By LYNN HEINZELING

GENEVA, May 1 (AP)—East-West negotiations for setting up peace talks on Indochina entered a decisive phase tonight as U.S. Secretary of State Dulles prepared to leave Monday without having exchanged a word with Red China's foreign minister Chou En-lai.

Representatives of the Big Four, North and South Korea and Red China met for 2 1/2 hours this afternoon on Korea. Asst. U.S. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson described the discussions as "an informal exchange of views" and said no decisions were reached. He added that the group probably would meet again on a later date.

The seven-nation parley was decided upon this morning at a meeting of the 16 nations which fought in Korea. The conference has been unable to reach any agreement on unification of Korea.

Dulles has refused to take any recognition of Chou at the conference. In regular sessions he is seated behind Chou but studiously ignores him. Dulles never has been introduced to Chou or spoken a word to him.

Dulles met with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov on the proposals by the United States to establish a pool of atomic materials for peaceful purposes. It was the second such meeting this week.

A communique issued by the U.S. delegation indicated no conclusions had been reached. The communique said a reply to an earlier American note handed over by Molotov at the first meeting with Dulles will be studied further in Washington.

Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Quoc Dinh was on the outskirts of Geneva prepared to discuss with the Western Big Three statesmen the delicate diplomatic problem of seating Viet Nam representatives at the same table with representatives of the Communist-Vietnam regime.

Bao Dai, Vietnamese chief of state, has insisted that any formula for ending or accomplishing the peace parley which gives national recognition to his Vietnam enemies will be rejected. He has agreed in principle to meeting with the Vietnamese in an effort to stop the bloodshed in Viet Nam.

Dinh began his discussions on procedure at St. Julien, just across the border from Geneva in France, with Marc Jaquet, French minister for the affairs of the Associated States. A spokesman for Dinh said invitations to the Ho Chi Minh regime must not imply recognition of a Vietnamese government.

The spokesman for Dinh said he had been invited to come to Geneva to discuss procedure by the Big Three. He was waiting at St. Julien for an appointment with French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault at the latter's villa.

He was expected to confer briefly with Bidault and then have talks with all Big Three representatives. Dinh's spokesman said the difficulty over invitations to the conference dates back to the final communique of the Berlin conference. The term "interested states" was used by the Big Four in discussing the composition of the conference on Indochina.

If invitations are issued on this basis with explicitly stating the Vietnamese status, it will be interpreted throughout Asia as recognition of the Vietnamese regime as a state, the spokesman said.

Dulles, after meeting with Molotov to discuss again the atomic pool, went to the lakeside villa of his French colleague for lunch with Bidault and Lord Reading, undersecretary of state in the British Foreign Office.

Anthony Eden dropped in for a brief talk with the other guests before lunch.

PATROL WAGON BELOW DIGNITY OF ONE RIDER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1 (AP)—Patrolman Raymond Stoltz locked three prisoners in a patrol wagon last night and started to jail.

Upon arrival, he unlocked the wagon and, to his amazement, only two prisoners emerged. The third, Walter A. Thomas, was missing.

Minutes later, Thomas rode up in a taxicab with a bondsman. "It was stuffy in the wagon," he apologized. "I damned near suffocated."

How did he get out of the wagon? "It was easy," said Thomas. "I just crawled out through a ventilator in the roof."

He was charged with public drunkenness and breach of the peace.

French Make Air Strikes In Indochina

HANOI, Indochina, May 1 (AP)—French warplanes today plastered Red-led Vietnam with bombs and strafing.

A French high command spokesman described the situation there as "very serious" but he asserted the baxton's defenders were far from desperate.

Fighters and bombers from land and carrier bases concentrated on rebel fortifications set up on the rim of the plain barely 600 yards from the heart of the Northwest Indochina bastion.

Object of the air strikes was to retard Vietnamese attempts to build up for an all-out assault and to provide cover for transport planes funneling men, munitions and materiel to the beleaguered bastion.

Ground action was light. However, French Union commandos continued to jab at rebels dug in along the fringe of the barbed wire barriers. A French spokesman said the attacks were costing the Vietnamese "considerable losses."

A French command spokesman announced that Dien Bien Phu's commander, Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, had refused "at this time" to answer newsmen's queries whether he thought he could hold out against the thousands of encircling Vietnamese.

The spokesman said de Castries was "too busy" fighting off the approaching foe to answer 10 questions submitted by foreign newsmen.

The spokesman recalled that the rebels had boasted on March 13—when they began the assault—that they would take Dien Bien Phu in five days.

"In view of the fact that it is still standing on this 163rd day of encirclement and 50th day of assault, there is no reason for pessimism," the spokesman declared.

The bastion's crumbling defenses now measure less than a mile in diameter. They are being whittled down bit by bit by the rebels who are trying to close off the narrow zone in the fortress into which men, food and munitions are parachuted.

Candidate List Grows As Filing Deadline Nears

Candidates for the Democratic nomination to precinct, county and higher political offices have until midnight Monday to make their intentions known to Jess Thornton, Howard County Democratic chairman.

In order to get their names on ballots for the July 24 Democratic primary, candidates must file with Thornton not later than Monday.

Apparently there will be no Republican candidates for local offices. G. H. Hayward, county Republican chairman, said Friday his party will not hold a primary.

Previously, the Howard County GOP has nominated its candidates in convention, but the party must hold primaries this year if it is to present nominees in the general election, due to the large number of votes polled by Republican candidates in the 1952 governor's election.

Thirty-nine candidates already have filed with Thornton for 23 offices. Other candidates may file prior to the Monday midnight deadline, of course.

Those who have filed thus far, and the offices they seek, are: George Mahon, representative for the 19th Congressional District. Cecil Collins, associate justice, Court of Civil Appeals, 11th Supreme Judicial District.

J. Gordon (Obie) Bristow, representative for the 101st Legislative District. Harley Sadler, state senator, 24th Senatorial District.

Charles Sullivan and Clyde E. Thomas, judges, 118th Judicial District. Elton Gilliland, district attorney, 118th District.

George C. Choate, district clerk. R. H. Weaver, county judge. Jess Slaughter, J. B. (Jake) Bruton, Dale Lane, Randall Sherrod and Johnny Underwood, sheriff.

Harvey C. Hooser Jr., county attorney. Pauline S. Petty, county clerk. Frances, Glenn, county treasurer.

Ralph Proctor and P. O. Hughes, county commissioner, Precinct No. 1. Pete Thomas and G. E. (Red) Gilliam, county commissioner, Precinct No. 2.

Arthur J. Stallings, Cecil Leatherwood, Murph Thorp and Hudson Landers, county commissioner, Precinct No. 3.

Ralph J. Neill, Earl Hall, Leland Wallace, W. B. Puckett, and Fred Polasek, county commissioner, Precinct No. 4.

Walker Bailey, county superintendent. Mrs. Austin Coffman, justice of the peace, Precinct No. 2.

W. O. Leonard, C. M. Wilkerson and W. H. (Ant Killer) Hood, constable, Precinct No. 1. G. C. Costes, Odell Buchanan and Buck Graham, constable, Precinct No. 2.

Several other candidates have public announcements, but had not filed with the county chairman Saturday.

Activities Set For C-C Week

Today through next Saturday has been proclaimed "Chamber of Commerce Week in Big Spring" by Mayor G. W. Dabney, and several activities are planned in honor of the local organization.

The Big Spring celebration will coincide with others of a similar nature about the state. Gov. Allan Shivers has set aside the same period as "Chamber of Commerce Week in Texas."

Events planned in Big Spring include essay contests, radio programs, service club speeches, high school talks, and a banquet. Daily articles concerning the Chamber will be published in The Herald.

"I sincerely hope that the citizens of Big Spring will take this opportunity to express support for Chamber of Commerce activities and to encourage those promoting these activities," Mayor Dabney said.

A luncheon honoring all the past presidents of the local Chamber will kick off the week's activities. It will be held in the Settles Hotel at noon Monday. Chamber of Commerce directors, the past presidents, and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be present.

The luncheon will be attended by those who have run the Chamber in the past, those running it now, and others who will take over in the future. Chamber Manager J. H. Greene pointed out.

Speaker for the occasion will be De Wayne Davis, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Prior to that time he was associated with the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce in various capacities for more than 25 years. Progress and growth have been constant during the time that Greene has guided Chamber activities. The veteran manager has seen the population of Big Spring more than double, going from 12,000 in 1927 to an estimated 25,000 now.

Under Greene's administration, Big Spring has been successful in obtaining a Veterans Administration Hospital, the Big Spring State Hospital, two Air Force bases, and a Junior College.

Sooner Toll Two Dead, 48 Injured

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 1 (AP)—A mammoth storm jolted Oklahoma from noon until midnight today with tornadoes slamming into 18 towns leaving two dead, at least 48 injured and an uncounted amount of property damage.

A major section of the state from the southwest to the northeast tonight remained under an alert expected to continue until 3 a.m. (EST).

Worst destruction occurred at Meeker, 30 miles east of here, where first reports said the town was "nearly wiped out." Luckily, residents there were forewarned and ducked into storm cellars. Still, 26 were injured when twin funnels destroyed from 25 to 30 homes, badly damaged the high school and ripped open several business buildings.

Nine persons were injured when the twister left Meeker, cut across fields and caught up with a transcontinental bus on U.S. 42 and hurled it 100 yards off the road. The heavy vehicle overturned in the mud and pinned several of the 25 passengers inside for a time.

Other casualties were two dead and three injured at Grandfield and three hurt at Tipton in southwestern Oklahoma. Four were injured at Pawnee in central Oklahoma, one at Wetumka.

Other towns and communities hit by twisters were Snyder, Dale, Washita, Pawnee, Sasakwa, Coalgate, Warwick, Wellston, an area near Ponca City, near Tulsa, Randall, Wetumka, near McAlester, Cedar Grove and Sparks.

Most of the damage was either on the outskirts of the towns or in nearby rural areas.

It was the rain straight day of scattered showers in Oklahoma and brought heavy rains and some hail.

The storm which struck Meeker got in its first blow west of Shawnee about 18 miles south of Meeker. It destroyed the Ellis Country Club house five miles west of Shawnee, damaged the golf pro's home and headed northeast. The wind flattened several homes in the Fayetteville community, injuring several persons.

The funnel snatched into the Jenco Aircraft Corp. plant, lifted off the heavy roof, twisted steel machinery and injured two workmen.

Jenco night supervisor Ray Crouch said the workers had been warned of the storm, fled the plant and dived into nearby ditches. He reported many would have been killed otherwise.

From the Jenco plant the big cloud of destruction crunched into Meeker, destroying or damaging every home east of the high school and wrecking the school plant.

But the storm had not spent its fury. It headed northeast from Meeker, trapping the transcontinental bus.

Fred Sneed of Shawnee who was driving his auto along the highway said the wind picked up the big bus and shot it like a feather into the field 100 yards away.

Sneed also reported several autos were knocked off the highway.

The injured from the bus were taken to Shawnee and Oklahoma City where the Meeker injured also were rushed for treatment. Ambulances, nurses, doctors and emergency workers were rushed into Meeker whose chief claim to fame previously had been as hometown of Carl Hubble, New York Giant pitching great.

The town officials had appealed for help possible, saying "our town is nearly wiped out." The Salvage

Winds Knock Out Plant To Bring Power Failure

High, gusty winds slammed a roof structure into a 122,000-volt power plant and plunged much of West Texas into momentary darkness Saturday evening.

The Morgan Creek plant of Texas Electric Service Company, four miles southwest of Colorado City, was knocked out. With it went power service from Eastland west until other sources could be switched in. Within 15 minutes, Big Spring had service restored at 8:45 p.m.

Details were not complete, but KVA generators on steam said that wind, either in gusts or twists, ripped the roof structure from over the new boiler for an 80,000 volt unit under construction.

The material was carried approximately 150 feet into the 122,000-volt assembly. "Fireworks" popped and cracked before operators could cut the plant off.

From Big Spring TESCO dispatched a crew of men to assist Morgan Creek personnel in clearing the difficulties. R. L. Beale, TESCO district manager, said that it was hoped to have the plant back on the line by morning. Meanwhile, sources from the east and west were quickly switched in and boilers at other generation plants brought promptly on to full steam.

In Colorado City proper winds were high but not as gusty as at the generating plant.

City Gets Light Showers Saturday

Light showers peppered over Big Spring and to the immediate north Saturday morning.

The U. S. Experiment Farm reported .14 of an inch, getting May off to at least a moist start. There were reports of even heavier precipitation to the north between the farm and Fairview. Water stood in furrows briefly. Area covered by the showers was relatively small.

Royal Pair, Tots United

TOBRUK, Libya, May 1 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh, happily reunited with their two children after a separation of more than five months, headed for home tonight aboard the royal yacht Britannia.

Prince Charles, 5, and Princess Anne, 3, got a big hug and kiss from their globe-girdling parents aboard the yacht. The children arrived yesterday and their parents today. The reunion was delayed four hours while the Queen and Duke took part in official ceremonies and met with King Idris I of Libya.

From a launch 50 yards away observers could see the bobbing blond heads of Charles and Anne as first the Queen and then the Duke bent over to kiss them.

Newsmen aboard the launch waited for more than an hour and a half for a glimpse of the reunited family, but the yacht sailed away with the happy group still below decks. Stops at Malta and Gibraltar will wind up the tour which Elizabeth and the Duke began last Nov. 23.

Soviet Jets Make Impressive Show At Moscow's May Day

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
MOSCOW, May 1 (AP)—The Soviet Air Force uncorked a huge new four-engine supersonic jet bomber and sent it screaming over Red Square at today's May Day parade.

Premier Georgi Malenkov, other top Soviet leaders and Western diplomats watched intently as the big bomber streaked out of the west over the Lenin Museum and traversed from horizon to horizon in 30 seconds. Four fighters trailed the big ship in V-formation.

Western observers estimated the new bomber was capable of carrying any weapon yet produced. It was part of an air show that stole the stage from the other military displays.

The square were twin jets with one engine painted blue and the other yellow. The next 81 had their wings swept back in a sharp V shape.

Watching was U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen, recently returned from a 10-day motor trip to the Ukraine and Crimea. Bohlen, who sat in the stands reserved for the diplomatic corps, said he was fascinated by the sight of the new jets.

The ground phase of the 23-minute military show included tanks and big guns.

The traditional May Day oration was delivered by the Soviet defense minister, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin. Standing atop the Lenin-Stalin tomb with other government leaders, Bulganin assured Russians the government was trying its hardest to raise living standards so the people could have some of the good things in life as well as a strong military defense.

Bulganin's speech contained no libel at the United States which marked some previous holiday orations.

LONDON, May 1 (AP)—Military displays and parades marked observation of May Day in many Communist nations today but errors insisted that peace was the highest aim.

There were rival demonstrations by Communists and their foes in other lands. But no serious outbursts of violence occurred on the day officially proclaimed as a workers' holiday by an International

Underwood To Make Race For Sheriff's Post

Announcement of his candidacy for the office of County Sheriff, subject to the Democratic primaries, was made Saturday by Johnny Underwood.

"I solicit the vote and influence of the good people of Howard County solely upon my pledge to give them an honest and efficient administration of their sheriff's department," Underwood's announcement said.

"I am not asking for this office because I need a job. I have a business here which I have operated for 13 years. But I have been interested in this department from the standpoint of any civic contribution I might make. Many people have talked with me about this, and many whose counsel I respect have encouraged me to submit my nomination. It is because of such sentiment that I am prompted to offer my candidacy.

"I regard the sheriff's department as an administrative office of great importance to the county's welfare, and I would handle it as such. I can assure the people that a strong staff of deputies would be engaged, to handle the affairs of this office to the satisfaction of the business interests of the county, and to maintain crime prevention and law enforcement to the full degree which the people of this county deserve. I promise to work in harmony with all other governmental departments in the county, in the city, and the state. I believe I can maintain a sheriff's department of which the citizens of Howard County can be proud, and one that will be strong, efficient, and worthy of the people's trust. If you do not know me, I solicit you to ask anybody who does know me for an honest appraisal of my qualifications and my sincere interest in wanting to serve Howard County."

Underwood has operated the roofing company which bears his name, since he came here in 1936. He also owns his home at 807 Young Street, and a farm north of town. He is a native Texan, born in Itasca, and spent his earlier days there and in Russell County before coming to Big Spring. He was one of the joint operators of the U.S. Flying Service here from 1943 to 1947.

He has three children. Underwood is a member of the Methodist Church and the Knights of Pythias Lodge.

Theft Suspect Is Being Held Here

Police were holding a Latin-American in jail Saturday evening for investigation of possible theft. When the man was arrested in Northwest Big Spring, he had eight pairs of new trousers with him. Officers said the man, who was released from prison recently, was trying to sell the trousers. The pants had labels from J. C. Penney Company, but there have been no thefts from the local store, it was reported.

Boys Urged To Try For Those Great Soap Box Derby Prizes

The full story of one of the greatest opportunities open to young boys—the Soap Box Derby—is being told in the schools.

Representatives of Tidwell Chevrolet Co., the Lions Club and The Herald—sponsors of the local event—were before a group of schools Friday, and will complete their rounds of all schools Monday. They are presenting a color film showing the full details of the great All-American Soap Box Derby, and are urging boys between the ages of 11 and 15 to enter.

It is stressed that entry lists must be closed soon, so that boys may start building their cars. Plans are to have the local races on July Fourth.

The winner here will be one of 151 city champions to go to Akron, Ohio, early in August, with all expenses paid, to shoot for the All-American crown. With it goes a $5,000 scholarship in the college of his choice. There are also scholarships of $4,000, $3,000, $2,000 and $1,000, for the other places.

ing drivers, as well as a multitude of special awards and trophies.

The local race itself will mean awards to practically every boy who enters. Winners of each heat will get cash awards, and special gifts—including such items as bicycles, guns, watches, etc.—will go to winners, owner of most attractive racer, etc.

Entertainment Set For VA Hospital

Entertainment will be furnished patients at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital by American Legion organizations from Odessa and Midland during the coming week.

The Odessa American Legion will be in charge of the program Tuesday evening, and the Midland post will be in charge Thursday evening. Three movies are scheduled during the week.

The Monday movie is "From Here to Eternity." Showing Wednesday will be "City That Never Sleeps." The Friday show is "Cruising Down the River."

cycle, gun, watch, etc.—will go to winners, owner of most attractive racer, etc.

Sponsors are stressing the fact that a boy does not have to be out any expense at all to enter the Soap Box Derby. Special sponsors are willing to back the entries by purchasing the official wheels for the racers and providing other materials up to the official limit of $10.

All a boy has to do is go with one of his parents to Tidwell Chevrolet Company and sign an official entry blank. He receives a free rule book which gives him all the information he needs, and may obtain his official wheels there. From then on, all he has to do is "go to work."

It takes considerable skill and patience and perseverance to build the racers—but prizes at stake are well worth the boy's time and effort, the sponsors point out.

IT'S AN ORDER

Seymour To Take Holiday On Monday To Go Fishing

By MARTHA COLE

SEYMOUR, Tex., May 1 (U-A)—A push on the world's troubles! Seymour is gonna close up shop Monday, and every danged one of its 3,778 citizens is ordered by the mayor to go fishing.

They'll go, too. For 28 years when those first symptoms of spring fever got to crawling over a body, they've been locking up downtown for one whole day and taking off with a pole.

Nobody seems to know how or why it got started. It just did. Seymour is on the northwest Texas plains where Lake Kemp is a 444,000-acre blue haven in a land of mesquite, ranches and wheat fields.

That's where Seymour is going Monday—right up to Seymour Gate on Lake Kemp, where the mayor told them to go.

Mayor W. R. Whitley's proclamation reads: "Know all men by these presents: Whereas, since time immemorial man, woman, boy and girl have pursued the ancient and time honored custom of trying to induce a wily and stubborn fish to bite a hook—

And whereas, the mayor said, he proclaimed May 3 as Fish Day. "And I do further hereby proclaim that on said date each and every citizen shall lay aside his daily pursuits and gird and arm himself with a fishing pole, line, hook, and bait, and make his way by the most expeditious means of transportation to the said shores of Lake Kemp and there test his skill, strength, wit, and patience against the said wily fish in the time-honored fashion and manner."

The Chamber of Commerce got out some handbills around town saying if you don't like to fish, "You will find the environment perfect for eating, sleeping, playing bridge, canasta, and other games, as well as plain and fancy gossiping."

They'll select a "Seymour Fish Day Queen" from 12 beauties from the local high school. And a push on care for one whole day!

