 firebombings, authorities said. Police returned fire in some instances.

Negro gangs in the business district of this city of 95,000 took merchandise from stores.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Arrests Soar As New Riots Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arrests for curfew violations soared as 14,000 troops guarded against fresh disturbances in the riot-racked Negro slums of the nation's capital.

With schools and most businesses in the city closed today for the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., officials appeared concerned the services in Atlanta could touch off new trouble here.

Disorders that began after King's assassination in Memphis, Tenn., have left six dead, 1,087 injured and 5,882 arrested.

More than 1,000 persons were arrested Monday, most for curfew violations.

"It is our determination that law and order will be maintained," said Cyrus R. Vance, President Johnson's riot troubleshooter, and added that violence and lawlessness "would be a desecration of the memory of Dr. King and the principles for which he stood."

Mayor Walter E. Washington urged all capital residents to join today in prayers "for peace and tranquility in our city and land."

The Negro mayor, who gave all but essential city employes the day off in observance of King's funeral, indicated a curfew would be imposed again tonight but said a final decision had not been made.

The nearly 12,000 federal troops patroling the capital—another 2,000 troops are being held in reserve in the suburbs—continued the rigid enforcement of the dusk-to-dawn curfew Monday.

Government agencies closed early Monday to clear the streets for the 6 p.m. curfew.

CHICAGO

Curfew Helps Relative Calm

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal and Illinois National Guard troops, heavy police patrols and a strict dusk-to-dawn curfew for minors helped maintain a second day of relative calm in Chicago Monday.

Scattered incidents of minor looting were reported but fire officials described the day as a "normal Monday."

Violence which flared Friday and Saturday in the city's Negro sections left 11 dead, about 500 injured, more than 1,900 arrested and more than 1,000 homeless and fire losses estimated so far at more than $10 million.

Chicago's 11,000-man police force continued 12-hour shifts and 5,000 federal troops and 6,900 National Guardsmen were on guard in the city or standing by to prevent new outbursts of violence.

Lt. Gen. George R. Mather, commander of the military forces in the city, said he was "cautiously optimistic" about the situation.

PITTSBURGH, PA.

Beefed-Up Forces Put Clamp On Violence Area

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Beefed-up National Guard and police forces restored calm to Pittsburgh's violence-plagued Negro neighborhoods today. The city's chief law enforcement officer said it's up to the people involved whether there is more injury.

Safety Director David W. Craig told a news conference the greatest threat to lives would be violations of the city's dusk-to-dawn curfew and the ban against people gathering in groups of 10 or more.

Craig said that since the wave of firebombings, window smashings and looting began Friday night, police have shot about a half dozen persons, wounding them slightly.

An additional 1,000 National Guardsmen were brought into the city, increasing their number to 4,000. Two more platoons of state troopers came in, hiking that force to 375.

Command headquarters said the additional troopers, bringing to 4,100 the number of guardsmen in the city, would be used to relieve weary men who have been on 12-hour shifts and would remain at the ready should more violence break out.

Fresh firebombings, looting and vandalism broke out Monday after a period of relative calm. Trouble dropped off considerably when hundreds of guardsmen were rushed in. A dusk-to-dawn curfew that kept people off the streets also helped curb the violence.

The new outbreaks were in the Homewood-Brushton, East Liberty and Manchester sections. Fires destroyed a rug company, a lumber yard and two vacant homes. Gangs stoned police and troopers, looted stores and smashed windows and plate glass storefronts.

Police said guardsmen in Homewood-Brushton reported hearing two shots. Officers checked out the report, but could find no signs that bullets had hit anything or that there was a gunman in the area.

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer flew from Harrisburg and conferred with his chief aides, Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph M. Barr and city officials.

Shafer said there was evidence of mounting tension. "But I believe the situation is under control," he said.

NEW YORK

Brooklyn Stores Looted

NEW YORK (AP)—After two nights of racial calm in the city, Negroes smashed windows and looted several stores in the East New York section of Brooklyn Monday night.

Two hundred extra police were sent into the area, and at midnight, a police spokesman said there were only sporadic incidents.

The trouble in the racially mixed neighborhood was minor compared to the disorders that occurred in the city Thursday and Friday nights.

Police said they suspected that a five-alarm fire in an East New York lumberyard Monday night was arson.

ONLY 17 SCHOOL CHAMPS LEFT

1,000 Youngsters Competed

By SAM BLACKBURN

The school champions and alternates, who are to report to Big Spring High School April 20 to take part in the Sixth Annual Howard County Spelling Bee, are the survivors of a field of 1,000 boys and girls from 17 schools who aspired to the places these youngsters now hold.

A thousand copies of the official spelling list used in the bees at all levels, from classroom to national bee, were distributed in the 14 junior high and elementary schools of the Big Spring School District, the Forsan Junior High School and the two parochial schools of the city — Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School and St. Mary's Episcopal School.

Of course, before the time of the classroom eliminations a large number of the boys and girls who had so bravely set out at the beginning of the Howard County bee season had abandoned their plans. Regardless, the number of youngsters who did stick to it and took part in the classroom bees and in the school championship spelling bees was exceptionally large. More kids, had a part in the Sixth Annual Spelling Bee than ever before.

So far in the history of the spelling bee in Howard County, every champion of every school has showed up on county bee day to defend his title and try for the county title. There has never been an opportunity for an alternate to step into the gap because his school's champion had fallen by the wayside. Nevertheless it has been the rule for nearly all of the alternates to be on hand when the county spelling bees are held.

The county champion wins a plaque engraved with his name as a special award. He also gets a free trip as guest of the Big Spring Herald to Lubbock, May 4, where he will try to win the regional spelling bee from a field of 22 champions from other West Texas counties.

Each school champion will receive a specially engraved Paper Mate pencil and a blue ribbon, as souvenirs of their endeavors.

The county bee will be in a room to be announced at the high school starting at 10 a.m. Mrs. O. B. Brewster, member of the Big Spring High School faculty, will be the official pronouncer. There will be three judges to rule on how the contestants spell words assigned to them.

Parents, friends, teachers and classmates of the young school champions are cordially invited to attend the bee and see how their favorites fare in the competition.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to make whatever changes may be necessary or at least to accept those that are taking place about you—so that everything can be easier and more operative in the days ahead. Keep in mind that others are pretty critical now and expect you to do things in such fashion that every item is in its right place, every obligation rightly handled.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Take care not to waste a precious moment of this fine day, whether at home, business or elsewhere. Carry through with work sensibly. Co-workers suggest you do things a little differently—do so.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Entertaining others can yield fine benefits later on, as well as pleasure, real friendship. Try to please them though you know very little about their form of amusement. Put that fine talent to work.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid arguing with closest ties in particular; otherwise there could be real trouble later on. Rid yourself of conditions at home that bring disharmony. Show that you are devoted and most intelligent.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Finish that shopping early so that you later can sit down with allies and work out certain ideas that are profitable. Write those letters that are important to you. Be brief but to the point.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your dealing with some important business person can be ameliorated by carrying through with his advice and you form a firmer relations ip. Don't scatter your energies. Then you can reap in more benefits.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Work more closely with associates instead of being such a lone wolf. Sit down with associates and talk things over calmly. Make time for the social affairs that please you most and relax awhile.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get busy and straighten out certain conditions around you and show real ability at it. Make this a day of accomplishment. Do whatever gives you more florid health. Updating your wardrobe is wise, also.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact good pals and make new arrangements with them so that you can cooperate more pleasantly in the future. Some social group can be cultivated now that can be helpful in your affairs. Be charming.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure to follow all rules and regulations that apply to you or you lose the support of a bigwig. Make certain you stamp yourself as un of 1 citizen, also. Don't take any unnecessary risks, with anyone or anything.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Listen to ideas of those whose cultural background is different fo yours and you get right answers to present problematical affairs, modes of advancement. Enlarge circle of friends. Be diplomatic.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Others are very firm in expecting you to come through with obligations made, so be sure you do so to the best of your ability. Be very affectionate with mate. Live a more ideal life in the future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Be loyal to anyone to whom you have made promises even though others are pressuring you in different directions. Do not give some partner a chance to put you on the carpet by being thoughtless, inefficient. Be wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he, or she will be one of those very energetic young people with a firm determination, and you would be wise to teach early to listen to what experienced and successful persons have to say, and to persevere once a plan is formulated. Instead of getting bored with it soon. A fine critic, reorganizer is this chart.

