Senators Disagree On Cannon

Satirical 'Letter' From Texas Enlivens Dull Day

By EDWARD L. RODDAN

WASHINGTON, June 6. (US)—Senator Caraway upholds Bishop James Cannon Jr., for refusing to testify before the senate lobby committee regarding his political activities in the 1928 presidential campaign.

Senators Walsh, of Montana, and Blaine, of Wisconsin, believe Bishop Cannon was guilty of open contempt of the senate when he walked out on the committee yesterday without being excused.

That was the puzzling situation confronting the committee today as Chairman Caraway's return was awaited to determine what to do in the bishop's case. A bitter fight loomed.

Touch of Satire

As the committee marked time on the case the senate listened to a satirical skit on the stock dealings of Cannon and Chairman Claudius H. Huston of the Republican national committee.

It was staged by Senator Norris, of Nebraska, who introduced into the records a tearful letter from "Sally Gamble of Cross Roads, Texas." In it "Sally" complained that her husband "Joe Gamble" was sent to jail for gambling with other people's funds.

Sally said she failed to see the justice of this and asked Norris to help get him out. The letter said in part:

"Joe gambled with other people's money. As nearly as I can find out Bishop Cannon did the same thing. Joe is in the pen, but the bishop is able to defy even the United States senate and still retain his high position in the church."

Huston's Activities

Another paragraph devoted to Huston's activities said:

"The evidence before the lobby committee shows that Mr. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, gambled on Wall street with someone else's money and no attempt has ever been made to send him to jail. What I would like to know is if Mr. Huston can gamble with other people's money on Wall street, why cannot Joe do the same thing?"

As chairman of judiciary, Norris appointed the lobby committee which Bishop Cannon defied by walking out in the middle of a hearing.

There was a flutter of excitement, and few quiet chuckles on the part of senators, as the letter was read to the senate. There was a scurrying for maps and postal guides but a diligent search failed to locate "Cross Roads" on the broad plains of Texas."

Caraway Due Sunday

Meanwhile, Senator Caraway's office reported that the chairman of the lobby committee will probably arrive here Sunday from his home in Arkansas.

When he arrives, Senators Walsh and Blaine will ask him to call a committee meeting to decide what course should be taken with regard to Cannon's defiance.

Two courses apparently remain open for the committee to take. They may issue a formal subpoena for Cannon to compel his presence once again or they may cite the case to the senate with a recommendation for contempt proceedings.

Despite Caraway's defense of the bishop's defiant attitude, it was hardly thought likely the committee would allow the matter to drop

YOUTH'S BODY TAKEN FROM MUDDY WATERS

Orlie Barnes of Detroit Falls From Horse as Animal Leaps

RESCUE EFFORT FAILS

Michigan Youth, 21, Loses Life in Tragic Accident

After a searching party had spent three hours of diving and dragging the murky waters of the Wichita river, the body of Orlie Barnes, 21, of Detroit, Mich., was brought to the surface within seven feet of where he went under about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon when he jumped his horse into the river at a point about four miles from the city and about one-half mile from the Guernsey farm dairy on the Petrolia road.

Jumps Horse From Cliff

The young man with two companions, all on horseback, were rounding up a number of cows which had strayed down to the river. Several of the cattle crossed the river and when Barnes came up to the edge of a steep bank and saw the animals, he plunged his horse down the cliff, almost a sheer drop, and into the water. The horse went completely under while the other two young men watched. The animal emerged from the water without its rider and came ashore.

Weldon McCain, one of Barnes' companions, dismounted and plunged into the 10-foot water when the young man failed to come to the surface after a few moments. He found Barnes struggling and attempted to swim ashore with him, but the drowning man clutched at him and pulled him under several times. McCain was forced after several futile attempts to disentangle himself and use his spent energy to reach shore to keep from being drowned himself. Meanwhile, E. J. McCain, the other of the trio and Welden's brother, went for help.

Calls for assistance were sent to the sheriff's department and the police department and Sheriff W. G. Bralley and Chief Frank Burns and Motorcycle Officer Homer

JOHN ALSUP GETS 20 YEARS FOR SLAYING

Former Officer Convicted in Bank 'Frame-Up' At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, June 6. (UP)—John Alsup, former Fort Worth patrolman, late today was sentenced to serve 20 years in the state penitentiary for the murder of Will Tate, negro, during an attempted holdup of the First State Bank of Polytechnic here.

The jury retired at 10 o'clock Thursday night. The verdict was returned shortly after 4 p. m. today.

Alsup also was charged with killing George Terrell, another negro with Tate. The state contended Alsup planned the robbery, stationed himself across from the bank and killed the negroes for the $10,000 reward offered by the Texas Bankers' association for dead bank bandits.

Alsup's first trial ended in a mistrial when a district court jury found him guilty but was unable to agree on the punishment. Alsup denied the charge.

A. P. Boyt, Fort Worth barber, confessed to planning the robbery and to driving Tate and Terrell to the scene of the holdup.

Wet Candidate Wants Dry Law in Good Hands For Final Trial

DALLAS, June 6. (AP)—Former Congressman Robert L. Henry of Houston, wet candidate for the United States senate, asked President Hoover to place enforcement of prohibition in the hands of its staunchest advocates in an address here tonight.

"If they have not made a success of it by the time congress convenes in December, congress should grant a national referendum on the question," Henry said.

Henry suggested Joseph Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., be placed in charge of the work with the following assistants: Bishop James Cannon Jr., Dr. Clarence True Wilson; Dr. F. Scott McBride, Cato Sells of Fort Worth and Alvin Moody of Houston.

GRAF LANDS AT GERMAN PORT

Ship Completes 1,800-Mile Air Voyage

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, June 6. (UP)—The Graf Zeppelin dodged terrific storms today to complete an 18,000 mile voyage linking three continents in 19 days.

A tremendous ovation greeted the dirigible as it appeared over Friedrichshafen and Lake Constance at 7:10 p. m., (1:10 p. m. eastern standard time.) Thousands of members of the German Automobile club, making a special run to this city from all parts of the land, joined with Friedrichshafen residents in cheering German's greatest single implement of international good will.

The Zeppelin landed at 7:25 p. m., bringing to an end a series of voyages which began here May 18 and included two stops at Seville, Spain and Pernambuco, Brazil, and single halts at Rio De Janeiro and Lakehurst, N. J. Five minutes later the expert German ground crew had walked the big craft into its hangar.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander, said the whole trip had been most successful and had served to clarify many hitherto unsolved questions concerning transoceanic flying.

NEWCASTLE OIL WELL BEST IN SHALLOW AREA

Riggs No. 6 Larimore Flows 45 Barrels Per Hour From 690-Foot Pay

Special to The Record News

NEWCASTLE, Texas, June 6.—One of the largest shallow oil producers ever completed in north Young county was brought in today in the pool north of Newcastle. The well, Doc Riggs' No. 6 Larimore, is flowing 45 barrels per hour, or about 1100 barrels per day.

Location of the producer is 450 feet from the west line and 1460 feet from the south line of T. E. L. survey 2247. It is a 150-foot direct south offset to Riggs' No. 5 Larimore, which came in Thursday as the best well in the pool at that time. The No. 5 today gauged 805 barrels.

The sand in the big well completed today was topped at 691 feet and drilled only five feet when the flow started. The extremely shallow depth of the pay in the pool has attracted an unprecedented drilling campaign. Tonight 17 rigs were running in the pool. Results of the play to date show 11 producers and two dry holes. The 11 wells are making approximately 3500 barrels.

Within a radius of a few miles of Newcastle about 35 wells are being drilled and more than 300 men are at work on these operations. Newcastle, without a large hotel since fire destroyed the two-story brick inn here several weeks ago, is crowded with oil men and workers and every rooming house is filled.

Senate Committee Orders Probe of Oklahoma Campaign Expenditures

Candidates in Both Parties Charged With Using Too Much Money in Senatorial Primaries

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Immediate inquiry into charges of excessive campaign expenditures in the New Jersey and Oklahoma senatorial primary races was ordered today by the senate campaign funds committee.

The preliminary investigation was placed in the hands of investigators. Chairman Nye said no action would be taken by the committee until reports were received. Definite committee action in either state before the end of the month seemed unlikely.

The charges received were not made public. In New Jersey, Senator Nye said, the complaints did not involve all three Republican senatorial candidates but he did not specify which ones were accused of "flaunting the $50,000 limitation placed on candidates by New Jersey."

Dwight W. Morrow, Joseph Frelinghuysen and Franklin Fort are battling for the Republican senatorial nomination in New Jersey in a race involving the prohibition issue. Fort is the dry candidate. The primary will be held June 17.

In the Oklahoma senatorial primary, Nye said the charges involved candidates in both parties. Senator Pine, Republican, is a candidate for renomination in that state.

"The source of the complaints in Oklahoma," he said, "are not sufficient to warrant repeating."

MOODY 'SURE' TO STAY OUT

Governor to Give Support To Ross Sterling

AUSTIN, June 6. (UP)—That Gov. Dan Moody will not run for re-election in the Democratic primaries but will place full support of the present administration behind Ross Sterling, Houston, chairman of the state highway commission, was pronounced a virtual certainty in political circles here tonight.

Sterling will retain his position as head of the highway board, endeavoring to keep his proposal for a state road bond issue out of the campaign as much as possible, the United Press learned from a source close to the administration. The Houston publisher still has three years to serve on the highway commission and probably will retain that position if he is not elected governor.

Returning from a trip to the Rio Grande valley, Governor Moody today still declined to say definitely whether or not he would make the race. He already has told at least two persons, however, that he would not run.

Governor Moody also declared that Alfred Petsch, who returned to the capital today after conferring with Sterling at Houston Thursday and with Governor Moody here on Wednesday, was not his official representative and that the state representative's action was voluntary.

Petsch said that he is confident Governor Moody would decline to run.

Lynch Davidson, drafted by a group of Hunt county citizens, is expected to announce formally Saturday that he will be a candidate

The body was burned beyond recognition.

TWO DIE AS SHIP PLUNGES TO GROUND

Cratus Douthitt Killed and Warren Fannin Fatally Hurt

PILOT AVERTS BLAZE

Dying Man Tells How He Jumped From Plane in Effort to Escape

Warren Fannin, 24, of Ashland, Ky., a cousin of Mrs. L. P. Hammond of Wichita Falls, died about 7 o'clock Friday evening as a result of injuries suffered in an airplane crash earlier in the afternoon which instantly killed Cratus Douthitt, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Douthitt of Henrietta.

The crash occurred about 2:30 o'clock, 20 minutes after the two fliers took off from Staley field for a short flight over the city. The ship fell directly in the center of a dirt road leading off from the old Holliday road, about one mile due east of the Municipal golf club, its wings stretching squarely across from ditch to ditch.

Pilot Turns Off Motor

Douthitt was extricated from the front cockpit, dead when persons near the scene of the crash reached the wrecked ship. The heavy OX-5 motor in the plane was jammed back into the seat. In Douthitt's hand were found the keys to the plane, indicating he had shut off the motor and turned the gasoline line switch in order to prevent a fire when the plane struck the earth. The large puddle of gasoline which formed after the crash but which did not ignite was grim evidence of the flier's presence of mind even in the emergency of knowing his plane was to crash.

Judge O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, was called shortly after the crash to hold an inquest over the body of Douthitt. His verdict was "death from falling to the ground in an airship."

Fannin, occupying the rear cockpit, was placed in an emergency ambulance and rushed to the hospital where physicians said he had suffered internal injuries. Mrs. L. P. Hammond, cousin of Fannin, said Friday afternoon before his death that he had told persons at the bedside he jumped from the failing ship shortly before it crashed into the ground, apparently attempting to avoid the crushing weight of the wreckage.

Persons driving within sight of the plane before it nosed downward said the ship was apparently flying smoothly at an altitude of about 500 feet when it made a sudden bank. It was believed one of the wings crumpled in flight, causing the banking effect, but the condition of the ship after the crash prevented determining whether the wing was crushed before or after the fall. The plane was a Travelair two-place, open cockpit biplane, powered with a water cooled motor. It belonged to the Lone Star Aviation company and had been kept at Staley field for the past several weeks, where the two young men had been using it in their training as pilots. Although the Lone Star company, of which L. P. Hammond is president, operated from the Municipal airport, the plane had been stationed at Staley field where mechanics could keep the motor in repair while the ship was being used, it was explained.