Clean-Up Volume Nearing Record

A total of 212 loads of "clean-up" trash had been collected by city trucks through Saturday morning. It was reported by R. V. Foreyth, superintendent of the city public works department.

It is estimated that 110 loads are on the ground, which means that at least 330 truck loads will be picked up before the city is cleared.

Last year there were 297 loads collected by city trash crews. Foreyth said the people cooperated in "Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up and Beautification Week" better this year than ever before.

"There was more trash put out and more people cleaning," he said. So far the trash has been cleared only in the areas south of 6th Street. Starting Monday, the city trucks will start cleaning all streets and alleys north of 6th. The city will be covered by Wednesday, Foreyth said.

After Wednesday, the trucks will still pick up trash placed at the garbage spots after the first collection, Foreyth pointed out.

Passenger Train Rams Freight At Childress In Fog

CHILDRESS, Tex., May 1 (U-A)—A passenger train rammed into the rear of a halted freight train six miles east of Childress during a heavy fog today. No one was hurt but there was considerable damage to the freight.

C. J. Lyons, Childress agent for the Fort Worth and Denver, said the Amarillo-to-Fort Worth passenger train rammed a freight train, demolishing the latter's caboose, heavily damaging the second car and knocking the third partially off the track.

The diesel pulling the passenger train was derailed in but the train returned to Childress under its own power, Lyons said. Otherwise there was no damage to the passenger train. The track was not torn up. Ed Worthen of Wichita Falls, engineer of the passenger train, said the fog had reduced visibility to a point where he could not stop in time although the crew of the freight was believed to have stopped because several of its cars had become disconnected.

Organization Most Active, Educator Says

"The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce is one of the most active organizations I have ever seen anywhere."

This is the opinion voiced by Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College. The educator definitely believes that the people here are fortunate to have such a progressive Chamber.

"The Chamber leaders are really on the job in promoting the best interests of local business institutions," he said. "They think and look way into the future, which is a very valuable thing."

Dr. Hunt is of the opinion that Big Spring will continue to grow and prosper so long as the Chamber keeps a rapidly moving program of work. Two things he hopes will be stressed in that work program are the development of Howard County Junior College and the obtaining of new industries.

"I am definitely interested in education and want to see HCCJ made the college it should be—one of the most outstanding institutions in the South," he stated.

The Chamber of Commerce was entirely responsible for obtaining the junior college, Dr. Hunt pointed out, and it has since been behind the education program at the institution 100 per cent. Individual Chamber members have also been active in junior college activities, he said.

Dr. Hunt had to take a lot of places and organizations into consideration when he said the local Chamber is the most active organization he has ever seen. He has been associated with many Texas groups and is now rounding out his 17th year teaching.

The college president has been football coach at Post, Crosbyton, Odessa, Rotan and Keller. He obtained his masters degree at Southern Methodist University and taught at the University of Texas while obtaining his doctor's degree. He has also been an official with the State Department of Public Education.

Dr. Hunt is a member of the Masonic lodge, the Lion's Club, the Knife and Fork Club. He is also a Boy Scout leader and a director of the Chamber of Commerce.

First Week Of Geneva Parley Shows Serious Split Of Allies

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA, May 1 (U)—The first week of the Geneva conference has produced grave differences among the Western Powers which may have a lasting effect upon their future relations.

British and French officials are trying to minimize the differences. American circles no longer are trying to hide them.

The U.S. view is that Britain and France have let the United States down by not backing up Secretary of State Dulles' policy of strength and firmness in dealing with the Communists.

U.S. officials are particularly annoyed at the reluctance of Britain and France to challenge the declarations of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Red China's Premier—Foreign Minister Chou En-lai that this is a five-power meeting.

Neither British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, nor any other Western European country has yet asked to speak in the Korean conference, where the Communist declarations have been made.

The differences among the Western Allies go far beyond the specific issues before the conference. The whole broad question of approach is involved.

The present situation was foreshadowed when Dulles made his flying trip to London and Paris last month in an effort to launch an Asian defense alliance on the eve of the conference. Neither Britain nor France was willing to give definite commitments.

Dulles continued his conversations here with Britain, France, Australia and New Zealand on the Asian pact, but found them cool to any action while the conference was in progress. The result of his efforts so far is that only Thailand and The Philippines have announced their willingness to join the alliance.

On top of these difficulties came the declaration of Prime Minister Churchill that Britain would make no military commitments to aid France in Indochina until the outcome of the Geneva conference was known.

U.S. officials feel that all these developments reduce to a minimum the West's bargaining position. The United States is understood to feel also that Russia will try to drive a further wedge between the Western Allies by offering France an Indochina peace plan which would be unacceptable to the United States. The Americans are insisting that no cease-fire be accepted unless it provides military safeguards to prevent the Communists from taking over all of Indochina.

It is apparent from private conversations with U.S. officials that Dulles will have a rather dismal report to give President Eisenhower when he returns to Washington Tuesday. His report undoubtedly will deal fully with the difficulties he has encountered in trying to preserve at least a semblance of unity among the allies.

On the substantive issues themselves—Korea and Indochina—the secretary of state will not be able to report any great optimism among the delegates. They have generally written off any chance of a Korean unification plan that would be acceptable to both sides. There is hope for a cease-fire in Indochina, but it is only a hope. The Communists still have not indicated what their terms would be.

New Woolworth Manager Arrives

J. H. Friday, formerly of Breckenridge, arrived here Friday to assume management of the local F. W. Woolworth Store.

He succeeds R. H. Snyder who retired Saturday after more than 40 years of service with the five-and-ten chain.

Texas Voter List Is Down From Record

AUSTIN, May 1 (U)—Nearly half a million fewer Texans are qualified to vote this year than there were in 1952's record breaking turn out.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert today figured that the total is 1,863,619 including paid poll taxes and an estimate of exemptions.

In 1952, the last general election year, the fever heat of interest in the presidential campaign even in the fall and early winter produced 2,337,618 estimated voters.

The general election itself brought the astonishing total of 2,975,946 votes actually cast for presidential nominees.

Harris County (Houston) was firmly in first place with the highest vote potential in the state this year. It reported 185,811 paid poll taxes with an estimated 36,795 exemptions for a total of 222,606. Dallas County was second with 147,471, including 117,700 paid poll taxes and 29,771 exemptions by Calvert's figures.

McLennan (Waco) 26,978 and 5,290, 32,268.
El Paso (upper Rio Grande Valley) 26,545, and 3,212, 31,757.
Hidalgo (lower Rio Grande Valley) 24,387 and 2,741, 27,128.

Webb Pushing Plans For Military Day

Major William C. Whalin, project officer for Armed Forces Day at Webb Air Force Base, said Saturday that plans are well advanced for West Texas participation in the annual observance honoring young men and women in uniform. Webb AFB will hold a thrilling Air Show, a Wing Review, and will have a gigantic Armed Forces Ball for the occasion.

All veterans' organizations, civic clubs and other patriotic groups have been invited to take part in the Armed Forces Day program at Webb. Representatives of military or industrial organizations who wish to display exhibits in Webb's Main Hangar still have time to contact their Chamber of Commerce or local project officer for space reservations.

In his formal proclamation designating Saturday, May 15, as Armed Forces Day in 1954, President Eisenhower said, "I call upon my fellow citizens, not only to display the flag of the United States on Armed Forces Day, but also to manifest their recognition of the sacrifice and devotion to duty of the men and women in the Armed Forces by attending and participating in the local observances of the day conducted by the Armed Forces and civil authorities."

"Be Our Guest" is Webb's cordial invitation for the day to Big Spring and other communities in the West Texas area. Facilities for the reception of several thousands of guests are now being set up.

"Everyone is welcome and is especially and cordially invited to join in the celebration of Armed Forces Day at Webb AFB," Maj. Whalin said. "We urge you to come and review the accomplishments of your Armed Forces during the past year."

Armed Forces Day gets under way May 15 with an open house at 9 a.m. Squadrons of marching airmen will pass the reviewing stand at 10 a.m., and awards and decorations will be made to military personnel who have distinguished themselves both above and beyond, and within the call of duty. Among those present on the reviewing stand with Webb Commander Col. Fred M. Dean, will be two-star Rear Admiral William Studdert, USNR, of Midland.

Throughout the special day, groups of Air Force aircraft will stage "fly by's" over the airfield, and there will be take-offs and landings of the T-28 single-engine and T-33 jet trainers used in training US Aviation Cadets at Webb. An aerial show is slated for 2 p.m. It will be followed by a fly by of three B-47s at 4:30 p.m.

Also during the day, Air Force, Navy, Marine, Army and commercial static exhibits will be held in the hangar and runway areas. Aircraft on exhibit include single and multi-engine planes as well as jets, a US Army twin-engine helicopter will also be on display. Ramps will be constructed by each aircraft for spectators to examine working parts of the ships and the cockpits. In addition to these airplanes will be some Navy ships.

"These static exhibits have been carefully planned," Maj. Whalin said, "and are very educational as well as interesting." Displays which will best demonstrate Big Spring's interest in the purposes of Armed Forces Day are being planned by the local Armed Forces Day Committee.

Brannan Declares Scarcity Theory Is Republican Aim

KANSAS CITY, May 1 (U)—Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture in the Truman administration, said today the Republican administration is embarked on a "philosophy of scarcity" not only in the farm program but in other phases of national life.

"We are witnessing the greatest organized attack on farm programs since the Agricultural Adjustment Administration decisions," he told the annual convention of the Young Democrats of Missouri.

"Effective price supports are to be abandoned if this administration has its way. 'By the same processes we are to create a scarcity of farmers,' he added. "The marginal farmer still must go according to the present administration, which at the same time carefully refrains from identifying those who are marginal farmers."

Pope Pius Blesses Cheering Workmen

VATICAN CITY, May 1 (U)—Pope Pius XII appeared at his Vatican apartment window today to bless some 50,000 cheering workmen gathered in St. Peter's Square.

Most of the workers—members of Italian Catholic Action—had attended Mass in St. Peter's Basilica as part of their May Day observance.

Texas Would Rank Fourth In Planned Federal Building

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON, May 1 (U)—Congress is putting the finishing touches on legislation that is expected to set off the first major post office—federal building construction program, including many projects in Texas, since 1938.

While the measure does not specify where new buildings are to be put up, data reviewed by Senate and House committees indicated that Texas probably would rank fourth among all states in the construction program.

In general, the legislation—now in a Senate-House conference committee after being passed by both chambers in slightly different versions—provides for private construction under a lease-purchase arrangement that would give the government eventual title to the buildings.

Contracts would be let under sealed competitive bidding. Rates would be calculated to cover the construction costs, plus a reasonable profit, so that the buildings would become federal property at the expiration of the contract in 10 to 25 years.

Prior to World War II the government built postoffice and federal structures as the need arose. Since that time, with a few exceptions, non-military building requirements have been met through leasing of private property.

In approving the lease-purchase act, the Senate Public Works Committee pointed out that building needs could be met through one of three ways: 1. Lease-purchase under which government takes title eventually; 2. Leasing or renting; 3. Government construction, with the government retaining ownership and control.

The committee said government construction was the most economical, but approved the lease-purchase plan because it would not require any immediate and large outlay of cash through congressional appropriation.

In considering the problem, the congressional committees had before them a list of "eligible" federal building projects prepared by government agencies under the old plan. Under this plan the projects were classed as eligible for construction when and if Congress saw fit to provide the money.

Some 250 Texas cities were listed as eligible for a total of 296 projects. The list included courthouses, customs and immigration buildings along with post offices. Each of these 296 projects would cost at least $200,000; many of them would cost in the millions. Figuring the average at $350,000, the proposed new construction in Texas would aggregate 100 million dollars.

SENATE RACES EYED

Ohio And Alabama To Hold Primaries

WASHINGTON, May 1 (U.S.)—Senatorial contests will be fought out in Ohio and Alabama Tuesday as the 1934 political season gets into stride with primary elections in five states.

Here are the principal nominations at stake:

Alabama: Governor, U. S. senator, 9 U. S. representatives.
Ohio: Governor, U. S. senator, 23 U. S. representatives.
Indiana: 11 U. S. representatives.
Florida: Governor, 8 U. S. representatives.

New Mexico: Governor, U. S. senator and 2 U. S. representatives.

Nominations for lesser state offices also are up in most of the five states.

Republicans and Democratic winners in Tuesday's balloting—many of whom already are assured of primary victory through lack of opposition—will battle it out in the November general election.

Feature attraction on the Alabama card is the Democratic senatorial primary in which Sen. John Sparkman, who was the party's vice-presidential nominee in 1932, has three opponents.

The major threat, among these is posed by Laurie Battle of Birmingham, who gave up his House seat to bid for the Senate. Principal issue is civil rights, with Battle accusing Sparkman of "toting water on both shoulders" by promising Northern Negroes one thing in 1932 and Alabama voters something else.

Sparkman denies that, saying he has unwaveringly opposed the civil rights program based on ending racial segregation.

Top interest in Ohio's voting is the battle between Rep. George H. Bender and William Saxbe, speaker of the Ohio House, for Republican nomination for the Senate seat of the late Robert A. Taft.

Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland, now holding the seat by appointment, has no Democratic opposition and will take on the Bender-Saxbe winner in November. The prize will be the remaining two years of Taft's six-year term.

Bender, a veteran of 14 years in Congress, claims Washington administration support. His bell-ringing and cheer-leading at Republican Conventions have prompted Saxbe to refer to him as a "ward-heeler type politician" and a "bell-ringing buffoon."

A factional fight for Republican organization control is enlivening the Indiana primary.

Six of the Hoosier state's 10 Republican congressmen have no opposition for re-nomination. Among these is House Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck. The lone Indiana Democrat in the House, Ray

J. Madden, has only nominal opposition.

Florida's primary, a preliminary to a run-off May 25, has three Democrats seeking the two remaining years of the governorship term of the late Dan McCarthy. Candidates are acting Gov. Charles E. Johns, LeRoy Collins and Bralley Odh.

Republicans have entered primary candidates in only two of Florida's eight congressional districts, all of which now are represented by Democrats. Four Democratic congressmen have no primary or general election opposition.

The New Mexico primary is strictly a Republican affair and a warmup for what is expected to be a hot battle in November for the governorship and a Senate post.

The state's two present representatives, John J. Dempsey and Antonio M. Fernandez, both Democrats, have no primary opposition. Three Republicans, Warren R. Cobean, Thomas H. Childers and Joseph Rendon, are fighting for the two congressional nominations and the dubious privilege of taking on Dempsey and Fernandez in November.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, Democrat, and former Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem already have won their party's senatorial nominations and are slugging it out for victory in November.

John Simms Jr., of Albuquerque, received the Democratic nomination for governor by acclamation. Two Republicans, Holm O. Burson of Socorro and Alvin Stoon of Raton, fight it out Tuesday for the nomination to oppose Simms.

Atomic Power Looms As Rail Use Possibility

WASHINGTON, May 1 (U.S.)—The Assn. of American Railroads said today atomic locomotives stand a good chance of becoming a reality when nuclear energy is finally made available to the civilian world in an economical form.

The association made the statement in reviewing what has been going on in the industry by way of research.

Already, according to AAR President William T. Farley, 55 major projects carried on at the association's research center in Chicago, or under its direction, are making savings of some 100 million dollars a year in operating costs.

The savings over the lifetime of the projects will eventually run into billions, he said.

The statement noted that the one-time "iron horse" now operates in many areas in a setting of radar and radio, automatic maintenance equipment, and centralized traffic control, known as "CTC" under which an operator before an electric control board regulates operations over vast areas by simply flipping switches.

The public's stake in rail research, Farley said, "arises from the fact that such savings are a real contribution to the industry's efforts to meet rising costs with the least possible increase in rates and fares."

But, he said, research makes its most important contribution in the field of rail safety and efficiency. "In 1933, for example, the industry for the seventh straight year hung up a new record of operating efficiency."

"The achievement of that record was made possible by investment of more than nine billion dollars of railroad money for improved plant and equipment during the postwar years."

The research projects of AAR, and individual roads, include such items as riding comfort, the basic design of railroad cars, better safety devices, and further refinements in the hard-working diesel, at which 23,000 are now in use, doing about 80 per cent of all of today's railroad transportation service.

United To Produce 45-Inch Pipe Run

United Concrete Pipe Company will turn out the largest dimension yet produced in its Big Spring factory when it begins supplying a new Lubbock job.

Last week contract was awarded to the contractor which United will supply. It covered 52,918 feet of 45-in. main supply line from Lubbock to the Shallowater field, plus 4,700 feet for some short 24-inch laterals. Heretofore, 36-in. is the largest size of pipe turned out for customers from the plant.

The factory now has some 22 miles of pipe manufacture under contract. Several other jobs are in prospect. Besides the big-inch material for Lubbock, United has contract for furnishing the Abilene Air Base job. Prior to that it had secured the order for seven miles of 30-inch line at Fort Hood, according to J. R. Wilson, sales engineer.

Students Become Officials In Elks' Youth Day Event

Big Spring High School students of the presentation program. "took over" the city and county governments Saturday as a feature of Youth Day, sponsored by local Elks.

Highlight of the day's activities was a mock trial in Justice Court, at which the "defendant" was found guilty on "charges" of "staying out too late with a brunette." Handling the prosecution was David Westfall, Youth Day county attorney. Justice of the Peace Paschall Odom presided at the "trial."

Another feature of Youth Day was postponed, due to the inavailability of radio time. The presentation of leadership and most valuable student awards will be held during the coming week, however, and ceremonies are to be aired over a local radio station.

W. D. Boyd is to be in charge

Youth Day officials were elected by high school students. They reported to their respective offices Saturday morning and were given briefings on the jobs by regular holders of the various posts.

City officials were Mayor Jimmy Porter, Commissioners Frank Griffith, Lynn Thames, Kenneth Briden and Jackie Culpepper; City Manager Bill Earley; Police Chief Freddie Bialack; Fire Chief Ray Shaw; Janice Anderson, city secretary; Richard Hughes, city attorney; Jim Farner, city judge; Dean Porter, city engineer; and Johnny Hickson, tax collector.

The county officers for the day were Judge Roger Brown, Commissioners Lamar Bailey, Jimmy King, Wayne Langford and Wilbur Cunningham; David Westfall, county attorney; Kay Bonfield, treasurer; Anne Gray, clerk; Libby Jones, tax assessor; Jackie Milam, sheriff; Paschall Odom, justice of the peace for Precinct No. 1, Place 1; Ray Dabney, justice of the peace for Precinct No. 2; James Hollis and Don Swinney, constables; Glenda Drennan, district clerk; Robert Angel, district attorney; Jerry Hughes, county surveyor; Louis Stipp, juvenile officer; Mary Ella Bigony, court reporter; Mary Ellen Hayes, home demonstration agent; Ann White, county agent; Joyce Anderson, librarian; Patsy Clements, welfare officer; and Norman Dudley, auditor.

CONSCIENCE PREVAILS IN 15-YEAR DEBT

A woman's conscience has prompted her to make restitution after 15 years.

Here is a letter received this week by the local Montgomery Ward store:

"Enclosed you will find $2 for a pair of children's shoes I took from your store in the winter of 1933, they were $1.49. I had the money to pay for them but I went in there to get them, no one came to wait on me. I found what I wanted, tried them on my little boy, still no one came around, so I just walked out and he had the shoes on."

"I have had a guilty conscience ever since. I have taught my children honesty from babyhood up, and I was taught the same. That's the only time I ever did such a thing and it has been a hindrance to my Christian life. I have promised myself and God I'd make it right, but we have been in dire circumstances so much I never did it."

The letter was signed, "A Mother."

Rayburn Aide Gets Distinctive Start In His Legal Career

WASHINGTON, May 1 (U.S.)—Dee Kelly of Bonham, an aide to House minority leader Sam Rayburn, recently passed his Texas bar examination but couldn't get home immediately to take oath there. So, after giving the matter a second thought, he came up with a solution that gave his legal career a distinctive send-off. The oath was administered in the magnificent Supreme Court building here by a fellow Texan, Justice Tom Clark. The ceremony was in Clark's private chambers.

TO THE VOTERS

A few weeks ago I stated that I would not seek re-election as your Justice of Peace, and that I would make another statement to the voters of Howard County, before May 3rd, the deadline for filing for public office.

I want the people of this Justice Precinct to know that I appreciated at the time of the last election, and will always be grateful for, the splendid vote I received in the Primary run-off in August of 1932.

You will recall that I campaigned on a platform of giving you a Justice Court of honesty, dignity, and integrity. And now after 16 months of serving you, I believe it can be said by every one that I have carried out my pledge.