Opening lead: Six of ♣

When South opened the bidding with one spade, North's hand became worth 19 points in support and he flashed an immediate slam signal by making the jump shift response of three diamonds.

South temporized by rebidding three spades and when his partner showed support by raising on the next round, he made a slam try by cue bidding the ace of hearts. Reassured concerning the only suit in which he lacked a control himself, North proceeded without further ado to six spades.

West opened the six of clubs and dummy won the trick with the lone ace. A spade to the ace cleared up the trump situation when both opponents followed suit.

Declarer was confronted with potential losers in hearts and diamonds but he observed that, if the outstanding diamonds were divided three-three—then the long diamond in dummy would provide the needed discard for his bad heart.

To put his conclusions to a quick test, South led the ace, king and another diamond. West showed out on the third diamond, however, and East exited with the queen of that suit. When the queen of hearts did not drop under the ace, king subsequently—declarer was obliged to concede defeat on the deal.

South did not give himself the best chance, because his reasoning fell somewhat short. Success didn't hinge entirely on an even diamond break. Declarer has a chance to execute either an end play or a squeeze, provided that the outstanding strength in the red suits is concentrated in one hand. South can avail himself of every opportunity provided that he does not surrender control of the diamond suit.

After trumps are drawn ending in dummy, it is suggested declarer lead a small diamond away from the ace, king. East must play the jack in order to prevent South from winning a trick with the ten. Any return that East makes at this point will present declarer with his 12th trick. Observe that East is—in fact—endplayed in three different suits.

The recommended line of play retains the prospect for finding a favorable diamond division, while at the same time expanding declarer's opportunities. If all else fails, South may still win the hand via a squeeze provided that the same defender has the outstanding strength in hearts as well as four diamonds.

CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

Talk Of Riots, Housing, Astrology, Industry

By The Associated Press

Talk among the Texas candidates for governor Monday dealt with riots, housing, who's endorsed by whom, astrology as an election factor, wooing new industry and a personal potshot or two.

Waggoner Carr, one of those seeking the Democratic nomination in the May 4 primary, said if riots occur in Texas he expects to see lawbreakers arrested and tried.

RIOTS BLAME

"No president's riot commission is going to convince me that crime is the fault of lawabiding citizens," Carr declared as he campaigned at Marshall and Longview. "It is not. It's the fault of the man who burns the store or robs the restaurant or kills his fellow man. And in Texas we're going to put that blame where it belongs."

Democrat John Hill, at Beaumont, said he continued his campaign during the mourning period for Dr. Martin Luther King "because the person the people select to be the next governor Texas can have a great influence on the course of human affairs in this state."

Hill proposed that the state government "take a leading role in seeing that all Texans are able to live in adequate housing, and in helping industry develop programs to train and retrain workers.

HARTE-HANKS SURVEY

On the subject of endorsements, Hill cited backing from the Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship Clerks and from the Galveston News, the La Grange Journal and the Canadian Record as evidence he has broad-based support.

It was reported by the San Angelo Standard Times that a survey by Harte-Hanks newspapers in seven areas of the state indicated Lt. Gov. Preston Smith was "a solid leader" in the governor's race and Don Yarboroough, its only avowed leader, appeared to be Smith's most likely opponent in the Democratic runoff.

Smith himself told Austin workers that "merely coming out for a program does not make it law" and a governor must be able to work with legislators toward getting it enacted.

CAN'T DELIVER

Moving on to Grapevine, the lieutenant governor said at a breakfast today, "To hear all the pitiful things about our state which are being said by some of our opponents in this campaign, one would think our state is on the verge of complete ruin. . . . From the comment about our state of affairs, the situation is so bad that it is a wonder anyone is running for governor."

Edward Whittenburg, making a Lubbock television appearance to answer questions telephoned by viewers, accused Smith of promising voters things he can't deliver.

"Preston Smith tells the people of Lubbock, Amarillo and Houston that he favors a medical school in each of their cities," said Whittenburg, also a Democrat. "This is just plain political dishonesty."

Whittenburg expressed a view that Houston should receive top priority on a medical school and Amarillo should be in line for a dental school.

Dolph Briscoe happily applauded a published report that astrological forecasts rate him in the most favorable position of any Democrat running for governor.

Speaking at Snyder, Briscoe said, "I'm glad to have the stars on my side. They are more accurate than the polls that most of the candidates are taking for themselves. I'll be even happier to have the poeple who believe in astrology on my side.

"If the 2.5 million people in Texas who look to the stars for guidelines. . .will transform this belief into votes for me, I'll be elected your governor without a runoff."

NEW LIFE

Yarborough, campaigning at Hearne and Bryan, said as governor he would designate volunteer five-member teams from business, labor, education and other pursuits to travel the nation to lure new industries and to look for sites in the state for these industries.

"They will tell the Texas story, especially the story of our small towns, to the entire nation," Yarborough said, "and pump new life into industrial acquisition for our state."

Paul Eggers, one of three candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, called attention to his editorial endorsement from the Wichita Falls Times.

"This encouragement by a traditionally Democratic newspaper reflects a growing interest in my campaign," Eggers said at San Angelo. As I travel around Texas, I find more and more Democrats and independents saying they will vote Republican this year."

Committee Wants To Give Texas Teachers More Pay

AUSTIN (AP) — The committee selected to make Texas' public schools second to none wants to pay teachers enough money to give the state that ranking, without making taxpayers mad, the chairman said Monday.

"We will recommend substantial salary increases," Leon Jaworski told a news conference.

"I don't know of a single person on the committee that's not completely eager to come up with the highest salary figure that can reasonably be supported," Jaworski said. "I hope our recommendations will be embraced by teachers and taxpayers as well."

CHALLENGE TO CRIME

The 15-member committee began work just over two years ago on guidelines for the future of Texas' public school education. Aug. 31 is the deadline for the committee's report to be in Gov. John Connally's hands.

Jaworski, also a member of President Johnson's crime commission said he sees the upcoming report as "one of the best combative answers to the challenge of crime. I look to the public schools to meet the attack of crime. The schools will take on more and more responsibility for meeting the challenge."

But it has been teachers' salaries, Jaworski said, which has taken more of the committee's time than any other subject.

PAY PLAN

He said the committee would recommend a pay raise formula "over a period of time." He said the cost of living index "has not been overlooked" in discussion on the salary proposal, but said he was not prepared to be specific because salary recommendations had not been "completely cast."

The Texas State Teachers Association has endorsed a $1,000 pay raise proposal to the 1969 legislature, and several candidates for governor have supported that figure. Eugene Locke, a candidate in the Democratic primary, said he would wait until the committee made its report before taking a position on teacher pay hikes.

"Although national leadership in achievement will call for similar leadership in commitment including financial effort — we believe that Texas should continue to live within its fiscal means," Jaworski said.

"Balancing these three objectives of a desirable salary schedule, a comprehensive program of high quality, and a cost level within our reach is a sensitive and difficult assignment," he said. "We hope to produce a plun which offers the optimum combination of cost and benefits produced."

Jaworski said the committee would probably have recommendations on whether to have public kindergartens and 12-month schools. He said the possibility of reorganizing the Texas Education Agency had been considered.

He said the committee has contracted with Jamieson Film Co. of Dallas to produce a color film of the committee's report to "permit the widest possible involvement in our recommendations for making Texas a national leader in educational achievement." The film would cost an estimated $25,000, he said.

He said the committee would meet April 26 to present research findings, including enrollment projections for Texas' public schools in the next 10 years and the results of adult and teacher opinion polls.

Mrs. Johnson On Last Leg Of Her Texas Tour

GOLIAD, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, on the last segment of a tour encompassing a world fair, her Texas hill country and the newest national seashore in the nation, today visited La Bahia, a historic site in Texas' fight for independence.

La Bahia was where Col. James Fannin and his band of 370 Texans were massacred in 1836 by Mexican troops.

RALLYING CRY

This stop was on the First Lady's wrapup of a five-day junket to tourist spots in her home state. Her trip began Friday from the LBJ Ranch, taking in San Antonio Saturday for the opening of that city's HemisFair celebration and moved Monday to Corpus Christi for a ceremony dedicating Padre Island as a national seashore area.

