Three Companies Reducing Imports

Watch For Him!

Laughed at the Police!

Who was the "Funny Toff," the terror alike of criminals and Scotland Yard? That he was amazingly resourceful and that his crimes were planned with fiendish ingenuity was common knowledge. His victims recalled his maniacal laugh—but few heard it twice, for death had been meted out to all those who had tried to solve the riddle of his identity. Read

Second Day Drags To Close In Hearing On Proration

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 25. — The railroad commission's proration hearing originally thought to be only a one-day affair, appeared to be far from finished when the second day's session dragged to a close.

The outstanding development of the day was the receipt of information from three of the four major oil importing companies to the effect that they either had curbed or would curtail their imports.

News Is Cheering

This was cheering news to the East Texans, who have been fighting proration of their new field. They said they would cease that opposition if and when oil imports were cut to 16,000,000 barrels a year. However, the curtailment announced today fell short of the East Texas demands.

Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, said his company would cut its imports from 60,000 to 45,000 barrels daily effective April 10. That order will be effective for 90 days and after that imports will be conditional on the "industry's success in controlling domestic production," and upon the action of other imorters, Teagle said.

Shell To Cut

E. G. Allen, representing the Dutch Shell organization, said his company imported almost no crude oil and that it had ordered its importations of gasoline for 1931 cut at least 50 per cent. The Dutch Shell is willing to reduce production in Venezuela if the other companies likewise are willing, Allen said.

P. O. Settle of Fort Worth, representing the Gulf company, said his organization had curtailed its crude importation 25 per cent.

Carl Estes, militant Tyler newspaper editor and one of the leaders of the anti-prorationists, said he extended "the right hand of fellowship to the Gulf, Standard of New Jersey and Shell."

Asks Cooperation

"I memorialize those three companies to resolve themselves into a mourners bench committee of personal workers and plead with the Standard of Indiana to follow suit to the end that American oil producing states will not have to bear the entire burden of curtailment while flood gates of foreign areas remain open," Estes said.

Another day passed without the central proration committee making

Arizona Sails For Home Port

Terminating Successful Visit To Porto Rico And Virgin Islands, President Hoover Is Again En Route

(By Associated Press)

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, March 25.—Terminating a visit to Porto Rico and the Virgin islands, President Hoover sailed for home today aboard the U. S. S. Arizona.

Rain was falling and only a small crowd saw the president off at the wharf. Mr. Hoover and Governor Pearson stood bareheaded while the marine guard offered a salute. The Arizona weighed anchor shortly after he boarded her and set a course for Norfolk, Va.

President Pleased

The president's visit made a red letter day for the island. In the afternoon the business section of the town, the schools and other activities functioned normally to allow the presidential party to observe them in their routine affairs. Governor Pearson expressed satisfaction with the people's reception of the president who in turn appeared pleased with their enthusiasm.

Prior to his reception by Governor Pearson and the municipal councilmen, the president reviewed a parade, a picturesque succession of reflections of native enthusiasms, industries and social life.

Local Man Struck By Car Wednesday

Blinded by the wind and dust, T. V. McKinney, 52, was knocked to the pavement at 1515 Avenue Q Wednesday noon by a car said to have been driven by Bob Sampson.

McKinney suffered cuts on the left side of the neck, a sprained right arm and a twisted right leg. His injuries are not considered serious.

McKinney, on his way home for lunch, had stopped his car across the street from a grocery store, and while walking toward the store was struck by the sedan. The radiator cap is believed to have cut McKinney's neck.

Although offered assistance by Sampson, McKinney was able to drive his car to his home located at 2813 20th street.

Italian Freighter Sinks In Atlantic But Crew Is Rescued

PHILADELPHIA, March 25. (AP)—The Italian freighter Ruta owned in Genoa, Italy, due here today with a cargo of chrome ore, sank last night in the Atlantic 420 miles northwest of the Canary islands, a dispatch from Lloyds of London to the maritime exchange today reported.

The 40 officers and men aboard were rescued by the French steamer Verdun Monday night.

Lubbock Debaters Win At Amarillo

Gaining the unanimous votes of the three judges, Lubbock high school's debating teams, both boys and girls, won the annual triangular debate held at Amarillo Wednesday night. The triangular debate is between Lubbock, Plainview and Amarillo, but this year Plainview was not represented.

This year's subject of debate was that to be used in the interscholastic meets to be held later in the year. Miss Lillie McKinney is the Lubbock debate coach. Martin Hamilton and Christie Carruth compose the winning boys team at Amarillo.

Judges for the contest, three in number, were from the West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon.

Denver Attorney May Succeed To Secretary Wilbur's Post

DENVER, March 25. (AP) — The Denver Post says today that advices from Washington indicate William V. Hodges, Denver attorney and unsuccessful candidate for the republican senatorial nomination in Colorado last fall, is slated to succeed Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, as secretary of the interior in President Hoover's cabinet.

Wilbur's present leave of absence from the presidency of Leland Stanford university expires in August.

Semi-Annual Tax Payment Is Favored By House Committee

AUSTIN, March 25. (AP)—The house revenue and taxation committee tonight voted to report out favorably a bill by Senator Oneal of Wichita Falls to provide for the semi-annual payment of taxes. The committee changed the dates for paying the taxes to November 30 and May 31. Vote on the bill was six to five.

If one half the tax were paid November 30 the remained could go over to May 31 without penalty.

ASK CLEMENCY

PAMPA, March 25. (AP)—Believing Moncus Twitty, under sentence of death for a criminal attack on a child, to be of low mentality, court officials today wrote to Governor Sterling asking commutation of the death sentence. They did not question his guilt but held the man to be unaccountable.

PLENTY OF MEAT

More than a ton of home cured and canned meats, approximately 2,200 pounds to be exact, was sent by Lamb county farmers and their wives to the first annual cured meat show here this afternoon.

D. A. Adam, county agent of Lamb county, following the show at Littlefield Wednesday afternoon, gathered the exhibit together and brought it to Lubbock. He arrived shortly after 8 o'clock.

"I have 44 hams, some shoulders, bacon and canned goods," Mr. Adam said. There are nearly 100 cans of cooked meats.

"We are here to take the prizes."

Girl's Slayer Being Hunted

Young Man Sought By Police For Slaying Of A Student Nurse Whose Body Was Found In Lake Tuesday

NEWPORT, R. I., March 25. (AP)—Elliott R. Hathaway, 28, Fall River, Mass., charged with the brutal slaying of Verna Russell, 20, Fall River student nurse, still was at large today although police had conducted a wide search for him.

Hathaway's abandoned automobile was found early today in the west end of Boston, whence police believed he fled after telling a Fall River friend, Vernon V. Galvan, of a holdup in which Miss Russell was attacked while they were out riding. The girl's body was found in a Tiverton lake yesterday morning after Galvin had related Hathaway's story to police. She had been strangled.

Galvin, who accompanied Hathaway to the scene of the crime about midnight, was held in $5,000 bond as a material witness.

Chairman Stone Tells Wheat Farmers Problem Up To Them

HUTCHINSON, Kas., March 25. (AP)—Chairman James C. Stone of the federal farm board today met Kansas hard wheat farmers within the shadows of their own elevators here and told them it is up to them as to what the board will do with its 200,000,000 bushels of stabilization wheat purchases.

It depends, he said, upon what is planted this spring and next fall. He indicated the board might make some sales if plantings are smaller than usual. Otherwise it may hold its wheat for an indefinite period.

Youths Are Pushed From Freight And Nine Negroes Attack Helpless Girls

Itch Powder Is Vexing--Doubly So If It Halts Your Sun Bath!

(By The Associated Press)

NELSON, B. C., March 25.—Itch powder has come to vex the Doukhobors.

Seven Doukhobor women sat sunning themselves on a fence near Thrum. Spring had come, and the sunning was thorough, for the Doukhobors, a religious sect, are champions of the nude.

Police, reporting the matter today, said the women were near the highway and railway. Officers told the Doukhobors to seek shelter and put on some clothes.

The law met resistance; whereupon the constables unlimbered a unique contraption and sprayed the women with itch powder. The official report of Staff Sergeant Stephenson said the officers "dusted the Doukhobors with itch powder."

Several male Doukhobors stood by. One of them bethought himself of a garden hose which he turned upon the police and the women.

"Finally," continues the sergeant's report, "after much dusting of itch powder and by force, the women were sent into their homes."

Two Returning Home After Failure To Find Work

(By The Associated Press)

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., March 25.—Nine negroes, ranging in age from 15 to 25 years, were placed in the Jackson county jail here late today charged with attacking two white girls after throwing five white youths who were with them off a Southern railway freight train near here.

The girls, wearing overalls and giving their names as Victoria Price, 17, and Ruby Bates, 18, of Huntsville, Ala., said they boarded the freight at Chattanooga with six youths.

Fight Follows Order

They told officers that when the train stopped at Stevenson, Ala., they were in a box car with the negoes and that their companions were ordered from the train. A free for all fight followed.

Five of the youths who gave their names as J. W. Gleason of Georgia; J. C. Ferguson, Lindsay, and O'Dell Gladwell, of North Carolina, and Ray Thurman, of Jamestown, Va., were forced from the train while Orville Gillie of Albertville, Ala.,

TROOPS ORDERED OUT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 25. (AP)—Detachments of national guardsmen numbering between sixty and seventy men tonight were ordered to Scottsboro to guard the Jackson county jail where nine negroes are held charged with attacking two white girls.

Orders for the troops to go from Huntsville and Albertville were issued by Adjutant General Hartley A. Moon after a request had been made to Governor B. M. Miller by Sheriff M. L. Wann of Jackson county who said a crowd of three hundred had gathered about the jail.

Altman Trial Begins Today At Aspermont

Details Of Fatal Shooting Of Sam Tanner, Pioneer Rancher Of Stonewall County, Will Be Brought Out

(By The Associated Press)

ASPERMONT, March 25. — The trial of Homer Altman, 26, on murder charges for the slaying of Sam Tanner, 58, Pioneer Stonewall county rancher, was set to begin here tomorrow in 39th district court. Altman had indicated he would plead defense of his home. A venire of 90 men was summoned for the trial.

Tanner was shot to death in a hog pen on his ranch, 18 miles southwest of Aspermont. Sidney Tanner, a son at home for vacation from Dallas, heard a shot and from the field where he was working, saw a man with a rifle leaving the hog pen. When young Tanner reached the scene, his father's body had been mutilated by the hogs.

Altman and his brother, Jim, were arrested near Tatum, N. M., and Lea county, N. M., authorities placed them in jail at Lovington. Both waived extradition proceedings and Sheriff Bailey Bingham returned them to Aspermont on Feb. 28. Altman did not seek bond.

Altman, a former tennant on the Tanner place, had been living in Willard, N. M., for three months prior to the killing. Tanner had been a resident of Stonewall county 40 years.

Garnett Henderson, 30, who was working on the Tanner ranch at the time of the killing and assisted in removing Tanner's body from the hog pen, and who was expected to be one of the principal state witnesses, died yesterday at Rotan. He suffered a skull concussion in a fall from his horse, while riding through a pasture on his parents' farm, 15 miles north of Rotan.

Associate Justice Of Kansas Supreme Court Stroke Victim

TOPEKA, Kas., March 25. (AP)—John Marshall, 73, associate justice of the Kansas supreme court, died at his home here late today following a stroke of paralysis. Justice Marshall had been suffering from heart disease for several months.

Although ailing for several months, Justice Marshall continued his supreme work and handled cases in January and February. Since the middle of February, however, he was confined to his home.

BATON ROUGE, La., March 25. (AP)—May 12 was set tonight by Governor Huey Long as the date of a special election to name a congressman for the eighth Louisiana district to succeed the late James B. Aswell.

Appropriation To Aid Texas Farmers Looms

House Engrosses Bill Which Would Appropriate Total Of $300,000 For Reimbursement Of West Texans

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 25. — The house today engrossed a bill appropriating $300,000 to pay West Texas cotton farmers damages incurred in 1929 and 1930 from the pink boll worm quarantine established by the state department of agriculture. The bill, that of Representative Satterwhite of Odessa, originally called for an appropriation of $500,000 but was cut to $300,000 on an amendment by Brooks of Bagwell. Proponents argued the $500,000 appropriation was not excessive and was needed to pay off the claims.

The bill was engrossed 66 to 53 and an effort by McGill to suspend the constitutional rule was defeated, 78 to 46. The bill will be brought up in its regular order, proponents indicated.

Amendment Adopted

An amendment by Terrell, to provide that the appropriation be taken as full payment of the claims of the farmers, was adopted. The amendment would prorate the appropriation if not sufficient to pay all claims in full.

Counties affected by the quarantine and sought damages were: Martin, Ector, Winkler, Andrews, Dawson, Howard, Reeves, Pecos and El Paso.

Payment of the claims will not be made until after September 1, under an amendment by Satterwhite.

Two Arrested In Mussolini Plot

ROME, March 25. (AP)—Two more arrests in connection with plots against the life of Premier Benito Mussolini were announced today by Italian secret police "Ovra." Authorities said the men arrested were members of a bombing gang headed by Michele Schirru, a naturalized American citizen, who was arrested February 3, and is awaiting trial.

Police did not disclose what preparations had been made in the conspiracy against the premier by the two newly-arrested men, Ersilio Belloni and Luigo Delfini. It was said they planned the execution of criminal acts, but were taken into custody March 4.

New Facts Are Seen In Trial

Eye Witness Tells Of Seeing Three Men Scamper Out Of Subway Following Shooting Of Jake Lingle

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 25.—The Leo Brothers murder trial jury was told by an eye witness today that three men scampered out of the Randolph street pedestrian subway after Alfred "Jake" Lingle was assassinated last June, that Brothers was one of those men and Frank Foster, Chicago gangster, was another.

Otto Swoboda, born in Bohemia and for many years a chef, occupied the witness stand most of the day. For the most part his testimony corroborated that of Warren Williams who told yesterday of seeing a man he identified as Brothers flee the scene of the murder.

Tosses Bombshell

Then Swoboda, a short fat faced excitable man, suddenly tossed a bombshall into the court proceedings. Yes, he said, on cross examination, he had seen pictures of Foster, who has been indicted for the murder and admitted to bail.

"Yes, sir," replied Swoboda. "He was the man that lit this man's cigaret (indicating the defendant) when I saw them just before the shooting."

"Then Foster was the man in the blue suit, the man who ran west through the tunnel after the shooting?"

"Yes."

State Pro Enforcement Laws Repealed By Illinois Senate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 25. (AP)—The Illinois senate today passed the bill repealing the state's prohibition enforcement laws. The measure, already passed by the house, now goes to the governor. The vote was 26 to 24.

Prior to the vote on the measure, republican leaders of the "wet" faction had called on their colleagues to support the bill to fulfill a plank in the party platform last fall pledging republican representatives in congress to adhere to the will of the people as expressed in the referendum last November on the prohibition question.

MEXICO CITY, March 25. (AP)—The airplane Miss Prosperity, returning with Texas deelgates to a highway conference in Panama, flew to Guadalajara today. The plane is due in Brownsville Saturday and Galveston Sunday.

Some Day! But— It's West Texas

Typical chameleon weather prevailed in Lubbock Wednesday.

The day dawned cold and comparably quiet. The wind begun blowing later and the sand blew. This was followed by sleet which later turned into snow, rainfall soon taking its place. As the sun sunk low in the west during the afternoon, it shone brilliantly through rifts of clouds to make the day complete so far as weather changes were concerned.

The changes, however, did not stop at sundown and late last night the temperature was steadily dropping to indicate colder weather for Thursday.

Precipitation registered at the state experiment station east of the city totaled .03 inches.

Foreign Ships Said To Be In Ford Service

Charges Made Against Company Wednesday Stating Foreign Ships Used In Competition

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 25. — A memorandum charging the Ford Motor company with using foreign vessels in competition with American trans-Atlantic lines was filed today with the shipping board.

The charges, presented by J. Caldwell Jenkins, vice president of the Merchant Fleet corporation, were considered by the board at its regular weekly meeting but no action was announced.

Under Former Probe

More than two years ago the board began an investigation to determine whether the Ford company's freighters operating between Atlantic and Pacific coasts through the Panama Canal, were acting as common carriers.

The investigation was dropped, however, when the company complied with regulations by filing its maximum rate schedules.

Jenkins, listing eight foreign freighters he said had been chartered by the Ford company between January 21 and March 11 of this year, explained he thought it advisable to bring the situation to the attention of the board, "as possibly Mr. Ford might be prevailed upon to improve his ways."

