West Texans Consider Drouth Relief

MEETING HELD IN COLORADO FOR ACTION

EMERGENCY NEEDS OF FARMERS EXPECTED TO BE GIVEN AID

COLORADO, Oct. 28.—(By The Associated Press) Bankers, merchants, farmers and other West Texans interested in crystallizing a workable program for drouth relief were to meet here today for a conference called by Guy Dabney and Garland Eubank, bankers of Cisco and Throckmorton, heading a temporary drouth relief organization formed recently at Eastland.

The meeting was to start at one p. m. Dabney and Eubank planned to renew the recommendation of the Eastland conference that commissioners courts of the counties in the defined drouth area issue relief warrants in sums sufficient to meet emergency needs, due in two or three years and bearing a low rate of interest; the warrants to be purchased by the state out of an appropriation to be made by the legislature in special session. Governor Moody has been asked to call the 41st legislature.

Ready for Any Plan Dabney said "We are not committed to that plan, and if a better one can be devised, our organization is ready to consider it."

"It is better to drive one peg," he said. "As long as we look to federal agencies for relief before winter, I think we will be wasting our time. That is too slow, uncertain and cluttered up with red tape."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (P)—Upon the White House social calendar, with its "dinner to the vice-president" and "dinner to the speaker of the house," Mrs. John N. Garner of Texas, today gazed with a mild but unmistakable interest.

The thought struck her that if the November elections should bring a Democratic landslide, availing her husband into the speaker's chair, she might become the honored feminine figure in that "dinner to the speaker of the house" at the next social season. A purely hypothetical situation, of course, but still Mrs. Garner gave it some consideration.

Dyer Reveals Hundreds Of Dollars Profit May Be Made On Morphine

Hundreds of dollars profit from an ounce of morphine is possible from the retail sale of the drug in half grain and grain capsules or pills, according to the statement made by Milton C. Dyer, local man, to officers following his arrest by county and federal officers on a federal warrant.

An ounce of morphine costs about $80, Dyer is said to have told the officers in his statement. The drug retails at $1 a half grain pill or capsule, he is quoted as saying.

Usually the drug comes in a dry powder form, in a capsule container and is used frequently in a hypodermic needle. The drug also comes in pill form.

Dyer told officers his supply came from Oklahoma, and cost $80 an ounce. The high price per ounce is due to the fact that it is an illegal sale and there is great danger in the sale as it is a violation of the federal Harrison anti-narcotic act for an unauthorized druggist to dispense the narcotic.

"There are 437 grains in an ounce of morphine," Will Earnest, jailor, said. "I gather from what Dyer said that he got 400 dollars a grain. So that looks like he made nearly $800 an ounce profit, if he only paid $80 an ounce for it."

Lives was still confined in the county jail today. He is being held for the federal grand jury that meets here in December.

The little victim was rushed to a hospital where her condition was today reported as favorable. Fate of the leopard was under consideration today, many citizens demanding that it be destroyed.

PEOPLE SWARMING LAMESA EACH DAY

LAMESA, Oct. 28.—(Special)—This city is taking on the aspect of an oil boom town, judging from the immense crowds which throng the streets daily. Thousands of laborers are in the county, gathering the cotton crop, and these, together with farmers and their families, keep the local merchants busy selling their goods. Lamesa merchants are enjoying a good business, too.

Especially on Saturday's the sidewalks and stores are jammed with people, and street traffic is only kept moving in an orderly manner by the efficient handling of the city traffic officers. Many Mexican laborers are here from the southern portion of the state, working in the cotton fields, and they are good customers of the local stores. As the weather grows cooler, however, and the first breath of winter strikes, they will migrate south to warmer climes.

Although most of Texas has suffered somewhat from drought conditions, and business depression, the territory adjacent to Lamesa has not yet felt the effects to any great extent, except in the low price of farm commodities. A normal crop has been produced in this area, and financial conditions are reported to be very satisfactory. Farmers are paying obligations, as they gather their crops, and should business conditions over the country take a turn for the better next year, people in this section will never feel the "pinch" of want, as some have in other parts of the country.

CALIFORNIA WOMEN LOOK AT PLAINS PROPERTY THEY HAVE OWNED FOR 53 YEARS FOR FIRST TIME, INHERITED HOLDINGS

CROSBYTON, Oct. 28. (Special)—Mrs. David J. Brigham and her sister, Miss Eleanor Case, of Placentia, Calif., have been here looking after their property on the East Plains.

It was the first time the ladies had ever seen the place. W. C. Baker, is the manager of the property, which they inherited from their father.

According to Mrs. Brigham, their grandfather, Elophalet Case, came to Crosby county 53 years ago, in 1877, and bought a section of land on the East Plains. He was accompanied by a man named Fox and the two, after making purchases, returned home.

Later the elder Case came to the East Plains and bought some more as did Mr. Fox. The trip was made to Fort Worth and from there on to Colorado City, the nearest railroad point. From Colorado City the pair drove up to Crosby county.

While riding in a jump cart over the plains, a jackrabbit jumped up suddenly, scaring the horse and it ran. Wheels of the cart struck a stone, causing it to overturn and throwing Mr. Case out. He struck his head against a rock and his neck was broken.

The body was buried in Blanco canyon by Uncle Hank Smith, now dead, who had just moved onto his ranch in the canyon. Later the son came to Crosbyton and had the remains of his father taken up and sent back to Illinois for burial.

SPADE SCHOOL OPENS SOON

LAMB COUNTY NOW HAS NEW MODERN SCHOOL IN COMMUNITY

LITTLEFIELD, Oct. 28.—(Special) The new Spade school, located on the famous Spade ranch about 12 miles east and north of Littlefield, will be completed about November 1 and will then be ready for occupancy.

Built of brick and tile, with 12 class rooms, and a modern gymnasium and auditorium combined, the structure will be one of the most complete on the South Plains. W. S. Moss, the contractor, expects to get the building ready within ten days.

Haynes Draws Plans
S. B. Haynes, Lubbock architect, drew the plans and has superintended the work. The building will be lighted by electricity, will have a pressure water system and up-to-date plumbing and will meet all state requirements for schools.

The Spade district was formed out of the old Littlefield Independent district and comprises about 60 sections of land. The tract of land on which the building is located comprises eight acres. Five acres were donated by the Ellwood Land company of Lubbock and Claude Campbell and three were purchased by the district.

Space is available for more than 300 pupils to start with. The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 550 and the enrollment of the district is now around 350.
E. M. Hays, formerly of Tahoka, where he was high school principal, is superintendent. He came here last summer and has already shown considerable executive man-

A Smashing Serial Of Football And Love "MUD AND GLORY"

Written for the Lubbock Daily Journal and King Features Syndicate by James M. Neville. Copyright by King Features Syndicate. All rights reserved.

SYNOPSIS

Terry Malone, Princeton freshman, arouses the enmity of Red Thomas by his prowess on the football field. During practice, Terry sees Margot Blair and is anxious to meet her.

Red is also interested in Margot. While playing, Red, furious when Terry tackles him, kicks Terry in the stomach.

CHAPTER IV

Every college scout in the country talked to Red. His reputation was enhanced until the whole sport world was aware of him. A prominent Princeton alumnus of Western Pennsylvania learned about the schoolboy wonder and his many offers from colleges. Instead of interviewing Red, the Princeton man went straight to his father, a wealthy coal operator of Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, who started as a breaker boy in the mines and had one interest in life, "My kid, Red."

Mr. Thomas, senior, was insulted and annoyed at the mere insinuation in handling the district. Members of the district board are: Ben Gann, president; J. A. Beckum, secretary-treasurer; Jack Fowler, G. M. Vann, C. B. Blankenship, Floyd Dyer and B. H. Hunt.

The district built a teacherage before starting the building. Bonds, to the amount of $75,000, were voted and sold for par to the state department of education. Cost of the building is in excess of $60,000, with the difference in the amount of bonds going to purchase of furniture.

tion that Red would be compelled to enter the college that offered the best inducements. "I'm not going to have my kid's way paid through college because he's an athlete. He can go to college just like a rich man's son, with all the spending money he can get rid of by God. I've worked and slaved down in the mines just so my kid could enjoy all the things I've missed!"

"Well, I think it would be a good thing for him to go to Princeton," suggested the alumnus. "He can get an education to boot there."

"You can bet your bottom dime Red is going to Princeton. No money business either. And I'm going to foot the bill."

So Red came to Princeton. Naturally the college was accused by the fifteen other institutions of paying him a bigger sun than they could afford. All kinds of exaggerated stories circulated in club rooms, smoking cars and college dormitories about the money Red Thomas received for going to Princeton.

