THE HARD WAY

Calvin Culpepper trips over the final hurdle in a 300 meter intermediate hurdle preliminary race at the Regional Track Meet Saturday (top). He hits the ground and skins both legs (bottom left), but manages to pick himself up (bottom center) and lunges across the finish line (bottom right) to place second in the race. The following day Culpepper won first in the Regional finals and won a place to run in the State Track Meet in Austin. (More regional track pictures in next week's issue.)

Rockets 4th in Regional; Culpepper to State

Wellington High School's Calvin Culpepper won first place in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles with a time of 38.67 at the Regional 2A track meet Saturday, May 8 and won the right to run in the State Track Meet in Austin.

But Culpepper's victory didn't come easily. In the preliminary race at the regional meet on Friday in Odessa, Culpepper fell as he crossed the final hurdle, and drug himself across the finish line for second place as the field of runners closed in. Earlier Culpepper had jumped and was disqualified in the 110 meter high hurdles, a race in which he might also have had a chance to run the State Track Meet.

Culpepper paced the Skyrocket Track Team which took fourth place place in the Regional Meet with 28½ points.

Wellington's 400 meter relay team, (Kenneth Warren, Calvin Culpepper, Willie Pennon and Dwayne Culpepper) placed third in regional finals with a 42.9.

Dwayne Culpepper placed third in the 400 meter dash finals with 50.6.

Kenneth Warren placed seventh in the finals of the 100 meter dash with a time of 10.94.

In the high jump, Rodney Nash tied for 6th with a leap of 6 ft.

Other Rocket team members who ran in the meet preliminaries but did not qualify for the finals were:

1600 meter relay team (Dwayne Culpepper, Rodney Nash, Wade Williams and Otis Lewis), 3:34.3.

200 meter dash: Kenneth Warren 23.1; Willie Pennon 23.4.

Bob Watson To Resign As County Judge

County Judge Bobby Jack Watson told members of the Commissioners Court Monday, May 10, that he intends to resign from that office, effective not later than June 15.

Watson said he will accept an appointment as Director of Law Enforcement Training for the 15-county South Plains Association of Governments headquartered in Lubbock.

He, Mrs. Watson and their youngest daughter, Angela will move either to Lubbock or Shallowater immediately after he leaves the judgeship.

Watson had been offered this work earlier and turned it down. It was offered a second time within a day or two after Judge Watson's defeat in the First Democra-

R.L. Templeton Resigns May 31 As County Atty.

The Collingsworth County Attorney, Judge R.L. Templeton, announced Tuesday that he has submitted his resignation from that office, effective May 31.

He said he wishes to devote his full time to the practice of law and to his expanding work as a writer.

It is coincidental that announcement of his resignation comes at the same week as that of the resignation of County Judge Bob Watson.

At the time he re-enters private life, Judge Templeton will have devoted 35 years to public service, as county attorney, county judge and as a member of the Texas Legislature.

He has been Collingsworth County Attorney the last 23 years, having taken that office in 1960.

Prior to that, he was Collingsworth County Judge for 10 years, serving from

Tornadoes Skip Across County

A large tornado dipped down in the Dodson-Arlie area Tuesday night, May 11, destroying a mobile home and outbuildings, damaging a large barn and other buildings. There were no deaths and no serious injuries.

Several funnels were reported, some unconfirmed. Others remained in the air.

Heavy loses were the two electric companies serving the county.

Although clouds were menacing in all parts of the county, only the Dodson area has reported property loss.

Rain measured 3.6 inches at Dodson north of Salt Fork this had dropped to numerous reports of 1 to 1.50 inches.

DPS Trooper John James and Sheriff Kenneth Maxwell had the closest contact with the large tornado that formed south of Wellington along the Loco FM highway and traveled toward Arlie, then turned north in the Dodson area.

James said he was close enough to see the swirling winds in the headlights of his car, and at one point the vehicle was blown off the road into the bar ditch.

In the area he covered, James reported destruction of a trailer house occupied by a Spanish American family reported to be working for Art Kane. James stopped at the place earlier to tell the family to take shelter. After the storm, they were found in a cellar.