Threatens Stability

Jenkins said this caused the American companies to lose the Ford business and threatened the stability of the rate structure.

Officials expressed opinion they had no legal means to compel a change in the Ford shipping arrangements, but thought he might be requested not to carry general cargo on his chartered ships.

Jenkins said the Ford interests had excess space at their disposal and "are now soliciting other general cargo for Havre and Rotterdam in competition with our America-France and American Diamond lines and at less than the conference rates.

Two Are Killed As Studes Riot

MADRID, March 25. (AP)—Flying the red flag of rebellion students clashed with police at the San Carlos medical school today, resulting in the death of two persons and serious injury to 14.

The students barricaded themselves within the school buildings and battled authorities with bullets and stones. Using air pistols at first, the police were forced to resort to rifle fire to quell the uprising. About 40 were slightly hurt.

After four hours of intermittent firing the students abandoned their fortress and fled through a rear door into the streets. They were not detained by the civil guards although later several were arrested.

The government is studying the possibility of closing the universities if trouble continues.

Jury In Murder Trial Of Paul Nisbet Fails In Deliberation

PAMPA, March 25. (AP)—The jury trying Paul Nisbet, charged with being an accomplice in the slaying of C. H. Taylor near LeFors January 27, was dismissed today after failing to agree. It had deliberated seven and a half hour. Jurors said they stodd ten to two for conviction.

Charles "Little Chuck" Wilson is under 20-year sentence for the killing. Taylor was shot during a purported holdup.

Expression Of Defendant Is Unchanged As Judge Reads Verdict; Wife Kisses Him As Others Shake Hands

(By The Associated Press)

BEAUMONT, March 25. — A. B. Johnson was convicted of the murder of Ottis Lee Adams by a jury in criminal district court here early tonight and assessed a five year suspended sentence.

The jury was out an hour.

The 46-year old refinery teamster boss of Port Arthur who shot Adams in a pressing shop there on the night of January 17, was customarily expressionless. His wife kissed him and friends shook his hand.

Appears On Stand

District Judge R. L. Murray had him stand, and explained to him that the sentence never would become operative, except in event of conviction of another felony.

Johnson appeared on the stand this morning in a courtroom so jammed that egress through the doors was impossible. He said he shot Adams to death because he had learned the mysterious death of his pretty 17-year old daughter, Elizabeth, was a suicide and that he was told Adams, a married man, had viewed it as a "sad" occurrence that "got him out of a tough spot." Adams, Johnson said he was informed, had talked after her death,

New York Gangplank Walking Not As It Was Years Ago; Now Folks Step Off Plane Up Over Tallest Towers--1,252 Feet Above Fifth Avenue

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 25.—Would you like to take a walk—down a gangplank a fifth of a mile in the air?

That will be possible when the airship station atop the Empire State building, world's tallest skyscraper is finished in a few days. The mast, a giant of steel and stone and aluminum in itself, was "unveiled" of its outer scaffolding and structurally completed today.

Its apex rises 1,252 feet above Fifth Avenue at 34th street—so close to the clouds that even going up in the newly installed elevators and climbing its unfinished interior, 204 feet to the top, is a thrilling experience.

Some guessers have said no major lighter-than-air-craft ever will moor there because of hazards to the airship and the steel building itself. Others have scoffed at these fears and submitted magic evidence in engineering calculations that the tall tower would unflinchingly stand having the largest dirigible ever constructed anchored to it in a gale.

The big kick for season sky voyagers might come when stewards on the air-liner shout, "all ashore for New York!" The gangplank would be lowered to a circular platform little more than a dozen feet wide. It's just less than a quarter of a mile to the street and almost that far to the roof of the nearest skyscraper.

The gangplank would span an abyss dizzy for anybody. The plank is six or seven feet wide and the passengers involuntarily would clutch the handrails and try not to look down.

One-Act Play Will Be Given

Senior High School Students Will Present "The Eldest" At Weekly Assembly To Be Held Today

"The Eldest," which senior high school students have chosen as their offering in the annual district one-act contest at Texas Technological college Friday and Saturday, will be presented at the weekly assembly in the school Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the public is invited to attend, R. W. Matthews, principal of the high school, announced today.

"We are making a slight charge for the assembly play to help defray expenses of the team to the district meet," Principal Matthews said in making the announcement. "The Eldest" is a one-act play written by Edna Ferber. It is a popular number for dramatic clubs.

Cast of the play is as follows: Rose, the eldest, Katherine Wilkins, Floss, her younger sister, Mary Elizabeth Alexander, Al, her young brother, Layton Swson, Pa, Jimmie Knight, Ma, (a voice off stage), Dollie Clements, Henry Slez, Rose's one time sweetheart, Louis Spears, a neighbor, Lorraine Sears.

Stabilizer For Craft Perfected

KYOTO, Japan, March 25 (AP) — Thirteen years' exhaustive research work has rewarded Tonejiro Hamada, electric engineer of the Kyoto fishing company's Elzan, with perfection of a "vessel-stabilizer" designed to make a fishing craft and lifeboat practically unsinkable. Briefly, the stabilizer consists of a pair of pneumatic steel compartments attached on both sides of a vessel and is electrically operated. The device is so constructed as to enable a switch to turn automatically, according to the angle of the vessel's listing, and when the boat is about to capsize the device expands to the limit, making the whole boat double its normal width. The moment the boat is out of danger, the compartments close automatically.

Mr. Hamahara has also perfected a pneumatic float which enables a vessel to retain bouyancy even when under the waves.

HAS FOUR HUSBANDS

DENVER, March 25 (AP) — Confronted by four husbands in the court room all prepared to testify to their marriages to her, Elsie Thompson, 32, pleaded guilty today to a charge of bigamy. Judge Sam W. Johnston of the Jefferson county district court immediately sentenced her to one to two years in the state penitentiary.

PLAN CENTENIAL

DALLAS, March 25 (AP)—T. E. Jackson, president of the State Fair of Texas, was authorized by the board of directors today to appoint a committee to make plans for the Texas centennial celebration in 1936. Jackson said the personnel of the committee would represent all parts of the state. No definite plans for the celebration have been made.

ORDERS COSTUMES

Costumes for the annual Texas Tech architectural ball April 4 are being ordered for students by Professor F. A. Kleinschmidt, head of the Tech department. The first order is being mailed today.

All students attending the frolic will be expected to wear some sort of costumes and officials of the dance state that these may be ordered more cheaply than they can be made. A prize will be given to the most unique costume worn by a boy and also by a girl. Each woman attending will be given a Chinese souvenir.

Chinese motif is carried out in the decorations which are being prepared by students in the architectural department. Six dozen Chinese lanterns recently were received from China and will hang from the ceiling in the basement of the engineering building where the frolic will be held.

Professor Kleinschmidt asks that all students wishing costumes see him at once as the last orders will be placed within the next few days.

WILL DISCUSS TRIP

Discussion of the trip to the Southwestern Journalism congress at the University of Texas at Austin in May will be the main topic of discussion at a meeting of the Texas Tech Press club in room 219 of the administration building tonight. The meeting has been called for 7:30 o'clock according to E. B. Fincher, president.

More than twenty students plan to make the trip to Austin and it is planned to charter a bus for the transportation. Cecil Horne, Tech publicity director and professor of journalism, is in charge of plans.

All journalism students interested are asked to attend the gathering tonight.

WILL WEAR COTTON

At the request of Dr. Paul W. Horn, Tech president, the Women's Forum, co-ed organization on the Tech campus, will sponsor the movement here of the Cotton Campus Dress movement recently suggested by the University of Texas Mortar board.

The presidents of the other women's organizations in the college will be asked to discuss the movement with their club members. It is contended that if the women students of the country will adopt cotton costumes, it would greatly help the present over-production-of-cotton crisis.

TOREADOR TODAY

The first edition of the Tech student newspaper, The Toreador, for the spring term, will appear today on the campus according to Frank Emison, editor, and Jay Timmons, business manager.

No paper was issued last week as final examinations for the winter term were in full swing at that time.

PROGRAM PLANNED

Beginning Sunday afternoon and continuing through Tuesday, Texas Tech will entertain visitors from nearby colleges and universities in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, at the annual International Relations conference. The meeting here will be sponsored by the Tech International Relations club of which Alvis Ellis, Anton, is president.

Including night meetings, three sessions will be held on Monday and three on Tuesday. At these meetings speeches and discussions will be heard on such subjects as, "Western Europe Problems," "Disarming Europe," "Latin American Problems," "Soviet Russia." Moving pictures will be shown in many instances to illustrate the lecture.

On Monday evening a debating team from the West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, will come here for a debate with a Tech team. Subject of the debate will be, "Resolved, That the Nations Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade."

Several of the classes in government, and history will be dismissed for the students to attend the lectures and excused absences will be provided for students missing classes for the sessions.

Speakers include Miss Amy Jones, of the Carnegie Foundation for the Promotion of International peace, and several of the Tech students and members of the Tech government department.

BIDS ON SALE

Bids are on sale in the east rotunda of the administration building for the annual Texas Tech sophomore "hodge podge" at the Uptown Dance palace Friday night. The tickets, which are selling to members of the second year class, sell for $1.50.

Tech freshmen will be special guests of the sophomores at the frolic and will be adimtted free. Special music will be provided, according to Tedo Hazelwood, class president. The affair will be informal.

CONTINUE TO ENROLL

Although Monday was set aside for registration day, students continued to enroll yesterday. Many were delayed in enrolling due to changes in their schedules, while a few did not arrive in Lubbock until after Monday.

Classes started Tuesday morning and unless excuses are approved by college officials, class absences will be counted against those registering late and also a late enrollment fee of $2 will be charged.

Many former students who were not in school the past term have returned for the spring term, besides several new ones. Many of the students who were here last fall and winter, failed to return, however.

WILL SELECT SECRETARY

A secretary-treasurer for the remainder of the 1930-31 school year for the freshman class will be selected at a meeting tonight in the auditorium of the chemistry building, according to Matt Seymour, class president. The meeting formerly was set for Wednesday night, but was moved back a day after a conference with college officials.

Miss Temple Boone, Junction, was chosen as class secretary last fall at the first election of class officers. She did not return to Tech for the spring term, however, forcing the necessity of an election.

Plans for the freshman dance and also for "Fish" day will be brought up at the gathering tonight.

NAMED ASSISTANTS

Assistants for the publishing of the Texas Tech "Y" handbook which is being prepared by Houston Hinson and Louise Lawson, co-editors, have been announced as Wiley Loughmiller, Fort Worth; Bill Love, Lubbock; Mary Leidigh, Lubbock; and Margaret Lindsey, Lubbock. Loughmiller and Love will assist Hinson while the latter two will help Miss Lawson.

Following the customs of several other larger colleges and universities throughout the United States, the freshman handbook will be published for the freshmen next fall. All the information a freshman should know will be contained in the publication with the officers and names of all organizations on the campus.

Actual work will get under way within the next few days, according to those in charge.

MAIL LETTERS

Letters containing information concerning the Texas Tech relays here April 11 were sent out yesterday by the publicity department of the college under the direction of Cecil Horne, publicity director.

Relay teams from West Texas schools and from schools in surrounding states are expected here for the first annual meet sponsored by the college. Valuable prizes are offered to the winners by the various business concerns of the city.

OPERETTA PLANNED

With a cast of 25 Texas Tech students, and under the direction of Professor W. R. Waghorne, head of the Tech music department, an operetta, "All At Sea" will be presented at the Lubbock High school auditorium probably on April 6. Including the five separate choruses, more that one hundred students will participate in the event. Two of the choruses will be made up of students in the Lubbock High school, Professor Waghorne said.

The speaking part of the operetta has been somewhat rearranged and localized, Mr. Waghorne said. Students began practice sometime ago and arrangements will soon be completed for the show.

Admission will be fifty and seventy-five cents.

AWARD SCHOLARSHIPS

Because of the excellent showing in the Texas Tech Judging contest held here Monday, winners of first place in each division will be awarded a scholarship to Texas Technological college. The announcement was made Monday and had not been previously made before the contests started. The following students will receive scholarships:

M. Jones of Dublin for first prize winner in dairy cattle judging; M. Windom of McLean for first prize in farm shop judging; F. C. Schillingbury of Dublin for first prize in livestock judging; L. Smith of Post for first prize in plant production judging; and W. Smith of Hale Center for first prize in poultry judging.

The scholarships will be awarded by Dr. Paul W. Horn, Texas Tech president.

MATCH SCHEDULED

The Texas School of Mines Rifle team will arrive in Lubbock April 19 and on the following day will engage in a rifle match with the Tech squad, L. W. Chapman, president of the Texas Tech Rifle club recently announced.

The team will be made up of five members and probably one alternate will accompany the squad. Several other matches, some postal ones, are scheduled for the Tech team this spring, Chapman said.

EQUIPMENT TAKEN

CHICAGO, March 25. (AP)—Fifteen government agents crashed through the heavy doors of an alleged Capone brewery in suburban Cicero early today and confiscated $1,000,000 worth of brewing equipment, trucks and 31,800 gallons of beer. Three men were arrested.

PERMIT ISSUED

TYLER, March 25. (AP) — Permit for construction of a $125,000 oil refinery was issued here today to the Taylor Refining company of Taylor. Work on the plant, a mile and a half north of the city, already is in progress.

FORD SAFETY

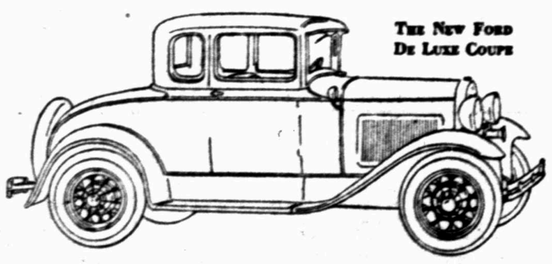

Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield has saved many lives in collisions

EVERY new Ford is equipped with a Triplex shatter-proof windshield. This is made so that the glass will not fly or splinter under the hardest impact. It has saved many lives and prevented injuries in many automobile collisions.

This shatter-proof glass windshield is just one of many features that make the new Ford a value far above the price. Others are the silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, sturdy steel body construction, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, extensive use of fine steel forgings, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, Rustless Steel, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing.

In addition, you save many dollars because of low first cost of the new Ford, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation.

Searching for "SEVEN CITIES OF GOLD"...

The Pueblo Village of Zuni, one of the remaining SEVEN CITIES OF GOLD

CORONADO missed a Greater Wealth

This is the first of a series of historical sketches portraying the pioneer history of the Southwest, in commemoration of Founders' Month of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, pioneer Southwestern refiners.

DETAILED in 1541 by the Viceroy of Mexico to search for the "Seven Cities of Gold", believed to be located somewhere in the vicinity of the territory now occupied by New Mexico and Arizona, Captain Francisco Vasquez de Coronado was the second white man to enter the Southwest.

Had he but known, riches far beyond the fabled wealth of his "Seven Cities" lay beneath his feet. Not in the yellow gold he sought, but in a black liquid which for millions of years had lain in stagnant pools deep in the bowels of the earth. His quest for the yellow metal that had lured mankind since before recorded history proved an imp of disappointment. But the hardships and privations he had suffered were not to be in vain . . . for Coronado had pioneered the way to a land that was fated to prosper and grow rich through agriculture and the discovery of petroleum.

The growth of New Mexico closely parallels that of its Southwestern neighbors. A single generation has seen a miracle unfolded before its eyes. Oil, like the touch of Midas, has wrought riches and wealth wherever it appeared. But unlike the touch of Midas, it has brought prosperity, progress and happiness beyond the most vivid dreams of Coronado.

As the pioneer refining company of the Southwest, the Magnolia Petroleum Company has done much to harness the great wealth over which Coronado unknowingly trod in quest of a golden rainbow. Since 1898, when the first refinery in the Southwest was opened at Corsicana, Texas, Magnolia has served every need for petroleum products, from the kerosene that lit the homes of early settlers to the highly refined gasoline and motor oil required by the present-day motor car.

Two of the "Seven Cities of Gold" that prompted Coronado's expedition still occupy their sixteenth century sites, and their picturesque people still ply the primitive arts of a civilization far older than Columbus. But the water of the hills, garnered for the thirsty soil and petroleum, recently discovered in New Mexico, continue to create a new wealth more potent and dependable than all the metals wrenched from the ground by enslaved Indians.

Nowhere else do ancient and modern civilization elbow each other in such amity, each lending color to the other. The delighted tourist who travels in his modern motor car, where once the Conquistadores and the Missionaries gave their lives in exploration, finds his way blazed by smooth, perfect highways . . . his pleasure, convenience and safety assured by a trail of Magnolia Service Stations.

