Carter Pledges Aid To Texas Farmers

By PAULA FROKE
Associated Press Writer

Rains today took some of the pain out of the heat wave that has contributed to more than 1,200 deaths, but agriculture officials say it will take a lot more to break a drought in the Southwest.

Meanwhile, President Carter says he will hasten federal aid to Texas farmers and urge federal agencies to "do everything possible to alleviate the drought and intense heat wave."

Widely scattered showers fell across Texas today but officials said it was just a drop in the bucket.

"To have any kind of relief from the drought, we'll need a rainfall of an inch and a half to 2 inches," said Virgil Helm of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service in Dallas. "Some of the areas are so dried out that you have such huge cracks that it might take 3 to 4 inches."

More than 4 inches fell in some eastern Arkansas communities late Monday and officials there called it "just a shot in the arm."

Dr. Woody Miley, a soil specialist for the Arkansas Cooperative Extension Service, said, however, that about 80 percent of the cotton crop could bounce back if more rains fall in the next few weeks.

In the North and Northeast, whch had been spared the heat plaguing other parts of the country, on Monday endured a second day of temperatures over 100 degrees. Water emergencies were declared in New York and Philadelphia.

The heat has been blamed for at least 1,211 deaths in 23 states since June 22, according to an unofficial count by the Associated Press.

"We're trying to do everything we can," Carter said as he surveyed a parched field of grain sorghum in Justin, Texas. "We'll be praying for rain and cooler weather."

Richard Alexander, an official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, said the farmland Carter inspected had yielded only 200 pounds of sorghum per acre, down from a projected 3,500 pounds per acre.

While Carter promised aid to Texas, Arkansas officials were still seeking help and Missouri was looking for more.

Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., said he was "appalled and frustrated" because the Farmers Home Administration has not declared the state a heatwave disaster area. The Small Business Administration declared a disaster area in the state last Thursday.

EARLY MORNING RAIN--Most Snyder residents awoke to find it raining this morning but few complained about the wet streets as they splashed their way to work. Early reports indicate up to one-half inch of rain fell in the Snyder Area. (SDN Staff Photo)

Hot Spell Dented By Light Rainfall

Welcome showers have at least made a dent in a merciless heat wave that has enveloped most of Texas.

The rainfall finally moved into the Snyder area early today after reports of scattered thunderstorm activity on Sunday and Monday in areas to the east.

Snyder had rainfall ranging up to half an inch in the showers which began shortly before 6 a.m.

Although the pattern was erratic, the light moisture helped raise hopes that the worst of the heat wave might be over. For crops, much more will be needed to put them back "on their feet."

Reports this morning indicated .20 to .30 inch had fallen in the Fluvanna area and about .20 was reported at Ira. No measurements were reported from Hermleigh, but a light shower was reported there.

H.O. Beard reported half an inch in his gauge at 2903 Denison Ave. The official gauge at the city water plant had .23 inch at 7 a.m. and it was still raining at that hour.

The Dallas-Fort Worth area also welcomed some rainfall. As clouds moved in Monday, Snyder had a high reading of only 96 degrees, and it dipped to a low of 65 degrees overnight.

Monday's showers were the first trace of rain to dampen the North Texas area since June 22. Scattered rains also fell in several other parts of Texas.

In downtown Dallas, diners in a popular restaurant applauded the first clap of thunder.

"It's like Christmas or a baby with a new toy," said Ralph Fike, an East Dallas service station employee. "I just washed my car yesterday, and I'll wash it every day for the next six months if it'll get us some more of this rain."

However, the National Weather Service warned the brief showers did not necessarily signal an end to the record-breaking heat wave that for 29 days has held the Lone State State in its grip.

"The rain just cooled things off Monday. It was nice while it lasted. But that's going to be about it," said forecaster Harold McCrabb.

"We certainly don't look at this as a drought-breaker. We think we're right on the edge of a drought now," McCrabb said. "There may be some isolated thundershowers around the state later in the week, but we don't expect any more."

Children in parched Dallas city parks greeted the showers with shrieks of delight, according to park spokesmen.

"Everybody seems to be real happy with it," said Bill Walker of Dallas' Everglade park.

The official noon temperature was 101 degrees at the Dallas-Fort Worth airport the NWS said, but had dropped to 91 degrees by 5 p.m. after the brief thunderstorm.

More Than 60 Sign On First Day To Register

More than three-score young men of Scurry County registered for possible draft into military service Monday, the first day of a nation-wide sign-up in post offices throughout the nation.

Registration was conducted here without incident, but in some areas, post offices were ringed with sign-waving demonstrators chanting, "Don't Register."

The Snyder Post Office registered 61 the first day, while post offices at Fluvanna and Ira had registered one each. No reports had been received from other area post offices.

The registration program, which will affect 4 million men born in 1960 and 1961, began Monday after last-minute efforts to block it. It is being challenged as unconstitutional because it excludes women, and the Supreme Court was expected to hear the case later this year.

Protests were widespread, but generally small, and were not reported to have interfered with registration.

Post Office walls were spray painted with anti-registration slogans in Seattle, and several thousand registration forms were stolen overnight from the Eugene, Ore., post office.

Two New York City postal workers filed a lawsuit asking to be exempted from processing registration forms. Allan Rogg, 29, who had applied for conscientious objector status during the Vietnam war, said he could not "in good conscience" help register other people.

Hundreds of people paraded outside a New York City post office across from Madison Square Garden, while protestors inside locked arms in front of the registration window.

Some 20 pickets in San Antonio chanted, "One, two, three four, Exxon's not worth a war."

Some 400 people marched around San Francisco's main post office, and in Bernal Heights, Calif., two men chained themselves

United Way Plans Booth

Dr. Ed Barkowsky presided at the July meeting of the Scurry County United Way held in the city hall Monday at 2 p.m.

Appointed to the committee to plan a booth for the Scurry County Fair were Sue Mize, Jo Ann Nunley and Brenda Hedges.

Monday was the official kickoff day for the Royalty and Branch House divisions of United Way.

The next meeting, Aug. 25 at 2 p.m. at city hall, a report will be heard from the advance division, fair booth committee, and team captains will be announced, according to Dr. Barkowsky, vice president.

Sweetwater Man Killed In Mishap

A 64-year-old Sweetwater man was killed late Monday in a two-vehicle traffic accident at the intersection of U.S. Highway 84 and the Ennis Creek Road.

The accident occurred about 6 p.m. and took the life of William Peyton Weaver Jr. He became the fourth traffic fatality of the county this year.

Weaver, driving a 1978 Chevrolet, was traveling southeast on Highway 84 when his vehicle was in collision with a 1973 Ford pickup driven by John Milliken of Snyder that was crossing Highway 84, going west on the Ennis Creek Road, said investigating officers of the Department of Public Safety. Milliken was not injured.

An autopsy was ordered by Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Cates-Spencer Funeral Home in Sweetwater.

Permit For Veterinary Clinic Issued

A building permit has been issued by the City of Snyder for construction of a new veterinary clinic building at 3706 Brick Plant Rd.

The new building, which will be constructed by Smith and Featherston of Snyder for Dr. Robert Taylor, will be of masonry construction and the estimated cost is $48,500.

It will have 2,000 square feet of space and will house facilities for Dr. Taylor's veterinary clinic offices and an animal shelter.

Dr. Taylor has been using a mobile home for offices under a temporary arrangement.

What it was, was rain.