At the time you saw fit to entrust me with the Justice Court office, the salary paid was $3,300 per year. However, as soon as I took office, the salary was reduced to $2,400 per year, and extra duties added, namely the Small Claims Court—which handles claims of less than $100.00. I have filed 240 of these claims and am happy to report that over 70% of these claims have been settled.

You may recall that I protested to the County Commissioners Court, that a $900 salary cut would not permit me to pay my just living expenses. Your Commissioners Court told me that the law—at that time—only allowed that amount of pay. We all agreed that it was a poor and unjust law and merited legislative consideration.

I am happy that I had a small part in promoting the revision of this law, to benefit all Counties of 150,000 or less population in the State of Texas. This bill was deemed an emergency, and lifted the ceiling on salaries to be paid Justices of Peace—giving the County Commissioners Court the authority to pay any such office the salary that they thought the office should merit. This law was passed on June 4, 1933, and with the emergency clause took effect the same day. Nevertheless, I have not benefited by this new legislation in any way, so far as having my salary restored is concerned. I was informed by the Commissioner's Court that my salary could not be adjusted up, because it had not been set up in the County Budget.

I hope that this statement, will explain to the many people of Howard County, who have been so nice to honor me with the Justice of Peace office, why I am not asking for a second term in that capacity. Your interest and your loyalty has certainly been appreciated. My personal thanks to everyone for your kind expressions of the past.

Yours for better Government, all the way...

Rains Brighten Farm Outlook In Mitchell County

COLORADO CITY, May 1 (U.S.)—"Best outlook since 1933," says Mitchell County Agent Jack Burkhalter of the county's crop prospects, since April rains, which totaled 5.75 inches at Colorado City. "Our range is getting in good shape," he adds, "but we'll have to watch and not graze our pastures too heavy until the young grasses can get a firm roothold."

Burkhalter says that "there is a lot of feed up already—mostly sudan—and present moisture will carry it until the last of May."

He also points out that cotton farmers had adequate seasoning for planting and enough moisture in the soil to bring the cotton up.

In addition to firming farm futures, the recent rains added 2.85 feet of water to Lake Colorado City, which is the major source of Colorado City's water for home use.

Pushing Processing Plant

Workers for A. P. Kasch & Sons are pushing work on the City of Big Spring filtration plant in an effort to be ready for Lake J. B. Thomas water by the time the Colorado River Municipal Water District delivers it this summer. Above is the north half of the settling basin from which clear water will go to filters. Floor is being poured to practically complete it. At right men get set for a pour in the big pipe assembly area which will flank filtration units on the east. The opening behind the workers is where pumps for the filtration unit will be located.

City, Water District Race On Plans To Handle Lake Supplies

A first class "race" is shaping between the City of Big Spring and the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Actually, there won't be a contest or formal rivalry, but construction schedules are shaping so that it may be a toss up as to who is ready first to handle lake water.

The city's new filtration project is beginning to come together at an encouraging rate and now is rated well over the halfway mark toward completion.

Tuesday, the Colorado River Municipal Water District will receive bids for the Big Spring-Odessa pump station and the Morgan Creek booster. If the district gets a 90-day completion clause, this business of whose going to be ready first may figure to be a dead heat.

Actually, the CRMWD has all its pumps on hand. At last report only a couple of valves were lacking but these likely are on hand or en route. As a practical matter, the pumps could be in action long before the stations themselves are complete.

On the other hand, Arthur Kasch of A. P. Kasch & Sons, contractors for the city filtration system, says that all the material for this job is on the ground. There won't be any delays from this end. In the words of Jim Nichols, engineer for Freese & Nichols, "it's a question of getting it in place now."

As for the filtration plant, most estimates are for completion around the first of August. In event it should be ready before the CRMWD is prepared to lay down Lake J. B. Thomas water, a couple million gallons per day will be pumped in from Powell Creek to supplement the well fields supplies.

This is considered a remote possibility by E. V. Spence, CRMWD general manager. He has figured all along that the pump stations would be in operation before the city would be prepared to process water from the lake. This was the case even when there was talk of the city plant being finished early in July. At any rate, he is prepared to bid the ground running after the Tuesday lettings.

The city's new processing facility shapes up as an impressive plant. The main settling basin already is in place and lacks only pouring of the floor on one side to be ready. The basin has two compartments, each 15 feet deep and 120x30 feet.

The old settling basin has been converted into twin flocculators, each with four units. One on either side will be a rapid mix for infusion of the coagulating chemicals, and the other three with a milder 10 rpm mixing. The water then flows by gravity to the settling basin.

Coming off the basin, clear but untreated water will go to the filtration units. Under forced draft, these would be capable of processing up to 12 million gallons per day. Normal capacity would be about 6 million gallons per day. From the filter the water is treated for purity and spills into a huge clear well.

This subterranean concrete tank is 15 feet deep and has a 78-foot diameter. It is capable of receiving half a million gallons of water, affording a comfortable pumping reserve, even when it is necessary to shut off the plant for backwashing the filters according to approved sanitation practices.

IT HAPPENED

Animals Too Much

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (U)—A conference of high school students was called Thursday to discuss the problems of baby-sitting.

One of the prize woes was described by a girl who told of caring for the children of a couple just returned from Florida.

She said a baby alligator snapped at her from a tub, a Mexican Chihuahua yapped at her heels and a monkey leaped at her all evening.

Kindness Returned

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (U)—Henry Washington says he gave $3.00 to children last year to spend at a circus. On the way home he found $3 in the street.

Recently, he gave two children 50 cents to spend at an other circus. On the way home he found a dollar bill.

Gives Up Robbery Try

DENVER (U)—Frightened and waving a gun nervously, a woman robber asked her intended victim, Mrs. Evelyn Gracey, 30, to hand over the cash register contents in a small grocery Thursday.

"If I give you the money, I'd have to close the store," Mrs. Gracey told her. "I don't own the place."

"But I need at least $5," the holdup woman persisted. Mrs. Gracey offered a $5 bill. "That won't be enough," the gun woman sobbed. She turned and fled from the store with tears streaming down her face.

No Place To Park

OMAHA (U)—When James P. Platak, Battle Creek, Mich., got sleepy driving his car near here he pulled off the road and parked.

Trouble was he parked on a railroad track. Just as a Union Pacific freight train roared down the track, two unidentified Fremont, Neb., youths yanked him from the car, which the train demolished.

In County Court here, Platak was fined $25 for illegal parking.

Rep. Vorys Predicts Panel To Restrict Use Of Troops

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON, May 1 (U)—Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) predicted today that the House Foreign Affairs Committee will place restrictions on the use of American troops in combat zones despite President Eisenhower's opposition.

In making this prediction Vorys, a senior member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, was not stating his own views on the restrictions. But he said pressure is so strong that the committee will be obliged to insert some form of restrictive clause in the foreign aid bill or else amendments will be made on the floor.

The committee is expected to send the bill to the House later this month. It provides for 3 1/2 billion dollars in foreign aid.

The House last week defeated, 214-37, an appropriations bill amendment by Rep. Coudert (R-NY) barring the use of new military funds to support troops in combat in any country the United States is not required by treaty to defend, without prior congressional approval. This would include Indochina.

Rep. Bennett (R-Mich) has offered a resolution designed to prohibit the sending of U.S. troops to Indochina "without prior approval and consent of Congress."

Two Republican senators, H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey and Ferguson of Michigan, strongly opposed these restrictive measures in separate interviews and said they knew of no similar moves in the Senate.

A third Republican, Sen. Flanders of Vermont, said the idea of direct U.S. intervention in Indochina is unpopular in Congress, but he said this country and the United Nations may be forced to act if the Communists threaten to overrun Indochina.

"We can't pass off all our dangers and troubles to our children and grandchildren," Flanders said. "We must face them."

Three Democratic senators, Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, Monroney of Oklahoma and Holland of Florida, said Congress is in no mood to approve involvement of U.S. fighting forces in the Indochinese War.

Said Johnson: "If the President waits for Congress to give him the go-ahead on sending U.S. troops to Indochina he will wait for a long, long time."

Lone Star Farmers Take In More Cash Over First Quarter

AUSTIN, May 1 (U)—Texas farmers took in $336,600,000 the first three months of this year, 4 per cent more than for the comparable year-ago period, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported today.

Of 17 commodities surveyed, nine showed increases ranging from 1 to 109 per cent. Eight commodities showed less income.

Peanuts brought the biggest gain, income from that crop totaling 2.5 million dollars, more than double the comparatively low income from peanuts of 1.2 million in the first quarter of 1953.

Sheep and lambs, up 109 per cent, brought farmers 5.3 million dollars compared with 2.5 million a year ago.

Oats and grain sorghum revenue were up 64 and 46 per cent, respectively. Cotton was up 16, cattle and wool, 14.

Wheat showed the largest income drop, dropping 40 per cent. Cottonseed and mohair also were down sharply, 39 per cent.

Round-Up Contests

Thousand Scouts Leave For Home

More than a thousand Scouts and leaders concluded the annual Round Up of the Buffalo Trail Council at noon Saturday, dismantling a tent city as quickly as it had sprung up Friday and feasting on a barbecue luncheon before departing for their home stations throughout the area.

Scores of competitive events had been run off as smoothly as clockwork. There were no injuries or illnesses and leaders summed up the Round Up as a complete success.

The annual event featuring sports, camping and other skills, was staged on the round up grounds south of Big Spring, adjacent to the Silver Heels Addition. Registration showed 897 boys, 103 leaders and 50 other council and district Scouters participated.

There were 68 Scout Troops and Explorer Posts represented.

Explorer Post No. 9 of Big Spring won first place in the Explorer Sports Tournament, with 357 points. Post No. 52 of Odessa ranked third, and Post No. 153 of Midland came in fourth in the tournament. There were 28 Explorer "crews" taking part.

In the Scout events Troop No. 1 of Big Spring placed first; Troop No. 5 of Penwell ranked second; and a Midland troop won third place.

In the camping contests, six troops won the blue ribbon award. They were Troop No. 17 of Big Spring, No. 28 of Stanton, and Troops 85, 89, 122 and 200, of Midland.

Big Spring's Troop No. 17 is a new Negro unit, organized only a few weeks ago. It turned in one of the outstanding records of the Round Up.

Troop No. 65 of Wink was the only unit with a perfect score on camp arrangement, but it fell into the "red ribbon" bracket in the camping contests because some members had no uniforms.

Other camping red ribbon winners were Troop No. 5 of Big Spring; Troop No. 11 of Big Spring; Post No. 9 of Big Spring; Post No. 53 of Penwell, and Troops 154 and 112 of Midland.

Among the yellow ribbon winners were Troop Nos. 4, 5, 8, and 9 of Big Spring; Post No. 14 of Stanton, and Troop No. 25 of Colorado City. Winning white ribbons were Troops 1, 2, 15 and 7 of Big Spring; Post 12 of Sterling City, Troop 14 of Stanton, and Squadron No. 106 of Big Spring.

The Scout contest events included signaling, height judging, first aid, fire building and pancake cooking, water boiling, flint and steel, blanket rolling, knot relay, stick relay, chariot race, silent signals, antelope race, nature study, pony express and Scout law relay.

Explorer tournament events were skeet shooting, rifle range, bronco riding, compass course and bread baking.

Sam McCumb of Big Spring was general chairman for the Round Up. Other leaders were Joe Neidermyer, Midland, director; S. M. Smith, Big Spring, food procurement and preparation; Henry Norris, Sweetwater, and George Mclear, Big Spring, registration; Bob Easton, Snyder, director of Scout contests; Lowell Longley, Pecos, in charge of the Explorers' tournament; and Stewart Painter, Odessa, rifle and skeet range supervisor.

Transportation Is Available To Clinic

Big Spring public health nurse, Jewell Barton, will provide transportation to Midland for any local residents who might wish to attend the cerebral palsy clinic being held there Monday, May 11.

The clinic will be sponsored by the Children's Service League of Midland and will be held in the city-county auditorium, 301 West Missouri. It starts at 9 a.m.

Dr. E. T. Driscoll will be present to examine orthopedic cases, and a pediatrician and physiotherapist will also be on hand. Mrs. Barton should be notified by all Big Spring residents planning to attend the clinic so she can make reservations. She can be reached at 209 East 2nd or at phone number 4-2821.

Some McCarthy Panel Changes Seem Inevitable After Hearings

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, May 1 (U)—Whether it is win, lose or draw for him, Sen. McCarthy's investigation of alleged Communists in government may never be the same again as the result of the spectacular inquiry into his dispute with Army officials.

The Wisconsin Republican senator wears the air of a man supremely confident of the outcome of the controversy created by Army charges that he and his aides sought favored military treatment for millionaire draftee Pvt. G. David Schine, a former unpaid McCarthy consultant.

But even if McCarthy should prove to the satisfaction of a lot of people his counter charge that Secretary of the Army Stevens and his aides used Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to halt McCarthy's Communist hunt, some investigative changes seem inevitable.

For instance, there are some clear indications that even if he regards himself as completely exonerated, Roy M. Cohn is likely to step out as McCarthy's chief counsel and right hand man.

McCarthy has said flatly that on the outcome of the present inquiry depends the jobs of Cohn and Francis P. Carr, ex-New York FBI agent and chief of McCarthy's staff.

The poker-faced Carr thus far has been the silent man of the televised hearings but his turn before the cameras is coming.

Cohn declined to comment on whether he intends to quit the committee, regardless of the outcome. But some of his friends think he will go back to the private practice of law which he is continuing on a part time basis now.

Two other members of McCarthy's staff have been brought under fire at the hearings.

James Juliana, also an ex-FBI man, proved himself a cool and alert witness in assuming full responsibility for "cropping" Col. Jack Bradley out of a McGuire Air Force Base picture showing Stevens and Schine looking at each other on the ramp of an airplane.

But Juliana's testimony—that he decided to give Ray H. Jenkins, special inquiry counsel, the photo the attorney used in grilling Stevens on whether he had ever held his picture made "alone" with Schine—obviously left some committee members displeased.

The staff members of the McCarthy subcommittee receive their regular government pay during the hearings, just as do the generals who accompany Stevens to the inquiry daily.

While McCarthy has protested against the appearance of the generals, no one has raised the issue formally that members of the subcommittee staff have apparently been working on McCarthy's side of the case.

Jenkins scotched an attempt by Joseph N. Welch, Army counsel, to assail the credibility of Juliana as a witness by asking him if he had signed a "loyalty" pledge to McCarthy after the Army's charges became public.

Jenkins promised, however, to dig into the loyalty pledge issue at a later date.

The testimony of George Anastos, another staffer, as to his role in Schine's delivery of the picture to McCarthy aides, seemed to leave some committee members with doubts in their minds about the events he described.

A Republican committee member, who didn't want to be quoted by name, summed up his reactions to the first seven days of the inquiry with the observation that some staff changes may be in order after the investigation ends, no matter what is the final result.

A Democratic member, who also asked to remain anonymous, predicted a "wholesale house cleaning."

This Democrat made it clear, moreover, that he and other members of his party are likely to be more critical publicly of McCarthy's methods than they have been in the past. There will be no more one-man hearings, he asserted.

McCarthy has made no secret of the fact that the prospect of lengthy hearings disturbs him. He has called the whole inquiry a "waste of time" and has contended that it is interrupting the business of rooting out alleged Communists.

More to the point, perhaps, is the fact that the inquiry is eating rapidly into the $207,000 available this year for investigations by the subcommittee, from which he has stepped down temporarily as chairman.

that Jenkins did not mean that Welch had made his proposal with that in mind.

McCarthy said yesterday he would be available to take the witness chair at any time.

Mundt was asked if any proposals had been made to limit the testimony to Stevens and McCarthy, without having their subordinates as witnesses, in an effort to expedite the hearings.

He said some senators had asked him why the subcommittee didn't "get it down to two people," but he added that these suggestions had not come from "anyone with any authority or any knowledge of the case."

Mundt remarked that it sounded simpler than it was, adding any such agreement would have to be worked out by all the parties to the controversy. He said this seemed "very doubtful" to him.

In other developments, Mundt said the subcommittee expected to have from both sides early next week any transcribed notes they had on monitored telephone conversations bearing on the issues.

He said he assumed those submitted by the Army would include two telephone talks between Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams late last November about McCarthy's reaction to the possible removal of Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton as commander of Ft. Monmouth.

He said these and another monitored call between Stevens and McCarthy last Nov. 7 should be "very illuminating."

Sen. Mundt May Restate Issues In Schine Case Row

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON, May 1 (U)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD), hunting ways to speed up the McCarthy-Pentagon dispute, said today he may restate the issues in the angry controversy in an effort to keep questioning to the point.

The acting chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee said he felt such a restatement might expedite matters. He said he felt there had been a tendency of all concerned to drift away from the basic questions.

The subcommittee is to resume its televised hearings on Monday, with Secretary of the Army Stevens called back for further questioning. He has been in the witness chair off and on since the first day, April 22.

Sen. Mundt threw cold water on the idea of calling Sen. McCarthy as the next witness after Stevens.

The Army's special counsel, Joseph N. Welch, said yesterday that in the interest of expediting the proceedings he was willing to have McCarthy follow Stevens rather than going ahead with the presentation of the Army's case.

However, Mundt said he and Ray H. Jenkins, the subcommittee's special counsel, agreed that it would be better for the Army to complete presentation of its side before evidence was taken from McCarthy and his aides.

Mundt said Jenkins felt that calling McCarthy immediately after Stevens would result in delaying the hearings. He emphasized tion Army and Red Cross marshaled forces to help.

The only known dead in the storms were at Grandfield. They were identified as Bill Shearier, about 30, and Mrs. J. W. Rubottom, about 80. They and Shearier's mother were in a truck trying to reach haven in a storm cellar when the twister overtook them.

The twisting winds ran wild ahead of a cold front that threatened snow for the Panhandle and freeze in temperatures. They smashed homes and farms, knocked out windows, tore up trees and sent automobiles spinning.

Six tornadoes whirled to earth in a radius of 20 miles from Vernon, Tex. Petrolia, Tex., was another spot the twisters hit near. So was Randlett, Okla. Others struck near Hines, Crowell, and Elliott in Texas.

The boiling black tornado that hit the Southwest Oklahoma town of Grandfield, across the state border from Wichita, Falls was clearly visible. While the air whirled and citizens scrambled frantically for cover, the funnel turned away as it neared the city and only sideswiped the northeast edge.

Donald Ray Nease, 19, was taken to a Wichita Falls hospital in serious condition. He suffered several fractured bones and head injuries. He was found 55 yards from the Nease house which was destroyed. He had been alone in it.

A Mr. and Mrs. Miller were also injured.

At Tipton, Oran Roberts and his two teen-age sons, Danny and Meredith were hurt. Danny was hospitalized at Altus, Okla. Ten to 12 houses were destroyed there.

Houses were smashed at Hines, Elliott, Farmers Valley, all in the Vernon area. A few roofs were blown off at Vernon as the twisters smashed from 1:30 p.m. to 3:10 p.m. within a 20 mile radius.

Mrs. Paul Schur said she watched a tornado roar toward her farm house near Vernon. She and her husband and daughter reached their storm cellar in the back yard just before the twister demolished their home.

Thunderheads hung ominously in the sky in northern Texas and southern Oklahoma. They spat scattered rain and some hail.

The hitting cold blew into the Texas Panhandle from Colorado at 2 p.m. Dahlhart had a temperature of 39 degrees. Near freezing was forecast for the upper Panhandle Saturday night.

Friday, Texas had its worst day from the storms that have battered it this week. Tornadoes speared shot-gun fashion to hit more than a score of towns and communities. They caused thousands in property damage and injured by an unofficial count at least 29 persons.

The State Defense and Disaster Relief Headquarters in Austin said dictated a "wholesale house cleaning."

This Democrat made it clear, moreover, that he and other members of his party are likely to be more critical publicly of McCarthy's methods than they have been in the past. There will be no more one-man hearings, he asserted.

it had a report from the American Red Cross that 24 persons were injured in Friday's storms. The report said 138 families were affected.

The roof was blown off the farm home of Clem Noll 10 miles north of Vernon at 1:45 p.m. Two barns across the road were destroyed. The Nalls and their five children were not at home.

Gov. Allan Shivers' office, in cooperation with the Red Cross, began a survey of business damaged in Friday's storms. The survey is being made so a request might be made to the Small Business Administration for disaster loans.

Along the Rio Grande, another big rise headed down the river toward the reservoir behind Falcon Dam.

A crest of 10 feet above normal was expected at Laredo Sunday morning. The water came from heavy rains in the Devil's River area above Del Rio.