And Red lived up to his press notices. On the first day of practice, the coach looked at the red head much like an artist coming on a skilled piece of work. He was a magnificent animal, all rippling biceps and muscle. He had all the natural characteristics of a great athlete and everything pointed to a spectacular career.

But Terry Malone was not awed by the flaming red head as he stood on his own goal line, ready to stop him. Dazed and winded, Red Thomas slowly walked back into the lineup, brushing the blood away from his nose with his fingers and wiping the sweat off his forehead with the Red on the ground so hard that it was a real effort for the full-back to pull himself on his feet. He did not make the goal.

Later, with Terry's side kicking off, Red grabbed the pigskin, skittered the running ends, straight-armed Sonny and danced around Burne Warwick in a zigzag run up the field.

Terry streaked toward the fleeing full-back. At the fifty yard mark, he left his feet. Red pushed him clear of his shifting legs and Terry tumbled on the ground. On went Red, still twisting through swarming tacklers, a fighter to his finger tips.

But so was Terry Malone. Miraculously he bounced up on his feet, put every bit of energy into his stride, and bore down on Red. At the forty yard mark, he was going at full speed. Red was at the thirty yard mark. When Thomas reached the fifteen yard line, Terry pounded at his heels. Every lunge wrenched and pulled his muscles in a blaze of torture. Then with a final spurt, he leaped with outstretched arms, caught Red's flying foot. Down went Red, his nose scratched in the dust, the wind knocked out of his body.

"Wow! What a tackle!" cried a veteran New York sport writer who chanced to be passing on his way from the varsity field. "Never saw the like of it. Heard Eckersall of Chicago tackled Heston of Michigan that way after missing him but—say, who is that kid? Going to keep an eye on him!"

With the referee's whistle, Terry relaxed his hold on Red's foot, sprawled out on the field and panted for breath. His face and body were swimming in sweat. His thighs were stiff and his shoulder ached. Yet a satisfied smile covered his dirt-caked face when Dan Hart pulled him up from the ground.

Dazed and winded, Red Thomas slowly walked back into the lineup, brushing the blood away from his nose with his fingers and wiping the sweat off his forehead with the leave of his jersey. Later, when Terry carried the ball on an off tackle play, someone jolted his jaw with a stiff knee. Terry grabbed hold of the knee and when the bodies cleared, Red bellowed to the referee. "Hey, look at this guy holding me. Get after him."

The scrimmage went on long before quitting time. Terry was fagged out. Every move tore at his muscles with pinners. His feet burned. He was so exhausted that it was an effort to lift a drink of water to his mouth; to wipe the sweat and dust out of his eyes. Every now and then Terry caught the eye of Dan Hart, steady, stubborn and reliable in the line. Dan would look at Terry with a quiet smile of friendship. It helped, enormously. But Dan could do nothing when Red pushed Terry in the face, dug an elbow into his ribs under cover of scrimmage. All Terry could do was to caution the red head. But with no effect.

How time crawled! Terry's eyes burned, his throat was raw and breath came in gulps. Sweat and dust on his jersey grittled like lead. It was torture to lift his feet. He asked the timekeeper for the minutes to play. Five! Five long, agonizing minutes before he crawled under a cooling shower.

Across the line was Red, still going strong. Grit your teeth, man, a hell of a fine player you are! Look at Red. Doesn't even feel it. Must keep going. On the ball!

Red belted Terry on the jaw under the massed bodies in scrimmage. It hurt; his whole body ached. And still several minutes of play. It was a time for drastic measures. No use appealing to the referee. He was half asleep. This was proved by Sonny Drayton. Opposed to him was a player who pushed Sonny head-over-heels when he passed the ball. On defensive plays, the player grabbed Sonny and prevented him from getting in the play. As the scrimmage became more and more intense, Sonny tried to push the player aside. He responded by taking several lusty swings at Sonny, who remonstrated with the player until he was tired. He even approached the referee.

"Haven't you got any eyes?" "Sure I've got eyes," stormed the referee.

"Well use them on that guy playing me. Holding me on the defense and taking cracks on my jaw when you're not looking. Get him." "Awright," snapped the referee. "Get in there and play—football—I'll watch him."

On the next play, Buck Merritt, aided by Thomas's interference, came through Sonny's position. He was all set to make the tackle when someone pulled his leg and spilled him out of the play. Buck went through for a gain. Sonny grabbed hold of the player's hand, lost his temper, and started swinging on the opposing player.

"Ah!" cried the referee, pouncing down between the fighting linemen. "And you complaining about this poor fellow roughing you up. Out of the game. Quick!"

"Why you big bum!" shouted Sonny. "You lousy robber!" "Is that so," said the referee. "Well you're too nice a boy to be on the same field with a bum or a robber. So get right off the field before you're contaminated. Beat it!"

Sonny slammed off his helmet, hurled it across the field, then in angry and sullen protest, walked slowly toward the showers. But Terry was not going to let Red have a laugh on him for the same offense. He recalled a trick Jim Thorpe, the famous Indian, played on a professional, which cured him of further unportunanship. With his jaw still aching from Red's fist, and his team in possession of the ball, Terry called for a formation, with him throwing a forward pass the last time he tried it and Terry prepared the trap.

The ball was passed. On came Red, pushing through to rough up Terry as he did before. Terry caught the ball, hesitated, and instead of throwing it to Burne, slammed it straight at the rushing frame of Red. Instinctively he caught the ball, facing Terry. But before he had a chance to turn or run he was tackled so hard that the sound of it could be heard all over the field. It rattled Red's teeth and jolted him so hard that he fumbled the ball.

When the piled mass of players disentangled itself, the mighty Red Thomas could not rise. He was carried on the arms of players to the sidelines with a vacant, stunned expression on his face—and every bone in his body aching.

Terry found that the coaches embodied no thought other than that Red was a victim of the exigencies of play. But Burne Warwick, coming back into play, glanced at his roommate with an amused expression.

"What's the matter, Irish?" called Red. "Yellow? I thought so!" (To Be Continued)

tion in his eyes. "Rather than Terry! Someone had to snap him bird down. Got what he deserved!"

Terry regretted that he was forced to resort to such measures but relieved his conscience by the consolation that it insured him against further rough treatment.

But Red was not so easily subdued. He had tasted blood. Stretched out on a rubbing table, with a stalwart negro massaging his bruised body, he glowered as Terry trudged into the dressing room after practice.