"Children who grow up in Goliad and the towns nearby, grow up learning the tales of La Bahia," Mrs. Johnson said in her prepared remarks.

"They know of Col. Fannin and his band who were murdered here—deaths that became a rallying cry for Texas' independence.

MORE STOPS

"I have come here with visitors from afar, journalists from 13 European nations, as well as many American correspondents, and I know they join me in applauding this historic Goliad."

Mrs. Johnson dedicated an 80-mile portion of Padre Island as a national seashore Monday before a friendly overflow crowd of South Texans.

Further stops were planned today at Gonzales and Palmetto State Park near Luling.

The First Lady and the press corps seeing the state with her will leave for Washington late in the evening.

Her journey began Friday at the LBJ Ranch and its hill country environs, made a splashy appearance Saturday at the opening of San Antonio's HemisFair and continued Monday to Padre Island.

TRAFFIC SNARL

A huge traffic snarl developed on the John F. Kennedy Causeway leading to the 80-mile federal enclave in the 113-mile barrier island paralleling the Lower Texas Coast.

Mrs. Johnson told the crowd, estimated at 7,500 by aides and by local police at about 9,500, that the island is one of those rare jewels of nature in the wild.

"It has been said," she remarked, "that wilderness is the miracle that man can tear apart but cannot reassemble. So I hope very much that these white sands, this dazzling dome of sky will be here, in all their freshness, to be savored year after year."

After the crowd left the dedication site, Mrs. Johnson joined the 80 newsmen—mostly foreign travel editors—in strolling up and down the beachfront, studded with the stinging Portugese man o' war and blue jellyfish.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall officiated at the Corpus Christi ceremony.

Trustees Map Brief Session

Big Spring school trustees will meet today at 7:30 p.m. to canvass the votes of the trustee election Saturday and to elect new officers of the board.

Also on tap for discussion in the brief session will be a study of the use of school baseball facilities by non-school groups.

The meeting will be held in the board room behind the administration building.

Olney Postmaster Is Nominated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Texas postmasters nominated Monday by President Johnson were Richard van Court for Christopher and Herbert Clayton for Olney.

Watching The Birthing

DEAR ABBY: About the couple who wanted to know if their four-year-old should watch the cat have her kittens:

Cats do not like for people to watch the birth of their kittens. It makes them nervous. Sometimes they will become so upset and confused, they will take off, leaving their new-born kittens to starve. I regret to say that I have watched this cat birth with bad results.

Why doesn't this couple look up some farmer who has a sow about to become a mother and arrange for a look-see? Much more interesting, and the sow couldn't care less if the President of the United States was watching. CAT LOVER

DEAR ABBY: By all means, children should witness the birth of kittens, puppies, cows, pigs and any other animals whenever possible.

We are a farming family, and have been raised on farms for three generations, and there never was any mystery about such things. I think farm-reared children have a much more wholesome attitude about sex than city kids because they live so close to Nature. KANSAS READER

Rains Swamp Gulf Coast

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains swamped portions of the Gulf Coast region today, pushing streams over some roads and highways in northern Louisiana.

Generally pleasant weather prevailed in most other sections. A scattering of wind-blown rain or snow fell from the upper Great Lakes to New England.

Thunderstorms rumbling across north central Louisiana sloshed some communities with up to 10 inches of rain in the 24 hours ending Monday night.

Flash flooding occasionally overran roads and highways in inland sections of northern Louisiana.

The Weather Bureau explained that the heavy downpours were caused by a cold front which moved across the Midwest Monday and became stalled against an influx of warm, moist air off the Gulf of Mexico.

Gales which buffeted the Midwest most of Monday died down during the night as the cooler air slipped into the south. Wind gusts up to 65 miles an hour raked portions of lower Michigan, tearing down power and utility lines in southern counties.

A wind-whipped forest fire in northeastern Lower Michigan burned over 350 acres and for a time threatened Wurtsmith Air Force Base near Oscoda before being extinguished.

High winds and shifting ice curtailed shipping on Lake Superior and Lake Huron. Seaway authorities reported three ships stuck in the ice on Whitefish Bay north of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Before dawn in the central Rockies, Laramie, Wyo., registered 19 cold degrees.

Jaycees Urged To Help Program

Mrs. Keith Swim, director of the Vocational Office Education program at Big Spring High School, appealed to local Jaycees at a meeting Monday to help hire students in the distributive education program. The meeting was held at noon at the Downtown Tea Room.

Ben Faulkner reported on the Woodson Rattlesnake Round-Up which was held recently with the cooperation of local Jaycees.

A large delegation from Big Spring is expected to attend the state Jaycee convention in Austin May 7-9.

Bill Tidwell, president, introduced Dr. Don McDonald, John Norton and Bob Davis as guests.

Civil Rights-Open Housing Measure Passage Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — House backers of a Senate-passed civil rights-open housing bill express wary confidence that the controversial measure will be sent to President Johnson before the Easter recess starts Thursday.

Two major steps must be taken first.

SHOWDOWN

The initial move was a vote scheduled for today by the House Rules Committee, which last month refused to give immediate clearance for a House showdown on the bill.

The second and final congressional step—a vote on enactment—would be taken Wednesday if the committee acts in response to leadership hopes and requests.

Even opponents of the bill in its present form voice doubt they can further delay a decision. They lost one of their followers over the weekend when Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, one of the five Republican Rules Committee members, switched his position.

Anderson was on the winning side of the 8-7 committee vote last month that slowed down the bill's progress.

The issue before the Rules panel and the House itself is whether to send the measure to a Senate-House conference committee for compromise or send it directly to the President by accepting a major Senate open-housing provision.

PROTECTION

This provision would bar discrimination in the sale or rental of about 80 per cent of the nation's housing. The bill also would seek protection for civil rights workers, penalize rioters and extend constitutional guarantees to American Indians.

Whether the assassination last week of Negro leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the subsequent violence in big cities—including rioting near Capitol Hill itself—helped or hurt the bill's chances was debatable.

There was an apparent weakening in the ranks of House Republicans who earlier had favored sending the bill to a compromise committee—a move backers said could result in a later Senate filibuster.

Survivors Pay Tribute To Flaming Plane Pilot

LONDON (AP) — One engine caught fire and fell off and the left wing was in flames. But Capt. Charles Taylor landed the big jetliner and "we must owe our lives to him," said one of the 121 survivors.

FIVE KILLED

Five of the 126 persons aboard were killed and 22 injured in the crash landing Monday at London Airport. Survivors and officials of British Overseas Airways Corp—BOAC—said the skill and courage of the pilot, a New Zealander, prevented a much more serious accident.

Two minutes after the Boeing 707 jetliner took off from London for Sydney, Australia, "I looked and saw the side was all in flames," said passenger Bill Deitsch, 27, of Teaneck, N.J.

"I remember thinking, 'We've got a choice. Either he lands the plane or the wing will fall off and we will have had it.'"

Some of the passengers saw the plane's inner left engine break off and plunge into a water-filled gravel pit southwest of London, narrowly missing nearby houses.

"The fire was growing all the time, but the pilot brought the aircraft round and we landed three minutes later," Deitsch said.

"It was a beautiful landing. The pilot was brilliant. He really was brilliant."

Everything seemed "beautifully under control," said another passenger, Miss Helena Morcom Taylor. "As we landed nice, soothing music was still coming through the loudspeakers.

CURRICULUM AIMED AT THE INDIVIDUAL

Schools Improve Teaching Methods

Elementary education isn't what it used to be—for the students, the teachers or the parents. Since the Soviet "sputnik" spiraled into space, the pressure has been on to experiment, to innovate, to adapt and implement—from pre-kindergarten to graduate research.

Modern math and the filtration of science and foreign language to the primary grades was the most immediate and publicized change, but behind the scenes were other experiments — concentrating on improved teaching methods as well as curriculum.

"Much more is now being done to teach the individual rather than the 'fourth grade' as such," said Superintendent Sam Anderson. "The use of audio-visual aids and practice of non-graded programs at Marcy and Kentwood are aimed in that direction."

USE CITED

This use of audio-visual materials is cited by Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent for instructional services, as the "big difference in teaching 10 years ago and today."

"There's just something about film strips or movies that captures the attention of a youngster far more easily than any lecture — making learning a world of sight as well as sound," he said.