Some people seemed to doubt that there would be any more rain this crop season when the rodeo ended without any falling. But hopes were rekindled Monday when clouds began to form on the heels of unexpected showers around Abilene. Also, we heard an unconfirmed report that two drops fell Sunday at Hermleigh. And the hot weather did show some signs of abating before the rodeo was over. We had a high reading under 100 degrees Saturday.

So the showers today were not exactly a shock.

Meanwhile, the hot weather had invaded regions of the northeast where people had been enjoying a cool summer while the nation's mid-section had been suffering from hot days. And, although it caused enough problems in Texas, it seems that people in this part of the country are able to endure hotter weather than those in some other regions.

A story we came across the other day is a good example. A Texan who had been working in the oilfields and a couple of buddies from out of state went to Las Vegas for a few days of rest and recreation. They were flying home in a private plane which crashed near Albuquerque, and all three were killed.

For economic reasons, the mortician cremated the bodies to ship them to their respective homes.

The ashes of one man were boxed up and mailed to a town in Oklahoma. The ashes of another were dispatched to a town in Mississippi.

However, complications set in when the Texan was put into the furnace. An hour later, the attendant glanced in, looked at his watch and walked away. After two hours, the attendant again checked the time, shook his watch, and then turned up the dial on the furnace.

After three hours, the attendant again walked by, looked at his watch in exasperation and swung open the furnace door. Out stepped a perspiring, booted Texan who gingerly put his feet on the basement floor and said: "Pardnuh, if it's as hot out here as it is in there, we're gonna kill all the cotton."

And then we heard the other day about the contractor on a construction job saving money because of the hot weather. Instead of hiring welders to connect up the metal work, he merely placed the pieces in proper position early in the morning and went to the coffee shop, then returned a few hours later to find them firmly welded by natural heat.

White Says Texas Will Appeal Alien Decision

HOUSTON (AP)-Attorney General Mark White said today the state of Texas will appeal a federal court decision that knocks down a state law and opens public school doors for thousands of illegal alien children.

And a national Hispanic leader says the appeal can only damage relations between Texas and Mexico.

U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals struck down the state law that blocked children of undocumented workers from enrollment, saying children excluded from school suffer "great harm."

"The statute absolutely deprives undocumented children of access to education, thereby causing them great harm," U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals wrote Monday in a ruling that paves the way for undocumented children to attend public school.

The landmark ruling orders four school districts in South Texas to admit illegal aliens Sept. 1 and enjoins the Texas Education Commissioner from enforcing the law statewide. Texas is the only state that excludes illegal aliens from state education funding.

The reaction from government and school officials and minority leaders in the state was immediate and strong.

Ruben Bonilla, national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens said he sent White a telegram today urging the state to "accept the ruling." A short time later, White announced he would appeal:

"An appeal would reflect an attitude of indifference," Bonilla said. "The decision reached by Seals is a landmark decision bringing Texas back in line with the concept of equal opportunity."

Gov. Bill Clements said he did not think Seals' ruling was "a proper one."

"I don't agree with it," he said of the decision. "It's not equitable. It's a contradiction in terms that goes beyond a legal ruling. Until the illegal alien question is solved, this is a peripheral issue."

Texas Education Commissioner Alton Bowen earlier had estimated opening schools to illegal alien children would cost taxpayers $100 million a year.

Standard Tells Earnings

NEW YORK (AP)-Standard Oil Co. Indiana, the first major U.S. oil company to report second-quarter profits, says it earned $488.2 million in the period, 39.4 percent more than it did in the second quarter of 1979. First-half earnings were up 52 percent.

The earnings did not match those recorded in the first quarter, when spiraling oil prices helped propel the nation's sixth-largest oil company to a $575.8 million profit, up 65 percent in the year.

According to Wall Street analysts, the cooling of world oil markets in recent months also was likely to be reflected in a slowing of earnings gains at No. 1 Exxon Corp., whose quarterly results were expected today.

Oil Firm Chemists Burned

PHILLIPS - Two oil company chemists burned in an explosion at the Phillips Petroleum Co. complex are hospitalized in critical condition today as federal investigators began new checks into working conditions at the plant.

Sellars In Grave Condition

LONDON (AP)-Actor Peter Sellers was reported in grave condition at London hospital today after suffering a heart attack at the plush Dorchester Hotel.

The 54-year-old Sellers has suffered a string of heart attacks over the past six years. The last was in May in Dublin, where he was hospitalized for several days. In 1977 he was fitted with a pacemaker.

A spokesman at the Dorchester home for visiting royalty, tycoons and movie stars, said Sellers checked in Saturday with his secretary, Michael Jeffries.

After being stricken at the hotel today, he was rushed to a hospital where a spokesman said he was "gravely ill."

sensible decision

Lawyers who get appointed judges don't usually bring to that position much appreciation for the factors that people in business must weigh when making marketplace decisions. That is particularly unfortunate in these days when the courts are asked repeatedly to involve themselves in affairs of enterprise.

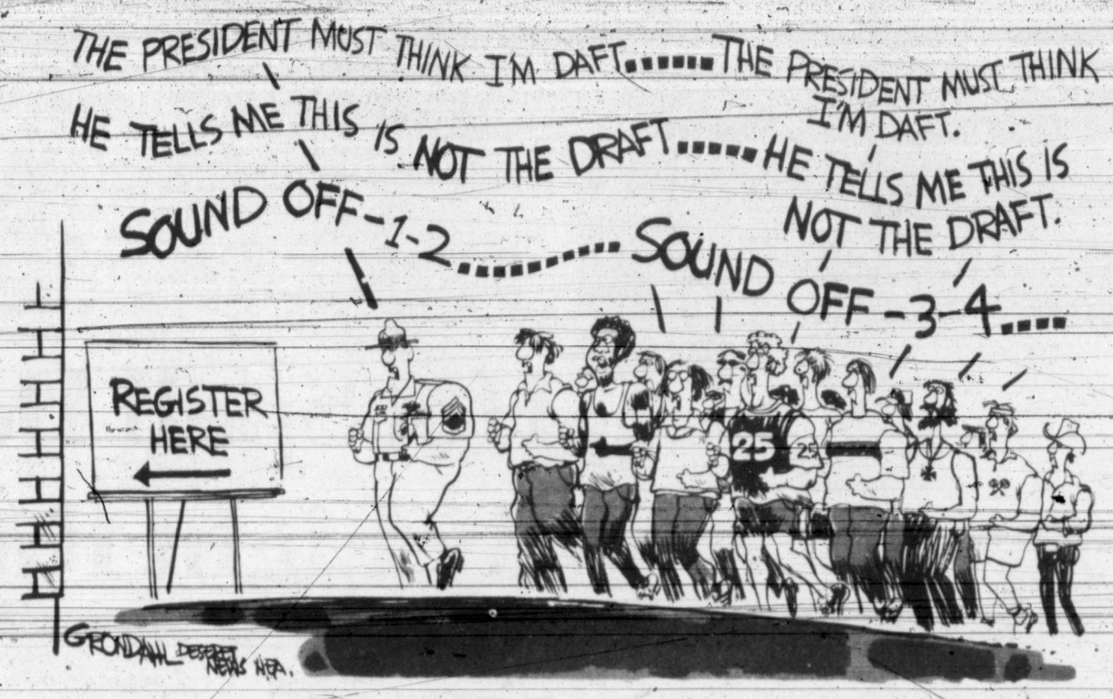

We were somewhat surprised the, by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that recognized the extraordinary cost of trying to live up to some bureaucrat's absolutist mandate. By a 5-4 margin, the court found it unreasonable to demand that employers provide a risk-free workplace.