James also reported the roof blown off a large barn belonging to Kane, barn damage and outbuildings destroyed at the Bob Cochran farm, damage to a house by the old Loco store, and trees blown down or severely damaged in much of that immediate area.

Assisting James and the Sheriff's department were Childress County Sheriff Ronald Sims and his chief deputy.

This tornado then turned north for several miles, still traveling on the ground, where it was observed by Maxwell, and other law enforcement officers.

Through the evening, the clouds formed quickly, took off in one direction then swerved sharply to go another direction.

Both West Texas Utilities and Greenbelt Electric reported heavy loss of poles as lines went down.

Jeff Langford, WTU employee, was knocked to the ground and received tic Primary May 1, and this time he accepted the post. His starting pay will be approximately one-third greater than his present salary as judge.

The commissioners court can take no action on appointing Watson's successor until he leaves the office.

Watson, a Wellington native who returned intending to make this his permanent home, expressed regret at leaving the county.

"My family and I like Wellington and we love the people. We came back to stay but it didn't work out that way. We're not burning any bridges," he said.

With broad experience in law enforcement, Watson returned here from Claude to accept the post of juvenile probation officer about 10 years ago. His principal duties will be to oversee and participate in all aspects of the regional training academy for law enforcement officers and to provide technical assistance to law enforcement agencies in counties served by the South Plains Association of Governments, he was told by the Executive Director Jerry Casstevens of Lubbock, the only person to whom he will have to report.

His duties are also preparing and monitoring the law enforcement training grants for the region, including budgeting, providing technical assistance to local governments in the region on law enforcement matters, determine training needs and preparing training materials and conducting training courses for law enforcement officers in the region.

When he returned to Wellington, Watson was the only certified Emergency Medical Technician in the county. He was instrumental in organizing the Collingsworth Volunteer Ambulance Service, served as president 6 years and is now vice president. It is regarded as the No. 1 system in the Panhandle.

He brought Collingsworth County into the Panhandle Regional Housing Authority and is on the board of directors; served as chairman of the Panhandle Health Systems Agency; was a director of Panhandle Regional Planning Commission; vice president of Panhandle Emergency Medical Services System; on the board of the Panhandle Regional Alcoholic Recovery System.

He is a past Collingsworth County Librarian and serves on the board of Region 10, State Library Board; in the Church of Christ, he has been an elder and deacon, and a past director of Westview Boys Home.

Watson was also assistant chief of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department and Wellington Fire Marshal.

His wife is the former Dorothy White.

They have three children, Tanya Jackson of Amarillo; Audie Watson and Angela Watson of Wellington.

1949 to 1959.

His service in the legislature was in 1947 and 1948.

In announcing his resignation, he expressed the desire to slow his activities somewhat and to give more time to two activities which he enjoys, the practice of law, which through the years has covered both criminal and civil work.

Now an accepted publisher-author with Texas historical novels as his specialty, Judge Templeton said he recently began handling the sales of his books as well as publishing them.

He indicated much more time will go into this.

He said he enjoyed every minute he served in the legislature, where he worked for passage of the Gilmar Akin Bill to benefit teachers; for improved highways, as well as a number of other major bills.

As a county judge, he was deeply involved in water development for the county, including that when the county was a part of the Greenbelt Lake and Dam project. He worked to help bring the county into the Optional county road law.

As county attorney, he considers some of his best work as obtaining mandatory three days in jail for those convicted of driving while intoxicated. He opposed long jail sentences.

Templeton worked over a long period of years with Boy Scouts and with an effective boxing program.

The way to keep down crime among youth is to keep them busy, he believes.

He is married to the former Travis Tenison and they have one son, Lee, who lives in Amarillo.

shock while working on a Kyle breaker on the Dodson line. He has no burns or wounds visible, but he remained in Collingsworth General Hospital Tuesday night for observation.

Tommy Hudson, WTU manager, said they were not sure what caused the accident, but it could have been a lightning bolt somewhere along the line at the time he was working on the switch.

A hospital spokesman reported that Langford felt electricity go in his right hand, as he was knocked about 15 or 20 feet. He is not sure if he was knocked unconscious.