A quick tour of any classroom would prove his point. Geography, science and social studies are easier to learn when the student sees what he's reading about. Even in math, overhead projectors used to explain a new theory, solve a problem—even correct homework —. makes learning a simpler process.

"I can remember the time when all you did was talk facts," said Anderson. "But things are changing so rapidly new knowledge may not be facts by the time you are ready to use them. As a result, we now teach in terms of basic knowledge and developing independent study and questioning."

The accelerated pace of discovery has changed education to more of a horizontal than vertical experience, said Anderson. In many instances, the teacher, student and parents learn together.

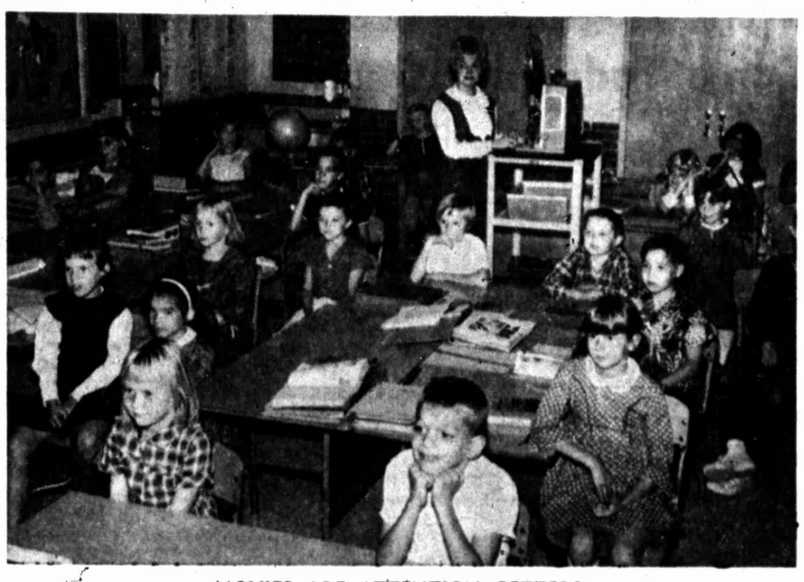

No longer are the three "r's" all there is to elementary education. State agencies now require elementary schools to offer a balanced curriculum of language arts, science, math, health, social studies, art, creative dramatics, physical education and foreign languages if desired.

CAPABLE

Testing programs reveal students are capable of learning a variety of materials just as well as those before them learned the basic tools. Periodic, objective measurements show pupils are developing through a combination of concept formations, skill development and retaining what they learn, according to Hise.

Non-Graded Structure Is One

There aren't any "third graders" at Marcy or "sixth graders" at Kentwood — not in the sense of a new program currently in its fourth year in Big Spring.

Reading serves as a measurement for local pilot programs based on a nongraded structure, one which breaks the primary grades into 17 levels in an effort to place students with others working at approximately the same level of growth and ability.

NEW IDEA

This relatively new idea is in effect in the first three "grades" at Marcy and all six at Kentwood.

It began in 1963 when Superintendent Sam Anderson commissioned a group of counselors and principals to travel across the state to study nongraded programs already in existence. Following the study, the program was introduced locally, only to be followed by a similar one based on mathematics two years later.

"It's not easy to overcome what we refer to as graded thinking," said William Dawes, Marcy principal, "for most of us came up through the graded structure."

Understanding on the part of the parents as to what a nongraded program represents has been one of the problems faced since it was introduced. In addition, the rapid turnover of children and faculty adds to additional records which must be kept under the system.

LEVELS

"The general idea is to take what corresponds to the first three or four years of a child's school life—a period when he forms a foundation of learning skills—and instead of making three large steps out of it, break it up into smaller hurdles or steps which we call levels, ' said Dawes.

This, he explained, gives us 11 opportunities in the first three years to adjust placement of the child in a group working near the same level of growth and ability. At Kentwood, six years are divided into 17 levels.

"If a child does not meet artificial standards set for the second year in a graded program, he is retained and starts once more at the beginning," he continued. "Now he just begins where he left off, perhaps ahead or behind of the standard requirements. It's an attempt to divorce thinking from the nine-month school year."

MAXIMUM

When the program is working properly, the child is performing near his maximum ability, neither frustrated in trying to achieve goals beyond his ability at the time nor bored at going back over something he already understands. Teachers have an understanding of where the child is that they never had before.

Placement is based primarily on reading ability. Dawes said a study is made of standardized test scores, report cards from other schools and background information in diagnosing a child's probable rate of development.

They are tentatively placed at the beginning of school and assigned to a classroom three or four weeks later. Out of 385 children in the nongraded program at Marcy, Dawes said only 70 were moved.

PROGRESS

"Either the information was not adequate or we just missed."

Every three to six weeks progress reports are sent to parents, as is a notice when the child is advanced to a higher level. Children are evaluated on performance, something the teacher can see and observe.

For children who have no problems as far as reading is concerned, the program has several enrichment levels — independent reading to expand knowledge on a horizontal basis.

Here's What Is Happening

Did you hear about the sixth grader who told her parents six times six equals 100 and proved it? That's modern math — and that's just part of what's happening to the younger generation today.

LOOKS THE SAME

From the outside looking in, classes look much the same as they always have. Students are still late for class, they forget their milk money, and they list recess as a favorite lesson.

It's the subject matter that's changed — in emphasis, depth and content.

Math and science have perhaps experienced the most drastic changeover. Geometry isn't the geometry of high school classes but it is definitely a part of elementary school mathematics. It's part of a modern program that regards math as a system of thinking rather than a set of arbitrary rules — one of understanding more than memorization.

For parents, learning new math with an old math mind requires recognition that the program centers around units from the first grade on up.

WRONG

For example, a sixth grade math problem in Miss Lillian Jordan's class at College Heights is wrong if two plus four does not equal 10 or five times five doesn't equal 41. The reason? These 11-year-olds are working with base six, not base 10 of years ago. Such a number system counts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 11, etc., instead of the traditional 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.

Algebra, fractions, percentages, volume and area, formulas and other three - syllable words have a more detailed part in the elementary program of 1967.

Science has also been expanded at the lower levels, bringing in geography, astronomy, experimental projects and studies of chemistry and biology. Cosden's "cat cracker" and the distillation process are two examples of typical study units for the fifth grade class of Mrs. Betty Denson, Washington Elementary teacher.

MEANINGFUL

Latitude, longitude, doldrums and other geographical terms become meaningful words, while a look at the sun and stars bring space experiments even closer to home.

At Bauer, Mrs. Thelma Williams, fourth grade teacher, uses an overhead projector, film strips and listening stations to aid students in their study of geography. Maps projected on a screen bring Iceland and the Arctic Ocean nearer the West Texas environment of Big Spring.

Reading Ability Ranks High

Reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic are of basic importance to the beginning student. And your child's development of all three relies heavily on reading ability.

Despite increased accent on math and science in recent years, reading and related fields labeled "language arts" have retained its position of first importance.

EASIER

Today learning to read is easier for first grade students, thanks to improved teaching methods coupled with the increased use of audio - visual aids.

"Teaching has turned to a more comprehensive approach in introducing words by letting students figure them out by phonics and usage in a sentence," said Mrs. Rogers Hefley, reading consultant for the Big Spring Independent School District.

"We now use a combination of the best points of the sight and that new words be introduced in a sentence or story, never in isolation." This added help of context is illustrated in a typical lesson at Kentwood in the first grade class of Mrs. Loyce Phillips.

IMPORTANT

In the second grade class of Mrs. John Nobles at Marcy, students know one of the most important points is that the word makes good sense within the sentence. Often a word is recognized by its construction and placement in the sentence even though the child could not identify it separately.

No longer is the faster reader forced to read below his level or the slow reader moved at a pace beyond his present ability.

For example, slower readers in the third grade class of Mrs. Kelly Lawrence at Park Hill enjoy the added help of a controlled reading machine — one which projects words, phrases or sentences at varying rates in an attempt to increase the child's reading speed and comprehension.

Those with greater difficulty may use listening stations. Headphones connected to a tape recorder or record player enable the student to follow a lesson or story by sound as well as sight.

SUCCESS

The success each child meets with reading is reflected in other subjects, according to assistant superintendent of instruction Lynn Hise. If a child can't read and comprehend, for example, he scores low in written math problems although he is fairly good with numbers.