Preliminary Judging For Women's Division Of Meat Show Is Today

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

SOMEONE driving out Nineteenth street last evening got in a hurry and ran over a dog. And then the driver was in such a rush that he did not even stop to carry the dog out of the street or see if he was badly hurt. He simply sped on leaving a broken-hearted little boy and a broken-bodied pup behind to wail their mutual sorrows.

I don't know who was driving the car; I don't even know what kind of a car it was because the crys of the dog and the child attracted me and the car had already disappeared into the dusk. But whoever it was, I know he was heartless. A person who will needlessly injure or kill a dog and then not even stop can't have much of the milk of human kindness.

It is true that the child was playing in the street and that he had his dog on a chain which probably prevented him from avoiding the car, but these are not extenuating circumstances. Few of us are in such a hurry that we can't slow down when children are playing in the street and avoid running over them and their pets. We live in an age of hurry and we are accustomed to speed until we lose sight of the fact that we break traffic laws which are made for the protection of lives. We all know that children are not supposed to play in the street but that does not justify injury to them. Driving with a little care isn't such a hard job.

THE FLOWER EXCHANGE

HERE are some names for the Flower Exchange: Mrs. J. A. Norwood, 2117 5th street, has some chrysanthemums—the yellow ones that turn bronze after they have been in blossom for several days—and lots of larkspur. She would like to get some coreopsis. Her telephone is 2233-J.

Mrs. Virginia Fann, 1516 17th street, has yellow, red and white chrysanthemums and Sweet William pinks which she does not want to throw away. She is at home after 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Because she didn't know anyone wanted any, Mrs. E. D. Farris, 1312 Main street, has been throwing coreopsis away as she has an excess. She has larkspur, orange-yellow and red chrysanthemums, purple flags and a few white flags to give away and she wants some verbena.

Mrs. Russell Hardin, 1107 31st street, writes in: "I have much too many Mexican daisies which are ready to transplant. They may have another name but I've never heard of. They are particularly good in front of a side or back fence or hedge as they grow about six feet high and they require very little care. They don't bloom until early fall, but then they're a riot of yellow blossoms. As cut flowers, they make a bright spot in most any room."

Mrs. Hardin's telephone number is 1782-J and she says, "The best way to find my house is to come out Avenue H to 31st street."

She sends in, also, a method for making good hot chocolate in response to a request made several days ago. Here is her method:

"I use measurements in about regular proportion to those on the can. Recipes always call for too much cocoa. Mix for each cup desired one teaspoon of cocoa and one tablespoon of sugar. If making six cups or less, to the cocoa and sugar add about four tablespoons of water, bring this to a boil and let it boil three minutes. Then add the desired number of cups of milk, using the same kind of cup it is to be served in and not a measuring cup. Heat this get almost to the boiling point, but not boil because that burns the taste of the milk. But if the cocoa is not boiled, then it has a slightly raw taste.

"When the cocoa is done, use a rotary egg beater and beat it. Serve immediately. My family and friends think it is more delicious topped with whipped cream than the usual marshmallows. I have a faint notion this is not exactly as I was taught to make it in my college domestic course, but I know many people who like it this way and it does not violate any food principles."

We're glad to see the Flower Exchange items. If you need some kind of plant or have an excess, list them so that those who are thinning beds will not have to throw their plants away. This will make a prettier town.

FOR SOUTHERNERS

IN CASE you are a Southerner, here's something you may like: A Southern girl is the most dutiful daughter left to parents of this generation, according to Miss Elisabeth Smith, traveling secretary for the National Student Council of the Young Women's Christian Association.

She doesn't think that family ties, any geographical limitations, believes that the girl of southern background is more reluctant to disregard her parents' wishes in any decision.

Mrs. Ola Powell Malcolm Is To Be In Charge Of Exhibit

Judging Demonstration Will Be Open To Any Who Wish To Attend; Demonstration Agents To Assist

A preliminary judging, preparatory to placing the women's exhibit in the Fat Calf, Pig and Cured Meat show on Friday, is scheduled to take place today, beginning at 1 o'clock, and at 1:30 o'clock there is to be a judging demonstration of canned meat products conducted by Mrs. Ola Powell Malcolm, field representative for the Southern states, United States Department of Agriculture.

Anyone who is interested may attend this latter event, which is to be in the county agent's office in the court house, and it is expected that members of home demonstration clubs over the South Plains section will be in attendance to hear the judging of their entries.

These To Assist

Assisting Mrs. Malcolm in the judging will be Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent; Miss Zetha McInnis, assistant superintendent of the show in charge of canned meat products, and 12 or 13 home demonstration agents from over this section.

Entries in this division of the show may be made until 10 o'clock today in the county agent's office and the judging will start immediately after that, according to Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, who is here for the show. If the weather is fair today, women are expected to arrive from all sections of the territory this morning, she said.

The women's division entries consist of canned pork roast, canned sausage, liver paste and scrapple.

To Open Cans

The preliminary judging this afternoon is one of the moves preparatory to opening the show proper Friday morning. In the show will be individual and club entries from the home demonstration units over this section. Each entry consists of two cans of the same product, one of which will be opened for the judging, Miss Murray said late Wednesday.

Quality of products will be judged by Miss Malcolm this afternoon and she will explain the various points that are taken into consideration in determining the perfection of canned products. This is the first such demonstration to have been given in Lubbock.

Assists Judge

Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent, arrived last night, in company with Miss Zetha McInnis, to assist in judging women's entries today for the Fat Calf, Pig and Cured Meat show on Friday.

Out-Of-Town Folk At Fete

Former Resident Of Sudan Is Hostess Wednesday; Guests Are From Towns Near Lubbock

Having as her guests women from out of town, Mrs. F. Z. Payne, 1907 23rd street, was hostess with one of the week's prettiest events Wednesday in her home. A luncheon was followed by bridge during the afternoon hours.

Mrs. Payne has recently moved to Lubbock from Sudan and the majority of her guests were from that town. These included Mesdames John Dean, L. E. Slate, C. M. Furneaux, Clyde Barron, Herman Lyle, Ves Terry, F. E. Miller, G. A. Foote, Marvin McLarty, and Miss Sue Wilson.

The other guests included Mrs. Lester LaGrange and Mrs. Roger Willett, of Amherst; Mrs. Overton Ribble, of Lubbock; Mrs. S. D. Hay, of Olton; Mrs. J. P. Robertson, of Plains.

Mrs. Dean scored high in bridge games, Mrs. Slate made second high score and Mrs. Furneaux was high in a general cut. Sweet peas and other spring blossoms were used in the party decorative scheme.

Children In Junior Church Will Attend Egg Hunt Here

An Easter egg hunt is to be attended by children of the junior department in the First Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon at the Country Club grounds. The group is to meet at the church at 3 o'clock and go from there to the club grounds.

Mrs. C. L. Fowler, of this city, left Tuesday morning for an extended visit to Strawn.

Club Members Attend Party

Miss Lomax Is Hostes For Fortnightly Members And Three Guests With Party Tuesday Night

Three guests attended a party with members of the Fortnightly club Tuesday evening when Miss Dorothy Lomax entertained in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Fred W. Standefer, 2207 16th street. These guests were Mrs. Ed Norman, of Copperas Cove, Mrs. Standefer and Miss Louise Jennings.

Club members attending were Misses Hazel and Alice Armstrong, Gertrude Daniel, Mary Meador, Leona Allen, Mabry Edens, Margaret McNabb, Lulu Mae Cravens, Zella Riegel, Johnnye Gilkerson and Blanche Bean.

Miss Edens scored high in bridge and Miss Allen scored second high.

Mrs. E. Wisdom Is Hostess At Bridge

One of the delightfully informal parties of the mid-week was given by Mrs. Ernest Wisdom in her home at 1502 Texas avenue Wednesday afternoon.

Games of bridge were the diversion and Mrs. Hurley Carpenter made high score, while low score was made by Mrs. B. V. McBride.

A refreshment course which was passed featured the motif of the Easter season.

Guests were Mesdames Abe Vaughn, J. L. Helm, McBride, J. D. McKnight, Carpenter, Ed Wilson, Miss Dorothy Ruth Bell and Miss Gwen Salmons, of Wichita, Kansas.

Teddy Largent Is Guest Of Honor At Small Party Here

Teddy Largent was named guest of honor at a party given by his mother, Mrs. C. H. Largent, in their home at 1621 18th street Tuesday afternoon. The occasion was the little boy's sixth birthday.

There was an egg hunt and other entertainment. Those who attended were Dorothy Madge McGinnis, Bobbie and Dorothy Wallace, Barney B. Stagner, Nolan Swain, Jr., Minnie Louise Moody, Joyce Halsey, Elizabeth McLarry, Ida May Moody, Felicia Gonzales, Ralph Cocanougher, Bernice Cocanougher, Frances Baker, Mary Ellen Henderson, Kathleen, Earline and Marjorie Moore.

EXPERIENCED COOKS PUT UP FRUIT IN SMALL QUANTITIES

Hills Bros. Follow Similar Rule by Roasting Coffee a Little at a Time

By adding the halves of fruit to the hot syrup a few at a time, the boiling temperature is maintained and the fruit cooks to firm, tender goodness.

This principle is apparent in Hill Bros.' process of roasting coffee and the result is a uniform, delicious flavor no other coffee has. A constant stream of expertly blended green coffee is introduced into the roaster in automatically measured lots of about three pounds. As it passes through, uniform heat roasts it a little at a time. When the operation is over, every berry is roasted to an even degree that could never be secured by any bulk-method of roasting coffee.

This process is fittingly called Controlled Roasting. It was originated and patented by Hills Bros. and develops a savory, delicious flavor that no other process can equal.

Because Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum, it is always fresh. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out of the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Scandalous Behavior of the Archduke Whose Death Started the World War

Emperor Francis Joseph tried to prevent their marriage . . . but when they were assassinated he plunged Europe into war . . . the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir-apparent to the throne of Austria-Hungary, and his morganatic wife, Countess Sophie Chotek.

Why the emperor boxed Francis Ferdinand's ears. . . . "Placing the coffin in the middle of the road, Francis Ferdinand and the other riders coolly jumped their horses over it."

Fourteen years ago this week, the United States entered Europe's terrible conflict, and now it is charged that Franz Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, whose assassination at Sarajevo began this awful bloodshed, was a ne'er-do-well guilty of many shocking offenses

FOURTEEN years ago this week—on April 8, 1917, to be exact—the United States entered a war that started because a Serbian fanatic killed the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir-apparent to the throne of Austria-Hungary.

Francis Ferdinand's very name was unknown to most Americans before the murder. Even after the war began the ordinary American knew nothing whatever about him, except that his murder had had dire effects for the whole world.

Since the war, however, history has grown more frank. Things are being told now that were kept secret before various ancient thrones went toppling. Among them is the intimate story of the private life of this Francis Ferdinand.

The man who reveals the truth about Franz Ferdinand is today a humble citizen of Austria known as Leopold Wolfling. Before the war he was the Archduke Leopold of Tuscany—a highly-placed member of the reigning House of Hapsburg. He knew Francis Ferdinand well; too well for his own good. And he has just written a book, "My Life Story, From Archduke to Grocer," published by E. P. Dutton and Co., which sheds a new light on the character of the man whose assassination was paid for by millions of lives. Here is Wolfling's story, told in his own words.

EMPEROR Francis Joseph, in 1892, sent me a hasty summons to report as a lieutenant for duty on the cruiser Elisabeth—aboard which his nephew, Francis Ferdinand, was shortly to proceed on a voyage to the far east. I knew well enough that the object of this voyage was to make Francis Ferdinand forget his infatuation for Countess Sophie Chotek and his desire to marry her. The thought of such an alliance filled Francis Joseph with panic, for Francis Ferdinand was now his heir-apparent and must be carefully kept from marrying anyone who was not of royal blood; so, to avert the risk of having one day to proclaim Sophia the future empress of Austria, Francis Ferdinand was now packed off with all possible speed.

The reason why I was packed off with him also was abundantly clear. The cast iron snobbery of the emperor again lay at the root of it. The heir-apparent on this voyage must be given at least one shipmate as near him in royal rank as could be found. And so I was detailed for duty on the Elisabeth in order to be companion to my imperial cousin. To outward seeming, no doubt, a very sensible plan, but in reality, most saturnine—for although the emperor was probably aware of it, Francis Ferdinand and I had long detested one another.

This mutual hatred dated from our earliest years. Even though he is now dead, I am bound to confess that I have never known a youth who was so completely a cad. Nor have I ever known anyone else as an adult who was so utterly lacking in even the remotest glimmer of sensibility or fine feeling. The noxious stuff of which he was made is shown in what he considered in his young days to be a jolly evening.

To one of these so-called evenings, F. F.—as we always called him—invited his younger brother and me, while we were still very callow. This younger brother—who had also most confusingly been christened Ferdinand—was the exact opposite of F. F., modest, gentle, and shy.

Well, Ferdinand Junior and I arrived for this "jolly evening" to find the big, roystering "F. F." in top form.

WHAT a certain type of youth calls "a girl party" was evidently in progress. Girls, most of them from the imperial ballet, abounded on all sides, drinking copious draughts of champagne, mixed with brandy. The fun waxed apace and F. F. grew merrier and merrier until suddenly he shouted:

"Let every man in the room close his eyes while every girl takes off her clothes."

Suiting the action to his words, he lay full length on a couch and pretended to snooze while his younger brother and I—then a couple of idealists, unused to bacchanalian orgies—seized our hats and fled.

Of course, I know that other young men have survived such scenes of folly with no lasting ill effect; but the form in which F. F. took his revenge was despicable, and reveals him as the cad he was.

F. F. bided his time until we three met at the next stately family dinner party, given by the emperor at Schonbrunn. As close friends, Ferdinand Junior and I arrived together. As soon as he saw us, F. F. shouted:

"Ah, there are our two chaste little Josephs! Believe me, they are not so chaste as they look."

Then, before the whole company, including the emperor and empress, he turned the tables upon his poor young brother and me by means of the meanest of lies.

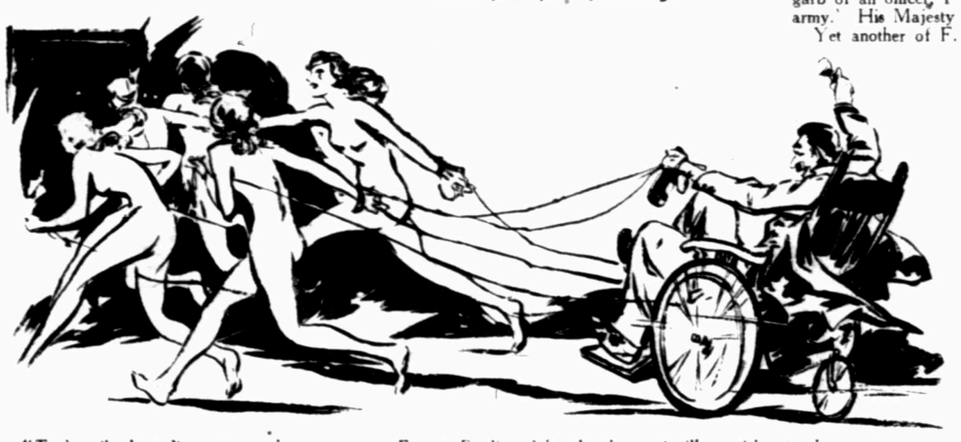

"The other night they asked me to a party," he began, "and would you believe it?" Then followed an account of exactly what had happened at his own party, except that he asserted that it was we who had suggested, "Let every man in the room close his eyes," and so on.

Every lady present tried to look suitably shocked, while all the men, except the emperor, laughed heartily and long. Obviously Francis Joseph was very much annoyed with Ferdinand Junior and myself for besmirching the royal family escutcheon in such shameless style. We, two tongue-tied young fools, were too abashed to protest.

Since these were the jocular methods to which F. F. could stoop, you will understand why I did not relish the prospect of a year in his company aboard the cruiser Elisabeth. I knew there would be trouble, and dire trouble there was.

Leopold Wolfling . . . formerly the Archduke Leopold of Tuscany.

"To beguile the tedium of convalescence . . . Francis Ferdinand lured a bevy of village girls into the sanatorium . . . and had them harnessed nude to his bath chair . . . which they ran, chariot fashion, around a big room."

FRANCIS FERDINAND figures so predominantly as the villain in my piece, that I am forced to paint him in his true colors, even though he is dead. But I want to be fair, and I am bound to admit that, whatever else he lacked, he most certainly possessed courage.