Sought License

Douthitt obtained his private pilot's license several months ago but had been in training here for the rank of transport pilot. He had returned home recently from Austin, where he was a student in the University of Texas. He had also attended the Terrell school at Dallas and Southwestern university at Georgetown. During the years he was in college, he was prominent in social activities and was a member of various social and honorary fraternities. He was also a member of the Knight of Pythias at Henrietta.

Born in Waurika, Okla., April 12, 1907, the young man had lived the greater part of his life in Henrietta. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Douthitt, own extensive ranch lands in Clay county and Mr. Douthitt is recognized as one of the largest cattle owners in Northwest Texas. Besides the parents, the deceased is survived by two brothers,

'Too Much Oil' Causes Humble to Discontinue Purchases in District

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Too much oil was one of the reasons advanced by W. S. Farrish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining company, in his statement issued Friday in which he said the Humble company after July 1 will withdraw from its purchase of crude in the pools of Wichita, Wilbarger and Archer counties, and in sections of the Panhandle field.

The announcement of the Humble company, one of the largest purchasers in the district, to withdraw will be a severe blow to the producers in the territory covered by that company's arteries. Mr. Farrish also indicated that the withdrawal when once started would in all probability be of a permanent character.

The Humble company's program, brought about by the continued mounting of production in this district, may be followed eventually by one or more of the other purchasing companies as a means to curtail to some extent the extensive drilling campaign now under way in this part of the state. A review of the wells drilling in Wilbarger, Jack, Clay, Montague, Wichita, Young, Cooke, Baylor and other counties comprising the Wichita Falls district number in the neighborhood of 211, in various stages of completion, while each day finds new wells pouring hundreds of barrels of flush production upon the already overtaxed condition of the pipe lines.

The Humble company is a common carrier and will take all oil offered for transportation by producers to the place of destination.

Hoover Doles Out Selected Naval Pact Secrets to Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, June 6. (US) — President Hoover today flatly refused to give the senate foreign relations committee any but a few selected secret documents relating to the London naval treaty.

His refusal to turn over the records requested by Senator Johnson, Republican of California, as essential if the committee is to give proper consideration to the treaty, was contained in a letter from Secretary of State Stimson to Chairman Borah.

The tone of the letter was sharp. Stimson suggested, in effect, that the committee has all the information it needs in merely reading the pact, without prying into the notes and correspondence regarded as private by the administration.

Stimson referred to the documents as "extraneous matter."

Senator Johnson had declared that withholding of the full facts regarding the treaty should be "resented by every individual senator."

The letter of refusal reacted as Johnson had anticipated. Numerous senators resented it in view of the fact that the senate, rather than the executive branch, is the treaty making power of the government.

President Hoover's reason for withholding the records was that their production would not be "compatible with the public interest," said Stimson.

ROBOT TO VISIT FIVE STORES

Mechanical Man Gives His Schedule Today

Ross Robot, the Mechanical Man who has attracted wide attention in Wichita Falls during the last week, will make fire personal appearances at various Wichita Falls stores Saturday, it was announced Friday.

Robot will start his tour at 10 o'clock Saturday morning when he will entertain and mystify customers at the Perkins-Timberlake store for an hour or an hour and a half. He will next go to the Texas Electric Service company at 11:30, where he will greet friends of that company in connection with its carload sale of Frigidaires.

At 2:30 o'clock Robot will start a program at the Holt pharmacy, in the Holt Hotel building, remaining there until 3:15, when he will go to Saul's store. He will close his appearance at the Nathan Lynch store at 9 o'clock Saturday night, entertaining crowds there until the store is closed.

Robot, while entirely human, simulates the actions of a mechanical man so exactly that he has caused wide comment over the nation, and many debates as to whether or not the figure which greets the public is the man, Robot, or a mechanical contrivance.

Miss Sugar Gets Semi-Annual Bath as Youngsters Shout Glee

Shining like a new dollar and as proud as any harem queen, Miss Sugar, three-ton elephant in the city zoo, no doubt will make the peacocks which share her pen look to their laurels for some time to come. For Miss Sugar has had her semi-annual beauty treatment, which consisted of an oil bath and massage.

Approximately 200 youngsters and a host of grownups were at the city zoo Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock to witness the so-called beauty treatment which was administered at the hands of M. T. Bennett and his assistant, Raymond Searcy.

With the assistance of an iron "persuader," Mr. Bennett led his customer from her shack out into the open where the spectators could see the procedure. The first item on Miss Sugar's program was to have been a manicure, but Miss Sugar, being the temperamental elephant that she is, was in no mood for the manicure and as elephants have a peculiarity of not caring whether their nails are trimmed and polished or not, the idea was finally abandoned.

The idea of being chained to an iron pole did not appeal to Miss Sugar's sense of justice and proper treatment of a lady of her distinction and refinement, and trumpets of loud protest excited and entertained the spectators. However, as the procedure of applying the three gallons of neatsfoot oil with stiff bristle brushes wore on, Miss Sugar became more complacent and showed her gratitude with occasional caresses with her trunk.

Following the first application of oil, she was thoroughly rubbed and cleansed with brushes, after which a second coat of oil was applied. When the treatment was finished, Miss Sugar was conducted back to her quarters where she was lodged for a short time for the oil to completely penetrate and also to protect her from any dust storm that might occur. Miss Sugar will receive a similar treatment again sometime in the fall of the year.

TWO DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Training Plane Falls Near Golf Course

Troy and Ambrose Douthitt. The last named brother was en route home from South Texas at the time of the crash here. He was located and notified of his brother's death at a point north of Austin. Funeral arrangements will be made Saturday upon his arrival in Henrietta.

HAMMOND INJURED

By a coincidence of accidents, L. P. Hammond, president of the company whose plane crashed Friday afternoon, was at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital receiving treatment for injuries sustained in a rig accident near Archer City at the same time that Warren Fannin, injured fatally in the plane crash, was brought in. It was through Mr. Hammond that Fannin had come to Wichita Falls from his home in Kentucky to learn to fly. Mrs. Hammond was the young man's cousin. Mr. Hammond was at the hospital receiving first aid for a cut on the mouth, suffered when a piece of rig machinery struck him.

The body was taken overland to Henrietta late Friday afternoon by the Merkle Undertaking company.

Fannin had been in Wichita Falls for the past five months, having come here from his home in Ashland, Ky., with the intention of learning to fly. He had been offered training and a ship to use in his instruction period by Mr. Hammond. The young man had completed his flying course with about 25 hours in the air and was to have taken the government tests for his private license within the next few weeks, upon the visit of the government inspector at the fields here.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Fannin, who live near Catlittsburg, Ky.; a sister, Mrs. Lawrence Bolding, also of that city; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Fannin of St. Petersburg, Fla.; the maternal grandfather, George Ross of Mavity, Ky.; an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Miller of Wichita Falls; cousins, Charles Miller and Mrs. L. P. Hammond, both of this city; uncles, Lon, Babe, Frank, Tode, Green and Mose Ross; and other aunts, uncles and cousins.

The body of Fannin will be forwarded to his home in Kentucky at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon by the Hines mortuary. One or more of the young man's relatives in this city will accompany the body, probably C. M. Miller, but which one had not been decided definitely Friday night. Funeral services and interment will probably be held at Catlittsburg, near the home of Fannin's parents.

Youth Drowns In River Here

Bentley immediately started for the scene of the tragedy. Members of the fire department also accompanied the party and later dived in search of the body. Grappling hooks were obtained from Lake Wichita and Frank B. Creighton, scout executive, and several of his Boy Scouts were summoned to aid in the diving.

Employed at Dairy

The search continued for almost three hours, divers scouring the bed of the river for several hundred feet below the point at which Barnes went down. Finally, Homer Bentley dived and after a few moments below the surface, came up with the words, "I found him." He swam ashore and the body was placed in an ambulance from the Dalton-Powell Funeral home and brought into the city. An inquest was held over the body by R. V. Gwinn, justice of the peace.

Barnes had been in Wichita Falls for about four weeks and had been employed by W. D. McCain, a brother of the two boys with whom Barnes was riding, at the Guernsey dairy. He had been employed there for a short time about a year ago and had returned to his home in Detroit, where he stayed until returning last month. The young man's father, it was found from his effects, is a veteran employe of the Ford Motor company plant and his brother an employe at the Chevrolet plant in Detroit. Messages were sent Friday night notifying his relatives of his death. Funeral arrangements will not be made until word has been received from them, but it was thought the body would probably be forwarded to Detroit Saturday.

STRANG NAMED IN CROSS SUIT

Universal Oil Co. Officials File Petition

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 6. (UP)—Cross petitions denying charges of the plaintiff and damage suits for $500,000 were filed in district court today by offilcals of the Universal Oil and Gas company against F. W. Strang, Fort Worth, Texas, oil operator.

The cross petitions were filed by Ross Lillard, attorney for S. E. J. Cox, head of the Universal company, after Special Judge Sam Gill continued Strang's action until July 14, next.

In his petition filed April 15, Strang sued for $5,750, allegedly due in commission.

In separte answers Cox denied the plaintiff's allegations and brought suit for $250,000 for "slanderous and libelous" statements about Cox and T. A. White, H. A. Kroeger, W. W. Edwards and Nellie E. Cox and charged Strang "fraudulently" represented certain oil properties which the company contracted to purchase through him.

In their answer and cross petition, White, Kroeger, Edwards and Mrs. Cox alleged Strang caused the receivership action brought in federal court and that the "plaintiff falsely stated the defendants had embezzled and are embezzling large sums of money belonging to the Universal" by circulating typewritten circulars, letters and telegrams

Head-on Into Brick Wall at 37 Miles Per Hr.!

Amazing Test of New GENERAL Dual-Balloon

The Blow-Out Proof Tire

AT the wheel was Captain Dick Grace, famous Hollywood daredevil and motion picture thrill king, whose spectacular feats have included the cracking up of 34 airplanes for such productions as Wings, Lilac Time, Hell's Angels, Young Eagles and other thrilling air dramas.

Because of his many daring exploits, Captain Grace was selected as the one man capable of giving the Blow-Out Proof Dual-Balloon a test such as no other tire has ever been asked to stand . . . crashing an 8-cylinder touring car under full power at 37 miles per hour into a solid wall of bricks and concrete.

The pictures show what happened!

The Blow-Out Proof Test that Astounded Safety Experts

He Comes Up Smiling

Failing to sail clear over the wall as he had expected, Captain Grace was shot forward, doubling over like a jackknife, bending the cowling out of shape, and was then hurled into the air and to the ground. But fortunately he was only dazed. In a few moments he was on his feet ready to study the effect of the crash.

"As I neared the wall and realized the speed at which we were going to strike, I did not believe an automobile tire could be made capable of standing that blow. In engineering terms there were 170,000 foot-pounds of energy behind the impact," Captain Grace declared after the test.

AN 8-cylinder touring car drives head-on down the field into a solid wall of bricks and mortar. ¶ A shattering crash as its 3,500 pounds of speeding steel smashes against the barricade! ¶ The entire 10-ton wall, foundation and all, is lifted and tipped forward more than a foot, so terrific is the force of the impact!

Yet the General Dual-Balloon Tires, forced to take the first tremendous shock, are not blown out.

Note how the tires are pancaked against the wall by the irresistible weight and momentum of the car . . at the moment of greatest impact they were mashed absolutely flat between the wheels and the wall.

The force of the blow left the steel rims bent and flattened out of shape. but the Dual-Balloon Tires, with their built-in rubber shock absorbers, had withstood that battering punishment without a sign of bruise or break.

Examination immediately after the crash revealed absolutely no injury inside or out. Tested against tons of tempered steel and solid masonry, the Blow-Out Proof Tires alone had stood the shock without damaging effect.

This was a test without parallel in all the history of pneumatic tires . . . a demonstration of tire safety and endurance that astounded Akron's safety experts, rubber engineers and all who witnessed it.

Safe against the sudden impact of road holes and bumps that shatter the carcasses of ordinary tires at today's highway speed . . . you can trust your life to the Blow-Out Proof Dual-Balloon. Nothing before has even approached its amazing performance . . its all-road, all-weather, all-speed safety . . its easy riding comfort . . its lower final mileage cost.

When you know that over 400,000 people are hurt annually in accidents due to tire blowouts, punctures and skidding . . .

IT'S TIME TO ACT!

Blowouts didn't mean much in the day of slow speeds and small tires, but with balloon tires it's different.

Your slowest speed on the highway today is 44 feet a second. At 60 miles per hour it's 88 feet a second . . . and roads are now traffic crowded and the ditch too close . . less than 1/10th of a second from flat tire to tragedy!

If it cost more to be safe you might be excused for taking chances. But it actually costs less to run with the Blow-Out Proof tire. Its mileage is cheaper, it saves gas, your car stays quiet and new thousands of miles longer, and safety is yours without charge.