So it is with other subjects—spelling, grammar, geography, science, history. Understanding depends on reading comprehension.

Sixth Graders Crack Hoosiers

HICKORY FLAT, Ga. (AP) — Sixth graders were disappointed because they had collected small test tube samples of soil from every state but had none from Indiana.

Indiana residents heard about it and sent them big cannisters of soil, some requiring as much as $12 in postage. So the children at the Hickory Flat school in rural Georgia planted a tree on the school campus in the Indiana soil and named it the "Indiana Magnolia."

Spring Fever Explanation

WINDSOR LOCKS, Conn. (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau here has an explanation for spring fever: When the weather suddenly turns warm the blood tries to balance the body's internal temperature with the temperature outside. It pulses through blood vessels closer to the surface of the skin so the body can shed more heat. This causes you to become lazy and listless.

BUT SOME CITIES CONTINUE TO DISEASE THE WATER WITH RAW SEWAGE

States Attempting To Stop Pollution Of Great Lakes

By KENT D. ZIMMERMAN
By The Associated Press

States bordering the five Great Lakes are striving to puncture predictions that the water will soon be too polluted for use by humans, but some cities continue to disease the lakes with poorly-treated sewage.

Ontario and states edging Lakes Erie, Michigan, Ontario, Superior and Huron have taken steps to regulate and reduce the flow of waste materials; government and industry are spending millions to combat the problem.

CONTINUE

But some cities continue to dump inadequately treated sewage into the Great Lakes and even the federal government has admitted it is a prime offender.

A U.S. Army Corps of Engineer official admitted at a House subcommittee hearing in Washington in October that the agency was polluting Lake Michigan with harbor dredgings. He cited insufficient funds as the problem and testified that pollution from the dredging was small in comparison to other pollutants.

Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., replied that the amount of pollution caused by the corps is not the point.

"The problem," he said, "is that you really can't crack down on private industry when you have a federal agency doing any kind of polluting."

DANGERS

But the government, too, has recognized the dangers of continued pollution of the lakes and has taken steps to alleviate the problem.

In April the Corps of Engineers started a pilot program of alternate disposal methods in eight areas on the lakes.

In December the corps completed two dikes in Cleveland, Ohio, on Lake Erie to control pollution from sediment and to keep river channels navigable. The dikes form the walls of two cribs where dredgings from the Cuyahoga River can be dumped.

The two dikes are part of an experimental program at eight Great Lakes ports. Other ports are at Green Bay, Wis.; Calumet River, Chicago; Buffalo, N.Y.; Toledo, Ohio; Sodus Bay, near Rochester, N.Y., and River Rouge in Detroit.

Each region bordering the lakes has its individual pollution problems.

Michigan was stirred to action in 1962 when Sterling State Park, near Monroe, was posted as unsafe for swimming. A study noted that the pollution was interfering with water supplies, fishing, swimming, boating and other recreation.

The city of Erie, Pa., discharges excess from its sewage treatment facilities into the lake during storm emergencies because the sanitary and storm sewers are combined and become overloaded in heavy rainstorms.

FEW

In Ontario, Canada, the Water Resources Commission reported that about 300 plants—nearly half—discharging wastes into lake watersheds are providing inadequate controls.

The commission says most of the plants are in the pulp and paper, mining and food processing fields.

The New York Department of Health said recently that the increase in the transport of oil on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River has resulted in several cases of oil pollution. The department reported that oil pollution has had an adverse effect on recreational use of the waters and on fish and wildlife.

These problems have spurred the states to halt pollution. Lake Michigan pollution is being tackled by a regional conference which will meet in Chicago Jan. 31. The states scheduled to take part in the conference are Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

RECORD

Here is what some of the Great Lakes states have done to combat water pollution:

—The Illinois Legislature adopted a law in October banning dumping in Lake Michigan without a state permit and approved in July a referendum on a $1-billion bond issue to fight water and air pollution. The referendum will be held in 1968.

The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago filed suit in Circuit Court against one Chicago steel plant and 12 plants in Indiana asking that they be enjoined from polluting Lake Michigan.

—Indiana and Illinois officials set Dec. 31, 1968, as the deadline for completion of industrial and municipal waste treatment facilities where needed near the south end of Lake Michigan.

—The Michigan Water Resources Commission set Nov. 1, 1968, as the deadline for approval of pollution abatement plans. Facilities under the program must be in operation by Nov. 1, 1970.

—The Minnesota Legislature created a Pollution Control Agency with increased power, staff and funds.

—In New York, comprehensive sewage treatment studies are under way in 17 counties along the Great Lakes to develop immediate and long-range plans for treatment facilities. In addition, there are 104 construction grant projects in various stages of planning or development.

REVIEWED

Industrial waste treatment facilities in New York are being reviewed at 36 plants. In an attempt to combat oil pollution, the State Health Department is working with the Corps of Engineers and major oil companies to keep spillage of oil at a minimum.

—In Pennsylvania, Erie and the Hammermill Paper Co. are collaborating on a joint project to determine if their excess wastes can be treated jointly.

TARGET

—The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board has set 1970 as the target date for all municipalities in the Lake Erie basin to install sewage plants for at least secondary treatment and for industry to step up waste controls.

The Natural Resources Department is moving on another front to build reservoirs for control of water flow in streams emptying into Lake Erie. The program includes stream monitoring stations for constant pollution surveillance.

—In Wisconsin, Milwaukee officials are studying the possibility of constructing storage tanks to hold storm and sewage overflow until the polluted water can be treated after high runoff periods.

—In two years since a get-tough antipollution law was enacted in Ontario, 14 industries have been convicted or pleaded guilty for violations.

Several industries near the lakes have started their own antipollution programs voluntarily. The Michigan Water Resources Commission said that some large industries—notably Dow Chemical Co. of Midland and Consumers Power Co. of Jackson—started their own programs early. But the commission said others wouldn't move until they were pushed.

AGREED

Inland Steel Co. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. agreed in October to allow dredgings from the Indiana Harbor Canal to be deposited in uncompleted landfill projects at their East Chicago, Ind., steel plants for the remainder of the year.

Medic Alert Tags Protect Allergics

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
AP Science Writer

TURLOCK, Calif. (AP) — A man digging for gem stones accidentally stepped on a nest of yellow jackets. About 15 stung him. His throat swelled and he couldn't tell a companion he was deathly allergic to stings. But he pointed to a little metal tag he was wearing.

His companion, who had been scoffing at "a few little stings," rushed him to the emergency room of the nearest hospital.

"The doctor said more delay might have meant his life," his wife wrote Medic Alert Foundation International, Turlock, Calif. 95380.

The nonprofit, tax-exempt charitable foundation gets many grateful letters from among almost 200,000 persons wearing Medic Alert tags on bracelets or necklaces.

New enrollments average 2,500 a month, says Chester L. Watts, executive director.

The American Medical Association estimates that 40 million Americans—one in five—should be wearing medical identification because of a hidden health problem. It can prevent painful mistakes in treatment—or save a life.

There are some 200 reasons, ranging from drug allergies to use of contact lenses, for wearing a warning notice. Some persons can tolerate contact lenses for short periods only. Doctors and nurses may not notice such lenses on the eyes of patients brought unconscious to the hospital.

The foundation tag bears the words Medic Alert and the serpent-twined staff, universal medical symbol, emblazoned in red enamel on one side.

On the back is engraved the wearer's medical problem, such as: "diabetes," "epilepsy," "allergic to—stings, certain drugs or antibiotics," "hemophilia," "wearing contact lenses," "scuba diver."

Scuba diver?

"Yes," says Watts. "Divers can have attacks of bends two hours after leaving the water and symptoms resemble those of acute intoxication."

The reverse of the tag also carries a serial number assigned to the wearer, and 209-634-4917, telephone number of the foundation, where a round-the-clock service of a central answering file is maintained. Collect calls are accepted from physicians, law enforcement officials and others in emergency.

The central file contains, besides medical information about the member, the name, address and telephone number of his doctor and of the wearer's nearest relative. It may also carry such information as his blood type, religion and if he has willed his eyes to an eye bank, which must obtain delivery within a short time after death.

A one-time only membership fee of $5 provides a wallet card and a stainless steel link bracelet or 24-inch necklace with the tag. About one-third of the members prefer sterling silver, Watts says, and they pay $7.50. Indigent persons can obtain them free.