This courage was shown in the tenacity with which he stuck to one woman, Sophie Chotek, through thick and thin. Although Sophie sprang from one of the oldest families in Bohemia, the emperor ruled purblindly that she was not exalted enough in rank to be the wife of the heir-apparent; but it can at least be said of Francis Ferdinand that he stood up to the emperor and refused to be denied, and eventually he won the day. Not only did he marry Sophie Chotek, but he was able to insist on her being raised to almost the same royal status as himself in advance.

It was in the very early days of F. F.'s attachment to Sophie that he and I set forth together aboard the cruiser Elisabeth on that unhappy journey to the far east. All Austria, except F. F. himself, appeared to know that it was "to make him forget Sophie" that the emperor had designed the trip—a fact which made Francis Joseph treat his rebellious nephew much more tactfully than he would have done otherwise, for he abhorred the thought of the gossip about royal family affairs. To stop tongues wagging, he commanded the court physicians to persuade F. F. that he had distinct consumptive tendencies which sea air alone could cure. Hence this long voyage. It was not until we had been several days at sea that F. F. suspected the plot.

"I feel as fit as a fiddle, and I believe that old blackguard has bamboozled me," he cried vindictively. "But emperor or no emperor, I'll marry that girl."

A man crossed in love is seldom cheerful company, and F. F. showed me the rough side of his temper almost immediately we set sail. He traveled with all the pomp and glory surrounding an heir-apparent, while I on the other hand was just a staff officer. He let all around us mark the difference and insisted on my paying him all the deference and respect due to his high station.

In the presence of the other ship's officers he never failed to twit and taunt me whenever he could. Usually in the evening, he would get very drunk, and then would follow a long and befuddled exposition of his hopes for Austria's redemption. An outspoken ignoramus, he would even discuss the odds in favor of Francis Joseph resigning and appointing him regent—with the youngest officer on the ship!

HAD Francis Joseph actually abdicated in favor of this conceited upstart, it goes without saying that as the cat's-paw of Hohenzollern Germany, Austria would have been sent to her doom even earlier than she was. By championing him so staunchly in his desire to wed Sophie Chotek, Kaiser Wilhelm II had converted F. F. into a blind and faithful follower.

All this was, of course, plain to me as I listened to his perfervid orations after dinner each evening, aboard the Elisabeth. Had I not seen with my own eyes these two male peacocks, Kaiser Wilhelm and F. F., together? Both imagined themselves to be naval experts, and nothing delighted them more than to dress themselves up in parade uniforms, besprinkled with decorations, and then to take part together in naval reviews, strutting the bridge of a battleship and giving orders with loud-voiced belligerency. To me, who had received a real training in the navy, these spectacles were too ludicrous. Indeed, I doubted whether either of them knew one end of a telescope from the other.

DURING his lighter moments, F. F. used to serve up as weird and morbid a crop of after dinner stories as the most inveterate Sadist could invent. I recall through the years what was F. F.'s favorite story—a fairly typical gem in his collection.

"Have I told you how and why the Emperor Francis Joseph once boxed my ears?" he would inquire. Then he would reveal that once in a small garrison town he and his brother officers finished an all-night debauch by an early morning ride, during which they met a small funeral procession. Overcome with high spirits, F. F. ordered the procession to stop, and placing the coffin in the middle of the road, he and the other riders coolly jumped their horses over it, in proof of their equestrian skill. A few hours later news of this incredible act of brutality was carried to the emperor, who took a very serious view of it—to the amazement of F. F.

"His Majesty was wholly incapable of understanding that a youthful escapade of this kind was really quite harmless," he would say contemptuously on winding up the wretched anecdote. "He commanded me to come before him in civilian dress and then, when I appeared, he explained: 'I ordered you to be dressed thus because I am about to strike you, and if I did so when you were in the garb of an officer, I would sully the uniform of my entire army.' His Majesty proceeded solemnly to box my ears."

Yet another of F. F.'s stories—and I can still see the hateful leer on his face as he told it—concerned how in order to beguile the tedium of his convalescence from an illness, he lured a bevy of village girls into a sanatorium where he was staying and had them harnessed nude to his bathchair, which his attendants then ran, chariot fashion, round and round a big room for his entertainment.

I know not whether all such stories were true, but I do know that after listening to them, I used to slink out to the upper deck and take a deep breath of air, shuddering at the thought of the day when this licentious cad would ascend the Austrian throne.

Inevitably, my slinking away thus from the dining room of the cruiser, when such stories were told, only increased my imperial cousin's ire. "Hello, where's that democratic relative of mine?" he would shout, and then, when I reappeared: "Traitor to your own stock, that's what you are. Why do you mix with us officers and gentlemen at all? Why don't you feed with the men?"

OUR final rupture, when it came, had a distinct touch of drama. The climax was reached late one night as our cruiser was steaming east, slowly and cautiously feeling her way through the Arafura Sea. I was on duty at the time, and I had been directed to keep a sharp lookout from the topmost bridge, as from that altitude the shallow water, so prevalent in that vicinity, could be more easily detected.

Suddenly F. F., very drunk, came to the bridge calling out: "Before turning in, I'll take a hand at the wheel."

Immediately I rushed forward, managing to take the wheel from him before the ship had swerved much from its course.

"Leave the bridge instantly, you insolent young cur. Everyone on this ship takes his orders from me. I'll teach you!" he bawled, trying to knock me down with a savage blow in the ribs. Meanwhile, the steersman had recaptured the wheel, at sight of which F. F. seized him from behind and sent him sprawling along the bridge. Then back he came to me again, frothing at the mouth and evidently once more about to belabor me. Without more ado, I struck him full in the face. Dazed, he sat down on the bridge.

The whole of this miserable scene was enacted in considerably less time than it takes to describe it, and my own fury had subsided by the time the captain—awakened from sleep by a frightened midshipman—appeared on the bridge. He had long taken the measure of F. F., so that his sympathy in secret was wholly with me. Discreetly, with the help of some sailors, he piloted Austria's heir-apparent to his luxurious cabin.

The Function Of A College

A COLLEGE or a university is generally believed to be a sort of warehouse where innumerable facts are stored, to be sorted out and delivered, in proper quantities, to aspiring students who come in search of knowledge. But Dr. Ernest M. Hopkins, president of Dartmouth college, told middle-western alumni of Dartmouth the other day that this conception of a college is entirely wrong.

Indeed, he asserted, the prime function of a college is not at all to give knowledge to its students. It does its part if it merely imparts to them an inquiring and understanding habit of mind.

"Nothing is more useless than a fact by itself," says Dr. Hopkins. "The only thing a liberal arts college can do is to offer the atmosphere and environment in which education can be got."

All of this is perfectly sound, and educators all over the country have been saying it for years; but since it runs counter to the ordinary conception of higher education it is worth looking at a bit.

During the last two decades the ranks of college students in the United States have been enormously increased. A far higher percentage of young people is going to college today than was the case a generation ago; and back of this increase lies a fervent hope, on the part of hundreds of thousands of parents, that the colleges will somehow contrive to stuff their offspring with knowledge that will bring larger pay-checks, finer homes and a more comfortable station in life.

Unfortunately, it doesn't always work out that way; and a great deal of disappointment would be prevented if there could only be a wider understanding of the truth of Dr. Hopkins' remarks.

The college does not exist primarily to enable young people to make more money when they get out into the world. It is not supposed to load their brains with facts so that they will be walking encyclopedias. The most it can hope to do is put them into contact with the thoughts of great minds, and teach them to maintain an inquiring and unprejudiced attitude. As Dr. Hopkins says, it aims not so much to teach the students to do something as to teach them to be something.

But it probably will take us a long time to realize this. We demand tangible results when we put our money on the line. When we send our son off to college we fondly expect that he will emerge, after four years of it, ready to become a captain of industry or a highly-salaried professional man. It is hard for us to understand that a broadened horizon can be, in itself, worth the expense of a college education.

Faculty members at Tech, students and their parents will do well to consider the words of the learned gentleman who presides over the stately halls of Dartmouth. There is an underlying strata of truth to his words—one which fits well into the scheme of things today.

Sad as it may seem, most of the men who are running things couldn't quote a line from the classics and very few of them, outside the realm of engineering, could work a ninth grade problem in algebra.

But they seem to be doing their work well enough to command large salaries and incomes—which strengthens Dr. Hopkins' statement that "nothing is more useless than a fact by itself."

It is a good idea to be frank, if you don't care what happens to your face.

Practical Health Problems

ROUND SHOULDERS EASILY CORRECTED

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN,
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

A straight back is a handsome attribute. Round shoulders indicate relaxation, weakness and fatigue.

Stooped or round shoulders may result from incorrect sitting or standing. It may be due to the habitual carrying of a heavy load on the back. It may be associated with tight garters and clothes that hang from the shoulders.

This type of faulty posture is easily corrected by proper instruction, proper dress and suitable exercises. It may be necessary in some cases for a specialist to apply a brace or some apparatus to hold the shoulders and back in proper position long enough for the person to develop a correct posture.

Associated with round or stooped shoulders there are on occasion cases of twisted backs due to wrong standing or due to overloading the weight on the spine or spinal column by some occupation. There are, of course, diseases which break down the strength of the tissue or which interfere with their action so that the tendency of the spine is to curve either to one side or to the other or perhaps forward and backward.

Associated with this curving of the spine may be digestive disturbances, and sometimes pressure on the lungs and on the heart, sufficient to cause difficulty in breathing, pain, and a rapid pulse.

The development of the modern specialty of orthopedic surgery has meant great relief for people with twisted spines who formerly had to go through life gradually becoming worse and invariably objects of pity or contempt.

The kings chose as their court jesters hunchbacks who were merely cases of disease not helped by the primitive knowledge of their times. Modern scientific orthopedic surgery provides corrective exercises and braces which improve these conditions. In severe cases, plaster-of-Paris jackets are used, gradually modifying them to meet the improvement.

As anyone can realize, the earlier treatment is begun the greater is the possibility of complete cure. The children who incline to have twisted spines are generally delicate weakly children who need proper diet and suitable hygiene in order to build up their nutrition and to increase their resistance.

There are exercises and gymnastics and the use of right braces that do much for these patients until they become strong enough to undergo the more rigorous forms of treatment.

Child Welfare Factor

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 26.—What a difference it makes when congress adjourns never was better illustrated than by the publicity attendant upon President Hoover's trip to Porto Rico and the Virgin islands.

The president's heart has been touched, it is announced from the White House, by representations of the hard lot of Porto Rican children.

He wants to make the first-hand investigation of the generally bad economic conditions which prevail both in Porto Rico and among the Virgin islanders, according to information from the executive mansion but concern for the little ones is the especially-stressed feature of the presidential journey.

THAT this explanation accurately reflects the facts of the case there is no doubt whatever.

Child welfare unquestionably is Mr. Hoover's chief personal prepossession. Throughout the entire history of his activities as a worker for the alleviation of "human misery" his first thought always has been for the young among the sufferers, both because of their helplessness, probably, and on account of his realization of the importance of their present upon the future.

Yet there equally can be no doubt that the administration's publicity advisers, if not the president himself, would have been mighty careful to avoid the placing of too much emphasis upon the welfare aspects of the chief executive's tourney had congress been in session, with plenty of its spokesmen ready to draw a parallel immediately between the consideration shown (at least it would be argued that such a contrast existed) for Porto Rico's and the Virgin islands' children and Arkansas', Kentucky's and the children in the rest of the drought-stricken region nearer home than America's insular possessions.

OF COURSE the parallel will be drawn anyway. Indeed, various senators and representatives who still linger in Washington already are drafting statements, doing their best to develop it as strongly as possible. Many more, who have returned to their widely-scattered constituencies, from ocean to ocean and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico, may fairly be presumed to be preparing to loose similar utterances.

But there is no such kick behind a congressman's fulminations in the open air of the whole broad country and the same ones exploded within the confining walls of the senate chamber or the house of representatives. A blast dissipates itself unless it is shut up somehow.

A CONGRESSIONAL howl will not "keep," either, for release when the opportunity presents itself.

Of course, if unemployment and farm distress do happen to be just as bad as at present, or worse, next December, when the legislators finally get together, orators will be able to hark back to today, and point to Mr. Hoover's Caribbean voyage in behalf of the children of Uncle Sam's insular wards after opposing the relief measures, which many considered necessary, in the interest of those in many parts of the continental United States.

But the home situation may have improved in the meantime; at least it is to be hoped so. In that event the contrast, which would be so effective now, if debated in congress, will have lost its timelliness. At best (or worst) it will be belated.

EVEN with congress dispersed hither and yon, it is open to argument whether or not the White House "hand outs" dealing with the presidential tour have described its purposes as tactfully as might have been managed.

A straight-out statement that Mr. Hoover needed a rest and some sea air would have been better, in the opinion of many critics.

The truth seems to be that "young Teddy" Roosevelt, Porto Rico's Hooverian governor general, on his last visit in Washington, did paint a distressing picture of child life on the island under his jurisdiction. Mr. Hoover saw it close up, as Roosevelt presented it, and it stuck in his mind—for Teddy has a deal of his father's gift for the graphic and the forceful.

Maybe Arkansas and Kentucky would have been more fortunate if they had had as capable an advocate as the heir, to a measure, at any rate, of the late colonel's strenuosity.

As for Roosevelt, Porto Rico is indebted to him. He conceives it to be his duty to get things done for his charges in his own baliwick; not to worry about Arkansas and Kentucky.

A TIME FOR SANITY

Temporizing has been the order of the day since the war and is held responsible in large degree for the emergency in which the nation now finds itself. The new order of the day, judging by the utterances of both "radical" and "conservative" business men and politicians, is to take the bull by the horns.

While most elements in business were more than satisfied with temporizing policies as long as the country enjoyed prosperity, they must recognize now what a host of problems afflict the whole business structure—problems which have become seriously aggravated by putting off consideration and decision.

Agriculture, unemployment, foreign trade, banking, utility regulation and a score of other questions press for positive and effective action.

The program drawn up by business and political leaders is the accumulation of work which should have been undertaken a decade ago. The price of delay was unemployment and depression.

Danger lurks on all sides at such a time. Conditions demand action and for inaction the nation must suffer. But there is the equally great danger of going too far in the other direction. The economic millennium is not to be found in a mass of radical legislation and a maze of government red tape for business to lose itself in. The need is for a middle course, guided neither by the reactionaries nor by the radicals.

Honey seems almost to repel flies when compared to the way a bull market attacts suckers.

All kinds of people subscribe to the aphorism that it takes all kinds of people to make a world.

The simple and obvious solution is a system of elevators that will turn all roads into parking space.

For GINGER'S SAKE

by ETHEL HUESTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

To keep life from growing too dull in Red Thrush, Iowa, GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER, daughter of a minister and stepdaughter of the wealthy and indulgent former PHIL VAN DOORN, organized a Junior Country Club.

BARD HOLLOWAY, a young artist who was hoboing through the country, stopped in Red Thrush. Attracted by Ginger, he agreed to stay and paint portraits and decorate the clubhouse. He suggested sending to Chicago for NICOLO CALLENO, who could cook and sing and strum a guitar.

But Nicolo cou'd not come. In his place came three of his countrymen. ANGELO could play; PIETRO could cook, BENITO could sing. Ginger took them on. Beginning to realize that he was in love with Ginger, Pard suggested leaving. But Phil persuaded him to stay longer as their guest, and she wrote to SPEED RONEY, a former friend of Ginger's, and invited him. She felt he would give Bard some competition.

Ginger met this move by inviting PATTY SEARS to take care of Speed. When Speed wired that he was bringing his sister she also persuaded EDDY JACKSON to come, and Eddy decided to ball things up by keeping Ginger and Bard separated. This he did. Speed's sister's nickname was COTTON. Eddy devilishly contrived to keep her and Bard together while he stuck to Ginger and paired Patty off with Speed. Everyone had a miserable time.

Meanwhile, Benito had made a trip to Chicago and returned with presents for all and a plan to kidnap Ginger and hold her for ransom. He bided his time. When Speed, not knowing how matters stood, told Bard that Ginger and Eddy were engaged, Bard determined to leave. And at that point of the proceedings Ginger disappeared. Shorter afterward a note was found, containing a demand for $30,000. Phil immediately wired to Chicago for the money and a pair of private detectives. When the detectives arrived they disclosed that Cotton was not Speed's sister, and Speed confessed they had been secretly married.

A basket containing a carrier pigeon was delivered at the Tolliver home with instructions to fasten the money in its pouch and release it. While they talked the pigeon escaped in the room. Bard recaptured it and identified it as Benito's bird. They put the money on the bird and released it and waited and watched Benito, who said he was going fishing.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL

"You be careful in that old tub of yours," said Bard, "She looks pretty groggy to me."