Falcon Lake rose one foot last week and stood at 90 feet depth, compared to the low of 66 feet it reached last April 8. It is still about half as full as it was last November when it reached its highest point to date.

Miss Louana Roach, Midland, director of Christian education of the Presbytery, was in charge of the rally. The young people were guests in the homes of the membership of local Presbyterian churches. Women of the church prepared meals for them.

The rally was concluded Saturday afternoon with a communion service conducted by Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, minister of the host First Presbyterian Church.

Senior U.S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson and Gov. Allan Shivers formally filed for places on the July 24 Democratic primary ballot Saturday.

Their intentions to seek re-election—Shivers for a third term, Johnson for a second term—were made known earlier.

Statewide primary July 24 were holding out until Monday to announce their slate of candidates.

Chairman Alvin Lane said the GOP would enter candidates for U.S. senator, governor, congressional seats and others.

The deadline for filing and paying the necessary fees is midnight Monday. The State Democratic headquarters at Austin will stay open until that hour.

There was no word from House Speaker Reuben Setteritt on his plans. Probability of Setteritt's making the race for governor dropped when Shivers announced, but some political pros still insisted he would get in the race.

Attorney Ralph Yarborough of Austin announced this week he would oppose Shivers. It will be his second try to unseat the governor.

John C. White had not yet filed an application for a place on the ballot for re-election as agriculture commissioner.

Johnson made no statement in connection with his application. He gave his age as 45, occupation as U. S. Senator, mailing address Johnson City, Blanco County, Tex.

While Johnson's only opponent thus far, Rep. Dudley Dougherty, Beville, started a radio-television talkathon campaign, the senator had no immediate plans for campaigning. His office in Washington said he would be too busy as Senate minority leader to return to Texas for a speaking tour.

Johnson was expected to step up his radio reports to the people and otherwise keep himself before the public, however.

Shivers announced speaking engagements in Cleburne Sunday at the Johnson County Centennial Celebration; Monday at Nacogdoches for the city's 175th anniversary festival.

State Sen. Crawford Martin announced at Hillsboro he would be a candidate for re-election.

Chinese Planes Are Poised Near Indo-China Line

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, May 1 (U)—Reports reaching here say a swarm of Chinese MIG-15 jet fighters and bombers are poised on airfields close to the Indo-China border, from where they can stab swiftly if Moscow and Peking decide Red China should intervene more actively in the Indo-China fighting.

The white vapor from high-flying craft, seen almost as far down as Saigon near the southern end of Indo-China, suggests the Red Air Force is making aerial reconnaissance of targets it would attack if ordered to strike.

The number of MIG-15 fighters concentrated on airfields along the China-Indo-China border, including two big fields with hard-surfaced runways, is more than 600, say persons returning from the Far East. In addition to the MIG-15 there are believed to be a number of light, twin-engine jet bombers.

For the last two years, Red China has been building up two big supply areas close to the border, which in addition to providing equipment for shipment south to the Vietnamese ground forces, presumably contain stockpiles of fuel and spare parts for aircraft.

These reports point up the serious danger which the tiny French Air Force in Indo-China would face if the battle-trained Red Chinese Air Force were committed.

The French, even with the American help given them in the form of maintenance technicians, planes and parts, already are having difficulty—without opposition in the air.

From the United States they are believed to have received about 30 B-26 light bombers, about two score Navy Corsair fighters and up to 50 C-47 transports.

But in addition to the comparatively small size of the air force operating for the French and Vietnam there is a lack of pilots. Estimates are that for each 10 or 11 planes there are only about eight pilots.

While the size of the air force is considerably smaller than that used by the Allies in the Korean War for cutting enemy supply lines and for support of friendly positions, the area requiring coverage is likewise smaller.

News and other reports from Indo-China suggest the French at present have no over-all, master program for cutting and keeping cut the supply lines from China to the Vietnamese troops besieging Dien Bien Phu. The air effort, on the basis of these reports, appears piecemeal, with strikes at scattered enemy positions (and truck convoys).

Presbytery Youth Fellowship Names Glenn Rogers Head

Glenn Rogers was elected president of the Senior High Fellowship of the spring rally of the El Paso Presbytery here Saturday.

Glenn, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lee Rogers, was selected at the concluding session of the two-day meet which attracted approximately 100 young people from Lubbock, Odessa, Midland, Barstow, Portales, Lovington (N. M.), Colorado City, Levelland, and Big Spring.

Tom Henry Guin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Guin, was elected to the council as chairman of the fellowship committee.

Miss Louana Roach, Midland, director of Christian education of the Presbytery, was in charge of the rally. The young people were guests in the homes of the membership of local Presbyterian churches. Women of the church prepared meals for them.

Abrupt Change Seen In Indo-China Policy

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, Indo-China, May 1 (U)—President Eisenhower's statement that the most that can be expected is a practical way of getting along with the Communists in Indo-China is interpreted here as an abrupt change in American policy.

The President's declaration Thursday has occasioned considerable surprise in official and unofficial circles.

Coming on the heels of reports of possible U.S. Naval-Air intervention in the battle of Dien Bien Phu, Vietnamese and French leaders here say they are left in a state of some confusion by what seems to be, in their eyes, a political somersault.

Barely two weeks ago President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon were saying that under no circumstances can Indo-China be permitted to fall to the Communists. That presumably meant the Communist-inspired Vietnamese, who are the native nationalists fighting against the Bao Dai government, as well as the Chinese Reds who are aiding them.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford's hurried trip from Europe to Washington and a series of statements from senators and Cabinet members here say they are left in a state of some confusion by what seems to be, in their eyes, a political somersault.

Officials here are at a loss to explain the apparent about face in America's get tough policy toward the Communists here. It is being suggested that Australian Foreign Minister Richard Casey and through him Prime Minister Churchill may have had a hand in turning down the increasingly belligerent declarations issuing from Washington.

The Vietnamese, as a result of what they consider a changed American attitude, no longer seem to be thinking in terms of U.S. participation. Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, chief of staff of the Vietnamese Army, said yesterday he foresaw no American intervention. In fact he came out flatly against internationalizing the war whether Geneva succeeds or not.

Department Store Is Marvel To Russians

By RICHARD R. KASISCHKE
MOSCOW (U.S. — The GUM is going to bloom — with five new salons for Soviet men and women who can afford elegance.

The GUM is the department store on Red Square, the Soviet Union's biggest and finest, and the No. 1 monument so far to the Malenkov government's drive to give the Common Man more consumer goods.

GUM stands for Gosumdarstvennyy Universitnyy Magazin, or State Department Store. It has been open since December and is a marvel to many felt-booted peasants and lumber and fisherfolk and soldiers who come from many miles away to see the sights of Moscow. It is a marvel, too, to many of Moscow's estimated six millions.

The GUM is a block square with three floors, but only two now for sales. Director Vladimir G. Kamenev has his office on the third or administrative floor. Before coming into the top merchandising job he headed a network of state stores handling hats, underwear and ready-made clothing. He is enthusiastic when he describes plans for new salons on the third floor.

"In the near future," he plans to open a fashion salon to show latest Soviet designs. Those which are approved by customers will be sent to factories to be made up. Thus the salon will serve as a test laboratory for popular tastes.

Salons 2 and 3 will serve people who come in and order materials in prepared styles to be tailored. The ready-made clothing industry is small in the Soviet Union and a man or woman usually must select a pattern and then get the materials, including lining and buttons, and then find a tailor.

"We are gathering the best tailors and designers for these two GUM salons," Kamenev says. There will also be a salon for custom-made footwear and another for hats — men's and women's.

The GUM already has what it calls a beauty salon. But this is little more than a cosmetics shop where the saleswomen also are supposed to give advice on perfumes, etc.

The GUM publishes a guide book for all its departments, and this is necessary because it attracts shoppers unused to such big stores. There is a check room where you can check hand luggage if you're from out of town, or the parcels you purchase in the store. This service is free. They have a special taxi stand for calling you a cab. A central cashier's office permits you to do a half day's shopping and notify each department that you will pay at the central cashier's and want to pick up your things there. Also the GUM has a nursery where mama can check a child while she goes shopping. It has a government savings bank, post office and telegraph station, and a theatrical booking office. It is the only store in Moscow with a cafe.

These things may not seem spectacular to Western shoppers. Some of the prices probably will. Noted at random this month were these prices:

Tea kettle, 36.70 rubles; frying pan, 9.20; wash pans, 13 to 39.80; cooking pots, 8.90 to 45.

(Soviet prices may be understood best in terms of purchasing power. The average Soviet worker makes about 700 rubles a month, or 28 rubles a working day. Thus it will be seen that a tea kettle costs more than a day's pay. There are many persons, however, in the Soviet elite who draw larger pay.)

The "Moscow" brand vacuum cleaner costs 650 rubles and the smaller Dnieper model, 405; the ZIS refrigerator, 2,000 rubles and a washing machine, 540; electric fan, 102, smaller fan, 40; and a hand-wound record player, 330.

Beauty Queen

Both freckles and crown jewels enhance the beauty of Miss Patricia Ann Priest after she was made queen of the 27th annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester, Va. From Arlington, Va., she is the 17-year-old daughter of Ivy Parker Priest, U. S. Treasurer. (AP Wire-photo).

Robert Anderson's Wife Likes Interior Decorating

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (U.S. — Genial, quiet-speaking Robert B. Anderson of Vernon, who managed the sprawling half-million acre Waggoner ranch before becoming Navy secretary, moves up next to the top of the ladder of Pentagon rank May 1.

He'll pick up his personal belongings and a few other items and move from his present fourth-floor suite to a layout of offices on the second floor adjacent to headquarters of Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

In his new role as deputy secretary of defense, Anderson in a sense becomes the "business manager" of the vast Army-Navy-Air Force establishment.

When the need arises to check some problem with Wilson, who is the "policy" chief, he can step in on a moment's notice for a conference. When Wilson is out of the city, he takes over as acting secretary.

Anderson, with his wife and two teen-age sons, lives in suburban Kenwood, Md., an attractive community noted for the cherry-tree-lined streets that compete with the famed tidal basin cherry blossom trees in Washington as a tourist attraction.

Mrs. Anderson, the former Ollie Mae Rawlings of Waco, is noted for her hobby of designing—anything from dresses and tiny flowered hats to the ranch house they own in Vernon.

"I guess if I had a profession," she told friends, "I would have liked to be an interior designer. I wanted to study it at the University of Texas, but they didn't have such a course then. The closest I could have come was architecture, which was taught in the engineering school."

She says that if she had it to do over she would take the architure course. She majored in English, with French as a minor study.

When they moved into their Kenwood home, Mrs. Anderson furnished it with pieces "borrowed" from their Texas home, plus several recent acquisitions from trips she made with her husband to Europe, North Africa and Japan.

She had the house repainted and repapered and gilded in a 20 by 30 foot rear porch. The porch furnishings are strictly modern, with a rug of rush squares, several glass-topped tables, and wrought iron chairs she bought in Hawaii.

San Antonio To Test New Polio Vaccine

Salk polio vaccinations will be given Tuesday in San Antonio, second Texas city whose second graders are taking part in mass nation-wide tests of the new serum.

About 4,000 Corpus Christi and Nueces County youngsters got their shots in the arm last week, with a minimum of squeals and a maximum of proud grins and happy licking of free lollypops.

Dallas' vaccinations are scheduled for Wednesday and Houston's for May 11. Dates for the test to begin in six other Texas cities have not yet been announced.

San Antonio health authorities decided last Monday to skip the test of the polio vaccine because "it should be held at some time other than the polio season." But parents' groups protested, and the test was rescheduled.

The required parental request forms had been signed and returned Saturday for more than two-thirds of the 1,400 San Antonio second graders eligible for the first day's shots to be given in 125 Bexar County schools. Dr. George W. Rice, city health director, said the forms still could be returned Monday and up to time for the shots to begin on Tuesday.

The vaccine, developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh, is being tested under the sponsorship of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Other Texas cities listed for tests are San Angelo, Waco, Abilene, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and Orange.

The other Friday collision, at 12:45 p.m., was at 2nd and Johnson. Automobile drivers were James Emmett Deale, 805 NE 1st, and H. L. Petty, Route 1, Achery.

Oil Well Blazes After Blow-Out

Flames and smoke billow skyward as an oil well belonging to Pure Oil Company continued to blaze after it blew out near Crowley, La., last week. Operators moved in to dynamite the flames to snuff out the fire. (AP Wirephoto).

Oceanic Pool Jumps Road And Moves Toward Vealmoor Field

The Oceanic pool, a prolific reef area in north Howard, had definitely jumped across the road at Vealmoor Saturday and seemed headed toward the original Vealmoor pool.

Cosden Petroleum Corporation No. 1 John Jackson, west offset to the Oceanic Oil Company's Winslow lease, was washing in naturally after tapping the reef formation high. Operator called top at 8,130, which, according to some estimates might be as much as 50 feet or more higher than nearest wells to the west. Operator set the 5 1/2-inch string at 8,135 and bottomed at 8,183.

Plug had been drilled and the well was expected to be completed during the weekend. It is 1,040 from the north and 330 from the west lines of section 30-32-3n, T&P, half a mile south of Vealmoor.

Meanwhile, Cosden staked a south location to this venture. It will be the No. 2 John Jackson and will be 625 from the south and 330 from the west lines of the north-west quarter of section 30-32-3n, T&P.

Pan American No. 1 Ellis Idem, 330 from the south and 660 from the east lines of section 26-33-3n, T&P, was below 1,800 feet and operations reportedly were started on Pan American No. 2 Idem. Location was listed at 660 from the east and north lines of the southeast quarter of section 26-33-3n, T&P. This is a north offset to the No. 1 well. Both are on the west side of the Oceanic pool.

A mile west of the Oceanic pool, Texas Crude No. 1-34 White, 330 from the north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 34-33-3n, T&P, drilled below 8,238 in lime and shale. No shows had been reported.

Hall Files Suit To Keep Control Of Condor Oil

ABILENE (U-A) suit to prevent control of Condor Petroleum Co. from shifting to Bradley Oil Co., Robert J. Bradley, Virgil B. Harris and Lionel E. Gilley — all of Dallas — was filed here yesterday.

Richard A. Hall of Albuquerque, N. M., filed the petition in federal district court yesterday. Hall is the eldest son of Ellis A. Hall, millionaire Texas and New Mexico oil operator killed in an Alaska plane crash last Aug. 17.

The suit says Richard Hall and two minor brothers, James E. and Charles L. Hall, own 1,105 1/4 shares of Condor stock.

The suit alleges: 1. That after Ellis Hall's death the two surviving Condor directors, R. G. Piper of San Antonio and James P. Lockard of Scarsdale, N. Y., undertook to make John B.

OVER KITCHEN RANGE

Sales Fight Seen With Power Trade

HOUSTON, May 1 (U)—Natural gas distributors are not in complete agreement but many believe they face a tough sales fight with the electric industry.

The kitchen range is a primary point of concern. H. K. Griffin, the 1953-54 president of Southern Gas Assn., said this week:

"Spot checks and surveys reflecting conditions in all sections of the country show a constantly increasing number of housewives stating a preference for electric appliances as replacements for their present gas appliances."

Among ranges selling for $150 or more, Griffin said, the electric is outselling the gas more than 3 to 1. Fifteen years ago, five gas ranges were being sold to one electric.

"Thus we are rapidly losing our quality merchandise market," Griffin said.

Earl H. Eacker, president of the American Gas Assn., was more optimistic.

He said dollar sales of commercial gas appliances last year increased 24.8 per cent over 1952 while commercial electric appliances rose only 12.7 per cent.

Both Griffin and Eacker agreed the industry must emphasize its research and promotion programs.

Griffin said there has been a "slowness in upgrading gas appliances, both in appearance and performance."

Eacker again was more optimistic.

"The gas industry now has available for immediate development completely automatic ranges featuring new and field tested electric and gas single point ignition devices," Eacker, president of Boston Consolidated Gas Co., said.

He said new experimental units have been designed to afford cool ranges for cooler kitchens, unsurpassed heating speeds, greater cleanliness and very low turn-down heats.

"An opportunity is at hand to make today's modern and efficient gas ranges even better," he said.

Griffin said the industry's customers are now in a position "to be a little choosier," adding that the water heater picture is not much better than that of the kitchen range.

Moore Pool Has Two Locations, One Completion

Two new locations were staked in the Moore pool southwest of Big Spring at the end of the week.

W. W. Holmes of Amarillo announced that his No. 1 J. H. Homan would be 990 from the north and east lines of section 12-34-1s, T&P, about six miles west and slightly south of Big Spring. Contract depth is 3,250 and operations are under way.

C. W. Guthrie of Big Spring scheduled his No. 2-A Homer Thorp, about two miles south of the Holmes No. 1 Homan. His well will be 1,654.5 from the south and 330 from the east lines of the southwest quarter of section 24-34-1s, T&P, five miles southwest of Big Spring. This puts it on the west side of the Moore area. This venture is contracted to 3,400.

Earlier, Carl Westland had announced location for his No. 1 Roy Bates as 330 from the north and west lines of section 5-33-1s, T&P, projected to 3,950. Another location announced on Friday was Southland Royalty No. 1 R. N. Phipps, a 3,300-foot prospect 330 from the north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 5-33-1s, T&P.

A. K. Turner, et al No. 2-A Hewitt, 1,650 from the north and 330 from the west lines of section 30-33-1s, T&P, had completed during the week as another Moore pool producer, rating 196 barrels of oil and no water per day on the potential test.

Two Borden Tests Are Drilling Ahead

Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1-A Johnson, an offset to the Falcon, Seaboard No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, a recent Pennsylvanian discovery five miles north of the Good pool, drilled to 6,440 in lime and shale. Location is 660 from the south and 1,927.5 from the west lines of section 6-32-4n, T&P, in southwest Borden County.

Rowan No. 1 Long, C NW NW, section 36-30-4n, T&P, eight miles south of Gail, drilled below 8,508 feet in lime. This exploration is projected to test the Ellenburger.

Sunray Spots New Shallow Prospect

Sunray Oil Company has staked location for a Howard-Glasscock shallow venture.

It will be the No. 11-D Dora Roberts and will be located 990 from the south and west lines of the northwest quarter, section 136-29, W&NW. The application calls for a 1,400-foot depth with combination tools. Operations will start at once. This puts the venture approximately a mile southeast of For-san.

Ellenburger Target Of King Wildcat

Frank Wood Associates, Inc. of Wichita Falls, et al No. 1 Parramore has been announced as a King County wildcat.

This venture will be projected to 6,600 feet to test the Ellenburger. It is to be located 467 from the north and 1,400 from the east lines of the south half of section 65-F, H&TC survey. This puts the venture 11 miles southeast of the town of Guthrie.

Orme Planning For Shippers' Session

Program for the annual meeting of the Southwest Shippers Advisory Board is shaping rapidly, according to Douglas Orme, chairman.

The board will have its sessions this year in Amarillo on May 25-26-27. Orme, vice president of Cosden in charge of traffic, said that he hoped to secure Elmer Layden, once of Notre Dame "Four Horsemen" fame, as one of the speakers.

Completions Continue Up

AUSTIN, May 1 (U)—Oil operators completed 492 drillings in Texas this week, producing 327 oil wells, 12 gas wells and 153 dry holes.

The completions included 84 wildcats, 18 of which produced oil, none produced gas and 66 proved dry.

The new oil well completions boosted the year's total to 3,904 compared to 3,478 a year ago. The gas well completions raised the year's total to 442, far ahead of last year's 265 for the period.

Besides the new dry holes, plugs also went in 50 depleted oil wells and two depleted gas wells, raising the total plugs to 205 for the week.

Total average calendar-day allowable as of today was 2,928,498 barrels, down 186,963 barrels from a week ago.

Core Scheduled In E. Dawson Wildcat

A core is to be taken in the San Andres in an eastern Dawson County wildcat.

Seaboard No. 1 Dean, 660 from the west and 1,980 from the north lines of section 3-2, TTRR, was at 4,190 in lime. The core was to be taken at that point. Location is 3 1/4 miles north of the Key community.

TCP Gives up to 15% Unexpected Power from Your Engine

Blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP releases power "locked-in" by lead deposits

Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

Your engine may be 15% more powerful than you think. The reason is this: Lead deposits are constantly building up in your engine. They lock-in power that you should be getting.

These deposits get red hot and set off the fuel charge ahead of time... before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you—not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition, which automotive engineers consider the biggest cause of power loss.