The case involved standards issued by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration that lowered the permissible level of benzene, a liquid used in making several industrial products, from 10 parts per million in the factory air to a mere one part. OSHA had relied on what the court called "a series of assumptions indicating that some leukemias might result from exposure to 10 ppm and that the number of cases might be reduced by reducing the exposure level 1 ppm..." Regulators often engage in assumptions when dealing, with other people's livelihoods.

Justice John Paul Stevens, writing for the majority, argued that "there are literally thousands of substances used in the workplace that have been identified as carcinogens...The mere possibility that some employee somewhere in the country may confront some risk of cancer (is not) a sufficient basis for the exercise of (bureaucratic) power to require the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars to minimize that risk."

Compelling businesses to spend sums of that magnitude is a good way to send them into insolvency, thus costing the employees their jobs unless some sort of bailout is arranged. This lesson of the age is apparently yet to be learned by agencies such as OSHA that purport concern for the employees' welfare.

The Supreme Court in deciding the benzene case sidestepped for now the question of whether regulators must perform const-benefit analyses before issuing requirements of this sort. Just as well. That remedy is clearly one for the legislative agenda. If Congress would address itself to that, it probably wouldn't need to be haggling so much over those bailouts.

WASHINGTON (NEA)— A blue-ribbon presidential panel has been working for nine months on recommendations to change and update national immigration policy. This 16-member "Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy" is headed by the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, the highly respected president of Notre Dame University and former head of the Civil Rights Commission.

The Carter administration has promised various minority groups that it will quickly implement the commission's proposals, which are likely to be presented by the end of the year.

The White House no doubt based that promise on its expectation that the recommendations would deal with things like visa quotas and improvements in Immigration and Naturalization Service operations. It did not anticipate that along with those proposals may come a bombshell: a call for national identification cards to be issued to all citizens and legal aliens.

The panel has heard many complaints from unions and other worker groups that illegal aliens are taking jobs away from Americans. The estimated 3 million to 6 million illegal aliens in this country now — plus the others arriving daily — clearly have a significant impact on urban job markets.

Current law requires employers to ascertain that potential employees are not illegal aliens; that includes asking aliens for the "green cards" documenting that they can legally hold jobs in this country. But employers complain that it is often difficult for them to determine citizenship or legal residency. In addition, they are frequently accused of discrimination for only challenging the status of Hispanics.

So, a number of commission members hit upon what is essentially a national system of worker identification cards. Proponents argue that employers could routinely ask all new employees for their cards to determine easily their immigration status without appearing to discriminate agianst any ethnic group. Employers would then be held responsible if illegals were hired.

To say this proposal has split the panel would be a considerable understatement. Some civil libertarians oppose the idea as a potential invasion of privacy – even as the first step toward a totalitarian state. Others oppose the proposal because it might be tied to Society Security, with Social Security numbers used on the new worker identification cards.

Hesburgh strongly favors the proposal. "With the number of illegal aliens coming in," he argues, "we must find some way to differentiate between those who are legally able to hold jobs and those who are not. And with the rising unemployment figures, it is clear that there are not an unlimited number of jobs available."

Strong opposition to the proposal is voiced by panel member Patricia Roberts Harris, secretary of health and human services. "We in this country have traditionally accepted the many strong arguments against a national identity system," she says. "This system would basically be the same kind that has always been rejected."

Mrs. Harris is also critical of the suggestion that the new system be tied to Social Security, which falls under her department's jurisdiction. "The prospects for fraud in such an ID system are so great that if it were tied to Social Security it might threaten the very stability of the entire Social Security system."

According to staffers, the commission is evenly divided on the question of ID cards. They predict more heated debate and a close vote.

It appears that the panel will recommend other controversial measures. Among them may be increasing from 290,000 to 750,000 the number of aliens allowed to enter this country annually, eliminating the current ceiling of 20,000 immigrants annually from any one country, and granting amnesty to the millions of illegal aliens already in this country, regardless of how or when they arrived.

our big problem

No industry, no facility, has made a more diligent effort to cut costs than have our nation's hospitals.

Prodded by the American Hospital Association's voluntary cost-containment guidelines, threatened by more government snooper-vision if they don't, conscious of their singular humanitarian obligation -- hospital administrators have accomplished extraordinary savings.

But the hospitals' biggest problem -- is us!

A comparative few of us are running up the biggest medical bills.

A comparative few patients populate our hospitals by returning again and again and again.

And most of them are suffering from diseases which they could prevent themselves -- diseases related to smoking, drinking and obesity.

Thus it is that 1.3 percent of our population fills more than half of our hospital beds.

In sample hospitals, 13 percent of the patients run up bigger bills than all the others combined.

If the number of self-inflicted diseases could be reduced even a little bit we'd have more than enough doctors, more than enough hospital beds, much less upward pressure on medical costs.

Gallantly, in the face of increasing demand for medical treatment, hospitals have reduced their overhead.

Encouraged by their AHA, they are sharing services; one piece of sophisticated equipment may now serve several area hospitals.

Ingeniously, they have found ways to conserve expensive fuel and electricity.

With contract management services, group purchasing, renovation of existing facilities -- in a hundred ways hospitals have innovated and cooperated to curtail costs.

With the result that while prices of most things were doubling -- and fuel prices guadrupling -- the costs of operating hospitals in the United States increased less than 13 percent last year -- less than our total cost-of-living increase.

While the "hospital bill" is heralded by some political campaigners as "a national disgrace," the fact is that hospitals represent less than 5 percent of our Consumer Price Index.

And now there is a further experiment under way, initiated by Blue Cross-Blue Shield, which promises to make hospital care even more cost-efficient.

As is; with government or insurers picking up most medical bills, there is little incentive to hold those bills down. Inevitably, there is a temptation on the part of some doctors, some hospitals, to "Do more things for the patient" which can be added to the bill and collected from "the government" or "the insurance company."

Under the new system, lump sum payment in advance would be an inducement to keep patients well to streamline hospitalization.

But the hospitals' biggest problem is us. The epidemic diseases are self-inflicted.

Answering an Ask Us question got me interested in the early lawmen of Scurry County. I found a publication of the Historical Survey Committee entitled, Historical Markers in Scurry County, to contain a treasure of tales on those, not always so gentle, gentlemen.

The first sheriff, W.W. (Uncle Billy) Nelson resigned in disgust after six months. Cowboys were just too unruly. T.J. Faught served out that term and was elected to three more.

Faught was a big man who demanded law and order during times when rowdy was the prevailing mood. What made Faught's style unusual was that he never carried a gun.

There was a street named for Faught in the original plat of the City of Snyder. That street is now 27th St.

Another particularly illustrious lawman was O.P. "Pack" W[illegible] no was city marshall until 1926, a year before his death.

Pack came to this area in 1879 and filed a claim to land on Rough Creek in northeast Scurry County. With him came others who were destined to become well known cattlemen – W.D. Sims, W.A. "Billy" Johnson and T.J. Faught--all his inlaws.

Pack, however, was unfortunate in his ranching efforts. He let a drought-hit neighbor water cattle in Rough Creek and learned too late that the cattle were fever infected. He was wiped out.

He bought 66 acres along Deep Creek and at one time made plans for a Wolf townsite but instead built a park there. He became active in trail driving and freighting.