"Maybe she'll sink with me and maybe she won't," muttered Benito. "What do I care? I'd rather drown than endure this suspense any longer."

He slowly drew in the old boat at the end of the bow-line. It was listing badly.

"Be careful, Benito," said Eddy. "It doesn't look at all safe."

"I don't care if it's not safe," declared the Italian passionately. "I'd as lief be drowned as not."

As he stepped gingerly into the boat it rolled under him so that he lost his balance and fell over half into the water. But he righted himself, muttering grimly between his teeth, readjusting the big stones which he said he carried for ballast, and banged the oars into the locks. With one terrific pull of his great arms he sent the lumbering craft halfway across the river.

"God, what an actor," muttered Eddy. "If he really did it."

"He did it," declared Bard grimly. "Cut up into the woods, will you, and keep an eye on him? He may pull up-stream, and we don't want him to see that we are following."

Eddy stood up and lighted a cigaret.

"How's she working?" he called to Benito.

"She's spring a leak on me, but it's not much," he roared back. "Getting my bed wet, though. I'll just get a fish or two for our supper and pull in."

He pulled the boat across the river and directly into the heart of the deep pool which lay in the shadows on the other side and carefully lowered a flat stone on the end of a chain as an anchor.

"I'll call up the girls, Bard," said Eddy. "Back in a minute."

He disappeared into the house, and Bard, watching, saw that he crossed quickly through and disappeared into the woods on the upper side. But Benito had already settled himself to his fishing, hunched up on the board and pulling upon the old pipe Ginger had bought for him at his suggestion as becoming a river man.

"God, he is an actor," thought Bard. "You wouldn't believe it of the sort he is—fond of birds—fond of flowers—fond of fishing—and such a devil at heart. I wouldn't believe it myself—if I didn't know it. Catching fish for our supper down there, and that ransom money for Ginger upstairs in his window. God!"

He thought of Ginger. They would have her back—they must have her back. It was not possible, it was too cruel that one so lovely, loved so much, should be snatched like that from all the light and love and laughter in the world. They would have her back. He would tear her away from Benito if he had to do it with his bare hands.

A sudden shrill cry brought him quickly to his feet.

"Throw me a rope! A rope!" Benito boomed in a voice of terror. "She's sinking! Throw me a rope!"

* * *

Bard could not help laughing at the ludicrous spectacle. The boat was settling swiftly into the water, and Benito, his legs sprawled

Further Decrease Seen In Income Taxes For Year

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP)—A decrease in income tax collections March 21 as compared with the same day a year ago was shown in a treasury statement which reported $16,206,279 as compared with $31,372,280 a year ago.

The drop increased the deficit for the month. A total of $299,435,575 has been collected this month, as compared with $491,700,906 last year. The collections for the fiscal year amounted to only $1,470,866,599 as compared with $1,744,335,138 in the same period of the preceding year.

The continued decline supported the treasury's estimate that not more than $350,000,000 in income tax would be collected this month as compared with $559,000,000 in March last year and indicated the fiscal year would end wih a deficit of $700,000,000 or more.

On March 21 the treasury had a deficit of $506,233,333 as compared with a surplus of $105,869,734 the same day last year. Collections from all sources for the present month were $567,864,184 as compared with $571,762,835 last year.

The treasury's statement showed general expenditures for the fiscal year to date amounted to $1,689,255,343 as compared with $1,583,388,225 last year.

No medicine ever became famous by accident. A medicine must make good to win the praise and endorsements of tens of thousands. Konjola is a household word just because this medicine does what it is intended to do.

Mrs. T. G. Moore

Just see what Mrs. T. G. Moore, 314 Mission street, San Antonio, says of Konjola: "Three years ago I began having trouble with my liver and constipation. I felt thoroughly down and out. But after taking Konjola for a month I am feeling better than in a long time, and am more than pleased with results".

Mrs. Edna Barnett

Another staunch friend of Konjola is Mrs. Edna Barnett, 713 N. Pearl street, Dallas, who exclaims: "Every day for the past year I was in misery, with a burning sensation after meals. I was tired worn out and nervous. I took just four bottles of Konjola and haven't had a trace of indigestion since. I have gained weight, and certainly owe much to Konjola."

Mrs. Emily Kimes

And read of the experience of Mrs. Emily Kimes, 314 McKinney avenue Houston, who says: "I suffered for many months with severe headaches and constipation. I was badly run down and nothing helped me. I have taken seven bottles of Konjola and it was certainly a good investment. I am no longer nervous; have no headaches. Konjola was just what I needed."

So it goes; victory after victory, when Konjola, with its juices of 22 roots and herbs, goes to work. Buy Konjola in any drug store, and do not accept a substitute.

Don't neglect your child's COUGH or COLD

TRY this milder "counter-irritant." Good old Musterole now made milder for babies and small children. So pleasant to use and so reliable—apply Children's Musterole freely to the affected area once every hour for five hours. That's the safe, sure treatment that millions of mothers and leading doctors and nurses recognize and endorse.

Musterole gets action because it is a "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

That's why this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally.

Keep full strength Musterole on hand for adults and Children's Musterole for the little tots.

Swede' Kling Gets Transfer

Manager Of Lubbock Hilton Hotel Will Go To Plainview As Manager; L. M. Drown Comes Here

Succeeding H. "Swede" Kling who is to go to Plainview, L. M. Drown, formerly manager of the Hilton hotel at Abilene, is to take over the managership of the Lubbock Hilton, April 1, it was announced here yesterday. Mr. Kling is to be manager of the Plainview Hilton.

The transfer affects several of the Hilton chain. J. W. Drown, present manager of the Hilton at Plainview, son of Mr. Drown here, is to go to El Paso as assistant manager while Earl Guitar is to succeed the elder Drown in the Abilene hotel.

Kling leaves the hotel here after successful operation of the institution since its opening in January, 1930. Prior to that time he had served as manager of the Herring hotel in Amarillo. He was also formerly connected with the Lubbock for a short time and also served as manager of the Lubbock Inn. He is one of the best known hotel men in this section.

Mr. Drown has been associated with the Hilton hotels since 1919. Prior to that time, he was in Cisco, Corsicana and Dallas hotels. He and Mrs. Drown will make their home here. Another son, Jack, who is in school in Austin, is to enroll in Texas Tech after this term.

In the change here, Earl F. Phillips, formerly chef with the Epply hotel chain and more recently at St. Anthony's hotel in San Antonio, succeeds Arthur Kretschmann who has gone to the Settles hotel in Big Spring.

Inspection To Be Held Here Today

The results of the vacant lot and alley clean up camapign will be inspected Thursday afternoon by members of the inspection committee, city officials and directors of the board of city development and the chamber of commerce.

The clean up campaign was started March 3, and was sponsored by the chamber of commerce in an effort to alleviate unemployment and to beautify the city. During the three weeks comprising the campaign nearly 300 of Lubbock's unemployed were given work.

The campaign is reported to have been successful. Nearly all of the $6,500 appropriated by the chamber of commerce has been used.

Persons taking part in the general inspection are invited to bring their cars and to be at the chamber of commerce not later than 1:30 Thursday afternoon.

DALLAS, March 25. (AP)—William E. Burgess, 36, manager of a retail store here, died early today in a hospital. He was a native of Itasca, and had lived in Dallas a year. Funeral rites will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at Itasca.

Run-Down, Weak Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just give Tanlac the chance to do for you what it has done for millions.

Mrs. Fred Westin, of 387 E. 57th St. North, Portland, Ore., says: "Tanlac cured my stomach trouble completely after three years of suffering. It built me up to perfect health, with a gain of 27 lbs. That was two years ago, and I still enjoy the best of health."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs: it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2c a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Your money back if it doesn't help.

No Change Seen In Andrews Well

No material change has been reported in the production of the No. 1 Kuykendall of the Deep Rock Oil company in Andrews county, following the well being shot with 600 quarts of nitro last Saturday.

The well is continuing to head every six or seven hours and is producing at the rate of from 150 to 200 barrels per day. Oil is going into the pit while storage tanks are being constructed. A 1,000 barrel tank is fast nearing completion.

The Kuykendall is being cleaned out, the work being only a short distance from the bottom. The 600 quart shot was placed at from 4,236 to 4,506 feet after it had been plugged back from 4,646-4,565 feet. Gas was increased by the shot from a million to an estimated three million cubic feet.

Refrigerators On Display In City

A downtown display of McKee iced-air refrigerators has been arranged by Peoples Ice company in the east half of Maxfield Music company quarters at 1203 Broadway.

A. L. Porter is sales manager in charge of the display room, which was opened March 16. A carload of refrigerators on display includes three sizes having a price range of $27.50 to $135. McKee refrigerators are all-porcelain of steel frame, and cork-board insulated, Mr. Porter said.

Unlicensed money-lenders in England have been exposed as charging as much as 180 per cent interest.

Terracing To Be Conducted

Last Of Series Of Demonstrations In Area Will Be Given At Beebe Farm At Wolffarth On April 3

The last of a series of terrace-demonstrations being given throughout this section, sponsored by the extension department of Texas A. and M. college, the Federal Land bank, and the Ft. Worth and Denver City railway, will be held at the Beebe farm at Wolffarth, at 10 o'clock the morning of April 3.

A mass meeting will be held at the Lubbock courthouse at 8 p. m. April 2, D. F. Eaton, county agent announced, in preparation for the terrace demonstration to be held the following day.

Speakers at the mass meeting here will include A. K. Short, conversation and terracing agent for the Federal Land Bank of Houston; M. R. Bentley, extension farm engineer of Texas A. & M. college, and M. B. Oates, Fort Worth & Denver City railway farm agent, of Wichita Falls.

Stereopticon slides possibly will be shown to demonstrate needs for, and utility of terracing.

County Agent Eaton said that attendance of farmers, business men, farm implement representatives, and interested persons generally was desired. Particularly should farmers who have obtained federal loans, and thus need terrace-work done on their lands, attend the program, County Agent Eaton said.

Actual construction of terraces with different kinds of machinery will be demonstrated at a farm at Wolffarth at 10 a. m. the following morning, the Lubbock county agent said. Implements will be provided by the county and by manufacturers of such equipment.

Members of the general committee directing the meeting and Lubbock county demonstration, and respective organizations which they represent, are:

Garnet Reeves, chamber of commerce; R. S. Rodgers, Federal Land bank; H. J. Bower, agricultural school of Texas Technological college, and D. F. Eaton, extension service.

Interlocking System To Be In Operation At Plainview

An automatic interlocking system, similar to that being used in Lubbock, is being put into operation at Plainview, John A. Gillies, division superintendent of the Santa Fe railway, announced here.

The Plainview system will be the second of its kind to be placed in Texas. The first was installed here only a short time ago at the order of the railroad commission. A third is to be placed at the Santa Fe-Rock Island crossing north of Dumas, it is understood.

Swim In Oil?

Oil Report Breaks Up Meetings

NEW ROCHELLE, Ill., Mar. 25. (AP)—If anybody wants to, it may be possible later on to go swimming in oil in the New Rochelle bathing pool.

A report that oil was seeping into the pool broke up a meeting of the city council, the Elks' lodge and several other gatherings last night, as 1,000 townspeople gathered on the banks of the pool.

City Commissioner Dan W. Taylor would not vouch for the authenticity of the strike, but said workers cleaning the pool noticed what appeared to be oil on top of water left in the basin. Further inquiry, he added, revealed what appeared to be oil coming from a fissure in the rock near the mouth of a spring which feeds the pool.

Funeral Services For Stine D. Ince Held Here Wednesday

Last rites for Stine D. Ince, 26, were read at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon by Elder John T. Smith at the Broadway Church of Christ. Burial was in the Lubbock cemetery under the direction of the Masons with Knights Templar escort. Arrangements were made b ythe Bynum-Morgan funeral home.

Mr. Ince had lived in Lubbock for four years, and was a salesman for a Fort Worth hardware and implement company. His death was attributed to heart disease. Survivors include two brothers, a sister, and a mother.

"Uncle Dave" Faulk, veteran Oklahoma legislator, put on a necktie to mark the opening of the 1931 session, but discarded it next day.

Grollman Case May Bring Suit

Alleging that there is only one true account in the complaining petition that forced the closing of C. H. Grollman's store here this week, W. W. Campbell, attorney for Mr. Grollman, said that a damage suit may be brought against the petition signers.

The account of the Paragon Novelty company for $49.56 is the only one listed that is a true charge, Mr. Grollman avers.

The other two accounts, that of of the Style Park Hat company, of Philadelphia, in which merchandise had been refused and order cancelled, the case being thrown into litigation, and that of Joffre, Cohen, Lang, in which a claim was held against the Plainview store, Grollman's Inc., a separate company, were entered illegally, it was said.

Developments in the case await action of Mr. Grollman and his attorneys. He has twenty days in which to answer the bankruptcy petition and combat the charges.

WANT TO CUT REPAIR BILLS? THEN AVOID MR. WATER-THIN!

MR. WATER-THIN'S specialty is wasting money. For he's the quart or more of thin, waste oil ordinary refining leaves in every gallon of motor oil. It's non-lubricating stuff that can't fight friction and heat—that invites oil failure and motor trouble. So Quaker State engineers have dubbed it "water-thin."

Buy Quaker State and cut repair bills! For there's no "water-thin" in Quaker State. Quaker State removes it by the most modern refining in the industry. Removes it and replaces it with rich, wear-resisting lubricant. Quaker State gives you four full quarts of lubricant to the gallon—not three quarts and one of waste. So you really get an extra quart of lubrication!

Get Quaker State at the familiar green and white service station sign. It costs 35c per quart—and by the mile it costs less than any other oil. For that extra quart in every gallon of Quaker State brings you more miles from your oil, more service from your motor, fewer trips to the repair shop. Fill up to-day!

WHEN pretty Alison Weatherleigh agreed to help Dick Penhampton do a little amateur detective work in finding his sister's stolen diamonds, she did not realize what amazing things were to happen.

THE trail to the stolen Hardway Diamonds led Dick Penhampton and his sweetheart, Alison Weatherleigh, to a person whose cruel maniacal laugh warned his victims. Who was this man, the terror of criminals and Scotland Yard? None of them had ever seen him. They recalled the blood-curdling laughter—but few heard it twice, for death had been meted out to all those who had tried to solve the riddle of his identity—and yet Penhampton continued to live. Why was he spared so often in the ghastly game of cat-and-mouse played in the dark? Watch for the answer.

Connie Mack's Outfit Appears Strongest Of Americans

San Antonio Indians Pray To Parent Club

Dope at Hand Shows A's To Hold An Edge

No Other Team Strengthened Enough To Beat Athletics In Own Loop Is Belief, But National Repeat Is Doubted

(This is the second of two stories reviewing major league baseball prospects based on training camp observations.)

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 25.—For the simple reason that no club in the American League appears to have strengthened sufficiently to turn them back, Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics will enter the forthcoming derby generally favored to make it three straight.

Lame and halt though their infield may be, and uncertain their pitching support for Grove and Earnshaw, the consensus seems to be that the champions have enough left to tame the opposition. Whether, after they have done that, they will be able to vanquish the National League's color bearer for the third time is an entirely different question.

Senators Are Ambitious

Only one team has a definite idea it will supplant the Mackmen in the throne room. The Washington Senators, who were setting the pace last season as late as July 4, only to fall apart in the stretch, believe they are due to crash through this season. If either the Cleveland Indians or the Yankees, the other top flighters last season, have the pennant bee the fact is being carefully concealed.

Roger Peckinpaugh, the Indian pilot, has ventured that his boys will be "right up there," but Joe McCarthy, the new foreman of Ruth, Gehrig and Co., will not go even that far. He has been too worried about his mound staff, if any, to give much thought to the campaign proper.

Bucky Harris Optimistic

Detroit, under Bucky Harris, has chosen to sound an optimistic note. Harris believes he has uncovered some fine new talent. Chicago, St. Louis and Boston are more or less resigned to their fate about in that order. They are doing what they can toward building for the future.

The A's, notwithstanding the rumors and requiems that have swirled about their crowned heads this spring, likely will face the barrier next month with the same lineup that has been good enough to rim the baseball world for two years. The mighty Al Simmons has not yet signed, but the boys say he will come to terms pronto when he meets Mack in Philadelphia just before the grind begins.

Washington's chances, baseball men agree, hinge on the ability of such veterans as Sam Rice, Joe Judge and Heinie Manush to go the route.