Note how the rims were bent flat, inside and outside, on both front wheels by the impact. Yet neither the tires nor tubes were cut. They had not lost a pound of air.

This Week A Special Opportunity

Another week of demonstration—and we have an extra allowance plan at special terms that are sure to interest you. Let us tell you the cash trade-in value of your present tires. We can use them in any condition—and you'll be money ahead to make the change now.

These are EXCLUSIVE FEATURES . . . .

1. BLOW-OUT PROOF. Blow-Out Proof means the final guarantee of safety all the way! Lasting protection throughout the whole lifetime of big mileage—more important than any guarantee because it's the prevention of trouble and not the adjustment of mileage that counts.

2. EASIER RIDING. The lowest pressure ever known in a tire. Also built-in rubber shock absorbers. Extra "give" inside and throughout the tire. Eliminates the rebound of ruts and bumps. Double-balloon comfort.

3. EXTRA STRENGTH. More pure rubber and extra layers of cord guarantee tensile strength beyond any other tire. Not an ounce of reclaimed rubber in either tread or carcass.

4. LONGER LIFE. Extra layers of soft cushion rubber between the cord plies (actually lubricating strips that function like a film of oil and on a bearing) prevent overheating from internal friction, eliminating inside wear. This thicker cushioning throughout the tire lessens the force of damaging blows, absorbing the heavy impacts on rough roads that commonly cause carcass breaks and blowouts in stiffer tires.

5. SKID-SAFE. Extra "give" inside and outside, lets the whole tire hug the highway. Skid-safe, double traction, extra softness under the surface, that lasts as long as the tire itself. By actual test, a better non-skid even after wearing smooth, than stiffer tires with brand new tread.

Splendid Program Closes Methodist W.M.S. Week

A dramatization of the theme of Charles H. Sears' book, "The Crowded Way," given by Mrs. W. W. Fraser, made a splendid finale for the missionary week programs conducted by the members of the First Methodist W. M. S. which closed Friday morning in the parlors of the church. Mrs. Q. B. Lee presided and introduced the numbers.

Mrs. J. C. A. Guest gave the opening devotional and took for her subject the ancient city of Jerusalem, telling of its beautiful buildings and of the tenderness with which Christ looked upon it and lamented over it. The Jerusalem of the Revelations gave a pretty comparison for the subject studied.

James Guest sang "Jerusalem," directly following the devotional, with Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey at the piano. His interpretation of the song, given in a beautiful tenor voice, left his audience on a high plane of feeling.

Mrs. Homer Lee led the lesson on "Personalizing the City," and made a splendid talk on her subject. The thought was emphasized that a newcomer to a city was startled with the idea that the mechanism of a city governs the men; that a city must have men big enough to transcend the machine and that it is the duty of the church to save the people from the fatalism of the masses, to save them for idealism and for life. The worth of human beings is the basis of democracy, Mrs. Lee said. Personalizing the pulpit, making personal appeals, group and mass appeals and building a high lay leadership were stressed as ways in which the church might reach and help those in need.

She stated that the successful pastor was one who made the church have an atmosphere of home, who made each individual feel that he was of interest and who could see back of faces.

Lay leadership was defined as that leadership of city clubs by men worthy to lead. Mrs. Lee stated that the church cannot leave the social life of its people to other agencies, but that through the organization of camps and through teaching its members to see God in nature, it can do much for the unfavored districts, where environment is bad. Creating environment and the value of personality were two things particularly stressed. The business of the church was defined fostering intelligent religion.

Mrs. W. W. Fraser closed the program with a one-act drama the actors in which were a family from Mengusovci, a village of Czechoslovakia.

With the scene laid in New York City in January, 1930, she depicted phases of character which demonstrated all lessons taught in the book. The drama was well written and splendidly given and as a review of the week's work, could hardly have been excelled.

Mrs. Wayne Somerville showed comparative charts of urban and rural denominational churches. Mrs. L. H. Gilbreath of Wilson Memorial church, Mrs. E. T. Duff of the Presbyterian church and Mrs. O. A. Basham, conference secretary from Electra, were introduced to the company and Mrs. Q. B. Lee read "Out of the Depths," a lovely poem stressing the spirit of friendship before Mrs. W. W. Cook dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Those present were Mesdames Q. B. Lee, J. C. Hanks, Ray Calvert, L. H. Gilbreath, L. N. Cason, J. M. Sweeton, W. W. Fraser, E. T. Duff, E. B. Gorsline, A. H. Mahaffey, E. F. Bohmfalk, J. J. Perkins, Ferguson, Wayne Somerville, E. B. Haynie, B. P. Williams, S. S. McKenney, J. C. A. Guest, Homer Lee, W. W. Cook, T. C. Lynch, Albert Hanks, and James Guest.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

A creamy yellow bowl of thistles exquisite in their colors of pinkish lavender and cream on the desk at the Y. W. C. A. is a lovely introduction to Texas wild flowers.

We have thought no other state so blessed as Texas with blossoms that come untended, but California is claiming first place now with the carpet of flowers in Death Valley. The rainfall there this spring has brought a carpet of verdure never known before. And when Delphinium volunteers in any spot, we are ready to concede the palm.

A post card from Virginia, sent by a Henrietta friend of ours, wears a mass of pink rhododendron. We knew it grew wild on the hillsides of Kentucky. With rhododendron and dogwood and cool days and nights, the mountains are blessed this time of the year. We wish we might be traveling.

We had our lunch Friday in a cafe where a woman in shirt, trousers, and broad brimmed hat sat with her tourist husband at a table on one side of us and on the other side a little lady in high heeled shoes and a ruffled chiffon gown.

The surprising thing about the two, was the tone of their voices. The eyes of gentlemen near us rather shifted to the attractive tourist. And we listened to her with interest, because as she and her husband conversed, one could not help noticing the gentle timbre of her voices. She sounded like a lady.

But the wearer of chiffon and high heels had not only a voice that lacked refinement but possessed a vocabulary of slang just a little ahead of any other we have ever heard. Clothes do not always make the woman.

This question of clothes is responsible for a lot of worry. We have a letter written by Emma-Lindsay Squire from Yucatan where she is touring with her husband and taking Traveltone pictures. She has made a study of Indian history and legends.

The question of clothes came to our mind when we read her description of a Mestizo dance—called "Gran Baile de Raspa."—colloquially meaning a roughneck dance.

The women all wore the traditional Mayan costume—a style which one will see on the bas reliefs at Chichen-Itza and which has persisted among them for hundreds of years.

We imagine we hear men wishing that women's styles would last that way and that not so much money would be required to keep up with fashion's decrees.

But which style would they choose for perpetuation, we wonder. There is nothing more picturesque than the costumes of Marie Antoinette's era or those of Martha Washington, but they are hardly fitted to automobiles or airplanes. Grecian designs, through graceful and healthful, would not do for the woman who goes to the office for her day's work.

Styles change with times. We rather believe men like the change! They have something to look forward to. One can't believe all one hears about men's declarations—nor for that matter, all one hears about anything. We were told by our maid the other day that if one would place a cigaret in the mouth of a horned toad, he would puff it. We have not experimented, and not caring for horned toads, do not intend to do so. But it might prove a good stunt for cigaret manufacturers.

An ambulance has just gone rushing by with all the noise possible. We heard a man in the office remark, "there they go, slipping up on somebody," but the "slipping up" has disturbed our train of thought and we will say no more until another day.

Mrs. W. E. George and children, Harry Lloyd and Eugene Jr., arrived Friday afternoon over the S. A. F. E. line from Abilene, where they have been spending the past 10 days with Mrs. George's sister.

Customs Officers Resent Warning Against 'Harassing' Star Mothers

NEW YORK, June 6. (INS)—Two hundred and twenty-seven gold star mothers, sisters and wives returned today from their pilgrimage to France on board the U. S. liner President Harding, and the force of customs inspectors here was up in arms over what they say is the climax of a long series of indignities heaped upon them by Assitant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman.

The customs investigators were directed by Lowman "not to harass these women and to see to it that they were treated with every courtesy."

The inference that they would accord any other kind of treatment to the women relatives of the nation's martyrs inflamed the customs force.

The women themselves were utterly unaware of the discord in the customs department their arrival had brought. They were still filled with praise for the manner in which the pilgrimage to the graves of the fallen soldiers had been handled.

SECRETARIES HEAR HOLLAND

Feeder-Breeder Movement Described at Plainview

Special to The Record News

PLAINVIEW, Texas, June 6.—Three hundred commercial organizations managers and members of the plainview Kiwanis club heard Frank P. Holland of Dallas discuss the Texas feeder-breeder movement at the noon luncheon at the Kiwanis club here which was the feature of the second day of the 24th annual conference school of the Texas Commercial Executives association.

The morning and noon program of the school touched on agricultural problems and their relation to chambers of commerce and the afternoon program dealt with retail trade and manufacturing.

"Our purpose is to have Texas cattle and lambs fed on Texas feed in Texas so that Texas people may consume their own meat as well as furnish a market for the feed produced in this state," Mr. Holland said in stating the purpose of the feeder breeder movement.

The commercial organization secretaries heard C. M. Evans, agricultural agent of the Texas Pacafic railroad, discuss dairy development as the opening paper Friday morning. Poultry development was the subject handled by B. Frank Johnson of Paris.

C. O. Moser, secretary of the Texas Cooperative Cotton Marketing association, told in detail of the plans of the federal farm board, touching upon the cotton acreage reduction and supply and demand as it affects prices.

"Hard surfaced roads in Texas have made a race track to California and you secretaries should lend your efforts to making of Texas the playground of the nation so that tourists would stop in this state instead of just passing through," said Henry W. Stanley of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce who addressed the convention on retail trade development.

The afternoon session was brought to a close by Ray Gill of Beaumont who spoke on manufacturing and industries.

Explosion Wrecks Residence District

DENVER, June 6. (INS)—A section of the fashionable Park Hill residential district here resembled a transposition from a battlefield today following the explosion of a case of dynamite last night.

Dennis J. Phillips, 25, operator of Colorado mining properties and former star athlete at St. Johns Military academy, Salina, Kan., was blown to bits and almost every pane of glass within a two-block radius was shattered when the dynamite, which Phillips was taking to the country to bury because it had crystallized into a dangerous state, exploded.

A salad that's "different"

—spicy, stuffed dill pickles

Stuffed Dill Pickle Salad

6 Libby's Dill Pickles
¼ cup chopped celery
1 cup finely shredded cabbage
2 tbsps. chopped green pepper
¼ cup mayonnaise Head Lettuce

Cut Pickles in half lengthwise and scoop out centers. Mix celery, cabbage, green pepper, and mayonnaise together. Add Pickle centers, finely chopped. Fill Pickle halves with salad and arrange two on a bed of shredded lettuce for each serving. (Serves six)

A little ripple of delighted surprise is apt to greet this salad. It's so very unusual, so attractive in its green crispness.

And how refreshing the spicy, tart dill pickles are! What an edge they give to the pleasant blandness of chopped celery and cabbage.

Crisp—firm—spicy—delectable! Libby's Dill Pickles! Crisp and firm because the cucumbers are salted down within a few hours of gathering. Deliciously flavored because only fine vinegar, special dill weed and the daintiest spices are used.

Order a can of Libby's Dill Pickles from your grocer today and try them. They are delightful either served alone or combined with other foods as in the salad described here.

The race for health...

It is easily won by the man who eats the foods that furnish real nutriment and do not tax the digestion. Shredded Wheat with milk not only tastes good, but is good. The crisp, flavory shreds of baked whole wheat are so appetizing and strengthening. Combines the "roughage" you need with the proteins and mineral salts. Delicious for any meal with your favorite fruit.

RECIPES

Cherry Cocktail

One pound cherries
One-half cup chopped almonds
Three teaspoonfuls lemon juice
Six tablespoonfuls strawberry juice
Six tablespoonfuls powdered sugar.

Pit the cherries and sprinkle the chopped almonds over them. Pour over the above a syrup made by mixing the strawberry juice with the lemon juice and the powdered sugar. Chill and serve ice cold in cocktail glasses. Decorate the plate with two or three whole cherries and a leaf or two.

Summer Baked Ham

Cover a ham with boiling water, add 12 cloves, two bay leaves, one-half teaspoonful cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful celery seed and 10 pepper corns. (One quart of fresh currants crushed and a sprig of mint may be aded, if desired.) Simmer, allowing about 20 minutes to the pound of ham. A cooker may be used for the steaming of the ham but the time would vary some with the method. Pare off the skin, sprinkle the ham with brown sugar, brush over with a beaten egg, cover with bread crumbs, stick in cloves at even intervals, alternating with rows of green olives halved lengthwise. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees, 7400 degrees F.) allowing six minutes to the pound. Serve either hot or cold.