A percentage of each fee goes into a trust fund to perpetuate the central file.

Dr. Marion C. Collins of Turlock founded Medic Alert in 1956 after his daughter, Linda, was administered an antitetanus injection by another physician. Linda, then 14, was allergic to the serum and almost died. Dr. Collins is president of the foundation, the largest of its kind in the world.

Baseball Openers Slated Wednesday

By The Associated Press

The 1968 major league baseball season now is scheduled to open Wednesday without a forfeit or a strike. But three of the 10 games remained up in the air because of the racial unrest in Washington, Baltimore and Detroit.

The traditional Presidential opener at D.C. Stadium, postponed from Monday to mourn slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., still was doubtful Monday night as National Guard troops occupied the stadium. The soldiers had been called out to restore order in the troubled city.

Civil disorder in Baltimore the last three days brought out troops and the same held true in Detroit where Michigan Governor George Romney has instituted a state of emergency.

Minnesota is scheduled to open in Washington, Oakland at Baltimore and Boston at Detroit.

However, the cloud of doubt over two other openers was lifted Monday when Los Angeles agreed to set back tonight's scheduled game to Wednesday and a threatened strike by New York Stadium workers was canceled.

The Philadelphia Phillies, who open against the Dodgers, said they would forfeit the game rather than play today, the day Dr. King was to buried in Atlanta. The Dodgers at first said they would play, which would have meant the first major league forfeit since 1954, but decided Monday to postpone the game.

In New York, groundskeepers and maintenance personnel voted unanimously Monday to accept new contracts with Yankee and Shea stadiums, and returned to work immediately.

California opens at Yankee Stadium Wednesday while the New York Mets have their home opener at Shea Stadium April 17.

The rest of the Wednesday starters are Cleveland at Chicago in the American League and Atlanta at St. Louis, the Mets at San Francisco, Pittsburgh at Houston and the Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati in the National League.

Like the game at Washington, those at Cincinnati and Houston originally were scheduled for Monday, the others for today.

All the AL games and those at San Francisco and Cincinnati in the NL are afternoon contests. The others are night games.

Larry Linder, the Howard County JC basketball flash who is headed for Texas A&M, wound up scoring 718 points during the 1967-68 season — which places him among the top half-dozen scorers of all time at the local school.

He helped the Hawks to a 23-12 record, which means he averaged about 20.5 points a game.

Larry scored 33 more points than did Howard County's third team All-American of two years back, Kirk Papp, but played in more games than did Papp. Larry and Papp probably will be played against each other next year, since Kirk is at the University of Texas.

A coach can advance fast in the industry. Take the case of Lowell (Cotton) Fitzsimmons, recently promoted to the head basketball coaching job at Kansas State.

He moved up after only one year as an assistant when Tex Winter elected to hire out to the University of Washington.

Last year, Fitzsimmons was coach at Moberly, Mo., Junior College. He was the first man to win "Coach of the Year" honors at the National Juco tournament on two different occasions and was only the third man to win two national championships. In addition, he was the only man who participated as a player in the Hutchinson meet and came back to win the National title and the "Coach of the Year" award.

Elisio Estrada, Melton McMorries' scrappy bantamweight belter from Juarez, lost a close decision to tough Danny Gutierrez of Tampico, Mexico, in a recent bout in San Antonio.

Gutierrez, ranked third in his weight division in his country, bloodied Estrada's nose but probably gained the nod because Estra didn't know how to come off the ropes and counter-attack.

Now, McMorries, who resides near Tarzan over in Martin County, is dickering for a bout with Benny McColl in New Mexico. If Estrada and McColl clash, it will be for the third time—each has won once.

McMorries says Estrada seemed a little too finely drawn for the Gutierrez fight, weighing in at 121.

Wayne Heath, the California heavy, appeared in the main event on the card and stopped Argentina's Humberto Ghiotto in a first round kayo.

Had it not been for that two-point basketball defeat suffered at the hands of Houston back in January, UCLA's Lucius Allen would have played on teams winning 114 straight games dating back to high school.

• • • •

In the six years since they've been in business, the New York Mets have had 38 third basemen.

That averages out to 6 1/3 third sackers per season.

California athletic chieftains are never one to under-estimate or undersell their teams.

Larry Jansen, pitching coach of the San Francisco Giants, said recently he is convinced he will have four 20-game winners on his staff this year.

That would be Juan Marichal, Mike McCormick, Gaylord Perry and Ray Sadecki. Between them, they won 63 and dropped 43 decisions last year.

Pitching may be the Giants' long suit this season. Manager Herman Franks, however, is worried about the consistency of his attack.

Frymire Top 2-4A Batter

Larry Frymire of Odessa Permian leads all hitters in District 2-AAAA with an average of .769 but Big Spring's R. J. Englert isn't too far off the pace with a .625 mark.

Englert has collected eight hits in 13 times at bat.

Gary Don Newsom of Big Spring, slow to get started as a hitter in practice games, has caught fire since conference play got under way and is now hitting .357.

Felix Martinez, Steer second sacker, is the only other local player hitting .300 or better. He is in at an even .300.

Stanky Picks Boston Club

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Stanky, the Chicago White Sox's manager who is often painted as a man completely dedicated to baseball, Monday dismissed the idea of such an image.

"All the dedication in the world isn't going to see a contract extended once you fail to produce," said Stanky. "Sure, I like to win and I want to win. But my first obligation is to my wife and children.

"That comes first," said Stanky. "That's where I'm dedicated. Baseball comes second."

Stanky was talking as his White Sox went through a brief drill in preparation for their rescheduled opener against Cleveland on Wednesday.

Originally slated for Tuesday, the opener was moved back because of the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Stanky, in his third year at the White Sox helm, picked the Boston Red Sox to repeat for the American League pennant because "I always stick with the champion. You have to beat the champions."

Monroe Is Named To Rookie Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Monroe of Baltimore is the only unanimous choice on this season's National Basketball Association All-Rookie team announced today.

Monroe received a vote from each of the league's 12 coaches. Bob Rule of Seattle and Walt Frazier of New York got 11 votes apiece.

Rounding out the team were Al Tucker of Seattle and Phil Jackson of New York with eight votes each.

Ben Franklin Is Honored

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Fifteen persons, including Benjamin Franklin, have been elected to the International Swimming Hall of Fame, it was announced Monday night.

Franklin, the famed printer, author, scientist and public official of the 18th century, was described as America's first internationally famous swimmer, swimming teacher and swimming writer.

Swimming was Franklin's most impressive talent as a young man and he once swam three miles down the Thames River in England.

Buck Dawson, spokesman for the organization, said others elected to the hall of fame by vote of 1,500 swimming coaches included:

Zoltan de Halmay of Hungary, only man to win medals in five Olympics; Dorothy Pointon-Hill, United States, two-time Olympic platform diving champion; George Hogdson, Canada, winner of two gold medals in the 1912 Games; and Dr. Sammy Lee, United States, two-time high diving Olympic winner.

All will be enshrined in the Hall of Fame when its new building is dedicated here in December. Some 71 swimmers have now been elected.

Champ Suffers Bone Fracture

TOKYO (AP) — World junior welterweight champion boxer Paul Fuji of Tokyo has suffered a fractured bone in his left hand. As a result, doctors Tuesday pronounced him unfit for his second title defense—against the Philippines' Pedro Adigue scheduled for June 6 in Tokyo.

Cokes, Ludick Work Privately For Bout

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Welterweight champion Curtis Cokes and his challenger, Willie Ludick of South Africa, settled down to private workouts today, each eyeing the other suspiciously.

Angelo Dundee, who will handle Ludick in his title fight with Cokes here April 16, arrived for a brief visit Monday. He immediately announced that no one would be permitted, not even the press, to further workouts of his fighter.

"Cokes won't let us watch him, so we'll not let Cokes' followers watch us," said Dundee.

This was despite the fact that he planned nothing new for Ludick and Doug Lord, manager of Cokes, said his boy didn't either.

Dundee went to Oakland today to set up training facilities for Jimmy Ellis, the heavyweight he's handling for his World Boxing Association title fight with Jerry Quarry April 27.

He'll be back in a few days and work closely with the South African until he faces Cokes at Memorial Auditorium next week.