In 1906 he became marshal. His creed was law and order and he carried a .45 to enforce his point of view. He never backed down from a gunfight they say and was wounded only once, shot through the hand.

Riding ramrod straight in the saddle, he patrolled the town on horseback. At night he was a familiar figure, checking the alleys and wagon yards. Some considered him tough in carrying out the duties of his office, but no doubt his job required him to be.

He considered Snyder his town to keep. If a scrap of paper was blowing loose, he stepped from the saddle and picked it up. A loose board on the sidewalks or bridges--anything that marred the beauty or challenged the safety of Snyder--got his attention.

Pack is immortalized in a historical marker located in the Snyder Cemetery. It reads: O.P. "Pack" Wolf (1857-1927) Born in Burnet County. Served as city marshal of Snyder, 1906-1926. Brought organized law to railroad and land boom era. Also served as special Texas Ranger. Donor of Wolf Park. Never backed down from fight; creed was law and order."

no turning point

NEW YORK (AP)— Some of the same people whose policies brought us an unexpectedly severe recession are now trying to convince us that the worst is over.

Citing a partial recovery of a huge loss in housing starts -- one that still leaves that industry in a depression -- President Carter said he is looking forward to economic recovery.

And simultaneously with news that the gross national product shrank at an almost unprecedented annual rate of 9.1 percent in the April-June quarter, the president's chief economic adviser forecast a turnabout.

Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said in the midst of the bad news that "I think the recession will slow down shortly and will turn around."

The impression left by these subjective views is that the worst of the country's economic troubles are behind it when, in fact, the worst may still be ahead.

Take unemployment, for example. Courtenay Slater, chief economist of the Commerce Department, expects that joblessness could rise to as much as 8.5 percent to 9 percent from recent levels of just under 8 percent.

And in inflation. One of the most discouraging aspects of the latest quarterly report is that during the second-quarter economic collapse, the rate of price increases rose instead of declining, as expected.

The truth is that no turning point has been reached, no matter how often or how effective are attempts to sweeten the bitter facts.

The Carter administration isn't the only one that has sought to cover the evidence in a pile of hope.

Fresh in the memory, for example, is the performance of Herbert Stein, Schultze's counterpart in the administration of Richard M. Nixon, who month after month sought to compromise the political impact of rising inflation by telling Americans that the worst was now behind them.

It wasn't, of course, and it isn't now. Even Schultze, who, like Stein, seeks to emphasize the positive in the midst of disaster, conceded last week that the turnaround he said he saw was far, far in the distance.

Almost contradicting himself, he forecast "a slow, slow recovery." He placed the time of that recovery in "next year," which seems to be a forecast of continued recession this year.

Those who are immersed in this recession should recall that when the Carter administration first conceded the likelihood of a recession they were assured it would be brief and mild. The president said so.

And now that it is being suggested to them that the worst is over they should seek to separate economics from politics. The economcis are not that encouraging.

Whole Country's Gone to the Dogs

DEAR ABBY: Concerning your advice to the Richmond man who asked what could be done about barking dogs: Calling the police won't work. A barking dog was driving me crazy, night and day, so I called the police. An officer came to my house and told me there was nothing I could do about it. He then suggested I simply trap or shoot it!

Personally, I don't think it's very sporting to hunt domesticated animals, so what's my next move?

PERPLEXED IN PLAINVILLE

(P.S. Abby, Plainville, Kan., has a population of about 3,000, and there's an ordinance here against discharging firearms inside the city limits, where I live.)

DEAR ABBY: If you want peace and quiet, away from the noise of barking dogs, don't move to Bel Air, Calif.!

They will investigate your complaint by coming out to see if the dog is being neglected or abused in any way. And if it is, they will help the dog and fine the owner!

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to the Richmond, Va., man whose peace was disturbed by barking dogs wasn't worth much.

"Call the police," you say. Really now, Abby, I don't know where you live, but here in Santa Rosa, the police will do nothing. Believe me, I know.

CALIF. DOG HATER

DEAR ABBY: You are naive when it comes to trying to get relief from barking dogs by calling your police department. We had that problem. I called the police and they refused to come out.

I called my lawyer and even my county prosecutor. I was informed by both that there is no law about barking dogs. If a person disturbs the peace or creates a nuisance, the police will come out, but they won't come out for a complaint against a dog unless it has bitten someone.

At first I talked nicely to the dog owner. That didn't work, so I talked nastily to him. He vandalized my property and has trained his dog to bark whenever he sees me.

HELL IN ERIE, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to stick in my 2 cents' worth concerning one of the most frustrating of all frustrations — barking dogs.

I seem to recall that a few years ago, Johnny Carson was going crazy because one of his neighbors had a couple of dogs who took to barking late at night and early in the morning. I think Johnny said he asked his neighbors in a nice way to please keep their dogs quiet, but the dogs kept on barking, so Johnny took his neighbor to court. If I'm not mistaken, I think Carson lost the case.

So, if Johnny Carson with all his clout can't get anywhere, that poor guy down in Richmond, Va., doesn't have a prayer.

INSOMNIAC IN LONG BEACH

DEAR INSOMNIAC: A few years ago, Johnny Carson did have trouble with a neighbor's barking dogs, but the case never went to trial.

A ruling was handed down that either the owners of the barking dogs had to keep them indoors at night and during the early morning hours when the prolonged barking took place or hire a trainer to keep the dogs under control.

Since nothing further has been heard from Carson, I assume that nothing further was heard from the dogs.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Find cause of anemia

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 72 years of age and according to my laboratory report my blood count is 31. I've been advised to eat liver but with a high cholesterol, I'm not supposed to eat liver. Will you please advise me what foods are high in iron?

About 43 years ago I was very low but shots and pills brought it up to normal. I had a mastectomy eight months ago which might have brought my count down.

DEAR READER — I'm not sure what blood count you're referring to but I presume that you're talking about your hematocrit, the amount of red blood cells you have. There are many different ways to do blood counts. That includes the number of red blood cells that are present (a reading given in the millions), the amount of hemoglobin in grams and the volume of your blood that's occupied by red blood cells. In any case, if you are low in iron you can take iron tablets. For this purpose, you could take one of the daily vitamin tablets that also contains iron. Or you can ask your doctor which iron medicine he would like you to take.

There are several different forms of anemia. Some are caused by inadequate amounts of iron, others are caused by failure of the bone marrow and still others are caused by inability to absorb vitamin B-22. I'm sending you The Health Letter number 4-3, Understanding the Anemias. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

If you have a vitamin B-12 deficiency or pernicious anemia, just taking iron alone isn't going to solve your problem.

It's important to establish the cause for an anemia. For example, if an anemia is caused by bleeding and is sufficiently severe, the blood can be replaced.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I read in a magazine that a virus had been found to cause diabetes. Does that mean that they'll soon have a vaccine to prevent diabetes? Would you comment about this?

DEAR READER — Yes, there was a case reported of Coxsackie virus causing destruction of the islets of Langerhans in the pancreas and resulting in diabetes. This has also been demonstrated in animals.

That's very important research but you have to keep in mind that it may not be a frequent cause for diabetes. The truth is that diabetes can be caused by anything which damages the islets of Langerhans in the pancreas. They are the tiny organs that produce insulin.

Mumps also has been identified as a possible factor in diabetes in some people.

Not all forms of diabetes apparently are even related to the pancreas but to certain other complex metabolic defects. There appear to be several different types of diabetes. Therefore, there are probably many different causes for diabetes. It may well be that some of these types of diabetes, if they are proved to be related to virus infections, could be prevented in the future. But we still have a long way to go before this can be done.