Three of a Kind Sherbet

Three pints water
Three cupfuls sugar
Three lemons
Three oranges
Three bananas.

Make a syrup of the sugar and water, cool. Extract the juice from the lemons and oranges, crush the peeled and scraped bananas with a wooden potato masher or put through a potato ricer. Mix the fruits at once with the syrup to avoid discoloration. Freeze at once using three parts of cracked ice to one part of rock salt. After the mixture has been frozen, remove the dasher; place a cork in the hole in the lid; pack in ice and salt using four parts of cracked ice to one part of salt for at least an hour.

Cornflake Grapenut Balls

Beat two egg whites until stiff, adding gradually one cupful of sugar; fold in one cupful of crushed cornflakes, one cupful of grapenuts and one cupful of shredded cocoanut. Flavor with a few drops of vanilla; make into small balls and bake in a very slow oven—250 degrees to 275 degrees F.

Asparagus a' la Hollandaise

Pour hollandaise sauce over steamed asparagus. In reparing fresh asparagus, wash carefully to remove the grit. Sometimes a small amount of dirt sticks under the larger scales and they should be removed, as well as the toughest part of the bibrous end. Tie the stalks in a bundle with the tips even and cut off the root ends evenly so that the bunch will stand on its base. Place in a pan and pour in enough hat water to come up on the stalks for about two inches; cover the vessel and cook until tender. The liquid in which the asparagus is cooked should be used for soups and sauces.

To make hollandaise sauce, put one-half cup of butter in a bowl, cover with cold water and wash, using a spoon. Divide it in three pieces, put one piece in the top of a double boiler with the yolks of two eggs and one tablespoonful of lemon juice; stir constantly with a wire whisk until the butter is melted; then add the second piece of butter, and, as it thickens, the third piece. Add one-third cup of boiling water or hot stock; cook one minute, season with one-fourth teaspoonful salt and a few grains of cayenne.

Chocolate Icebox Cake

Six ounces sweet chocolate
Four tablespoonfuls sugar
Two tablespoonfuls water
Five eggs
One and one-half dozen lady fingers
One-pint whipping cream.

Cook chocolate, sugar and water in double boiler until chocolate is melted. When cool add yolks of five eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly. Add beaten whites. Line a mold with oiled paper, put in alternate layers of lady fingers and chocolate mixture; let stand from 24 to 36 hours in the refrigerator. Serve with whipped cream.

Green Salads

The importance of raw, leafy vegetables as supplements to the typical American diet of meat, white bread and potatoes can not be over estimated. At least one raw vegetable should be included in the diet of every family every day of the year and two are even better. The reason for this is that only fresh fruits and raw vegetables furnish certain vitamines which are essential to good health. Green vegetables and fruits are also valuable sources for mineral substances which makes for better blood and stronger bones.

Lettuce, romaine, escarole, endive, chicory, cabbage, watercress, cowslip and tender dandelions are true green salads. Some of these salad greens are on the market all the year, but if they are not at hand good under studies are raw grated carrots, celery, beets, string beans, asparagus and spinach.

To make vegetable salads appetizing and refreshing everything must be fresh, crisp and cold. The greens should be washed and freshened in cold water, well drained in a salad basket or bag and left in the refrigerator to chill, either wrapped or covered. The outside leaves are not attractive to serve whole but may be shredded and used as the foundation for fancy salads.

A knife is of great service in eating many salads. So why not place a knife as well as a fork for the salad course? Hearts of lettuce and salads composed of hard or difficult-to-manage elements really require a knife. Special salad knives and forks are being sold but an entree knife and fork or a tea knife and fork may be used.

As a rule fresh vegetable salads are best when served with French dressing or one of its variations. Salad greens should be dressed at the table or immediately before serving as they become limp and wilted soon after the dressing is added. The French who are experts in salad making say "each leaf should glisten with oil."

The following French dressing recipe may be varied and used in many ways:

French Dressing

One teaspoonful salt
One teaspoonful sugar
Eight tablespoonfuls salad oil
One-half teaspoonful paprika
Four tablespoonfuls vinegar or lemon juice

Mix the seasonings; add oil and vinegar and beat with a fork or shake in a small jar. One-half of a teaspoonful of dry mustard and one-half a teaspoonful of celery salt may be added to the above, if desired. Some people believe that the flavor of onion or garlic is the final touch. They should not be used in large enough quantities to be recognized but a drop or two seems to round out the flavor. The bowl in which the dressing is made may be rubbed with a slice of onion or a clove of garlic, or a small onion may be pricked with a fork and allowed to stand in the jar of dressing for an hour. This dressing will keep for some time in the refrigerator. Shake well before using.

Note: Plain French dressing is the only dressing that is used to marinate salads. "To marinate" means to mix the ingredients in French dressing until every portion of them is well coated.

g. Spinosa Dressing — To the foundation recipe add two tablespoonfuls capers, one tablespoonful stuffed olives, chopped, one teaspoonful chopped parsley. Mix thoroughly.

f. Fruit salad French Dressing — In the foundation recipe use two tablespoonfuls less vinegar and add three tablespoonfuls pineapple juice, three tablespoonfuls orange juice and one teaspoonful sugar.

g. Tarragon Dressing — In the foundation recipe use Tarragon vinegar instead of cider vinegar and add one hard cooked egg, chopped very fine.

f. Curry Dressing — To the foundation recipe add one-eighth teaspoonful Curry powder and two hard cooked egg yolks predded through a sieve. Mix thorolughly.

Dressing

Peel cucumbers and remove a rather thick slice from the ends. Let stand in cold water until fresh and crisp. When ready to serve score lengthwise with the prongs of a fork to make a fancy edge. Cut in very thin slices. Arrange

Twenty Years After Curtiss and His Idea king Capone's Levee His Guests Feel Honored

By EMILE GAUVREAU

In a flimsy contraption not much better than a powered kite, Glenn H. Curtiss flew down the Hudson from Albany in 1910, at the "phenomenal speed" of 50 miles an hour. He had to land twice before he got to Governors island. It was an event more important to progress than the operation of the first steamboat. The upimaginative admired his nerve, but said it was risky business.

Yesterday, 20 years later, Mr. Curtiss went over the old trail this time in a 20-passenger Curtiss Condor air liner, sailing majestically, comfortably and safely at 100 miles an hour. This he visualized 20 years ago. He believed that what he could imagine, he could do. Imagination governs the universe.

Successful and rich beyond the dreams of avarice, Henry Ford is not too busy to talk about how it all came about. If you are young and ambitious, weigh these words: "I always had older men for friends and I always went to them for advice. Old men understood my ideas better than young men did. With mature years I realized more and more the value of that advice."

Al Capone, glaring black spot on America's escutcheon, condemned universally as the nation's bad man, sends out engraved cards from his palatial Miami estate to "specially invited guests" who dine in ravishing tropical settings to the accompaniment of operatic airs and the uninterrupted popping of corks.

Those specially invited guests, who drove up in limousines and were guarded throughout the evening by beach policemen knew only too well what Mr. Capone is and what he stands for. Probably not one of them would come to his defense if he were in danger. What they are interested in is that he is powerful and rich enough to defy the government, helpless to deprive him of his liberty.

Of what good is publicity when a gangster, known to have amassed a fortune through reprehensible criminal practices, is permitted to enjoy the fruits of his iniquity in such public and flagrant fashion? It throws down the gauntlet to American conscience and self-respect, which is already indicted before the nations of the world for hypocrisy.

Queens Borough President Harvey, returning from South America, envies the cleanliness of Latin-American capitals. He finds his own borough so remiss in that respect that he will make it a misdemeanor for anyone to throw litter into the streets. He may wonder what has become of the much-vaunted ideal of approximate godliness. Have we retrograded, or have the Latins heretofore delinquent in this direction taken the measure of our stride and outstripped us? It seems today that America establishes precedents and then forgets them for others to adopt.

The fashion of censoring language in books and plays spreads to the air, where the danger of corrupting morals is less imminent than elsewhere. The federal radio commission, ordering station KVEP off the air guarantees free speech, but declares that it will not license profanity or vilification.

One can shut up a vulgar announcer and never hear him again. The danger is not alarming. On the other hand, one can always reach out for a smutty book, reread it and pass it on to a neighbor. A questionable play, also, while it's on the boards may do a lot of damage. But even then the wisdom of the censorship is debatable. And now that the radio is involved, it is more debatable than ever.

Rudy Vallee reviewed a company of New York's militia the other day. And it may be good foresight to make friends with those boys; you never can tell when a radio fan, fed up with crooning, may take a notion to call out the national guard.

"Marriage is an adventure—like going to war."—G. K. Chesterton. And that's why you march to the altar.

Moving the Mountain

WHEN Paul the apostle was casting about in his mind for a feat that could stand as a symbol of the impossible, he hit upon the moving of a mountain. The faith that could move a mountain—that, to Paul, was the strongest expression possible.

Were Paul alive today, however, he would have to look for a new symbol. Not that our faith has progressed; hardly that, in an age of skeptics. But we can move mountains, at any rate.

In Seattle there has been a mountain called Denny Hill. To be sure, one has to stretch things a trifle to call it a mountain. But at any rate, it was a very high hill, covering some 90 acres of ground and towering above the tops of the office buildings.

This mountain, or hill, was very much in Seattle's way. It loomed up on the edge of the business district and choked off the expansion that Seattle needed. So, a year ago, Seattle decided to get it out of the way. Steam shovels, long conveyor belts and a fleet of scows were put to work, and Denny Hill began to crumble.

By next fall this particular mountain will be no more. Reduced to mud and stones, it will be distributed all over the bottom of Puget sound. In its place will be a 90-acre tract of perfectly level ground, ready for new stores, office buildings, railway stations, hotels and apartment houses.

There isn't anything so very out of the way in this performance. Seattle doesn't seem greatly excited about it, and the job has not drawn much attention elsewhere. But there is something about it that strikes us as extremely romantic and highly significant.

Moving a mountain . . . just part of the day's work, to an American city; just as Chicago found it all part of the day's work to make a river run uphill. The supposedly immutable forces of nature, then, are not immutable at all. The world is not in the least fixed and unchangeable. Inanimate nature's long period of overlordship has ended.

That is the sort of thing which this Seattle performance symbolizes.

Americans have been criticized frequently for being too obsessed with material values, with taking more delight in accomplishments in the world of material things than in the intangibles of creative art. Well, why not? Isn't there something tremendously important in this conquest of nature? Isn't it rather momentous that men have discovered that the physical world can be remade?

Seattle's removal of a mountain is the sort of thing, really, that calls for poems of praise and jubilation. It is a thing to exult in. We are materialists—because we are triumphing over materialism.

"But If the Salt—"

ONE SENTENCE dropped casually by a very humble commentator here last week relative to the case of Bishop James Cannon Jr. appears to us to contain as much pointed truth as might be reflected by several pages of news dispatches about this famous churchman.

This man said, "Bishop Cannon's trouble is that he's been too busy to review history."

With the militant Bishop Cannon holding one of the highest offices within the gift of organized Christian Protestanism, the general public would like to feel that he is sincerely devoted to the highest calling of the organization which ordained him. That fundamental principle of American democracy, separation of church and state, is generally believed to reflect the "freedom from worldly things" taught by the Christ in whose name these churches carry on their work.

The suggestion that Methodism's most discussed bishop review the history of political-ecclesiastical affiances and their results during the past 30 centuries truthfully implies just criticism of his position. Scanning of the record left by humanity for its experiences in that period would show a seemingly endless cycle of solid growth, political affluence, alliance of church and temporal powers, then—oblivion. It would point clearly the power of political activity on the part of the clergy to render the salt quite devoid of savour. For that reason, Bishop Cannon will leave rather a flat taste on the palates of those who devotedly regard the church as having a separate and unique method of its own for bettering the world.

The British Submarines

WHEN we hear mentioned the activities of submarines in the world war, we generally assume that it is German submarines that are being spoken of; they were the ones that made the submarine a sign and a portent, at all events. But the allies, likewise, had submarines and used them, and the fact is worth remembering.

A writer in the current issue of World's Work, for instance, reveals the fact that British submarines during the world war sank 54 enemy naval vessels and 274 transports and supply ships. While this total does not, of course, compare with the German record, it is nevertheless impressive, considering that German ships seldom ventured far enough out at sea to be within the submarines' range.