Indian Mound Staff Good

Cleveland again will depend upon a crack mound staff, headed by the brilliant Wes Farrell, but the left side of its infield still is open to debate.

Uncertain pitching promises to hold the Yankee sluggers down. In addition, McCarthy has not yet settled on an infield. Tony Lazzeri may be sent back to his old post at second.

Bucky Harris has a camp full of fine looking rookies at Detroit, and the battle for almost every job is a wide-open affair. The Walker Brothers, outfielders, have been advertised as "finds."

PITCHING WINS FOR TIGERS

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 25 (AP)—Mid-season pitching and some vicious slugging gave the Detroit Tigers a 5-1 victory over the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast league in an exhibition game here today. It was the Tigers' second straight triumph over the coast league champions.

To Unseat A's?

When it comes to beating Connie Mack's Athletics for the American League pennant Walter Johnson, above, believe he has the proper stuff to turn the trick in his Washington Senators. At least he has hazarded the guess that the Senate will have something to say in this year's race.

Panthers Slug To Beat Blues

Whitworth And McCabe Give Up Seven Hits While Mates Take 11-7 Victory Off Kansas City Outfit; Bucs Win

(By Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, March 25.—Say it with hits, was the battle cry of the Fort Worth Cats this afternoon as they displayed a batting punch for the first time this season in defeating the Kansas City Blues, 11-7 in the opening contest of a three game series here. The Panthers grouped ten of their 14 hits in three innings for 11 runs and victory.

JOE SHULTZ PLEASED

HOUSTON, March 25.—Manager Joe Schultz of the Houston Buffs makes no secret of the fact he is well pleased with the development of his ball club. He realizes, however, his pitching staff must be bolstered before the start of the Texas League campaign, but in other departments of play the Buffs are shaping up well.

Schultz made today a day of rest for his men.

STEERS TO TRAIN AT HOME

DALLAS, March 25.—Bob Tarleton, business manager of the Dallas baseball club, said today the Steers would do the remainder of their training at home instead of returning to the spring camp at Corsicana Sunday night, as originally planned.

The change was made principally to avoid unnecessary traveling, as the herd has a number of games scheduled during the next few weeks. Tarleton announced the booking of a return two-game exhibition with the Wichita Falls Spudders at Wichita Falls next Wednesday and Thursday.

Tilden And Richards To Meet In Net Exhibition

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—Jack Curley, sports promoter today advised his office from Chicago that he had finally closed negotiations with William T. Tilden, 2nd for a tennis match between Tilden and Vincent Richards in Madison Square Garden in May.

Fish, Seniors Take Opening Cage Contests

Winners Show Surprising Form To Beat Sophomores, Junior Teams In First Round Games Of Intramural Program

Showing brilliant form in their first scheduled appearance, the Fish team of the Liberal Arts league defeated the Sophs, 39 to 13, to open the largest intramural season ever attempted on the Texas Tech campus last night. The Seniors and Juniors of the same league followed the opening game with another contest, won by the Seniors, who showed surprisingly good form, by a 22 to 18 count.

Thus was the great intramural basketball season of 54 games ushered in at the Tech gymnasium. A crowd made up mostly of intramural cage players witnessed the game, though a number of non-athletic students and a few town fans were present.

The work of Jesse Holmes, Bryant, Hale and Dowell for the Freshmen was outstanding. Bryant was high point man with six field goals. Holmes and Dowell, who also coaches the team, tied with eight points each. Hale, center, threw three field goals.

While not comparing with the fighting Fish in basketball ability last night, the Sophs fought steadily all the way. Robinson, center, with 2 field goals and two free throws, was high point man. Bowman and Wardell, forwards, Deise and Claunch, guards, played good defensive games but were unable to score more than once from the floor.

In the second game, McCulloch, Senior center, stole most of the scoring thunder with five field goals and a pair of fould line tosses. Ammons and Jones, forwards, were on their toes and in mid-season form.

The Senior-Junior game was closely played all the way through and the winner was never certain until the last fun popped. Harold Crites, center, was the leading offensive man for the Juniors with ten points. Collins and Puckett, a pair of forwards, scored.

Lightweight King Booed After Bout

BARCELONA, Spain, March 25. (AP) — Frankie Genaro, American claimant of the world's flyweight title, boxed a fast fifteen round draw with the Catalonian champion, Victor Ferrand, in the big bull ring tonight. Both scaled under the flyweight limit of 112 pounds, Genaro at 109 1-2, Ferrand 110 1-2.

The crowd booed the referee's decision, believing Ferrand had the better of the match because of his consistent attack. Genaro was the aggressor in the early rounds, Ferrand piling up points later.

Crack Teams Bring Rivalry To Climax At Texas Relays

AUSTIN, March 25. (AP) — The crack medley relay teams from the University of Chicago and Marquette university will bring their rivalry to climax here Friday during the seventh annual Texas relays when they tangle in the medley events. Marquette last week shattered all existing records, its medley men negotiating the two mile course in 10 minutes and 26 seconds. Chicago loomed large in the picture when its medley team vanquished the Marquette team during the Illinois indoor relays, stepping the distance 10 minutes and 27.7 seconds, hanging up a new record at the time.

Meanwhile the entry list soared to near the 1,000 mark, Texas colleges, known to be contemplating entrance, were yet to be listed.

Frankie Shields Follows Mates And Will Take Mate

SEVENTH REGIMENT ARMORY, NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—Frank X. Shields, coming great of American tennis, celebrated the announcement of his engagement tonight by defeating Christian Boussus, France's third ranking player, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-1, 6-1, to make it two matches all in the international team competition with France.

NEW YORK, Mar. 25. (AP)—Frank S. Shields, America's second ranking tennis player, is to follow John Hope Doeg, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, other of the ranking youngsters, into the ranks of matrimony.

Mr. and Mrs. Harral S. Tenney, of Greenwich, Conn., today announced the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca, to Shields. No date has been set for the wedding.

Fort Worth Women's Golf Team Leads Dallas Club

DALLAS, March 25. (AP)—The Dallas Womens' Independent Golf team was 22 points down on the Fort Worth women for the season as a result of winning only five points today, while the opposition won eight in their play at Dallas Country Club. Competition will be resumed April 8 over the Ridgelea course in Fort Worth.

Joe Lang, champion intercollegiate bantamweight of the far west and captain of St. Mary's Cal., boxing team is the smallest captain of sport in western college circles.

Twelve Days For Relay Entry List

One dozen days remain before the deadline on entries in the first annual Texas Tech Relays carnival, but Russell "Dutchey" Smith, Tech coach and promoter of the relays, requests that high school coaches send in their entry lists as early as possible.

Five relay events are scheduled for the carnival here on April 11. The special events, some of which will be held simultaneously with the relays, includes a 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, high jump, low hurdles and javelin throw. A quarter-mile relay, half-mile and mile relay and two special medley events constitute the five numbers on the relay carnival proper.

Prizes valued at nearly $300 will be given winners and runners up in the meet. The Avalanche-Journal will give the leading trophy, a 28-inch Victory statuette, to the winning relay team. Anderson Bros., jewelers, and Helber's Jewelry company will give wrist watches. Other rich prizes are to be awarded.

One-Hundred And Fifty Linksmen Prepare For Twenty-ninth Annual North, South Golf Play At Pinehurst

BY DILLON GRAHAM

PINEHURST, N. C., March 25. (AP)—Pinehurst, with its famous sand greens, tricky winds and stiffish rough, today attracted America's Golfing Leaders as more than 115 linksmen prepared to start playing in the 29th annual north and south 72-hole open tournament tomorrow.

Virtually all the professionals busied themselves testing their clubs over the five courses surrounding the spacious club house, or tapping the ball around the practice carpets.

Those teeing off tomorrow at 8 o'clock will do so with full knowledge that only the low sixty in the first 36 holes of the day's play will be eligible for the final 36-hole chase Friday after the $5,650 prize money. The champion's share is $1,500.

Here to defend the title he won last year in this, the oldest tournament in which the cash performers play in their annual winter swing around the nation, is young Paul Runyan, professional of White Plains, N. Y. Runyan, whose 291 was low in 1930, will have added incentive this year, since his bride of less than a week, the former Joan Harris, of Little Rock, Ark., will be among the spectators.

Most of the country's outstanding seekers for golfing gold, except Gene Sarazen, Leo Diegel, MacDonald Smith and Tommy Armour, had registered tonight.

Mingus Girls In Second Round Win

DALLAS, March 25. (AP)—Durant, Okla., Wichita, Kas., Mingus, and Cisco, Texas, survived second round play in the girls National A. A. U. basketball tournament here this afternoon.

The Wichita Thurston eliminated A. & M. College of Monticello, Ark., 42-30.

Oklahoma Presbyterian College of Durant stopped Detroit, 52-29.

Mingus had to play brilliant basketball to erase Prairie View, Kas., 47-44.

Five Eastern Athletes Are Barred After Pro Charges

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—Three Fordham basketball players and two from City College of New York were barred from further participation in college athletics today in the sweeping investigation of professionalism in New York city colleges.

John J. (Babe) Hurley, Henry (Red) Weiss and William Putzer of Fordham, have been dropped from sports activities and will not be given letters for playing with the Fordham basketball team during the past season, the Fordham athletic council announced today. Three other players were absolved.

At C. C. N. Y., similar action was taken against Frank Dephillips and Milton Trupin, stars of the basketball team.

Bull Elkins Named Captain University Of Texas Cagers

AUSTIN, March 25. (AP)—Bull Elkins, forward of the 1930-31 University of Texas basketball team, today was elected to captain the Longhorn court squad next season. Elkins was high point man in the Steers in the last campaign. He is a junior and member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Florida, which defeated Georgia Tech, 53 to 48, in the opening round of the Southern conference basbetball tournament, had a part in setting a new scoring mark for a single tournament game.

Max Schmeling wants to meet Bobby Jones at golf on the fighter's private course adjoining his villa in Germany.

Manager Robertson Finds No Abundance Of Material At New Job But Hopes To Send Tribe To Higher Things

BY AL SCHERWITZ
Sports Editor, San Antonio Light

SAN ANTONIO, March 25. (AP)—Major league pals, shower down! So goes the nightly prayer of San Antonio's baseball faithful as Homer Hammond's 1931 collection of Indians cavort, in some instances at the risk of life and limb, on the turf of the Fort Sam Houston baseball park.

Manager Claude Robertson, successor to George Burns, who was relieved after one season with a tail-ender, fell heir to no great array of talent when he took over the job. But President Hammond announced to the press that one of the chief reasons for hiring Robby was because he is reputed to be a genius at getting 100 per cent out of inexperienced but ambitious young ball-tossers. He has scads of that kind of material on which to demonstrate.

Big League Connections

The manager is cheerful, however, indicating that he is confident new and mysterious "connections" with major leaguers which Prexy Hammond made on a recent extended trip north will produce the necessary players with which to plug the holes and round out a contender for San Antonio.

Right now, the Indians have a pitching staff that might prove very good but which lacks an outstanding, dependable performer; a catching staff that is made very good by the presence of Robby himself, together with the slow but reliable Jack Heath and an excellent prospect in Ralph Butler, a shifty and husky ball-pounder who batted better than .340 for Pine Bluff in the Cotton States league last year; an infield that looks ordinary in the extreme save for Bernie de Viveiros (and that's the way he spells it) at short, and an outfield entirely composed of newcomers who have yet to prove their worth.

Lefty Cy Cottey, Bill Hargrove, who wears a first baseman's mitt wherever he goes and thinks he might yet get an infield job because he has proved he can hit, Tom Estell, "Stormy" Cromer, and "Hobo" Carson are holdovers from last year's pitching staff. None starred last year although each had his moments which roused the hopes of jaded Tamaletown fandom.

Ralph Stein Added

Over the winter, Prexy Hammond has added Ralph Stein, who was the demon night-time chunker for Waco last summer; Lester Willis, a left-handed semi-pro from Smithville; Roy (Goat) Walker, who once impressed Catcher-Manager Robertson in the Southern Association and who was bought from Montgomery of the Southeastern league; Ray Pipkin, signed as a free agent, last year with the Kingsville Missouri-Pacific railroad team but formerly with Houston in the Texas league; "Hi" Haven, a lanky right-hander who had a whirl with the New York Giants last spring and spent the summer with Pueblo in the Western league; Euel Moore, a full-blood Indian who has been with Muskogee but came here a free agent, and, with Robertson's hopes on his broad shoulders, Ted Blankenship, another free agent, who was with the Chicago White Sox for some years, was sent by that club to Toledo early in 1930 and then was cut loose because he couldn't get down to proper pitching weight. Blankenship is now in the best condition of three years, he says, just over 200 pounds and anxious to make the grade here. He has been showing Robertson plenty in training.

Tech Student In Infield

Robertson's infield at present consists of Lee Stebbins, who once was adjudged too slow-footed for the job here, at first base, after a season with Columbia in the South Atlantic league; Thorpe Hamilton, a holdover from 1930, and Carl Bouton, from Beaumont, in a battle of ex-utility men for the second-basing job; de Vivveiros at short, secured from Oakland of the Coast league in exchange for Mike Dondero; and Karl Kott, another holdover, a young man who has been promising to burst into stardom for three seasons, at third base. G. L. Wells, from Caddo, a Texas Tech product, is another candidate for an infield job. Larry Gallagher, from Wilkes-Barre of the New York-Pennsylvania league, a veteran shortstop and a second-baseman, has been given until the middle of April to report.

(By Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 25.—Announcement to thrill every loyal baseball fan of San Antonio was made by Homer Hammond, president of the local club, today with the signing of Ray Flaskamper as second baseman for the Indians.

Flaskamper, who has been making San Antonio his home ever since he came here from California to play shortstop for the Indians in 1926, has since been with the Dallas Steers and Memphis Chicks, and his return brings to the San Antonio fold the most universally popular ball player who has ever played on the local field.

Avalanche-Journal Letter-Box Open For Opinions Of Baseball Fans

AN EDITORIAL

Anxious to see the years' quota of athletic activities flourish and to help in any way possible to advance sports for the interest of both players and spectators, the sports department of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal publications proposes to conduct a letter box in an effort to discover the feelings and ideas of Lubbock and South Plains sportsmen in regard to the coming baseball season.

Baseball from a local viewpoint has not been a highly successful venture. Adverse weather conditions, a short season and lack of fan interest has contributed to the poor success of the game here. But within the city limits of Lubbock and on the South Plains are men interested in baseball enough to promote it and if promoted the faithful few will come to the games. A converging of opinion through the newspaper columns might result in the organization of a South Plains or a city league, perhaps both.

Letters both for and against the promotion of baseball this season in Lubbock and surrounding communities will be treated alike. If you're not in favor of it, say so—if you have suggestion to offer, this department will be glad to air them, keeping names in confidence but requesting that names accompany letters.

My Pledge as a Member of

THE SILVERTOWN SAFETY LEAGUE

I agree

1 To drive at speeds in keeping with the safety of others as well as myself.
2 To keep on the right side of the road, except when passing.
3 To pass only when I know there is ample time and space—never on blind curves or when nearing the crest of a hill.
4 To go through intersections only when I have the right of way.
5 To observe all traffic signals.
6 To give signals myself that can be clearly seen and understood, before turning or stopping in traffic.
7 To drive only when in full possession of my faculties.
8 To keep my brakes, lights, and horn in good condition.
9 To operate my car on tires which assure a positive grip on the road—safe traction—and freedom from hazardous tire failures.

WITNESS SIGNATURE

IN EVERY part of the country, conscientious drivers are signing the Pledge of the Silvertown Safety League, and displaying the League Emblem as evidence of their stand. This city should and can be in the forefront!

This is the most determined effort ever launched to make the streets and highways safer for your family and yourself. Reckless driving must go! Unsafe equipment must go! Public opinion must be aroused!

The Pledge is waiting for your signature at League Headquarters. Sign it, and receive your emblem. There is no cost or obligation. You are simply doing your part to cut down the frightful toll which has resulted from the improper operation and care of cars.

Come in now!

This pledge of the Silvertown Safety League . . . already signed by thousands of drivers . . . is hailed by national leaders as the most important step ever made toward safety on the streets and highways. Read the Pledge. Do you subscribe to its principles? Then come in . . . sign it . . . and get your emblem!

The Silver Fleet, while testing the endurance and safety features of the famous Silvertown Tire, has covered a million car-miles without an injury. This remarkable safety record pointed the way to the rules now seen in the pledge of the Silvertown Safety League.