Your Birthday

July 23, 1980

This coming year you can expect an increase in your social interests and activities. A word of warning, however: Be yourself. Don't try to keep up with the Joneses because the price would be exceptionally high.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) No matter how good a bargain looks, be certain you really need and can afford any items before you buy. You have a tendency to be extremely wasteful today. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your biggest enemy today is thinking the world owes you something. If you fall prey to this type of attitude, you'll be one unhappy person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Embellishing the facts to make a story interesting could turn out to work against you. You'll be held responsible for everything you say today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Unnecessary outside expenses should be curtailed today, especially those involving activities with groups. Somehow, the heaviest burden will end up resting on you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A goal you're attempting to achieve will not be won through chance alone. It's going to take some sweat from your brow to make it a reality.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be sure any person to whom you reveal important facts today can be trusted. The wrong type could carry tales where you don't want them to go.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The action or extravagance of a friend may draw you into an expense you didn't count on today. Maintain control of your activities and pocketbook.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't agree to something you're doubtful about just because it may be the easy way to handle it. The only person who'll benefit is the other guy.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Wishful thinking may buoy your spirits, but it will do little for the actual task at hand. Take off the rose-colored glasses and do your job.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have a tendency today to delude yourself, so be careful when dealing with those who might take advantage of you. You could misinterpret what they're offering.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Paying too little attention to family issues today could allow the problems to mushroom on you. Don't think they'll disappear if you ignore them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It may require some mental discipline to keep your mind on what you are doing today. Attending to tasks carelessly could prove costly.

San Antonio Sees Census Undercount

SAN ANTONIO (AP)-A spot check by city officials indicates the U.S. Census Bureau may have undercounted in the preliminary figures released last week, a city official reported Monday.

"There do appear to be significant differences in the people per household," city planner Al Eisenmenger told Mayor Lila Cockrell and members of a local census review committee.

Eisenmenger said that city staffers spot checked four areas of the city last week and found more people per household than were included in averages offered in the preliminary federal figures.

The review committee told the staff to continue checking and to file challenges with the Census Bureau's regional office in Dallas as evidence for a possible recount.

Last week's figures showed San Antonio grew 14.3 percent over the past decade for a new high of 747,868. However, earlier city estimates projected the city would grow to 860,000 by this year.

Chevron energy report:

VAST OIL POTENTIAL IN THE U.S. -- untapped and unavailable.

Excessive government restrictions on public lands are preventing much needed energy development.

Most energy experts in both industry and government agree: there may be as much oil in the U.S. still to be produced — much of it undiscovered — as America has produced in its entire history.

The U.S. may still have as much unproduced and undiscovered oil as has been produced in America's entire history.

An estimated 2/3 of this undiscovered oil supply, as well as other energy sources, is beneath public lands. But our government, in responding to the environmental concerns we all share, has overreacted in making more and more of these lands off-limits to energy development and many other uses.

These lands can be managed to accommodate our need for food, timber, recreation, minerals and energy, as well as our need for a healthy environment.

Chevron, for instance, has been producing oil and natural gas safely for years in environmentally delicate places, such as a bird refuge, a moose sanctuary and off-shore fishing areas. The animals and their habitats have flourished.

America's untapped energy potential can play a major role in reducing our dependence on foreign energy supplies, so we can't afford to make land with such vast energy potential off-limits. Doing so is like locking the door to America's future.

Panel To Recommend Hike In Car Insurance

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)-State Insurance Board statisticians will recommend an 18.9 percent average increase Wednesday in private passenger car insurance rates.

If approved by the three-member board, the increase would raise Texans' total premiums by an estimated $257 million a year.

Board staff members will present their detailed recommendations to the board Wednesday at the annual automobile insurance hearing.

Insurance companies are expected to request an even larger increase.

"It looks like the worst in 10 years," said Clint Dare, manager of the Texas office of the Insurance Information Institute.

The board trimmed or avoided rate increases in some past years by tinkering with deductibles or the formula for predicting future accident costs from past experience.

But board member Lyndon Olson Jr. indicated there was little chance of that this year.

"My expectation has been that we are not going to play games with people for any political purposes...If the economy is this bad and the data is this bad and justifies that big a rate increase,...we'll just have to bite the bullet," Olson said Monday.

Last year, the board raised rates an average of 8.9 percent.

Rates are based largely upon statistics on the number of insured accidents and the cost of fixing cars, treating the injured and burying the dead.

A driver's premium increase probably will differ from the average because of variables in his or her age, hometown, amount of coverage and automobile usage.

Board staff recommendations would raise premiums in all 40 rating territories, with increases ranging from a low of 2.9 percent in Tom Green County San Angelo to a high of 25.5 percent in Rockwall County northeast of Dallas.

But there also were demonstrations of another sort.

At dawn, a group of young men paraded outside the Talleyville, Del., post office with American flags, and four registered when the office opened.

In Fond du Lac, Wis., one of the first to register was Dan Ahern, 20, who said the plight of his uncle, Thomas Ahern Jr., a hostage in Iran, "magnified my obligation."

From Recession...

Nation Facing Slow Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation faces a painfully slow recovery from recession, with unemployment stuck at 8.5 percent through 1981 and pocketbooks continually hit by double-digit inflation, the Carter administration says.

An even gloomier picture of the economy is painted by the congressional Budget Office, which is expected to predict about a 9 percent unemployment rate when its forecast is released Wednesday, sources said Monday.

The Carter administration released its revised economic outlook Monday, and it was drastically different than the original estimates in March, casting out any hope of a balanced budget for fiscal 1981, which starts Oct. 1.

The administration now is predicting:

--A $30 billion budget deficit for fiscal 1981, a far cry from the $16.5 million surplus projected in March.

--A $61 billion deficit for fiscal 1980, up from the $36.5 billion gap expected in March.

--A 3.1 percent decline in the nation's overall economy between last year's fourth quarter and this year's fourth quarter, followed by only a 2.6 percent rebound next year -- the slowest recovery from a recession since World War II.

--Consumer prices will rise 12 percent between 1979's fourth quarter and 1980's last three months -- slightly better than the 12.8 percent pace predicted in March -- and a 10 percent jump next year, a little worse than the earlier expectations.

--Unemployment will rise from its 7.7 percent now to 8.5 percent by year's end, putting almost a million more people out of work, and will not improve during 1981.

Despite the dismal forecast, administration officials said there will be no proposal for a tax cut to stimulate the economy at this time.

TV Actors Join In Strike Scene

By JAY ARNOLD
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Prime time television actors joined the Screen Actors Guild strike today, and floodlights were doused on film stages from New York to Los Angeles to "Dallas."

The American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, which represents most of the nation's prime-time TV actors, joined the SAG walkout at 12:01 a.m., assuring a shutdown of film and TV production in this country and on American movie locations around the world.

If it lasts long enough, the walkout could send film and TV executives scurrying for a substitute product - and could prevent Americans from finding out as scheduled just who shot dastardly J.R. Ewing.

AFTRA members voted to strike at meetings in Los Angeles and New York and Monday.

Even after the strike began today, talks continued between the unions and the Association of Motion Picture and TV Producers.

"As long as we're making progress we'll continue to meet," said Alan Davis, director of AFTRA's western section. "The issues that were on the table when the strike went into effect last night are still on the table. As to how long the strike will be, that's anybody's guess."

Monday's SAG strike alone was enough to turn studio back lots eerily quiet and cancel on-location filming.