Hudson reported that WTU lost two H structures at the Hollis Y at 10 p.m. when the electricity went off for one hour and 8 minutes. Services were regained by switching power from Shamrock.

Southwestern Public Service has trouble at Denver City Wednesday morning and that may have been our problem when power was off about 30 minutes, Hudson reported.

WTU also lost a step-up transformer to the Dodson line and it appears to be due to lightning.

"We are having terrible problems getting in at Dodson to work. We went out first at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday night. Power was off till about 3 a.m. when service was restored, then more problems developed Wednesday morning," Hudson said.

Donald White of Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc. reported "poles down every direction, south of Quail, around Rolla and in the Dodson area. We are continually getting calls of poles being down. At one place, 8 in a row went down and we have one and two scattered everywhere," he said.

"We would think the storm was going one direction, and abruptly it shifted back and forth as the clouds built."

Bad clouds, gusty winds exceeding 40 to 50 miles per hour were reported by Special Deputy Kenneth Martindale. Electricity was off in the Deep Elm Creek area, and at Norwood during the night and for a short time Wednesday morning. There were several reports of tornadoes that did not touch ground, but he said these could not be confirmed because of lots of low clouds blowing by.

Damage reports Wednesday morning included:

Tommy Campbell's residence east of the Hollis Y on Hwy. 83, where a 2 x 4 crashed through a window. The house also sustained window and shingle damage. Also at the site, a large shed was completely destroyed and a rock barn was left with no roof and only 3 walls standing. Campbell's house at Arlie also sustained roof damage and 1 box car was rolled over and barns and sheds damaged at that location.

1 mile east of Arlie, where Art Kane's module builder was rolled over.

At Art Kane's home place south of Dodson, a large section of a barn's roof was peeled off.

And the roof was ripped off of Sammy Motsenbocker's home.

things most every mother wants is an education for her children and their well being.

Then she ended her program by telling "What Mother did on Wash Day."

The first thing, she built a fire and set the wash pot on the fire. Then she shaved some lye soap into the water. Next she separated the clothes, the white clothes, colored clothes and work clothes, then she rubbed the clothes on the board.

Next the white clothes were boiled and the colors were rubbed on the rub board, then the whites were lifted out of the kettle with a broomstick. They were rinsed, blued, starched and hung on the line.

She said the tea towels were spread on the grass, and the old rags were hung on the fence.

The rinse water was poured on the flower bed, and the porch was scrubbed with the suds.

Lastly, the tubs were turned upside down with a sigh of relief. The mother would take time to put on a clean dress, smooth her hair, rock and rest a while with a cup of tea.

AGENT ORANGE HELP

AUSTIN -- The Texas Department of Health recently began a screening program to find Vietnam veterans who may be suffering long-term effects from exposure to herbicide Agent Orange.

We passed the law authorizing this screening program during the last session of the Legislature. Texas is one of the few states to have such a program, but we Texans always have tried to do our part during wars and help our veterans when they got back home.

Many Vietnam veterans may have been exposed to the defoliant, which was widely used in the Southeast Asian conflict to clear jungles. We think about 23,000 Texans might have been exposed to some of the 50 million tons dropped on the jungle between 1961 and 1970.

If you are a veteran of Vietnam and you think you may be suffering ill effects from Agent Orange exposure, first go to your family doctor. He will list your symptoms and send them to the Texas State Department of Health.

The Health Department will send you a list of questions about your military service and tours of duty as well as your civilian exposure to agricultural and industrial chemicals and your family's cancer history.

When appropriate, one of the University of Texas medical schools then will conduct tests on small sections of fat from the veteran's body (fat biopsies), will conduct tests of sperm samples and offer genetic counseling.

Agent Orange is a strong solution of 2,3,5-T and 2,4-T. Similar compounds are used in domestic applications, but Agent Orange is much stronger, and of course more dangerous.

Symptoms of Agent Orange problems include skin rash, sleeplessness, loss of desire, miscarriages, birth defects, cancer, liver damage, blood disorders or nerve damage. If you suffer any of these symptoms, and you or your spouse is a veteran of Vietnam, ask your doctor about this program.