The NUT CRACKER

If The Indians Win By A Nose It Must Be Peck's Or Hunnefield's; They Shame Robin' Catcher

BY JOE O'GOOFTY
Former Big League Pitcher

NEW ORLEANS, March 25. (AP)—Before reaching this fair capital of the crawfish kingdom, I was of the opinion that the strangest nose in baseball was the exclusive property of Ernest Lombardi, the new Brooklyn catcher. But since seeing a profile of Bill Hunnefield, the new shortstop of the Indians, I have decided that Lombardi's nose is just another beak.

With a nose like Hunnefield's a man should be either a newspaper reporter or a trainer for hunting dogs of the pointer or setter variety. When a ball is hit down to Hunnefield's position, he points with his beak and comes right up with what we pitchers call "the old nugget."

* * *

As far as beautiful beaks are concerned, Lombardi could bring his whole family and hold a picnic at sundown in the shade of the Roger Peckinpaugh nose. And for sheer beauty of curves, the Peck Promontory, as I have dubbed it, is far and away the more artistic of the two schnozzolas.

Lombardi's nose, while something to be proud of, can be put inside a catcher's mask. If Peck had been a catcher instead of a shortstop, he would have had to wear a wastebasket.

For Ginger's Sake

Bard, was crouching in the upraised end in noisy terror of his fate, both hands high in air over his head, short fishing-rod in one, sturdy pipe in the other.

"A rope, a rope!" he cried. "She's sinking!"

"Swim in," shouted Bard, still laughing. "I haven't got a rope. Let her sink—she's no good. Hey, Annie! Bring me a rope; Benito's sinking. You'll have to swim, Benito!"

One end of the boat was already submerged as Benito, gathering himself together, rod and pipe still in his hands, floundered off with a clumsy lunge that threw him face downward into the pool and drove the boat completely under water.

Sudden horror swep away Bard's amusement. He tore off his coat and dove headlong into the river, making for the pool with long strong strokes.

"I can make it!" roared Benito. "It's all right—I'm making it by myself."

Bard did not answer. Head low in the water he was pulling for the spot where the boat had disappeared.

"You needn't come after me, Mr. Bard," called Benito. "I'm swimming for it! Let the boat go."

Bard had reached the pool and with one swift, supple twist of his body went down head first.

Benito had paused in his struggle to reach shore and was splashing noisily about, beating up the water with arms and legs.

"All right, Mr. Mard!" he cried. "We'll save it. I'll help you—good boy!"

When Bard came to the surface for air, with his huge hands Benito made a great show of assisting, but his stout legs under water pinioned the young man fiercely and slowly dragged him down, Bard trying in vain to fight free of his vise-like hold.

"Bard, what is it?" shouted Eddy.

"It's all right!" boomed Benito. "I've got him! Just lost his head a little—I've got him."

Bard reappeared for a moment. "Eddy—the boat—" he cried, and Benito's powerful legs drew him out of sight once more.

"Boat sank on us!" shouted Benito, striving to tighten his grip on Bard's lithe, struggling body.

At the moment that Bard's head and shoulders reappeared, an oar that had drifted loose from the lock rose slowly to the surface. With a choking cry Bard seized it and struck the Italian a terrific blow across the head.

That was enough for Eddy. With one great dive he was half-way across the river and making for the pool.

"Oh, God help us!" cried Jenky, running up and down the shore and wringing her thin hands. "He's gone mad! He's killing poor Mr. Benito!"

Benny, hearing the uproar, realizing afresh his helplessness, did the only thing he could think of. He felt his way along the walls to the telephone and called Doorndee, and for once his diffident voice did not falter.

"Miss Phil, come quick!" he said. "They're killing each other."

* * *

Bard, freed from Benito's deadly grip, dived down at once and found the boat, explored it swiftly with his hands, found great stones in the end of it and tossed them out, found a flapping plank that Benito had pried loose to let the water in—was forced up for air.

"Bard!" called Eddy at sight of him.

"Help!"

Bard went down again. His hands found the pile of old blankets and rugs, just beginning to float loose in the water—tore them away—touched firm flesh—a hand—found taut ropes—

Half fainting he rose to the surface.

"Oh, my God Eddy," he cried, "bring up that boat!"

Eddy was with him without a word, and between them they bore it to the surface tore away the last of the soaking blankets—found Ginger! Rigidly bound with tight ropes she lay, her face and arms blackened with oil, the flesh swollen and dark where the ropes had cut. Bard fell, half-flung himself, into the boat beside her, but Eddy dragged him away.

"Wait—wait!" he begged him. "A knife—here—cut the ropes! I'll do it. Bard, hang on to the boat! You'll sink it again!"

Swiftly, with his sharp knife, he cut the rope and released her lying motionless, her arms limp and lifeless at her sides. Eddy left it for Bard to draw her gently into his arms and carry her in to shore. Weakened as he was from his struggle with Benito this was no easy matter, and Eddy swam close alongside to lend a strong arm when it was needed.

"Oh, my gosh," he muttered, as they staggered at last upon the solid shore, "we forgot Benito! I hope he drowned."

But Benito had not drowned. Holt had been drawn from his book in the hammock just in time to assist Pietro and Angelo in pulling their unconscious countryman ashore.

Half-blind, half-mad, stumbling like a drunken man, Bard carried Ginger into the house and laid her gently down upon a bed while Eddy put in a frantic call for doctors.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 25. (AP) — There was but moderate activity in the cotton market today and prices were nervous and erratic without definite trend. Cables were about as due and the opening here was steady with first trades 1 point down to 1 up. Prices soon turned downward however on a renewal of liquidation by Wall street and selling by ring traders and by the middle of the morning active months showed declines of 7-12 points compared with the previous close. This decline attracted trade buying and by early afternoon prices had recovered 6-8 points from the lows.

The March option went out at noon. The deliveries on March contracts during the month totaled 54,500 here and 152,000 in New York.

Reservations For Convention Made

Indicating that all of Lubbock's hotels will be reserved long before the convention opens, reservations for a large number of rooms in both the Lubbock and Hilton hotels have been made for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here, May 14, 15 and 16. Hotel men said room reservations were coming in daily now.

It is likely that Lubbock citizens will be called upon to care for a large number of the convention visitors, officials in charge of the convention plans have stated. Work along this line will be started soon after Maury Hopkins, district manager, moves here April 1 to begin preparations for the gathering which is expected to be the largest in the history of the organization.

Metcalfe Redistricting Bill Passed Wednesday In House

AUSTIN, March 25. (AP)—The house today passed a congressional redistricting bill after a brief but sharp fight.

Members showed an indisposition to debate long over the bill, evidently realizing it would be completely revised when sent to a free conference committee. None doubted but that the senate would refuse to pass the house bill and ask appointment of a committee to redraft the measure.

The bill was sponsored by Metcalfe of San Angelo.

"Original Hard Luck Guy" Is Thought Found In Brownwood

BROWNWOOD, March 25. (AP) — O. E. Chafin, unemployed world war veteran living here, believes he is "the original hard luck guy."

Chafin, who has been selling tamales on the streets during the winter to make a living for his wife and three children, received a bonus check for $250 today, cashed the check and took the money home. He went away from home for a short time, leaving the money there. While he was gone, the house burned and his money was destroyed.

Customs Union Said To Be In Bounds Of Geneva Protocol

BERLIN, March 25. (AP)—Chancellor Bruening today told Sir Horace Rumbold, the British ambassador, that the projected customs union between Germany and Austria was entirely within the bounds of the Geneva protocol of April, 1922, and that in his opinion there was no reason for taking the agreement before the League of Nations council.

If other governments want to examine its legal aspects, he said, Germany and Austria will not object and there is no reason for them to fear the outcome of such an examination.

PRISONERS ESCAPE

BEEVILLE, March 25. (AP)—Four prisoners escaped from the second floor of the Bee county jail here last night by sawing window bars and sliding down blankets to a tree, then dropping to the ground. Ten other prisoners attempted without avail to give the alarm. None of the men had been recaptured late today.

Never Worse Than Irregular, Stock Market Makes Best Of All Bad News

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP) — The stock market made the best of some unfavorable news today and was never worse than irregular, although final quotations showed a preponderance of small net losses.

Dividend reductions by Westinghouse Electric and Baltimore and Ohio had been well advertised in advance, but the failure of steel production to maintain the upward trend in evidence since the first of the year put a damper on bullishness. Nevertheless, several specialties and a few stable stocks moved forward with a flourish, thus somewhat obscuring the dragging tendencies elsewhere.

In a turnover of 2,100,000 shares the high spots of the stock trading proved to be recent favorites—Auburn Auto, Mullins Manufacturing, Vanadium and McKeesport Tin Plate—with the important addition of American Can.

One Time Owner Of Matagorda Island Is Buried At Farwell

FARWELL, March 25. (AP)—William Henry Nichols, 76, son of the late Captain William Nichols, once wealthy owner of Matagorda Island, off the Texas coast, was buried here yesterday.

His father, Captain Nichols, his mother and 1,000 slaves perished in a devastating storm and flood which swept the island in 1875, only the son and his nurse escaping.

Virtually penniless and unused to work, the son wandered over Texas many years, never realizing he was heir to a 200,000-acre estate which the State of Texas later sold for taxes.

Nichols lived in South Texas until 1893, then came to Parmer county.

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, March 25. (AP)—Livestock trade around the eleven market circuit was featured by a fairly active trade on fat lambs at strong to unevenly higher prices, several of the river markets showing gains of 25 to 50. Fully steady values were maintained on matured killing classes of sheep. The supply numbering around 49,000, was 5,000 less than a week ago.

Under the influence of a fairly broad shipping demand hogs scaling 240 lbs. and down at most centers ruled steady to slightly higher but the close on strong weight butchers was dull, with packers enforcing declines of 10 to 40. Total offerings were around 83,400 as compared with 78,839 last Wednesday.

Civil Appeals

AUSTIN COURT

AUSTIN, March 25. (AP)—The following proceedings were had today in the court of civil appeals at Austin:

Affirmed:

Mrs. Mattie Merriwether et al vs. Mrs. H. E. Jackson et al, Caldwell; S. E. Kuykendall et al vs. Johnson Funeral parlor, Tom Green.

Reversed and remanded:

K. V. E. Scott vs. Mrs. Leota Clark, Tom Green.

In cause 7533, Douglas Oil company et al vs. State of Texas et al, Travis; the order setting cause for submission and oral argument is set aside and submission postponed indefinitely upon motion number 7060.

Motion overruled:

Joseph Legler, sr., vs. Louis Legler, rehearing from Fayette county.

Motion granted:

Douglas Oil company et al vs. State of Texas et al, Travis; motion to postpone submission indefinitely is granted and the order setting cause for submission and oral argument is set aside as per motion number 7060 and submission is postponed indefinitely; railroad commission of Texas et al vs. Texas Steel company, Travis; motion for leave to file additional argument, by appellee; John Sparks et al vs. Lawrence H. West, Coleman, motion for ceriorari, by appellee, the motion is granted and the clerk is ordered to file attached findings, of fact and conclusions of law by trial court as a part of the record of this cause on appeal.

AMARILLO March 25. (AP)—The following proceedings were had in the court of civil appeals for the seventh district at Amarillo today:

Motions granted: Tom Jackson, et al, vs. J. L. Noel, to correct transcript.

Conference

Mexico Military Institute of Roswell, New Mexico State Teachers college of Silver City, N. M., and the University of New Mexico of Albuquerque, N. M., are to have representatives here for the three-day session.

Dr. F. Darcy Bone, formerly at the University of Berlin but now at McMurry, Major James R. Kelly, U. S. Army, head of the department of history at N.M.M.I., Dr. A. O. Bowden, president of New Mexico State Teachers college, Dr. P. M. Baldwin, of New Mexico A. & M., Prof. Everett M. Shepherd of McMurry, Miss Amy Heminway Jones of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace of New York, John Russell of the University of New Mexico, Dr. Paul W. Horn and a number of Tech faculty members are to be heard on the programs of the three days. Prof. M. E. Goden of Tech is director of the conference.

Sunday's program will open with an all-community event at 3 o'clock in the Tech gymnasium. Dr. John C. Granbery is to be presiding officer. Jack Boyd, Tech 'Y' secretary will give a short address to be followed by President Horn who will talk on 'International Understanding.'

Monday's sessions will be held in the engineering auditorium. Dr. Alan L. Carter, Tech English department head, Miss Jo Wilder, YWCA secretary, Dr. Oscar Kinchen, history department of Tech, Dr. Thor J. Beck, Prof. O. C. Corry of the Tech faculty and Mr. Shepherd and Dr. Bone will be heard in short talks followed by discussions.

To Stage Debate

Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the engineering auditorium, Texas Tech and West Texas State Teachers college students will engage in a debate on the subject of "Resolved. That Nations Should Adopt A Policy of Free Trade." Tech's team has the affirmative side.

Tuesday's sessions will feature talks by Mr. Russell, Major Kelly, Prof. H. C. Pender, Miss Ruth Horn, Albert Melendez, Miss Mamie Wolfforth, Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, Dr. Bowden and student leaders. A banquet will be held that evening at 7 o'clock at the Lubbock hotel in which Prof. Ben Condray, Dr. Baldwin and Miss Jones will be the principal speakers.

Topics for discussion throughout the conference programs will be: British policies with India, the War Guilt question, German's Economic Dilemna, the United States of Europe, Russian Education of Illiterates, Russia's International Friction, Russia's Five-Year plan, Regimentation in Soviet Russia, Political Problems of Central America, Manners and Customs of Latin Amercans, the Agricultural Revolution of 1930, Mexico and the border states, Disarming Europe, Removing Trade Barriers, the United States and the World Situation, the Present Foreign Policies of the U. S., and the Present World Situation.

Motion pictures in connection with the subjects under discussion are to be shown, it was stated today.

Citizens of Lubbock and the surrounding territory are being given an open invitation to take part in the conference.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 25. (AP)—Cash grain.

Quotations basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat, No. 1 hard of any protein 79 1-2@81.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 71@71 1-2; No. 2 white or yellow 73 1-2@74.

Oats, No. 2 red 42@43 1-2; No. 3 white delivered Texas roup one points 41 3-4@42.

Barley, No. 2 56@57.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 1.23@1.25; No. 2 kaffir 1.30@1.31.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 25. (AP)—Impressed by announcements indicating that until after July 1 there would be no sudden marketing of government sponsored holdings, wheat averaged much higher today. Prices bulged 2 1-2 cents above yesterday's bottom figures, but reacted under profit taking. A broader volume of trading was in evidence, apparently encouraged by federal farm board notice of a hands off policy regarding the 1931 crop, and by senate agricultural leaders' expressed disapproval of equalization fee and export debenture farm relief plans.

Wheat closed irregular, 1-2 cent lower to 1 1-4 higher, corn 3-8 to 1 1-8 up, oats 1-4 to 1-2 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Johnson Trial

of having been intimate with the girl.

The state offered only one witness in its main case and one in rebuttal, Dr. T. W. Young, who testified concerning an operation for appendicitis upon Elizabeth.

J. P. Collier, young co-owner of the Port Arthur pressing shop where the teamster foreman met Adams on the night of January 17 and shot him to death, described the shooting and pointed out Johnson in the court room as the man with the gun.

Next to Johnson's testimony, which had been eagerly awaited by the curious due to his pre-trial reticence, that of Robert L. Williams, 18-year old University of Texas student who had been engaged to Elizabeth, created the most interest.

It was Williams who took the girl to the Port Arthur First Methodist church in front of which she died.

The boy, blonde and slight, said she committed suicide as she sat in his automobile parked at the church while he was inside talking to the minister, hoping he could get aid in effecting a reconciliation with the girl.

"He sure had," Williams answered when a defense lawyer asked: "Did O. L. Adams come between you and Elizabeth?"

"We weren't formally engaged," the student said, "but we had gone together so long it was just understood we were to be married as soon as both of us finished school." He bowed his head as he testified.

Johnson, soberly dressed and apparently not nervous, was on the stand about 20 minutes.

Adams, he said was a pallbearer at the funeral of Elizabeth, whom the father referred to as "Tommy," and he did not know until "a couple of nights after she was buried" that the ambulance driver was a married man.

From what several friends told him after the girl's death, Johnson testified, he had learned Adams "had talked about having improper relations with her" and had considered her death a "relief."

"In substance," his attorney asked, "you learned that Adams though he was a married man and was a pallbearer at the funeral, had talked about having improper relations with the girl and that she committed suicide to escape humiliation?"

"Yes, sir," the team boss answered.

O. B. Minter, J. W. Pierce, J. I. Hebert and Guy Taylor, whom Johnson identified as sources of various phases of the information which led him to conclude to kill Adams, were among the defense witnesses.