"Ludick will knock out Cokes," said Dundee. "He has no format and does nothing by the book. He's what you would call awkwardly clever. Cokes just won't know how to handle him. And he'll wear Cokes down with his body attack with both hands."

Dundee recalled that Gypsy Joe Harris, also an unorthodox fighter, had given Cokes his only beating since the Dallas man became champion in 1966. That was, however, a nontitle fight which Cokes claims he would have won had he figured Harris out sooner.

Norm Levinson, co-promoter of the fight with David Levin of South Africa, said ticket sales indicated the fight would draw Dallas' all-time high in gate.

Steers Entertain 'Dogs In 4 P.M. Game Today

Big Spring seeks a return to winning ways in a 4 p.m. baseball game here today with Midland High School.

The Longhorns fell two games off the pace being set by Midland Lee and Odessa Permian when they lost to the Panthers last Saturday in Odessa, 5-2.

Today's game, of course, is contingent on the weather. It looked very doubtful this morning that the teams would be able to play because of a rain that descended upon the area.

Junior Mendoza likely will mount the knob for the Steers.

Midland is a lackluster 1-3 in league standings but has a potentially dangerous club. In their last start, the Bulldogs were knocked off by Abilene Cooper, 2-1.

In that game, the Bulldogs were able to collect only two hits.

Over-all, Big Spring is now 13-4 and is on its way to the best record in local history.

Quite likely, starters for Big Spring will be Gary Don Newsom behind the plate, James Newman at first base, Felix Martinez at second, Tony Martinez at third, Bill Burchett at shortstop, Dean Gilstrap in left field, R. J. Englert in center and Ronnie Wrightsil in right.

GAME CALLED

The Big Spring - Midland High game today has been postponed, coach Oakey Hagood said shortly before noon today. No decision has been made on when it will be played.

Williams Is MVP

CHICAGO (AP) — Sam Williams, who set three scoring records at Iowa with 632 points in one season, was named the Big Ten's Most Valuable Player Monday.

Reservations Are Full For Games

MEXICO CITY (AP) — If you don't have a room already reserved for the Olympic Games here in October, you're out of luck.

Ramon Alatorre, director of the government's lodging control office, said, "We've been putting all new requests on a waiting list since April 1." The chances of getting off the list and into a room are nil, he added.

Mexico's Air Hurts Stamina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have come up with yes and no answers to the question:

"Will Mexico City's high altitude bother athletes in the Olympic Games next October?"

New records may be set, the experts concluded, in events requiring spurts of energy, such as the 100-meter dash, the pole vault, the shot put, and competition depending more on skill than on muscular power.

But athletes in stamina contests, such as the long-distance runners, swimmers and competitors in similar events, may be in for trouble.

The problem is that there is about 25 per cent less oxygen at Mexico City's 7,800-foot altitude than there is at sea level.

A study of the problem by a group of international experts was reviewed by the Pan-American Health Organization.

The specialists conceded much will depend on individual performance but "there is only an outside chance of participants in endurance sports setting new world records."

And competitors needing spurts of energy "will do better."

In stamina contests, the athlete is fueled with aerobic energy—the kind dependent on oxygen. Dr. Rodolfo Margariu of the Institute of Human Physiology, Milan, Italy, said this is the kind needed for an event lasting more than 90 seconds.

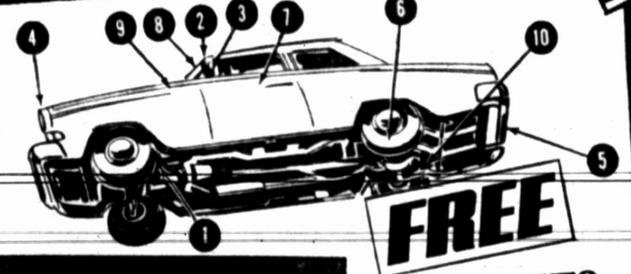

Dr. Alberto Hurtado of Cayetano Heredia University, Lima, Peru, put it this way:

"When a man from sea level is exposed to high altitude environments, he is exposed to the difficulty of getting enough oxygen."

Going To Europe

CHICAGO (AP) — George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears in the National Football League, plans to leave Thursday on a European trip.

Casper Eyes Masters Golf Championship

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Billy Casper's golf credentials are highly impressive, but he still has one more goal he yearns to attain—his first Masters championship.

When the 36-year-old Californian flew out of Greensboro Monday night he was $27,500 richer after winning the $137,500 Greater Greensboro Open with a record-equalling 267. A double round was played Monday because of two earlier postponements.

Today he began practice for that elusive Masters championship, confident that "I'm going into the Masters (Thursday) with the best chance I've ever had."

Despite a layoff of almost two months while he visited U.S. forces in the Far East, Casper returned to competition here with a remarkable display of consistent golf. His scores were 65-67-69-66, a 17-under par performance over the 7,034-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

George Archer finished 67-65 for his runner-up tie at 271 with Bobby Nichols and Gene Littler. Each won $11,229.

SNAKES BEWARE

Jacobs Is Hunter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Ray Jacobs makes his living by pouncing on men. For a hobby, he pounces on snakes.

Jacobs is a 6-foot-3, 285-pound defensive tackle for the Miami Dolphins. But when he stops slamming into other big men and takes off the helmet with a fish painted on it, he likes to hunt for the deadly Florida cousins of the diamondback rattlesnakes he came to know around his hometown in Texas.

Jacobs has found good hunting around his new home on the northwest side of Miami.

EX-BIG SPRINGER

Griffin Named CC Links Pro

C. G. Griffin Jr. is coming home as pro at the Big Spring Country Club.

He will report for duty not later than May 1, he said here Monday in confirming his acceptance with John L. Taylor, president of the Big Spring Country Club.

C. G. GRIFFIN JR.

Reared in Big Spring and operator of a business here for several years, Griffin has nearly 14 years of experience behind him as a golf pro. In addition, he is a past president of the West Texas chapter of the Professional Golfers Association, having served two terms, and was named professional of the year in 1966 for the chapter that embraces the territory including and west of Amarillo and Abilene.

For the past 11 years he has been the pro at the Brownfield Country Club.

He and Mrs. Griffin, the former Norma Henry, have one son, Teddy Griffin, 17, who is graduating next month from Brownfield High School.

At the BSCC, Griffin will have charge of the operation of the golf course and shop, complete supervision of the maintenance of the course and promotion of the golf program.

Taylor said that he will work with the greens committee in mapping fairways and other improvements as well as planning a well-rounded schedule of golf events, ladies and junior activities, as well as working with the Big Spring Open and Big Spring Invitational. He also is a teaching professional. Griffin will represent the club in selected tournaments such as the West Texas PGA, Taylor added.

After his graduation from Big Spring High School in 1941, Griffin served as a pilot with the U. S. Navy until 1946 when he returned here to establish the Big Spring Venetian Blind Company. Later he took the job as golf pro at Colorado City.

After little over a year, he went to Floydada, where he also served for over a year until Brownfield engaged him. There he has supervised the club's nine-hole course, staged tournaments, has continued his studies at various turf clinics, etc.

Chaps Oppose Bucs Tonight

By The Associated Press

The New Orleans Buccaneers and the Dallas Chaparrals get the professional basketball playoff ball rolling again tonight.

It will be the first action in either the American Basketball Association or the National Basketball Association since last Saturday because of mourning for Dr. Martin Luther King, the slain civil rights leader.

The ABA Western Division finals games between division champion New Orleans and Dallas will be in Dallas instead of New Orleans as originally scheduled. New Orleans leads the best-of-7 set 1-0.

Eastern champion Pittsburgh and Minnesota will resume their series Wednesday night in Minneapolis. The teams are tied 1-1.

Both NBA playoff series also resume Wednesday night, with Philadelphia at Boston in the Eastern Division finals and San Francisco at Los Angeles in the West. Boston leads the defending league champion 76ers 1-0 and Los Angeles holds the same margin over San Francisco.

Mood In Masters Temporarily Lost

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Lovely ladies sipped drinks under red and green umbrellas by the shady oak tree. Kids darted up to Hideyo Sugimoto, seeking his prized Japanese autograph. The green banner with the famous flagstick patch flew over the big white clubhouse.

The curtain was going up on the 1968 Masters, mecca of golf.

But something was missing. Somehow, that first walk over the sprawling Augusta National Course didn't touch off that tingling feeling that this is the Masters.