This writer also shows that 61 British submarines were lost. Fully a third of all British sailors in submarine service lost their lives.

The British submarine service, no less than the German, set a record for heroism and achievement during the war.

A City Manager Tenders Resignation

TEMPLE has a sensation. Dr. J. K. Campbell, appointed city manager by the new commission which went into office April 1, has tendered his resignation, "because the city commission wanted somebody it could manage, and not a city manager." Wise man. A city manager should be a city manager. He is hired to be a city manager. When he becomes a puppet of a city commission he isn't a city manager. He is merely an ornament, a tool of those who insist in giving orders and forcing the city manager to carry out their orders.

A Story of Wichita Falls
By GORDON TURNER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Maizie Brown writes this story for practice in a story-writing correspondence school course, never intending it to be published. She interperses it with notes to her instructor. She is confidential secretary to Frank Sheridan, wealthy young lawyer, whose hobby is the solving of crime mysteries. Sheridan is called in by Joseph Hedley, assistant prosecuting attorney, to find a burglar who robbed a safe at the home of William Oliver Wilber. Hedley is engaged to marry Wilber's daughter Sheila, whose cousin, Andrew Masters, is a frequent visitor at the Wilber home. A diary of Wilber's wife, now dead, has been stolen from the safe. The diary holds a secret of Sheila's birth. Sheridan inserts a $500 reward want-ad in The Record News for return of the diary. Wilber sees another Record News want-ad, seeking the whereabouts of a girl secretly adopted 22 years earlier and reveals to Sheridan that Sheila is the girl sought by her real mother of whom Sheila knows nothing. Andy Masters wants to marry Edna Rogers, Sheila's chum, but is entangled in a love affair with Mercedes Riverton, a stenographer employed by his friend, Homer Menton, a criminal lawyer. Mercedes quarrels with her family and threatens to leave home when her brother accuses Andy of drunkenness. She goes for an auto ride with Andy.

CHAPTER X

Though no moon cast its mellow rays upon them, it was a perfect night for lovers. A June night athrill with romance. Even the fence posts along the winding country road seemed to lean closer together in communion of spirit. A soft breeze moved languidly through the open windshield of the slowly moving car and caressed the happy faces of Sheila Wilber and Joe Hedley.

They were returning from a long drive over unfrequented roads where they could idle along, unmolested by the impatient honks of hurrying traffic. After passing through Archer City toward Wichita Falls, they felt themselves alone in a vast solitude. The headlight of the car cut a shining path through the wall of night. The only visible thing was the illuminated ribbon of road; the only sounds, the soft purr of the engine, the faraway shrilling of crickets and the occasional cheep of a sleepy bird. They drove in contented silence.

Then gradually increasing in volume, the lively strains of a dance orchestra came to their ears and ahead to the left loomed a confused blur of lights. Sheila stirred and lifted her head from Hedley's shoulder.

"Oh, Joe," she exclaimed, "It's the Lakeside pavilion. Let's stop off for a couple of dances."

"The music's good," said Hedley, cocking a listening ear. "Cliff Burns always has a bang-up orchestra."

As they passed through the entrance to the crowded floor, a youth to whose arm was clinging a girl in a white summer dress lurched against Hedley.

"Beg pardon," he muttered thickly. He weaved on through the doorway without raising his eyes. Sheila turned and gave a startled cry.

"It's Andy!" she said. "He didn't see us."

Hedley nodded. "I don't think he wanted to see us," he said gravely.

They watched as Andy and the girl made their way to a car parked at the side of the road. The girl steadied Andy's wobbly figure into the driver's seat and then climbed in on the opposite side. A crash of grinding gears, followed several moments of fumbling with the controls and the runabout dashed madly toward Wichita Falls.

"Who's the girl?" Sheila asked, uplifting a troubled face to Hedley's.

"Who's the girl?" Sheila asked, lifting a troubled face to Hedley's.

"I don't know her name, but I've seen her before," Hedley answered. "She works in Homer Menton's law office. She comes up to the courthouse sometimes with Homer and helps him search the records."

"Poor Edna," Sheila murmured. "I'm glad she didn't see this."

The encounter with Andy had robbed the night of its glamour especially after she had overheard a remark addressed to the manager by one of the dance hall attendants.

"That's the first drunk we've been troubled with for some weeks," he said. "He seemed all right when he came in, but he musta been hitting a hip flask on the sly. I gave him the bum's rush, but quietly so nobody noticed."

One turn with Hedley around the dance floor and Sheila had enough. Even the sprightly music and the joyous atmosphere of the big pavilion could not revive her drooping spirits. Hedley sensed her dejection. He looked at his watch.

"It's after midnight," he said. "Let's get out of this."

The mood for dreamy dwadling gone, Shedley stepped on the gas.

Just below the Lakeside park the car flashed around a curve. Hedley applied the brakes and came to a sudden stop just in time to avert a collision with a motionless car facing him squarely in the center of the road. In the shallow ditch to the right was another car, upright and apparently undamaged save for a crushed front fender jammed against a fence post.

Milling around the ditched car were four men, two of whom were engaged in a rough-and-tumble fight. The others were dancing about the combatants and shouting at them. A girl in a white dress was making futile little dashes into the melee, but each time she was pushed back by one of the noncombatants.

Hedley drove slowly around the car in the road. As he drew abreast of the fighters, Shelia exclaimed: "My heavens, Joe, that's Andy again. Oh stop them!"

Hedley leaped from the car and strode into the mixup. He thrust himself between the flying fists and pushed the fighters apart. The two onlookers had been taken by surprise and did not interfere.

"Say, you big bum, what are you buttin in for!" shouted Andy's opponent. "This guy tried to crowd mé off the road and he's gettin' his'n."

Mercy ran up. "He didn't any such thing!" she cried hotly. "They were in the middle of the road and wouldn't give an inch. Andy grazed their fenders and ran in the ditch."

Hedley tried pacification. He took the battling driver by the arm and led him toward his car, followed by the other men.

"Your car wasn't damaged so far as I can see," he said, thrusting his hand in his pocket. "This ought to more than fix that dent in the front fender." He held out a $10 bill.

Grumbling, the man took the money and climbed into his car, still muttering threats. His companions took their seats in the rear.

"Listen," said Hedley, leaning through the car door, "you've heard of Ike Sellers, former county middleweight champion? Well, he taught that fellow back there to box and if I hadn't interfered he'd have cleaned up on all three of you. That boy can fight, drunk or sober. You'd better forget it and move on."

They moved on, and Hedley returned to the scene of the fight. Andy was seated on the running-board of his car and Mercy was dabbing at a bruise on his cheek with a wisp of lace handkerchief. Hedley frowned down at them a moment and then touched Mercy on the shoulder.

"Miss . . . er . . . Miss . . ."

"Miss Riverton," she supplied the name and he bowed courteously.

"I'm Joe Hedley," he said. "I know Mr. Masters well, and I want to help in this unfortunate affair. Will you please come over to my car a minute?"

In mingled amazement and curiosity Mercy preceded him to the

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

This great service is maintained by The Record News for the benefit of its readers who may use it every day without cost to themselves. All they have to do is ask for any information desired and they will receive prompt answers by mail. Questions must be clearly written and stated as briefly as possible. Enclose two-cent stamp for return postage and address The Record News Information bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—What are the colored glowing advertising signs now seen so frequently?—S. L.

A.—The use of neon tubes in sign writing is a recent development. The signs are made in the form of long tubes twisted into the shapes of letters and figures. They may be given various colors by the admixture of other gases.

Q.—Is Babe Ruth more of an asset to his team as a batter than he was as a pitcher?—L. F.

A.—He was a very good pitcher and is an excellent batter. As a batter he can play every day, which is an advantage to his team.

Q.—What is the meaning of intelligence quotient?—G. S. M.

A.—The intelligence quotient or "I. Q." of a child is determined by multiplying its mental age by 100 and dividing by the actual age. Thus the intelligence quotient of a normal child is 100. A child with an I. Q. below 80 is rated as subnormal, while one with an I. Q. above 120 is rated as gifted. About five children in 100 will be found to be 20 below normal and about five, 20 above normal.

Q.—Who was the first person to make a map of the moon?—J. D.

A.—The first map of the moon was made by Riccioli in 1650.

Q.—How long does it take for the soft spot on a baby's head to disappear?—H. M.

A.—There are usually four such spots discernible on the skull of a newly born infant. All but the anterior or great fontanel close within a few months. This closes about one year after birth, but in some cases persists during the second year.

Q.—What is the Society of Woman Geographers?—W. D. C.

A.—It is a society organized in 1925 by a group who felt that there should be some medium of contact between women distinguished in geographical work and its allied sciences—ethnology, archaeology, botany, natural history, sociology, folk-lore, arts and crafts, etc. For active membership in this society only those women are eligible who have done distinctive work whereby they have added to the world's store of knowledge concerning the countries in which they have traveled. Corresponding members are those who fulfill the requirements for active membership, but who reside outside the United States of America and Canada. The associate membership admits widely traveled women who are interested in furthering all forms of geographical exploration and research.

Q.—What metals does the horseshoe magnet attract?—R. D.

A.—The bureau of standards says that iron, nickel and cobalt are metels that the ordinary horseshoe magnets attract.

Q.—Does billboard advertising conflict with newspaper and magazine advertising?—C. O. A.

A.—In most instances, the billboard medium is employed in a reminder capacity, supplementary to newspaper or magazine advertising, which is usually employed in a primary way.

Q.—How long ago was what is known as the bronze age?—Y. R. S.

A.—The bronze age in Europe is fixed by recognized authorities somewhere between 2,000 and 3,000 B. C.

Q.—Where is the natural bridge? Will you please tell me something about it.—G. C.

A.—The natural bridge is in Rockbridge county, Virginia. It was left by the collapse of the remainder of the roof of a tunnel formed by water percolating through a joint or fissure athwart the stream. The tunel thus formed was gradually enlarged until all the water of the stream was diverted from the stream bed below the joint of ingress, leaving a bridge. It has a span of 90 feet and is from 50 to 100 feet wide.

Q.—What do the initials A. B. C. stand for when placed before the circulation figure of a magazine?—B. B. T.

A.—The letters are an abbreviation for Audit Bureau of Circulation.

Q.—What preparation do acrobats use on their joints to make them more pliable?—G. T.

A.—The flexibility of acrobats is due to constant exercise and intense training and not to any preparation which they apply to their joints.

Q.—Why is fiat money so called?—C. B.

A.—This name was given to irredeemable paper currency during the greenback agitation after the civil war, from the claim of the Greenback party that the fiat of the government could give value to a circulating medium.

on crisp lettuce or Romaine and serve with Chiffonade Dressing.

Chicken Liver Dressing

Livers of two chickens, boiled
Yolks of two hard cooked eggs
One teaspoonful prepared mustard
One-half teaspoonful salt
One-eighth teaspoonful white pepper
Three tablespoonfuls red wine vinegar
One-half cup olive or salad oil
Chopped "fines herbes"
One-fourth teaspoonful Worcestershire sauce.

Mash and mix to a paste the chicken livers and yolks. Livers will measure about one-half cup. Add seasonings, pour in oil, drop by drop, stirring in the same direction, until the consistency of thin mayonnaise. Mix with salad and "herbes". Serve with lettuce, escarole, chickory and dandelion greens.

Cucumber Salad With Chiffonade Head Lettuce Salad

Select a very solid head of lettuce; cut into sections, usually quarters, and soak in ice cold water until chilled. Before serving shake carefully to remove the water and cut out the core. Serve with French dressing, Roquefort, or Russian dressing.

Asparagus Salad

Three dozen asparagus tips
Six capers
Eighteen short strips pimiento.

Place six asparagus tips on a nest of lettuce leaves. With three strips of pimiento make a bow. At the knot of the bow place a caper. Serve with French Dressing.

Grated Carrot Salad

Wash and scrape carrots—young or old ones—and allow to stand in ice cold water for an hour. Drain, dry and then grate them. Serve cold, well mixed with French dressing. Usually some bit of green, such as lettuce leaves, cabbage leaves or celery tops, can be obtained for a garnish. If salad greens can not be secured this salad may be served as a relish, allowing a generous portion for each person. This is a boon when salad greens are unobtainable.

car where Sheila had remained quietly.

"Miss Wilber, this is Miss Riverton, a friend of Andy's," he said, addressing Sheila. "You can drive my car, Sheila. I wish you would take Miss Riverton into town. I'll drive Andy's car. I fear he can't very well manage it now. As soon as I back it out of the ditch you go on ahead and we will follow right behind."