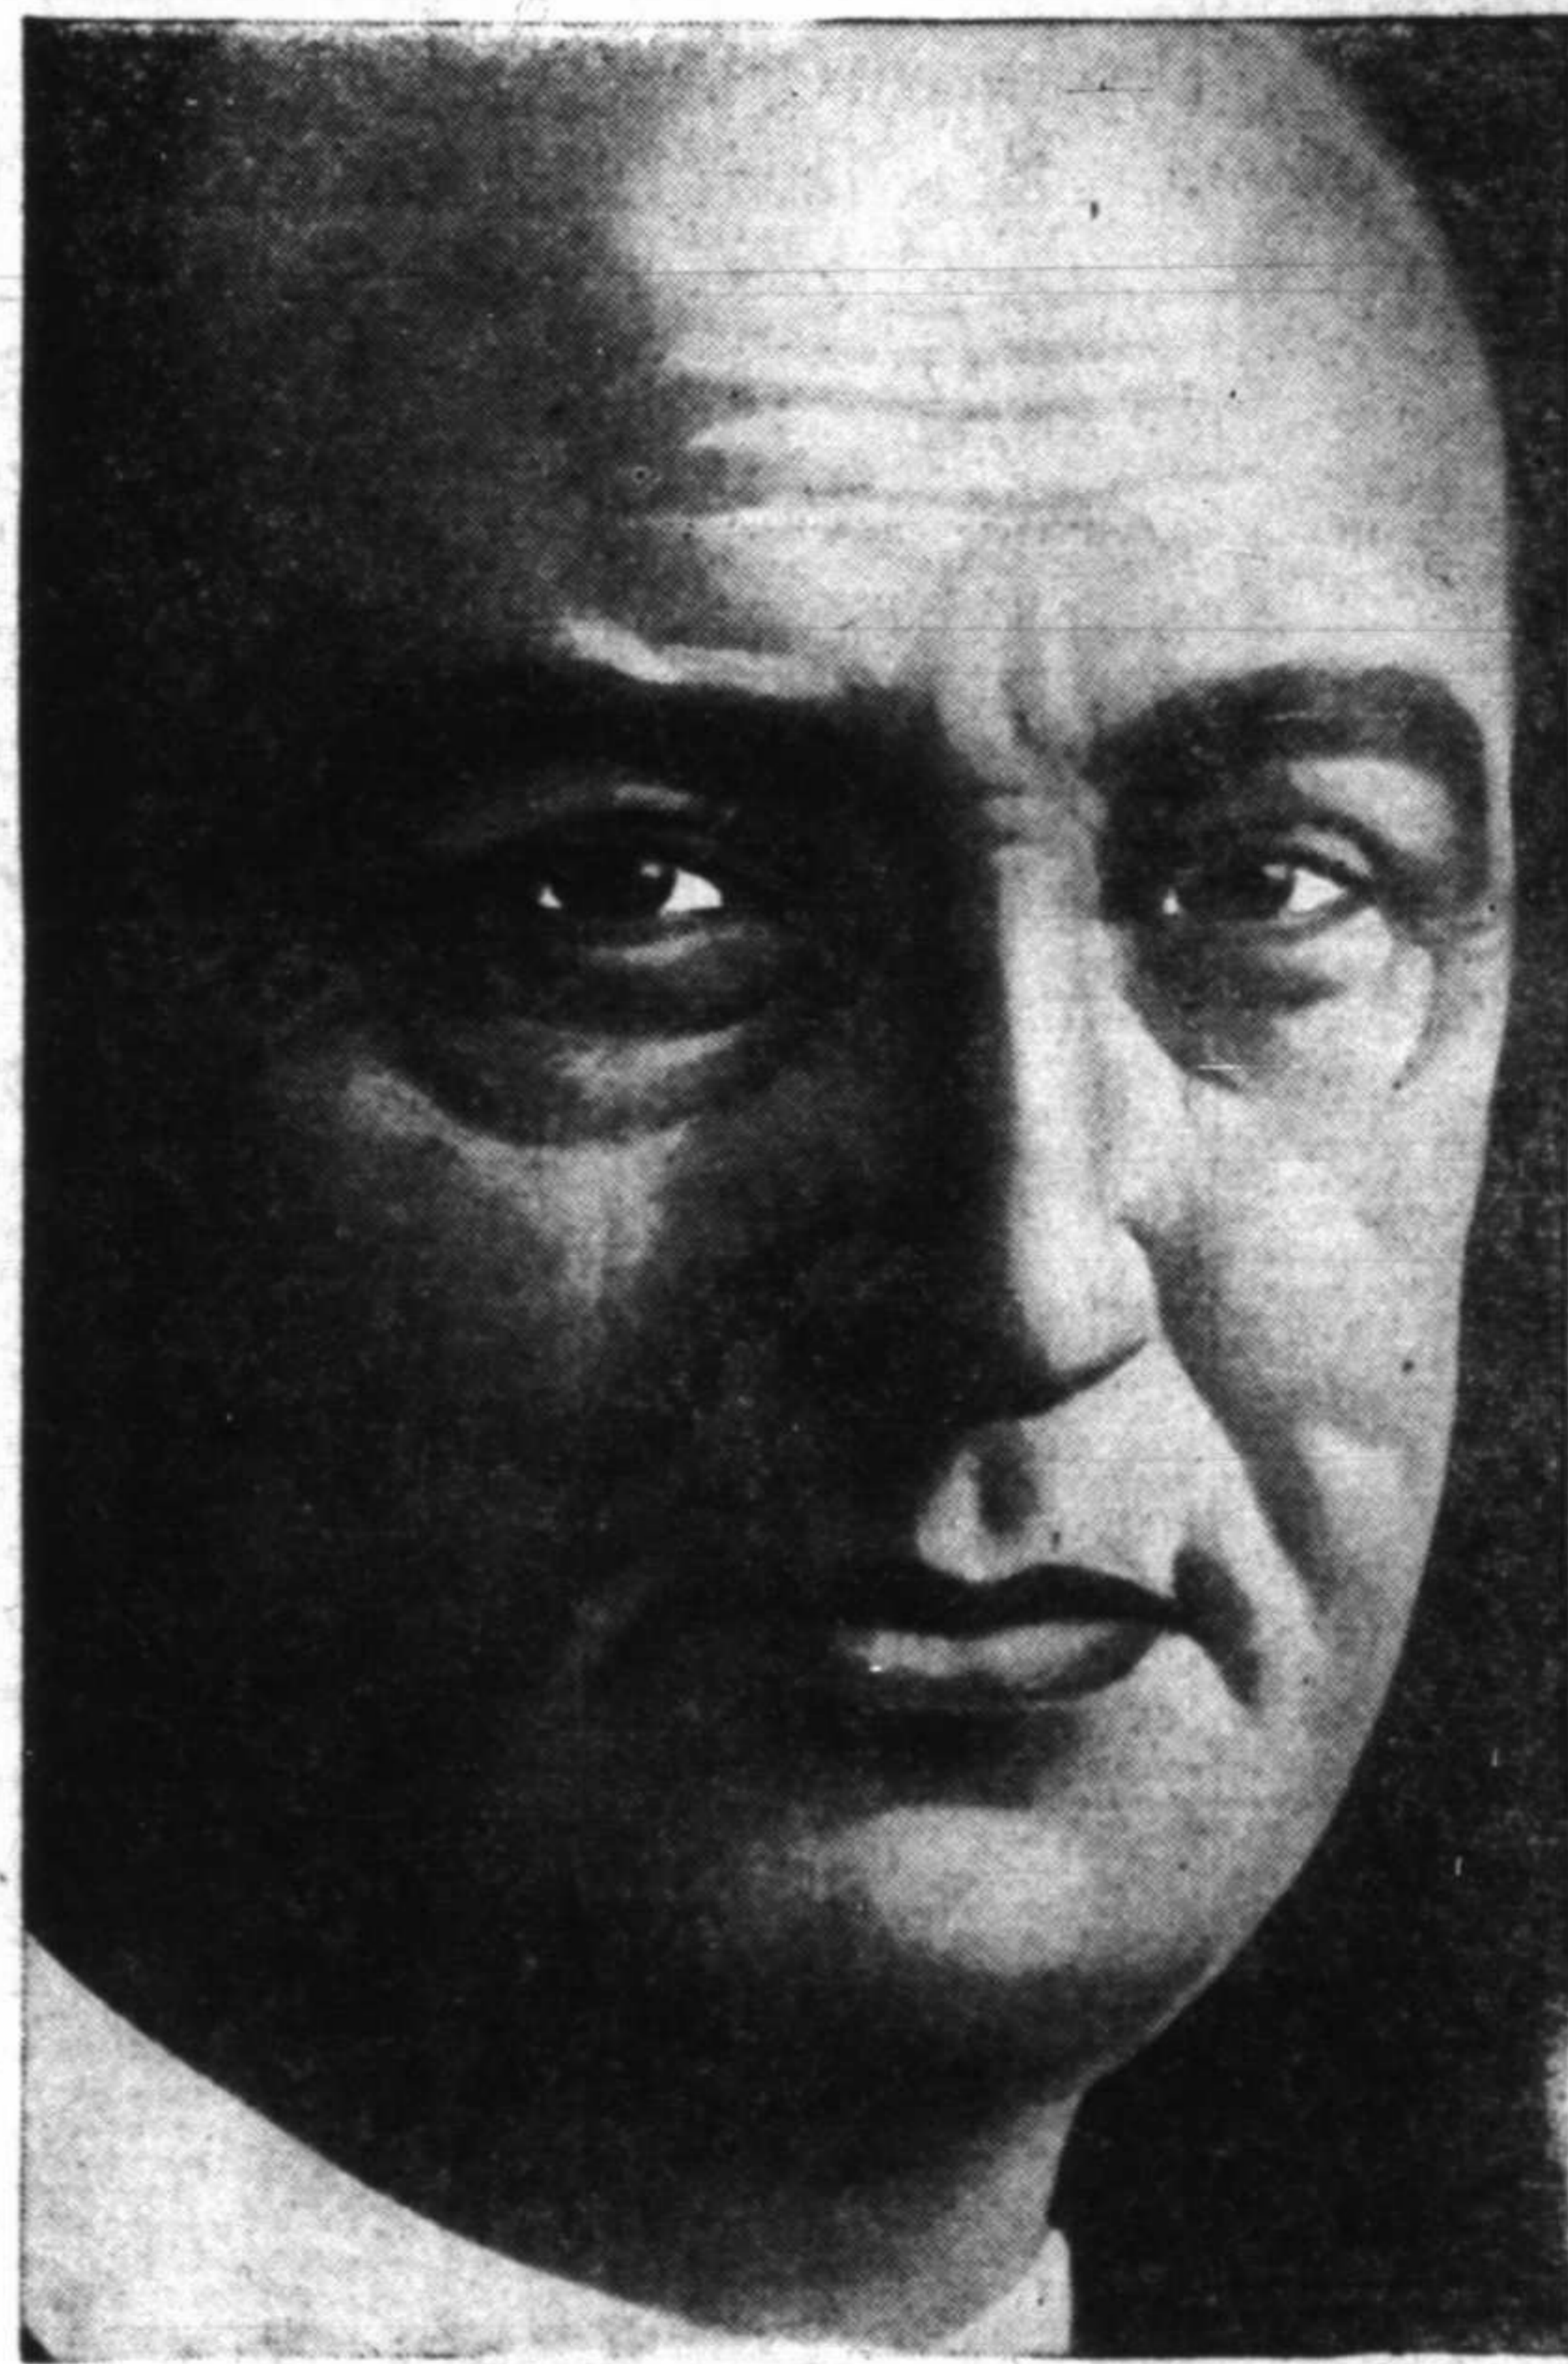

"Listen, Irish," yelled Red. "I've got a little date with you. Wait until I get dressed—we've something to settle—just you and me, see?"