Leaders Of Cattle Industry Are In City To Attend Calf, Pig, Meat Show

the three days.

From federal government departments in Washington, D. C., from the center of the cattle industry in Texas, from one of the largest cattle and packing markets in the country, Kansas City and from Dallas, College Station, Austin and other towns, they are coming to see the premier show of its kind in the state.

Not For Experts

The three-day affair is not for the experts, but for the farm folk and the town folk of the South Plains and West Texas, Sterling C. Evans, district county agent leader, pointed out last night. The men and women on the farms of this section, with their boys and girls, are furnishing the motive for the meeting here of experts.

It is planned for the meat show to be a "short course" for both farmers and experts in learning about home cured meats; the calf and pig show will be a short course for the boys and girls in the raising of these animals and the Hereford sale will add to the stock of pure bred animals on the farms.

Program Announced

Program for the three days, as announced last night by Mr. Evans, includes:

Thursday

1:30 p. m., judging of cured meats in women's building at Fair Grounds.

7:30 p. m., Meat cutting demonstration for Lubbock butchers in room 212 of Hotel Lubbock; Roy W. Snyder, demonstrator.

Friday

9 a. m., judging of calves at fair grounds.

1:30 p. m., Hereford sale, fair grounds; Colonel Gartin, auctioneer.

6:30 p. m., banquet for Hereford breeders, Hotel Hilton, with beef furnished by Texas Technological school of agriculture.

Saturday

9 a. m., judging of pigs at fair grounds.

1 p. m., auction sale of pigs and calves, Colonel Gartin in charge.

For several days a number of leaders from College station have been making their headquarters here and visiting nearby counties to discuss plans for the shows here.

Reports from Post, Littlefield, Amherst, Lamesa, Levelland, Tahoka, Muleshoe and other towns indicate the attendance will be large. Club boys are entering their calves and pigs in the show and farm women and farmers their cured meats.

Others Coming

From other towns, Ropesville, Spur, Plainview, Silverton, Roby, Anton, Tulia, Slaton, Shallowater, Seagraves, Baileyboro, Hale Center, Smyer and Hamlin, they are coming with exhibits for the three shows.

Check of the list of those here and expected for the affair include the following:

W. J. Largent, Merkel, president of the Texas Hereford Association, and an outstanding breeder. Mr. Largent has four cattle entered in the sale and he has shown stuff at the South Plains fair here for several years.

John M. Gist, Odessa, past president of the association and the man who is credited with having done perhaps more than any one man to advertise the sale and the show.

Dr. I. E. Barr, Lubbock, sales manager, whose time for the past month has largely been taken up with work for the sale.

Col. Earl Gartin, Sioux City, Iowa, auctioneer for the Hereford sale and the calf and pig sale. Colonel Gartin is one of the best known auctioneers of pedigreed livestock in the Southwest and middle West.

Joe Peterson, Kansas City, Mo., editor of the Drovers Telegram, who will assist in the sale ring. The Drovers Telegram is the southwest's daily newspaper for the cattle industry.

Hereford President Coming

B. M. Anderson, Kansas City, Mo., president of the American Hereford association, who is also assisting in the sale ring. The A. H. A. is paying one fourth of the premium for the Hereford calves.

O. B. Martin, College station, director of extension service and in charge of drouth relief work in Texas.

Miss Mildred Horton, College Station, State Home Demonstration agent leader, who will assist in the judging of entries in the cured meats and canned meats divisions.

Federal Agent Here

Mrs. Ola Powell Malcolm, Washington, D. C. federal agent in charge of home demonstration work for the Southern States of the U. S. department of agriculture.

H. H. Williamson, state agent and vice director of extension work at College Station.

W. H. Darrow, College Station, extension editor of the department.

W. B. Lee, Spur, president Spur National bank and district chairman of the Texas Bankers association. Mr. Lee is rated as a leading agriculaural financial authority in Texas.

G. W. Barnes, Fort Worth, Texas Cooperative Livestock association and representative in Texas for the Federal Farm Loan board, for livestock.

John C. Burns, Fort Worth, representative of the Texas Cooperative association.

Ollie B. Webb, New Orleans, La., assistant to the President, Texas and Pacific system.

C. M. Evans, Marshall, Texas, Agricultural agent, Texas and Pacific system.

J. D. Tinsley, Amarillo, agricultural agent Western Lines of the Santa Fe system and one of the best posted agricultural men in the southwest.

McDonald Expected

J. E. McDonald, Austin, commissioner of agriculture for Texas.

Roye Rupard, Dallas, secretary, State Fair of Texas.

Fred Hale, College Station, chief of swine investigation work in Texas and connected with the Texas Experiment station.

C. L. Davis, Austin, director of vocational education in Texas under the Smith-Hughes act.

J. C. Dykes, College Station, vocational education department.

J. E. Stanford, Bryan, editor, Southern Agriculturalist, who is covering the show for his magazine.

H. L. Atkins, Dallas, staff representative of the Progressive Farmer who plans to write of the show for his magazine.

Frank Holland Coming

Frank P. Holland, Dallas, vice-president of Farm and Ranch, president of the Texas Feeder-Breeder association, who speaks at the banquet Friday night.

Marsh Holland, Dallas, of the Farm and Ranch staff.

A. L. Ward, president Agricultural Workers Association of Texas, who is to speak on the banquet program.

Miss Zetha McInnis, specialist for Texas Extension service on Home industrites, superintendent of canned goods department.

Miss Myrtle Murray, College Station, district home demonstration agent leader for the South Plains territory.

Roy W. Snyder, meat specialist, Texas Extension service and superintendent of meats.

P. Munford, member and secretary of Texas Rural Electrification committee.

To Judge Meats

K. F. Warner, Washington, D. C., animal husbandman in charge of meat investigation for U. S. department of agriculture, judge of the cured meats.

L. A. Afdahal, Dallas, representing Armstrong Packing Co.

A. L. Smith, College Station, beef specialist, Texas Extension service.

C. H. Alvord, San Antonio, field representative, federal farm board and former director of extension service in Texas.

E. M. Regenbrecht, College Station, swine specialist, extension service.

In addition several packing plants will send representatives. The Pyeton Packing company of El Paso; Swift and Co., of Fort Worth and Carl Reppeto and R. C. Harvey for Armour and Co.

M. T. Payne, College Station, state boys club leader, has promised to attend.

Local Men to Welcome Visitors Here For Show

Meeting to perfect plans for the welcoming of visiters and participants in the annual Fat Calf, Pig and Meat show, to be held at the local fairgrounds Friday and Saturday, the hospitality commitee of the show was in session Wednesday morning at the chamber of commerce.

said he was struck over the head but remained on the train.

Authorities Notified

The youths ejected from the train notified authorities at Stevenson, and Jackson authorities with a posse of citizens armed with shotguns and pistols met the train at Paint Rock. The negroes were taken from the box car and brought to the jail here.

The officers were considering removing the prisoners to the Madison county jail at Huntsville as feeling was running high here.

The girls were treated by physicians here. They said they had been in Chattanooga and donned overalls to return home after failing to find work.

its recommendations on allowable production either in the new East Texas fields or in the old areas. C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission, asked that these figures be submitted when tomorrow's session opened, even though they might be subject to future correction.

Dan Moody, former Governor and counsel for the East Texans, thrice asked for the figures. In his last petition, which was made after 5 o'clock this afternoon, he objected to any further testimony until they were produced.

Secret Held Inviolate With Burial Of Wakefield Couple

BROWNWOOD, March 25. (AP) — Melson Wakefield and his wife, Dorothy, whom he killed a week after their marriage, were buried today with their secret inviolate. Of the scores of relatives and friends attending the services none could guess why Wakefield shot the girl Monday night and then killed himself.

Services were held at the Wakefield home here, with burial in Greenleaf cemetery.

A coroner's inquest to be held Friday or Saturday was expected to reveal no cause for the slaying.

ICC Action Is Expected Soon

L. C. Porter, General Claim Attorney Of T. & P. Visits In Lubbock Wednesday; Says Decision Is Near

A tentative decision by the examiner of the interstate commerce commission is expected on the Texas and Pacific Northern railway application to build from Big Spring to Vega within the next 30 or 45 days, according to a statement made here Wednesday by L. C. Porter of Dallas general claim attorney of the Texas and Pacific.

An oral argument in the case is expected by Mr. Porter if the decision of the I. C. C. is unfavorable to either the T. and P. or to the Santa Fe.

In the event of further hearings, Mr. Porter said, attorneys will go to Washington and appear before the interstate commerce commission to state their case. This should be some time in May, with the probability that the final decision will come the latter part of June or the first of July.

Mr. Porter expressed himself personally as of the opinion that the I. C. C. would grant the request for a certificate of convenience and necessity to built the 333 mile line through West Texas. "I can see no reason why the permit will not be granted by the commission," he stated.

Hearings on the application were held here for ten days in December. They were attended by hundreds of people from the 12 counties in the proposed area to be served and the case attracted more than state-wide attention in railroad circles. Two hundred exhibits, 2,000 pages of testimony and many maps were included in the volume making up the case.

Three Heard At Rotary Luncheon

Lubbock Rotarians, in luncheon session at Hotel Lubbock yesterday, mixed the sensible with the senseless in a varied program. Approximately 100 local and visiting men attended.

With Chas. A. Guy as chairman for the day, Roy Snyder, head of the meat extension division of Texas A. and M. college; Postmaster John L. Vaughan and R. J. Murray were principle speakers. Between the talks, which covered the approaching Quality Meats show here, air mail for Lubbock and the business outlook for the South Plains, members vied with one another in Rotary acquaintanceship.

President W. A. Jackson added to a burst of oratory, begun by Mr. Murray, by bringing the earlier progress of the ancient Greeks to the South Plains region. The president's contribution to the program rang down the curtain amid howls of applause.

Woman Admits Killing Baby

Farm Woman Declared She Put Poison In Milk To Keep Her Tenants From Drinking Too Much Of It

HARRISONVILLE, Mo., March 25. (AP)—County authorities today announced that Martha Kennedy, middle aged, unmarried farm woman, had confessed causing the death of 21 months old Winfred York, by placing poison in the milk of her tenant farmers to make them ill "so they wouldn't drink so much," of it.

Miss Kennedy and her two bachelor brothers, Alexander and William Kennedy, were arrested yesterday in connection with the death of the infant whose life ended in convulsions 30 minutes after drinking milk from the Kennedy dairy.

The child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer York, tenants on the 200-acre farm of the Kennedy's, were arrested Sunday in connection with the infant's death. Mrs. York is 19 years of age, an expectant mother.

An older brother, Donald, who tasted the milk, became ill, but is recovering.

Miss Kennedy explained, officers said, in a signed statement that she had not intended to kill the baby, but to make the York family ill so it would use less milk. She appeared before a justice of the peace this morning and pleaded guilty to a first degree murder charge and was bound over to circuit court.

The Kennedys who own a productive farm, bore among their neighbors the reputation of miserliness and were considered eccentric.

Discrepancies in the stories told by members of the Kennedy family, the prosecutor said, turned suspicion strongly to them, although he was unable to see a motive for poisoning the York's milk.

New Bakery Creation Is Announced By R. H. Martin; Secret Formula Is Used

R. H. Martin, pioneer Lubbock baker, this morning is announcing a new bakery product known as Hetho-Flake, a creation of his own ingenuity. The new food, embodying a secret formula of health-giving ingredients, is being placed on sale after being thoroughly tested for the past thirty days.

The food is the result of more than a score of years of research work in the baking business, Mr. Martin said yesterday as he made known his new creation.

Following introduction of the product to local consumers, Mr. Martin is to conduct an extensive distribution campaign of the food, selling the ingredients mixture used in the bread to other bakeries over the southwest. Only the ingredients will be sold to the bakeries, he stated, the formula of the product being kept a secret.

Trade mark has been applied for the name of the new commodity, he said.

Distribution of the bread is expected to be on a national scale, Mr. Martin said. Exclusive sales agency has been requested by a bakers' supply house maintaining offices in New Orleans and Dallas.

Mr. Martin has been in the baking business for more than twenty-one years, opening his first little plant here in January, 1910.

Extradition Papers Sought For Youth Arrested Tuesday

WACO, March 25. (AP) — Sheriff Leslie Stegall said today Woodrow Holmes, 19, who was arrested yesterday in California, was convicted of forgery here Dec. 5, 1929 in three cases, with concurrent sentences of two years in each case. California officers, in news dispatches, asserted Holmes had confessed connection with a murder case in Waco and to having escaped from prison guards en route to the penitentiary but Sheriff Stegall denied Holmes was connected with any murder case here or that he had escaped from any guards. Stegall said he would go to Austin today with extradition papers and send for him Thursday.

NEWS BRIEFS

Three local contractors have made inquiries of Postmaster John L. Vaughan regarding plans for the proposed federal building here. Bids for the construction of the $335,000 structure are to be opened in Washington, D. C., on April 10. Opening will be in the office of the supervising architect.

Boyd, charged on seven counts with false entry while cashier of the Merchants' Bank at Lindale, was assessed a sentence of two years in the penitentiary today by a jury which convicted him on one count. The bank closed recently. Boyd was alleged to have taken several thousand dollars of the bank's money. Miss Mary Lee Morris, bank clerk charged with the same offense, was expected to be tried at the present term of district court.

India Rioting Fatal To Thirty

CAWNPORE, United Provinces, India, March 25. (AP)—Thirty persons have been killed and more than 100 injured in rioting which has developed here in protest at the execution of Baghat Singh and two companions at Lahore Monday night. The rioting began yesterday, was suppressed by the military during the night, but broke out again today after order apparently had been restored.

Motorcars passing along the streets were attacked by the mobs of sullen, resentful Hindus. Their inmates were assaulted and several European and Indian occupants were injured.

Baghat Singh and the two who died with him were hanged after conviction of murder of a police official in Lahore in December, 1928, and of participation in the so-called Lahore conspiracy, an anti-British development of 1929.

Investigations Underway By Oklahoma Legislative Body

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 25. (AP) Session-end investigations of rumored liquor at the Oklahoma state house, affairs of the state highway commission and prices at the capitol cafeteria overshadowed legislative affairs here today.

J. L. Davis, cafeteria manager, said there was little liquor at the capitol. Before a house committee named at Gov. Murray's request, he denied his purchase of the cafeteria included anything but fixtures and right to operate. Davis also testified most of the money with which he bought the restaurant was loaned him by Roy St. Lewis, United States district attorney.

Fire Committee Meets Wednesday

The Lubbock Fire Prevention committee met late Wednesday afternoon in the offices of the chamber of commerce to review the results of the investigations being carried on by committee members since February 18.

Surveys to determine the efficiency of fire fighting equipment, traffic rules and regulations as affecting the movement of fire trucks, and the necessity of a year around fire prevention committee have been made.

Figures showing the results of the committee's investigation will be reported later, it was announced. H. D. Woods is chairman of the Fire Prevention committee which is affiliated with the chamber of commerce.

Man Pleads Guilty To Murder And Is Assessed 99 Years

BOERNE, March 25. (AP)—Clinton Collins, alias Bob Collins of San Antonio pleaded guilty at his trial here today to an indictment charging him with murder in the death of Fritz Blank and was sentenced to 99 years in the state penitentiary.

Two other defendants, Jim Adair and Fletcher Casey, both of San Antonio, who also are charged in the slaying were to go to trial this afternoon.

Blank was shot to death last November 12 while visiting at the home of his brother-in-law, Alfred Heiligmann.

Winter Returns In Mountain Area

DENVER, March 25. (AP)—Winter returned to stretches of the western mountain country today.

Government forecasters sent out warning to Montana stockmen that a cold wave, with blizzard conditions, was in prospect west of the continental divide.

A snowstorm at Great Falls and ranging from that point southward through Butte, Helena and Dillon, Mont., to Pocatello, Idaho, was reported by weather bureau and airways observers.

Sub-zero temperatures were reported from the Canadian provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

A blizzard like storm descended upon Utah and southern Idaho this morning, but farmers depending upon irrigation for bountiful crops this year welcomed the precipitation.

Bonds Totaling $20,000 Are Set In Counterfeiting Cases

DALLAS, March 25. (AP) — Bonds totaling $20,000 were set today by Lee R. Smith, United States commissioner, for six men charged in connection with counterfeiting a quantity of $5 and $10 gold pieces.

William J. O'Neal and Allen D. Gibson were charged with possession of counterfeit coins, conspiracy to possess, manufacture and passing counterfeit coins. Floyd H. (Peg) McCallium, John Brewer, Jack Ames and Tom Price were charged with conspiracy.

None of the accused had made bond and all remained in jail.