Mercedes demurred and Andy, coming out of his daze, objected rather incoherently, but it was so arranged. A two-car procession headed for Grant street.

The mercurial Mercy recovered her lost poise very quickly. She stole furtive glances at the beautiful, golden-haired girl at the wheel who seemed lost in her thoughts. Mercy broke the silence.

"I really ought to know you," she said. "You're Andy's cousin, aren't you?"

Sheila nodded assent. Mercy chuckled, and lapsed from her "society" manner.

"Ain't he the candy kid!" she exclaimed glowingly, "he certainly does know how to handle his mitts. Why, if Mr. Hedley hadn't stopped him, he'd have handed that big brute a haymaker in another minute." Mercy knew the lingo; she had accompanied Andy to a number of matches.

"And he hardly got a scratch," she went on. "Ike Sellers'll be tickled pink, but he'll bawl Andy out for fighting when he isn't in condition. I'd hardly say Andy was in condition tonight; too much—"

She stopped suddenly, realizing that this was not the sort of conversation to impress a girl of Sheila's background. Sheila, her eyes fixed on the road ahead, remained silent.

"You and I ought to know each other better," Mercy said, after a moment, "especially after tonight."

Sheila winced visibly. "Oh, I don't mean on account of that fight," Mercy continued hurriedly, "something more important than that, something that can't keep you and me apart."

"What do you mean?" Sheila asked, turning her face for a quick glance.

Mercy's shoulders straightened with a snap of triumph.

"Andy proposed to me tonight," was the startling answer. "We are going to get married. He's to buy the engagement ring Monday."

The car gave a sudden lurch toward the side of the road. It was lucky Sheila had been driving slowly or there might have been another auto accident that night.

Newly Chartered Cotton Corporation To Elect Officers at Meeting Monday

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Establishment of a cotton stabilization corporation has been announced by the federal farm board. Formation of the corporation was recommended by the cotton advisory committee with the statement that "there is an emergency in the market requiring a stabilizing corporation."

The advisory committee met here May 16 and 17 to consider the matter, but public announcement was withheld at that time.

Articles of incorporation were filed in Delaware yesterday, and it was said the board of directors would meet in Washington next Monday. Officers of the new corporation are expected to be elected and a method of procedure discussed with the board at that time.

Operations of the corporation are subject to approval by the farm board. The agricultural marketing act empowers the stabilization corporation to act as a marketing agency for its stockholders or members in handling, storing, processing and merchandising any quantity of cotton. It may also for the purpose of controlling any surplus, buy, store and sell otherwise than for the account of its members or stockholders, any amount whether or not it is acquired from members.

The stabilization corporation will be required to establish and maintain adequate reserves from profits of its surplus control operations before paying dividends out of those profits. Losses of the corporation will be paid from the reserves and if the reserves are inadequate will be paid by the board as a loan from the revolving fund.

Mr. Thompson states that an effort will be made to ascertain the exact status of highway five through Montague county before the date of meeting. It is thought that should the state highway department not have a final survey designated by that time, the association will be told what their future attitude will be as regards this county.

Many have replanted their feed crops in order to get a better stand. Some have replanted their watermelon crops. Wet weather and bugs ruined much of the first planting. There has been an abundance of vegetables here this spring, but the fruit crop is very light.

MEMPHIS BANK UNION PLANNED

Consolidation Will Link Two Institutions

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, June 6.—The proposed consolidation of the First National and the Citizen's State bank of Memphis was announced here this week. Negotiations have been under way for months and officials of both institutions believe the merger, one of the largest of its kind ever completed in West Texas, will become effective soon.

It was the intention of the banks to issue a statement this week, giving in detail the plans that have been worked out in connection with the merger, but due to the fact that the National Bank department requires that a mergered bank cannot have two banking homes until one of the properties is disposed of has held up the final adjudication of the matter, necessitating a delay. According to rules laid down by the U. S. Department of Banking, it is necessary that one of the bank homes be sold and a cash emolument received for same, before the merger can take effect and be in force.

It was stated definitely by local bank officials that the merger seems a practical certainty, and at the proper time all necessary information will be given the public concerning the board of directors and the officials who will be in charge of the new institution.

The merged bank will operate under the amended charter of the First National bank.

When the merger goes into effect, the new bank will have a capital of $210,000, with deposits of more than $1,000,000 and with total resources in excess of $2,000,000, which will make of it one of the strongest financial institutions between Wichita Falls and Amarillo. No material changes in the policies of either the First National or the Citizen's State bank are contemplated.

Guthrie Negroes Are Found Guilty

GUTHRIE, Okla., June 6. (AP)—John and La Tosca Young, negro couple of Cushing, Okla., were convicted of assault on a government officer by a federal court jury which returned a sealed verdict last night.

The negroes, who were freed of murder charges in state court at Stillwater, will be sentenced June 14 by Judge Edgar S. Vaught.

Charges against the Youngs grew out of the fatal shooting of Otto Butler, federal prohibition agent, in a barber shop the couple operated. He had gone there in a liquor raid. The negroes contended Butler was killed after he had attacked them without provocation.

HOW WHITE IS WHITE?

WE USUALLY think of newly laundered things as pure white. But the truth is that most of the time they are not white at all. Sometimes they are gray, sometimes they are yellow, and sometimes they are even blue. It all depends on the soap.

White things will emerge from washing absolutely white if they are washed with a soap that is absolutely pure. And White King Granulated Soap is the purest soap made. No "filler" nor foreign matter—nothing but the finest vegetable oils, good enough to eat!

It's economical too! Because White King is condensed, a little of it goes a long way. One teaspoonful in a basin of water, one cupful in the tub. Safe and swift for blankets . . . dishes . . . lingerie. Your grocer has it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Neuralgia)

Question—Mrs. A. C. E. asks: "What are the causes and what is the cure of a sort of neuralgia in the head? Can same affect the eyes?"

Answer—Neuralgia may be caused from a general systematic toxemia or from local infections of the sinuses or antrums. In some cases the pain comes from congestion in the back of the neck which influences the nerve going to the head, the eyes ache because of neuralgia, and the vision is somewhat affected.

(Dizziness)

Question—D. S. A. asks: "Is being more or less dizzy all the time a symptom of acidity? Do oranges and lemons counteract an acid condition of the system, or do they only increase it?

Answer—Acidity could cause dizziness, but I would advice you to have a thorough examination to be sure. Oranges and lemons counteract an acid condition.

(Arthritis)

Question—Mrs. M. K. asks: "What is arthritis and what causes same". About seven months ago I met with an accident. X-ray pictures taken two weeks after showed arthritis. Could the arthritis have been in my bones before the accident and I suffer no pain? How long does it take for arthritis to develop? Injury was in lower back and spinal column and arthritis is located in near joint. Pains are mostly in back."

Answer—Arthritis is a form of rheumatism of the joint. It often starts with an injury when the system has rheumatic toxins. It is a chronic disorder and you should use a diet similar to that outlined in my article on rheumatism. You should be careful not to exercise or strain the affected joint until the inflammation has subsided. Use hot applications for relief.

SEVEN SPUDDER DOUBLE PLAYS AGAINST CUBS BREAK RECORD

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

The record-breaking Spudder infield in putting over those seven double plays Friday afternoon were enough to turn even the sternest to song, and lo, it did indeed inspire the pen of T. B. Collins, a loyal and rooting Spudder fan, who could not choose but express his enthusiasm in verse after the game. He brought it around to us, and we hasten to pass it on to you:

EULLER OR LEVY TO STORTI TO BURNS

Turn to the right you ambitious batter
You made a mistake 'fore you left the platter
That bird gone to second, he also returns
The reason is Levy to Storti to Burns.

The stand's in an uproar the slugger goes wild
Pitcher is handling him just like a child
He swings at a wide one and passes a strike
Trying to murder a ball he don't like
He slices the pellet and promptly he learns
Its Euller or Levey or Storti to Burns.

They're clicking together this little machine
Only one double play is left to be seen
And that one you'll see 'fore the season's dispersed
With Jack cross the diamond and Wally on first.

Many great short fields have passed on before
And time will, by reason, bring out many more
But few will live up to the preseason spell
That came to this league with the Tulsa infield
We're heading for Dixie when work's done this fall
Everyone dead bent on socking the ball
But you'll find most of all in defensive returns,
Euller or Levy to Storti to Burns.

After the Spudders captured the double-header from the Exporters Wednesday a great moan issued from the sports department of the Beaumont Enterprise. Vin Burke, the captivating editor of the sports section of that paper, indeed, moaned loud and long, and we take a cruel pleasure in reprinting what he said, in order that more light may be shed on what others think of our winning ball team. His column follows:

"It was disappointing, of course, to lose the Wichita series but in defeat the Baker boys have one consolation, anyway. Nobody else has been winning from the Spudders. Things ought to be a little smoother at Fort Worth, Shreveport and Dallas. And there is still a parting shot available at Wichita Falls today.

"The Browns seem to have concentrated all their talent in the Spudders. The Browns themselves are seventh and Milwaukee, their farm in the American association, struggles at the same inglorious position.

"Somebody once said that Wagner's music isn't as bad as it sounds and we are inclined to regard that 14-1 trimming in the same light. We begrudge the Spudders that triumph considerably less that we do the 6-4 curtain raiser. If the Exporters weren't vitally involved we could admire Wichita Falls' aptitude for coming up from the rear, day after day, and winning ball games. But frankly, it's getting monotonous. Those babies are NEVER beaten. Three-fourths of their victories during the last 30 days have been gained by overhauling the enemy in late innings.

"They said after the Spudders had assumed the leadership that Carl Williams' help, being youngsters, were due to crack. But their only cracking to date has been homers.

"Looming faintly on the horizon we begin to see a split season. We couldn't see it a week ago but the Spudders are going too strong. They lead the Buffs by five games, the Sports by six and the Exporters by the distressing number of seven and a half. Meanwhile, the Cats and Steers are beginning to assert themselves, and the Cubs and Indians are playing better ball. Should the Spuds knock off the Buffs in the series starting June 12, the chances of rubbing out and starting over around July 1 would be excellent."

Shippers Rally in Sixth To Defeat Cats, 4 to 2

FORT WORTH, June 6. (AP)—Rallying in the sixth inning, Beaumont defeated Fort Worth, 4 to 2, in the first contest of a three-game series this afternoon. The Cats were leading the Exporters when the sixth inning was reached but five successive hits gave the later team three runs and victory. Score:

Twin Killing Feat Is Only One in League Annals

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Texas league records of 10 years standing for the number of double plays completed in one game were crumbled by the stellar Spudder infield at Athletic park Friday afternoon when it put over seven twin killings while defeating the Waco Cubs, 6 to 1.

An Associated Press dispatch to The Record News after the game quoted William B. Ruggles, Texas league statistician, as saying that several times five double plays in a single game have been recorded, but that the Spudders' feat was the first time seven had been completed in one game since the league records were started in 1920.

As a matter of fact, there were eight double plays in that memorable tilt Friday afternoon, the Cubs finally managing to put one over although it took five men to do it.

More Home Runs

To cap the climax, the Spudders resorted to their home run swatting habits to cinch the game. Storti slammed one over the right field wall, just inside the foul line, to open the third inning, and Big Boy Kloza banged one over the left field wall in the seventh with Storti and Fitzgerald on the paths. The other two Spudder runs were scored by Crouch, who in the second tallied on a base on balls and Euller's triple to right; and Fitzgerald, who scored in the third on his single to right and Burns' double in the same direction. The Cubs' lean tally was scored in the fifth by Piet on his single to right, Harris' infield out and Gottlieber's single to left.

Lester White toiled on the mound for the Spudders, and though he gave up 14 hits, none of them were for extra bases, and in the face of the bewildering assortment of double plays, in one of which White figured, only a single tally resulted from the swats. Off Harris the Spudders got only 10 hits, but they were of all descriptions and were put to good use.

Lin Storti, the second sacker, figured in five of the Spudder twin slaughters. The game, indeed, opened with a double play, for after Gottlieber had singled to center, Heath smote to Euller, and there it was, Euller to Storti to Burns. The next was in the second inning when Molesworth on first, Piet smote to Storti and both runners were out, Storti to Burns. The third and the fifth were the only innings without a double play. In the fourth it was Speer and Rye who went out Storti to Levey to Burns. In the sixth it was the same two, Burns to Levey to Burns. In the seventh it was Stuvengen and Molesworth, Euller to Storti to Burns. In the eighth it was Gottlieber and Heath, White to Levey to Burns; and in the ninth it was Rye and Stuvengen, Euller to Storti to Burns.