"Not interested," snapped Terry, throwing off his legs. His face was streaked with sweat and dirt. Blood trickled along the side of his jaw. Flopping down, he listlessly pulled off wet stockings, pants and jersey, picked up a towel and head for the showers.

"I am certain that without the use of modern, scientific methods the skyscrapers for which our country is so justly proud would never have been possible. I am equally convinced that your modern use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the Toasting of your LUCKY STRIKE Tobaccos ranks with the many other great contributions to the health and comfort of millions and that it is responsible for the skyscraping sales of your famous brand."

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. THE first week of my reducing campaign has been highly successful in every way but one. A lot of folks have sent methods to cut down an expanding waistline; others have had a lot of fun kidding me in person and on the telephone.

There is one of my regular customers who calls on me every morning about 7:45. He weighs 221 pounds now and ever since I have known him he has been as big as the back of a hack.

Department Of Labor Employes Wonder Who Will Be Next Boss; Davis Likely To Stay Until He Enters The Senate

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Few government departments have ever been kept in such long suspense over the question of who would be their next boss as the Department of Labor.

It has been going on ever since the election of Herbert Hoover, which was just about two years ago. At that time the new president would require the services of Secretary James J. Davis, known locally as "The Puddler" and—for some reason or other—in Pennsylvania politics as "Banjo Jim."

Sooner or later there must be a new secretary. Davis stayed on because Hoover couldn't decide whom to put in his place. Then Jim announced for the Senate in Pennsylvania and won the nomination, which means his election, so there was but a brief lull in the buzz of speculation in the Labor Department and labor circles generally, as it was first supposed that Jim would resign as soon as he began to campaign.

Popular With Employes Lots of people in the department are worried because they fear they are likely to get almost anyone. Many of them would just as soon keep old Jim. After all, he doesn't putter around with department affairs round to bother anyone and probably there are few men who would give rise to so many funny stories as old Jim. The latest yarn is about how Jim is supposed to have asked "What fire?" when Mr. Hoover asked him about a fire which had burned out two of his important bureaus ten days previously. Your correspondent doesn't vouch for its authenticity, but it illustrates the sort of stories people have asked "What fire?" when Mr. Hoover asked him about a fire which had burned out two of his important bureaus ten days previously.

The point is, however, that such able bureau chiefs in the department as Mary Anderson of the Women's Bureau, Grace Abbott of the Children's Bureau and E. A. Tamm of the Bureau of Labor Statistics have for years been allowed to do as much progressive, constructive work in their fields as limited funds would permit. The Immigration Bureau has principally distinguished itself for its handling of the "push-back" problem, and the practice of many industries which release workers when they reach middle-age. Once he even admitted that millions of persons were subsisting on less income than was required for a decent standard of living. On the other hand, Davis' departure has issued misleading figures as to unemployment. It was responsible for last winter's weekly employment statements, which showed an improvement every week but always totaled up to a net decrease in unemployment at the end of the month.

A dozen men and a couple of women had been proposed as successors to Davis and some of them will be discussed in another article.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS Mrs. A. (Sanford, N. Y.): "Would you please give me the calorie value of an ordinary stied baker's cookie? I am trying to substitute a cookie for dessert rather than eating a piece of pie at dinner time." Also please give me the calorie value of a canned peach, and a ten-cent dish of plain ice cream.

Answers: These are good questions, and show a knowledge of the proper way to reduce weight. Going on a very strict diet for a few days or weeks seldom results in any permanent reduction. But the lowering of the calorie value of foods eaten over a long period of time is the safe and efficient way to reduce.

It is very difficult in answering these questions to state the amounts of the foods mentioned are not given. "An ordinary baker's cookie" might mean almost anything. A vanilla wafer contains about 45 calories. A cookie three inches in diameter has about 100 calories. A piece of apple pie (average portion) has about 350 calories. An average portion of canned peaches has about 90 to 75 calories. An average portion of ice cream contains about the same calories. It depends on its richness.

Seagraves To Have Gas Next Month BY Staff Correspondent SEAGRAVES, Oct. 28.—Seagraves is expected to have natural gas by the middle of November. W. D. Rhea, editor of the Seagraves Signal, says: "Superintendent Ryan of the West Texas Gas company told me that for some unknown reason the pipe ordered by the South Plains Pipe Line company to extend from Brownfield to Seagraves had not been delivered." Mr. Rhea said: "He added that it would take the company about 25 working days to lay the mains into here from Brownfield."

The survey work has been completed and on south and west of Seagraves towards Seminole. The pipe line company is prepared to put on extra men to rush construction as soon as the pipe arrives.

In New York With Swab Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Our own Who's Who and Who Isn't? Of all the successful authors and playwrights who were "newspapermen once themselves," George Kaufman seems to find it hardest to divorce himself from his old editorial background.

A cubbyhole in the office of the New York Times is dedicated to him, and here he has kept his desk for these many years. It's a typical newspaper office corner, a bit off by itself, but atmospheric, nevertheless.

When he became one of the eminent playwrights, he fitted out a well-elegant "study" room, a kind of library, only to find that it was too high-toned to work in. Kaufman found himself sneaking back to his old newspaper desk, while his elegant study fell into neglect.

Until his latest collaboration with "Once in a Lifetime" was produced, Kaufman sought to be kept on the payroll of the Times. He did not completely give up his job until a few weeks ago, and then with the understanding that he could get it back whenever he wished. He believed that he should always have a rainy day "ace in the hole" against possible failure.

Old-time newspaper folk tell of how, in the early hours of the morning after the dog-watch had leaned back to read the last street editions, Kaufman would come in out of the night and start work on some play.

At least 40 per cent of his dramatic creations, it is said, came from the venerable typewriter in his old cubbyhole. There he abhorred turned out gossip and chatter of the theater, and whereas less successful reporters leaned on their new laurels, Kaufman found inspiration in the familiar atmosphere.

Charles Driscoll is another newspaper gent with an eccentricity of his own. He is an extravagant hobbyist, but he has turned it back into cash on many an occasion.

For Driscoll became an authority on pirates. He read everything and anything on the subject and fitted out the largest library of pirate literature in the world. It contains some 1200 volumes. Furthermore, he ransacked the world for old pirate chests and doubloons and pieces of eight, and once went successfully to the old sunken galleon the Spanish.

He's just turned out a book on piracy, however, and may get some of his investment back.