Players on hand for Monday's somber practice round blamed the mood on the absence of most of the name players, wrapping up play at the Greater Greensboro Open.

"It will pick up when the rest of the players get here," said defending champion Gay Brewer.

Players in the lock room watched television broadcasts commemorating the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, Nobel Prize-winning civil rights leader whose burial was set for today.

Then they went back to their golf.

The Masters was on. No ceremonies were planned to mark King's burial in Atlanta, 170 miles to the northwest.

The Negro corps of caddies, waiters and waitresses planned to keep working.

"I am very sympathetic to Dr. King," one caddie said. "But I'll be here. I got a family to feed."

Boston Could Miss Games

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ralph Boston, the world record holder in the long jump, said Monday night he may boycott the Olympic Games because of the death of the civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

In a telephone interview with the Los Angeles Times, Boston said he originally decided not to boycott the Games in Mexico City this October because he didn't think "the Games should be used as a political crutch."

But Boston, at home at Nashville, Tenn., Monday night, said he wanted to represent the Negro but didn't want to represent "people like the man who killed Martin Luther King."

"Everybody gave him a hard time when he was alive," Boston said of Dr. King. "Now they're eulogizing him. Where were these phonies when the man was doing what he believed in?"

"My conscience is working awfully hard. I want to do what is right," he said.

Surly Bruins Eye Comeback

By The Associated Press

Two straight Stanley Cup hockey setbacks have left the Boston Bruins in a belligerent mood. Harry Sinden hopes they stay that way for tonight's clash with mighty Montreal.

"We have to start skating and start hitting," Coach Sinden said Monday as the brawny Bruins prepared to tackle the Canadiens at Boston tonight.

The New York Rangers entertain the Chicago Black Hawks and the Los Angeles Kings visit the Minnesota North Stars in other National Hockey League playoff action tonight. The Philadelphia Flyers take on the St. Louis Blues Wednesday night at St. Louis.

The latter three games were set back from earlier scheduled dates in deference to the period of national mourning for slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King.

Montreal downed the visiting Bruins 2-1 and 5-3 last week for a commanding lead in their best-of-7 quarter-final set. The Rangers are one up on the Hawks, having taken the series opener 3-1 last Thursday night.

The Kings swept their first two games against Minnesota on home ice. Philadelphia and St. Louis are tied at one victory apiece as their set moves to the Blues' ice.

Stanton Signed By Baylor Club

ABILENE — Tom Stanton, basketball star for Abilene Cooper the past season, has signed to attend Baylor University. Head coach Bill Menafee of the Bears signed Stanton in person.

Stanton stands 5-11. He led the Cougars in scoring the past season with 809 points in 31 games for a 26.1 game average.

He was named to the All-District 2-AAAA team.

Graebner Winner

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Clark Graebner of New York beat South Africa's Robert Maud in the quarterfinals and Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., won a third-round match from Fred McMillan of South Africa Monday in the South African Tennis Championships.

Clark's Remains Now In Scotland

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — The body of Jim Clark, one of the world's greatest racing drivers, was brought back to his native Scotland early today.

A chartered plane brought the 32-year-old Clark's body from Frankfurt.

Thousands of saddened Scots were expected to turn out for the funeral Wednesday.

Clark, world driving champion in 1963 and 1965, was killed when his car skidded off the track and somersaulted into a wood at West Germany's Hockenhiem track Sunday.

Mrs. King Given Gold Cup Purse

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Peter Fuller of Boston, owner of Dancer's Image, has given his share of the Governor's Gold Cup horse race purse to the widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Fuller said that about $62,000 would be turned over to Mrs. King and the money could be used for scholarships in memory of the slain civil rights leader, or for whatever use she prefers.

The winner's share from Saturday's Gold Cup race at Bowie was $77,415. The difference was received by the trainer and jockey.

"I met Dr. King at Boston University several years ago when he was to be honored with a doctorate," Fuller said Monday.

Texas Ranger Returns Loot

A Texas Ranger from Abilene returned the radio transmitter and five mobile radios stolen one week ago from the John Turner lease in southeast Howard County on the night of March 30.

The stolen articles were recovered in a Sherman house and climaxed a successful week's work by Howard County Sheriff's officers, Texas Rangers and other peace officers on a burglary case. The stolen equipment was valued at more than $4,000.

The officers traced the theft to two men who had been arrested and were being held in Granbury. One of the men made a statement, alleging that the stolen radios had been thrown in a lake near Eastland. An Abilene scuba diver, who volunteered to help, was called into service and walked out the lake bottom failing to find the loot.

The search then shifted to Sherman and Rangers found the radios in good condition in a house in that city.

Turner said that he wanted to voice his thanks to the local sheriff's office and to the other officials who helped to run down the burglars and the stolen equipment.

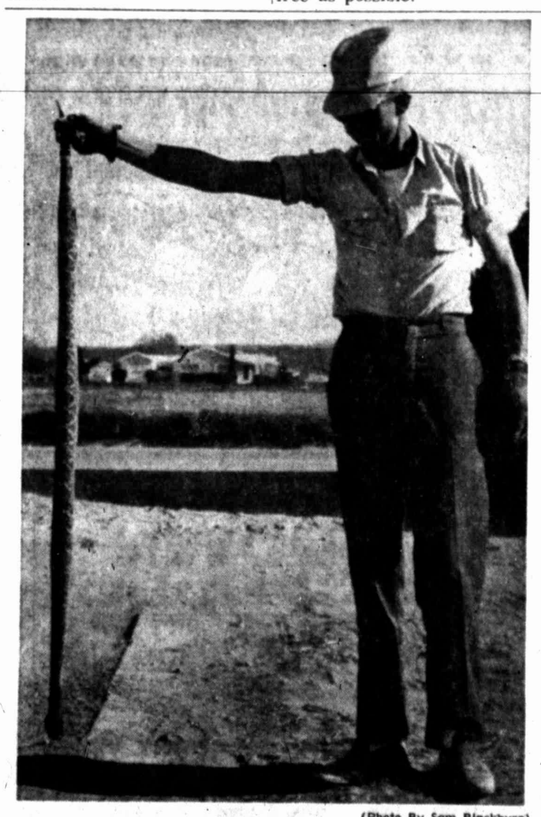

"I think the officers did a very fine job and should be commended for their work," said Turner.

Commissioners Okay Holiday

Howard County Commissioners Court Monday approved a Good Friday holiday for the Road and Bridge Department Workers.

This means that the day will be a holiday for all of the county offices since the action of the commission in setting the layoff for the road and bridge men is generally followed by all other elective officials.

The lone exception, as usual will be the sheriff's office which will be operating. However, a skeleton crew will probably be on duty to enable as many of the department to have the day free as possible.

A LOVELIER YOU

Try Deep Cleansing For Beautiful Skin

By MARY SUE MILLER

Just getting your face clean these days is something of a challenge. Consider how the fallout from air pollution rains down on your skin. And what about those heavy layers of make-up?

What goes on must come off. Deep cleansing is basic to lovely skin. Although it is agreed that soap and water is a thoroughly effective cleanser, many lovelies are bothered by the dry aftermath of sudsing. On the other hand they object to the tacky feeling associated with many cleansing creams. Is that your dilemma?

Well, that's where a new kind of facial washing cream comes to the rescue. Applications clean like soap and soften like cream. What's more the process is quick and uncomplicated:

You first dip your fingertips into the cream and apply it to your face. Then add a little warm water and massage to work up a creamy foam. Lastly rinse thoroughly with clear water and pat dry with a towel.

This cream - and - water way of washing makes for a happy skin, a happy face. For ideal results the process should be repeated night and morning and, when possible, upon changing make-up at any hour. Use should never become an occasional supplementary beauty treatment. It's an every day ritual.

KNOWS NO AGE

Some women age before their time; some retain their youthful beauty and charm. Why? The secrets of non-stop attractiveness are revealed in "Beauty Knows No Age." Advice covers ways to a youthful figure, skin and hair; to flattering make-up, hairstyles and fashions. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Herald, enclosing a self - addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth over a pale yellow underlay and centered with an arrangement of yellow roses in a black ceramic vase. Yellow tapers in black ceramic holders flanked the centerpiece, and china and silver appointments completed the setting.

Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Don Cunningham presided at the tea table.

The next meeting will be April 16 in the home of Mrs. Rodney Hallmark.