If you want further information about Agent Orange, you may call or write Dr. George Anderson, Texas Veterans Agent Orange Assistance Program, 1100 W. 49th St., Austin, Texas 78756 (512) 458-7251; or the Brotherhood of Vietnam Veterans, 7212 Sir Gawain St., Austin, Texas 78745.

The Texas Veterans Affairs Commission (VAC) also has information. If you live in a county that has a VAC service officer, you may get information from him. Many other veterans' groups, such as the American Legion or the Veterans of Foreign Wars, also know about the program.

Of course, if you want more information you are welcome to call or write our office: Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711, (512) 475-3222.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN -- Lawmakers who are seeking re-election this year may find themselves spending a lot of time this summer in activities other than campaigning because Gov. Bill Clements is considering calling a special session to resolve the state property tax issue.

The Legislature virtually eliminated the state ad valorem tax in 1979 when it reduced the assessment rate to 0.001 percent.

However, Midwestern University—one of the oldest institutions that received construction funds from that tax—has sued to have the tax restored.

The suit is scheduled to be heard in June and many observers say Midwestern has a good chance of winning.

So Clements may call a special session to have legislators deal with the issue before the Midwestern suit is heard.

A constitutional amendment is required to repeal the tax, and such an amendment, if approved by lawmakers, would have to be approved by voters in November. The Legislature could include provisions to forgive back taxes owed since 1979.

Clements, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton are to meet soon to discuss the special session idea. Hobby already has supported repeal of the tax.

State officials have estimated that re-instatement of the property tax would generate several times the amount of revenue that was collected in the past because of recent laws requiring property taxes to be assessed on 100 percent valuation.

Martin Plea

Even if legislators do end up spending their summer in Austin, Longview Rep. Mike Martin won't be among them.

The Longview Republican, who was indicted on aggravated perjury charges for allegedly lying to a Travis County grand jury, has pleaded guilty to a lesser charge and resigned his post.

Martin, a one-term lawmaker who sponsored only one bill in the 1981 session, was accused of lying about the shooting incident in which he was wounded in the elbow.

Martin's cousin, Charles Goff, said he and Martin staged the shooting to gain political support.

The guilty plea was the result of a plea bargaining agreement that was concluded after jury selection had begun in Martin's trial.

Martin was fined $2,000 after pleading guilty to misdemeanor perjury and agreed to drop his bid for re-election.

Several Democrats and Republicans are vying for Martin's old seat, including the man that Martin defeated in 1980, former Rep. Jimmy Mankins of Kilgore.

Education Proposals

A special task force on higher education has given formal approval to recommendations that would ultimately quadruple tuition rates for college students and reorganize the state's public colleges and universities into regional systems.

The Governor's Task Force on Higher Education has proposed doubling tuition in 1983 to bring the amount students pay up to 8 percent of the amount the state appropriates to meet operating expenses for each full-time student.

The rate would then go up by 2 percent each year until 16 percent of the appropriation for each full-time student.

Rates for out-of-state and foreign students would increase from 44 percent to 75 percent of that amount.

Texas students currently pay $4 per semester hour.

Under the regional system proposal, the University of Texas and Texas A & M University systems would remain as they are, but all other public senior colleges and universities would be placed in systems covering West Texas, South Texas, the coastal region and North and East Texas.

The proposal is intended to reduce the number of governing boards running state schools, but at least one college president has said the plan would create more bureaucracy and damage the individuality of the separate institutions.

Job Market

Texas may not be the employment haven that the residents of many northern states think, an AFL-CIO official says.

Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard has warned Yankees that they shouldn't uproot and come to Texas looking for employment unless they have something definite lined up.

The Texas unemployment rate has risen recently from 4.7 to 5.7 percent, with some 420,000 workers laid off last year.

Hubbard urged union officials in other states to inform their members that "jobs are no longer available in Texas."

"We must recognize that unemployment has increased in Texas at a fast and rapid pace," Hubbard says.

Voter Turnout

Voters going to the polls May 1 may not have to face long lines if the predictions of one state official hold true.