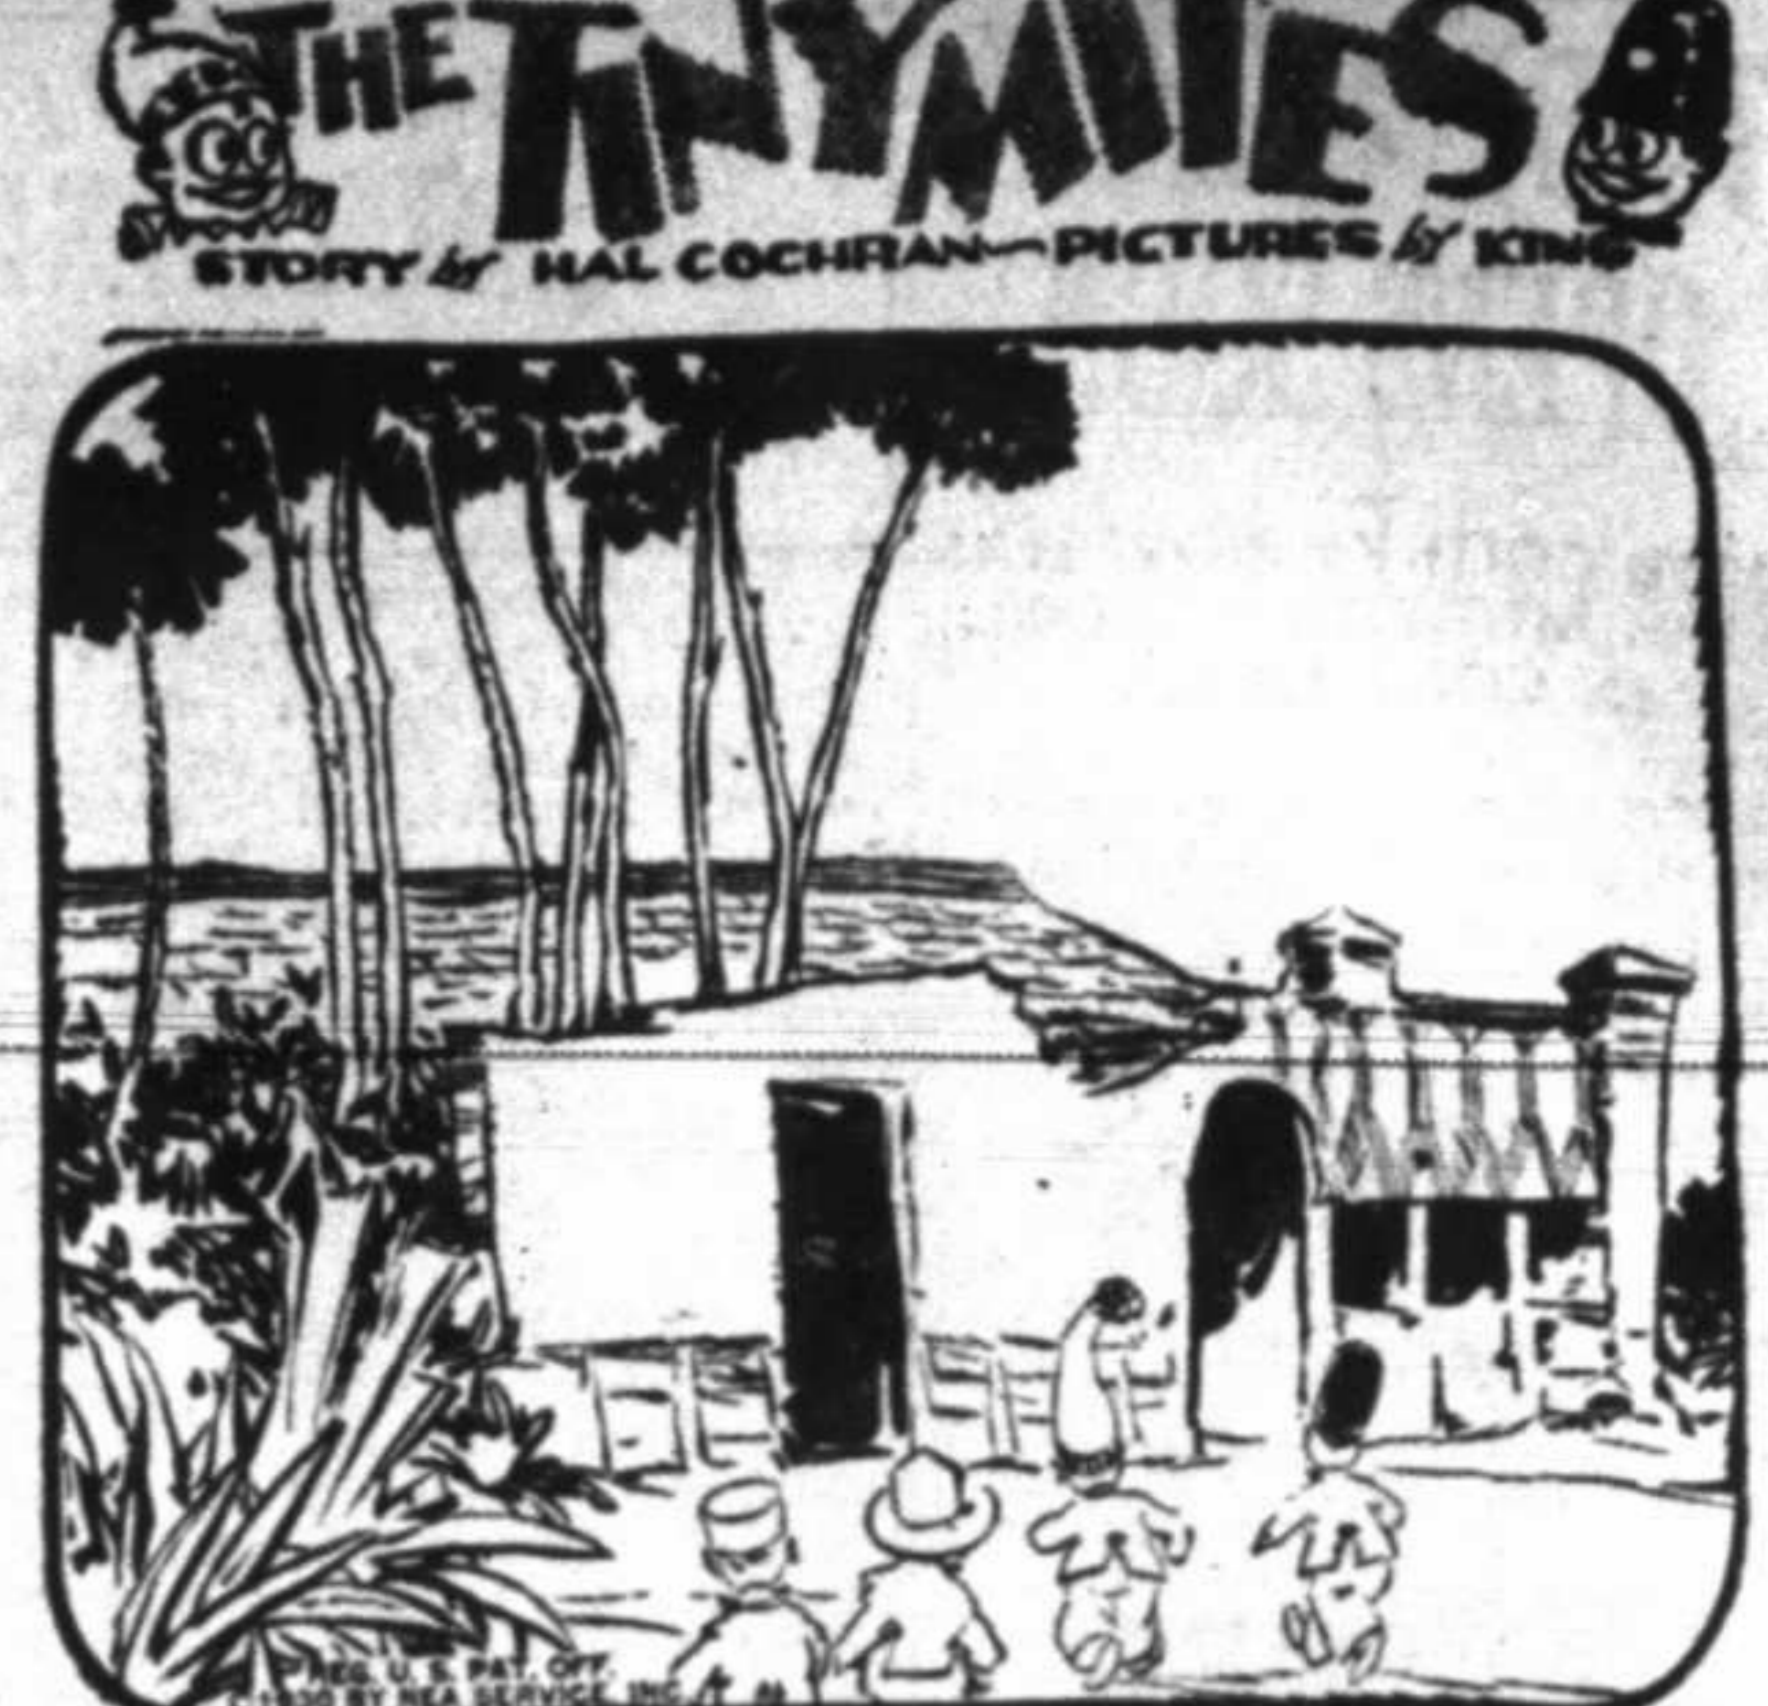

George Gershwin, who is back in the limelight with his new musical show "Girl Crazy," and a tune called "I've Got Rhythm," began at the age of 16 by working for a Tin Pan Alley concern. He has, in his very modernistic penthouse, a photograph of King George, autographed "From One George to Another," which, of course, Gershwin prizes as an elegantly democratic gesture.