Burt Reynolds reportedly left a New York movie set as the strike began, while stars Candice Bergen and Jacqueline Bissett, on location in New York, were told to "go back to bed." Among those television actors not working today were Polly Holiday of "Flo" and Ricardo Montalban of "Fantasy Island."

AFTRA's strike could seriously hurt producers in the midst of shooting for the new fall TV season. Unaffected are game shows, soap operas and network newscasts, whose AFTRA personnel are covered by different contracts.

"We're shut down," said Lee Rich, whose Lorimar Productions produces the wildly popular "Dallas" nighttime soap opera. The show is expected to open its fall season by telling fans who shot the character J.R. Ewing at the end of the last season.

"We've shot parts of a lot of episodes of 'Dallas,' but have nothing completed," said Rich.

If it (the strike) is a short-run thing, it will have virtually no impact," said a CBS spokesman Monday. "If it's protracted, it will have a very serious impact. Anything further on than a week would be progressively worse."

TOURNAMENT OPENS--Participants were introduced during opening ceremonies last night in the United Girls Softball Association's senior division tournament in Towle Memorial Park. Holding the flag during the ceremony is Shari Cotton, winning pitcher on the Snyder team which defeated Midland in the second game last night. Action will resume tonight at 6 p.m. in the tournament. Snyder Goes To Tourney Finals

The second round of play tonight in the United Girls Softball Association's senior division tournament here will begin with a rerun at 6 p.m. and the championship game at 9 could very well be the same.

Midland smashed Big Spring, 12-0, in the opener Monday night, but then fell to host Snyder, 8-4, in the second game. Snyder had drawn a bye. This brings Midland and Big Spring together again tonight at 6 p.m. in the opener, with the winner to face Snyder at 9.

Shari Cotton gave up 11 hits, struck out three and walked a pair for the Snyder team, while Sandy Alvarado of Midland took the loss as Snyder collected 11 hits: She struck out two and walked four. Snyder had four errors in the game, and Midland was charged with two miscues.

Pam Gray collected three singles to pace Snyder at the plate. Pam Percival lashed a double, while Donna Halford, Sharon Fritz, Shari Cotton, Jeri Murphy and Anne Beuerlein had a single apiece.

Leading hitters for Midland were Sharon Miller, Ailene Miller and Roxi Barrett with two singles each.

In the opening game Monday night, Aileen Miller spearheaded the Midland attack on Big Spring with a home run, a double and a single. Roxi Barrett had a double and two singles.

Cynthia Washington got two of Big Spring's three hits, both of them singles. Shirley Dixon got the other one, also a single.

Rangers Win As Sox Pass Up Opportunity

BOSTON (AP)—Manager Don Zimmer of the Boston Red Sox says that in baseball "you take anything they give you."

Somehow that bit of philosophy has eluded his players this year. The Red Sox are doing the giving, American League rivals the taking.

The Red Sox failed to capitalize on a first inning scoring threat once again Monday night and went on to a 5-3 defeat at the hands of the Texas Rangers before 24,953 fans at steamy Fenway Park.

Boston appeared to have veteran southpaw Jon Matlack on the ropes as Rick Burleson walked, Dave Stapleton singled and both runners took an extra base on an error.

However, with Burleson on third and Stapleton on second and none out, the Red Sox came up empty. Fred Lynn lined to short, Burleson was thrown out at the plate on Tony Perez' grounder to short and Fisk grounded out to third.

"I don't know whether he (Matlack) was that good or the fact we're just not hitting," Zimmer said. "We had our chance to get him but couldn't."

The Rangers, winning [illegible] game in a row for the first time since mid-April, shelled starter Dennis Eckersley, 5-9, on six hits and three runs in less than three innings and added two more runs against Bob Stanley in the seventh.

Matlack, who underwent left elbow surgery last year, blanked the Red Sox on two hits until Carlton Fisk drilled a 2-2 pitch for his 12th homer with one out in the sixth.

Matlack gave up one more hit before retiring to the side and turning over the pitching job to reliever Danny Darwin, who surrendered a two-out infield hit and Dwight Evans' eighth homer in the ninth.

Zimmer was puzzled by the Red Sox failure to hit southpaws in Fenway Park, once considered a graveyard for left-handers, after the club's home record against lefty starters this year dropped to 2-8.

Comaneci All Business In Flawless Exhibition

By Fred Rothenberg
AP Sports Writer

MOSCOW (AP)—For an athlete whose sheer perfection has given so much joy to the world, Nadia Comaneci sure doesn't seem to be having any fun.

There she was again Monday, being told that nobody could do it better because how do you top perfection? And what did Nadia do? She didn't crack a smile after her flawless trip over the balance beam. She remained expressionless after the perfect 10.0 was flashed on the scoreboard.

It wasn't until her Romanian coaches crowded around her, offering congratulations; that she allowed a smile -- short and sweet -- and then it was back to the business at hand.

The business Monday was compulsory maneuvers on the balance beam, vault, uneven parallel bars and the floor exercises -- the first half of the two-day team competition that also serves as qualifying for the individual all-around title later this week at the 1980 Summer Olympics..

Watching Comaneci perform, one is struck by the intensity of her concentration. There is no room for emotion when all that inner strength is directed toward the perfect performance. It's been said that other special athletes, Ted Williams and Ben Hogan, had that same icy demeanor -- and that same quest for perfection.

One slip of that steely determination, and her last four years of practice and sacrifice will seem unfulfilled. One little mistake, and there's always someone waiting to take your place at the top of the sport. There's always somebody.

Comaneci knows. She's been there. Four years ago at the Montreal Olympics, when she was 14, she replaced Olga Korbut of the Soviet Union as the sport's superstar. Now, maybe it's Natalia Shaposhnikova as heir apparent. Comaneci did her little miss perfect act on the balance beam, chipped in with 9.95s on the other three apparatus -- and she still couldn't shake Shaposhnikova.

The 19-year-old Soviet star, who like Comaneci was injured for the 1979 world championships, also was perfect. She picked up a 10.0 in the vault, added 9.95s on the other pieces of equipment and tied Comaneci with 39.85 out of a possible 40.0.

"Such high marks are unheard of in international competition," said a Soviet gymnastics expert. "It has happened in national meets but never at the Olympics or world championships."

Nelli Kim, the Eurasian from the Soviet Union who was supposed to be Comaneci's main rival here, slipped to fourth in the compulsories behind Maxi Gnauck of East Germany. But the depth of the Soviets was evident as they totalled 197.75 points. East Germany was second at 196.80 and Romania one-tenth of a point further behind.

The women's free exercises deciding the team medals will be held Wednesday.

The men returned to gymnastics competition today, bidding for medals with the second half of the team competition. The Soviets, with a commanding lead, were expected to win the gold on the strength of performances from all-around champion Alexander Dityatin and Nikolai Andrianov, a quadruple gold medal four years ago who seems to have recovered from last year's chest injury.

So far, the host Soviets have been having the most fun at the Olympic party with six gold and 11 total medals. East Germany actually has one more medal overall but three less gold after two days of competition at the first Games in modern history without an American team..

Soccer Program For Kids Set

A soccer program for kids is now being organized, with activity scheduled for girls and boys from 4 to 8 years old.

Heat Wilts Weekend Athletes

Weekend athletes seem to be wilting, but the professionals are holding up fairly well in the heat that is broiling most of the nation's eastern half.