Secretary of State David Dean has predicted that only 29 percent of the eligible voters in Texas will cast ballots in the GOP and Democratic primaries.

Dean expects 1.4 million voters to go to the polls. That's 500,000 fewer voters than turned out in the 1978 primaries.

Dean based his prediction on a sampling of absentee voting patterns in 50 counties containing 72 percent of the state's population.

AUSTIN—Attorney General Mark White will be taking on Gov. Bill Clements in the November general election, but not because White got the majority of votes in the May 1 Democratic primary.

White won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by default when Railroad Commissioner Buddy Temple bowed out of the race in the name of party unity.

Temple, who won a spot in the June 5 runoff by gaining some 30 percent of the vote to White's 45 percent, said he was handing White the nomination to prevent a divisive runoff campaign that might hurt the whole Democratic ticket.

Temple also said his departure from the race will leave Democrats free to take on Clements, the only Republican governor in Texas in more than a century.

State Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle said that as much as $2 million in campaign funds will be saved for the fall because of Temple's action.

White obviously was pleased with his fellow Democrat's decision, but so was Clements, who said White is the candidate he most wanted to face in November.

Clements said he has a "history" of taking on Democratic attorneys general. The governor defeated then Attorney General John Hill in the 1978 gubernatorial contest.

However, Clements charged that Temple's withdrawal was the result of secret dealings carried out behind closed doors that has the effect of "disfranchising" Democratic voters by denying them the chance to choose the Democratic nominee in the runoff election.

Harding Withdrawal

And Temple wasn't the only Democrat to drop out of a runoff bid.

State Treasurer Warren G. Harding put an end to his re-election effort saying that to continue the campaign would "subject my family and my friends to further hurt and grief."

Harding finished second in the balloting for the Democratic nomination to former Travis County Commissioner Ann Richards.

Harding, who was first appointed treasurer by former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, has two indictments pending against him for allegedly using state employees to perform campaign work and has been the subject of allegations that he sexually harassed female employees in his office.

The departure of Harding and Temple from the campaigns leaves nominations in only two major statewide races to be determined.

Dallas Congressman Jim Mattox will take on former U.S. attorney John Hannah for the Democratic bid for attorney general and Garry Mauro will face off with Midland Sen. Pete Snelson in the land commissioner's race.

The Republicans escaped the need for a runoff, with Gov. Clements easily defeating Duke Embs and GOP contenders for other statewide offices unopposed.

Perot Reappointed

Gov. Clements has re-named 16 persons to one-year terms on the "Texans War Against Drugs" committee, including its controversial chairman H. Ross Perot.

Perot, a multi-millionaire from Dallas, will continue to head the panel that was instrumental in pushing several law enforcement bills through the 1981 Legislature, including the hotly debated wiretap bill.

That legislation allows law enforcement officers to use wiretaps in carrying out investigations of drug cases.

Perot also gained notoriety when he got the Texas Board of Human Resources to reconsider a decision not to renew a multi-million dollar Medicaid contract with his company.

Special Session

Gov. Bill Clements has signed the proclamation calling the special legislative session to repeal the state property tax.

Lawmakers are to return to Austin May 24 to pass a constitutional amendment to repeal the tax, forgive any back taxes owed since 1978 and provide a one-time appropriation to finance construction at colleges that used to depend on the property tax for construction funds.

The tax has not been collected since the Legislature virtually eliminated it by reducing the assessment rate to 0.001 percent in 1979. Midwestern University is challenging that action as unconstitutional, and Gov. Clements says Texans may owe up to $1 billion in back taxes if Midwestern wins its suit.

However, at least one lawmaker says the Legislature may not be able to forgive those back taxes.

Austin Rep. Wilhelmina Delco is seeking an attorney general's opinion on the constitutionality of forgiving back taxes, but Attorney General White has refused to comment on the matter because of the pending Midwestern suit.

So, if the amendment is passed, there could be one more suit before the issue is finally resolved.

THOMAS ROLL CALL REPORT

Your Congressman's Votes Reported Each Week

WASHINGTON—Here is how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes between April 29 and May 5.