Waco Gets One

The Cubs' double play came in the sixth. Bettencourt, who had walked, had taken second when Crouch was hit by a pitched ball. Euller grounded to the box, and Bettencourt was thrown out at third, pitcher to third. Then White hit to Molesworth at short who threw Euller out at second. Crouch was headed home, but Piet at second threw to Heath behind the plate, and Heath threw to Gottlieber at third, who returned to Heath, who finally tagged Crouch out in the chase between home and third. On the scorebooks the play read: Molesworth to Piet to Heath to Gottlieber to Heath.

Three injuries marked Friday's festivities. The most serious was that sustained by Rye, who in sliding to second in the ninth in a futile attempt to avoid the last Spudder double play, wrenched his right ankle. He had to be carried from the field. He was taken to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital. Manager Del Pratt of the Cubs said Friday night an X-ray examination had revealed no broken bones and that the player will be out of the lineup only a few days. Rye was Waco's star of the game. In the eighth inning he made a spectacular back-hand catch of White's fly against the center field fence.

Crouch, Williams Hurt

Crouch was painfully though not seriously hurt when he was hit twice during the game by pitched balls. Skipper Williams sustained a nicked elbow during batting practice.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—The favorable view of prevailing weather and present crop progress was reflected in renewed selling in cotton here today and a lower level of prices. New October sold off to 14.12 or 27 points net lower but rallied a few points on covering in the late trading, closing at 14.20. The general market closed steady at net declines of 12 to 20 points.

The opening was steady 1 point up to 5 points lower. The market soon turned easier. A private report showed a reduction of 1.7 per cent in acreage and placed the condition at 69.1 per cent against 68.9 last year.

The decline extended to 15.61 for July and 14.22 for the new December contract during the early afternoon when active months showed net losses of 20 to 27 points. Offerings tapered and the close showed rallies of about 6 to 14 points from the lowest on covering.

Liverpool cables reported covering with some continental and Bombay buying in that market, but said that an extended stoppage of machinery in Manchester was likely next week. Liverpool will be closed tomorrow and Monday owing to the Whitsuntide holidays.

Port receipts today 4.625. U. S. port stocks 1.723.253. Exports 6.041, making 6.515.502 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 6. (AP)—Cotton worked lower today in fairly active trading. Sentiment was bearish and recent buyers liquidated and ring traders sold on a favorable view of weather conditions in the belt.

Liverpool came in 5 to 6 points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 5 to 8 points. As New York did not respond to the cables and the weather map was favorable, the market turned easier. Despite occasional slight rallies July traded down to 15.31, off 38 points and October dropped to 14.12, down 34 points, while December traded down to 14.23, down 28 points.

The market steadied in the afternoon and rallied in late trading on shorts covering, recovering 6 to 10 points from the lowest. July closed at 15.41 or 19 points net lower for the day, October at 14.19 and December at 14.29, or 17 to 20 points net lower.

Panicky Holders Dump Stock On Wobbly Market to Bring New Lows

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 6. (US)—Stock prices today offered a further break, many issues declining below their May lows and a few breaking through the panic prices. Sentiment was considerably unnerved by the market's inability to rally even slightly after the sharp setback it already had received. Additional liquidation was noticeable from European sources and many tired-out holders in various parts of the United States also dumped their stocks. The aggregate volume, however, except in the last hour, continued only moderate and lower for the day than on Thursday. The lowest prices for the day were established at the close and with the increased volume of selling which came in the last hour hope was expressed that perhaps this represented the final stage of current liquidation, in which event the market is entitled at least to a rally.

Sentiment was seriously affected by the Radio corporation's decision not to issue a statement covering the first quarter. The question was brought up by the writer of this column but a representative of R. C. A. on Thursday made definite statement the quarterly report would be issued "the middle of this month." The corporation's latest action confirmed opinion that the quarterly showing would have been extremely discouraging, with probability of a sizeable deficit. Whether the six-months' statement will show that the deficit was overcome in the second quarter is problematical. Whatever the actual results with respect to profits or losses, the tactics of the corporation came in for considerable censure and this in turn had a drastic adverse influence on the entire market. Radio was under constant pressure and Columbia Graphophone, another international issue, broke four points to a new low for the year. Selling of radio and graphophone was chiefly for European account.

Hardly a stock resisted the tide of selling, although in many issues support was noticeable. Steel common's action in holding above its previous low for the year was accepted as evidence that the stock's sponsors are making an effort to hold it. Breaking through 165¾, the previous low would give chartists and other technical market players a distinct bearish sign. The leading stocks declined an average of about five points. With no outside developments to account for the continued selling of stocks, market circles were deeply depressed by the market's continued decline. Industrial and utility stocks continued to suffer most while the railroads failed to show any change in the recent downward tendency. Some selling was induced by a report that a private gathering of industrialists at Philadelphia had received reports indicating that the business upturn may be delayed until very late in the year.

Houston Oil was an outstanding exception throughout the day, achieving a net gain in the face of the market's weaknes. This stock has been steadily taken by a powerful group familiar with the company's position in the Natural Gas industry. Although left out thus far in the various mergers which have taken place in Natural Gas, it is reported that a leading group identified with these mergers have been accumulating Houston. Freeport-Texas is another stock which was well taken. This stock is considered selling purely on the company's sulphur business, whereas speculative possibilities exist in Natural Gas possibilities. Sinclair Consolidated Oil was also steadily absorbed by interests identified with the company. Sinclair will probably figure in an important merger deal in the near future. Childs company reached a new high.

Commodity prices generally were lower. Foreign exchange continued quiet, with a tendency toward firmness in leading currencies.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 6. (AP)—With no sales of wheat posted on the cash grain market here to noon today, that market was purely nominal. Demand was slow, and sellers and buyers somewhat apart on prices which were quoted around $1.00@1.10½ basis ordinary No. 1 hard wheat delivered Texas common points. Sorghums were in best demand and corn and oats met fair demand. Barley continued slow.

Bids and offers on loose grains ranged as follows, basis carlots delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 96½@97½c; No. 2 white $1.01@1.02½; No. 2 yellow $1.00½@1.01½.

Oats—No. 2 red 53@54c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 6. (AP)—Moisture scarcity throughout the North American spring wheat belt, together with serious crop damage complaints from Canada, gave wheat values a general upward trend today.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous ⅛@¾c higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¼@½c down, oats at ¼c decline to an equal gain, and provisions varying from 2c setback to a rise of 20c.

Oklahoma reports indicates a wheat crop of 40,000,000 to 45,000,000 bushels for that state.

Increased offerings of corn from rural sources led to lower prices in the corn market. Beneficial rains over part of the corn belt were reported. Oats averaged lower with corn.

Provisions advanced on account of buying of December lard and because of good cash demand for meats.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, July $1.06¼; $1.08⅛@¼; Sept. $1.09½, $1.11¼; Dec. $1.13⅝@¾, $1.15⅝. Corn, July, 81¼@⅜c, 82½c; Sept. 81½@⅝c, 82¾@⅞c; Dec. 75⅜c, 76½@⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 6. (US)—Canadian weather reports and the Winnipeg Free Press crop survey are looked upon to provide the chief incentive for trading in the wheat market tomorrow. Liverpool will be closed. Sentiment continues very bearish but the resistance of the market and the possibility of bullish crop news are making shorts nervous.

A firm corn market has brought out heavy country offerings. Trade in the futures is not sufficiently active to digest the volume of hedges, unless shipping demand proportionate to the arrivals appears.

A vote taken by the Minneapolis Chamber of commerce has made grain stored in Superior, Wisconsin, elevators to the amount of 20,000,000 bushels deliverable on Minneapolis contracts, wires said today. Elevator receipts on Duluth to the amount of 20,000,000 bushels already are deliverable. These totals added to the 60,000,000 bushels in Minneapolis makes a total of 100,000,000 bushels that may be deliverable on the Minneapolis market. The Superior receipts are applicable only to December and subsequent delivery months.

Quite fair quantities of wheat cleared from Black sea ports the past week, says Broomhall. Most of these were from Russia. Clearances to date from these countries total 22,136,000 bushels for the season, compared with 2,640,000 bushels a year ago.

DRYGOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—Moderate trading was reported in gray cotton goods. Plans are afoot to make a substantial curtailment of the production of fine combed goods for the balance of this year. Sales pressure is increasing in some divisions of wash fabrics and low count printed lines. Silk was rather quiet on a low basis, some transactions being reported in new silk. Very moderate orders are reported on dress fabrics of worsted. Burlaps showed little change.

GOLF PLAYERS' DEATH PROBED

Skull Wound Unexplained After Car Crash

SAN ANTONIO, June 6. (AP)—After a postmortem examination had disclosed a deep wound at the base of the skull, police today began an investigation into the death of Cliff Kuppers, golf professional at the Hillcrest Country club, who was found dying in his wrecked automobile this morning eight miles out on the Babcock road.

Police advanced the theory that Kuppers was dealt a blow on the head and then the car was wrecked to cover up the crime.

The spot where the car was wrecked is a short distance from the scene of the murder of Ira Lewis, chauffeur, several years ago.

T. W. Miller, a farmer, found Kuppers slumped over in his wrecked car and took him to the Robert B. Green hospital, where he died a short time afterward. With the exception of the shattered windshield, the car was not materially damaged when it crashed into a telephone pole. This led officers to believe that the car was moving at slow speed when it struck.

It was at first thought that Kuppers lost control of his car and that cuts received when he fell into the shattered windshield caused his death. Hospital authorities, however, notified police that he had a deep wound at the base of his skull which could not have been received in the accident. This led them to believe that the man had been attacked.

Kuppers had been pro at the club for four years and was a member of the Professional Golfers association.

Census Bureau Lists 'Greater Atlanta' Count

WASHINGTON, June 6. (UP)—Atlanta, Ga., including the new areas taken by act of the Georgia legislature last year, had a population of 353,722 on April 1, the census bureau announced today.

Announcement of the total of "greater Atlanta" followed a request from the city that acts of its legislature on August of last year should be observed by the bureau in compiling its total. Cities of similar size, however, filed protests with the bureau, claiming the figure represented by the combined territory was not fair from a comparative standpoint.

Hollywood Population Placed at 153,294

LOS ANGELES, June 6. (AP)—The population of Hollywood, which has been a part of Los Angeles since 1910 was fixed at 153,294 today by Supervisor C. L. Kincaid of the fifteenth district. Oklahoman Drowns In Houston Stream

HOUSTON, June 6. (UP)—The body of Van Nix, 28, drowned while fishing yesterday at San Leon, was sent to his home at Oklahoma City today for burial.

A fish led Nix to his death, according to his wife and little daughter, Betty.

Mrs. Nix said her husband, fully clothed, was fishing in water three feet deep when the pole was jerked from his hand by a big fish.

Nix waded after the pole, stepped into a hole and sank.

Air Field Construction Program Recommended

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—An $11,447,962 construction program at army air fields was recommended before the house military affairs committee by Major General Fetchet, chief of the army air corps, as a part of the war department's five-year air corps building schedule.

Acting Chairman Ransley of the committee immediately prepared a bill to carry out the recommendations.

The new bill replaces one introduced by Chairman James of the committee, proposing an outlay of slightly more than $4,500,000.

A small boy was watching a bright glow in the sky with the utmost delight.

"I am glad you admire the beauties of nature, my son," said an old gentleman. "Isn't it a lovely sunset?"

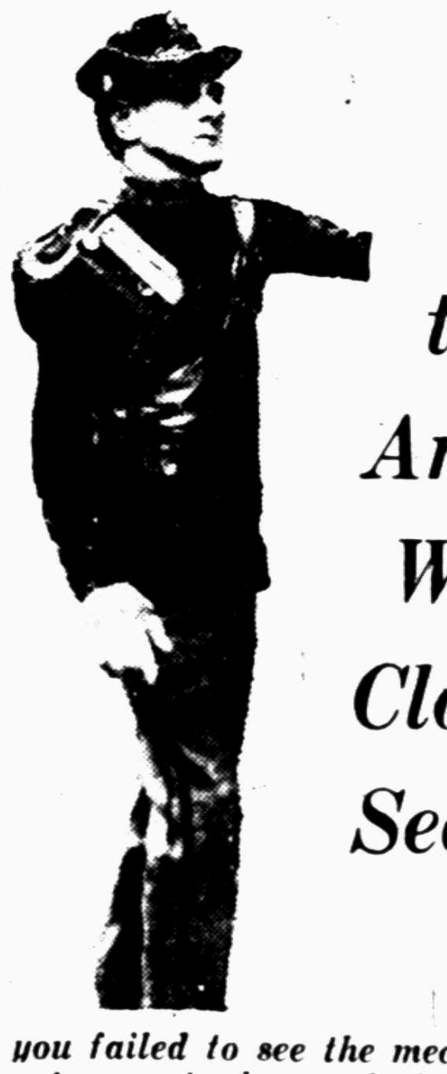

"That's not a sunset," replied the boy with a grin. "That's our school on fire."—Montreal Standard.