Spark Plugs Short-Circuit

You also lose power when these lead deposits make your spark plugs misfire. Building up on spark plug insulators, they short-circuit the spark.

Both of these power robbers, pre-ignition and short-circuited spark plugs, are at their worst when you need power most—such as climbing a hill or accelerating.

Captive Power Released. Now, however, you can change all this. TCP, a Shell-discovered additive, blended into Shell Premium Gasoline releases the captive power in your engine.

First, it "freeproofs" the deposits in your combustion chambers—to stop pre-ignition. Second, by making the deposits non-conductive, TCP additive stops the short-circuiting of your spark plugs.

TCP Acts Quickly

Shell Premium with TCP acts quickly, too. In fact, before you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. But, remember, as these lead deposits accumulate constantly, continued use of Shell Premium with TCP additive is essential to retain its full benefits. It is the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead. Shell Premium with TCP is available only at your Shell Dealer's.

MARTIN WELL READY TO TEST

G. E. Hall No. 1-A University, northwest Martin County Devonian prospect, was making ready for production tests Saturday.

Operator perforated casing from 12,269-287 opposite the Devonian. Testing operations were under way. This is located 1,980 from the south and 330 from the west lines of section 16-7, University Lands, about 35 miles northwest of Stanton and a mile north of the Texas No. 1 University, a Devonian discovery.

Dean, Spraberry Fractured In Acosta Well

Brahoney No. 1 Acosta, southwestern Borden County prospect, was testing to attempt completion in the Dean and Spraberry on Saturday.

Operator, apparently giving up on Pennsylvania pay prospects, perforated casing from 7,565-7,600 and 7,630-80, both in the Spraberry. The section from 8,050-85, in the Dean, was perforated. All sets were treated with 8,000 gallons of sand oil. Saturday afternoon operator was swabbing load and residue and should have a production test by Monday.

Location of this explorer is three miles northeast of Ackery and 330 from the south and west lines of the northwest 187 acres of section 8-33-3n, T&P.

One and a half miles to the north, Texas Crude No. 1-44 Brown, 660 from the north and 1,700 from the east lines of section 44-33-4n, T&P, was attempting completion from both these zones. On one test it made 51 barrels from the Dean in two hours and 27 barrels in seven hours on another. Then in the Spraberry it made 57 barrels in 17 hours, 124 in 24 hours and 127 in 24 hours.

Cosden Adds Plane And An Aviation Department

Cosden Petroleum Corporation now has an aviation department and as an instrument for future aviation gasoline sales. Cosden is well along on an alylation unit which will turn out several grades of aviation gasoline.

He is W. K. Edwards Jr., veteran flier and former operator of a flying service here. Edwards also has had extensive experience as an instructor and for several seasons had a fleet of planes in crop dusting and mesquite eradication operations.

Last week John C. Brownley, president of Alamo Aviation, Inc., San Antonio, came here to demonstrate a D-18-S. Ira Hartzog, Dallas, manager of Butler Aviation Sales, was here with the DeHavilland Dove twin-engine executive transport. The same afternoon James W. Coe of Aero Sales Company of Houston came here to show an Aero Commander.

Because the DeHavilland will have to be flown here from England, it may not be delivered for two or three weeks. Edwards, however, assumed his new duties Saturday. The plane will be used to facilitate company transportation and as an instrument for future aviation gasoline sales. Cosden is well along on an alylation unit which will turn out several grades of aviation gasoline.

Hunt Slates Look At Devonian In So'West Yoakum

A test of the Devonian in southwestern Yoakum County is in prospect.

Hunt Oil Company announced Saturday that No. 1 W. M. Johnson would be drilled 660 from the north and east lines of section 64-4-D, John H. Gibson survey.

This wildcat is projected to 11,500 feet to test the Devonian section. Location of the well is eight miles southwest of the nearest Devonian production. It is also 10 miles southwest of the town of Plains.

Luther Area Finals Another Deep Well

Another producer—this one good for 1,137 barrels of high gravity oil—was added to the booming Silurian-Devonian pool near Luther Saturday.

At the same time, the area got another outpost, this one on the southeast corner.

The completion was the Lone Star No. 1 Boyles, which had a 24-hour calculated potential of 1,137 barrels of 45.2 gravity oil. This was based on an actual 16-hour flow of 737 barrels of oil through perforations from 9,920-30 with 24-64th choke. Gas oil ratio was 1,109-1, the flowing tubing pressure 735 pounds.

Location is 467 from the south and west lines of the east one-third of the south 384 acres of section 15-32-2n, T&P, which makes it two locations south and one west of the discovery well of the pool.

The new location is Goldston Oil Corporation of Houston No. 1 Morton-Atlas Life Insurance Company, on the southeast corner of the pool. It is to be 660 from the north and west lines of section 26-32-2n, T&P. Contract depth is 10,000.

The location is two south and one east of the nearest test, Lone Star No. 1 Merworth, 660 from the north and west lines of the south-east quarter of section 22-32-2n, T&P. It is drilling currently at 6,323 in lime.

Two other wells were in the process of testing for completion and another was to acidize in an attempt to make a well.

Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1 Bill Hanson, on the northeast corner, was bottomed at 9,974 with the 5 1/2-inch string set at 9,973 feet. Operator perforated to test. Friday it returned 1,224 feet of oil on a drillstem test from 9,955-24 with gas surfacing in 7 minutes and oil in 32. Location is in the C SW SW, 2-32-2n, T&P.

T&P No. 1 Boyles, a west offset to the discovery, was bottomed at 10,000 and ran the 7-inch string to 9,999. Operator had perforated casing and was preparing to test. It is located in C NE NE, 15-32-2n, T&P.

T&P No. 1-B Phipps, two locations north of the No. 1 Boyles, perforated from 9,898-9,906, and then swabbed dry naturally. Operator was to acidize and test further. Location of this well is in the C NE SE, 10-32-2n, T&P.

Lone Star No. 1 Oliver, which is a west offset to the No. 1 Merworth, spudded to 200 feet in red-beds and prepared to set surface string. Location is 660 from the north and 654 from the west lines of the southwest quarter of section 22-32-2n, T&P.

HOWARD RANKS THIRD

Basin Drilling Activity On Par With Last Year

Howard County is still the third ranking county in the Permian Basin in the number of rotary oil rigs, according to the latest survey made by Reed Roller Bit Company.

The survey, made on April 25, shows Howard County with 29 rigs—two less than on April 10. Lea County, N. M., is the Basin leader, with 78 units turning. Andrews County was reported with 63.

Other counties with 20 or more rotary rigs active on April 25 were Coke, 25; Ector, 27; and Yoakum, 20.

The Reed survey showed 502 rigs in the entire basin. This is a decrease of 20 from the April 10 count. One year ago there were 504 rigs drilling.

The number of rotary rigs operating in the immediate seven-county area has fallen from 82 to 76, according to the tally. Martin, going from three to four, and Mitchell, having an increase from three to six, are the only two local counties showing a rise.

Borden slipped from eight to five; Dawson went from 11 to eight; Glasscock dropped from eight to six; and Midland kept 18.

Other counties included in the survey, with the April 10 count in parenthesis, follow:

Coke, 24 (25); Cochran, 5 (6); Concho, 1 (1); Crane, 18 (21); Crockett, 8 (10); Culberson, 1 (1); Curry, 0 (1); Ector, 27 (28); Eddy, 10 (9); Galena, 24 (28); Garza, 5 (8); Hale, 4 (4); Hockley, 6 (8); Jeff Davis, 1 (1); Kent, 4 (7); Lamb, 3 (2).

Hearing Aids Sought For Deaf School

AUSTIN, May 1 (U)—There are almost no "totally deaf" children in the Texas School for the Deaf, Supt. Roy Stelle says.

Because a high percentage of the children have a useful degree of residual hearing, a statewide movement has been launched to provide hearing aids for young students capable of receiving amplified sound.
Combined with instruction in lip reading, the instruments would help many children to learn to speak more naturally and in some cases, Stelle says, graduates of the school could go out as "hearing individuals."
An Austin woman, Mrs. Homer Mayhall, initiated the movement to collect used hearing aids which will be donated to the school and fitted to selected children. Collection of the instruments is timed to the observance of National Hearing Week, May 2-8.

Stelle estimated 40 per cent of the enrollment could be helped by regular use of individually fitted instruments. Some states furnish hearing aids to hard-of-hearing children, but Texas has not appropriated funds for such a program.
Some children in the school for the deaf wear instruments purchased by their families. Many families are unable to meet this expense, however.
Working in the instrument collection plan are W. S. Cochran, Wichita Falls; Jodie Jordan, Lubbock; Raymond Fischer, Abilene; D. M. Bise, Beaumont; Ross A. Harman, El Paso.

Building Permits Up Over State In March

AUSTIN, May 1 (U)—Texas building permit values climbed 24 per cent from February to March, the third consecutive monthly increase, the Bureau of Business Research said today.
Private residential building showed a 40 per cent gain. Additions, alterations and repairs climbed 43 per cent. Non-residential building dropped 8 per cent.

Quadriplegic Flies Plane By Himself

CAMDEN, N. J., May 1 (U)—A Marine who was paralyzed from the neck down nearly nine years ago in the Pacific, today piloted his own plane, unaccompanied, 250 miles from Richmond, Va., to Philadelphia.
Despite some rough weather on the two-hour flight, Sammy Gregorio, 27, of Philadelphia, said, "I'm ready to go up again."
Sammy first flew solo last Nov. 27, believed the first quadriplegic to do so, but the flight today was his first long distance solo.
It is the use of two tiny muscles, one in each arm, that gives Sammy enough control to pilot the plane and to drive an automobile. Most of the equipment is standard. Sammy was wounded on Iwo Jima. But he suffered the paralyzing injury later, during preparations for an assault on Japan.
The plane which Sammy bought with his pension is a single-engine Ercoupe. He bought it not only to give himself something to do but so that he could "get home once in a while."
He said one purpose of today's trip home to Philadelphia, across the Delaware River, was to have at least "one good Italian dinner" before "I head back to Richmond tomorrow."
On hand to greet Sammy and witness his smooth landing were brothers, sisters and in-laws.
They saw him unbound from the pilot's seat and hoisted out of the plane—the only way one could tell that the pilot was not normal in all respects.
Sammy lives now at McGuire Veterans Hospital in Richmond.

LeTourneau Is Honored As Year's Top Lay-Churchman

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The Washington Pilgrimage, a non-sectarian nation-wide religious organization, tonight bestowed awards on three prominent religious leaders including the pastor of the church which President Eisenhower attends.

The Pilgrimage is holding its fourth annual reunion here. About 200 members from 20 states and Canada representing all religious faiths participated in the three-day program.

Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, minister of the National Presbyterian Church here was named as clergyman of the year. The President is a member of this church.

R. G. LeTourneau of Longview, Tex., was honored as the lay-churchman of the year and Mrs. Harper Sibley of Rochester, N. Y., was given the award of churchwoman of the year. Mrs. Sibley is past president of the United Church Women.

LeTourneau is a builder of earth moving equipment and founder of the LeTourneau Foundation in Longview. An active churchman, he combines preaching with his work. He now is developing a million acres of land in Peru which the government gave him in return for clearing the jungle and building 31 miles of roads.

The awards were made at a dinner meeting of the Pilgrimage. Principal speakers at the dinner were Sen. Carlson (R-Kan); Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the United States, and Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, minister of Christ Church (Methodist) in New York City.

LeTourneau, in a statement on the award, said "Part of my business is to convince the churchmen that they owe as much to God as the preacher does. A layman has an advantage over the preacher because unless Christianity works in every day life, there is no use for the preacher to talk about it. "A preacher tells us how Christianity ought to work. But the layman must prove how it does work, but some people think I never built a machine that was a failure but they don't know the half of it. The reason they think so is because when I build a failure, I throw it away quick. If I had a religion that did not work any better than some people's, I would throw that away, too, and get one that works. "There is an old saying—you can't take it with you. But I will tell you what you can do. You can send it on ahead and have it waiting for you when you get there."

Former Resident Injured In Mishap

Sheila Sutphen, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sutphen, former residents of Big Spring, now living in La Habra, Calif., was critically injured in an automobile accident Wednesday morning. Friends here said Saturday that she was slightly improved. She is in Cottage Hospital at Fullerton, Calif.

FOR SOPHISTICATES AND INNOCENTS . . . Mrs. Jimmie Greene (above) holds a sophisticated fan of black chiffon over the lower half of her face to say, "You interest me." The bride's fan, held by Mrs. Joe Pond just under her chin, says, very coyly, "Follow me."

Big Spring Herald

Sec. II Big Spring, Tex., Sun., May 2, 1954 Soc.

THE SAME IN ANY LANGUAGE . . . With a bull-fighter fan of red satin, Mrs. Pond (below) covers the left half of her face. That was to bid a beau "Adios," "Auf Wiedersehen," or "Farewell." Mrs. Greene uses an open fan, touching her right cheek to say, "I love you."

Fan Talk . . .

The fan, now treasured for sentimental reasons or seen in museums, was at one time a necessary fashion accessory. More than that, during the 18th century, it was used in coquetry and flirtations. Cynthia Pond, above, uses the fan of her great-aunt, Mrs. Pearl Shannon, of Colorado City, to touch her left cheek. In this way, she tells an admirer, "I'll meet you in the garden." With an open fan touching her chin, Cynthia (left) promises, "You may kiss me." This is a "flirtation fan," with a tiny mirror on the outside shaft. (See story on page 2.)

I'M SINGLE . . . Prissy Pond, below, holds the fan in a way to tell the one versed in fan-talk, "I'm single."

Plan Music Week Events

Principals in the Music Study Club tea, initial event planned by the club for Music Week, are Mrs. Omar Pittman, seated, a member of the program committee, Mrs. Leonard Shipman, president of the club, and Mrs. R. V. Middleton, in whose home the tea will be held.

Joyce Howard To Sing For Music Club Tea

To initiate Music Week activities, the Music Club is presenting Joyce Howard, soprano, at a seated tea for members and their guests at 3 p.m. this afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. V. Middleton, 1206 Runnels.

Miss Howard's program will include: "Plus De Tourment E Plus De Pien" from Le Cid by Massenet; "Deh Viens Non Tard" from Marriage of Figaro by Mozart; "Caro Nome Cheli Mio Cor" from Rigoletto by Verdi; "Rastlose Liebe" by Schubert; "De Pius Le Jour" from Louise by Charpentier; "The Rose Enslaves the Nightingale" by Rimsky Korsakoff; "Nostalgia" by Manning; "Bird of the Wilderness" by Horner; "Rain Song" by Marx and "Shoes" by Manning.

Mrs. Champ Rainwater will accompany her. The tea table will be laid with a floor-length organza cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow mums flanked by yellow tapers. All appointments are of silver and crystal. Mrs. Harold Talbot will preside at the punch bowl, and members of the club will make up the house party.

On the refreshment committee are Mrs. C. A. Boyd, Elsie Willis, Roberta Gay and Mrs. Elmo Rainbolt.

Another event to be given during Music Week is the concert by Webb

JOYCE HOWARD

Air Force Band in the City Auditorium at 3 p.m. May 9. Hemphill-Wells will sponsor two concerts each day during the week, on the chimes of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Eddie King Honored At Party

FORSAN — Mrs. Eddie R. King was honored with a pink and blue party Friday in the home of Mrs. C. F. Winget. Other hostesses were Mrs. George Gray, Mrs. D. L. Boyd, Mrs. S. T. Kennedy and Mrs. H. A. Sanders.

The table was covered with lace over pink and centered by a floral arrangement in colors of pink, blue, yellow and white. Pastel colors were featured in the refreshments.

About 22 attended.

Mrs. Joe Zant entertained with a Stanley party Friday afternoon in her home at the Humble camp. Mrs. Laura Burrows of Big Spring was demonstrator. Six attended.

New officers installed were Mrs. Horace Burger, president; Mrs. Henry Stafford, vice president; Mrs. Joe B. Whitlow, secretary and Mrs. Lawrence West treasurer.

Over 300 Fans In C-City Collection

"Well, fan my brow!" could be said by Mrs. Pearl Shannon of Colorado City, and the request could be complied with very easily. She has a collection of over 300 fans, all of them over 50 years old and some are between 100 and 200 years of age.

Mrs. Shannon is the sister of Mrs. Jimmie Greene, who recently displayed part of the collection in the Antique Tea given by the 1905 Hyperion Club. The fans have come from such faraway spots as Java, Bali, Japan and China. One of her highly prized fans is the large complete circle that was used when it was stylish for men to carry fans.

A fan which was given to Mrs. Shannon by one of her relatives is a "flirtation fan." It is made of a thin wood-like material and has a small mirror on the outside blade. It is between 100 and 200 years old, but the mirror is still in good condition.

One of the prettiest fans is a bride's fan—the blades, or frame, of which are carved ivory. They are covered with a white thin silk and it is hand-painted with a boy and a girl, dressed in the height of fashion for that era. A most sophisticated fan is of black chiffon on a frame of carved ebony inlaid with mother-of-pearl. Trimmed with vari-colored sequins, it is thick enough to shield a young lady's blushes, but thin enough for her to see through.

Of lustrous red satin is the bull-fighter fan, which came from Madrid. Carved on the mahogany frame are the words, "Corrida de Toro," and the hand-painted scene shows a victorious torero as he receives a smile from his sweetheart. The fan sparkles from the tiny sequins which decorate his "suit of lights."

A very unusual fan is the one which was used in religious ceremonies of the Chinese. It is the shape of a battle-ax, but it is made of a fiber similar to straw, and trimmed with red braid and sequins. It hangs loosely from a small baton-like stick, and is easily moved with the slightest motion.

Gold inlaid on blades of mahogany helps in the beautiful effect of a fan from Germany. It is of bronze satin with hand-painted flowers on it. A fan from Austria is made of 18 pieces of stiffened linen on as many blades and is hand-painted with a group which might have been a literary or study club of the day. One of the young ladies holds a book, from which she is reading while the others listen intently. Even a young man in the picture is giving his rapt attention to her.

It may have been a picture of such a club, except that in the Vienna of that day—the Vienna of the Strauss Waltzes—a literary group might have been a bit out of place on such a gay fan. If it could only talk!

Picnic Given By Mrs. Hamlin Elrod

FORSAN — Mrs. Hamlin Elrod sponsored a picnic for a group of freshmen and their guests Friday night at the Big Spring City Park. Seventeen attended.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zant were Mr. and Mrs. John Bramlett and daughters of Eunice, N. M.

Fishing during the weekend at Possum Kingdom Lake are O. W. Scudday, M. M. Hines, J. B. Asbury and D. M. Bardwell.

Fishing at the new lake on the North Concho near San Angelo are Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Huchton and children, H. H. Story, L. B. McElrath, George Gray, Glen Whitteberg and Hamlin Elrod.

Birthday Party Given

Patsy Barbee was the honoree, recently at a birthday party given by Joan Lambert in her home. Co-hostesses were Barbara Barrow and Beverly Mills. Refreshments were served to Colleen Vaughan, Beverly Nichols, Shirley Ward, Mona Hooper, Bobbie Stalcup, Frances Bailey, Arlene Martin, Billie Ann Norris and Alice and Cathy Lambert.

DRESS PARADE

Something different in fabric combinations is the tie-silk and linen featured in the smart casual dress worn by Mrs. Charles E. Long Jr. Navy and white striped silk is sparked by small white linen collar and cuffs. A wide navy silk cummerbund nips in the waist line and sets off the crisp pleated skirt. Mrs. Long chooses small antique gold drop earrings and jangling matching gold bracelets. Her spectator pumps are navy and white.

Sprinkle Clothes With Garden Hose

COLLEGE STATION — What would neighbors say if they saw a housewife standing beside the clothes line spraying her freshly laundered starched clothes with the garden hose?

If the neighbors knew that the housewife was using a fresh time-saving technique recommended by experts, they would probably try it, too.

Actually, housewives can save lots of time on busy wash days by sprinkling starched clothes hanging on the clothes line. With a very fine spray from the nozzle of the hose, turn the water gently on the starched clothes. Then fold the clothes as they are removed from the clothesline and put them directly into a plastic bag—ready to be ironed.

Minnie Bell, home management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, advises the housewife to sprinkle clothes on the side only when she uses the garden-hose technique. All of the garments will absorb the moisture while the folded piece is waiting to be ironed.

Service Center To Have Square Dances

"Swing your partner and dokey-do" will be heard Monday at 8 p.m. in the street at the Servicemen's Center, when the square dancing starts. Lessons will be given at first for beginners, who have never "squared" and as a refresher for those who want to brush up on the technique.