HOUSE

REPAIRING DAMS---

By a vote of 212 for and 140 against, the House adopted an amendment requiring those who benefit directly from federally built irrigation dams, such as agricultural interests, to pay a share of the cost of repairs. Historically, the U.S. Treasury has paid the entire cost. The amendment, favored by the Administration, was attached to a bill (HR 3208) authorizing up to $650 million for repairing 56 federally built dams, most of them in the West. The bill was later passed and sent to the Senate.

Members voting "yea" wanted direct beneficiaries of federally built irrigation dams to share the cost of William Wayne Justice has ordered the Texas Department of Corrections to show by May 14 that it is abiding by his order to provide adequate living space for inmates.

Attorneys for the state say they will show that TDC is providing more than the 40 square feet per prisoner that Justice ordered, but attorneys for the inmates say that is physically impossible because of the current prison population.

Justice imposed the space requirements in his 1980 order for extensive improvements at Texas prisons, which he declared dangerously overcrowded.

Jack Hightower, D-13, Charles Stenholm, D-17 and Kent Hance, D-19, voted "nay."

SENATE

NUCLEAR WASTE

By a vote of 52 for and 40 against, the Senate killed an amendment making it easier for a state to block the location of a nuclear waste repository within its boundaries; a state's objection would stand unless both houses of Congress voted to nullify it. Later, the Senate approved softer language that allows a state's veto to stand if either house votes in favor of the veto.

Senators voting "yea" wanted states to have less power to reject a federal nuclear waste repository.

Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D, and John Tower, R, voted "yea."

DELAY--The Senate killed, 63 for and 27 against, an amendment to delay for three years the 1984 target date for selecting three locations for the permanent storage of nuclear waste (see preceding vote). A survey of suitable geological formations throughout the nation is due to be completed in 1986, supporters of the delay noted. The vote occurred during debate on S 1662.

Senators voting "nay" wanted to delay selection of waste sites until more geological study of the entire nation has been undertaken.

Bentsen and Tower voted "yea."

4-H Girls Begin Preparations For Upcoming Dress Revue

BY JEAN FOURMONTIN

The County 4-H Clubs sponsored a Spring Fling Saturday, May 8, in preparation for the upcoming fashion revue in the summer.

The girls met at 11 a.m. to practice their modeling, then went to Dairy Queen for lunch. They returned to the community building at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Dickie (Linda) Johnson was the first speaker and told members and guests of her own experience in 4-H. She explained what being a member of 4-H meant to her.

She then discussed "Putting One's Best Foot Forward in Modeling." Mrs. Johnson has been in many fashion revues and gave the girls tips on how to relax when modeling before an audience.

Other instruction related to beautiful hands, rules for standing and how to achieve a beautiful and graceful walk. She closed by telling the girls to relax but watch their posture. She then had the girls practice their walk and posture.

Members modeling fashions from Hatch's Department Store were Julie Caldwell, Patricia Fourmontin, Lesa White, Stacy Barton, Karen Mote, Carey Langford, D'Nae Keller, Jonny Settle. Bill Hatch was the narrator, and told the girls what will be in fashion next fall.

Rhonda Colson, a makeup consultant, spoke on "Taking Care of Your Skin for a Prettier You."

She told the girls that cleansing was important for healthy looking skin. She spoke about and demonstrated the correct way of cleaning the skin without breaking down the muscle tissue on the face and neck.

She gave Nancy Bigby, extension agent, a facial and Kaylynn Bartlett's name was drawn for a facial cleansing.

Hearing Scheduled on Needs of the Elderly

Staff members of the Panhandle Area Agency on Aging will conduct a hearing concerning the needs of the elderly in Wellington on Friday, May 14. The hearing will be conducted in the Collingsworth County Senior Citizens Center, 702 East Avenue from 1:00 until 4:00 p.m.

PAAA staff member Perna Strickland said her agency "wants to hear from anyone who has an opinion about the needs and problems of elderly citizens. Of course, that means we want to hear from senior citizens, too." She commented that "in years past, we've used a variety of methods to get data on the needs of older citizens, but this is the first time for public hearings."