Although a very superior pianist, he gets fussed when playing before the organ and only rarely gets into a couple of years in France, a couple of years ago he bought one for $10,000 and had it shipped over. It is said that he has never had it unpacked.

He is a snappy dresser, tossing a considerable amount of his income on clothes. Before he got into the big money, he admits many extra vagances where shoes and hats were concerned—paying up to $30 a pair, when he could barely afford it. It was said that when he was making about thirty a week, twenty-five went for dress.

A Pittsburgh husband and wife are rivals in the beauty parlor business. And the gossip is that they are doing it merely to keep up appearances.

All of a sudden Clowdy cried, "Ouch! Ouch! I wish I hadn't tried that doughnut when it was so hot. It burned, and that's not sport. You know what would be good with these? I think a glass of milk would please. There is a creamery right near by. Let's go and get a quart."

So, while more doughnuts were made brown, they bought the milk to wash them down. "Don't eat too many," said the Travel Man. "They'll make you ill." "Well, two's enough for me," said one. "And round about I think I'll run. I know I need some exercise, since I have had my fill."

Then Bouty said, "I think that would do every one of us some good. There's hike out in the country where there's lots of room to tear. We'll take around and jump and about, like captive wildcats, just let out. There's nothing makes you feel so good as breathing good, fresh air."

Along a country road they ran. Right soon the friendly Travel Man cried, "Wait for me. I'm much too old to run as fast as you. When I was young I, too, could tear, but now I simply do not dare. I miss a heap of fun because of things I cannot do."

And so they slowed their pace a bit. Each Tinymite was feeling fit. They started playing leap frog and it was a sight to see. "Come and join us, Travel Man," one Tiny cried. "Just try! You can!" But Mister Travel Man said, "No! That's not the sport for me."

Just as the sun felt very hot, they came upon an eating spot that stood out on the open land. Great palms grew overhead. The Travel Man said, "To this place the folks who traveled used to run. It's old and rather worn out now, so the more folks are fed."

The Tinymites meet some gypsies in the next story.

LUBBOCK-AMARILLO CLASH HOLDS SPOTLIGHT OF WEEK

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS

SPUR ELEVEN ON PROBATION

RECORD CROWD IS EXPECTED FOR CLASH

NEARLY 2,000 TICKETS ALREADY SOLD; MANY FROM NORTH COMING

Lubbock's football teams will hold the spotlight of West Texas this week when they engage with two other good teams in important battles. The Lubbock football fandom will be divided, with loyal Texas Tech supporters accompanying their Matadors to Canyon for a big Homecoming Day event for the Teachers and the rest of the city turning out to the Tech stands to see the Lubbock High Westerners make a stand for District 1 high school honors.

The game here this week is by far the most important high school clash of the section for standing contests of the year. Some 2,000 out of town fans are expected to be on hand for the game, which will draw the biggest crowd of the season to the Tech stands.

Two a day throng that boarded the Texas Tech Special at the Fort Worth and Denver Friday night and set forth on the trek to Cowtown. Not as many Lubbock fans and Tech students went as were expected, but the ones who stayed at home missed a good trip and a good game. The Lubbock delegation was given a rousing reception, when the T. C. U. band and a large number of students met the train Saturday morning and took part in a big parade through the downtown district to the Texas Hotel, Lubbock headquarters. Coach Cawthon took his Matadors to the Elacation which was a wise move. Considerable whoopee characterized the occasion at the Texas. A wonderful spirit exists between Texas Tech and Texas Christian University.

The game itself, though the score was lopsided against the Matadors, was not disappointing to the Tech and Lubbock delegation. The fighting spirit and the staunch defense and the determined offense displayed by the Bull Fighters more than made up for such a great loss. But Tech will long moan over that touchdown that never went on the records. Far be it from us to question the rulings of officials (7) but it was plain to see where they might have been wrong Saturday. It was in the first quarter that Tech scored, and had it counted, the rest of the game might have been different. Brothers started around his right and planted the ball, and in the twinkling of an eye had kicked a low punt over the heads of everybody, but the T. C. U. safety man touched it in flight, just before it fell over the goal line, and instantly Captain Jack Durham was upon it, for an apparent touchdown. After a brief argument, the play was called back and T. C. U. was penalized 3 yards for "interfering with the kicker."

There's a ruling against interfering with the kicker, but Brothers had already started running, and if there was any interference it did not hinder the trip of the ball. Naturally, he would have been tackled because he had the ball. It would be nice if the man with the ball, attempting a run, could stop as if to punt and be untested by the defense. Yea, wouldn't it?

Baylor University and Texas A. and M. College have renewed athletic relationships after a lapse of years. The presidents of the institutions finally got together and agreed to let the teams play, and the Argies and Bears may engage in a conference football game next fall. The Argies are to be congratulated for the show of loyalty and support as brought out by the number who attended the game in Fort Worth Saturday, and have asked us to make known their feelings. "We wish to thank our friends of Lubbock and the students of Tech for making the trip in the interest of Tech athletics, and promise to fight and work harder than ever for their friendship and loyalty," Coach Dutchey Smith, speaking for the coaching staff and Tech officials, said this morning.

We would add our personal note of appreciation for the support offered the college and its team. The Lubbock delegation made a fine showing, and nearly matched the T. C. U. student body in size and beat the Christians by a great long shot in pep and spirit. With their team always on the losing end, the Tech supporters gave vent to yells that surely had bearing on the Matadors' playing. They are to be commended in a big way, and we rise to salute them. And that Tech Band, with its new uniforms is the nearest approach to beauty and splendor that we've seen in a long time. The Matador band uniforms made their first public appearance at T. C. U. and they are truly the antelope's eyelids, and no foolin'.

District Number One of the Texas Interscholastic League will hold a spotlight on Lubbock this week when the Lubbock High school Westerners stage a desperate fight to regain the favor of football fandom for championship honors. They will face the strong Amarillo High Golden Sandstorms in one of the feature games of the season.

Both teams will be in the best of condition for the battle Saturday, unless injuries in hard workouts this week impede the clubs. Neither team engaged in a conference game last week, though the Sandies played a practice game with the Central High Panthers of Fort Worth, and won, 28 to 0. Lubbock's Westerners were idle after five straight games, the last three of which were played away from home.

Record Crowd Indicated. Reports from ticket agencies in Lubbock and in Amarillo indicate that a record crowd will be on hand for the performance at the Tech athletic field Saturday. Reserved seats, which were expected to reach the 2,000 mark in Lubbock by noon today, and 1,500 tickets are rapidly being disposed of in Amarillo. Section C of the west side stands have been reserved for Amarillo fans in return for the courtesy offered Lubbock fans at the game last year in Amarillo and nearly all of the seats of this section have been reserved. Lines formed yesterday and last night at the Hilton and Lubbock hotel drug stores where reserved seats were on sale, and agents reported that an early sell-out was expected.

To Care for 8,000. Arrangements are being made to care for at least 8,000 people at the game Saturday. Bleachers are being erected on the east side and at either end, and a temporary bowl is likely to be built to care for the large crowd expected.

The Westerners began their week's work yesterday with a stiff scrimmage against the Pioneers, second string cohorts of Coach Swede McMurray, with the Pioneer coach and Assistant Coach W. Keeling of the Westerners carrying the ball in the Pioneer backfield against the regulars of Coach Henry Frnka. So it will be each day until Friday, the Westerner mentor said. Heavy drills each day, with a lighter tapering off Friday will constitute the preparations made against the Sandies' invasion.

Coach Frnka would not venture an opinion as to the possible outcome of the game, but appeared to take the matter mightily seriously, expressing a faint hope that the Westerners would come through. "If we can beat Amarillo, I believe we will win the championship of the district, for we are all sore at Pampa for slipping up on us at the start of the season, and want another chance at the Harvesters," Coach Frnka said yesterday.

WESTERNER ACE

The young gentleman below is a typical Westerner. He puts his whole heart into a football game and when the final gun has echoed from the stands, Ovie can still be found ready to carry on for his team. He is expected to have a part in battling the strong Amarillo Sandstorm here Saturday.

Fox Hunters Are Staging Futurity

CRAB ORCHARD, Ky., Oct. 28. (AP)—The second coat of the chase futurity and a horse show comprising the program today for the National Fox Hunters association. A light rain fell last night, promising ideal weather for the second day's chase.