WOMEN ARGUE PROHI ISSUE

Federation Meeting Split Over Amendment

DENVER, Colo., June 6. (AP)—Opposition developed today among delegates to the general federation of women's clubs convention against the prohibition resolution as offered at the opening business session and an amendment was expected to be offered tomorrow.

The amendment is to be presented by Mrs. R. F. Lindsay, of Mount Pleasant, Texas, president of the Texas federation. Mrs. Lindsay's amendment will move to strike the word "sinister" from the phrase in the resolution reading, "there are sinister influences seeking to undermine the efficacy of the 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States and to render the laws for enforcement thereof impotent."

Mrs. Lindsay's amendment also will seek to eliminate the phrase reciting that the federation "reaffirms its conviction that prohibition offers the best means for curbing the liquor traffic and its attendant crimes," making the paragraph simply "that the general federation of women's clubs through its delegate body reaffirms its continued support to the 18th amendment and the rigid enforcement thereof."

It is also believed, according to rumors at convention hall that discussion will attend the resolution endorsing the principles of a bill pending in congress which would virtually dissolve the children's bureau at Washington, transferring the duties to the department of public health.

Bachmann, Republican of West Virginia, told the house today. Youth Injured in Motor Collision

Clyde Dean, 18, 1301 Monroe was slightly hurt about 9 o'clock Friday evening in a collision between the motorcycle he was riding and an automobile at the intersection of Tenth and Buchanan street. He was an employe of the White Pharmacy.

Confederate Vets Parade at Biloxi

BILOXI, Miss., June 6. (AP)—The largest crowd in Biloxi's history today watched and cheered themselves hoarse as the old confederacy was again glorified in the veterans' reunion parade.

The long march of nearly six miles in the heat of the day was too strenuous for many of the old soldiers to make afoot. The 3,000 veterans rolling by in hundreds of flag and ribbon draped automobiles, saluted the cries of the thousands that lined the parade's course and waved Confederate flags as they gave their rebel whoops which were answered in kind by the enthusiastic onlookers.

From the prancing horses of Forrest's cavalry, whose riders led the march with black plumes on their wide-brim hats flying to the breeze, to the trucks filled with old negro ex-slaves, and negro servants and bodyguards of dead war heroes, who brought up the rear, there passed into history another campaign successfully brought to conclusion.

Gore Announces His Candidacy

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 6. (AP)—T. P. Gore, who for 14 years served Oklahoma in the United States senate, announced his candidacy tonight for the senatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket.

"My hat's in the ring; my heart's in the race," the blind senatorial veteran declared in his platform declaration, which stresses a triple demand for "less taxes, more trade, no trusts," and asserts his belief that though the saloon "is dead as human slavery" he has a boy and shares "the anxiety which every father and mother must feel over existing conditions and tendencies."

C.-C. MEMBERS TALK POLITICS

B. Y. Cummings Gives Address at Luncheon

Present day politics was vigorously indicted as destructive to the cause of a rival rather than constructive for the good of society in an address by B. Y. Cummings before members of the Junior chamber of commerce and guests Friday noon.

Delivering the principal address on a program given to political education, Mr. Cummings voiced a plea for 100 per cent exercise of one's privilege to vote in public elections, and for candidate's platforms which seek the public good rather than the creation of false issues.

Referring to the present political situation in India, the speaker described it as the most threatening entanglement faced by the world in modern times with the exception of the economic and diplomatic crisis which brought on the world war of 1914. Three hundred millions of people in India have been controlled by 60,000 English troops he said, merely through systematic promotion of strife among the various religious sects there, preventing a unified opposition to British government.

Politicians Create Issues

"While we express condemnation of such tactics in India, and criticize severely our own legislature at Austin, we are in danger of fostering by our laxity at home the conditions which we openly condemn," Judge Cummings said. "The legislature maintains just as high a standard of political activity as we do at home. Every street in our cities has its local alignment of one factor against the other. Instead of seeking the realization of broad ideals, we stump for some individual, and work against another. Under the confusion of such contests, politicians can create new issues to keep factions busy with their own quarrels.

"The trouble has been that politicians have not sought great good for the masses, but have tried to thwart the imagined or real purposes of another individual or faction. Until malice and hatred are taken out of politics, the people will continue to get the same kind of government they are now getting. They get as good government as they are entitled to."

J. S. Bridwell, president of the chamber of commerce, was introduced by Gus Hecht, chairman of the political education committee, and made a brief talk in which he said:

"What Wichita Falls needs now is not man power; we have that. It is will power; that is what you are putting into your work for this city."

Work of the industrial development committee during the first five months of 1930 was outlined by Shadie F. Hale, chairman, in a report which was read by John Coffey. Maurice Cheek stated that Jerry Vinson, president, will attend the national convention of Junior chambers of commerce at Brooklyn next week, and will take with him statistics relative to the local chamber which are expected to bring back at least one silver cup. Mr. Hecht reported the activities of the political education committee thus far, pointing out that it had sponsored the "Pay-your-poll-tax" campaign in January and aided in getting out an unusually large number of voters in the last election.

Candidates Present

About 20 candidates for political office who reside in this vicinity and State Senator W. D. McFarlane of Graham were guests at Friday's luncheon. Each was called upon to introduce himself and state his political ambitions. Under the direction of Mr. Hecht, who mounted a chair in order to be plainly seen from the floor, the earlier portion of the program assumed a decidedly humorous tone.

Musical entertainment was furnished by Misses Celia and Anne Sawyer of Brownwood, sisters of Mrs. Armine Gaunt now visiting in this city. The "Sawyer Harmony Sisters," as they are billed on numerous radio entertainments at Brownwood, sang three blues numbers with ukulele accompaniment.

It was announced that the next Junior chamber of commerce luncheon, to be held on June 20, will be in charge of the inter-cities relations committee, of which Walter Nelson Jr., is chairman.

Railroad Clerk Given Term on Embezzlement

ST. LOUIS, June 6. (AP)—Oliver D. Chalmers, who stole $150,521 from the Frisco railroad while employed as manager of mail and express traffic, was sentenced today to seven years in Missouri penitentiary on his plea of guilty to forgery and embezzlement before Circuit Judge Calhoun.

After his arrest April 11 Chalmers admitted to police he had cashed numerous checks received from newspapers by the Frisco forging the company name in some instances. He lost most of the money in gambling houses, he said.

MAJESTIC: "Anna Christie," with Greta Garbo, Charles Bickford, George Marriott and Marie Dressler. Talking shorts. Sound news.

STRAND: "Safety in Numbers," with Buddy Rogers and a flock of girls. Comedy, "Sky Boy." Fathe unit, "Ship Ahoy." Sound news.

STATE: "The Big Party," with Dixie Lee and Sue Caroll. Light comedy romance. Pat Rooney and family in "The Royal Pair." Sound news.

GEM: Bob Custer in "Covered Wagon Trails." Comedy, "Time to Expire." Last chapter of "Final Reckoning."

Like the ballyhooed cane-rack at the carnival, Buddy Rugers' "Safety In Numbers" (Strand) offers something for everybody—father, mother and the children. Papa will be gratefully entertained by the fact that the georgeous gowns, ensembles and boudoir things are only pictures on the screen rather than displays in the local windows. Feminine fans who go to see Buddy Rogers will quickly forget him to dream rapturously of wearing the dazzling creations which Kathryn Crawford, Carol Lombard, and Josephine Dunn show off against modernistic backgrounds. For the children, we have the only new feature offered by the picture: a taxi driver who pilots his brakeless Ford repeatedly into rear bumpers of other cars in order to make a stop. This vapid-faced driver provides the lone streak of fun in the picture.

Any time a young man rambles around a stage set in pajamas or bathrobe there will be maidenly giggles, of course, from some portions of any mixed audience. But any other laughs kicked up by "Safety in Numbers," save those for the chauffeur, will sound more like nocturnal rumblings of advanced asthmatics. Truth to tell, its lines and situations are terribly wheezy. The two fisticuffs in which Charles the beefy mauler is plunged are quite typical of the plausibility of the whole yarn. Meaning zero. Avoiding the classification of a musical comedy by omitting choruses and a musical continuity, the picture marks time with wearisome frequency to let Buddy sing. His voice, less than mediocre at the best, is better than in any former singing passages, but fails to put any kick whatever in tunes which are lamentably innocent of guile.

If the public had not already been surfeited with photographic shots of Broadway and dancing girls, dizzy with jazz, "Safety in Numbers" would have another novelty to add to the brakeless Ford taxi. It has a brief sequence cut from that pattern, with silhouettes of girls au naturel rushing dizzily into your face from a background of swaying skyscrapers.

So to move from Buddy to Greta Garbo, who comes to the Majestic Saturday in "Anna Christie," Eugene O'Neill's tense story of the waterfront folk. In connection with which we may take great pleasure, for the play is admirably suited to the Garbo style. But further than that, our past declarations that she is beautiful now have authentic support. J. Montgomery Flagg, the artist, is in print with the statement that Garbo strikingly illustrates that type of real and lasting beauty which goes with properly shaped head-bones. In fact, says Mr. Flagg, beauty which doesn't have just the proper bony contour underneath the skin will prove ephemeral. One may rejoice, therefore, in the fact that Greta is a perfect model, as bone-heads go, without lacking the intellectual genius to be a great actress.

11 MEN JAILED AT CHICKASHA

Hearing of Lynching Set For June 17

CHICKASHA, Okla., June 6. (AP)—Eleven of 17 men accused by witnesses in a coroner's inquest as leaders of the mob which took possession of the Grand county jail a week ago and fatally wounded Henry Argo, negro assault suspect, today were secure behind the same bars they defied in a wild night of rioting.

The accused men are residents of Chickasha. Their preliminary hearing has been set for June 17, and a swift trial is anticipated.

Those in jail are Jud Brown, named in the jury's verdict yesterday as "the one who fired the shot which killed Argo, according to hearsay testimony"; John Gooch, A. C. Walker, Harry Miller, Leonard Davis, Donald Johnson, James Hedgecock, Red McWhorter, Red Hale, Dr. J. A. Anderson and Austin Vernon.

Among the six men to be arrested on a blanket complaint containing many charges, including murder, was G. W. Skinner, husband of the farm woman the negro was accused of assaulting. Skinner has admitted he stabbed the negro while he was dying several hours after he had been shot.

COMING TO THRILL YOU!

S. A. F. E. SHOWS NEWEST PLANE

De Luxe Model Ford Sells For $60,000

A tri-motored, all metal Ford airplane, the latest thing in de luxe planes with accommodations for serving light meals, a sleeping berth, radio and seating capacity for nine passengers with an unlimited amount of personal baggage, alighted at the municipal airport at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon on a demonstration tour over the Southwest Air Fast Express lines. It will be taken to Dallas and Fort Worth Saturday, taking off from the municipal airport about 10 a. m.

The plane was piloted by Bob Cantwell, chief pilot for the SAFE airlines here. The plane is being demonstrated under the direction of J. C. Halliburton, financial agent for the lines. A number of Wichita Falls citizens were taken on rides over the city in the plane on demonstration flights, Friday afternoon.

The plane was built for the comfort and convenience of passengers rather than for the number that might be carried at one time. It is of the size that usually is used to carry fourteen passengers. Some of the space has been taken up by a lavatory room and kitchenette with running water from a water tank in the top of the plane and natural gas compressed in a small drum beneath a stove in the compartment.

The plane is propelled by three Pratt & Whitney Wasp nine-cylinder 425 horse-power engines. Instead of placing a central gas tank in the center of the plane between the two wings, the space is reserved for a radio set with the aerial in the form of a metal rod extending up in the air three feet above the plane. Its cruising radius is only about five and a half hours due to the lessening of the gasoline capacity in the substitution of the wing tip compartments. The cruising speed is approximately 110 miles per hour. It sells for $60,000.

Among those who went up in the plane Friday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Bonner, C. E. Basham, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Cantwell, Mrs. Orville Bullington, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cahoon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bell and son, Mrs. Dowdy, here from Amarillo, Miss Kell, Edgar Mann, Miss Owens, and J. H. Allison.