No major sports events have been canceled so far because of the heat and, while several pro football players have been overcome by the high temperatures at mid-summer training camps, no serious injuries have been reported.

The daily readings in the 100-degree range, however, have cut down substantially on play at neighborhood tennis courts and golf courses in at least one city.

"We've noticed a big difference in the last couple of weeks," said Jerri McAbee, office manager at the Blackburn Tennis Center in Dekalb County, near Atlanta. "We have camps and clinics in the morning, but we hardly have anyone from noon to 6."

Dave Myers, head golf pro at Dekalb County's Sugar Creek course, said play has been down about 20 percent there since the heat struck.

"I've noticed virtually nobody is playing in the middle of the day, and some days no one will be out there for an hour or two," he said. While outdoor sports are feeling the heat, cooler endeavors are booming.

Municipal pools in Atlanta are staying open until 10 p.m. and Hank Jackson, the city's pool supervisor, said attendance is up..

"We've never been open this late," he said.

Bob Krouse, manager of Brunswick-Express bowling lanes in northeast Atlanta, said the heat has increased the sport's popularity.

"It's not massive, but things are usually slow in the summer and we've had two good weeks," he said, estimating a 5 percent jump in business.

Even the pros are making changes to cope with the heat.

The Cleveland Browns, training for the National Football League season at Kent State University in Ohio, have increased water breaks from two to five an hour, and have cooled players down with hoses instead of towels.

Walt Michaels, a linebacker for the Browns, apparently became ill from the heat at a weekend practice.

At the New York Giants' training camp in Pleasantville, N.Y., 11 players over two days were sickened by high temperatures, forcing the team to rearrange its practice schedule.

Negotiations On Barber Contract Move Slowly

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston accountant Larry Rubenstein agrees he is making progress with the Houston Oilers in negotiating a new contract for tight end Mike Barber--it's the degree of progress that bothers him.

Following a negotiating session with Oiler assistant general manager Pat Peppler on Sunday, Oiler officials termed the meeting progressive.