Mrs. Lois O'Barr Smith has issued an invitation to anyone who is interested in this type of dancing—servicemen, their wives and dates and the people of the town, to be on hand for the fun. Joe Clark is in charge of calling, and assisting him, will be Garner McAdams and Lawrence Robinson. Other callers will be on hand to take a turn at calling and teaching.

Teething Not Always Reason Baby Is Upset

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

One day you hear the spoon click when your baby is eating his apple sauce.

"Tommy's got a tooth," you shout. Most babies get teeth this way. All of a sudden a tooth is there. He hadn't told you anything about it. But for months he had been biting on everything he could get hold of, and jamming his fists in his mouth and drooling.

The two lower front teeth are the first to come in. Then the baby waits quite a while, often several months, before the next batch comes in—the four upper front teeth.

Another wait, and the lower side front ones make their appearance. After these eight are in, a long time elapses before the four molars push up through the gums. When the molars are in, there are four empty spaces that will be filled by the eyeteeth in time. Toward the end of the second year the second batch of molars arrive. This completes the 20 teeth of the baby set.

The time of the first tooth varies. Sometimes it's as early as three months, but more usually it's about six or seven months of age, and it may be as late as the first birthday. Once in a great while, a youngster will be born with one or more teeth already through the gums.

Even though there is a lot of difference in the age at which the first tooth comes in, there is almost no variation in the pattern. You can expect waiting periods between the groups of teeth, and you can look forward to the next group after the preceding one is in.

Once in a while a baby has some trouble when he is teething. However a lot of fussy periods, crying spells or fever are attributed to teeth that have nothing to do with them.

If your baby seems out of sorts while he is working on his teeth, take a look at his gums. If his gums look normal, better take him to your doctor and let him find out why your baby is not himself. Chances are it's not teeth.

But if your baby's gums are red and swollen it may be that they hurt and the pain is making him fussy.

He will probably like to have you rub his gums. He rubs them himself by chewing on his hands and almost anything he can get hold of, but he'd like to have you do some rubbing too. Clean your hands, dip your finger into a cup of cracked ice and get it good and cold, then rub the offending gum and rub it hard. The rubbing helps the tooth come through and the cold dulls the pain. Your cold finger is all you need.

There are many lotions on the market advertised to help the baby with teething. Most of them contain paracetamol, an opium derivative. Paracetamol is a powerful drug. A few drops is enough to quiet a baby. A baby can swallow a good many drops of a medicine used freely to rub the gum directly. It acts only after it is absorbed from the stomach. The baby quiets down because he is doped, not because the medicine has helped his teeth.

If the pain of the teeth is so severe that a sedative is really needed—and this is a rare condition—ask your doctor to prescribe one. He is not likely to prescribe an opium derivative.

But remember, teething seldom produces symptoms. If your baby seems ill, it's always safer to let the doctor decide whether it's just teeth or something else.

Scout Troop 6 Meets

Twenty-two members of Scout Troop 6 met at the Christian Church Friday afternoon to receive their second class badges. After the ceremony, Patsy O'Sheild had a surprise birthday party, and refreshments were served. Mrs. H. E. Bost is the leader of the group.

FINE WORKMANSHIP

Flattering Effect And Crisp Look Given By Trim

Joseph Halpert is a manufacturer who has built up a reputation for fine workmanship in his creations. It is the fine workmanship that is present in many-to-order collections, the kind that is not immediately evident to the eye but that makes the difference between a seemingly simple dress and one that is very special. His pattern today is a case in point.

On the face of it, it is a sweet dress with a pretty neckline and pleated skirt. But here are the facts. The white trim is cut and placed in such a manner to effect a particularly flattering frame for the chest. The trim on the sleeve is in just the right place to give a shoulder a crisp line. The pleated skirt has only one seam and is pleated on the length with the waistline side of the pleats, cleverly tapered to give additional width at the hem and eliminated bulkiness at the belt.

It was originally presented in checked silk taffeta but it requires quite a bit of material so he recommends your buying one of the inexpensive cottons which are available in such great quantities and varieties. Whatever the fabric of the dress, use pique or organdy for the trim. This dress is tailored enough to look smart on a city street, but pretty enough for a summer evening party.

This design is cut in DESIGNER sizes.

Size 10, Bust 34, Waist 24, hips 35 inches; size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches; size 14, bust 36½, waist 26½, hips 37½ inches; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 inches; size 18, bust 40, waist 30, hips 41 inches.

Size 12 requires 4½ yards of 36-inch material for dress and ¾ yard of 36-inch material for contrast. To order pattern, No. 1183, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P. O. Box 535, Dept. B-5, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25 cents extra. Pattern Booklet No. 10, 108 pages, available for 25 cents.

Big Spring, Texas

An Admiring Audience

Mr. Young watches proudly as his wife adds the finishing touches on a flower garden quilt, for which she did both the piecing and the quilting.

Newcomers Feel Right At Home In Our Town

When is a newcomer not a newcomer? Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Young, 1512 Scurry, can tell you the answer to that question because they are newcomers in a town that they have known since 1933.

It was that year that they moved from Slaton to live on the Dora Roberts Ranch about 16 miles south of Big Spring. Mr. Young had been on the XIT and Matador Ranches before that. The couple married in Brookline about 37 years ago and came right on out to West Texas.

Mr. Young was always too busy to develop much of an interest in hobbies, but Mrs. Young likes to embroider and do other handwork. She is quite proud, and rightly so, of a flower garden quilt, now receiving the last stitches.

When they lived on the ranch, she was busy with many different activities, and she feels that now, she can catch up with all the things she wanted to do. She is already planning to have grass and some flowers, with later on, a garden in the back yard.

And it's no wonder she was busy with a twenty-room house to keep. She laughs, now, and says that she has so little room in their present home that she can't find anything! Although they have moved to the city only recently, they don't have that lonely feeling that so often accompanies a move, because of the many friends they had already made.

May Breakfast Given Saturday

In a garden setting, complete with a Maypole, the May Day Breakfast, given by the St. Cecilia Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, was served Saturday morning in the Parish House. Tables were laid with gay linen cloths with May baskets of flowers in the center. Members of the guild prepared and served the menu of orange juice, ham, eggs, jelly, hot biscuits, sweet rolls and coffee to between 150 and 200.

Mrs. William Boyd was general chairman; Mrs. J. A. Thomas was in charge of decorating, and Mrs. J. N. Young Jr. was chairman of the ticket committee. Mrs. M. W. Talbot was publicity chairman, and she was assisted by Mrs. Fred Doelp in handling reservations for breakfast parties.

Want To Escape Reality? Try Fashion Magazines

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Let the kids have their comic books, the gentlemen their science fiction, westerns and adventure stories. I escape stern reality through the fashion magazines. The gent at the desk next to mine undoubtedly has a fine time vicariously riding a spaceship to Mars, saving the ranch for the murdered cattleman's daughter and swashbuckling all over the Spanish Main, but I find my kick—sometimes in full color—dreaming myself into the costumes and personalities of the ladies who model the high style clothes.

In these halcyon moments, I'm about 20 years old, and I'm currently a luscious blonde with pliant features, cropped hair-do, heavily made up around the eyes, enormous earrings, and given to assuming the most bizarre and bone-displacing stances to show off my size 10 figure and chic clothes.

Flipping through the pages, I lead the most glamorous existence. Sometimes, in the MOST enchanting little dressmaker suit and woven-under-water Panama, I feed the pigeons in the park, paying laughing attention to a distinguished banker type in homburg who is slightly out of focus but obviously very interested in my whim. Or, in chalk-white silk or-gandie with a skirt spread like a calla lily and rounded camisole neckline, I'm a femme fatale in a Louis XVI salon, ringed by admirers—slightly out of focus—tasting me gaily in champagne.

Perhaps I'm having a country weekend, in slim slacks and the most amusing blouse, with an assortment of gleaming garden tools neatly spread out around me, tenderly offering a perfect rose to the fuzzily photographed but so handsome young man in perfectly tailored sports clothes nearby.

I have fun dreaming my way through the home magazines, too, with their pictures of neat-as-a-pin living rooms, bedrooms and gorgeously decorated kitchens, in which there is never an unplanned pillow, an ash-tray with cigarette stubs in it, an unmade bed or unwashed dish. But the fashion magazines, peopled by women with infinitesimal waists, smart and apparently terribly rich, are where I do my best escaping.

Really, after these exciting excursions into a dreamworld of complete elegance, is rather bitter. For one thing, it's disheartening to look around at the gentlemen in your life, who are in focus. Instead of slim, sophisticated custom-made men, most of them are fighting the old battle of the hairline, midriff, and savings account. They're interested in the National League standings, FHA regulations and the children's grades—not in feeding pigeons, toasting in champagne or being tossed perfect roses.

And finally I'm forced to take a look at me... this 2-year-old dress, a calot when it should be a wide-brimmed job, a hairdresser's appointment needed, a darn in my glove, oh, let's say 15 pounds overweight and three more payments to go on the refrigerator.

But we can have our harmless dreams, can't we?

"BEATS A NEW BROOM...
For a clean kitchen"

BIG SPRING WOMEN YOU KNOW COOK ELECTRICALLY!

MRS. ARCH CARSON, 110 Cedar Road, shows her daughter, Judy, how easy it is to make candy without scorching on her electric range. The fast, accurate heat of the surface units take much of the guesswork out of cooking for the cooking speeds are always the same.

We asked a great many women who cook electrically just why they preferred to use an electric range practically all of them gave about the same answer:

"Because it's so clean."

They reported that they had to spend less time keeping their kitchens spotless. Walls and ceiling stayed bright and shining for long periods of time. They had to paint or redecorate their kitchens only because they wanted to change the color scheme — not because of dingy walls. Ask your electric appliance dealer to tell you about the many other desirable features of cooking electrically.

HI-TALK

By Libby Jones

Perhaps many of you were unaware of it, but a great change took place in the city and county government yesterday. If anyone would have walked into the courthouse, he would have found strange faces sitting behind the officials' desks. The efficient control of the government yesterday was taken over by the Senior Class of BSHS. County judge was Roger Brown. David Westfall was county attorney; Kay Bonfield, county treasurer; Anne Gray, county clerk; Alvin Baker, county superintendent; Libby Jones, county tax assessor and collector; Jackie Milam, sheriff; Paschal Odum and Ray Dabney, justices of the peace; James Hollis and Don Swinney, constables; Nina Fryar, district clerk; Robert Angel, district attorney; commissioners, LaMarr Bailey, Jimmie King, Wayne Lankford, Wilbur Cunningham; county surveyor, Jerry Hughes; juvenile officer, Louis Stipp; home demonstration agent, Mary Ellen Hayes; county agent, Ann White; librarian, Joyce Anderson; welfare association, Patsy Clements; auditor, Norman Dudley and court reporter, Mary Ella Bigony.

Do A Better Job By Being Lazy

COLLEGE STATION — Be lazy, and do a better job, say homemaking experts. Leave anything undone that you can, get someone else to do it, or don't do it at all.

Of course, experts call it "smart lazy" or good management. Relax while you ask your self three questions: (1) What can you leave undone? (2) What can you get someone else to do? (3) Does the job have to be done at all?

Knowing what to leave undone, as well as what to do, makes the job lighter, says Minnie Bell, Home Management Specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Consider what you can leave undone. If you don't want to bend, stoop, stretch or reach too far, THINK, and you can avoid it. Store things within easy reach. Hang pots and pans on hooks.

Let someone else or something else do the job. Let dishes dry themselves.

Does the job have to be done at all? You don't need to iron sheets, towels, cup towels, socks, knitted underwear.

"Since some things do have to be done, leave out all the steps possible. Use a tray or utility table to carry dishes and food to and from table. Store all cleaning supplies in a basket so one trip takes them from room to room.

Store together things that are used together. Sit when you sprin- kle, iron or prepare food.

Handy Containers

Plastic refrigerator boxes make handy containers for sewing aids. One box may be used for thread, another for buttons, another for hooks, eyes and snaps. An advantage is that these things may be seen at a glance.

Don't Do That!

It's not considerate to make costly long-distance phone calls while visiting in the home of a friend.

Kitchen Service

A new model sewing machine fits into a cabinet base and is built to standard kitchen dimensions. It works like a typewriter desk and, when closed, provides a solid work surface. Made in white enamel, the cabinet harmonizes with other kitchen appliances.

The Lass-O's annual style show, in honor of the senior girls of the surrounding schools, will be held Tuesday night at 8. The theme of the show will revolve around vacation time. Girls modeling the frocks are: Frances Walker, Frances Walker, Joe Welch, Myrna Talley, Bobbie Jamison, Frances McClain, Margie McDougle, Dene Choate, Peggy Jeffers, Cecil Niblett, Vesta Harrison, Connie Crow, Barbara White, Becca Sewell and Mary Ann Moore.

Becca Sewell, Edwin Elmore, and former President Truman and others, she also gets material through interviews.

"I also like to go to the zoo, not to see the animals, but the people," she told me. Della Goetz of the U. S. Office of Education, another writer for children, agrees with Mrs. York about the wealth of research facilities here. The embassies, she says, supply all the material you could want about foreign countries. The thousands of visitors who come here from abroad and all over the United States are sources for additional information. She cited also the Office of Education, the Department of Agriculture, the Capitol, the Pentagon, the Naval Observatory and the Smithsonian Institution as other "gold mines."

Topic of conversation is the new hair-do of pretty Mrs. John Kennedy, young bride of the Democratic senator from Massachusetts. The socially prominent former Jacqueline Bouvier has cut her tresses to match her husband's notably unruly mop. Some people think it resembles the recently popular Italian do. I always wondered why the senator never combed his hair. The style looks cute on Jackie, though.

The beautiful Ken Regan, wife of the Democratic congressman from Texas, treats her guests to a bit of south-of-the-border cooking by making a very hot chili and cheese dish along with the tortillas to dip it with.

For their first official party since arriving here last October, the Indonesian Ambassador and Mrs. Notwidigdo decorated their buffet table with a splurge of red and white carnations, the colors of their national flag. This, according to pretty Mrs. Sianan, wife of the embassy's military attache, signifies in Indonesia that a large and important party is in progress.

Answer To Voice Problem

Betty St. John, currently being seen in 20th Century-Fox's "The Robe," confesses she was faced with a voice problem when she changed from dancing to straight dramatic roles. She tells Lydia Lane how she overcame the problem.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Pleasing Voice Listed As A Factor In Charm

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Betty St. John began her career as a dancer and won acclaim as one of Agnes de Mille's discoveries. But she showed such fine dramatic ability in "South Pacific" as the native girl that Hollywood beckoned and Betty has been kept busy ever since. You'll remember her recent acting job as the crippled girl in "The Robe." "Changing from musicals to dramatic parts offered a problem," Betty confessed as we lunched recently at 20th Century-Fox. "Even though I wasn't dancing in a picture my appetite stayed with me. I was accustomed to big meals and my stomach gave out false

In making the transition from dancing to straight dramatic roles Betty confessed she was faced with a choice problem.

"I had a decided western accent and my voice was too high and too flat," she explained. "It's lovely now," I commented. "Do you believe that everyone has the potentiality of speaking attractively?"

"Yes," Betty said with conviction. "Everyone has latent qualities which have to be developed. Most people are not aware of the place voice plays in the over-all impression they make. It is so easy to fall into bad habits and one rarely knows whether his voice is nasal, hollow, monotonous, or too highly pitched.

"Don't underestimate the mental side of speaking," Betty continued. "A person who is emotionally undeveloped still retains the shrill high pitched voice of a child regardless of age. One who is nervous or high strung has a tense throat and this type of voice has a jarring note which reflects inner conflict.

"The first step in improving your voice comes from a desire for change. I had no idea of what my hunger signals. When I exercised so heavily I quickly burned the big meals I ate—but I've discovered that carbohydrates without exercise make me feel lazy. It is so important to adjust your eating to your physical habits.

"As I said, because my body was used to a full stomach it gave out false hunger signals so during this period of transition I found it helpful to take an appetite killer," Betty added. "But one thing is certain—there is a mental side to dieting. You can't take off weight against your will. You have to have a REASON. I realized that my hunger was mental. I was used to a full stomach and dieting is successful in direct proportion to your desire to cut down intake of food.

"Choosing the right type diet plays an important part in reducing. If you go on one which makes you utterly miserable you'll be so glad when it's over you are liable to go on a spree and undo all the good which has been accomplished. You have to learn to differentiate between emotional and genuine craving.

"Beware of eating as a compensation for disappointment, or as in my case from false appetite which is the result of habit.

"I no longer have a weight problem because I've learned to like proteins, fresh vegetables, salads and fruits," Betty continued. "I have so much more energy and feel so much better when I limit myself to these basic foods.

"I do still crave ice cream," Betty confessed, "and when I find myself thinking about this I order a cone, feel the full flavor of ice cream on my tongue, tell myself that this is the last bite, instead of the first and eat no more."

We chatted about Betty's booming picture career and she confessed there was only one thing she didn't like about it—someone was always changing the color of her hair.

"The trouble with dying is that it takes so much time. Even with professional care I have a hard time keeping it the same color. I don't have a knack with hair," Betty confessed, "so I like to wear it in a style which doesn't require a lot of attention. This is much preferred to a sensational hair-do which never looks quite right after the first day."

Unexpected Fabrics Are Smart To Use
By DOROTHY ROE
Some of the smartest seamstresses buy their fabrics in unexpected places.

They pick up drapery material in the dress-goods department, dress fabrics in the upholstery department, apron materials from racks of kitchen toweling and so on.

Local sewing center experts have discovered that it's fun to make gay luncheon sets from some of the unusual dress fabric prints to be found in shops, throughout the country.

They selected a bold South American print in tones of gray and black on white rayon linen, using solid gray napkins.

To make this set, cut fabric wide enough to allow a four-inch overhang on all four sides of the table. Napkins are cut 13 by 13 inches, to allow for fringe.

To fringe napkins and tablecloth, pull a thread to use as a guideline one inch from each edge. Then run a line of stitching along the guide line, using the zigzag attachment of your sewing machine.

Use a pair of tweezers to unravel the edges to the row of stitching. You should be able to make this set in record time, since it doesn't even need hemming.

MEN IN SERVICE

JAMES HOLLIS MECK

H. G. BARNARD

H. G. Barnard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnard, 110 East 16th Street, left April 23 for Fort Bliss to begin his basic training.

Pvt. Rex A. Zant, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Zant of Vealmoor, recently began eight weeks of basic training in the Artillery Replacement Training Center at Ft. Bliss, near El Paso. Pvt. Zant's training will be spent on fundamental infantry subjects and will be climaxed with a week's maneuver in the field. Following the eight week basic period, he will be assigned to a technical training school or to further training in techniques of antiaircraft artillery.

REX A. ZANT

James Hollis Meek, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Meek, 707 Washington Boulevard, is now completing a round-the-world cruise aboard the USS Haynesworth, Naval destroyer.

Meek left Hong Kong, China, on April 13, and his ship will sail around Indochina, India, and South Africa before heading for the United States. He is scheduled to land in Portsmouth, Va., on June 4.

The young sailor has been serving in the Korean waters for the past nine months, having shipped out of San Francisco, last summer. He has been in the Navy approximately two years.

Meek was a student at Big Spring High School and worked at Hemphill Wells before entering the service. He was vice president of his Diversified Education class in high school.

Cpl. Billy R. Smith, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony G. Hammons, of Colorado City, is now stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington, with the 44th Infantry Division.

He will move to the Yakima (Wash.) Firing Center in May to participate in Exercise Hill Top with the division. He is a section leader in Company D of the 130 Regiment.

In the Army since 1948, Smith served with the 24th Infantry Division in Korea before his present assignment. His wife, Patty, lives in Midland.

Exercise Hill Top is the largest Joint Army-Air Force maneuver ever scheduled in the Pacific Northwest. It will consist of a regular battle between an aggressor team and the 44th Division.

Airline Stewardess Boosts Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (U) — An attractive airline stewardess, encumbered with product samples and the title "Miss World Trade of Los Angeles County," leaves by plane today to visit nine countries around the world in six days. Miss Mary Whitney, 24, Pan American World Airways stewardess, will deliver to civic and industrial leaders in world capitals a message from Mayor Norris Poulson on this area's trade growth. With her will go samples or emblems of Los Angeles County products including fruit, walnuts, aircraft, oil, fish and automobiles. Her 22,000-mile itinerary includes New York, London, Düsseldorf, Istanbul, Beirut, Karachi, Bangkok, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Wake Island and Honolulu.