The staff members will be accepting both written and oral testimony from the general public, service providers, elected officials and staffs of care facilities. Deadline for written opinions to be received in the Amarillo offices of the PAAA is May 3.

The hearings are scheduled for Dumas, Borger, Amarillo, Hereford and Wellington, running May 10 through 14. In all but Dumas, they'll be conducted in senior citizens centers.

After the hearings are completed, the staff of the PAAA will review all the presentations, both oral and written, in order to plan for the use of state and Federal money earmarked for senior citizens programs in the panhandle area in coming years.

"This will be a very important week for us. We're looking forward to a big turnout," Ms. Strickland said. "It's a chance for those who are concerned about the elderly to have direct influence on planning in this region."

For further information contact Perna Strickland 372-3381 (Collect).

Retail Business Meeting Sponsored by Chamber

Second in a series of meetings designed to stimulate retail business in Wellington will be Wednesday, May 19, at 3 p.m. in the Heritage Room, according to Tommy Hudson, chamber of commerce president.

All retail merchants are urged to attend and present their ideas for discussion. Anyone else who has ideas that might help Wellingtons retail business is invited, Hudson said.

The meeting will last about an hour and coffee will be served.

"We will continue discussion started at the previous meeting," Hudson said. I hope we can get more people there in the afternoon, those working with the program believe it will be easier for folks to come at that time.

Bill Hatch, chairman of the industrial committee, is due to discuss plans to encourage business in Wellington during Fair Week, which is the week beginning with Labor Day. The Welcome Wagon or similar ideas to welcome newcomers will be discussed.

NOTICE OF HEARING BEFORE THE TEXAS WATER COMMISSION OF AN APPLICATION TO APPROPRIATE PUBLIC WATERS OF THE STATE OF TEXAS. No. 4207

Notice is given that Neil Davis and Keith Davis, Box 627, Wellington, Texas 79095, applicants, seek a permit pursuant to 11.121, Texas Water Code, and Rules 156.02.05.001 (TAC 303.1) et seq. to authorize the direct diversion of not to exceed 100 acre-feet of water per year from an unnamed tributary of Salt Fork Red River, Red River Basin for the irrigation of 55 acres of land out of a 640-acre tract in the H.&G.N. R.R. Co. Survey, Block No. 15, Section 90, Abstract No. 1097 about 12 miles NW of Wellington, Collingsworth County, Texas.

It is proposed that said waters be diverted at a point on either bank of an unnamed tributary of Salt Fork Red River, both points being located S 22 degrees W, approximately 3500 feet from the NE corner of the aforesaid survey, at a maximum diversion rate of 1.3 cfs (600 gpm) using one portable pump. The applicants have requested that the storage requirements of Texas Water Development Board Rule 156.02.15.016 (TAC 303.36) be waived, all of the foregoing being more fully set out in the application.

Application No. 4207 was accepted for filing on April 26, 1982, and a hearing thereon will be held by the Commission in the Stephen F. Austin State Office Building at 1700 North Congress Avenue in Austin, Texas, on June 11, 1982, at 10 o'clock a.m. Any person who intends to offer prepared testimony at the public hearing shall prefile the testimony with the Chief Clerk of the Commission not less than five days prior to the hearing, and shall serve copies of prepared testimony on the applicant, the Executive Director and Public Interest Advocate of the Department of Water Resources and all other persons who have filed written protests or written requests not less than eight days prior to the hearing. The Commission may authorize the late filing of prepared testimony upon a showing of good cause and extenuating circumstances. Those opposing the granting of this application may appear at the hearing and/or not less than eight days before the hearing date, may file written protests with the Commission and serve copies on the applicant with proof of service to be provided to the Commission. Written protests shall contain the name and address of the protestant, an identification of the pending application, the basis of protestant's interest, location of protestant's diversion point(2) or property, if applicable and any amendments or adjustments to the application which would result in a withdrawal of the protest. The written protest will be noted by the Commission but will not be considered as evidence since the right to cross-examine is absent. No protestant will be admitted as a party to the proceeding unless the protestant complies with Commission Rule 155.04.00.001 (TAC 267.1) which requires a justiciable interest and actual or representative presence at the hearing.