Headliners by Ladkin out of Bonnie Stride and Ruling Chief by Little Danger out of Susan Moore tied for first place in the general averages of yesterday's hunt. Headman is owned by G. P. Patton, Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Ruling Chief by the Golden Valley kennels, Forest City, N. C., of which Tracy Moore is master.

The weather yesterday was too dry for good hunting. The judges disqualified 17 of the 78 dogs that started, leaving a field of 61 for today's cast. The horse show was to be staged this afternoon after the hunt.

TEAM IS ALLOWED TO CONTINUE WITH PLAY IN LEAGUE; OFFICIALS OF SPUR SCHOOL CRITICIZED AND REPRIMANDED

With the furore over possible ejections of Class B high school grid teams of District 2 settled yesterday when the executive committee of the Texas Interscholastic League handed down a decision annulling the 10-semester rule, the contenders for district honors in this section will settle down today in the grinding preparations for important games this week-end.

Most of the turmoil regarding the supposed ineligibility of certain players and teams has centered about the Spur High school Bulldogs, one of the leading favorites for District 2 honors. A special ruling of the state committee in session late last night in Austin, Texas, annulled the 10-semester rule of the Spur supporters and other teams of the district when the Bulldogs were declared eligible, according to a statement by Roy B. Henderson, chairman of the executive committee, in a long distance telephone conversation with Spur officials.

Mr. Henderson said that Spur's team and all players would be eligible for conference competition this season as the result of the committee's new ruling which nullified the 10-semester rule. The rule was not enforced until the season of 1931. The District 2 committee of executives had recommended that Spur be suspended from football competition for the remainder of the year because two ineligible players allegedly had been used.

Coach Gene Taylor of the Spur Bulldogs stated last night that the Spur team would continue its schedule, meeting the Crosbyton eleven next Friday.

All of the leading teams of Class B football in District 2 engage in important games this week. Heading the card is the Lamesa-Brownfield game at Brownfield Friday. Both teams have gone through their schedules this far undefeated and an interesting game should result. Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes rested last week and reports from there are to the effect that the Tornadoes are in fine shape and ready to give Coach Marlin Hayhurst's Cubs a tough battle. Brownfield also rested last week though the second and third teams were brought to Lubbock for a game with high school Pioneers.

The Slaton Tigers, after dropping a 40 to 0 encounter to the Spur Bulldogs, will try to stage a comeback against the Tahoka Bulldogs next Friday at Slaton. The other teams of the district are fairly evenly matched, and each team will be fighting for sub-district honors. Loveland and Littlefield meet Friday, as do Canyon at Floydada, in sub-district games of importance. Lorenzo and Ralls tie up in what should be an interesting game, and Amherst will meet Muleshoe at Muleshoe. Abernathy plays Whitarral, and Crowell meets Matador in the other games of the section.

Three Regulars Of Matadors Injured

CAWTHON SENDS TEAM THROUGH LIGHT WORKOUTS

With three of his regulars out of uniform and off the practice field nursing more or less serious injuries, and the major portion of his team suffering from minor bruises and scratches sustained in the trying game last Saturday with the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs at Fort Worth, Coach Pete Cawthon sent the Texas Tech Matadors through a rather light workout yesterday while the Picadors of Coach Dutchey Smith became acquainted with offensive plays as practiced by the West Texas Teachers College Buffaloes. This afternoon the freshmen will run a few of the plays against the varsity in a short scrimmage session.

Next Saturday the Matadors will clash with the Canyon Buffaloes at Canyon in one of their most important games of the season. The game will be the feature attraction at Canyon's annual Homecoming Day program, which will be attended by large number of out of town guests, alumni and ex-students of West Texas Teachers.

Others Show Up
Although a trio of his best men are on the hospital list, with possibilities of being back in harness by tomorrow at the earliest, two first string gridsters were back at practice yesterday after a long absence. Big George Langford, probably the most valuable man of the team, undoubtedly the heaviest and most important lineman, was back in uniform after nearly a month on the sidelines. Langford was declared ineligible on a technical charge by a special faculty ruling soon after the 1930 season started, and was held out of games until Saturday, when faculty members and coaches met at Fort Worth making Langford eligible for the remainder of the

HE WAS WORKING OUT YESTERDAY AND APPEARS TO BE IN FAIRLY GOOD CONDITION. HE IS DUE TO START AGAINST THE TEACHERS SATURDAY IF HIS CONDITION CONTINUES TO IMPROVE.

Dose In Hospital
C. A. Dose, plunging fullback and regular starter in most of the previous games, sustained several minor injuries in the T. C. U. game that necessitated his removal to a local hospital, and may not be able to practice this week. Lawrence Franz, another regular backfield man, was cut about the mouth in the Frog frolic Saturday and is not able to take part in scrimmage. Six stitches were taken in his lower lip Saturday between halves and he finished the game. Cliff Yeager, who has promises of developing into a real fullback, was in the hospital for a time yesterday with an injured knee. He may not be able to play this week.

Rumors Say Atz Is New Lookout Chief
DALLAS, Oct. 26. (AP)—Reports were circulated here today that Jake Atz, manager of the Dallas Steers last season would pilot the Chattanooga Lookouts in the Southern association next year. Rumors previously had linked Atz's name with New Orleans.

BATTLING GUARDS

Here's two good reasons why the Westerners forwards will have to bear down Saturday if they hope to make any gains through Amarillo line. The top photo is of Johnny Foster while the bottom one is of Bill Allen. Both are star guards of the Sandies and their play during the season has been a potent factor in the success of the Amarillo club.

SON OF BOB' LAFOLLETTE'S OLD AIDE NOW BATTLES 'PHIL' FOR GOVERNORSHIP; FATHER AND SON POLITICS DIFFER NOW

MILWAUKEE, Wis., (P)—Here is an epitome to the tales of father-and-son politics built around the careers of LaFollettes in Wisconsin: Forty years or so ago, when Robert M. LaFollette, the father, was setting out as a young man to swing political weather vanes in Dane county, Wis., it was Charles C. Hammersley, a rural horse buyer, who became his John the Baptist.

LaFollette was running for district attorney in the county, and he used to ride around, during the campaign, with Hammersley in Hammersley's buggy.

There's a fine young fellow, the elder Hammersley used to tell friends in the days of "Bob" the elder's first campaign. Hammersley, through his trading experience, knew practically every farmer in the county.

He was elected, and his debut in public office started a career was destined to continue to the halls of congress.

Hammerly, in his campaign, has confined himself almost exclusively to attacks on the republican party rather than Phil LaFollette, the son of his father's old friend. He is 43, and LaFollette is 33.

Mine Blast

Continued From Page One ped men surviving if they had kept their ledge doors closed. The force of the mine explosion is upward, the said, and indications were that the blast occurred between the 12th and 10th levels. No one would conjecture as to the cause of the explosion, which crushed Donnelly against wooded struts at the mine head, ripped sheet iron hoisting off the top of the engine room, and sent 200 feet into the air, causing a reflection on the gray walls of the state penitentiary half a mile away.

Existence of the camp added to fears for the trapped men. It is quickly fatal, although not explosive. Three hundred or more persons were killed, about the shaft mouth and the engine room this morning.

T. W. Wheatley, McAlester, mine manager, and part owner, collapsed in a private office near the scene of the blast. Hours later he sat in the engine room, staring fixedly at the floor and speaking only when addressed. He is a veteran miner.

All except four of the trapped miners are married. Most of them have families.

The names of the trapped and dead miners, as given out by the company, follow: William Donnelly, Nick Zontic, and his son, Nick Zontic, Jr., Sam Roberts, B. Lewis, Barney "Blue" Isaac Cole, J. P. Hamman, Marcelus Ross, Joe McCauley, Richard Fackner, Bob Corrier, Frank Husted, Seth Heathcock, Steve Deagan, Tony Campbell, John Wright, Herb Lehman, Bob Losero, Dominic Molet, Ernest Pears, Frank Poppy, T. B. Meredith, W. H. McMurtry, Tom Holt, Lige McCauley, Phillips Bieta, John Ghigo, Homer Bond, and August Marco.

RAILROAD CASE

Between 30 and 40 groups and organizations will intervene in the case. Opposition to the granting of the permit of convenience and necessity will be headed by the Santa Fe, with the Rock Island and Burlington systems assisting.

Lubbock's application to have the hearing held here has been received by the commission. No action has been taken as far as is known here.

Notice of the meeting was received Monday by the local organization. A large crowd was sent from Lubbock.