Treasury Announces Its Financing Plans

WASHINGTON (U) — The Treasury Friday announced it will borrow 2 billion dollars new money May 4 at 1 1/2 per cent interest on Treasury notes running 4 years and 8 months.

Additionally the Treasury announced it will open subscription books May 5 for the exchange of four maturing issues totaling 7 1/2 billion dollars.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Isotopes are proving important in the atomic age. Mr. Gordon Dean, former chairman of the American Atomic Energy Program, has described these objects as "perhaps the happiest chapter in the story of the atom."

At the same time Mr. Dean admits that it is hard to define the word. He tells of one scientist who spent about half an hour trying to tell the meaning, but failed to make it clear to the audience.

The word "isotope" is pronounced "eye-so-tope." We can define it, in short, as "a special atomic form of any material."

There were isotopes before atoms were split by machines. In that period tin was described as the element with the most isotopes. Tin was known to have 11 forms, and each form had its own tiny difference in atomic weight.

Most isotopes have been known only since ways were found to split the cores of atoms. It may be that the atomic age will be dated from that time, about 15 years ago.

New elements have been made by changing atoms. In addition, certain elements have been made to produce scores of isotopes.

Many isotopes (but not all of them) give off rays. Several isotopes of radium were known during the first third of the present century. These were helpful in medicine, but there was some danger in using them, and their cost was high.

When the cyclotron was invented, it provided a way to shoot atoms against other atoms. When the "atomic bullets" hit their marks the targets were broken.

The trouble was that the atomic bullets usually missed the atoms at which they were shot. Today we have far better machines for the purpose. One of these, the nuclear reactor, can produce at least 20,000 times as much isotope material as a cyclotron.

Writer Blasts Plan To Replenish Quail

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN, May 1 (AP)—Hart Stilwell, wildlife writer, said today the Texas Game and Fish Commission is "getting ready to throw away $200,000 on a discredited quail restocking project—and purely for political reasons."

Stilwell's criticism was aimed at the decision reached by the commission at a recent meeting in Wichita Falls to consider a pen-raised restocking program when it adopts next year's budget in July.

"The commission is going to raise and plant quail, a procedure so thoroughly discredited that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has for years refused to allocate Pittman-Robertson funds on any such undertaking," Stilwell said in a prepared press statement.

He said commission members appointed by Gov. Allan Shivers have pushed the plan because it would be politically helpful to Shivers.

"Leading the drive, right on up to the temporarily successful conclusion at Wichita Falls, was Frank M. Wood, Wichita Falls oil man," said Stilwell.

"Hunters vote. So a candidate for governor undoubtedly can sway hunters if he gets up and says, 'I am bringing quail back to your land so you can have fine hunting,'" Stilwell said.

Game Commission Executive Secretary Howard Dodgen did not agree with Stilwell that the project was worthless.

Dodgen said the commission's idea is to provide pen-raised quail for restocking only in favorable habitat and with the understanding that the land owner will promise careful supervision.

"It will take a lot of wet nursing," Dodgen conceded.

He agreed with Stilwell that pen-raised quail "would never give you a shootable population within themselves," but he thought "possibly they would give you the seed stock that would provide a shootable population later."

"Its success would depend on how active people are in caring for birds after they receive them. It's got a lot of good in it, and a lot of pitfalls as well," said Dodgen.

He said he had no comment on Stilwell's charge that politics was involved except to say: "I have no reason to believe his statement."

New Highs Are Established By Stock Market

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Stocks surged ahead in a major bull market effort this week and established new high records.

On one day the market made its greatest advance for any session of the past two years. At the end of the week it was at the best levels of the past 24 years.

The boost ahead was given by good earnings reports and increased dividend payments.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was ahead $1.90 on the week, one of the better gains of the year. At the close on Friday it stood at $121.70, a new high for the year and the best level for the average since April 26, 1930.

Monday's stock market was hesitant. The steels and aircrafts displayed strong tendencies, but the entire market backed down at the close.

Tuesday's market was depressed by a combination of timidity and profit-taking in the once-strong stocks. After the close, United States Steel reported lower first quarter profits and declared the usual dividend of 75 cents.

On Wednesday, the railroads came to life. That enabled the market to end higher on average, but there were more minus than plus signs in the list.

Thursday was the big day. Bethlehem Steel and Standard Oil (NJ) raised their dividends. Republic Steel disclosed it intended to get into atomic energy to make steel, the electronic issues were strong, and a long list of miscellaneous issues forged ahead smartly.

Friday's market opened with a rush of buying orders that swamped the ticker. It fell behind at the start in reporting actual transactions on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange. That cleared shortly, however, and prices stabilized at their highs.

In the afternoon, profit-taking appeared with enough force to cut back a considerable portion of the early gains. As a result, there were more losers than gainers, but the market managed to close higher on average.

The Chamber Of Commerce Is You With Others Working In Harmony

The name is not altogether important, as Shakespeare so aptly said in his time about the rose. A blossom might be called a cucumber for all anyone cared just so long as it fulfilled its function of beauty and fragrance.

This is Chamber of Commerce Week in Texas, so we want to talk just a little about your Chamber, not by name but by what it is or ought to be. You could do away with the Chamber of Commerce but within the space of a few weeks every community with an intelligible degree of civic enterprise would come up with essentially the same organization under a host of different names. This is simply because the Chamber fits logically into the scheme of things.

For one thing, it provides a forum on community needs and possible course of action. We realize full well that millions of tons of hot air are expended annually in this function, but the residue in many instances is distilled into a plan with a clear objective.

Through one means or another, the Chamber comes up with enough goals to constitute a program of work. This brings on the second phase of operation, that of promotion. A lot of worthy projects have been trotted out like a cold horse and promptly went lame, not because of a lack of merit, but because of a lack of pure old promotion. The public seldom buys cold; it has to be warmed into wanting.

At this stage, the Chamber can do still another thing, namely, help get everyone pulling at the same time in the same direction. We hesitate to use the word coordinate, but essentially this is the idea. Quite frequently, other organizations do the job that needs to be done, which is all to the good, but sometimes they can get in one another's way to the confusion of the public and the detriment of a project. Remember how teams were immobilized just by unhooking one of the traces from the single tree. The Chamber's job is to see that all the single trees are hooked up so that power is together instead of contrawise.

Finally, the responsibility of execution falls heavily upon a Chamber of Commerce. Creating, promoting, and coordinating won't suffice unless there is some prodding force. In community effort especially it is so easy to get up enthusiasm, start the ball rolling and ultimately tire out and give up short of achievement.

These are some of the things a Chamber of Commerce can or ought to do. Some people fancy themselves too busy to take part; some figure this sort of thing ought to be left to the bourgeois; some account it foolishness; and a much larger number hide their stinging in all sorts of excuses. Notwithstanding all these, the Chamber needs you because it is essentially you in association with others to do what you could hardly do alone.

Confident Living—Norman Vincent Peale Mind Can Be Tranquilized By Memorizing Peaceful Moments

A few weeks ago I had a talk with a famous old-time baseball pitcher whom I admired as a boy. You may not be old enough to remember Cy Young, but I remember him very well. He won 511 games, setting an all-time baseball record in the major leagues.

"Cy, were you ever nervous when you pitched?" I asked him.

He looked at me in surprise. "Why, no," he said.

"How did you keep from being nervous?" I persisted.

"I just wasn't made that way," he told me.

I commented on how fortunate he was not to be "made that way." It is a marvelous thing to meet someone nowadays who isn't under tension. But if you seem unable to have a relaxed mental attitude, take heart—you can be "made that way."

By practice, you can become a relaxed person and be free from tension.

A most important element in such practice is tranquillizing the mind. One of the best ways to do that is to go to church. The sunshine flooding through the beautiful windows is a symbol of serenity; moreover, the holy place is filled with faith. The glorious music of the hymns helps create a mood which lifts the heart and brings true tranquility. And the wonderful thing is that you can hold such great spiritual moments in your memory to draw upon them for strength when things become tense or difficult. In the midst of stress, going back mentally to some experience of beauty and peace is a profound secret of making yourself into a relaxed and tranquil person.

I have been practicing this technique myself, and it is most rewarding. I have gone back through my experiences, mentally reviewing and reliving all the beautiful scenes I have ever witnessed. You do not need to go back to a place physically to get something from it. You can return there mentally, and less expensively, and get the same results.

I heard of a little girl who had lived all her life in Colorado, amidst the towering mountains near Denver. Her family was about to move to Texas and she was told that in Texas there were no mountains. "But, Mummy," she protested, "I'm going to miss the mountains."

"You can take them with you in memory," her mother told her.

On the morning they left her mother noticed her outside the house, looking at the mountains and opening and closing her eyes as fast as she could. "What are you doing, honey?" her mother asked.

"I'm photographing the mountains on my mind," the child explained, "so that I can take them with me to Texas."

Later she was to love the vast beauty of the far reaching plains of Texas.

When I was in Honolulu I thought it was the most beautiful place I had ever seen. I promised myself to return some day and shall entertain that fond hope until I go back to those charming islands.

I photographed the beauty of Hawaii on my mind and brought it back to New York with me. So great is the reconstructive power of memory that even now I can plainly hear the soft washing of the surf; I can see the blue water off Waikiki, and the golden sunshine over Diamond Head.

I can hear the plaintive Hawaiian music and get the aroma of the abundance of flowers. When I close my eyes I can see in memory that place of beauty. I can feel its peace.

So we can use our memories to tranquilize the mind. Perhaps that is what the Psalmist had in mind when he said, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my strength."

Try such an excursion in your own thoughts. See what can be done in this way to add to your peace of mind. Memorize present moments of peacefulness as they come to you. Recall from your subconscious mind earlier experiences in your life which have left an impression of tranquility and quiet on you. Practice using these beautiful memories to tranquilize your mind. Recall every inspiration, every high moment, every uplifting experience, and draw again upon the peace of God which they brought you. The practice of tranquility will help you relax mentally and live efficiently.

These Days—George Sokolsky

If President Were An Editor He Would Find Reader Is Boss

I suppose that it is only natural that the President of the United States, who is always being told what to do by many of the 100,000,000 experts on government, should tell publishers how they should manage their newspapers. The lecture on the subject, which President Eisenhower delivered at the Waldorf Astoria before a convention of newspaper publishers, fell on hard ears and evoked little applause.

President Roosevelt used to lecture newspapermen on how to write stories, headlines, etc. He, of course, knew all about how it should be done because he had the knack of knowing something about everything and making it sound very plausible and impressive. However, he never succeeded in dominating the American press, which, on the whole, saw through his sweetness and light and generally exposed it. If anybody wants to take the trouble, he can research the newspapers and discover that much that is so astonishing today was published at the right time, often by indirection, because the precise data was marked "top secret" or some such inhibition.

The American press consists not only of publishers and editors but of reporters and columnists, who, no matter how they may differ, write on the concept that that is news which happens. The theory of the suggestion or following a party line is alien to the American ideal. As much as some dislike the methods and logic of such of my colleagues, let us say, as Westbrook Pegler, Walter Winchell and Drew Pearson, or perhaps even of this writer, the actual fact is that the American press gives wide currency to what they write and even if, on occasion, they question each others veracity, the public decides, by experience, that it is preferable to have numerous men tell the same story than to have it come from one source.

That really is the genius of the American newspaper: it does not limit itself to its own point of view. A publisher who because of "unity" suppressed all opposing news and all opposing views would soon enough discover reader resistance. The propaganda newspaper ultimately falls on its own face.

This is being exemplified by the reporting of the McCarthy-Stevens hearings, which are televised. Already one hears readers say that the headlines in a favorite newspaper differ from what the reader heard and saw on television. Each newspaper is being edited by the reader. And this may do more to correct the habit of clever headline writers to substitute a sharp, attention-calling headline for the truth. But even such a headline will not damage an article, if the reader chooses to read it.

Professor Zechariah Chaffee Jr. of Harvard once said to me, after a meeting in Boston, that he found all newspapers satisfactory because he never found in them what he wanted. I suggested that the alternative was to start a newspaper of his own and see if anybody else would want to read it. In New York where I live, there are nine daily newspapers of general news and circulation, numerous ones of specialized interests, and many in foreign languages.

Merger Of Automobile Manufacturers No Longer Gets A Hurrah From Wall Street

What irony! The stock market has been rising. Wall Street's optimistic. Yet when Nash-Kelvinator Corp. and Hudson Motor Car Co. merged into the $330 million ambitiously named American Motors Corp., Hudson stock dips to a new low since 1944, Nash to a low since 1949.

Such a merger in the 'twenties would have won huzzas and higher prices. In those days, there was no dominant "Big Three" in motordom. There were hope and dividends of competition has been at work. And Paul G. Hoffman, chairman of Studebaker Corp., who's no apologist, feels obligated to explain his company's $6,400,000 loss in the first quarter with these words:

"In this difficult period, while some car manufacturers continue to overproduce and thus force all dealers into price-cutting and other unsound practices, Studebaker's primary aim is to come through this temporary situation with a strong dealer organization intact and working capital unimpaired."

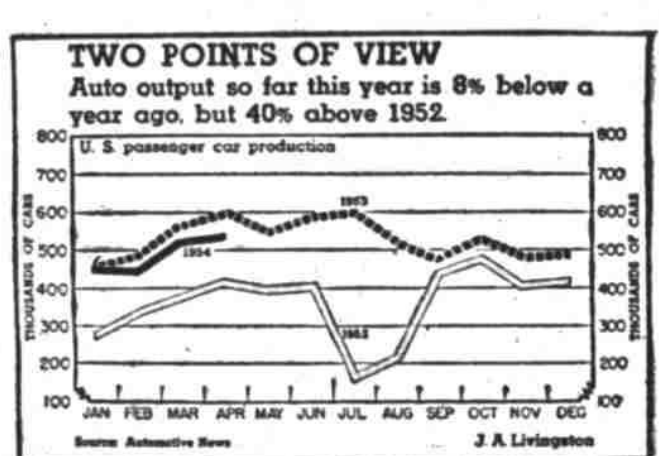

In spite of the difficulties of Studebaker, Hudson, Nash and the other independent companies, auto output hasn't been bad. New and used cars have responded to the spring urge for the open road. But the concentration of production and sales is hardly healthy. First, the independents cut back and laid off workers. Chrysler followed. Next General Motors reduced Chevrolet output. And recently Ford eliminated Saturday output.

Yet, in the period through April 24, Ford with 32 per cent and General Motors with 50.7 per cent produced more than 80 per cent of all passenger cars between them. The share of Chrysler, the third member of the "Big Three," dropped below 13 per cent. Even so, less than five per cent was left for the rest. Last year in the same period Chrysler accounted for 21.4 per cent, more than Ford, and the independents nearly 12 per cent. Here's the score:

	Per Cent of Total
Big Three	95.5
Gen Motors	50.7
Ford	32.0
Chrysler	12.8
Independents	4.5
Studebaker	1.7
Nash	1.3

It that proves out, then General Motors and Ford will have to cut output. The independents will continue to have a hard time. Radical design changes will be necessary in 1955 to re-ignite consumer interest in new cars. More broadly, that would cast doubt on a business upturn later in the year.

Even though business has leveled off, even though production generally has stopped declining, even though layoffs are not increasing, signs of a real upturn are still absent. Only the stock market shows oomph.

Is that because business executives see orders coming in, see an upturn coming? If so, Wall Street would be performing its traditional role of anticipating—after the fact but before the fact gets around to the public.

But it that's true, why is Wall Street so bearish on so many stocks? Why are more stocks going down than up? Why is this a two-toned market, with the blue chips doing most of the advancing? That heralds only a half-hearted recovery.

We still have to see whether the high Ford and Chevrolet production late last year and so far this year has stolen sales from 1954. The argument is that cars were pushed on dealers. Dealers, in turn, pushed the cars on customers at cut prices. Inference: The recent pickup in sales may be illusory.

If You're Starting A New Yard, Then Hang On To Your Optimism

Nobody knows for sure what an optimist is, or just how long his optimism can hold out. One story tells of the fellow who toppled off a 16-story building, and as he was on the way down, shouted into each window, "I'm all right so far!"

Question is, did the optimism still hold when he hit bottom?

My own version of the optimist is the poor guy who plants shrubs, grass and trees with abandon on a brand new piece of real estate, where nothing grew before, and where soil struggles pitifully with rocks, roots and caliche.

We have been brightly optimistic around our house. But it takes a lot of bracing up. We are about to hit bottom, and what becomes of the optimism then?

"Getting the place started" takes (a) a lot of listening to advice, both professional and amateur; and (b) patience beyond ordinary capacity.

The advice comes first with suggestions as to type of plants. This gets so profuse that the final result is to plant a dab of every conceivable species, so everybody can be happy. Then comes the variety of opinion on what to do with the soil. Dig it deep, or just scratch it; bring in new dirt, or watch out for this distant dirt that may be full of weeds; use organic fertilizer, or buy the new commercial stuff.

So, there's the period of frustration, in trying to do it like the successful gardeners do. Then comes a certain amount of back-breaking toil, which cannot be disregarded, no matter how you try. One can look longingly at the catalogues at the new labor-saving tools, and one can go into the stores and buy all of them that judgment will permit. But even the newest tools have to have somebody at the business end of them.

But say, just for the sake of getting on with the story, that some selection has been made of plants; that some soil preparation has been done, and a certain number of implements brought to the scene. Comes now the period of anticipation.

I don't know why Mother Nature couldn't have devised a flower or grass seed that would come forth overnight. It would make it a lot easier on the nerves. And why she couldn't have devised little plants that come up with their name embossed on the leaves, so that you wouldn't wonder "Is that the petunia we planted or is that a weed?"

I very earnestly go out and smooth off a piece of the yard, just for experimental purposes, and sow my grass seed. I water the plot, just like the advisors said to do. Then I begin to go out and poke around the place to see if the grass is coming up. This is where the optimism begins to fade.

"I don't believe the stuff is going to come up," I say to the Dream Girl. "Silly, you planted it only day before yesterday," she says.

"Yeah, but I've watered it, and the weather's been warm, and if the grass is gonna it ought to be growing. Look at those yards down the street."

"Yes, but they had nice lawns last year. Remember, you're just starting from scratch."

Scratch is the word for it. Same thing with a bunch of silly little old flowers. You pop the seed into a hole, give it some water, then go out and look at the spot six times a day for the next three days. No flowers yet.

Then, a crack appears in the top of the soil, and first thing you know a little greenish-white shoot unfolds. Yippee, we've got a flower.

The thing gets more attention than a day-old baby. It takes about a week before we can get somebody to identify it as a careless weed. I suppose the flower will be up in its own good time, just like the grass.

Patience, that's the word. Anticipation, that's the state we're in now. You will be duly informed when we reach the state of realization. And then we'll know if there's any point in ever being optimistic.

Dulles, Deprived Of Means To Negotiate, Faces A Grim Task

The Western position at Geneva has been weakened during the past week, and the immediate and critical business is to repair the damage. What new development has there been which has affected for the worse our calculations?

There has been no unforeseen and unexpected military development. It was known a week ago that Gen. de Castries and his heroic garrison at Dien Bien Phu are fighting against fearful odds. It was known then that in the Red River delta the big perimeter, which the French Union forces hold, is infiltrated to a dangerous degree. It had been known, too, for many weeks, ever since the visit of Mr. Pleven and Gen. Ely to Indochina, that the allegiance of the Viet Nam army cannot be counted upon surely if it is severely tested in the hard battle.

Our effort at Geneva had been designed to prevent this bad, but not entirely lost, military position from turning into a diplomatic and political collapse. Mr. Dulles was working under hopelessly difficult political conditions here in Washington and at a time when American opinion had not yet begun to be informed about the true position in Indochina.

Mr. Dulles's policy was to organize a united front which was to mean, in effect, that though the battle at Dien Bien Phu was lost, this would not mean that the war was lost. The bringing up of this reserve strength was to show that Ho Chi Minh cannot obtain a complete victory and the uncontested mastery of Indochina. Proving this would strengthen the negotiating power of the Western nations at Geneva.

What has happened, then, in the past week to impair this fundamentally sound calculation? The appeal made by the French government for immediate intervention in the battle of Dien Bien Phu. This subjected American, and British policy as well, to an impossible test. The policy was designed to save, not Dien Bien Phu but, the non-Communist position in Southeast Asia. The French appeal, which may have had some encouragement from American sources, has put London and Washington in the painful and dangerous position of refusing to come to the aid of a hard-pressed ally, and of having made, therefore, a gigantic bluff which has been called.