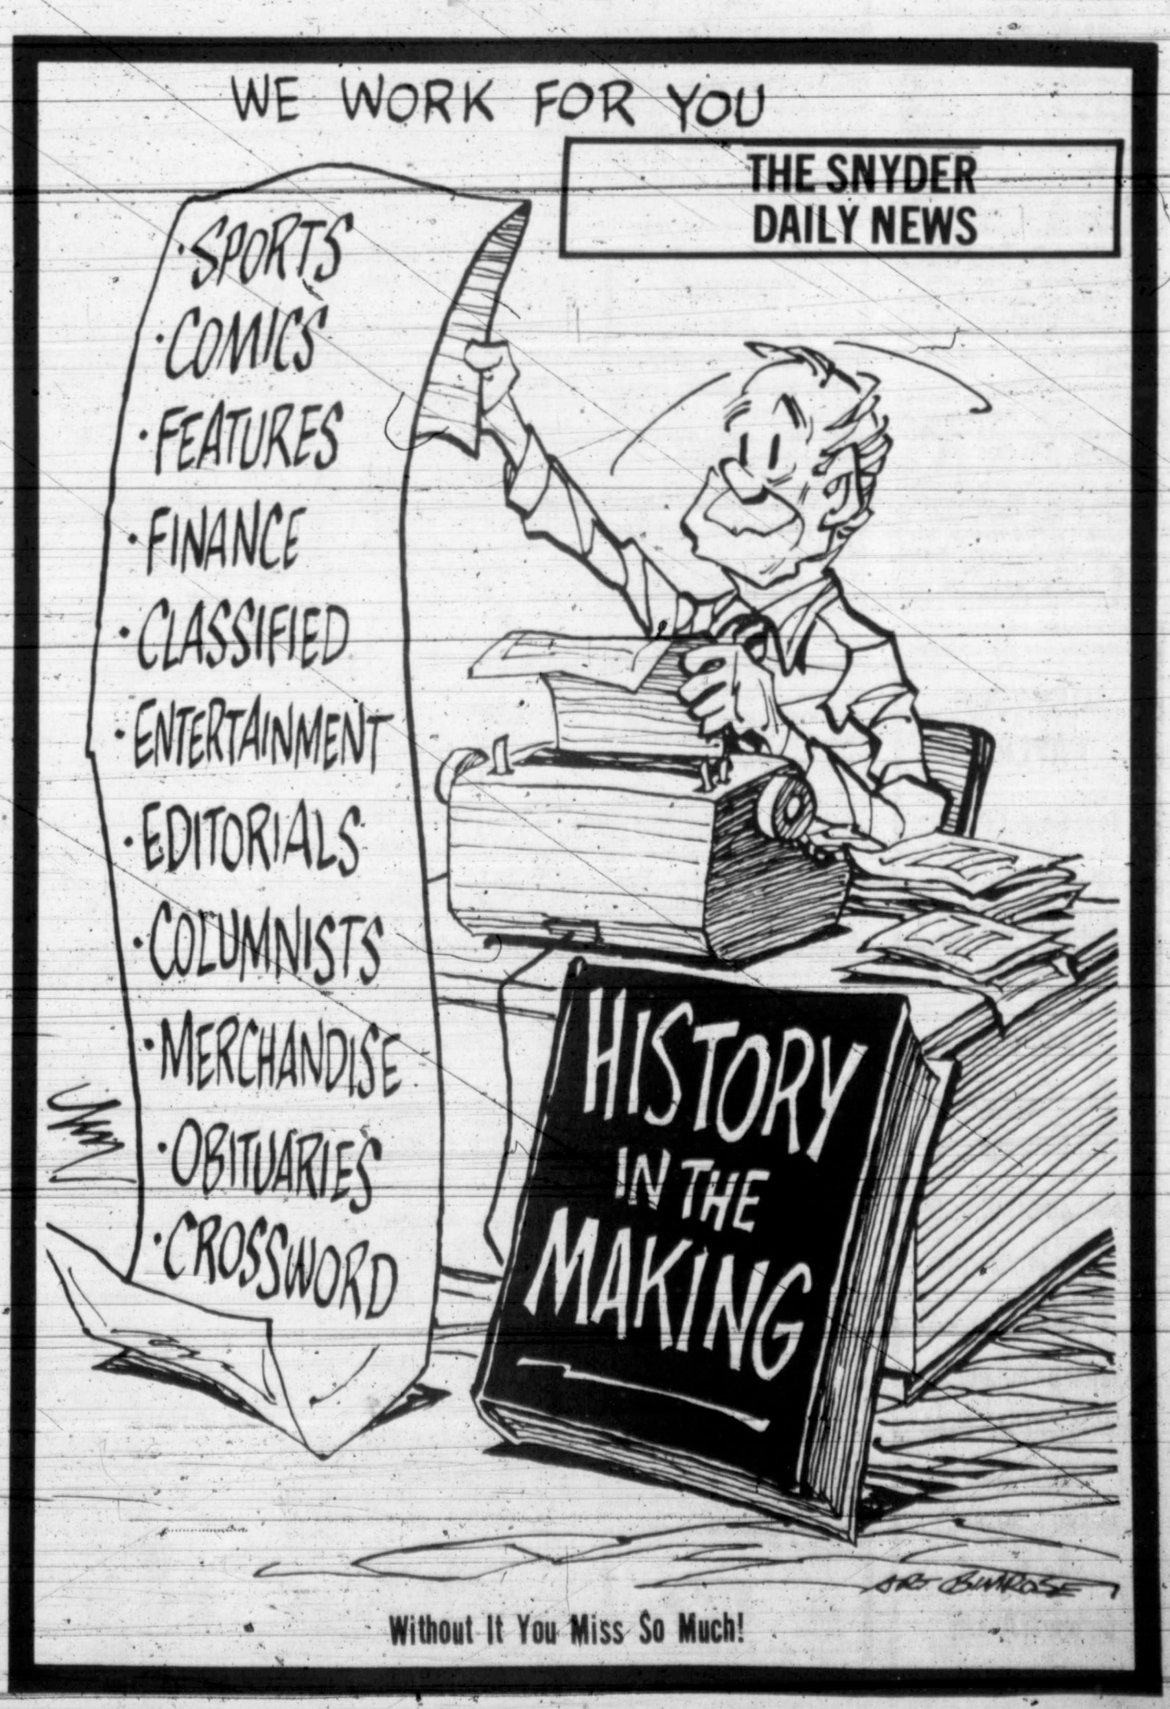

"I guess we made progress," Rubenstein said Monday. "But it was like moving from the goalline to the five yard line. I couldn't really call it a negotiating session, it was more like a concession, it was rather one-sided."

"Their official (Peppler) didn't even seem prepared to negotiate," Rubenstein said. "I made several concessions just to try and get the ball rolling but there was just no movement on the part of the Oilers."

Barber became a free agent following last season when he caught 27 passes for 377 yards and three touchdowns. He reportedly is seeking a contract exceeding $100,000 annually. His current salary is less than $60,000.

The Oiler tight end has the option of playing this season at an automatic 10 percent pay increase if he does not sign a contract, or he could retire.

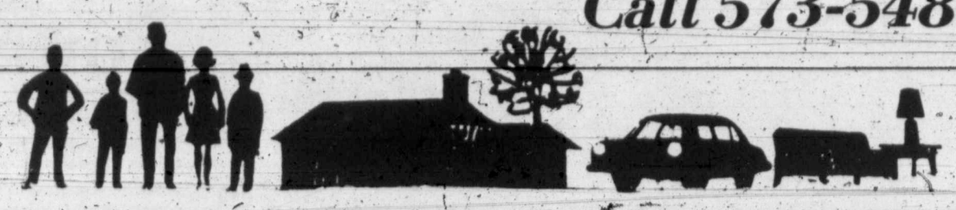

Sitting out the year, is a distinct possibility, Rubenstein said.

Local ASCS Chief To Go To State Meet

Roy Hanson, Scurry County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service chief, will attend the 1980 ASCS conference which will be held in Lubbock at the Memorial Civic Center Wednesday and Thursday.

He will join the Texas State staff members and personnel from the 235 county offices in Texas that serve the Texas farmers and ranchers with programs administered by the ASCS. Hanson said that the two-day conference will enable him to converse with the Washington, D.C. ASCS representatives on a one-to-one basis and to participate in scheduled panel meetings to cover each specific program administered by the Scurry County Office. The local ASCS office will remain open for business as usual during the conference period. The conference will be hosted by members of The Texas ASC Committee: John D. Smith, chairperson, of Sudan, and members Joe E. Chapa of Linn; Edward L. Lehman, Jr. of Vernon; Max B. Rotholz of Wharton; and G. Ray Sawyer of Hillsboro.

Stephen J. Pringle, the State Executive Director, advised Hanson that 1,650 people have registered for the conference. The conferees include personnel from other areas of agriculture and representatives from Texas commodities.

Applications are now being accepted for a new Vocational Nursing class starting Sept. 1 at Western Texas College.

Applicants must be between 17-52 years of age and in good physical and mental health. They must have a high school diploma or a GED.

Prospective students who would like information about Vocational Nursing may contact the instructors, Winnie Poyner and Diane Beard, at WTC. Their office hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and 3-4 p.m. on Thursdays. The telephone number is 573-8511, extension 229.

The class will meet from 6-9 p.m. on Tuesdays with a different instructor each evening. Students will pay fees of $25 each.

Persons wishing details about the course may contact Betty Sandel through the Continuing Education office by calling 573-8511, extension 240.

The biggest factory ever to cross the sea was a power plant 2½ football fields long and 20 stories high. It was built on a barge-like hull, then towed 15,500 miles from Japan to Brazil because it was too large to squeeze through the Panama Canal. It was assembled in Japan because that was less costly and time-consuming than building it in the Amazon jungle.

July Clearance Sale Underway At Hoyt Furniture Company

Now is the time -- to replace that worn-out chair -- old sofa -- or get a new bedroom suite for you or the kids.

Hoyt's Furniture is having their July Clearance -- and everything in the store is marked down.

The sale is in the last days -- so don't wait too long to stop by and pick out what you want.

The Hallmark Oak Collection is one of the most popular and there is still a good selection of pieces to choose from. Stop by the front of the store at 2112 25th Street and see the selection displayed in the window.

Hoyt's has a super-special on room-sized carpet remnants. You can save up to 50 percent off or more on 60 different patterns and colors.

Free delivery is always included in furniture sales. You can buy with a small downpayment and have up to 36 months to pay.

Hoyt's carries a full line of Whirlpool appliances, refrigerators, electric stoves, microwaves, washers, dryers and dishwashers. The color selection is also good right now -- white, almond, gold or avacado -- to carry out your kitchen decor.

An authorized service technician is employed by Hoyt's to assure you of any service you might need on any appliance while under warranty.

Ceiling fans are a new item at Hoyt Furniture. They range in price from $99.00 to $300.00. They have a few in stock now -- but will be getting more in next week. Be practical as well as decorative with the addition of a ceiling fan.

Hoyt's Furniture has been serving the Snyder area since 1965 which makes them "old hands" at pleasing the people in the area -- so next time you're in the market for furniture, carpet or an appliance, go by 2112 25th Street for people-pleasing selections.

Step Up To Curtis Mathes TV With Special Deal At Dollar's

When you buy a new television, you're not only looking for a T.V. with a good picture, you're looking for good serviceability, too. Curtis Mathes pioneered 100 percent modular design for greater performance and reliability plus quick and easy repairs ... right in the home in most cases. And remember Curtis Mathes' exclusive four-year warranty!

In the Curtis Mathes chassis, bulky modules have been replaced by seven to thirteen advanced integrated circuits, some not much larger than a dime. They offer more repair advantages in a chassis that's designed to be lighter, more dependable and more energy efficient than ever before.

Most television pictures today are broadcast with VIR (vertical interval reference), a special color reference signal. Curtis Mathes' new VIR circuit decodes this signal and automatically adjusts the set to the precise color standards being broadcast from the point of origin. You get color as true and lifelike as it was when it left the studio.

Today's televisions are being asked to do more than ever before. Cable television brings in more channels. Video recorders can transform your television into a home theater. Your screen can be used as a playing field for numerous games, or even as a screen for home computers. The new Curtis Mathes televisions, available at Dollar T.V. And Rental in Varisty Square, are designed to utilize today's technology. All new sets, 19" and larger, have cable-ready inputs for 75-ohm shielded antenna cables, as well as the 300-ohm inputs for standard twinlead. Advanced engineering features make Curtis Mathes video products able to accommodate the wide range of new home entertainment applications.

And now is the time to take advantage of Curtis Mathes' and Dollar T.V. and Rental's $100 Trade-In Sale. Owner Kenny Dollar will give you $100 trade-in on your old set, regardless of its condition. There will never be a better time to step up the new Curtis Mathes. Go by and see for yourself.