Every town along the proposed route is to be represented, including Big Spring, Ackerly, Lamesa, Brownfield, Levelland, Lubbock, Tahoka, Littlefield, Oltom, Dimmitt, Hereford, Amarillo and Vega.

The meeting is to be held in the Crystal Ball Room of the Hotel Herring Friday, with a luncheon at noon. Some 300 to 400 out of town men are expected.

AL SMITH IS HEARD OVER HOOK-UP

FORMER GOVERNOR HAS APPEAL FOR 5-DAY WEEK FOR LABOR

(By The Associated Press) PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 28.—Speaking before 12,000 persons here last night and over a nation-wide radio hookup, former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York advocated a five-day work week for American labor, urged uniform state child labor laws and arraigned the Republican administration for its alleged failure to recognize or attempt to alleviate unemployment and business depression.

Last night's was the first of two addresses in the 1936 campaign scheduled for the former governor. The second will be in Boston tonight when, he said, he will discuss the tariff in detail with a view to showing that it is in great measure responsible for unemployment.

Refers to Raskob His advocacy of the five-day week came in the form of a reference to a radio speech by John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman.

"The Democratic party does not want to make political capital out of unemployment," said Mr. Smith, "but as the minority party, we insist on our right to protest, to do not believe, and I don't believe that any Democratic leader in this country believes, that the Republican party is responsible for depression. We have too many brains. But we do blame the Republican party for promising a continuation of prosperity when they knew they could not do it."

ACCIDENT VICTIMS

(Continued From Page One) been checked and the girl is well on the way to recovery. Geraldine received the bite while playing in the yard of her home Saturday noon. She did not see the snake and thought when she felt the bite that she had struck her finger against a sharp stick. When she did see the snake she told her parents and was rushed to a doctor and then to the Lubbock sanitarium.

Physicians believe that they may be able to save the sight of both eyes. One was said to have been more seriously affected than the other.

MRS. GARNER

Continued From Page One as my husband's secretary, to worry over the fine points of official or social distinctions, such as have been discussed, pro and con, in the so-called Gann-Longworth controversy.

"My only criticism on official social functions is not a question of precedence. If they'd just serve 'trioles' and corn bread, those state dinners would be delightful."

Whether or not that Texas fare of corn bread and beans will ever be served by a Republican president to a Democratic speaker of the house and his wife need not concern official circles, at least for another two months, as regardless of the election results, Speaker Longworth will remain in the all this winter.

However, those who are closest to Mrs. Garner declare she can be depended upon to uphold the dignity of any position her husband may attain, as she has hitherto actively aided him in bearing the duties of his entire official life.

Up with the sun, Mrs. Garner invariably is busy at her secretarial work in Mr. Garner's capital offices by 7 a. m. A full two hours before most offices on Capitol Hill are opened.

Every letter that arrives is answered, or acknowledged, on the day it is received. By noon, however, much of her work is cleared away, permitting the long afternoon rambles through Washington parks which are Mrs. Garner's favorite diversions.

At home in Uvalde, Texas, Mrs. Garner says, she and her husband lead a simple country life on a 6-acre tract in the heart of the town. They have their own cows, chickens, garden, fruit, and Mrs. Garner usually gets busy at her gardening at sun-up. Her son, with his wife and little daughter, live next door. And she says she would not care to make any marked alterations in her schedule of living, even should she become the wife of the speaker of the house.

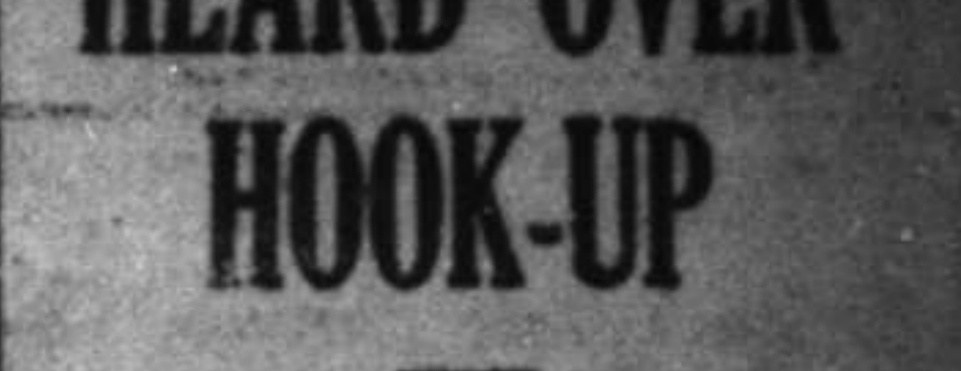

Youth Is Held Up By Bad Weather

DETROIT, Oct. 28.—(P)—Unfavorable weather today delayed suspension of 18-year-old Stanley Boynton's attempt to set a new junior transcontinental flying record.

Boynton flew here yesterday from Rochester, N. Y., his flying time from Rockland, Me., the starting point to Detroit, was 6 hours and 48 minutes. The record he is seeking to lower is 27 hours and 46 minutes.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(P)—Southern and Central Europe and the lands bordering the eastern Mediterranean and Aegean seas are suffering from a severe buffeting by gales and icy waters.

They have their own cows, chickens, garden, fruit, and Mrs. Garner usually gets busy at her gardening at sun-up. Her son, with his wife and little daughter, live next door. And she says she would not care to make any marked alterations in her schedule of living, even should she become the wife of the speaker of the house.

We deliver MORE THAN A RANGE when we deliver your ESTATE

From the very first day your Estate takes its place in your home, it will mean fewer and happier kitchen hours for you—freedom from baking worries. The very reason why you see this beautiful, modern range in the kitchens of so many women you know.

You will appreciate the new color harmonies, the Estate Gas Range—Ivory and Jade Green, Ivory and Ebony, as well as the standard French Gray and White.

The most important part of any range is its oven. And in the Estate you have an oven different in construction from any other. A fresh-air oven—built like a double-boiler. The heat is absolutely uniform—the baking results are absolutely uniform, every time. But that's not all. You can have your Estate with a Heat-Retaining (Insulated) Oven, if you like. It keeps the heat in where it belongs—it does not overheat the kitchen, even on hot Summer days.

Then think of these other features: ThermEstate Oven Heat Control that does the watching and waiting for you; oven racks that slide in and out like cabinet drawers; Rigidraw smokeless broiler pan; stay-cool door handles; easy-to-clean, one-piece cooking top; solid enamel panel behind gas cocks; utensil drawer; vitreous enamel finish, inside and outside; rounded corners, and not a nut, bolt or hinge in sight.

Make it a point to see our complete line of modern Estate Gas Ranges—soon.

Cold weather is motor-punishing weather... Now, more than ever, you need the extra protection of this DE-WAXED, EASY-STARTING OIL

In cold weather motors usually are hard to start, but Conoco Germ-Processed oil actually makes starting easier!

cessed Motor Oil gives you safe starting—and quick starting, even at zero temperatures.

Change now to this new oil. Use it all winter for motor safety and economy. You always will find Germ-Processed Motor Oil at stations bearing the Conoco Red Triangle.

There are two good reasons for this. First: Germ-Processed oil is thoroughly dewaxed and does not congeal at low temperatures. Second: Germ-Processed oil does not drain away during periods of motor idleness. The initial "turning over" process is made easier by the protective lubricating film which is on duty before you touch the starter. The usual 40% to 60% of motor wear occurring during the starting period is greatly reduced. Conoco Germ-Pro-

OCTOBER RAIN BRING BOOST IN OUTLOOK

BUSINESS CONDITION IN DISTRICT SAID TO BE IMPROVED

DALLAS, Oct. 29.—The heaviest rains which fell throughout the Federal Reserve district during the first week in October relieved the prolonged drought, left a good season in the ground, and created a brighter outlook for agriculture and business, the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas issued today stated.

Farmers are now able to proceed with fall plowing and to complete the seeding of small grains. The review continued: "That portion of the small grain crop already so far is growing rapidly. Late feed crops were benefited to some extent. Reports indicate that cotton bolls are maturing more normally. The condition of livestock and the ranges, which had become critical in the drought-stricken areas prior to the rains, has been greatly improved. Grass and weeds on the ranges have started and with a frost considerable pasturage should be available during the winter. The movement of livestock to market has been considerable and prices have turned upward."

The review stated that trade

At first reluctant he finally acquiesced when offered $100 down and $100 more on delivery. He made a "bomb" of a length of rubber hose, several bits of broken tile and a few old socks. But when he delivered the bomb he found the stranger was Detective Eugene Canevari who had received information that Razzano was a bombmaker for gangsters. And when the detective found the bomb was a dud he arrested Razzano for obtaining money under false pretenses.