There is no denying that almost every high official from President Eisenhower down has been talking too big, has allowed more to be inferred than was intended, and that there has been an element of bluff in their statements. Therefore we must not be surprised that the desperate politicians in Paris were misled into believing that we were on the point of entering the war. I do not know whether the French government had been told fully and clearly what our real position was, whether they had been reminded that under the Constitution we could not intervene suddenly, and that we were not as a matter of fact in a military posture to intervene immediately in what might become a wide and prolonged war.

Be that as it may, a policy designed to discount the consequences of Dien Bien Phu has been made to look like a mere bluff because it cannot save Dien Bien Phu. This is very damaging to the Western position in the negotiations at Geneva. For at bottom Britain and America are not bluffing about the decision not to surrender Southeast Asia to the Communist orbit. The damage done by the appeal and by our own loose talk is that it may cause the Communist powers and the uncommitted Asian countries to equate the non-intervention at Dien Bien Phu with non-resistance in Southeast Asia.

This bad stumble at the threshold of the conference might cause the Communist powers to raise the price and to propose impossible terms for an armistice.

To repair the damage it will be necessary for the Western Powers to agree on the terms of an armistice which they could accept, which in the opinion of responsible but uncommitted Asian opinion, the Chinese and the Viet Minh ought to accept.

The crucial diplomatic business at Geneva is to work out one or two negotiable formulas of this sort. We do not know now whether the other side wants to negotiate, as it did in Korea, an acceptable compromise as the basis for an armistice. What we do know is that European, uncommitted Asian and almost certainly American public opinion as well, will insist that an earnest, sincere, and searching attempt be made to negotiate such an armistice.

Unfortunately it is almost impossible, owing to the political situation in Washington, for Secretary Dulles to participate in this effort. Congress has deprived him of the means to negotiate. He can make no concessions to the Viet Minh or to Red China; at the same time he is allowed to talk of military intervention in the war only if first he can show that there is a coalition of powers all prepared to intervene, too, and prepared to share with us the military effort and the casualties.

The American position at Geneva is an impossible one as long as the leading Republican Senators have no terms of peace except unconditional surrender of the enemy, and no terms for entering the war except as a collective action in which nobody is now willing to engage.

By the conditions which the Senate has imposed, Secretary Dulles cannot collaborate with London and Paris, with New Delhi and Karachi, in the negotiation of that "modus vivendi" which the President told the Chamber of Commerce we are seeking. The Secretary of State is well-advised, therefore, to consider leaving the conference, and of having the United States withdraw for the time being to the sidelines. For he cannot put this country in the ignominious position of trying to prevent the termination of a war in which it is unwilling to participate except on conditions which everyone knows cannot be met.

Then, having recognized that for the time being we are not able to play the part of a leading power, we can devote ourselves unreservedly to the question of whether Secretary Stevens was smiling when he was photographed with Private Schine.

'Prince Valiant' Is Ritz Feature

Harold Foster's famed comic strip, which appears every Sunday in the Big Spring Daily Herald, comes to the movie screen in CinemaScope. The Twentieth Century-Fox film is based directly on the meticulously drawn King Features Syndicate feature.

The film was made against real-

Beach Scene

Sgt. Warden (Burt Lancaster) and Karen (Deborah Kerr), the captain's wanton wife, are shown in a beach scene from the Academy Award-winning film "From Here to Eternity". The picture also stars Montgomery Clift, Donna Reed and Frank Sinatra in a power-packed story of Army life on Hawaii on the eve of Pearl Harbor. The picture begins a four-day showing at the Jet Drive-In on Tuesday.

Oscar-Winning 'From Here To Eternity' Is Set At Jet

"From Here to Eternity," the Academy Award-winning film for 1953, shows for four days in a special run at the Jet Drive-In this week. It begins the run Tuesday night and shows through Friday.

Based on the massive best seller by James Jones, the film took eight of the "Oscars" dished out last year by the Motion Picture Academy, tying "Gone With the Wind" for the taking of the most honors.

Frank Sinatra as the tragic Private Maggio took the best supporting actor award while Donna Reed as Prewitt's girl friend, Lorene, a dance hall hostess, took the feminine best supporting award.

Two of the top stars of the film were barely noted out for Oscars. Burt Lancaster was a top-contend-life settings in England, Scotland and Wales, abounding with lordly castles, sandy dunes and verdant meadows in Technicolor.

Tournaments and sword play galore are featured in the film which shows today through Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Robert Wagner has the role of the Viking prince who becomes knight in King Arthur's court while Janet Leigh has the role of the lovely Princess Aleta of the Misty Isles, whom Prince Valiant woos and weds.

James Mason has the role of the villain, Sir Brack, whom Prince Valiant must fight. Sterling Hayden has the role of Valiant's sidekick, Prince Gawain. Debra Paget has the role of Blene, the other chief female part. Also in the cast are Victor McLaglen, Donald Crisp and Brian Aherne. Aherne has the role of King Arthur.

Wagner has no easy job of winning Janet in this film, for all sorts of villains does he meet up with including fierce fellow vikings.

The picture has a climax with a furious fight with fire in the ancient castle. Wagner cuts loose like the late Douglas Fairbanks Sr. to carry out the demands of the role.

Henry Hathaway, an experienced CinemaScope director, again has the guiding hand with this picture. Robert L. Jacks is the producer.

'Rails Into Laramie' To Show At Ritz Friday, Saturday

The feature set for Friday and Saturday showing at the Ritz Theatre is "Rails Into Laramie" with John Payne, Mari Blanchard and Dan Duryea.

It's a Universal-International picture and it's in Technicolor.

Payne has the role of a rugged Army sergeant who is sent to Laramie to clean the tough railroad construction town up and permit the work of building the railroad to go on at top speed.

He finds that an old Civil War buddy, played by Dan Duryea, and his henchmen are the leaders of the gambling and saloon element in the city's life. He teams with Mari Blanchard, a lovely miss who is Duryea's partner in his respectable empire, to find out the facts.

The picture has as a climax a rip-roaring chase with Duryea fleeing in a spare locomotive, instead of on horse or in stagecoach.

Knighting Of Prince Valiant

A key moment from "Prince Valiant," CinemaScope adventure based on the comic strip appearing every Sunday in the Big Spring Daily Herald, is when King Arthur (Brian Aherne) knights the Viking prince (played by Robert Wagner). Looking on are Blene (Debra Paget), Sir Gawain (Sterling Hayden), Princess Aleta (Janet Leigh) and Sir Kay (Tom Conway). The film shows today through Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre. It's in Technicolor.

'Duffy Of San Quentin' Due At State Theatre

"Duffy of San Quentin" is a true-to-life story based on the book by Warden Clinton P. Duffy of the famed California Institution and Dean Jennings. The picture shows Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

George Macready, Joanne Dru and Louis Hayward are big problems in the administration of Warden Duffy, played by Paul Kelly.

Miss Dru has the role of a nurse, the first woman to work behind prison walls in a notable experiment by Duffy. Hayward has the role of an embittered convict who hates all women for what one did to him. Macready is the prosecutor who sent Hayward to jail and who himself goes to prison when caught bribing a witness. Duffy is afraid to let Macready be in a cellblock with other men, fearing that men such as Hayward will take revenge into their own hands.

Maureen O'Sullivan has the role of Mrs. Duffy in this Warner Bros. release.

Most of the story is the changes in the famed prison for hardened criminals made under the regime of Duffy, a nationally famed prison administrator.

Black bears usually are born a few weeks before the end of the hibernation of the mother.

'Hell's Half Acre' Features Wendell Corey, Evelyn Keyes

Honolulu, where East meets West in vacationland settings, is the site for "Hell's Half Acre," a film taking part largely in the city's shoddiest, most sin-ridden portion.

Starring in the film which shows today through Tuesday at the State Theatre are Wendell Corey, Evelyn Keyes and Elsa Lancaster.

The Republic production was actually made on location in the island city.

Corey is the object of a blackmail attempt after reaching success as the owner of a lavish island night club. He has a sordid past in robbery and racketeering. Robert Costa, his former partner, turns up to take advantage of it.

Nancy Gates, playing a Chinese girl in love with Corey, shoots Costa, and Corey insists on taking the blame.

Corey has written a song called "The Polynesian Rhapsody" and this leads to further plot involvements. Miss Keyes, playing a young Los Angeles widow who had married a young sailor reported killed in the Pearl Harbor raid, bears the record and remembers that her mate had whistled such a tune.

She heads to Hawaii to find out if her husband could actually still be alive. But to find Corey, she must disguise herself as a taxi driver and go to work in one of the dives on the island, for Corey has hidden himself in the underworld after learning that the Chinese girl has been murdered.

When the two eventually meet, Corey convinces her that he is better off officially dead.

Miss Lancaster, the wife of Charles Laughton, has the role of an eccentric taxi driver who takes Miss Keyes around the city.

Ferrer Set To Concentrate On Movie Career

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jose Ferrer, to whom nothing seems to be impossible, now is doing songs and dances in movies.

The multitalented Puerto Rican is embarking on the life of Sigismund Romberg in the MGM film biography "Deep in My Heart." While portraying the late composer of "middle-brow" music, Ferrer will have a chance to display his singing and dancing for the first time professionally.

He has one number in which he acts out all the roles in a musical. It lasts seven minutes. He has been trying it out at Hollywood parties.

"I did it at Cole Porter's last night," he said. "All they have to do is ask me; sometimes even that isn't necessary. By doing the number privately, I can see what parts are good and what needs trimming. It's just like a tryout in the legitimate theater."

The casting of Ferrer as Romberg was a puzzle to many people, and the actor himself admits there is little resemblance.

"I never knew Romberg," he said, "but people tell me he and I are not at all alike. What we are trying to capture is the spirit of his life, and I think the script has done that very admirably."

"There couldn't be any conflict in the story, since Romberg was apparently a success from the start. Primarily, it is the story of a happy man. The script covers a span of 20 or 30 years, and it shows how he progressed from being a song writer to composer. The climax of the picture will show him at Carnegie Hall conducting a concert of his works, which by then had achieved greatness."

Ferrer will not remain idle after he finishes his song and dance stint. He hustles over to Universal-International to make his debut as a film director. He'll direct himself in his stage hit "The Shrike."

Ferrer's thinning black locks are the only cue to his 42 years. He has enough speed for striplings half his age. He said he would devote his energies to the movies for another year or so.

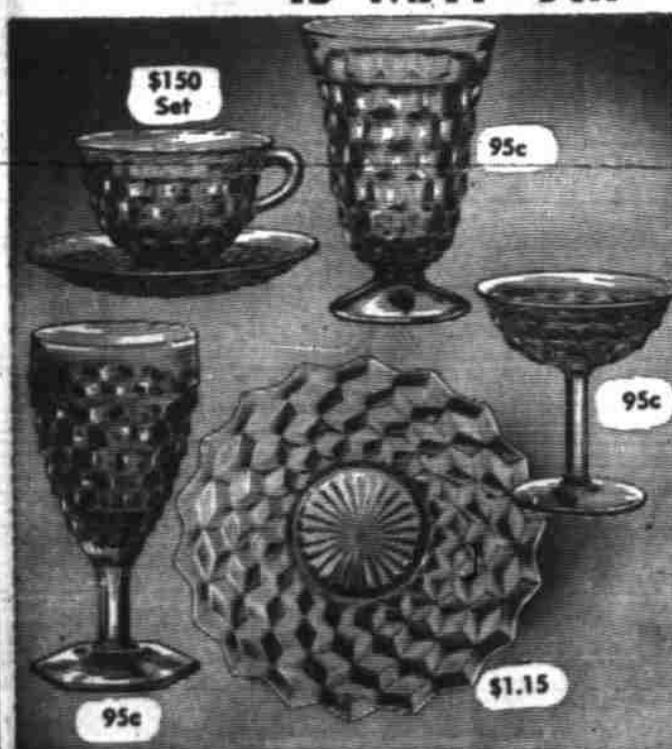

The reasons: "Having just done four shows on Broadway this season (revivals of 'Charley's Aunt,' 'Cyrano de Bergerac,' 'The Shrike,' 'Richard III'), I feel that is enough for a while. I have been busy during the last few seasons on Broadway, and I think we both deserve a rest from each other. It's easy to wear out your welcome. I think it's better to spread yourself out."

"Now that my movie career is going well, I want to concentrate on it."

SLEEK BEAUTY—Newest piece in the Bill Baker Furniture Pattern Series is modern, massive kneehole desk (above). It can be built by even the most inexperienced woodworker.

SIDE VIEW DRAWING (below) shows how drawer slant is repeated on back of desk. Either wood legs, as shown here, or metal legs can be used.

By BILL BAKER

One of the most useful pieces of furniture in the modern home today is the kneehole desk. Desks combining good design and massive beauty, however, are usually very expensive and for this reason many homes have to go without this very practical item.

I designed my modern kneehole desk with an eye to the budget. It has all of the features of desks selling for several hundred dollars, yet it can be added to your home for very little money.

Using BILL BAKER'S EXTRA-SIMPLE PATTERN NUMBER 114 you can have my kneehole desk for an investment of only a few dollars for materials and one or two weekends of workshop effort.

Here are some of the features of my desk:

A massive desk top affords all of the space you could ask for. The use of a thin strip around the four sides gives the impression that the top is a thick slab of wood. This adds an expensive, solid look.

Three deep drawers, slanted outward at the bottom of the outer face, allow storage for many items. Drawer handles are eliminated since the sloping drawer allows finger grips. This same slant is repeated at the back of the desk, giving a unique impression and allowing extra possibilities for placement of the desk in your room.

Either wood or metal legs can be used at one side of the desk. The pattern gives full details on construction of the wood legs, but for an extra modern touch, wrought-iron legs can be added.

Kneehole Desk Is Trim, Useful Item

er pieces of furniture in your home.

To build the modern kneehole desk, paste or thumb-tack the heavy-duty paper pattern pieces to your wood. These pattern pieces are cut to correct size for perfect fit in assembling. Then trace and cut according to instructions which are given in clear, understandable language. No power tools are needed.

Like all patterns in the series, this one has been shop-tested for complete accuracy, and the job can be tackled by even the most inexperienced woodworker.

To get your modern kneehole desk pattern, send your name and address (clearly printed), together with one dollar ($1) in cash or money order to Bill Baker, BIG SPRING HERALD, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. RETURN TO ASK FOR PAT-

I'LL HANDLE THAT! NOT A WORD OF THIS MUST LEAK TO ANYONE! SECRET AGENTS IN THE FAR EAST MIGHT FIND OUT IN TIME TO INTERCEPT THE BOX!

CABLE THE IMPORTER TO KEEP THOSE BOXES SEALED AND GUARDED! I'LL LEAVE AT ONCE FOR SINGAPORE!

YOU'LL GO TOO, WASH! MCKEE INDUSTRIES IS RESPONSIBLE TILL IT'S SAFE IN WASHINGTON!

I'LL GO PICK, MR. MCKEE! AN I'LL REPAIR 'EM—BUT YOU'LL SEE!

IF YOU MUST SEND A REPRESENTATIVE, I GUESS HE'LL BE—AH—IDEAL!

MEANWHILE, ABOARD THE PACIFIC, AN AIRLINER FACES A CRISIS...

WHAT'S YOUR VERDICT, TED? CAN WE MAKE IT TO SINGAPORE ON THESE ENGINES?

YES, BUT WHEN THAT PROP YOKS LOOSE, IT CUT THE FUEL LINE ON THE OUTBOARD TANK.

WE CAN'T MAKE IT ON THE FUEL WE HAVE LEFT, UNLESS WE JETTISON THE FREIGHT!

THEN THE SOONER WE DUMP IT, THE BETTER!

OUR POSITION... 21 KNOTS WEST OF THE WOOL ISLAND GROUP SHIPPER!

RECKON THEY DO... WHEN SHE SAYS "SHUSH!" THEY'D BETTER SHUSH!... SHE'S AN OLD LADY, BUT SHE'S MIGHTY SPY.

DOES SHE ALWAYS DRESS UP IN SUCH AN OLD-FASHIONED WAY?

NO, INDEED... LAST TIME I SAW HER SHE WAS AS UP TO DATE AS A FASHION MODEL... I THINK SHE'S GOT SOME REASON FOR THAT 19TH CENTURY GETUP... AND SHE'S GOIN' TO EXPLAIN IT RIGHT NOW.

FOLKS, IT DOES MY HEART GOOD TO SEE SO MANY OF YOU READY TO WELCOME AN OLD LADY BACK HOME... AND I MUST SAY THAT OUR HOST, QUENTIN MILES, IS JUST ABOUT THE NICEST BOY IN THESE PARTS.

NOW I'LL EXPLAIN WHY I'M WEARING THESE OLD-FASHIONED CLOTHES... AND TELL YOU ABOUT THE WONDERFUL IDEA THAT STRUCK ME DURING MY TRAVELS.

I'M GOING TO TURN MY WHOLE ESTATE INTO... WELL, SOME FOLKS MIGHT CALL IT A MUSEUM... EVERYTHING ON THE PLACE WILL BE JUST AS IT WAS MORE THAN 50 YEARS AGO.

SAY, I'VE GOT SOME PRETTY GOOD ANTIQUES STORED AROUND MY PLACE... I'M GOING UP AND OFFER THEM TO MISS WETHERWELL FOR HER MUSEUM.

YOU REMEMBER ME, DON'T YOU, MIZZ... COL. BOSWELL B. BOTTOMLY?

HUMPH! I SHOULD SAY I DO!

THAT YOUNG MAN, IS TO TEACH YOU NOT TO STEAL APPLES FROM MY ORCHARD!

WHAT A MEMORY! I SWIPPED THOSE APPLES IN 1910!

HEY, PATTY, LOOK! A FIGHT!

NEW VEL*
MAKES DISHES SHINE
WITHOUT WASHING OR WIPING!

VEL SOAKS DISHES CLEAN—
saves you all the hard work!

DON'T WASH—JUST SOAK

Dishes aren't greasy-dirty in any way! No washing is needed. If food clings, a touch of the dish wash gets it off. There's no grease, no water with Vel.

DON'T WASH—JUST RINSE

Just rinse each and every dish. No scrubbing, no rinsing, no drying. Even heavily greasy or completely soiled dishes are cleaned with no hard scrubbing is needed.

Package for package—VEL CUTS GREASE BETTER

- 1 Better than liquid detergents
- 2 Better than the leading washday detergent
- 3 Better than soap

—and yet NO
'DETERGENT
BURN' TO HANDS!

PROVE IT YOURSELF!
"HAND-HEAT TEST" shows why:

Dip hands in water. Then put a tablespoonful of any leading washday detergent in one hand—put a tablespoonful of VEL in the other.

Feel the heat from washday detergents, indicating irritating alkalis and harsh chemicals that cause "Detergent Burn"!

Feel NO heat with Vel because Vel contains no irritating alkalis or harsh washday chemicals to cause "Detergent Burn"!

VEL is a miracle of mildness! Vel helps you avoid rough, red hands—causes no "Detergent Burn"!

MaVeLous for dishes and finest fabrics!

Reader's Digest Reports:

ONLY NEW COLGATE DENTAL CREAM with Miracle Anti-Enzyme Ingredient GARDOL[®] HAS THE CLINICAL PROOF!

(Proof that Brings New Hope to Millions for LIFETIME PROTECTION AGAINST TOOTH DECAY)

5 QUICK FACTS FROM THE READER'S DIGEST ARTICLE

"What About Anti-Enzyme Toothpastes?"
December, 1953

1. Reader's Digest says—The most effective anti-enzyme toothpaste ingredient tested was developed in the Colgate laboratories.
(It's Colgate's miracle ingredient Gardol (Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate)—found in no other leading toothpaste!)
2. Reader's Digest says—One of the foremost dental authorities in the world proved that this ingredient binds itself effectively to the tooth—halts acid formation below the decay level in 95 per cent of cases tested.
(Unlike ordinary toothpaste ingredients, effective only for minutes, this protection won't rinse off—won't wear off—all day or all night!)

3. Reader's Digest says—Even 12 hours after brushing, this new Colgate anti-enzyme discovery continues to guard against the enzymes that cause tooth decay.
(Then, regular morning and night use guards against decay-causing enzymes every minute of the day and night!)
4. Reader's Digest says—In full-year clinical tests, supervised by leading dental authorities—4 out of 5 of the people who used New Colgate's with Gardol developed no new cavities at all!
(Distinguished dentists examined this evidence and agreed—New Colgate's with Gardol gives the surest protection against decay ever offered by any toothpaste!)
5. Reader's Digest says—New Colgate Dental Cream is the only toothpaste with clinical proof of its effectiveness in actually reducing the formation of new cavities.
